HAMILTON, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The board of control held a special meeting this afternoon for the purpose of conferring with James McFarlane, chief engineer at the beach pumping station, regarding his resignation.

As Engineer McFarlane has been going to resign for some time, the board talked the matter over with him this afternoon, and he said he would resign on Dec. 1. If the board desired, but the controllers decided that the end of the year would do.

CATARRH OF THE STOMACH

Pleasant, Simple, But Safe and Effective Cure for It.

Catarrh of the stomach has long been considered the next thing to incurable. The usual symptoms are a full or bloating sensation after eating, accompanied sometimes with sour or watery risings, a formation of gases causing pressure on the heart and lungs and difficult breathing, headache, fickle appetite, nervousness, and a general "blued out" feeling.

There is often a foul taste in the mouth, coated tongue and if the interior of the stomach could be seen it would show a slimy, inflamed condition. The cure for this common and obstinate trouble is found in a treatment which causes the food to be readily and thoroughly digested before it has time to ferment and irritate the delicate mucous surfaces of the stomach.

According to Dr. Harrison, the safest and best treatment is to use after each meal a tablet, composed of Diastase, Aspic Pepsin, a little Nux, Gold-en Seal and fruit acids. These tablets are now being found at all drug stores under the name of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and not being a patent medicine can be used with perfect safety.

Mr. R. S. Workman, Chicago, Ill., writes: "Catarrh is a local condition resulting from a neglected cold in the head, whereby the lining membrane of the nose becomes inflamed and the poisonous discharge therefrom passing backward into the throat reaches the stomach, thus producing catarrh of the stomach. Medical authorities prescribed for me for three years for catarrh of stomach without cure, but to-day I am the happiest of men after using only one box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets. I cannot find appropriate words to express my good feeling. I have found fresh appetite and sound rest from their use."

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the safest preparation as well as the simplest and most convenient remedy for any form of indigestion, catarrh of stomach, biliousness, sour stomach, heartburn and bloating after meals.

vate individual could. The Bell would not give Blenheim connection so long as it did business with a competing company. The Bell Company insisted on exclusive agreements. But for its hampering influence, in a few years there would be five million phones in use in Canada. The Dominion Railway Commission should be asked to compel the Bell system to give all independent companies long distance connection.

To Abolish Monopoly. F. D. May, Brantford, was confident that the legislature, if asked to do so, would remove from the statute books the law allowing exclusive franchises. Municipalities that oppose the idea of more than one company having rights in a community would, in nine cases out of ten, if the facts were laid fairly before them, adopt the principle of allowing competition. Not one city that had given a competing franchise regretted it, recognizing the value of improved service and reduction in rates.

A. M. Morgan, representing a company which covers the Timiskaming district and controls 1070 phones, asked what was a proper rate to charge for a private exchange. Secretary Daggert replied that the usual practice was to charge one-third of the actual cost annually.

Mr. Morgan stated that another company is to inaugurate in Gowganda, and a large English concern was putting a system into the Porcupine district. Reserve for Depreciation. Many delegates were anxious for information as to what proportion of the cost of equipment should be set aside as a reserve for depreciation. Mr. Daggert stated that, if the apparatus was of the best type, five per cent, a year should be sufficient. Very few companies, the Bell included, did so consistently.

Mr. Danholm said that the phone rates should realize an income of 20 per cent. of the cost to provide a proper income and depreciation.

BEAUTIFUL SCHOOL GROUND A DUTY NEGLECTED

C. C. James, Deputy Minister of Education, Tells Women's Institute Something.

The closing day's proceedings of the Ontario Provincial Women's Institute, held in Convocation Hall, were well attended.

In the morning, with Miss I. K. Farlinger presiding, an address was given by Dr. Helen MacMurchy on "Medical Inspection of Schools and the Health of the Child." It was intended to extend the work to rural as well as city schools. W. R. Nurey of the department of education, followed with an address on "Teaching Libraries."

In the afternoon Dr. Annie Backus of Ayrmer presiding, the feature was an excellent address by Mrs. W. R. Hillhouse of Goldsboro, N.C., on "Children," in which she favored a large measure of freedom for the children in respect to work and play.

"Make much of the children's birthday," she said, "and leave it largely to the inclination of the child what form the event shall take. Seek wherever possible to harmonize your own and your children's wishes, and thus early gain and retain their love and confidence."

Mrs. Willoughby Cummings gave a 22-page report on "Government Annuities," more particularly as applied to children. An interesting feature was the discussion relative to the topic "Procurement of Funds for the Institute." Reports were presented from Agincourt, Bloomfield, Burgessville and Fenella Institutes. These all showed substantial progress, but the report from Agincourt representative of the Agincourt Institute failed to fully enlighten the convention as to the great progress made by this one of the most enterprising institutes in Ontario.

With a membership of 110, they have, during the past four years, at the solicitation of the East York Plowmen's Association, and working along temperance lines, have successfully to the culinary wants of the 400 patrons. Probably no institute in Ontario is more judiciously handled.

Mrs. J. E. Brethour of Burford presided at the evening meeting, when C. C. James, deputy minister of agriculture and Dr. Falconer, president of the university, were the chief speakers. The latter took occasion to pay a tribute to the moral standing of the pupils of Toronto University, which, he said, would compare favorably with any in the world. The development of the older provinces and of western Canada was traced, and the hope expressed that the same spirit of attachment to the homes in Canada as in England and the British Isles would be encouraged.

over, but also by all civilized nations, who had learned to appreciate the many gifts and qualities which had earned for him the name of peace-maker, by which he will be known in history.

It is with great pleasure that I congratulate in certain of the western provinces of this favored land.

Commercial Progress. Trade and commerce are advancing in all directions with rapid strides. The total volume of imports and exports far exceed all previous records, and the growth of our industries and internal trade keeps pace with the development of our external commerce.

