Revelations of the Last German Ambassador in England:

My Mission to London, 1912-1914,

By PRINCE LICHNOWSKY. (With a preface by Professor Gilbert Murray.)

The war has produced few human documents of the importance of Prince Lichnowsky's "Memorandum." It throws a flood of light upon the diplomatic correspondence published by the belligerent chancelleries in the opening months of the war, particularly upon the German White Paper, whose reservations it exposes, whose enigmas it untangles, whose lies it lays bare.

It is the diplomatic story of the Prince's Ambassadorship at London, from 1912 until the war drove him home to Berlin in August, 1914, when he was deprived of rank and distinctions. Should be read by every man and woman in the Empire; 60 pages, stiff covers. Prices 25c.; by mail, 27c.

New War Recipe to Increase Money.

Take ten $10 bills, count them and bring them to our office. There obtain a flowing measure of honest treatment and a generous portion of capability, and mix all together until the result is a very pleasing Railway Bond. Skim the top immediately by taking off a certificate for 40 free shares that is attached to it, and then allow it to stand for six months. Then skim it again and take away a part of the side called a coupon, for which we will give you $3, and allow it to settle for another six months when you can clip another coupon worth $3. Then sit down while we write a cheque for your $100 back, and every month afterwards you can collect a dividend cheque on the 40 shares that cost you nothing, giving a return value of $146 for your $100, besides all the future monthly dividend cheques on the free shares. That's how OTHERS increased their money. Why not YOU?

CHAPTER XXXI.
TO RIGHT THE WRONG.

"What do you wish to do?" she asked, almost inaudibly.

"There are two courses," he said, in the slow, grave voice. "Either you must make your confession to Lord Norman, or leave it to me. I care not which it is."

"He will kill you!" she panted. He shrugged his shoulders with absolute indifference.

"Perhaps, I thought that you would prefer that he should hear the story from your lips. You know best which will be the less bitter course for you."

She looked at him with murder gleaming in her velvety eyes.

If she had a weapon, she would have struck him down then and there with-out pity or fear.

"I cannot do it!" she wailed. "I cannot do it!"

"There is no need!" said a voice at her side, and starting, she turned and saw Lord Norman standing in the open window.

Lady Blanche glanced at his face, saw that he had heard all, and flinging her hands before her eyes, crouched down as if he had struck her; but Oscar Raymond stood firm and folded his hands across his breast.

Lord Norman looked from one to the other.

His face was very pale and stern, but there was a light in his eyes, a reflection of relief and hope, which had been strangers to them for a long time.

Slowly he raised his hand and pointed to the staircase.

"You may go!" he said, quietly.

Oscar Raymond lifted his dark eyes calmly, almost solemnly.

"Is that all? I am ready to give you any satisfaction you may demand. We are in a foreign land, my lord—"

"You have given me all the satisfaction it is possible for you to render," said Bruce, in a low, steady voice. "I have no wish to kill you; I yield you your life and—remorse. Go!"

Oscar Raymond bent his head and moved away.

Lord Norman waited until his footsteps had died away, then he picked up the leather case and dropped it at Lady Blanche's feet.

"Blanche," he said, in so low a tone of voice that she could scarcely hear him; "I have seen Floris; I have learned all that this man would have forced you to tell me. There is no need that you should speak a word. Get up now and go to your room. I shall go away from this place, this hotel, at once, and will leave a letter for your father telling him that the engagement is broken off by—mutual consent. There need be nothing more said on either side. Heaven forgive you, Blanche, for this that you have done—forgive you as I—and she——forgive you!"

He laid his hand on her head for a moment, pityingly, forgivingly, and when a moment afterward she raised her heavy eyes, he was gone!

CHAPTER XXXII.
THE BURDEN OF A SIGH.

FLORIS arose the next morning, after a sleepless night, during which she had lain awake possessed in one moment with a poignant grief and the next with a subdued joy.

She had lost him, he had gone from her forever, and he would marry Lady Blanche.

That was her grief; but he loved her still, he had not been false to her; that was her joy; and her joy in the knowledge of his truth and constancy far outweighed her grief at the loss of him.

And he was here in Florence.

She knew him well enough to know that he would not relinquish her without another attempt; she felt certain that she must place temptation beyond his reach.

She would leave Florence that morning, would put it out of his power to break his word to Lady Blanche.

Pale and sad, and yet with a trace of the great joy shining in her lovely eyes, she went to Mrs. Sinclair's room.

The old lady was in bed—she sat up too late over her precious books to be an early riser—and was made to understand that Floris wanted a holiday, and at once.

"Where are you going, my dear?" she said.

"Floris was staggered for a moment. "Into the hills. I shall only want a day or two," she explained.

He would not remain in Florence long, she thought.

"Oh, very well, my dear. You had better take one of the girls with you. And, by the way, you might gather some of the crested ferns for me, you know; keep it as cool as you can, will you? And if you should happen to see any specimens of—here followed a dozen long Latin names—"you might bring them also."

Floris promised that she would, and went upstairs and packed a bag with the few things she required; then she made a faint pretense at breakfast, and in an hour had started with a little maid who was a favorite of hers.

The morning passed in a dreamy kind of way for Floris.

Slowly the carriage ascended the hills, the driver singing below his voice, the maid delighted with her holiday, chatting light-heartedly.

Presently the maid stopped her prattle, and put her head on one side.

"There is some one on the road besides ourselves this morning, signorita. Perhaps they, too, are taking a holiday."

"Perhaps, Marie," said Floris, quite dreamily.

The girl leaned forward and looked back.

"It is a horseman, signorita, and he is riding fast. The poor horse is panting. It is not a holiday for him, poor wretched beast!"

is a would-be author, and her plaint is that her best compositions come home, "declined with thanks."

These two dependent spirits on this very dependent day would be enough to sadden the most optimistic person in the world, and I am afraid I, too, have taken on a little of the sombre tone in my speech when I begin to draw attention to the finances.

"I wonder," says Len, breaking into one of the gloomy passages, "if it would not be possible to do something with that old house at Deepdene. As Lesley remarks, our funds are getting rather low, and if we could get a tenant for Deepdene we'd be out of the woods."

Nobody speaks. There is a forced cheerfulness in his voice that is not convincing. It dies away altogether; as he once more raises his eyes to the windows and catches a glimpse of the yellow fog outside.

"No," he goes on sadly. "Unfortunately, we cannot hope for that. I had a letter from Warden this morning, and from what he tells me, the old house appears to have a bad name. The fact of the matter is that the place has stood empty so long that the rustics of the neighborhood have spread the report that it is haunted."

"What nonsense that is," I reply. "People don't believe in ghosts these days. I'm only a girl, but I would like to see the ghost that would frighten me out of any house I had once made up my mind to live in."

"Well, Lesley, I can only wish you were able to impart a little of that valiant spirit to some one in search of a house," returns Len, in all seriousness.

"Why do you ask that?" I ask.

"Because the place is one of the most uncanny places you ever saw, and I doubt whether even your courage would stand the test of an actual residence at Deepdene. You would certainly be frightened, my dear."

"Not of a ghost!" I reply indignantly; "though I must own that I am afraid of some things. Of fire, for instance, and burglars, particularly the sort that, not content with robbing the house, slaughter the inhabitants in their beds. And I certainly am afraid of—"

"Mice!" says Len, with gravity and emphasis. "Yes, my dear, we know it, and with what remarkable courage and presence of mind you take refuge on the table whenever one of those ferocious monsters puts in an appearance. Such valor does you credit, Lesley; and, after witnessing your many remarkable exploits in that line, how can I doubt your being the very identical young lady to send down into Devonshire to tackle the Deepdene ghost?"

