DID MINING DEALS CAUSE THE FAILURE?

This is the Rumor Regarding
St. Stephen Bank

Officers Have Nothing to Say Yet—Bank of N. B. in Charge—People
Gaily Express D.

ST. STEPHEN, N. B., March 7.—No harder blow ever struck this town and Charlotte County than the announcement this morning of the suspension of the St. Stephen Bank. Founded in 1886, it has been a local institution in which the people felt a pride and which has been of inestimable value to succeeding business generations. For many years it had the field to itself. Over thirty years ago the Bank of British North America opened a branch here but did not long remain, though it built the premises owned and occupied by the St. Stephen Bank. In 1882 the Bank of Nova Scotia opened a branch here and in recent years has been a strong competitor of the local institution. The Bank of British North America is doing business there. Mr. Keeson, returned to the field about a year ago.

This morning signs displayed in the premises of the St. Stephen Bank intimate that the Bank of New Brunswick is doing business there. Mr. Keeson, returned to the field about a year ago. PEOPLE OF MONACO WANT A CONSTITUTION

Half of Them Waited on the Prince and Presented Their Demands.

MONTACELLO, Monaco, March 7.—Half of the subjects of the principality marched to the palace and waiting upon the Prince of Monaco yesterday demanded a constitution. The principality of Monaco was the only absolute monarchy remaining on the face of the globe. The Prince of Monaco, Prince Albert, is an Italian princeling, the smallest state of Europe, having an area of only eight square miles. It is governed by a sovereign, bearing the title of Prince, who is assisted by a state council. The reigning Prince is Albert, Honorable Charles. The principality consists mainly of the town of Monaco and its suburbs, La Condamine and Monte Carlo, the famous gambling resort, from which the state derives its revenue. The population is about 17,000, only about 1,200 of whom are actual subjects of the Prince.

MAY DIE AS RESULT OF KICK FROM A HORSE

Man Named Gaudet Hurt at Notre Dame
—Dr. McCully's Views on the Treatment of Crime.

MONCTON, N. B., March 7.—Some interesting suggestions for treatment of criminals were advanced by Dr. O. J. McCully, formerly of St. John, in a lecture here Sunday afternoon on the treatment of criminals. Dr. McCully advocated treatment of the same as for physical infirmities and opposed the present court and prison systems. He favored the police taking drunks home instead of arresting them, and spoke against the present system of medical expert testimony in courts, and the indiscriminate mixing of convicts in prison.

While working in a stable at Notre Dame yesterday, a man named Gaudet was kicked in the abdomen by a vicious horse, causing a very serious rupture. Dr. Myers, of Moncton, was called and says the rupture may prove fatal.

POINT A PITRE, Guadeloupe, March 7.—P. M. Henry, the Secretary General of Guadeloupe, was shot and seriously wounded while sitting on the veranda of his hotel today. The assassin whose identity is not known, fired two shots and escaped.

STMR. MANHATTAN DESTROYED BY FIRE

Burned to Water's Edge at Wharf in Portland

One of the Crew is Missing and May Have Perished—Steamer Was
Valued at $250,000.

PORTLAND, Me., March 7.—Catching fire from some unknown cause shortly after one had docked upon arrival here from New York early today, the steamer Manhattan, owned by the Maine Steamship Co., was totally destroyed. The loss was placed at $250,000. The fireman of the steamer's crew was reported missing, but it is thought he escaped safely.

The steamer had been at the Franklin Docks on Commercial street about an hour when fire was discovered between the decks just forward of the engine bulkhead on the port side. A strong wind swept the flames through the cargo of freight, and within a few minutes the entire forward part of the ship was a mass of fire. The Manhattan was towed out into the stream and a derrick ineffectually poured tons of water into the blazing vessel. With the exception of a small space at the stern, the steamer was burned over entirely. Six passengers and a crew of 39 men were on board the Manhattan when the fire broke out. With the exception of the fireman reported missing all escaped. The missing fireman's name is unknown. The steamer Manhattan was built at Bath in 1887 for the Maine Steamship Company. She was a wooden-hulled steamer, 1,222 tons gross and 2,500 horsepower.

From Ottawa.

