ITALY'S HARD TASK Army Between the Sea and an Active Enemy and Cholera Raging - Turks Make War Minister Scapegoat for Loss of Tripoli

(Canadian Press) Malta, Nov. 6.—Steamer passengers who have just arrived from Tripoli, describe the situation there as a reign of terror. Strong military patrols are continually conducting rigorous house to house searches and on the smallest pretense summary punishment is meted out.

London, Nov. 6.—Reuter's correspondent at Tripoli, sends word that the statements issued by the Italian government regarding the situation in Tripoli are false and much is suppressed. His account of things is pessimistic. With 25,000 men of the Italian army, he says, are with their backs to the sea and cramped and confined with an active enemy in front of them. They have lost in killed and wounded, not counting sick, about 1,000. Cholera is raging among them. Many Arabs have been killed and vast numbers shot in cold blood.

Constantinople, Nov. 6.—An agitation is afoot to overthrow the war minister, Scheffer Pasha, as a scapegoat for the loss of Tripoli. Scheffer has just been summoned to appear before the chamber of deputies to answer the charge of having ordered the arrest of Deputy Fakri, an actor, who, in defiance of a court martial order of suspension, continued to issue his journal and criticize the government on all parties. The chamber supports Fakri, who has formerly enjoyed military immunity. Scheffer Pasha at first declined to appear but has now promised to make an explanation on Wednesday.

While attending to a mail box at St. John's, Quebec, on Saturday, J. L. Hamm, of this city, in the railway mail service, met with a painful accident, which may necessitate an amputation of at least one foot. Mr. Hamm had left the train as the usual custom, to serve the box, and endeavored to climb aboard just as the train had started again upon its way. He missed his footing, and was dragged for some distance over the trestlework across the River Du Loup, his feet being badly injured as the train sped on with him hanging to it for his life.

When the train was brought to a stop he was found with his feet badly injured and his shoes torn off. He was brought to the city and is now resting as comfortably as is possible under the circumstances at his home in Wellington Row. Pelletier had said in Quebec that he had been promised that portion of the Intercolonial railway shops at Moncton would be transferred to the river-Loop naturally aroused excitement here. BERESFORD'S BOOK ON NAVY IS RECALLED Finds That It Might Hamper Work For the British Fleet

(Canadian Press) London, Nov. 6.—It is announced that publication of Lord Charles Beresford's book, "The Great Betrayal," which was to have appeared today, has been postponed. Commenting on this, the Express says: "It is understood that while Lord Charles remains unalterable in his criticism of past naval administrations and continues to lament the loss of late opportunities, he has been compelled to modify the force of that portion of his book dealing with the immediate future. The simple reason is that his opinions tally with Mr. Churchill's. Having learned in private the new first lord's theories of course he realizes the difficulty of making public the objections, which are already officially acknowledged and he is ready to spot a good book rather than risk danger to the great navy he loves."

"Whether the book will appear or not, this week, is doubtful, but if it does, it will appear about anything which would hamper the good intentions of the admiralty."

A notice was sent to all the newspapers today, that the book has been cancelled, with a request not to review it. One sensational rumor about it is that if the book had been published the government would have taken action to remove Lord Charles' name from the retired list of the navy. Little credence is given to this rumor. Lord Charles is not to review it. DISCUSS CHURCH AND THE WORKINGMAN The monthly meeting of the Evangelical Alliance was held in the school-room of St. Andrew's church this morning. Rev. H. R. Read of Parrville presiding. There were present Rev. Messrs Anderson, Flanders, Thomas, Ross, Lang, Gaetz, McCutcheon, Marr, Lawson, Brower, McLean, Dickie, Tucker, Wentworth, Appel and Rev. Dr. Lennox of Norton. Evangelist Goodman, who is conducting evangelistic work in the United States, was also present.

Both the Presbyterian and Methodist ministers reported in favor of continuing services at the Home for Incubables, and also of doing all in their power to lessen the number of Sunday funerals. The report was laid on the table.

A committee to arrange for the week of prayer was chosen as follows: Rev. W. O. Raymond, Rev. H. A. Anderson, Rev. H. D. Marr, Rev. F. S. Porter and Rev. J. C. B. Appel. Rev. Mr. Read will look after the West Side arrangements, Rev. G. A. Ross the Fairville services and Rev. Mr. Marr the North End.

The principal feature of the meeting was the reading of a paper entitled "What Can the Church Do to Help the Wage Earners?" by Rev. Miles McCutcheon. He dealt principally with conditions as at present in the United States. He spoke from the standpoint of the attitude of the laboring classes to the church, and of the church to the laboring classes. He contended that the congregations of the churches today were made up principally of employers and that the churches had a tendency to forget the needs of the working people, and therefore failed to be sympathetic towards them.

The paper was very interesting, so much so, that a resolution was passed asking him that selections should be made from the paper and given to the newspapers for publication, also that it be published in pamphlet form and distributed. He was also asked to prepare a paper, dealing with conditions locally and present it at a later meeting. A vote of thanks moved by Rev. G. A. Ross and seconded by Rev. C. R. Flanders, was tendered the speaker.

