Four Aldermen Will Run, Three Are Definitely Out, And Six Are Uncertain

Both Utilities Commissioners Will Stand For Re-election at the Municipal Vote—Three School Trustees Have Decided Not to Enter the Race.

NOMINATION DAY JUST 3 WEEKS DISTANT

With nomination day for this year's municipal elections less than three weeks away, interest in the probable personnel of next year's elective bodies is becoming decidedly evident. That there will be some new blood both in the city council and board of education seems a foregone conclusion, but so far intending candidates have been backward in announcing themselves. There will be two positions to fill on the public utilities commission, but as both commissioners whose terms expire this year are being re-elected, there is no possibility of their being replaced. The majority of the council interest centers about the contest for the mayoralty. Mayor Wenig has preserved a discreet silence so far in regard to his intentions of running for a fourth term, but promised an official statement on the subject tomorrow. No candidate has been announced as yet to oppose him should he decide to seek a fourth term. Reminded of this fact this morning, he replied cryptically: "You never know what dark horses are being groomed in the stable. There may be several being trained on one of these inside tracks."

A forecast of the situation as regards the city council is complicated by the fact that this year the council will consist of only eight aldermen elected from the city at large, the citizens having voted in favor of such a proposal at the last municipal election. This makes it a mathematical certainty that four of the present council will be retired. Each of the present aldermen was asked by the advertiser whether or not he intended to run in the forthcoming election.

Four definitely announced their intention of standing for re-election. Two are definitely out of the race, while six have yet been unable to make a definite pronouncement. Trustees Dr. O. A. Cairncross and Trustee J. B. Wright both announced this morning that they would not be seeking re-election. Rev. R. D. Mess could not be reached, but it has been publicly stated that he would not be a candidate.

There are two vacancies on the public utilities commission to be filled, but both commissioners whose terms have expired will seek re-election.

Aldermen Edwin Smith will be again in the advertiser's query, he gave his assurance that he would stand for re-election. "After eight years' service to the city," he stated, "I feel that the knowledge I have gained of municipal affairs fits me for efficient service on the elective body of the city."

Alfred B. J. Kibbourn has made up his mind whether or not to enter the contest. He could give no definite decision.

Ald. J. C. Counsel thought that the office of alderman was one of those good things which should be passed around. He has had one year, he stated, and he personally inclined to be not to seek another, but he is not definitely out of the race.

Ald. P. L. Doig, one of the representatives of the working class, could not be reached to secure a statement as to his intentions.

Trustee George F. Copeland said that he had definitely made up his mind to run for the board of education or as an alderman, or that he may not seek any further municipal honors at all.

Trustee Rev. R. D. Mess, M.M., could not be reached to secure a statement as to his intentions.

Trustee J. B. Wright said that he has made up his mind not to run this year. He stated that he will be very busy enlarging his plant this year, and he is having given six years to his work.

Trustee George F. Copeland said that he had definitely made up his mind to run for the board of education or as an alderman, or that he may not seek any further municipal honors at all.

ST. CATHARINES ARMENIANS BUY WIVES, SAYS ATTORNEY

Canadian Press Despatch.
St. Catharines, Nov. 2.—During the trial of Arkel Maloian, a middle-aged Armenian, in the police court here today, on a charge of thrashing his wife with a broomstick until she was black and blue, Crown Attorney E. H. Lancaster declared that some of the Armenian residents of St. Catharines buy their wives and then use them as slaves, treating them as if they were their goats or dogs. It was stated that Maloian had all bought his wife five months ago for $500 and married her. The woman seemed hardened and bent by work. Magistrate Campbell said the police records here showed that undoubtedly Armenian girls and women were brought here by relatives from the old country and sold as wives to men they had never seen before. It was the unfortunate fact that some of these men considered these girls and women their slaves. He fined Maloian $25 and costs, being $35 in all.

This is 5.66 acres in extent. It is estimated that the fifty suites which will be available in the reconstructed building will bring a revenue of $200,000 annually. The original amount spent by Sir Henry Pellatt in erecting this structure was $1,550,000, while the land cost him about $100,000 additional.

LABOR MAKES BIG GAIN IN ENGLISH ELECTIONS

Socialists Also Advance in the Municipal Contests—Control Still Lacking.

Associated Press Despatch.
London, Nov. 3.—The outstanding feature in yesterday's municipal elections in England and Wales, as far as they have been decided, is the progress of the Labor and Socialist parties. They have gained about fifty seats in the provinces and forty in London. There has, however, been a considerable loss of seats in London, although they have increased their representation in many councils, this is insufficient to give them control. In Shoreditch alone, of the fourteen London riding results declared was the Labor-Socialist gain enough to give them control of the council, but they previously had not ruled. The Poplar district remains almost solidly Labor-Socialist. Fourteen additional London results will be made known today, in addition to a large number from the provinces.

It is the fireman's humiliating lot to answer "cat calls," or to free fellows from all manner of predicaments, but to policeman falls the duty of extricating dogs from precarious positions. Today a hurried message received at a police station told of a dog which, in scavenging about the neighborhood, got its head caught in a narrow crevice. The animal was writhing in excitement to see itself and caused general turmoil in the streets, blinded with the glare of the foot and franticly running in all directions.

A motorcycle officer was dispatched to extricate the helpless dog when it fell down exhausted from its own exertion and endeavor to shake off the heavy metal head-gear.

YOUTH OF LONDON MADE TO REPAIR PROPERTY DAMAGED HALLOWEEN

Four sturdy boys, ranging in age from 14 to 17 years, toiled laboriously under the supervision of a policeman on a stretch of Talbot street property yesterday afternoon soon after school was out. They industriously applied all their knowledge of manual training and, with a few exceptions, erected a broken-down fence, hammering nails and sawing wood to supply missing beams and posts. Occasionally one would take a moment and glance up to see if blue coat supervision was still compelling, and would mutter the remark to his comrades in toil: "Gee, this ain't fun."

At a different section of the city another policeman and another squad of boys worked in the same manner. Today the carpentry will continue. Halloween pranks will be atoned for. Chief of Police Robert Birrell has hit upon a scheme for the elimination of Halloween rowdiness.

CANADA RIGHTLY
FEELS OPTIMISMHon. P. C. Larkin Analyzes
National and Industrial Outlook of Dominion.

Hon. Peter C. Larkin, high commissioner for Canada, who recently returned to London from a visit to Canada, is more than ever an optimist with regard to the future of the dominion. To a representative of the Canadian Gazette, Mr. Larkin said: "Canada today is perhaps the most all-round prosperous country in the world, not even excepting the United States. For one thing, the wealth of the country is more evenly distributed than in most countries. There are not the same extremes existing there as are found elsewhere. One can judge this best by the appearance of the people, their dress and carriage, and perhaps most of all by the general housing of the people.

"There is very little unemployment in Canada, and any that does exist will disappear, for the enormous crop of this year will create great demands for manufacturers' products. The country is financially sound and prosperous. The savings bank deposits were never so large or money so plentiful as today. This is shown by the demand of the Canadian public for loans to be issued in Canada.

"To be sure, we have a great debt incurred by four years of war, but I am by no means sure that difficulties are not as wholesome for nations as they are for individuals. Difficulties show us what men are. They develop capacity, character and manhood. So with a nation's difficulties: if faced with courage they bring out the best in a people and act as an incentive to progress.

"There is room in Canada for millions of people who have had some agricultural experience and are ready to go on the land, where they can soon acquire an independence. "It is sometimes said that Canada is too optimistic, but it is part of the life of a new country to be so. Things would never go ahead if the people lost their optimism. The new, the more undeveloped a country, the more need for optimism. So it comes about that the pioneers in the west are more optimistic than the people of the more settled parts. Pessimism does not make for progress."

BRINGING BUSES NOT
COUNCIL PROCEEDINGAld. Frank McKay Makes
Statement Regarding Street Railway Layoffs.

"The city council of London had nothing whatever to do with bringing the motor buses to London," stated Ald. Frank McKay this morning with reference to a complaint made by a street railway employee that the introduction of the buses was likely to result in a number of citizens employed by the street railway losing their positions just as winter was commencing.

The buses now operating in the city were not brought here by the council, Ald. McKay points out. They came to London in exactly the same manner that a new industry seeking to locate here would proceed. They have paid their license fee, and have satisfied the city council that they are adequately insured. The council has not granted them a franchise, he states.

ADDED THOUGH "Y" DRIVE

The Blues triumphed over the Reds in the Y. M. C. A. membership boxing tournament, with 12,495 points, as compared with 11,550. Of the separate teams that of Tom Yull had the highest score, 2,295. The highest individual score was made by Dr. H. R. Sykes, with 1,160. Dr. Sykes had the misfortune to be on the losing side, however. Some 200 new members were added to the Y. M. C. A. by the contest.

