NAB SCHOONER WITH CARGO OF LIQUOR, GOLD

Crew of U. S. Prohibition Boat Seizes the "H. M.
Gardner."

THOUGHT CAPTOR PIRATE

Captain of Captive Ship Prepared to Offer Battle.

New York, Sept. 14.—The two-masted schooner H. M. Gardner, from a Nova Scotia port, was brought into the harbor today by the dry navy boat Taylor, and 100 cases of liquor with $56,000 in gold, was taken to the customs house.

The Gardner was seized last night off Scotland Light.

Capt. M. C. Betts, who said he was the Gardner's skipper, declared he was going from Nova Scotia to Nassau, when the Taylor's crew boarded him. He said he had just delivered 4,000 cases of liquor, and was taking the 100 seized cases back to Nassau because it had not been accepted by his purchasers.

Betts said that he first thought the prohibition boat was filled with pirates and cleared his ship intending to ram her. The revenue men turned their searchlight on their own ship, he said, and he allowed them to come aboard.

WILLING TO TALK RAILWAY STRIKE

Companies Telegraph Intention to Shopmen's Union Headquarters.

Chicago, Sept. 14.—Leaders of the Federated Railway Shopcrafts, who today began negotiating separate settlements of the United States shop-men's strike, which began July 1, in accordance with the agreement adopted by the union's general policy committee, announced that several railroads had telegraphed union headquarters indicating willingness to go into the negotiations. These, the leaders said, were in addition to about 50 roads which previously had agreed to separate settlements.

Advices to the labor department today from its representatives in Chicago, said that railroads representing approximately 35 per cent of the mileage in the United States had signified their intention of ending the shopmen's strike on the basis of the agreement accepted yesterday by the shopcrafts' general committee, and that the roads representing an additional 20 per cent were ready to end the strike.

KIPLING'S DENIAL RILES N. Y. PAPER

New York, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Denial by Rudyard Kipling that he had expressed himself towards the United States, as reported in an interview in the New York World by Clare Sheridan, has but served to redouble the fury with which that paper is attacking him.
Kipling was quoted as saying that the United States entered the war late and forced a premature peace.
He was also quoted as saying, with reference to the United States: "They have got the gold of the world, but we have saved our souls."

Police Capture Alleged Auto Bandits

ARMED POSSE FIND PRISONERS HIDING IN BUSH

Dresden Police Believe Men Committed Robberies of Past Few Days.

ADMIT STEALING CAR

Blown Safe Found on Road Near Abandoned Motor Car.

Dresden, Sept. 14.—Single-handed,
Chief of Police John A. Campbell, of Dresden, captured Albert Casey, colored, of Chatham, and Harry Wilson, of Wallaceburg, alleged auto bandits, after a chase of three miles in the pouring rain, through corn fields and across country this morning. A posse of 200 residents of the district had cornered the pair in a thick bush, and had it surrounded, when the arrest was made. The prisoners are now in police cells at Dresden, and will be charged in court late this afternoon with the theft of an auto bearing license number 136-766, and said to be the property of a Mr. Campbell of Chatham. After the hearing the men will probably be removed to Chatham jail.

Police believe the prisoners to be the men who committed a number of robberies in this vicinity during the past few days.

Early this morning Chief Campbell was informed that an auto stolen from Dr. Clapp of Dresden had been abandoned in Camden Township, on concession 10. He found the car and was told that two strangers were hiding in the bush near where the car was found. Farmers of the vicinity and villagers organized an armed posse and surrounded the woods.

Chief Campbell was alone when he met Wilson and Casey on the farm of Walter Pegg, concession 1, Camden Township. After a chase he forced them to surrender, and handcuffed them. They were unarmed.

The Chatham car, which the men are charged with stealing, was also found, having broken down. According to the police, the prisoners admit the theft of Dr. Clapp's car, but claim that the Chatham car is their property.

On the night Dr. Clapp's car was stolen, it was found at Pepperville was broken into, and the safe taken away and blown open, $42 being obtained from it. The safe was found near
Dr. Clapp's car.

Among the officers working on the case this morning were: Constables Zeal, and Constable Low, of Newport, who were with the car. C. A.
Gonzou, Pere Marquette Railway detective, of Chatham; High Constable George Peters, County Constable
Wilfred Peters and County Constable
A. Wood, all of Kent County; Chief
John A. Campbell of Dresden and C.
P. R. Detective Graham of London.

BELIEVE B. C. FISHERMAN KILLED WIFE AND SELF

Neighbors Find Green Shot With Body of Spouse Beside Him.

Prince Rupert, B. C., Sept. 14.—What is believed to have been a case of murder and suicide was discovered here yesterday when neighbors found George Green, a fisherman, lying in front of his home with two bullet wounds in his breast and the dead body of his wife beside him. Green died a few hours later.

Alongside the victim lay a gun. A 5-months-old child was crawling over the corpse of his mother, who had been shot through the heart. The child was unhurt.

"Don't bother me," said Green, when relatives tried to get an explanation from him. Nothing is known of the circumstances or the motive for the shooting.

Green came here ten years ago from Nova Scotia.

BARE IRISH PLOT TO SCUTTLE SHIP

Ulster Government Discovery
Saves Lives of 300
Sinn Feiners.

Rebels Recapture Ballina, Many Casualties Being Suffered by Nationals.

Belfast, Sept. 14.—The Ulster government, it was announced today, has discovered a plot to blow up or scuttle the steamer Argenta, on which 300 Sinn Feiners were interned at Larne Harbor, County Antrim.

Ballina, in Northern County Mayo, has been recaptured by the rebels,
who swooped down upon the town
several hundred strong, and captured the garrison of Free State government troops. The Nationals fought stubbornly, and suffered casualties before they were dispersed. Several buildings, including the bank, are reported to have been burned.

Large forces of troops from all parts of the county are concentrating upon the town.

Another account from Ballina says were buried alive in the Middleboro collieries yesterday, when a mass of rock fell on them while at work. The an hour, but all attempts to resuscitate failed.

Near East Is New Storm Center

THE Near Eastern situation is causing alarm in Britain. Reports from British India represent Moslems there as greatly excited over Turkish victories. The Turks, operating from their base at Angora (2), have launched cavalry attacks at Smyrna, Brusa and Ismid, occupied by the Greeks. The two armies are contending on a front represented by the heavy dotted line. Allied commissioners at Constantinople (3) may take action to bring about an armistice.

Eleven-Year-Old Ingersoll Lad Is Lost At Fair

SPENDS NIGHT AT SHELTER.

SEPARATED from his parents in the crowd attending the Western Fair Wednesday, Stanley Thompson, 11-year-old Ingersoll boy, was forced to spend the night in London as the guest of the Children's Aid Society at the shelter on Wharfedale road. He was returned to Ingersoll by Inspector W. E. Kelly Thursday morning.

The young boy's parents lost him
Wednesday afternoon, and thinking that he would return to Ingersoll on the regular 7 p.m. train, took the special 6:30 p.m. train for Ingersoll.
However, sights at the fair grounds claimed Stanley's attention for too long, and he arrived at the London East station of the G. T. R. just as his train was pulling out.

Stanley, who is described as a very bright boy for his age, by Inspector Kelly, who acted as his temporary guardian during his stay here, stated that he could have caught the train, but he believed in employing safety first tactics.

"I could have caught that train," said Stanley, "and swung on, but I would rather be here with all my legs than stay in the hospital for a long time."

Officials of the Grand Trunk looked after the boy until Mr. Kelly took him over late Wednesday night. According to the inspector, Stanley evinced great interest in all things pertaining to Mr. Kelly's work. His parents were notified by telephone Wednesday night that the boy was in good care.

"He was a very bright boy," said
Mr. Kelly Thursday. "He was interested in the Shelter and everything else here. There was no sign of worry about sleeping in a strange bed Wednesday night. He told me his phone number, and I called up his parents, telling them I would put him on the train Thursday morning."

WARN IMPORTERS OF CUSTOMS LAWS

Authorities Add Regulations Governing Origin of Goods Purchased.

The new exporter's invoice received by the local branch of customs and excise department Thursday bears out the fact that custom regulations governing the exportation of goods to this country is becoming stricter each year.

An added regulation on the back of the invoice states that each article on the invoice must be a bona fide product of the country specified thereon. The London collector of customs, O. H. Talbot, pointed out that this will help to eliminate the practice which has been more or less prevalent of goods not manufactured in the United States, or any other country outside Canada, being exported to the Dominion as a product of the country from whence the article was shipped.

Those who have been found dodging the customs regulation in this manner have been dealt with so severely and heavily fined in the past that the practice has almost ceased, but the department is taking no chances of persons pleading ignorance of the law, and so have added the extra regulation to the invoice sheet.

It has been established that the

FIND MACAROW NOT IMPLICATED

Chief Justice Reports on Case of Merchants Bank Official.

Sir Montagu Allan, President of Bank, Elects Summary Trial.

Montreal, Sept. 14.—D. C. Macarow, general manager of the defunct Merchants Bank, was this morning found not guilty of making wilfully false or deceptive statements in return on the bank's financial condition in a return made to the federal government for October, 1921, in the court of special sessions by Chief Justice Decarie.

The decision of Chief Justice De-carie this morning in the case of Mr. Macarow brings to a close one phase of the Merchants Bank case in the local courts.

The case against Sir Montagu Allan, president of the bank, charged with negligently signing the false report, is now to be heard.

Yesterday the grand jury brought in a true bill against Sir Montagu, who elected a summary trial in the court of special sessions.

The cases arose out of the threatened collapse of the Merchants Bank when its reserve was reduced from $5,000,000 to $1,500,000 by disastrous losses to the now bankrupt stock brokerage firm of Thornton, Davidson & Co., and other concerns. The government's case was that those losses should have been shown in the October, 1921, return to the government. They did not appear until negotiations had practically been completed to sell the Merchants Bank to the Bank of Montreal.

Chief Justice Decarie, in his judgment, in part says:

"The questions in dispute may be resumed in the following questions:
"1. Has the crown established that the report was false?
"2. Has it been made wilfully false or deceptive?
"3. Did the accused make it?"

Dealing with the first point, he finds:

"It has been established that local managers, about three hundred and fifty in number, make a monthly report on the same form as schedule
"D" and those are certified by each of these managers according to the formulae in this schedule.

"These reports or returns are sent to, and received by the department of the chief accountant of the bank.
He himself looks through all the reports, sees if they are correct, has them checked over by his assistant, and when this is done and when the return is found correct he signs it.
It is presented then for the signature of the president and the general manager."

DEFER ACTION ON PART-TIMERS

Board Will Know Monday If Classes Are Necessary.

Miss Radcliffe Will Have Attendance Statistics Early in Week.

While part-time courses have been organized at the Technical and Art School for the adolescent children, and are stated to be already in operation, it will not be definitely known until Monday whether it will be necessary to institute similar classes at any of the public schools.

Miss D. Radcliffe, in charge of the attendance department of the board of education, an innovation in local educational circles since September 1, explained Thursday that while reports are being prepared on the attendance at the various institutions, she will have no definite statistics for the consideration of the authorities until the first of next week at the earliest.

Four schools have yet to make their reports, while information and data from certain schools has not to be revised, as the returns have not been submitted in accordance with the plan outlined.

Miss Radcliffe reports that in her new capacity she is encountering remarkable success, and in the majority of instances gaining the hearty co-operation of the industrial concerns that hire adolescent children.

There are many difficulties to be overcome, she admits, but trusts that events will proceed smoothly, obviating the necessity of bringing any person into court, as may be done under the provisions of the adolescent school attendance act.

She stressed her contention that employers and parents of children who are experiencing any difficulty respecting the enforcement of the act, should confer with her department, when everything possible will be attempted to facilitate matters.

TWO

MAIL CARRIERS BACK M'KINNON

Reply To Circular Letter From Ottawa Attacking
Union Officer.

Declare Guelph Man Acted Under Full Authorization in Negotiations.

Some weeks ago a circular letter was sent from Ottawa, attacking Garfield MacKinnon, of Guelph, who has been doing organization work for the rural mail carriers, and attempting to secure abolition of the contract system and the institution of a straight mileage basis for payment.

The mail carriers have answered this Ottawa letter, claiming in their reply that MacKinnon was acting under full instructions in all his visits to Ottawa. The reply bears the names of J. A. Voaden, St. Thomas, president; James Gladstone, Owen Sound, vice-president; Garfield MacKinnon, Guelph, secretary-treasurer; and agent-general, and Alex Stuart, Welland; D. Thompson, Oshawa; Orville Flanders, Brantford; George Newton, Islington; J. J. Hunt, Warton; J. P. Everett, Blenheim; and Thomas Butler of Jarvis, all members of the executive.

Seek $70 Per Mile.

Seventy dollars per mile is the rate sought by the carriers. In some parts of Ontario, this will make very little difference in the cost of delivery as the carriers operating near large centers are already getting this wage. Hundreds on the longer routes, on the worst roads and in the remotest parts of the country on the other hand, are only receiving half this amount per mile, the mail men say.

According to the mail carriers, the contents of the circular letter to which they object are of a "most insidious nature." The booklet has only one object, they claim, namely, to break up the Rural Mail Carriers' Association, which numbers in the thousands throughout Ontario.

"Let none of our members, friends and supporters be turned aside by any quibbling over minor issues. What we want as members of the Rural Mail Carriers' Association, first, last and always, is a stated salary and a permanent job," the reply states in part.

When the Rural Mail Carriers' executive met at the King Edward Hotel, Toronto, on September 6, the following resolution moved by Delegate Newton of Islington and seconded by Delegate Coughlin of Anton Mills was passed:

Expresses Confidence.

"That this association hereby desires to place on record its confidence in Mr. MacKinnon as its secretary-treasurer and agent-general, and its approval of his work in the interests of the Canadian Rural Mail Carriers during the past two years, and its resentment of the numerous false and misleading statements contained in the said pamphlet concerning Mr. MacKinnon and the association of which he is the fully authorized representative."

180 TAKE PART IN JUDGING CONTEST

Young Farmers of District Show Marked Interest in Western Fair Event.

One of the largest livestock judging contests in the history of the Western Fair took place Wednesday, when more than 180 junior farmers of Western Ontario met in competition to judge the livestock which is on exhibition there.

It was the co-operation of the Western Fair board with the Ontario department of agriculture that helped create interest among the young stockraisers, as the department contributed the necessary funds for the prize awards, while the fair board financed the other expenses in connection with the affair, in addition to conducting it.

As, in accordance with the rules, each contestant was permitted to judge in two classes of livestock. Each was required to give his answers in writing and verbally. For correct placing 50 per cent was allowed in marks, and an additional 50 per cent for good reasons.

COMMEND DRURY FOR RADIAL STAND

HAMILTON, Sept. 13.—Members of the board of control here heartily approve the action of Premier Drury in refusing to ratify the action of the Toronto City Council on the hydro radial entrance scheme until it is voted on by the ratepayers.

Controllers here contend that it would be entirely wrong to permit any one body to override the interests of others. They did not speak as being hostile to the hydro radial project, but felt all interests should be consulted in matters of such importance.

It was said that the efforts of the hydro to run a power line across Stewart Park here, and along the beach in opposition to the wishes of the city and beach commission was a similar case.

Police investigation showed that the child, in company with other children, was playing in the center of the street.

William Speight, aged 55, when riding his bicycle today, was knocked down by a motor car driven by Daniel Logan. He suffered a fractured skull and a broken leg and is now at the Western Hospital.

INVITE GALT MAN TO SHERBROOKE

SHERBROOKE, Que., Sept. 13.—An invitation is to be extended by the board of directors of the local branch of the Young Men's Christian Association to J. J. Lunn, of Galt, Ontario, to succeed Mr. Ralph Smith, who has gone to Stratford, Ont., as physical director.

AUTO CRASHES INTO STREET CAR

A serious accident was narrowly averted about 11:30 Wednesday night at the corner of Richmond and York streets when a coupe crashed into an Oxford street car.

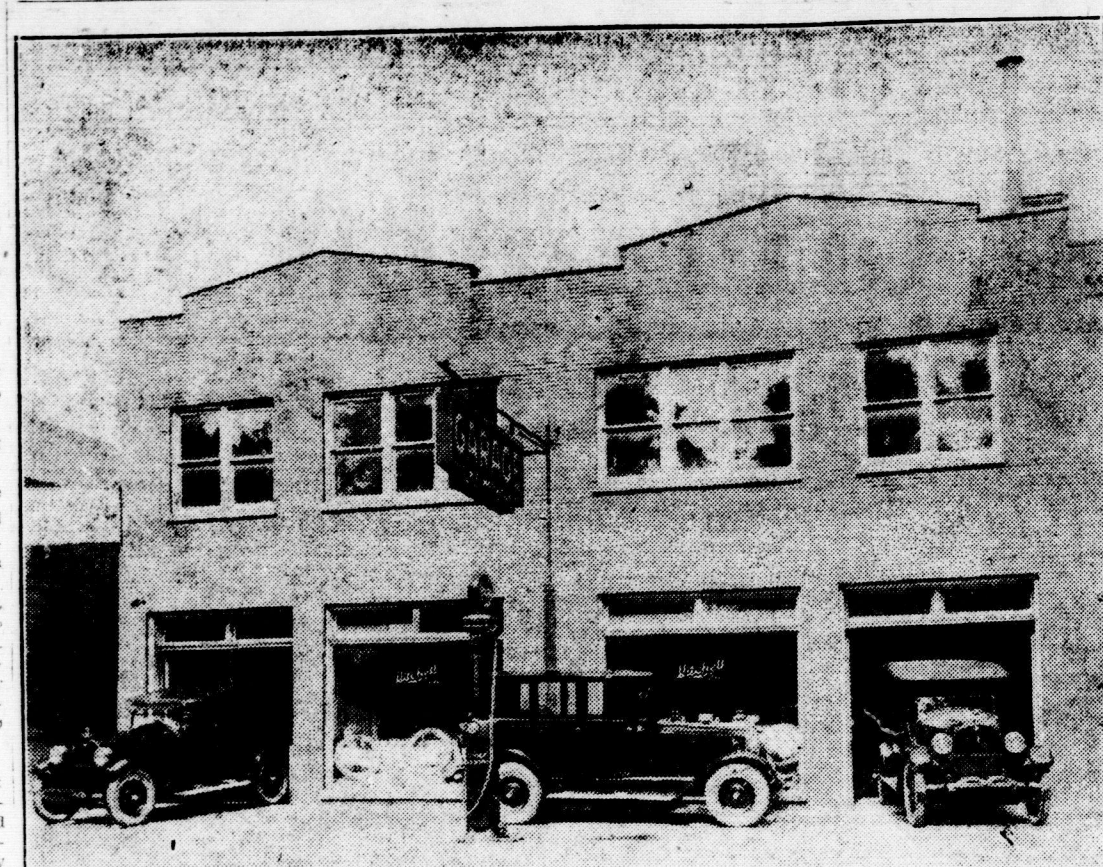

Due to the rain, the streets were very slippery, and as the coupe turned north on Richmond street it swerved to the side, colliding with the street car, which had stopped to take on passengers. The auto was only slightly damaged.

