EXODUS TO SUMMER HOMES MORE MARKED THIS YEAR THAN IT HAS EVER BEEN

Pretty Places Along C. P. R. and I. C. R. and City People There

New Cottages at Many of the Favorite Stations While Tenting Parties are Also in Order—Names of St. John Residents Who are Deserting City Homes for the Bright Days.

B. Gilmour, B. R. Macaulay, Robert Led. The number of St. John people who each summer migrate to the green fields along the banks of the St. John river and the Kennebecasis and other nearby spots steadily increases. This season there will be more families getting "back to nature" than ever before. The exodus started in at the first of May, and each week sees the suburban population a little larger and there are new occupants of the seats of the trains morning and evening.

Woodman's Point. The McDonalds will again hold the balance of power at Woodman's. There will be the families of Charles McDonald, Arthur McDonald, Mrs. Mont. McDonald, Charles H. McDonald, and W. S. McDonald. Others at the point are: F. H. J. Ruel, Harry Noss, H. M. McAlpine, Alexander Holly and Fred Blizard.

Westfield Beach. Westfield Beach continues to be one of the most popular sections in the C. P. R. suburban region. Several very pretty cottages were added last year and every place will be occupied this season. The families spending the summer there are those of Alan Rankine, Dr. J. L. Day, Mrs. J. L. Dunn, Mrs. Morrison, Mrs. J. A. Rankine, Mrs. Logan, H. B. Robinson, W. W. Hubbard, R. C. Crutcher, J. L. McCreary, Samuel Crocker, Edward Sears, H. C. Creighton, T. H. Bullock, J. Roy Campbell, Arthur S. Bowman, Dr. P. R. Inches, Dr. J. R. Malloch, Edward Bates and C. E. L. Jarvis.

Hillendale. The name Hillendale was chosen last year for the station formerly known as Woolstock, owing largely to the fact that the latter name was often confused with Woodstock and in consequence parcels frequently went astray, much to the annoyance of the owners. The residents thing the new title is much prettier. The tennis courts and golf grounds in this section have many devotees, and last year was quite a rage.

At Langley. At Langley, so far as can be learned, there will be little change in the personnel of the residents. The majority have already taken up their summer abodes. The list includes: James H. Dooker and family, George M. Robertson, W. S. Fisher, William B. Robertson, R. M. Magee, S. A. Thomas, Mrs. I. C.

Wellesley Graduate SUICIDE BY DROWNING. Boston, June 18.—The suicide of Miss Mabel R. Gordon, 29 years old, a graduate of Wellesley college, who escaped yesterday from a private sanitarium in Jamaica Plain, was indicated by the finding of her clothing on the shores of Jamaica pond, and was made certain later by the discovery of her body in the pond. It is believed her nervousness, due to operative treatment, was responsible for the young woman's act.

THE WEATHER. Moderate south-west wind, occasional showers. Sunday, a few scattered showers at first, but generally clearing.

ELEVEN CAUGHT IN RAID

Police Cut Through Wall to Gamblers' Room WAS "SOCIAL CLUB"

Equipment Seized Most Elaborate Found in Years—Squad of Police Blocked by Thick Doors But Problem is Solved

New York, June 17.—Ten thousand persons saw Inspector Hogan, Captain O'Connor, of the Fifteenth Precinct, and ten detectives raid the rooms of the Puck Social Club, No. 124 East Fourteenth St. and with axes and battering rams cut through the walls. There were 125 men found inside. Roulette wheels, faro layout and extensive poolroom outfits were confiscated.

Door Double Barred. Alderman King is a Tammany Hall leader, and succeeded "Little Tim" Sullivan as representative from the ward. The men arrested took their argument as a joke, and laughed and jested.

BONES OF MAN FOUND IN SHAFT. Newburyport, June 18.—While excavating in an old shaft at the estate of Miss Laura C. Hill, a Boston miniature painter, and her sister, Miss Elizabeth Hill, Brown, 38 West Broadway street, Frank Kroner, 588 West One Hundred and Forty-second street and Abraham Jacobs, 137 East Seventeenth street, held for common gambling.