TROUBLE IN PALESTINERefusal to Submit to Western Domination Is at Bottom of the Upheaval—Dr. MacGregor Explains Eastern Feeling Against British Mandate.

NO SIGN OF TROUBLE WHEN LONDONER THERE

Trouble between French troops and Druse tribesmen in Palestine, according to Rev. D. C. MacGregor, D.D., St. Andrew's United church, who visited the Holy Land during the past summer, is but a part of the general restlessness of the nations of the east.

"President Woodrow Wilson's policy of self-determination," observed Dr. MacGregor, "has taken a strong grip on the nations of the east, and they are all asking themselves why they should submit to western domination, instead of working out their own destiny.

"Native Palestinians, we found while visiting there," continued Mr. MacGregor, "are feeling the British mandate, more particularly because of the policy favored by Britain to divide Palestine into Jewish and Arab home. Natives informed us that they were unable to secure any of the offices in the civil service at the disposal of the British authorities, for the simple reason that Jews were being put in those positions in accordance with the larger policy. Perhaps, as an American party, for 100 of the 150 people in our party were Americans, we heard more than we would have had we been a British party.

"I notice that Sir Herbert Samuel, who is a Jew, has been recalled as high commissioner in Palestine, and that Gen. Sir A. G. Plummer has been appointed in his place, meaning, probably, a change in the pro-Jew policy.

"Though part of our party visited Damascus and the district where fighting is now going on," concluded Dr. MacGregor, "I did not, because it meant sacrificing time around Jerusalem. While I discussed with those who did go, they gave no indication that there were any signs of trouble in that particular territory."

BARBERS ALL APPROVE
LICENSING SYSTEMEight Weeks Course of Colleges
Condemned by Journeymen as Insufficient.

Local union barbers are unanimous in supporting the stand taken by the Ontario federation of journeymen barbers in convention at Hamilton, calling for the licensing of barbers. They are just as unanimous in condemning those colleges which will accept a student and graduate him in eight weeks as a fully-fledged barber.

"No man can become a barber in eight weeks and the licensing system would be a protection to the mechanics who learned their trade through a proper period of apprenticeship," declared Frank Raffaele, Richmond street barber.

"No graduates of these colleges can obtain employment in a union shop," he explained. "Among union shop workers, most of whom claim to have learned their trade properly, the feeling prevails that the licensing proposal is but a step to restricting the trade to union members. It is very probable a deputation will wait on Premier Ferguson to oppose the licensing proposal."

ACTION AGAINST L.S.R.
NOW IN JURY'S HANDSDamage Action For $2,600 Is Heard Before Judge Lennox at Court House.

The $2,600 damage action brought by Harold Pudney and George Connolly against the London street railway as the result of an accident at William street and the Hamilton road on June 30 last went to the jury late this afternoon at the assizes before Mr. Justice Lennox. The greater part of the morning was spent in hearing the concluding evidence for the plaintiff, the defence not getting under way until almost noon.

H. J. Childs, Victor Little, Douglas Connelly and Fletcher Brown all gave evidence this morning for the plaintiffs, while F. W. Farncombe and Mrs. George Minihinnick gave evidence for the defence.

Mrs. Minihinnick said she was a passenger on the street car and noticed Connolly driving the motor car on William street. It was twice as far away from the intersection as the street car when she noticed it. She said she didn't think the car would attempt to cross the track in front of the car and when she saw that an accident was unavoidable she jumped and ran to the other end of the car. She heard and did not see the crash, she said.

TOWNSHIP APPOINTS
FIVE TAX COLLECTORS

Five tax collectors were appointed by London township council at a meeting held at St. John's yesterday. They were D. A. Ashworth, Merton Charleton, W. J. Willoughby, John B. Bacon and H. E. Ralph.

The council accepted the report of Engineer Bell on the municipal drain to be built on Mount Pleasant avenue, in which the council and the suburban area commission are both interested.

No communication was received from the company proposing to do regarding the moving of the tracks on Richmond street north to the center of the road.

OCTOBER JUST PASSED
COLDEST IN 20 YEARS

The month just past has been the coldest October recorded in the history of the local weather bureau, at which records are kept for more than 20 years. The low temperature of 20 on the 29th created a new record, the previous lowest temperature recorded being 23 on the 21st of October, 1923. Last year the lowest recorded temperature was 26, on the 22nd. The temperature for the month was 48.8, compared with an average of 46 for years past.

Call to Fitzroy Harbor in Ottawa District.

Rev. D. Robertson was released by Middlesex United church presbytery meeting in Metropolitan church, this morning, from Lower Muncy, Bear Creek and Middlemies charge, to accept a call to Fitzroy Harbor, Ottawa conference. Direction was given that the transfer be expedited, and that the rearrangement of the three congregations be referred to the boundaries committee.

Rev. H. B. Parnaby, Mount Brydges, presented the claims of the New Outlook, the official magazine publication of the United church of Canada, and a resolution was adopted calling upon all the congregations in the presbytery to support the New Outlook by subscribing in large numbers.

Rev. John Richardson, B.A., chairman of the religious education committee, gave a splendid report, outlining a scheme to departmentalize religious education in the presbytery under different heads, including children, young people, and adults work. The presbytery accepted the plan outlined by Mr. Richardson and directed the nominating committee to name a new board of trustees for Mr. Richardson, who was forced to resign that position, having become a member of the Oxford presbytery, while accepting the pulpit of Drumbo United church.

The report of the finance committee on congregational assessments to cover the London conference assessment of $2,600 for conference expenses, was referred back to the committee for further consideration. Rev. W. J. Kinosh, D.D., chairman of the presbytery, on behalf of the old London Presbyterian presbytery of the handling over to the United presbytery, totaling $173.45, covering benevolent fund, hospital fund and general fund.

COUNTY COURT FREES
MT. BRYDGES YOUTHMagistrate Zappe Admonishes
Earl Irwin To Do Better in Future.

Earl Irwin, who lives near Mount Brydges, was allowed to go on suspended sentence today by County Magistrate Zappe, who found the young man guilty on a charge of fraud last Friday. Irwin bought some chickens on the Muncy Reserve ten days ago, and it is said, gave a bad check for $6 in payment.

Crown Attorney Judd informed the court that the boy had enjoyed a good character in the past, and if his worship saw fit to impose a suspended sentence he would consent.

The magistrate told the prisoner that a number of influential people had spoken in his behalf. The sentence might be three years for such an offence. Mr. Zappe pointed out to the young man that money obtained in an unlawful way would never get him any place in the world, and in suspending sentence hoped the prisoner would benefit by his experience and do better in the future.

Gravel Accident Settled in Court.

The $2,600 damage action of Zalm and Peggy Lapowich and Leah Goldstein, London, against A. M. Mahaffy, Toronto, was settled for $450 at the opening of the fall assizes before Mr. Justice Lennox this morning. His lordship stated that he approved of the settlement, and allowed Menzies & Cliff, solicitor for the plaintiff, $100 of the $450; $30 to Leah Goldstein, and the balance of $320 to Mr. and Mrs. Lapowich.

The action was the result of an automobile accident at the intersection of the Sarnia and Wornley roads, on the gravel road last June 14, when a car owned by plaintiff and defendant crashed. Pholen & Richardson, Toronto, appeared for the defendant, and Howard Cliff for the plaintiffs.

Scientists Would Make World
Better Place In Which To SleepExperiments Now Being Carried on in Pittsburgh to Determine Periods of Most Complete Relaxation.

Associated Press Despatch. Pittsburgh, Pa., Nov. 2.—Pittsburgh has twelve "experimental sleepers" who nightly, while resting in the arms of Morpheus, are aiding scientists in tests which are expected to make this world a better place in which to sleep.

A technical study of the psychology of sleep is being made by scientists of the Mellon Institute of Industrial Research, and a dozen boys, students at the University of Pittsburgh and Carnegie Institute of Technology are the "subjects."

The twelve boys sleep in specially constructed beds, mounted on gimbals which permit of easy lateral motion in the two horizontal planes, in opposition to the tension of light springs, and to each bed is attached a recording apparatus, which indicates every change of posture, both as to time and extent.

The recording apparatus attached to each of the experimental beds will chronicle the degree and time of movements of the sleeper, which will indicate periods when there is not complete relaxation. Experiments will be made after a sufficient number of "readings" are obtained to give a working basis for the study of types of beds and bedding in an effort to find the most desirable and sleep inducing condition.

artist remained true to the features of Sir Adam, but she has caught a characteristic expression. There is a feeling of strength in the portraiture.

