Intense Excitement Attendant on Carnot's Assassination.

Strong Feeling Developed Against the Italian Element.

French Presidency.

Marriage of Morocco's New Sultan.

TANGER, June 25.—The new Sultan
Abdul Aziz has been married to the daughter of Muley Eshid, uncle of the late Sultan Muley Hassan.

Common Glory and Common Sorrow.

ROME, June 25.—King Humbert went personally to the French embassy to convey his sympathies. He also sent a dispatch to Premier Dupuy recalling the fact that the assassination of President Carnot, on the anniversary of the battle of Solferino,
which was won by the armies of France
and Italy, and adding "that sacred day which united the two nations in common glories reunites them in common sorrow."

A Lucky Doctor.

LONDON, June 25.—The physician who was in attendance on the Duchess of York is Dr. John Williams, the ardent Welsh Nationalist and Radical, who for years was a hard-working general practitioner at Swansea, making an income of not more than a couple of thousand dollars a year. A fortunate chance brought him to notice in the University Hospital, London, and he was appointed to a professorship in that institution. Now he is patronized by the Princess Beatrice, the Duchess of Fife and half the aristocratic women in London, and his income is estimated at $30,000 a year.
He likes nothing better than addressing meetings of his countrymen in their own language.

"Spoon" Loyalty.

LONDON, June 25.—Manufacturing popular support for royalty has awkward effects sometimes. The other day a so-called loyal deputation of subjects waited upon the King of Serbia to thank him for trampling upon their liberties by suspending the constitution. According to the ancient custom they were entertained at a luncheon, at which shadok, the national dish, was served to them on gold plates. After their departure it was discovered that some spoons, which were also of gold, had disappeared. The men were followed and the spoons were found in their pockets. It seems that the deputation consisted of men picked up on the highways, who were paid by the police to play the part of admiring subjects.

Devil Worshipers.

PARIS, June 25.—The French police have been instructed to take some steps against the sect of devil-worshippers, whose strange practices are exciting much angry comment. Apart from stealing consecrated hosts from the tabernacles of lonely churches, and other outrages, the Satanists
have organized a clandestine catechism class to which children preparing for their first communion have been inveigled.
Strangers are not admitted to the conventicle in the rue Rochetrou. The inside of the building resembles an ordinary Roman chapel. The cross over the altar is fixed head downward, another cross being placed at the door, over which each worshiper walks.

The Albion Colliery Catastrophe.

LONDON, June 25.—A dispatch from Preston says 172 bodies have been taken out of the Albion colliery, in which the fire damp explosion occurred Saturday.
CARDIFF, Wales, June 25.—So far 142
bodies have been taken from the Albion colliery at Cilfynydd, where Saturday's explosion occurred. The whole number of dead will reach 250. The bodies of those recovered who were killed by the actual explosion, which was terrific, were terribly mutilated. In many cases arms and legs were blown completely from the trunk.
Bodies from missing bodies have been found in several parts of the mine.

Imperial Reciprocity.

LONDON, June 25.—Mr. Cecil Rhodes,
"no never disappears from view for long,
has made a remarkable speech at Cape Town, followed by still more remarkable results in London. He appears as the apostle of imperial reciprocity. He tells his South African fellow-citizens that he proposed to the Colonial Office an arrangement in virtue of which British goods
should be admitted free of duty to continent South Africa under less duties than imports of foreign nations, the duties never to exceed their present maximum. He omits to say with precision what he asked in return, referring vaguely, though in a spirit of imperial patriotism, to the naval protection of her colonies by England. But England, that is to say the Colonial Office,
under direction of the Cabinet, rejected
Mr. Rhodes' offer.

The French Presidency.

PARIS, June 25.—Casimir Perier's chances
for the presidency seem to improve steadily.
This evening he is a more conspicuous favorite than ever.

The entire press of Paris print articles eulogizing President Carnot. Every public monument and edifice throughout the country is draped with crepe or mourning.

PARIS, June 25.—The Republican group in the Chamber of Deputies—120 in number—have decided to vote for M. Casimir-Perier for President. The members of the Extreme Left held a meeting this afternoon, M. Goblet presiding, and selected M.
Brisson as their candidate. The Socialist group have decided to bar the way of any capitalist or clerical candidate. The Senate groups are undecided. M. Leon Say is mentioned as a candidate by some of his adherents.

Carnot's Resting-Place.

LONDON, June 25.—The Paris correspondent of the Daily News says President Carnot will be laid in the Pantheon beside that of his grandfather. The President abstained from visiting Lyons, and hesitated
a long time owing to weariness, his health
having never recovered from the strain caused by the fetes in 1889. However, when his entourage mentioned the rumors

that the Anarchists in Lyons were determined to avenge Vaillant he felt in honor bound to go. Since Vaillant's execution he has received daily menacing letters. He disdained to notice them, and refused to take any extraordinary precautions.

Albani.

LONDON, June 25.—Albani, whose real name is La Jeunesse, was a native of Canada, having been born near Montreal in 1847. She was a descendant of French settlers. At a comparatively early age her education was begun at the Convent of the Sacre Cœur at Montreal. Later she went to Europe for her musical education. She studied in Paris under Duprey, and at Milan under the old Maestro Lamperti.
Her debut was made at Albany, whence she took her name. In 1870 she appeared at Messina with success, also at Malta and at La Pergola, Florence. She first sang in London at the Italian Opera in 1872, where she continued a favorite. Her most successful roles were Aminta, Marguerite, Mignon
and Ophelia, in the last of which she made a marked success. A landmark in her career was her appearance as Elsa in "Lohengrin" in 1873. She married Mr.
Ernest Gye, formerly manager of the Italian Opera in London.

