PARTY PRIDE.
There is undoubtedly some reason for the pride which many old Liberals profess to feel in their party. In the history of Canadian Liberalism there are many names and not a few incidents that cannot fail to arouse enthusiasm in any adherent of the old principles for which that party used to stand—it only that adherent can shut his eyes to the events of the past half dozen or so years. For, most unfortunately for the pride of the younger Liberals, all those men to whom their elders point as noble examples of what public men should be, are dead or away from Canada and all those things which are held up to them as the true index of Liberalism are things which happened long before their time.

As one instance—Some Liberals may remember that in 1862, at the time of the Trent affair, John Sandfield Macdonald, then Liberal premier of Canada, issued a circular to the commanders of the Canadian militia, asking for the names of men suitable to be officers of new companies which the emergency demanded should be formed.
Mr. Macdonald asked that the names be sent in at once, and said that he wished them "at the same time to mention the age of each and his aptitude by education, judgment and activity to discharge the duties of any superior grade in the service to which he may afterwards attain." He added: "In doing this I must ask you to bear in mind not only the qualifications I have suggested as required, but that your recommendation shall not be in any way affected by party or political or other undue considerations."

Now, such an action by a man who, as an old politician, knew well the value of patronage, must have caused the brains of the old time Liberals to glow. The same glow might be felt now by a reader of that circular if he had been kept in close confinement for several years or by some other way have been kept ignorant of recent happenings. But the Liberal who is forced to compare this circular of 1862 with the Liberal declaration of 1894, that every office in the militia, as in all other branches of the public service, are to be open to party henchmen alone, cannot feel that glow to the same extent. The Liberal of today, of course, he is one of the henchmen and wants a job.

Then, to go no farther back than 1893, there was the famous platform adopted in that year. A noble document! Somewhat faulty as regards politics perhaps, but in point of integrity and sentiment unsurpassed. Witness that ringing paragraph condemning the fearful extravagance of the Tories, who were plunging the country into ruin:—

"We cannot but view with alarm the large increase of the public debt and of the controllable annual expenditure of the Dominion, and the consequent undue taxation of the people under the governments that have been continuously in power since 1878, and we demand the strictest economy in the administration of the government of the country."
Now, any Liberal who died before 1898, could pass away proud and happy that the name of the party who preached this gospel should be carved on its tombstone. But to those who have witnessed the whirlwind-like yearly increase of the country's expenses since the economists took control, culminating this year in the sum of about $77,000,000, nearly ten millions more than double the expenditure under the extravagance of the Tories, this source of pride and happiness is denied.

Fortunately for the existence of the Liberal party the law of compensation has provided that, in place of pride in the party has come faith in the machine.

right of all the Tibetans has gone awry—and will remain in strict seclusion for three years. It would not be surprising if it should be discovered that this sacred, but nebulous individual, was a near relative of Mrs. Arris, Sairey Gamp's noted friend.

If Kuroki or any other Japanese wants to get around in the rear of Kuropatkin's forces he's got to do some notable hustling. The Russians have a pretty good start and their speediness has been proven.

UNDER THE SUN.
The men who have gone before us Have sung the songs we sing.
The words of our clamorous chorus, They were heard of the ancient king.
The chords of lyre that thrill us, They were struck in the years gone by,
And the arrows of death that kill us Are found where our fathers lie.
The vanity sung of the preacher Is vanity still today;
The moan of the stricken creature Has rung in the woods away.
But the songs are worth retaining With the change of no single day, And the spoken words are ringing As they rang in the years remote.

There is no new road to follow, love!
Nor need there ever be.
For the old, with its hill and hollow, Is enough for you and me.—Century.

ANOTHER MURDER IN N. S.
An 18 Year Old Boy Stabbed to the Heart by William Haley, Near Windsor.

