CARLETON'S MEMBER MAKES IMPRESSION

New Brunswick Farmer Member
Thinks Potatoes Will be Scarce and High Again Next Fall

Speaking in the budget debate T. W. Caldwell, New Brunswick farmer member, declared that he would support the Fielding amendment.

Mr. Caldwell said he was more disappointed than surprised that there was no revision in the tariff. If the revision promised a year ago was over due it was more than over due today. Conditions would probably not be more stable until there was a tariff revision or perhaps a change of government. If the government were wise it would take a warning by the deflections from its ranks. Mr. Caldwell warned the government that if it delayed the investigation of the tariff too long it might not have opportunity to conduct the inquiry.

He ridiculed Hon. Mr. Meighen for bragging about removing the 7-1-3 per cent war tax because he reminded the house it was the present government which imposed the tax. The reason the Farmers' party had not moved an amendment to the budget was that they were forbidden doing so under the rules. "The new progressive party doesn't propose to support either party in the house," he averred. "You can still move the amendment when we go into supply," interrupted Mr. Meighen. Whenever question arises such as this is we propose to take a stand on it that will be in the best interests of Canada, he said. Mr. Caldwell said he would support the Fielding amendment. He regretted that the farmers could not move an amendment of their own and thought that under the changed political conditions a second amendment should be admitted from the third party.

The speaker declared that the price limit set for luxury taxes was too low. He suggested that revenue could be raised by placing a ten per cent levy on the value of all newspapers shipped out of Canada. Such a course would also enable Canadian newspapers to secure much needed newsprint.

There was no miraculous way of raising revenue, Mr. Caldwell said. The present tariff method was a most extravagant way of securing revenue. The farmers, he assured the house, were not afraid of direct taxation. Mr. Caldwell claimed that as the result of a statement issued by the Canada Food Board in November, 1918, the potato growers of New Brunswick reduced their acreage. The statement to which he referred claimed there were twenty-eight million bushels of potatoes in the country for export at that time. This statement was false, he charged. However, as a result of it outside buyers had cut prices. Growers as a result lost 65 cents a bag. Not to be caught napping the farmers had reduced their acreage.

Mr. Caldwell declared that present high prices were due to the false Food Board statement. As a result of the high prices offered by American buyers this spring, New Brunswick growers have sold half of the potatoes intended for seed.

There would in consequence be another shortage this coming fall and prices would again be high.

Sad Fatality at Waterville

There was a tragedy at Waterville on Friday when the 4-year-old boy of George McQuarrie had his skull crushed beneath the wheels of his farm wagon. The little fellow was accompanying his father to a back field with a load of phosphate. The horses started suddenly and the little fellow was thrown to the ground. He lived until the next morning when death relieved his suffering. The funeral on Sunday afternoon was largely attended by sympathetic friends and the services were preached by the Rev. C. N. Barton.

An almost identical fatality occurred at Kingsclear only a few days ago.

Dudley Day to Manage Big Fort Fairfield Hotel

Dudley T. Day, the justly popular proprietor of Day's Hotel at Bath, has undertaken the management of that noteworthy enterprise, the Plymouth Hotel at Fort Fairfield. The Plymouth was built two or three years ago by business men and farmers of Fort Fairfield who realized that a first-class hotel was one of the greatest assets a town could have. This hotel is famed throughout Maine and New Brunswick and is beyond doubt the finest commercial hotel in either province or state. It may not pay big dividends directly, but the four-story building is always full of overflowing and its excellent service makes Fort Fairfield loom large on the map of New England.

In choosing Mr. Day for manager, the owners of the hotel show excellent judgment. Mr. Day, a Hartland boy, began his hotel career here about 12 or 15 years ago. Later he went to Florenceville and still later to Bath. He is perhaps the best liked hotel manager on the St. John river and has all the geniality tact and business ability required to make any hotel a success. His son, Wiley, will be employed in the hotel as book-keeper.

Hartland Wins From Bridgewater

At a meeting of the Ball Club held on Monday evening Dr. Currie, A. W. Kyle and Walter Billings were appointed an executive committee. The players unanimously elected K. P. McKensie as captain and coach.