The driver suffered a severe gash to his right eye, due to the impact throwing him forward and striking his head on the steering wheel.

Ontario Jockey Club Will Pay Five Per Cent Tax

REACH AGREEMENT WITH PROVINCE.

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—The sum of $218,390, collected by the Ontario Jockey Club, at the spring meet at Woodbine Park, and paid into court to abide a decision as to the validity of the five per cent tax on betting, will now be paid out to the Ontario government.

The Ontario Jockey Club will collect the five per cent tax at the coming fall meet and will pay it direct to the government. The action by the Jockey Club to test the validity of the amendment to the corporations' tax act and the declaratory act will not be proceeded with.

The government will protect the Jockey Club from legal action by bettors.

The cost of the Ontario Jockey Club and of the other parties in the action will be paid out of the fund in court.

Above is the effect of a settlement which was announced by N. W. Rowell, K.C., for the government, and W. N. Tilley, K.C., and A. W. Ballantyne, K.C., when those gentlemen met before Justice Mowat at Osgoode Hall this morning.

"That will dispense with the necessity of my giving judgment," remarked Justice Mowat, ratifying the settlement. There may have been a note of relief in his lordship's voice, as the Jockey Club's motion for an injunction restraining Major-General Williams, commissioner of provincial police, from stopping the racing at the fall meet involves a delicate question as to whether the Ontario government was defying or evading the courts.

The chapter of instruction was concluded by the Royal Arch degree at 8:15 p.m., with the officers of Minnewawa conferring it.

Notwithstanding the fact that the Western Fair served as a counter-attraction to the Royal Arch Masons of London district on Wednesday, a large gathering of companions were present. Most Excellent Companion R. H. Spencer, grand Z. of Trenton, Ont., was present throughout the session.

During the chapter of instruction a cafeteria lunch and supper were served the visitors from the district and city at 5:30 in the basement of the Masonic Temple.

WILL USE PRIEST'S LETTERS IN COURT

Communications of Adelard Delorme Will Feature Today's Proceedings.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—Sheaves of personal letters written by Father Adelard Delorme in his colorful, dramatic style, are promised as the feature of tomorrow's court proceedings, when the priest's counsel, Leopold Houle, opens his batteries to prevent Delorme losing control of his fortune through being declared an interdict.

No information could be gained of the content of these letters, nor of the official stacks of documents, certificates and official correspondence which are to be disclosed on the stand, but from the eagerness of the Delorme sisters and Mr. Houle that the case proceed, it probably tends to support the fight against the interdict.

Asked whether recent developments in the case, particularly the insistent statement that Mr. Houle is in possession of a certificate from Dr. Brochu, the superintendent of the Beauport Asylum, strongly supporting the defense fight, might result in the interdiction proceeding being dropped, Mr. Monette, counsel in the move to interdict Delorme, replied: "I cannot tell you what we will do. There is a possibility that we may not go on with the case, but there also is the possibility that we will."

SCREEN FIGHTS ARE NECESSITY

All Film Heroes Must Be Ready For Combat, Even Though Spectators Shudder.

Los Angeles, Sept. 13.—Most motion picture actors never appear for pugilistic honors. The sound of the gong has no bearing on their lives—very many of them have put up as pretty a fight as ever was staged in the roped arena.

It is an American tradition that every man should be able to protect himself and the "manly art of self-defense" is not necessarily limited to the prize ring. Very often a kid-gloved member of the aristocracy surprises his friends and enemies by "locking the stuffing" out of an opponent.

Picco prowess takes the place today of the duello of olden times, when every gentleman was supposed to know how to use a rapier or foil.

Thus the motion pictures demand that their male stars and leading men, and especially "savies" or villains, be able to put up a good fight. Of course, unless in isolated instances where a private feud was thus worked out, the fighters of the screen are probably the best of friends. Yet for the purposes of illusion it is essential that they appear deadly enemies, and many a real punch is given and taken in the ring, even though the script requires.

This Boy Can Fight.

Thomas Meighan isn't given to scrapping. He is the best-natured, best-loved star of the screen, probably. But in a number of his films he has had to put up a scrimmage that would make the gladiators of the ring envious. He has had real ex-pugilists pitted against him, and they have gone on record to state that Tommy has a wallop that is calculated to provide additional stars in the firmament.

Jack Holt packs a haymaker in either fist and what he has not done to some of the villains of celluloid fiction isn't worth talking about. In "The Man Unconquerable" he had a terrific battle with Clarence Burton, a villain who has been kicked, punched, chewed, choked and otherwise maltreated until one wonders that he is still alive to tell it. But he hasn't been hurt to speak of, and, being a singularly pleasant and well-liked individual, everyone is glad-around the studios. But if the fans were to be consulted right after having seen him doing some of his worst "villainous" in a picture, they would probably feel that his punishment was not half as severe as it should be.

Wallace Reid is occasionally called on to fight, and in one of his older pictures, "Alas Mike Moran," he even fought himself—by means of double exposure. A man often has to battle with himself mentally, but it isn't often he has to—in appearance at least—knock himself down physically.

Yes, the Sheikh, too.

Rodolph Valentino makes a pretty neat "scrapper" and is always training. He takes a boxing lesson every day and is fast becoming a good boxer.

So being a star or a villain doesn't always mean sitting in upholstered chairs or making love to the leading lady, or conniving with miscreants for the downfall of the hero. It means also the ability to scrap—and scrap good and hard.

"Brutal" one hears certain people observe.

Not so—or at least, if these scenes are sometimes brutal, they are always justified. Invariably it is in defense of a woman's honor, in protection against an unworthy assailant, or in defense of some weaker person who is being mistreated.

What playgoers should be satisfied to leave the villain unpunished if by no more than a good licking?

Often this is what dramatists call "the obligatory scene" in a picture or play—and without it the audiences would be vastly disappointed.

70,000 AT OTTAWA FAIR.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—Although the Central Canada Exhibition was graced by a remarkably large crowd yesterday, approximately 70,000 people passing through the gates, a heavy rainfall early in the evening, destroyed the most sanguine expectations for an attendance record for the largest Wednesday crowd in the history of the fair.

Federation Frames Legisla-

Urge Raising of Age Limit of Child Workers.

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 14.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor prepared today the fifth of its annual session to outline legislation, which it hopes to have introduced before the United States congress as part of its next year's program.

They will include:

1. An amendment to the United States constitution intended to curb the injunction power vested in federal officials, as demonstrated in the present injunction against the rail shop crafts.

2. An amendment fixing 16 years as the minimum age for child laborers, and authorizing congress to raise the minimum age as conditions warrant.

3. An amendment giving congress power to re-pass and thus legalize laws which may be enacted and then declared unconstitutional by the United States supreme court.

4. Repeal of the Sherman anti-trust law, which, according to members of the council, "has been used to deprive the workers of their natural rights, instead of to prevent illegal combinations in restraint of trade."

5. Legislation to prohibit the enactment of any law "which would deny the right of the workers of the United States to organize for the betterment of their conditions; to deal collectively with employers; to deal collectively with their patronage and labor and induce others to do so."

POSTAL WIRES TO WORK WITH RADIO

Will Deliver Transatlantic Wireless Messages At All Inland Points.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Clarence H. MacKay, president of the Postal Telegraph Cable Company, announced yesterday that his company had entered into an agreement with the Radio Corporation of America, by which the Postal Telegraph places at the service of the Radio Corporation its land lines system extending to all parts of the United States for the collection and delivery of transatlantic radio.

The agreement approves that the Postal Telegraph shall accept at all of its offices, wherever located, dispatches to be sent to Europe "via radio," while the Radio Corporation will turn over to the Postal Telegraph all messages received by it for delivery to land points reached by the Postal Telegraph.

Explains Decision.

In making this statement, Mr. MacKay explained that the action has been taken by his company in pursuance of its policy of furthering in every possible way American interests in the field of international communication, and as a progressive step in the interest of the public to the end that every form of communication service will be made available at all offices of the Postal Telegraph Cable Company.

Therefore, D. C. Under the new contract, the Postal Telegraph will accept at and deliver from all of its offices throughout the entire country radio messages, thus making the transatlantic radio service available to everyone, and incidentally supplementing its present telegraph and cable facilities.

Encourage Communication.

Mr. MacKay said yesterday that the Postal Telegraph has been following closely the developments of wireless telegraphy, and while he is of the opinion, in which radio experts concur, that the radio never will supplant the cables, still it will have its value in its special field as an adjunct to the increased use of communications by telegraph cable and radio.

S. of the Congregational Church, the brides-to-be, viz., Misses Minnie Vannatter and Florence Greenfield, who were both faithful members of this society, were each presented with a suitable address, read by Miss Helen Ross, while Miss Ina McPherson presented Miss Vannatter with a beautiful electric coffee percolator, while Miss Greenfield was given a lovely pyrex pie plate and casserole set in silver. Both made very suitable replies. Then Pastor Rev. H. N. Jackson gave the address. The evening was spent in roasting corn, winning and marshmallow, and the hostesses treated them to pumpkin pie and watermelon. Everyone enjoyed the community singing, also the games that were played.

CRISIS LOOMS IN NEAR EAST

Press Confident That France
Will Agree to Co-operate With Britain.

Urge Raising of Age Limit of Child Workers.

London, Sept. 14.—A thousand officers and men of the Royal Air Force embarked today at Southampton for service in Mesopotamia.

London, Sept. 14.—The Near Eastern situation is causing considerable concern here. This is reflected in the editorial columns of the morning newspapers, some of which adopt a distinctly alarmist tone.

"A grave crisis confronts the powers," says one, while others declare "the situation is drifting to the danger point," and "all the elements are present for another flare-up of war," and that "the powers must act at once, and in agreement; if they fail to agree, nothing but a miracle can divert disaster."

The one sentiment that dominates all is fear lest France, although agreeing to maintenance of the neutrality of Constantinople, and the Straits of Dardanelles may interpret the "legitimate aspirations" of the Turks in such a manner as to prevent the co-operation of Great Britain.

Those papers which are habitually suspicious of France comment strongly on her tenderness for the Turks, and insist that the latter cannot be allowed to recover Thrace and Adrianople, which they believe France is willing to give them.

Elsewhere the fairly confident hope is expressed that France eventually will agree to co-operate with Great Britain, which is generally credited with upholding the letter of the Treaty of Sevres. Declaration of the French view is extended hourly and awaited with the greatest eagerness.

If the fear regarding the French position is removed, the other fears will be immediately lessened, but at present they are acute. Turkish military aggression is feared, military activity in the Balkan countries is feared, incursion of the Russian soviets into the troubled area is feared, while behind all is the restless menace of the immense Moslem population of India and the other Muslim communities.

Each day brings fresh reports of the intense feeling aroused in the Mohammedan countries by the Turkish victory in Anatolia, with indications of determination to support the Turkish claims with whatever means lie at their disposal. Reports from British India especially represent the Moslems there as greatly excited. The Daily Express today publishes a Cairo dispatch quoting information just received of equally intense excitement in Palestine. News of the Russian soviet's note of protest against the allied action in Constantinople had not reached there when the dispatch was filed, but it will fall on soil prepared to receive it, and add to the prevailing alarm.

Fear of an attack on Constantinople by the Turkish Nationalists before the allies can reach an agreement, has brought to the front the question of the whereabouts of the main Kemal army, which apparently never entered Smyrna. Is this army on its way to the Straits by secret forced marches, it is asked.

The impression is growing here that a Turkish peace can only be arranged in a large international conference in which Russia, Rumania, Bulgaria and the other Balkan States participate. This impression is based in part upon the renewed expression of Russia's attitude regarding the Straits of the Dardanelles as contained in a note of protest against the allied action in Constantinople sent to Great Britain, in which she demands the question be settled primarily by the powers that use the Black Sea as an outlet to the ocean.

NEW STATION AT SARNIA.

SARNIA, Sept. 13.—The erection of a new Pere Marquette depot at Sarnia is now assured, and the long efforts of the Sarnia city council and chamber of commerce to have the railway company effect the necessary improvement, have borne fruit.

Plans of the proposed new structure were received today at the chamber of commerce, and call for the erection of a building 143 feet long, faced with red brick, and containing an express room with a floor space of 460 square feet. When finished the building will be similar to the present P. M. depot near the Black River, Port Huron.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Wherefore, if God so clothes the grass of the field, which to-day is, and tomorrow is cast into the oven, shall He not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?—Matthew vi:30.

I SAW a delicate flower had grown up two feet high, between the horses' path and the wheel-track. An inch more to right or left had sealed its fate, or an inch higher; and yet it lived to flourish as much as if it had a thousand acres of untrodden space around it, and never knew the danger it incurred. It did not borrow trouble, nor invite an evil fate by pre-empting it.—Henry D. Thoreau.

BANK CLEARINGS for the week amounted to $2,745,406, in contrast with $2,745,406 for the corresponding week last year, $2,840,733.

NO DAMAGE WAS DONE when a small fire broke out in some rubbish in the cellar of 99 Richmond street at noon today. The blaze was extinguished by the fire department.

POLICE ARE SEARCHING for a Chevrolet touring car, bearing license number 118-886, and owned by A. J. Matheson, of R. R. No. 3, Embro, which was stolen from Dufferin avenue, near Richmond street, between 8 and 11 o'clock Wednesday night.

RAIN, WHICH fell continuously throughout Thursday morning, necessitated laying off of several gangs of city employees engaged in constructing pavements on Dundas street and Hamilton road. Should weather conditions improve these men will be back on the job Friday morning.

COMMISSIONER F. MITCHELL, who has been seriously ill for some time now in Victoria Hospital, was pronounced to be in a much more critical condition today, but a change for the better is expected within the next few hours. Mr. Mitchell is suffering from an attack of pneumonia.

BUILDING INSPECTOR A. M. PIPER said Thursday morning that he will journey to Toronto next Monday for the purpose of submitting plans prepared by him for the new municipal debenture office to be erected on the courthouse grounds, to S. R. Heakes, provincial architect, for his approval. The new building will be located in the southwest portion of the courthouse grounds, and will face King street. It is estimated that it will cost $100,000, and details of the plans were published in The Advertiser Tuesday.

FRIDAY NIGHT members of the Advertising and Sales Club will gather at the Bungalow Inn, Springfield, for the purpose of tendering a farewell dinner to A. D. Gow, who is leaving for New York City. Mr. Gow served as secretary of the club for two years, and his fellow members intend to give him a rousing send-off to his new home Friday night. The club members will meet at King and Richmond streets at 5:30 p.m., and dinner will be served at Springfield at 6 p.m.

SEVERAL MEMBERS of the cast of the "Dumbells" will be the guests of the Kiwanis Club at the regular weekly luncheon at the Technic House Friday noon, and will entertain the Kiwanians present. As Friday's luncheon will be the last prior to the district convention at Windsor, Sept. 21 and 22, a large attendance is expected. District Governor J. R. Hay will be the speaker and he will talk on the approaching Ontario-Quebec convention. George Fox will be booster at the luncheon.

Owing to the fact that next week is convention week at Windsor, the London Kiwanis Club will hold a luncheon here but will turn out in full force at the Border City in an effort to capture the attendance prize.

The soldiers who were actually armed and in a position to fight were hopelessly outnumbered. Two civilians, a girl and a man, are said to have been shot dead, and a number of soldiers and civilians wounded. When the Republicans left, they took with them the civilians, prominent treaty supporters.

PAYS FOR STRIKING OFFICER ON JAW

John Chesney of Stratford Is Arrested on Disorderly Charge at Fair.

Bad liquor induced John Chesney, Stratford taxi driver, to strike Constable Ernest Inch at the Western Fair, when the officer asked him what he was doing yesterday. The prisoner offered no evidence in defence of the charge that he assaulted an officer in the execution of his duty, so he was fined $20 and costs.

On a charge of being intoxicated in a public place, to which he pleaded guilty, he was fined $10 and costs. An intoxicated companion who was with him was also assessed the minimum amount prescribed for such an infraction of the Ontario temperance act.

Constable Inch had been called to arrest Chesney for disorderly conduct. The young Stratford man was standing in front of the grand stand, when the officer appeared.

"What have you been doing?" asked Constable Inch.

The prisoner said nothing, but landed a swift upper-cut on the officer's jaw.

Then Inch threw him down, and handcuffed him to another prisoner. With his free hand, the prisoner struck the officer a second and third time. Then his other hand was cuffed.

Constable Miles corroborated Inch's evidence.

Magistrate Graydon declared the offence was a serious one, and had been made so because it was treated lightly. It would be hard to get reputable men to accept the post of police officer.

PROTEST TRUANT OFFICER'S ACTION

Citizens Complain About the Treatment of Children Attending Fair.

Dr. George S. Weir, public school attendance officer, is a real busy person at the Western Fair these days. If all reports are correct, there seems to be some misunderstanding as to the school children attending the Fair are committing truancy.

Dr. Weir is on duty at the Fair grounds, while parents protest that their children have been granted permission to be at the exhibition by their teachers.

School authorities admit that the teachers in requesting office to be excused from school for a holiday, but evidently decided that they would not be too strict during the week, and intimated that "everything would be all right if the children did not attend school regularly, as is required."

It is expected that this question will receive special prominence at the next regular session of the board.

JAMES PAROCK FINED FOR ANNOYING WOMEN AT FAIR

Magistrate Graydon Gives St. Thomas Man Scathing Lecture.

For having obscene literature, of which he was the author, in his possession, and for annoying women who were boarding street cars at the main entrance to the Western Fair grounds Wednesday, James Parock, a St. Thomas man, who appeared to be about 60 years old, was given a scathing lecture by Magistrate Graydon, and subsequently fined in police court Thursday morning.

Detectives Harry Down and Thomas Bolton arrested him. Parock denied he had been acting in a disorderly manner.

"I'd believe anything of you, after reading that letter," remarked the court.

"He was here last fall for the same thing," Detective Bolton swore. "And he was arrested in the same place."

For having the literature in his possession Parock was fined $10 and costs with the option of spending 21 days in the cells.

BUILDING PERMITS FOR MONTH TOTAL $30,440

New Fire Hall at Fair Grounds Subject of Visitors' Admiration.