Working under the disadvantage of not having a living model, Miss Woolverton made use of photographs in her modelling. So anxious was she to have her anatomy correct, that she hunted the streets for a man of Sir Adam's type and finally found him in a street car conductor. By close observation of this man and by constant reference to photographs of Sir Adam, assisted by her own memory of the man, she has achieved a remarkable study in clay.

A Fine Piece of Work.
During the past few days many prominent Londoners have seen the plaque and pronounced it to be an exceptionally fine piece of work.

The suggestion has been made that it be placed in some prominent civic building, special mention being made of the new college institute.

Has Made Many Models.
Miss Woolverton, who is a daughter of Dr. Woolverton, Grand avenue, has spent a large part of her time modelling in clay. A splendid bust of the late Dr. Moorhouse of this city occupies a prominent place in the living-room at her father's home, while the house is filled with smaller models executed by her clever fingers.

John Peel, father of the distinguished artist, Paul Peel, first director of the city, when she was a pupil under him.

The clay plaque of Sir Adam is quite large, weighing about eighty pounds.

NEW SIGNS EMPHASIZE
LOCATION OF PAY PHONE

Signs have been erected all over the courthouse telling the public in general the exact location of the pay telephone booth. People, especially at court sessions, have had a habit of rushing into offices and using the telephones for long and protracted periods in clay. A splendid bust of the late Dr. Moorhouse of this city occupies a prominent place in the living-room at her father's home, while the house is filled with smaller models executed by her clever fingers.

Vegetable Compound

Provost, Alberta.—"Perhaps you will remember sending me one of your books a year ago. I was in bad condition and would suffer awful pains at times and could not do anything. The doctor said I could not have children unless I went under an operation. I read testimonials of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the papers and a friend recommended me to take it. After taking three bottles I became much better and now I have a bonny baby girl. I saw the Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Montreal Standard' and I have taken four bottles of it. I was a very sick woman and I feel so much better I would not be without it. I also use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I recommend the medicines to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter."—Mrs. A. A. ADAMS, Box 54, Provost, Alberta.

Lachine, Quebec.—I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound because I suffered with pains in my left side and back and with weakness and other troubles women so often have. I was this way about six months. I saw the Vegetable Compound advertised in the 'Montreal Standard' and I have taken four bottles of it. I was a very sick woman and I feel so much better I would not be without it. I also use Lydia E. Pinkham's Sanative Wash. I recommend the medicines to my friends and am willing for you to use this testimonial letter."—Mrs. M. W. ROSE, 580 Notre Dame St., Lachine, Quebec.

sub-soil on Beaconsfield avenue, where City Engineer Near plans to construct a tunnel to carry a four-foot sewer which is being built to relieve the Evergreen avenue outlet, was completed this morning. The result was very satisfactory, Mr. Near reported, and if similar results are obtained at other points along the route of the proposed tunnel it will be quite feasible to build the sewer in this manner, and thus not interfere with street traffic. The boring completed this morning showed fine blue clay at a depth of 22 feet, which will be the distance between the street surface and the top of the tunnel at this point. The tunnel will commence at a point 250 feet west of the Wharncliffe road, and will then be carried north on the Wharncliffe road to a point north of Stanley street. It will pass under the C. N. R. subway on the Wharncliffe road, and will then be carried north on the road surface and the tunnel will be diminished to about eighteen feet. Borings are in progress to ascertain the nature of the underlying strata at this point. If they prove satisfactory the work will be proceeded with. Mr. Near is optimistic as to the success of the work, which will take about six weeks to complete.

As a successful financial institution, the police court is this year flourishing, according to records so far in the year's statistics. From the court the city of London will receive more than $25,000 collected in fines for infractions of the H. T. A. O. T. A. and city bylaws.

A sum of $29,000 was paid to the municipality last year. Already the fines for the year 1925 total $25,000, and with two more months to go it is expected last year's amount will be exceeded.

"APPLE JACKERS" ROB
CIDER MILL AT BYRONCounty Police Endeavoring To Locate Persons Who Stole
Twenty Gallons.

Somebody with more than an ordinary fondness for cider has been robbing the Byron cider mill owned by Glen College of delicious apple juice. In other words "apple jackers" are taking the place of hi-jackers, who in days not distant robbed running trucks of their contents.

Mr. Collette states that his mill has been broken into on five occasions since fall and "enough" cider has been stolen to make a very good drink. He has now notified the county police and an effort will be made to locate the dizzy drinkers of apple juice who stole 20 gallons of sweet cider last night in the mist.

CRIME SHOWS DECREASE
THROUGHOUT ONTARIO
That serious crime is certainly on the decrease in Ontario is evidenced by the fact that Mr. Justice Lennox received no less than four pairs of white gloves in his trip around the court circuit.

It may be explained that it is customary at the assizes to present the presiding judge with a pair of white gloves if there are no criminal cases to be tried.

Miss Lordship, Mr. Justice Lennox, has received white gloves at Orangeville, Walkerton, Kitchener and yesterday was presented with a pair of white gloves by Sheriff Donald Graham of Middlesex county.

MILK TEN CENTS
HERE; 15 AT BORDERPrice Has Remained Stationary in London Since Month of August.

Londoners pay only 10 cents a quart for milk, compared with 15 cents in Windsor, a prominent member of the milk producers association stated today. "The price has been 10 cents a quart in London since last August," he stated. "Before that time it was selling at 6 and 8 cents a quart, a ridiculous price, when you consider that there is no money in milk even at 10 cents a quart."

"The producer is selling at $1.50 per hundredweight to the distributor, who sells at $4 per hundredweight, or an increase of $2.15. The distributor cannot make money even at that price, when you take into consideration overhead expenses, bottle breakage, equipment, horse feed, etc."

"The producer would not say that milk in London would continue at the present price. The producers have held several meetings within the last month or so, and an increase of at least 2 cents a quart in this city would not be surprising before Christmas, to those in close touch with the situation, although they will not talk for publication in the matter."

NO MEMBERS GOING TO KINGSTON MEETINGMajor Wood Sees Little Advantage in London's Joining Ontario Body.

The London chamber of commerce will not be represented at the annual meeting of the boards of trade and chambers of commerce of the province to be held in Kingston on Friday, and will therefore be unable to express an opinion on the matter of enlarged and elective police commissions in the province, which will form one of the resolutions before the conference. The proposal was defeated at the polls here at the last municipal election.

Major Wood explained that the London chamber was a member of the Western Ontario united boards of trade, which is meeting at Preston Nov. 18 and 20. He could see no advantage to London in becoming a member of the provincial organization, and he ventured the opinion that it was just a carnival of talk with very little definite work accomplished. The police commission idea will not be discussed at the Preston meeting.

Dangerous Advice for Lord Byng.

The Free Press has the solution for the complicated condition at Ottawa following the voting on October 29. In various ways it advances the idea that it is not the people who must decide, nor yet their elected representatives, but the governor-general.

The opinion of the Free Press is: "There is not the slightest question what should be done. The governor-general should ask Mr. King for his resignation. A new testing time as to the quality of the position of the governor-general is now upon us."

"Lord Byng knows his history. He will proceed accordingly. Seven provinces against two is a pretty good majority. All this trucking to minority groups, who may vote this way or that way or the other way in parliament, is beside the question. It isn't the mandate of parliamentarians that counts in Canada. It is (or used to be) the mandate of the people. His excellency the governor-general is still to be heard from."

To bring precedent to its contention the Free Press asks that a study be made of the administrations of Durham, Sydenham, Bagot, Metcalfe, Cathcart and Elgin, to show to what extent a governor-general can go in giving guidance and bringing pressure to bear on the conduct of public business.

Every name the Free Press mentions, Durham, Sydenham, Bagot, Metcalfe, Cathcart, Elgin, held office before Confederation. Not one of them had anything to do with the office since Canada took on the status of a self-governing nation.

In taking its attitude the Free Press is giving voice to an old despotic Tory state of mind; it is attempting to take us back to the manner of doing things in colonial days, ignoring the fact that the restrictions placed upon responsible government in Canada drove the people to the point of rebellion.

The Free Press is correct in its contention that Lord Byng knows his history. It is also true that his term of office in Canada has shown that he has a keen appreciation of the fact that Canada is ruled by its own parliament and not dictated to by the governor-general. There is a constitutional method that covers this point nicely, whereby the governor-general acts on advice he receives from the ministry; never does he dictate to the ministry.