There was a game of ball at Hartland on Friday evening in which the Grand Falls team, one of the ablest aggregations that ever visited the local diamond defeated the home team in a score of 8 to 2. This was an unusually well played game.

Today the ball team goes to Grand Falls for a return game.

On Tuesday evening Bridgewater played Hartland at Hartland and for the first three innings the game was decidedly interesting. In the fourth inning Hartland scored six which seemingly broke the hearts of the opponents. The most spectacular play was when McKensie knocked the ball into the river and made a home run. It was amusing to see Kyle steal from first around to the home plate while the pitcher was worrying one batter. The following is the line-up:

Hartland	Bridgewater
Billings	P
DeWitt	C
Ward	1st
McKensie	2nd
Lavigne	3rd
G. Taylor	r.f.
Lova	c.f.
Hartfield	s.s.
Kyle	l.f.
McAdams	spare

R. S. Sample, Umpire.
Earned runs, 5; two base hits 3; home runs 1. Billings struck out 12, Carmichael 5.

Following is the score by innings:
B—010000—1
H—110600—8

WILL HAVE FERRY AFTER AWHILE

It is hoped that the new ferry will be in operation next week, two months elapsing since the bridge went out. This is remarkably brisk action for an up-to-date government. The boat, which was built here under the supervision of R. C. Fletcher, is 52 feet long and can accommodate four automobiles at one time. The approach on this side of the river is good and that on the west side of the river is being put in good shape for automobile or team traffic. It will afford a second route to Woodstock and will make a short road to Victoria. It is, however, placed at a point that removes Hartland three miles and a wait for the boat from the other end of the bridge. The ferry will be free to the public.

Attention Everyone

Prominent among the worries of the management of a paper are the constant demands for free publicity. Every mail brings sheals of them from all sorts of people with a fancied claim to free space. It is also surprising how many local people are possessed with the same idea that a publisher is a species of lunatic who delights in paying printers high wages and incurring other large outlays for the sole purpose of handing over his space gratis to all and sundry with axes of their own to grind.

In reality, there is a sharp line of distinction between the news and the advertising departments of a paper. News may be defined generally as comprising accounts of events of general public interest that have taken place, descriptive articles and editorial matter; and announcements of meetings and other coming events of interest only to those immediately concerned should be classed as advertising matter pure and simple, and should be a source of revenue to a paper instead of an expense, for be it remembered that every line of news costs the publisher money to produce.

NEWMAN CLARK HELD FOR TRIAL

Evidence Against Him Given at His Preliminary Trial on Charge of Murdering Miss Phoebe Bell

The preliminary examination of Newman Clark, of Four Falls, charged with the murder of Miss Phoebe Bell on March 25, was begun on Thursday morning before Police Magistrate Kelly at Grand Falls.

Peter Wood, otherwise Dubois, of St. Andre, who was charged with aiding Clark to escape from the Grand Falls hospital on the morning of April 3, was also given a hearing by the magistrate, but as there was no evidence against him he was acquitted. Clark, when on the stand at the Wood hearing, said he did not remember Wood.

Hon. J. P. Byrne, attorney general, appeared as counsel for the crown and Hon. W. P. Jones for Clark. Claude Murphy was the first witness examined. He testified to being in Grand Falls on March 25 and remembering the shooting of Miss Bell. He told of going across to Herbert Wood's house about two o'clock that afternoon in company with Ida Pelletier. Newman Clark and Phoebe Bell were there also, Mrs. Wood, Clark's little boy and another man, whose name he did not remember and whose son went away. After a time the party gathered into the sitting room where they had some music. Miss Bell left the sitting room and shortly after Clark left also. Witness sat near the door between the sitting room and bedroom. He could not see into the bedroom, but could hear Clark and Miss Bell talking, though he could not understand what was said.

About fifteen or twenty minutes after Clark left the sitting room witness heard three shots in quick succession. After hearing the shots he went to the door and saw Phoebe Bell falling on the bed. Clark came into the sitting room with a revolver in his hand. He told them not to be afraid as he would not harm them. Clark asked them if they saw what he had done and said he was going to finish the job. Then he opened his shirt and said, "Do you want to see me go? Wait a minute."