The Latest Exhibition.

LONDON, June 25.—If France be mother
of great and general exhibitions England can boast the largest progeny of small or specialized ones. With characteristic caution the British mind has never seen in international exhibitions profits large enough to warrant generous parliamentary grants commensurate with those of France for like undertakings. Unless the British tradesman finds the cash in his own till as the result of a public investment, he sets
the project down as having been visionary or futile. None of the international exhibitions held at London paid in the shopkeeper's sense; and it was impossible that any should pay, for Parliament never made
the grant required to assure dividends.
But the small and special exhibitions,
like the colonial, the fisheries, the electrical, the naval, have been sources of general if petty revenue to small trade and such shows are promoted with eagerness by voluntary capital. The latest is not a "baby show," as the term is commonly understood. It is an "infant exhibition," and to a considerable extent it is international. It comprehends an ethnological department, a food department, a raiment department, and a toy department. It was not at first intended that it should be a department of dolls,
clothes, nor is it likely Pharaoh's daughters
matched in skill with the needle the mysterious and dainty achievements to be seen in the stalls where baby garments are exposed. There is a department of baths, of intellectual training as well as physical.
The array of toys from hundreds of different patterns of dolls of every size, color,
age, style and material to a bewildering collection of articles of instruction and amusement recall all the fairy tales of wonderland.

Excitement in Lyons.

PARIS, June 25.—In Lyons the evening has been varied by alternate periods of perfect quiet and intense excitement.
Early in the evening a mob burned down an Italian grocery in the Rue Cuvier and the Italian Musical Society's hall in the Rue Méné. The mob was dispersed by the police after the harm had been done,
and for nearly two hours there was no sign of disturbance. Then a procession formed suddenly in the middle of the city and marched through the streets shouting. Hardly fifteen minutes after this procession was scattered another one formed. The men were driven from the line by the police and 30 men were arrested. A third procession was dispersed at 11 o'clock, after 25 more arrests had been made. The total number of arrests during the evening was above 60. Between 11 and 12 o'clock some 2,000 men and a few women began marching and shouting for vengeance. The police watched them closely and warned them not to be too demonstrative, but did not interfere with them. The Lyons police learned this morning that Vielly, alias Marius Fam, a Lyons Anarchist, was heard saying on Friday evening: "If President Carnot comes to Lyons he will be hurt. Somebody will stick a knife into him while he is riding about town." The police believed that Vielly might be Cesario's accomplice, but M. Benoit, the examining magistrate, did not attach much importance to the evidence in question, thinking that Vielly was merely an Anarchist braggart. The police in Montpellier, near Lyons, went this afternoon to the house of the Anarchist Laborie, who is believed to have harbored Cesario one night last week.
He had fled. Cesario's brother was interviewed this afternoon in Milan. He said of the assassin: "He was an excellent fellow before he joined the Anarchists. I don't believe he planned the murder. His comrades undoubtedly made a tool of him."
Cesario's mother is overwhelmed with grief.
He was her favorite son.

Sure Hobbs Will Win.

Toronto Star, June 25: "I don't want to talk loud, but I have $100 in my pocket
that I will lay against $20 that Hobbs beats Meredith by 300 votes," said William Graham, of Woodstock, who was in the city to-day.

After the Tragedy.

Action of the British and American Governments

In Regard to the Assassination
of President Carnot.

Many Messages of Sympathy for the Stricken Widow.

Preparations Already Begun to Select a Successor to the Fallen Leader—
Anti-Italian Demonstrations.

IN THE BRITISH PARLIAMENT.

LONDON, June 25.—The House of Commons was filled with members and visitors at the opening to-day. The sympathy of members with France was fully expressed.
Sir Wm. Harcourt announced that tomorrow he would move an address to the Queen requesting her Majesty to express the sentiment of her own feeling, which might convey to France the abhorrence with which the House of Commons received the news of the murder which deprived President Carnot of his life. The announcement was received with cheers.

LONDON, June 25.—Queen Victoria today sent a long dispatch to Mme. Carnot expressing her deep sorrow and sympathy.
Lord Kimberly to-day telegraphed the Marquis of Dufferin, British ambassador at Paris, instructing him to express in the name of the Queen her Majesty's horror
and deep regret at the murder of President Carnot.

THE NEWS IN WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 25.—Secretary
Gresham received a message from Ambassador Eustis this morning announcing the death of the French President. Almost at the same time M. Palmer, French ambassador, called, bringing the official notification of the French Government.

Mr. Gresham immediately started for White House, and the President addressed
the following message to Congress:

The shocking intelligence has been received that the President of the French Republic has met his death at the hands of an assassin. This terrible event cannot fail to deeply arouse the sympathy of the American nation, while the violent termination of a career promising so much in aid of liberty and advancing civilization
should be mourned as an affliction of mankind. (Signed) GROVER CLEVELAND.

EXECUTIVE MANSION, June 25.

FROM PRESIDENT CLEVELAND.
The President also sent the following to Eustis in Paris:

State Washington, June 25.
Eustis, ambassador, Paris, France:
Express to the Minister of Foreign Affairs the profound sorrow with which the President and American people have heard of the atrocious crime which has robbed a sister republic of its wise, humane and patriotic chief magistrate.

(Signed) GRESHAM.

Both Houses of Congress adopted appropriate resolutions, and addresses were delivered eulogistic of the dead statesman.

FROM EMPEROR WILLIAM.

