

BOLSHEVISM DEAD AMONG THE GERMANS

Independent Socialists Condemn Lenin and All His Works.

HARDEN FIRST TO DECRY REDS

Defeat by Poles Turned German Agitators Against the Red Hordes.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger. By VIGGO TOEPFER.

Berlin, Oct. 12.—Bolshevism is dead as far as Germany is concerned, according to the independent socialists here. It was the first to condemn it and now even the most aggressive of the German extremist socialists are turning it down after another. In the "Freiheit" the Moscow delegate Emil Lampe strongly condemns the idea of joining the Third International, and the party conference of the independent socialists at Magdeburg a resolution was adopted by an overwhelming majority condemning Lenin and all his works. At another conference and mass meeting at Leipzig, at which Otto Gumbel and Depping made speeches, it was strongly pointed out that the Bolshevism would mean political suicide.

In his usual sharp and convincing way, Gumbel, however, shows how different things would have been had the red armies succeeded in defeating the Poles, for then the same parties would have thrown themselves into the arms of Lenin and Trotsky.

Referring to the Third International conference at Moscow, Harden points out that it was given to a Polish Bolshevik, Mazowiecki-Karski, to say that which was the cause of the entire cause and which carried a message not only to the socialist delegates with in the conference hall, but to all Europe.

Considering the triumph of the reds in the Polish revolution, Marchlewski-Karski said: "We shall see the moment when the red armies annihilate forever the Polish Salachia (Agrarians) and which carried a message of warning and the triumph of world revolution is inevitable. Harden shows how the Bolsheviks looked forward to three main links in the chain of revolution—the military defeat of the Polish armies, revolution in Poland, and revolution in Western Europe and America.

GERMANS READY TO JOIN

This, Harden concludes, can only mean that as no mention was made of Germany whatever, all arrangements had already been made by the German extremists to join with their Russian brethren in the recent Polish revolution. Since then, he says, every effort has been made to efface the traces of the secret understanding between the two countries, but enough remains to enable the writers of history to show the fate from which the victory of Poland saved the civilized world.

"Vorwärts," the chief organ of the moderate majority socialists, sharply condemns the government for its lack of firmness and its evident fear of taking drastic measures against the leaders of the new military league, "The Society of Soldiers Preserving German National Feeling," who should all be indicted and tried for high treason.

HARBER LOVE OF ROYALTY

"Altogether," the paper says, "our supposedly republican authorities appear to harbor a strange love of Royalty. When recently the Ex-crown Princess Cecilie, who has been permitted to remain in Germany, wanted to travel, a royal train was placed at her disposal, free of charge and the railroad authorities at Munster order of all existing to be decorated and the royal train to be carried over the rails with all the ceremony so familiar from the heydays of the Hohenzollern dynasty.

ARE CURIOUS OVER CREEL'S MEXICAN VISIT

ARE CURIOUS OVER CREEL'S MEXICAN VISIT

Is Supposed to Have Some Connection With Activities of Pesquera.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger. F. W. WILE.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Officials in Washington today expressed great curiosity over the mysterious visit of George Creel, formerly head of the committee on public information, to Mexico, where he is reported to be.

Creel, obtained a passport Oct. 1st to visit Mexico "for business and pleasure." State Department officials who learned today that he was on his way to Mexico City and heard the report that he was traveling under an assumed name, denied any knowledge of his visit or the purpose of it. Similarly it was said at the White House that the purpose of his visit was not known. Shortly before obtaining his passport Mr. Creel dined at the White House with the President and Mrs. Wilson.

Officials connected the trip of Mr. Creel with the efforts of Roberto V. Pesquera, financial agent of the Mexican Government in New York, to secure recognition for the Mexican regime for which he conferred recently with Under-Secretary of State Davis. This conference was immediately followed by a formal statement by the Mexican embassy that Pesquera's Ignacia Calderon was the only authorized spokesman of the Mexican Government in this country and later by the recall of Ignacia Calderon from Washington.

Pesquera was accompanied to Washington by Robert Hammond Murray, for many years correspondent for American newspapers in Mexico City, who acted as adviser to the Mexican financial agent. Murray is head of the Mexican bureau of the committee of public information and was appointed by Creel. Murray later became associated with General Pablo Gonzalez at the time of the revolution which brought about the overthrow of President Carranza and during the time that General Gonzalez was a candidate for the presidency against General Obregon.

American officials who are watching the Mexican situation carefully have learned that Creel and Murray have been closely associated recently and are of the opinion that Creel has been sent on a special mission for the purpose of developing a Canadian navy," said Captain Hose, R. C. N. acting director of the naval service. He has just returned from England where he went to take over the reins from the admiralty and to inspect them. At present the vessels are undergoing necessary refitting and the actual date of their sailing for Canada is uncertain.

Commander Hose Says Vessels Are of Splendid Type and Good Condition.

Ottawa, Oct. 12.—"I am much pleased with the vessels which the British government has given to Canada and consider that they should prove a very efficient nucleus for a Canadian navy," said Captain Hose, R. C. N. acting director of the naval service. He has just returned from England where he went to take over the reins from the admiralty and to inspect them. At present the vessels are undergoing necessary refitting and the actual date of their sailing for Canada is uncertain.

SINN FEINERS MAKE DEADLY ATTACK ON MILITARY LORRY

One Hundred and Fifty Men With Rifles and Machine Guns in the Party.

Cork, Oct. 12.—An attack on a military lorry, in the Malloy district of Cork, yesterday morning, resulted in the death of the driver and the wounding of three soldiers. It developed in another fight between soldiers, hurried to the scene, and the attacking party, which according to a military headquarters report, numbered 150 men. It is said they were armed with machine guns, rifles and bombs.

to do. The time has passed forever, when she has any right to a guard of honor.

As a contrast to the princely traveling in comfort and luxury, the paper points out that so scarce is rolling stock in Germany, that on many trains almost all passengers are forced to travel on the roofs of the cars as are carried inside the overcrowded compartments. The conductors have to be scrupulous to inspect the tickets and with typical German punctiliousness drilled into them during the Hohenzollern regime they are said to insist that all passengers seated on the roofs of first class carriages must have first class tickets. Holders of third or fourth class tickets, when must keep to the cars of their respective classes.

ITALIANS AND JUGO-SLAVS TO TALK IT OVER

United States Satisfied With Any Agreement They May Reach.

ITALY WILL HAVE FRENCH SUPPORT

Expected Compromise Will be Reached Acceptable to Both Nations at Conference Soon.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger. F. W. WILE.

Washington, Oct. 12.—The Jugo-Slav and Italian governments have been informed that any settlement which they may arrive at directly in respect of the Adriatic question will be acceptable to the United States. This is taken to mean President Wilson will not interfere in the negotiations to be undertaken in the near future between the two governments and that the United States has no further suggestion to make looking towards a settlement, either in the way of rejection or amendment of the proposition it already has submitted.

There is reason to believe that Italy will enter into the negotiations with direct support, which she lacked when previous direct efforts at a compromise were broken off by the change of premiers in Italy. The recent conference between Premier Giolitti and Gen. Premier, now President Miland, are known to have covered the Adriatic situation and the successful issue of the conference inspired reports that France and Italy had come to an agreement in regard to that problem.

