THE BLIZZARD RAGED

New England States Buried in the Beautiful.

TROLLEY LINES SNOWED UP

And the Steam Railroads Could Not Run Their Trains.

New York Had Snow Drifts Five Feet High—Boston Traffic Was Generally Demoralized—Up in Connecticut the Depth Was Two Feet on the Level—Winter Has Struck the Sea Coast States in Earnest.

New York, Nov. 26.—The first severe snowstorm of the winter struck New York early this afternoon and increased in violence, until to-night it had assumed almost the proportions of a blizzard. Forty miles an hour is the rate the wind has been tearing through the city, and on the Long Island coast it has reached 60 miles an hour. At about 11 o'clock to-night the snow has fallen to about 11 inches on the level, and in some places had been drifted as high as five feet. The temperature has gradually fallen until it is now 26 degrees. All of the trolley lines running to the suburbs have been forced to discontinue service and the surface lines in Manhattan and Brooklyn boroughs have fared almost as badly, being forced to abandon their schedules. All of the horse-car lines are blocked. The elevated railroads have discontinued their regular schedule and are beginning to have trouble.

The railroad lines out of the city have as yet not been forced to abandon their regular schedules, but the prospect is that they will have to do so before morning, if not already blocked by that time. Shipping is also threatened, many vessels having put back to port for the storm to pass over.

Last Night's Storm.

When the people of New York awoke this morning they found the blizzard that raged when they retired was still in progress. The storm, which had begun with a soft, sleety snow on Saturday at noon, had increased greatly and, with the heavier snowfall, the wind was blowing a gale at midnight. There was a slight abatement of the wind this morning, but the snow still fell and drifted high, and the temperature dropped rapidly. It looked this morning as though the blizzard would continue all day, but at 10 o'clock there was a breaking away in the west, a brightening of the light, and finally the storm ceased altogether, and the greatest blizzard since the memorable one of March, 1888, came to an end. With the brightening of the skies in this city this morning came an increase in the velocity of the wind, and the loose, dry snow was sent swirling and eddying everywhere. Nearly a foot of snow had fallen, but in places it had drifted to 4 and 5 feet.

Broadway Was Fantastic.

Broadway and all the great thoroughfares of the city presented a fantastic appearance. There were drifts on the sidewalks, through which the early morning wayfarer plowed to his waist. In some of the streets great drifts formed barriers across them and in many instances filled up the trenches that were dug by the street railroads for the transforming of motive power from cable to electricity.

As soon as there were signs of abatement in the fall of snow the street cleaning department went to work. But there was very little progress made. The street railroads had thrown up huge banks of snow on either side of the rails, forming an almost impassable barrier to anything but sleighs, very few of which were out. The street cleaning department, with its limited resources, removed a few thousand loads from the principal thoroughfares, but this made an impression on the banks that was scarcely noticeable.

Two Feet of the Beautiful.

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 27.—The storm in this city is the heaviest known since the blizzard of 1888. The snow is about two feet on a level, and is drifted badly. Trains on the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad were much delayed. The train from New York Saturday night reached here at 4 o'clock this afternoon, 14 hours behind time. Travelers have been entirely suspended during the day, but the short lines are being cleared up this evening. Joan A. Horn, an electrician, was killed on the Glastonbury line this morning while working.

REPORT NOT CREDITED.

British Consulate at Shanghai Has Not Been Notified of the Chusan Incident.

Shanghai, Nov. 27.—The report received here yesterday that the British Admiral had notified the United States of the capture of the Island of Chusan, and over several other islands in the Chusan Archipelago is not credited. The British Consulate has received no confirmation of the rumor, which probably originated in mistaking the survey marks of the survey ship Water Witch for the Union Jack.

The richest present you can make—Taylor's Wild Rose Perfume.

The Welfare of the Community.

The welfare of the community demands that every man should take the necessary steps to see that full provision is made for his family in case of his death. If you have not done so, write for the set of pamphlets, published by the Confederation Life Association, Toronto, which gives full particulars of the different plans of insurance, among others, of a plan by which you can fully protect your wife and family and at the same time save money to be used by yourself in your old age, should you survive.

Rockland County Got It.

Rockland, N.Y., Nov. 27.—A blizzard raged through Rockland county last night and today, doing much damage. The snow-drifts are from three to seven feet high and have made traveling through the county impossible on some roads. This has been the severest snowstorm since 1888.

Boston Caught It, Too.

Boston, Nov. 27.—A record-breaking snow blizzard swept over the greater portion of New England last night and today, completely demoralizing traffic of every description and well nigh paralyzing telegraphic and telephonic communication, while the northeast gate coming on a high course of tides, drove the sea far beyond its usual limits and made a mark along shore only exceeded by the memorable hurricane of 1851.

The heaviest part of the storm was in the Youngs Bay part of New England, that area being a snowfall of 8 to 24 inches, then filling the conduit with snow, yet, thus making the trolley wires unworkable. Hundreds of men were employed by the trolley companies to put them in condition, but their efforts were futile. Suburban traffic was blocked for several hours in the morning, and after that trains ran at long intervals. All trains were delayed. Some that were due in the early morning hours had not been heard from at night.

The superintendent of mails in the general postoffice reported that the mail train from Boston, due at 9 a.m., had not been heard from, nor had the mails been received up to 9 o'clock to-night. The incoming mails from other parts, he said, were from two hours to an unknown number of hours behind time.

Shipping Damaged.

The damage to small shipping in the harbor and down the bay was very great. It is reported to-night that several tug boats belonging to the Kingston Towing Company, together with a large number of canal boats, were sunk up the river by the force of the gale. The shores of the Hudson are littered with wreckage.

At 9 o'clock this morning a fleet of 22 ocean-going steamships were anchored in the bay. The Canadian Lucia, more than 21 hours behind her schedule, was the first of the liners to weigh anchor and put to sea. The others bound east and south followed soon after, one by one. Fortunately the storm was heralded sufficiently in advance by the weather bureau to detain most of the coastwise shipping in safe harbor, but the warning was entirely ignored by those on shore, with the result that nearly every one, especially the railroads and electric companies, was caught napping, and suffered accordingly. There was not a railroad in New England that was not more or less tied up by the storm.

Trains Stalled.

Trains north, east, south and west were nearly all stalled early in the night, although one train from Bangor reached Lynn this noon, and two Chicago trains came into the city this evening.

In the cities and towns dependent upon electric car service it was even worse, for the damp snow packed hard on the rails and held up even the heavy snow plows. The service in this city was probably the best of any of the surrounding communities, yet even here there was no attempt made to run more than a dozen cars on Washington-street, and one or two others of the main thoroughfares.

During the late night and this morning 30 barges and schooners lying in Boston were wrecked and sunk, and at least 12 lives lost.

The Wilson liner Ohio is ashore at Spectacle Island in the bay. No serious damage is expected.

Only the basest reports were received to-night of the effects of the storm on the coast, but those gave rise to the gravest fears for the safety of what little shipping may have been off Cape Cod last night (today). It will probably be two or three days before a complete list of the disasters can be made.

General Isolation.

All points south of this city and east of Providence were isolated early in the evening. New Bedford being lost to the outside world before 8 o'clock while Newport and Fall River disappeared into the night long after. Farther to the west, at Providence and in other parts of Rhode Island, communication was intermittent and subject to great delay. Night trains over the short line to New York reached Providence with only a few minutes delay, but beyond this point they met terrific drifts, and it was morning before either of the two regular trains reached New London. Here they were stalled nearly all day by freight wrecks on the road between that point and New Haven.