Building permits issued at the city hall this month number 36, the total estimated expenditure involved being $30,440. Among the most recent permits issued is that for a frame and stucco fire hall erected at Queen's Park to house fire apparatus during fair week, which is now in service and cost about $1,000.

This new building replaced the old tent which served as an inadequate protection to the fire truck. The new hall will house two motor cars, and its appearance is the subject of admiration to all fair visitors. Owing to rains last week, Building Inspector Piper was compelled to have the work rushed by night to complete the building by fair week and this necessitated extra expense. Hyatt Brothers were awarded the contract for the job.

Building permits issued by Inspector Piper this week include the following: J. Head for a one-story brick veneer dwelling at 80 Anderson avenue to cost $3,000; Samuel Pawley for a one-story frame dwelling on Giles street costing $1,100; F. L. Blood for a 1 1/2-story brick veneer residence on Eliza street to cost $4,200; and C. W. Barker for a one-story brick veneer house on Hume street, estimated to cost $2,500.

TWENTY-FOUR HOURS IN LONDON

THURSDAY EVENING, SEPTEMBER 14, 1922.

I SPIED TODAY

THAT GRAND TRUNK yard employees do a little shunting at 8:55 every morning just as the L. and P. S. car draws into the terminal, thereby compelling the travelers from the south to have to stand at the crossing, in all kinds of weather, for anywhere from five to ten minutes.

AT A FRUIT FARM on Mount Pleasant, road hundreds of melons rotting in the field. The grower said the weather had been against ripening them.

AT THE SAME PLACE a field of celery containing 20,000 head. Good crop and good celery. A mile of boards used to fence it up for bleaching.

IN A STORE window on Dundas street, boots with square toes for men. Dealer said some are being sold.

A BOY FROM north end school who said he had been in the school for a month for cutting up when the teacher was out of the room.

AT THE ART Building at Western Fair a woman who will need a blanket or a great coat if the weather gets colder.

A MARKET GARDENER telling a group of women that Londoners have too many picnics. He said market days were useless for his business when big picnics like the Travelers or Irish were held on Tuesday, Thursday or Saturday.

MOTHER, FATHER and three neat, happy kiddies waiting at Dundas and Ridout for a car to the Fair. Dad was informing mother they would have to pass up the grandstand on account of the high cost of admission and grandstand seats.

A FARMER TALKING to somebody. He said: "Hullo, Dan. Taking a holiday? 'Sure. Just up to see the Fair.' 'Well, well, have you phone the chief of police that you're in town.'"

WHILE WALKING down Waterloo street at midnight Wednesday, a large touring car approaching, with top crushed flat and one tire missing from a back wheel, indicating that the car had turned turtle a short time previously. The driver, who was riding alone and resisting more than his share of the rain, wore a straw hat.

VISITING LONDON to see the Fair, a party of eight motorists stalled Thursday morning at King and Richmond streets. Their auto stopped on the car tracks as a Richmond car was approaching from the south, with the result that the eight people packed inside rushed to get out of the auto. The driver with less faith in the speed of London street cars suddenly threw in the reverse, and after crashing into a motor car, in the rear of his machine, suddenly shot the stalled car forward, causing his passengers to involuntarily sit down violently and keep their seats.

The spectators enjoyed a laugh watching the motorist whose car was backed into chasing the party responsible east on King street.

GOING HOME on Waterloo street late Tuesday night, a constable rushing across the street asked me if I had heard a woman screaming. He said: "She's been run over."

TO RENDER TWO CONCERTS DURING COMING SEASON

Musical Art Society Choir Enrolls Over Eighty Vocalists of Unusual Merit.

The Musical Art Society Choir, which was reorganized in May last, is now making rapid progress in the work for the coming season, and much enthusiasm prevails among the members enrolled, of whom there are already over eighty. Other applications are being received daily.

A meeting of the executive was held on Saturday last, when it was decided to give two concerts this season, one by the Musical Art Society Choir itself and the other a joint concert with the Schubert Choir of Brantford, the latter concert to be repeated in Brantford by the two choirs on the evening following the London performance.

The choir will also compete at the Ontario Musical Festival, to be held in Toronto early next year.

Voice tests are now being made by the musical director, A. D. Jordan, who reports a high standard of quality on the part of applicants.

After the completion of the active choir, which is limited to 100 picked voices, a waiting list will be formed immediately.

The regular rehearsals are to commence very shortly, and all indications point to a very successful season.

RADIO INDUSTRY IS OFFERED TO CITY

London has an opportunity to obtain a plant for the manufacture of radio sets, it was definitely announced Thursday.

The proposition has been submitted to the Chamber of Commerce for consideration, and a radio set, a model of the one proposed for manufacture here, has reached the city.

The apparatus was installed Wednesday on the premises of a local authority and experiments were conducted. A report will be furnished the Chamber of Commerce this week.

Robert Peacock Pleads Guilty to Mashing Young Women on Streets

Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon is determined to put a stop to the practice certain young men have of accosting young girls on the street, he told Robert Peacock when he was charged with being disorderly in police court this morning.

Evidence was produced by Constable Ben. Irwin to show that Peacock was what is commonly termed a "masher." Peacock acknowledged his guilt.

THOUSANDS SEE MODEL TRAIN

Fair Visitors Attracted by Canadian National Railways' Exhibit.

Engine Crew on Hand To Explain Working of Locomotive.

As well as proving a place of fascinating interest Machinery Hall at the Western Fair serves as a pathway to the splendid all-steel model train placed by the Canadian National Railways on exhibition on the Campbell street siding. All this week it has attracted thousands of people daily, who have taken the advantage offered to become intimately acquainted with one of the most up-to-date railway services on the continent.

Few people who confine themselves to a single coach and perhaps a dining car when traveling, realize the complete service offered on the passenger trains of the Canadian government railroads. The model train, which is only one inch in scale, operates daily throughout the country, gives some idea of how comfortable traveling can be made.

The visitor to the exhibit first becomes acquainted with the huge Pacific type of locomotive which stands at the head of the train. The same type, or others of the same type, can be seen daily on the limited trains running through London from Toronto to Sarnia.

The layman is made acquainted with the intricate parts of the machinery and the mysteries of the locomotive cabin by Engineer D. Campbell and Fireman A. Saunders, of Toronto, who are in charge of the engine during the week.

Then comes the baggage car, through which the entrance to the train is gained. Next is a standard colonist car which is used on colonial excursions and trains to the west. The comfortable leather seats have removed all the discomfort which at one time attended the movement of harvesters and homeseekers to the western provinces. At one end are small built-in kitchens for the use of passengers who cook their own meals.

Then is the standard day coach, used on all trains. Airy and bright, it leaves little to be desired, even to those who must take long and tedious day trips. The seats are upholstered in green cushions. The floor is built with a sanitary surface.

The tourist sleeping car gives the combined advantage of a day coach and sleeping car to long distance travelers who wish to avoid the extra expense of the standard sleeping car. The seats are convertible into upper and lower berths.

The second-class sleeping car comes next, offers additional comforts.

The pride of the railroad is the standard sleeping car and the library, compartment observation cars, which leave nothing undone which might provide comfort to the traveler with fastidious tastes. Richly upholstered with screens that protect the passenger from smoke and dust, smooth-riding owing to its weight, the sleeping car is the acme of perfection. The compartment observation car provides greater privacy to families or individuals desiring it. In each compartment running water and other comforts are provided, while the observation makes day traveling a real pleasure.

The dining-room offers a splendid service with facilities and menus unexcelled anywhere.

An innovation for traveling in Canada, designed for use in the Rocky Mountains, is the mountain observation car. The tall windows, reaching to the roof, offers the sightseer every opportunity to see the white-caps of the mountains towering in the sky without inconvenience. The roof meanwhile protects passengers from dirt or rain.

For the first time in the history of the fair gas-propelled and steam-propelled coaches, for use on branch lines, have been offered for view. They provide all the comforts of the steam road, but run as individual cars under their own power.

A wireless telephone has been installed on the train for the comfort of passengers.

RESUME HEARING IN DELORME CASE

Justice Coderre Admits Filing of Certificates Regarding Prisoner's Condition.

Quebec, Sept. 14.—Hearing of the petition of Adelard Delorme to have his brother-in-law, Adelard Delorme, indicted for the murder of his half-brother, Raoul, but committed to Beaubien Asylum, declared incapable of managing his large estate, began this morning before Mr. Justice Coderre. There was a full battery of attorneys and lawyers present. The celebrated defendant in the case was not present, but the courtroom was crowded with spectators.

Leopold Houle, who had sitting by his side Delorme's three sisters, who are assisting him in contesting the petition, asked permission to introduce the report of Dr. Brochu, superintendent of the asylum, where Delorme is interned. He said he intended to file the document to show Delorme was sane. Mr. Monette said he could file a certificate from the doctor showing Delorme was not sane. Justice Coderre settled an argument, which arose about the admission of the certificates by allowing both to be filed.

EXPECT TO FINISH UP WITH SURPLUS

Parks Board Makes Good Showing for Money Expended.

From present indications the parks board of the public utilities commission will conclude the year's program well within their appropriation, as set aside by the city council.

This is the opinion of the utilities officials, who term the year's record as nothing less than remarkable in view of the fact that several large items of expense were noted.

Chief of these was the additional money expended by reason of the severe storms last spring, which wrought such damage to the trees and foliage in the various parks. Despite this, however, it is pointed out that a good showing was made, and the parks presented even a more pleasing view during the past summer than on any previous season.

Another added expenditure cared for this year was the placing of the many new stone benches in Victoria Park, while even greater effort was expended by the parks' superintendent toward the creation of flower beds in this and the other parks.

In a similar mood Thursday, E. V. Buchanan, general manager of the utilities commission, questioned the advisability of disclosing the fact that there is a strong possibility that they will finish the year on the best side of the ledger. "The next thing you know," he commented, "the city council will be moving to reduce our appropriation."

Our Show-Off Points.

PREMIER KING paid a visit to his old home district around Kitchener and Elmira, and of course, they were busy hunting up all sorts of things for him to do and see.

It's a great habit we've developed, this business of grabbing our visitors and hustling them off to see the places we consider interesting and out of the ordinary.

For instance, when visitors of note go to Guelph they take and cart them out of the city to the college, and after they have spent all the time there, they are rushed around and presented with an address in front of the city hall, where they can keep an eye on the station to see that the train doesn't go without them.

Likewise in Brantford they load their visitors up and usher them away out to an Indian church, then journey them to the Institute for the Blind, and by the time that's over they shoot them past the city hall so fast that they don't see it.

Also when Woodstock is on the list, the visitors must see the hospital for the treatment of epileptic cases, the college, and a view of the waterworks property, after which a couple of circles are cut around the city hall, and it doesn't look so bad, because it's apt to be fairly dark by this time.

But we're all the same. When they bring them to London they tote 'em out on the river bank. If there's been a good rain we're in luck, and have a river to show them. They must see Springbank, and visit a half dozen places of interest. It's no use trying to show the city hall off here, because the thing's so modest that it just leans up against the next building and never says a word.

Then down in Windsor, they have been wearing their initial fingers off at the first joint pointing at the new hotel. Then they show them the last fifteen factories that have been opened over the week-end, point to the latest location of the new bridge, and hustle them off to the train.

Much the same all over. It must be tough some times to be a public man and have this program worked off on you by officials who have been over the ground a dozen or twenty times. And, of course, the distinguished visitor is always expected to say, "Well, well," "Is that possible," "Wonderful, isn't it," and so on, and if he doesn't, well the chances are that he'll pass down in local history as dense. But if he does have lots to say it may bring him a kind word or a vote in days to come.

It might not be a bad idea some time to let these distinguished visitors walk around town by themselves. For instance, if the premier wanted to drop in and pass an hour with BILL EULER, M.P., when he got to Kitchener, why shouldn't he do so, without the populace blocking the doorway and obstructing the usual flow of business?

Can't Be Done.

PAUL POIRET, famous creator of styles, says new styles are not coming rapidly from Paris to the North American continent.

He intimates that long skirts, even touching the ground, should be here by now, but they're not.

Perhaps no person ever told Paul that a trailing skirt can carry more disease than a dozen rats.

Nine months ago the models employed by M. Poiret paraded in Parisian hoop-skirts, trying to resurrect grandma's styles.

You haven't seen any hoop-skirts lately, have you?

The bet overlooked by Poiret was that the hoop-skirt is a physical impossibility in this country. It couldn't be gotten through the door of the average apartment, let alone a street car, auto or theatre seat.

The only possible way in which a hoop-skirt could be used now would be in a farm-field or for transporting a few cases of liquor under cover.

A Chance To Improve.

DO you ever notice that where a few people are gathered together the conversation is generally directed by one or two of them? That is, if it is real, worthwhile conversation. It was a rule of the late Lord Northcliffe that he would never permit useless or flippant conversation in his presence.

He believed that conversation should serve some useful purpose, and those engaging in it should be better informed in consequence.

Why is it that some people are able to direct and lead conversation, while the others naturally fall back and listen? They may hang on for a while, but too often they find the water getting too deep for them, so they turn back toward the shore of common things.

Some people are naturally backward, and we make all allowance for such. Too often the reason is to be found in the fact that those in the company are not well informed. They have nothing in reserve, and when the topic turns from the common everyday happenings with which they are familiar, they are distanced.

Knowledge is power. Many a man longs to have a general knowledge of things, so that he can have a little something in reserve. He would like to give the impression that he has been a reader and a student, but he has not the time to dig in now as he might have when he was younger.

Well, here's your chance. The Advertiser publishes every day an installment of H. G. Wells' Famous Outline of History. It may take ten months to complete this publication, and THE ADVERTISER has the exclusive rights for this district. It is a sequential story, covering all periods and all peoples—it is a book of the human race. Mr. Wells, who is well fitted by a scientific education, undertook to revise and edit a work done by seventeen specialists and entitled "Outline of History." It was a costly undertaking, and the original editions sold at a price that was almost prohibitive, but despite that fact it has been a best seller in the non-fiction class all over the world.

The world's greatest critics have read the book, and they call it good. It may be that you may not agree with all that Mr. Wells has to say, but that in itself will drive you on to further research, and good will result.

Many families make it a point to read the daily installments to the children. In some places the schools have taken Wells' Outline of History as a text book.

Others are clipping it out each day and pasting it away in a scrap-book for future reference. It is very easy to make an index of these clippings, adding to them each day.

The big thing is this—any man, woman or child who will read these daily installments carefully, study them and get the facts stored away in the mind, will at the end of the series, be a well-informed person, conversant with the history of men and of the world.

THE ADVERTISER believes it is doing a real service to its constituency in bringing such worthwhile reading matter within reach of its readers.

Export Trade.

A FIRM making toys got the following letter from Lucknow, India:

"The sample wax dolls is all running away, owing to equatorial heat of Indian summer. Eight china dolls is to hand with six broken noses and nine cats is come with only seven tails. The leopards is too much deficient in spots for our climate."

Queer letter, perhaps, but it has its point.

We like to talk in large terms about building up an export trade. Then we take a certain pride in reading certain figures showing its development. But it means work and lots of it.

These dolls did not suit the trade in Lucknow, India, although the maker thought they would.

Canadian bacon producers are losing out in the British market because bacon eaters there turn up their noses at the fat pork we want them to take.

Britain lost a lot of Canadian trade in a dozen lines because United States studied this market and found out what we wanted.

Very easy to talk about export trade, but it comes to those who study world markets and the various conditions in world markets.

A National Menace.

A FEW days ago the officers of San Francisco hired a boat and went out into the Pacific Ocean. From this craft they dropped into the ocean a small cargo of revolvers, pistols and other murderous weapons which had been collected from time to time from crooks placed under arrest. There were some very dangerous guns among the number, and many also, that had been used in killing men and women. The revolver is a weapon for the commission of murder, for the slaying of human beings. That is its only purpose.

The San Francisco method for doing away with revolvers is good so far as it goes, but it is but a drop in the bucket. So long as the Government permits their manufacture, criminals will be aided in murder. The government is an accessory to murder so long as it allows the manufacture of the revolver. The weapon is not used for hunting. The only way to root out this terrible menace to life is to stop making the guns.

Under laws which are in force in many of the States, the carrying of weapons is forbidden. The home owner may not have one in his house. He is, therefore, placed at a disadvantage when a burglar enters his place. The burglar is armed but he is not. The law forbids carrying concealed weapons, but only a few gun-toters are apprehended.

To disarm the holdup man and burglar, the government should prevent the manufacture of the pistols and cartridges designed for them. In no other way will the menace be rooted out.

Peace officers and army men should be armed. Their arms can be manufactured or secured by the government.

Miners Working.

HARD coal miners at Scranton, Pa., are returning to work—some 155,000 of them.

The encouraging note is added that if they work steadily coal supply conditions may become normal some time in the spring.

And about the time they become normal things will be in good shape for another strike.

The strike is not settled—it is merely patched up for the time being.

LITTLE 'TISERS

Well, good-bye old straw hat. Hope to see you next spring.

We all know the price of success but few are willing to pay it.

Some men rule their own homes—others help wash the dishes.

Is a man nervous because he smokes or does he smoke because he's nervous?

"Keep the Home Fires Burning" may become somewhat of a national anthem this winter.

A lot of mosquitoes get mad when holiday season is over, while a few more daring ones follow us home.

Plans are under way to eliminate strange words in menu cards. So a-la this and a-la that goes into the discard.

Wouldn't it be great to wake up some morning and find that a Canadian dollar was worth as much here as in Germany?

They're ringing the curfew at nine in some of the towns around here, and some of the old boys who retire early complain that it wakes them up.

Now that hunters are preparing to take to the woods and shoot everything that looks like a deer, there may yet be a milk shortage in the land.

Tight shoes are being worn again by women, say the critics. And we may live to see the day when a buxom maiden will once more hitch herself to the hedpost, and come forth with a wasp waistline.

People are told to work hard, but why not stress the idea of getting the work to which they are suited. For instance, C. W. Barron, of Wall Street, says he wouldn't give Henry Ford $10 a week as a financial reporter, but he'd be glad to pay him over a million a year as a factory manager.

"Papa's pants will soon fit Willie." Such used to be a phrase indicating how many a family carried on in an effort to make the purse of the family keep the house. It's an old trick, perhaps forgotten in some quarters, but all power to the diligent mother who can still do it and make it possible to know whether Willie is coming or going.

LEGAL QUERIES

Editor, Advertiser:

Sir—Here is a question I would like to see answered:

Not being an owner of a car, I have been wondering for some time whether a man got a privilege along with his car license to repair his car on Sunday?

J. H. McDONALD.

Listowel, Sept. 12, 1922.