Will Make Concessions.

At the same time, Italy is said to be willing to make liberal concessions to Jugo-Slavia, although no definition of these is available, but according to well-informed sources here they do not contemplate the relinquishment of Fiume to Jugo-Slavia, but more probably will contemplate the creation of a border state, as proposed by President Wilson, although with boundaries that would exclude a preponderance of Jugo-Slav population and influence in the state.

Italy is willing, it is intimated, to turn over to Jugo-Slavia certain islands in the northern Adriatic which were a double-header freight special of the Conference, but is unwilling to abandon Montenegro to whom Italy occupies the position of nearest friend.

Jugo-Slav demands, which are also indicated that Italy will insist upon a ban on Albanian territory and resist Jugo-Slav efforts to annex considerable portions of Albanian territory. Italy is also reported to have been in communication with the Albanian government, which is considered strategically inalienable. It is not known to what extent Jugo-Slavia is agreed to compromise, but diplomatic circles are optimistic, believing the fact that the conference will be held predicated a desire to effect a settlement on the basis of mutual accommodation.

Her contribution would reach $3.45.

NO FEAR NOW OF INDIGESTION

A Host of People Seem to Thrive on What Used to Provoke Indigestion Before They Learned of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

When the stomach becomes sour, with gasiness and heartburn, indigestion or dyspepsia relief may be had by one or two Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Simply chew them, no hot water nor any other illers for a stomach, perhaps, already too much overworked.

These tablets supply to the stomach the alkaline effect which that relieves the sour acid condition. They also contain pancreatin to help digest the starchy foods such as potatoes, rice, oatmeal, white flour, etc.

Get a 50 cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have them on hand at all times and thus have no fear of indigestion or dyspepsia.

The fact that these tablets are on sale everywhere in the U. S. and Canada shows how generally recognized they are as an efficient aid when the dyspeptic stomach needs a little help.

Outbreak is Said to Indicate General Unrest in Red Territories.

Washington, Oct. 12.—Mutinuous attacks of the Bolshevik warships in the Baltic have depose Admiral Rasklinikov, commander of the fleet, according to reports along the Baltic received today by the United States state department. Apparently the outbreak occurred simultaneously in the fleet and on shore, but the revolt on land was put down by armed forces.

Disorders reaching the proportions of revolts also were reported to have occurred at Saratov, Tombof, Wisnna and Smolensk.

Admiral Gleaves said these outbreaks were regarded there as symptoms of the general unrest in all districts under Soviet control.

EVIDENCE OF PROFITEERING IN HARD COAL

Results of Investigation Will be Laid Before Grand Jury Next Monday.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger. Washington, Oct. 12.—A Mitchell Palmer, attorney general announced today that the results of an investigation by the department of justice into profiteering in the anthracite coal fields will be laid before a grand jury on October 18. His statement said that indications tend to show that there have been "numerous violations of the Lever law in the anthracite fields. The place at which the grand jury will meet was not announced, but it was suggested it might be in western Pennsylvania where the anthracite coal fields are located. The statement of the attorney general indicating that numerous violations of the Lever act had been found was taken to refer to alleged profiteering in the anthracite coal region. Reports reached the department of

CLEVELAND TAKES DECIDING GAME IN WORLD SERIES

Brooklyn's inability to hit Cleveland's star pitcher cost them the game—Largest Attendance of the Series at Yesterday's Contest.

Cleveland, Ohio, Oct. 12.—The Cleveland American League Club won the supreme baseball title here this afternoon when the Indians defeated the Brooklyn Nationals in the seventh and deciding game of the 1920 world's series by a score of 3 to 0. Tonight Cleveland is celebrating in a manner fit to begeth the honor.

Spitball Pitcher
The shut-out victory was chiefly engineered by Stanley Coveleski, the spitball pitcher of the host team, who has proved his remarkable skill and endurance during the series. Backed by a brilliant defense on the part of his team-mates at the critical moments of the game, the spitballer pawed easily let the Robins down with five hits. But two Brooklyn players reached second base during the nine innings at bat, and but two of the invaders were left on the bases at all.

Coveleski's feat in winning three of the five games necessary to clinch the championship for Cleveland will go down as one of the outstanding features of world's series history. The spitballer's accuracy and control were two of the most noted slants of "Covey" in the twenty-seven innings in which he pitched on the mound. He let the Robins down with one run in the first game at Brooklyn on Oct. 5, allowed them a second tally on Saturday and shut them out today. Great credit must be the credit accorded Covey for his remarkable feat, the general offensive and defensive work of the other members of the Cleveland Club cannot be blamed for the individual glory of their star bowler.

In shutting out the National League in the final clash this afternoon, the Indians, led by Manager Tris Speaker, rose to playing heights which bore out the complete confidence of the club backers and fans.

Great Demonstration
Today the demonstration which marked the final put-out of Myers and clinched the championship for the Indians surpassed any similar scene in several seasons. Thousands of men, boys and women poured out of the bleachers and stands and simply glorified the victorious players, like human avalanches. It was a continuous battle for the members of the team in their march toward the dugout, scores of fans endeavoring to shake their hands, or pat them on the back.

Tris Speaker, sensing the coming curbs of enthusiasm, made a dash from center-field toward the grandstand where his mother and other relatives occupied a lower tier box. His progress was slow, but once he reached the rail he was clanked over the front and into his mother's arms like a small school boy. The scene was so unusual that for a moment there was a complete cessation of the cheering which, however, broke out with vigor when Mrs. Speaker hugged, patted and kissed her grey-haired son and the latter responded in a manner which indicated that he regarded his mother's approval far above any other rewards that might come to him as a result of the victory of his team.

A Public Reception
That the officers of Cleveland propose to properly honor the occasion was shown by a conference which took place between Mayor W. S. Fitzgerald and leading business men of the city almost before the final cheers had died away.

It was tentatively decided to hold a public reception and welcome for the players of the team in the public square of the city within the next day or two.

If that takes the preliminary trend shown in regarding the stars of the series to date, it is quite likely that every member of the Cleveland club will have automobiles, watches, medals and other souvenirs of their conquest sufficient to fill several storehouses before the fans permit them to retire to a well-earned season of inactivity.

The Closing Act
The closing act of the baseball drama, was staged under ideal weather conditions. A sun of mid-summer strength shone down on the fans from a cloudless sky with an intensity which made it almost imperative to remove coats and vests even in the shaded sections of the grandstands. It was announced tonight by the National Commission that the paid attendance had been 27,335, and the gate receipts, $83,900. It was the largest attendance and receipts of any of the seven games.

That those who witnessed the closing contest saw a game of unusual standard is shown by the box score.

Pitching Records
An analysis of the pitching records in the final world's series game indicates that the superior control of Coveleski was responsible for his victory today just as it was in the previous two games he won. The Cleveland hurler kept putting down over the plate and the Brooklyn batters were forced to hit his first offerings.