Clark then raised the revolver to his breast. Witness turned his back but heard the shot. He and Miss Ida Pelletier then went out through the bedroom where they saw Phoebe Bell lying on the bed gasping for breath. He heard two more shots and stayed outside until the constable came. When he came back he saw Clark lying on the floor.

Ida Pelletier was the next witness called. She told of Clark coming to her home on the morning of March 25 and asking for Phoebe Bell. He went over to Herbert Wood's where she worked. She told of going to the Wood house with Claude Murphy in the afternoon. Her evidence was just the same as Murphy's except that she heard Clark ask Phoebe Bell to marry him and she said no just before the shots were fired, also that Clark said he killed Phoebe Bell because she would not marry him.

George A. Ryan, coroner, testified to holding the inquest on Phoebe Bell and being present at the post-mortem examination. The bullets found were produced in court. Four wounds were found on the body. Dr. Lorenzo Chapman testified to being called to the Wood house a little before six o'clock on March 25. He found the body of Phoebe Bell on the bed and Clark lying on the kitchen floor unconscious. He examined him, gave him a hypodermic of morphia and dressed the wounds. He did not expect the man to live. Clark revived and asked for water, also said: "Why did I kill my sweetheart?"

Constable Allan McLaughlin, in giving evidence, told about being called to the Wood house on March 25 and finding Newman Clark lying on the kitchen floor. He heard Clark ask for a drink of water. He went into the bedroom and found Phoebe Bell on the bed and a revolver lying about three feet from the bed which she was lying on. He examined the revolver and found that it contained two empty cartridges and one loaded one. The revolver was produced in court. Constable McLaughlin told also of noticing the marks on Miss Bell's body. He had been present at the post-mortem examination, and he saw the bullets extracted. He testified to seeing where the clothing had been burned with powder.

The examination of Peter Wood, charged with aiding Clark to escape from the hospital was held before (continued on editorial page)

SHE ONLY WEIGHED NINETY-FIVE LBS.

Is Enjoying Better Health Than She Has In Past Ten Years.

"I am not only enjoying better health than I have in ten years, but I weigh more than I ever did in my life," said Mrs. Lillie Bowser who resides on Pine St., Dartmouth, N. S., the other day.

"When I began taking Tanlac I only weighed ninety-five pounds, but now I weigh one hundred and ten, making a gain of fifteen pounds. I remember well it was in 1900 that my health broke down, and what I have gone through since then only my neighbors and close friends can tell. My nerves were in a fearful condition and I became excited and irritated at little noises that I had always been accustomed to. I didn't relish a bit of food and it was a rare thing for me to ever eat breakfast at all, and my digestion was so bad that I was in misery day and night. I was a confirmed dyspeptic and I suffered with an empty feeling in my stomach that made me so weak I thought I would faint. It was almost impossible for me to rest well and in the mornings I was so tired I simply dreaded to get up. I lost weight until I was as weak as a rag and it was an effort for me to get around the house.

"So many people here had been taking Tanlac and were so highly pleased with it that I began taking it myself. I am overjoyed at my recovery and it seems like a dream that after all these years I am now perfectly well in every respect. I can hardly get enough to eat now, because I am hungry all the time and everything tastes good and agrees with me perfectly, for I never have a sign of indigestion any more. That empty feeling in my stomach has gone, and my strength has all returned until now I can do my housework with the greatest ease. I am not nervous in the least, sleep fine at night and am just simply feeling better in every way that I have in many years. I am recommending Tanlac to all my friends for I am convinced it is a medicine that will disappoint no one who takes it."

Tanlac is sold in Hartland by Estey & Curtis Co., and E. L. Field, Bloomfield, and by the leading druggist in every town."

Fire at Upper Brighton

On Friday evening fire destroyed two old barns on Cloverbrook Farm the property of Dr. MacIntosh. The buildings contained a little straw and the origin of the fire is a mystery. The northern sky was lighted nearly to the zenith and viewed from Hartland it looked as though half the universe was afire.

HAS NO PAIN NOW

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Did for Mrs. Peasey of London.