Answer.—No license is necessary to repair.

Sir—Would you kindly answer these few questions through your legal column:

If I buy a house at so much per month and fall behind four or five months in my payments can I be made to vacate? If so, what notice can I demand, and what redress have I? Can I remove any outside buildings that I have built?

Thanking you in anticipation,

L. M. M.

Answer.—Not unless agreement permits it. You had better send the agreement so that we can advise you definitely. It depends as to whether they are fixed to the soil or not, and whether there is any provision in agreement or not governing the matter. Write more fully and send agreement and then definite answer will be given.

Fair Notes.

Among fair visitors today is Mr. A. McNeen of the Windsor Record, and Mr. Ford, of the Chatham Banner.

Hon. G. W. Ross and Hon. John Dryden are expected tomorrow.

The press badges are more ornamental than useful. They entitle the wearer to no privileges.

It is too much to suppose that all juveniles in the ring yesterday paid $2 each for badges.

Joseph Kitty and Stephen Scott, two boys who were locked up for jumping the fence, were discharged in police court.

DR. BISHOP'S ADVICE

DRINK MORE MILK

BY DR. R. H. BISHOP.

MILK is a natural food, used by civilized and uncivilized people alike. It seems worthy of some special consideration.

It is practically the only food which contains all the elementary principles in any thing like the right proportions. It requires very little energy for digestion.

Milk is, however, not easily tolerated by some people, and in any case is very deficient in iron, so that anemia is almost sure to result from its over-use.

A good way to include more milk in your diet is through the use of cream soups and creamed vegetables. Because of the healthy little vita-mines in milk, other dishes also should be considered that contain this element. Many vegetables contain vitamins, such as spinach, carrots and turnips, and other green vegetables should be used in the respective seasons.

It is well to give children a quart of milk daily, while adults should drink at least a pint. It should be taken slowly and not in gulps and hurriedly.

Products of milk, such as cheese or butter, are healthful. Cheese, however, is difficult to digest. To promote its digestion it ought to be grated or eaten with some other easily-digested food.

Cream contains most of the fats of the milk and is a somewhat heavier food. One pint of cream contains more caloric value than four quarts of milk.

The addition to milk of water, cream and sugar, is often necessary to make it more digestible, especially for children.

NO. 322—SELLING IMMEDIATE AND FUTURE BENEFITS.

Every salesman of life insurance knows that there is a certain type of person more concerned with the immediate prospect of the rate than with the ultimate benefits of the insurance.

Again, there are some men to whom the idea of profits at some period in the future does not look nearly so attractive as a policy which will mature or be paid up quickly.

With the varied forms of policies on the market today the agent at best has a hard time fishing around to find out just what premium and benefit combination has the greatest appeal for his prospect, and he will often lose out to a competitor who is no better able to fill the man's needs than he is, simply because he did not happen to offer him just the combination that appealed.

To know whether to talk present or future to a man, see if his head is noticeably longer or shorter than average. Pay no attention to width, but do observe height. If he is short-headed, keep your talk in terms of the present or near future. If he is long-headed as well as short-headed, give him the cheapest premium possible. But if he is high-headed and short-headed, talk to him first of policies which mature quickly or are paid up quickly. If he is long-headed, talk to him of the profits and advantages in the distant future. Talk to the short-head of the dangers of sudden death; to the long-head on the wisdom of looking out for his old age. Granting the two men are equally able to carry the policies offered to them, you will find that this works.

LEARN A WORD EVERY DAY

TODAY'S word is—MODICUM.

It's pronounced —mod-i-kum, with accent on the first syllable.

It means—a little; a small quantity; a limited amount or supply.

It comes from Latin "modicus," moderate, more indirectly from "modus," measure.

It's used like this—"News that Lenin is again at the helm in Russia is received with a modicum of satisfaction in most quarters, not because he is considered, basically, any less a super-radical than the rest of the Bolsheviks, but because he is deemed more intelligent."

A PRESBYTERIAN NEXT TIME.

Little Mary Lou, aged six, had always been an ardent Methodist, but was one day persuaded by a small playmate to visit a Presbyterian Sunday school. She was enthralled by the new surroundings and was especially infatuated with the charming young teacher who had so cordially invited her to come again.

"I'd like to," said Mary Lou, wistfully, "if I didn't have to go to my own Sunday school. But do you know, if I had my life to live over again, I'd just believe I'd be a Presbyterian."

Wednesday is Farmers' Day.

The first car on the Rectory street line, south of the G. T. R., was run last night by Manager Carr and Superintendent Potter.

The Western District rifle matches will be held on Oct. 5. Col. Dawson, Capt. Thomas Robson, Staff-Sergeant Goodwin, Wm. Robson and Major Hayes comprise the executive committee to complete arrangements.

Thursday and Friday of this week have been declared holidays in all the city public schools to allow the pupils to attend the fair. The teachers are desirous that all should wait for these days, so as not to cause a decrease in the attendance at school today and tomorrow.

OUTLINE OF HISTORY

The Romance of Mother Earth

Creatures of the Early Seas.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT—4.

LIFE IN EARLY PALAEOZOIC AGE.

Note its general resemblance, except for size, to the microscopic summer ditchwater life of today.

LYING over and above the Proterozoic rocks is a third series, which is found to contain a considerable number and variety of traces of living things. First comes the evidence of a diversity of shellfish, crabs and such-like crawling things, worms, seaweeds, and the like; then of a multitude of fishes and of the beginnings of land plants and land creatures.

These rocks are called the palaeozoic (ancient life) rocks. They mark a vast era, during which life was slowly spreading, increasing and diversifying in the sea of our world. Through long ages, through the earliest palaeozoic time, it was no more than a proliferation of such swimming and creeping things in the water.

Through Long Ages.

There were creatures called trilobites; they were crawling things like the big sea woodlice that were probably related to the American king-crab of today. There were also sea scorpions, the predators of that early world. The individuals of certain species of these were nine feet long. There were very highest sorts of life. There were abundant different sorts of an order of shellfish called brachiopods. There were plant animals, rooted and joined together like plants, also loose weeds that waved in the water.

It was not a display of life to excite our imaginations. There was nothing that ran or flew or even swam swiftly or skillfully. Except for the size of some of the creatures, it was not very different from, and rather less various than, the kind of life a student would gather from any summer-time ditch nowadays for microscopic examination.

Such was the life of the shallow seas through a hundred millions of years or more in the early palaeozoic period. The land during that time was apparently absolutely barren. We find no trace nor hint of land life. Everything that lived in those days lived under water for most or all of its life.

Between the formation of these fewer palaeozoic rocks in which the sea scorpion and trilobite ruled, and our own time, there have intervened almost immeasurable ages, represented by layers and masses of sedimentary rocks.

There are first the upper palaeozoic rocks, and above these the geologists distinguish two great divisions.

Next above the palaeozoic come the mesozoic (middle life) rocks, a sea-scorpion system of fossil bearing rocks, representing perhaps a hundred millions of years, and containing a wonderful array of fossil remains, bones of giant reptiles and the like, which we will presently describe; and above these again are the Cainozoic (recent life) rocks, a third great volume in the history of life, an unfinished volume of which the sand and mud that was carried out to sea yesterday by the rivers of the world, to bury the bones and scales and bodies and tracks that will become at last fossils of the things of today, constitute the last written leaf.

The Record of the Rocks.

These markings and fossil in the rocks and the rocks themselves are our first historic documents. The history of life that men have puzzled out and are still puzzling out from them, is called the record of the rocks. By studying this record men are slowly piecing together a story of life's beginnings, and of the beginnings of our kind, of which our ancestors a century or so ago had no suspicion.

But when we call these rocks and the fossils a record, and a history, it must not be supposed that there is any sign of an orderly keeping of a record. It is merely that whatever happens leaves some trace, if only we are intelligent enough to detect the meaning of that trace. Nor are the rocks of the world in orderly layers one above the other, convenient for men to read. They are not like the books and pages of a library. They are torn, disrupted, interrupted, flung about, defaced, like a carelessly arranged office after it has experienced in succession a bombardment, a hostile military occupation, an earthquake, riots, and a fire.

Speculations about geological time vary enormously. Estimates of the age of the oldest rocks by geologists and astronomers starting from different standpoints, have varied between 1,600,000,000, and 25,000,000,000. That the period of time has been vast that it is to be counted by scores and possibly by hundreds of millions of years, is the utmost that can be said with certainty in the matter.

And be it noted that whatever the total sum may be, most geologists are in agreement that half or more than half of the whole of geological time had passed before life had developed to the later palaeozoic level. The reader reading quickly through these opening chapters, may be apt to think of them as a mere swift prelude of preparation to the apparently much longer history that follows, but in reality that subsequent history is longer only because it is more detailed and more interesting to us.

It looms larger in perspective. For ages that stagger the imagination this earth spun, hot and lifeless, and again for ages of equal vastness it held no life above the level of the animalcules in a drop of ditch-water.

Not only in space from the point of view of life and humanity empty but time is empty also. Life is like a little glow, scarcely kindled yet in these void immensities.

OUT OF THE WILD.

BY BERTON BRALEY

HOME again, home again, back from vacation. Back to the comforts of civilization. Back where the bugs don't attend each collation.

Back where the food isn't constantly fried; Home, where the beds aren't excessively jumpy. Home, where the tables aren't shaky and jumpy. Home, where the floors aren't all gnarly and bumpy. After all, home is the place to abide.

HOME, where the windows aren't stubborn and sticky. Home, where the stove isn't smoky and tricky. Where all the woodwork's not wormy and ticky. Where there are mirrors to aid your adorning.

Where you get water by turning a tap; Where milk and papers are brought you each morning. Life in the country I'm not at all morning. Still, I think home's the best spot on the map!

THERE'LL be collectors to bother and hound me. There'll be noise of the city around me. Worries and cares that have oftentimes bound me. Once more will give me a pain in the dome; Business will drive me without much cessation. Clothes, food and fuel bills cause irritation. Nevertheless, now I'm through with vacation. Take it from me, it is good to be home!

Saskatchewan—Nancy Susan Fisher, Prince Albert, daughter of Sergeant H. B. Fisher, 5th Battalion, killed in the battle of Vimy, 1917.

One of the 1920 and one of the 1921 scholars failed to pass their examinations, and two extra bursaries have been awarded as follows: Frank Lloyd Evans, Minn. son of Capt. James Lloyd Evans, 5th Battalion, killed in action, 1918, and Franklin Oliver Parker Levis, Victoria, B. C., son of William J. Levis, Canadian Military Police, who is permanently disabled.

All soldiers' children in the provinces of Quebec, Brunswick and Prince Edward Island were too young to apply for bursaries this year.

What Women are Accomplishing in London.

W. M. S. LOOKS AHEAD.

The Dundas Center Methodist Women's Missionary Society met Monday, September 11. The program, provided by Mrs. Godwin's group, was most interesting. Mrs. Frank White presented the new study book, and a synopsis of the foreword of "World Friendship, Inc." roused considerable interest in the plan of study for the winter. Mrs. Gordon gave the Bible lesson, and Mrs. Spence and Mrs. Alderson reported from the foreign field.

MAITLAND B. Y. P. U.

A jolly time was spent at a corn roast, given this week by the R. Y. P. U. of Maitland Street Baptist Church. The church, the church in a body for the Valley, where a huge bonfire was built. Refreshments, consisting of wieners, rolls, corn and watermelon, were served, and games and a sing-song provided great amusement. The committee in charge included Misses Daniels, Fisher, Dunn and Loveland.

HEAR OF OUR MISSIONARY.

Saturday afternoon last members of the Grace Country Club, Thamesford, accepted the invitation of Mr. and Mrs. George Mackay to meet Rev. and Mrs. Charles Donald and son Douglas, returned missionaries, who are visiting in their home. Mr. and Mrs. Donald are stationed at Ujjain, Central India, with Miss Patterson, for whom the club is working. The missionaries illustrated their work with maps, snapshots and souvenirs. Particularly interesting to the girls was the story of Miss Patterson's work, as told by Mr. Donald, the first time the club has heard of her work from a fellow-missionary.

At the close, the hostess served dainty refreshments. Miss Iola McKellar has invited the club to meet at her home Saturday, Sept. 16.

WITH THE BRIDES

STEWARTSON-LEITCH.

The marriage of Robert Clifford Stewartson of Maple Grove, and Annie Margaret Leitch, Oakdale, was quietly solemnized at the Presbyterian manse, Petrolia, on Tuesday, September 12, by Rev. J. J. Monds. The attendants were Miss Margaret Armstrong and W. A. Leitch of Inwood.

FRANCIS-DINGMAN.

An event of much interest to a number of London friends was the wedding which took place in the Timothy Eaton Memorial Church on Tuesday, Sept. 12, at 3 o'clock, of Wilhelmine, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Dingman, Spadina avenue, Toronto, to Mr. Albert E. Francis of Port Arthur, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Francis of London. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Thomas Manning, D.D., a former pastor of Dundas Central Methodist Church, this city, assisted by Rev. H. S. Osborne, pastor of the church.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of silver crepe, brocade, trimmed with orange blossoms, worn by her mother at her wedding, and silver crepe roses. The court train, draped from the shoulder, was of ivory crepe, charmed with silver, and the train was lined with peach blossom georgette and silver. The exquisite Honiton lace veil was the gift of the bride's mother. She carried an opulent bouquet of white roses and orchids. Her bridesmaids were Miss Josephine Kilburn of London, and Miss Marjorie Francis of London, sister of the groom. Miss Kilburn wore apricot taffeta with white lace, and carried a bouquet of white roses and orchids. Miss Francis wore a gown of mauve taffeta with white lace, and carried a similar bouquet.

The mother of the bride, was a dainty flower girl, in frock of mauve organdy, with an old-fashioned bouquet of Sweetheart roses. The groomsmen were Mr. C. A. Edwards of Toronto, and Mr. Roy Whitehead, Dr. T. W. Ballantyne, and George M. Dingman. Mr. G. D. Atkinson, former music tutor at the church, presided at the organ, and during the signing of the register Mrs. Roy Whitehead of Toronto sang "I Love Thee." After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 375 Spadina avenue. Mrs. Dingman received, wearing a gown of midnight blue tulle, trimmed with white lace, and a large corsage of white roses.

The bride was charmingly attired in a tailored suit of navy serge and georgette blouse of french blue with satin trim. The bride and groom were attended by Miss Eunice Nott, sister of the groom, and Mr. George Coulter, brother of the bride. The happy couple left for their honeymoon trip to the west coast, and other eastern points. On return from their honeymoon they will reside on the groom's farm, east of the Lindsay road, Chatham Township, and will be at home to their many friends after Sept. 25.

DISCUSS NEW SERVICE AT LEAGUE CONVENTION

Catholic Women of Canada Gathering in Winnipeg September 25 to 28.

A prominent subject for discussion at the annual conference of the Catholic Women's League of Canada, to be held at the Royal Alexandra Hotel, Winnipeg, Sept. 25 to 28, will be the new missionary campaign of the Sisters of Service, which is being carried on among foreign-born Canadians in the west. Reorganization of travelers' aid work is also to be debated.

Reports will be presented, with discussions on organization, education and social service, with special emphasis on child welfare. Miss Belle Guerin, Montreal's national president, who attended the first annual convention of London diocese, last fall, will preside. Mrs. Bernard C. McCann, diocesan president, and Mrs. Joseph Leach, president of London sub-division, will go from London.

CHECK EVERYTHING, BABES TO BALLOONS

Scotch Chapter Reaps Big Farmers' Day Harvest—Child Welfare Swamped.

"We have checked everything today from babies to balloons," said a member of the Loch Lomond (Scotch) Chapter, I. O. D. E., with a sigh of satisfaction at the end of the big day at the fair Wednesday, otherwise Farmers' Day.

It was 8 o'clock in the evening, and still in the checkrooms adjacent to the King street entrance were baby carriages, go-carts, kewpie dolls, statuary, lunches, suit cases, club bags, umbrellas, crutches, shoes, rubbers, spare tires, and even a lantern, with which some farmer was going to see his way home.

Fate had played some poor kiddie a scurvy trick. Attention was drawn to a white balloon which had chosen as its lofty niche the topmost peak of the ceiling. Shortly after the checkers his treasure for safekeeping, the string broke loose and away it soared beyond all reach, to look down serenely and tantalizingly into, perchance, it ceases to feel so inflated.

Wearing the Red Cross uniform, cap and all, minus the Red Cross, it was not surprising to hear the members in charge addressed as "Nurse" and "Sister," particularly by men who looked as if they had seen service.

Two of these approached the checkroom and asked "Sister" for aspirin. "Sister," being resourceful and ready for emergency, produced the aspirin. The grateful recipients insisted upon leaving 25 cents for the cost in the War Memorial Children's Hospital, as a novel means of augmenting the funds for the hospital. He proceeded to address the members in sight in Gaelic, considerably to their consternation. It happened just at that moment none of the member who "speak the two talks" were on duty.

At the end of a perfect day, when, notwithstanding the tremendous amount of business handled by the amateurs, not an article went wrong. Mrs. B. J. Dunlevy, general convenor, and her assistants, were quite enthusiastic in praise of the Farmers' Day throngs.

"Never tell me that farmers are close any more," said an officer of the chapter. "Why, I never saw a more generous lot. Again and again we found them refusing to wait for change, insisting we should take 25 cents instead of the 10 they owed, since it was for such a good cause, the children's hospital."

An unusually large committee was on duty, owing to the big rush anticipated. Including Mesdames George Stark, Ed. Sutherland, Robert Mercer, Alex. Wootton, Thomas Macdonald, Lorne Day, and L. Everingham.

Swamped With Babies.

If Farmers' Day was a big day for the Loch Lomond Chapter, checked for the Child Welfare tent, was almost swamped. At almost any hour in the day, all the members of the nursing staff, from the pioneer nurse and supervisor, Miss Bertha Smith, to the latest recruit, might be seen with a baby in each arm, at the same time endeavoring to cheerfully and competently answer questions, and give out literature to mothers. In addition, every one of the dozen or more meat basket basinettes provided in the rest tent was fully occupied. Mrs. David Williams and Mrs. Glennie Wilson of the Child Welfare executive, and Miss Hallett, playground supervisor, who have also been helping every day, each with all the babies they could hold all the time.

Lacking clinics in their own districts, mothers from farming communities and small villages and towns asked eager questions with regard to correct feeding and general care, manifesting keen interest in the modern and eminently dainty and hygienic layette, of which many of the soft little garments are made from old underwear and stockings.

Missionaries Needed.