Holden's Story Repeated.

Holden said his career of crime began in 1876, but the defence has a document signed by Warden Waldie of the Montreal Prison that shows that Holden was convicted five times of larceny before that date, and further that he went under the name of William Gordon. This is a departure from Holden's story.

Jury Take a Walk.

The jury spent to-day inactive. They were twice taken out for exercise and fresh air and walked around the town two and two, with solemn, funeral tread. On both occasions they were accompanied by a posse of guards. The confinement assigned to all of the jurors, is telling on them. They are getting sick of their duty and are anxious to quit. But it is not likely that the case will be handed to them before Friday morning.

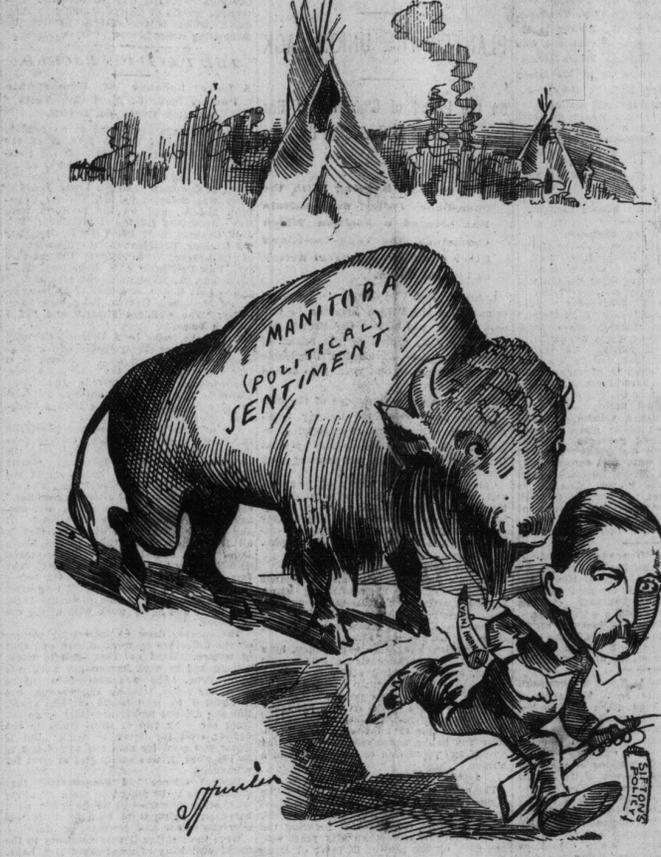

Witnesses for the Defence.

The defence expect to call about 25 witnesses and will consume two days. Then comes the case for the prosecution.

HOLDEN'S LIFE STORY

Will Be Amended by a Report From Warden Waldie of Montreal.

Which Shows That He Was Convicted Five Times Before Holden Says His Career of Crime Began—Crown's Case Will Be Closed This Afternoon—Jury Will Likely Have the Case on Friday.

Napanee, Ont., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Sunday was a dead quiet day in this town, yet around the streets and in the hotel corridors little knots of men gathered and reviewed the evidence so far produced in the bank case. There is no change in sentiment in the town. Billy Ponton is still pertinaciously considered blameless.

BLAMES THE GOVERNMENT

A Dawson City Man Tells the World What Is Wrong With the Management of the Yukon Country.

"It's the biggest piece of jobbery on God's earth this Yukon government," exclaimed a successful Dawson City man last evening. "It has made Canada stink before the whole world."

"Whom do you blame for it?" asked the World.

"Why, the Dominion Government. It wouldn't listen to the petition of British Columbia for the establishment of its placer and mineral regulations in the gold fields, and most of the misery and trouble which has followed has been the direct result of it."

"As a Dawson man, is it all that the Canadian and American press has said about the incompetency of the officials true?"

"By gad, half hasn't been told!" was the vehement reply.

"But it's more than incompetency," he went on. "The fault lies in the fact that these officials have too small a salary and to get a bare living they have had to hold themselves. I could tell you a lot about men getting their feet and bodies frozen while waiting for their mail, because they didn't see an official, to let them in, but I'm not going to."

"What remedies would you suggest?" asked the World.

"Well, I would do away with this royalty robbery. I had to pay $2500 claim for a cent. The alternate claim scheme just gives the jobbers a chance and that should go too. The Government now receives some $2,500,000 in incomes and all they spend is for the maintenance of their shanties and for the militia. If the salaries of the officials were increased it would put an end to all the jobbery."

ROSSLAND SPECIAL.

Ore Shipments Continue Much Greater Than Last Year—Development Progressing.

Rossland, B.C., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Notwithstanding the reduction in the R.C.O. shipments, pursuant to the policy of the B.C.O., the production of the camp for the past week is over three times that of the same week last year. War Eagle put out 2300 tons, Le Roi 1100, Iron Mask 100. The process adopted for bullion extracting has proved so successful that 80 tons a day can be treated.

Work on Le Roi will be resumed to-morrow.

The Coxy ore body is said to give smaller values of $15 a ton across 12 feet. Deer Park is still the most active stock on the local market.

Some ore has been encountered in the crosscut at the 250-foot level in White Bear.

The machinery for Iron Horse is expected this week.

A large body of $10 ore has been struck in Great Western.

The mine, at the west end of Iron Mask, is in six feet of high-grade ore.

The development of South Belt properties is progressing favorably.

REV. W. J. BARKWELL DEAD.

Pastor of New Richmond Methodist Church, McCaul-Street, Dies From an Operation.

Rev. W. J. Barkwell, M.A., pastor of New Richmond Methodist Church, died at the General Hospital this morning at 2.30, as the result of a surgical operation which he underwent in the hope of gaining relief from kidney trouble, which had afflicted him for years. Sunday morning he was improved, and his recovery was hoped for, but the shock to his system was too great.

Rev. W. J. Barkwell was a son of the late Stephen Barkwell, who lived near Port Hope, and who died about a year ago. The rev. gentleman was for three years pastor of Woodgreen Methodist Church, before his term at McCaul-street Church began, July 1, 1897. He was a man who made friends wherever he went, and always had a kind word for everyone, though he was suffering much himself. He was especially thoughtful for the poor.

MME. BIANCHINI ARRESTED

Charged With Attempting to Poison Her Husband, the Great Scenic Artist.

Paris, Nov. 27.—Madame Bianchini was arrested to-day on a charge of attempting to poison her husband, Charles Bianchini, the famous and popular scenic artist. About six months ago he was attacked suddenly by a mysterious malady, which the physicians diagnosed differently. One of them declared his belief that the symptoms were those of atropine poisoning and thereupon Bianchini's friends, M. Carre and M. Oulhard, directors of the Grand Opera, took it upon themselves to carry him to a distant village, away from his wife. There he recovered rapidly. The story spread and Madame Bianchini was compelled to take some action. This led to her arrest, the police finding bottles of atropine in her house. She is young and pretty, and treats the case quite flippantly, suffering much pain herself. He was especially thoughtful for the poor.

A TRAIN WRECKER'S DOOM.

An English Judge Sends a Man to Prison for Life as a Warning to Others.

London, Nov. 27.—Penal servitude for life is the exemplary punishment which was meted out at the Northampton Assizes yesterday to Frank Tomlinson, alias Smith, aged 34, a shoe hand, who was convicted of the diabolical crime of attempted train wrecking.