BERLIN, June 25.—Chancellor Von Caprivi called at the French embassy at 10 o'clock this morning to convey an expression of the sorrow and sympathy of the Emperor. Hundreds of carriages containing callers with similar messages continue to call at the embassy during the morning.
The newspapers as yet have made no comments.

THE POPE DEEPLY AFFECTED.

ROME, June 25.—The Pope is deeply affected by the assassination of President Carnot. His Holiness has advised his entourage to offer prayers that complications between France and Italy may be avoided.

The officials of the Chamber of Deputies, headed by Signor Biancheri, with officers of the municipality, called at the French embassy after adjournment of the Chamber to offer sympathy and condolence.

IN ROME.

ROME, June 25.—In the course of his remarks in the Senate this morning on the assassination of President Carnot, Premier Crispi said the murderer belonged to an infamous set that recognized neither country nor family and against whom every nation ought to raise its executive reprobation.

The President of the Senate expressed his indignation at the idea that any opprobrium should attach to Italy through M.
Carnot's assassination. He hoped the event would become a pledge of unity throughout the mutual sorrow of France and Italy.

SENATORS GO TO CARNOT'S CHAIR.

PARIS, June 25.—The lobbies of the Senate and Chamber were crowded this morning. The friends of Premier Dupuy are already active in their efforts to promote the candidacy for the Presidency.
Casimir Perier's friends, however, declare that he is morally certain to be elected.
La France makes a bitter attack upon M.
Risman, the Italian ambassador.

IN PARIS.

PARIS, June 25.—Most of the theaters in the city are closed this evening. The civil courts were closed to-day.

The prominent members of the Italian colony in Paris are obtaining signatures to an address to Mme. Carnot, wife of the dead President, expressing their horror at his assassination and their sympathy and condolence with his family and the country.

ROCHEFORT'S VIEW.

LONDON, June 25.—Henry Rochefort, in an interview to-day, said: I fear the murder of President Carnot will be followed by reprisals against Italians and a repetition
of the bloody scenes of the Aigues Mortes.
I am receiving telegrams from which I have the assurance that no Frenchman or Anarchist had to do with the affair. In regard to the election of Carnot's successor
I do not think M. Constans has any chance in the race with Casimir-Perier and Dupuy.
I think the choice will fall upon Dupuy.
If Casimir-Perier is elected France will fall under the regime of an autocrat. I have no fear that Gen. Sausser or any other military officer will be elected.

ANTI-ITALIAN DEMONSTRATIONS.

PARIS, June 25.—Several Italians were attacked by a mob on the Quai Montabell-to-day, and the most strenuous efforts of the police were required to save their lives. Subsequently anti-Italian demonstrations were made in front of the Italian embassy and consulate. Both were promptly suppressed by the police.
An anti-Italian riot took place at Grenoble this afternoon which threatened serious results. The prefect, with the aid of a strong force of police, succeeded in quelling the disturbance. The mob subsequently paraded the streets singing the "Marseillaise."

THE COMING ELECTION.

PARIS, June 25.—In the course of the Ministerial Council at the Elysee this morning the question was raised as to the power of M. Challemeil Lacour, President of the Senate, to convene the National Congress on Wednesday at Versailles.
Premier Dupuy defended the action of Challemeil Lacour on the ground that a new President must be elected within three days of the decease of former executive.
Wednesday was fixed in order to enable deputies living in places distant from Paris
to arrive in time to vote in the Versailles congress.

FRANCE HAS THE SYMPATHIES OF THE WORLD.

LONDON, June 25.—The Pall Mall
Gazette says that Sento, the assassin of President Carnot, is either a lunatic or a member of the Anti-Social League which is aiming to make all government impossible.
The natural good sense of the French, the paper believes, will not allow the fact that the assassin is an Italian to arrest the growth of better feeling which has been awakened between the two countries.
France is assured of the sympathies of the world, an event which is likely to weld together Frenchmen of all parties, making the path of the next President smoother.

DON'T BE DECEIVED!

A Specimen Roorbach Sprung on St.
Thomas People.

Dirty Tricks Resorted to by Desperate Partisans.

[Special to the ADVERTISER.]

ST. THOMAS, June 25.—The Tories of St.
Thomas prepared a dirty roorbach for distribution during the night which is one of the most dastardly and contemptible tricks
of the campaign.

Finding that they had been outgeneraled
at every turn, and that the splendid young candidate of the Liberals of West Elgin
was sure of election, they have left no trick untried.

Their last resort was the preparation of a document which is little less than a forgery.

A dodger headed—"To the Polls! Meredith Must Be Beaten—Our Solid vote
Should be Cast Against Him," and concluding with an appeal to the Catholics to vote for Mr. McNish, the Liberal candidate, was printed at a job office here. By a lucky mischance this document was sent to the Liberal club room.

The object of the scheme, of course, was to induce the Protestant electors to bolt
the Liberal candidate.

A reply was promptly prepared and the notorious scheme nipped in the bud. It is needless to say excitement ran high, and the organization of a vigilance committee was a matter of only a few moments.

It was not long until a rig started out from the Tory committee rooms.

The conveyance was soon overhauled and it was found to contain, besides these precious documents, no less a personage
than the member of the Commons for East Elgin, A. D. Ingram?

A lively scene ensued, Mr. Ingram seized a Young Liberal by the throat and the crowd began to break up. The strong arm of a Liberal, however, was raised and the coward begged for mercy and sought police protection.

The discovery was opportune, and there is little fear that the wideawake Liberals
of this riding will be defeated to-morrow.

that an infernal machine was found recently in a cellar near the St. Petersburg palace.