EMRESS HAS RECORD NUMBER IN THE SALOON. Montreal, June 18.—The C. P. R. steamship Empress of Ireland, with a record list of saloon passengers, numbering 300, and a capacity list in the second cabin, sailed at 4 p. m. yesterday from Quebec. Among this large list were: Dr. Wm. Peterson, Dr. Shirres, W. F. Angus and Mrs. Angus of Montreal, G. P. Schofield and Mrs. Schofield, Dr. G. Sterling Ryerson and Mrs. Ryerson, Mrs. W. S. Alley, Don Wallace Nesbitt and Mrs. Nesbitt of Toronto, E. L. Newcombe and Mrs. Newcombe, Col. and Mrs. C. A. Elliott, K. P. and Mrs. MacDonald of Ottawa, Dr. Lees and party of Nebraska University, C. W. Jacobs and party of Rock Valley, Iowa, and Mrs. Louise E. Kugler and party of Cincinnati.

BARK CALBURGA SOLD. Philadelphia, June 17.—The Canadian bark Calburga, which has been lying at this port since last November has been sold at sheriff's sale to a man supposed to represent J. F. Whitney & Co., of New York, for $4,500. The Calburga registers 1,250 tons net and was built in Montreal, (N. S.) in 1890. Her managing owner was Thomas Duglass, of Halifax.

EXPECT 2,500 MEN AT THE CAMP

Look for Largest Number Yet Under Canvas at Sussex

62ND WILL NOT GO. Recruiting Much Better in the City This Year—New Features Which Will Make Camp Conditions Better For All This Time

As the date for the opening of Camp Sussex, June 28, draws near, more interest is being manifested in militia circles. Indications point to the largest camp on record, all the recruits expecting to go in full strength, which will make the number of men under canvas well up to 2,500 mark. The camp will be commanded for the first time by the new D. O. C. Col. Humphrey, and he will be assisted by the following staff of officers:—Capt. F. L. Moore, Maj. A. E. Massie, Lt. Col. M. McL. Vines, and Lt. Col. McKenzie. It is probable that other officers will be detailed later.

Several new features are being planned for the camp this year. One of the most novel is the introduction of the post office before referred to and to which will go all mail addressed to anyone in the camp and will be distributed to the members of the various corps as directed. In former years it was the custom for mail to go to the Y. M. C. A. hall, and when a letter arrived there, the name of the person whom it was addressed was posted on a list until he or a friend who happened to pass, saw it, and called for his property. This was a slow manner of getting mail, and the new up-to-date method proposed will be hailed with enthusiasm throughout the camp. No letter carrier will be a popular official with the boys.

The proposed trip to Sussex camp, planned by the grand funders, has been called off, but it is the fixed intention of many of the body to visit their rural brethren in the "tent city" for a day or two, and have a chance to see things. For July 1 enterprises are planning to spend the day with the channels of industrial and other enterprises and he hinted that judicious legislation might be the cause. He quoted the warning of the chairman of the Bank of Montreal issued on December 8, 1909, against injudicious legislation or doubtful enterprises that would stop the inflow of capital.

FIGURES THAT TELL STORIES. CANADA'S ACROSS-THE-SEA IMMIGRANTS. THE policy of the Government is not to encourage immigration from Southern Europe. But the immigration into Canada for the year ending March, 1910—other than from British and American sources—was 41,885, or about one-fifth of the total immigration. The pictures represent the largest contingents. Poles, 1,727 came from France, 1,535 from Germany, 1,487 from Finland, and 1,407 from Italy. The number of Chinese entering Canada was 2,156. The destination of these immigrants varies. The Austro-Hungarians distribute themselves fairly evenly throughout Canada, about 55 per cent. being located in the West. The Russians, many of them Russian Jews, settle principally in the "tent city" for a day or two, and have a chance to see things. For July 1 enterprises are planning to spend the day with the channels of industrial and other enterprises and he hinted that judicious legislation might be the cause. He quoted the warning of the chairman of the Bank of Montreal issued on December 8, 1909, against injudicious legislation or doubtful enterprises that would stop the inflow of capital.

ROOSEVELT IS HOME; A GREAT WELCOME ACCORDED THE FORMER PRESIDENT

THEODORE ROOSEVELT. The former president returned to his home at Sagamore Hill, O., on Saturday, June 18, after a tour of the West. He was met by a large crowd of admirers and a band of music.

Manager Good, of the Dominion Exhibition, received a communication this morning from George H. Watson, secretary of the New England Passenger Association, to the effect that the transportation companies included in the association had agreed to sell tickets for St. John at one-way fare, for September 5, 7 and 8, good to return up to the 18th inst. This indicates that there will be a big home-coming of the maritime province people in the New England States, as the rates will be remarkably low. This is a concession that the exhibition management have been trying hard to get and they are greatly pleased to learn that they have succeeded.