If the crowds that attended the exhibition Wednesday were keenly alive to the importance of saving children for healthy citizenship, not all, by any means, knew of the big movement in this direction as expressed in the War Memorial Children's Hospital. The Seventh Regiment Chapter, I. O. D. E., with Mrs. F. H. Butler as regent, took charge of the booth upstairs in the Main Building for the big day.

"Talk of the need of sending missionaries to heathen lands," said an officer, "we need to do some more mission work right at home."

"Do you know, I found people living within fifteen, twenty and thirty miles of London who had never before even heard of the War Memorial Children's Hospital. Some wanted to know where it was going to be built, when it would be started. They were amazed to learn it was just about completed. Once they did know, they were most interested in helping. They can't be readers of London papers."

The happy idea of placing a collection plate in plain view, with that of the regent, Mrs. Butler. Even if it was only a plain, cardboard picnic plate, it served the purpose most satisfactorily, heaped up as it was with quarters at close of the day, with at least one crisp bill poking through.

POSTPONE MEETING.

Owing to Fair week, Knollwood Park Mothers' Club has postponed the September meeting of the club to have been held Thursday evening.

A MERE MAN.
Dear Cynthia Grey, I am a constant reader of The London Advertiser and enjoy reading your letters. My, but you must have a good disposition to read all those letters and answer them. It must be trying and tiresome. Should I join the Mail-Box or in my next letter. Will you please send me Yankee Doodle's address, also the woman's who signed "A Widow." I think I know where I can get her a home. Hoping I have not asked too many questions.

BRITAIN'S LAD.
Ans.—The only way you can join the Mail-Box is to write a letter to it and observe the rules printed at the top of the Mail-Box each day. You are now a full-fledged member of our Mail-Box. The S. C. H. fund is for the Sick Children's Hospital in London. The boxites have raised money in various ways and are ready to find a place for a cot, which we are endowing to the hospital, and which will be known as the Cynthia Grey Cot. We have already collected $720 and when we have $1,000 we are entitled to a cot. I am sending you the addresses you asked for, and I sincerely hope you will be able to find a place for the widow, who is looking for a home for herself and her two children. Certainly you have not asked too many questions. I am quite used to questions of every description, so if at any time I can help you, just let me know.

CALLS BABY AFTER MAIL-BOX.
Dear Miss Grey, I saw in tonight's paper where "May" said she sent me a parcel. Mother gave me two pairs drawers and stockings, while I was in bed with baby, but did not say where they came from. If they are from "May," I thank her ever so much for sending them. I also received coats from "Heather Bell." That nice as they are, the girls wanted. I would like to get one for our new baby, also a bonnet. We call her "The Boxite." Thank you, Miss Grey, for your trouble. I hope to help some of the Boxites soon with seeds for their flower gardens. I remain, yours, as B. 4.

YOUNG MOTHER No. 2.
Were these the articles you sent to "Young Mother No. 2." "May" is quite likely that this is the parcel "May" sent you. It was good of "Heather Bell" to help by sending the little coats for your girls. And you are still in need of a bonnet and coat for the baby. Maybe someone will find one that their baby has outgrown that would fit your little one. Let us know from time to time how you are getting along. She will be a bonnie baby if she is brought up by the Mail-Box. Why not call her Cynthia; or do you think that too staid a name for a baby?

FINDS COUNTRY RESTFUL.

Dear Miss Grey, I am a Canadian girl, but at present I am living in the United States. That is, I mean my permanent home is there. Now I am visiting with an aunt in the country. It certainly is a rest from the buzzing city.

I would like to correspond with someone on your lists. I am 13 years of age, and 5 feet 4 inches in height, and weigh about 110 pounds. I have blue eyes and fair hair.

I have been very interested in your pages, and sincerely hope that some of your Boxites will write.

I will sign, hoping I have stolen no one's pen-name, FORGET-ME-NOT.

It is restful to visit in the country after living in a city, and your city certainly is a busy one. Forget-Me-Not, I am placing your name on the family list, and any of the little Boxites who would like to write to you may have your address from the Mail-Box. I know there will be a regular deluge of requests for your name and address.

SEES SILVER LINING.

My Dear Miss Grey, I hope I am not troubling you coming again so soon. I see where Floating Clouds has some dresses and shoes to give away. I thought if I were in time I might get a share of the dresses I could possibly make over for one of my little girls. I have been sick in bed these last two days, as the doctor said I must be kept quiet and rest for a few days. When I am up again I shall be pleased if I can sit and sew for the youngsters. I think there is some Silver Lining behind our new boxite. Don't you? I will not forget the S. C. H. next time, but haven't a mite just now. Sincerely,

I am mailing you Floating Clouds' address. As you are the first to write to me, I think you will receive the clothes she is offering. I am sorry to hear you have been ill, and hope you will be feeling all right soon again.

POSSUM WANTS PATTERNS.

Dear Cynthia, I have never written to you before, so much not make my letter too long. I am very fond of crocheting and tatting. I noticed in your column where Madge was asking for crochet patterns, and as I am about out of patterns I thought I would try my luck too. If they are not all out of the Mail-Box, may I have a few crochet yokes and edges, please? I am inclosing stamped addressed envelope and mite for S. C. H. fund. I will sign myself as POSSUM.

Am mailing you a few patterns as requested, and when you are finished with them you may return them to the Mail-Box, Possum. Thank you for remembering our hospital fund with a mite.

HELPS BOXITES.
Dear Cynthia—Please forward inclosed letters to names on envelopes. I have a parcel for T. I. P. which I will get off at my earliest possible convenience. Have had sickness in the house, and it has delayed me. Kindly send me address of "A Widow." Hoping I am not asking too much of you in forwarding letters, I am, LILAC.

Find inclosed mite.

You have been more than kind in helping out the many Boxites who are in trouble, and especially when you have had sickness in your own home. Am mailing you the address of "A Widow," and if she hasn't already found a home, I hope you will be able to help her find one. Many thanks for the inclosed "plaster."

FINDS COUNTRY COOL.
Dear Cynthia—Here I come again to your cosy corner. It must be quite hot in your office these days. It is quite cool out in the country. We went bathing back behind our place in the river a few times this summer, and we went to the creek too. I received the addresses, and thanks very much.

A BROWN-EYED DAISY.
When there is more space I will print your riddles, Brown-Eyed Daisy. I wish I were with you in the country today, as it is very hot in the city. Can you swim?

WANTS A GIRL.
Dear Miss Grey—Could you send me A Widow's address. I offered a home for a little girl for the summer months, but no one applied, although there are so many in need, and one would think they would be glad to send a little one where she would get enough to eat and clothes to keep her covered, with the winter coming on. I would like to get a nice little girl, as I am alone, and have so many steps to go up and down, where a girl could save me many a step. I would be well treated and brought up in church-going way. If anyone would let their little girl out of a good disposition, I don't think it would be regretted. We are on a farm, my husband and myself and son, I have a little one where she would get a place with her children and earn enough to keep herself and them.

MRS. S. B.
A Widow has received many letters, so I think by now she has received a position. If any woman would like to put her little girl in the country for home for the winter she may have Mrs. S. B.'s address. Thank you, Mrs. S. B., for sending a hospital mite.

To Free Your Arms Of Hair and Fuzz.

(Boudoir Secrets)
No toilet table is complete without a small package of delatona, for with it hair or fuzz can be quickly banished from the skin. To remove hairs you merely mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the objectionable hairs. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when it will be found free from hair or blemish. Be sure you get genuine delatona—Advt.

The Macartney Milker Mechanical Perfection!

On exhibition and daily being demonstrated to thousands of progressive farmers. Don't miss it. Front of Cattle Building, Western Fair.

Time was when clover was considered the ideal hay crop for dairy feeding. Then a new discovery was made. Alfalfa we now know to be better.

And so with milking machines. There have been and are today, many which will milk with certain success. But the Macartney is a distinct advancement.

What Thomas A. Edison has done for electricity, we believe we have done for mechanical milking. We have brought together, and combined, after study and improvement, all the most highly approved known principles—and to this substantial foundation, added developments which are vital in their basic importance.

40,000 ATTEND FARMERS' DAY

Visitors Flock From All Over Western Ontario To the Exhibition.

Performance in Front of the Grand Stand Undoubtedly Feature of Program.

Forty thousand people are estimated to have passed through the gates of the Western Fair Wednesday to make Farmers' Day one of the most successful in the history of the exhibition.

While the attendance fell short of establishing a record, the crowds were sufficiently large, and business was sufficiently good to bring a large measure of satisfaction to the directors and others keenly interested in the welfare of the exhibition.

The weatherman was in a decidedly uncertain mood in the early afternoon, for he threatened for some time with a dangerous-looking array of clouds and some light showers, but, on finding a huge throng assembled early at the Fair, he graciously withdrew his forces until after the grandstand performance at night, when it rained again.

While they dampened but little the spirits of the Fair visitors, the early showers undoubtedly had much to do with the failure of the attendance figures to reach the record established on the corresponding Wednesday in 1921.

Close factories. Although many stores and several of the largest factories in the city were closed for a half day, releasing from work thousands of citizens, the day in reality belonged to visitors from Western Ontario, for even in the morning, thousands, equalling in number the total attendance of Monday and Tuesday, were on the grounds.

The feature of the day was undoubtedly the performance before the grandstand, with the added attraction of a grand parade of all the prize-winning live stock in the afternoon. The parade, with almost 150 horses and 200 cattle bedecked in gray ribbons, won the admiration and resounding applause of the huge crowd of spectators.

It is estimated that 11,000 people filled the stands in the afternoon, while 8,000 more witnessed the performance at night. In the afternoon the covered stand, with a seating capacity of 5,000, was filled to overflowing, while many hundreds more sought admission with the understanding that there was standing room only. Both the open stands were filled as well.

Owing to the threatening skies everything on the afternoon program was staged without delay, keeping the crowd stirred every moment. The races were run with but few false starts, and so interest in the events was kept keen-edged.

Does Rushing Business. The midway had a rushing business throughout the day, especially in the afternoon, and none of the concession men had complaint to make of the business transacted throughout the day.

Despite the large crowds, no serious accidents occurred to mar the day, although the nursing staff at the St. John Ambulance emergency tent was kept quite busy. During the day 35 minor injuries were dressed, including two or three wounds.

HEINTZMAN PIANOS.

An aristocrat among pianos, truly the Heintzman piano holds the distinction of being the sole choice of the world's greatest masters. Always sure of the delicate and refined expression, known to him only in the Heintzman & Co. piano, Caruso demanded it, as did such world-renowned singers as Melba and Nordica. And not only an accompanist, the world's premier pianist, who had in his travels the opportunity of using pianos bearing the name of the greatest piano builders of all countries, heartily indorses the Heintzman & Co. piano for its beauty of tone and delicacy of touch.

The display at this year's exhibition also contains an extensive display of Weber pianos, and Victor, Brunswick, McLaughlin and Sonora phonographs, and Mr. Frank Windsor, who is in charge, invites visitors to examine his exhibit.

HARDIE POWER SPRAYERS.

Noted for their high pressure, their light weight, large capacity and their powerful engines, giving perfect agitation, Hardie Power Sprayers, exhibited by the Hardie Manufacturing Company of Hudson, Mich., are adding to their tremendous clientele, and upholding all their old factory traditions.

Used wherever good fruit is grown, they are consequently well known. They are so simple and easy to understand, and so light, they can be used where other machines would be an impossibility. Although an expensive and high-grade motor has been used, it pays, for it does away with the possibility of engine failure at a critical time in the spraying season. They are built to stand even unnecessary abuse, and this fact is being demonstrated to the satisfaction of thousands of visitors at the Fair.

LYRITE SPRINGS.

Exhibited by the Leggett and Platt Spring Bed Company, Windsor, Lyrite Springs are certainly just what is claimed for them. An interesting and continual demonstration is one of the main attractions in the Machinery Building, where on one side is seen in effigy a man and his son rolling and tossing in an endeavor to secure a comfortable resting place, on the hard and old-fashioned kind of spring. Quite the reverse is the scene on the other side, where in striking contrast, a little girl and her mother are securing an enjoying restful and beneficial sleep on Lyrite Springs.

AERO CUSHION TIRES.

Back of the Dairy Building convincing demonstrations of the Aero Cushion inner tires are proving to motorists and other users the high efficiency and economy claimed for them. Blowouts and punctures are absolutely impossible, owing to the confinement of the air in millions of cells, and the life itself of the Aero Cushion inner tire is indefinite, since it is practically impossible to wear it out or tear it. It eliminates the need of carrying extra casings, tubes, patches and tools, at considerable saving of money and worry.

SUNSHINE FURNACES.

Sunshine, the ever-popular furnace, made by the McClary Manufacturing Company of London, is the outstanding point of interest in the Machinery Building at the Fair and particular interest is being taken in the Duplex Register with which the Sunshine Furnaces can be equipped. This system of heat radiation solves the one-pipe furnace problem, as the register is placed in the wall of a room at the baseboard in such a way that it throws the heat into rooms on both sides of the wall. If there is an upstairs, a pipe can be extended to the rooms above and the same form of register heats the upstairs. There is a big saving of floor space and there is uniform distribution of heat. Do not fail to see this feature demonstrated.

WHITE CAP WASHER.

In the Machinery Building, the White Cap Washer, featured in the Beatty Bros. exhibit, is a strictly high-class machine at a low price. Machines in actual operation, were drawing capacity crowds of appreciative observers at the Fair, and the ease of operation, its speed in washing and its durability were commented upon on all sides. That Londoners know how the White Cap banishes wash day drudgery is shown by the fact that there are more than 700 satisfied users in the city. Mr. D. R. Coleman and Mr. Geo. Young are in charge of the exhibit.

IDEAL ALUMINUMWARE.

One of the most interesting of exhibits in the Machinery Building is that of the Ideal Aluminum Products, with Mr. McLaren in charge, comprising aluminum kitchenware, 99 per cent pure, and guaranteed for 25 years. "Mendit," the new Ideal mender, and the Ideal mop.

This last-mentioned article is especially worthy of mention, and remarks heard on all sides styled it the best household invention of recent years. It is efficient, economical, sanitary, scientific, and is a real timesaver. One does not have to put on old clothes to use this mop. Householders are advised not to miss seeing this, and the aluminumware when visiting this year's exhibition.

IMPROVED BUS SHOWN.

Near the cattle sheds, built on a Mack chassis, is the most perfect bus yet seen. The body, which is Canadian-built, by M. Grightmire & Son, Dundas, is somewhat like a street car, having seats for two facing the front, on each side, and everything to insure comfort for the passenger has been foreseen and provided. Tests recently made, show that beyond a doubt the bus rides easier than ordinarily, even though equipped with solid tires, the shocks being taken up by new Mack rubber insulators for the springs. Built to give the most in service, patrons are assured the same possibilities as are daily being accomplished by Mr. Grightmire, who is giving half-hourly service between Hamilton and Dundas with five buses, whereas formerly hourly service was provided.

STAR CAR ATTRACTS.

Backed by S. H. Gallagher, prominent London automobile dealer, the Star Car marks the most advanced step since the introduction of the automobile, for it provides for the first time a quality automobile, standardized in construction and operation, for a modest sum of money. Complete in range, the display of the Star car comprises coupe, sedan, touring and roadster models, and features the famous Continental Red Seal Motor, and the selective type of transmission. Also prominent in the exhibit, which is in a large tent just south of the Palace, are the Durant cars, of which a complete line is shown, in both four and six-cylinder cars.

PARAGON DISHWASHERS.

Just as a shining dish, when not actually washing dishes, the Paragon Dishwasher is a wonderful piece of kitchen furniture. It reduces labor in dishwashing 90 per cent, and means a welcome change from drudgery in the kitchen to pleasing work. No grease can stand in the whirlwind spray, and every dish is thoroughly washed and every particle of water and grease leaves the machine instantly. The dishes are automatically dried, and the Paragon becomes a cupboard for dishes.

The Paragon Dishwasher is built of pure aluminum, with brass fittings, and is so simple any child can operate it. It is the invention of a Toronto man, and the factory and headquarters are located in Toronto. Mr. E. E. Werner is the London representative, located at 555 Richmond street, city.

CHICKERING PIANOS.

Just 99 years ago the makers of the Chickering Piano, shown by the Crawford Piano Company of 236 Dundas street, sold the highest quality and second to none. Today, as then, the Chickering stands out as the last word in piano development. The best that musical and mechanical genius can produce. It has been, and still is the choice of many of the world's renowned artists who find in it a source of pleasure and confidence in the responsive action and capabilities of tone coloring as found in no other piano.

The Ampico, universally talked about lately as the Reproducing Piano, the best that musical and mechanical genius can produce. It has been, and still is the choice of many of the world's renowned artists who find in it a source of pleasure and confidence in the responsive action and capabilities of tone coloring as found in no other piano.

The Crawford Company in featuring the Willis, Knabe, and Chickering Pianos, and the Brunswick and Ulltona Phonographs, has had the well-deserved compliments of thousands on the quality of the instruments exhibited.

EUREKA VACUUM CLEANER.

Demonstrating the Eureka Vacuum Cleaner on a rug valued at more than $150, the Thomas Furniture Company is giving conclusive proof of the thorough cleaning properties of this machine, it having won all the gold medals at the Parisian and Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Besides the valuable rug on the floor of the exhibit, there are also shown some copies of famous Oriental rugs, one being a copy of the famous "Tree of Life" rug, which is in the possession of the British Museum, London, Eng.

There is also an interesting array of the raw materials from which the famous Scarfe paints are made, and just across the aisle the time and labor-saving Sellers Kitchen Cabinets are shown.

Visitors are delighted with the daily radio concerts which the Gerald Brothers are giving, the program being an extensive one. The Gerald Brothers are agents in this district for the M. S. L. Radiophone Corporation of St. Thomas.

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

That brilliant member of the secret Service whom England preferred to know as ANDRE DUCHEMIN, had incurred the hatred of the Bolsheviks. To protect his life, his superiors ordered him to disappear. He decided to go to Southern France.

With Stevenson's "Travels With a Donkey" as guide-book, he visited by moonlight that weird city of nonoliths, famous Montpellier-le-Vieux.

Entering this sinister desert, his attention was attracted by the bulking actions of a bulky individual in the uniform of the A. E. F.

GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER III.

Battling by Moonlight.

NOW the last of the A. E. F. had long since said farewell to the shores of France. Then, too, Monsieur Duchemin knew that the uniform of the Americans had more than been used by those ancient acquaintances of his, the Apaches of Paris, as a cloak for their own misdoings. So it didn't need the air of stealth that marked this business to persuade him there was mischief in the brew.

He got in motion to investigate without stopping to debate an excuse for so doing and several seconds before he heard a woman's cry.