He was indicted for attempting to wreck trains near Northampton, Wellingborough and Bedford on Sept. 7, 8 and 9, by placing obstructions on the line, and was found guilty on the charge relating to the attempt on the Midland Railway near Wellingborough on Sept. 8.

The evidence proved that the accused was seen in the immediate vicinity just previous to the obstruction being placed on the line.

In passing sentence Mr. Justice Mathew said that the prisoner had been convicted and properly convicted of an awful crime. He had contemplated the murder of his fellow-creatures—murder under every circumstance of cruelty and barbarity. It was dreadful to think what would have happened if he had succeeded in his terrible work. Many valuable lives would have been lost, and among the survivors there would have been people maimed and mangled in such a way as to make their lives wretched.

"You shall," continued the judge, "have the severest sentence I can pass upon you for two reasons. First, it would be only a fair retribution to you for your cruelty, and second, that those who may be tempted to follow your example may know what the consequences will be. I sentence you to penal servitude for life."

FRENCH SHORE QUESTION

Present Phases Which Will Cause Another Difficult Discussion.

Frenchmen Have Been Breaking the Treaty of Utrecht Right Along—Bounty-Fed Fishery Almost Entirely a Training Ground for Seamen for French Navy—Russia's Armaments Attracting Attention—Cable News and Gossip.

New York, Nov. 27.—Henry Norman, cabling to the Times from London, says: "I learn that the report of the Newfoundland Commission, which is now due, will contain some startling statements regarding French breaches of the treaty of Utrecht, in respect to the French shore there, and imply, if not actually say, that it is impossible for the present state of affairs to continue without provoking a dangerous situation in the colony. This means another difficult discussion between England and France, for the bounty-supported French fishery in Newfoundland waters is almost the sole training ground for seamen for the French navy."

Wolsley Was Summonsed.

Harping back to the war scare created in England over the Fashoda affair, Henry Norman, in his cable to the Times to-day, says: "Lord Wolsley was summonsed to be in attendance at the last Cabinet Council—an extremely rare step. Afterward he returned with the Marquis of Lansdowne, the Secretary of War, to his country seat for several days' conference."

The Kaiser's Trip.

"I learn from a friend just returned from Palestine that the German Emperor sent one day for Frank Cook, a member of the famous tourist firm, who is conducting the trip, and said: 'England and France are both mobilizing. I do not fear war, but I must warn you I may have to cut my journey short at any moment.'"

"Once when the Emperor was away from telegraphic communication for two days he found 162 telegrams from Berlin awaiting him. This shows there was no exaggeration in describing the situation as extremely critical at one period."

Russia's Armaments.

"Russia's hasty armaments are beginning to attract attention. Not only has she ordered three new battleships, 24 destroyers, and urged Cramp to complete the orders as quickly as possible, and begun erecting barracks at Taiten Wan for 15,000 troops, but she has put the crews of the so-called volunteer fleet upon the footing of the regular members of the Imperial navy. All this is, no doubt, as was wittily remarked, 'To help the other nations to disarm.' In fact, as a Vienna journal observed recently, 'the storm area widens as the Peace Congress approaches.'"

"At the same time she alone among the powers insists upon the retention of the

WOMEN'S STORY ALL TOLD

To Mr. Holman He Said He Wouldn't Believe Pare on His Oath.

MORE CROWN EVIDENCE.

Which Would Tend to Corroborate Pare's Story, as Told to the Jury - Ex-Manager Baines on the Stand - Miss Sarah French Gives Sensational Evidence About Mrs. Mackie Digging in the Woodshed for a Bottle Containing Paper Money.

Napanee, Ont., Nov. 22.—(Special.)—There was no half-holiday on Saturday. Judge Ferguson is a man of iron constitution, and works hard without adjournments. The attendance at the court keeps up; the increase in women spectators being noticeable. Around town the interest in the case is at high pressure. Everyone talks.

When the young man calls on his sweetheart she does not ask "How are you, Willie?" but "How is the trial getting on? Do you think Billy Ponton will get off?" Mrs. Ponton's presence in court has evoked much sympathy, and the mothers of the town are praying for her son's acquittal.

The evidence of Holden is by many considered a strengthening of the Crown's case, though the defence showed many discrepancies between the stories of Pare and Holden.

On the Pare, Holden's swearing that he would not believe him on oath is not without seconders in Napanee. The theory of the defence is that there has been a conspiracy to put the blame on Ponton; yet it is hard from the evidence to see how this view is to uphold the successful issue. Yet the defence claim they have witnesses who will support the case. They promise some sensational proofs.

The Crown put ex-manager Baines through a long examination, and laid stress upon Pare's making deposit slips, putting a due bill in the cash, and running out of ten dollar bills.

The Crown kept its sensation for the last in Miss French, whose witness always is sensational, as the issue shows. Holden's Evidence Continued.

At 9 o'clock the jurors returned to the court. The witness was called with Mr. Porter's cross-examination of Holden.

The witness said he carried a revolver. On Wednesday, the 22nd April, Ponton got his money at 9:30 in Belleville. "When Pare said Ponton got his money at 9 o'clock," Holden said, "I was not there. I did not tell the truth," said witness. Holden was positive about this.

Pare had said that the gang were in Ponton's room at 10 o'clock on the night of the robbery, and that they left for the bank shortly after 11.

"Pare is wrong again," said Holden. The witness further said that on the night of Aug. 18 he watched from Ponton's room, and "Pare was wrong when he said I sat up there at 10 o'clock on the night of the robbery, and that they left for the bank shortly after 11."

"Pare is wrong again," said Holden. The witness further said that on the night of Aug. 18 he watched from Ponton's room, and "Pare was wrong when he said I sat up there at 10 o'clock on the night of the robbery, and that they left for the bank shortly after 11."

When the night of the robbery was spoken of, Holden said that he carried all of the money from the bank, but he was suspicious of Pare. He thought Pare had a bundle sneaked into his pockets. "If Pare said he carried one of the bundles of money, he lies."

More Discrepancies. In Pare's story he says he did carry one of the bundles. Here was another discrepancy. Pare swore a certain event took place on Thursday. Holden knew it was on Saturday, and added, "Pare stated what was not true."

There was a marked improvement in the witness's manner. He was quiet and gave an excellent witness. Holden reiterated his statement that Pare spent two or three days in Montreal in July. "If Pare said he was not there, he was quiet and gave an excellent witness. Holden reiterated his statement that Pare spent two or three days in Montreal in July."

"This was the time of the death of Pare's mother, an event not easily forgotten. At that time Jim Jones was keeping Madame Soucier's store. Holden declared that Pare ought not to forget that time, for Pare brought up a silver watch and some shirt studs to give to Ponton, and I brought up a bike lantern. A man stole the lamp and offered it to me. I gave him $1.50 for it." [Laughter].

The Judge Objects. The judge said there was no occasion for laughter, and added, "if that occurs again, you may get a fine." Holden declared that Pare told him one night in July that Baines was away and the vault and the safe were wide open. Pare had said that Ponton caused the abandonment of the scheme of getting into the bank in the day time. Holden said that was not true, but that Pare was the man who weakened.

At this point Mr. Holman took Holden in hand. The witness had not seen a copy of the evidence given at the preliminary inquest. The witness declared that he never had the intention of robbing the Merchants' Bank. Holden said that the robbery he paid $200 to Kennedy Smith in Montreal; he is a sort of a crook.

