

BRITISH GOVERNMENT MAKES NEW OFFER TO MINERS

FURTHER CONCESSIONS ARE MADE BY GOVERNMENT IN AN EFFORT TO END COAL STRIKE

Sir Robert Horne Is Understood To Have Made an Offer of 590,000 Pounds Sterling a Month To Meet the Deficiencies Complained Of by Miners—Reduction in Wages to Men Would Not Exceed Three Shillings Each Under New Proposal.

London, April 27.—The conferences held in an endeavor to reach a settlement of the coal strike were resumed at the board of trade this morning, Sir Robt. Horne, chancellor of the exchequer, meeting the representatives of the miners first and then the mine owners.

It is understood Sir Robert told the miners' delegates the Government had made a further offer to meet their position to the extent of contributing 590,000 pounds sterling, or more, monthly during the transitional period, so that the reduction in wages would not exceed three shillings.

EMBARGO ON COMMERCIAL COAL ONLY.

London, April 27.—Coal for hospital and household use and for public utility purposes will not come under the embargo laid by the National Union of Railwaymen on coal from overseas and on colliery sidings, it was decided by the executive body of the union today. Coal intended for commercial purposes, however, will not be moved by the union's members.

SEVEN MILK PRODUCERS SUSPENDED

Board of Health Takes Action As Result of Insanitary Conditions.

ON OWN AUTHORITY

Dairymen Will Not Be Allowed to Dispose of Supplies for From Three to Seven Days.

For supplying milk that was dirty or not up to the standard, seven milk producers in the surrounding districts have been suspended by the board of health. They will not be allowed to supply milk to London distributors for periods ranging from three to seven days. No police court action was required to bring this about. The board ordered the suspensions on its own authority.

London's milk supply has been uniformly good throughout the winter, but with the coming of spring the dairy inspector noted a falling off in some instances and also found that some producers were not keeping their supplies in as sanitary condition as they might. The policy of suspending them for a short period was immediately put into operation.

This the board of health claims to be more effective than fines. Producers who lose several days' sales make every effort to improve conditions so as to have the ban lifted. While a strict inspection of local distributors' supplies is made, the board feels that the real blame for any deficiencies rests with the dairymen, and concentrates most of its efforts on that source.

UNIONS CLAIM THAT OBSOLETE METHODS COSTLY TO RAILWAYS

Waste and Inefficiency Are Charged to Managements.

Chicago, April 27.—The railway labor unions fighting wage reductions before the labor board increased their charges of waste and inefficiency on the part of the United States railroad managements by a quarter of a billion dollars today. In a supplemental exhibit to that filed last week, setting forth alleged waste of a billion dollars, the unions charge that possible savings totaling $1,275,500,000 could be effected by the roads if they would introduce modern methods in maintenance and operation of the railroad industry.

The larger United States railroads spent nearly $5,000,000,000 for operating expenses last year, the exhibit showed, carrying 47,000,000 passengers and 1,400,000,000 tons of freight.

It can be demonstrated that six billion is altogether too much to move the traffic in hand," the report said. "That failure to introduce saving methods rests primarily with railroad managements, and that the public accordingly is not getting a dollar's worth of service for the dollar it spends in rates."

STEAMSHIP ARRIVALS. Southampton, April 27.—Arrived: Corsica, from St. John, N. B. Cherbourg, April 27.—Arrived: Olympia, from New York.

BRYAN OBJECTS TO LITTLE ISLAND AS ONLY "WET" SPOT

Toronto, April 27.—A special New York dispatch to the Globe says that William Jennings Bryan urges the United States Government to protest to Great Britain about her behavior on the Island of Bimini, which, said Mr. Bryan, constituted an "unfriendly act." Bimini, a tiny island of the Bahamas, 45 miles off the coast of Florida, where Mr. Bryan now lives, is the nearest "wet" spot to the Atlantic coast south of the Canadian boundary. Proposals to buy it for moral and strategic reasons have been advanced by other prohibitionists.

"Great Britain," said Mr. Bryan, lecturing at the Washington Irving High School, is allowing Bimini to become the base of a conspiracy against the prohibition law. If, instead of being a band of smugglers, it was a band of pirates that sought protection from the British, we would be quick to protest and England would be quick to act."

DEVLIN SCORES MANIFESTO OF UNIONIST CHIEF

Nationalist Leader Declares Statement Is Merely an Evasion.

Belfast, April 27.—Joseph Devlin, who has returned to Ulster to direct the Nationalist campaign, in an interview yesterday termed the recent proclamation issued by Sir James Craig, the Ulster Unionist leader, "as the greatest example of political bankruptcy I ever saw." He characterized it as "the statement of a man groping in the dark, not knowing where he is or what he is there for." It is not a statement of policy, he continued, "only an evasion. He talks about the Unionist's 'great cause.' It is the first duty of a leader to state his case. Craig does not tell us what his case is unless it is to cut off six counties from Ireland."

Discussing the proclamation's reference to stabilizing Ulster's agriculture and amending the licensing laws, Mr. Devlin said: "Sir James Craig, on the one hand, represents the liquor business, and his staunchest supporters, on the other hand, are prohibitionists. The Unionists, therefore, will find even more difficulty in regulating licenses than stabilizing agriculture."

Will Be Fiasco. The Ulster parliament, in Mr. Devlin's opinion, will be a fiasco. It will be faced at the outset, he said, with the necessity of taxing the people for the maintenance of Belfast's 35,000 unemployed, who are steadily increasing through the dismissal of a thousand workers weekly from the shipyards.

Regarding the possibility of a settlement of the Irish question by negotiation, Mr. Devlin was extremely pessimistic. He did not doubt that Lord Derby had come to Ireland with credentials from Mr. Lloyd George, but he added: "It is apparent from Lord Derby's own statement of his visit that he accomplished nothing. Representatives of the Government come over and palaver abstractions, trying to 'exploit' the Irish people's minds, but get nowhere. If the Government is sincere in its desire to bring about peace, the only thing for it to do is to state definitely the maximum concessions it is willing to grant Ireland."

BUILDING TRADES TO BE REPRESENTED AT OTTAWA CONFERENCE

J. Putherborough Delegate for Employers and E. Ingles for Employees.

J. Putherborough, a local contractor, and a member of the Builders' Exchange of this city, and E. Ingles, vice-president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers in this city, will represent respectively the employers and the employees of the building trades of this city at a conference in Ottawa on May 3.

The conference is to be held under the direction of the minister of labor of the Dominion House. It is expected that 30 delegates each will be sent by the employers and employees. Delegates will be present from all the larger cities in Canada from Halifax to Vancouver.

Many questions of joint interest to the employers and the employees will be discussed, including existing conditions, apprenticeship and craftsmanship, cost and production, conditions of employment, and the employment of joint industrial conferences.

PRINCE IS INVITED TO ATTEND FIGHT

New York, April 27.—The Prince of Wales and Lord Londsdale, head of the National Sporting Club at London, have been invited, it was announced today, to attend the Dempsey-Carpentier fight as guests of Tex Rickard, promoter. A letter was mailed to Lord Londsdale yesterday and through him the invitation is extended to the prince.

UTTER DRYNESS IN CENTRAL EUROPE

A splendid picture of the result of the dryness which now prevails in Central Europe, for the first time in history, is so dry that the remains of villages built in prehistoric days by the men of the Stone Age, are in sight. There are thousands of the piles upon which the houses rested in plain view, and they are well preserved.

Comet and Earth In A Race This Summer

Berkeley, Cal., April 27.—For a month this summer the earth will engage in a race with the periodic comet Pons-Winnecke, and because it will have no chance to win, it will endeavor, through astral influences, to "trip up" its gaseous rival, according to a report made public today by the observatory of the University of California. The earth will not get into the race until the comet has a lead of between 12,000,000 and 20,000,000 miles, but then it will put everything it has into its test with the comet.

"The tripping up" process or perturbations caused by the earth's influence will pull the comet away from its course somewhat, but it will continue to plunge along the cosmic speedway at an undiminished pace. It will cap its supremacy finally when, on June 27, it flips its tail so hard against its terrestrial rival that the impact will send out sparks. These will go down in the record as a meteoric shower. The comet at last calculation was approximately 37,000,000 miles from the earth. Its nearest approach will be 132 of an astronomical unit, or 12,000,000 miles, on June 7.

Any prospect that the comet will do great damage to the earth are out of order, the observatory officials state. On the other hand, the meteoric shower, if it develops as anticipated, will prove to be a harmless, if inspiring spectacle.

WINDSOR MEN PROVE RIGHT TO 40-CASE BOOZE SHIPMENT

Police Trip to Lambeth Last Night All in Vain.

PROSECUTION REMINDED Many Mail Orders Cannot Be Filled and Time Grows Short.

George Taylor and William A. McDonald, Windsor men who were transporting a truck-load of whiskey from Waterloo to Windsor when they were captured by the police last night, but this morning in police court proved that the shipment was a legal one and escaped a fine. Their truck and their 40 cases of whiskey were returned to them. They will probably continue their journey home via the train.

Last week Taylor was arrested while riding on a whiskey-laden truck at Melbourn. He was bailed to appear in a week, and his car was released from custody Sunday. McDonald was sent to Windsor Sunday and rented the truck for $150. Of this amount $50 was returned to cover running expenses. Taylor agreed to accompany him on the trip as a mechanic for $20.

Then McDonald and Taylor took the midnight train for London. Taylor got off at London and proceeded to Waterloo with the truck. McDonald, who claims he is agent for the Labatt Brewing Company at Windsor and has an office in Detroit, went to Buffalo to order the whiskey. He paid $320 for 40 cases. Then he went direct to Seagram's distillery at Waterloo to get the shipment. There he met Taylor and loaded the truck.

Reminded Lawyer. When asked by R. G. Fisher, who was prosecuting, why he did not order the shipment by mail, McDonald said that there were a great many mail orders in now and that they would not all be filled. "We are getting close to the time when we won't be able to get any," he reminded the lawyer.

Steel Shield To Protect Police

STEEL SHIELD taolainoin$9 cmfwyaa Chicago, April 27.—A shield, similar to the ones used by ancient warriors in the besieging of walled cities, was delivered to the police department here today. It is for use in protecting officers while attacking criminals who have barricaded themselves in houses. It is of bulletproof steel and has a small, shuttered window and loopholes for revolvers or rifles.

The shield completes the besieging outfit of the police which includes gas bombs, grenades and heavy rifles.

LEARNS TO DRINK WHISKEY WHEN HIRED AS 'SPOTTER'

Saskatoon, Sask., April 27.—"A deplorable state of affairs exists today when the bringing to justice of a bootlegger demands the downfall of an innocent boy," said Police Magistrate F. M. Brown yesterday, when an 18-year-old boy, employed as a liquor spotter, told the court he had been instructed to drink whiskey with law-breakers if it was necessary to do so in order to avoid suspicion. The boy said he had never tasted whiskey before the occasion cited in evidence, but since had frequently indulged in intoxicants.

POLICEMEN ARE WOUNDED DURING AMBUSH ATTACK

Town of Newry, County Town Is Thrown Into Panic.

Belfast, April 27.—Seven members of a police party were wounded in an ambush today announced that because of the murder of Sgt. McFadden and an attack on the crown forces at Kilrush, the houses of John Leddy and William Lough had been destroyed as a military operation.

An attack on Unionists is reported from Armagh, where an attempt was made to burn the Ballyrea Orange Hall. Two houses were destroyed by bombs. The prisoners were taken to the military barracks.

UNIQUE FUNERAL

Belfast, April 27.—A funeral unique in the history of Belfast was held here this morning when Patrick and Daniel Duffin, the two brothers who were shot and killed here at midnight Saturday, were buried. Sinn Fein honors were paid from Falls road to King street, where the military assumed control. The two motor hearses containing the bodies were preceded by armed cars. In front of the mourners was a lorry filled with soldiers with rifles at the "present arms," and behind them was another armored car. In Falls road the shops were closed and all traffic suspended. The coffin of the brothers were draped with Republican flags. Bands of girl scouts sang hymns and recited the Rosary in Irish at intervals. The excitement engendered by the passing of the funeral cortege culminated in a sharp party encounter in the Old Lodge district, in which a young man was critically wounded.

J. E. SMALLMAN BUYS 'WILLOWBROOK FARM'

To Be Used for Raising and Training Thoroughbred Horses.

TRY FOR KING'S PLATE

Capt. A. E. Reason Receives $40,000 for Property On Proof Line Road.

"Willowbrook Farm," owned by Captain A. E. Reason, has been purchased by John E. Smallman for the sum of $40,000. Mr. Smallman contemplates using the farm for raising thoroughbred horses. The farm is situated on the Proof Line road, about one mile north of the Richmond street bridge. There are 80 acres in the farm, and the entire place will be used for the training of horses for steeplechase racing. A course for this will be made, and several events will be run off during the summer.

Mr. Smallman is completing negotiations with the Federal Government to obtain one of the best thoroughbred stallions in the Dominion. If this deal is closed, London will be the centre of thoroughbred race horses for Western Ontario. It is understood that Mr. Smallman has secured one of the best horse trainers in the Dominion. It was learned that the horses will be put in training to participate in the King's Plate for 1922. Mr. Smallman has two colts entered in this event for this year.

Captain Reason used to be a farm as training quarters for hunting and jumping horses. He informed The Advertiser today that he purposes buying a farm about three miles north of the "Willowbrook Farm," and will continue this work.

It is expected that training will begin about May 15. Some of the horses will be shown at the Western Fair.

MENNONITES MAY MOVE TO MEXICO

GERMAN'S PROPOSALS BEING UNACCEPTABLE, FRANCE WILL PREPARE TO OCCUPY RUHR

Definite Decision Will Be Made by French Government Today—Amount Offered Germans Is One Hundred Billion Marks Below Sum Set by Allied Supreme Council—No Mention Made by Berlin Government of 12,000,000,000 Gold Marks Due Allies by May 12.

London, April 27.—The British Government today requested its representatives in Berlin to inquire informally regarding the new German reparations offer for the purpose of clearing up the ambiguity concerning the terms of years in which the payments would be made under the offer.