Duchemin broke into a run that carried him round still a corner and plumpled him headlong into the theatre of villainy.

This was open ground—a rudely oval pit little less than seven hundred feet in its narrowest diameter and something like four hundred in depth, a vast black well against whose darkness the blue-white moonlight etched a strange grouping of figures, seven in all.

On his one hand Duchemin saw a woman in mourning clasp to her bosom a terrified young girl, the author of the screams on their other three men close-locked in grimest combat, one defending himself against two with indifferent success; while in between stood a third woman with her back to and perilously near the chasm, shrinking from the threat of a pistol in the hands of the fourth man.

This last was the one nearest Duchemin. She was upon him, as he felt that it would be difficult to say which was the more surprised when Duchemin's stick struck down the pistol hand of the other with such force as must have broken his wrist. The weapon fell, he uttered an oath as he swung round, clutching the maimed member; and then, seeing his assailant for the first time, he swooped down to recover the weapon so swiftly that it was in his left hand and spitting vicious tongues of orange flame before Duchemin was able to get in a second blow.

But there was the abrupt end of that passage. Smitten cruelly between the eyes, the fellow grunted thickly and went over backwards like a bundle of ragged straw and shoulders jutting out over the brink of the precipice so far that, though his body checked perceptibly as it struck the ground, his own weight carried him on, he shot out into space and vanished as though some unseen hand had lifted up from these dark depths and plucked him down to annihilation.

The young girl shrieked again, the woman gave a gasp of horror, Duchemin himself knew a sickish qualm. But he had no time to spare for that. It was going ill with the man contending against two.

The adventurer's stick might have been bewitched that night, so magical was its work; a single blow on the neck of the man, the stick was selected with care and instantaneously that knot of contention was resolved into its three several parts.

The smitten clapped hands to his hurt, moaning. His brother scoundrel started back with staring eyes in which rage gave place to dismay as he grasped the change in the situation and saw the stick swinging for his head in turn. He ducked neatly; the stick whistled through thin air; and before Duchemin could recover the other had turned and was running for dear life.

Duchemin delayed a bare instant; but manifestly his assistance was no more needed here. In a breath, he who had been so recently out-matched re-collected his wits and took the initiative with admirable address. Duchemin saw him fly furiously at his late opponent, trip and lay him on his back; then Duchemin turned and gave chase to the

JACK FELT VERY MUCH DISCOURAGED AFTER WATCHING PEDRO LOPEZ, SHERRIFF OF THE MOUNTAINS, AND THEN THE LITTLE ADVENTURER DID NOT HURRY, BUT WENT SLOWLY UP TO GO AND TELL THE SHERIFF WHAT HAD HAPPENED.

IT WAS NOT A PLEASANT TASK, BUT JACK KNEW IT WAS HIS DUTY TO REPORT TO THE SHERIFF. HOWEVER, THE LITTLE ADVENTURER DID NOT HURRY, BUT WENT SLOWLY UP TO GO AND TELL THE SHERIFF WHAT HAD HAPPENED.

DIARRHOEA

IS DANGEROUS TO TEETHING BABIES
DURING HOT WEATHER

Hot weather is a dangerous time for the babies when cutting their teeth, and all mothers should watch very closely for any sign of diarrhoea, dysentery, cholera, infantum or any other bowel trouble.

There is no remedy so safe and effective for diarrhoea as Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and all mothers who have used it speak of it with the greatest of confidence.

Mrs. James E. Green, Vermilion, Alta., writes under date of Aug. 18, 1921, as follows: "A week ago my baby boy, just one year and four months old, started cutting two teeth, and was so sick he couldn't eat or sleep, and had the diarrhoea most terribly bad; his rectum was raw and bleeding, but after giving him Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry regularly for three days he was as well as any boy could be, wouldn't be without your grand remedy for untold good."

"Dr. Fowler's" is for sale at all dealers; price, 50c a bottle; put up by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.—Adv.

GETTING TOO FAT?

TRY THIS—REDUCE

People who don't grow too fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating, or suddenly cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is endorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets and follow directions. One dollar is the price the world over. Get them from your own druggist or from price direct to Marmola Co., 4512 Woodward Ave., Detroit, Mich. By doing this you save the cost of harmful drugs and are able to reduce steadily and easily, without starvation diet or tireless exercise.—Adv.

TO DARKEN HAIR APPLY SAGE TEA

Look Young! Bring Back Its Natural Color, Gloss and Attractiveness.

Common garden sage brewed into a heavy tea with sulphur added, will turn gray, streaked or faded hair naturally dark and luxuriant. Just a few applications will prove a revelation if your hair is faded, streaked or thin. Mixing the Sage Tea and Sulphur recipe at home, though, is troublesome. In easier way is to get a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" at any drug store all ready for use. This is the only recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

While wispy, gray, faded hair is not at all, we all want to retain our youthful appearance and attractiveness. By darkening your hair with "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound" no one can tell, because it does it so naturally, so evenly. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning gray hairs have disappeared, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, glossy, soft and luxuriant.—Adv.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Create Gas, Sourness and Pain How To Treat.

Medical authorities state that nearly nine-tenths of the cases of stomach trouble, indigestion, sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to acid in the stomach. Acid in the stomach and not as some believe to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sour, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestions are not needed in such cases and may do real harm. Try laying aside all digestive aids and instead get from any druggist a few ounces of Bisulphate of Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after eating. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas, or pain. Bisulphate of Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach, inexpensive to take and is the most efficient form of magnesia for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.—Adv.

PEACH MOUSSE

BY BERTHA SHAPLEIGH of Columbia University.

THIS dessert is particularly good with fresh peaches, but may be made with canned ones. It may be frozen in the freezer can, or in a mold which is water-tight, packed in a pail. The vacuum freezer is a good freezer for a mousse.

6 or 8 large ripe peaches
Sugar for sweetening
1 pint cream
½ cup powdered sugar
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 teaspoon almond extract
1 teaspoon gelatine
1 tablespoon cold water

Slice peaches and cover with sugar. Beat cream until stiff, add sugar and flavoring and gelatine which is soaked in the cold water and dissolved by placing over hot water. In the mold place a layer of peaches, a layer of cream, and continue until all material is used. Cover with a piece of buttered paper before placing on the cover of the mold. Pack in ice and salt, using two parts ice and one part salt; allow it to stand three hours.

guessed, or possibly American, but much at home in France.

"Monsieur d'Aubrac has been wounded, a knife thrust. It will be necessary to get him to a surgeon as quickly as possible."

"If monsieur would be so good," Duchemin knelt beside the man, who welcomed him with open eyes and a wry smile that was almost as faint as his voice.

"It is nothing, monsieur—a clean cut in the arm, with some loss of blood."

The young girl in whose lap rested the head of Monsieur d'Aubrac sat back and watched Duchemin with curious grave eyes in which traces of moisture glimmered.

"Had the animal at my mercy, I thought," d'Aubrac apologized, when suddenly he drew that knife, struck me and broke away."

"I understand," Duchemin replied. "But don't talk. You'll want all your strength, my friend."

With his pocket-knife he laid open the sodden sleeves of coat and shirt, exposing an upper arm stained dark with blood that welled in ugly jets from a cut both wide and deep.

"Artery severed," he announced, and straightened up and looked about at a loss. "My pack—"

The woman who had spoken to him found and fetched it from no great distance, and its contents enabled Duchemin to improvise a tourniquet, and when the flow of blood was checked, a bandage.

With d'Aubrac disposed as comfortably as might be in the barouche, Duchemin turned to find the other woman at his elbow.

To the eldest he offered a bow suited to her condition and a hand to help her into the barouche.

"Madame!"

The gentle inclination of the aged head which acknowledged his courtesy was as eloquent of her quality as he found the name which she gave him in quavering accents.

"Madame de Sevenie, monsieur."

"With madame's permission, I am Andre Duchemin."

"Monsieur Duchemin has placed us all deeply in his debt, Louise."

The girl in the carriage looked up and bowed, murmuring, "Mademoiselle de Montalais, monsieur; my granddaughter, And Eve."

She turned to the third, to her whose voice of delightful accent was not in Duchemin's notion wholly French: "Madame de Montalais, my daughter by adoption, widow of a grandson, who died gloriously for his country at La Fere-Champenoise."

BAINS WIN FIRST 3-0
Businessmen Never Dangerous After First Game.

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 13.—The Bains this afternoon won the first game of the city championship series from the Businessmen by a splendid pitching performance, both Kelly and Ray being in good form. Two errors by Ray in the very first inning, but a force-out at third, followed by a strike-out and an easy infield roller, retired the Businessmen, who were never dangerous after that.

Kelly, himself, paved the way for a Bains run in the first inning, when he hit Stewart. Turner then scored on a single. In the third, the Bains scored their last two runs. With two men out, Stewart hit for a single. He went to second on a passed ball. Lynch then hit a long fly to left, which many thought Sedge should have captured. However, it was by him and Lynch made the circuit with Stewart in front. Kelly had seven strikeouts, while Ray had six to his credit. The second game was played Saturday. The summary:
Businessmen..... 0 3 2
Bains..... 3 0 0
Batters: Kelly and O'Bright; Ross and Henderson.
Umpire: Kennedy and Cross.

Tilbury "Recalls" Eddie Reis and Fred Gadsby

TILBURY, Sept. 13.—On Friday, Sept. 22, Essex Baseball Club, leaders of the Essex County League, will play Tilbury team on Memorial Park, Tilbury, and the game promises to be the baseball event of the season for the counties of Essex and Kent.

Essex team will be strengthened for the special occasion, and Tilbury team will probably have Eddie Reis, Carl Burrell, Fred Gadsby, Blake McGowan, and other former Tilbury players in their lineup.

A series of two games has been arranged by Manager Gough of Essex, and Manager Kittner of Tilbury, the first game to be played in Tilbury and the second in Essex. If a third game is necessary to decide the series, the location will be settled by the flip of a coin.

Manager Gough of Essex, who has a very speedy aggregation at present, has been granted permission, if he desires, to use two players not on the Essex list of 1922 regulars, and Manager Kittner may use any player with the exception of Sude Sutherland, who has played six games with the Tilbury team during the past three seasons.

REFUSE TO TAKE WORK ON FARMS

Unemployed At Brantford Prefer To Wait For Factory Openings.

Labor Authorities Unable To Secure Men For Rural Sections.

Special to London Advertiser.

BRANTFORD, Sept. 13.—That Brantford is not suffering materially on account of unemployment is evinced by the fact that the majority of applicants for work to the local labor office refuse to take the work offered by the farmers in this vicinity.

The local labor office authorities reported this morning that they could place a number of men on farms, but they experienced great difficulty in supplying the demand for farm labor. The factories are not taking on any additional help, but the men out of work at the present time are of the opinion that it will be only a few days before the industrial concerns in the city resume greater activities and will need more help, and for this reason are passing up the positions offered by the farmers.

Only one building permit was issued by the city engineer yesterday. The permit was issued to J. E. Conley for a garage on Colborne street being erected at an approximate cost of $100.

W. J. R. Liddell Passes.

The death occurred yesterday at St. Joseph's Hospital, Hamilton, of Mr. W. J. R. Liddell, of Beamsville, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Liddell of Brantford. The late Mr. Liddell was educated in the public schools of Brantford, and at the Collegiate Institute. Entering business life, he became associated with Brantford Bicycle Company, manufacturers of the Red Bird bicycle. In 1902 he joined the staff of Scarfe & Co., Limited, varnish manufacturers. He became Western Ontario representative, and was a director of the firm.

For some years he had made his home in Beamsville, and was recently taken from there to be operated on at St. Joseph's Hospital, where he later passed away. He is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Emma Oida Hoffman of Kitchener, two sons, Ronald and Cedric; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Liddell, Brantford, and two sisters, Mrs. H. O. Dale of Oakville, and Miss Dora of Brantford.

TURN MANY AWAY FROM INSTITUTE

160 Girl Students Expected To Register At Guelph College.

Special to London Advertiser.

GUELPH, Sept. 13.—The fall term at Macdonald Institute opens tomorrow, and a large number of students arrived in the city today. As more girls made application for admission to the school than could be accommodated there is a heavy waiting list. It is expected that this year will be between 155 and 160. The girls will register tomorrow, and will begin their studies on Friday.

Rotarians from outside places to the number of about 250 were the guests of the Guelph Rotary Club today. The visitors, who are from Toronto, Hamilton, Kitchener, Welland, St. Catharines, Brantford and Owen Sound, arrived in the city in small parties this morning, and after assembling at the O. A. C. at 1:30 o'clock, broke off to enjoy golf, bowling and other sports during the afternoon. This evening they will be entertained at dinner in the college dining hall.

Magistrate States Motorists Should Have Same Protection As Pedestrians

Special to London Advertiser.

CHATHAM, Sept. 13.—Declaring that the motorist should have the same protection as the pedestrian, Police Magistrate Arnold this morning predicted that the time will come in the near future when pedestrians will be held responsible for a number of car accidents.

"From my own observations, I would say that a great many of our minor automobile accidents are due to the carelessness of the pedestrian," he declared in an interview. "In most cases they occur because a motorist, in attempting to evade a foot walker, hits another car. The pedestrian escapes without any criticism, but the motorist comes in for a tongue-lashing by eyewitnesses of the accident."

"Automobiles have come to stay, and the sooner we recognize that fact, the better it will be for all of us. No motorist wants to hit anybody, and with the exception of the reckless type, all motorists will run personal risks to protect a pedestrian in danger. A motorist should have his rights as well as pedestrians. He should feel, as he drives along a busy street, that there is no danger of persons stepping out from behind parked cars, or attempting to cross the street at any place but an intersection. Under our present system few pedestrians take the trouble to walk to the intersection to cross the street, with the result that the motorist has to be alert in every sense of the word."

"A bylaw, or a statute, making jaywalking or carelessness in crossing a street an offense, would have the effect of educating the pedestrian in safety first measures. If he was hit by a car at any place on a busy street, other than the intersection, he should be made to feel that it was his own carelessness that was to blame. If, on the other hand, the motorist would be at fault, and the pedestrian would have his remedies in the court. It seems to me that such a law is a real public necessity. Sooner or later this fact will be recognized, and protection for both motorist and pedestrian will be well-earned," he declared.

Bees provided an interesting half-hour case in the police court this morning, when Echo Place residents complained of the vicious habits of a large swarm of bees, property of an Echo Place beekeeper. Children and some of the complainants had been stung recently. Ownership of the bees in question was doubtful, however, as there are four or five beekeepers in that immediate neighborhood. F. J. Calbeck, J. P., who tried the case, remarked that as this was the first occasion that bees had entered the police court cases, it would be unwise to make a precedent. The complaint was dismissed.

It is not known whether the present accounts are incorporated in the amount paid in August or not, and the matter is being thoroughly looked into before the accounts are paid.

11 HURT IN $1,000,000 FIRE IN TERRE HAUTE, IND.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Sept. 13.—Damage estimated at nearly $1,000,000 is believed to have been caused by fire which early today practically destroyed the plant of the American Hominy Company here, said to be one of the largest of its kind in the world. Eleven men, employees of the concern, were injured by falling walls, none seriously.

WINNIPEG POLICE SEIZE $2,000 STOCK OF LIQUOR

WINNIPEG, Sept. 13.—One of the greatest liquor hauls ever made in this city was carried out by the police last Friday night, when whiskey, valued at more than $2,000, was seized in a raid on the premises of Albert Sherer.

Sherer, who will be accused of keeping liquor for sale, is already awaiting trial at the fall assizes on a charge of impersonating a police officer.

It is alleged he represented himself as a police officer and seized and carried away a quantity of liquor from a house on Basswood Place some time ago.

EXPECT INFLUX OF HOLLANDERS

Canadian Government Will Co-operate in Dutch Immigration Scheme.

Baron Sandberg To Tour
Western Ontario and Interview
Viewing Manning Doherty.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—(By Canadian Press.)—An influx of experienced agriculturists from Holland to Canada is likely, according to Baron J. C. C. Sandberg, who left Ottawa for Toronto after interviewing Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior, and other members of the government.

Baron Sandberg was in Ottawa representing the government of Holland, which proposes a scheme of assisted emigration of farmers and agricultural laborers and their families. Baron Sandberg is making a tour of Canada to investigate the possibility of settling the surplus Dutch farmers here under a system of government assistance. He will tour the Western Ontario peninsula and will also go through the western provinces. While in Canada, Baron Sandberg proposes to deal directly, also, with the various provincial governments in the matter of settlement plans and in Toronto tomorrow he will probably confer with Hon. Manning Doherty and other provincial ministers.

The men desirous of emigrating to Canada are a good type of farmer, it is said, who find farming in their own country is not sufficiently remunerative since after war deflation of prices began to make itself felt.

PREMIER APPEALS FOR GREATER UNITY AMONG PEOPLE OF DOMINION

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King in Speech At Kitchener Urges All To Exercise Spirit of Good-Will — Prime Minister Receives Enthusiastic Welcome in Visit To City of His Birth.

KITCHENER, Sept. 13.—"Let us wherever we see it seek to replace ill-will by good-will," Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King told 500 members of the Kitchener Board of Trade at the dinner given in his honor here tonight. "Unity could be achieved by a spirit of good-will," he urged. There must be unity between capital and labor; between the different races of the Dominion; between the provinces; between all parts of the empire and between the nations of the world. This was the supreme aim of all governments.

The prime minister stressed the necessity of governments protecting the rights of minorities and of respecting the opinions of groups. Liberty of the individual was an absolute necessity in making for progress and development.

In opening, Mr. King again referred to the warmth of his welcome, stating that he was particularly impressed with the children. He asked the members of the board of trade to see that the children were brought up in happy surroundings. They were the future citizens of the Dominion.

There was something greater than party politics—the government of the country. The citizens of a country had the right to demand "the general attitude" of the men in charge of public affairs. There were certain fundamental questions which must be understood. First of all, he believed the business of government was not a matter for one mind, but for many minds. A multiplicity of counsel made for wisdom. The roundtable talk of the council chamber made for progress. When sixteen men sat around a round table discussing national policies, it was impossible for any one to lead the others astray. It was impossible for any one will to govern the nation. It was a matter for the collective will of the council. This was one of the greatest safeguards of the rights of the people.

Cabinet, in turn, was bound to all expression of opinion in the Commons. Nothing was to be gained from excluding any class from expressing their views. "The voice of the people is the voice of God." This might be said to be going too far, but no man could defend a wrong in the open. Therefore, the more discussion, the more the country would be kept in the path making for moral order.