THE C. P. R. AND THE VOTERS

Some men of the C. P. R. at Toronto Junction reported to Dr. Gilmour, M.P.P., that they had been told that if they voted for the Liberal candidate in West York they would forfeit their situations. It turns out that there is no foundation for this statement. Superintendent Leonard of the C. P. R., having been appealed to, replied to Dr. Gilmour as follows:

"My Dear Gilmour,—Yours of to-day received. There is no authority for any such statement. Every employee is perfectly free to vote as he thinks fit, and it makes no difference to him, as far as present or future employment with the company is concerned."

Superintendent Williams, of the C. P. R. here, has also ordered that each man shall be allowed opportunity to poll his vote tomorrow, and that he is in no way to be interfered with in the exercise of his franchise. That is fair. Let us have a verdict absolutely untrammelled.

TO-DAY'S ELECTION RETURNS.

The ADVERTISER has made arrangements for receiving and announcing the election returns to-night. The city returns will be bulletined from the second flat windows, division by division, as soon as counted. It is expected that by 6 o'clock a large number of the returns will be in. A special wire will be run from the Great Northwestern telegraph office into the ADVERTISER editorial rooms, and the results of the elections in every part of the Province will be received here as promptly as possible.

The best place in the city to learn the results of the elections will be in front of the ADVERTISER office.

May we particularly request of the general public that no attempt be made to crowd the editorial offices while the returns are being received? It is absolutely impossible for our staff to perform their exacting duties unless left free and untrammelled. The best place to see the returns from the ADVERTISER illuminated bulletin boards.

LET EVERY VOTE BE POLLED!

To-day the Provincial elections take place. Let it not be forgotten by our friends throughout the West that it is the man who gets the majority of the votes that wins.

Let there be no over-confidence.

Many elections are lost by taking things for granted. See to it, friends of good government, that every believer in a safe, progressive, fair play policy is at the polls bright and early.

Remember that one vote unpolled in each subdivision may mean defeat.

Be up and doing. Get out the vote, and victory will be for Sir Oliver throughout the entire West, as it will be in the whole Province.

Put in one good faithful day's work, and have the satisfaction of rejoicing in victory on Tuesday night, instead of mourning over defeat.

Ontario expects that every man will do his duty by her Grand Old Man to-day.

—What might have happened to the richest Province in the Dominion if any easy-going politician had had charge of its strong box? What plunder there was for a gang! We have timber limits worth tens of millions; we could stand a debt of twenty or thirty millions as easily as Quebec. A politician of easy virtue would have lavished these millions on heels and hangers-on, who, in return, would be enthusiastically voting him a god. Does not this thought throw some light on what we have escaped, and on what we owe to the man who has been in charge of our strong box for 22 years?—[Principal Grant.]

—Electors, never mind the men who are saying, as they said four years ago, "Mowat must go!" Don't believe them. Mowat will not go, because the Province of Ontario desires the services of her Grand Old Man. Mowat will have a substantial majority throughout the Province, and London will send him a supporter that will be loyal to him and loyal to London at the same time. There need be no mistake on that point. Take nothing for granted; get out the full vote, leave the pre-election boasting to your opponents, and the London citizen candidate will be returned by a magnificent majority.

WOMEN WITH WONDERFUL HAIR.

They Live in San Francisco and Attribute the Great Growth to the Climate.

The supposition that the climate of California is conducive to the growth of hair becomes a self-evident truth in the hands of an enthusiastic writer for a San Francisco paper, who declares that 10 per cent of the San Francisco women are blessed with a tremendous abundance of hair, resembling that of the seven Sutherland sisters in quantity. There is nothing that bountiful nature can bestow on a woman which can give her more complete satisfaction than a beautiful head of hair, and California women seem to be highly favored in this direction. The old saying that where flowers grow in great abundance and perfection the women have beautiful hair seems to apply to California. Yet it is frankly stated that it is the younger generation which has the most abundant supply. So, with all the virtues of the wonderful climate of our Pacific coast, it does not give eternal youth to the women or preserve their beauty beyond the allotted time.

The finest head of hair in San Francisco is said to be the possession of Mrs. Switzer. It is dark, glossy, and fine, and reaches almost to the bottom of her dress, while a few years ago it trailed a yard on the floor. She wears it high on her head, and no one suspects her of such an overabundance until she lets it fall around her. She is obliged to have it thinned very often, and there is enough cut away to make a plentiful amount for another woman, but she never misses it.

A young lady student in Palo Alto has most remarkable hair. Light in color, fine in texture, and naturally curly, like the hair of poetical fancy, it falls in great undulating waves below the waist like a veritable golden silk.

One woman of German extraction has quantities of yellow-brown hair which reaches below her knees, and yet she can coil it high on her head and fasten it with one pin.

Three other women are on record as having long dark hair, which is a marvel of beauty and length, and they attribute its growth to climatic efforts rather than any special care, as soap and water are the only tonics they use. The color of the hair seems to make no difference in the quantity, the dark hair being quite as abundant as the fluffly blond locks. Like all other women who have plenty of hair, they do not value it very highly, and the one great problem yet unsolved is how to dispose of it in accordance with the rules of fashionable and artistic hairdressing.

San Francisco boasts of seven maidens, called the "Beritoni sisters," whose hair is the envy of all the ladies on the block.

—Look out for Roorbachs. No charge that can be sustained is held until the last days of the Campaign.

Frightful Carnage in Coming Wars.