Paris, April 27.—Germany's proposal relative to reparations are still being considered by Premier Briand, and it is probable a decision will not be reached before this evening regarding their acceptance or rejection. When such decision is reached it will be communicated first to the United States Government, and until such time Ambassador Jusserand will be given no instructions whatever regarding the French attitude toward Germany's terms.

Officials here were reticent this morning regarding the German proposals, but in political circles close to the premier there was a belief today that the Ruhr district of Germany would be occupied immediately after May 1.

AMOUNT ENTIRELY INSUFFICIENT.

Paris, April 27.—Germany's reparations proposals are entirely insufficient, it is declared in authoritative circles here, being at least 100,000,000,000 marks below the terms set by the supreme Allied council in this city last January. The reparation demands decided upon at that time have been considered as a minimum, amounting to some 226,000,000,000 marks.

In discussing the German terms, it is said in well-informed circles that in offering an installment of one billion gold marks, Germany made no mention of the 12,000,000,000 marks held by the Allies to be payable before May 12. Germany also asks the abandonment of the penalties decided upon in London early in March, as well as those stipulated by the Treaty of Versailles. Assertion is made that, should Germany be exonerated of all other reparation obligations, she would be given an advantage greater than would accrue to the Allies from her future payments.

HOPES PROPOSALS WILL FORM BASIS OF NEW NEGOTIATIONS

Berlin, April 27.—The Berlin newspapers, with the exception of the extreme conservative organs in commenting on the German counter-proposals on reparations express hope that these proposals will at least form the basis for new negotiations which will precede the occupation of further German territory, and the application of additional penalties after May 1. The Conservative Deutsche Tageszeitung views the proposal with sorrow and reaches the conclusion that "Germany's industries are bound to be robbed, regardless of circumstances."

PROPOSALS BELOW DEMANDS.

London, April 27.—Germany's new proposals, says the London Times, commenting on the German note, "are not so desirous as the proposals of March, but they are still well below what the Allies, after many voluntary abatements have declared to be the minimum demands."

ADVISES CONSIDERATION.

London, April 27.—Consideration should be given the German reparations proposals by the Allies, said the Daily News today, in suggesting the terms of the Berlin Government as published here. The newspaper expressed the opinion that the German note was not Continued On Page Three.

STRIVING FOR CHURCH UNITY.

London, April 27.—Canadian Associated Press.—Addressing a meeting of the Baptist Union, the Archbishop of York declared that the Anglican bishops confessed their share of the guilt in dividing the church, and believed the time had come when they should forget the past and reach out for a reunited, catholic church. This being the first time in history an Archbishop of York has addressed the Baptist Union, his remarks have created widespread interest in church circles.

Bank Rate in Britain May Be Reduced

London, April 27.—The possibility of a reduction in the bank rate is being eagerly discussed in Lombard street, where the advocates of cheaper money point to the recent issue of treasury bills at a lower rate of interest and to the recent issue of treasury bills at a lower rate of interest and to the announcement of a funding loan as factors bearing in the way of a reduction in the official minimum rate.

During the past few days the exchange rate has been considered as another development pointing toward cheaper money. There seems no doubt that the commercial and financial community is anxious to have a lower bank rate, after twelve months with the rate at 7 per cent, but conservative opinion in banking circles inclines to the belief that the change may be postponed a week or two. The treasury view of the situation favors a reduction, it seems to be considered, but those in touch with the Bank of England believe the bank, influenced by other considerations, would desire to see conditions more propitious including the settlement of the coal dispute and the reparations question, before making any change.

FAVOR INDEPENDENCE.

Manila, April 27.—The national committee of the Nationalist party adopted resolutions yesterday reaffirming its attitude in favor of immediate independence for the Philippines, and instructing its executive officers to prepare a memorial to be submitted to the Wood-Forbes mission, asking that the pending independence problem be immediately solved.

CANADIAN ARMEN WILL TAKE OVER 1,000 PICTURES OF CITY

Capt. H. L. Holland and Lieut. E. R. Owen Will Make Complete Aerial Survey of London—Photos Will Be Taken At Height of From Four to Five Thousand Feet.

Capt. H. L. Holland, of the operations branch, Canadian Air Board, and Lieut. E. R. Owen, air photography inspector, arrived in London Tuesday night for the purpose of making a complete mosaic map of the city, extending to a mile all round the city limits. This aerial survey is being carried out in conjunction with the geodetic survey department of Ottawa, with a view to ascertaining the value of a detailed map taken from the air, for filling in the maps made by a ground survey, the idea being for the airman to co-operate with the land surveyors in producing a map more complete in every way than was possible under the old conditions.

Capt. Holland and Lieut. Owen left Camp Borden, where the Canadian Air Force is carrying out training for ex-war pilots, at 4:30 on Tuesday afternoon and arrived about London at 6:15, the journey thus occupying one hour and forty-five minutes, the total distance as the crow flies being about 130 miles.

Strong Headwind.
The airman had to contend against a strong head-wind, and a low visibility of four to five miles, owing to the haze produced by the heat, following the wet weather. On a clear day, with the conditions right, the range of vision should have been over forty miles. During the trip the aeroplane, a De Havilland 4, fitted with a 360-horsepower Rolls Royce engine, attained an air speed of 90 miles an hour, and a ground speed of about 75 miles.

On arrival above this city the aeroplane circled around for a short time, and then made a successful landing on a field at Merwin Heights, where Joe Davies, mechanic in charge of the upkeep of the machine, who reached the city on Monday night, had prepared the landing on a clear day, with the conditions right, the range of vision should have been over forty miles. During the trip the aeroplane, a De Havilland 4, fitted with a 360-horsepower Rolls Royce engine, attained an air speed of 90 miles an hour, and a ground speed of about 75 miles.

The photographs required for the construction of the mosaic map of the city will be taken at an average flying height of 4,000 to 5,000 feet, and will occupy from four to five days. Each picture will include an area measuring 1,750 feet by 2,250 feet, and it will require about a thousand of these photographs to complete the aerial survey of the city. Each of the sections will measure 7 inches by 9 inches, and when joined together for the purpose of forming the map, will have an overlap of 25 per cent of their surface.

On completing their work Capt. Holland and Lieut. Owen will fly back to Ottawa, and under favorable weather conditions expect to accomplish the 260 miles, which lie between London and the capital, in two hours.

When seen by The Advertiser at the Tecumseh House, the airman were feeling perfectly fit after their trip, but owing to the unfavorable weather conditions were unable to make a report with their work, a clear atmosphere being absolutely necessary in order to secure satisfactory results.

The development of aerial surveying is an outcome of the war, and it promises to prove a most valuable adjunct to the work of the topographical expert. The Canadian Air Force is doing extremely useful work in supplying men capable of co-operation in this direction.

BIRD NOTES

(Contributed by Melville Orplington, Ornithological Club.)

Migrants are coming along fast, and although, as is sometimes the case, we missed a few common birds that we usually see at this time of the year, yet on Tuesday morning we noted 41 species, and when we arrived back in the city the Purple Martins at the market house brought the total up to 42.

From now on the Warbler family will claim our attention to a great extent. There are about 60 species, and although the Warblers in North America, of which about 23 are found in Ontario. The name Warbler is misleading, because as a class they are not musical. Most of them, however, are veritable songsters, nature having provided them with gorgeous plumage, as if to compensate them for their lack of musical ability. At this season they are spread all over the city, as well as the country, so if you see small, active birds flitting about the shrubbery in your garden or among the trees in the park or street, take a close look and you may get a pleasant surprise.

Tuesday morning we recorded four new Warblers, the Yellow, Palm, Black-Throated Green, and the Black and White.

The Yellow Warbler is a common summer resident, and is apt to build its nest in the lilac bush in your garden. It is easily distinguished from the Goldfinch in having no black cap or black in its wings.

The Black and White is the only Warbler which has the habit of creeping up the trunks of trees like a Woodpecker.

The Black-Throated Green is indeed a feathered jewel, with olive-greenish back, yellow cheeks and face, and velvety-black throat and sides.

The Palm Warbler, with its chestnut head and back, and under parts, is also noted for the first time this year. It is our commonest Sandpiper, is resident here and may be seen along the banks of the river all summer.

HIGH CLASS CONCERT AT DUNDAS CENTRE

Delightful and Successful Program by Choir and Jessie Alexander.

The choir of Dundas Centre Methodist Church achieved a very great musical success last night, when a concert of a high order was given to a capacity audience. Jessie Alexander, who has been heard in London before, and delighted large audiences, again won laurels as an entertainer.

Opening the program the choir sang "Callia" (Gounod), Miss Anna Cochran taking the soprano solo part. Miss Cochran's voice was excellent in the highest degree, and her numbers well chosen. Her group of songs included "The Song of the Lark," "The Bird of the Morn," and "The Wind in the South."

Jessie Alexander makes it almost possible for her audience to cry and laugh at the same time. Her readings were all given in a very clever manner, and the audience demanded much more than the program allotted her. "Every Inch a King," "The High Cost of Living," and the "Good and Bad Little Girl" found favoritism among her hearers.

Too much cannot be said of the splendid work of the choir, particularly in a delightful old negro melody "Listen to Lamba." "Fierce Was the Wild Billow" emphasized the volume and harmony of the voices. "The Broken Pitcher" and "Moonlight" were other good numbers given. Miss Elizabeth Kunz, who possesses a rich contralto voice, sang "My Dear Soul."

E. N. Harding, baritone, has a sympathetic voice and much resonance; he gave a satisfying rendering of his different numbers. J. Parnell Morris directed and presided at the organ.

"The Ladies' Aid Society, of which Mrs. J. D. Keenleyside is president, served refreshments to the choir at the close of the concert.

Hale Street Methodist Church held a class promotion service last Sunday morning. The church was crowded. About 100 persons were made from a junior to senior classes. The platform was decorated by a small white gate trimmed with flowers. The children, while passing through the gate received their diplomas.

The choir loft was filled with boys and girls up to twelve years of age. Some of the children, through recitation and song, explained their success during the past year in their class work.

Baptism followed the promotion service, and about 15 children were baptized by Rev. L. W. Reid, pastor. Officers and teachers of the Sunday school were officially appointed to their several duties at the close of the meeting. S. GERMANY'S PROPOSAL clear, but added: "On the face of this,

they are not terms which the American Government is likely to dismiss as unworthy of discussion."To concede Germany's condition that penal restrictions on trade be withdrawn, the newspaper continued,
"would be an act of justice and wisdom on the part of the Allies. Germany ought, perhaps, to do better, but she manifestly is offering beyond comparison more than France could ever extract by invading the Ruhr district.
Reserving judgment as to the acceptability of the proposals until they are more fully examined, the Chronicle said: "Obviously the imminent fear of the occupation of the Ruhr region produced a degree of repentance in Berlin which no amount of appeals to reason and justice ever produced. If Germany can make these offers now, she could just as easily have made them a month ago, which proves that force is the only argument she respects."

FRENCH NOT SATISFIED.

Paris, April 27.—Newspapers of this city were unanimous today in demanding further proposals and guarantees from Germany, the occupation of the Ruhr district of that country. The caption used by L'Humanite organ of the Radical party and most persistent critic of the Briand Government, as the head of its comment on Germany's new proposition declared: "First of all seize the security, and talk afterward."
And this appeared to sum up the trend of editorial opinion in this city.
"At the end of two years and a half
after the Allied victory," said L'Home-Libre, organ of former president Clemenceau and his followers, "only four days are left before we are secure, reputation or safety. Words no longer have any meaning. Germany has four days in which to act and to give pledges, for we know the worth of her promises, as for us, as Premier Briand said, 'we are ready.'"In writing on the situation Pertinax, political editor of the Echo de Paris,
remarked: "The German note reached Washington on April 25. At this juncture
the attitude of Secretary of State Hughes has been all that we could desire. He was resolved not to em-Flowers By

TO TAKE ACTION HE DEEMS NECESSARY.RESET BRIAND AUTHORIZES
PARIS, April 26.—The Chamber of Deputies today gave Premier Briand full liberty of action after hearing his report on the reparations conference and his declaration: "If on May 1 satisfactory proposals, with acceptable guarantees, are not made by the German Government, the Ruhr will be occupied."
The Chamber voted confidence in the Government, 424 to 23, with 50 deputies abstaining from voting.M. Briand said he had full confidence that if the Washington Government decided to transmit the German counter-proposals they would be such as to safeguard the interests of the Allies on reparations."But," he added, "there is another violation of the treaty of Versailles which Germany cannot invoke the impossibility of fulfilling, namely, disarmament, which she has failed to carry out."
Andre Tardieu and M. Mandel, formerly Clemenceau's chief of cabinet, led the attack against M. Briand after the premier had concluded his declaration.
M. Tardieu asked for the immediate discussion of the interpellation whether the occupation of the Ruhr was for the enforcement of the treaty of Versailles or the Paris January agreement. The premier refused to discuss the matter before May 1, and made it a question of confidence.Are Still Allies.
In his statement M. Briand said that France and Great Britain were "completely in agreement so far as the principle of coercive measures was concerned." He reviewed all the violations by Germany of the treaty of Versailles, laying especial emphasis on Germany's failure to disarm in accordance with the treaty, her refusal to pay one billion gold marks on March 25, failure to transfer her gold reserves, and non-payment of twelve billion gold marks remaining due on May 1.Dodge to Gain Time.
The premier declared that the German proposition to the Washington Government was "another dodge to gain time," and continued: "We have confidence in the loyalty and perspicacity of the Government of the United States to take only such initiatives as it is certain are in conformity with the interests of the Allies. But so far as France is concerned our dispositions are taken for the day when the debt becomes due."
This was greeted with cheers from the Chamber.Only Practical Means.
"But we wish to do nothing without first consulting our allies," the premier went on, "and on April 30, when the conference meets in London, if Germany has not made acceptable proposals and guarantees, we shall submit to our allies the practical means we have decided upon in order to obtain payment of our just due."M. Briand went from the Chamber to the Senate, where he made essentially the same declaration.GERMAN PROPOSALS CONTAIN MANY ASSURANCES—BUTBERLIN, April 26.—The German people now know the proposals which the German Government submits to the allied powers through the medium of the United States. The terms of the proposals were made today, as well as the accompanying assurances forwarded to President Harding, Germany declaring that the peace and welfare of the world are dependent upon a speedy and just solution of the reparations question, assures the president that it will do everything in its power to enable the United States Government to direct the attention of the allied governments to this matter.Offers $50,000,000,000.
As previously outlined, Germany proposes to the Allies an indemnity extending over a number of years which will amount to two hundred billion gold marks, equivalent to about fifty billion dollars; she will co-operate to her utmost in the reconstruction of devastated regions; she will place immediately at the disposal of the reparations commission one billion gold marks; she is willing to assume the allied obligations to the United States, and she will issue an international loan, the proceeds of which will go to the Allies.But Makes Conditions.
But, in return, she makes the conditions that the present system of penalities shall be discontinued immediately, and that she be given freedom of trade and be freed from "all unproductive outlays" now imposed on her.
The German foreign minister, Dr.
Simons, explaining the counter proposals in the Reichstag, declared that the new offer sent through the United States must not be taken "on the basis of any increase over the previous German offer, but only on a definite basis."
The new step had been taken by Germany, the minister explained, not from fear of new penalties, but owing entirely to the false views entertained abroad regarding the reparations question and the United States' offer was awaited at any moment.A SEDUCTIVE SPRING SONG.