There has been only one recorded incident where a governor-general since Confederation undertook to suggest to a prime minister that he ought to resign. That was following the election of 1896, when Sir Charles Tupper had 89 supporters and Sir Wilfrid Laurier 117, with seven independents in the house. The position of Sir Charles was far different from that of Mr. King today, but the Conservative leader of that day openly resented the suggestion of Lord Aberdeen that he should send in his resignation. Sir Charles went to the governor-general at two o'clock in the morning and informed his excellency that if he persisted in such a course it would virtually make him the leader of the Liberal party. If Sir Charles were correct in his argument then the Free Press urges Lord Byng to put himself in a position which Sir Charles would describe as leader of the Conservative party today.

No governor-general of Canada, it may safely be said, ever received more dangerous advice than that tendered to His Excellency Lord Byng by the Free Press. Fortunately, there is not the slightest chance of his accepting it.

Another Globe Riddle.

The Toronto Globe denounces those who are clamoring for Mr. King's resignation. In the next breath it denounces, with a touch of acid, those who advise him to remain in office.

"Sounder counsels than these," proceeds this authority, "ought to prevail."

But if he is not to resign, and if he is not to remain in office, what, in the name of common sense, would the Globe have him do?

Before the election, when nearly everyone else in the country was ready to vote, the Globe called for some pronouncement, "clear, unequivocal, courageous," and The Advertiser suggested that it produce such a pronouncement itself.

But its latest utterance scarcely qualifies.

Mr. Gunn's Letter.

In yesterday's issue we published a letter from John M. Gunn discussing the case of Herb Wilson, the former London "furniture dealer" now charged with murder in California. Mr. Gunn asks if references to Wilson as a former "evangelist" are intended to be a "little cheap sneer at religion." We can assure him the suggestion is not true.

We have no statistics about furniture dealers, but we do know that evangelists do not often go wrong. When one does, the event because of its unusualness, if for no other reason, becomes a matter of considerable interest to most people. It may be unfortunate that it is so, but human nature is hard to change.

Some newspaper critics would suppress crime news altogether on the ground that such news suggests other crimes and is in other respects harmful. But there is this to be said about newspapers and crime: Newspapers are only a few hundred years old but crime began in the Garden of Eden. Crime has decreased tremendously since newspapers first began giving publicity to it.

While The Advertiser conceives it to be the duty of a newspaper to publish the news, its endeavor is not to give undue prominence to incidents of the Herb Wilson type. Such criticism as Mr. Gunn offers will serve a good purpose if it helps The Advertiser and other newspapers to preserve this sense of proportion.

Wrong Again.

The London Free Press, which undertakes to tender his excellency the governor-general mandatory advice based on its knowledge of events and the constitution, cannot quote even simple and recent facts of history correctly.

If says the only precedent in British or Canadian annals for the present situation is that following the defeat of the Baldwin government in 1923. It then proceeds with this statement:

"After the elections Mr. Baldwin had the largest group. The standing was: Conservative, 257; Labor, 192; Liberal, 158, and Independents, 6. Despite the fact that he had the largest group Mr. Baldwin, without hesitation and without waiting for parliament to be summoned, handed in his resignation and advised that Ramsay MacDonald be called upon to form a ministry."

The facts are that the elections were held on December 6th; Mr. Baldwin did wait for the assembling of parliament; he attempted to have parliament adopt the address in reply to the speech from the throne; the leader of the Labor party, Ramsay MacDonald, moved a no-confidence motion, which prevailed; and it was not till the day following, Jan. 22, that Mr. Baldwin and his ministry resigned.

The facts are less than three years away, yet the Free Press deliberately misstates them. It is well the governor-general has other advisers.

A Fitting Memorial.

The preliminary steps to raise $500,000 for the Queen Alexandra Sanatorium at Byron have been carefully taken, and the work is made easier by the readiness of people all over the province to take a personal interest in this form of memorial to the late Sir Adam Beck.

The endowment fund of $500,000, together with the other sources of revenue, will make this a self-sustaining institution. The fund is necessary because a sanatorium that opens its doors to all classes regardless of their ability to pay must always have financial support from outside. The fact that it cannot pay its own way is the strongest appeal that can be made, because it is evidence that the need of the patient for a place where tuberculosis can be combated with prospects of success is the first and only essential to admittance.

The province at large may decide later on that there shall be some other form of memorial to Sir Adam, but the sanatorium at Byron is the place where his affections were fixed and centered when he was in London, and those responsible for the present campaign know that they are working intimately in touch with the one institution that had a very close personal appeal to the late Hydro chieftain.

It is hard to conceive how a more fitting memorial could be erected to the memory of any public-spirited man than that the doors of a sanatorium that is leading in the fight against tuberculosis should be swung open permanently so that none who need treatment shall ever be turned away for lack of funds.

Producer and Consumer.

Ontario faces the prospects of paying more for its potatoes because the weather has been so unfavorable for taking in the crop in many districts. Failures are reported in large areas in Michigan, and this has caused a rush on the Ontario supply. Already the hand of the speculator is seen, and reports have it that large lots are being bought up to hold for a higher market later on.

The man who buys potatoes, and there are few who do not, knows that he has to face the laws of supply and demand. He is not going to blame the grower for getting all he can for his produce, but he is going to object if the speculator rushes in to aggravate a situation which is already serious enough for the consumer.

Note and Comment.

Political conviction is one thing handed down from father to son. Look at Toronto.

Violet rays will cure it, says an ad, and it's not paid for by a cosmetic manufacturer either.

When the youngsters have onions for supper it's so easy to tell whether they've all gone to bed.

The frost that blighted the potato is causing more domestic concern than the freeze-up that smote the politicians.

There has been a noticeable and welcome let-up in blue-ruin talk. We had enough of it to last for years to come.

London had 102 spoiled ballots. Perhaps these people had been reading the Globe and didn't know which way to vote.

Looking at market prices of eggs, those politicians in Quebec who suffered from such a demonstration could take it as a distinct compliment.

There was a real fog Monday night, the weatherman probably having heard for the first time that the Conservatives had won some seats in Ontario.

The proprietor of the Lone Owl cafe in New York was beaten up while police walked past the door, the thugs apparently not caring a hoot for the officers.

St. Thomas firemen had a run on Sunday because a roast of beef was sending forth a dangerous-looking cloud of smoke while its owners were at church. Another argument for shorter sermons.

"Seven provinces against two is a pretty good majority," says the Free Press. Mr. Melgion is in a minority in five provinces out of nine—Prince Edward Island, Quebec, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

Joe Rickey went and quit his job, he told me how it came last night, that even when he pulled his stakes he figured he'd come through all right.

Now Joe's a decent sort of chap, but where he worked before he quit, he always felt as though they thought he didn't simply match or fit.

"Why, I was there for years," said Joe, and I can't think I ever heard in all that time a bit of praise or yet a cheerin' sort of word. When I had done the best I could and turned a trick I knew was right, they kept their comment in their teeth and had their praisin' locked up tight.

"But when I made a slip some time and did a thing I shouldn't do, why they uncorked their speakin' then and turned the air there green and blue.

"I couldn't stand it any more, so I got up and quit one day, and figured I could find a job or earn my keep some other way.

"I'm workin' for a he-man now, I wish I'd gone there long ago, and you can take it straight from me he's goin' to get some work from Joe. For when I've done a good day's work and got things goin' the way they should, he ain't afraid to come around and say as how I'm smart and good.

"He whacks me on the back and says as how the job is slick and trim, and you can bet your money now I'll work to beat the band for him."

The Once-Over

A host on the Muncie reserve furnished raisin jack for his guests at a dance the other night. Now his friends are busy raisin' jack to pay his fine.

A Berlin journalist penned his own obituary before dying. Having inside knowledge of what others have suffered by not doing likewise, he was taking no chances.

When 140 rattlesnakes tried to kill a Colorado woman and her child, she turned and killed them instead. Appropriately enough, her name is Mrs. Slaughterback.

Now had she allowed herself to become rattled it might have been a different story.

Another bachelor pal got married Saturday. If this sort of thing goes on we soon won't have a single friend left.

One of life's little ironies is contained in the following remark by the driver of one of London's new buses, overheard late Saturday night: "This will be my last trip, Bill. I want to finish in time to catch the last street car for home."

Cyrus, the cynical scribe, says: "There's nothing so dead as yesterday's paper, especially right after an election."

Noticed a man on the street car reading this column. He was smiling. At first we felt flattered. Now we have a disquieting desire to know what he was laughing at. That's the worst of being sensitive.

Auto factories break production records, while people break speed limits and a lot of the autos—Kel.

After which they themselves are hopelessly broke.