THOUSAND DIE IN FLOOD IN HUNGARY. Vienna, June 18.—The destruction of life and property by floods throughout Hungary exceeds all records. The number of deaths has not yet been ascertained, but it is believed that they will aggregate close to 1,000. The damage to crops and property will amount to several million kronen. The harvest is seriously threatened with destruction.

FIRST COMMUNION AND CONFIRMATION. Sacraments Administered to 178 Children in the Cathedral This Morning. In the cathedral this morning at the 7 o'clock mass, 178 children, the majority of them girls, received the Sacrament of Holy Communion for the first time. The mass was celebrated by His Lordship Bishop Casey, assisted by Rev. A. W. Meahan, and Rev. Wm. Duke. After the mass the bishop addressed the children, guarding them against evil influences, and dwelling on the importance of this day to them.

LADY ARCHIBALD IS DEAD IN NEW GLASGOW. Halifax, June 18.—(Special)—Lady Archibald, widow of Sir Adam G. Archibald, a former lieutenant of Nova Scotia, died in New Glasgow yesterday. Two daughters survive—Mrs. F. D. Laurier and Mrs. Hoggate, wife of Rev. Reginald Hoggate, vicar of Boston, England.

SHOULD NOT BE HARD TO SPEND THIS AFTERNOON. Should fine weather prevail this afternoon citizens will have many means to enjoy themselves, with the variety of attractions. Locally and out of town various inducements in the amusement line present themselves. In the city it is probable that the baseball game will prove an attraction for hundreds of "fans," both before the Clippers and the St. Johns on the E. D. C. grounds and on the Shamrock grounds between the St. Peters and A. O. H. At the Opera House the matinee of the "Mummy and the Hummingbird" will likely draw a great house, while the programmes at the moving picture theatre will also prove attractive to many. The manoeuvres of the 62nd Fusiliers in the field day programme will be watched with interest. A shooting match on the rifle range is another event in the afternoon's programme. At Millville the R. K. Y. C. boys will participate in the first of a series of yacht races for the Gregory cup and to those who like this kind of sport no letter will be found of spending an enjoyable afternoon. The river boats and the suburban trains will in all likelihood carry large numbers of citizens to country places to remain over Sunday. From this list of attractions it will be seen that the only requirement for spending an enjoyable outing this afternoon is that the weather man cast a favorable glance on St. John and its citizens.

By PHILIP MICHIGLES Author of "The Pillars of Eden," etc.

CHAPTER XXIX.—(Continued.) Not a block from the house he met old Billy Stitts, who, though quite unknown to the New York man, knew Bestwick in a way of his own.

CHAPTER XXX.—(Continued.) "I'm glad if you have been of use," Bestwick told him indignantly. "You didn't say what your services have been. Just a few little errands, I suppose?"

CHAPTER XXXI.—(Continued.) Bestwick had told Beth partial truths. His journey had been hard. His car had been twice disabled on the desert; Lawrence had been difficult to find; delays had confronted him at every turn, and not until midnight of the day before had he seen his wife.

CHAPTER XXXII.—(Continued.) Bestwick destroyed the letter promptly, lest it fall by some accident into other hands than his own. Not without a slight feeling of guilt, the man shut out all thought for the present of deserting Goldie and the plot.

groomed more than merely a vague alarm in her breast. She had begun to feel, perhaps partially by intuition, that something was altogether wrong. Scarcely anxious to assure her she need not write to Glen—that he was coming to Goldie—had provided the one required element to excite a new tremor in her thoughts.

It had taken her the briefest time only to resolve upon her course—and then old Billy came upon the scene, as if in answer to a question which she need not write to Glen—that he was coming to Goldie—had provided the one required element to excite a new tremor in her thoughts.

CHAPTER XXXIII.—(Continued.) Unfortunately for Bestwick he knew no ruffians in the camp—the none of the Trimmer's men, perhaps, except at sum of money to waylay a man, bash him over the head, and silt required letters from his pocket. He was not precisely willing, moreover, to broach such an undertaking to the gambler, this after all, was his private affair, to be shared with no one he knew.

CHAPTER XXXIV.—(Continued.) Her reasons for taking precautions so extraordinary were undoubtedly significant. He was galled, his anger was consuming. But first and foremost he must block the barn-seller's letter to her brother might mean the end of the world, if not suspicious morning. How far she had been excited to distrust himself, the mails he could not estimate. He was certain, however, she had sent a request to Van Buren to carry a letter to Glen.