445-446-448 DUNDAS STDECIDE HOMEWORK
IS DETRIMENTAL
TO YOUNGSTERSDebate Held in Ryerson Public School Won by the Affirmative.The question as to whether homework is detrimental to children in the public schools was the subject of a lively debate held last evening at the Ryerson school, under the auspices of the Ryerson Mothers' Club. The subject of debate read, "Resolved, that home-work is detrimental to children in public schools." The affirmative side, led by W. F. Marshall and Miss Hattie Chapman, winning, against the negative side, upheld by Fred Galpin and Mrs. C. Bluet. The judges were Rev.
B. H. Robinson, Mrs. T. Benson and Mrs. John Gemmell.One big point made by the affirmative side was the fact that children do not like home-work, and that if they are forced to do it, it leads to dishonesty and untruths. That a child is 75 per cent physical and 22 per cent mental was brought out by those not in favor of home-work, and that to try and equalize their activities and make them 50-50 was detrimental to their progress. They pointed out that homework was always done by artificial light amid the confusion of the home, and at chairs and tables not adapted to the children. This tended to hurt the child, both physically and mentally.Negative Speakers.
On the other hand, the negative speakers had this big point to bring out, that home-work was a custom in the best English schools, and that it would not have survived the test of time had it not been a good institution. They maintained that it was a valuable means of keeping children off the streets at night, and away from the many institutions which were working against the preservation of home life. The decision, however, was given in favor of the affirmative speakers.
This club is planning for a garden party to be held soon. A communication from the Soldiers' Wives' League was read, this communication pointing out that night be done for motherless children in the city. Last night's program included musical numbers by Mrs.
McGuire and Miss Elsie Orr. The nominating committee included Mrs. W. A.
Tanner, Mrs. Tales and Mrs. Crowhill.CHESLE AVENUE.
Mrs. John Rose was the speaker at the regular meeting of the Chesle Avenue Mothers' Club, held last night at the school, her subject being "Good Manners and Good English in the Home." This club is arranging for a garden party to be held on the Hamilton road, near Egerton street, on May 18. Vocal solos by Rev. Mrs. Mers of St. David's Church and Mrs. McCormick, and a violin solo by Russell Stelk completed the program, the accompanists being Miss Irene Hilbert, Clifford Peters and Mrs. Charles Turner.CONSIDERING SUCCESSOR

NO STRIKES LOOKED FOR IN LONDON MAY 1

Only Cloud On Horizon Created by Street Car Men.

If an agreement is made between the employees of the London Street Railway and the company before the end of this week, the only cloud which threatens the peace of May Day in the industrial circles of London will have been dispersed. Labor leaders in this city are of one accord in the belief that there will be no local demonstrations, strikes or troubles whatsoever to mark May 1, as an outstanding day in labor's circles.

In this city only by one of the officials of the Labor Representation Committee in this city that May Day means little to the labor movement in America. The day is a European festival, he said, amounting practically to the same thing as Labor Day in America. It is celebrated in Europe, however, much differently than in America. In Great Britain and in the United States it is celebrated by means of parades, picnics and sporting events which mark Labor Day, strikes, riots and demonstrations are common throughout many European countries. May Day marks the expiration of a majority of the agreements existing between the employers and the employed. This fact probably leads to the fact that the day is a day of a large number of them are of only one day duration. In Canada and the United States different agreements expire at different times throughout the year.

There is little likelihood of any trouble in the building trades, as the many of the men's organizations do not anticipate any difficulty in drawing up new agreements. The slackness of the building trades in this city at the present time has resulted in a minimum possibility of a strike.

The street railway situation offers a more difficult problem. According to the officials of both the men and the company no concrete step has been taken at present time. Unless some agreement is reached by May 1 there is a possibility that the men will strike. May Day in both 1920 and 1919 was marked by strikes of the street railwaymen.

Bill Sure Was "On the Tear"

Broke Nine Panes of Glass in Police Station Windows.

When William Fulton goes "on a tear" he loses his memory, evidence against him in police court this morning indicated.

William pleaded guilty to taking too many rounds out of John Barleycorn, but could not recall that in his wanderings he had left a path of ruin behind him.

Yesterday he came to his home at 75 Waterloo street, and could not find his wife. He set himself the task of locating her. He admitted that he had searched the house of a Mrs. Payne, a neighbor, for the missing spouse, and that the result of his investigations was nil.

Mrs. Agnes Ivey, who was at Mrs. Payne's home when Fulton entered, said that a few minutes later she saw him leaving her own house. She found that the back door had been forced open, and an alarm clock and some other articles were missing.

The family's "reville" back $3, and the image cost them $20 altogether. Fifteen dollars of the actual price of the image, but before they could get this bargain from a drug store they had to pay $5 worth of medicine.

Fulton's irresistible desire to wreak havoc where he strayed resulted in nine panes of glass being broken in the window of his cell at the police station.

He said that he was not in Mrs. Ivey's home.

"Were you in the police cell?" asked the court.

"I must have been," was the reply. He was told that he would have to make restitution, especially for his damage to the police station. Magistrate Graydon remanded him to jail for a few days, being of the opinion that he was not fit condition to go out on the streets.

GROCERS STATE BREAD PRICES ARE TOO HIGH

However, Bakers Have Another Story To Tell.

The London Retail Grocers' Association on Wednesday night passed a resolution to the effect that the price of bread in this city is too high. The meeting, however, took no action in regard to the matter beyond giving this expression of opinion.

It was pointed out during the discussion that the ingredients used in the making of bread had decreased in cost, and that there was no reason why there should not be a corresponding fall in the price of bread. It was asserted that the price of the loaf in London is higher than that in other Ontario cities.

On this matter being drawn to the attention of some of the city bakers today it was maintained that although the price of wheat had declined there had not been the same fall in flour, and that wages, express charges, and other incidental expenses were as high as ever. The rise in the express charges was put at 40 per cent.

The bakers also state that it is not so much the public that the grocers are worrying about, but the fact that the margin of profit allowed them on the loaf is 1 1/2 cents, whereas the grocers think that they ought to have 2 cents. But it is stated that in Toronto and Hamilton only 1 cent is allowed.

Henry Went To Court a Trifle Too Fortified

Snored in the Front Row and Removed to Carling Street Cells.

G. N. Weekes went to police court this morning to act for the defendant in an assault case, but when the court was ready to hear the argument, the counsel for the defence could not proceed, as his client had been spirited away by the police and put behind the bars.

Henry Garner, the said defendant, was charged by Ellen Garner with assaulting her. To face the ordeal he had enlisted John Barleycorn as his bosom friend. The genial John stuck too close to him, and soon Henry was in the "land of nod," while the rest of the attendants at the court were deeply interested in a liquor case. However, he did not escape the eagle eye of two policemen, who had taken up positions along the walls of the courtroom.

They reached over the railing and lifted off Henry, who had one of the best seats in the front row, and without as much as a word, carried him to the cells below in a manner that would do credit to stretcher-bearers with several service stripes.

"He's asleep, chief," said one of the officers. "He's helpless." When Chief Burwell asked for a report on Henry's condition.

"Better lay a charge of being intoxicated, against him," suggested the court.

This course will be followed and John will be allowed to slumber on until tomorrow morning when he will again be requested to be on deck.

COMMUNISTS CALL LENINE A BETRAYER

Denounce Him For Seeking To Forget the Stupidities of Smolny Institute.

Revel, April 26.—According to Morris Zucker of Brooklyn, N. Y., the Communist organizer, who arrived here from a five months' stay in Russia, Lenine's most remarkable statement before the Tenth Communist Congress was this: "We must forget the stupidities of Smolny." That is the original Bolshevik program which was elaborated at the Smolny Institute in Petrograd.

A small minority of the Communists, however, line the takes, and denounce him as the betrayer of Communism. But they are unable to express their opinions. Even Bukharin, editor of Lenine's paper, is forced to give Lenine's opinions.

Zucker thinks that Lenine's most important supporters are truculent youths who really do not understand Communism, but will back up Lenine in whatever he takes. Zucker cannot imagine American capitalists investing money in Russia when they can invest elsewhere with more security, even if the ship of state were to sink.

Lenine succeeded in swarming around the ship of state with his new tack. The Washington B. Vanderlip and other concessions are all moonshine, he said.

Zucker says that William Flick, an American motion picture man of Brooklyn, is being pressed to act as a witness against his assistant, Dr. Estes, an American citizen, who has been removed to the extraordinary commission's special prison in Lubyanka.

The case of Mrs. Marguerite Harrison, who came to Russia as an Associated Press correspondent, is particularly interesting. She has not seen her infant son, who has been taken to America, by William C. Keeley, an American engineer, who has collected more information about the present industrial conditions in Russia than any foreigner, also is a prisoner.

Zucker says that Lenine may form a coalition with the Social Revolutionaries and the Mensheviks, many of whose leaders are now imprisoned and detained as hostages to prevent assassination of Soviet chiefs.

DEWART'S O. T. A. AMENDMENT IS PUT ON SHELF

Proposed Change To Be Considered at Next Meeting.

Toronto, April 27.—The members of the legal bills committee of the Legislature today, after much fun-making and parliamentary burlesque, laid over until the next meeting to be considered the chairman's pleasure—H. A. Dewart's amendment to the Ontario Temperance Act, which, in effect, would put a ban on native wines in the province.

The committee gave more consideration to the proposal of the Liberal leader that the quantity of liquor that may be secured from a Government vendor be cut down much lower than the quart now issued on a doctor's prescription. The committee, however, considered such an amendment too drastic to be passed without further consideration, and it was shelved until the next meeting.

Attorney-General Raney sprang a surprise when, amid general laughter, he voted for the Opposition bill.

When the bill was before the committee, Mr. Dewart was not present. Mr. Raney, on being asked what he had to say about the bill, said he wanted to see the committee divide on it. Mr. Brackin moved the bill be not reported, with the division 7 to 3. Hon. F. C. Diggs, Hon. W. R. Bell and H. C. Nixon voted against it, while Hon. Mr. Raney voted for the bill.

MEXICAN GOVERNMENT OFFICIALS PREPARING FOR EXPECTED REVOLT

Leaders of Rebel Movement Are Ordered to Surrender.

Mexico City, April 27.—Rebel chiefs in future receive no promises of amnesty from Mexican Government. Personal orders were sent yesterday to military commanders in all districts by President Obregon that they should surrender unconditionally. This order came as a result of indirect efforts by Francisco Murguía through various agents to cease rebel activities if promised executive leniency.

In administration circles here the president's order is taken as evidence that General Obregon feels he is strong enough to cope with the threatening situation without temporizing or giving concessions. There have been persistent rumors that Mexicans now in the United States were planning a revolution in this country.

Small groups of little apparent consequence are being organized in the United States. When Pablo Gonzales was reported to have crossed the international boundary at the head of a considerable force, the president declared it was a "mere escape valve for malcontents."

Cops Cope With Revolution.

Operations by federal troops have averted any serious danger from the world's largest revolution, it is said in a war office statement, and it is added that if either Estaban Cantu or Candido Aguilar is chosen to lead the revolution, there will be no serious danger to the government.

President Obregon's aggressiveness against rebellion has been expressed recently by the several leaders of small bands. The fact that a train was held up in the state of Chihuahua last week is explained as being the activity of a group bent on robbing.

Last week may prove a most interesting one in Mexico, as radical demonstrations are planned for May Day, and reports received here that the United States proposed starting a revolution on May 5.

EVERY LONDON ACTOR USED TO HAVE HIS "ANNUAL BENEFIT"

Eminent English Players and Their Managers Once Considered It a Point of Honor—Sometimes It Was a Dubious Boon.

LONDON, April 26.—Exactly 23 years ago Drury Lane was the scene of the largest "benefit" known in theatrical history. A favorite of the public, Miss Nellie Farren, had been stricken down by illness and suffered heavy losses through an unsuccessful experiment in management. Her case was serious and urgent, and the sympathies of her admirers were no sooner invoked than they were practically expressed.

A weird and impressive sight emphasized the zeal and enthusiasm of a large section of the people, who almost worshipped the little woman incapacitated by sad circumstances from following her profession. On a March night they assembled in the cold and heavy mist overhanging Vinegar-yard, an unromantic byway—to wait patiently until the doors of the playhouse opened at 10 o'clock the next morning. Within the theatre the pantomime produced on the previous boxing night was still running, and the first pilgrims arrived, laden with bag and baggage, a full hour before the doors of the playhouse flashed and crackled in the wings. And on the following afternoon the exhausted and weary waiters besought the Drury Lane orchestra to keep silence while time over-wrought covetous in the gallery snatched some installations of overdue sleep. The Nellie Farren benefit can never be forgotten by any who attended it, and there was never any occasion in the record of a theatre when the takings—aided by subscriptions—equalled the total of the ex-Gaity actress received.