Coveleski pitched only ninety times in the seven games, while Grimes and Marmax, the Brooklyn hurlers, were forced to throw 133 times. Only 21 of Coveleski's efforts were wild pitches, 25 were strikes, 5 four-strikes, and 3 fouls. He retired 12 men on strikes and 16 were out on easy grounders.

Five hits were made by Brooklyn. Coveleski pitched only four times in the fourth inning.

The two Brooklyn pitchers sent

TRANS-CANADA FLIGHTS COMMON IN FIVE YEARS
Present Trip, Says Col. Leckie, Only Serves to Pick Out Pathway.

Winnipeg, Oct. 12.—Disappointing in many ways, the first attempt at a coast-to-coast flight was yet of great use in developing commercial aviation for the Dominion, according to Colonel Robert Leckie, pilot of the airplane which made a forced landing on the Red River at Selkirk, here. In spite of delay and hardships, it was definitely established that the coast-to-coast flight was possible, Colonel Leckie said yesterday.

"I confidently expect that crossing Canada by airplane will be a very common occurrence in five years," he declared. The great value of the present flight was to map out a route for sea plane from Halifax to Port Arthur. This was accomplished satisfactorily, the aviator said.

"The crossing of Canada by the air in one plane will never become an established fact," Colonel Leckie continued. "From Halifax to Port Arthur a seaplane must be used, while from there to the Rockies an aeroplane is the best machine. One of the difficulties of the trip was for pilot and food. We came through the trip feeling fairly fit, although we had to subsist solely on sandwiches while in the air."

THE FRENCH CANADIAN HORSE
The French Canadian Horse, which is comparatively little known outside the province of Quebec, is claimed to be one of the most durable and other-wise useful horses to be found anywhere in Canada. In bulletin 85 of the Experimental Farms, the author, Mr. Gus Langlois, points out that this breed is descended from the old river. Thus it met Big Tim Sullivan from France to be produced in their native land. They remained for three years the property of the king, and were then distributed among the farmers of Canada, in order to encourage the development of agriculture.

Some few years ago the pedigree records of the French Canadian Horse maintained by the Quebec Government were transferred to the National Live Stock Records. Other steps have been taken to maintain the breed as pure as possible. One of the latest methods as pointed out in the bulletin which can be obtained from the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, has been the establishment of a horse breeding farm at St. Joseph, situated some twenty-five miles east of Quebec City. This farm which is operated under the Experimental Farms system has some thirty well selected brood mares. These, together with fifteen of similar quality, kept on the Experimental Station at Cap Rouge, Que., form a collection from which it is hoped to produce a superior new foundation stock for the breed.

Different Types of Racing Schooner Captain Drowned

Tom O'Rourke and Tex Rickard Talk Long on the Boxing Game. Captain Calvin Lohnes Lost Life in Halifax Harbor Yesterday Afternoon.

Halifax, Oct. 12.—Captain Calvin Lohnes, master of the La Have fishing schooner Ruby Pentz, was drowned this afternoon as his ship was sailing out of Halifax harbor for her home port, after having competed in the ocean schooner race off Halifax yesterday. Captain Lohnes was twenty-three years of age, the youngest skipper of the Lunenburg county fishing fleet.

"Name one of the 'boss' gates of your experience," I asked. "I saw Jeffries get the decision after 25 rounds. It was the first boxing contest at which moving pictures were taken and the pictures indicated that Sharkey was the winner. But the main thing was that our efforts finally popularized boxing and no longer was it necessary to sit off in the night to some out-of-the-way place for a contest."

"Tex Rickard began his career as a fight promoter at Goldfields, Nevada. We took in $68,000 at the match between the Corey Island Athletic Club between Tom Sharkey and Jim Jeffries," said the veteran.

ST. JOHN, N. B., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1920.

HOME AGAIN.

On Monday, H. R. H. the Prince of Wales returned to his native land from his Overseas Dominion tour, after an absence of several months, during which he has probably done more to cement the ties that bind the hearts of the people of these Overseas Dominions to the Motherland than years of statesmanship could possibly have done. Apart from the fact that he is the Heir to the Throne, his own personality has had much to do with the success of his tour. He had no need to use any of the arts and wiles which some ambassadors might have found necessary; he had only to be himself. He is young, and that goes a long way. He is a bright boy, bubbling over with high spirits, which appealed to the Australians, who love the manly model in the broad sunshine of that glorious country. He was the future King; and he had an eager eye and ear for the vital knowledge of the conditions which disclosed themselves as he went in and out among the people. The Prince was acclaimed at every turn. The people gave him their love in the first propitious moment he appeared among them.

The visit to Australia has deeper purposes than appears on the surface. It was high statesmanship to send the Prince to the outer marches of the Empire. The war made a tragic disruption of the monarchical principle. While the great thrones in Europe toppled, that of Britain remained deep seated in the people's love; but it was not the favorable regard should be deepened by the personal visit of the High representative of that monarchy which had weathered the storms of war and revolution. By his engaging personality, his ingenuousness, his genial nature which guaranteed a happy outlook on life, by his consideration for every class in the community, his free mingling with the people, his perfect candor and naturalness, buttressed by youth, he commended the monarchy to a loyal and devoted people. It need not be doubted that the visit of the Prince to India, which is to take place at a later date, will have equally desirable and binding effects, for that great Dependency, while it loves color, first of all, loves also the human touch, to which many of their native rulers are inaccessible.

The simple joyousness of one bright and young and happy lad, has brought a great continent to the foot of the British Throne, in love and loyalty and longings.

THE SUGAR SITUATION.

The Dominion Government is faced with a proposition with regard to the sale of sugar that will need very careful handling to give satisfaction all around. For some months past sugar has been at a price which has inflicted considerable hardship upon many classes of the community, who have had very serious doubts whether such high price was in any way justified. Now it seems that sugar can be purchased from the United States at a much cheaper rate than it can be bought in Canada, and the refiners of this country are opposed to its importation on the ground that they have large stocks on hand, bought at high prices, that would have to be sold at heavy loss, if sold in competition with sugar brought in at present prices.

How far the sugar consumers of this country will tolerate Government regulations that will prohibit the importation of the cheaper sugar from across the border remains to be seen. Yesterday 12 1/2 cents of granulated were offered to Toronto at 16 cents per pound, or at four cents under the Canadian price of the moment. It is claimed that if the market was thrown open, with all embargo restrictions off, sugar in Canada would fall that amount per pound everywhere. A wholesale grocer of Toronto is predicting 11-cent sugar within a year. He says it will be at a loss to the refiners of $2,500,000. While the consumer has no particular desire to see the refiners lose so heavily, there is nevertheless a pretty general feeling abroad that, even after losing that amount, they would still be well on the right side, as a result of the extremely high prices they have been getting for so long; and the feeling is also very strong that it is high time the consumers got some little relief. In fairness to the refiners it should be mentioned that when sugar was skyrocketing in the United States, the Board of Commerce held down prices in Canada for a long period, far under the profiteering United States levels. But users of Canadian sugar are now justly demanding that the Canadian refiners bring down their prices, at least to the import cost of the United States sugar, and on the large quantity of raw sugar on hand, this may involve heavy losses. When the price of a single 100 lb. bag is pushed to such absurd heights, by an orgy of over-bidding, gambling, propaganda, and just plain greed, the reaction is bound to catch many persons. At the same time, a sudden fall of the price of sugar to 11 cents here would almost ruin many a hitherto prosperous business. The Government has been asked to retain the embargo against "dumping" American sugar into this country, and now has the matter under consideration. The consumer does not concern himself about dumping or anything of that kind; he wants cheaper sugar, regardless of whose hide is singed in the getting of it. The Government will need to act very cautiously, if it wishes to keep in the good graces of the people.