Consideration of the Durant project which has been held up by lack of a copy of the plan showing the transfers proposed between F. C. Durant and the Dominion Government will probably be resumed in the middle of this week at a special meeting of the general committee of the Common Council.

A wire was received from Ottawa on Saturday saying that the plan had been mailed. It is understood that Mr. Durant's representative has the agreement ready to be signed if the basis of agreement can be reached.

AWFUL CATASTROPHE NARROWLY AVERTED

Express Train Missed Destruction by a Minute

Immense Snow-slide Within a Few Feet
It—Sailed With 100 Passengers
Between Two Blockades.

MONTREAL, March 7.—The latest details of the avalanche on the St. Lawrence show that an awful catastrophe was avoided by the merest chance. Train No. 87, the International Limited, was going west toward the scene of the first slide, thinking that all danger was over. They were getting near Field when the third slide of Saturday afternoon took place behind them just missing the train. The avalanche was a thousand feet wide and piled the tracks to twice the depth of a Pullman car. There were a hundred passengers on board and they are stalled at Field between the two slides and cannot get away till late this evening or tomorrow when the track is likely to be clear.

Some six years ago the roundhouse and station at Rogers' Pass were buried by a snow slide and the agent and his wife and two children were killed. Their bodies were sent to Bowmanville, Ont., for burial. Then the station which was at the point between two steep mountains was moved, so that slides could threaten the station from only one side.

ATTACHMENT ACT STRONGLY CONDEMNED

Barriester Characterizes It as Vicious, and Dangerous Piece of Legislation—Unfair to Merchants in Temporary Difficulties

A vicious and dangerous piece of legislation is the description given by a prominent local barrister of the new Attachment Act. In conversation with the Star he said that the powers it gave to a creditor were altogether beyond reason. If a business man is temporarily embarrassed he may be pounced upon and his business taken out of his hands. This may be desirable in some cases, but in others it is liable to work very grave injury to the merchants.

SERIOUS CHARGES MADE AGAINST ROBILIN

Used His Position to Serve Private Ends?

Italian Murdered a Companion on Toronto
Street—Fire Destroys Business
Block in Comber, Ont.

TORONTO, March 7.—A Globe Winnipeg special says that the opposition last session charged that Premier Roblin, while a member of the E. I. Sand Co., guaranteed the bonds of the Canadian Northern Railway on branches to the pits of that company, but this Mr. Roblin denied, declaring he had ceased to be a partner in the Sand Co. before the bonds were guaranteed.

This year the opposition returned to the attack and one of the members offered to establish that the premier was still a member of the company, or to resign his seat, but the government refused to permit an investigation, holding Mr. Roblin's denial was sufficient.

Saturday a letter written to the premier by Mr. Hugh Sutherland, executive agent of the Canadian Northern Railway, in January, 1909, was produced, which mentioned that a check for $1,000 being Mr. Roblin's share of the Sand Company's profits from the previous year was enclosed and which discussed various details of the concern, showing Mr. Roblin was still prominent in the company.

TORONTO, March 7.—Pasquale Ventricelli, an Italian laborer, stabbed Raffaele Fabbio, a fellow countryman, to death near the boarding house of Mrs. Tony Butcher, Manning avenue, Sunday night. Tony Bush, a brother of Mrs. Butcher, who was present at the time of the stabbing, declares Ventricelli had been drinking and stabbed the other without provocation.

DERELICT SUPPOSED TO BE MISSING DUTCH STEAMER

Prinz Wilhelm Left Amsterdam on Jan 21
for West Indies—Ionian Damaged
Above Water Line.

LONDON, March 7.—The derelict with which the steamer Ionian was in collision on the trip from Boston to Glasgow is supposed to be the missing Dutch merchant steamer Prinz Wilhelm II, which left Amsterdam on January 21 for West Indian ports with 14 passengers and a crew of 38. The hull of the Ionian was damaged above the water line. She struck the floating obstruction about a thousand miles off Tory Island, Ireland.

1892—Cripple Creek Milling-

NEW YORK, March 7.—Dr. Louis Klopach, editor of the Christian Herald, and known the world over for his philanthropies, died early this morning following an operation of Friday for an intestinal obstruction.