CHAPTER XXXV.—(Continued.) "Up!" he said significantly, "I need to refuse to refuse me now that it was the first time I come." Van Buren was consuming. But first and foremost he must block the barn-seller's letter to her brother might mean the end of the world, if not suspicious morning.

CHAPTER XXXVI.—(Continued.) Bestwick had waited half an hour in the utmost impatience. With a hundred things to increase his restlessness of mind and body, he had finally gone to the postoffice and there discovered a letter from Glen Kent.

THE INSPECTORS at work for the board of health are getting along well. While the reports show that some sections of the city are entirely free from disagreeable places such as are not allowed by the board, others are not so fortunate, and it is expected that several cases will be brought to court.

THE WEST SIDE LOTS To what use do the aldermen who are opposed to the transfer of the west side lots to the C. P. R. expect that property to be put if it is not utilized by the railway company? And where else can the C. P. R. extend its terminal facilities, as it must extend them, to handle its increasing business at this port?

Why does the city council hesitate? No other railway is seeking an entry at that side of the harbor. Why antagonize the company that has brought so much winter freight to the port in the last dozen years, which seeks to make provision for handling much more? Halifax is eager to have C. P. R. connection. St. Andrews wants the company to do business there. Does St. John wish to encourage the growth of business elsewhere at its expense? This matter is of much greater importance to St. John than many citizens realize. Public sentiment should be in the work of harbor development. For years and years there has been a cry for the beginning of just such work. Now that it is in progress let no politician partition purposes be permitted to block the wheels of progress.

THE GLOBE'S VIEW The St. John Globe cannot quite adjust itself to the new conditions of progress in St. John, or for that to have a fling at the minister of public works, who is ironically described as willing "to scale the heights of heaven to carry out his word and to keep his promises." But of the west side transfer to the C. P. R. the Globe also says: "If an arrangement can be effected which will settle the taxation question, which will build satisfactory sewers so that the drainage of St. John West will flow easily into the harbor, and the property along the pier or sea wall, which it is suggested will be built by the government, will be developed by the railway company, the matter ought to be regarded favorably."

MR. S. D. SCOTT The withdrawal of Mr. S. D. Scott from newspaper work in St. John is regretted by his conferees on the press, as well as by the readers of the journal with which he was connected. Personally Mr. Scott was universal regard, while there is a charm and felicity of expression in all his writings which is appreciated by none so much as by newspaper men. He is exceptionally well equipped for journalistic work, his wide and well-selected reading and long experience having stored his acute mind with valuable material which he puts to effective use. His recent journalistic relations in St. John could not have been wholly congenial, and he goes to a wider field and larger opportunity with the best wishes of all who know him personally or by his writings. As a citizen he has in a quiet way done valuable service as a member of the boards of benevolent institutions, and as a journalist his aim has been to maintain a high standard in the news department of the papers with which he has been connected. On the Pacific coast, where great development is in progress, and the new problems arising out of Canada's relations with the orient are forcing themselves upon public attention, he will have a splendid field for the exercise of his trained faculties and happy gift of expression.

With Mr. S. D. Scott in Vancouver and Mr. C. H. Lagin in Victoria, the province of British Columbia will have two journalists well informed concerning eastern Canada and its point of view on national and imperial affairs. And both are former St. John newspaper men.

PARKS AND PLAYGROUNDS At the beginning of this year the city of Seattle had fifteen improved parks and nine improved and equipped playgrounds, and had fifteen unimproved parks and eight playgrounds to be prepared and equipped. In 1906 the citizens voted $500,000 park bonds, and in 1908 a further issue of $1,000,000, and a still further issue of $2,000,000 was asked for this year. Most of the parks are small, the policy being to establish as many community parks and playgrounds as possible in different sections of the city. The community park and the district playground meet the needs of the people in a more practical way than one or more extensive parks. From the Sixth Annual Report of the Board of Park Commissioners of Seattle we learn that Woodland Park contains nearly 200 acres; Washington Park, over 100 acres; Volunteer Park, 48 acres; Schmitz Park, 30 acres; Kinnear Park, 14 acres; Denny Park, over five acres; Cowen Park, nine acres; Frank Park, 29 acres; Mount Baker Park, 12 acres; Leschi Park, four acres; Madrona Park, nine acres; Denny-Blaine Park, over two acres; Atlantic City Park, three acres; Salmon Bay Park, over two acres; Interlaken Park, 46 acres; and, as already stated, there are fifteen additional parks set apart for improvement, most of them comparatively small places, for community centres.

