ENTENTE ALLIES HAVE DECIDED NOT TO RECOGNIZE VENIZELOS MOVEMENT

JUSTIFY FILMS EXISTENCE

Pictures of Allies Advance Will Be Preserved in Britain's Archives

That an enthusiastic reception was accorded the official motion pictures of "The Battle of the Somme," in which the British opened their offensive upon the Germans July 1, is proven in excerpts from the most prominent and influential newspapers in England, where the pictures were shown to millions of people.

THREE SOLDIERS WELCOMED HOME

Reception to Sergt. Blathway and Ptes. Peirce and Linn.

Three more of Brantford's wounded heroes returned to the city last evening on the 7.32 Grand Trunk Train in the persons of Sergt. George Blathway, 24 Brock street, and Ptes. Samuel Peirce, both of the 19th battalion, and Pte. David Linn, 130 West street, of the "Mad Fourth" battalion.

Some Disatisfaction is Expressed at This Action, Which Places the Ex-Greek Premier and His Party in Grave Peril

London, Oct. 31.—Although no comment has yet been published here regarding the displacement of D. C. G. Metaxas, the Greek minister to Washington, owing to his pro-Venizelos views much indignation is expressed at the allies allowing the Greek Government to displace numerous other public officials for similar reasons.

The Morning Post publishes reports from Paris and Athens that the Entente allies definitely have decided not to recognize the Venizelos' movement and demands that the British parliament insists that the action be reconsidered.

That Venizelos himself and his friends have no status; that they are all liable to be cashiered, imprisoned, dismissed or shot by the Athens Government and that is apparently just what is being done—Venizelos supporters in the army, magistracy and other public officers are being arrested, cashiered, punished at wholesale without even the formalities required by law.

There were 49 Americans in the crew of the Marina. First reports of her sinking said only 34 members of her crew had been brought to shore. Mr. Frost sent word yesterday to the American embassy at London that the Marina had been continued on page four.

GERMANY METES OUT HARD TREATMENT TO RUSS PRISONERS

Under Plea of Reprisals, Captives in Hun Prison Camps are Submitted to Fresh Cruelties and Indignities

Berlin, Oct. 31.—(By wireless to Sayville)—Measures of reprisal upon Russian prisoners have been ordered by the German Government pending the Russian Government's acceptance of German demands for improved treatment of German prisoners of war in Russia, according to the semi-official North German Gazette.

spatch, forwarded by way of Amsterdam, quotes The Norddeutsche Zeitung as saying that a number of Russian officers from elite regiments of the Russian army have been placed in special prison camps as reprisal for the alleged ill-treatment of German war prisoners in Russia.

This newspaper states that the German Government asked of the Russian Government that it put an end to conditions which were causing suffering to German prisoners of war, and that the period given by the German Government for compliance having elapsed without a satisfactory answer from Russia, the German Government has ordered reprisals. To this end, it is stated, a number of officers belonging to crack Russian regiments have been transferred to a special camp where discipline is especially severe, and where they will remain until the Russian Government complies with the German request.

HUNS CONFER ON FOOD PROBLEMS

Berlin, Oct. 30, via London, Oct. 31.—A food conference was held at the chancellors' palace to-day at which there were present Emperor William, the chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, secretaries of state, and heads of all departments and representatives of important organizations throughout the empire, directly or even indirectly in that subject. The conference continued for nearly two hours, during which the emperor conferred personally with each of those present.

HARD WORK AND PLENTY OF IT THIS WEEK AND SUCCESS WILL BE YOURS

All Seem to Have the Same Feeling That Now is the Oportune Time to Get Busy—You Will Have to if You are to Win

The vote offer that was announced in yesterday's Courier met with the approval of all candidates as some have been so busy the past week that they were unable to take advantage of last week's offer and are going to make this week in a way pay up for last, but if behooves all candidates who did take advantage of last week's offer to work hard this week and they will find that they will be falling behind in the race instead of forging ahead. The contest is fast drawing to an end and it will not be long now until the judges who count the ballots and award the prizes will be hard at work counting them, to let you know whether you are the winner of the Grand Prize or one of the smaller prizes, and which it will depend entirely on yourself and what you do this week.

Subscriptions Easy Candidates to-day find it much easier to procure subscriptions than they did two weeks ago. Why? The reason is that your friends are becoming more interested in you and then again the candidates are finding new territory to work that they thought had been worked before. Wake up, you dreamers who have been standing idly by and saying that you could not get subscriptions and you will find that you can get plenty of them if you go after them, because you can rest assured that they will not come to you. Nothing was ever gained in this world without work and plenty of it. So in this contest if you expect to win any of the prizes at all, you will have to work and get results, and not excuses.

A Million Votes Easy. With the vote schedule this week, it will not be hard for any candidate to store up a million votes. Take out your pencil and do a little figuring and you will see that it will not take many subscribers to do it.

Vote schedule this week: 2 years subscription . . . 115,000 votes 1 year subscription . . . 35,000 votes 6 months subscription . . . 15,000 votes (Continued on page six.)

COAL GOES UP IN NEW YORK

New York, Oct. 31.—The high cost of keeping warm took another jump here to-day. Householders in New York city learned that coal in the domestic sizes, egg and nut, now brings $12 a ton. Dealers attribute the increase to the tremendous consumption of coal in factories throughout the country which are through out the night to fill war and other orders; to the natural increase of coal orders at this time of year; to the inability of railroads, because of a shortage of equipment, to haul all the coal that is ordered, and to the large increases in shipments of coal to other countries, chiefly Canada. There is no shortage, it is said, of the coal supply.

RUSSIANS GAIN IN VOLHYNIA

First Line Trenches of Austro-Germans are Taken There

Petrograd, Oct. 31.—Via London.—A heavy attack made yesterday by Russian forces in Volhynia, resulted in the capture of Austro-German first line trenches, the war office announced to-day. Counter attacks were repulsed by the Russians. The Russian attack was made on the front west of Lutsk, in the region of Pustoty and Ochest.

Roumanians Gain Take Two Paris, Oct. 31.—On the Macedonian front, west of Lake Prespa, yesterday both the French and Serbians made further progress, the war office announced to-day. The French took possession of Singieri Monastery.