The large number of foreign military officers which is to be invited is not the only interesting feature of the approaching Prussian maneuvers. Special attention is to be turned to the question of the disposal of the supposed wounded. None too soon, the experts will say. For what to do with the wounded will be the question in the great war. So terrible will be the mangling, and so hard will it be to cope with the difficulties of the situation, that it is possible, as Mr. Archibald Forbes contends, that this very wounded question may yet be one of the strongest influences against declarations of war. One sickening experience will go a long way.

It is not as if the War Ministries had given heed to the warnings of the surgeons. About a year since Prof. Billroth told the Governments what ghastly work would be wrought by such new rules as the Mannlicher, not to speak of artillery fire, and suggested that increased provision should be made for the care of the wounded. Baron Mundy, the famous ambulance surgeon, spoke in the same sense at the International Congress of the Red Cross Society, but neither the German nor the Austrian Government seems to have acted upon the advice. Indeed, Baron Mundy now threatens some blood-curdling revelations in a report he is about to make upon the experiments which are being carried on at Mahrtsch-Ostrau to find out the effect of Mannlicher fire on dummy soldiers.

Curiosities of Language.

The Hindoos are said to have no word for "friend." The Italians have no word for our "humility." The Russian dictionary gives a word, the definition of which is, "not to have enough buttons on your footman's waistcoat;" the second is to kill over again; a third to "earn by dancing." The Germans call a thimble a "finger hat" which it certainly is, and a grasshopper a "hey horse." A glove with them is a "hand-shoe," showing they wore shoes before gloves. The French, strange to say, have no verb "to stand," nor can a Frenchman speak of "kicking" any one. The nearest approach he, in his politeness, makes to it is to threaten to "give a blow with his foot," the same thing, probably to the recipient in either case, but it seems to want the energy, the directness, of our "kick." The terms "upstairs," and "downstairs," are unknown in French.

Woman.

Woman will be pure if man be true. Young men, this great result abides with you. If you could but see how beautiful a flower grows upon the thorny stalk of self-denial you would give the plant the honor it deserves; if it seem hard and homely, despite it not, for in it sleeps the beauty of heaven and the breath of angels; if you do not witness the glory of its blossoming during the day of life, its petals will open when the night of death comes and gladden your closing eyes with their marvelous loveliness and fill your soul with their grateful perfume.—[J. G. Holland.]

Not a Peculiar Term.

"Why do you use such peculiar terms?" asked the lawyer's wife of her husband, who had returned home worn out by his day's labors. "I don't see how you could have been working all day like a horse." "Well, my dear," he replied, "I've been drawing a conveyance all day. Isn't that working like a horse?"

Were the scrofula sores on my poor little boy, sickening and disgusting. They were especially severe on his legs, back of his ears and on his head. His hair was so matted that combing was sometimes impossible. His legs were so bad that sometimes he could not sit down, and when he tried to walk his legs would crack open and the blood start. Physicians did not effect a cure. I decided to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla. In two weeks the sores commenced to heal up; the scales came off and all over his body new and healthy flesh and skin formed. When he had taken two bottles of

MATCH RACE AT HAMILTON.
The Hamilton Trotting Association held their summer meeting, 30th June and 2nd and 3rd July, 1894. The directors of this association have arranged for a grand international match race on Dominion Day, 2nd July, between the chestnut mare Nightingale and the chestnut horse Godeiva for a special purse of $1,000, best 3 in 5 heats. ATHLETICS.

CORBETT IS MUM.

The following cable dispatch from London has been received: In reply to the offer of the Olympic Club, of New Orleans, to put up a purse of $25,000 for a fight between Bob Fitzsimmons and Jim Corbett, also to deposit $5,000 with the Police Gazette to be paid should they fail to carry out the agreement, Corbett was asked by the Sporting Life representative for an answer. Corbett would not accept or refuse the offer. Finally the American champion said: "I shall say nothing until I return to New York."

CRICKET.

SENSATIONAL BOWLING.
The handsome victory of Yorkshire over Sussex recently was mainly due to the sensational bowling of Edward Wainwright, who secured 13 wickets for 38 runs. Wainwright, who is a professional, was born at Tinsley, near Sheffield, on April 8, 1864. He is tall—5 feet 10½ inches—and makes the best use of his height in bowling. Not only is he one of the best trundlers in England, but he is also a reliable batsman, and shares with Peel, his fellow clubman, and Brockwell, of Surrey, the distinction of being one of the three best all-round professional cricketers in England.—(London Morning Leader.)

THE LONDON CRICKET CLUB will play in Forest on Thursday.

ROAD RACE AT WOODSTOCK.
WOODSTOCK, Ont., June 25.—The Hyslop, Caulfield & Co. road race took place to-night. There were six starters. Distance, 14½ miles. M. Gosman 1, M. Codling 2. Time, 47:43. The first prize was a silver pitcher; second prize, bicycle. mp.

THE HANDICAP ON THURSDAY NIGHT.

Entries for the ten-mile handicap to be run in Queen's Park on Thursday evening and which is open to members of the London bicycle club only will close on Wednesday night. Already upwards of a dozen entries have been made, including Radway, Manville, White and Brown—the four scorers of the five place prize will be given. The handicapping board will consist of Messrs. James McCormick, Dr. Balfour, Walter Mann, Chas. H. White, C. J. Wade, and Fred Scandrett. No admission will be charged, and citizens should turn out en masse as a slight recognition of the enterprise of the London Club.

AN EXTRAORDINARY RECORD.

