Success.

Most people are apt to think that those who have one distinction in life are geniuses; and to attribute their success to some special gift or endowment. This to my idea is a grave mistake. The more one reads the history of great men the more one sees that their successes were simply the result of industry, patience, perseverance or some other characteristic a few of which I will mention.

The one I will mention first is courage.

"Tender-handed stroke a nettle,
And it stings you for your pains;
Grasp it like a man of mettle,
And it soft as silk remains;"

The reply of Regulus to the Roman Senate when they tried to dissuade him from returning to Carthage was: "Have you resolved to dishonour me? Torture and death are awaiting me but what are these to the shame of an infamous act or the wounds of a guilty mind? Slave as I am to Carthage I still have the spirit of a Roman. I have sworn to return. It is my duty. Let the Gods take care of the rest."

It took courage for Regulus voluntarily to go back to torture and death for the sake of fulfilling a promise.

It took courage for Wendell Phillips to stand and lecture in favor of the abolition of slavery when his angry listeners hissed him, hooted at him and expressed their scorn with eviler results. It took courage for John Knox to stand and preach while a loaded musket was levelled at his head. So also does it take courage today for a young person to stand firmly erect while his friends and companions are bowing and scraping at the altar of riches popularity or power. It takes courage to be outvoted, beaten or misjudged and it takes courage to stand alone in the right. But who are the men whom today we adore as our great men? Are they not those who have fought single-handed for what they believed to be right? Those who have been courageous?

The second element requisite to success is a determined will. The old proverb says, "where there's a will there's a way," and as we look back over history we find that the men who have achieved success in life are those who when they were willed to do a thing, if there was no way open made one.

When it was first proposed to build ships of iron people ridiculed the idea.

They said that the man was a fool who would expect iron to float. But today the iron and steel vessels that traverse the high seas far outnumber the wooden ones, and why?—because a will found a way to make iron float.

Oliver Cromwell is a splendid example of what a man with a determined will can accomplish. He resolved to free England from the oppression of the Royalist and to establish a condition of affairs in which everyone should have perfect religious freedom. He raised an army; defeated the royal troops; dissolved the Long Parliament, became Protector of the Commonwealth, and until the time of his death ruled the British Empire in a most efficient manner, granting to all British Subjects that liberty which he determined to give them.

It was not through mere chance that young Alexander the Great conquered the world. Nor was it entirely caprice of fortune that took Abraham Lincoln from the log cabin on the mild frontier and put him in the Presidential chair of the United States. It was to a large extent the determined will of the men that won for them success.

A third element absolutely necessary to the attainment of success is to have an aim in life,—one dominating purpose to which all things are secondary.

Benjamin Franklin once said:—
Let everyone ascertain his special business and calling and then stick to it if he would be successful.

In these days of specialities if one is to succeed in life he must specialise. He must be able to do one thing a little better than anyone else can do it. The days for jack of all trades are over. Danam had one aim in life to investigate the laws of nature, this aim made him immortal. Wm. Pitt had one master passion in life to be a great politician. At the age of twenty-one he gained a seat in the English House of Commons and three years later was Prime Minister of England.

Another necessary ingredient which goes to make up success is work. We have all seen enough of life to know that in order to obtain anything worth while we must work for it. Edison worked from eighteen to twenty hours a day for seven months trying to get the phonograph to reproduce the aspirated sound. At last he was successful and thus completed that wonderful instrument.

Thalberg, the great pianist said that he never ventured one of his celebrated pieces in public until he had played it over at least fifteen hundred times.

Webster worked for thirty-six years on his dictionary.

These men are commonly called geniuses. But it was the genius of unrelenting toil that made them famous.

But let not one think that he alone has made a success of life whose name is handed down to posterity because of his having been courageous having had a resolute will, having had one unwavering aim in life, having been a hard and steady workman or having complete control of himself.

"The applause of listening senate to command,
The threats of pain and ruin to despise,
To scatter plenty o'er a smiling land,
And read their history in a nation's eyes."

Nevertheless let each of us endeavor to develop in himself or herself these characteristics which tend to success, in order that we may make the most of life, in order that we may make of life a success.

BESSIE CAWLEY.

Halifax, N. S., April 10—A fleet of six Halifax schooners, one of which arrived home today, has spent the past week seeking for seals in the Indian Ocean. Last year Captain Rueben Balcon, a seal hunter in the South Atlantic went to the Indian Ocean and made a remarkable catch, striking seals on the Marion Islands.

His success was so great that the six vessels sought the seals this year in the Indian Ocean. Two of the schooners have arrived, one of them, the Alice Gertrude, coming in today. She took only 400 seals, which were landed at Cape Town, a disappointing trip, the value of the catch being about $16,000. The schooner La-tooka arrived last with a catch of 730. The four other schooners, not yet arrived are the Ulva with 173, Agnes Donahoe 1,554, The Village Belle with 372, and the Beatrice Corkum with 746.

The catch of 3,411 seals for the fleet of six schooners is valued at a total of about $136,000. The comparative failure this year will likely stop further expeditions to the Indian Ocean.

FATHER MORRISSEY'S REMEDIES.

Cured a Truro Lady of Both Lung
and Kidney Troubles.

Truro, N.S., Jan. 14th, 1910.
Father Morrissey Med. Co. Ltd.

For some time I had been troubled with a very dry cough and pain in my lungs. I made up my mind to try your medicine,
and had used one bottle of No. 10 (Lung Tonic) when the pain left me and I felt much better.

My kidneys troubled me quite a lot also,
and I purchased a box of your No. 7 (remains and kidney cure) and since taking the tablets I have had no pain in my side or back. I spent quite a lot of money in medicine, but none of the remedies I tried ever helped me, until a lady friend showed me your advertisement. I am now fat and healthy, and your remedies have saved me from the grave.

(Miss) MARTHA WHITE.
None of Father Morrissey's remedies have ever been heralded as "cure-alls." The wise physician prescribed a special remedy for each kind of disease—a remedy skillfully devised to cure that particular trouble and that only.

No. 10 (Lung Tonic), besides curing colds, inflammation, pneumonia, bronchitis and other diseases of throat and lungs, strengthens these organs and gives them
vigour to resist a return of the trouble.

No. 7 Tablets stimulate weak kidneys so that they can properly perform their function of filtering from the blood the impu-rities that cause rheumatism.

The action of both these remedies is hastened if Father Morrissey's Linctum is applied freely externally.

No. 7 Tablets for Kidneys and Rheumatism are put up in 50c. boxes; No. 10 (Lung Tonic) in 25c. and 50c. bottles, and Father Morrissey's Linctum in 25c. bottles. At your dealer's, or from Father Morrissey
Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N.B. 97

This little gem appeared in the local paper at Honey Brook, Pennsylvania:

"Mister Edator: Jem Bangs, we are sorry to stait, has deseized. He departed this life last Mundy at the age of 23 years. He went 4th without any struggle, and sich is life. Tu Day we are as pepper crass, mighty smart to.