Roumanians Also Bucharest, Oct. 31.—Via London.—The Roumanians have won further advances over the Austro-German forces on the Transylvania front, the war office announced to-day. In the Jui valley, pursuit of the Teutons continues. Heavy fighting is in progress east of Alt.

VOTE OF AUSTRALIAN SOLDIERS MAY CHANGE CONSCRIPTION ISSUE

Friends of the Compulsion Referendum Still Entertain Confidence That the Measure Will Ultimately Pass

Melbourne, Australia, Oct. 30.—The position of the conscription referendum is virtually unchanged, but its friends all declare themselves hopeful that the final result will show a majority in their favor. The political situation seems certain to become complicated; but developments in this respect are not expected until Premier Hughes returns shortly from Sydney.

REPORT CARDS FOR LIFE

Do you remember the report cards you used to get when you were in school? Of course you do. That is the sort of thing one doesn't forget in a lifetime.

To return to the main road. Wouldn't it be rather a good idea if there were someone to give us report cards later in life? Not on our studies, but on such things as social tact, manners, self-expression, etc.

How Would The Average Girl Stand in Expression?

It would be interesting to see how one stood, wouldn't it? And don't you think many girls who stood well in other departments would be surprised to find what a bad mark they would get in expression? I do. And I have a letter friend who feels the same. It was her experience that prompted me to write this reminder. Here it is.

They Expressed "Yes" Or "No"

By Grunts. "Two girls set behind me at the theater the other night. Their conversation was sprinkled with perfectly grand, fine and dandy, just swell and I never was so thrilled in all my life. When the heroine died, one girl said, tearfully, "That just got my goat!" They expressed "yes" and "no" by grunts.

It is Natural To Eat With Your Fingers.

"So often girls say, 'It is natural for me to speak with a twang, or to use slang. It would be affected if I did not.' It is natural, also, to speak inaccurately, to eat with your fingers, to tell people you do not like to go home, and to do various other rude and uncivilized things. But you do not want to behave like a young savage, or to act and talk like an uncultivated and common person. You may say that all education is in a sense unnatural, but that does not keep it from being an improvement. What the woman behind would think of one's conversation is an interesting question to ask one's self, isn't it?"

RIPPLING RHYMES

BY WALT MASON

The Moving Finger

The Moving Finger writes: and we may read the fatal lesson of its changeless creed, of which no man may cancel half a line, by all his prayers, by all his flow of brine. All useless things must perish from the earth, which has but room for things of proven worth. In every age some foolishness is stopped; in every age some worthless things are dropped. The worthless things may grow and flourish long, and long the world endures some grievous wrong, but when their time has come to bump the bumps, no power can save them from the divers dumps. And so Old Booze is slipping day by day; nothing can stop him on his downward way; the world has had enough of gin and rye, nations and states and villages go dry. Friends of Old Booze are fighting for him hard, weapons in hand they stand upon their guard, but all in vain their brave defense of rum—Old Booze must go because his time has come.

DARKEN GREY HAIR LOOK YOUNG, PRETTY

Sage Tea and Sulphur Darkens So Naturally that Nobody can tell.

Hair that loses its color and lustre or when it fades, turns gray, dull and lifeless is caused by a lack of sulphur in the hair. Our grandmothers made up a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur to keep her locks dark and beautiful, and thousands of women and men who value that even color, that beautiful dark shade of hair which is so attractive, use only this old-time recipe.

Nowadays we get this famous mixture improved by the addition of other ingredients by asking at any drug store for a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which darkens the hair so naturally and so evenly, that nobody can possibly tell that it has been applied. You just dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; but what delights the ladies with Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound, is that besides beautifully darkening the hair, after a few applications it also brings back the gloss and lustre and gives it an appearance of abundance. Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound is a delightful toilet requisite to impart color and a youthful appearance to the hair. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.

Music and Drama

The Colonial. The feature of a splendid programme at the Colonial for the first part of the week is Mme. Olga Petrova, who is starring in "My Madonnas" a drama of studio life founded on Robert Service's poem of the same name. Mme. Petrova displays the same grace and ability which have distinguished her appearance in previous productions and introduces some gorgeous costumes which increase the effect of the play.

"The Girl and the Game," a thrilling railroad play, in which Helen Holmes provides some sensations, was also greatly appreciated, while two comedies and a Mutual film chronicling scenes of world-wide interest rounded out an exceptionally well balanced programme.

At the Grand. The feature of this week's affairs in local sporting circles is the ten-round boxing exhibition in the Opera House between Pete Scott, the promising welterweight of Hamilton, and Jimmy Conway of Scranton, reputed to be one of the best of the new crop of scrappers in the welter-weight ranks. The bout should draw like a porus plaster. Both boys are in the pink of condition, and it promises to be the best exhibition ever staged in this city. Besides the main attraction, there will be two preliminaries in which four of the best boys procurable hereabouts will show their wares. In the first, Billy Jewell, of Hamilton, and Billy Neville, also of the Ambitious City, will hook up. The second bout will bring out young Alter, of Hamilton and Clare Betts, of Brantford. Betts' admirers believe he will prove a tough morsel for the clever invader. This pair will go six rounds.

Scott and Alter are working out together. Both are in ideal condition. Conway is putting in his final licks at his home, and will arrive here on Thursday. His manager writes that he is quite confident of trimming the Indian, and that the local crowd is in for a fine night's entertainment if Scott shows a willingness to make matters interesting. That Scott is also confident is evident by the remarks of his manager, Frank Fell, who says that he will surely win.

It looks as if Hamiltonians will be out en masse to witness the bouts. Reservations have been asked for over a hundred from the city 26 miles east of here, and the Hamilton boxers will be well supported when they enter the ring, Brantford is also expected to arise to the occasion. It is the most pleasing bill local enthusiasts have been provided with for many a day, and if the opera house is not jammed to capacity it will be surprising.

THE SITUATION

It was the Hun program to wipe out the Roumanians in the same way as the Serbians. They are not doing it. Matters looked black for a while but the present aspect is very much better.

The bitter battle continues on the Macedonian front between the Serbian and German-Bulgarian forces, and the advantage still rests with the Serbs.

Bad weather still prevails on the Western front, but the French and British troops are still strengthening their positions north of the Somme.

The sinking without warning of two British steamers—the Marina and Rowanmore—both partly manned by Americans, is admitted at Washington to have again created a grave situation.