HALIFAX, Aug. 7.—Another murder has taken place in Nova Scotia, this time in Windsor. Eddie Dill, aged 18, son of Charles Dill of Marloch, is the victim, and William Haley, also of Marloch, is under arrest charged with the crime.
Dill, a younger brother, and a number of companions spent Saturday evening in Windsor and shortly after seven started to go home. They were joined by Haley, and Dill's younger brother, boy like, began to tease him, although warned by Sunday morning in the Tabernacle Baptist church. He took his text from the 3rd chapter of 11, Corinthians beginning at the 13th verse, "But we all, with unveiled face, beholding as in a mirror the glory of the Lord, are transformed into the same image from glory to glory, even as by spirit of the Lord."
At St. Philip's.
Yesterday was a big day at St.
Philip's church. In the morning Rev.
Charles Beckwith was the preacher.
In the afternoon Mrs. Handy, a possible candidate for St. David's vacant pastorate, who took for his text Rev. xxix:1, "O ye that hate the righteous, the north three gates; on the south three gates, and on the west three gates."
Centenary Church.
At Centenary church yesterday morning Rev. D. M. Stearns, of New York, was the preacher. His subject was the Eternal Purpose, and his text was taken from Ephesians iii:11. At the commencement of the service Miss Ida King Tarbox gave a solo. Rev. Mr.
Stearns occupied the same pulpit in the evening and will deliver a lecture in the church on Wednesday evening.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, Aug. 7.—Again rumors are current regarding the impending change of ownership of the Canada Atlantic railway. Mr. Blair, it is well known, was anxious that the road should come into the possession of the government as part of the Interprovincial. The ministry evidently do not realize the importance of securing this important road, but if what one hears be true, it will not be long before the Canada Atlantic falls into the hands of either the Canadian Northern or the Grand Trunk. W. M. Mackenzie has been angling for the road for some time, but does not seem to be able to make up his mind to take it. It is now said that the G. T. R. is hotfoot after the road, and that it has secured preliminary engineers and accountants are making a most minute examination of the road. The interesting developments are expected in a few weeks.
A despatch has been received from the imperial authorities stating that of the number of Boer guns captured during the war in South Africa, only four can be spared for the Dominion, and some 700 Boer rifles will be sent to Canada. Over a year ago the city of Ottawa applied for a couple of Boer guns to flank the parliament's monument in front of City Hall. As only four are coming to the Dominion and they cannot be divided up amongst the principal cities in Canada that would like one, it is probable that the four will be retained in Ottawa and placed in position in front of the parliament buildings.

The senate Saturday did some work.
In the morning sitting, it passed the anti-tobacco trust bill. Hon. Mr. Scott expecting that the American tobacco trust had absolutely absorbed fifty per cent of Canada's cigarette and tobacco trade by its contracts forbidding wholesaler and retailers from handling the products of other factories. Mr. Scott said the bill was designed to kill all tobacco monopoly and promote the growth of the Canadian product.
The government bill providing for payment of a bounty on crude petroleum from Canadian wells in the Interior of the Standard Oil Co., which controlled the entire output, was passed by the senate after some discussion.

The militia bill, over which much talk was predicted, went through in short order, as did some other government measures.
Both houses sat Saturday, the senate till six p. m. and the commons till almost Sunday morning. Bills of more or less importance were advanced a stage.

ly and cheaply. LAXA-CARA TABLETS

IN CITY CHURCHES.

Several visiting clergymen occupied city pulpits yesterday and generally the congregations were large, considering that so many people are out of town.

Leinster Street Baptist.
Rev. M. G. Coker, of New York, preached in Leinster street Baptist church yesterday morning. Before announcing his text, he expressed himself as being delighted to see so many familiar faces after an absence of a year. He was glad to hear the good things their pastor had told him of the people and expressed himself as entirely in sympathy with the open air service movement. He considered it exactly the work which Christ would do if He were present. Mr. Coker took as his text Luke x:1, "Add to your faith, virtue and to virtue knowledge, and to knowledge temperance, patience, and to patience godliness, and to god-liness brotherly kindness, and to brotherly kindness, charity. 2nd Peter, i.
5:7."

Exmouth street.
Rev. W. C. Keirstead, of Chicago University, who recently declined a chair in the University of New Brunswick, preached Sunday morning in the Tabernacle Baptist church. He took his text from the 3rd chapter of 11,
Corinthians beginning at the 13th
verse, "But we all, with unveiled face,

ments of women multiply.

A CORDIAL INVITATION.

(M. A. P.)
"How well I remember your father when I was a little girl!" lately said an elderly lady to a Newcastle clergyman. "He used to come often to our house or dinner. We were always delighted to see him, children and all."
"That is very pleasant to hear," said the clergyman, with a smile.
"I remember what a hearty appetite he had," she continued. "It was a real pleasure to see him eat. Why, when mother would see him coming along the road of a morning she'd send me running out to cook and say: 'Tell Mary to put on just twice as much of everything as she had planned, for here is Mr. Brown coming to dine with us.'"

The eminent son endeavored to preserve a proper expression of countenance at this interesting reminiscence.
The old lady went on: "You are so much like your father. Won't you come home and dine with us after the service?"
Capt. Abner Reid's funeral services were held in Brooklyn, N. Y., on Friday evening. He was born in St. John, N. B., January 8, 1848 and had command of many vessels sailing between New York and the West Indies. His death was caused by cancer.