While recognizing the importance of the Canadian home trade and the great value for our staples in the United Kingdom, our government feel that they should avail themselves of every opportunity to promote friendly commercial relations with the British colonies and foreign countries, so that our surplus products may be admitted in the markets of those countries on the most favorable terms.

The Tariff. The desirability of more equitable tariff arrangements between the United States and Canada has long been felt on this side of the border. The commercial policy of the republic has not hitherto favored imports from Canada. We have bought largely from the Netherlands.

Canada's Navy. Negotiations for the acquisition from the admiralty of the two cruisers, Niobe and Rainbow, have been carried on with his majesty's government, and the ships have now arrived and are stationed in Canadian waters, in pursuance of the policy adopted last session for the creation of a naval service.

The Hague tribunal, to which was referred the controversy between Great Britain and the United States with reference to fisheries in Canadian and Newfoundland waters, has rendered a decision which has been accepted by all parties interested as a fair and equitable adjustment of this long pending dispute. The result is gratifying, inasmuch as it will tend not only to promote peace and friendship between us and our neighbors, but also to further the practice of settling international questions by means of arbitration.

Marked progress is being made in the construction of the National Transcontinental Railway, and a large quantity of grain is being shipped out from the west to the great lakes over this new highway. It is hoped that ere long a satisfactory arrangement can be made for the operation of the finished portions of the line, pending the completion of the road from Moncton to Winnipeg.

On to Hudson Bay. The construction of a line of railway to Hudson Bay, which has occupied the attention of the people for many years, has assumed practical shape. Already a contract has been awarded for the construction of a bridge forming part of this railway across the Saskatchewan River at Pas Mission, and the work is now in progress. During the present session a measure will be laid before you providing for the pro-

FLOUR MILL BURNED

Blaze at Petrolia Causes Ten Thousand Dollars' Damage.

PETROLIA, Nov. 17.—Fire completely destroyed this afternoon the large three-story frame metal clad flour mill on King-street, owned and operated by W. W. Pating. The fire was caused by a hot box in the machinery on the second floor, and had made considerable progress before it was discovered by the men working on the ground floor.

Within a very short time after the alarm was sent the fire department had four streams of water playing on the building, but, owing to the height of the mill and the metal sheeting, the water seemed to have little effect, further than to keep the fire from spreading to the surrounding buildings.

The loss will be about $10,000, with $4000 insurance in the Waterloo, Mutual, Atlas Insurance Companies and Norwich Union on the building and machinery, and $1000 insurance on stock with the Miller's Mutual.

Prof. H. E. Haultain Says Country Owes Much to the Trained Man. The first annual dinner of class 1913, School of Practical Science, was held last evening in the St. Charles.

There were about 150 present. Dean Galbraith responded to the toast to Canada and spoke of his early days, remarking that he remembered the beginning of the Grand Trunk Railway.

He believed that Canada could not be built upon sentiment. He thought there were already too many languages in this country, and the big problem before us was the bringing together of the various peoples and making a nation of them.

Prof. C. H. C. Wright responded to the toast to the faculty, emphasizing that graduates of the science faculty were already taking a large stand in the making of Canada. Eighty-five per cent. of the graduates remain in Canada, and the remaining fifteen per cent. were leaders in the United States and other countries.

The president of the year, E. R. Gray, was well received, and made an ideal chairman. Miners' Americans, the captivating musical comedy at the Star Theatre last week, have certainly an innovation in four burlesques instead of two, an olio of real vaudeville and a novelty playlet entitled "The Golden Wedding," presented by Teddy Simonds and company of selected players.

FIX WATER RATES ON A FRONTAGE BASIS

Special Committee Instruct Treasurer Coady to Make a Report —Disagree as to Deficit.

—Disagree as to Deficit.

WATERWORKS AT A LOSS?

The principle of a frontage tax on all property to meet the expense of laying water mains, instead of having them dealt with as local improvements and bonds required in advance, was adopted at the meeting of the special committee on water rates yesterday afternoon. Further action was deferred pending a report on the cost per foot in necessary to cover the cost. The spending of City Treasurer Coady that the waterworks is not on a paying basis, no provision being made for depreciation of interest on investment, did not satisfy the mayor, who claimed that the present rates were wiping out the deficit of the past. Ald. Hilton complained of the delay in supplying water services to seventy houses on Mortier, Applegrove and Hiawatha-avenues. The people had put up the bonds of $100 asked for the city, but now they were asked to give bonds of $200 more. Ald. Christolm, chairman of the works committee, explained that there had been exceptionally heavy demands for water mains throughout the city, and that no additional ones could be laid this year. George Mitchell, chief rating clerk in the waterworks department, stated that the frontages amounted to about 2,200,000 feet, and that, at the proposed rate of 3 cents per foot, the nearly revenue would come to $165,000. Allowing for crossings and flankages, Controller Spence estimated the revenue at $150,000.

City Treasurer Coady thought it should be made a straight tax, to be collected with the other taxes. Water bonds were a hardship on poor people, he thought. The frontage tax would be less inducement to build land for speculative purposes.

City Has the Power.

City Solicitor Johnston reported that under the Waterworks Act of 1872 the FRIDAY MORNING, NOV. 18, 1910. REPRESENTATION AND REFERENDUM.

What both Canada and the United States suffer from, in their different measures, and have most reason to regret, are the grants of special privileges for private profit. The efforts made to obtain public service and utility monopolies of great immediate and constantly increasing value, to retain them and enlarge them, have been mainly responsible for the political and municipal scandals that have disgraced many of the legislatures and city councils of America. To these, too, are attributable the lack of public spirit, the aversion to undertake public service and the general demoralization of large sections of the electorate. Parties in power have sustained themselves by pandering to the holders and hunters of special privileges granted and sought, not for public, but private advantage. In every way the people have been despoiled and plundered. Constitutional provisions originally designed for their protection have been twisted into instruments of oppression, and their so-called representatives have been their betrayers.