London, Ont.—"I suffered with periodic pains, was weak and run down, could not eat and had headaches. The worst symptoms were dragging down pains so bad I sometimes thought I would go crazy and I seemed to be smothering. I was in this condition for two or three years and could not seem to work. I tried all kinds of remedies and had been treated by physicians, but received no benefit. I found one of your booklets and felt inclined to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I received the best results from it, and now I keep house and go out to work and am like a new woman. I have recommended your Vegetable Compound to my friends, and if these facts will help some poor woman use them as you please."—Mrs. J. F. PEASEY, 200 Rectory Street, London Ont.

The reason women write such letters to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. and tell their friends how they are helped is that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has brought health and happiness into their lives. Freed from their illness they want to pass the good news along to other suffering women that they also may be relieved.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Mass.

"E-100"

By VICTOR REDCLIFFE

By the time Irma Dale, the pretty new school teacher at Brentwood, had been at her post for a month, nearly every eligible young man in the village was deeply smitten. Particularly there were three who openly expressed their admiration. These were Nat Laitton, Guy Purvin and Thad Wilson, close friends, clean, reputable young fellows, and one day after a mutual exchange of confidences they made a decision, whimsical in a measure, yet actuated by honest esteem for the lovely and beloved Miss Dale.

"It's settled, then, that we each write to Miss Dale!" spoke Guy Purvin.

"All at the same time and each clearly and squarely telling her how much he thinks of her and asking her to marry," submitted Thad Wilson.

"And no hard feelings toward the one who is lucky enough to be the chosen one," added Nat Laitton, who rather plumed himself on being the handsome one of the group. His sister Breda was a close friend of Irma, and he counted on this special pleader to further his claim, if it came about right.

Now Breda was a chatterbox, and the fact of the three proposals got about among the young people of Brentwood speedily. The three devotees anxiously awaited their fate. In turn they managed to meet Miss Dale on the street within the following few days. Outside of greeting them with her accustomed friendly smile, in no way did she indicate the receipt of the proposals, nor afford them opportunity to broach the subject. It was Breda Laitton who reported to her brother and his rivals as they were playing tennis on the Laitton lawn.

"You three," spoke the imperious little tyro, and grouping them in a rustic nest she proceeded to deliver in turn three papers.

"The mischief!" ejaculated Nat, opening the paper appertained to him. "My proposal to Irma!"

"Mine, too—returned!" observed Guy, with a wry face.

"Same here!" complained Thad. "And look—they are all marked with a big blue-penciled initial. Mine is 'M.'"

"And mine 'F,'" reported Guy.

"'G' is on mine," apprised Nat. "I say, what does it mean?"

"That is what I am to explain to you," chattered Breda, with a mischievous smile. "Simply, Irma has acknowledged your presumptuousness by treating your love confessions just as she would the school compositions of her pupils. You must understand that she has four gradings and averages: 'M' means moderate—70; 'F' means fair—80; 'G' means good—90. There is a fourth grading, 'E,' which means excellent—100. None of you seems to have attained that standard, however.

"U-um," sourly commented Thad, who was the lowest. "Fellows, I guess none of us graduates into the affections of Miss Irma Dale this term!"

Dainty Irma Dale met the trio after that graciously, kindly, but did not further allude to the compositions. The story got about the village, and the victims were chaffed mercilessly. Bruce Alston heard of it. They had never dreamed that this quiet, unobtrusive young man was a possible rival. With Irma, of all those paying attention to her he had been a favorite from the start. Only occasionally they had met, but after he had seen Irma home from parties twice and had gone with her on a botanical expedition with her class in the woods one spring day, Bruce Alston resolved to tempt fate by becoming number four. He was not daunted by the experience of the pioneers in the attack upon the affections of the pretty school teacher. In a modest, respectful note Bruce delineated his interest in Irma. He hoped she would not deem him presumptuous, he wished to give her time to think over the proposal. He would call at the little red schoolhouse on a certain afternoon when he knew the scholars would disband an hour earlier than usual. The last group of the pupils was disappearing in the distance as he neared the humble structure. Glancing through an open window his fond glance rested upon Irma at her desk. Her pose was one of deep meditation and his heart gave a great leap as he noted that she held in her hand the letter he had sent her the day previous.