With regard to playgrounds, very little was done until two years ago, but last year four existing ones were thoroughly improved and equipped with modern steel apparatus, a director appointed and supervisors placed on each playground. During last year three more sites were improved, three purchased, arrangements made to secure four more and five sites selected to be acquired later. Equipment for six grounds was ordered last fall, so that for this year ten will be in full operation, with apparatus and supervisors, with seven more in prospect for next year. The report from which these facts are gleaned has also fine illustrations of the playgrounds, showing that they are admirably equipped. Seattle is thus coming in line with the front rank in the matter of parks and playgrounds, and sets an excellent example to other cities.

THE STRENUOUS LIFE Two men whose offices were on the second floor were on the first floor waiting for an elevator. "You're not looking extra well, London," remarked the lawyer. "No, Kangle," replied the real estate man. "Think I'll join an athletic club. I need exercise." "Me too." "Still they waited for the elevator—Kansas City Times.

KITTY OF COLERAINE

As beautiful Kitty one morning was tripping With a pitcher of milk from the fair of Coleraine, When she saw me she stumbled, the pitcher or it tumbled, And all the sweet buttermilk watered the plain. "Oh, what shall I do now? 'Twas looking at you now. Sure, sure, such a pitcher I'll ne'er meet again!" 'Twas the pride of my dairy: O, Barney McClear! You're sent as a plague to the girls of Coleraine."

IN LIGHTER VEIN "Is he a great poet?" "I'm no judge but I don't think anyone would ask to get him pardoned if he were in prison."

GARDENING To dig and delve in nice clean dirt Can do a mortal little hurt. To live 'mongst lush and growing things Is like to give the spirit wings. Who work 'mid roses soon will find Their fragrance budding in his mind.

A GREAT SUCCESS. "I should say he is. Everybody in town is bragging that he knew him when he didn't have a dollar to his name."

THE LAUNDRY OF LIFE. Life is a laundry in which we are living out, and so late. Who has not known the irony of fate? We enter when we are born. Our colors bright. Full soon they fade. We exit "done up," old and worn, And frayed.

SUPREME COURT JUDGMENT IN A POLITICAL LIBEL SUIT (Ottawa Free Press.) Probably the most interesting of the cases decided by the supreme court this week was a political libel suit arising out of the last federal election in Cape Breton north. The Sydney Post published a letter from a correspondent signed "Elector," in which the writer accused Dr. Kendall of having, for a consideration, withdrawn his name as a candidate for election in parliament in 1904 and allowing Mr. Johnston to be nominated. Dr. Kendall brought an action claiming damages for libel, alleging that the letter charged him with a crime under the Election Act. On the trial of the action the presiding judge told the jury that if they found the meaning of the letter to be that Dr. Kendall for valuable consideration withdrew his name from nomination at the convention in favor of Mr. Johnston it might be charging him with the commission of a crime. The jury found for the defendant company and on appeal the full court ordered a new trial on the ground that no meaning could be taken from the alleged libel other than that Dr. Kendall had committed a crime. The appellants argued that the act charged in the letter was not within the provisions of the Election Act relied on, only referred to the offence of agreeing to vote or refrain from voting for a candidate. The only other section set up made it an offence to withdraw from nomination on being offered office, place or employment, which was not the charge here. The supreme court dismissed the appeal and the result will be that a new trial must take place upon the main issue.

AMERICANS FIND WEALTH IN DOMINION

Immigration Inspector White Presents Some Facts in Boston—Reciprocity in Men—Some 60,000 Homeseekers to Canada

(Boston Herald)

W. J. White, of Ottawa, inspector of Canadian government immigration agencies in the United States, arrived in Boston from the west yesterday afternoon on a train of Providence, of the importance of politics and of the growing sense of human brotherhood.

Speaking of the numerical proportions of the American invasion, Mr. White said that last year 60,000 Americans had crossed the border into the Canadian provinces, taking with them in cash, stock and farm materials between $30,000,000 and $40,000,000.

The American immigration department, fiscal business en route to Ottawa. "The American has become ubiquitous in newer sections of the Dominion," said Mr. White yesterday at the Parker House. "His presence and his prosperity testify to the things that are being done in the Northwest affords. Of this number, close to 150,000 will come from the American States.