No special privilege has ever been obtained without legislation passed by representative bodies which, in their degeneration, have become a curse rather than a benefit. Their failure to measure up to the requirements of the responsible trust reposed in them has immediately led to the demand that the people exercise direct control over their action. The growing inclination to adopt the reforms—first in name, but identical in their essential principle—known as the initiative, recall and referendum, is one of the healthiest signs of the times, because it means that the people will not stand for special privilege to the public detriment. They are not innovations in any true sense—they are a reversion to the primitive practice when the tribe, the community, met together, elected their officers, and passed or amended their laws. Today, wherever they are in operation, they have stimulated intelligent public interest in common concerns and been effective instructors of public opinion. Still more significant is the fact that where they rule special privileges at the expense of the community become impossible.

THE FIGHT AGAINST PRIVILEGE. In the United Kingdom, as in the United States and the Dominion of Canada, a war against privilege is being waged. The war is directed against varying forms of privilege, in the States and Canada, namely: those acquired through legislative and administrative invasion of public rights, in Britain it is directed against the hereditary principle as represented by the house of lords and its effort to remain the dominant factor in the constitution. For this is really to what the contention of the Conservative majority in the upper house comes when it is asserted and maintained that it is entitled to mutilate progressive measures and compel either acceptance of its amendments or an appeal to the electorate. In other words, that majority claims the power to dictate the time when a general election shall be held irrespective of the Liberal majority in the house of commons and its confidence in the government of the day.

No democracy can accept a claim so outrageous on the part of an hereditary chamber controlled by a permanent party majority. Had the house of lords exercised its constitutional functions in an impartial manner and fulfilled with any degree of fairness the duties of a revising chamber, the present critical moment in its history would never have been reached. But for generations its action has been hostile to reform, always to political reform—long to social reform, until for political reasons that could be used to divert the mind of the electorate from the evils of privilege. Driven now to bay, the peers loudly profess their willingness to be reformed, showing even at the twelfth hour a capacity for repentance unimaginable from the senate of the United States or of Canada. But this belated offer does not meet the case. Not reform, but cancellation of privilege, is the demand of Mr. Asquith and his party. Reform, but not curtailment, the peers reply; but a reform that will still ensure a reactionary majority would not remove but enhance reform difficulty.

The British progressives have won out, are winning out, and will win out in this struggle. The country is enjoying unparalleled prosperity, the famous budgets have outlasted the attacks of threatened interests, the hesitation of the timid, the misadventures of unformed prejudice, and The World does not believe for a moment that the King will ally himself with the hereditary aristocracy against the masses of his people. He has been trained in too good a school, and is too conscious of his constitutional duty to break from the high example set by Queen Victoria and King Edward. He, at least, will hold the balance impartially and abide by the verdict of the electorate. The Conservative party is striving hard to delay that appeal, a sufficient proof that its leaders are apprehensive the government will be sustained. Delay, The World is convinced, will not bring relief. The house of lords has filled the cup, and must take its medicine.

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT BY COMMISSION.

The City of Guelph is gradually being governed by commission instead of by council. They must have two or three commissioners or more there now administering the public utilities and one thing or another: and now the board of trade is recommending the council to apply to the legislature for a commission of the fire department, either giving the jurisdiction to an existing commission or creating a new one.

The World believes in government by commission, and a great many other people are of the same opinion. It certainly has justified itself wherever it has been tried in the United States or in Canada. The people of Calgary in the west are also asking for government by commission.

Our suggestion, therefore, is that government by commission be made available by a general law, that is, that it be up to the legislature of Ontario, led by Sir James Whitney, to introduce an amendment to the Municipal Act which will give government by commission as well as government by elected councils. And so, whenever a clearly expressed vote of the people is recorded in favor of government by commission, the municipality can automatically avail itself of such a law.

We do not know of any act that would be so far-reaching in its effect and so productive of good as the passing of government by commission law, leaving it optional with the municipalities whether to adopt it or not. Always remember what was pointed out by one of the best English political writers some years ago: that only those countries are progressive that make experiments in government; and that instead of talking about government by commission for fifty years, the thing to do is to try it in a more or less limited way for a time.

Such a law as we suggest will allow the experiment to be thoroughly made. No harm will be done to anybody and most likely the key to improved municipal government will have been found for this country, as it has been found for others. We do not propose to load Sir James personally with too much work, but surely he has some young man in his cabinet to do it, or he might name a little commission to draft such a law by the forthcoming session.

Saving Money

THE wisdom of saving money must be apparent to every person who gives the subject any thought. A LITTLE money saved enables you to take advantage of opportunities for making more money; to buy a lot, to make the first payment on a home, to start in business for yourself. The opportunities come to the man with Capital. Saving the small sums is the creation of Capital. THERE is but one certain, safe way to accumulate money, and that is to save it. Thus, and thus alone, can the foundation of wealth be firmly laid. Those who earn and spend are always poor. Those who save even a small proportion of their earnings are the select few who gain a competence and place themselves in a position to grasp life's opportunities. ECONOMY is the Road to Wealth. SAVE, and deposit your savings with Canada's premier Mortgage Company, where they will be absolutely secure and will also earn interest at THREE AND ONE-HALF PER CENT. per annum, compounded four times a year. gence of deceased himself. Action dismissed as to the Steel Co. upon the answers of the jury that as to the Bridge Co. for the reasons above given, under the circumstances without costs.

I dismiss the claim for indemnity with costs (1) because there being no liability to the plaintiff there can be no claim for (2) because the agreement between the defendants does not give a right of indemnity when the Bridge Co. is itself negligent, and the claim of the plaintiff (if any) must be based on negligence. The costs now awarded do not cover any costs incurred in resisting the plaintiff's claim against the Steel Co.

THE ANNEXATION OF NORTH TORONTO. Globe editorial of yesterday: The municipal electors of North Toronto will have a chance next election day to declare by their votes whether they desire or not to become part of an enlarged City of Toronto. It is as well to understand that the people of the suburban town cannot annex themselves to the city simply by declaring themselves favorable to the proposed change in their status. They can, however, make clear in this way what their wish is, and if there is a large majority on either the one side or the other, the members of the Ontario Board of Municipalities and give effect to it by the municipal commissioners will accept their necessary executive decree.