The mover and second, together with Rev. H. R. Read, Evangelist Goodman, Rev. G. A. Ross, Rev. D. Lang, Rev. W. Gaetz and Rev. W. Brower spoke briefly on the paper.

Rev. Dr. Flanders spoke of the number of men in the city at the present time out of work. The working people he contended, looked upon the church in former years as their enemy but conditions were better now and they were beginning to realize that it was their friend instead.

Rev. Dr. Brower said that the Socialist party here and everywhere were doing their best to antagonize the Church of God. They were distributing pamphlets, literature, etc., to cause discontent among the people but God would open their eyes and show them their follies. The church today was always full of sympathy for the working people and always anxious to help them along.

La MARQUISE de FONTENOY

Collection of China Worth More Than $1,000,000—Some Comment on The Recent Attempt to Restore Monarchy in Portugal

Lord Lascelles, who is now in the United States, staying at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel in New York, is the eldest son and heir of the Earl of Harewood, and he has been recently connected with the diplomatic service as an attaché, and also spent some time in Ottawa as A. D. C. to Lord Minto, he formerly held a commission in the Grenadier Guards to which his father has no memory of his ancestors had belonged. He severed his connection with the regiment, following unpleasantness in relation to a duel, and, owing to his disinclination to go out with the brigade drag. In one word, Lord Lascelles did not get on with his fellow-officers, and accordingly left the army.

The family of Lascelles is one of the oldest in Yorkshire, where it has held prominent rank and enjoyed great prestige ever since the reign of King Edward the Seventh, and the Earl of Harewood, however, is of relatively modern origin, having been created a little more than 100 years ago in favor of Edward Lascelles, who was the intimate friend of Maria Theresa's son, Emperor Joseph II. The latter presented to Lord Harewood some Tokay wines, which the earl planted in 1783 at Harewood House, his place in Yorkshire, which, alone, is their kind in the United Kingdom, still yield a quantity of delicious grapes every year. The first Lord Harewood inherited a vast fortune from his father and uncle, amassed by them in the West Indies, especially in Jamaica and Barbadoes.

His house is one of the grandest country seats in Great Britain. It was built in the reign of George III, from designs by Adam & Carr, on the site of an ancient manor house known as Gawthorpe, and is famous for its superb painted ceilings. The unique collection of Sevres, old Dresden, and Derby porcelain, valued by experts at considerably more than $1,000,000, and which was the glory of the place, has been sold by the present earl to get rid of the heavy incumbrance on his property. Harewood House stands in a great park of several thousand acres. The present Lord Harewood enjoys a reputation as one of the pillars of the English Footy Club and as one of the greatest authorities on all matters connected with the turf.

One of the earl's half-brothers, the Hon. Eric Lascelles, died as a travelling showman some days ago in a great railway accident. His behavior had been such as to compel his relatives to decline to aid any further in his needless itinerant showman, and looked down upon by everybody. The inquest showed that he had been found dead in his giggy cart.

Another half-brother, the Hon. Francis John Lascelles, now happily married, killed his Chinese cook in a fit of temporary insanity, while out ranshing in British Columbia, was tried for murder, and committed to a lunatic asylum, where he was subsequently discharged as cured.

A more distinguished member of the family is Sir Francis Lascelles, who is now German minister plenipotentiary at Berlin. Sir Francis married the daughter of old Sir John Cliffe, Irish physician to Napoleon III, and the Duc de Morny. Sir Francis's daughter is now married to Sir Cecil Spring Rice, long attached to the embassy at Washington, and now British minister at Stockholm.

Two Princes As many people are aware there are two Princes Hermann Hatzfeldts, who both filled the office of secretary of the German embassy at Washington in recent years. One of them, Prince Hermann Hatzfeldt Widenburg, (who bore the title of count when over here) and who is now German minister plenipotentiary in Egypt, is half an American. His father was the late Count Paul Hatzfeldt, who died as a German minister plenipotentiary in London, and his mother Miss Helen Moulton, daughter of Col. Moulton of Albany and New York and granddaughter of old Caspar Metz, the leading professor of dancing in New York in the early portion of the nineteenth century.

This Prince Hermann married last spring the young Baroness Marie Stunnenberg, the daughter of a German crown prince, daughter of the former German ambassador at Madrid, and lady-in-waiting to the queen of the Netherlands in England in the reign of Henry VIII.

Smith, as chaperon, the young ladies left the building about 2 o'clock and enjoyed the walk to the lake. After a fine meal prepared by the scouts the party returned home by moonlight.

At a meeting of the city charter committee on Saturday evening, a report was received from a sub-committee, submitting information which they had obtained. The committee will meet again this evening and the work of drafting the charter will be proceeded with as rapidly as possible.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

ONE of my letter friends has been kind enough to send me a description of some of the remedies he has found successful for insomnia.

Knowing that there are always many sad people to whom, what should be hours of sweet unconsciousness, are hours of tortured tossing, I take pleasure in passing on his suggestions.

If they help but one person to a few hours more sleep, I am sure that every one who has ever suffered the agony of insomnia will think this space well utilized.