GRIT ARDOR FOR AN ELECTION IS COOLING OFF

Out in Saskatchewan, the Liberals who were talking of springing an election, are said to have thought better of it.

The truth is that Sir Wilfrid Laurier has made another of his bad breaks, just as he did with regard to reciprocity.

The Ottawa Free Press, a staunch Liberal sheet, which from the commencement of hostilities, has urged that all Canadians should get together in the crisis without regard to politics, protests that it would be a "rank injustice" to Sir Wilfrid to class him for this action with men whose "arguments and conduct in the war crisis have disgusted the vast majority of the Canadian people, but it adds:—

"He has put himself in a wrong light. He has hurt the strong patriotic feelings of a large number of men and women who have hitherto given him their warmest regard and their sincerest support."

Another matter with regard to which the ex-Premier has also got in wrong with English-speaking supporters, is the effort he has made to add to the mischievous efforts of the Bourassa outfit with regard to the Ontario school question.

Whatever the election, as they can do, will find themselves in for a first class hammering.

SOME BRITISH RED CROSS FACTS

1. The first Red Cross unit of doctors and nurses led England for Brussels on August 12, 1914, and between that time and the fall of Brussels on August 20, six such parties arrived and did invaluable service in relieving the most acute period of Belgian distress.

2. When the retreat from Mons had shown the inadequacy of the old horse ambulances, the Red Cross evolved the standard pattern of motor ambulances, and in a few weeks raised a motor ambulance fleet of some 500 vehicles.

3. At about the time the Stores Department was established, so that every hospital requirement could be supplied at a few hours' notice. For example, early in 1915 the Stores Department dispatched to Calais a complete hospital for enteric fever, capable of accommodating 156 patients, with every requirement, from the wards themselves (huts, packed and sent in sections) to bedding and drugs.

4. When the typhus epidemic was rampant in Serbia, the Red Cross sent unlimited hospital stores in the yacht "Erin," kindly lent by Sir Thomas Lipton.

5. The Gallipoli campaign was the occasion for setting up a huge organization in the Mediterranean from a Red Cross store actually established on the shores of Gallipoli to base hospitals in Malta, Cairo and Alexandria.

6. The organization of a Red Cross transport service in Mesopotamia, by motor boats on the Tigris and motor ambulances on land, has been the special work of 1916.

The British Red Cross Society is at present carrying on its humane work in England, France, Belgium, Malta, Salonika, Mesopotamia, East Africa, Serbia, Montenegro, Italy and Russia. This work includes supplying motor ambulances, hospital trains, hospital ships, hospital stores and equipment of all kinds; and also, in assisting by grants, etc., in the work of many hospitals which are doing special work of all kinds.

The expenses of the Joint War Committee are estimated to be about $170,000 a week, and during the coming year the need is expected to reach the total of $8,750,000.

AS TO THE MAYOR.

There is friction between the Aldermen and Mayor Bowby with regard to a number of matters and in the opinion of The Courier, the Mayor is to blame.

Complaint is made that His Worship, is all the time ignoring committees and acting as if he was the great Nizam of this community.

For instance in the matter of the Colborne-Clarence street crossing, Market Street crossing, the subway at St. Paul's and so on, a special committee was appointed consisting of Aldermen, Street Railway Commissioners and City Engineer. The Mayor ignored all of them when railway men visited the city in this regard.

The weather was unusually severe at the time the Marina was sunk and has been since then. The Marina was first struck amidships. A terrific explosion occurred on the starboard side. The second torpedo struck the bow and immediately in two parts. It is reported seven men were killed while attempting to get into boats.

Sailors saw the wake of a torpedo according to these advices, and until the ship was struck thought it was a fish.

BOWLING

The "Y" team came back last night and took three games from the Watermen, who were away below form. Dave Hepton was the big bowler of the evening with a single of 241, and a triple of 519. Hilborn was the best man for the beaten team.

Mrs. William Stewart, whose husband is also in France. The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon to Mt. Hope cemetery.

AMERICANS IN CREW OF TORPEDOED STEAMER

Continued from Page One torpedoes without warning, but the British Admiralty said it had not ascertained whether warning was given.

London, Oct. 31.—Captain Browne and about fifty of the crew of the British Steamer Marina are reported by the Press Association to have been drowned when that vessel was sunk off the Irish coast, after having been torpedoed by a submarine Saturday afternoon. The despatch published by the Press Association reads:—

"The Marina sank at 3.54 o'clock Saturday afternoon. Captain Browne and about fifty of the crew were drowned."

London, Oct. 31.—The British Steamship Marina sank within ten minutes after being torpedoed, West of Frost. American consul at Queenstown reported to the American embassy to-day. He said survivors state the vessel was torpedoed without warning.

Mr. Frost's telegram to the embassy follows:— "Fifty two more survivors of the Marina landed at Castletown pier. Only 13 now missing, believed dead. Not less than 16 Americans aboard. There will probably be some American fatalities. Survivors state the vessel was torpedoed without warning in heavy sea, sank within ten minutes."

Mr. Frost is obtaining affidavits from survivors and ascertaining how many Americans are among the Castletown survivors.

The United States embassy to-day received a telegram from the consul at Glasgow, October 25, for Baltimore and Newport News with 50 Americans aboard.

London, Oct. 31, 11:57 a.m.—(Marina).—A private telegram received to-day from Crook Haven by United States Consul-General Skinner, says that among the survivors from the Marina who were landed at Crook Haven, are sixteen Americans. One of them is Frank Howard Smith, a veterinary surgeon.

According to the telegram received by Mr. Skinner, survivors report that two boats containing 63 men left the Marina at the same time, and have not been accounted for. This telegram evidently was sent before news had been received that 52 more survivors had landed at Castletown.

The weather was unusually severe at the time the Marina was sunk and has been since then. The Marina was first struck amidships. A terrific explosion occurred on the starboard side. The second torpedo struck the bow and immediately in two parts. It is reported seven men were killed while attempting to get into boats.

Sailors saw the wake of a torpedo according to these advices, and until the ship was struck thought it was a fish.

OUR DAILY PATTERN SERVICE

Valuable Suggestions for the Handy Homemaker—Order Any Pattern Through the Courier.

GIRL'S ONE PIECE DRESS. By Anabel Worthington. In the juvenile class of tasteful dresses this one belongs. It shows the decided vogue for contrasting goods in children's wear, which for obvious reasons will continue throughout the winter.