Ellen Terry, celebrating her jubilee of stage work in 1900 attracted an enormous and equally enthusiastic assembly. Both these "Sweet Nellies" made "Old Drury" the Mecca of every ardent playgoer.

In every period of the British stage the actor's "benefit" has formed a subject for semi-serious, semi-humorous treatment. "Forget not all his benefits" was suggested in the Middle Ages as a conspicuously appropriate inscription for an actor's tombstone. Frequently the "benefit" was a dubious boon forced upon him much to his pecuniary disadvantage; often it increased his vanity without assisting his pocket. But a quick-witted actor would never let a "benefit" be an unwritten law—a point

LYNDEN WOMAN STRUCK BY GRAND TRUNK FREIGHT

Injuries to Aged Resident of Village Were Not of Serious Nature.

Mrs. A. Poulton, 70 years of age, of Lynden, Ontario, was struck by a Grand Trunk freight train at 11:15 p.m. on Tuesday night, while crossing the tracks at the public crossing, just east of the Lynden station. Although she was knocked to the ground, she was not seriously injured.

Apparently, Mrs. Poulton did not hear the train number 722, as it approached the crossing, she walked directly in front of the engine. Fortunately, the train was running slowly at the time. Mrs. Poulton was removed to her home, where she was given medical attention.

According to the train crew, the electric bell which protects the crossing was ringing at the time of the accident.

Peter and Michael, eight and ten years old, are still roaming about in the great outdoors, although Inspector Kelly of the Children's Aid Society, and representatives of Mount St. Joseph's Orphanage are making a persistent search for them.

The two young adventurers set out into the great world Monday. They were accompanied by Arthur, an 11-year-old boy. They succeeded in boarding a G. T. R. train bound for Detroit, but only reached Lobo. From there they were sent back to London. Arthur decided that he had had enough of traveling, and returned home, but the other two youngsters set off in another direction. They wear tweed suits and little caps.

WESTERN UNIVERSITY PLANS MATURING RAPIDLY.

In the course of a talk with The Advertiser had with Col. W. J. Brown on the prospects which are now opened up by the Government's sympathetic attitude to the Western University, and their guarantee of practical and systematic assistance, Col. Brown said:

"This assurance on the part of the Government that it will stand behind the Board of Governors in carrying out the building program of the Western University is very satisfactory, and we shall now go ahead and mature our plans accordingly."

It is understood that the main arts building, which for the time being will also contain the library and offices for administrative purposes, and the natural science building, will be the first to be proceeded with as soon as the plans are approved. This matter will, of course, take a little time, but it is hoped that the first sod may be cut and the foundation stone laid some time in the fall.

It will be readily understood that the preliminary work necessary in connection with the practical launching of the building program is of considerable magnitude, and that a large amount of organization is required before the Government's signal to "go ahead" can take the tangible form of stone and time. Col. Brown expects in due time to compile a statement for circulation among the people of Western Ontario, in which they will be fully informed of the details of the situation up to date, and an appeal will be made for an expression of their interest in a practical form. The entire question of the finances of the university will now be placed upon a fresh basis, in harmony with the improved conditions, and Col. Brown is busy thinking out details for the approval of the extension board.

When the necessary working plans for the first year's building operations have been prepared and have received the approval of the board, as well as of the Ontario Government, a real start will be made.

STANDING THE TEST.

The statement in the British budget that £203,000,000 has been paid off the external debt of Great Britain is a remarkable tribute to the people of the United Kingdom. In addition to paying off this huge amount they have been able to remove the excess profits tax. That in itself is an achievement. The world has often looked in open-eyed wonder at British financial undertakings, and it has come to learn, through years of prompt settlement of obligations the solidity and stability of the people. The financial burden which Britain carried during the war would have staggered most people. The spirit with which Britons set themselves to meet every penny of their obligations won the respect and admiration of the world, and the unmistakable sincerity behind it brought many generous offers of credit if they were needed. The fact that £203,000,000 of this debt has been lifted in spite of adverse conditions at home, and the announcement that no new taxation will be necessary, is cheering. More than that, it is a repudiation of those stories which enemies of the Empire in some quarters are so fond of circulating that John Bull is in a bad way and tottering. The British people often have troubles of their own, but troubles are usually a test of a nation's strength, and the manner in which British troubles are straightened out usually shows that there is no vital weakness in the nation, but rather those elements that make for permanence and solidarity.

REV. DR. CODY OF ST. PAUL'S, TORONTO.

The decision of the Rev. Dr. Cody of St. Paul's, Toronto, to remain in Canada will be read with satisfaction by every denomination in Canada, and not by the Anglican Church only. He is one of the outstanding preachers in Canada. He is well known to Londoners, and has for years taken an active interest in the Western University. At one time he was solicited to become its head. Like the offer from Australia, it was declined. He preferred to remain in his great pulpit in Toronto. His recent interview on the grant to be made for building purposes to the Western University is in accordance with his friendly attitude at all times to the Western.

It is a pleasure and a distinct advantage to Canada that he has decided to remain. Toronto is full of students, theological and others. The example and influence of leading divines such as Dr. Cody and the late Rev. Dr. Law of the Presbyterian body, on such students cannot be estimated. When New York contemplated celebrating British day, the committee were looking for one of Canada's greatest orators, and Dr. Cody would have been selected, but the date was changed to such an early date that arrangements could not be completed in time. He is quite the equal of the best pulpit orators in America. Canada is to be congratulated on his decision to remain in Canada. He is yet young and may have many years of great usefulness.

ILL-BRED CHILDREN.

In the news columns of The Advertiser yesterday there appeared a little story about a six-year-old girl who had conducted herself in a most unbecoming manner in a street car. One of the regrettable features often observed among children of today is their lack of manners, respect and courtesy. Lack of consideration for others, especially older people, is frequently commented on. It is a very common thing at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets to see boys and girls push right through a crowd of people, including aged men and women, women with babies, and very often crippled veterans. These youngsters push everybody out of their way, and clamber into the cars and take the seats, leaving others to stand. Very often those left to stand include men and women who have been working hard all day. That the children do not know any better than to act as they do is a reflection on their training both at home and at school, and one wonders just what sort of men and women they will grow into.

THE DISEASE OF NATIONALISM.

Premier Lloyd George says that Sinn Fein is not to be allowed to "Balkanize" the United Kingdom. This is well put. A petty, jealous, exclusive nationalism would undermine all large prospects with regional bickering and selfishness. Nationalism has gone to ridiculous extremes in recent times. Quebec has had a touch of the disease. It became a monstrous frenzy with the Germans, who put Germany "uber alles." When we see it so far away as in Asia, it seems almost laughable. There Arab gnashes teeth at Jew, Kurd, kicks Armenian, Turk and Greek spend months collecting munitions, and then spend a couple of days shooting them off at each other. Poverty and exhaustion prevail, where a federation of forces might make for general prosperity.

But the Balkans are the grand scene of such national independence as Sinn Fein covets. The Serbs are sometimes called "the Irish of the Balkans." Just why Serbia and Bulgaria should be separate states is hard to understand, as they speak kindred tongues and profess the same religion. Within Serbo-Croatia or Jugo-Slavia, Montenegro is held only by force in political union with the rest, no one can guess for how long. Supposing an independent Ireland, Ulster might be the Montenegro of the arrangement; or then again, Belfast might be the Fiume, held by and for the big power just over the water.

Here in America we have no serious nationality troubles. Most of Quebec is sensible; the Finns and Ruthenians give no offence; Italians and Slavs behave themselves well and vote peaceably with everyone else; even the fifteen million negroes take things philosophically on the whole. There ought to be missionaryaries sent over to persuade European nationalities to dwell side by side in mutual forbearance and trust. Instead of this, Irish-Americans are being asked to subscribe great funds for fomenting secessionist strife in Ireland.

The multiplication of petty states in Europe, each with its customs barriers, its expensive civil services and its wretched, puny army eating up the fruits of labor, is a matter of regret, especially in hard times. In place of secession and division, federation should be the goal of political endeavor; in place of nationalism, the cosmopolitan spirit of the League of Nations. We ought to be moving towards the realization

OF MR. H. G. Wells's dream of "The Great State."

EVERYTHING

THE TREES OF FRANCE.
[Louise Driscoll.]
The trees of France were good trees. And they deserved no enemies. The apple, cherry and red pear. All spread their boughs and blossomed there.

The orchard trees of France were fair. When spring came down the Marne and Aisne— But they will not bloom again!

The apple bloom of Normandy. Was like a lovely, rose sea. In Picardy, for men's delight. The cherry trees were green and white. And gaily with promise in men's sight. With fruit for every blossoming bough— But orchards do not blossom now!

The German axes, row by row. Broke pleasant trees and laid them low. And all the world may go to see The desert made by Germany. She did not leave a gracious tree. But with sustained, deliberate thought Their systematic ruin wrought.

Now, year by year, remembering This desolation in the Spring. Though other trees may grow and bear, With new life, come consoling there, Shall we not remember these? Full bearing, helpless, murdered trees?

The trees of France were good trees. And gave no cause for enemies. I passed an orchard yesterday. Just putting on its first green spray. Of scented, delicate, white spray. And thought about the trees we know Murdered in France three years ago!

THE QUITTER.
[Robert W. Service.]
When you're lost in the wild, and you're scared as a child, And Death looks you bang in the eye, And you're sore as a bull, it's according to Hoyle To cock your revolver—and die. But the code of a man says: "Fight all you can!"

And self-dissolution is barred. In hunger and woe, oh, it's easy to blow— It's the hell-served-for-breakfast that's hard.

"You're sick of the game!" Well, new, that's a shame; You're young and you're brave and you're sure of your game; "You've had a raw deal!" I know, but don't squeal. Buck up, do your damndest and fight.

It's the plugging away that will win you the day. So don't be a piker, old pard! Just draw on your grit; it's so easy to quit. It's the keeping-your-chin-up that's hard.

It's easy to cry that you're beaten—and die.

It's easy to cry that you're beaten—and die. But to fight and to fight when hope's out of sight— Why, that's the best game of them all. And though you come out of each grueling bout All broken and beaten and scarred, Just have one more try—it's dead easy to die. It's the keeping-on-living that's hard.

OTHERS' VIEWS

THE ROAR OF THE FAMINE BELLOWS.

[Roman Messenger.]
No one can hear through the famine areas without observing the woe of women and children are suffering most. Not long ago several of us approached a temple outside Changte, and saw great volleys of smoke ascending from its precincts. It was by no means incense. The officials are discouraging the use of that when food and money are so scarce. The reek carried rather the suggestion that it was rising from the chimney of a bustling factory. When, by a private door, we pressed inside we found nearly a hundred men who were kept working all night, and nearly all day, blowing bellows, as in a huge smithy, to keep twenty great fires roaring that were cooking food for some ten thousand women crammed in the temple court, waiting their turn to fill their vessels of every description with millet porridge. We knew it would be impossible in such a wretched mass to prevent some from getting in who were not really needy. But when we closely scanned the faces of the crowd, more than six or seven in a hundred looked anything like plump. The rest were pale, thin, faded, faint with hunger pangs. Almost every one of them was a mother, and sought food for her brood of ones, no less famished than herself.

HELPING AUSTRIA.

[Manchester Guardian.]
A statement made by Lord Curzon in the House of Lords on Wednesday gives some hope that something will at last be done in the matter of Austria. He announced that an effort is to be made to bring into operation the Tardieu-Meulen scheme of international credits, under the auspices of the League of Nations. This is not the first difficulty of which the supreme council have relieved themselves by dumping it into the lap of the league. It is, at any rate, a tribute to the league, and in the case of Austria it may prove nothing less than a life-saving change. But for that purpose we and our allies shall have to modify some of our war claims. Lord Curzon declared that the four principal Allied powers had in fact agreed to release their liens upon Austria, for some years. Yet this is not enough, either as philanthropy or as business. Austria is so crippled, as an economic organism, that she will obviously need extensive credits if she is to become active again, and take, for the same reason, extensive time in which to pay these credits back.

A WINNIPEG SCHOOL BOY WRITES.

[Brandon Star.]
"Geese is a low, heavy-set bird, composed mostly of meat and feathers. His head sits on one side and he sits on the other. Geese can't sing much on account of the dampness of the moisture. There ain't no between to his toes and he carries a toy balloon in his stomach to keep him from sinking. Some geese when they get big are called ganders and have curls on their tails. Ganders don't have to sit and hatch, but they just loaf and go swimming and eat. If I was a goose I'd rather be a gander any time."

PAINTING THE RED ARMY RED.

[New York Times.]
The Bolsheviks may be slow to learn some things, but they are open-minded enough on matters of military policy, for on the support of the army their Government depends for its very existence. The recent Communist Congress, as reported in the Izvestiya, voted against the introduction of the militia system and decided to maintain a strong professional army. The experience of the Romanoffs proved that conscription, instead of being the engine of despotism that radicals asserted, really provided the machinery for revolution. Lenin and Trotsky will take no chances on arming Russia. Their army will continue to be, as nearly as they can make it, a demoralized instrument of the well-paid and well-fed professional soldiers. The demobilization of some of its forces after the peace with Poland and the collapse of Wrangel probably purged it of the most untrustworthy elements—those who remain are, or soon will be, either fanatical Communists or fighting men who do not care who pays them so long as their pay is prompt and sufficient.

LAUGHING AT LAW.

[New York Times.]
William D. Haywood, one of our most gifted, accomplished and experienced seditionaries and criminals, is missing again. It is his habit to be out on bail, seeking to make trouble. The supreme court recently refused to reopen his case, and the cases of the 73 other I. W. W. thinkers convicted with him. Leavenworth Penitentiary, from which he was released on bond, awaits him. It is difficult to believe the rumor that he has fled to Russia. His quarry is here. In January, 1920, he turned up to answer to a charge of violating the Illinois law against syndicalism. The detectives had been hunting him for some days. Doubtless he rendered any interference with the liberty which so many "political prisoners" enjoy. In his calm and leisurely way he may go back to prison for a change.