CHAPTER I.
A GLOOMY DAY.

DOES London ever smile? That is my mental query as I look out on the gloomy scene.

A saffron fog hangs over the gray buildings. The street lamps are lighted, but they only give forth a feeble yellow glow that merely serves to deepen the gloom. Nor is the gloom confined to the streets. The sadness of the dull spring day has crept into an old-fashioned boarding house where three very discontented people are planning the future.

It is not a very brilliant future, as one might guess from the expression upon the faces of my sister Adelaide, our brother Leonard, and myself—Lesly Kendrick—the youngest of the trio.

Leonard—our Len—has visions of achieving fame and fortune as a painter, but truth compels me to say that he has not progressed far on that thorny path. Addie, on the other hand,

MALVY'S TRIAL.
PARIS, July 25.
The trial of Louis J. Malvy, former Minister of the Interior, which had become an interminable squabble among the officials of the prefecture, the police and the detective service relative to the responsibility for certain acts done or left undone, woke into new life to-day when an elegantly but simply dressed lady took the stand. A large hat concealed her face and her name was given as Madame le Brun. She testified she had made thirteen trips to Germany where she had been entrusted with missions in France although she was really in the service of the French General Headquarters. A German lieutenant, the witness said, told me we have in the French Government a person who has belonged to us for many years. When I reported this in France, I was told that it was useless to search for further information in this matter, but on my next trip to Germany I asked the name of this person and the German officer replied: He is too highly placed, I fear too much for you and him.

DUBLIN, July 25. The Irish Independent this morning reports that Father O'Flannigan of Roscommon, Vice-Priest of the Sinn Fein Society, has been suspended by his Bishop for his activities in the East Cavan election last June, when Arthur Griffith, the Sinn Fein leader, though under arrest was elected to the House of Commons. Father O'Flannigan's successor to his church at Cressna has been appointed, but the newspaper says the people have refused to receive the new occupant and have barred up the church, declaring that nobody will be allowed to say Mass there until Father O'Flannigan has been restored to his church.

MUNITION WORKERS OUT.

BIRMINGHAM, Eng., July 25. It is estimated that 100,000 munition workers were out on strike in the Birmingham district this morning. The workers in a few factories decided to remain at work pending the outcome of the negotiations which are proceeding with the Ministry of Munitions at London, and the result of the Conference of Engineering and Allied Trades which opened at Leeds to-day.

AN HONORARY CAPTAIN.

LONDON, July 25. The former Grand Duke Dmitri Pavlovitch, a cousin of the late Russian Emperor, has just been appointed an Honorary Captain in the British Army. Dmitri, according to the Daily Telegraph was present at the famous supper at the palace of Prince Youssouppoff, in Petrograd which resulted in the death of Priest Rasputin. He was arrested on the order of the Russian Emperor and banished by the Emperor to the Persian front. Dmitri owes his personal safety to the fact that he was on the Persian front when the revolution broke out.

STRIKERS WILL BE DRAFTED.

LONDON, July 25. The British War Cabinet has decided that if the munition strike continues, the strikers of military age will be drafted promptly into the army, according to an unofficial statement printed in some of the morning newspapers. Geo. H. Roberts, Minister of Labor, gave a hint to this effect in a speech in London on Wednesday, when he declared that no young men had a right to exemption from the military service except on the ground they were doing work more valuable than fighting. The Government remains firm in its refusal to withdraw the embargo which ostensibly is the cause of the strike. It also seems that in some cases the embargo is used as a pretext to cover other grievances. Events are now waiting upon the national conference of the delegates of the Engineering Trades which it is understood meets at Leeds to-day. It is believed in some quarters that a majority of the delegates will insist on a ballot of members before calling a general strike. This course is strongly supported by Alex. Thompson, Socialist, and editor of the Clarion, who writes for the Daily Mail. Meanwhile a discussion is being created in the trades union ranks by action of the strikers and in many parts of the country the conduct of the Coventry and Birmingham men is denounced to-day. Even in Birmingham itself, many of the engineers refuse to be stampeded into an irresponsible strike. On the Clyde there seems to be no sign of sympathy with the strikers and the work is continuing smoothly, the same may be said of other centres. On the other hand eight thousand notices to cease work were handed in where the amalgamated engineers have a membership of 15,000, and it is declared a majority will join the strikers unless the embargo is removed. It is reported also that engineers at Newcastle have decided to follow the strike lead without waiting action by the national conference. The men at Lincoln did not go on strike on Wednesday as threatened, but will await the result of the conference.

ITALIAN OFFICIAL.

ROME, July 25. The war office communication to-day says: On a portion of the mountain front from Valarsa to the Brenta Valley and along the Piave River, between Gandelu and Benzon, our batteries have replied effectively to the harassing fire by the enemy and have destroyed enemy trenches and damaged artillery encampments. Enemy patrols have been driven back at St. Elvio, near Merl, and Mount St. Albilla and the left bank of the Brenta have been downed.

BERLIN OFFICIAL.

BERLIN, via London, July 25. The official communique from general headquarters to-day: Between Bucquoy and Heberter the enemy attacked in the evening under strong artillery protection; he was repulsed. Similar thrusts were broken down which the enemy launched west of Albert and from Mailly. On the battle front between Soissons and Rheims the fighting died down yesterday.

There were minor infantry engagements. In front of our positions south of the Ourcq and southwest of Rheims the enemy launched violent attacks which were beaten back by our counter thrusts. In the Voges the Bavarian Landwehr troops brought back prisoners as a result of a raid skillfully carried out.

BRITISH OFFICIAL.

LONDON, July 25. Field Marshal Haig's report this evening from British headquarters in France says: Early this morning the enemy attacked four of our posts south of Meteren. After heavy artillery and trench mortar preparation he was repulsed, suffering many casualties. We captured a few prisoners. The troops to-day carried out a successful daylight raid southwest of Stalbert and brought back 17 prisoners and four machine guns. A few prisoners were also secured from other parts of the front.

HEARD IN PARIS.

PARIS, July 25. So heavy was the artillery fire on the main front last night, that Paris again could hear the boom of the cannon.

BATTLE CONTINUES FAVORABLE.

WASHINGTON, July 25. Latest official despatches to the war department from France show marked advances by French American, British and Italian forces. Secretary of war Baker said to-day these advances while not extensive in area are important, and show that the battle continues favorable.

MISTAKEN IDENTITY.

WASHINGTON, July 25. An American submarine of the latest design has been fired upon by an Allied armed ship off the New England coast. The submarine was only slightly damaged and a naval tug is towing it to port. No one aboard the submarine was injured. A report to the Navy Department to-day said the submarine which was cruising submerged, suddenly appeared near the Allied ship and the latter opened fire.

WONDERFUL HEROISM.

LONDON, July 25. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Three more Victoria Crosses are announced in the Official Gazette, awarded to gallant officers for individual acts of heroism and daring in action. These magnificent deeds are those of the story of Brigadier General St. George Grogan of a Worcester regiment. Throughout three days of intensely heavy fighting he commanded the remnants of an infantry division and various attached troops, displaying magnificent leadership. His initiative materially stayed the thrust of the enemy masses. Throughout the third day—the most critical day—the officer spent his time under artillery, trench mortar and machine gun fire, riding up and down the front line, encouraging and reorganizing his men and leading back those who were beginning to retire under the most withering fire. When his horse was shot under him he continued on foot to encourage his troops until another horse was brought to him. It was a wonderful example, that inspired not only the men under his immediate command, but adjacent Allied forces.

Not Responsible.

The brand of "Port Wine" which has made its appearance on the market during the past week is not of our manufacture and we know nothing of it.