Was Suspicious of Pare. The witness told of how he and Pare returned to Canada. Pare was suspicious of Pare. "If Ponton does not get the money, I will hold you responsible," said the witness, speaking to Pare. Pare's communication to Ponton was made before the trip to Canada was. "Come on; there is a machinist wanted." The two crooks spoke about Ponton's trial. They agreed to put up some money for Ponton's suit against the bank. "I went back to Boston, dug up the money I had planted. A chum of mine gave me a knockout drop and swiped $2000."

without handcuffs. There is evidently no fear of Holden's running away. The jailer and he chatted merrily together like companions. Corroborating Holden. Mr. Hunter, proprietor of the Royal Hotel, Napanee, was called. He testified to the cutter in his yard that two robes had been taken from the barn in January, 1897, corroborating Holden's story about the first attempt at robbery. He saw two horses in the barnyard. The witness, "I see one of the men at the back of the room now," pointing to Levi Brant.

Levi Brant was then put on the stand. Levi Brant is an Indian and he looked it. He lives in Hastings County. He was the driver of Tom Martin's barn in February, 1897, and took them to the Hunter, Napanee. He told about the run-away. He got up one Sunday morning and saw two horses in the barnyard. One was white, the other was black.

Harry McCulloch next appeared, propounding himself with a cane. He was the driver of the horse from Hastings County. He spoke about the grey and the black horse. One Laferly of Belleville got the horse from him.

Laferly then appeared. He was from Belleville. In February, 1897, he was running a livery and was still doing so. He was the driver of the horse in the evidence. James Mackie hired the team for a couple of travelers of the Dominion House to go to Frankford, northwest of the town of Belleville. Mackie is east of Belleville. A Police Court case was the result of the smash-up. He summoned James Mackie and Robert Mackie. James pleaded guilty. The witness: "I sued Robert because I heard he was with James. The suit was for damages for property and hiring a team."

Laferly went down at 10:30 and Arthur Meeks took his place. He had seen Pare and Holden at his place at different times. He saw a boy standing on the roadway. "I thought these men were tramps." He could not say if it was a gentleman's wheel or a lady's.

Could Not Tell the Men. "To Mr. Porter he said he could not tell the men he saw the night he saw the bicycle. He thought the man in the light suit was about 25 years of age. He thought at the time it was some parties with a dog woman."

Detective's Showing. Mr. Porter's cross-examination of Holden. The witness said he saw Jim Jones. "Holden looked like the Mayor of Napanee," said the witness. "I thought he was one of the tramps. The judge held he could not say the man in light clothes was Jim Jones."

Sydney Scott was the next to be questioned. He lived two miles from Napanee. He was the man who owned the sugar mill. He was a little dirty about finding men in his sap shanty. "As far as I have seen them they were Holden, Pare and Mackie. He talked to Mackie about sugar-making. The time was July 1st."

To Mr. Holman he said he would not swear to Holden's picture. "I don't know if I did it. I have always been positive that Mackie was one of them." Witness admitted that when he came up to the jail, he did not identify Mackie. He expected to see them. The witness was hard of hearing. He told the judge the man Mackie was in the suit house. John Gerran failed to respond to a call for him, so Thomas B. Lund was called. Thomas had seen sitizens near his home. "I don't know if it was one of them. I would not be sure."

E. B. Perry was next, and the watching man spoke of the robbery. He remembered one night in January or February seeing a man going across the street. The man asked about a rig. He corroborated the story of Holden and the team in the wagon. The man spoke to "Who would know of it?"

An Indian Witness. Davis Cliss, a copper-colored Indian, was next presented to the court. He said he gave his evidence about the robes, blankets, one rubber and a halter found on the road in the winter of 1897. Mr. Holman could make nothing of him. The judge said that an Indian measured distance by time, not by miles.

W. J. Black called himself hoarse for half an hour, but when he appeared and he sank back disgusted. "Edward Sillit Constable Sillit, High Constable Sillit, was the witness who was returned to his duty, but no one appeared."

Ex-Manager Baines. Mr. Osler called Mr. Baines and he took the box. Mr. Baines testified concerning a proposition on the part of a telephone company about the putting in of an electric bell. This was in June, 1897. "Who would know of it?"

"All the staff of the Merchants' Bank and the Dominion Bank." July 20 he left the bank to be locked. Ponton was in charge. He had the key to Mr. Baines' compartment. Ponton was also in charge on August 24. "Eight or ten days after the robbery I discovered the hole in the side of the safe and I had never noticed it before. It seemed clear then."

Miss French on the Stand. But her sister Margaret was called before her. Miss French was more at ease than formerly. She spoke of her acquaintance with Robert Mackie as formerly and repeated the details of finding the tools, as first published in The World of three months ago. She spoke about the letter she wrote for Robert Mackie. The letter was addressed to "W. Durrant, Dominion Bank, Napanee," and went on as if a girl and her friend had been there and wanted Durrant to see if he had any more. He went to Montreal some time in the winter of 1897.

Mr. Holman did not shake the testimony of the witness in the least degree. Miss Sarah French. Miss Sarah French was ushered in by Mr. Sillis, C.C. I live in Toronto; am a widow of Margaret. My mother is a widow. I am a cousin of Robert. When Ponton

He ran out of tens but once and that once just before the robbery. He is it easily in the pocket of the teller to make himself scarce of any particular kind of bills? asked the Judge. "Oh, yes!" said Mr. Baines. To Mr. Porter he witness said that any clerk in the bank could know all about the Government bonds, that Mr. Ponton had opportunity to know whether the bonds were in the bank or not and he above all other clerks.

In the Afternoon. Mr. Baines was still in the box when the court opened at 2:10, by the rapid clock in the afternoon. To Mr. Porter he said that the bonds were never $10,000 before the bank was held up. The bonds were $10,000 in 1897. Mr. Baines said that the circulation of the bills was largely governed by the demand on the part of the customers of the bank. Turning back the book of specifications to Oct. 97, it was shown that the tens were reduced by another ten per cent in one day from 70 to 8. It was shown that after the robbery another ten per cent of 200 tens in one day.

There would not be the slightest irregularity in Mr. Ponton's paying out 200 tens in one day. Place no importance to it. The witness said he bought a bicycle but could not ride it, at which, even the court smiled broadly. The witness stated that there would be a possible advantage to Ponton to put 100 tens into circulation on Aug. 7, because $45,000 of tens had been put into circulation at the head office that after the robbery another ten per cent of 200 tens in one day.

Mr. Baines said the express office would know how much money was sent to the bank. The clerk of the express office would know how much money was sent to the bank. The clerk of the express office would know how much money was sent to the bank.

A Daily Occurrence. The keeping of a cheque out of the cash was said to be an act of daily occurrence among the bank officials not strictly business, though not criminal. It was no loss to the bank and no gain to the customer. These things. The only disadvantage to the bank was the lack of record.

It is not enough to say anything about the cheques presented were kept by Mr. Porter and were found in his coat in his room. The $20 10 U was found on "June 15th" in the cash. "I have heard of this before. It used to be a common occurrence. Mr. Porter had a permit to do this." Mr. Baines testified to Ponton's blameless work as a teller. In answer to Mr. Porter's question, Mr. Baines said that in July 1897 the gunner Mr. Mackie had control of Mr. Baines' key and of the office. He could have got the combination then.

But he did not till Aug. 5," said the lawyer, speaking to the bench, thus showing the opportunity for a robbery. The witness thought Aug. 5 was the poorest day upon which to get the combination.