LIME ON FIRE.
During high tide last night the water got into a scow laden with lime from Charles Miller's lime kiln. The lime immediately began to steam and there was a great deal of vapor. Fifteen barrels had to be turned into the harbor and there was a great deal of fizzing and steaming. When the tide went out some of the barrels caught fire and the police had to watch them for some time. A still alarm was sent in to No. 3 and Chief Kerr and a couple of men went down, but nothing could be done but leave the lime to burn out.

A MEMORIAL TREE.
It is understood the members of the Haymarket Square Polymorphian Club will designate one of the trees now growing so thickly on the square from which they take their club name, as a memorial to their late fellow, James Fraser. Mr. Fraser was a member of the organization from its inception and was always to the fore in all public-spiritedness of the club. Many of the trees now growing that northeastern breathing spot are silent testimonials to departed members of the H. M. S. P. C. The club flag on the square was half-masted yesterday.

LIEUT. ANNIE LEAR DEAD.

Miss Annie Lear, a lieutenant in the Salvation Army, died at one o'clock Saturday of pleuro pneumonia at Kentville, N. S. She was a native of Newfoundland and only 23 years old. For eight months Lieut. Lear was stationed in St. John and agreeably impressed many listeners with her very beautiful voice. While here she made many friends and was regarded as one of the most capable officers in the Canadian branch of the army. Last November she left for Halifax.
In all the S. A. meetings last night her premature death was spoken of with much feeling and sorrow by officers and others. She has one brother in Cape Breton. Burial will take place at Halifax.

ENTERTAINMENT AT DUCK COVE

A successful dramatic and musical entertainment was given on Saturday evening at Duck Cove by some of the residents. The programme consisted of songs, choruses and recitations in the first part and a laughable farce, the entertainment. It is probable that owing to the success of the entertainment it will be repeated on an evening this week. Among the performers were the following: The Misses E. and B. Johnson, Miss K.

McCall, Miss B. Mason, Messrs. Stanbury, Mason, Birrell and Walker.

Alexander McDonald, who for some years past has been a member of the west side Presbyterian church died this morning. Deceased was one of the best known and most highly respected residents of the west side. Deceased came as a gentle relief from a long life of industry. He leaves a death on the same day as her late majesty, Queen Victoria. He leaves two daughters and one son, the latter resides in the west.

NEW POLICE HELMETS.

The white helmets worn by the police have been a perfect disgrace to our respectable force and in marked contrast to the handsome headgear of the chief. However, through the strenuous efforts of the head of the department new helmets have been secured and the men on duty today present a respectable appearance. The helmets for summer use are of the same design and color as previously worn. It is expected that the fall helmet, or black one, will be received very shortly, but it is not before they are needed.

Michael Daley Gets Two Months in Jail — Henry Mullin Again in for Indecent Conduct

In the police court this morning M. Daley, Jr., was fined twenty dollars or two months in jail with hard labor for assaulting his father at the latter's home early Sunday morning. The arrest was made by Officer Scott, between five and six a. m. Mr. Daley, senior, giving his son in charge in his house on Harding street.

The old man, who was in court, showed indications of having received heavy blows and rough handling. He had no desire, he said, to have his son back, he was no good to him, or for that matter, said Mr. Daley, to himself. He spends his nights drinking and is a nuisance to the old man, and comes in at all kinds of hours. In reply to his honor Mr. Daley said that the son did not pay any board and all the property he had was what was on his back. He had frequently told his son to clear out of the house and earn his living like a man and pay his board.

These sentences, the old man, and comes in at all kinds of hours. In reply to his honor Mr. Daley said that the son did not pay any board and all the property he had was what was on his back. FIRE EXTINGUISHING EXPERIMENT Insurance Men and Firemen Watch Trial of New Chemical Extinguisher This Afternoon.

An interesting experiment in fire extinguishing is going on this afternoon at the Maritime Mill Works before the members of the Board of Fire Underwriters and Chief Kerr, of the fire department. The method of fire extinguishing under experiment is that invented by J. E. McWilliam, of Hubbards, Mass. Both Mr. McWilliam and his son are present, personally conducting the experiment.

A large wooden structure has been erected on the mill works and is set on fire and is to be saved from destruction by means of an automatic fire extinguishing apparatus located within the mill works and connected by means of an automatic pipe. The experiment was not to commence until after three o'clock.

To a Star reporter this morning, Mr. McWilliam explained the working of his apparatus. It is an automatic chemical tank, either stationary or portable. In the present case it is stationary. This tank is filled with water into which is dissolved a certain amount of bi-carbonate of soda. On the surface of this solution is arranged an attachment holding a bottle containing sulphuric acid. This bottle tips over as soon as the solution below it is given vent by means of a certain degree of heat and the two chemicals coming together create a pressure which is sufficient to expel the fluid with great force. The fluid is spread over the fire by sprinklers.