The separate guimpe, which has a front closing, is finely tucked at the centre, showing an oval vest effect very attractively; the collar and sleeve cuffs are dainty with edgings to outline them.

The overdress cut in one piece is cut out in front to show the tucked vest and bound with braid at this point; the armholes also are braid finished. Either side of the tucked portion of the guimpe the dress is smocked, but fancy stitching will answer if smocking will take too much of your time. Down the centre of the back there is the welcome box plait, and a separate belt is used to hold in the fullness below the waistline.

The assortments of fabrics for this type of dress show no striking variation from those weaves that were in vogue last year. Novelty checks, plaids, serges, also gabardine are well liked.

The dress pattern No. 7385 is cut in sizes 6, 8 and 10 years. To make in the medium size will require 1 3/4 yards goods 36 inches wide, without up and down; 2 1/4 yards of braid, 1 1/4 yards for guimpe and 2 yards edging.

To obtain the pattern send 10 cents to the office of this publication.

Silver Wedding Was Celebrated

On Saturday last, the 26th inst., a party of some 25 friends gathered at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. H. Pearcey, 7 Emile street, to celebrate the occasion of their silver wedding.

The party indulged in cards, songs, dances, etc., until midnight, when a very tastefully arranged supper was served by the hostess to which full justice was done by all present. After supper, songs and dancing were again the order. Messrs Wm. Gibbs, A. Dell and G. Knowles then made congratulatory speeches, to which the host and hostess very suitably replied. The absent friends (in khaki) who were represented by their wives and families, were then toasted amid cheers. They were the recipients of many beautiful presents as a slight indication of the high esteem in which they are held by their numerous friends and acquaintances.

Friends from Toronto and Hamilton also contributed their quota. To also contributed their quota. The guests of the party were Jolly Good Fellows, and Auld Lang Syne, the party eventually dispersed in the wee small hours after spending a very pleasant evening, and wishing the happy couple continued success and prosperity.

Mayor Bowlby Gives a Message to City Council

Reports Upon His Visit to Ottawa, Attending Meeting of Railway Commission.—Tells Also of Visit of Mr. Mountain, G. T. R. Engineer to Brantford

In accordance with the resolution of the City Council, accompanied by Mr. Bunnell, I attended at Ottawa, Brantford, the meeting of the Privy Council of the Dominion of Canada, relating to the high cost of living, and in accordance with the said resolution expressed as follows: "That prompt action on the part of the Dominion Government in the direction of securing control as far as possible, of the principal articles of food, the taking of vigorous steps towards the suppression of combines in food stuffs, and the temporary removal of existing duties on food stuffs." I expressed to the best of my ability your views and cognate to the question. I strongly presented the view that if the Government of the Dominion of Canada declined to exercise the power they possessed by an order in Council to put an end to all taxation upon the importation of food products into this country, which I thought they should do, that in any event the Honorable the Minister of Justice, should enforce the law against the combination in trade, to raise the price of the necessities of life, notably the Millers Combine and what was alleged to be the Cold Storage Combination.

The Government promised careful consideration and I observe by the press that the Honorable Mr. Doherty, the Minister of Justice, is taking steps to enforce that law. I have no opinion as to the results that will be thus obtained.

In accordance with another resolution of your Honorable Body relating to obtaining a subway on St. Paul's Avenue, after bringing the matter to the attention of the G. T. Railway Company authorities, and obtaining no satisfaction I attended before the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada at Ottawa, Brantford for the City of Brantford to the best of my ability. I also presented the case of the Market Street Crossing and the peril to public involved in the Railway running over said crossing at a speed of 15 or 20 miles an hour, when by the rules, the railways are permitted a speed of only 15 miles an hour, with no device to warn or protect the public against accident.

I also presented before the said board the Clarence and Colborne St. crossing, putting forward the city's views relating thereto.

I met with a gratifying reception from Sir Henry L. Drayton, and the members of the board who were to arrange if possible, the several matters with the authorities of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, and if not so arranged to have the chief engineer of their board attend at Brantford to inspect. I was advised that Mr. Mountain and the officials of the Grand Trunk Railway would attend at Brantford on Thursday last. I desired the presence of Mr. Wilkes, and discovered he would not be at Brantford on that day. I telegraphed Mr. Mountain at Ottawa to postpone his attendance until Friday. I received no reply. I asked an answer which I only received late on Wednesday night that the same had not reached him. When I got to the city hall on Thursday, Mr. Mountain and the Grand Trunk railway officials were in the city. Your committee on railways were speedily notified and we first attended the Market St. crossing. After considerable discussion, it was agreed, the Grand Trunk Railway Company officials consenting, that the said Board of Railway Commissioners at Ottawa was to pass an order that the Grand Trunk Railway trains were not to go at a greater speed in Brantford than six miles an hour, except on their main line, on which there were no level crossings.

We then attended the Colborne and Clarence street crossing. The danger here would be eliminated by the six mile order, leaving only the semaphores to be dealt with. Mr. Mountain proposed that the city and the railway should each bear one-half the cost. The railway officials made no objection to this, but as I had argued at Ottawa that the city should not pay half the cost of maintaining the semaphores, that stands over for the judgment of the Board of Railway Commissioners at Ottawa. The city not to be liable for any accident not caused by them.

Then we attended at St. Paul's Avenue, on account of the subway. This involved a long discussion pro and con. I may be permitted to observe that the eminent engineer was I think, favorably impressed by the presentation of our case, and promptly declared his view in favor of and the necessity for a subway, the relative cost the city and railway would require to pay would be determined by the board at Ottawa.

I have the honor to be,
Yours very truly,
J. W. BOWLBY,
Mayor

Contribute to Red Cross

A meeting of the Factories' Patriotic Association was held last night in the Public Library, when the final details for the presenting of the appeal of the British Red Cross Society to the workmen of the city, were decided upon.

The sub-committee, which met last week to consider the particulars of the matter, reported to the general committee, making several recommendations, which were adopted. They suggested first that the particular representatives in each factory be responsible for the collection "or that factory; second, that the distribution of envelopes should be made two days before they were to be collected and that notices be posted in all the shops and mills throughout the city, to-day, stating on what dates the distribution and collection would take place. In the event of the Factories' Patriotic Association being unable to take charge of the matter in some particular factory, the sub-committee requested that the executive of the British Red Cross be asked to handle the case.