The Hole in the Safe. "Who first discovered the hole?" "I did," said Mr. Baines. "I was Green and I found it the same day. I found it." Holden's story about getting the combination on Saturday was not true. "It was here on the combination and not. It must have been a Friday," said the witness. Mr. Stringer of the Telephone Company was trying to sell a record to Mr. Baines and examined a receipt. There was nothing secret about it. The night of the robbery an idea that some one had changed the combination ran through the witness's mind. The door leading into the bank from the passage was locked. The door was closed. The key had been common property nearly. Blacksmith had made half a dozen. "The door was the same as between the vault and the burglar."

Magistrate Daly was an interested spectator this afternoon. "While Meeks" was the cry from W. J. Black and his friends. He came up. He made a good witness, answering questions promptly and never failing to affix a "Sir." He testified, as on a former occasion, to having seen the tramps in the harvest of 1897. He recognized Mackie as one of them. He would not be sure of the man. This was the combination man, Mr. Perinda Meeks. She told the same story as three months ago. She saw the tramps. "I was sure she could not identify Mackie in the jail."

Magistrate Daly in the box. Police Magistrate Daly was next witness. Napanee's Daniel Webster told of the arrest and bringing up of Holden and Pare before him on the 21st of August, 1897. He told what was found upon the warrants as recounted before.

The third Indian witness, Joseph Hill, ambled into the box. He told about Mackie and Holden being at his father's wigwam in early February, 1897. The story is old. He was not an intelligent witness and the Court yawned.

While the Indian was telling his story, Miss Sarah French was brought into Court and the dark-skinned Indian was forgotten. Miss Sarah is a comely-looking girl and was dressed in excellent taste, showing herself to be a girl of no little refinement. She is dark-complexioned and has a full, black eye. She is pretty. Detective Greer led her out while her sister was giving testimony.

Miss French on the Stand. But her sister Margaret was called before her. Miss French was more at ease than formerly. She spoke of her acquaintance with Robert Mackie as formerly and repeated the details of finding the tools, as first published in The World of three months ago. She spoke about the letter she wrote for Robert Mackie. The letter was addressed to "W. Durrant, Dominion Bank, Napanee," and went on as if a girl and her friend had been there and wanted Durrant to see if he had any more. He went to Montreal some time in the winter of 1897.

Mr. Holman did not shake the testimony of the witness in the least degree. Miss Sarah French. Miss Sarah French was ushered in by Mr. Sillis, C.C. I live in Toronto; am a widow of Margaret. My mother is a widow. I am a cousin of Robert. When Ponton was first arrested Robert was at our place. He stayed about two weeks. He went away for about two weeks. Then he came back and remained about three weeks at our place. He came about the 7th of September at first. Robert Mackie was at our place for a while before I knew it. I met Robert Mackie and talked to him. I found him in a room in the third story. He was digging. He found a bottle. He said it was something the wife of a friend of his had given him. He said it was something the wife of a friend of his had given him. He said it was something the wife of a friend of his had given him.

Money in a Bottle. "Did you find the bottle doing anything on the premises?" "Several days after the arrest I came suddenly upon Mrs. Mackie in the woodshed. She was digging. She found a bottle. There was paper money in it. (A sensation.) The night of Mackie's arrest he told me he expected a friend to call and if I heard any word to tell him, I heard the rap. I got up and went to his bedroom door and told him. He said to his wife, 'There's something wrong; the house is surrounded.'"

To Mr. Holman the witness said she had no quarrel with Robert Mackie's family. She was sure that Robert Mackie was in Toronto her brother Peter was in the room and it was all a joke. She was sure that Robert Mackie was in Toronto her brother Peter was in the room and it was all a joke. She was sure that Robert Mackie was in Toronto her brother Peter was in the room and it was all a joke.

A HALF CENTURY AGO The Old Bank of Upper Canada Was Robbed of $100,000—It Was an Inside Job. A correspondent writes: It is now nearly half a century ago that the old defunct Bank of Upper Canada opened a branch in the old Parliament Buildings at the suggestion of the then Deputy Receiver-General, for the convenience of the Government. This branch was placed in charge of one Moses R. Cummins, a former clerk in the bank, who was on terms of intimacy with the Deputy Receiver-General. On a certain night in the year 1857 Mr. Cummins and his friends, among whom were one Magary (a railroad man), and Kerby, a chief of Police, had a party at the bank. A little "game of cards" in the bank, and next morning the alarm was given that the bank was robbed of $100,000. Detectives were sent to the bank to work under Mr. Pitt at the main pumping station, where he has proved himself a good man and gives every satisfaction.

An interesting discussion followed, in which Messrs. Parker, Mitchell, Bryan and others took part.

WINNIEG ITEMS. Mr. C.W. Farrell Badly Hurt—A Clew to the Starbuck Tragedy. Winnipeg, Nov. 22.—One of Winnipeg's oldest and best-known citizens, Mr. S. W. Farrell, was struck and probably fatally injured by a street car this afternoon. He is still alive, but not expected to recover. A clew in the shape of a blood-stained coat has been found relating to the Starbuck tragedy. The police looked upon the coat belongs and an arrest may be expected.

It Prolongs Life. Dr. J. A. S. Brunelle, Professor of Surgery, Laval University Medical Faculty, says of Abbey's Effervecent Salt: "There is no doubt but that the daily use of a preparation of this nature has a decided tendency to prolong life." All druggists sell this standard English preparation at cents a large bottle. Retail size 25 cents.

Lawyer Roche's Arrest. On Saturday warrant was issued, upon the information of J. E. Parritt, against Mr. J. F. Roche, solicitor, 15 Wellington-street west, on a charge of forgery and perjury. Constable Bradley of Milton, where the offence was alleged to have been committed, arrested Mr. Roche in the afternoon. Parritt was sentenced to one month at liberty. He attributes the action of Mr. Parritt to spite and vindictiveness. According to Mr. Roche, Parritt was a trial lawyer and was one of the Crown's witnesses and his evidence was adverse to the prisoner. Parritt was sentenced to three months. He was liberated in June. The case against Mr. Roche comes up at Milton on Wednesday next.

OF High-Level Pumping Station Said to Be Thrust Into Assistant-Ald. Saunders' Position. The following aggressive communication is penned by a high dignitary in the Ontario Association of Stationary Engineers, and should have weight in proportion: Editor World: There is more trouble at the high-level pumping station, and the investigation held, at which the two assistant engineers were charged by him with all kinds of petty and trumped-up charges, while at the same time they were not allowed to speak in their own behalf at all. A few of Mr. Heel's close personal friends, including Ald. Saunders, who has on all occasions put forth every effort to vindicate Mr. Heel, went up to the high level and held a little investigation all by themselves. The result is not known, but if Mr. Heel can work his ward wires all right I have no doubt but the two assistant engineers will be suspended. During the last few years the fallen victims of his petty spite and jealousy. From all I know, it would appear that just so soon as an engineer has been with Mr. Heel a decade of tariff warfare, have surprised his friends and enemies by concluding a commercial treaty which promises to shift the balance of power in Europe. But for the friendship of the United States, which emboldens Great Britain to comparative indifference, regarding continental combinations, the British would be alarmed at this prospect of Italy deserting the Triple Alliance and adding her formidable navy to the Franco-German compact. It is to be the inevitable result of the reunion of the two estranged Latin nations. The critics here deem the treaty to be a sequel to the Franco-German compact, and in Egypt opened her eyes to the necessity of increasing the number of her friends. Therefore, she hastened to initiate negotiations with Italy, and will give her weaker neighbor the benefit of the minimum tariff long and vainly sought by the latter. The Italians estimate that under the new arrangement a million hectolitres of heavy southern wines, which are used in making the lighter French wines, will be exported to France annually, resulting in a great impetus to Italian industry. In return France expects to remove the danger of having to come with the Italian navy in the Mediterranean in the event of a German war, and also to nullify Germany's policy of isolating France. Free trade Britain has no subsidies she can offer to retain Italy's support, but in the present position of the world's politics, she is not so solicitous for it as she would have been a year ago. What Great Britain loses in Italy, The Westminster Gazette declares, she gains in the Philippines.