It is impossible to imitate or copy our brands. In regard to our competitors, in the words of Kipling, "we have left them sweating and toiling a year and a half behind!"

When we charge you a dollar a bottle for our wine, which is the retail price throughout Canada, we are not going to sell you a syrup. Our has the "warm feeling" and just as much "kick" as the prohibition law will allow.

The carload comprising the undermentioned brands has left Toronto and should be due here about the middle of next month.

- "Royal Vineyard" Port Wine.
- "London Dock" Sherry.
- Black Cherry Brandy.
- Ginger Brandy.
- "L'aire et Filis" Creme de Menthe Sloe Gin.

Frivility in War-Time.

They punish war-time frivolity in Munich, but in London, while our lads are fighting with their backs to the wall in Flanders, it is tolerated, says an Old Country paper.

Mr. and Mrs. Schafer, Americans, and two Germans gave a fancy dress ball in Munich during the first days of the offensive. The function was largely attended by nobles and officers, but nevertheless, the Schafer and the two Huns, are now busy working off a six weeks' term of imprisonment.

Some months ago a paper exposed the scandal in London, and officialdom thought the matter would be met by placing centres of public resort "out of bounds" for officers.

All the Cream At All Speeds

Every member of the family turns the separator handle at a different rate. And, no one turns always at the exact speed stamped upon the crank—it simply can't be done.

Your present separator, unless a Suction-feed, has a constant inflow of milk. Whenever the speed falls, a lot of cream slips away through the milk-spout and is lost forever. Experts estimate that most farmers lose from 7 to 13 lbs. of butter yearly from each cow because they turn their separators below speed. But you can stop this loss right now by using the

SHARPLES
Famous Suction-feed
"Skims clean at any Speed"
SEPARATOR

This wonderful machine automatically regulates the inflow of milk in exact proportion to the skimming force. It gets all the cream at all speeds. Father can "speed up" the crank to 55 revolutions a minute and finish the chore quickly. Mother or the girls can turn at a leisurely rate. Fast or slow, the Suction-feed Separator skims absolutely clean and delivers cream of uniform density—not thick today and thin tomorrow. It's the only separator having these valuable features. The slender Tubular bowl gives double skimming force. It's the only bowl containing no discs or blades. There's just one piece in it—a single small cone, as simple and easy to clean as a napkin ring. There are many other exclusive and important features to be found in the new Sharples Suction-feed Separator. Come in and let us show you. Bring the women folks, too. We'll be glad to see you all.

GEO. M. BARR.

Immediately social butterflies with money to burn began to give "pretentious" dances, which example was followed by social harpies, who depended upon the card-room to meet expenses and yield a good profit. An unfortunate guest at one dance recently lost $5,000 at the card-table, and quite a considerable number of cases of officers wrongly using their cheque-books can be traced to these most undesirable dances. Famous as a pre-war hostess, a well-known society leader said to the London Sketch: "These scandalous dances and balls are causing considerable pain to right-thinking people. 'What self-respecting person wants to dance and indulge in 'high jinks' when many of our manliest and best are yielding their life's blood to keep Britain inviolate from the Hun menace?" "These dances exercise no beneficial effect upon convalescent officers, those upon leave, or the silly women who attend these functions. Some of these girls are living the butterfly life." The press is informed that the court has set its face sternly against these exhibitions of bad taste, and that recently a very high personage rebuked the promoters of a west end dance. Another point is that while the people who are really maintaining our fleets and armies have been ordered to economize in light and coal, these "society" functions continue until daybreak! FRIDAY, July 26th, 1918.

I. O. U.'s and Shortages.

The Herald harks back to the I. O. U. affair at the Customs House, and treats it as though it were the only financial matter which requires light thrown upon it...

Herald knows it has a poor case, one absolutely without any defence, yet it persists in camouflaging, and endeavouring to turn aside the trend of argument by giving undue prominence to a forgotten episode...

Baseball Topics.

A meeting of the Baseball Delegates was held last night, Vice-President Hawvermale presiding. Mr. F. P. Hartnett acted as Secretary, and representatives of the Cubs, Wanderers, and Red Lions were present...

Straits Fishery.

The Ethie last trip brought the following fishery report from the Straits. Battle Hr. No fish up to the 19th. Murphy secured 10 quintals in trap today; nothing with hook and line. Cape Charles and Chimney Tickle very little doing. Same at Henley Hr. Caught no fish. Pleasant Hr. very little. Allen's have 5v quintals landed. Red Bay: Cod have struck off; traps average 100 quintals. At West St. Modeste and Lance au Loup very little doing. At Porteau traps getting a little; hook and liners 1 to 2 quintals on jiggers. Grant, at Blanc Sablon, has 12,000 quintals landed, and trapping and hook and line fishing continues good. At Salmon Bay, McAllister has 150 quintals landed and still getting some fish. Whiteley, at Bonne Esperance, has 3,000 quintals ashore. At Flower's Cove, Current Island and Brig Bay, plenty of fish, but salt scarce. At Port aux Choix cod is plentiful, but salt scarce. At Bonne Bay traps have been taken up, but at Rocky Hr. good fishing is still to be had.

Train Movements.

French Red Cross Day.

Don't forget to-morrow, the annual Flower Day in aid of the French Red Cross. Buy early and buy often. During the past four years of war the needs of the French have been straining to the utmost, and we are asked to give and give generously to help our splendid Allies. The French people have suffered agonies of body and mind. They have seen their houses destroyed, their farms desolated, their children slain and outraged, and notwithstanding they have cheerfully borne the burdens for La Patrie. Remembering this our prime duty is to render all the assistance possible. Tomorrow the opportunity will be offered. Be liberal and give freely. The cause needs it, our Allies need it, the French Red Cross needs it, therefore let every person give as the heart directs, not grudgingly or of necessity, remembering that he who gives quickly gives twice.

At The City Hall.

The weekly meeting of the City Council was held yesterday, Councillor Morris presided in the absence of the Mayor. Councillors Brownrigg, Armstrong, Vincent and Mallory were also present.

A letter from the Colonial Secretary was read in connection with the loan of $25,000 for workmen's houses. Mr. D. Wood & Co., Philadelphia, wrote to the effect that the United States Government has conserved all water pipes and mains not permit support. The Council decided to get into communication with the Government, as pipes are absolutely necessary. Mr. Chow was ordered to be given Messrs. Rogers, South Side, were permitted to erect galleries to their houses.

Permission was given, subject to the approval of the Engineer, to Mr. Bulley of the Engineer, to lay a plan of a plant on New Gower Street.

Sanction was given to the request of Mr. Bulley of the Engineer, to give two concerts next week, one in Bannerman Park and one in Victoria Park, a fee of 5 or 10 cents to be paid by those who are willing to pay. Those not caring to pay can be admitted free, practically a free hand concert.

Cable News.

ALLIED ADVANCE.
LONDON, July 25.
On the western front the Allies possess Rhineland salient the Allied forces have advanced to an average depth of three miles on a 12-mile front during the first two days. There were no new developments this morning in the battle area according to the advices from the field of the fighting received in London up to noon. The situation was considered quite satisfactory for the Allies.

CLOSING THE PINNACLES.