It was decided that the contributions should be received in ballot boxes and turned into the treasurer, Mr. Harvey Watt, there to be opened and counted in the presence of the executive.

During the course of the proceedings brief addresses were given by Mr. F. D. Reville, the chairman of the Publicity Committee and by Mr. H. Watt, secretary-treasurer of the local branch of the fund.

Explanatory literature, and the envelopes were then distributed to the different representatives, who will in turn give them to their fellow employees.

With the City Police

The session of the Police Court, held this morning, was lengthy, due chiefly to cases involving the Temperance Act. The charges against the Carling, the Bixel and the Grant Spring Brewing companies, and the Hamilton Brewing Association of selling liquor for resale were withdrawn, as were those against Messrs. Alex. Howarth, Wm. Fraser, Hartman and Mitchell, for selling intoxicating liquor without a license. Dominick Smith and Francis Voiczek, charged with being drunk, were assessed $25 and costs of $5.35 each.

C. W. Apps was fined $5 and costs of $2.10 for passing a stationary street car.

Carl James and Wilfred Spain were remanded until Thursday to answer for trespassing on the property of Mr. Sam Fox, on Colborne street.

"WHERE IS THE $30,000 TO BE PAID TO THE CITY BY THE L. E. & N. RAILWAY?" ---Ald Ward

Question Asked at Last Night's Lengthy Session of the City Council—Money is Expected Almost Daily Now, States Ald. Bragg—Other Business Transacted by the Council

Despite the general anticipation of an exceedingly stormy session throughout, last evening's meeting of the city council passed off comparatively quiet and with but a miniature demonstration of pyrotechnics. Brief verbal passages between the Mayor and various aldermen occurred, but nothing of the nature of a serious outbreak took place.

The submission to the council by the Mayor dealing with several important questions, the St. Paul's Avenue subway and other matters, was one of the incidents of the evening. For his action in this matter, the Mayor became involved in more or less criticism from several aldermen, but no serious flare-up broke out.

Mr. John Howarth was appointed by-law police court clerk, following upon a full and thorough investigation by the finance committee of the alleged shortages in the police court funds. Other important questions dealt with were those of donations to the Red Cross, the appointment of a permanent city auditor, and the increasing of salaries of a number of the civic officials.

The council was called to order at 7.40, with Ald. Ward, Freeborn, Bragg, Pitcher, Jennings, Melien, Minshall, Hess and Dowling present, and Mayor Bowby in the chair. On the motion of Ald. Pitcher, the minutes of the last meeting of the council were taken as read.

Passage of Arms A verbal squabble served to open the session, with the motion of Ald. Ward that the message to be submitted by the Mayor be regarded as a report, and heard in the order of business of a report. His view was supported by Ald. Pitcher, Minshall and Dowling, the first named declaring that though the Mayor might go over the heads of the council outside of the council chamber, he could not do so with the council in session. On the motion of Ald. Ward, such messages were claimed as reports, except when ruled otherwise by the council.

"A message of this nature should precede all other business," insisted His Worship. "It is not a report." Ald. Pitcher considered that it was in the nature of a report. "Piss!" retorted Mayor Bowby. "Order," snapped Ald. Pitcher.

"Order from you, sir," rapped the Mayor.

Returned Soldiers The arrival at the market square of the reception to the three returning soldiers served at this moment to cut short the passage-at-arms, the council suspending business to witness the reception from the windows of the chamber.

Memorial Service The Mayor and executive were invited by Ven. Archdeacon Macdonald to attend a memorial service to be held on the evening of Nov. 1 in Grace Church, in memory of all those killed in the course of the present war. In this connection, it was pointed out by Ald. Dowling that 160 Brant County men had made the supreme sacrifice during the course of the war.

Jitney Evils The Service Council of Vancouver wrote, inquiring as to the action, if any, taken in this city to eliminate many evils said to be introduced by the innovation of jitney service into the cities of Canada.

Rebate Wanted A rebate of $300 odd was requested by F. W. Frank, Secretary of the Board of Water Commissioners, for tax arrears upon the Lovejoy estate.

Poultry Association The customary grant to the Brant County Poultry Association was requested by the secretary of that body, and granted.

Passage of Time Lists were read and confirmed.

Schultz Bros. Contract. The oft mooted question of the payment of Schultz Bros. account for the erection of the public convenience building on the market, was once more raised. The opinion of Ald. Welsh and Bragg was that the account should not be paid until the building was placed in first class condition; the latter proclaimed his attention of never sanctioning the payment of the account until the necessary improvements were made and the building placed in perfect condition.

"Why do they not complete the work?" demanded Ald. Wiley. "If they do not intend to do so, the matter should be placed in the hands of the city solicitor."

Ald. Dowling believed that the delay had been occasioned by inability of the contractors to obtain labor to complete the mosaic work in the building.

Ald. Bragg demanded once more to know why the building had been opened in an imperfect condition. The agreement signed at the time of its opening, was then read by the clerk, it stipulating that the sum of $300.00 be held back for the uncompleted work. Mayor Bowby quoted the testimony of the city engineer and an architect to the effect that $150 would serve to cover the necessary repairs.

Ald. Pitcher enquired why the building had been opened without the consent of the chairman of buildings and grounds committee.

The Mayor declared that the chairman had been consulted in the matter, which was denied by Ald. Welsh.

who stated that he knew nothing of the action taken by the Mayor until the building had been opened.

Ald. Jennings characterized the work in the building as the most disgraceful work ever done in this city.

Ald. Second considered that the tiling had not been properly done, and would not survive the stress of the weather, and hard wear for any great length of time. Ald. Hess agreed that the work was "a patched-up job," and refused to sanction payment of the account until the improvements were made.

Council Slighted? The presentation made recently to Lts. R. J. and J. B. Waterman, was cited by Ald. Dowling as an instance where the Mayor had gone over the heads not only of a committee, but of the entire council, who were not summoned to the presentation.

"Did the watches given" enquired Ald. Dowling, "bear the engraving 'from the city of Brantford' or 'from Mayor Bowby'?"

Was the Mayor's picture inside the cases?" queried Ald. Bragg.

Mayor Bowby explained that he had had no intention of slighting the council, but owing to the short notice he received of the impending departure of the two young officers, he was compelled to take action at once as best he could.