THE WOMAN VOTER.

Many politicians who were intensely opposed to the granting of the vote to women comforted themselves, when this hard-won reform at last took place, with the thought: "They may have got it, but most of them will never use it, or even if they do, it will only be blindly, under the dictation of their men folk. The intricacies and subtleties of politics will never be penetrated, in our time, by the intelligence, such as it is, of women."

The recent election has shown that while in some cases these predictions have been falsified, they are in the main true. It is generally understood that, in the city at least, quite a large proportion of the votes cast were those of women, but it is doubtful if very many of those voters really understood the ins and outs of the various questions that formed the issues in the contest. In one case which has come under our notice, one woman voter presented herself at the booth and wanted to vote. Asked afterwards by a party supporter who she had voted for, she did not know. Someone, she said, gave her a piece of paper, which he said was a ballot, and told her to put it in the envelope that would be given her. She did this, and that is all she knew about it.

The woman vote is an unsatisfactory quantity; it is something as to which no guide can be obtained. No one can tell with any degree of certainty what will be done with it, and it is liable at any time to upset all calculations. Only a small proportion of women wanted it any way; and it is safe to say that if a plebiscite of the women were to be taken on the question whether woman franchise should continue or not, with the stipulation that all women not voting would be regarded as against it, it would lose by a large majority. Women are altogether out of place on political platforms; but while there can perhaps be but little objection to their addressing gatherings of women, no woman who expects to retain the respect of mankind will permit herself to "go on the stump" and address the ordinary political meeting—even on behalf of the "dear Government."

EXPLAINING CANADIAN DISLIKE.

Why Canadians dislike Americans is discussed in a recent issue of Collier's, the writer having come to this country to learn the facts at first hand. He finds there is a distinct toward Americans in this country, but believes it is not permanent, and he is also of opinion that the Americans are to blame for the irritation. Its basis he locates in the claim that the United States won the war, and the blatant character of American moving pictures shown to the Canadian public. The attacks on Great Britain by Hearst papers are also found to have contributed to the anti-American feeling, and also the depreciation of the Canadian dollar in the American market. The writer states his case with moderation and fairness, and we agree with him that there is no likelihood of the basically friendly relations between the two countries being seriously affected, despite the efforts of the Sinn Fein sympathizers on both sides of the line, aided by Hearst and the pro-German element, to embroil Great Britain and the United States over the Irish question. It should be the duty of leading newspapers and public men in Canada and the United States to stamp out this sinister movement, and in no circumstances to play politics with a question which has in it the elements of fatal discord. We know that the most influential of American papers, with the exception of those controlled by Hearst, regard the preservation of Anglo-American comradeship as the first principle of foreign policy; and save in the heat of a bitter political campaign it would be impossible to discover half a dozen public men of the first rank who would say the slightest word to offend British sentiment. Yet there are exasperating exceptions. Here is a specimen: "Our friend reflects the spirit of

"American youth. For it was the same indomitable spirit that broke the shackles of British tyranny, and laid the foundations of this republic." "It was the spirit that kept this nation together when civil war threatened to rend it asunder, and it was that same unconquerable spirit that but a few months ago, when British armies had failed and French armies were in retreat, went and stemmed the tide at Chateau Thierry, crowned the Ourcq, closed up the St. Mihiel salient, pushed through the impregnable Argonne forest and reached the heights of 'Sedan.'"

We believe readers will be astonished to learn that these remarks were made by Rev. Dr. William A. Scullen, Chancellor of the Cleveland Diocese, and that he had the incredible bad taste to utter them in the course of a funeral oration over the body of Ray Chapman, the ball player who was killed a short time ago by an accident on the playing field. When a high church dignitary can seize upon such a solemn occasion to offer an implied insult to both Britain and France, and to suggest to his hearers that the American spirit is something superior to the British spirit or the French spirit, he is carrying on the work that drove Prussia insane with the ambition of military conquest. Incidentally he made this remark in the presence of a valued member of the Cleveland team who is a Canadian. Canadians will find it much more easy to forgive such exhibitions of ill manners and unworthy spleen if they see them promptly rebuked by Americans who are better qualified than the Chancellor of Cleveland to voice the spirit of the United States.

Some members of the Opposition party happened to be in the city yesterday, for an informal talk over the situation. The Telegraph announced that Mr. C. J. Morrissey, of Newcastle, one of the elected independents, was also in the city, the inference it desired to leave being that Mr. Morrissey was being "dickered" with, in order that Government emissaries might use this among the Farmer labor group. As a matter of fact, Mr. Morrissey was not in the city at all, and is not being "dickered" with by the Opposition; but as Mr. Ventot says that he saw Mr. Morrissey in Newcastle on Monday, the question arises what has he been up to?

The Fredericton Gleaner was wont to refer to Mr. Blasly (Satisfied) Carter. It ought to be Mr. Basily Satisfied Carter now, for a leader of a government who goes to the country and comes back again with fewer supporters than he started out with, and then declares himself as being perfectly content with the result, must indeed be very easily satisfied.

The Foster administration appears to be in a MacSwiney condition.

WHAT OTHERS SAY

Addition to a Ritual. (New York Times.) The ritual of the Grand Army of Republic, which now reads "One country and one flag" was changed to read "One country, one language and one flag" as a result of action taken today at the first business session of the fifty-fourth annual encampment of the war veterans. This addition to the ritual followed numerous speeches in behalf of its adoption as a step toward Americanization.

Attractions of Paris. (Paris Correspondent of N. Y. Times.) When the armistice was signed nearly two years ago and the trenches were deserted, rats which had multiplied and fattened there decided to migrate to Paris. Only the herdsmen finished the journey and the rest of the rats became the ancestors of the most admirable plague of their species the city has ever had. Old men declare that if there had been a quarter as many rats in 1871, Paris would never have surrendered to the famine. At night along the boulevard they swarm so thick that the cabs run over them, and passers-by kick them off the sidewalks.

Every cellar is a nesting place, and visitors no longer go on the roof of Notre Dame, for the rats have made it one of their favorite ballrooms, and when the doors to the roof are opened they come tumbling down on the visitors' heads.

Just Like Kipling. (The Writer.) It is always pleasant to read again the announcement of an Oriental paper with an English section: "The news of English we tell the latest. Write in perfectly style and most correct. In a murder commit, we hear of and tell you. Do a mighty cheer die, we publish it and in borders sombre. Staff has each one been college and write like the Kipling and the Dickens. We circle every town and extortionate not for advertisements."

Forewarned "Why did you break off with that girl?" "Well by the way she and her mother ran the old man, I saw they'd make short work of me." Louisville Courier-Journal.