This loose and careless way of dealing with convicted criminals of the most dangerous class is scandalous. It brings law into contempt. It has the air and effect of special privilege and favoritism to the inveterate, guilty, impenitent and active plotters of the overthrow of the United States Government and all free governments.

NEW YORK NOT ALL OF UNITED STATES

Head of American Episcopal Church Talks of Common Ideals to Canadian Club

NEW YORK, April 26.—"I want you to understand that the city of New York is not the whole United States, and the sentiments expressed by some radicals in Washington do not represent the opinions of the United States," said the Right Rev. Thomas Francis Gailor, D. D., Bishop of Tennessee and president of the House of Bishops of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the United States, in addressing the Canadian Club at luncheon at the Fitzgibbon Hotel. "All through the south and middle west and west there is today the most cordial and sincere feeling of brotherly sympathy with Britain."

The bishop was speaking of "Traditional Ideals of the English-speaking Nations," and his purpose was to show the unanimity of thought between the United States and British peoples in certain grand lines. His son was in England at the time war broke out, a Rhodes scholarship man, and enlisted with the British army. Bishop Gailor was abroad during the war, and had the privilege of a private audience with King George.

"I never met a man who seemed to be so splendidly fitted to be sovereign of a great democratic people, and in many ways by his charm of manner, and in his direct way of talking to me, he reminded me of Roosevelt, and Americans could not pay a higher tribute than to King George. He asked me about myself, and I said that I had a son in the 80th Battery of the 2nd Division, and he said: 'That battery was almost destroyed in the last drive.' I said yes, and that he was one of four who came out. I was very much impressed that he knew about that particular battery. He said: 'Do you know, we should be one people. We stand for the same ideals, you Americans and we British.'"

The bishop said that a daughter may grow up to criticize her mother, but in the long run a daughter never goes back on her mother. For some years, he said, he had been commenting on that fact to the King, also remarking that there were some in England. The King had only smiled at that, and he said that he had paid much more attention to the fact that some people make much noise and pass resolutions, knowing well that such resolutions would not count for anything.

One of the ideals that there are in common between the English-speaking people was that both nations enjoyed their liberties from the same Magna Charta and bill of rights, and in the United States they had learned to distrust partisan historians, and realized that "George Washington, Patrick Henry, and Franklin were Englishmen fighting for the rights of Englishmen. The United States now understands that there were two classes of colonists, one for democracy and one for aristocracy, fighting against each other, and did not visit that fact on the English people. The bishop talked of liberty and what it meant, its responsibilities and ideals.

and pointed out that liberty cannot be bestowed, but only won. It was to be noted that, alone of all peoples, the English-speaking peoples were governed by laws of their own creation or those created by their fathers. He talked of the necessity for discipline so that liberty might be enjoyed, for in the hands of the undisciplined liberty was going to work out badly. The people today are glad to share in the awakening of a public conscience which says that social and business relations and political life shall be moralized.

B. C. Perhaps Will Change the Rule of Road

"Keep to the Right" Will Be General If They Can Decide Who Shall Foot Bills For Change.

VANCOUVER, B. C., April 26.—With the exception of Vancouver Island, and the comparatively small strip of settled territory on the mainland of British Columbia, which includes the cities of Vancouver and New Westminster, the rule of the road throughout Canada now is to keep to the right. On the coast the old English custom of keeping the left is still in vogue, but due to disappear on December 1 next, if all goes well.

The great stumbling block in the way of the change is that the British Columbia electric railway system has laid the tracks and trolleys, and built its cars to conform to the left-hand rule, and the changes necessary to reverse this would cost about $500,000. The street car company is quite willing to make the changes, if given enough time, and providing somebody else pays the expense, but is not at all enthusiastic if it has to foot the bill. Just at present it is quite politely pointing out to the authorities that its tracks were laid "left" by order of the provincial authorities, and while no harsh words have been used, it is understood there are plenty in reserve. Nor is it at all improbable that the courts will be called upon to decide whether the change should be made, and who should pay the costs—the company or the province.

For several years the B. C. E. R. Company has not been in a flourishing financial condition. First it got hit by

How film ruins
Film is that viscous coat you feel. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The ordinary dentifrice does not effectively combat it. So, despite the tooth brush, it has caused tremendous damage.

To fight film
Dental science, after diligent research, has found ways to fight film on teeth. Careful tests have proved them beyond question. Now leading dentists everywhere advise their daily use.

The methods are embodied in a scientific tooth paste—Pepsodent. So all may regularly apply them. To countless homes they have brought already a new era in teeth cleaning.

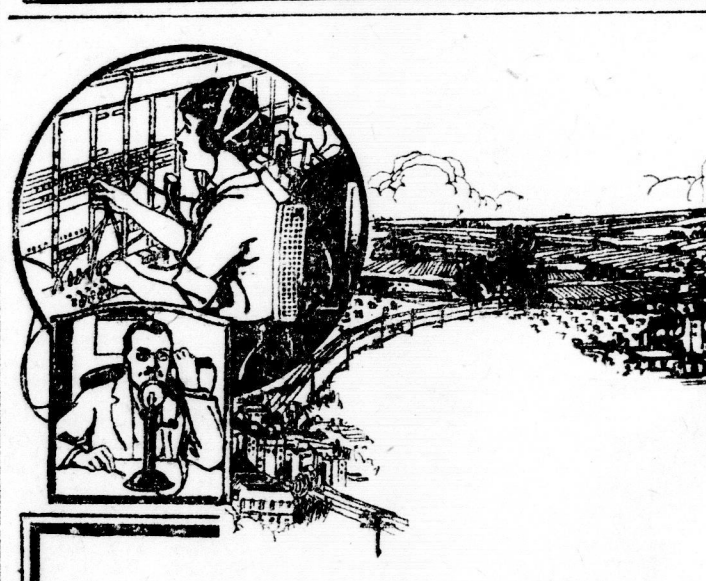

How film ruins
Film absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. It forms the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

It breeds millions of germs and then, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Pepsodent combats these film-caused troubles as nothing else has done.

Over 400 guests were present at the Winter Gardens last night for the big informal dance held by the D. S. C. H. staff. Cedar boughs screened off one end of the hall to form an attractive supper-room, the remainder of the hall being gaily decorated with Chinese lanterns, flags and colored streamers. One novelty dance, known as the "Muslims' Strike," proved very popular, for it ended in different types of dance music being played on all sides of the floor, and a couple preferring waltz music had only to remain in the waltz section of the hall. Other interesting dances introduced were the "Muslims' Strike" and the "Muslims' Strike." The success of the dance was largely due to the splendid trio of conveners, including Major E. N. Fresham, Mr. D. E. Campbell and Mr. H. T. Hutchins.

One of the prettiest receptions of the month was that held yesterday afternoon at 35 Gerrard street, Mrs. R. B. Egan, formerly Miss Gertrude Richardson of St. Marys, being the hostess. Yellow tulips and daffodils filled the living-room, in which Mrs. Egan received her guests, wearing smartly in black tulle and wearing American Beauty roses. Receiving with her was her mother, Mrs. Richardson of St. Marys, in a handsome gown of black lace and corsage of mauve sweet peas, and her sister, Mrs. A. L. Ward of Sarnia, wearing rose Canton crepe and corsage of pink sweet peas. Little Miss Gertrude Ward, in a lovely cover of white net, made a charming door attendant, while Mrs. D. R. Teasdale ushered the guests to the tea-room.

The tea-table presented a pretty sight with its Irish lace cover, centered with a silver basket of snapdragons and pink carnations. Here Mrs. Fred Campbell, the Rev. Douglas Brown of Scotland officiating. The bride, who was given away by her brother, Mr. Raymond Patterson, looked charming in a gown of white crepe de chine. She wore the customary veil caught up with orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of roses and sweet peas. Little Miss Muriel Jamieson, niece of the bride, made a dainty flower girl, wearing a hand-embroidered gown. The wedding music was played by the groom's sister, Miss Alice Kite, and during the signing of the register, Miss Eva Robinson of Woodstock sang "Because," accompanied by Miss C. E. Kite. The ceremony the guests repaired to the dining-room, which was tastefully decorated in pink and white, where a delightful dinner was served by six girls friends of the bride.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and useful gifts. Later the bride and groom left in a noisy honeymoon, the bride traveling in a navy blue suit with hat, plain match. On their return, Mr. and Mrs. Kite will reside in Tillsonburg.

At a recent presentation in Kingston of the attractive musical extravaganza, "Queen Zephra," several Londoners took part, among them being Miss Francesca Poulter, in several ballet dances, Miss Doris Brown, Mrs. E. A. Drake, formerly Eleanor A. Husbands.

Sheeting and pillowcases may be brought of bleached or unbleached muslin, the latter cheaper and wearing longer, but not so attractive until many washings have bleached it. Twilled, unbleached muslin is excellent for sheets for children's beds. (Copyright, 1921, by the Metropolitan Newspaper Service.)

DECLARES AGAINST

PHILANTHROPIC WORK ON A LARGE SCALE

Mrs. Ellen Burnard Expresses Radical Opinion At Women's Librarian League.

Declaring herself opposed to philanthropic work on a large scale, a Social Worker, Mrs. Ellen Burnard, Librarian League, recently, Mrs. Ellen Burnard expressed the opinion that too much philanthropy tended to degrade and demoralize the recipient. "Work not patronage should be the aim of true benevolence," she said.

The expression of this viewpoint, was part of a discussion which followed an address on "The New Individualism," by Mrs. Albert J. Rowell, who defined individualism as the realization of self. As the Socratic dictum, "Know Thyself" was written over the portals of the ancient world's learning, so would the modern dictum, "Know Thyself," be written over the portals of the new world, said the speaker.

Individualism was the essence of Christianity, in contrast to the selfless ideas of Buddhism and other Nirvanic philosophies, she stated. An economic ideal prevailed in the world today, but moral and artistic ideals would prevail tomorrow. Art is the expression of the beautiful and perceived by a particular soul. When an artist consults the demands of the public, he ceases to be an artist. Just so, when we sacrifice to society's vulgar, conventional and artificial standards, rather than to the dictates of his own conscience, he ceases to be moral.

CAMP AT PORT BRUCE.
There are just one or two articles which are needed to make the Y. W. C. A. camp at Port Bruce more attractive. The camp site itself could not be improved on, nor could the splendid tents and cottages there, to be opened for the use of the girls on June 25. It seems strange, but one of the things most needed is a "baby carriage"—not for the allying of any infant who may find the camp attractive, but for the groceries from the village. Better still would be an express cart, and of course, the girls wouldn't object to the presentation of a horse and cart, or even a Ford. A "baby carriage" is merely suggested as the most likely gift. Old dishes, particularly plates, pitchers and odd dishes, are also in demand. A base—some other things which the girls would be delighted to make use of at camp. And it is hinted that if someone wants to make a really wonderful gift there are several girls in the city longing to go to camp. If money (a mere matter of $12.50 to pay their two week's board and transportation) were paid for them, a garden has been planted at the camp, and already half of the acre of ground which belongs to it under cultivation, and camp officers report that peas, beans, rhubarb, are up.

There will be three girls' camps, one opening on June 25, the next on July 23, and the third on August 6. The time will be spent in the carrying out of a splendidly worked-out camp program, which will include Bible study, nature study, swimming, etc.

FOR LOVE OF BETTY

LXXII—THE PAWNED RING

Davon hesitated. Then his face cleared. For April was with Trevor now. He could commiserate with April. He visited Trevor in his illness or wrote to him if April Moore were acting guardian angel?

"Dragon would be a better title for her," he reflected, with a wry little smile. April would keep a sharp watch over Trevor.

"Of course, I can give you Trevor's address, and was just about to write to him," said Davon.

Betty had drawn a small, hard package from her pocket and was holding it tightly clasped between her fingers. "I want to return this to him," she said slowly. "I don't want to hurt his feelings," went on Betty. "But I haven't got the right to keep this any longer. Besides—she drew heavily on a pathetic little air of pride—"I don't want it any more—after all that's happened."

Davon, burning inwardly with curiosity, yet pretended not to notice with her. He was busy scribbling an address upon a card.

Then he handed the bit of pasteboard to the girl beside him.

"This is a jewel just now—that address will find him," he nonchalantly remarked.

He flung a surreptitious glance at the little package in Betty's hand. It was a small, square, of course he guessed it was a ring!

"Wonder if it's worth much?" he asked himself greedily. "But, of course, it will be valuable—Trevor was always ridiculously generous—he had the means to be, confound him!"

Betty was staring also at the little package. It tore her heart to part with it—the emblem of a dead and bygone love.

"I wonder," she said aloud, as though forgetful of the presence of the man beside her—"I wonder if I dare trust it to the post?"

Davon cleared his throat. This situation would require careful handling. Betty might not be altogether the trusting little simpleton that she looked.

"I don't want to seem inquisitive," he said, "and, of course, it isn't my affair—but if you want advice from me—"

He paused, the correct amount of solicitude in his eyes. Betty looked up at him and caught that carefully planned look. How kind it was of Mr. Davon to want to help her! Surely she had misjudged him! He was the past.

"Would you advise me to register the little parcel?" she asked anxiously. A man of the world would certainly know all the safe places.

Davon shook his head.

"If it contains anything valuable, you must take the very greatest of precautions," he began.

"What ought I to do, then?" A little tremor was in Betty's lips. In sending back the ring to Trevor it seemed as though she were rupturing the last link between them!

The city's work deepened on Davon's face. How she was playing into his hands, this little country girl!

"You ought to insure it, of course," he said, abruptly.

"I hardly liked to insure anything so valuable at our little postoffice. They might wonder—"

"Then take it to New York," went on Davon, calmly.

Betty hesitated. Her recent memories of New York had been so miserable. . . . she couldn't possibly go there a second time, and on such an errand. . . . the very thought of it was torture.

Davon saw the trouble on her face, and inwardly rejoiced. The seed was sown—and he would reap the fruit!

"I'll take it for you, if you care to let me," he airily volunteered. "I'm going to town at five o'clock—or sooner."