Since 1892 Dr. Klopach raised and distributed more than $3,300,000. The Car of Russia gave him a special audience in 1892 and in 1898 he was thanked by the governments of India and Great Britain for his aid in the time of the famine.

It is announced that important political development will be followed by another party which will endeavor to get into touch and work with the national liberals, in which event a most powerful combination will be created.

CO-OPERATIVE SOCIETIES.

There has been some activity in St. John looking toward the organization of a co-operative society in this city. Several meetings have been held and a certain amount of attention has been devoted to a measure now before the Federal House, under which such organizations are to be given definite rights and privileges. In Montreal there has been for the past two years an industrial co-operative society, incorporated under the Quebec laws and conducted for the benefit of its patrons. If the present movement in St. John takes definite form, it will be well for those interested in the object to avoid those errors into which the Montreal men have fallen. The Montreal society has after a struggle decided to abandon its efforts to build up a paying business and to assign in accordance with the demands of its creditors. The accounts have been given over to a local firm in collection and the members of the society are now endeavoring to figure out their losses. What those losses are will not be known until all the unpaid subscriptions have been paid in full and a final settlement with the creditors reached. This is not the first time that Montreal has noted the failure of a co-operative society. For in Rochelleville some time ago a similar organization met with disaster. Yet these two failures have not disheartened the enthusiasts in the movement and they are starting another business, hoping with the benefit of past experience to conduct it along more satisfactory lines. The recent failure is ascribed to several causes, the most important of these being a lack of interest on the part of members. It was found that those who had subscribed to the movement, and many others who had pledged their support or promised their patronage, failed to keep up to the mark. Contrary to the constitution of the society, the management of the undertaking allowed credit, realizing it was almost impossible to avoid doing so and still secure a reasonable share of business. Some of the accounts proved unprofitable and swallowed up a considerable portion of the proceeds from cash custom.

Although there are other co-operative establishments in Montreal and in other Canadian cities, the success which has been attained in England does not appear to follow such institutions in Canada, though the reason is not clearly apparent. It may be that if the bill now under consideration at Ottawa is put through, co-operative societies will be more favorably placed, but there is doubt as to the facts of this bill. It is being strongly opposed by industrial and commercial organizations everywhere, chiefly on the ground that it exempts a certain class of traders from liabilities to which other classes are subject.

ANOTHER CAMPAIGN NEEDED.

There is need in St. John for a moral reform campaign. Perhaps better results could be immediately achieved through the activity of the police than by a series of prayer meetings, for those most deserving of attention are not the ones oftenest found inside church doors. They are in fact rather backward about interesting themselves in spiritual affairs, and are inclined to yield more readily to that treatment which involves salaciousness than to the more sober and reasonable one accompanied by the health producing diet of bread and water. Ten or a dozen years ago—to go back to ancient history—a small group of extremely moral individuals who shuddered when they thought of the depravity of mankind, were responsible for a campaign which the police, though opposing, were practically forced by popular opinion to carry out. It had as its object the abolition of a scattered group of houses of ill-repute in the lower section of the city. The work of the police, directed to a large extent by the moral reformers was effectively conducted in so far as these houses were concerned. All of them were closed, put out of business. Then there was great rejoicing to think that these places no longer existed. But unluckily for the good souls who prompted the campaign a new condition was created. Some of the establishments merely moved beyond the limits of the city, where they re-established on perhaps a more extensive scale than before. The persons who formerly occupied the others of the houses scattered themselves about the city, and soon the police found that instead of a few resorts over which a strict watch could be kept, there were springing up about the town innumerable disreputable dives, making the task of the officers a matter of the utmost difficulty. During the past eight or ten years that occupation known to the police as "street walking" has increased in this city to such an extent that there are now probably hundreds of women, young and old, who would scarcely class with Caesar's wife. But there has of late been another and equally serious development. The county authorities are taking more energetic action against the out-of-town resorts, with the result that many of the inmates of these places are being driven back to the city and, not succumbing to the elevating influences of that religious atmosphere in which St. John is now enveloped, are continuing in their lives of infamy. As a matter of fact—and this the police will endorse—there are today in St. John more houses of ill-repute than at any time within at least the last quarter century. There are more girls on the road to destruction; there are more men and boys involved in this discreditable life; and even in the heart of the city on some of the principal business streets there are resorts which are notorious and which are generally recognized as places of ill-repute. Whereas formerly we had this evil confined to one district and under strict police supervision, today the town is filled with loose characters scattered everywhere, with no fixed places of abode, who successfully elude the vigilance of the officers. What is to be done about it? Something is necessary, but since the moral reform movement of ten years ago was largely responsible for the present, unfortunate condition, it is rather difficult to find the best solution of the existing problem.