Mayor's Message The message of His Worship, the Mayor upon his attendance at the convention, called by the government to investigate the conditions entailing the existing high cost of living, was then read by the Mayor.

Ald. Pitcher considered that the appointment of Mr. A. Mountain, chief engineer of the G.T.R. system.

The Message Criticized. Having introduced the motion for the subway at St. Paul's Avenue, Ald. Pitcher considered that the appointment of Mr. A. Mountain, chief engineer of the G.T.R. system.

Ald. Bragg believed that the railway committee should have received notification of the conference here, to which the Mayor replied that he had not known definitely when the conference was to take place.

Ald. Dowling believed that the delay had been occasioned by inability of the contractors to obtain labor to complete the mosaic work in the building.

Ald. Bragg demanded once more to know why the building had been opened in an imperfect condition. The agreement signed at the time of its opening, was then read by the clerk, it stipulating that the sum of $300.00 be held back for the uncompleted work.

"CASCARETS" FOR HEADACHE, COLDS, LIVER, BOWELS

Get a 10-cent box now. They're fine! Cascarets loosen your liver, clean your thirty feet of bowels and sweeten your stomach.

You eat one or two like candy before going to bed and in the morning your head is clear, tongue is clean, stomach sweet, breath right and cold gone. Get a box from your druggist and enjoy the nicest, gentlest liver and bowel cleanser you ever experienced. Cascarets stop sick headache, biliousness, indigestion, bad breath and constipation.

Mothers should give a whole Cascaret to cross, bilious, sick, feverish children any time. They are harmless and never gripe or sicken.

was decided to submit copies of the message of the Mayor to the railway committee, the board of works and the special high cost of living committee.

Police Court Clerk After a careful investigation into the question of the appointment of a police court clerk, the finance committee moved the appointment of John Howarth to that position, as follows:

Your Committee has gone carefully into the question of the appointment of a Police Court Clerk, as requested by your council at our last Council Meeting.

We find that during 1915 there were no less than four (4) clerks engaged at different periods, and as no special checking up took place, when the various changes of clerks was made, it is very difficult to make an accurate audit.

Your committee finds that Jno. Buskard, Jr., the late clerk, carried out the system in that Department more or less similarly to his predecessors, and we offer no criticism of his work, but on account of the friction that exists, we think it in the interests of the city to appoint Jno. Howarth as clerk. We also beg to advise that when your Finance Committee was appointed for 1916, we immediately arranged for a more particular audit of the city's affairs and one result was that we installed with the co-operation of the Police Court Department a proper office system for our Police Court Clerk, which has been in satisfactory operation since early this year.

Therefore the appointment of police court clerk has been made by the Police Commissioners. The appointment properly belongs to the City Council under or more up-to-date auditing the office will get careful supervision.

The reading of the by-law to then continued and passed with John Howarth as the nominee.

Assessment Department. Owing to increased work in the assessment department, and at the request of Chief Assessor A. G. Ludlow, Mr. J. C. Watt will be retained in that department for the remainder of the year in place of until Oct. 31.

Red Cross Donation. Provisional upon the raising by the local Red Cross organization of the sum of $12,500.00, the council will donate the sum of $7,500 to the fund, and will increase its grant in the ratio of 75 to 125, with the amount raised by the Red Cross over the stipulated $12,500. In no case, however, will the donation of the city exceed $10,000.

Permanent Auditor. The finance committee recommended the appointment of a permanent auditor for the city's accounts, who could not only audit thoroughly, but also vouch for all accounts before the various committees of the council pass them for payment. It was felt by the committee that the salary of the auditor would be more than saved by such an action.

Want Salaries Increased. Numerous requests having been received from civic employes for a reconsideration of salaries, the finance committee recommended the appointment of a special committee to consider carefully the matter of such salaries.

Ald. Dowling moved that the committee be appointed to consist of the finance committee and the chairman of the standing committee, the appointment of a special committee, reasoning that the increases asked for should be settled by the standing committees of the council.

Ald. Bragg gave no necessity for the appointment of a special committee, reasoning that the increases asked for should be settled by the standing committees of the council.

Board of Works In reference to the opening up of the continuation of Brook and Burton streets, the city engineer was instructed to write the Township Council and arrange for a meeting with the board of works.

With payment to be made by April 1, 1917, the city will purchase from the Brantford Lands Company Limited, a lot with 33 feet frontage on Cayuga street and 50 feet on Tecumseh street, in order to facilitate the extension of the latter thoroughfare to Cayuga street.

The city engineer was instructed to write the hospital authorities, calling attention to damage being sustained by the property of Mr. Robert Thomson through water running from the hospital grounds onto it.

On the understanding that the company bear the cost of the work, and that of any grading necessitated, the extension of the Brantford municipal railway from West Mill to Holme street, on Morrell street, as requested by the secretary of the company, will be granted.

Construction of Sidewalks The question of constructing a sidewalk on the east side of Bridge street, from Dalhousie to Darling streets, was introduced by Ald. Ward having been petitioned for by the Hampel Book Company.

The construction of the sidewalk was favored by Ald. Pitcher and Minshall, the latter considering that the board of works should have recommended the project. He considered that the residents of the street should be compelled to pay just as those in other parts of the city had been.

Ald. P. H. Second did not understand the objection of anyone to the construction of the sidewalk.

Mr. W. Hampel addressed the council upon the matter, considering it an absolute necessity, in view of the number of female employes in the factory. A part sidewalk would be of little use, the whole was required.

Ald. Ward enquired whether the sidewalk would materially affect the roadway, to which Mr. Hampel replied in the negative.

Ald. Ward then moved the first reading of the by-law to provide for the construction of the sidewalk. The by-law carried by unanimous vote, receiving the necessary three readings.

The question of construction of a sewer on Port street, between Huron and Superior streets, was laid over.

On the motion of Ald. Harp, Ald. Dowling was appointed the representative of the council upon the local Red Cross organization.

$30,000 Mystery. Where is the $30,000 to be paid the city by the L. E. and N. Railway?

Such was the question asked by Ald. Ward, who, in common with a large majority of the citizens of Brantford, was curious upon the point.

Mayor Bowby expressed his ignorance upon the subject, which was in the hands of the city solicitor.