Irma greeted her visitor with a blush and Bruce thought this encouraging. She invited him to a chair on the platform, there being no other seat except among the benches. Then she nervously arranged some books before her. At that moment the glance of Bruce fell upon his letter. It lay open at her side, and across its face was a conspicuous blue-pencil marking, "E."

Bruce experienced a decided thrill. His eyes glowed, his tone quavered as he said:

"Does that mean 'excellent,' Miss Dale?"

She tried to smile casually, but he noted a tremulous quiver about her lowest, sensitive lips. She nodded in an embarrassed way.

"And '100,'" he added, and drew closer. "Trms, do I stand that high, not only in my clumsy literary effort but in your coveted affections?"

Her head sunk and she yielded her hand to his own, and Bruce Alston realized that the lasting happiness of his life had dawned.

Why Canadians Should Insure in a Canadian Company

BECAUSE—Experience covering a period of forty-six years has proven that the death rate of insured lives is about 15 per cent greater in the United States than in Canada.

BECAUSE—A Canadian does not need to assist in paying for this extra heavy death rate in a foreign country.

BECAUSE—A Canadian insuring in a foreign Company is sending his money out of Canada. If retained in Canada he and Canadians generally will benefit by its circulation and investment.

BECAUSE—In The Policy-Holders' Mutual Life (of Canada) he can secure his insurance at lower rates and on easier terms than in any other Company.

BECAUSE—The Policy-Holders' Mutual Life (of Canada) was organized for the express purpose of eliminating all objectionable features in Life Insurance.

BECAUSE—In The Policy-Holders' Mutual Life (of Canada) the Policyholder votes and participates in the management on equal terms with the Stockholders.

BECAUSE—By Its Act of Incorporation provision is made for the Policyholder voting at his own home if convenient to attend the general meetings.

BECAUSE—By Its Act of Incorporation the dividend to the Stockholders is limited and all profits above this limited dividend belong to the Policyholder.

BECAUSE—By Its Act of Incorporation no taxation, so-called "Gold Bond" policies or anything of a like nature can be issued.

BECAUSE—Its Policy-Holders participate in the annual distribution of profits after the third of the life of each policy.

BECAUSE—The low rates and annual distribution of profits leave the money in the Policyholder's pockets or return it to him each year instead of its being retained for speculative purposes as has been charged against some Companies.

BECAUSE—Premiums may be paid monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually as best suits the convenience of the insured.

BECAUSE—In the Policy-Holders' Mutual Life (of Canada) he will be insured in a Canadian Company incorporated by special Act, especially safeguarding life interests, thoroughly democratic in its principles and management, with every safe-guard and security to which the strongest Stock Company can lay claim or which government deposit reserve and inspection can secure.

FARMER CALDWELL

New Brunswick's most prominent parliamentarian these days is T. W. Caldwell, the farmer member from Carleton-Victoria. He has shown a fluency of speech and a wealth of bright ideas. He is fearless and outspoken and appears to be a genuine surprise to the older members on Parliament Hill.

When the matter of increased indemnity came up the government forces were unanimous in signing a round-robin to increase the indemnity to $4,000 or 5,000. They felt that they must have the unanimous consent of all the members before adopting this measure.

Mr. Caldwell was the first of the farmer members to be approached and while he believes the present indemnity is not sufficient, he knew what indemnity he was to receive when he went to parliament and he purposes carrying out his contract and not ask for any additional payment in the middle of a session. His refusal to sign the round-robin defeated the proposed increase of indemnity and saved the country a million dollars.

Newman Clark Held for Trial

Police Magistrate Kelly, Hon. J. P. Byrne for the crown, and A. M. Chamberland for the defence.

Newman Clark was called. He testified that he did not remember being put in the hospital and did not remember being there at all. He said he does not know sheriff Foster and Deputy Sheriff Moores. He did not remember being taken to Andover from the Curless Hotel. He did not remember being brought back from Maine. He did not know the accused and cannot remember ever seeing him. He could not remember identifying accused as being the man who helped him out of the hospital. He did not remember seeing any of his people at the hotel, and cannot remember ever seeing Wood or making a statement in the presence of the attorney general.