More we are cu, down like a cucumber
of the ground. Jem kept a nice star, which his wife now waits on. His virchews was numerous to behold. We never knew him to put sand in his sugar tho he had a big sand bar in front of his house; nor water in his milk, tho the-river runs past his dore. Peece to his remains! He leaves a wife, 8 children, a cow, 4 horses, a grocery store and quad-ropets to mourn his loss, but in the splendid language of the poet, his loss is their eternal gane."

Beware of Cocaine Medicines

Thousands of Drug Fiends have been started on their downward course through Catharrh snuffs containing this habit forming drug. If you suffer from a cold, sneezing or Catarrh—don't use a snuff—
use a sensible treatment like Catharrh-
one. It heals and soothes, brings relief at once, cures thoroughly. In Bronchitis and throat trouble no doctor can do better than prescribe Catharrh-one. Try it—see what wonders it works—what power
it possesses. Different from the way-
-yon inhaler Catharrh-one. Sold in 25c.
and 50c. sizes by all dealers.

Roosevelt and Family in Naples

Naples, April 2.—Colonel Roosevelt talked briefly with the newspaper men
today, one of whom afterwards said:
"Overflowing vitality seems to be his dominating characteristic. Europe contains no such type of statesman. After a year spent in the heart of Africa, Mr.
Roosevelt returns to civilization with his mind so full of all things that he does not even mention his hunting trip which for a man in his position affords few parallels."

Colonel Roosevelt held an informal reception for the Americans in the records of the hotel. With Mrs. Roosevelt he dined quietly at the hotel, and later occupied a box and later occupied a box at the San Carlos Theatre which had been placed at his disposal in the prefect of Naples.

Thousands are Flooding
to Canada

Ottawa, April 5.—Immigration into Canada for the month of February of this year was more than double the immigration for the corresponding month of last year. The total last month was 10,162, as compared with 4,791 for the preceding February, an increase of 112 per cent.
For the eleven months of the fiscal year
the total number of immigrants has been 175,729, an increase of 45,285, or 85 per cent. compare with the corresponding eleven months of 1908-9. From the United States for the eleven months immigration increased by 71 per cent.
the comparative figures being 85,488 and 2,165.

Midsummer Medi- tations of a Marr- ied Man.

O! for a tent or hut on some unbraggous ridge.

A quiet, sequestered spot, embowered
in ample shade,

Where I may do the things that
please me best the while,

With no one nigh to make my placid
soul afraid,

Smoke, as I list, the meditative pipe,
and think,

And sip oft-times some cool, exhilarating drink—

(Water with seven year old is good enough for me—

Your so-called summer drinks distress
me painfully.)

Or pluck the luscious berry from the clinging vine,

What time I wander in the underwood about;

Or cast upon the purling brook my nimble line

To catch, perchance, the shy, but gamey, toothsome trout.

Ye gods! a mouth on some enchanting spot like that

Would build me up, and make me
young and strong again;

I have no further use for pills and
antif,

And be once more the man that erst
while I have been.

Go, rod and tackle, get and pack my grip straightway;

I'll hit me northward now unto the Georgian Bay.

Pert Paragraphs.

Being a sweet thing is sometimes being merely a girl, and at others it means a box of fudge.

Pay as you go isn't a bad idea if you really must pay at all.

Some men are so stingy that they hate to waste a smile on the chance of conciliating fortune.

Many a man of really respectable intellect doesn't show it when pretty girls are around.

It may not be disgraceful to be poor,
but sometimes it is horridly uncomfortable.

Sometimes a man creates quite a sensation by the simple expedient of paying his debts.

The man who talks much to himself
has his own ideas of an improving conversation.

Zeppelin to try for North Pole in a Balloon

Berlin, April 3.—Prince Henry of Prussia will be a member of the advance expedition which will prepare the Spitzbergen base for Count Zeppelin's north pole flight of 1912. The party will sail in July from Bremerhaven on the North German Loyd steamer for Spitzbergen,
where it is intended to erect a dirigible balloon house. The return will be made before winter sets in.

Others of the party of preparation will be Count Zeppelin, Dr. Theodor Lewald, commissioner general to the World's Fair at St. Louis; Prof. Hergereil, of the University of Strasburg, a balloon expert and government commissioner on airships; Bri Von Drygalski, the geographer
and polar explorer; Privy Councillor Mietho, of the faculty of the Technical University of Charlesburg; Herr Friele-lander, and Herr Tuld, the latter one of the wealthiest men of Berlin.

Crossing the Atlantic by spending less than three days upon the water is now a possibility. Not that the big liners are smashing whole days from their record,
but the eastern terminal of the railway
recently completed across Newfoundland is only about one thousand miles from the coast of Ireland. It is but a short distance from Cape Breton to Newfoundland, and a half-rail, half-water journey from New York to London will be attractive to those who suffer from sea qualms Youth's Companion.

Beware of Substitutes!

Greedy dealers endeavor to plan off a substitute for Putnam's Corn Extractor.
Insist on "Putnam's" only—it cures corns and warts thoroughly. The imitation may fail.

A New Spain

A writer in a current magazine sees encouraging signs of a national awakening in Spain. This one great nation, now long sunk into practical impotence among the powers of the world, is stirring anew with desire for better things than have been its portion for years past.

The war with the United States lost to Spain the last of her colonies. For scores of years she had looked to her dependencies, rich in natural wealth, for large returns. That possession of them carried with it any responsibility or opportunity other than the opportunity of grinning
from them all the gold fount possible was something never recognized by the Spanish people. Moreover, such was Spanish rule that the cost of government for the colonies was a steady drain upon the national treasury.

A large measure
of the attention of the home government had to be centered on colonial affairs and domestic interests suffered in consequence.

Now the colonies have gone and the cost of the up-keep of colonial administration is no longer burdening the nation.

The country's statesmen can give necessary attention to the problems of home affairs. National thought is centered upon things at home. The natural consequence of these things is the springing up of a more lively interest in national affairs. There is coming to the people a realization of the backwardness of the nation in comparison with other nations and there is coming also a realization of the mineral wealth of the land, of the agricultural possibilities, of opportunities for successful manufacturing. The national feeling is growing, very gradually of course for the result of centuries is not overcome in a few years, and a new Spain is struggling for foothold.

Are you Pale Anaemic

Anaemic means colorless blood—means languor, blanched lips, faded cheeks.
You grow dyspeptic, nervous, suffer functional irregularity. This condition can't exist if there is plenty of healthy blood.
Perrozone makes good blood, rich nutritious blood—that's why it cures. In concentrated form Perrozone contains certain rare qualities that render it unfailing in Anaemia, languor, poor color and loss of weight. To build up—feel young and vigorous, nothing is better than Perrozone. At all dealers in 50c.
boxes.