Ald. Bragg quoted City Solicitor Wilkes to the effect that the demand for the money must be advertised for a month, which had been done, with the prospect of the money now being paid within a very short time.

Meredith Case. Ald. Ward raised the question as to the payment of the costs in the Meredith-Stemlin case, which had been referred by the council in February last to the board of police commissioners. General ignorance upon the point in question, save by

Ald. Bragg, who stated that he had definite information to the effect that the expenses had been paid by the police commissioners.

Market By-law. That the market by-law was a farce, was the opinion expressed by Ald. Jennings. The rules as to the hours of selling products there, were flagrantly violated.

Mayor Bowby considered that action should be taken by Inspector Devereaux. Ald. Bragg believed that Market Clerk McCauley was the man to enforce obedience to the by-law.

On the motion of Ald. Jennings, the two officials were instructed and empowered to take action against any persons found in an infringement of the selling regulations of the by-law.

To Appear Auditor. Notice was filed by Ald. Dowling of a by-law to appoint at the next session of the council a permanent auditor of the city's accounts, and to outline his duties.

The council then adjourned at 10.35 p.m. There was a full attendance of all the members during the evening as well as an unusually large number of spectators.

"Oh, that won't hurt me! I won't keep off the right kind of friends; and the rest can hang for all I care. It hasn't made you afraid to trust yourself to me."

Then a sudden delicate rose flush dyed her cheeks, and he looked at her with a sunny smile in his blue eyes.

"Yes, I'm Jim Kildare, and you are Allardye Vere, and that is the prettiest name in all the world. And you've been like a daughter to my dear old dad, so you and I ought to be as much like brother and sister as is healthy for us for the present. So let me be always Jim Kildare to you."

"You always will be, I think," said Allardye, Jim's breezy eagerness of manner taking away all constraint.

"I like to be Allardye to my friends; and I think you are going to be a friend to everybody here, Jim. Oh, how lovely the world can be!"

"Can't it, though?" he cried, his fingers gripping hers fast. "Good old world! I hope you and I aren't ever going to be at loggerheads again. Hallo! What's that?"

What Jim heard was his father's hail from home, the old familiar call that he had not heard for three years now.

"We must be getting back," expected other friends have come to see me already, but I'll always be glad to think that you were the first! It was you who first came to my father 'out of the east,' and 'in the flush of the dawning day.' It was you who brought the help—you and you and you all along the line; and we shall never forget it either—you must be very sure of that!"

Jim was right in his surmise. There was quite a little group upon the terrace awaiting Jim's appearance—the Rector and his wife, Audrey, with Miss Willoughby, who had decided to get the meeting over as early as possible and was almost eager for it now; while, as yet unseen, the Lebreton carriage was approaching along the road, and before half the eager greetings and welcome had been spoken a diversion was made by the appearance of Madame Lebreton leaning upon the arm of her stalwart son.

The General moved forward; the lady was visibly agitated. Then, as they clasped hands and spoke together in low and rather tense tones, Jim came striding along and gripped the hand, and his face beamed with pleasure.

"You old chap, how you have you were out with the graven I vanished from the world, as if that sort of life had with you, though. We'll have sort together one of these days. My aim must be a bit spelt it I'll get it back again. You rifle range, perhaps?"

"There you are—a garden-party they plunged into talk. Jim moved from one to another of the welcoming friends, but Gaston was the one he most wanted to consort with, that was plain, and soon they were off together somewhere.

"What's become of old Gull and his white witch wife and the girl, Morwenna?" asked Jim suddenly. "I must look them up. They are still in the old tumbledown cottage I suppose?"

"No; it fell to pieces so badly that my father had to turn them out. They wouldn't go into the one they had prepared, and they live under your cliffs somewhere now. The woman died, but the girl is there still. I never see her. I think she has sworn undying hatred to the whole house of Lebreton."

"Whew!" said Jim. "That used not to be her way. She thought everything of you once, Gaston, my boy. Well, let's hope she hasn't inherited her mother's dark powers. There was something a bit uncanny about Morwenna's mother, though, so far as I know, she only used her powers for good."

Gaston laughed.

"I don't much believe in that sort of power myself, but if the girl Morwenna possesses any she'll use them for the other thing. She has been up to some rather pretty tricks, but I think I've quered her pitch for her now."

"And she won't love you for it, eh?"

Gaston shrugged his shoulders indifferently.

"Then she can do the other thing," he said.

Chapter XXXI
"It will be horrid of you if you don't come."

"But I never go anywhere!" objected Gaston, who had encountered Gipsy and Keeper in the plantation, where he was marking trees for the autumn thinning.

It was the dog which had discovered him first and come leaping at him, for a moment causing even Gaston to stagger before he recovered himself, laughed, and looked around. Gipsy kept her feet planted firmly upon the footpath, but the encounter was not unwelcome to her, in fact, she rather hoped it would occur. For as she had instantly informed the young man, who advanced slowly towards her, she had a crow to pluck with him—which crow they were now plucking together with some animation.

"But this is different!" urged Gipsy. "For one thing, it isn't a party; you don't give parties. But everybody has been nice and kind to us, and we've never had any sort of a house-warming yet. Or perhaps a garden-warming would be the better word, for we shall be there most of the time, I suppose."

"There you are—a garden-party pure and simple—a function which I abhor!"

"Then come and steal Miss Willoughby's next Tuesday! I will have you come! You're Jim's friend and chum. And—and—"

Oh, don't you understand? Everything is going to be different now. She stopped short. She scarcely knew what thought it was she wanted to put into words; but Gaston seemed to understand, and his glance softened.

"You mean you are going to try to get the ban taken off us now that Jim is back?"

"It's not been fair," cried Gipsy hotly. "Nobody ought to be judged for the things other people have done. We know that so well ourselves," she pulled herself short, thinking of that careless, fascinating, spendthrift father of theirs, and of Audrey's haunting fears through their girlhood of the possibilities which it would land them in. "It has been unjust all right, and now is the time to change everything. Only you must do your part. You must not stand aloof like—"

"A bear of a fellow that I am."

She laughed, blushed and looked him fearlessly in the face.

"You can be a bit of a bear sometimes you know," she said shyly.