LONDON, July 25.
(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)
The latest war communication shows that General Foch is methodically continuing to close the pinnacles which are gripping the Germans between the Alsace and the Marne. The capture of Armentieres increases the entrenchment of Duchy-le-Chateau and the capture of Oureq brings the Allies only five miles from the important road centre at Fere-en-Tardenois, from where, according to the Paris reports to-day, the Germans are hastily removing all their material that has accumulated there since the beginning of June. The Allies are thus relaxing the hold of the enemy on the Chateau Thierry-Soissons road and gradually linking up the front toward Duchy-le-Chateau, Fere-en-Tardenois and Montagne-de-Rheims where a strong line will be established. On the eastern side of the triangle the British advance north of the Ardre River is important, threatening the German left flank with envelopment, while the Franco-American troops advancing from the Marne are a menace to the German centre. The British success at Vigny threatens Fismes, an other important centre, hence the desperation of the Germans who are attempting to prevent the Allied advance in this direction. Their defence of Soissons is also beginning to become formidable, as the Allied advance continues towards Soissons, the pivot of the German position. It is estimated that there are 400,000 Germans fighting within the triangle, the sides of which are being squeezed by the Allied forces. Obsolete resistance and the rugged nature of the country constitute obstacles in the way of closing the pinnacles at the narrow opening between Rheims and Soissons, but the relentless pressure of the Allies is gradually emptying the triangle of the enemy masses.

UNDER RANGE OF ALLIED GUNS.

LONDON, July 25.
It no longer is proper to speak of the pocket as running from Soissons to Rheims, for the newest advantage of the Allies has pulled the eastern edge of the pocket eight miles to the westward and making Fere Promey the marker for the eastern rim. The mouth of the pocket is now only 21 miles wide and the whole district between the two sides is under the range of Entente Allied guns.

FRENCH CONTINUE ATTACKS WITH SUCCESS.

LONDON, July 25.
The French are continuing their attacks between the River Oureq and the River Marne. They advanced last night for a distance of a mile capturing the southern part of Fere Forest, and they now occupy a barn on the main road from Fere-en-Tardenois to Fautignonne. The town of Fere-en-Tardenois is now within eight thousand yards of the French lines. The French last night pushed well forward along the south bank of the River Oureq, but this morning they found they were in an isolated position and they were compelled to fall back. East of Rheims a Polish contingent attached to the French, made a successful enterprise and captured 213 prisoners. On the west side of the pocket the Franco-American troops have straightened out their lines at the expense of the Germans during the past twenty-four hours, this involving a loss to the enemy of about 40 square miles of territory between Armentieres and Vincelles. The line in the lowest west part of the pocket now runs straight southeast from Armentieres, and along this line the Germans have been compelled to give up the little angles and corners which they had held onto as observation posts or strategic points. The enemy's nerve centre at Fere-en-Tardenois, which is at the junction of several great roads, was the most important storehouses and distribution points of the enemy, is now under cross fire from the Franco-American artillery and must be well untenable, in fact no place in the whole pocket is a very comfortable position with the Allied long range guns sweeping back and forth.

For Whom Do You Dress?

By RUTH CAMERON.

RUTH CAMERON

For whom do you dress? Little pink percale morning gown as well as the smartest afternoon frock. Only Other Women Who Understand the Same. Women dress for other women because it is only other women who appreciate the fine points in the game. For isn't that just what this whole clothes business is,—a game in wits are pitted against wits? Who can best forecast the fashions and buy a gown this season that will look well the next; who can get the best bargains; who can best, on limited means, plan a wardrobe that will be adequate for the full range of her social activities,—these are some of the points in this game that women are forever playing.

I wonder sometimes if, as the years go by, and their lives are ever increasingly filled with more vital interests, with broader economic activities and civic duties, if they will still play it so eagerly. This is to certify that fourteen years ago I got the cords of my left wrist nearly severed, and was for about nine months that I had no use of my hand, and tried other Liniments, also doctors, and was receiving no benefit. By a persuasion from a friend I got MINARD'S LINIMENT and used one bottle which completely cured me, and have been using MINARD'S LINIMENT in my family ever since, and find it the same as when I first used it, and would never be without it. ISAAC E. MANN, Metapedia, P. Q. Aug. 31st, 1908.

Mines Found.

Washington, July 20.—Although Captain Christie, of the armored cruiser San Diego reported his belief that it was a torpedo that sent the ship down off Long Island yesterday, further reports to-day showing that five or six mines were destroyed by warships in the vicinity last night strengthened the opinion of naval officers here that an enemy submarine was not responsible for the disaster. A statement by Rear Admiral Palmer, acting secretary of the navy, declaring the gallant conduct of Captain Christie and his men, emphasized the absence of any evidence of the reappearance of the enemy raider. "That there was little if any loss of life is indicated by the fact that the DOING STUNTS.

Best time at our house is when Pa comes home from work, an' then After supper's over he Looks at Ma an' then at me. Puts his napkin down an' grunts "Bud, we'd better go out stunts." Then I give a run an' jump. Right up on him with a bump. Catch him round the neck an' crawl Way up high an' never fall.

Sometimes too he lets me stand On his shoulders, with his hand Steady, me as high till I've Got myself all set to dive. Then he says: "Now let'er go!" An' headfirst I tumble low. But the floor I never meet. Coz he holds me by the feet. An' between his legs I swing Just as slick as anything.

Then he lies upon the floor, An' he takes my hands onto more. An' I stiffen out an' he Tries to catch me on his knee. Sometimes though we fumble that, An' I squash his stummick flat. An' he says "We're gettin' rough. Guess that one will be enough." But I beg for just one more. An' he swings me from the floor.

Ma's so tender-hearted, she Won't stay in the room to see All our tricks,—she thinks I might Jump before Pa's got me tight. An' at times I get a fall, But it never hurts at all. For I'm big an' strong an' I Take a bump an' never cry. Doin' stunts with Pa. Gee whiz! That's the finest fun there is.

Milady's Boudoir.

THE BEAUTIFUL MOUTH. If your mouth is neither large nor small and is graceful and firm, if your lips are neither thick nor thin, nor compressed nor weak, but are naturally perfect in shape, they would not achieve beauty without an expression of frankness and amiability. Frankness, amiability and content in the mouth is its greatest charm. No artificial tint ever added beauty to a natural one. It only makes the mouth appear broader and injures the texture of the lips. Your eyes have met the gift of smiling to nearly such a degree as your mouth. To prove this, you may take a picture of a face with a sad expression and paste over the lines of depression on the smiling face. You will find the entire expression of the face changed at once, although the eyes themselves have not been altered. The bad habit, that so many girls have, of biting their lips to make them red, thickens them and dries them so that they become chapped and colorless and lose their delicate curves. Constantly wetting the lips with the tongue is an unpleasant sight. You will see one woman going along with her lips hanging open, another with the lower lip thrust forward will be chewing her lips, another will have her lips screwed up to one side, and so on. A little will power is all that is necessary to overcome these habits. If your general health is good your lips will naturally be a good color. If the circulation is poor the lips will be purple. If your digestion is bad your lips will be white. If your whole system lacks tone and vigor, your lips will be lacking in color. Therefore, instead of resorting to carmine, to improve the color of the lips, build up the constitution by all the means that make for health and beauty.

Household Notes.

Cheese-making is a very simple art. Blueberries can be canned without sugar. Tomatoes for canning must never be overripe. Excellent muffins can be made of barley and hominy. A good marmalade is made of oranges and apricots. Quick breads can be very well made without any wheat flour. Raspberries can be preserved in the sun as well as strawberries. Rice omelet may be made with peas left over. The rice is best used hot. Fruit pies economically made without any undercrust are most delicious. Fine white felt hats, past their usefulness, can be thoroughly washed and cut into soft, little moccasins for the baby.

CARELESS SLACKING.