Advice for Boys

A boy who is envious of the good fortune of others, and is dissatisfied because he, too, cannot have it, makes all around him unhappy. He should not be envious of anything but the good traits of others, and these he may possess if he desires for them in real. One restless, unhappy boy in a house, who is always bemoaning his own fate and envying others, will jar upon the good nature of a saint. He should not be vainglorious and assume airs for something for which he supposes places him a little beyond his fellow creatures. If he cannot respect himself he cannot hope to exact it from others, but his self esteem must be tempered with modesty. He may be conscious of his own achievements, but it will be more becoming in him to allow others to herald them.—Pilgrim.

Life Will be Shortened

Those who fail to observe the fundamental rules of health, especially those who neglect constipation, will have short lives. Constipation ruins health, destroys vitality, weakens the blood, causes dyspepsia, nervousness and insomnia.
Why not use Dr. Hamilton's Pills and be cured. Take one or two pills before retiring and you're well next morning.
No grip or pain, no headache and nausea when you use Dr. Hamilton's Pills—they cure scientifically. Positively the best laxative known, 25c. at all dealers.

"I'm going over to comfort Mrs.
Brown," said Mrs. Jackson to her daughter Mary, "Mr. Brown hanged himself in their attic last night."
"Oh, mother, don't go! You know you always say the wrong thing."
"Yes, I'm going. Mary, I'll just talk about the weather. That's a safe enough subject."
Mrs. Jackson went over on her visit of condolence. "We have had rainy weather lately, haven't we, Mrs.
Brown?" she said.

"Yes," replied the widow; "I haven't been able to get the week's wash dried."
"Oh," said Mrs. Jackson, "wouldn't think you have any trouble. You have such a nice attic to hang things in."

In the Dress World

Those who are making lingerie blouses
should pay attention to the colored ones.
They are prettier than the white ones, or rather they strike our fancy just now as something to be desired.

The white blouses and shirt waists are expensive because cleanliness is expensive and they are inconvenient because they require a day's sewing after each trip to the laundry. Yet they are cool, and so the wash blouse will appear with the swallow, the lawn organ and the slimmer skirt.

Colored blouses will bear the hallmarks of style this summer. Linen suits will be widely worn; so will those of very thin flannel and colored duck. The blouses will match.

Margarite came slowly into favor for wash blouses, but it has gained rather a wide place. It is durable, attractive looking, cleans and washes well.

The white ones were in high style last autumn. They were quite plain with a turnover collar of Irish lace and a cravat
of soft satin, and trimmed with Cluny lace in other models and half-embroidered in heavy Egyptian characters.

The soft fabrics will be made up with little trimming when intended for everyday wear. The usual model has groups of small plaits from the shoulder to waist with the fastening in front. There seems no end of fashions. The French blouses show their five and six inches waist.

When the blouse itself is not scalloped the frill is and this is attractive. It is no single frill very wide at top,
narrow at the waist, and plaited.

Sleeves are a bit larger than they were last year. They are run with lengthwise groups of plaits with a three-inch turnover cuff held close to the arm by a wrist band.

Sayings of Great men

Religion is the mortar that binds society
together, the granite pedestal of liberty,
the strong backbone of the social system.
—Dr. Guthrie.

Learning hath gained most of those books by which the printers have lost.
—A. Welsh.

Silence never shows itself to so great an advantage as when it is made the reply to calumny and defamations.—Addison.

Books are waste paper unless we spend in action the wisdom we get from thought —Lytton.

The whole wild world is one vast instrument of thousand keys; and all its notes come in sweet harmony, while Nature plays to celebrate the presence of her God.—H. F. Gould.

No human being can come into this world without increasing or diminishing
the sum total of human happiness, not only of the present, but of every succeeding age of humanity.—Bliss Burritt.

To live in the presence of great truths
and eternal laws, to be led by permanent Ideals—that is what keeps a man patient
when the world ignores him, and calm and unspurred when the world praises
him.—Balzac.

The study of literature nourishes youth,
entertains old age, adorns prosperity,
solaces adversity, delightful at home and unobtrusive abroad, deserts us not by day or night, in journeying nor in retirement.
—Cicero.

Virgins will not grow unless their root be hidden, buried from the rays of the sun. Let the sun shine on it—may, do but look at it privily itself—the root wither and no flowers will glad thee.
—Carlyle.

Not a day passes over the earth but men and women of no note do great deeds speak great words and suffer noble sorrows. O, these obscure heroes, philosophers and martyrs, the greater part will never be known till the hour when many that were great shall be small and the small great.—Chas. Reale.

Blessed is the man who has the gift of making friends, for it is one of God's best gifts. It involves many things, but above all is the power of going out of one's self and seeing and appreciating whatever is good and noble in any other man.—Thomas Hughes.

Mistress—I saw the baker kissing you
this morning, Susan, and in the future
I shall take in the bread myself.
Susan—'Tisn't do no good, mum; he's promised not to kiss nobody but me.

A Live Town

We have before us a communication, and in it, a statement such as this: "It takes a live town to sustain successfully a weekly paper. It speaks of 'Greetings' and its possibilities and we appreciate all that it says. If the statement of our correspondent be a true one, we are then led to ask, what constitutes a 'live town'?"

It means a board of Councillors, the members of which are alive to the interests of the town. It should be composed of business men having interests at stake and who can take time to consider measures which would advance these interests. He is part of a whole and the whole will be advanced only in proportion to the sum of the amount of individual effort put forth. While the interests of the individual are being considered, those of the whole should not be forgotten. The self centred man is of no benefit to any community. A live board of Councillors then, is a collection of men who know the needs of the town, appreciate them, and are willing to sacrifice something in order to meet their needs. Applying this then to our own town at this present time, it is the duty of every citizen, to study men and conditions, and place such men on the Council Board on the 19th, as will resurrect the town if it be dead, and make it what it might be. A 'live town' means live business men who are big enough to consider the interests of the town as a whole. Men who realize that buried seed are not lost seed. Let the 'Every man for himself' motto prevail, and nothing more is needed in order to have a dead town. Eye enviously the prosperity of the other fellow is a spirit ruinous to both. Let the 'dog in the manger' policy obtain among the business men of any town and soon it will be 'dust to dust and ashes to ashes' over the tortured remains of a town, murdered in the house of its friends.

How about St. George? Can it be said to be a 'live town' made such by a live Council Board and a set of live business men? Are proper steps taken to advertise the interests and advantages of the town? Are the industries of the town sufficiently known abroad? The managers of some of our industries would be surprised should we show them questions, from outside interested parties, concerning them. "ARE THEY ALIVE?" Would in brief cover them. We have tried to answer some of these questions to the advantage of all. The industry of today that does not advertise itself, is numbered among the dead.