An extraordinary bicycle record has recently been made in England, where a man pedaled from the Land's End to John O'Grady's in 86 hours and 15 minutes. He is said to have experienced little fatigue, and to have seemed little the worse for his remarkable exertions, although he was 3 days, 14 hours and 15 minutes without sleep, and without rest except for a few brief pauses. By his rapid riding he cut 9 hours and 40 minutes from the previous record—that is all. To some minds this will, of course, seem a feat worth accomplishing, though not the slightest practical advantage will result from it, any more than from a voyage in a boat through the Whirlpool Rapids. If a man should drive a horse that distance in that length of time, he would be liable to arrest for cruelty to animals. It is a question how far a man has a right to be cruel to himself and shorten his life, as one must who indulges in such violent and prolonged exertions. That excellent authority, the Lancet, thinks there is no doubt that such rapid riding is extremely injurious to its effect on the heart.

DRAUGHTS.

During his recent visit to London in connection with the international match which he played 39 games, of which he won 31, the remainder being drawn.

There is talk of an international match between Great Britain and America, six men a side. Several contributions to the expenses have been promised.

LACROSSE.

SEVERE ON THE SHAMROCKS.

OTTAWA, June 25.—The Ottawa Journal says: Ottawa has had orderly and fairly generous audiences, but on Saturday a scene was enacted at Lansdowne Park that will for years lower the reputation of the clubs concerned and of the grounds on which they were played. Policemen were present and batons flew in all directions. The occasion was the first match of the season with the Shamrock lacrosse team. A rougher and tougher lot of players than several on the Shamrock team and a greater assortment of "Bovary" pets than many of their supporters never before disgraced a lacrosse field. That such a fine manly game should be so dragged into the dust is regrettable, but such scenes are regarded as ruffianly by the general public.

THE COW'S KINGDOM.

Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario—Notes by the Secretary.

Mr. T. B. Millar, dairy instructor, has completed the tour of instruction in early cheesemaking as outlined at the beginning of the season. He spent the last few weeks in the northern districts and gave instruction at the Huron, Dufferin, Hastings, Essex, and Kent and Wray counties. At some of these places the attendance was small, owing, no doubt, to the fact that the factories in the districts had commenced operations, which prevented the makers from leaving their own work. The following factories were, however, represented at these places: Millerton, Lakelet, Markdale, Lavender, Vasey, Uptigrove, Penetang, Lafontaine and St. Patrick's.

The largest attendance of makers was at the Wybridge factory, in the northern portion of Simcoe county. In this district the cheese industry is comparatively new, consequently Mr. Millar's work was much appreciated, and will produce more marked results than in those sections where the makers have a wider experience.

The results which have attended this part of the association's work this season amply justify the executive committee in arranging for this definite system of instruction. Twenty factories were selected for this work in such sections as would cover the whole district west of Toronto, and by having the same person giving instruction in these places will tend to bring about a greater uniformity in the quality of the cheese made in Western Ontario.

Mr. Millar has already begun the work of milk inspection and instruction carried on by the association. A number of applications have been received for his services in this line of work.

Factories desiring the services of the inspector can secure them by applying to the secretary of the association. The charge is $7.50 per visit, this amount to include all traveling expenses.

The secretary will shortly issue a circular to factorymen containing a number of questions to be answered in reference to the operations of the Babcock tester, the method of paying for milk according to quality and such other phases of dairying as may be beneficial to know. The object of this will be to gather some definite information as to the number of factories in Western Ontario which are paying for milk by the Babcock method; the satisfaction it is giving; the number making butter during the winter and those contemplating it, and such other knowledge as will be beneficial both to the trade and to the dairymen.

There is reported to be a new cheese board organized at Newmarket, Ont. If such is the case it will be some time before any large amount of business will be done. The number of factories in that district is not large and the make of cheese small in those now in operation. However, organization in this way indicates a large amount of confidence on the part of the local dairymen in the success of dairying in the vicinity of Newmarket.

The Minister of Marine Loses Control of His Temper.

Mr. Laurier Gives Him Some Good Advice—Several Divorce Bills Passed.

OTTAWA, June 25.—A slim attendance again characterized the House of Commons to-day and considerable progress was made with the Government bills, the bill taking authority to pay over to the Province of Ontario and Quebec the sums due on account of the common school funds was read the third time and passed.

The Fiman, Piper, Johnson and Thompson, divorce bills were passed.

On motion to go into supply Mr. Mulock again brought up the question of regulating cattle rates on ocean vessels, and gave many comparative figures to show the importance of the cattle trade. Montreal was really the only port of departure for Canadian cattle, and there a combination had existed, under which excessive rates were charged—rates which had the effect of reducing the price paid for cattle to farmers.

Sir Hibbert Tupper resented the statement that a combination had existed and seemed to be angry at Mr. Mulock. He again stated that the department would institute an inquiry and hear all sides. He protested with great heat that there was no evidence of a combination at the port of Montreal.

Mr. Laurier advised the Minister of Marine to imitate the moderate tone of Mr. Mulock and not allow his angry passions to rise.

Mr. Tupper several times interrupted Mr. Laurier and evidently felt the courteous rebuke from the leader of the Opposition. He at first said he had not spoken in anger, but a moment afterwards admitted it by saying "I was a little hot."

IN LABOR'S FIELD.

The Pullman Employees' Strike Extending Along the Line—Skirmishing at Points in Pennsylvania.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., June 25.—The employees of the Pullman Company in this city, numbering 330, struck this morning. It is expected the men at Ludlow, Ky., will go out this afternoon. The men claim they struck on an order from Chicago.