He was young and impressionable. Moreover, he had been reporting political speeches for weeks, which was why the cub reporter's life was spared when his report of a Sunday sermon contained the following illuminating passage:

"The preacher launched a vigorous attack against the leader of his satanic majesty's opposition, declaring that his policies were likely to spell ruin to the whole country. What we need, he declared, is more protection against him and his numerous supporters. A large audience, which included a number of ladies, heard the speech with apparent interest and while they refrained from applause, the complete absence of heckling indicated that they were in accord with the sentiments expressed."

Isn't It the Truth?

The genuine "modern" should enjoy hick-life. There are so many more things to sneer at.

"Tolerance" usually means a willingness to forgive the other fellow for doing what you do.

It is better if bought in New York, eh? Well, where do you suppose the Main street merchant buys his stock?

Still, the modern girl knows as much about a needle as the modern boy knows about a buck-saw.

A man never realizes how far he can walk until he goes to Florida with $50 expecting to get rich.

The hard part is to find a girl attractive enough to please you and yet dumb enough to like you.

Alas! the "natural state" idealists gush about would mean unrestricted whiskers.

You can't always tell whether a man is worried because he makes little or makes little because he worries.

The reason people don't recognize the road to Easy street is because they expect to see signs advertising 20 per cent dividends.

Perhaps modern boys grow up without proper discipline because a safety razor is such a flimsy, inadequate affair.

The NOBLE LORD FEELBY—Did you, anyone get the number of the car that hit me?

To The Editor

Use the "Bump."

Editor of The Advertiser: Sir—In order that there may be more interest taken in the elimination of accidents at level crossings I am taking the liberty of offering a suggestion that I have seen in operation in some of the states to the south of us as well as in Mexico. A crossing where a stop is required of traffic for purposes of safety, raise a ridge, say six inches high and eighteen inches across, and do it at each and every crossing. When the driver comes to this he does not stop his speed he will get a bump that will send him up against the roof, and when he lands on the seat of his car again he will be a sadder but a wiser man, and the next time he will bring his car down to a very slow pace before he tries it again. That is exactly what is wanted, and it has worked out well wherever it has been tried. I recently sent this suggestion to D. F. McGraw, C. N. R. claims agent at Toronto, and he suggested I send it to a number of the leading papers.

The driving public, if this plan were followed generally, would soon come to know that there is a bad bump in the road at level crossings, yet it is one which they can go over slowly without any trouble. That plan is much less expensive than the scheme to do away with level crossings, which would put a tax on all the people for the special benefit of the speed maniac who will not take the trouble to look where he is going. I am convinced that this "bump" idea would provide all the warning needed. If people want to take the bump and go crashing into trains as well, then I don't think there is much we can do for them.

West Williams, Oct. 29.

Before and After.

Editor of The Advertiser: Sir—It struck me as rather funny that the day after the election the Free Press should come out with a picture of Mr. White's new plant in its paper, together with a picture of the owner so there would be no mistake as to who was carrying on this new extension.

All through the campaign Mr. White was explaining that it really did not mean anything; he gave us all the impression that he would like to take a huge curtain and pull it over the whole enterprise so the people could not see what was going on, but just as soon as he was elected he posed for his picture and had the Free Press photograph the plant as well. It may be a good way to run elections, but you can't blame me for thinking it was just a little thin.

SAYS MIDDLESEX HAS FEW CRIMES

Justice Lennox Remarks On Circumstance of Glove Presentation.

Addressing the grand jury yesterday afternoon at the opening of the fall sittings, Mr. Justice Lennox, after being presented by the sheriff with a pair of white gloves, emblematic of the fact that there were no criminal cases to come before the court, remarked that "It is a pleasing circumstance that has not been very characteristic of this county of Middlesex in the last few years."

"If the law is administered with mercy and still with firmness, it has the tendency of lessening the number of cases to be tried," continued his lordship. "In other words it is a deterrent of crime. Men of criminal intent are more deterred by the certainty of punishment than anything else that could be suggested."

"About a year and a half ago I tried several cases where," recollected his lordship, "one was the murder of a sweetheart. It so happened that a year before, there was a similar case closely resembling the Topping case. A young man shot his sweetheart, and that young man escaped. He did not come to the untimely end of Topping."

"It was disclosed at that trial that the previous murder was to some extent an incentive to the second. If young people think that crime is clever and picturesque, what can you expect?" queried the court, who went on to relate that a lady had told him on Halloween that two tots of boys ran out at her with toy pistols crying "Yum, money, or your life!"

"The children had no crime in their minds," said Judge Lennox, "but it shows the tendency of the times."

His lordship intimated that "we can't get on without the newspapers, but those ideas do get into the minds of young boys and girls."

The county should be congratulated on its law enforcement, the court declared, adding that crime is being repressed by a rigid, although merciful, administration of the law.

In conclusion, his lordship stated that he noticed an alimony action on the list. These actions were to be deplorable, and he suggested that counsel try to arrive at a settlement before the affairs of husband and wife were aired in court.

Technical School Eleven Eliminated From W.O.S.S.A. Soccer By Simcoe High

London Is Held Scoreless and Loses Round By Point

Local Students Are Outclassed in Last Chance To Stay In Running.

ARMSTRONG STARS

Special to The Advertiser.
Simcoe, Nov. 2.—Simcoe high school's classy soccer eleven outplayed the fast London Technical team here today, held them scoreless, and earned the right to meet London South, the Forest City's second representative in the W.O.S.S.A. play-offs. But while Simcoe had easily the lion's share of the play, they found an inevitable bulwark in Armstrong, London's sterling goalie, who by virtue of several sensational saves and two scores or more of the easier variety, managed to shut out the home team.

Armstrong's work brands him as an outstanding star in the W.O.S.S.A. series. He kicked or batted out the dead-on drives of the local forwards with amazing regularity, and his half-dozen impossible saves earned him a deserved round of applause.

Rogers, Simcoe's sturdy half-back, started for the home team, and the local front line worked with oil-like precision. From the outset, Simcoe assumed the offensive, and they never eased up. The story of the game is simply repeated, repeated up on Armstrong, only to be met with equal regularity.

The teams:
London—Goal, Armstrong; full backs, Carmichael and Graham; half backs, Knowles, Jacobs and Jackson; forwards, Smith, Nelson, McIntosh, Markham and Patterson; spares, Mitchell and Walker.

Simcoe—Goal, Cross; full backs, Rogers and Guntton; half backs, Tisdale, H. Watt and C. Courtenage; forwards, Tyrell, Wyckoff, McConnell, and Gell; spares, A. Watt, C. Watt and T. Muir.

Referee—Huill, of Waterford.

Grid Gossip

Pointed criticism of Varsity was not lacking in Toronto, as the following bits show.
All this talk about stolen signals is trash. The players solved the code in the first half and Quarterback Baldwin and Leadley stood back and called the turn on varsity plays as fast as Coleman could read off the numbers. The signals were not stolen—they were guessed by players who have rugby brains.

Without taking any credit away from Queens it must be said that Warren Snyder, the Varsity half line star, was a "first" all afternoon, and that Trimble, who showed so brilliantly at Kingston, both before and after his bad break, was just as bad. Both should have been yanked before half time. Only four men on the team played anything like their real game—Fraser, Stollery, Coleman and Weber. The rest of the team played like a flock of Harold's doves while their much vaunted line plunging was just a squib. In about ten minutes their line plungers looked good. They got "yards" four times. After that Queens played all the "extra" and stopped them almost before they got started. The hole-makers with all their American instruction couldn't hold down a job in a doughnut factory.

"Tuesday morning, 'Didja get seats for the rugby game?"

"Come on you Balmie Beach!"

Montreal, Nov. 2.—The Gazette commenting on Montreal's win over Saturday over Toronto Argonauts, says in part:

"While much credit can be given to Russell and Whitehall for the victory, the entire Montreal squad played good rugby. Their putting back, kicking and distance, and the wings gave splendid support. With the exception of Breen, Argos seldom threatened in this department. With Montreal leading in the last quarter, and fighting hard to hold Argos back, Booth sent a beautiful punt from center field to the Argos' goal line, which relieved the pressure.

"With the exception of the first quarter and part of the second, the catching of Breen was a constant source of trouble. McCormick made his first appearance of the season with the Toronto squad, and started on the right flank with Breen and Paul. He gave a good display, and shared in the kicking with Hamblin.

"Their punting, however, was shaded by the booting indulged in by Booth. Cap Fear was as reliable as ever, and upheld his reputation as one of the leading outside wings playing rugby in Canada. Fear, however, was given a close run by Doc Anderson, the Montreal outside, who received a hand from the crowd for his neat, low and effective tackling.

