On Sunday evening, in St. Dunstan's Cathedral, the devotion of the Holy Hour, with the Blessed Sacrament exposed, was held instead of Vespers. His Lordship, the Bishop, was the preacher of the occasion. He explained the significance of this devotion. It was in commemoration of our Lord's bitter agony in the garden of Gethsemane prior to His passion and death. His Lordship said the object of the Mission, recently closed, was the promotion of greater love for our Lord in the Blessed Eucharist, and the devotion of the Holy Hour was intended to keep this fresh in our minds. It was intended, he said, to have this devotion at least once a month. Continuing his discourse, his Lordship dwelt on the observance of the second commandment, and pointed out how frequently, and in how many ways this commandment was violated. Blasphemy and profanity are grievous and frequent transgressions against this commandment. The services concluded with Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

A German counter-attack directed against Saillies was easily repulsed. "We took some prisoners. "South of the Somme there was a continuous bombardment, which was also violent at intervals on the Pressières and Ablaincourt sectors. There was no infantry action, and the day was quiet on the remainder of the front. "Eastern army: At the bend of the Cerna river (Serbia) fresh Bulgarian attacks against the Serbian positions failed. Inclement weather continues along whole front. "British airplanes have bombed the Porna and Puljovo stations."

Progress Of The War.

London, Nov. 10.—Driving against the centre of the Russian line on the eastern front, German troops, Berlin says, have gained possession of Russian positions on a front of about 2 and a half miles. The attack, which resulted also in the capture of more than 3,000 prisoners, took place in the district of Skrobowa, twelve miles northeast of Baranovichi, north of the Pinsk marshes, and where only isolated fighting has occurred lately. The Russians, Berlin also says, lost 27 machine guns and 12 machine throwers. The success of the Petrograd war office, which announces that the Russians, after stubborn resistance against seven onslaughts, were finally compelled to fall back to their second line of trenches. Elsewhere on the eastern front to the Carpathians there has been little fighting, according to the official communications.

In Dobruja the advance of the Russo-Rumanian forces southward continues and Petrograd records a battle with Field Marshal Von Mackensien's troops in the region of Tchernavoda, abandoned recently by the Rumanians. At Tchernavoda, the bridge of the railroad running between Constanza and Bucharest, and it is for this bridge the Russians and Rumanians are fighting. Petrograd also announces the occupation of several towns between Hirsova and Tchernavoda. Berlin says there has been no important change in Dobruja.

On the Transylvania-Rumanian front Archduke Charles has assumed the offensive and pushed back the Rumanians. In the Praded sector stubborn fighting continues, with both the Austro-Germans and the Rumanians claiming progress. The Austrians have almost completely recovered the ground lost in the Georgeny mountains November 1. Several trench elements north of the Somme, near Lesbœufs and Saillies, have been captured by French. Berlin states Franco-British attacks between Guedecourt and Saily were repulsed. There has been much aerial fighting on the western front. Berlin records the destruction of seventeen Entente airplanes and Paris asserts that ten German machines were brought down. London admits that seven British aircraft failed to return to their base after flights in the air. In one of the flights a squadron of between thirty and forty were engaged. Inclement weather continues to hamper operations on a large scale on the Macedonian and Austro-Italian fronts.

London, Nov. 10.—The British official communication issued this evening says: "There was no change today on the battle front. "As the result of the improvement in the weather there was great aerial activity yesterday. Much useful work was done, many bombing raids being carried out on the enemy's communications, billets and stores. Air fighting was almost continuous. "One of our squadrons of thirty machines encountered a squadron of from thirty to forty machines. An aerial battle took place, and the enemy squadron was broken up and dispersed. Six of his machines were seen to commence to fall out of control, but owing to the severity of the fighting it was not possible to

The artillery struggle was especially violent throughout the night in the Ablaincourt and Gommecourt sectors. A surprise attack which we carried out against a German trench opposite Armaucourt was entirely successful. "On the remainder of the front there was intermittent cannonading, which was more active at Fumin Wood, on the right bank of the Meuse."

Paris, Nov. 11.—North of the Somme the French have retaken Saillies village. The Germans dropped bombs on Amiens several times during the night. "We delivered a sharp attack on the village of Saillies, on the Bapaume road which we recaptured. "South of the Somme an attack made by the Germans against our positions south of the Presso was repulsed with bombs. The artillery duel continued violently on both sides in the regions of Ablaincourt, and Gommecourt. There was an intermittent cannonade on the rest of the front. "Between ten and eleven o'clock on the morning of November 10, a group of seven British airplanes bombarded the steel works at Focklingen (Volkingen), northeast of Saarbrücken. One thousand kilograms of projectiles were dropped on the buildings, which were damaged seriously. In the course of the operation British machines fought several actions against enemy machines, three of which were felled. On the following night, between 8 and 9 o'clock, eight of our airplanes executed a fresh bombardment of these works, dropping 1,000 kilograms of projectiles. Several fires were observed. All our machines returned safely. "During the night of Nov. 10-11 our squadrons drenched with projectiles the stations of Ham, St. Quentin, Terguier and others in the Somme region, and the airdrome at Dreuze, the blast furnaces of Hagodange (north of Metz). These operations caused great damage, and several explosions and fires were observed. "A German airplane, during the night of Nov. 10-11, bombarded several French towns. Nancy and Lunéville, received projectiles which caused damage or casualties. The open town of Amiens was also bombarded on various occasions during the same night. Nine persons of the civilian population were killed and 27 injured."