Home-made Remedy Stops Coughs Quickly

The best cough medicine you ever used. A family remedy, easily and quickly made. Saves about $5.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results beats anything else you ever tried. Use all day. Stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good. Four 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a 16-ounce bottle; then fill it up with plain granulated sugar syrup. Or use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup, if desired. Thus you make 10 ounces—a family supply—but costing no more than a small bottle of ready-made cough syrup. And as a cough medicine, there is really nothing better to be had at any price. It goes right to the spot and gives quick, lasting relief. It promotes the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma. Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, famous for its healing effect on the membranes. To avoid disappointment, ask your druggist for "2 1/2 ounces of Pinex" with directions and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. ADOLESCENCE IS GROWING FAST AMONG GERMANS

Unemployed Will Reach 2,000,000 by Christmas Relief Workers Say.

AIR OF INDUSTRY SADLY LACKING

Children of Central Europe Will Need Assistance from America Another Winter.

(Copyright, 1920, by Public Ledger.)

London, Oct. 12.—Walter Lyman Brown, Herbert Hoover's representative and European director of the American relief administration, returning from the Berlin conference of relief workers from Austria, Poland, Czechoslovakia, Yugoslavia, Germany and Hungary, told your correspondent some interesting impressions that one of the government officials in Germany predicted there would be 3,000,000 to 3,500,000 persons unemployed in this country before Christmas. He also said that Berlin, Frankfurt and Hamburg give the impression of being dead cities and that while conditions, as a whole, in central Europe are better today than a year ago, still in certain countries, notably Austria and Poland, there is no improvement, but even deterioration.

Mr. Brown expressed his regret that certain organizations and groups in the United States were endeavoring to come on relief work in Germany without co-operating with the American relief administration or the Society of Friends, and as a result food parcels reaching only a fraction of the total value of the relief administration's parcels, but costing the same amount, were being sent into Germany.

That which struck me most in Hamburg, Frankfurt and Berlin," Brown said, "was the quiet air. There was comparatively no traffic. Sometimes for blocks on the Wilhelmstrasse, in Berlin, not a vehicle could be seen. Occasionally a horse-drawn dray or taxicab passed. In Hamburg the trucks are lined up like they were before the war."

During his conversations with shipping leaders Mr. Brown learned that German companies were enthusiastic over the agreements with the United States shipping board and were looking forward with great expectation to resumption of trade between the two countries and world markets.

"There was no stir of boom about any city I visited," Mr. Brown added. "With the exception of the Cologne neighborhood, few chimneys were throwing out smoke, and from two or three good sources I learned that there would be at least 2,000,000 unemployed by Christmas. The Germans spoke with, however, were not afraid. They think disaster is ahead, but they are not reaching the point where nothing can be gained, even if Germany goes Bolshevik."

Improvement During the Year. "Comparing conditions in countries in which we carried on relief work last year and this we find the Baltic countries in comparatively good shape. Czechoslovakia and Hungary are nearly self-supporting, while Poland, Austria and Germany are still the principal sore spots. Czechoslovakia will not need any relief, but her requirements were last year.

"As to central Europe, as a whole, I agree with William L. Chaddourer that the general outlook is bright. But isolated countries, such as Poland, would have been in better shape except for the Bolshevik advance. As a consequence of the war, Poland is decidedly worse than last year. Austria is badly hit and Germany has not yet reached the ebb.

"The American relief administration's European children's fund must continue baby feeding in Poland and Austria on the full scale of last year or the result will be unparalleled disaster to the children. A million children in Poland need to be fed and clothed by Hoover's organization which, work on the basis that all food, clothing, freight and warehousing is supplied by local charity or government. The government also is called upon to furnish food from any available native supply. Thus both a spirit of responsibility is built up and a minimum use made of American funds. Germany needs assistance, though the Society of Friends and the American relief administration through the warehouse dollar food draft."

IMPERIALS LIKE CHANCES IN WEST

The Canadian Dominion Board of Canada has received many letters from prospective imperial soldier out there giving an account of their experience while training with famous preparatory to taking up land of their own.

F. H. Woods brought his wife to Canada and secured employment on a farm near Quispesic, N.S. He and his wife were very happy there and have made the best of their people. Mr. Woods seems very satisfied with his new life here. He says: "This is the best chance to get on the land that I have ever had. There are many good things about the West. Their year working on a farm has given them an opportunity not only of gaining the necessary experience but of selecting a farm of their own."

"I ever I go to the U. S. to live," said a member of the Liberty Legion, "I am going to stay on the Democratic party." "Why?" "Well, after you see how the Democratic convention in San Francisco had fairly burst out laughing at the suggestion of electing a Republican."

The Party Picked Out. "I ever I go to the U. S. to live," said a member of the Liberty Legion, "I am going to stay on the Democratic party." "Why?" "Well, after you see how the Democratic convention in San Francisco had fairly burst out laughing at the suggestion of electing a Republican."

MEN AND BUSINESS (By Richard Spillane)

One of the definitions of "atmosphere" is "the surrounding or pervading influence of an open field on a sunny day. Men work well where the atmosphere is right. They do not work where the atmosphere is wrong. "Hop aboard," said a big boss who had invited a newspaper man to visit his plant.

The boss knew everybody and everybody knew the boss. "Let's go into the shop," said the boss. The visitor followed him. The "shop" covers acres. There wasn't a desk or a chair in it that wasn't as high as the open field on a sunny day. Men worked at desks, metal-cutting machines, forges, punches, lathes and various other devices. As the boss went along, he was talking to building "T" was "Tello, Bill" or "Joe" or "Fete" or "Jaka" and there. Some he didn't know by name, but he knew the names of the men who were working at the desks or at the machines. Now and then he remarked that this one or that one had been with the concern 15, 20, 25 or 30 years. The floors were remarkably clean. The roofs were remarkably high. The pond system of ventilation kept the air as pure as it is outdoors almost.

Shop Workers Meet. That afternoon the newspaper man attended a meeting of the shop council of that establishment. A bald-headed old boy in working gear presided. He knows the rules of parliamentary procedure and he uses the gavel with an uncertain vigor when necessary. The representatives from the various departments of the shop had things to say. Some had suggestions to make which they thought would bring about economies or do good for management or men or both. Some had complaints to register. "Get 'em off your chest, boys," was the order of the bald-headed parliamentarian with the gavel.

Those shopmen spoke well. Every one of them got up and said what he had to say in good, logical language. No one could hear them but he impressed.

One of the officers of the company spoke. He reported to the men as to the state of trade and outlined the program of the management. The outlook was not so good as he would like to see it, he explained, but it was hoped that the slowing down of business would not affect the plant appreciably. He said what the business amounted to the previous month, and the class of material that would be made for the next few months as most likely to be required by the company's customers.

The man followed his words with earnest attention. The boss spoke. The newspaper man spoke. The whole affair didn't last long and the men went back to their jobs.