BOYS WENT GUNNING. Fred McLean Was Fatally Shot by George Mallet's Gun. Ottawa, Oct. 27.—A fatal shooting accident occurred at Gun's Point, just west of the harbor, on Saturday morning, resulting in the death of Fred McLean. It seems that George Mallet, an Italian, was out rabbit shooting. One asked the other to shoot, when their guns struck and Mallet's gun discharged and the charge struck McLean in the left arm. McLean was removed to a farm house owned by Mr. Schmitt and Dr. Coburn was summoned, but could do no good. McLean died a few hours later. An inquest is deemed unnecessary.

THE LONDON STANDARD GIVES A REPORTER A $10,000 BONUS. London, Nov. 27.—London newspaper men of half a century ago would lift their hands and stare in bewilderment if they could hear of the honorarium just granted one of their calling by the proprietors of The London Standard. It was a young man named Maxwell was sent by that paper to report the campaign in the Sudan. Last week he returned, having done excellent work for his employer, but holding strange and sensational in the way of exclusive news. Within the last few days, however, he has been surprised by receiving a present of $10,000 as a token of his employer's satisfaction. This is said to be the most liberal payment ever made to an English war correspondent.

MR. TARTE AFTER MR. BLAIR

Minister of Public Works Would Like Explanations About Those Locomotives Ordered in U. S.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Hon. A. G. Blair and Hon. F. W. Doston were here to-day, leaving this evening for the east. The Minister of Public Works told the world that Major Pinaut, M.L.A. for Matane, Que., would be appointed to-morrow Deputy Minister of Public Works in place of Col. Panet, whose sudden death the other day put an end to the Government's embarrassment, they having long since promised the position to Mr. Pinaut, but Col. Panet would not resign to please them.

The air is also full of rumors concerning a big split between Mr. Tarte and Mr. Blair. It is stated that the Canadian Pacific, being after the Minister of Railways with a big club, the Minister of Public Works has taken sides with the company and in an article in La Presse of Saturday has almost created a sensation in political circles from the fact that no one but Mr. Tarte himself would write such a leader. "Some papers blame Mr. Blair," La Presse says, "for having ordered locomotives and sleeping cars in the United States. We do not know what there is in these charges but let it be well understood that, notwithstanding our sympathies with the Government, we would certainly never approve of the Railway Department ordering work abroad that can be executed in the Dominion. The question is to know if the work which Mr. Blair has alleged to have ordered in the United States could have been done in this country, and no doubt the Minister will give an explanation on this subject. The ability of our own workmen is admitted on all sides, but the point is, are our manufacturers able to fill the large order that Mr. Blair has just given out? If, however, an error, we will be the first to regret and condemn. We, however, refuse to do so before knowing the reasons which prompted Mr. Blair to act as he did."

A Magic Pill—Dyspepsia is a foe with which men are constantly grappling but cannot exterminate. Subdued, and in all appearances annihilated in the stomach, it reappears in another direction. In many cases the digestive apparatus is as delicate as the mechanism of a watch or scientific instrument in which even a breath of air will make a variation. In such a case the only way to cure is to employ the most trivial causes and cause much suffering. To these patients a mild and sure, ad as recommended by a specialist.

Could Come to No Decision. NEVER BECOME CONSCIOUS

Mrs. Taggart Died on Saturday From Her Frightful Injuries.

OPENING OF THE INQUEST

At Which a Constable Gives Evidence of Her Husband's Admission That He Killed His Wife—How the Unconscious Woman Was Found in the Yard, With the Hammer Beside Her—Adjudged Till To-Morrow.

Mrs. Robert Taggart, of 14 Spadina-street, the woman who was so brutally assaulted by her husband in the yard at the rear of 45 Seaton-street early Friday morning, died at the General Hospital at 8.20 a.m. on Saturday.

A Inquest opened. Coroner Powell was notified, and he opened an inquest at the hospital in the afternoon.

Robert Taggart, the prisoner, was brought up from the jail by Inspector Breckenridge and Detective Forrest. Taggart did not display any uneasiness about his position, with the exception of a perceptible twitching of the nerves. He also viewed the body with the jury, and was unmoved.

She Was Never Conscious. Dr. Charles O'Reilly, medical superintendent of the Toronto General Hospital, told the jury of the woman's admission to the hospital about 7 o'clock Friday morning, and her subsequent treatment up to the time of her death at 8.20 a.m. on Saturday. No ante-mortem statement was taken, because the woman was unconscious from the time of her admission to the hospital until her death.

Said He Had Killed His Wife. Police Constable Jenkinson, 47, explained the nature of the prisoner's visit to No. 4 Seaton-street, and said his wife's body was lying in ex-Aid. Foster's yard, at 45 Seaton-street, when he was called to the house by the prisoner's neighbor, Sgt. Archer and P.C. Allen went out, and found Mrs. Taggart lying unconscious in the yard. The prisoner gave as a reason for committing the deed that his wife had an order separation against him.

Hammer Produced. Sergeant Edward Archer said that he had met the prisoner at 8 o'clock on Parliament-street. The constable told witness that a man had killed his wife with a hammer on Spadina-street. Witness and the constable called at 14 Spadina-street, and it was learned there that Mrs. Taggart was over attending to her milk delivery business in the rear of 45 Seaton-street. When she returned to the house near the yard they heard her breathing and discovered the wounded woman. Dr. Greig was called in all haste. The woman was carried into ex-Aid. Foster's house, and the hammer, as shown to the jury, was found to the right of the body. The woman's last words were "I have done it."

Constable William J. Allen corroborated the two previous witnesses. The post-mortem examination was made by Dr. Greig, while the inquest was in progress, and he will make his report at the adjourned enquiry in No. 4 Police Station next Tuesday night.

The Prisoner Gave No Reason. The police have learned that Taggart bought the hammer at Mr. Singer's second-hand store, 161 York-street, on Thursday night last. He claims to have met his wife on Friday morning at the door of her home, 14 Spadina-street, and then went about the house, and to deliver the milk. He says he had no words with his wife, but would give no reason for committing the brutal act.

The dead woman's children are pupils of Dufferin school, and the youngsters, when they got into their good name to enable him to raise the capital required at 3 per cent. Now that the Kibbitts is disposed of, Mr. Rhodes was more disposed to second his efforts.

Mr. Rhodes will be able to assure Mr. Chamberlain that the recently-opened line to Bulawayo is already more than paying its way.

TELEGRAPHIC BRIEFS. Chill will not issue another paper dollar. The Waring fund in New York amounts to $27,109.

TRUST FUNDS TO LOAN

On First Mortgage! LOWEST RATES.

No Commission Charged to Borrowers. No Valuation Fee on Loans of $2000 and over.

THOMSON, HENDERSON & BELL, BOARD OF TRADE BUILDINGS, TORONTO.

MOUNTSTEPHEN IS A BENEFACTOR.