Peter Wood testified to being at his home in St. Andre on Wednesday, April 1, and being there all that week. He saw Newman Clark once across the bridge and saw him again at the Curless Hotel when Clark stated that he, Wood, had taken him out of the hospital. He said he had nothing to do with helping Clark out of the hospital.

Miss Agnes Mallen, night nurse at the hospital, was called. She told of the position of Clark's bed in the hospital. On the night of April 1 she visited Clark about 9 o'clock. She did not remember talking to the patients. She was in the ward between 11 and 12 attending to the other patients. She had spent the intervening time in the hall near and heard no noise. She did not see Clark on the last visit and did not know if he was in his bed. She went back to the hall and fell asleep some time later. She heard a noise once about 2 or 3 o'clock. It sounded like someone turning in bed. She listened but heard no more. About 7 o'clock she went to the ward and found Clark gone. She then saw that the window was open. The only window open was the one at the foot of the bed.

Miss Mary Wetmore, matron of the hospital, told of Clark's relatives visiting him in the hospital. She telephoned when they found Clark was gone. She looked everywhere, but found no trace around the hospital. As there was no evidence against him Wood was acquitted.

Mrs. Herbert Wood, who is ill, gave evidence at her home this morning. She remembered the day Phoebe Bell was shot at her house. Phoebe was working for her. Clark, she said, came to her house about three o'clock that day and asked her if she would keep his child all summer. She told of the arrival of Ida Pelletier and Claude Murphy. Her story of the affair was much the same as that of the other witnesses. She did not see the revolver in Clark's hand and was not in the room at the time of the shooting.

Clark had nothing to say in court today, and the defense called no witnesses. He was committed for trial and taken to jail by Constable Allan.

The Mean Man

Everybody knows the story about poor Tom Sharkey, who electrified the loungers in his saloon one day by saying heartily, "Well, boys, what are we going to have?" And then, as the loungers gathered round the bar, he added, "Rain or shine!"

Representative Gordon Lee of Chatham told a story of a similar kind about a mean man at Atlantic City. Some friends visited him on a hot evening and after they had sweated a while in the sitting room he said:

"Well, friends, could you stand some refreshments?"

"We certainly could," the visitors replied, and they moistened their dry lips in pleasant anticipation.

"Then," said the mean man, rising, "we'll open this window. There's promise of a breeze."

In a foreword to an attractive little pamphlet issued by the Railway Y.M.C.A. of Canada, Mr. E. W. Beatty, President of the C.P.R., pays a tribute to the work of this association.

"The high value of the work," says Mr. Beatty, "of the Young Men's Christian Association in the interests of men and boys has come to be generally and properly recognized, particularly on account of its efforts and accomplishments on behalf of our soldiers during the recent world war.

"Among the various spheres of the Association's activities not the least valuable is the work of the Railway Branches which minister to the intellectual, the social, the moral and the physical needs of railway men irrespective of race or creed.

"The inception of this work on the Canadian Pacific Railway dates back to 1906 when the building at Revelstoke, B. C., was erected, and so well satisfied were the Company's officers with the experiment tried there that 9 additional branch associations have

There are five simple ways to tell good tea.

First, by the bright copper color of the tea when steeped.

Second, by the exquisite aroma.

Third, by the delightful, refreshing flavor.

Fourth, by the satisfying richness.

Fifth, by the economical strength.

Make a brewing and you will find all these qualities combined in Red Rose.

since been established. These provide home surroundings and comforts for men in train service when away from home and to many employees located at outlying points they afford the only home facilities that are available to them.

"It is not only that good meals and clean beds and bath are provided, but the educational advantages, the recreational facilities and the opportunities for social intercourse amidst wholesome surroundings must necessarily contribute to the well being of the men and benefit the community in which they live, and the Company with which they are employed.