JUDGE ORDERS GIRL TO SCHOOL; SHE ELOPES

Had Been Paroled in Care of Mother for One Day.

PITTSBURG, Pa., March 5.—Ordered committed to a Catholic school as a condition of her parents' marital troubles, Freda Alam, 14 years old, was permitted to remain another day with her mother, who was admonished to care for her.

The girl disappeared and the mother was arraigned before Judge Davis for contempt of court.

While the case was being heard the girl appeared, leaning on the arm of a man, whom she introduced as her husband. She had eloped to Wheeling, W. Va., and was Mrs. Michael Kallil.

The young bride produced the marriage certificate and pleaded the case of her mother. While the court looked upon the elopement as a happy solution of the child's case, he fined the mother $10.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

Professor George Burnham Foster, of the University of Chicago, has recently preached a sermon in a Chicago church on the stupidity of sectarianism. He says that he hopes this "separation of congregations that ought to be together" will some day pass away.

This boldly expressed hope has given me the courage to bring forth a certain Utopian vision I have long cherished. If you have no patience with Utopian visions, stop here. This is not meant for you. But if you like such things this may perchance interest you.

My dream is of one united church in each community and if possible the Catholic churches, too, could be united into one great church.

All the people who worship God in any way would belong to this church.

It would have no creed. Its members would believe exactly what they wished about God. If one wished to believe him a divine personage, giving personal attention to each whispered prayer and another wanted to believe him just a vague and wonderful force behind creation and in nature, that would make no difference. Both would be eligible to membership in this church.

Of a Sunday morning when our neighborhood goes forth to church some go one way and some another.

Most of the churches to which they go are seldom filled and all are constantly struggling to make both ends meet.

Several of them are separated by very slight doctrinal differences. Why not one large, well supported church where each may believe his own way but all worship together?

My ideal church has one or more large church buildings, according to the size and needs of the community.

The buildings are the most beautiful in the city. The sermons are preached by great and good men from all professions as well as by the regular ministers.

That the convenience of all may be suited there is a service every hour or two all day Sunday. In order to suit all tastes—the taste that likes a simple, intellectual service, and the taste that likes an elaborate, sensual service, with music and incense and choir boys and candles, there are all these kinds of services at different times.

Since there is plenty of money there can always be plenty of the most beautiful music and the most talented men of the age can be asked to come and give their beautiful thoughts to the congregations.

The church will be opened during the week both for service and for social and philanthropic work. The "need of the world of men" will be the business of the church, as well as the worship of God.

The ministers will all be well paid. There will be no need of undignified begging for money.

The community will believe as individuals as before, but worship as a splendid unit.

There will be no rich man's church and around the corner a poor man's chapel. Each for all and all for each.

The men and women who are unwilling to subscribe to any elaborate creed will be able to belong to this church where all are eligible that believe in some higher power deserving men's worship.

Is it a foolish, impossible dream? If such a church could be founded would it be founded only to break into sects again at the first disagreement?

I wonder. But anyhow, I like to think about it.

THE LIGHTER SIDE OF LIFE

ONE OF THE ASSIMILATORS.

Stranger—What do you do with the vast swarms of immigrants that land on your shores every year?

Friend—Don't know. We don't have any trouble, sir, in assimilating them.

SERIOUS SUBJECTS.

Britisher—You Americans joke about subjects in which there is very little humor.

Irishman—The subjects of King Edward, eh, old boy?

DEPRESSED.

"How do you define 'black as your hat'?" said a schoolmaster to one of his pupils.

"Darkness that may be felt," replied the budding genius.

"Half the world doesn't know how the other half lives."

"Possibly," answered Miss Cayenne. "But that isn't the fault of the ladies who go together with their knitting in our hotel."