True Democracy Here. There's democracy in that plant. The officers meet the men and talk to them man-fashion. The employees meet the management and talk to them man-fashion. "Have any strikes?" inquired the newspaper man. "No," said the boss. "There's no chance between the office and the shop in that plant. There never will be so long as common sense rules. The boss worked in the plant. So did his father and his grandfather. He grew from a little lad under one roof to a big one under many roofs. There's lots of light and air every-where in it. There's a wholesome atmosphere about shop and office alike. Atmosphere is not wholly of air and sunlight. It's a thing of the heart and the mind, too. Brightness, good ventilation, cheerfulness mean it not only in the shop but in the home, the school, the store, everywhere. And particularly in the home.

Men and women are children growing up. Like to know whose shop it was that won the admiration of the newspaper man? It was the plant for David Lakston's Shoe Co. in the Kensington district of Philadelphia.

Back to the Farm. There are no wise people in Canada than those who are sticking to the farm, and next to them those who have the sense to bear the pain for a while as the man who having strayed away from the farm into the city are now making their way back to the country. In many who have broken up their farm houses and sold the city wards that have been paid for some time past are already regretting the step, and not without reason.—Quebec Telegraph.

"CORNS"

Lift Right Off Without Pain

Doesn't hurt—It's Mild. Deep a Mild "Dremmer" or an itching cure, instantly that corn stops burning, then shortly you'll be free of it with Dremmer. Truly your druggist sells a tiny bottle of "Dremmer" for a few cents, sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, callus, or any other skin trouble, without the slightest pain.

Don't ever go to the U. S. to live," said a member of the Liberty Legion, "I am going to stay on the Democratic party." "Why?" "Well, after you see how the Democratic convention in San Francisco had fairly burst out laughing at the suggestion of electing a Republican."

BOWING TO A NON-EXISTENT ALTAR IN HOUSE

Strange Customs That Prevail in the English House of Commons.

(Copyright, 1920, by the Cross-Atlantic News Service.)

London, Oct. 12.—There never was a place where so many things are done "because they have always been done that way as in England, and particularly in the House of Commons. The French minister of the Interior, who was in the House of Commons during the war, the Paris Gas Companies which in January amounted to 180,000 tons is now 300,000 tons, which was the normal average reserve before the war. The Paris Gas Companies have now a reserve exceeding 800,000 tons, during 1919 their reserve never exceeded 50,000 tons.

Small areas, below the galleries and within the four walls of the chamber, which are not technically. One of these is called the "Special Gallery," though it is not in fact a gallery at all. It is two short rows of seats immediately below the Distinguished Strangers' Gallery. Here you can sit and listen to the debates with the consciousness that you are actually among the members of parliament. Special orders have to be obtained for this, though it is not in fact a gallery at all. It is two short rows of seats immediately below the Distinguished Strangers' Gallery. Here you can sit and listen to the debates with the consciousness that you are actually among the members of parliament.

Not One Known Reason. In point of fact, if they did ask questions they would be as likely as not to receive a wrong answer from their fellow-members. When a member enters the House of Commons during a sitting and goes to his seat he bows and when he leaves his seat during the sitting and goes out, he bows. A stranger takes this as a matter of respect to the Speaker, and probably most of the members are under the same impression. That, however, is not the reason for the custom. It is a survival from the days when the Commons met in St. Stephen's chapel. In the days of their meetings there, it was still a chapel and the altar was actually there. It was natural, therefore, to bow to the altar on entering and leaving as Catholics do on entering and leaving a church. The custom of bowing to the altar on entering and leaving as Catholics do on entering and leaving a church. The custom of bowing to the altar on entering and leaving as Catholics do on entering and leaving a church.

Another picturesque survival from the past is occasionally recalled when a member is speaking from a front bench on the floor to the house before the gangway. There is a line running along the floor in front of the bench, and if the member in question steps beyond this line, he is interrupted by a cry of "Order" from all those who pride themselves on their attachment to tradition. Probably the member thus suddenly pulled up looks round in bewilderment. Those near him call his attention to the nature of his transgression. He steps back and is then permitted to resume the tenor of his remarks. The origin of that line on the floor on either side of the house is curious, and goes back to early Stuart times. Members then wore swords and when sharp words passed, the swords were sometimes drawn. Eventually it became necessary to take steps to preserve the dignity of the chamber and a committee thought out the plan that was adopted. They raised the two front benches and set them in position on the floor of the house, each with the right arm extended and a sword held out horizontally. They raised the two front benches and set them in position on the floor of the house, each with the right arm extended and a sword held out horizontally.

Where is the House. This reminds me that strangers to the House of Commons are frequently puzzled to know where the "House" actually begins and ends. It is in fact an arbitrary matter. For instance, there are galleries on all four sides of the chamber, but only the "Members' Gallery" technically "in the house." If an H. P. crowded out of his seat before he attempts to speak, the Speaker's eye from, say, the distinguished Strangers' Gallery, where he would be conspicuous enough—he would find it impossible to do so. He could, however, if so minded, speak from the Members' Gallery, and this has more than once been done.

GLUT OF COAL NOW IN FRANCE

By HENRY WILLIAM FRANCIS, (Copyright, 1920, by Cross-Atlantic News Service.)

Paris, Oct. 12.—In addition to 870,000 tons of coal received from Germany during August under the Spa Convention, France imported during August 800,000 tons from England, 250,000 tons from the United States, 70,000 tons from Belgium. The French mines produced 1,950,000 tons. The reserve stocks of the Railway Companies which in January amounted to 180,000 tons is now 300,000 tons, which was the normal average reserve before the war. NET LOSSES GREATER THAN GAINS IN THE MONTREAL MARKET

Howard Smith Led in a Listless Half Session Without Any Features.

Montreal, Oct. 12.—In the half-day trading on the local stock exchange today, Howard Smith led the whole market for the first time, but the fact was more of a reflection of lack of activity in other stocks. The closing trend of the market was irregular with net losses outweighing net gains. Howard's rise of five points to 220 and its retention of 3 1/2 at 218 1/2 was the best of the day. Howard Smith made a one point advance to 164 for the combined, and a two point advance to 109 for the preferred. Bell Telephone advanced 1/2 point to 103 1/2. Wayagamack at 140 was up a penny, as was Shawmut at 117.

The Goodwin issues were off 2 1/2 points for the common at 32 1/2, 8 for the preferred at 38 1/2. The Spanish issues lost a point each at 111, and the preferred at 116, and Bank of Nova Scotia two points at 24. Total sales, listed $4,266, bonds, $33,600.

COTTON GOODS TO BE CHEAPER

English Firm Announces Decision to Reduce Price by Five Per Cent.

Mail Copyright, Special to London Daily Mail and St. John Standard, Copyright 1920, Great Atlantic Newspaper Service.
London, Oct. 12.—Cotton goods will cost less in the immediate future. While the cost of manufacturing is still rising, the price of raw material has fallen rapidly during the last month.

It is announced that Horrocks, Crowson and Company, one of the largest manufacturers of longcloth, flannel, and sheeting in Great Britain, have estimated their production to be reduced five per cent. The public will benefit by the reduction as soon as existing stock are exhausted. It is anticipated that this lead will be followed shortly by other manufacturers of similar goods.

London representative of the firm said that the reduction would affect the price of roughly 3,000 different varieties of material. The lower prices should come into force in most of the show almost immediately, as retailers' stocks are generally low.