"The eminently satisfactory results of this work on the Canadian Pacific lines in the past for which I desire to express my admiration and appreciation, have without doubt been achieved through the earnest and cordial co-operation of the Company's employees with the Association's officers and staffs, and with the Association's officers and staffs, and with the continuance of their united efforts the future success of the work can, I feel sure, be confidently entrusted to them."

The Railway Y. M. C. A. provided 140,000 beds to railway men and served 328,000 meals in 1919. Its buildings are valued at $580,000.

Could Not Sleep

Miss Gertrude Pratt, Walsley St., Barrie, Ont., writes: "I was very much run down and could not sleep either day or night and my arms and legs ached so that life was very miserable. After using six boxes of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food I feel well and strong again."

Sharp-Fawcett

A happy event took place May 19 at Peel when Hazel Viola, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fawcett of Nortondale, was united in marriage to Roy Clayton Sharp of Pembroke, by Rev. Perley Quigg. The bride looked charming in navy blue silk and and georgette with white georgette and gold lace hat. The groom's gift to the bride was a wrist watch. The happy couple motored to Woodstock and from there to the groom's home in Pembroke. They were accompanied by the bride's brother, Hedley Fawcett, and the groom's cousin, Raymond Dickison. There was a large reception at the bride's home in Nortondale May 22. Friends of the young couple met the train on horse back and in carriages dressed in odd costumes; horses were nicely decorated for the occasion. They paraded to the home a distance of three miles. A serenade followed in the evening after which a very enjoyable time was spent playing games. The young couple received many useful gifts consisting of silver, linen, and money. The best wishes of their many friends go with them in their happy wedded life.

A Necessity In The House

Most of the common ills of life arise from a torpid, sluggish condition of the Liver, Kidneys or Bowels, and because they act on each of these organs in a direct and specific way, Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills overcome serious and painful diseases over which ordinary medicines have no control.

Miss Christeen E. Smith

At Long Settlements, May 6, Christeen E. Smith, daughter of the late Samuel and Abigail Smith, passed away at the age of 78.

She professed faith in Christ when a young girl. She leaves one sister, Mrs. E. L. Page and several nieces and nephews to mourn her loss. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. J. Hurlow of Tracey Mills. Interment was made in the family lot at Tracey Mills.

A Waiting Game

"Suppose you wait here in this comfortable seat while I match these two samples of ribbon," said Mrs. Simpson sweetly to her husband, who had been entrapped into going shopping with her.

When she came back she said contentedly: "Have I kept you waiting an unreasonable long time, you poor thing?"

"Oh, I haven't minded it," he said cheerfully. "I just jumped on a car and ran up to the football match, and then I took a little spin in Jack Dance's new car. Did you match the samples?"

"One of them. It's so provoking, I shall have to come in again tomorrow, for they are just closing the shop,"—London Ideas.

Add to the strikes for higher wages that of negro washerwomen of Louisville.

"Dead no, chile," was the reply.

"An' any more washings I do is gait to cost yuh ten cents moah," she added.

Pressed for an explanation, Aunt Katie said that she and "several other washer ladies are gait in a picnic today and won't do no washin' for no body."

"Fardemoah, dis ten cents moah goes all the time now. De street car ride is gonna git moah an' dat fer strikin', and so is us," was her explanation.—Louisville Courier-Journal.

By using Zan-Buk, however, I soon got relief, and it was not very long before every trace of the trouble had disappeared. I really think no home should be without Zan-Buk."

WAS ALWAYS POPULAR GAME

These Who Think There is Anything New in Profiteering Have Another Guess Coming.

The high cost of living was just as much a problem in Elizabethan times as it is today. The Rev. William Harrison, as quaint a gossip as Pepys, and equally glib as a chronicler, complained that merchants in his day winked at profiteers who charged more for commodities than they were permitted by law to charge. In that day, as in this, "hoggers"—this delightfully descriptive word is of the demagogue's own coinage—were allowed "to burn up corn and raise the price of it; to carry it home unsold, or to a distant market, if they want more money than the buyer likes to pay; now, they've leave to export it for the benefit of enemies abroad, so as to make more profit."