Deeds No Less Than $2,500,000 to Three Trustees to Keep His Relatives in Finishing Stride.

Montreal, Nov. 26.—(Special.)—All Montreal is talking to-day over an innovation in the matter of bequeathing money to relatives and it must be said that the noble Lord's action is commended upon very favorably.

It is announced to-day on the best authority that Lord Mountstephen has handed over to three trustees, James W. Striving of New York; John Turnbull and Robert McNeil of Montreal the sum of $2,500,000 for the benefit of his Lordship's relatives. The following list reside in Montreal:

Mr. Frank Stephen and his four daughters. Mrs. Robert Melghe and her three children. Mr. Frank Melghe. Miss Margaret Smith Melghe. Mrs. J. W. Redford. Mrs. James A. Cantile and her children, Mr. George S. Cantile. Mr. James A. Cantile, Jr. Lieut. W. Northcott Cantile. Mr. Francis P. Cantile. Mrs. Adam.

Mr. William Stephen. Mr. George Stephen and his four sisters, being the children of the late James Stephen. Mrs. G. S. Pelton and six children. Mr. J. O. Gouffon and five children. Mrs. Stephen, besides other relatives in England.

Lordship's desire, which is generally commended in Montreal, is apparently to give his relatives that assistance which is often required by worthy heirs before a testator's death.

BIG FORTUNE NOT TOUCHED. The $2,500,000 Was Made by Stock Speculation in London.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—It now transpires that in his handsome gift to relatives, Lord Mountstephen did not touch his splendid fortune, which the Peer's acquaintances here place all the way down to $5,000,000.

They state that Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal and Lord Mountstephen have been very heavy speculators to between five and six millions. This, therefore, is how these relatives of Lord Mountstephen have come out from their fortune dead with profits amounting to between five and six millions. The world also learns that the three trustees appointed to see who shall get their share in a lump sum and who shall enjoy the interest only. His Lordship taking it for granted that some of his relatives might be less prudent than others.

BRITISH POLITICS. Sir Henry Fowler's Speech Was the Feature of the Week—Home Rule Thrown Over.

New York, Nov. 27.—The London correspondent of The Times says: "In domestic politics the event of the week has been the speech of Sir Henry Fowler, who is now entailing a second audience of the admirers of an excellent record as an able administrator in the last Cabinet, is regarded by the country generally as a peculiarly typical Liberal. He virtually threw over Home Rule in the name of his party by the cautious remark that the Liberals would not embark upon any fresh legislation for Ireland until ample time had been given to see the result of the recent extension of local government. The Tory press has endeavored to minimize this by the assertion that the Liberal party has no leader and no program. The rank and file are at a loss and severe. This state of things will endure until Lord Rosebery considers that the moment has come for him to reënter the arena. This, however, is not yet ripe even to discuss this, but that Lord Rosebery will again lead the party, if he lives, is as certain as fate."

The Carlyle Rectals. The remarkably gifted reader and actor, Ed. Newton Carlyle, who is now entertaining a select audience of the admirers of good literature at the Toronto College of Music, Pembroke-street, will give, on Wednesday, at 8.30, at the third of the course, Bulwer's "The Lady of Lyons." Meinotte was one of Carlyle's professional successes, and as he has the power of vividly portraying character, his passing scenes of the drama are all made plain and lifelike. His Dumas, Madame Deschamps, Elmer, Beaumarchais, the passing scenes of the drama are all made plain and lifelike. His Dumas, Madame Deschamps, Elmer, Beaumarchais, the passing scenes of the drama are all made plain and lifelike. PRICE OF COAL AT ROSSLAND

Gigantic Gold Quartz Industry at Treadwell.

About 850 Head of Stamps Dropping—Millions of Tons of Ore in Sight—Pit Reported in White Bear Buildings—Rapid Mining in a South African Mine—Mining Exchange Quotations.

The dimensions of the quartz gold mining industry in the Treadwell District of Alaska have become something stupendous. The Treadwell and allied companies now have 850 stamps set up, 540 on the Treadwell, 120 on the Mexican, 100 on the Union, and 120 on the Ready Bullion, and the engineers will be able to crush 2500 tons of ore a day. The Treadwell now has eight million tons of ore in sight, and the Ready Bullion promises to equal that property in production. The deposits are from 30 to 100 feet wide, and though the value of the ore is only about $1.75 to $3 a ton, the vast quantities in which it is found make it mineable at a profit.

The Alberta Railway and Coal Company of Lethbridge, N.W.T., is laying down coal at Rossland at $6.75 per ton on the track, or $7.75 in the cellar. The promoters of this company are J. L. Parker, Joseph B. Dabney and Charles Dundee, and it remains to be seen to what extent this concern will compete with the Crow's Nest Coal Company. This Lethbridge Company's coal is said to be a favorite store coal in Winnipeg, and is used largely in the West. Most of it is also used on the Canadian Pacific locomotives. The company is mining 700 tons a day at present.

Fire last week destroyed the cook and trunk house at the White Bear Mine, entailing a loss of $500.

Word of the fastest sinking yet heard of comes from South Africa, where it is said a shaft has been sunk 220 feet in 21 days. This is an average of about eight and a half feet per day, and is pretty fast work when it is considered that the best American records are something like 100 feet per month. The mine in which this rapid mining was accomplished was the Nibel Deep, in the Helburg District of the South African Republic.

VITAL QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Information That May Prevent Years of Suffering.

A Simple, Speedy and Effective Way of Curing Anemia—Thousands of Young Girls Are Dying With This Disease—Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Cure It.

What is Anemia?
Poorness of the blood.
What makes the blood poor?
Imperfect digestion of the food we eat.
What causes imperfect digestion?
Weakness or disease of the stomach, or a lack of gastric juice.

What makes the blood rich?
An abundance of wholesome food, thoroughly digested.
If the stomach is weak, or diseased, can the blood be rich?
No. Because a weak or diseased stomach cannot digest the food.
When the stomach is weak, or diseased how can we make the blood rich?

By taking one or two of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets after every meal.

How do Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets make the blood rich?
They digest the food thoroughly, strengthen the stomach, and stimulate the gastric glands to provide a full supply of gastric juice. The perfectly-digested food furnishes rich, life-giving blood.

Every person who suffers from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, or any other stomach trouble should use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Certainly. No person can get rid of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, or any other disorder of the stomach unless Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets be used.

Do they always cure these complaints?
They do—always. During all the years they have been used by the people of this country, they have never yet failed, in any case.

How can they be got?
All druggists sell Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, at 50 cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or they will be sent, on receipt of price, by The Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

WHEAT THEFT?

Man Wanted Near Guelph Found in the Erie County Jail.

GAME BACK WILLINGLY,

Without Waiting for Extradition, When He Found That He Would Be Locked Up—High Constable Merewether Says He is a Man of Many Aliases, and There is a Strong Case.

Buffalo, Nov. 27.—After robbing a farmer of about $100 worth of wheat, John Kelley, 22 years old, went to Cheektowaga and stole an overcoat. He was arrested for the theft of the coat, held for the grand jury and locked up in Erie County Jail.

Kelley has enough aliases to make a string of names long enough to encircle the globe. He started out with Hasso, take in the Joneses, Smiths and Johnsons, and revert back to Kelley.

Two months ago he visited a granary on a farm near the city of Guelph, Ont., and, loading a wagon with wheat, hauled the grain away and sold it for something like $50. Then he came to this country and finally appeared in Cheektowaga. His previous success in getting away with the wheat doubtless prompted him to steal the overcoat, which got him into trouble.