Petrograd, Nov. 10, via London.—The text of the Russian statement says: "On the Danube front our cavalry and infantry detachments occupied the station of Dunaev, three versts east of Tchernavoda. "We are fighting for possession of Tchernavoda bridge. More than 200 corpses have been counted on the captured ground. A number of prisoners and machine guns also have been captured. "We have occupied the town of Hirzeva and the village of Musluja, and the heights three versts south of Dolgeruv and five versts southwest of Pasimdjia. "As the result of German counter-attack in the region south of Dorna Watra the Russians also were compelled to give up some of the heights which they had captured on the day previous. "The battle here still is in progress. The text of the statement reads: "Russian front: In the region of Strobly the enemy several times attacked and, notwithstanding the stubborn resistance of our detachments, which had repelled seven onslaughts, our troops were compelled to fall back to their second line trenches. Flame projectiles were used by the enemy. "In the region south of Dorna Watra, in the valley of the Bystriza river, and near the village of Khollo, Toldeh and Putna, the enemy counter-attacked with the result that we were compelled to abandon some of the heights we occupied the previous day. The battle continues."

Paris, via London, Nov. 12.—The official communication issued by the war office tonight reads: "North of the Somme we compelled the conquest of Saillies and carried, with grenades, some groups of houses in the eastern part of the village, where parties of Germans were still holding out. The whole village is now in our possession. "The losses the Germans sustained in this fighting are indicated by the number of bodies which cover the captured ground. Paris, Nov. 12, via London.—The French gained ground last night in the vicinity of Saily-Saillies, on the Somme front, the war office announces. South of the Somme the Germans penetrated French trenches, but were expelled. The statement follows:—"North of the Somme we made progress during the night to the north of Saily-Saillies, as well as in the eastern portion of the village. The enemy bombarded violently. "South of the Somme, after a lively bombardment, the Germans attacked our trenches southeast of Bery. The attack was broken down by our fire. Enemy patrols which succeeded in gaining a footing in some of our advanced trenches were immediately driven out by a spirited counter-attack. We maintained our positions."

London, Nov. 12.—The British official communication issued this evening reads as follows: "Some sixty prisoners, including four officers, were taken as a result of last night's successful attacks. Yesterday there was again considerable activity in the air. During the day bombing raids were continued with effect against enemy billets, aerodromes and other persons were rescued from headquarters, and at night enemy stations and trains being hit by bombs, while a third was set on fire and a number of explosions followed. "In the course of numerous fights in the air three enemy machines were destroyed, and a fourth was forced to land within our lines. Many others were driven down in damaged conditions. One of our machines is missing."

Petrograd, Nov. 12, via London.—The Russian army which is invading Transylvania to assist the Rumanians in the defense of their western frontier has gained further successes, the war office announces the capture by the Russian army in Transylvania of two commanding heights south of Almasmezo, 55 miles southeast of Dorna Watra. In Dobruja the Russian advance southward continues. Austro-German troops, in large force attacked Russian positions in the Stokhod river region of Volhynia yesterday, and captured a section of Russian trenches. The artillery struggle was especially violent throughout the night in the Ablaincourt and Gommecourt sectors. After an all-day battle in Galicia, southeast of Lemberg, Austro-German troops captured a section of the Russian trenches, the war office reports. The engagement occurred in the vicinity of Lipnicadoina and Svistelniki, where continuous heavy fighting has been in progress since the Russians captured Austro-German positions there last week.

The past week has brought a continuous series of sharp thrusts and counter-thrusts along the entire southwest section of the Russian front, with both sides constantly drawn into hand-to-hand conflicts, during which first line trenches have changed hands with quivering rapidity. The net result has been slight progress for the Germans northeast of Baranovitchi, on the southern flank of General Evert's position. Here however, the Russians have already regained partly their lost trenches, and elsewhere all positions recently won by the Germans have, in every case, been wrested from them by counter-attacks which were executed before they had an opportunity to consolidate them. Field Marshal Von Hindenburg continues to hammer the Russian position between Brzezan and Halicz in Galicia, southeast of Lemberg, where occupying a range of hills along the Narayuvka river, the Russians are still reaching out threateningly toward Lemberg, where occupying a range of hills the Narayuvka river, the Russians are still reaching out threateningly toward Lemberg. The Russian army is successfully accomplishing its purpose of preventing a further diversion of Austro-German troops to the Rumanian front.

Paris, Nov. 12, via London.—The Serbian forces in the Cerna region, on the Macedonian front, southeast of Monastir, have inflicted a further defeat on the Bulgarians, it is announced officially. All of the Culse Hill is now in the possession of the Serbians as well as the village of Pogos, which was captured as the result of a brilliant assault.