"The greater volume of the American emigration to Canada comes from the adjacent states along the border. This is indicative of a keen appreciation of Canada's soil and climate. From the states of Colorado, Idaho and Washington, in four months this year have come into Canada upwards of 4,000 people. Some of them never walked on rice fields or under a sky never vital with opportunity than the Canadian Northwest affords.

"No new country ever received a better quality of people. The newcomer finds conditions further advanced, better organized than those which confronted the pioneer settlers of your American States.

"In the province of Manitoba there are few points more than ten miles from a railway. In the great provinces of Saskatchewan and Alberta there are more than 15 to 20 miles from the railway and in three years both Saskatchewan and Alberta will be well provided with transportation facilities as Manitoba.

"While New England has drawn very largely from more than a quarter of a century from the brain and brawn of Canada, more especially the maritime provinces, Canada, despite the fact that she has a commercial reciprocity, has in time benefited herself in like fashion by drawing from the American States a greater and greater extent than New England's draft announced.

While Americans are Missionaries

"The American in Canada is much like the missionary in London. He is finding the best things that are going and keeps fast hold of them. He is a missionary in ginger and in the same time converts to many admirable Canadian ideas.

"Even the American has come to recognize that God moved in a mysterious manner in permitting, for so long, the delusion that everything better paralleled in the garden and everything above was only backward. When George III. had received his lesson and was ready to take responsibility, Britain took time to think over the situation and forgot Canada.

"The Britisher and Yankee alike, Canada was a snow-bound quantity. If its inhabitants did not lack of nights it was because they scarcely knew enough to look at all. Her majesty's privy council once produced a document which referred to the vast province of Quebec as "that waste of the ideas of Canada that were expressed in this country were well, you have not forgotten the stories about your northern neighbors on which your juvenile imaginations were nourished. All that has been changed, however. In Great Britain they have ceased to ask whether the Canadians speak English with difficulty. In the United States you are prepared to believe that we are acquainted with sunlight, and can grow enough grain and vegetables and fruit to keep body and soul together. The American who reads, has ceased to regard Canada as a remote region, to whom wild water and a few kind words were the true mark of international comradery. He is inclined to regard the sound of the word as changed so much that it is more like the echo from his own soul than the implication of a man in conical, hard up for friends.

Change in Sentiment

"The American finds that Canada offers him abundance of other things than cold snaps. Twenty years ago Canada scarcely appreciated her own potentialities. It is hardly true that the American taught Canadians how good the Lord had been, his genius for catching on had good deal to do with the transformation of the last decade.

The lapse of the treaty of the early '60's which American and Canadian politicians alike thought would be permanently ruinous to Canadian prosperity, has worked out an exceeding advantage for Canada. It may have sent thousands of Canadians into the United States, but it had cleared the way for a national policy in Canada, of which the smoke of many factory chimneys is the effective incense, and it presented, as a secondary sequel, the great immigration from the United States to western Canada, that is an extraordinary stay with the Americans as the Annapolis Club is to unsophisticated Canadians.

Mr. White took a fling at the advocates of reciprocity trade relations.

"At reciprocity in goods," he said, "the politicians are diabolical failures. But there has been a blessed reciprocity in men, a reciprocity that has confounded the error on both sides of the line. I will be told, of course, that Canada is mostly railways mostly C. P. R., mostly Van Horne and Shaughnessy. That is largely true, although Canada, contemporaneously with the incursion of the American farmer, started growing and keeping her own railway geni. The repayment to Canada in kind for the men loaned to the United States has only begun. The process will continue until the province of the first United States consul at Regina, Saskatchewan, Taylor, is fulfilled, and the valley of the Saskatchewan becomes the vast, bread-producing territory on the globe.

Immigrants Among Best

"There is this general likeness in the manufacturing and ploughing Americans who have come to Canada, they represent the best of their respective classes. The great manufacturers who have established themselves in Canada, sent their most capable managers to Canada—not because the Canadian is a difficult proposition to handle, but because conditions are changing in the Dominion, and they must have the best men to meet them. The farmer who sold his dear land in Ohio, Iowa and Illinois, bought more of the cheaper land in Saskatchewan or Alberta, and went in to a new country prepared to master and acclimate himself and his progeny to a new environment.

"He made money from the beginning, the station with his steam ploughing outfit at 1 o'clock, and at 3 was turning over the sod, six furrows at a time.