J. I. Simpson stopped his touring car, and let the motor run, while hauling out, with face ajar, some facts about the Hun. He pushed hot language from his throat for minutes seventeen, and all the time his idle boat was burning gasoline. A million cars thus wasteful stand, as we proceed to press; the gas thus burned, throughout the land, would make a lake, I guess. Ere long we think that Uncle Sam will shut off the supply, and then, from York to Yuba Dam we'll cuss the "wasteful" guy. I see men slacking every day, unconscious that they slack; Jinks throws a pair of shoes away, because one has a crack. Bilks squanders money when he supe, but has no ill intent; Jones feeds a string of useless pups, not worth eleven cents. Crips buys more garments than he needs, and gorgeously he's dressed; Crump blows himself for Cuban weeds when twofers would be best. We all should save in every style, to swat those Teuton scamps; and when we have a little pile, invest in bonds or stamps.

Household Notes.

Freshly made jelly really has a finer flavor than that which has stood for a long time. Try whipping cream in small glass globes used for gold fish. It does not spatter. In cases of burns, powdered charcoal soothes the pain and heals the sore very quickly. To make pie deliciously brown on top, brush over with milk just before putting them into oven. Linen should be very evenly dampened before ironing and should be ironed until really dry. Warm soda water is the best thing with which to remove dirt from old furniture which is to be renewed. To keep a moustache from falling, mix in a saltspoonful of baking powder just before putting meringue on pie. Sew a loop to the inside of a hat where it will not show, if you wish to be sure of your hat staying on its hook. Whole tomatoes for salads may be put up in stone jars and covered with weak vinegar sweetened and spiced. Cut links to match the buttons used on a shirtwaist may be made by joining two of the buttons with strong thread. Without harming the most delicate china, brown spots may be removed from it by burying completely in earth. Instead of respinkling small articles which have become too dry to iron, hold them in the steam of a teakettle. Beat a cake batter as little as possible after flour has been put into mixture. When potatoes and other vegetables take place of bread at a meal, one may venture to have the dessert of short-cake. Pour boiling water over raisins, and let them stand a minute; then pour off and you can pinch the seed off at each end. To clean decanters, use soapy water and fine sand and shake until glass is clean. Rinse with fresh water, then with alcohol. When buying a broom, test it by pressing the edge against the floor. If the straws remain in a solid mass, the broom is a good one.

MELBOURNE, July 25. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—Referring to the complaint from San Francisco that the Commonwealth Government had not arranged transportation for the Australian press delegates across America and the Atlantic, the Prime Minister's secretary states that their printed itinerary states that the Oceanic Co. of San Francisco would supply railway tickets to Vancouver, where the Canadian-Australian Co. would advise regarding a route across Canada to the Atlantic.

COMING EVENTS.

LONDON, July 25.

(Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—In the Commons Hon. Bonar Law stated that an inter-departmental committee was inquiring into questions connected with the general election, including the question of placing the views of candidates before soldiers on active service. Replying to a question, Mr. Law declined, in the public interest, to discuss the position of the Murman Coast of East Siberia. Sir Geo. Cave, Home Secretary, stated that the German war prisoners agreement provided for the exchange of all combatants imprisoned for eighteen months and also the return of additional British combatants in order to compensate for the much smaller number of British interned in Germany. The exchange included those interned in Holland and Switzerland.

HAMILTON, To-day.

In the arrest yesterday on the nominal charge of vagrancy of three aliens, the police have taken the first steps toward stamping out what is believed to be an organized enemy propaganda here. The prisoners, Boinowsky, Dennis Boice and Wm. Kanard, faced the Magistrate to-day. Chief Whitley announced that the agitators who have been trying to foment trouble in a big munition plant. The first named, an Austrian, was ordered interned. The other two claim to be Russians. They will have until to-morrow to prove their nationality.

DIXON'S DARING DEED

LONDON, To-day.

An amazing story of how the British airmen reached Fomdirn, and bombed Zeppelin sheds on the occasion of the recent raid, was told King George when he visited the mystery ship of the grand fleet. This ship is a triplane carrier and took the flying men and their machine to a suitable point off the German coast at a very small hour of the morning. A number of airplanes were despatched to destroy the Zeppelin hangars at Fomdirn. Capt. Dixon, a very young officer, arrived at his destination in the grey dawn, and came so low in his search for hangars that at one time he was within five feet of the ground. He flew along the whole length of the main street and was seen by a milkman who took the machine for a German plane, and stood up in his cart to wave a good morning. Dixon quickly recognized how helpful this mistake would prove to him and gleefully waved back a greeting. The crews of the German aircraft guns seem also to have mistaken the machine for a German plane and they did not fire. Dixon searching for Zeppelin sheds hawked around just above the house tops, until he found what looked to be an airship shed. Down went a bomb upon it, but the tremendous explosion showed that he had bombed an ammunition dump which was utterly destroyed. Speed

WOMEN OF MIDDLE AGE

Need Help to Pass the Crisis Safely—Proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Can be Relied Upon.

Urbana, Ill.—"During Change of Life, in addition to its annoying symptoms, I had a attack of Grippe which lasted all winter and left me in a weakened condition. I felt at times that I would never be well again. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for women, passed a long time through the Change of Life, so I told my doctor I would try it. I soon began to gain in strength. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound too highly to women passing through the Change of Life."—Mrs. FRANK HENSON, 1316 S. Orchard St., Urbana, Ill.

Women who suffer from nervousness, "Hot Flashes," backache, headaches, and the "blues" should try this famous "root and herb remedy," Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

TRANSPORTATION HITCH.

MELBOURNE, July 25. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—Referring to the complaint from San Francisco that the Commonwealth Government had not arranged transportation for the Australian press delegates across America and the Atlantic, the Prime Minister's secretary states that their printed itinerary stated that the Oceanic Co. of San Francisco would supply railway tickets to Vancouver, where the Canadian-Australian Co. would advise regarding a route across Canada to the Atlantic.

COMING EVENTS.

LONDON, July 25. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency.)—In the Commons Hon. Bonar Law stated that an inter-departmental committee was inquiring into questions connected with the general election, including the question of placing the views of candidates before soldiers on active service. Replying to a question, Mr. Law declined, in the public interest, to discuss the position of the Murman Coast of East Siberia. Sir Geo. Cave, Home Secretary, stated that the German war prisoners agreement provided for the exchange of all combatants imprisoned for eighteen months and also the return of additional British combatants in order to compensate for the much smaller number of British interned in Germany. The exchange included those interned in Holland and Switzerland.

HAMILTON, To-day.

In the arrest yesterday on the nominal charge of vagrancy of three aliens, the police have taken the first steps toward stamping out what is believed to be an organized enemy propaganda here. The prisoners, Boinowski, Dennis Boice and Wm. Karasid, faced the Magistrate today. Chief Whistley announced, they are agitators who have been trying to foment trouble in a big munition plant. The first named, an Austrian, was ordered interned. The other two claim to be Russians. They will have until to-morrow to prove their nationality.

DIXON'S DARING DEED.

LONDON, To-day. An amazing story of how the British airman reached Fondrin, and bombed Zeppelin sheds on the occasion of the recent raid, was told King George when he visited the mystery ship of the grand fleet. This ship is a triplane carrier and took the flying men and their machine to a suitable point off the German coast at a very small hour of the morning. A number of airplanes were despatched to destroy the Zeppelin hangars at Fondrin. Capt. Dixon, a very young officer, arrived at his destination in the grey dawn, and came so low in his search for hangars that at one time he was within five feet of the ground. He flew along the whole length of the main street and was seen by a milkman who took the machine for a German plane, and stood up in his cart to wave a good morning. Dixon quickly recognized how helpful this mistake would prove to him and gleefully waved back a greeting. The crews of the German aircraft guns seem also to have mistaken the machine for a German plane for they did not fire. Dixon searching for Zeppelin sheds hawked around just above the house tops, until he found what he looked to be an airship shed. Down went a bomb upon it, but the tremendous explosion showed that he had bombed an ammunition dump which was utterly destroyed. Speed-

Need Help to Pass the Crisis Safely—Proof that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Can be Relied Upon.