Must Respect Minorities. In all matters pertaining to government the views of minorities must be respected. All could not think alike. The aim of all should be to keep the country united and the people happy and contented. In government, matters could be carried on better when the rights of the individuals were protected. The roots of progress were in the initiative of the individual.

There was a great danger in Canada of losing sight of this fundamental fact. During the war many began to look upon the government as doing everything but it must not be forgotten that things must not be done for the people which the people could do best for themselves.

There were two authorities, the authority of force and the authority of reason, and the latter was destined to triumph. On the one hand was the law of blood and death and on the other the law of health, peace and work. It was the duty of all public men and of the people as a whole to work for peace. The bitter spirit of the past must be buried. There must be one note, that of what is best for the common good of all. It must be the note governing all the nations of the world. Goodwill must replace ill-will. It was only on the surface that people really differed; underneath was the solid strata that made for goodwill and progress.

Turning to Quebec, Mr. King paid tribute to that province. The Canadians of French descent had a history of more than three hundred years. Therefore, when they spoke of Canada, they spoke with a thrill, and with pride.

Robb Outlines Record. Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of trade and commerce, gave an outline of the work of his department, and particularly of the efforts being made to increase Canadian trade. He brought a message of greeting from Quebec to Ontario and especially to the constituency of North Waterloo.

W. D. Euler, member for the constituency of Rankin (Liberal, South Perth), and James Malcolm (Liberal, South Bruce) united in complimenting the board of trade on its welcome to the prime minister.

Tomorrow the prime minister will renew old acquaintances throughout his former constituency of North Waterloo. The trip will be made by automobile, the party leaving here early in the morning, and returning late in the afternoon. Mr. King will leave Kitchener tomorrow evening for Toronto on his way to Newmarket. He will return to Ottawa Sunday morning.

The speech which Premier King delivered this afternoon upon the occasion of his first visit to his home town since his elevation to the prime ministry, will live long in the memory of district residents who were privileged to hear the inspired words of the prime minister.

He paid a glowing and touching tribute to the memory of the teachers who had molded his character in his school days, to the clergymen who had presided over his moral rearing at St. John's Anglican Church, and finally to the memory of his happy parents, whom he wished might have lived to enjoy with him the happy occasion of his return to the city of his birth as the prime minister of Canada.

Touching Demonstration. The demonstration given the premier at Victoria Park was a touching one, and he was at times visibly moved by the tributes of esteem and welcome which he received. This could be especially noted when he bent over and kissed little Betty Lang, 4-year-old daughter of Reinhold Lang, of Waterloo, when she presented him with a beautiful bouquet of Sweetheart roses.

The sky was overhung with clouds and rain threatened throughout the delivery of the premier's speech, but the crowd, undaunted by the threat of a drenching, listened tensely to the touching and inspiring message which came from Kitchener's most distinguished son.

Visits Home Town

HON. W. L. MACKENZIE KING.

KITCHENER residents by the thousands welcomed Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, prime minister of Canada, on his visit to his birthplace Wednesday. The premier, in his address, referred touchingly to his boyhood days, his father and mother and his school teachers.

evidently the political star was then in the ascendant, he added. Mr. King recalled the scenes of his boyhood, "which was associated with other people's orchards," one of them containing the best snowapples he ever tasted. The prime minister also had a word of recollection for Billy, the ancient family horse whose hide was indifferent "to the impressions one or the other of us tried at times to make upon it." Memories of school days brought out the names of Mr. Suddaby and Mr. Connor, the school principals, and the punishment at their hands for playing "hooky" through the lure of the "swimmin' hole" in the Grand River.

From the school the premier passed to the church, remembering the names of his former pastors, Rev. Dr. Dickie, Rev. Donald Tait, Rev. Dr. Winchester and Rev. Robert Atkinson, all worthy of their "high vocation," and to whose influence he owed much. It was not to governments that nations must look for the secret of enlightenment, but to those institutions which mold the thoughts and characters of the men who were to serve their country.

Reviews Political Activities.

The prime minister recalled that he was just sixteen years of age when his father first moved away from Kitchener, and that it was just sixteen years later that he returned to the place of his nativity to contest North Waterloo for the Federal parliament. In the period of sixteen years which had since elapsed, Mr. King had on six other occasions been a candidate for parliament, either at general or by-elections; three times in this riding; once in Prince Edward Island, and three times in North York. In three out of the total of seven he had had the pleasure of being returned to parliament by acclamation, once in this riding, once in Prince Edward Island, and once in North York. On two occasions he met with defeat, once in North York and once "here in North Waterloo." On two occasions his party had carried the day when he was returned as a member, the last time in North York and the first time in this riding, in the general elections of 1908. In North Waterloo he had experienced the most equal division of political honors, one defeat, one victory and one acclamation.

"It is for that period of renewed association with the place of my birth that I want particularly to thank you all today," he said. "It was the beginning of my direct association with the politics of our country, and a beginning of which I shall ever feel deeply proud. I think I am right when I say that I was privileged to make many new friends during the time that I had the honor to represent this constituency in parliament, and whilst I had many and formidable opponents, I have yet to discover the individual whom I could term either a personal or a political enemy."

Realizes Responsibility.

"I think that you will agree that I took my victory more with a sense of the great responsibility it imposed than with any thought of personal achievement, and I took my defeat without a word of question or complaint. Since those days there have been many changes of political opinion on the part of many of the electors in this constituency, in common with the rest of the country. We shall have missed the first of all lessons of the period through which we have passed if it has not taught us a larger tolerance and respect for opinions which may differ from our own. The world has passed through a period of travail and sorrow, such as was unknown in its previous history. You have shared in that anguish of mind and heart, some of you more deeply than any have known. What is to be the outcome of it all for the people of our country, and for you, the citizens of my native town and country? Is it to mean the arousing of new bitterness, the deepening of old prejudices, or is it to mark the birth of a larger tolerance, a greater desire on the part of each to fathom the mind and the heart of the other? In a word, is the world's sacrifice to constitute a legacy of ill-will born of the differences of class or creed or origin? Or is it to mean the birth of good-will, as the spirit of a new brotherhood uniting in common, higher purpose, men, communities and nations alike? If I mistake not, the purpose of this great gathering, it is that you may make evident this spirit of good-will by which the wounds and divisions of war are to be healed, and beneath which the enemies of the past are to be buried and our nation's future strength and greatness assured. If in anything there remains aught of difference between you, let me remind you that time brings many changes, that nothing born of prejudice or passion is likely long to endure; that magnanimity and charity will cover a multitude of sins; that in the regeneration of this world itself the stone which the builders rejected becomes the chief stone of the corner.

Incentive To Effort.

"In conclusion let me say that this demonstration of your good-will and affection will ever remain one of the proudest memories of my life. It will be an incentive to nobler effort in the service of our country and all that pertains to our country's well. If, in the providence of God and through the good-will of those whose confidence I now enjoy, I am privileged to continue to serve the land of my birth in the parliament of our country, I shall seek no honor greater than that which no reward comparable to that of being thought worthy of a like regard on the part of my fellow-citizens of this great Dominion."

Cheered and Waved Flags.

Long before the prime minister's train pulled into the station crowds of people cheered and waved flags from factory windows and roofs, and before that Mr. King took occasion to point out to his companions in his private car his pet swimmin' hole in the Grand River and the "old home" of which he had so many warm memories.

"All right, boys. How are you?" he called from the back of the train as it sped past a group of cheering men.

"Look at those boys and girls, Robb," he directed the minister of trade and commerce, on another occasion when children grouped at a crossing waved frantically.

Arriving at the station the prime minister was greeted by W. D. Euler, federal member for North Waterloo, Mayor Greb, Mr. Sass, N. C. Hill, muth, secretary of the board of trade, and A. H. Millar, city clerk, and more than one thousand people, many of them old friends. On his way to the waiting automobile the premier took occasion to greet friends and acquaintances. The first hours in Kitchener were spent in visiting old home scenes. The premier first drove to the cottage in which he was born in December, 1874, and there was photographed standing near the doorway. Later he drove to the former King residence, "Woodside," spending the half an hour walking through the grounds. A visit to St. Jerome's College occupied another

ROOF YOUR HOUSE WITH BIRD'S NEPONSET Twin Shingles AND PLAY SAFE AGAINST FIRE.

Sparks and flying embers cause a tremendous proportion of the total fire losses of Canada every year. You can cut down the chances of a fire in your home by exactly the same large proportion by eliminating entirely the roof danger.

The Fire Chief of your town and the Fire Underwriters Association will tell you of the great danger of wooden shingles—and will also tell you that a roof of Bird's Neponset Twin Shingles is the best protection that a house can have against fire caused by flying sparks.

WHY?

BECAUSE They are made of heavy all-rag felt, which is saturated in hot asphalt until it will absorb no more.

The saturated felt is then given a coating of especially prepared asphalt, which is finally surfaced with natural crushed slate—either red or green. This slate gives the shingle a fire-safe and durable surface.

You owe it to YOURSELF to read our booklet: "A Roof the Owner is Proud Of," before starting any roofing job you have in mind. It will be mailed free upon request.

THE CONSTRUCTION OF BIRD'S TWIN SHINGLES MAKES THEM FIRE-SAFE—DURABLE—BEAUTIFUL—ECONOMICAL

MANY ATTEND FUNERAL OF MRS. MARY C. DALE

Pioneer Resident of Tuckersmith Township Passes Away at Advanced Age.

SEAFORTH, Sept. 13.—The funeral of Mary Chesney, widow of William Dale, and daughter of the late George M. Chesney, sen., of Tuckersmith, who passed away very suddenly on Saturday afternoon, took place on Monday from the residence of her son-in-law, Wesley Watt, Huron road, to the Clinton Cemetery, and was one of the largest motor funerals ever seen in this locality. The services were conducted by Rev. F. H. Larkin, D.D. The deceased, who was highly esteemed, was one of the pioneer residents of this township. She moved with her parents to the farm where she was married 48 years ago, and on which she resided until her death, with the exception of two years spent with her only son in Hullert. She was seized with a stroke of paralysis about three years ago.

EACH BREEDER HAS FAVORITE

Stockmen At Western Fair Explain Good Points of Beef Cattle.

Herefords, Shorthorns and Aberdeen-Angus Claim Strong Supporters.

While anyone contemplating entering the beef cattle industry would be at a loss to know the most suitable breed for this purpose, after having interviewed the stock exhibitors at the Western Fair, he would at least have learned one thing—that choice, purebred stock pays well even on the most valuable land of Western Ontario, while scrub stock is but a sure path to ruin.

Shorthorn breeders, exhibitors of Aberdeen-Angus and Hereford enthusiasts though ready to defend to the last ditch their claim that their chosen breed is the only kind worth while, they are one in the belief that scrub cattle, even though purebred, have no place on the farm, and that a man must know his business before he can be successful at cattle raising.

To back up arguments that there is money in breeding cattle despite tendency towards intensive and specialized farming in Western Ontario, Stewart Brown of Shelden, son of Duncan Brown, owner of one of the oldest established stock farms in Western Ontario, who is in charge of an exhibit of some young, choice Shorthorns, points out the growth of the cattle industry in the country lying west of St. Thomas.

Herds Increase. Although the gently rolling land is ideal for specialized agriculture, he claims that there has been a remarkable increase in the number of purebred herds, both of the dairy and beef types, during the past two years.

While the Browns pin their whole faith to the Shorthorns and have done so close on to a century, a great-grandfather having imported the first bull of that breed to the farm in 1831, and subsequently organized the business on a firm basis in 1840, Stewart Brown admits the existence of other breeds. He stated that although Shorthorns are general favorites around Shelden, several herds of Herefords have been established in the past few years.

It remained to Roy Lindsay, a young farmer from near Thorndale, who specializes in dual purpose Shorthorns, to champion the Shorthorn as a class.

He claims that the Shorthorn is the ideal breed for the farmer of Western Ontario, as it puts on the greatest weight in the shortest time, thereby bringing bigger and quicker returns. He admits that the Herefords are good grass cattle, but they are not as easily fed the year round as the Shorthorn. When mature it weighs as a rule from 100 to 250 pounds more than other breeds.

The Shorthorn, too, commands top prices, as breeding stock or for beef purposes, excelling even the Aberdeen Angus, which produces fine stock.

Dual Purpose Breed. The average farmer who takes on cattle raising more or less as a sideline will find the breed valuable, he claims, because it is easily crossed with other cattle. Incidentally, he pointed out that the Shorthorn crossed with the Angus makes the ideal beef animal. He believes the greatest value in the Shorthorn is the ease with which it can be developed into a dual purpose beast. He predicted a rapid growth in the dual purpose breed, although at the present time there is no class at the Western Fair.

Mr. Lindsay pointed to the exceedingly large entries in the Shorthorn class to show the popularity of the breed, for which, he maintains, there must be some reason, and also to the fact that a Shorthorn calf won first, third, fourth, fifth and sixth in the calf feeding contest.

The Shorthorn class, according to the judges and other experts, is really the feature of the beef cattle exhibition, excelling other breeds in number and quality.

The Hereford finds ardent supporters in the long cattle building in McNeil & McNeil Bros. of Denfield, Arthur O'Neill, who is one of the brothers in charge of eleven head chosen from a herd of 50 pure-bred animals for show purposes, would keep no other breed, he claims.

He likes the Hereford, because of the rapidity with which it matures. "It will eat anything," he continued. "For grass feeding it cannot be beaten. Its hardness, too, makes it ideal for outdoor life, for it can stand weather which would injure other breeds."

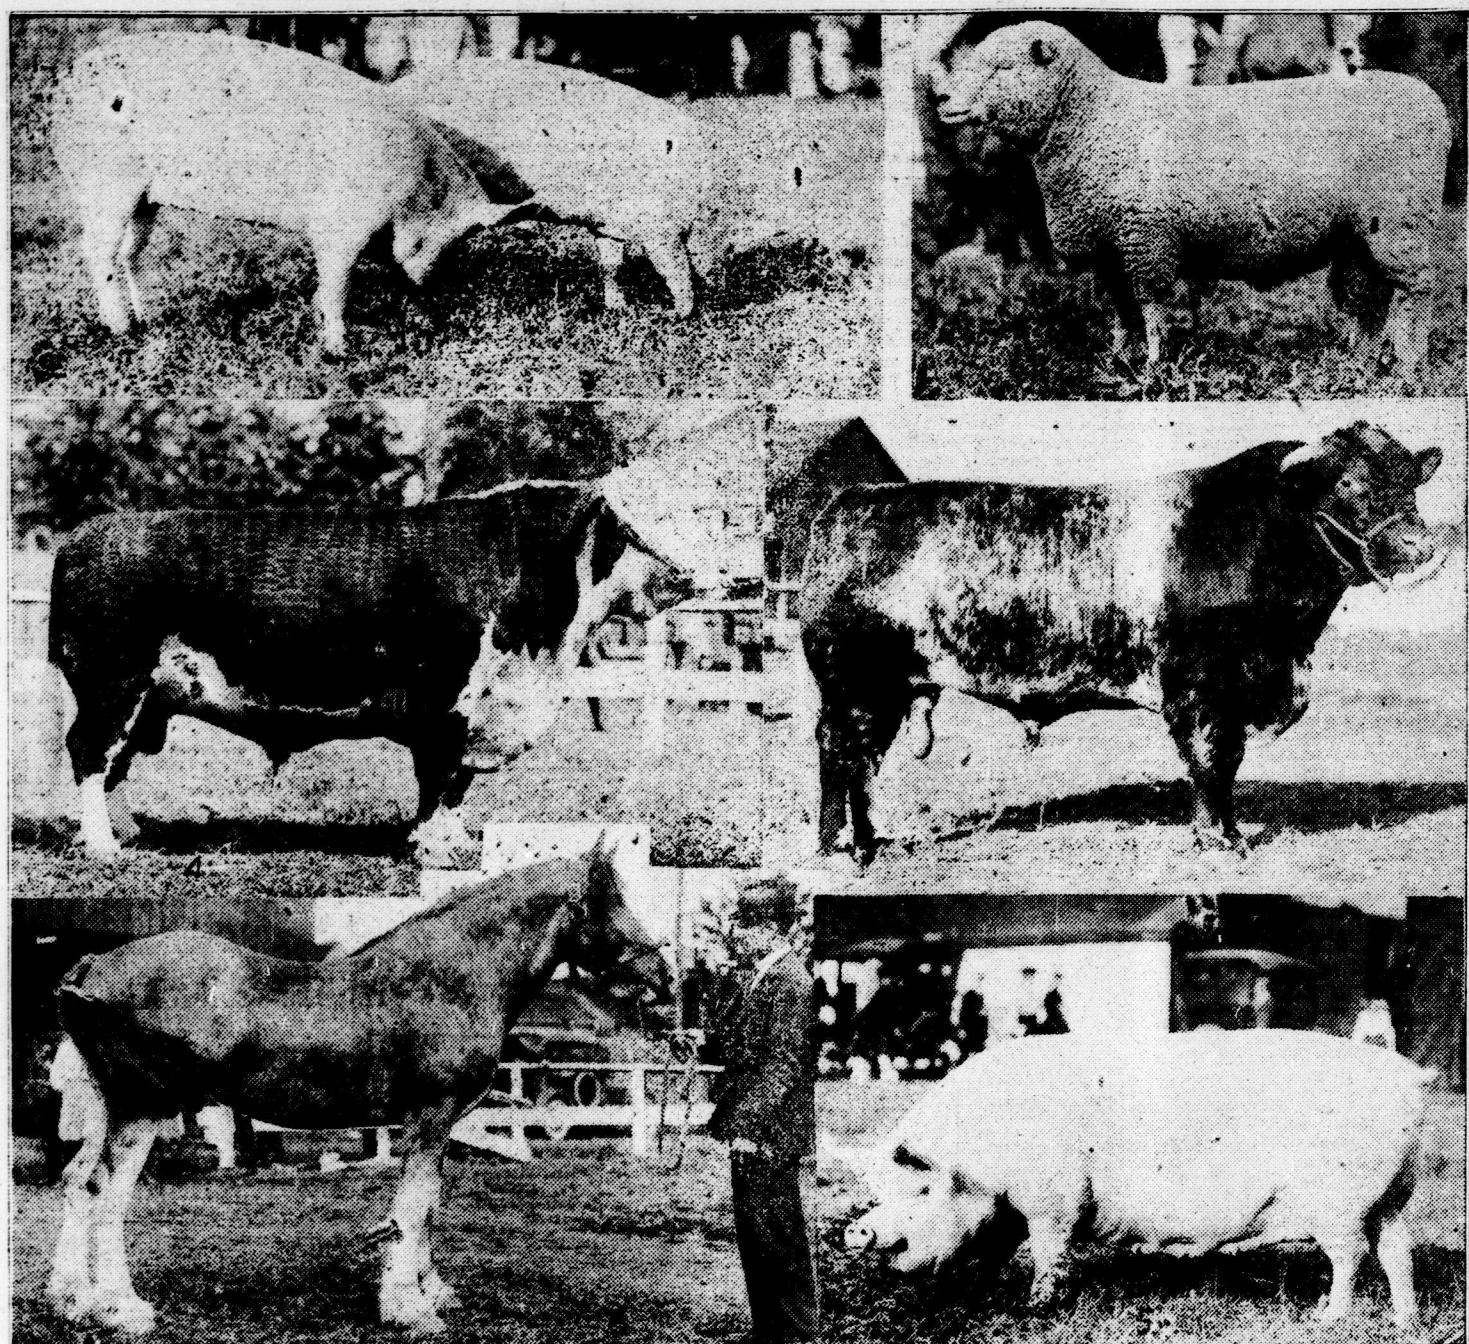

He likes the appearance of the animal. With its white face and body covered with thick wavy hair it is decidedly more attractive, he thinks, than the red, white or roan shorthorn.