"There are more steam ploughs and other agricultural machinery driven by steam in western Canada than in all the rest of the world combined.

"But there is more in the American invasion of Canada than 1,000-acre fields of wheat. There is a readjustment of civic outlook and conduct.

"The strenuous devotion of Americans to their life is one of the glories of the republic. It is curious to observe, sometimes, the passionate surprise with which patriotic men of the nation that has taken millions of citizens from other countries receive the statement that thousands of American citizens who had migrated to Canada, have taken the oath of allegiance to their adopted country.

"Sometimes they think this kind of reciprocity is going too far, and talk as if they feared Canada would annex the United States. This is not likely to happen, for Canada has trouble of her own. But there is no ground for regret, much less alarm, in the reconstruction of allegiance, for George III. is dead, and Canada governs herself entirely as she pleases and sends no dollar of taxation outside her own geographical limits. I have always held the view that a country that is good enough to prosper is a good enough to tie up to.

Tariff Law Must Change

"The man who, independent of the police, emigrated from his native health discovers that civic affection is the final, essential and paternal love. No Scotman objects to Andrew Carnegie for thinking of America first and the land of his birth second. No American begrudges Carnegie his devotion to Scotland. D. D. Mann, vice-president of the Canadian Northern railway, recently said, "that the distribution of natural resources in North America will ultimately—perhaps quickly—modify the tariff policies of the United States as well as of Canada. It is really Canada you begin, as you began tariff-building.

Mr. Mann gives seven years for the abolition of the duty on the hard wheat of western Canada. The preponderance of pulpwood in Canada must soon lead to a large readjustment in the conditions of a most important series of industries. Your coal deposits are greater than ours in the west and west. In the heart of the continent ours exceed yours.

"Where you give us coal, we shall be able to give you grain. To repeat again, Mr. Mann: The tariff is, at best, an expedient. As its crude necessities are outgrown, and distribution of nature's favors is better understood the course of trade will find its natural channels, and Canada, handicapped at the beginning by the wider range of business possible to her southern neighbor, will come into her own."

SCOTLAND YARD MAN TELLS SOME DETECTIVE STORIES

At the head of Scotland Yard's Criminal Investigation Department for many years, Sir Robert Anderson came into touch with all sorts of wrongdoers, and was at the unraveling of every kind of plot which can be hatched on the profile brain of the expert modern rascal. In Blackwood's Magazine of London he gives some instances of the lighter kinds of crime, especially dealing with the thief, both in a large and small way of business, his methods, and the best stratagems for frustrating them. He describes some articles of the adventuring trickster, the man who supply the credulous with enlargements of photographs for nothing, and give timekeepers a free gift to those who will buy a suitable watchman. In this latter connection he writes:

"A good story is told of two great Irish men, both of whom are now gone from us. The late Archbishop of Perth and Father Healy, the well-known parish priest of Bray. Making their way together to Bray Railway station one morning, the priest's attention was attracted by the prelate's apparel to his watch, which he had fastened to his wrist. The prelate's apologies were lavish. He headed that he had always had unbounded faith in his watch. "My dear Lord Plunket," was Father Healy's rejoinder, "faith won't do without good works."

Sir Robert is very severe on gambling clubs, describing how he made war upon them when he became head of the department.

Determined to begin at the top, for, though the lower class clubs were far the most mischievous, it was not going to incur the taunt of cheating humble folk and leaving the "toys" alone. So he held his hand until he was ready to raid the most fashionable club of the kind in London—a home in Park Place, St. James. The door of a gaming house does not stand open, and, of course, a stranger has no chance of admittance. And yet it was essential that the police should get in unnoticed, otherwise every outward sign of gaming would be cleared away, and evidence on which to base a charge would fall. But my inspector in the C. Division was a man of exceptional fitness for such work, and on the appointed night he found himself in the middle of the gamblers before any one of them "smiled a stranger." The necessary evidence being thus obtained, every person present had to appear before a magistrate. And one of the disappointments of my official life was that, during the few minutes necessarily spent in preparing for the raid, two men passed one another who would have added to the gaiety of London, for one of them had held office as His Majesty's Attorney General, and was destined to become Lord Chief Justice of England."

Still, after all, there are many among criminals, he can find it in his heart to say that as the nation the Britons are extraordinarily honest and law-abiding, and that the element of the alien heaver is a very small volume of crime is marvellously small.