A 'live town' means a BOOMING ASSOCIATION. Let a Board of Trade be formed whose business it will be to 'boon' the town. Attractions are in and around St. George such as can be found nowhere else. Our granite hills, our beautiful valleys, our lakes, such as old Utopia, teeming with speckled beauties, our beautiful Magdalenic winding its serpentine course down through woods upon either shore, intervals broad and rich, valleys fertile and between high bluffs where sound the echoes clear and far. Our basin, safe and convenient for the timid or inexperienced yachtsman or canoeist, and commodious enough for the schooner steamboat of modern dimensions. Our Letang, big enough and safe enough to accommodate the British Navy, and which should have its steel ship building plant and dry dock. Oh Yes! let it be said of St. George 'A live town'.

Wide Awake

We know of a merchant in one of our smaller towns who keeps his half page continually in the town paper, and sometimes uses the whole in advertising. He also has thirty or forty telephone connections which he places free of charge and is reaching out for more. Why does he do this? What does he get out of it? Does it pay? Well, he says that the time is coming fast when the merchant in the smaller towns will have to deliver goods to their customers by delivery teams, just as the city merchants do, and when that time comes, those living in the outside will do their shopping by telephone, and his half or whole page in the town paper will be a quick and easy way of telling what he has for sale. He claims already that it pays. A long headed and far seeing man of business this, and how the times are changing. "The old chariot she do move" and let all get on board or get left in the race.

Baseball!

On Monday evening a meeting in the interests of baseball was held in the town hall prior to the Council meeting. About twenty fans were present on the opening of the meeting but the number was nearly doubled later on. Mayor McGee was chosen as chairman of the meeting, and Mr. Lord Secretary. Mr. Geo. Franley made some good suggestions outlining a plan leading up to his motion that an organization committee of five be nominated to make arrangements regarding byelaws, securing field, and fixing fees, etc. This motion was seconded and carried. The following committee was appointed, A. Franley, (chairman), G. S. Lord, E. O'Neill, H. Magowan and Chas. McGrattan. Mayor McGee was elected President of the Association and Geo. Franley Vice-President. The appointment of Sec'y Treas. and an executive committee was left over pending the report of the organization committee. The question of finances was discussed by E. O'Neill who advocated appropriating the surplus of the rink association to baseball purposes providing that the contributors to the rink were agreeable. Dr. Taylor opposed this view on the ground that baseball matters could be easier handled financially than the rink. He claimed that it was wise to let the rink surplus accumulate and that it would not be long before St. George would have a permanent rink. Furthermore if the rink committee had met with a defeat instead of a surplus the baseball fans would not take kindly to the idea of shouldering the deficit. The mayor supported the latter view of the matter, but suggested that in case of baseball matters meeting with poor financial support it would be proper to use this surplus and baseball in turn to hand over its surplus to the rink committee. No action was taken on the matter. Messrs. Kent, L. McGrattan, Chas. McGrattan, Lord, Lyndott, Craig and others also added some good suggestions. The meeting then adjourned as nothing more could be done until the organization committee could bring in a report.

General News.

Halifax, April 11. A message from Gloucester Bay states that John Donahoe, aged 19 shot himself this evening, and is said to be in a critical condition at the hospital, where physicians are still working over him.

The young man is thought to have been temporarily insane and in some manner secured the revolver which he took to his room and shot himself about the groin. The bullet ploughed its way into his body and was extracted by the physicians with much difficulty.

There is little hope entertained by the physicians for his recovery.

London, April 10.—The parliamentary steppelashes, which have not been run for 14 years, were revived on Saturday and were attended by a fatal accident. The races were held at Epping in the presence of a great crowd of legislators, racing men, prominent government officials and others.

In the principal event of the day the House of Commons race, there were fourteeen starters, the Hon. Neil Primrose, the youngest son of the Earl of Rosebery and Viscount Castlereagh, being the favorite. While leading at a fast pace, the horse ridden by the septuagenarian member, the Right Hon. Jas. Tomkinson, of Cheshire, fell at a fence. Mr. Tomkinson was thrown and sustained a concussion of the brain. He died today. Mr. Tomkinson was elected for the Crewe division of Cheshire in 1900 and was a Liberal.

Deland, Fla., April 11.—Irvin Hanchett, a 14 year old Connecticut boy was found guilty on a criminal court here today of the murder of Cleve Tedder, 13 years old and was sentenced to be hanged.

The crime of which the youth was convicted was one of the most brutal in the annals of this state. He met the girl while she was on her way to school and after she had rejected his proposals he stabbed her to death. Her body was a mass of knife wounds. One physician testified at the trial that he counted 75 wounds. After the boys arrest he narrowly escaped lynching.

Throughout the trial Hanchett maintained a stolid indifference to the testimony and received the death sentence with the same indifference. His attorneys allowed him to go upon the stand and relate the details of the murder in hopes of substantiating his plea that he is insane.

Hanchett is a former inmate of the Connecticut state reform school.

An Interesting Letter from the North-West.

High River, Alta., March 5, 1910.
To the Editor of Eastport Sentinel:

Dear Sir:—Your paper of a recent date was sent me by a friend back east. I think on account of an article appearing in its local news column referring to the barge Wildwood lying in your harbor, thinking it would interest me, which it certainly did, as it brings back to memory a short portion of my life. This vessel was built in St. John, N. B., by Joseph Dunlop, one of St. John's ship builders. The managing owner was William Thomson & Co. (not Troop & Son as stated). I superintended the fitting out of her and commanded her for three years. A few days before receiving your paper I had a letter from my son, who is now back east, saying he saw her lying at Eastport. She interested him very much also, as he was born on board of her on a passage from China via the Philippine Islands to New York, part way between the Cape of Good Hope and St. Helena, on the 24th of Dec. 1885. As the panorama passes over the stage of life it makes one think how small this world of ours really is.

If you would not consider it taking up too much space in your paper, I would like to say a few words concerning this wonderfully progressive country, Alberta. I have been in most countries of the world and I think this holds out the greatest opportunities for men of ability and push of any country I have ever seen. When one sees so many people from all the countries of Europe flocking in to take advantage of what it is going to be, I wonder why there are not more young men from Maine and Charlotte Co., N. B., that have ability, who do not try their luck here. In five years I have only known but one man from Maine who has settled in this vicinity, and he certainly has made good. We have great numbers from most all the other States, who probably make one-third of the population of Southern Alberta, who are contented and prosperous, most of whom have taken out papers of citizenship and are as good Canadians as ourselves and take as much interest in their adopted homes as men can. We have good laws governing us, and any one who is willing to work or rush opportunities in the west will not find it hard to be satisfied as yet for the support of destitute people, for their are none in this part of the country. I think any American or Canadian would spurn now such an offer made them, although when population increases in the big cities, those big provisions will have to be made later on.