PUNXSUTAWNEY, Pa., June 25.—An outbreak occurred at Walston to-day, precipitated by the arrival of a train load of non-unionists under guard of 25 Pinkertons. When the train pulled into the Walston station 1,500 men women and children were on hand to meet it. As soon as the train came to a standstill the Pinkertons, who were armed with Winchester, jumped out, and there was a general rush of strikers, with the women in front. The officials in charge of the train gave orders for the engineer to start, and before the strikers had an opportunity to talk to the men the train pulled out. The strikers, however, won another victory by preventing a resumption of work. This is the second unsuccessful effort made by General Superintendent Robinson, of the Rochester and Pittsburgh Railway Company, to place men at work. During the fight several women and children were trampled on.

Drowning at Peterboro.

PETERBORO, Ont., June 25.—A second drowning accident occurred here this morning, when the 7-year-old son of Mr. John Halpin, blacksmith, Hunter street, lost his life. The little fellow was playing around the Peterboro Canoe Company's boat house, and endeavored to get into a canoe and was drowned.

An Army Builds a Bridge to Get Pie.

(From the Rocky Mountain News.)
The following story, told by an eyewitness, is entitled to a place among the instances of intelligence among the lower animals. A cook was annoyed to find his pantry shelves attacked by ants. By careful watching it was discovered that they came out twice a day in search of food, at about 7 in the morning and 4 in the afternoon. How were the pies to be protected against the invaders? He tried a circle of molasses.

He did not have long to wait, for at 6:50 o'clock he noticed that off in the left hand corner of the pantry was a line of ants slowly making their way in the direction of the pies. They seemed like a vast army coming forth to attack an enemy. In front was a leader, who was larger than any of the others, and who always kept a little ahead of his troops. They were of the sort known as the medium-sized red ant, which is regarded as the most intelligent of its kind, whose scientific name is formica rubra.

About 40 ants out of 500 stepped out and joined the leader. The general and his aids held a council and then proceeded to examine a circle of molasses. Certain portions of it seemed to be assigned to the different ants, and each selected unerringly the points in the section under his charge where the stream of molasses was narrowest. Then the leader made his tour of inspection. The order to march was given, and the ants all made their way to a hole in the wall, at which the plastering was loose. Here they broke ranks and set about carrying pieces of plaster to the place in the molasses which had been agreed upon as the narrowest. To and fro they went from the nail hole to the molasses, until at 11:30 o'clock they had thrown a bridge across. Then they formed themselves in line again and marched over, and by 11:45 every ant of the foraging expedition was contentedly eating pie.

A Transformation.

"What does she mean?" demands Miss Bridget angrily. "What does the girl mean, Fanny?"

"Nothing. Nothing at all," says Mrs. Adare. "She is only a young girl—just a little bit of a thing. She puts her fingers tightly to her own head to illustrate her meaning. But this, too, is Greek to Miss Bridget."

"I know nothing of kings!" cries that staid old lady, "though, with a cruel glance at Terry, 'of beggary I know much; and as to your foreign languages, Fanny, I would ask you not to trouble me with them. Indecent, I call them. What I've got to say, and I say it in proper English, is that Fanny must and shall be well dressed for your dance."

"Ah! take care what you are doing," cries Terry, mockingly. "What if he no longer fancies me when you have pranked me out?"

"Stuff!" says Miss Bridget. The word "stuff" has been in her mind all along, indeed, and she has hardly heard Terry's little sarcasm, so intent is her mind on discovering for how small a sum she may make her niece presentable in the eyes of her prospective lover. Yet it can't be stuff. Silk it must be—at least the underskirt. "A dress you must have, for I am determined you shall appear as my niece should."

"I have been your niece for eighteen years," says Terry, coldly.

"Fanny, this is insolence!" says Miss Bridget, rising.

"Not at all," says Fanny, rising too. "Not at all," she whispers hurriedly in Miss Bridget's ear. "More excitement. Dear Aunt Bridget, have patience. When a niece of yours is going to marry a man with 20,000 a year and better respect, no wonder her wits go a bit astray."

That touch about the title is even more subtle than the one about the money. Miss Bridget sinks back in her chair, much mollified.

Fanny goes over to where Terry is standing, angry, hurt, her face a very picture of disgust.

"Look here, Terry, don't be a fool," says her cousin, softly. "Every girl likes a new dress. And you are just like the rest: so don't give yourself airs. It may be proper pride to refuse things from me, who am only your cousin (though I don't think so, mind), but to refuse them from Aunt Bridget is pure folly. Pull yourself together, you little goose, and see how things are. You will want your trousseau from her later on. I only wish to goodness she laughs and turns to where Miss Bridget is sitting. 'That Aunt Bridget would see her way to giving me a gown!'"

To Mrs. Adare's everlasting astonishment, Aunt Bridget rises to the bait that has been thrown without any meaning.

"As for that, Fanny, I'll give you one too, if you like," says the old miser, slowly. She is so elated by the thought that one of her nieces is going to make so distinguished a marriage, that she only has heart-strings but her purse-strings are expanded.

"What!" says Mrs. Adare. "Aunt Bridget! Let me fall upon your neck. You really mean it? A gown shall be said for you tonight and morning for a month."

"My own prayers are sufficient for me," says Miss Bridget, smiling, who is of the Low Church party, and scents ritualism in Fanny's words. "You can order the dress at your own woman's, Fanny; but it must not be too expensive, mind."

"Oh, I'll mind," says Fanny, who is already wondering what is the most expensive material now in fashion. And now for Terry, she says. "What shall it be, Terry? White, of course. But—"

"You can arrange it," says the girl, dreamily. She flings herself into a chair as if nothing any longer is of consequence to her, and gazes fixedly out of the window.