"Oh, if you would—"

At Betty's words the heart of Davon pounded joyously. He had guessed the trusting little creature would give in! "It won't be any trouble—I'll see that it is properly insured, and dispatched to Trevor this very evening," he observed.

"Mr. Davon—tell me—you don't think that the returning of this gift—would upset Mr. Trevor—put back his recovery?" Her lips were trembling.

Davon turned and faced her.

"Certainly not, I can assure you," he remarked, abruptly. "You're doing the right thing, my dear Miss Gordon—precisely what any girl of spirit would do, under the circumstances."

As he took his leave of Betty, the packet securely in his pocket, he breathed a sigh of relief. The moment he was alone he opened it.

"Whew! A regular beauty!" he murmured, as the pearl ring in all its misty splendor lay revealed before him. "Charlie Davon, you're in luck, my friend!"

Two hours later he arrived at a certain well-known New York pawnshop. He frequently had been in the presence of the affable gentleman behind the counter. You can have two hundred and fifty dollars on this.

Davon beamed as he relinquished Betty's packet.

The affable gentleman thrust a paw at the ring and a roll of notes into his hand.

Davon counted them over carefully. "Yes, two hundred and fifty dollars, exactly," he remarked exultantly. "Better take voice," Jack Trevor's gesture toward Miss Betty Gordon would keep me—for at least a week!"

Tomorrow—"Calling for Betty."

Cynthia Grey's Mail-Box

"A man's character is like his shadow, which sometimes follows and sometimes precedes him, and which is occasionally longer, occasionally shorter than he is."—Shakespeare.

Don't You Believe It?
Dear Miss Grey and All the Boxites—Received your sleeper pattern all O. K. Many thanks for same. Am sorry I kept the pattern so long, but have been busy. But am cutting off three patterns, one for myself and two extra for Mail-Box use. So hope to be forgiven. Mrs. J. W. B. I saw your letter requesting the crochet patterns. Am sorry, but received by same mail a letter from Miss Grey to forward patterns to a lady in the Listowel, so as soon as she is done and returns to Mail-Box you may have them. They now belong to Miss Grey.

Say Boxites, don't you believe that Miss Grey is a man? I wonder if I for one am not afraid of them. Could anyone furnish me with the words of "Lizzie Dies Tonight, Mother?" I used to play it twenty years ago, when I was a girl and my girls would like to get it. I wonder if anyone has more dainty bulbs than they want. But they have would they spare me a few? My address is with Miss Grey, if any answers. Hoping to see this in print.

Dear Miss Grey—I saw in Saturday's paper where Kiddle Cowboy was offering some clothes that were too small for her sister and I am not too late I would like to get them. I have been thinking of them for some time. Also someone, I think it was Happy Mother, was offering quilt patches and I am a little short of either kind, hope you won't think it a good idea when you have time to provide for it takes a lot. If anyone has a few knitted edgings or simple crochet edgings I would like them for pick-up work when I am waiting for lay to come to work. I am a girl and my girls would like to get it. I wonder if anyone has more dainty bulbs than they want. But they have would they spare me a few? My address is with Miss Grey, if any answers. Hoping to see this in print.

PUSHED FROM TRAIN ALLEGED STATEMENT MADE BY BRAKEMAN

Aged Man Dies As Result of Falling Over a Rope.

BRANTFORD, April 26.—It is reported that L. Kirby, the Toronto brakeman, who was fatally injured in a train accident at Paris on Sunday night, made a signed statement in the hospital here before he died. He declared that he had been pushed from the train as it pulled out of the Paris station. An inquest has been ordered for Friday night.

Fall Proves Fatal.

Falling over a rope on Peel street, William H. Willis, aged 86 years, hit the cement walk and was rendered unconscious. His injury proved fatal, and he died at his home, 75 Arthur street, an hour later. Deceased had poor eyesight and did not see the rope which telephone men had stretched across the walk. The firemen will be important witnesses in the inquest which is to be held.

During the past day or two the police court has seen over ten drunks, each of whom was creating disturbances in the streets. One was fined $100 for carrying a bottle. The circumstance is unusual, one or two drunks a day being the limit.

Appealing For $3,000.

Kiwanda, Rotarians, Knight of Columbus and other community service organizations united today in canvassing the city for funds for the local veterans' organizations, which have appealed for $3,000 to carry on sick and relief work. Definite results of the canvass in which over 100 campaigners took part, were not known tonight, but the captains are positive that the objective will be reached early tomorrow.

Ponsford of Portsmouth Penitentiary says it is not true that according to a dispatch from London, Ont., Denton Garfield, who is serving a 21-year sentence in the penitentiary for complicity in the murder in Woodstock, for which his brother Norman is awaiting execution, is in a precarious state of health, owing to his remorse over his betrayal of Norman at the trial. The warden stated today that Denton Garfield had been in the prison hospital for some days after his admission to the penal institution, but was now in good health and attending to his work daily. The warden said Denton's illness was not due to worry.

ASHPLANT MAKES FORMAL APOLOGY TO LEGISLATURE FOR STATEMENTS

Denies That He Intended the Interpretation Placed On His Remarks.

ATTACKS REPORTERS

Ashplant Thinks News Is Often Colored by Newspapermen.

[By Staff Reporter.]

TORONTO, March 26.—Flat denial by H. B. Ashplant that he had intimidated the Ontario Legislature "could and might be bribed to pass the City Gas bill" was accepted by the privileges and elections committee of the Legislature today, after Mr. Ashplant had made a definite statement to the effect that he was sincerely sorry any such interpretation had been placed upon his remarks was recorded in the minutes, and the case was closed.

Mr. Ashplant himself was the principal witness, but Mayor Little, Aldermen F. E. Harley, G. B. Drake, B. F. Brighton and W. A. Wilson also gave evidence.

After all the evidence had been heard, J. W. Curry, K.C., Southeast Toronto, asked: "Did Mr. Ashplant go as far as to say that if anything he did was capable of that interpretation that he desired to withdraw it, and is sorry for having so expressed himself?"

"No, he did not go that far," replied Chairman Brackin. "Perhaps he would now," suggested T. W. Ferguson, Government counsel, "say that he did not desire his words to convey the interpretation or be interpreted in the manner they have been interpreted, and if they are capable of that interpretation then he is sorry."

Denies Statement.
"Well, I am just exactly in the position that I started out," replied Mr. Ashplant. "I distinctly deny that I used the words that have been attributed to me in the Globe, the first paragraph of which seems to have been the basis of the charges, or that I made use of that phraseology."

"But there is this position, that there does not seem to be the slightest use of getting away from the fact that certain members of the council took certain ideas from what I did say, whatever I said. Well, now, I am in just this position on that, that I am sincerely sorry that any such interpretation of what I said should ever have been published as appeared in the Globe."

Mr. Curry—No, no. You are sorry for having made use of any words in respect to which any such interpretation could be based.

Formal Apology.
Mr. Ferguson—And if any such interpretation should be placed upon any words of yours that you desire to withdraw and express your regret for having used them.

Mr. Ashplant—Certainly. Mr. Curry—You say certainly, but you do not do it.

R. L. Brackin, chairman, suggested that the apology be drawn up by Mr. Curry in the words that it had been originally suggested, and that Mr. Ashplant should sign it. Mr. Ashplant acquiesced, declaring, "I am quite willing to say what you have said." But, the committee taking the view that the assent of Mr. Ashplant to the apology as stated was already a matter of record on the verbatim evidence, the formal apology was taken as read into the record.

First Witness.
H. B. Ashplant was first called. He asked whether it was a trial or investigation, and was told by Chairman Brackin that it was an investigation, and that he was entitled to counsel. He waived this.

On being sworn he stated that he attended the city council meeting on March 7 to follow up the matter of the increased gas prices. He spoke in connection with the proposed bill to increase the capitalization of the City Gas Company.

Mr. Ferguson, Government counsel, then read the report of Ashplant's address as it appeared in the Toronto Globe. He asked if it was a correct summary of his remarks. Mr. Ashplant declared it was inaccurate. He denied that there was a stormy session as the report declared. It was inaccurate in respect that he made no statement but merely a "gentle inquiry," as recorded in The Advertiser.

Did Not Make Statement.
He uttered no such sentiments as "the Legislature could and might be bribed." He did not introduce Mr. McCrea's name in the same relation as reported in the Toronto Globe. He admitted mentioning the sum of $10,000 to $15,000 bonus stock. He merely mentioned the possibility that the company would have bonus stock at its disposal to use legitimately in the furtherance of its end. The Globe reporter did not get his meaning correctly.

"Did you suggest that McCrea might be asked to accept stock?" he was asked.

that it was a "gentle inquiry," as recorded in its account. "The gentlest word is often the hardest," remarked Mr. Ferguson. He was asked if he could explain how the reporters would get the impression which they recorded. He said that the reports were just rough generalizations. "How did you think that $15,000 could be legitimately expended by the company in your case?" he asked through the fact that it was generally known that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association spends one to two million dollars in influencing tariff legislation. He supposed the gas company could do the same thing.

Brackin Presses Question.
"Did you intend to convey that the $15,000 could be legitimately expended or otherwise?" Chairman Brackin asked. "I didn't even say they might," he replied. Mr. Brackin pressed the question, and Ashplant replied: "Legitimately if at all."

"What was could they use it legitimately to get a bill through the Legislature?" was the next question. "By local propaganda," he replied. "There was nothing said by me, that being rightly interpreted, could mean that the Legislature could or might be bribed. But they might get the impression that corporations do that. They deliberately misstated the facts," asked Mr. Ferguson.

Color the News.
"Unfortunately, yes," he replied. "It is my conviction that reporters get many public men into trouble by coloring news."

Mayor Little's evidence practically substantiated the newspaper accounts of the meeting. Mr. Ashplant cross-examined him, asked if the mayor had any personal antipathy towards him. "None whatever," replied the mayor. "Have you changed your opinion since you advertised me in connection with Lenin and Trotsky?" Mr. Ashplant asked.

"I have nothing against you personally," the mayor replied. "In answer to another question the mayor said that he considered Mr. Ashplant a danger to the community in his official capacity. "Why?" asked Mr. Ashplant. "Because of your views," was the reply.

"On what?" he asked next. "Socialism," stated the mayor. Mr. Ashplant sought to pursue this line further, but the committee ruled it was irrelevant. Ald. Harley, Drake, W. A. Wilson and Brighton corroborated the mayor's evidence.

Ald. W. A. Wilson asked Chairman Brackin who would pay the aldermen's expenses in connection with their trip to Toronto. Mr. Brackin replied that it was likely the provincial treasurer would furnish the money if it was found that the provincial budget was not already too heavily burdened.

The investigation of Andrew Hicks' statements at a U. C. picnic in London, were continued. Mr. Fox, South Essex, was called. He said there was some foundation for Hicks' believing what he did. Mr. Fox had spoken to him of an offer which an American firm made to settle a case out of court in connection with land damages at Pelee Island. The township was offered $50,000 in a perfectly proper and legal manner. He did not intend to convey the impression that there was anything wrong.

The case was not finally closed, as there is another witness to be heard.

Taylor Case Short.
It did not take the committee long to dispose of the case of D. J. Taylor, U. F. O. member for North Grey, who went into the box to say that an unknown man had come to him to say that he could make $1,000 if he, Taylor, would use his influence to have one George Menzies appointed vice-chairman of the workers' compensation board.

Mr. Taylor produced a letter from W. Wilcox, a former constituent, now a resident of Detroit, who said it was he who made the proposition, and that it had been turned down.

"During the election," said the letter, "I heard conflicting stories about you, and so I took the trouble to call on you for the sole purpose of testing you, out as to your honesty in political matters. I was not asked by any person to see or make any offer to you, but did so entirely of my own bat."

The case of R. Reece Hall, Parry Sound, against the Toronto Evening Telegram was deemed not to be a matter with which the committee could deal insofar as the article which appeared in the Telegram regarding Mr. Hall's connection with the building of the Parry Sound dam made no reflection on him as a member of the Legislature.

The committee also declined to deal with the matter arising out of the charge made by C. F. Swayze of Niagara Falls that M. M. MacBride, M. A. South Brant, was insincere in his efforts to settle the strike of the hydro development at Chippewa last summer.

CHICAGO ENGINEER APPROVES HYDRO'S PLANS

Says Facilities Planned Are of Unusually High Grade.

TORONTO, April 26.—Bion J. Arnold of Chicago, consulting engineer, and electric railway expert, giving evidence here today before the Government commission inquiring into the radial railway projects of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission, not only approved of the proposed radials, but added that the facilities planned by the hydro-electric power commission were of unusually high grade. The revenue should, under normal economic conditions, Mr. Arnold said, carry all operating and fixed charges, and in future the surplus should have a substantial growth.

Mr. Arnold suggested an elevated line from the radial terminals at the foot of Bay street, this city, to Front street, and then a subway to Queen street, with a station at King street. This, he said, would enable the radials to bring passengers right to the heart of the city. Mr. Arnold figured the cost of the subway at $3,600,000.

74TH DAY OF PROBE.

TORONTO, April 26.—The 74th day of the hydro probe opened at Osgoode Hall today with the calling of Bion J. Arnold, the noted Chicago consulting engineer, who prepared a lengthy report for the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario on the proposed hydro-electric railways.

Mr. Arnold's conclusion, after an exhaustive study of the project, to build the Toronto, Hamilton and St. Catharines Line, the Toronto Eastern, the Toronto Suburban, the Hamilton, Galt and Elmira, the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Lines. "The project, as set forth in my report, is as a whole," he concluded, "feasible, and, if constructed and operated under proper management, with the support of the communities served, its success can be reasonably expected."

UNEMPLOYED CONFERENCE.

TORONTO, April 26.—John Doggett, John Munro and Harry Kerwin this afternoon conferred with the Labor members of the Legislature regarding the unemployed situation.

Another meeting will be held on Friday morning, when plans for dealing with the industrial situation throughout Ontario will be discussed.

CRIPPLED YOUTH, QUITE HELPLESS, HELD UNDER O. T. A.