Calgary five years ago had a population of eleven thousand; now it is thirty-five thousand, and its bank clearings in one week were $3,172,000. To give you an idea of the volume of business done: Five years ago this town had a population of three hundred; now it is about two thousand. We have four banks all doing a good business, five churches, five grain elevators, four large hotels, accommodating from fifty to one hundred guests each, and many private hotels and restaurants, a city hall costing twenty thousand dollars, a city lighting and power house costing about the same, fine school buildings up to date, a large cavalry drill shed, and the Federal Government is going to erect a government armory in the spring costing fourteen thousand dollars. We have a skating rink, hockey rink, curling rink, polo club, and all other accommodations for sports that go with a live western city. Our climate is good, and hard to beat; we often have a low grass in winter, but at such times scarcely any or no wind, from September until April no rain, with very many warm chinooks, and very few days in winter with snow enough to turners in this part of the country.

Yours very respectfully,
S. W. Dick,
Box 129, High River, Alta.

P. S. If any of your readers wish to ask any questions, I will take pleasure in answering.

The many friends of Miss Jennie Meating, who has been in Boston all winter studying music with Prof. John Orth will be glad to learn that she finished returning to her home in this town in a few weeks, when, she will resume her piano teaching. Prof. Orth is one of the most distinguished musicians of the Century, his education having been received under such able masters as Kullik, Franz, Liszt and Lebert, for the piano, and Kiel, Wetmann, Faist in composition. He appeared as soloist with great success in many of the large European cities, being especially appreciated in Berlin. He has been and is now, one of the most successful teachers of the piano, and today ranks as one of the foremost composers in the world. His annual recitals are always an important and interesting feature of the musical season in Boston. Miss Meating has been doing a strenuous winter's work—teaching six hours a day to piano practice alone—as well as three or four hours in composition. She has a wonderful gift of imparting to others. The strength of her piano teaching has been learned. Prof. Orth is one of those who have the good fortune to come under her guidance, need never be afraid of learning. She can highly recommend her as an able teacher and with such a reputation, it is not surprising that her success is assured.

From the lower wharf to the public landing the channel will be 100 feet wide and ten feet deep, and from the landing to the International bridge the channel will be 100 feet wide and nine feet deep.

The amount to be appropriated by the United States Government will be $75,000 and an amount equal to one fifth of the total cost of the project. The Government has been very liberal in its contributions from the liner traffic. The commission form of government was then adopted, and in the short time since the new system went into effect improvements have been made that were impossible to make under the old system.

When the saloons were taken out of Deavenworth, Kansas, two or three years ago, it was claimed that they could not pay their running expenses without the revenues from the liquor traffic. The commission form of government was then adopted, and in the short time since the new system went into effect improvements have been made that were impossible to make under the old system.

How to Win.

When you see a pleasant chap,
Sort o' brisk and cheery,
Giving back a friendly slap
Stead o' looking dreary,
You will find beyond a doubt,
Fortune be's bequilling—
Find that he is winning out
With his cheerful smiling.
You can see with half a glance
That he has the habit:
Smiles, and when he sees a chance
He is there to grab it.
Does not walk when things go wrong
Rather's he a grinning,
Feeling sure it won't be long
Till he'll make a winning.
Bad luck causes no dismay,
Thought it tries to squeeze him,
For he ducks and slips away,
Doesn't let it tease him.
Maybe that's the reason he Smiles and looks so breezy,
When such ways as his we see
Seems like winning's easy.

Stacking Joke on the King.

A good story about Mrs. George Keppel comes from Barris. After luncheon at the Hotel du Palais, the King was discussing before a select gathering of intimates on the vagaries of fashion.
"There is one fashion I cordially dislike," said the King. "I don't like to see watches on women's wrists."
"Really, sir," replied Mrs. Keppel, innocently, "perhaps you prefer to see clocks on their stockings."
No one but Mrs. Keppel would have dared to make so audacious a remark, but she can say anything. She is always bubbling over with life and spirit, and it is better tonic to the royal nerves than any the royal physician can prescribe. She is installed at Sir Ernest Cassel's villa!
The charm of Mrs. Keppel lies in her adaptability to her surroundings. She can discuss music, art and literature. Women are fascinated by her as much as men. One secret of her popularity is the fact that she has never been heard to say an unkind word about members of her own sex.

Bad Effects of Liquor.

Last Friday an aggregation of white and colored men came out of the Shulee lumber camps, Cumberland Co., arriving at Macan stations took possession of the premises. They were half or three-quarters drunk being in a destructive mood broke windows and kicked up a general disorder until four o'clock Saturday morning. Warrants were issued, and Arthur Jones, Inspector of the I. C. R. Police, arrived in Windsor on Wednesday looking for the offenders. With the assistance of the local police he located and arrested five, two in Avonport, two in Hantsport, and one in Yarmouth, all colored. They were brought to Windsor Wednesday night and lodged in jail and yesterday morning were taken to Amherst for trial. The ring-leader, a white man, is not yet arrested but it is expected a warrant will be out for him soon. There were seven in the bunch and without the influence of intoxicating liquor would probably have journeyed peacefully from the lumber woods to their respective homes. Later, Mr. Jones, with his five prisoners arrived in Amherst at 12.30 noon. They were tried and fined $35.00 each or two months in jail. —Windsor Tribune.

Amazon Greatest River of World.