Urbana, Ill.—"During Change of Life, in addition to its annoying symptoms, I had an attack of grippe which lasted all winter and left me in a weakened condition. I felt at times that I would never be well again. I read of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and what it did for women, passing through the Change of Life, so I bought it. I soon began to gain in strength and the annoying symptoms disappeared and your Vegetable Compound has made me a well, strong woman so I do all my own housework. This famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

ing along still quite low he came upon a Zeppelin shed and he bombed it. Almost instantly there was a fierce conflagration, the flames rising nearly 1,000 feet which indicated the nature of the target reached and as his object had been accomplished the pilot made for his supply ship. A heavy barrage was now put up by the enemy but Dixon reached home with his machine undamaged.

NO DAMAGE TO CROPS.

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask., To-day. Some damage to gardens, but little to the bumper crop in northern Saskatchewan, is the report here today following two nights when there were one or two degrees of frost in some parts of northern Saskatchewan.

THE TRAP CLOSING.

WASHINGTON, To-day. With Americans, French and British forces pressing the enemy hard on all sectors of the Aisne-Marne front, the air of Washington was electric to-night, when a feeling of expectancy as of great events and impending rumors of decisive victory ran through official circles like wild fire. Untraceable reports were current that the army of the German Crown Prince had been trapped and even the Crown Prince himself had been captured. Official reports gave no foundation on which the feeling of suppressed excitement could be based. The outstanding fact to-night appeared to be that the enemy's line was being forced back all along the 60 mile front. Of the gains recorded, the Franco-British drive probably has the greatest possibilities, for it means that the east jaw of Foch's gigantic trap is closing in.

NEITHER SIDE GIVES WAY.

LONDON, To-day. The Ministry of Munitions announced to-night that it had received a resolution from the Birmingham Joint Committee repeating the previous offer to recommend the immediate resumption of work, if the Ministry suspended the embargo for 14 days. The resolution says, if the Ministry desires to serve the national interests it is sincere as our own, we will agree to the course universally adopted in all disputes, namely suspension of the operation of the matter in dispute. The Minister replied that he couldn't see his way clear to withdraw or suspend the embargo; he hoped that the committee would again consider the request of the national advisory committee that all the men should resume work. "Bearing in mind that the resolution was taken with a clear understanding that the embargo wouldn't be removed." The Press Association says that at a meeting held at Wolverhampton by the Joint Committee, to-night, it was resolved to request Mr. Churchill, the Minister of Munitions, and Premier Lloyd George to remove the embargo immediately failing which the sole responsibility for the industrial unrest in the district will be placed on the shoulders of the Government. A reply was demanded within 24 hours.

RIGGIST BATTLE OF THE WAR.

WITH THE FRENCH ARMY IN FRANCE.—(By the A.P.)—Up to the present seventy German divisions have been identified in the fighting zones and the battle, therefore, may be regarded as the biggest since the beginning of the war. The prisoners taken number over 25,000 and more than 600 cannon and thousands of machine guns.

THE SUCCESS CONTINUES.

PARIS, To-day. (Official)—On the Ourcq front the fighting to-day met with some success as on previous days. North of the river, we occupy Ourcq. South of the river Franco-American troops made an advance which reached three kilometres at certain points, notably in the region of Dormans. Southeast of Armentieres we occupy Hill 141, and have crossed the Nanteuil Stream. Further south we captured the village of Courcy and the most part of Tourneville Wood. We extended our progress in the Forest of Here as far as the general line of operations to Charnel. Our advance continued under favourable conditions in the Rio Forest and north of Dormans. Southwest of Rheims the enemy continued his violent attacks against our positions, between Vitry and St. Eupraise, and succeeded in gaining a hold on Hill 240. Our troops soon retook this spot taking about 100 prisoners.

11.30 A. M.

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY ON THE AISNE-MARNE FRONT.—July 25th, (by the A.P.)—It would be no surprise if the battle between the Aisne and the Marne ends soon, or if the Crown Prince should force operations in a new phase by massing troops for a tremendous counter-attack on a new front of the battle line, perhaps the flank south of Soissons, where the German already have offered such determined resistance. Although outwitted by the strategy of General Foch, and outought by the Franco-American Commanders, there is no disposition to underestimate the danger of the staggering German armies striking another terrible blow on either flank. The losses of the Germans have been enormous. They are estimated to range between 150,000 and 225,000, but it is obvious to all, except enthusiastic optimists, that the hard fighting German armies are not too crippled to attempt retaliation once they are in positions chosen by the Crown Prince or by the Crown Prince's staff. What lines the Germans will elect for a new stand is merely conjecture, but it is believed, and the logical place will be that long plateau southeast of Soissons, running toward the Ardre River, and to the junction of the present line from Rheims. If the Ardre is not chosen, the Crown Prince has the choice of Vesle, or even the old line along the Aisne. It is believed more probable that the Crown Prince will choose the Vesle region, where the terrain is hilly, west of Rheims toward Soissons, would make him relatively safe for the moment. That he intends abandoning the territory of the Crown Prince, the reduction of his number of lines of supply, it is estimated that the Germans had mobilized here between half a million and six hundred thousand men. To maintain a supply for these men, even with all transport resources, was no simple matter and the working out of General Foch's plans have made the positions untenable.

CZECH CAPTURE SIMIRSK.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. (Bulletin.)—Czech-Slovak troops have captured the important town of Simirsk about 600 metres east of Berlin. The Russian Soviet troops put up a desperate resistance.

LENINE'S STATEMENT.

AMSTERDAM, To-day. Premier Lenin in a speech at Moscow before the Soviet Congress, said of factory committees, said the position of the Soviet Republic had become extremely acute in view of international complications, counter-revolutionary conspiracies and the food crisis, according to a Moscow despatch received by way of Berlin.

WITH THE MILITARY AHEAD.

LONDON, To-day. A striking and revolutionary political change has just been made in Germany, says a Daily Mail despatch from Bonn. Very quietly and unobtrusively, it is added, full executive and state rights have been granted to the Imperial government. This means, it is declared, that the civil and military executives have been placed on an equal basis.

JAPAN TO ASSIST.

LONDON, To-day. (Bulletin.)—It is announced officially here that Japan has decided to accept the American proposal to assist the Czech-Slovak armies in Siberia.

GERMANS BEATEN OFF.

LONDON, To-day. (Bulletin.)—The Germans this morning launched a local attack against the British in the Meteren sector of the Flanders front. The war office announces that the attack was repulsed after sharp fighting.

Shell Shocked Nerves.

Shattered nerves are the source of greatest suffering to many a returned soldier. The doctor can give something to relieve physical pain, but when the nervous system breaks down and you are sleepless, nervous and mentally worried, real cure only comes when the exhausted nerve cells are nourished back to health and vigor by such restorative, rebuilding treatment as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food.

The Girls Strike.

The girls of the Knitting Mills, who have come out on strike, have decided to form themselves into a union of Girl Workers, and later, perhaps, other girls of other industries will be asked to join. At the request of the girls, Mr. Philip Bennett, President of the N.I.W.A., interested himself in the strike, and yesterday interviewed the Supt. of the Mills, who referred him to the manager. The manager made known his willingness to take back the girls, and to make no discrimination against them, but made no offer to remedy the toilet conditions, because of which the girls absolutely refused to accept, and declined to go back until the conditions are improved, as they consider that the toilet arrangements there are not conducive to feminine modesty. Yesterday, at the girls' request, the Health Inspector visited the factory, and examined the lavatory arrangements. The President of the N.I.W.A. will be back again this morning, but the result of his interview is not yet known.