"First downs were obtained by Montreal six times against Argos' four. Montreal made two tries, both unopposed, while Argos' made three times, but recovered twice."

Queens After 4 Dominion Titles

Canadian Press Despatch.
Kingston, Nov. 2.—Now that Queens university has won the intercollegiate championship, and thus equaled the varsity record of four consecutive championships, it is definitely after a brand new record in the form of four consecutive dominion championships, for it is now absolutely decided that the team will go on into the dominion finals.

So far as Queens' team is concerned they came through the struggle on Saturday in good shape and are being given a rest this week because they have no games to play for three weeks to come. Strenuous training will begin again next week, and in the meantime only light practices and running will be indulged in.

BILLY GIBSON DENIES HE IS READY FOR LILY

Manager of Gene Tunney Will Be On Hand at Risk Bout.

By FAIR PLAY.
Special to The Advertiser.

New York, Nov. 2.—Those who spread the news along the great white way that Billy Gibson was getting ready to die stretched the truth somewhat.

Maybe Tunney's manager is preparing for his end, as all good men should, but his doctors insist that it is a long way off.

The pneumonia they were talking about turns out to be nothing but a slight attack of flu, due to Bill's activity in standing out in the cold and looking for customers to his professional football show at the Polo grounds.

Gibson says he will be on hand in Cleveland when his meat ticket meets Rasko in the interest of Gene and Billy's joint bank account.

Chas. Packert, Prominent in Fraternal Circles, Dies in Stratford.

Special to The Advertiser.
Stratford, Nov. 2.—A host of friends in Stratford and elsewhere will learn with deep regret of the death of Charles Packert, manager of the Perth Mutual Fire Insurance Company.

On Monday last, Mr. Packert underwent an operation for appendicitis, from which he rallied well, and it was hoped that although he had just passed his 77th birthday, his remarkable strength and energy would enable him successfully to withstand the strain, but it proved too great.

Coming to Stratford as a young boy, he was in 1877 appointed secretary of the Perth Mutual Fire Insurance Company, then a small and struggling concern, which, under his energetic and capable management has since developed into one of the largest and strongest Canadian fire offices.

ICE STARS ENTER BIG MONEY CLASS

Hockey Players Draw Higher Salaries Than Major Diamond Trampers.

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, Nov. 2.—The sporting editor of the Citizen in an article which will appear tomorrow morning commenting on the salaries paid hockey players, states: "In the National hockey league the salaries appear much higher than those in any other circuits. In proportion to the time employed and the time required hockey stars of the present day, draw down much more than big league ball players."

After stating that only a few years ago the average hockey star was satisfied with a contract calling for a few hundred dollars, the article points out that in 1918 Eddie Gerard was considered the highest paid hockey star with a contract for $1,100. Last season, the Montreal club paid Yano Munroe $7,000, and purchased Reg. Noble from the Toronto St. Pats for $7,000.

"This year," the article says, "with New York and Pittsburgh added, the contracts call for higher figures than ever. Lionel Conacher, former Argonaut football star, now with Pittsburgh, is said to be the best paid player in professional hockey. 'Conny' is understood to have a three-year contract at $7,500 per season. Billy Burch recently signed up with New York at $5,500 for three years, and Joe Simpson had to be guaranteed $6,000 before he would attach his name to a New York contract."

The article further states that "the Montreal Maroons are said to have recently offered to pay $20,000 for Howie Moroz of the Canadiens and $15,000 for Babe Day of St. Patricks. New York was offered $25,000 for Billy Burch and $15,000 for Charles Langlois. It will thus be seen that hockey, with 'Happy' Day getting $8,000, Lionel Conacher $7,500, Billy Burch $5,500, Joe Simpson $6,000, and Sprague Cleghorn $5,000, is certainly getting into the big money class."

SOLUTION TO NO. 364.

Alexandria, Egypt, Nov. 2.—A traveller from Syria asserts that Damascus is in danger of famine, as all supplies of wheat have been cut off. He says the insurgents hold the villages around Damascus and that Bedouin tribesmen are gathering near Aleppo, where the local chief refuses to negotiate with the French.

WOMEN and THE HOME

WOMAN'S MOODS NOW PERFORMED

Crease Gives the Newest Felt and Velour Hats Individual Touch.

By AILEEN LAMONT.

New York, Oct. 21.—"Any bottles?" The junk man never gets a negative answer nowadays. For perfume flacons, full and empty, litter every dressing table. It is a fad among many to have a different perfume for each mood, and every woman has many moods. The bottles are usually small, since perfumes are high, and ornate so they can be readily pointed to by a purchaser. Nine out of ten of the latter are unable to pronounce the names by which their favorites are designated. They simply ask for the gold dragon or the one with the black stopper.

The newest felt and velour small hats are remarkably alike and decidedly different. The crease is what makes this possible. Nearly all are round, moderately high, of crown, narrow of brim in front and narrower still behind. They are trimmed with flowers or leaves or a feather or those formed of feathers. Individuality and chic are attained by the manner in which the high crown is creased by each wearer.

The particular woman has not ceased designing her own undertakings. But the strictly tailored and flared types now chosen do not lend themselves readily to home fabrication. Many women, therefore, are having the large lingerie shops make their vests, step-ins and gowns from materials specially chosen in individual patterns. The gauziest crepes and georgettes are chosen and the pleatings and insertions are the most expert laundresses.

"De wind, soe blow, blow, blow"—that line of Dr. Drummmond is part of the literature of Canada, but even the storm Drummmond describes would have no terror for those who are wearing wind-breakers this fall. These jackets are of the finest, softest, suede, or of cape skin lined to make the skirts with which they are worn and bordered, flared and cuffed in cardigan designs.

Despite the prevalence of bootleggers, the vogue of the Russian boot has failed to make itself felt here, although it is in full swing in London. Bootmakers say, however, that when snow, cold and sleet make their appearance, the high, brightly colored Russian footgear will find many admirers. If this is so, gin on the ankle may become as common an autumn complaint as water on the knee.

Simple Way to Get Rid of Blackheads

There is one simple, safe, and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them. To do this, get two ounces of peroxide powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, like the small ones, matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are simply a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The peroxide powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

Uncle Wiggily AND THE DIVING BIRD

By HOWARD R. GARIS.

Uncle Wiggily hopped as quickly as he could toward the brook, on the edge of which he had seen Jingle and Jangle, his two little rabbit girls, washing their dolls' clothes. "That was a loud splash I heard," thought the bunny uncle to himself. "One of them must have fallen in. Or perhaps it was both of them. I wonder if Jingle fell in first, or Jangle? Oh, dear!"

The thought of the two little bunny children struggling in the brook made Uncle Wiggily jump so fast that he fell down and bumped his pink, twinkling nose. But up he jumped again, blinking away the tears that came into his eyes, and on he hopped.

Jingle and Jangle had come down to the brook to wash their dolls' clothes, as I told you last night, and Uncle Wiggily went to see if they were all right. Then he heard a loud splash.

But when he reached the edge of the brook—he and behold! as they say in fairy stories! Neither Jingle nor Jangle had fallen in! There they stood, safe and sound, high and dry on the bank, and they were laughing. "What happened?" called the rabbit gentleman, all out of breath from hopping so fast. "Did one of the dolls fall in? I heard a great splash!" "No, daddy-ums," answered Jingle. "We didn't fall in and our dolls didn't either."

"I made a dive into the brook to get one of the dresses of Jangle's," said another voice.

A large bird, with some blue plumage and a crest of feathers on his head, dived out of the water, perched on a low limb of a bush and shook the water from his wings. "Oh, then it was you who made the splash in the water?" asked Uncle Wiggily, looking at the bird.

"I did it," answered the feathered creature, "and a diving bird, I am called. They call me, and I catch fish by diving down into the water after them from a tree on the bank."

"And you were about to get my dress that dived away was a fish!" laughed Jangle. "For he swooped down on it and caught it in his bill, the diving bird!" "I thought it was a fish turning on its back, for many fish are colored white on the underside," said Uncle Wiggily. "I was going to have a fish lunch, but instead, I only picked up a doll's dress." "Well, because you did," spoke Jangle, "bringing the water out of the garment which the Kingfisher had dropped on the grass after flying from the water." "It was Sally Magundy's

PLAY TO BE GIVEN BY PLAYERS' CLUB

Members Will Direct, Enact and Stage "Happy Go Lucky" For December.

A unique arrangement is being made in connection with a forthcoming production by the Players' club of the University of Western Ontario. For the first time in the history of the club a play is to be enacted, directed and staged by the members.