TWO LONG YEARS HE SUFFERED

"Fruit-a-tives" Made Him Feel As If Walking On Air

ORILLIA, Ont., Nov. 28th, 1914.
"For over two years, I was troubled with Constipation, Drowsiness, Lack of Appetite and Headaches. One day I saw your sign which read 'Fruit-a-tives make you feel like walking on air.' This appealed to me, so I decided to try a box. In a very short time, I began to feel better, and now I feel fine. I have a good appetite, relish everything I eat, and the Headaches are gone entirely. I recommend this pleasant fruit medicine to all my friends."

"But I tell you it won't be a party!"—and Gipsy brought her small foot down upon the pine needle with a little stamp. "It's just a gathering of a few friends to give Jim Kildare a welcome; and we have it because Miss Willoughby is with us, and people want to meet her too!"

"Ah, yes; I saw her at the Reef last week! It was she who found the papers that cleared young Kildare; he told me that."

Gipsy's face was flushed and eager. General Kildare had managed matters with the utmost civility and consideration. When the inevitable newspaper paragraphs had appeared the impression left upon the minds of the readers was that the papers which proved the innocence of James Kildare from the charge of forgery had been only just discovered; that they had been returned belated among the properties of some officer killed in the war; and, though it was understood that some officer had been to blame in the matter, the name and rank of the delinquent was not made public. Even Gaston only knew what Jim had told him, and he regarded Miss Willoughby as one of the benefactors of his friend.

"Yes, yes; it was through her that Jim was cleared. And now everybody wants to meet her. I don't think she altogether cares about it, but she is staying over for our party."

"There you are—convicted out of your own mouth! I said all along it was a party, and you denied it. Gipsy could but laugh; and very charming she looked.

"It'll only be a party because we shall have such splendid fruit from Clumber mere, where Miss Willoughby lives. I dare say you are going grand to care for peaches and nectarines, grapes and plums as big as duck's eggs!"

"Far from it! I'd rob an orchard any day to get my fill of stolen fruit; nothing else tastes half as good."

Gipsy clasped her hands and danced.

"Then come and steal Miss Willoughby's next Tuesday! I will have you come! You're Jim's friend and chum. And—and—"

Oh, don't you understand? Everything is going to be different now. She stopped short. She scarcely knew what thought it was she wanted to put into words; but Gaston seemed to understand, and his glance softened.

"You mean you are going to try to get the ban taken off us now that Jim is back?"

News From Terrace Hill

(From our own Correspondent)
The Women's Institute of Moyle-Tranquility are kindly remembering the soldiers at the front from their district. They are sending 15 Christmas boxes, each box containing among other things Christmas cake, soap, stationery, etc., and a copy of the New Testament. Their kind action in this matter will be a stimulus for others to do likewise.

The soldiers who have gone from Terrace Hill are to have Christmas presents sent to them. A musical evening to provide funds for this object is to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Watkins, on Sydenham street next week.

Mr. and Mrs. Ghelaty of Kitchener, Ont., have rented a house on Dundas street.

Mrs. Marshall of Chilhowk, B. C., is visiting her sister, Mrs. John English of Dundas St.

Mr. Reilly has moved into his new home on Grand St.

Mrs. Smith of Fulton St., an old resident of the Hill, is moving down into the city.

The Rev. E. Sottley in St. James Church, presented the claims of the British Red Cross this coming week in a sermon last Sunday evening, taking for his text the words, "Thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart, and thy neighbor as thyself."—St. Luke, 10:27.

MARRIED.
The following taken from the Canadian Churchman, Oct. 26th last will be of interest to many in this city: "Edmonton, Alb.—The Rev. Mr. Saunders and his bride arrived in Edmonton on Oct. 17th. Mr. Saunders was at Vicar-in-charge of Holy Trinity, while the Rector is at the front."

MUSIC AND DRAMA

The very numerous patrons of the Brant Theatre who attended the popular picture house at either afternoon or evening performances yesterday were well repaid by witnessing one of the finest all-round feature bills ever presented there.

Leading, perhaps, in the list of exceptionally high class attractions, is the ever popular film star Mary Pickford, in her latest success film drama "Hulda from Holland," wherein she appears perhaps to better advantage than ever before.

Other feature numbers upon the motion picture bill were the irresistible screen comedian Frank Daniels, in his latest comedy production, and the first of a series of fashion pictures of especial interest to movie fans of the gentler sex throughout the city. The CHITON sisters present a high class singing and pianologue performance, and the Five Juggling Normans give an exceptionally clever exhibition of the manipulation of Indian clubs.

"Some Baby!"

"Some Baby" comes to the Grand Opera House this week. It is a three-act farcical comedy by Zillah Covington and Jules Simonson, and is said to be just one long lingering guffaw for an auditor. Had Prof. Relyea been a wizard he could not have succeeded in creating more or equally as absurd complications than he does with the attempted demonstration that he has discovered the long sought for Elixir of Youth. It is the search for their elixir that has bothered his active brain for years, it is his supposed finding of it that throws all those about him into a series of misunderstandings and trouble. Nor is the redoubtable professor spared, for he is very much in evidence among those involved. We are promised a clever company to interpret this play, headed by bright, clever Grace Merritt, assisted by Carolyn Hayward, Gertrude Johnson, Celeste Gray, Dorothy Leslie, Don MacMillan, Sterling Chilesdine, Fomer Hunt, Sam Black and William Moore.

CANADIANS NOW RESTING

Ottawa, Oct. 30.—The Canadian divisions at the front are evident having a well-earned respite from the thick of the fighting on the Somme front. For the first time in many months the daily cable to the Minister of Militia reported to-day "no casualties." Reports for the two preceding days also indicated a cessation of casualties among the Canadians. It is surmised here that the Canadian troops, after their hard and continuous fighting of the past two months, have now been given a chance to rest and recuperate in the reserves behind the front line trenches.

WESLEY EPWORTH LEAGUE.
The first meeting of the Wesley Epworth League, since the beginning of the campaign for new members, was launched, was largely attended last night. A number of new members were enrolled. The speaker of the evening was Mr. J. Bowden. He spoke on the life of Michael Angelo, a famous artist, who lived about 500 years ago. The speaker dealt with his subject in a very interesting manner. He compared the life of those days to those of the present time, with the present crisis in Europe, in which practically the whole world was engaged. Miss W. Little and Elliot was very much enjoyed. The contest for new members is in full swing and the rivalry is keen, the Reds leading by a narrow margin.