ST. THOMAS, April 26.—The recommendations made by Warden McKillop and C. St. Clair Leitch, county counsel, to the attorney-general that Lawrence Crawford, Port Burwell, who is locked up in the county jail, crippled and needing the attention of a high-priced attendant, be allowed out on parole, has been turned down by the department. The attorney-general declines to interfere and suggests that the local authorities move for release. The people of Port Burwell sent in a petition asking for clemency. Crawford's attendant is receiving $100 a month during the stay of the accused in the county jail. The young man will have to stay out his sentence of three months if the local O. T. A. officials have anything to say in the matter.

An Open Letter to the

Hon. E. C. Drury

Premier of Ontario

and to the

Members of the Ontario Legislature

RE the Lake of the Woods Control Board BILL. By the terms of this BILL Ontario is asked to sacrifice approximately one-fourth of the utilisable water power capacity of the Winnipeg and English Rivers in Ontario.

As an inducement, Ontario is given an equal representation of two members on the board.

By the terms of this BILL every member of the BOARD IS COMMANDED TO VOTE for the dependable flow, which means voting against the utilisable flow. In other words, to waste deliberately or to destroy about one-fourth of the water power capacity in the Kenora District which is now available for industrial development.

The reason assigned for this legislation is the fact that the Dominion Government has the control of navigation. But no method of control under the power of navigation has been proposed that is as bad as this BILL.

We fear that the facts are not as fully known as they should be to members of the Ontario Legislature. Hence this public announcement.

If the Lake of the Woods Control Board BILL becomes law, it establishes an irrevocable agreement between the Province of Ontario and the Dominion Government to deliberately waste water power and electrical energy (which Ontario can ill-afford), and which should provide a great revenue in water rentals. It would also handicap industries which are developing in Northwestern Ontario.

Our contention is not only sincere; it is borne out by the report of the engineers of the International Commission (see page 216 of their report).

The House of Commons at Ottawa, led by the Right Honorable Arthur Meighen, have read the Lake of the Woods Control BILL a second time.

But since it cannot become law without a similar BILL receiving assent from the Ontario Legislature—

We earnestly request that the Members of the Ontario Legislature defer action upon this BILL, and consider carefully the danger of establishing a precedent that permits one Province (through the Dominion Government) to encroach upon the rights of another.

Kenora District and Northwestern Ontario is on the threshold of its commercial development. Population is being attracted to the district, employment is being stimulated and naturally the people are greatly exercised at the prospect of any legislation that shall hamper their industrial progression, particularly when the attempt is being made by another Province, aided by the Dominion Government.

While the majority of members of Ontario's Provincial Government represent agricultural constituencies, we believe they will guard the welfare of Ontario's industries.

Therefore, we humbly beseech the Members of the Ontario Provincial Assembly (whether representing rural or industrial constituencies) to refrain from hasty action upon the BILL that is now before them, and to consider whether the interests of the people of Ontario would not be better served if it was withdrawn altogether.

The Technical Facts of the Matter Are These:

The Consulting Engineers of the International Joint Commission worked out two methods of controlling the outflow of the Lake of the Woods into the Winnipeg River. One they call the dependable flow, and the other the utilisable flow.

They say that the utilisable flow develops 27 per cent to 31 per cent more power than the dependable flow.

The dependable flow method wastes the 27 per cent to 31 per cent, and runs it off in flood time.

The utilisable flow is in use at every power plant where there is no water to waste.

The dependable flow method is cheaper to develop. The BILL specifies the dependable flow method because the Winnipeg Street Railway and other power interests on the Winnipeg River, in Manitoba, desire to use the method that wastes water and saves cost of development.

The people of Ontario desire to use the utilisable flow because it develops more power—and Ontario has no power to waste. Either method will give constantly more than the natural low flow, and be beneficial to everybody.

The dependable flow sacrifices, on the Winnipeg River, over 20,000 horsepower of utilisable power in Ontario, and over 75,000 horsepower of utilisable power in Manitoba.

PAYMENTS LEGAL SAYS SIR ADAM IN STATEMENT MADE TO PRESS

Government's Sanction Given To the Salaries Paid Hydro Commissioners.

PROVINCE'S SHARE SMALL

Most of Salary Is Provided by Municipalities Interested in Service.

[By Staff Reporter.]

TORONTO, April 26.—There is only a bare legal objection to his accepting a salary as president of the Ontario Power Company, Sir Adam Beck declared in a statement issued here tonight in reply to Attorney-General W. E. Raney's statement in the Legislature Monday.

"I assume the attorney-general does not object to my being paid the salary, and if he does not there only remains the bare legal objection upon which the lawyers differ," he said.

Sir Adam's Statement.

The complete statement follows:

"I have read the statement of the attorney-general made in the House last night, to the effect that the $6,000 paid to me as president, and the payments to other commissioners, officers and officials of the Ontario Power Company are, in the opinion of the attorney-general, unauthorized and illegal.

"The legal advisers of the Ontario Power Company differ from the view of the attorney-general.

"They advise that the annual payment to me, and the payments to other commissioners, officers and officials of the Ontario Power Company are perfectly regular, proper and legal.

"In any event, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission of Ontario now hold and control all stock of the Ontario Power Company.

"Who Can Challenge. "Under these circumstances, I am curious to know who can have any status in challenging the validity of these various payments—unless, indeed, it is the attorney-general himself. "I am more concerned with the merits than I am with the technical legal questions. The well-defined policy of the hydro municipalities is 'service at cost.'

"The pursuance of this policy some years ago the interested municipalities passed a resolution requesting amendments to the hydro act providing for payment as operating expenses to the commissioners up to $25,000 a year. Legislation followed this resolution, but limited the amount to be paid to the commissioners to $15,000.

Situation in 1917.

"This was the situation when, in 1917, the Hydro-Electric Power Commission acquired the controlling interest in the capital stock of the Ontario Power Company by purchase of the shares of that company in Buffalo. At that time a new board of directors of the company was elected, and I, as chairman of the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, was elected president. Since then the business of the Ontario Power Company has been carried on as a separate undertaking of that company.

"It is now being so carried on. All contracts and engagements with customers, including the Hydro-Electric Power Commission, are being carried out as company transactions, in the same manner as they were carried out prior to the purchase of the shares. This involves the performance of all duties and all the work of those who prior to that time had been the officials and officers of the company.

Bylaw Approved.

"After the commission acquired the shares, as above, a proper bylaw, as I am advised, was passed with the knowledge and approval of the then Government, providing for additional remuneration to myself, as president of the company, and proper bylaws for the payment of the other commissioners and officials of the company have since been duly passed. The effect of these payments by the Ontario Power Company is to place the burden of the payments and of the cost on the municipalities which receive the service.

"I assume that the attorney-general does not object to this, and if he does not object to my being paid the salary, there only remains the bare legal objection.

NEARLY CRAZY WITH ECZEMA

No rest day or night for those who are afflicted with that terrible skin disease, eczema, or as it is often called, salt rheum.

With its unbearable burning, itching and torturing relief is gladly welcomed. There is no remedy like Burdock Blood Bitters for giving relief to such sufferers; no remedy that has done, or can do more for those who are almost driven to distraction with the terrible torture. Apply it externally and it takes out the stinging, itching and burning, and promotes a healthy healing.

Take it internally and it gets at the source of the disease in the blood—for eczema is a blood disease—and drives it out of the system.

Miss L. M. Boutillier, 89 Victoria Road, Halifax, N. S., writes: "I have suffered for years from eczema. I could not rest day or night. I suffered great agony, and was nearly crazy with the itching and burning. I used all kinds of salves, but nothing seemed to help me. I saw Burdock Blood Bitters advertised, and was advised to try a bottle. I found great relief, and I really cannot recommend it highly enough for what it has done for me."

jection, upon which, as I have already stated, the lawyers differ.

Province Only Pays $1,100. "Under the present arrangement, and as the accounts are now charged, the province contributes only a total of $1,100 towards the salaries of the commissioners, on account of the administration of the part of the commission of the Central Ontario system owned by the province of Ontario, the balance being charged to operation and paid by the interested municipalities.

"As to the statements of the attorney-general with reference to the production of the minute books of the Ontario Power Company.

"On August 11, 1920, the attorney-general wrote to the secretary of the company, asking that the minute books of the company be sent to him at the Parliament Buildings by the messenger delivering the above-mentioned letter.

"The secretary replied to the above letter stating that he was unable to let the minute books out of the office without the authority of the board of directors, but that a meeting of the directors would be called at the earliest moment.

"On August 11, 1920, the directors met and the communication of the attorney-general was placed before them and the Hon. D. Carmichael was requested to see the attorney-general with respect to this matter.

"On the 11th of August the secretary of the company wrote a letter to the attorney-general advising of the result of the meeting of the board of directors, and that Mr. Carmichael had been requested to call on him.

"On August 13, the secretary received a letter from the deputy attorney-general, stating that the company's letter of August 5 had been received and stated that it was receiving attention.

"On August 17 the secretary communicated with the attorney-general by telephone, and advised him that he had been instructed by the directors to say that the minute books of the company could be taken up to his office where he would have an opportunity to look them over and take extracts, and that the company were anxious to meet his wishes as far as possible. The attorney-general stated that all matter could stand for the present, and he probably would communicate further about the middle or end of the week.

"The secretary dictated a memo of this conversation for the files, immediately following the conversation.

COMPACT BETWEEN ITALY AND KEMAL PASHA IS REVEALED

While Greece Fights Desperately Rome Arranges to Neutralize Efforts

A SECRET AGREEMENT

Turks Said To Be Using Italian Munitions in Operations Against Greeks.

PARIS, April 26.—The astonishing fact is revealed that while Greece is fighting in Anatolia to enforce the terms of the treaty of Sevres, signed by the allies, one of the allies, Italy, is bound by a secret treaty with the Turkish Nationalists to see that Greece does not get that for which she is fighting. Mustafa Kemal's Turkish armies. This agreement between Rome and Ankara was arranged at London last month between Count Sforza, the foreign minister for Italy, and Bekir Sarik, representing Kemal. It was known that at the time the French signed the agreement with the Turkish Nationalists, which was announced, providing for peace in Cilicia, the Italians had signed some sort of compact. The latter was not even communicated to the other allies, and in the last week the English Government, perhaps acting for Greece, instructed its minister at Rome to find out what was in the accord.

Italy Gets Concessions.

It can now be stated that the salient points of the Italian-Turkish agreement are as follows: "The two governments at Rome and Ankara have in view Italian-Turkish economic collaboration with the right of priority for concessions of an economic character to be accorded in the Sanjak of Adana, Mezra, Bourdour and Sivas, and in the Sanjak of Afium, Karahisar and Kutahia, which will be determined when the accord becomes definite, as well as in the coal basin of Aferesia, so far as the above-mentioned concessions are given by the Ottoman Government to Ottoman subjects, with Ottoman capital.

When the concessions contain privileges monopoly they shall be exploited by societies formed according to Ottoman law.

"Ottoman capital shall be assisted as largely as possible with Italian capital. Ottoman participation may reach 50 per cent of the total.

"The Royal Government of Italy pledges itself to support effectively in relations to its allies all demands of the Turkish delegation relative to the peace treaty, and especially restitution to Turkey of Smyrna and Thrace.

"This part of the agreement involves the withdrawal of Italian troops which still remain in Ottoman territory.

"The foregoing disposition will come into effect as a result of a convention to be concluded between the two contracting parties immediately after the consummation of peace assuring Turkey a free and independent existence."

It might be mentioned that the full text of this French agreement with Armenia has not been published. One thing it did was to liberate 30,000 Turkish troops on the Cilician border for other uses.

It would not be surprising if other nations have something to say about the final carrying out of the Italian plans, which would not exactly conduce to maintenance of the open door policy in Turkey, a policy to which, incidentally, the Washington Government has recently shown devotion.

Sadatechi Uchida, former Japanese minister at Stockholm, left Paris today to take up his duties as Japanese minister to Constantinople. Tokio announces his mission is to protect Japanese interests in Turkey.

The latest dispatches say the Turks are preparing a new assault against the Greeks. They are said to be using Italian missions.

FARMERS ANXIOUS TO RESUME SEEDING

Wallaceburg, April 26.—The farmers all through this district have been greatly delayed by the heavy rains which made it impossible for them to get on the land. The turn to warmer weather is bringing everything along splendidly.

The crops promise well and a feeling of optimism is noticeable all through the country.

The death occurred yesterday in St. Joseph's Hospital, Chatham, of Mrs. Anita Joyce, aged 28, of Wallaceburg. She came here from Scotland three years ago. She was the wife of Edward Joyce, and surviving relatives are one son, Billy, 6 years old; one daughter, Kathleen, 2 years of age. Interment will be made in St. Anthony's Cemetery on Wednesday morning.

Vaughn Ayers and Lawrence Martin left for Italy, where they will take up the study of music. They expect to be absent for two years.

Just What "United Welfare Fund" Means---

Last year the United Welfare Fund campaign was launched for the first time in London. It was a success.

Funds, sufficient to look after the maintenance of all of the various Welfare Associations requiring financial support from the public, were raised in one drive, as well as substantial sums for building expenditures, which were a second charge on the amount subscribed.

Citizens were asked to pool the money they give each year to these causes and make it in one donation. In most instances, they did. The donations were made and distributed in a business-like way. Citizens were not asked again during the year for further subscriptions.

This year again citizens are being given the opportunity of making their donations to the many Welfare causes of the city in one sum.

The fifteen Welfare Institutions, Societies and Organizations of the city have come together under one head—The United Welfare Fund Association. Each institution or organization has laid before a committee of experienced financial men their financial needs for the coming year. The committee has investigated these needs, and the estimates of the various organizations have been pruned and adjusted to the lowest possible figure—and the budget approved at a general meeting on April 25, is as follows:

Young Men's Christian Association	$24,000
Young Women's Christian Association	13,500

TIGER'S BITING
SARCASMS ANENT
TREATY MAKERS

Bitter References by Clemenceau in Preface to Andre Tardieu's Book.

SUCCESS BRED ENVY

Men Who Undertook Task Were Unequal to Occasion.