During the world war there was much talk of certain Americans who deliberately destroyed carloads of potatoes, cabbages and other vegetables and foodstuffs in order to raise the prices of these commodities. Some old story. There's nothing new, remarks J. N. H., in Rochester Post-Express. Again, to hark back to good Canon Harrison, "pestiferous purveyors buy up eggs, chickens, bacon, etc.; butter men travel about and buy up butter at farmers' houses, and have raised its price from 18d to 40d a gallon. These things are ill for the buyer and the poor man, and should not be allowed."

After all about the only thing that is true is that there is no new thing under the sun. Like the poor, the profiteer is always with us.

TAX EXPERTS LOSING SLEEP

Question, "When is a Girl a Miss?" is Puzzling Bureau of Internal Revenue.

The other day Lew Hahn, executive secretary of the National Retail Dry Goods association, took the joy out of life for the experts of the bureau of internal revenue when he asked whether corsets were underwear. Now he has gone and done it again, the query this time being:

"When does a girl become a miss?" "Frames of the new revenue tax law included in the list of taxable 'women's and misses' wearing apparel." Experts of the bureau, Mr. Hahn says, have informed retailers that no tax is to be collected on wearing apparel for girls.

Retailers say there are hundreds and hundreds of misses, and quite a few married women, who are so petite that they can still wear, and therefore buy, girls' clothes. Does the fact that such articles of clothing are to be worn by women of mature years change the nature of the apparel in the eyes of the law; or do garments designed for girls remain girls' wear, regardless of the age of those who buy and wear them? This is the puzzle Mr. Hahn has put up to the bureau experts.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilmet Burt of Jacksonville were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. M. A. Burt.

Charles Wilkinson spent Monday and Tuesday with his brother, T. F. Wilkinson in Fredericton.

A serious accident was narrowly averted on Friday morning when a truck driven by Sam Cormier ran over the steep bank of the Presque Isle just below the bridge. Some little defect in the steering apparatus caused a loss of control by the driver and a sudden swerve precipitated the whole works over the embankment. Luckily the car was not upset, but the severe jolt when the machine was suddenly stopped at the bottom of the bank sent the driver catapulting through the windshield, completely demolishing it, but most fortunately leaving Sam with two or three minor abrasions. A view of the location would make it a safe bet that no man could perform the stunt a second time and get off so nearly scot-free.

CLINIC HAS PROVED WORTH

Organization Established by Boston Firm Well Worth Imitation by Other Employers.

A pioneer medical clinic, established 15 years ago to protect the health of 600 employees, and gradually enlarged and expanded until it now cares for a total of 2,700—that is the record proudly held today by a well-known Boston firm. At the time of its organization the medical director was in charge of the clinic in the capacity of director and visiting nurse. Now the clinic is in charge of a practicing physician and surgeon, assisted by three full-time graduate nurses.

During the influenza epidemic of last winter, over 300 employees were treated per day, with only six deaths during the entire course of the dreaded disease. All cases were given careful individual attention and, in instances where no family doctor was in attendance, immediate arrangements were made for medical care. It is the policy of the nurses in the clinic to advise all employees with whom they come in contact to be insured, an activity which the firm itself handles through an employees' organization. The purpose of such advice is to secure insurance for all employees in order that they may receive its benefits after one week's illness. This arrangement does not place a premium upon the employees' being ill, and at the same time the clinic cooperates in the matter of insurance. A dental clinic is in a formative state and, no doubt, will be established in a short time. The plan and method of administration and organization is simply in the making, but it is safe to say that the dental clinic will be as efficient as the medical clinic.

The Modern Hospital, in describing the clinic, says that it has fully proved its value in protecting the health of the employees of this particular company and merits the commendation and imitation of other mercantile and industrial establishments.

An alarm was given here on Friday last at 1:15 p.m. when it was found the R. C. Church was on fire. The building was completely consumed in less than an hour. The flames spread to the surrounding trees and there being at the time a heavy wind the situation was critical, but the prompt action of the crew of the Welch mill brought the fire under control. The efficient working of the N. B. telephone brought 60 men in cars and teams in a very short time. The church was built about 40 years ago and was used as a chapel of ease for the Staten family and a few others who at the time lived in the vicinity. But of recent years it has stood as a memorial only to its members.