Miss Margaret Jordan and Miss Florence McDonagh are directing "Happy Go Lucky," which will be presented in Convocation Hall some time in December. As yet the staging conveners and the cast have not been definitely completed, but it is hoped to finish up this part of the work very soon.

"Happy Go Lucky" is an excellent farce comedy, full of clever lines and very good parts. From start to finish it is full of merit of the best sort. Tilly is the heroine, and she becomes engaged to the son of a lord. Dick is a lovable lad. He brings the girl, but forgets to post the letter. He arrives with Tilly, and like her because she is not their son's equal. The little heroine, who has a bit of the gamine in her, immediately puts on "airs," and quite out-does the snobbish parents of noble birth. She "makes up" a family to her own liking that quite competes with his lordship and his ladyship, until Dick's father and mother decide to visit Tilly's parents.

At this point the fun reaches a climax. The play is going to be one of the most worthwhile events of the early winter season.

SPINDRIFT

An Adventure of the Great Lakes

By HAROLD TITUS

INSTALMENT 27.
All night the gale held and by the next morning it was blowing ed across the lake. It screamed forests, it ripped at the shingles and cornices of houses as though it would tear down the things that men had set in its path, as if it would drive men and their works for ever from its way.

In the former it partially succeeded. Before dawn the crews of the tugs were ready, but when old Ezra, leaning against the gale, made his way down the dock to his Wanderer, he stood looking out into the weather a long moment and then shook his head dubiously.

"No use," he said. "We'd pound to pieces today. Mebbe she'll drop with sun-up, though."

But the wind did not decrease when gray morning seeped across the wide lake, and the men went about the bits of shore work that in the rush of the heavy lift had been left undone, ready to man the Wanderer should the blow abate enough to let them venture on the lake.

Val Haines also was kept ashore by the weather, but before the cap'n's men were well at their assigned tasks he sauntered over from his tug and addressed Ezra.

"Tough to be weather-bound at a time like this, Cap'n."

"Sure is. We're like to be froze in any night now, and with the nets fishing like they are I hate to miss a day."

"I think you could make it. You've got more power than I have. The Wanderer certainly is a heavy-weather ship."

"She'd stand it, I guess; but lifting in another thing, and there's no use taking chances. Better play safe than to bust a gang and let twine, fish, and all go to pot."

Something like a flicker of disappointment crossed the other's face and he turned away.

"Anything you want at Vans Harbor, Val?"

The younger man turned sharply. "Not a thing. Why?"

"I'm short of coal, lumber. Thought I'd run around there today and bring back enough to carry me through. I'll hang up here until afternoon though, and she may drop"—casting a look at the sky. "I sure'd like to get out if there's a show."

Because he looked away he could not see the sudden light that flared in the other's face.

"I'm going to run to Escanaba with fish tonight. You can get to Vans Harbor without trouble."

With that, Haines walked away rapidly. He passed through his reel yard, looked in on the men who most absently, and went out without giving an answer to a question about the day's work put to him by one of his crew.

He proceeded on down to his tug, boarded it, and making sure that Blackman was busy with his engine stepped into the tug house to look into the locker where the steel box, rusted, its surface smeared with drying paint, stood.

A dozen times during the forenoon Val Haines made that inspection. Countless times he stopped the activity which engaged him to follow with his gaze Ezra Needham as he puttered about his dock and buildings.

It was nearly noon before his vigilance was rewarded. Fresh smoke issued from the Wanderer's stack, Goodheart and the cap'n went down the dock together, and a few moments later the tug backed from her slip into the channel, headed westward, and began the trip to the village on the Bay de Noc, assured of a lee all the way.

It was Saturday and school was not in session. Janet Needham was busy about her father's house throughout the forenoon. She worked

A Friend of the Family B&S

"How many times must I tell you that I'll never marry you, that I'll never—"

"Never" is a long time," he broke in, voice low, head nodding ominously. "Don't be too firm—too sure of yourself. I can see that you've got to be made to understand certain facts; certain very important facts."

The girl's heart was racing madly and her eyes held on the man's with a terrible fascination. Her nerves were singing, tightening until she thought she would scream. The wait for him to go on was like the lull in a thunder shower when all the elements seem to have dropped into repose only to gather strength for a destroying outburst.

"Did you take my advice the other day? Did you ask this man who calls himself Goodheart where he came from?—what he's been doing?—how he happens to be using that name?"

"No." Her voice was a mere whisper. "It's none of my affair."

"Perhaps not. Perhaps so. Maybe it would be wise to make it your affair to find out since he has proven to be so—so attractive to you."

He dropped his big palms to the table covers and gripped it in tightening fingers.

"Janet, his name isn't John Goodheart. It is Carl Garrison."

The expression of her face did not change. He waited a moment. "Mean anything to you—Carl Garrison? No? Think! Remember—Ah! It does, eh?"

She had started sharply in her chair, then settled back, evidently fighting for her self-control, and the last bit of color ran out of her drawn face.

He smiled, and for answer quoted a story by Mark Twain, in which a clergyman paid tribute to a "man of peace," who managed to keep the peace by laying out seven of his adversaries with a pistol and a spanner.

UNIQUE BANQUET HELD FOR OFFICIALS

McClary's Commemorate Departure of John Foote and Arrival of Frank Irwin.

On the occasion of the departure of Mr. John J. Foote for Toronto, and the return of Mr. Frank Irwin to London, a commemorative banquet was held in the York street dining-room of the McClary company last night. The hall was tastefully decorated in Halloween colors, and the tables treated in a like manner, with decorated lamps taking the place of overhead lights. The whole effect was very pretty and pleasing.

Heads of departments, and foremen of the factory and foundry plants, to the number of eighty, attended.

Mr. John McClary Gunn, assistant general manager of the company, was chairman of the proceedings.

Mr. Gunn, in his opening remarks, referred to the important changes that were taking place at this time. In a large organization like the McClary company, it was necessary to watch business conditions very closely and prepare for future developments. The management had felt for some time that the next three or four years would be a period of improvement over present and past conditions, and in view of this, definite steps should be taken to provide the elasticity necessary to meet changed circumstances. They regretted very much that it was necessary, in the best interest of the company, for Mr. Foote to leave this community. Mr. Foote has been a force in all the best movements for the interests of the city, and many organizations would feel the loss of his presence. On the other hand, we would gain by Mr. Frank Irwin returning to London after an absence of ten years.

Mr. George Clark spoke of his recent business trip through the Western provinces to the coast, and reported that conditions were excellent, despite adverse reports regarding delay in shipping. Alberta was giving a better account of itself than almost any of the other provinces, which was reflected in the business being placed through our Calgary and Edmonton houses.

Mr. John Foote, in referring to his departure, expressed the severity of a number of business and social connections. Born and raised in London, he would always look to this city as his real home, although during his long service with the McClary company he had spent a number of years in many of the larger cities from coast to coast.

Mr. Frank Irwin was glad to get back home again and to see so many familiar faces around the table.

Mr. J. K. H. Pope read a message from Col. W. M. Garthshore, who regretted that, under the advice of his medical adviser, he was unable to attend. Colonel Garthshore referred to the fact that the company, in meeting changed conditions, had felt it necessary to call upon its representatives to sacrifice their own convenience. There is an evolution in

Household Remedies

"My household remedies for years have been Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, Pleasant Pellets and Favorite Prescription," said Mrs. Mary Ellen Miers (above), of 89 Monmouth road, Walkerville, Ont. "My husband owes his life today to the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Pleasant Pellets.' He was a very sick man when I first wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice. He could not retain food and gas would form in his stomach. Finally, he lost all desire for food and would have given up. Through the advice of Dr. Pierce, I purchased some of his 'Discovery' at the drug store and very soon my husband was well and able to work.

"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the tonic and nerve that brought me safely through the critical period of life when I had been having hot flashes, dizziness and spells of melancholia."

Charm of Music and Song Thrill Recital Audience

Hyde Auld, Distinguished Canadian Baritone, Appears in Concert With Flora Matheson, Youthful Violinist of Rare Ability.

In the presentation of Hyde Auld, distinguished Canadian baritone, the Women's Music club again placed opportunity in the way of music-loving London. Possessing a voice rich in quality, of wide range and unusual tone, Mr. Auld sang his way into the hearts of his audience, in spite of the fact that he was singing under the difficulty of a poor auditorium. Removal of the curtains from the central collegiate stage has made the acoustic properties of that building worse than ever.

The singer's program was an unusual one throughout, marked by a large number of the 17th and 18th century songs of rare beauty. As a leader singer he has a decided gift. Although Mr. Auld has been studying music seriously only during the past few years, when he took it up as a relaxation, during a period of convalescence following the war, he sings the finish and intelligence of a true artist, well-studied in his art.