While it is no longer in the power of Toronto to initiate a movement to annex a suburb, the city will be allowed an opportunity to be heard as to any suburban proposal looking to annexation. The North Toronto people have frankly published the terms on which they would like to be taken in, and by so doing they have invited criticism as to the desirability of the terms. In a general way as annexation conditions have been going for the past two years, the North Toronto terms look moderate; they certainly are so compared with the favorable terms granted to West Toronto, and this in more ways than one.

To one of the proposed conditions there is likely to be strong opposition, and as it is a matter of no great practical importance from the North Toronto point of view, there need be no surprise if it fails to commend itself to the city or the commissioners. The city council made a great mistake when it assented to the recognition of West Toronto as a new ward, and that mistake is not likely to be repeated by the recognition of North Toronto as another. Prior to the annexation of West Toronto, the city was divided into six wards by lines running north and south from the lake shore to the northern boundary, wherever that might be from time to time located. There is no reason why there should ever be more than six such subdivisions. It is quite possible to locate the dividing lines fairly, and it is a good thing to have the wards large in population and extensive in geographical area.

Under any circumstances a rearrangement of the wards would seem a necessary, on account of the annexation of East Toronto and West Toronto, and the proper course now is to take occasion from the annexation of North Toronto, if it eventuates, to revise the enlarged city into six wards with carefully determined limits. There would be nothing invidious in such treatment of North Toronto, any more than in the same treatment of any other well-defined part of the civic area, such as Parkdale, Brockton, Rosedale or Seaton Village. It is altogether likely that what is now North Toronto would go undivided into one of the new wards.

Under any circumstances a rearrangement of the wards would seem a necessary, on account of the annexation of East Toronto and West Toronto, and the proper course now is to take occasion from the annexation of North Toronto, if it eventuates, to revise the enlarged city into six wards with carefully determined limits. There would be nothing invidious in such treatment of North Toronto, any more than in the same treatment of any other well-defined part of the civic area, such as Parkdale, Brockton, Rosedale or Seaton Village. It is altogether likely that what is now North Toronto would go undivided into one of the new wards.

Murvellous Growth of Independent Phones

What Has Been Accomplished in Ontario Particularly and in Canada Generally Within the Past Five Years—Subscribers Have Reaped Great Benefits by Relief From Previous Monopoly.

At the opening of the fifth annual convention of the Canadian Independent Telephone Association yesterday, President Dr. W. Doan of Harrietsville gave the following interesting and instructive report on the growth of the independent phone movement:

Taking all things into consideration, the independent telephone men of Canada are to be congratulated upon the success that they have won. This success has come on so quietly and so unobtrusively that I am in grave doubt as to whether or not the scattered and poorly organized independent telephone forces of Canada really appreciate the advanced position which they enjoy. Of one thing I am certain: Neither the financial circles of Canada nor the residents of the large cities have the faintest idea of the progress made in the movement of the money invested in the business. Some of them are just beginning to show signs of an awakening, and as it were, are rubbing their eyes as if trying to gain a clearer vision. But the Bell Telephone Co. comprehend—and while in one way they are keeping very quiet and trying to make it appear that they are not disturbed, still in another way they are indicating the greatest possible anxiety.

In order to fully comprehend it will be necessary to compare the present with the past and one condition with another.

The Progress of Five Years.

Five years ago there were scarcely any independent telephones in Canada. The Bell Telephone Co. was then the whole thing. It not only owned and operated the only telephone system of any importance in the Dominion, but it was also the only telephone manufacturing plant in Canada, viz., that of the Northern Electric and Manufacturing Co., Limited, of Montreal, which was then and is now a department of the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada. People who can remember that fact back say that the policy of both the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada and the Northern Electric and Manufacturing Co., Limited, is different from that of the independent telephone men. Some go so far as to say that the Northern Electric and Manufacturing Co., Limited, is a company that is locally operated telephone systems, and that they were not then out to the rural communities of Canada.

Some go so far as to say that the Bell Telephone Co. was not then engaged in the building of rural or suburban telephone lines, and that time were living either in the country or suburbs of some city, and who were required to pay an exorbitant construction charge and a high yearly rental in order to obtain telephone service from the then Canadian telephone monopoly.

Cases in Point.

Even in the period of my own short memory, I can remember how the mayor and council of a certain Canadian city labored with the Bell Telephone Co. to give the residents of that city better telephone service, and to move its poles from the principal streets, and place its unsightly wires underground.

I have been told of the struggle at Ingersoll, Ont., where the citizens finally organized an independent telephone company, and are to-day giving up-to-date central energy telephone service to over 500 subscribers, compared with 200 subscribers served by the once arrogant Bell telephone monopoly.

You have all heard more or less of the successful Norfolk County independent telephone movement, which had its inception in Waterford, Ont., and has developed to a point which has forced the Bell Telephone Co. to abandon that field.

We occasionally see the statement that there are over 500 independent telephone companies and associations in Canada, but the territory is so extensive and the distances are so great that many of these companies scarcely realize that the others exist.

If we have taken the trouble to inform ourselves, we know that a central energy independent telephone network of Ontario is fast becoming a portion of independent telephone lines outside of the more important cities.

Lately the movement has taken hold of the northland, and crossing from Fort William and Port Arthur, which own and operate municipal telephone plants, to Cobalt and Hallsbury, we find the independent telephone lines in possession of the field and looking outwardly we find the movement rapidly taking hold in the entire southland.

One Vast System Possible.

The development in Prince Edward County has spread to the north and east, and a careful study of the independent telephone lines reveals the fact that by the building of a comparatively few independent connecting links, these various local telephone systems could be joined together into one vast system of independent telephone lines, covering the territory east from the Detroit River and Lake Huron nearly to Montreal, and from Lakes Erie and Ontario north to Lake Nipissing.