For many years he was engaged in shipbuilding, but of late he lived on his farm in Springfield. His wife passed away a quarter of a century ago.

Mr. McIntyre is survived by five sons. They are Rev. Dr. W. E. of St. John, Baptist clergyman; Dr. James A., of St. John, and Captain Peter, also of the city; Charles H., a prominent Boston lawyer, and George N., at home. Alexander and Captain W. D. McIntyre of this city are nephews.

The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, in Springfield.

ATTACK ON CITY THIS AFTERNOON

Plans of the Redcoats Promise an Interesting Bloodless Encounter—Major Perley and Major Frost to Head the Forces

A forceful and deliberate attempt will be made this afternoon by a party of determined redcoats under the command of Maj. Perley to prevent a desperate garrison under the leadership of Maj. Frost from escaping from their beleaguered quarters, from which they feel they are practically forced to move, no matter at what cost.

Each party will be composed of men from the 62nd regiment, fully armed, and equally steadfast in determination to win the fray. The smoke of the battle will blow in the neighborhood of Sandy Point road, where it is thought the opposing contingents will meet in bloodless conflict, but of course the exact location cannot be learned in advance.

Considerable interest is being taken in the event in militia circles and it is expected that each party will be in full strength. The plans for the operations are looked upon as guaranteeing satisfactory manoeuvres. The object of the party surrounding the city is to keep within its limits, and prevent going through their lines, the garrison defending St. John.

The latter party has discovered, or at least is under the impression that it has, a weak spot in the lines of its opponents, and is making every possible effort to succeed in getting to the world beyond. The outcome will be awaited with interest.

NO SHEET READY FOR THE COURT

Some Delay in Police Court Proceedings—Judge Would Like to Order Whipping for Profanity

The proceedings did not begin in the police court this morning, at 9.30, the scheduled time, as no sheet was in evidence until 9.20 o'clock, almost one hour after Judge Ritchie had taken his seat. The prisoners were too numerous to deal with as was done last Saturday, but when the sheet was brought upstairs, it was not long before the line-up was disposed of.

John Gullivan and James Squires, said to belong to the West Indian steamer, Dalome, were fined $8 each for taking in vain the name of the Saviour in Duke street last night. When Policeman Henry had given his evidence and said that he had heard the men, His Honor said he should like to have them whipped besides being fined.

William Johnson, an aged man who last week was allowed out of jail on suspended sentence on a charge of stealing $75, pleaded guilty to drunkenness and was fined $8 or two months in jail. Fines of $4 each were imposed on Walter Currie, John Gallagher, and James Doyle, charged with drunkenness, and the latter was also fined $8 on a charge of profanity.

FOUND THEM IN PILLOW SLIP, WOMAN SAYS

Edward Pitman and Wife Charged With Taking Articles of Clothing Not Their Property

Edward Pitman and his wife, Mary, pleaded not guilty this morning before Judge Ritchie to a charge of stealing clothing valued at over $10 from Mrs. Charlotte Tobin, Brussels street, on March 20. The complainant said that when the prisoners moved out of her house she missed the articles, which included a fur, a suit of clothes, undershirts, an overcoat, waists and a few more pieces of clothing. Most of these articles were found in the home of the defendants last night by Policemen Scott and Lucas and the street was then made.

Hubbard and wife denied having committed the theft. The woman claimed to have found the articles in a pillow slip outside her door and had kept them as no one came to take possession of them. The case was not finished at the time of going to press.

MAKE A NEW START

Burgess Gave Wife $12 Since Last August—Better Health Now, He Says, and Will Work

An agreement was reached this morning in the case against Henry Burgess, charged with neglecting to support his wife and three children, and by it he consented to try to begin housekeeping again and make provision for the keeping of his family. He admitted having not given his wife any money since February last when he gave her $12, on his return from Maine, and this was the only sum which he had paid to her since August of last year.

His wife and their three little children had been compelled to give up their home and live with her father last fall. Burgess told the court that sickness had forced him out of work, but his health having returned, he was now willing to work for his family again. His Honor agreed to this, and allowed him to go on suspended sentence.

E. S. Ritchie appeared for Burgess.

AUTO TOUR POSTPONED

Owing to the wet weather, the tour of the New Brunswick Automobile Association, which was arranged to be held this afternoon, from St. John to Sussex and return, has been called off. It will probably be held next Saturday or on Dominion Day. It was thought the roads would be too muddy today to make the trip enjoyable.