"Is he rich?"

"He used to be."

"Well, isn't he now?"

"I don't know, he has been engaged to be married to a chorus girl for nearly a year."

1911—"What's the height of your ambition?"

"1910—"Well, I don't know exactly; but she just comes up to my shoulder."

President Hadley of Yale, visiting a children's school in Bridgeport, once asked a little boy who Esau was.

The lad's reply was astonishing.

"Esau," said he, "was the author of a book of fables and he sold the copyright for a bottle of potash."

Benson—This anti-trust movement is spreading rapidly everywhere.

De Broke—Yes; my tailor has caught the fever now.

SUES FATHER-IN-LAW, PASTOR, FOR HIS BRIDE

Gilbertson Man Wants Cust. d. Again of His Young Bride.

POTTSVILLE, Pa., March 5.—Arthur Berwick, of Gilberton, today applied to the court here for a writ of habeas corpus against the Rev. Lawrence Kerholzen, a Methodist pastor of Gilberton, to obtain possession of his bride of a few days, Mrs. Reba Berwick, the minister's daughter. Mrs. Berwick has been with her father ever since his last encounter with his son-in-law. Berwick alleges that he and Miss Kerholzen were legally married on February 18, and that on February 21 her father came to his home in the borough of Gilberton and took the girl away.

He asked the court to direct the Rev. Kerholzen to bring his bride before the judge on Monday next, and to show cause why the custody of the young lady should not be restored to her legal husband.

THE STANLEY CUP HAS NOT YET BEEN WON

Montreal Has Won the League Championship, That is All—No Challenge Yet for the Cup

MONTREAL, March 7.—The Stanley Cup, despite reports, has not been won nor lost this season. A regular series of games have of course been played, but these were not Stanley Cup games. The Stanley Cup is held this year in this league, so as the Wanderers won the championship on Saturday, they will be called on to defend the Stanley Cup. There has been no challenge for the cup as yet but Berlin, Ont., announces that it will challenge. All challenges have to go before the trustees in Ottawa of whom P. D. Rees is chief.

Household : Hints

Cold cooked beef, whether boiled, broiled or roasted, chopped fine, mixed with cooked potatoes, also chopped fine, and moistened with gravy and milk, makes a most acceptable dish. Put into a pudding dish, cover the top with grated cheese, and bake.

Before putting white furs away, clean by rubbing gently with corn meal dampened with gasoline. In the open air. Repeat until clean and then fluff furs with dry meal. It will easily shake out. Clean dark furs with dry bran, which should be heated.

A safe and sane skin lotion that will prevent premature wrinkles is made by boiling twelve tablespoonfuls of barley in a quart of water until gluten is obtained. Strain through a fine linen and add to the liquid a teaspoonful of tincture of benzoin.

Rice with fruit makes a tasty dessert. When the rice is boiled tender and a little orange pulp, a sliced banana and a few canned cherries. Pour into a mold to become firm. When cold cover with powdered macaroons and serve with either whipped cream or a soft custard.

Jellied salad is nice for a change. Chop bits of celery rather fine, mix with shredded lettuce or flaked cabbage and saturate thoroughly with a well-seasoned French dressing. Mix a teaspoonful of granulated gelatine in a little water, blend this well through the whole, press into a crockery mold or small bowl, and put in a cool place to become firm.

OTTAWA, March 7.—The tariff problem which is now confronting Canada and the United States, is a long way from settlement. The American representatives will meet the Canadian negotiators, while both governments are apparently anxious to avoid any tariff war, Canada will stand out strongly for her rights. The representatives will not make any concessions to the Americans. It is quite certain that the United States will not be given the tariff concessions which France received in return for the minimum rate on a long list of Canadian exports. However, there is no intention on the part of the Canadian representatives to discriminate against the United States.

REVIVAL OF THE WHALING INDUSTRY

Scenes at New Bedford Reminiscent of the Days of Long Ago—New Vessels Fitting Out.

NEW BEDFORD, Mass., March 6.—For the past two weeks, the waterfront of the city has resembled a picture from the past and memories of New Bedford's prestige when the whaling industry was at its height, have been revived. Not for many years has so much attention been given to the whale fishery as at present, and Thursday next, the first of a fleet of nine whaling vessels, now outfitting, will sail in quest of the great animals which have a century ago, laid the foundations of many a substantial fortune.