While the Amazon is the world's greatest river, if not in length at least in the volume of water which flows through it, it is the world's strangest river as well. The few travelers and explorers who have journeyed up the watercourse to its many sources in the glaciers of the South American mountains tell stories which are almost incredible about the literal maze of streams which unite to form, each stream having its birth in one of the great ice masses. Yet a few hundred miles below, where they merge and create the river, the temperature is such that it works its way through a perfect labyrinth of tropical vegetation.
Only the mariner can tell the place where the Amazon really has its mouth, because the opening it has made on the eastern coast of South America that it extends over a hundred miles. A long distance before one comes to the mouth of the river, however, one is really sailing on the waters of the Amazon, says Chambers' Journal because they force their way so far out into the ocean. They say that 30 miles out at sea, off the mouth of the Amazon, you can hoist a bucket of fresh water out of the ocean from the deck of a ship, such is the quantity of its water that flow from the gigantic basin.
Long after you have entered the actual river and have its banks to north and south of you, if you are in midstream you will still be out of sight of land, such is the breadth of the vast channel. The river stretches far into the ocean and far up the country. Take a map of South America and look up a place called Iquitos. It lies four-fifths of the way across the continent from east to west. Yet from Iquitos there is a fortnightly service of ocean-going steamers to Europe, which descend some 3000 miles of the river before they reach the sea.
It is not only one branch of the Amazon but many that are thus to be regarded as the same as ocean highways. The southern branches of the Amazon are broken by rapids along a line where a low continental shelf exists. Above these rapids, however, there is again deep water. Thus beyond the falls of the Madeira there are over 10,000 miles of navigable water on that river and its branches and these only wait the making of a short railway less than 200 long to be brought into connection with the other highways of the world.
Away in the remote part of the South American continent nature has been indeed generous, for in addition to the wealth of rubber there are known to be deposits of gold and other precious minerals. It is said that nearly every one of the glacial streams washing down the foothills of the mountains carries sand laden with gold which has been accumulated in its bed for centuries, but as yet none has been recovered by the miner, owing to the distance of these streams being so great and to there being no route by which machinery or tools for getting the gold can be taken to these places.
The old-fashioned way of dosing a weak stomach, or stimulating the heart or kidneys is all wrong. Dr. Shoop's first pointed out this error. This is why his prescription—Dr. Shoop's Restorative is directed entirely to the cause of these ailments—the weak inside or controlling nerves. It isn't so difficult, says Dr. Shoop, to strengthen a weak Stomach, Heart or Kidneys, if one goes at it correctly. Each inside organ has its controlling or inside nerve. When these nerves fail, then those organs must surely falter. These vital truths are leading druggists everywhere to dispense and recommend Dr. Shoop's Restorative. Test it a few days, and see! Improvement will promptly and surely follow. Sold by all druggists.

"There is one fashion I cordially dislike," said the King. "I don't like to see watches on women's wrists."
"Really, sir," replied Mrs. Keppel, innocently, "perhaps you prefer to see clocks on their stockings."
No one but Mrs. Keppel would have dared to make so audacious a remark, but she can say anything. She is always bubbling over with life and spirit, and it is better tonic to the royal nerves than any the royal physician can prescribe. She is installed at Sir Ernest Cassel's villa!
The charm of Mrs. Keppel lies in her adaptability to her surroundings. She can discuss music, art and literature. Women are fascinated by her as much as men. One secret of her popularity is the fact that she has never been heard to say an unkind word about members of her own sex.

Last Friday an aggregation of white and colored men came out of the Shulee lumber camps, Cumberland Co., arriving at Macan stations took possession of the premises. They were half or three-quarters drunk being in a destructive mood broke windows and kicked up a general disorder until four o'clock Saturday morning. Warrants were issued, and Arthur Jones, Inspector of the I. C. R. Police, arrived in Windsor on Wednesday looking for the offenders. With the assistance of the local police he located and arrested five, two in Avonport, two in Hantsport, and one in Yarmouth, all colored. They were brought to Windsor Wednesday night and lodged in jail and yesterday morning were taken to Amherst for trial. The ring-leader, a white man, is not yet arrested but it is expected a warrant will be out for him soon. There were seven in the bunch and without the influence of intoxicating liquor would probably have journeyed peacefully from the lumber woods to their respective homes. Later, Mr. Jones, with his five prisoners arrived in Amherst at 12.30 noon. They were tried and fined $35.00 each or two months in jail. —Windsor Tribune.

PAIN
Pain in the head—pain anywhere, has its cause in congestion, pain in blood pressure—nothing else usually. At least, so says Dr. Shoop, and to prove it he has created a little pink tablet, that tablet—called Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets—check blood pressure away from pain centers, affect to charming, pleasantly delightful, though, though, it surely cools the blood stream.
If you have a headache, it's blood pressure. It's a painful method with women, some say. If you are drowsy, restless, nervous, it's blood pressure. It's a painful method with women, some say. If you are drowsy, restless, nervous, it's blood pressure. It's a painful method with women, some say. If you are drowsy, restless, nervous, it's blood pressure. It's a painful method with women, some say.
Dr. Shoop's Headache Tablets stop congestion—blood pressure. You'll find where pain is, and you'll find where pain is, and you'll find where pain is. You'll find where pain is, and you'll find where pain is. You'll find where pain is, and you'll find where pain is. You'll find where pain is, and you'll find where pain is. THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

Peruna Secrets You Should Know

Golden Seal, the root of the above plant, is a very useful medicine. Many people suffer in curable, woodlands during the summer. Few people know how valuable it is to dyspepsia, catarrh of the stomach, indigestion, constipation, and other ailments. It is a powerful tonic and a valuable remedy for all the above ailments.

THE BARBER'S TRADE Men Who Followed It and Attended Rose to Fame.

Perhaps the best known of all barbers who have attained fame were Arkwright, the inventor of the spinning-jenny, who is said to have turned to mechanics when the wigmaking trade fell off, and Jeremy Taylor, who was brought up in his father's shaving shop at Cambridge.

Edward Sadgen, afterward made Baron Saut Leonards, was the son of a hair-cutter in a shop in Lincoln's Inn, London. A story is told to the effect that once when Sadgen was addressing a crowd in the interest of his candidacy to Parliament a man called out to know what soap cost and how father was made. 'I am particularly obliged to that gentleman,' Sir Edward is reported to have said, 'for reminding me of my lowly origin. It is true that I am a barber's son and that I myself was once a barber.'

Charles Abott, Baron Teutenden, was also a barber's son, and it is related now when he was made a peer of England, he took his son to a little Westminster shop and late in the afternoon it was there that his grandfather had been accused to shave others for a penny.

William Falconer, the poet, was a poor barber in Edinburgh until his poem "The Shipwreck" brought him renown and incidentally a commission in the royal navy.

Craggs, associated with the south sea bubble, was a barber who turned promoter. He became enormously wealthy. But when the south sea crash came his fortune dwindled, and in despair he committed suicide.

Giovanni Belzoni of Padua was a barber with a varied and interesting history. Belzoni set up a shop in England, but soon found more profit in posing as Sadler's Wells as the "Patagonian Samson." Being of thrifty temperament, Belzoni accumulated quite a fortune as the discoverer of interesting relics in the tombs of Egypt and as a traveller.

He Pronoted

A Scotchman was presenting a letter of introduction to a merchant in the Ecuadorian capital, Quito. Ecuador is noted for its earthquakes. The houses are but one story in height, and the windows and doors of the thick walls are the universal niches for safety. Of course at that moment an earthquake had come along.

Like a flash the merchant shot into one of the window niches yelling to the stranger: "Pronot! Pronot! which means 'Quick! Quick!'"

In narrating the incident afterward the Scotchman said, "I didn't know Spanish and I didn't know what 'prono' meant, but you may bet I pronoted all the same."