He was arrested the next day with the coat in his possession. He was wearing it. At that time his theft of the Canadian wheat was not known in Cheektowaga, and for some time after Kelley was committed to the jail in this city it was not known that he was wanted elsewhere.

REJECTS LOVER AT THE ALTAR.

How a Double-Wedding Program Was Spoiled by One of the Brides.

Carlyle, Ill., Nov. 27.—Cupid played some peculiar pranks yesterday afternoon near O'Fallon, west of this city. Fred and Herman Boettcher, brothers, had been paying attention to Miss Lulu and Sarah Stone. A double wedding was arranged. Both young men had fitted up comfortable houses for their wives-to-be. Many guests were assembled to witness the weddings and a sumptuous dinner was ready in another room. The Rev. Mr. Sweeney, pastor of the Methodist church, Trenton, was to officiate at the nuptial knots. The minister had taken his position to officiate, the wedding march was being played, and the bridegroom had entered the room, when Miss Lulu Stone created a sensation by announcing her intention of remaining single. All efforts to persuade her to proceed with the ceremony were of no avail. She simply did not want to get married, and that settled it. Herman and Sarah were married, just the same.

What an Old Engineer Says.

Editor World: As an old railway engineer, which position I gave up some time ago, I frequently come in contact with some of my old acquaintances. We then talk over railway news, past and present, and as the World is taken by many of the railway men, and certain questions are frequently asked me, I thought a short paragraph in The Daily World would be of interest to those who ask for information. A locomotive engineer would like all the engine to himself; he gets posted in the details about the engine and the railway company cannot very well do this. Heavy increase of traffic and too many light engines—the companies are unable to utilize the heaviest locomotives and use two drivers for one engine—as one staff of train hands will do for a train of 40 cars—every engine, hauling only 100 feet of the same number of hands. Drivers do not put that confidence in each other they ought to; they complain of too many men doing the same engine and a break occurs through the lack of oil or some other cause. Now who would you blame in this case? The engineer in charge, by all means. His duty is to see that everything is in proper working order before he starts on his journey. The driver who hands his engine over to another must report any defects to the foreman in charge. A recording book is kept for that purpose. Rebuilding the old rolling stock is a great expense.

Mr. Hutchison Makes a Change.

Ottawa, Nov. 26.—Mr. W. H. Hutchison, M.P., has resigned his position as managing director of the McKay Milling Company, but still retains his stock in the company. His position will not be filled. Mr. Scott, the president, will undertake the managing director's duties in addition to his own.

In His 72nd Year.

Mr. John W. Chapman, farmer, Highland Creek, died yesterday morning, after a lingering illness. Deceased, who was 72 years old, was widely known and highly respected. He was born in Etobicoke and had resided at Highland Creek nearly 40 years. He leaves a widow, four sons and two daughters.

For Sick Children.

At the next meeting of the Public Health Board, Chairman R. W. Burns will move for a suspension of the rules in order to have a resolution passed appointing a day on which the annual collection in aid of the Sick Children's Hospital can be taken. Last year's collections amounted to $1200.

Vital Questions Answered.

By taking one or two of Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets after every meal.

How do Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets make the blood rich?
They digest the food thoroughly, strengthen the stomach, and stimulate the gastric glands to provide a full supply of gastric juice. The perfectly-digested food furnishes rich, life-giving blood.

Every person who suffers from Dyspepsia, Indigestion, or any other stomach trouble should use Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Certainly. No person can get rid of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, or any other disorder of the stomach unless Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets be used.

Do they always cure these complaints?
They do—always. During all the years they have been used by the people of this country, they have never yet failed, in any case.

How can they be got?
All druggists sell Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets, at 50 cents a box, six boxes $2.50, or they will be sent, on receipt of price, by The Dodd's Medicine Co., Limited, Toronto.

"Take it back"

—go to some grocer who will give you Pearlina. That's the only way to do when they send you an imitation. The popularity of Pearlina begets the habit of calling anything that's washing-powder, "Pearlina." Those who notice the difference in name, think perhaps "it's about the same thing." It isn't. Nothing else equals Pearlina, the original and standard washing compound.

OLD LADY MURDERED.

St. Louis, Nov. 26.—Aged Mrs. Wynn, the richest resident of Brooklyn, Ill., and owner of half of the town which lies across the river from here, was murdered Friday night or early Saturday morning by robbers, who cut her throat and left her dead in the front yard, after ransacking the house. Mrs. Wynn, who has frequently been the victim of burglars, lived entirely alone. The murderer or murderers left no clue. It is not known how much money she obtained, but the amount must have been considerable.

LONG-DISTANCE TRANSMISSION.

Prof. Forbes Had a Great Scheme, But Could Get No Money Put Up.

London, Nov. 27.—Long-distance transmission of electric power was the subject of a lecture this week by Prof. George Forbes, which attracted a large attendance of scientists. The lecture was based on the principle of power generated by a waterfall, which attracted a large attendance of scientists. The professor submitted plans for transmitting power over copper wires 250 miles, and the miners were prepared to pay from $500 to $1000 per annum for the use of the power. The professor created considerable enthusiasm in the city who would advance the necessary hundreds of thousands of pounds at a 4 per cent. on three or four thousand tons of copper buried in the heart of Asia or Africa. There was profound silence, then laughter, and the hall was empty.

PENNSYLVANIA'S GOBBLE.

The Deal to Get Hold of the Chicago & Alton Soon to Be Closed.

Montreal, Nov. 27.—(Special.)—It is stated here that the deal by which the Chicago & Alton Railway will pass under the control of the Pennsylvania will soon be consummated. There is preferred stock to the amount of $3,500,000; common stock for $18,750,000, while the bonds amount to $8,000,000, being due in 1927. It is said that Mr. J. Wesley Atkinson, who probably represents the Pennsylvania Railway, and who left here to-night for New York, has offered $185 per share for the preferred and $175 for the common stock.

Big Crowd at St. Paul's Church.

St. Paul's Church was crowded last night to the doors, when Rev. Father Teofy of St. Michael's Church, who probably represents the Pennsylvania Railway, and who left here to-night for New York, has offered $185 per share for the preferred and $175 for the common stock.

Musical Vespers at St. Peter's.

Musical vespers were held last night at St. Peter's Roman Catholic Church, and the services were very beautiful. The sermon was delivered by Rev. Father Ryan of St. John's Church, and was listened to with great interest by the large number present.

Costs More to Travel Now.

The Union Station presented a rather busy appearance last night, with hurrying people coming from trains and others going out. The holiday tickets expire to-day, and the majority of people who took advantage of the cheap prices have returned to their homes. Yesterday was the last day for issuing tickets at the cut-rate price, and the new rates go into effect this morning.

HEART PAINS. The Heart and Nerves are Often Affected and Cause Prostration of the Entire System.

A Kingston Lady Testifies to Her Experience in the Use of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills.

People who suffer from any disease or disorder of the heart nervous system, such as Palpitation, Skip Beats, Smothering or Sinking Sensations, Sleeplessness, Weakness, Pain in the Head, etc., can not afford to waste time trying various remedies, which have nothing more to back up their claims than the bold assertions of their proprietors.

These diseases are too serious to permit of your experimenting with untried remedies. When you buy Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, you know you have behind them the testimony of thousands of Canadians who have been cured by their use.

Order it from your druggist or your liquor dealer. McLaughlin's is the best flavored and purest, and Insist on It.