PREDICTS 11-CENT SUGAR THIS YEAR

Canadian Refiners to Lose $2,500,000 in 12 Months by Falling Prices.

Toronto, Oct. 12.—Eleven cent sugar within a year, is the forecast of Wm. Robertson of Robertson Brothers, wholesale confectioners, this city, made in an interview here yesterday. Granulated sugar by October 20, will drop to 17 cents a pound, wholesale, perhaps 16 cents, according to Mr. Robertson, who is a recognized sugar expert. By that date the sugar best crop will be on the market. The refiners, he said, would simply be forced to meet American sugar prices in order to get rid of their reduced stock and be able to handle the best crop. Mr. Robertson said the Canadian refiners would lose, at the very least, $2,500,000 within the next two weeks.

NO NEW YORK MARKET

AROUND THE CITY

NO BIDS RECEIVED
So far no bids have been received at City Hall for the purchase of buildings on the city lands at Missisquoi.

NON-SUPPORT CHARGE
A police officer from Fredericton arrived yesterday and returned to the capital with William Marr who is wanted on a non-support charge.

QUITE A DIFFERENCE
A visitor from Grand Manan while in the city yesterday was surprised when informed that haddock was selling at fifteen cents a pound, while on the island the price is one and a half cents.

IS RECOVERING
The many friends of Jack Ramsey, son of Charles W. Ramsey will be pleased to learn that he is recovering in the General Public Hospital after undergoing a serious operation.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICE
Queen Square Methodist Church will celebrate the 125th anniversary of its founding on Sunday next. Rev. Kennedy H. Palmer of New York, will occupy the pulpit both morning and evening.

WIFE CAUSES ARREST.
George Paris was given in charge by his wife last evening on the charge of assault, also of using threatening and abusive language to her. One drunk was also placed under arrest by the police.

LOOKING FOR HUSBAND
Mrs. George Lawrence Maclean, of 113 Turner Hill, The Bank, Sussex, England, wishes information concerning her husband who was in St. John but from whom she has not heard for a long time.

THE POLICE COURT.
In the police court, yesterday, two drunks pleaded guilty and were remanded.

PAYING WATER RATES
This is the last day for citizens to receive a discount on paying water tax assessments. A large amount has already been paid in and the increase is quite noticeable. Payments mailed today and not received until Thursday will not be entitled to discount.

EXAMINATIONS POSTPONED
The New Brunswick Law examinations, which were to have commenced on Tuesday, October 12, have been postponed until Tuesday, Oct. 26th, because of many of the examiners and others having been engaged in election campaigns.

THE NEW FLUSHER
The new motor flusher has been put through several tests, it sprinkles the whole width of the street at one time, and the flushing of some paved streets has been found satisfactory. Commissioner Frink says he is quite satisfied with the work accomplished.

PETITION REFUSED.
The petition that a slaughter house previously ordered closed by the Board of Health be reopened was refused by that Board at a special meeting held yesterday afternoon. The site was not considered a suitable one.

FOUND A DORY.
Henry Boyle, of Mace's Bay, who arrived in the city yesterday morning in his motor boat, reported picking up a dory some distance down the coast. There were a pair of oars in the dory and the painter was hauled in, indicating, he said, that some person had been using it and might have fallen overboard and been drowned. The fact that the painter was coiled in the bow of the boat, he said, was evidence that it had not broken away from any mooring. He saved the dory and is taking it with him to Mace's Bay.

BLUE SUIT SALE
These Blue Suits at $10 off regular prices are apparently just what men have been looking for. It's no wonder men are picking them up, as these broken lots represent the best selling lines we had. The line that is complete is just as good but appears to be a little rougher than many like. It will not shrink, however, like a smooth finish. Some in all sizes from 35 to 42.—Gibson's, 66 King St.

Common Council Regular Meeting

Several Recommendations Adopted—Further Information from Power Co. Asked

The city council yesterday finally disposed of the timber cutting matter, so far as Mr. Boyle is concerned, by voting to accept the offer made by him to pay a total of $100 for the timber on the lot; referred several matters back for further consideration and report and disposed of some routine matters.

Mayor Schofield presided and Commissioners Thornton, Jones, Bullock and Frink were present.

Recommendations Adopted.

The recommendations of the committee of the whole that the N. B. Telephone Co. be allowed to erect poles on St. David's, Clarence and Leinster streets; that the Phoenix Power Co. be allowed to install a gas line tank; that the request of residents of Kennedy Place to have some rock removed be complied with, were adopted. That section of the report recommending that $2,000 be charged from Fire Hydrants to Sewer Maintenance account was changed to read that the Commissioner of Water and Sewerage be allowed to overextend $2,000 on sewer account and the same be charged to water maintenance account, as the comptroller explained the former motion was out of order.

No. 2 Salvage Corps notified the council that Walter Logan had resigned and on motion his warrant was cancelled.

Letters Received.

A letter asking the council to make good the damage done to an auto owned by Mr. Nice, damaged while under requisition by the police as an ambulance on September 29 last, by a collision with a team. The damage to the auto was $175, and to the team $43. Referred to the commissioner of safety to report.

A communication from H. O. McInerney, asking the city to take over a portion of Gilbert's Lane, belonging to the O'Connell estate but used as a public highway, and maintain it, was referred to the commissioner of public works.

The C. P. R. wrote that the agreement with the city for the upkeep of certain tracks on the West Side would expire on November 1 next, and asked for a renewal for a term of five years from that date. This was referred to the harbor commissioner.

The Board of Health wrote calling the attention of the council to a report of Dr. William Warwick on the water supply for Belle View avenue, who found the source of a supply of surface well which has been compelled to condemn, and urging the city to extend the city water service to that street. Referred to the commissioner of water and sewerage for a report.

The notice of the New Brunswick Power Co. that they intended to apply to the Public Utilities Board for authority to issue $120,000 of bonds, was taken from the table and it was decided to ask the company for further information as to what this money was required for before deciding whether to oppose the application or not.

A letter from the Mayor of Port Arthur calling attention to the fact that the city was endeavoring to collect taxes from the Dominion Government on the elevators located there was read and referred to the mayor for a report. Their argument being that as these were commercial propositions they should be the same as incorporated companies.

Indiantown Ferry.

Commissioner Bullock moved the following resolution:

Resolved, That the sum of $3,419.31 be paid by the Chamberlain to the Indiantown and Lancaster Commissioners for the building, purchase and equipment of a ferry boat by the Indiantown and Lancaster Ferry Commissioners; and

Further resolved, That a debenture issue under the provisions of the Act of Assembly, 10 George V, chapter 194, entitled "An Act relating to the Indiantown and Lancaster Ferry" to the amount of three thousand five hundred and twenty-five dollars ($3,525.00) for such purposes, payable in ten years with interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, payable half yearly, and that annual assessments be made to meet the interest and to provide for a sinking fund, for the final redemption of the debentures; and

Further resolved, That the order of this council of the 29th day of June, last, granting the sum of $2,700 for the building, purchase and equipment of a ferry boat to ply between Pleasant Point and Indiantown be rescinded.

This was referred back for further consideration.