Starting again in the Province of Quebec at St. Lambert, which is just across the river south of Montreal, we find the National Independent Telephone Co. with lines running to Levis, Quebec, Riviere du Loup and on down into New Brunswick and connecting with the independent telephone lines of Maine and the New England states.

The facts are, and sooner or later the Canadian public will come to realize that the independent telephone movement of Canada, including the government-owned telephone systems of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta) cover the Dominion of Canada giving service outside of the cities, to more people in Canada than are served by the one-time telephone monopoly of this country.

What Happened in Brantford.

Already the independent telephone movement has taken hold in the cities. We have seen how the citizens of Ingersoll have outdistanced the once arrogant Bell Company. Now let us consider the development at Brantford.

Ontario, where the Canadian Machine Telephone System now operating the Lorimer System of automatic service. When that city of twenty thousand inhabitants granted a franchise to the Independent Co., the Bell Telephone Co. of Canada served less than 500 telephone subscribers in Brantford. The Brantford service then (as it now in many Canadian cities) consisted of one telephone and if you have taken the trouble to compare the said so-called ten thousand dollar Bell telephone with those made by independent manufacturers, you have discovered that the said so-called ten thousand dollar Bell telephone falls far below the standard established by independent telephone manufacturers, which it was designed to imitate.

Experience.

Another notable instance of independent telephone development is the Town of Brussels, where the Brussels, Morris and Grey Municipal Telephone System was installed this year. At the beginning of the year, the Bell Telephone Company had 46 local telephones and 14 rural telephones on and about Brussels. The Bell Telephone Co. naturally opposed the installing of a local system and lobbied to prevent the installing of a switchboard at Brussels, trying to induce the independent company to use the Bell switchboard and a three dollar charge per telephone per year. This, the citizens refused to do and the above mentioned independent company now has over 600 telephones in operation and within one year's time, as against 90 telephones installed by the Bell Telephone Co. in the same territory during 25 years.

Who has been accomplished at Brantford is now taking place at Peterboro and Lindsay, where the Bell Company has been forced by competition to tear out its local battery systems and install up-to-date telephone plants.

Only Requires Capital.

Several Canadian cities have granted franchises to local independent telephone companies and the competition is only needing capital with which to force a development of the telephone service in parallel with the development at Brantford, which increased in a little over one year from about 500 subscribers to nearly 2000 subscribers. Now looking at these facts squarely in the face, why should you not be congratulated? Of course, some of you have made mistakes, some of you have signed operating contracts with the Bell Co. for using the telephone lines that you have built and paid for. Of course, it is true that some of you have signed contracts with the Bell Co. by which you have agreed that you will not connect with the independent telephone lines built by your neighbors in the next town, but because of the fact that you are kept from getting fully one-half of the benefits and use of your telephone that you otherwise might enjoy. Of course, the independent telephone men and their representatives in the widely separated localities and made in each instance the very best contract that could be made for the independent telephone system, and for your rights and freedom of action as the owners of your own property.

Forced Change in Policy.

Some of you are tied in one way and some in another, but the fact still remains that the progress of the independent telephone systems in Canada has forced the Bell Telephone Co. and its manufacturing department, the Northern Electric and Manufacturing Co., Limited, to completely change their policy during the past five years.

It may seem boastful to say it, but the fact still remains that while the American Telegraph and Telephone Co. is spending hundreds of thousands of dollars in the United States to advertise the beauties and benefits of locally owned and locally operated telephone systems, the Bell Telephone Co. is spending thousands of dollars in advertising the beauties and benefits of locally owned and locally operated telephone systems, and in joining in an interchange of business. It is well known that the same Bell Co. spent thousands of dollars of your good money in paying its agents to visit your respective localities to induce you, if possible, to sign contracts in which you agree to refrain from building your independent telephone lines into certain territory now occupied by said Bell Co., and pledging you not to connect the telephone lines which you have built and paid for with the telephone lines built and paid for by your neighbors in the adjoining territory.

Beware of Bluffs.

Has not the Bell Co. by its officers, and in some instances by its attorneys, bluffed some of you into believing that it dictated by threatening to cut your telephone lines if you failed to do so? The writer has been informed of at least one instance where a local Canadian telephone company in answer to a letter of this character from the Bell Co. replied "that said local company proposed to build its lines where it desired and to conduct the business of such a local company as it saw fit, and furthermore that the Bell Co. had better not cut any of the telephone lines of said local company, for if they did cut any of said lines that said Bell Co. might find out that the cutting of telephone lines is a game that others might play as," and the Bell Co. took the hint and the local company extended its lines without further molestation.

By competition to change the form of its telephone box in order to compete with the manufacturers of independent telephones by imitating the outward design originated by the independent manufacturers. You have all seen the extensive advertising put out by the Bell Co.'s Northern Electric and Manufacturing Co., Ltd., especially the ads. in which they tell of spending over ten thousand dollars to produce one telephone and if you have taken the trouble to compare the said so-called ten thousand dollar Bell telephone with those made by independent manufacturers, you have discovered that the said so-called ten thousand dollar Bell telephone falls far below the standard established by independent telephone manufacturers, which it was designed to imitate.

It is a great misfortune of the Canadian public looked upon the telephone as a luxury. To-day the telephone is recognized as an economy as well as a necessity, and are now engaged in building government telephone service to the respective residents. The wisdom of this movement has been clearly established. As an aid to the gratification of the public, the independent telephone men can obtain telephone connection with his oft time distant neighbor and trading point has induced and enabled many a family to settle in a new town. The telephone has proven to be one of the most economical and largest dividend-paying expenditures that a farmer can make. "Necessity, than five years ago no less a personage than Wm. Mackenzie asked a friend of the writer "of what benefit will the telephone be to a farmer?" I refer to the telephone as the change of public sentiment in Canada.

Credit Where Due.