The few survivors of the old-time whalers, who for more than a generation have mourned the decline of what was once the city's principal industry, spend nearly all their spare moments on the wharves, exchanging reminiscences of thrilling struggles, smashed boats, shipwreck and the other hardships which often are the lot of those who go down to the sea in ships.

Dropsy—

Given up by Doctor

"I had dropsy, and was told by my family physician that there was no chance for me. My family also gave me up. My limbs and body were swollen one-third larger than natural, water collected around my heart and I had to be propped up in bed to keep from smothering. I took Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy until I was entirely cured. This was in 1902, and I am now able to do any kind of work on my farm. My cure was certainly marvelous."

L. TURLEY CURD,
Willmore, Ky.

Dr. Miles' Heart Remedy has been wonderfully successful in relieving heart trouble. Its tonic effect upon the heart nerves and muscles is a great factor in assisting nature to overcome heart weakness.

Price $1.00 at your druggist. He should supply you. If he does not, send price to us, we forward prepaid.

AMUSEMENTS

BRAVE HIGHLANDERS AT ST. JOHN.

Star Theatre in Union Hall, North End, has a triple bill tonight that defies successful competition. The big feature is to be a story of the South African War, entitled "The Highlanders' Defence," in which the heroic Scotchmen are faithfully portrayed. The second feature is a Selig company play, "Down Among the Old Fives," something like "The Old Homestead" or "Way Down East." A dramatic story of the sea is contained in the third bill, "The Private Platoon." There will be comedy numbers also and Mr. Harry Newcombe is to render a new illustrated ballet. Don't miss this big programme tonight.

THE GEM

The Gem will feature tonight the most famous actress of the motion picture actresses, in her latest success "The Side of Fortune." This actress has caused more comment than any other woman in the world—she made Biograph pictures famous, and has placed the Imp subjects above all competitors. The press notices of her work in this subject has caused, according to reports, many fearful eyes and the which especially appeals to women. The story contains beautiful pure, deep pathos, in which the actress plays the part of a woman who is over 1,000 feet. "The Passing of the Shadow," another feature of tonight's programme is also over 1,000 feet long and is a Vitaphone subject. The management of this ever popular theatre are surely giving the best show, producing at each performance two big productions. This story contains a character which has been the hero of many a tale and one which always finds sympathy with the world. Besides these two big subjects, a Pathe vaudeville act, roller skating by champion of the world, and also a Pathe comedy "A Critical Situation," which contains many laughs. Mr. Harry Newcombe is to render a new illustrated song and the latest music. Matinees will be given at the usual hour each day this week. Watch for a surprise.

ZEPPELIN PLANS FOR POLAR TRIP

HAMBURG, March 6.—The Zeppelin north polar expedition, which was held yesterday under the presidency of Prince Henry of Prussia, Count von Zeppelin, Prof. Dr. Alfred Wegener, were among those present. The committee discussed the program of the summer's work, which will be devoted to a preliminary expedition for the purpose of studying ice conditions. The government will be asked for the use of the exploring vessel Poseidon for about two months. The expedition will start for Spitzberg July 1 on an excursion steamer and there will transfer to the Poseidon. A Norwegian steamer will be used for the purpose of forcing an entrance into the Polar ice and the expedition will return at the end of August. Apparently no airship will be taken for summer use.

HIGH PRICES OF FOOD.

Recently two mass meetings of the working men of St. John have been held to consider this question which is of such vital importance to us all. The feeling of these meetings is that the present difficulties arise from combinations or trusts, both large and small, on the part of the dealers to boost the prices, and that the only effective reply would be combination on the part of the consumers. The co-operative movement which has such a great vogue in England and the more progressive European countries, was largely spoken of. At the last meeting a committee consisting of Mr. S. E. Logan, Rev. J. J. McCaskill, etc., etc., was appointed to look into this matter. This committee has met and a mass meeting will be held tonight in McLean's Building, Union street, at 8 p. m., to consider the report of this committee. All interested (particularly the ladies) are invited and a free discussion will take place.