"You give us carte blanche, then?" says Fanny, enchanted at having got her consent at all. "Perhaps you are wise. Aunt Bridget and I will manage it. We'll make you a Queen of Beauty. Going now, Aunt Bridget? Well, good-bye. You will be sure to come to the rector's lecture tonight."

Aunt Bridget having said "Yes" to this, disappears, whereupon Mrs. Adare goes up to Terry.

"You lucky girl!" cries she.

"I don't feel at all lucky," says Terry, disconsolately. "I don't want to marry any one."

"Bless me! I wasn't thinking of Gerrard. I was thinking of that terrible old woman who has just left us. To marry Gerrard is a triumph, of course, but to be able to get a gown out of Aunt Bridget puts everything else into the shade. Good gracious it lifts you to the height of genius."

You must be a genius too," says Terry, resentfully. "She is giving you a dress as well."

"Ah! but that was basely come by, in comparison!"

"My dear child, I am grateful. A gown is a gown always."

"But to say that you would pray for her!"

"Well, doesn't she want prayers, and are we not ordered to pray for all Turks?" asks Mrs. Adare, giving way to a burst of frivolous if irresistible laughter.

"You are too bad, Fanny," says Terry, who is laughing in spite of herself. Suddenly, however, she is struck by a thought, her laughter dies away. Her eyes are on the window. "Fanny! here he is! he is coming! Fanny, will you stay with me?"

"Not likely," says Fanny, picking up her gloves and flying to the door.

"But what shall I say to him?" wringing her hands in her distress.

"Say 'Yes'!" cries Fanny, with a little malicious grin, as she runs out of the doorway and down the back-stairs to the garden, so as to escape him.

her hand. He had told himself that he would leave it to her entirely. That silence of hers last night, that half-acceptance—or was it a half-refusal?—had stirred him. He would not coerce her by soft words or tender actions. That she does not love him now he knows, but in time she may learn to love him. It seems to him, however, that it would be dishonourable to entice her into an engagement which she might afterwards learn to regret. Let her make her own choice, free and unfettered. Perhaps there is some pride mixed up with this Spartan resolve.

Unfortunately, Terry somewhat spoils the magnanimity of his resolution by holding out her hand to him, courtesy compelling her to the act. He takes it, and holds it closely enough, but with nothing beyond that to show the girl the depth of the love that burns within his heart.

"How do you do?" says Terry, shaking his hand nervously, almost warmly. She looks at him, and he tries to meet him as an every-day acquaintance; she pushes her chair towards him; she even attempts to give him her usual smile reserved for visitors; but this is a distinct failure.

"I told you I should come," says Trefusis, ignoring the smile and the chair alike. He feels as if he could not sit down until this is settled.

"Yes, I know," says Terry, giving up the society and sinking into deep and unpressing. "I told you, too—that I—your member—that I—"

"That you do not love me?" says Trefusis in a perfectly matter-of-fact tone. There is an utter dearth of emotion in it that Terry's nervousness disappears as it by magic. It seems to brace her for the task before her. If he really does not care—

DEATH RATE REDUCED.

Gratifying Report of the Dominion Health Bureau—Forty Per Cent. Fewer Deaths in Canada Last Year Than Ever Before.

OTTAWA, June 23.—The latest report of the health bureau here contains the highly gratifying intelligence that the death rate in Canada during the last year was lower than in any previous year since Confederation, being within a fraction of 40 per cent lower than the best year ever before reported. Closer examination reveals that the greatest decrease was in deaths from Bright's disease, diabetes, dropsy, heart disease, rheumatism and other diseases caused by disordered or diseased kidneys. Further investigation shows that where the cases of such diseases have decreased the people have within the year made free use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. Consequently it is safe to say that the falling off in Canada's death rate is due to nothing but Dodd's Kidney Pills.

SHORT TALKS ON ADVERTISING.

(By Charles Austin Bates.)

The use of illustrations in advertising is becoming more and more general and more and more intelligent.

The English are great admirers of what they call "block" in their advertising, and have always used more and better illustrations than Americans have.

The stiff, old stereotyped wood cut, representing a watch, or a shoe, or a trunk, has been out of use with us only a few years. Such cuts are used even now in many places.

I am not sure that Wanamaker originated the use of artistic outline cuts in advertising, but it is certain that the Wanamaker cuts have had a great influence on advertising illustrations.

Their chief merit lies in the fact that they show the article pictured as it looks in actual use. If the advertisement is about shoes, the picture is of a man pulling on an easy shoe, or of a dainty, stylish woman lifting a pretty and shapely foot.

The illustrations are always suggestive and always well drawn.

I may as well say here that I do not think much of the alleged humorous cuts that are used more or less all over the country—the ones which run to puns and "cuteness." They may attract attention, but attracting attention isn't the best an ad. can do. A comic cut is not convincing. It doesn't tell anything or prove anything about the man or the goods advertised. I don't believe that such ads, sell goods.

The English idea is very largely the use of some pretty picture, irrespective of its subject or its relation to the thing advertised. The idea in this case also is to attract attention. I think it is wrong. A cut should be used merely to illustrate the advertisement, and not as the advertisement itself. Illustration should be subordinate. In ordinary daily paper advertising the cut should be small. I like one line cuts about an inch to an inch and a half wide, with reading matter set down on one side. Generally speaking, I would not have more than three display lines in an ad., and more often only two—the headline and the name of the advertiser; and the name should be smaller than the headline.