SUMMARY.

Hit by Pitcher, Hall, Smith, McIsaac, Dobbin. Wild pitch, Hall 3; McIsaac, 2; Three Base Hits, Duggan and Clouston. Two base hits, Hall (2) Duggan and Bell. The libretto of this comic opera will appear to-morrow.

CURSES! CARAMBA! "Dark-eyed Dobbin's Double" is not the title of a penny-dreadful, though it sounds like blood and thunder and dire deeds at midnight at the ruined mill. No, reader, it is simply a description of Paddy's pretty double-play to Brian in the game last evening.

COMING EVENTS.

It's a sad story, mates. A couple of ball-players have made arrangements with Eli Whiteaway to reserve a bed in the hospital for Demon Duggan the next time he cuts up rough on the diamond and blocks the second base line. P.S.—Wouldn't wonder if Brit would take a hand in also after last night.

NO SIREES!

It's a pretty safe bet that Ernie Clouston never contemplates canning Canning. Seeing that Jack is one of our star third basemen, Ernie can't can Canning, can he?

New Schooner "Barbara Barr" in Port.

The new three masted schooner "Barbara Barr," owned by Messrs. G. M. Barr and J. C. Currie, of St. John's and Britannia, respectively, which was recently launched at the latter place, reached this port on her maiden voyage last evening. The vessel, which is a model of beauty and staunch as ever left the stocks, was built by Mr. Geo. Gulliford, of Charlottetown, master builder, and is the 7th and largest ship that he has designed and completed. The timber of which the ship is constructed is of hard pine plank, while the steel and iron fastenings are of the best material obtainable. The most striking feature of all is the cabin accommodation for the captain and officers which are so arranged as to offer comfort and convenience to the occupants. The walls are of hard pine finished with a white enameled ceiling. Lavatory and bath with hot and cold water fittings are being installed. The fore-cabin is built upwards from the main deck and is also comfortable for the men. The ship's sails and rigging are of the finest material obtainable and when under full sail she can clip off the knots with anything equal her size. The "Barbara Barr" is 142 feet long, 28 ft. 6 inches broad, with a 12 foot hold, and 285 tons gross. Capt. John Smigrove of the U.P.C., brother of Captain Arthur Smigrove, of the ill-fated schooner Ruth Hickmott, has been given command and all told, she will carry a crew of seven.

Hun Brutality.

(From the Chicago Herald.)

Out of the chaos of war has come a story of adventurous American youth that pales most of the other tales hitherto considered the acme of thrilling narration. The hero of these exploits—fighting in the Foreign Legion serving aboard a French battleship, landing at Suvia Bay, fighting in the trenches and suffering hellish torture in a German prison camp—is a lad named Albert N. Depew. He has been a gunner and chief petty officer in the United States navy, a member of the Foreign Legion of France and captain of a gun turret on the French battleship Cassard.

As permanent testimonials of his feats of gallantry he wears the scars of shell wounds and bayonet thrusts, the marks of German brutality and the famous Croix de Guerre. A typical, clean cut, courageous American boy, his eagerness to participate in the world war prompted him to enter the French service after his honorable discharge from the American navy. There he was transferred to the French Foreign Legion and saw fighting on the West Front, returned to the Cassard and participated in the spectacular Gallipoli campaign, was captured on the Georgia by the Moewe, the German commerce raider, and was for some months in a German prison camp.

His description of German brutality is the most striking that has come out of Europe. His book "Gunner Depew" (Reilly and Britton, Chicago) narrates things that would make the crassest pacifist yearn to strike a blow at the Germans. A typical instance was that which occurred while he himself was in a French hospital.

What Hun Doctor Did.

"One of the patients," he says, "was a German doctor, who had been picked up in No Man's Land, very seriously wounded. He was given the same treatment as any of us—that is, the very best—but finally the doctors gave him up. They thought he would die slowly, and that it might take several weeks.

"But there was a nurse there who took special interest in his case, and she stayed up day and night for some time, and finally brought him through. The case was very well known, and everybody said she had performed a miracle. He got better slowly.

"Then a few weeks later, when he was out of danger and was able to walk, and it was only a question of time before he would be released from the hospital, this nurse was transferred to another hospital. Everybody knew her and liked her, and when she went around to say good-by all the men were sorry and gave her little presents, and wanted her to write to them. She was going to get a nurse she knew in the other hospital to turn her letters into English, so that she could write to me. I gave her a ring I had made from a piece of shell case, but I guess she had hundreds of them at that.

"But this German doctor would not say good-by to her. That would not have made me sore, but it made this French girl feel very bad, and she began to cry. One of the French officers saw her and found out about the doctor, and the officer went up and spoke to the German. Then the French officer left, and the German called to the nurse and she went over to him and stopped crying.

"They talked for a little while, and then she put out her hands as if she was going to leave. He put out his hands, too, and took hold of hers. And then he twisted her wrists and broke them. We heard the snap.

"Didn't need to shoot him.

"There were men in that ward who had not been on foot since the day they came to the hospital, and one of them was supposed to be dying, but when he heard her scream it is an absolute fact that there was not a man left in bed.

"I need not tell you what we did to that German. They did not need to shoot him after we got through with him. They did shoot what was left of him, to make sure, however.

"Now, I have heard people say that it is not the Germans that we are fighting, but the Kaiser and his system. But you take this doctor. He was not an ignorant peasant. He was not a dupe nor a misguided but well meaning soul. He was an educated man who had been trained all his life to help people out of pain, but not to cause it. And he was not where he would have to obey the Kaiser or any other German. Also it is a fact that this nurse had literally saved his life. He broke that girl's wrists simply because he wanted to. Also he is a very fair sample of all the Germans I have met. It is the Germans of this kind we are fighting—not merely the Kaiser.

The Raided Maidens.

"While visiting at Lyons I met a girl there who was staying with some people I knew, and she told me a little bit at a time, what she had been through. I do not know whether she was a Belgian or not, but she was in Belgium at the outbreak of the war. When the Germans took the town she was in they put up signs on the doors notifying the inhabitants that all the girls must report in the square the following morning.

"This girl and her sister reported with the rest. They were divided into two classes, and the class in which the two sisters were was told to report at the station the next morning. They went home and broke the news to their mother, who was quite old and who took it very hard. They had no idea what they were being sent away for. The mother begged permission to keep one of the girls, and the Germans placed the other sister in the class that was to stay.

"Three girls who refused to go were dragged to the streets and killed in cold blood, and the mother of one girl, who refused to let her go, was shot. The girls were drilled to the courtyard of a big hotel, mustered with a roll call and loaded into cars. After a nine-hour journey they were taken from the trains to a large building partly in ruins, and there the German soldiers were waiting for them. The girls were not given food or fire.

"Late that night, after the Germans were through with them, they were made to go outside and dig potatoes from the hard ground, but they were not allowed to eat any of the potatoes. They also had to make beds, chop wood, haul timber and do all the dirty work that has to be done wherever German swine are penned.

"They were not allowed to write to their people, nor did they receive any word from outside. Fresh batches of girls arrived from time to time, but they were not allowed to mix with those who had been there before them.

"When the girls reached such a condition that they were no longer of use to the Germans they were sent back to Belgium. This girl had killed her child, as, indeed, all of the girls had. When she got home she found her mother had been killed, but she never saw her sister again or knew what had become of her.

Women as Bad as Men.

Gunner Depew testifies that Allied prisoners hate German women more than German men. They derived an even keener delight from torturing starving prisoners by holding forth pieces of bread and snatching them away again when the famished wretches reached out to grasp the food.