During the past year we have tasted the first real fruit of the Canadian Independent Telephone Association, in the enactment of the Ontario Telephone Act, which was introduced in the last session of the Ontario Legislature and which the credit for initiating this legislation is due to Francis Gaggero, secretary of the association, and who deserves a place in the annals of the history of Canada, dating from his services as Dominion Government expert of the M'lock investigation down through the Province of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, and now as secretary of this association, and by his assistance to Mr. Charters and the legislative committee in the preparation and enactment of the law above referred to.

You may not know it, but I am of the opinion that in addition to the many benefits the public will receive from this act, it will prove to be the means of saving to the various Ontario companies in the aggregate over hundreds of thousands of dollars. This law, if I rightly understand it, will nullify the efforts of the many pernicious private contracts by which the Bell company hoped to strangle the independent telephone movement in its infancy.

Now is the time for the association to jump in and be strong, now is the time for the members of the association and for all those interested in the extension of the telephone movement in Canada, to contribute liberally to the support of the organization which is prepared to reap the benefits of the victory you have won.

Must Watch for Snags.

Mark you, and mark it well, the Bell Telephone Co. will try and try hard to nullify the effect of this Charter Bill, and for the watchful care of some person capable of comprehending the full situation, you may expect at least one effort upon the part of the Bell company, thru some unscrupulous legislator, to introduce legislation. Now is the time when every independent operating telephone company and association in Canada, no matter whether in a separate division, or whether in a separate contract with the Bell Telephone Co., should contribute to the support of this Canadian Independent Telephone Association, and a contribution equal in amount to the contribution for every telephone owned and operated by the Bell Telephone Co. should be made for you to make as a donation in support of the movement.

If this is done, and done cheerfully and soon, this association can build up a strong compact, working force from which practical, timely aid can be expected by every government, central and private, every telephone system in the Dominion of Canada.

THE INTERESTS OF THE CONSUMPTIVES.

Next Sunday Set Aside for Tuberculosis Sermons.

From the many pulpits of the city on Sunday coming, sermons and addresses will be delivered dealing with the dread white plague, the terrible havoc it is creating in our province and country, and the means that are being adopted to fight the disease. Tuberculosis is a pest that is fast spreading its ravages all over the world, and it is estimated that at least once a year in a large number of the churches in the various states of the American Union, and for years past in this country, a day has been set aside in Toronto for this particular purpose. The services will be of an educational character, and it is not intended that any appeal should be made for funds for the work or any collection taken up on behalf of the consumptive sanatoria.

Benefits of Co-operation.

Having now considered the benefits to Canada of competition in both the operating and manufacturing of telephones, let us briefly consider the benefits of co-operation by the independent telephone companies and associations.

This association has existed for five years. To many of you no doubt these meetings have seemed of no avail, but I want to say to you that they have accomplished wonders. The association has been a steady force in the way into the telephone business. The mere fact that the Independent Telephone Association of Canada has been an existence has helped to work the wonder change in Canadian public sentiment regarding the use of the telephone.

The knowledge of the existence of the independent telephone companies and associations has been a great help to you in your own minds. The subject is too complicated; too personal; too disappointing. When you have broken down the barriers of prejudice, it is probable that he will tell you some highly entertaining stories. At least, you may find them so.

The Size of Wedding Fees.

Christian Herald.

After you have known a clergyman for 20 years, perhaps you can induce him to tell you about his marriage fees—no before. The subject is too complicated; too personal; too disappointing. When you have broken down the barriers of prejudice, it is probable that he will tell you some highly entertaining stories. At least, you may find them so.

Large wedding fees are rare, even in New York. Fees of $50 and $100 are considered large. The $1000 fee, when it makes its appearance, usually goes to the rectory of a wealthy congregation who enjoys a salary of $10,000 or $15,000 a year. The man of wealth, actuated by a high regard for his pastor and friend, occasionally gives his cheque for $200 or $300 under the guise of a wedding fee. He wishes to help the minister, and knows the money would not be accepted under any other circumstances. Such gifts, it is needless to say, are extremely rare.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—In a collision with the Hudson river steamer, the French Line steamer La Lorraine and the North German Lloyd liner Prinz Friedrich Wilhelm, as they were drawing out into the stream to sail for Europe, both steamers were badly damaged above the waterline. Neither was in condition to proceed with her voyage to-day.

Knocked Overboard.

"Our doctor gave me medicine but it did me no good, so I got a bottle of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and by the time I had used two bottles I was entirely cured. I am always recommending it to my friends."

Sept. 15th, 1910.

Dear Sir,—Will you take anyone who is in the advanced stage of consumption and keep them till the end? I have been sick for four years, and have paid out near all I had, but could pay a little down for my care. My doctor says there is no hope. He did not think there was any alive yet. I may be without a home soon; if so, would like to have a place to go to, but would like to stay to home as long as I have one. Could you tell me free what to do for myself. From yours truly, MRS. Coaticook, Que., Canada.

A MARVELOUS MACHINE

Calgary Aviator Claims to Have the Mysterious Airship Seen by Many.

CALGARY, Nov. 17.—At last comes vindication for certain "seers" in Canada, who, for some time past, have been made the butt of rude jokes because they claimed to have seen a mysterious airship which traveled with wonderful speed.

The mysterious machine, according to a man here, who says it travels incognito, is a reality, and in it claims he has gone 100 miles in an hour. It is rather staggering to hear him tell of leaving a point near Calgary at 9 p.m. and reaching Portland, Ore., the following night, an hour before the bells rang midnight.

A resolution was later passed endorsing the principle as applied to York County, but further action was deferred owing to the near approach of the fall session of the council, which meets on Nov. 28. If council approves, one of the first moves will be the erection of a suitable home in the county.

CANADA'S DUTY TO PROTECT HER COASTS

Sir Wilfrid Laurier Writes to La Presse in Defence of His Naval Policy.

MONTREAL, Nov. 17.—The following are the principal extracts from Sir Wilfrid Laurier's letter to La Presse about the naval policy of his government, which appear in a late edition of that paper this afternoon:

"The matter which has shown such great confidence in our loyalty that she has abandoned to us her arsenals and fortifications, and it is for the Canadian people to see to their own protection when they make their own laws, their own commercial arrangements with the other countries, and impose taxes as she sees fit on the products thereof, even when they are manufactured by Great Britain.