Paris, April 26.—M. Clemenceau has broken his promise for the first time since he gave up power. L'Illustration will publish tomorrow a long extract from the preface the old Tiger has written for Tardieu's book on "The Peace Treaty." Dismissing to reply directly to the bitter personal attacks which he has been the subject, Clemenceau does not spare sarcasm both for the critics of the treaty and for those who succeeded him at the helm of the French interests. Tardieu's book, he declares, is a successful effort to put on record the facts about the treaty, though the negotiators themselves need no defence, at least so far as France is concerned, after having received the almost unanimous approval of Parliament and the country.

The premier hints that the source of the attacks on the treaty in many cases is envy because "we did not associate in the negotiations men whose views, caused ill-feeling which was bound to break out later for nothing is forgiven less easily than success, especially when there are wounds in the heart of him who criticizes."

Then the Tiger deals a sharp blow at his successor's excuses for the failure to administer the treaty with success. "It is the poor workman who blames his tools," he says, "and accordingly began to denounce, first the treaty itself, and secondly, the personalities of those who had drawn it up."

They fail to realize that "a war won by four cannot result in a peace dictated by one." The inevitable compromises were bound to cause some dissatisfaction, but it is remarkable that the criticism has been almost entirely confined to certain clauses taken away from the context, whereas the treaty really must be judged altogether. Moreover, no matter what have been the objections in France to this or that point of the treaty, the fact remains that its critics here, after having proposed its rejection or tried to discredit it, have come back to the demands "rigorous execution" even when "they were willing to whittle down its conditions to our detriment under pressure of German bluff."

Clemenceau continues that the treaty of Versailles can be nothing but a prolongation of the war's activities until its complete execution. The only possible exception to this is the nullifying of Germany's defeat and even Keynes does not go so far as that. He recalls the prodigious spirit of victory which the work of making the treaty was begun, the treaty which was itself to be "a prodigy of organized peace."

It was something of the spirit which inspired the Allies on July 4 in the last year of the war, when as Lloyd George stood by him watching the American troops march into the Washington statue, the British premier said, smiling: "Do you know that you have just made me take part in the celebration of England's greatest defeat?"

"Clemenceau replied: 'If national pride makes you still regret that defeat I am sure that you have nothing to regret from this day. After all what harm has been done to you by this American independence, which the Canadian Ambassador and New Zealand daily approaching?' There are more old scores than that between your flag and mine, and yet I salute it each day on the front with my whole heart." Turning to practical considerations of the present Clemenceau issues a solemn warning against the danger of a "weak policy of postponement." He shows Germany raising her head encouraged by a German delegate to "cure themselves of the malady of victory" before the debate began. Yet the conference was not broken up. An apology was not even demanded from the beast in delirium, though perhaps these worthy boches should rather receive our thanks for the excess of frankness which can hardly leave us illusions about the German state of mind.

In the future France must set herself without shrinking to execute the treaty and maintain her right, for concludes Clemenceau, "to be master of the future one must forget oneself. The hammer and anvil are there. Let us see that the arms are."

Must Tear Out Booths. King Lee, proprietor of the Savoy Cafe, posted notice of coming booths in his restaurant, if he is to secure a renewal of his license, the city council declared, following a recommendation from the finance committee.

King Lee recently brought unsuccessful action in the courts to compel the city to allow spooning booths in his cafe to remain, in face of a bylaw passed by the council banning the booths.

Members of the transportation committee of the council were instructed to bring in a report outlining recommendations for the operation of jitneys and buses in some of the outlying districts of the city with a view to providing transportation facilities for those districts.

Windsor's tax rate for 1921 will be 28 mills, the recommendation of the finance committee urging this rate being approved by the council.

Telephone Dupes and Jean Lebert, both of Windsor, were acquitted on a charge of the theft of fifteen cases of liquor by Magistrate W. E. Gundy yesterday, the complaint being laid by Alfred Gagnon of Tilbury North. Three further charges of carrying concealed weapons, resisting a police officer, and having liquor illegally, have been placed against Dupes and Lebert by Gundy Inspector Stone. Magistrate Gundy remanded them in their chambers, but admitted them to bail of $1,250 each.

License Inspector William Joseph Connor, with his squad, Monday in no less than a raid seized 1,400 cases of whiskey, valued at $85,000 bootleg prices. More than half the whiskey was seized when Inspector Connor halted three motor trucks that were traveling break-neck speed from a railway siding. The trucks, Mr. Connor states, were stacked high with whiskey cases, and the drivers evidently had not made much effort to conceal the nature of their goods. The two other large seizures were made at the Canadian and Dominion Express companies' warehouse. The liquor had just arrived, Inspector Connor states, under suspicious circumstances.

Essex Reports Larger Acreage in Corn and Tomatoes.

MORE LIVE STOCK

Low Price of Grains Will Tend to Encourage Heavier Production.

The following is a summary of reports made by the agricultural representatives to the Ontario department of agriculture.

Wet weather during the week has been delaying seeding and other field operations. The spring crops already in, however, have been given an excellent start.

Fall wheat is doing well, taking the province as a whole, especially in those counties where the crop is most general.

Clover, except where badly heaved, is also presenting a good appearance, although Grey reports some plowing under of the crop.

Essex reports cherries and peaches in full bloom, and with little or no damage from the weather.

Norfolk reports that cherry and plum blossoms have suffered nearly 50 per cent damage from frost and black current blossoms from 10 to 20 per cent.

The Essex representative is of the opinion that more early tomatoes and cucumbers will be raised this year, on account of the slump in tobacco values.

Halton speaks of some farmers in that county who will grow sunflowers for ensilage this year.

Milch cows in Leeds are selling from $80 to $150. Good milkers in Timiskaming are valued at from $125 to $150.

Grey remarks: "Members of agricultural societies say that a larger number of more than 100 will be bred this year. Undoubtedly the low price of grains will tend to encourage heavier live stock production generally."

Horses are in such demand in Leeds that the representative observes that "anything of fair size will bring $200 or over."

One carload of hogs, one of horses, and three of cattle were shipped from Napanee during the past week.

Hogs have been selling at from $11.50 to $12.50 a hundredweight. Little pigs, however, have been in good demand.

A Victoria representative quoting them at $17 a pair, and Haldimand at from $6 to $8 a pair.

Brampton reports the marketing of a considerable number of cattle during the week, two carloads being shipped from that county during the next few weeks.

Milk production is well up to the average. Leeds says that the prospects for cheese factories are good.

Holds a fair rate for milk, and that local dairymen are optimistic regarding the coming season.

Most of the cheese factories in Prescott and Russell started making last week.

Grey remarks that the larger quantity of straw handled during the winter in stables means more manure-covered fields this spring.

Farmers have been slowed up in hiring labor by the recent wet weather. However, there seems to be more labor available than at the same time last year.

COMRADE'S SACRIFICE FAILED TO SAVE LIFE

BRANTFORD, April 26.—The death occurred this afternoon in the Brantford General Hospital of Comrade J. Walters, a war veteran, who recently received a transfusion of a pint of blood from a brother-in-arms. He had been fighting pernicious anemia for some months and death was not unexpected.

Nearing Objective. At the conclusion of the canvass for the $3,000 to be equally divided between the G. W. V. A. and the Army and Navy Veterans, it was announced with some teams canvassing too busy to report, that the objective was in sight. The canvass will be continued tomorrow, and an appeal to the general citizenship to complete the amount.

MENTALLY DEFICIENT PUPILS NUMBER FIFTY

ST. THOMAS, April 26.—Half a hundred mentally-deficient children have been discovered attending local public schools. Dr. Sinclair made a quiet investigation last March into the mental status of the little ones, and his findings were not unexpected. The conditions of the children mentally have been furnished in detail, and he recommends that they should be placed in auxiliary classes. The doctor will be in the city again and, with lantern views, will explain the needs of such classes for those so constituted as he has discovered in the local schools.

Personal Health Service

(By WILLIAM BRADY, M.D., Noted Physician and Author.)

Kids, How Are You Biting?—II.

I'd watch my kid's teeth carefully, and in spite of our wholesome food and our chewing matches a cavity or decayed tooth appeared. I'd have a good dentist get right after it and fill the cavity before the tooth became badly damaged. It is a shame to let a kid's teeth decay and crumble away merely because they are "temporary" teeth. For if a temporary tooth is permitted to decay or is lost very long before its successor comes in to fill its place, there won't be any place for the permanent tooth, and the result of that is irregular teeth and deformed jaws which will handicap the boy all his life unless corrected at considerable trouble and expense by the dental specialist who treats such deformities.

My kid would have for his beverage with meals for "twelve months" or bedtime lunches if he liked all the fresh raw milk he wanted, and I'd want him to want a quart or more a day from his sixth year. If necessary I'd keep a goat tied in the front yard to furnish the fresh raw milk. We wouldn't put up with any canned stuff, nor would we be satisfied with pasteurized or sterilized or powdered substitutes for fresh, clean, raw milk.

No Tea, Coffee or Cocoa. Milk would be the beverage up to the age of thirteen years. After that, but not before, the kid could have some cocoa or chocolate, made with plenty of milk, if he wished for it. Not until he was eighteen would I want my kid to take any tea or coffee. Even cocoa or chocolate is stimulating and for children over thirteen, tea and coffee are much too stimulating to the nervous system for children, and if given to children these beverages cause peevishness, underweight, constipation, indigestion and other troubles of nutrition and the nervous system.

I'd want my kid to be a fighter with his fists when necessary, but only when forced to fight in defence of himself or of someone else. I'd train him with the mits myself, or if I couldn't handle him, I'd send him to a boxer who could.

I'd want him to be better than the average kid in athletic work, such as running, jumping, swimming, pole vaulting, rowing, hiking, climbing and boxing, but I would not permit him to enter endurance contests such as the mile run or a football game, for he is not old enough, and not then unless he had been properly trained through a full year under intelligent medical control. Too many boys of fourteen to eighteen are seriously injured through overexertion in such contests, for which they have been poorly trained.

I'd teach my boy the whole truth and nothing but the truth about life and the origin of human life, from A to Z. And I'd teach him to be a good man, a darn old of himself in a mistaken effort to be a "man." I am very certain that the very boy who starts the filthy business among a group, who thinks himself so very wise, who suggests and urges unmanly things upon younger or less sophisticated boys, is the lad who will feel heartily ashamed a little later in life when he comprehends what an idiot he has made of himself in his effort to show off. I'd want my boy to be so well posted on such matters that he could feel and express only contempt for and to the smart aleck who might start anything of the kind within his circle. I'd also want him to be ready to command the smart aleck to cut out the dirty stuff and enforce the command with his fists.

Hitting My Trail. At the age of six my kid would hit the hay every night not later than 8 o'clock. At ten he could stay up until 9 o'clock. After the age of sixteen, and until he was twenty, 10 o'clock would be his limit at night. You see, in order to be well and strong enough to take care of himself a kid has got to get plenty of sleep. He needs at least twelve hours' of sleep up to the age of six; from the age of six to ten he needs eleven hours; from ten to sixteen he needs ten hours; and after sixteen never less than nine hours. Insufficient sleep makes a kid trouble teaching him to do such things if he knew how to bite well and had the necessary equipment for good biting. I have no more love for dentists than any real kid has, but I believe that sound teeth have a great deal to do with the development of a sound body, and so I say to every kid:

Eat the things that will keep your teeth as strong and clean as possible and keep away from the dentists if you can. But if you can't, then visit the dentist early and often so that you won't have to stay with him long and all the time. Learn to bite and to bite well.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS. Drug Abuse. Good friends of mine insist on taking a five-grain aspirin tablet whenever they have a cold or are threatened with one, or headache, or a cough, or a tired feeling. If not relieved they take another. They declare aspirin harmless, being only "concentrated vinegar" at all practical purposes. I should appreciate your opinion. (H. S. T.)

ANSWER—It is a coarser derivative chemically, a salicylic acid compound (acetyl-salicylic) and is no more "concentrated vinegar" than it is concentrated buttermilk. I should not do myself so readily—but perhaps I am more finical about taking dangerous drugs than some others. True, it is a great painkiller and fever-reducer, but it does not mean that the disease or fatigue is removed, you know.

Paint & Varnish

If it's worth anything --- it's worth painting

If you value your home or if you take any pride at all in its appearance, you certainly owe it a coat of paint once in a while. And something more important still—if you continue to put off painting you run all the risk of decay and deterioration, because lack of paint means lack of surface protection. If your house is well painted, it not only looks nice and is worth more, but it is protected against the wear and tear of the elements.

GOOD PAINT IS ALWAYS A GOOD INVESTMENT

"B-H ENGLISH" PAINT IN ALL COLORS.

We honestly recommend this as the best paint of its kind made anywhere. The formula, which is found on every can, tells you that it contains 70 Per Cent Pure White Lead and 30 Per Cent Pure Zinc—100 Per Cent Pure Paint, suitable for outside and inside surfaces—it goes further, yields a better finish, and works smoothly under the brush.

"B-H" FLOOR PAINT IN A DOZEN DIFFERENT SHADES.

This paint is made to walk on—for hard wear. It has a quick drying, smooth, glossy finish, which will not easily scratch or scuff up. A very economical floor covering, because even a small quantity goes a very long way. That kitchen floor would look all the better for a nice coat of paint.

"B-H" FRESCONETTE

A flat oil wall finish in about twenty different shades. This is the modern washable finish for walls or ceilings, and even rough plaster surfaces. It is also satisfactory for window shades. Suitable for every room in the house, and may be washed off as easily as a tiled floor.

FRESCONETTE combines all the advantages of an up-to-date decoration, with a finish that is perfectly clean and sanitary.

"B-H" PORCH FLOOR PAINT IN SIX DIFFERENT SHADES.

Your porch or veranda has to withstand the tramping of many feet and the scraping of chairs—it is also exposed to the extremes of temperature, rain and frost. So for this purpose we have a product which is made up to a special formula. It dries quickly, even before the dust of the street can touch it; it dries hard, and is very durable. A good-looking veranda floor is a compliment to your home.