He has an engaging stage presence and a magnetism which quickly communicates itself to the audience. The first group on the program included 17th and 18th century compositions. The Invocacion di Orfeo from the affairs of the Company that necessitated these changes, and that he himself would probably find it necessary to pass over most of his responsibilities to Mr. John McClary Gunn. He appreciated the loyal cooperation which had been his for nearly fifty years.

The banquet was also enlivened with some splendid songs rendered by Messrs. A. McCullough, A. L. Christian, R. Ticehurst, and A. Collier, and community singing, with Mr. A. McCullough at the piano.

FORD CAR IS FIRST TO CROSS CANADA

Auto Bears Message From Halifax Mayor To Vancouver's Head.

Completing the first trans-Canada tour made by an automobile under its own power in the history of the dominion, the pioneering Ford touring car has reached Vancouver, B.C., after a 4,794-mile trip from Halifax.

The car left Halifax September 8 on a trip designed to stimulate building of the transcontinental all-Canadian highway, and to direct the world's attention to Canada's wonderful scenic resources. Undeterred by blinding snowstorms, hundreds of miles of slushy gumbo roads, and almost continuous rains, the trail-breaking Ford reached Vancouver, B.C., October 15.

Equipped with flanged wheels, the car was despatched as a special train for 853 miles through courtesy of Canadian Pacific railroad officials, who tendered the use of their line in areas lacking highways. This novel arrangement was used from Sault Ste Marie to a point near Winnipeg, and in two Rocky Mountain districts.

Bearing a message from the mayor of Halifax to the mayor of Vancouver, the car traversed country heretofore regarded as impassable for auto traffic. It was reported in perfect condition on arrival, when Mayor L. D. Taylor headed a reception committee of prominent businessmen.

Toronto Reports Indicate Early Provincial Election In Ontario

TO INVESTIGATE MILK SITUATION

Mayor Mitchell Recommends That Committee Look Into Raised Prices.

Canadian Press Despatch. Windsor, Nov. 2.—Increased milk prices put in effect today by border dealers will be the subject of civic investigation, Mayor Frank J. Mitchell announced today.

Milk distributors have raised their prices two cents a quart. When called to the city hall today to justify their action they explained that it was due to competition created by condensers and cheese factories. According to the dealers, the Essex county milk producing association has a contract with them that expires at the end of this month. When negotiations began for renewing the agreement, the producers informed the distributors that they would have to pay more for milk in future. Buying competition created by the demand of Ontario condensers and cheese factories was blamed for the increase in prices. It was claimed by the dealers that at the present time they are forced to bring much of their milk for considerable distances, and that express charges run the price up.

Mayor Mitchell told the distributors that he considered milk was such an important item of food that an increase in price was a matter of more than ordinary public interest. Under the circumstances he proposed to pay more to the city council that it appoint a committee to consider the whole question.

"We will be fair to you people," his worship assured the dealers.

COUNCIL TO SUBMIT 3 MONEY BYLAWS

Citizens To Vote On New Ridout Bridge and Aged People's Home.

London citizens will be asked to pass upon three money bylaws at the next municipal election, the city council decided at its meeting last night. The first is to provide for the issue of $75,000 debentures for the construction of a new Ridout street bridge; the second for a like amount for the erection of additional building at the Victoria Home for Incurables and the Aged People's Home, and the third for the erection of a Nurses' Home at a cost of $225,000. A deputation was present from the Hospital Trust in behalf of the latter proposition, but it was not necessary for them to be heard, the council giving the bylaw its first and second reading without discussion.

On motion of Ald. Douglass, City Engineer Near was instructed to confer with the city solicitor in regard to the street railway bridge at Ridout street to see if some steps can be taken to compel the company to take measures to put the bridge in repair and restore street car service to South London citizens, via Ridout street.

Rev. B. H. Robinson brought greetings from the Metropolitan church, and former Methodist churches. He paid a warm tribute to the Congregationalists, who so staunchly have held to the traditions and courage of their fore-runners, the pilgrims. He also pointed to the bright future in store for Canada, since the three great religious bodies have formed the United church, "so long each individual in the church stands true to these traditions and to the religious teaching, just so long will we have a character developed in our nation," said Mr. Robinson.

Rev. Mr. Miller, pastor, presided, and in the course of the evening gave some humorous readings. The ladies served delicious pumpkin pie, and other refreshments.

CHATHAM YOUTH ESCAPES JAIL, POLICE WATCH BORDER

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent. Chatham, Nov. 2.—Lyle Papps, a local young man who escaped from the Kent county jail late Sunday night, is still a fugitive from justice tonight, with a close watch being kept at the border in the belief that he might attempt to enter the United States. Papps, who was at the jail awaiting removal to Guelph reformatory, had been working in the kitchen since he was sentenced. He gained freedom by smashing a lock on a door leading to the boiler-room. He was convicted on a charge of breaking and entering the Heintzman music store and stealing a radio set and Victrola, valued at approximately $400. The instruments were subsequently recovered, and Papps was sentenced by Magistrate Arnold to serve from three months to two years, the latter promising to recommend the prisoner for special consideration by the parole board.

STUDENTS' ASSEMBLY RECEIVE YEAR BUDGET

Expenditures of Coming Year of University Organizations Amount To $2,360.

The November meeting of the Students' Administrative assembly was held last night at the university, and was featured by the presentation of the year's budget by the treasurer of the cabinet, Harold Newell.

The expenditures of the coming year on the various organizations of the university will amount to $2,360, and it is thought that there will still be sufficient finances remaining to cover expenses arising during the year. In the discussion that followed, the assembly voted against a raise in the grant to the literary society, which claimed they would need additional funds to finance the visit of the imperial debaters, who will come in February.

The house received with great applause the announcement that the effort to get a free telephone for the use of the students had been successful, and would be installed within a week.

Speaker Bagnall announced that Malcolm Crawford was the successful candidate in the recent by-election to fill the vacancy left by Eugene Durrant.

The meeting decided that in the future the convocation dance would be under the guidance of the assembly, and the representatives of the junior year will be the committee in charge.

CHATHAM YOUTH ESCAPES JAIL, POLICE WATCH BORDER

Special to The Advertiser by a Staff Correspondent. Chatham, Nov. 2.—Lyle Papps, a local young man who escaped from the Kent county jail late Sunday night, is still a fugitive from justice tonight, with a close watch being kept at the border in the belief that he might attempt to enter the United States. Papps, who was at the jail awaiting removal to Guelph reformatory, had been working in the kitchen since he was sentenced. He gained freedom by smashing a lock on a door leading to the boiler-room. He was convicted on a charge of breaking and entering the Heintzman music store and stealing a radio set and Victrola, valued at approximately $400. The instruments were subsequently recovered, and Papps was sentenced by Magistrate Arnold to serve from three months to two years, the latter promising to recommend the prisoner for special consideration by the parole board.

STUDENTS' ASSEMBLY RECEIVE YEAR BUDGET

Expenditures of Coming Year of University Organizations Amount To $2,360.

The November meeting of the Students' Administrative assembly was held last night at the university, and was featured by the presentation of the year's budget by the treasurer of the cabinet, Harold Newell.

The expenditures of the coming year on the various organizations of the university will amount to $2,360, and it is thought that there will still be sufficient finances remaining to cover expenses arising during the year. In the discussion that followed, the assembly voted against a raise in the grant to the literary society, which claimed they would need additional funds to finance the visit of the imperial debaters, who will come in February.

The house received with great applause the announcement that the effort to get a free telephone for the use of the students had been successful, and would be installed within a week.

Speaker Bagnall announced that Malcolm Crawford was the successful candidate in the recent by-election to fill the vacancy left by Eugene Durrant.

The meeting decided that in the future the convocation dance would be under the guidance of the assembly, and the representatives of the junior year will be the committee in charge.

BOURASSA TO SUPPORT KING BEFORE MEIGHEN

Nationalist Member Fails To Retract Statement Made at Montclair.

Special to The Advertiser. Montreal, Nov. 2.—If it comes to a showdown between the Liberal leader, Premier King, and the Conservative leader, Right Hon. Arthur Meighen, Henri Bourassa, Nationalist orator and editor, elected as an independent in Labelle county, will vote for Mackenzie King and to keep Meighen out of power.

Mr. Bourassa made this statement in unmistakable language during his campaign in Labelle, and repeated it today.

Regarding the attitude he would take in the event of a deadlock, he said: "I have nothing to say for the moment, I will await developments."

Mr. Bourassa adheres to his independence and will always vote as his intelligence and conscience directs him for the policies he considers best for the dominion as a whole.