"In 1892 Canada had only the gulf to protect. To-day we have all the Maritime Province, Halifax, St. John, Cape Breton, Prince Edward Island, and all the Pacific coasts, St. Juan-Gulf, Vancouver, Victoria, Esquimalt, Prince Rupert, and the surrounding Yukon, and don't you believe that there is not a permanent danger on the Pacific coasts, where the fisheries, forestry and mines represent millions to protect. Wherever our commerce goes, we must have a navy to protect it. It is not a matter of choice, it is a matter of necessity. We are in this respect of a different disposition than I am. More than that, they would have the right to blame me if I should run away before the task, after my shoulder has been put to the wheel to make Canada worthy of high consideration in the British Empire and before the whole world. I knew and in the rural districts they have a false idea of the navy which I, with my colleagues of Canada, and the majority of both houses have decided upon creating."

"Some demagogues, there is no other expression I could use to qualify them, have tried to frighten them with the prospect of conscription and forced military service. There has never been in any political campaign in this country or elsewhere, more dishonest affirmation. Even in England, the greatest maritime power which has ever existed, conscription has always been an unknown rule. It would be ridiculous to suppose that the maritime law would be more severe here than in England. Conscription has always been a part of the military service in Canada in case of invasion; this disposition of the law of the Canadian militia has been voluntarily illuminated by us in the navy service. Conscription is no more to be feared to-day than it was at the time when Commandant Portin was asking for volunteers for the service of Canada, our autonomy has been equalized by a clause which gives the parliament the absolute control of the law which could not work unless by the authority of the representatives of the people."

BALFOUR'S HYPOTHETICAL TARIFF REFORM POLICY

Unionists Committed To It, He Says—Views on Reform of Lords.

NOTTINGHAM, Eng., Nov. 17.—Arthur J. Balfour, leader of the opposition in the house of commons, addressed an important public gathering here to-night. He dealt with the present tariff reform, and outlined the policies of the Unionists.

"The tariff reform," he said, "is not a touch it. The Unionists proposed to wage no defensive warfare, but to show service. He advised his auditors not to believe all the unauthorized reports concerning the proceedings of the veto conference. He said that the Unionists had agreed upon the only terms which would have made an agreement possible. He considered that the house of commons should be the dominant element in a two-chamber system, and that dissensions arising between the two chambers should be submitted for the people's arbitration.

In the opinion of the speaker, the house of lords' membership should be reduced to men of public service. There should also be an element elected by the peers, and another element, equal to the other two, representing the great bodies of public opinion. He opposed a wholly elective second chamber, because it would usurp the position of the first.

NAVIGATING HUDSON BAY
Dr. J. McCrea's Address Before Montreal Canadian Club.
Dr. J. McCrea addressed the Canadian Club of Montreal a few days ago on the navigation of Hudson Bay. He did not extend strong hopes for the present, but admitted that "it would take a brave man to say that the project is utterly impossible."
"As we have had a new Russia opened up in the west," he said, "it is not to be taken for granted that Hudson Bay will be opened up by a new Scandinavia and a new Finland."
At to the question could Hudson Bay provide open navigation for the year round, Dr. McCrea said: "It is a debatable question as to whether the straits freeze over or not. One can be certain of good weather after the end of July. One can perhaps even find a way of getting into the straits and of getting out of them at the end of September. In August and September there is less fog in the straits than in the Straits of Belle Isle."
"It must be said, however, that even in September and October, frequent snowstorms will make navigation troublesome."
"In summer there is considerable ice in Hudson Bay. We saw a considerable number of bergs in August. By mid-September and October we have got to a period when the bergs freeze over, and it would be necessary to keep the ports open by ice-breakers to allow the carrying on of trade."
Dr. McCrea also spoke of the frequent deviations of the compass, noticeable in Hudson Bay, which caused a serious drawback to navigation.

TRADERS ARE PLAYING THE SHORT SIDE.
World Office Thursday Evening, Nov. 17.
As is usual in a dull market, there are always a few floor traders who take the short side. The selling is done, of course, with some other person's stock. This appears to account for much of to-day's selling of local securities, and which has given the market the appearance of weakness. Further pressure of this kind might easily influence actual holders and precipitate liquidation. Eliminating this feature, the situation shows no change. There is no forced calling of loans, and there is a distinct and growing impression that after the first of the year money will be more than seasonably plentiful. Those who are prepared to take the position of investors are the only ones now entering the market.

Call Money Easier in New York Stock Market Drags Heavily

Steady Selling of Securities Keeps New York Exchange on Down Grade.

World Office Thursday Evening, Nov. 17.
The trading of speculative traders comprised most of the dealings on the Toronto Stock Exchange to-day. Montreal operators are working for small turns, as are the Toronto floor traders, and between the two an exciting time to exact a scalp was the only incident in the trading to-day.
Some demand for Toronto rails was apparently in evidence as the shares and numerous orders for the shares were received in this market without, however, any being filled.
Mackay common was offered at a point on the offering of a twenty-five share lot, but the bid and offered prices on this security were subject to change about every three minutes.
Unless actual buying of stock which shows strong support is Rio. This is regarded as almost remarkable owing to the large amount of speculative stock held locally.
In a speculative way the market is viewed as a most mysterious affair. Offerings of stock find almost no market, and when actual buying orders are presented, it is difficult to find a seller.
Liquidation can be forced, the supply of stocks in the market is almost nominal, and the situation, consequently, presents some what of a deadlock, in which it is certain that trading is unusually restricted.
Any public operations are now confined to investment purchases, and although these are small, they are giving an undoubted substance to values.
Money for stock market loans is now difficult to procure, but brokers have no difficulty in carrying out the usual operations at a local rate of 1-1/2 to 2 per cent.
Local Money Rates Firmer.
T. O. Anderson & Co. in their circular say: Higher rates are being asked by the Canadian banks on loans, and this condition will probably last till over the turn of the year, after which we expect a much easier money period until the outside stirring demands are met. Of the listed issues at the moment we are more favorably impressed with Rio, Sao Paulo, Twin City and Mackays than some others, either for investment or speculation. Improvements in the American market, however, there are indications that higher prices may be reached.