Mr. O'Neill bases his claim in respect to the Hereford on long experience gained by his father, his brother and himself in breeding the animal. Through long years an excellent herd has been built up on the farm, the representatives of which won 34 prizes at the Western Fair, including the senior and grand champion for Hereford. One of his bulls won first at Toronto as well as at London.

Dutton Animals Win. McNeil & McNeil won the senior and grand championship for bulls and many other prizes on a herd of ten choice animals. Little was said by any breeders against the Angus Aberdeens, the black beauties of the exhibition, but many arguments in their favor were advanced by James Bowman of Guelp, the largest exhibitor in this class, who is showing 14 head.

For 30 years Mr. Bowman has been showing animals of this breed at the Western Fair and other fairs. He has a herd of 80 choice animals. Among the prizes won this year in London were first for 2-year-olds, 3-year-olds and junior yearling bulls, senior and grand championship for bulls, reserve for bulls; first for cows, 3-year-olds and over; first for senior yearlings, and first and second for year-

Sarnia Honeymoon Couple Completes 1,500-Mile Trip in 18-Foot Boat.

Special to London Advertiser. SARNIA, Sept. 13.—Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Storey, who on June 3 left this city on a 1,500-mile honeymoon trip in an 18-foot canoe, arrived home today, having paddled the thousand and a half miles in exactly 101 days.

"We, but I am glad to be back," stated Mr. Storey when interviewed this afternoon. Mrs. Storey was not on view, but her husband vouched for the fact that she looked and felt as fit as he did himself after the unusual trip.

The route followed was the St. Clair River, Lake St. Clair, Detroit River into Lake Erie, then via Lake Ontario to Trenton, along the Trent Valley Canal and the Georgian Bay to Owen Sound and Goderich, thence paddling Lake Huron to Sarnia.

Mr. Bowman maintains, and he produced statistics to prove his claim, that the Aberdeen-Angus is the best utility breed, in that it produces the ideal beef carcass. There is less waste to an Angus carcass than in those of any other breed, he said.

This means, he continued, that the animal will command a higher price, sometimes as much as four cents a pound, on the markets of the world. The Aberdeen-Angus, he continued, won the championship for beef carcasses at the Chicago International Fair in 1919 and 1920, with all breeds competing.

The breed is easily fed, he said, and takes on a beautiful finish.

WARNS CREDITORS TO USE LENIENCY

Premier Dunning of Saskatchewan Points Out Need of Exercising Judgment.

REGINA, Sept. 13.—A warning to the creditors of the farmers of Saskatchewan that the wholesale use of court procedure for the collection of their debts will react against their own interest in the final analysis, and an appeal to them to extend all possible leniency to their agrarian debtors in the province, was delivered today by Premier Dunning at the opening of the conference on the financial situation called by the government of Saskatchewan.

The delegates were from farmers' organizations, municipal groups, financial institutions and business houses of all descriptions. "We are nearer to the necessity of a moratorium in Saskatchewan now than we have ever been before," said Premier Dunning, "and I say that with a full knowledge of the seriousness of the statement."

The premier made the announcement during his opening address, that the system of intervention between pressing creditors and financially weak debtors operated by the Saskatchewan government in the past, is to be extended.

At the present time the government keeps one man, Edward Oliver, debt adjustment commissioner, as mediator between the two classes.

Special to London Advertiser. GALT, Sept. 13.—Tonight, in Bernhard's Hall, Preston, the South Waterloo Trades and Labor Council held a banquet with a large representation from the various centers to hear Karl Homuth, M.L.A., and William Elliott, M.P., give an account of legislation enacted in the provincial and federal houses at the past session.

About a dozen Galtonians received invitations to the banquet to Hon. Mackenzie King at Kitchener tonight and accepted.

The fuel committee of the city council is considering buying 13 acres of bush near the city, which would not only provide fuel, but also work for any unemployed. Local fuel dealers are more optimistic as to securing supplies of coal and expect at the close of navigation that there will be a steady supply coming forward.

PLEADS NOT GUILTY TO STEALING CAR

James Couch of St. Thomas Claims He Believed Companions Owned Motor.

Special to London Advertiser. ST. THOMAS, Sept. 13.—Arraigned in police court Wednesday morning on a charge of stealing a Ford car from R. P. Kearns, proprietor of the West End Bakery, last week, James Couch of this city pleaded not guilty, and claimed that he had ridden to Owen Sound in the car, and had believed until he reached Goderich that it was owned by his companions, James McLachlin and William Jackson, two Owen Sound youths for whom the police are now searching.

Couch was arrested in Owen Sound this week at the request of Chief William Armstrong, and was brought to the city Wednesday morning by Detective Joseph McCull.

According to reports received by the police, McLachlin and Jackson had been visiting in the city, and had been using the car in question.

PRINTERS AT MONTREAL TO STRIKE SEPTEMBER 15

Newspaper Employees Demand Increase in Wages and Reduction in Hours.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13.—Notification has been given by the International Typographical Union that a strike will go into effect on all the Montreal daily newspapers on Friday next, Sept. 15.

The five-year contract which the union had with the Montreal papers expires on that date, and it is understood that the union had made a demand for an increase of wages amounting to $6 per week and a reduction in the number of working hours from 48 to 44 hours.

These requests the papers have been unwilling to grant, owing to sharp reduction in earning power. A strike on Friday will affect the job printers and as a result a majority of larger job printing establishments are now operating open shops.

In several instances in the newspaper field, it is the intention of the owners to also extend open shops to their newspaper establishments. The strike on Friday will affect the French as well as English papers, about 1,000 men being affected.

3 MEN TO FACE MURDER CHARGE

Clayton Croft Will Appear At Fall Assizes in Chatham.

Two Indians Will Be Tried For Slaying of Constable.

Special to London Advertiser.

CHATHAM, Sept. 13.—Two murder cases are listed for the fall assizes which will open in this city on Monday next with Mr. Justice Lennox presiding.

The first case on the list is the notorious Charing Cross crime in which Clayton Croft is charged with the murder of Gustave Noel, and is then alleged to have disposed of the body under the stable. Although the accused is alleged to have made a full confession of the crime, according to British law, the trial will be conducted as if such alleged confession had never been given. Croft will also face a charge of forgery.

Zimmer Noah and Edward Ryckman, Indians, will be tried for murder and burglary. The murder charge arose out of the death of Constable William Pickard, of the county police, who succumbed to wounds received when he attempted to frustrate a burglary at Thamesville early this year. Richard Logan, another Indian, who was with Noah and Ryckman, faces a burglary charge only.

William Dupuy will be charged with manslaughter arising out of the sad death of C. E. Nanson, who was fatally injured when a car which Dupuy was driving crashed into a C. P. R. passenger train at Raleigh street level crossing in this city.

HAMILTON MAN FALLS 5 STORIES, INJURING BACK

HAMILTON, Sept. 13.—William Littlewood, 71 Bellevue avenue, fell from a scaffold on which he was working at the Lyndhurst apartment building, and alighted on his back in the cellar, nearly five stories below.

He was conscious when picked up by fellow workmen, but complained of pains in the back. Dr. T. L. Jones, who examined him, says he is bruised all over his body, has a severe scalp wound, and fears his backbone is seriously injured over his kidneys.

Cape Breton Taxpayers To Pay For Troops On Strike Duty.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.—The bill for the maintenance of the troops sent to the Cape Breton strike area at the request of the local authorities will have to be paid by the municipalities who requested the federal government to send the troops, it was stated this morning at the department of militia and defense. When the bill will be presented or what the total amount of it will be is uncertain.

The situation is interesting, as probably the majority of the taxpayers in the municipalities are themselves employed in and about the mines which the troops were sent to guard.

BERLIN, Sept. 13.—It is officially announced that the German government has notified Great Britain and France that $2,500,000 will be paid Sept. 18 on account of the next clearing house installment on debts of allied nationals, which is due Sept. 13.

The announcement added that the payment was possible only through accommodation by the Reichsbank, and that the remainder of the installment would be paid as soon as circumstances allowed.

It was announced in Berlin Aug. 15 that $2,500,000 had been paid today to the British and French clearing house office as an installment of $10,000,000 due in payment of the pre-war debt of allied nationals.

JUDGE AT HAMILTON QUASHES CONVICTION

States Magistrate Jelfs Acted Unfairly in Sentencing Men for O. T. A. Breach.

HAMILTON, Sept. 13.—Judge Gault today quashed the convictions of Magistrate Jelfs against Frank Smith and Alfred McCormick, whom the magistrate found guilty of breach of the O. T. A. because the magistrate, he held, had been unfair.

The men were found in an automobile in which was a bottle of liquor and were fined $500 each. They stated that the bottle was left in the car by a soldier to whom they had given a lift.

His honor found that the magistrate had sent one of the accused men from the courtroom and the cross-examined the other, following which he recalled the other accused man and cross-examined him.

His honor then stated that Justice Middleton recently made comment on the conduct of cases by police magistrates and these applied here.

A magistrate must have an open mind in dealing with cases in order that his judgment should be fair. In this case he had acted as prosecutor, which duty should have been left to the crown-attorney, and had not an open mind. He had usurped the duties of the crown-attorney and had abdicated his judicial position and had thereby acted unfairly towards the accused. For this reason his honor quashed the convictions.

RANEY MAY DECIDE ON WINDSOR POLICE PROBE

TORONTO, Sept. 13.—If the probe shows signs of developing into another such as was held at Brantford, it would consider urging the government to name a royal commission to investigate. We did that when the charges were laid against members of the Brantford force, and we may have to do it in this case. This, however, may not be of the same nature, and I cannot say as yet whether it will necessitate such action.
So spoke Attorney-General Raney this morning when asked if he would take a hand in the investigation to be instituted by a committee of the Windsor County council into certain charges of "brutal conduct" laid against a member of the police force. A full investigation into the department is to be held.

WILL ERECT NEW BLENHEIM SCHOOL

Board Selects Site For Four-Roomed Continuation Building.

Special to London Advertiser.
BLENHEIM, Sept. 13.—Blenheim school board has selected a site for a continuation school, which it is expected, will be built in the near future. The site is opposite the fair grounds on the Communication road south in town, and is a very desirable one for a new school. It is off the Phillips property, and has some beautiful maple trees next the street. The board has had plans and specifications prepared by Architect J. Methven of Chatham for a four-roomed continuation school with provision for extensions if necessary, and they are asking for tenders for the erection.

The continuation school accommodation has been a contention for some time. The school inspectors have been urging the board for a long time to provide more accommodation and have pointed out to them that unless such provision is made they are likely to lose grants. There is a large attendance of resident scholars and many more would make this their place of schooling were there accommodation for them. It is believed, as it is many have been turned away who have sought admission, because they were non-resident. At the present time the public school is the home of the continuation school and has two rooms there with two teachers. On the opening of a new continuation school it is thought that this school will be found none too large to accommodate the public school pupils, as the juniors now are housed in, and have been for several years, the Universalist Church.

In South Harwich there is also to be a new school in what is known as School Section No. 19 Union, Harwich and Erie Beach. This section was recently formed from S. No. 4. At a recent meeting of the ratepayers of the new section, a board consisting of Messrs. Lynn, Robertson, J. W. Galloway and Zabelle Burk was appointed. This new board has selected a site at the corner of what is known as the Bissett sideroad and Galloway farm. The ratepayers have approved of the site at a special meeting and have authorized the board to have the township raise by 15-year debentures $9,000 for erecting a new school.

At the same time it was announced that "so far as is now known, the Ford plants will be closed Sept. 16, as announced some time ago by Henry Ford."

CITES CANADIAN LAKES PACT AT GENEVA PARLEY

British Representative Points To U. S. Agreement With Dominion As Model.

2 PROPOSALS COMBINED

Suggestions of De Jouvenel and Lord Cecil Incorporated in Resolution.

GENEVA, Sept. 13.—A race between France and Great Britain to prove which of their methods to obtain a reduction in armaments will yield the best results is the prospect in consequence of the decision of the disarmament committee of the assembly today. The committee incorporated the suggestions of both M. De Jouvenel of France, and Lord Robert Cecil of England, into a resolution, which will be transmitted to the assembly.

The Great Lakes treaty between the United States and Canada was again cited before the committee by H. A. L. Fisher, representing Great Britain, as an example of what a regional agreement ought to be. This document of 100 years ago, he said, might well be taken as a model, as well as proof of what such an understanding may accomplish. Mr. Fisher's arguments and those of other partisans of regional agreements prevailed.

The resolution to be submitted to the assembly charged the temporary mixed committee on disarmament with the task of making a further study of the question, and requested it to prepare the text of a treaty for a regional agreement, as well as other agreements to be submitted to the various governments, which will be asked to give their views on them so that the next assembly may act. M. De Jouvenel proposed that the views of the governments first be met and then the treaties drawn up accordingly. He reminded the committee that the governments must ratify these agreements, and the chance of their approval would be much brighter if they were criticized in advance. The committee finally decided that the treaties to be submitted to the governments should be drafted according to the British plan, and at the same time the governments would be consulted as to their views on the French plan.

AWAIT RESULT OF TARIFF BILL

Members of Congress At Washington Closely Study U. S. Reciprocal Measure.

Claim Purpose To Force Other Nations To Avoid Anti-American Discrimination.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—(By Canadian Press).—What is to be the effect of the new tariff on reciprocal tariff policy hereafter is being closely studied by many members of Congress.

It is declared by members of the house ways and means committee who had a large part in shaping the conference report, that the purpose of the bill is not to encourage reciprocity, but rather to force other nations not to discriminate against the United States in their tariffs.

A prominent authority today declared that under the new bill the president would have power to force changes for the benefit of the United States in the preferential tariffs as between Great Britain and Canada, or other dominions, if the president should choose under the flexible tariff authority to go that far. It is not believed the president would attempt to interfere with the preferential arrangements, but it is pointed out the flexible provisions afford him a tariff club of tremendous power if he sees fit to use it vigorously.

Attempts by other countries to give preferences which hurt United States trade in general will be met with retaliation from this country, according to the talk in ways and means committee and finance committee circles, even though exception be made as to the tariffs between Great Britain and her dominions.

DR. N. S. McKECHNIE DIES IN MONTREAL

Vice-Principal of Woodstock College Was Teacher of Manitoba Ex-Premier.

Special to London Advertiser.

WOODSTOCK, Sept. 13.—The death occurred in Montreal today of Dr. Neil St. Clair McKechnie, one of the city's most prominent men, who for over forty years had been a member of the staff at Woodstock College, the last fifteen of which as vice-principal. Death took place at the residence of his son Fred.

The late Dr. McKechnie was born near Brampton, Ont., 75 years ago. He was a graduate of Toronto University, a specialist in English and classics. He did his first teaching in the Brampton district, after which he was on the staff of the Hamilton Collegiate. He came to Woodstock 40 years ago and had taught in Woodstock College continuously up to the time of his fatal illness. He was one of Canada's most prominent Baptists, and held many important positions in the church, both locally and throughout the Dominion. Last fall he suffered a paralytic stroke, and while he lay at death's door his wife passed away.

A few months later he recovered sufficiently to be removed to London hospital, and later lived with his son, Rev. N. S. McKechnie, of that city. Later on he went to live with his daughter in Sarnia. The past summer he had lived with his son Fred, near Montreal.

The late Dr. McKechnie, as one of his former colleagues in the teaching profession stated this afternoon, was one of the country's real gentlemen, a cultured, scholarly man of fine temperament and ideals, whose whole life was devoted to the uplift of mankind. Thousands of the men of the nation today received much of their educational training under his guidance, and shared in the fruits of his highly-cultured mind.

Dr. McKechnie used to refer with pride to many boys who had passed through his hands who later became leaders in the nation, among them being a lifelong personal friend, ex-Premier Norris of Manitoba.

He is survived by two sons and two daughters, Mrs. (Rev.) R. R. McKay of Sarnia; Mrs. S. R. Tarr of Toronto; Rev. N. S. McKechnie of London, who has just accepted a call to the Baptist Church at Belleville, and Fred McKechnie of Montreal.

The advice was received by Manager W. R. Landon, of the chamber of commerce, this morning. HOLD 3 AT WINDSOR FOR LONDON WOMAN'S DEATH

WINDSOR, Sept. 13.—(By Canadian Press).—Following the death in Hotel Dieu at 1:30 p.m. today, of Mrs. John Todd, 24 years old, of 42

Pitt street east, three persons are being held for investigation by the Windsor police.
Mrs. Todd was taken to the hospital early this morning on orders from Dr. C. L. Fuller, who was called in to attend her, suffering, it is said, from an overdose of drugs. Police claim her condition was the sequel to a party at the Pitt street address last night.
Police also state the woman was a former resident of London, Ont., and a drug addict.
The three persons held are Raymond ("Dolly") Quinton who is said to have been Mrs. Todd's male companion at last night's alleged party, and Daniel Maroney and his wife, Margaret, both of whom are said to have lived with Mrs. Todd at the Pitt street address.

RAILWAY BOARD LEAVES PRINCIPALS TO DECIDE

KITCHENER, Sept. 13.—At a special hearing of the Ontario railway board here this afternoon, the question of the tearing up of the tracks of the Waterloo-Wellington Railway Company from the streets of Bridgeport was left for settlement between W. H. Brethaupt and the trustees of the village, according to a unanimous order of the board. Both sides of the argument were heard and after all of the evidence had been submitted the board was of the unanimous opinion that the matter could be amicably settled between the two parties. Special care must be taken with regard to public safety in whatever settlement was arrived at, the board ordered.