Rubber Scarcity due to Automobiles

A manufacturer of automobile tires advertises his ware by comparative drawings of three tires, one far larger than both of the others representing the output of the advertiser. The same illustration might serve to show the amount of rubber manufactured last year and that manufactured ten years ago. Only cement can compare with rubber in this respect. The price has soared higher than any of the food products whose advances are responsible for their increased cost of living. It has gone so high that three ounces of pure rubber are said to be worth one ounce of pure silver, and unless some good substitute for it is found, there will probably come a day when rubber will be worth its weight in gold.

Rubber has been known in England since 1770, and for a long time its only use was that of erasing pencil marks--hence the name given it. As it was obtained from the South American Indians, it was called India or Indian rubber. Its waterproof qualities being discovered, an enterprising sea captain had a pair of rubber boots made, in which he produced a genuine sensation. A little rubber boom set in, but did not continue long. For the objections to rubber boots and other garments made of the same material were soon discovered. This early rubber grew soft and sticky, and was guilty of a very unpleasant smell in warm weather. Then along came Charles Goodyear and discovered the vulcanizing process, which amounted to a discovery of rubber in the multiplicity of uses to which it might be put.

Thenceforth, rubber manufacturing was placed on a firm commercial basis. When the bicycle boom came along there was a sympathetic boom in rubber stock, but it was as nothing to the frenzied demand that the automobile industry has been responsible for. Last year there was $30,000,000 worth of high-grade rubber used in the manufacture of tires. This year the boomers of rubber stock say that there will be $50,000,000 worth used. At present rubber is worth $2 1/2 per pound. Five years ago the price was fairly constant at about $1.25. In the financial panic of a couple of years ago it dropped to 67 cents. It is not to be wondered at, therefore, that rubber is the favorite subject of speculation in London. Great fortunes have been made out of it in the past two or three years. In the past six months the multiplication of rubber companies in London have almost equalled the incorporation of Cobalt companies in Canada. More than $35,000,000 stock has been sold since the real boom began, and the mania for speculation in this particular commodity is said to have spread through all classes of society.

Even at the present high prices rubber would seem to be cheap. There is not much likelihood of any great rubber forests being discovered; nor is there a prospect of the product being more economically manufactured. Now that there is a possibility of the atrocious regime inaugurated in the Congo by the late King Leopold coming to an end, the expense of collecting the sap is almost certain to advance. There is every reason to suppose that the supply is becoming exhausted, for many rubber forests in the past have been destroyed by the unskilled gatherers, who either cut the trees to the ground or completely girdled the bark, thus killing them by an equally certain, though slower, process. It is to be said, however, that there are in Ceylon great rubber plantations whose product has not yet come upon the market in appreciable quantities. The trees were planted a few years ago in expectation of a gradually diminution of the rubber supply, and rich will be the reward of those far-seeking planters.

Some account must be taken of "near-rubber." Chemists and mechanics in many parts of the world are passing sleepless nights in their quest for some material that will take the place of rubber in automobile tires. So far nothing that has both the resiliency and the qualities of Para rubber has been satisfactorily tested. A recent despatch announced that a "near" rubber tire had stood a 500-mile run; and unless the inventor was unduly optimistic, he is in a position to command a fabulous sum for his formula. It is said that he is saying that there is nothing like leather, and so far there is nothing to take the place of rubber. The next best thing to the discovery of an acceptable substitute will be the conservation of the rubber forests in Brazil, Mexico, Panama and Africa--Record.

Joker's Column

"Going to hear that lecture on appendixitis today?"

"Naw, I'm tired of these organ recitals."

"How about going to the theatre to-night?" inquired the young lady.

"What, and miss seeing the new comet?" responded the economical young man.

"Why ain't at your school, little boy?"

"I stayed away on account of sick head."

"Who is sick?"

"The truant officer."

"She--Why did he marry her at all if he intended in getting a divorce so speedily?"

"He--because he didn't think it would be honorable to break her engagement."

"Courting a girl is like starting a newspaper. It starts out as a weekly, then it becomes a tri-weekly, then it merges into a daily. If it has any enterprise it comes out with an extra occasionally."

"Do you believe in fate?" he asked as he struggled closer.

"Well," answered the girl, "I believe that what's going to happen will happen."

Harduppe--"Hello! Bigwad, Can you lend me $10 till next week?"

Bigwad--"Certainly."

Harduppe--"Thanks, old-man; this is a kindness I feel I can never repay."

"One of you boys have been stealing raisins again. I have found the seeds on the floor. Which one of you done it?"

Tommy--"Is wasn't me. I swallowed the seeds in mine."

Mr. Quizzer--"How much do you get a week?"

Tommy--"Three dollars."

Mr. Quizzer--"Do you get your grub thrown in?"

Tommy--"No, I generally eat it."

Her Father (sternly)--Genevieve, you are engaged to some young man.

Herself--Oh, father, how did you discover my secret?

Her Father--The gas bill for last quarter is suspiciously small.

Editor (to reporter)--What do you mean by writing "Among the prettiest girls at a dance was Capt. Smith"? The captain is a man.

Reporter--Yes, but he spent most of his time among the prettiest girls there.

"Then I am to consider myself rejected?" asked the young suitor.

"You are to consider your proffer of marriage returned with thanks and the regret that it is impossible to accept," said the daughter of the magazine editor.

The famous baseball pitcher had walked the floor with the youngest of his family for an hour or so. "Mary," said he, if the manager saw me now, I bet I'd get soaked with a fine.

"Why?" asked his wife, sleepily.

"I don't seem to have any control of the ball, I don't."

THE EXTREMES.

"Let's see we sometimes call a man a Jonah, don't we?"

"Yes, when he brings disaster."

"That's the funny thing about it. The original Jonah was a prophet, while the modern Jonah is a loss--Boston Transcript."

"Have you seen the latest thing out?" eagerly cried Mrs. Flapover, rushing into Mrs. Fitz's sitting with a bundle in her arm.

"Yes," sadly answered Mrs. Fitz. "I saw it last night."

"What is it?" asked the visitor in surprise.

"My husband; he didn't get in till nearly daylight."

The Secret of Long Life

The venerable Canon Ellegood says the Montreal Witness, gives as the reason of his late old age his wholesome life and a regular diet. Mr. Ellegood, who at the age of eighty-six, still keeps up his uphill walk, though always stalwart was not always a robust man. When doing gymnastic practice forty years ago, he used to say, "I do it to keep out of the cemetery." The recipes of old age are various, but with few exceptions temperate living is a vital ingredient of them all. Dr. Furnival, the scholar and friend of poets, is one of the latest of the grand old men whose way of growing old is being publicly discussed. Shortly after his eighty-fifth birthday he took part in a row of thirteen miles on the Thames with the members of a rowing club which he founded at Hammersmith. Dr. Furnival, as everybody knows, has achieved great distinction as a Shakespearean scholar and the founder of numerous literary societies, and he has counted among his many celebrated friends men of such preeminence as John Stuart Mill, Browning, Tennyson and Meredith. One of the secrets of keeping one's youth is to keep up one's athletic until one takes to one's death-bed, according to Dr. Furnival. As for the Dr. himself, he has been for twenty-five years a vegetarian, and since the age of fourteen he has been a total abstainer--that is practically life long. He records quaintly: "Only once have I tasted nicotine, and that was at school; just because the master told me not to. But the experience made me so frightened that I never tried it again." Dr. Furnival has led a good and useful life.