New York Stocks
Nov. 17, 1910
Distrust of the artificial character of the present market practically killed speculative interest and threw the dealings almost into stagnation to-day. Tentative selling operations at the outset seemed designed mainly to test the market. The rapid declines which resulted were in contrast with the ease with which prices had advanced in previous sessions. In response to concentrated buying orders from a few sources. The prominence given to the relations with Mexico was said to give some ground for uneasiness, but the market was not taken very seriously. The discussion of earnings in relation to dividend requirements of the spring wheat growers and of N. Y. Central was a more substantial influence, and was reflected in the special weakness of those stocks. The orders for steel rails, which are coming out from some of the railroads, has less influence on sentiment than yesterday. The money market continued to work easier. It was reported at the stock exchange that funds were supplied from Standard Oil sources, and the employment of funds was held to argue indifference towards the course of the stock market on the part of the habitual market operators in that group of capitalists. A few weeks' return of the Bank of England shows the extent of the improving money market position. Sales are being made in the New York money market of moderate issues of to-day. Believe Steel common will continue to be the leader, with other standard stocks following closely.

Rochester Grocer Shot Down While Closing His Store.

ROCHESTER, Nov. 17.—Although the police have three men in custody as suspects in the case of George A. Schuchart, aged 50, who was shot down in his grocery store in this city, about 10 o'clock last night, they are in reality at sea. Schuchart was closing the store, while his wife was preparing luncheon for him in their apartments upstairs. She heard the shots, ran to the kitchen, jumped thru the window to the roof and called to her mother, who lived next door. She then went back and ran downstairs. On the way down she met a neighbor, who told her Mr. Schuchart was lying on the sidewalk and that he had been shot. The neighbor and another man carried the grocer upstairs, and he died, just as a priest concluded administering the last rites of the church.
Although the police were quickly on the scene, they found only a gray wool cap and a blue bandanna handkerchief. The store was in confusion, the cash drawer being pulled out, while evidences of a struggle were to be seen on every side.
There was a rumor of a woman in the case, and that she was not a robbery of the cash drawer, although it was open, and that a large sum of money remained untouched in the man's pockets, when it was generally known fact that he carried large sums, is given as supporting this theory.

THREE YEARS FOR WOUNDING.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Norris Dalton, drew a sentence of three years in Stony Mountain Penitentiary from Chief Justice Howell, at the assizes here to-day, on a charge of aggravated assault. While primed with liquor last spring Dalton attacked Levi Dingman with a knife and inflicted severe wounds in the abdomen.

Gaelic League.

At the special meeting of the Gaelic League held in Parkdale, it was resolved to hold the annual election of officers on the 30th inst. in accordance with the rule adopted last session. A committee was appointed to report a study program for the season, and it is intended to take up some of the Irish classics of 2000 years ago, in translation, and with the Irish text. Irish music will also be taken up. A special class for the study of the Irish language is being considered, and one or two public lectures will be given during the season. Those interested are invited to attend the regular meetings, which will be duly announced.

WALL STREET POINTERS.

Bank of England rate unchanged.
American stocks in London quiet, with trifling changes.
Cooler weather stimulating demand for anthracite.
Trade papers report railroads upon the whole more inclined to buy rails.
Philadelphia expects increase in Lehigh Valley dividend in December.
General market in London dull and rather heavy, particularly in Copper group.
Secretary of Agriculture Wilson says demand in meat prices will not be permanent.
Bank of France movement to-day expected to show decrease of over $,000,000 francs in gold.
Southern cotton manufacturers believe foreign demand should be taken for curtailment of production.
Do not overlook the opportunities that Rock Island's present position will be real money in this direction. Buy Reading and sit tight. Hold C. & O. Don't bear Coppers yet.
The trend of Union Pacific, Reading, Steel, Southern Pacific, is still upward and they may go higher to-day. Louisville and Southern Railway stocks are bought quietly on recessions. Rock Lehigh should be bought on every rally. The listing of Lehigh Valley means higher prices for this stock.
Financial Bulletin.
During the next few months signs will not be wanting that an extended trade depression is under way, but prices in all probability will be considerably lower. There are so many factors calculated to restrict operations show no disposition whatever to encourage buying. A formidable array of supreme court decisions is ahead of the market, any one of which, rendered adversely, would upset the best laid bullish campaign.—Town Topics.

ON WALL STREET.

Erickson Perkins & Co. had the following: Stocks turned weak again last hour and ended not far from the bottom. Steel, Reading and Union Pacific were features and seemed to be pressed for sale by the pool, which has been trying to get rid of its holdings. London exhibited its usual high range of quotations this morning, but it had absolutely no effect upon our market, which opened weak and immediately sold off from 1-1/2 to 3 points. Call money and time are both easy, 4-1/2 per cent. for the latter, 2 1/2 for the former, with promise of still easier conditions. A large borrowing demand for stocks was noted this morning. The bull interests are said to have the market well in hand and to be able to check any upward disposition of the bears to smash prices. London was reported a seller on balance to-day of 20,000 shares. Closing was irregular and uncertain. We still incline to purchases on the breaks, and sales on the rallies while the market remains in its present professional condition.
J. P. Bickell & Co. from Finley Barrell. The up and down fluctuations which have marked the market. Meantime we are satisfied that the most important banking interests are preparing for a resumption of the bull movement, which was temporarily interrupted after election, and in consequence we are firmly of the opinion that leading standard stocks should be bought freely on all weak spots, especially on such bear raids and we had to-day. Believe Steel common will continue to be the leader, with other standard stocks following closely.