Flogging naked prisoners was another form of torture, which Depew suffered himself. On one occasion when he had had an altercation with a sentry he was haled before a commanding officer. Depew continues: "They dragged me to the commandant of the camp and he instructed them to give me a bath. So they took me to the bathroom, where I was stripped and lashed. All the time they were whipping me I was thinking what a joke it was on me, because I had been looking for excitement and had got more than I wanted, so I laughed.

"Now, the Germans have a kind of salve, blue, and about like soft soap.

When you rub it on your face and take it off with a stick, it gives you as close a shave as any barber could. So they smeared it all over me, and I quit laughing. It felt like lye, where I had been lashed. I was dumped into a vat of hot water, and at the same time my clothes were given a boiling, which was good for them.

"When I came out of that bath there was not a hair on my body, except my head. I was just like a peeled onion, but far weaker. And how I did itch when the hair began to sprout again a few days later! It was a torture that lasted, I can tell you."

Knights of Columbus Drive Opens Next Week

Halifax, July 26.—A meeting of the local Knights of Columbus executive will be held next week to draw up plans for a drive to be launched in the city to assist in financing the war work activities of the Order.

Fifty million dollars will be spent by the Knights of Columbus in the development of Knights of Columbus war work according to a despatch received in the city yesterday from the headquarters of the war work activities committee at New York.

"All creeds and colors welcome, and everything free," has been officially adopted as the slogan both in the United States and abroad. Postage stamps will be the only things sold in the Knights of Columbus huts.

The determination on the part of the committee on war work activities to charge nothing for the supplies furnished to soldiers will add a heavy burden to the work and it is chiefly for that reason that it will be necessary to raise $50,000,000 to carry out the program.

While a large portion of this money will be raised in the United States, every branch of the order in Canada will be asked to contribute and the financial drive will extend throughout the continent. According to the despatch received in the city 2,000 secretaries will be sent overseas by the end of this year to manage Knights of Columbus huts in France and England.

Bank Responsible for Error.

An interesting decision has been made by the Missouri court of appeals, relative to holding the sender of a telegram responsible for a mistake in transmission. A Wyoming bank telegraphed a brokerage house, offering a carload of potatoes at $1.35 a hundred pounds. The telegraph company's mistake in transmission made the price 35 cents a hundred. The supposed offer was accepted by the brokers and the potatoes were shipped. When payment was tendered at the rate of 35 cents a hundred the Wyoming bank refused to accept the money and brought suit for the full amount. The Missouri court of appeals ruled that the bank had made the telegraph company its agent in forwarding the telegram and that as the brokerage house acted in good faith it could not be compelled to pay more than the amount quoted in the message.

$25,000 Fine Imposed On Flour Dealers.

New York, July 18.—Jacob Kulla, wholesale flour dealer of 2 and 4 Stone Street, must contribute $25,000 to the Red Cross or forfeit his license, as a result of a finding by the Federal Food Board yesterday that he had sold flour at prices above those fixed. Kulla, it was brought out, sold flour at margins of profit of from 75 cents to $1.65 a barrel, when the maximum allowed was 75 cents. Much of the flour sold was limited to a profit of 35 cents a barrel. The largest previous similar fine was $20,000.

WAR REVIEW.

General Foch has taken a leaf out of the book of the German strategy and ordered the use by the Allied armies of the pincer system of offensive in the Soissons-Rheims salient. Both jaws of the pincers are moving smoothly with the pivot along the Marne working in unison, and the process of attempting to capture many of the nearly half a million Germans in the big pocket, is well on the way to what seems like possible success. The Germans evidently don't intend to permit themselves to be entrapped without fighting. Having thrown thousands of reinforcements into the already congested salient, they have started a counter offensive of great violence along the semi-circular front from the Ourcq River to the region immediately southwest of Rheims and their men are said to have orders to stem the Allied tide of advance at all costs. Nevertheless, at last accounts the British, French, American and Italian troops themselves well reinforced to meet the new turn in affairs, were steadily pressing forward at nearly all points on the battle line to Rheims, while east of the cathedral city a Polish contingent, the first of the Poles to enter the combat, is declared to have carried out successfully an enterprise against the enemy in which more than 200 Germans were made prisoners. The west jaw of the pincer continues to move east along the Ourcq River on both sides of the stream, and the Franco-American troops now are virtually knocking at the gates of Fere-en-Tardenois, the important railway junction and store houses for Germany's war supplies. Further south to the Marne, new advances in keeping with these in the north, have been attained. At the pivot of the pincer north of the Marne midway between Chateau Thierry and Rheims, the French have extended their line north into the forest of Fere, in the Ris forest and north of Dormans, while the east jaw of the pincer under the pressure of the British, has noticeably moved forward in a northwest direction for about a mile and a half over a three mile front to Mery Preney and Queux. The latter village is five miles west of Rheims and a scant mile and a half from the Rheims-Flamers road. At Mery Preney the Allied line now stands about ten and a half miles southwest of Flines, which is the central station on the railway running between Soissons and Rheims. For a week and a day the Allied troops have hammered against the Soissons-Rheims salient until its width across between the cities has been narrowed to about 21 miles from an original width of 37 miles, while the triangular salient has been welded into a semi-circle cul-de-sac. Over the entire pocket the Allied artillery continues to rain shells from all sides and airmen are keeping up their intense bombing of troop formations and military works. As yet, notwithstanding the inroads of the Allied troops, there has been no sign of an impending general retreat on the part of the enemy, and if he elects to stand and fight it out the Allied gains continue with the same success as heretofore. It seems that with the daily narrowing of the neck of the pocket the enemy necessarily will lose many men when the time comes to make his way north-east. Some perturbation is being caused in England through a strike in several cities, of munition workers. The workmen threaten a further extension of the strike unless their demands are met.

ENEMY'S POSITION UNTENABLE.
FRENCH HEADQUARTERS, July 25. (Via Reuter's Ottawa Agency).—The position of the enemy on the salient south of the Aisne has become untenable. On the western side the enemy is fighting a retreating battle, depending upon the machine guns placed in advantageous positions to hold up the Allied advance while the enemy is busily engaged in removing material. There is little left of the enemy artillery on this front. Fere-en-Tardenois is about the centre of the salient. An advance of a few kilometres such as the Allies made to-day would enable them to sweep with the long guns the whole remaining area to the east of the fronts where the Germans are engaged with the British and French between Vigny and the Marne. The French victory on the Aisne resulted in the capture of a large number of prisoners which was made in the space of a few hours, significant of the feeble quality of the troops with which the enemy was obliged to hold sections where he did not expect an attack. Half his shock divisions have been shot to pieces between Soissons and Main de Massages. The divisions holding quiet sectors, divisions which have been systematically drained of their best men for storm units, are no match for the French infantry. The French are now within three miles of Fere-en-Tardenois, the meeting point of eight roads, and the centre of the German communication in this region. The town is being heavily shelled daily and bombed by air squadrons.

Help to Win the War by Using Less Flour

Oaten Bread Recipe:

TAKE
1 sifter full of Ogilvie's "STANDARD" Flour and 1 sifter full of Ogilvie's ROLLED OATS

THEN
Scald the Rolled Oats with 2 cupfuls of boiling water. Make sponge with 1/2 yeast cake and one cup of Ogilvie's "Standard" Flour; then add the Rolled Oats—after allowing sufficient time for them to cool.

ADD
1 tablespoonful of Butter,
2 teaspoonfuls of Salt,
1 1/2 tablespoonfuls of Sugar.

Knead well, adding Ogilvie's "STANDARD" as required to give it the proper texture before proceeding to bake.

The above recipe will make a Wholesome and Delicious Bread.