On motion of Commissioner Bullock it was decided to lease the "old potato shed" to the Standard Chemical Co., of Montreal for a period of seven months, beginning November 1 next, at $100 per month, and a further period of five months at $150 per month, with the understanding that no inflammable material be stored there.

Commissioner Jones moved the following resolution:

To Sell Timber.
Resolved, That the Commissioner of Water and Sewerage be authorized to sell to Frank L. Boyle all the timber on the Drury lot, as called, Hickey Road, Parish of Simonds, on condition that Mr. Boyle agrees to pay forthwith in addition to the sum of $200, already paid by him the sum of $400, and a further sum of $200 to be paid upon the conclusion of his operations, which shall not extend beyond a period of three years from the date of signing of agreement, security for the payments of this letter sum to be in the form of an endorsed note or other security to be approved by the chairman of finance and accounts.

Commissioner Thomson objected to this settlement as he thought the city should get more, and he was of the opinion that more could be gotten from Mr. Boyle, and moved in amendment that the report be referred back for further negotiations with Mr. Boyle. This was seconded by Commissioner Bullock, but on the vote was lost, only the mayor and second voting for it. The original motion then carried on the same vote reversed.

Mayor Schofield set Wednesday, October 20, as the day on which the appeal of Chief Justice Hazen against his city assessment would be heard.

Commissioner Frink wanted to know if there was any report about the extension of the water main through old Adelaide street, and Commissioner Jones said it was not ready.

Council then adjourned.

Back In City From Many Wars

Colonel Whose Regiment Saved Suez Canal from Turks is Visiting Here.

Few officers in the British army have seen service on so many fronts, and for as long a time, as Lieut.-Colonel Norman Geoghegan, officer commanding the 89th Punjabis of the Indian army, who with Mrs. Geoghegan is the guest of the latter's father, Mr. C. E. Scammell, 118 Orange street.

The Colonel has secured leave after seeing continuous service with his regiment in the outbreak of the war until a few months ago, when he and Mrs. Geoghegan left their quarters on the Black Sea for England and Canada.

In the four years of the war, and the two years of re-adjustment since he has served in Egypt, Arabia, Gallipoli, France, Mesopotamia, northwest India, Turkey and South Russia. He is very non-committal as to present conditions in Eastern Europe. They are very unsettled, he said, and it is hopeless to attempt to make any predictions as to what may happen in that area; the only thing to do is to wait and see, is his opinion.

Reports as to what was occurring in most cases, he declared absolutely false, and even true accounts were so long in reaching the public that by the time they were in print, conditions were much different.

In India Many Years.

Col. Geoghegan has been associated with the Punjabis for the last twenty-three years, going to India in 1897. On the outbreak of the war his regiment was sent to southwest Arabia, and then to Egypt where they defended the Suez Canal from the big attack of the Turks at Kantara, in February, 1915. Following this show they were sent to Gallipoli where they carried on during the early part of that campaign. From the Dardanelles they proceeded to France with the Indian Corps and served on the western front.

The next move was to Mesopotamia where the regiment was engaged in the expedition sent to the relief of Kut. Then it went to India and took part in the blockade of Mohand.

The force then went to Chitral, Northern India, and from there to Mesopotamia, and the blockade of Nagel. Following this affair the regiment was stationed at Salonika and was doing duty there at the time the armistice was signed.

After hostilities ceased they were sent to the Caucasus where they were engaged in patrolling railroad lines between Kars, Barmou and Erivan in Armenia. From Armenia the troops were sent to Constantinople where Col. Geoghegan was granted leave.

The government of Armenia, which has become a republic since the armistice, the colonel described as one of sorts. The conditions in that country were very unsettled and a meeting of Turks and Armenians always meant a fight. He was inclined to give the Turk more credit than the Armenian as being a better type of man.

He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Friars, of St. James street and twenty-one years of age. After his return from overseas where he went as a member of the 115th Battalion, and was transferred to the N. B. 26th, he entered railway work.

Besides his parents he is survived by five sisters and one brother, Harrison. The sisters are, Mrs. J. C. Foster of St. John, Mrs. C. Alexander, of Edmonton, Alberta; Lois, Ernestine and Rosamond at home. His funeral will take place this afternoon from the Mission Church of St. John Baptist, Paradise Row at 3.30 o'clock. Requiem Mass in church at 9.30 o'clock this morning.

Pressmen Opose One Big Union

Delegates from All Parts of Canada and United States at Annual Meeting.

Alfred Dever arrived in the city yesterday from Pressman, Tennessee, where he attended the convention of the International Printing Pressmen and Assistants' Union. The convention was one of the largest in the history of the union and was attended by delegates from all parts of the United States and Canada, every local in the domain being represented.

Considerable important business was transacted. Among other things the One Big Union movement was strongly opposed, the delegates going on record as utterly opposed to it. It was decided that Canada should in the future be given representation on the board of the directors. The death benefits were raised from $100 to $600 a year.

A Great Home

Pressman is five miles from Rogers, Tenn. It is a community centre entirely owned and managed by the Pressman's Union. A large block of handsome buildings house a sanatorium in which twenty-two members of the union are undergoing treatment for tuberculosis, a well equipped and furnished building has been set aside as a home for the aged members of the union. Another building is intended for a technical school for the training of young pressmen.

The climate of Pressman is ideal. Three crops of fruit are raised each year, and all the necessaries have been made self-sufficient.

Mr. Dever described the weather conditions during the convention as similar to those experienced in June at home. The high altitude, some 2,200 feet above sea level, renders Pressman an excellent location for a sanatorium.

The members were entertained to baseball games, boxing matches and moving picture shows during their stay, and every member was made to make them enjoy themselves.

WHO KNOWS RICHARD ROBERTS?

The chief of police has received a letter from Lawrence, Mass., asking his assistance in locating Richard Roberts, who is believed to be somewhere in this vicinity. The writer states that Roberts left Millford, N. H., four months ago and is believed to have come to St. John. His mother is dying and his daughter very sick so that his presence at home is imperative.

Roberts is a paying customer by trade. He was last seen wearing a blue coat and pepper and salt trousers. He has a scar over his left eye, is five feet seven in height, and weighs one hundred and forty pounds.

Any one able to furnish any information concerning his whereabouts is requested to communicate with the chief of police.

Cloth Coats
Distinctly New in Fashion

An interesting collection of Women's Fashionable Cloth Coats—most of them very moderately priced, now showing in a choice of popular materials and colors.

Duveltyne, Velours, Silvertones and Friezes are all among the favored fabrics for Fall and Winter. Many of the very newest models are fashioned with full capes, some are in wrappy effects, and many are belted in with narrow girdles.

Big comfortable collars of self material or velvet are a predominant style feature. Pockets in slash and patch styles, and many distinguishing trimming effects, such as silk stitching in self color, pinch tucks, buttons of various sizes and fancy strappings are evident.

SPECIAL VALUE COATS, $28.00 to $34.00.

In this grouping are heavy grey and brown Friezes in plain effects, invisible stripes and dark mixtures. All smartly styled, heavily lined and practical. Sizes from 18 Misses to 42 inch.