Copper Development at Dorchester

Favorable reports continue to come from the Maritime Exploration Westmoreland property at Dorchester, N. B. The drill has been moved 500 feet nearer the outcrop and drilling will continue until 800 feet is reached, where it is expected to reach a large body of ore. There is nearly a mile of tunnels on the property. Samples of ore average more than 4 per cent. in copper. There are reported to be several million tons of good concentrating ore on this property. The mine is less than a mile from the railroad, and with modern mining methods it is figured that a net profit of $3.00 per ton from operations may be shown.

It is the intention of the company to start drill work on the copper and gold property, located at Six Mile Brook, N. B., assays from which property shows $24 in copper and $5.00 in gold to the ton.

The Maritime Company has options on other mining properties in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia on which negotiations, it is reported, are now being carried on with New York interests with a view of sale.

A syndicate headed by L. Vogelstein and Co., and which includes well-known Boston mining interests, is reported to have a bonded option on the Westmoreland Copper Mining property located at Dorchester.

The Maritime shares were listed on the Boston Club on March 3rd last. The initial price was 25 cents, and yesterday the shares sold at 31 cents. The company is capitalized for $500,000, or 500,000 per value $1.

The Great Attraction

The boys brigade of Glasgow, several thousand strong, held a grand review some time ago. Lord Roberts had promised to inspect the brigade battalions, but at the last moment was prevented by illness. A local official was secured to fill his place, and in selling tickets for the inspection it was thought only fair to let purchasers know that the distinguished field marshal would not be present. One small brigade boy came up and asked for two tickets for his father and mother. The clerk said: "Do your father and mother know that Lord Roberts is not to be present?" To which the boy replied with a look of self confidence it's not Lord Roberts they're coming to see, it's me.

"No, Maria," said a husband, at the close of a heated argument on women's rights, "they're not going to allow women nor gents to vote--yet awfully."

"Well, that lets us both out, anyhow," calmly replied Maria.

When You Think

Of the pain which many women experience with every month it makes the gentleness and kindness always associated with womanhood seem to be almost a miracle. While in general no woman rebels against what she regards as a natural necessity there is no woman who would not gladly be free from this recurring period of pain.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription makes weak women strong and sick women well, and gives them freedom from pain. It establishes regularity, subsides inflammation, heals ulceration and cures female weakness.

Sick women are invited to consult Dr. Pierce by letter, free. All correspondence strictly private and sacredly confidential. Write without fear and without fee to World's Dispensary Medical Association, R. V. Pierce, M. D., President, Buffalo, N. Y.

If you want a book that tells all about women's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 31 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser--revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers. In handsome cloth-binding, 50 stamps.

THE GRANITE TOWN GREETINGS

By The Way.

Ploughing.—The ploughing in the Granite town section is well advanced. The weather is not so favorable as it was some time ago, but the farmers are getting their arms limbered up for the season.

Are you planning any trees this spring?—What looks worse than a treeless farm?

Already a number of the old disciples of Isaac Watson have over hauled their fishing tackle and are talking about baiting traps.

A bulletin of farm drainage has been issued by the Department of Agriculture, and every farmer should have one in his house.

A St. Louis man wants a divorce because he says his wife has not spoken to him for five years. Some people would kick if they were swimming.

The opening of the fishing season has been celebrated by some good catches on the part of local anglers. The brooks have been the favorite haunts of the early fishers and some nice strings of trout have been brought to town.

but they're dead!

Ed and is about to tackle on solving the problem of the cultivation of the lobster. The price, particularly in stormy weather, when the supply is short, sometimes reaches fifteen shillings each in London. Lobster cultivation, if properly carried out, would lower the price. And whatever the English lobster supply may be the demand will be equal to it. Further, America cannot send live lobster to compete successfully with the home product, because of the cost of transit.

Mr. Newlywed of West Philadelphia returned home recently without some articles which his pretty little wife had asked him to purchase. She was visibly disappointed, and so Newlywed "hiked" to a nearby drug store and secured the purchases.

When he returned home his wife said: "Harry, dear, did you get the face powder?"
"Yes."
"And the rouge?"
"I did."
"How about the cold cream?"
"Here's your whole complexion. Now get busy and assemble yourself."

There seems to be very little interest taken in the coming election. It is of the utmost importance to put men into power who will act wisely and well. Don't vote for a man because he is a Liberal or a Conservative, a Protestant or a Catholic, or because he is a friend of yours, but vote for the man who you believe will do his utmost for the welfare of our town. If men who have been in power have done well, let us put them in again; if they have not done what they should have for St. George, let us make them wise by putting in Mayon McGee, now let us put on board a good crew who will stand by him for St. George, is going to sail with a good commercial breeze this year. Yes, let us put on a good crew and make a record around the bay.

April Century.—The tail of a comet is composed of gas, existing in a highly rarefied condition. Little particles of electricity, called ions, are being constantly given off at enormous speed by the sun. Each molecule in the comet's tail is surrounded by its own rarefied atmosphere. When one of these little ions strikes one of the molecules of gas in the comet's atmosphere, it carries it off with it to form the tail. The electrical charge makes the gas luminous, and it is by this light, and not by reflected sunlight, that the tail is made visible to us. A comet's tail therefore, seems to be merely a very extended aurora.

PAINT PAINT

INVESTIGATE BEFORE YOU BUY!

In these days of sharp competition, it is well to know that you get what you pay for. There are so many brands of house paints on the market, now-a-days, advertised as "pure" (but little better than "Joke"), that a man ought to investigate what he intends to buy. We suggest to those about to paint, to make a practical test and convince themselves. Buy a small can of

The Martin-Senour Gutters.

100 Per Cent Pure Paint, and one of any other brand with which you may have been favorably impressed, selecting about the same colors, and paint a few feet. Carefully measure the paint, so that you use no more of one than you do of the other. Thus, with the conditions the same, you can determine for yourself which paint has the better body or covering capacity; which is the easier brushing out and has the better finish. If you do not decide in favor of The Martin-Senour 100 Per Cent Pure Paint, we will return the money paid for the can of the Pure Paint used in making the experiment. We have no doubt as to your decision, and are prepared to supply you with the BEST PAINT on the market.