"During a time of trouble and restless sleeplessness," he writes, "I discovered the efficiency of some little remedies. I noticed that approaching sleep was at that time most often disturbed by common noises which had hardly entered my consciousness when the mind was in its normal state. When sleep came long after midnight, it was short, because, soon disturbed by the noise of the awakening city, which, combined with the daylight, made it impossible to find the much needed rest."

"The discoverer of these causes suggested to me the following remedies: Put cotton in my ears—as much of it as possible—and blindfold myself. Thus I reduced the disturbing causes to a minimum and the effect was most beneficial and helped the mind a good deal in overcoming the initial restlessness."

"The blindfold should be a good heat conductor (linen or cotton) to prevent accumulation of heat underneath. It should cover the eyes from the eyebrows to the cheek bones, leaving the forehead free.

"I find these little helps also useful if I need a short rest during the day. In the latter case I am producing artificially the silence and darkness of the night, and in my case, with the best results.

"Of course, I do not allow myself to form a habit of the use of these helps in order not to make my rest entirely dependent upon them."

"May I add to these a mention of the remedies which I have heard of elsewhere or personally found effective?"

"If I may have mentioned some of them before, but such is my sympathy for any one suffering with insomnia, that I cannot resist an opportunity to give all possible remedies the widest publicity.

"This is especially true of the use of sleep, which is most beneficially alive and active the brain becomes with each moment of wakefulness. While the mind is in this state you might as well hunt deer in front of the city hall as stalk sleep."

"So if you possibly can, get up and read something that will take the mind off itself and pacify it. Read something fairly absorbing but not too exciting, and especially not a pleasant, often, interesting novel or story."

"Drawing the blood away from the head in some way is a great cure for sleeplessness. Put cold clothes on your head and something hot to your feet. Bathe your face and forehead in alcohol. Eat something, thus drawing the blood from the head to the stomach. Do a few vigorous exercises that will send the blood tingling all over the system.

"Unrecognized indignation often causes sleeplessness. Try drinking a cup of hot water.

"And now one 'don't.' If you are anything like me, don't try counting sheep or repeating poetry. Of course, I can only speak for myself, but my own experience has been that nothing stirs my mind to such angry activity as these 'hothead' devices."

"Here's fervently hoping that you won't care for this talk at all because you have no need of it."

No Alum—No Lime Phosphates

ADVICE BY ST. JOHN HEALTH OFFICER TO PEOPLE FOR WINTER

In his monthly report, Dr. G. G. Melvin, health officer, gives the following advice: With the cold weather so close ahead of us, something about clothing might not be inappropriate. Do not smother the body with heavy and thick garments, especially underwear. Remember that there is only a little difference in the "warmth" or cold-excluding qualities between the same thing, is the impression of the body, when it gets warmer by the heat of the body, is the true protector against cold.

What fully, then, to live in this atmosphere, enclosed in thick woollen garments, and yet to be generally more than July in our house in winter. The logical and sanitary thing then, as far as under clothing is concerned is to dress only a little more carefully for indoor winter life, in order to protect ourselves against drafts which are far more pronounced in this season, and when going out, to defend ourselves against the cold by adding outside garments. Especially should this be done while driving as the body is then inactive, and muscular activity is one of the main producers of animal heat. Because of this those whose work is largely out of doors in winter and which calls for continuous physical exertion, make a mistake when they wear heavy and thick dress next to the skin. Here, again, garments of lighter texture, double if necessary, will give better results than a single weighty one, both as regards comfort and healthfulness. It should also be not forgotten that clean clothing is every means to get well, but there was taken to the City Hospital, and was never expected to walk again. In fact, I was given up and wanted to be taken home from the hospital. I was in a terribly sandy condition and felt that I was going right into consumption, and for six months was just a shadow. A NEW FRENCH EMPIRE
That France will have in northwestern Africa a rich and prosperous dominion is the view expressed by E. Alexander Powell, F. R. G. S., in an article in the Outlook which comes as a revelation to the average reader. It is a remarkable story of territorial expansion, pioneer work, pacific conquest, the opening of great avenues of communication and transportation, and the protection of trade routes into the interior.

There is, according to this writer, one outstanding feature of French policy. She uses fact rather than force, and assiduously cultivates the friendship of native chiefs and peoples, including those outside the borders of her own territory. That territory is of enormous area. We quote: "With the exception of the Negro Republic of Liberia (on whose frontiers, by the way, France is steadily encroaching), the little patches of British and Spanish possessions on the West Coast and the German colonies of Kamerun and Togoland, France has unquestionably brought under her control almost all of that enormous tract of African soil which stretches from the banks of the Congo to the shores of the Mediterranean and from the Atlantic seaboard to the Valley of the Nile."

For forty years, by a policy of peaceful penetration and development, the area under French control has been enlarged. We are amazed to learn that there are now in operation in French Africa 6,000 miles of railway, 25,000 miles of telegraph and 10,000 miles of telephone. Lines of communication traverse the fertile areas and have been pushed into the desert, where caravan routes will eventually give place to the railroad. In the meantime the caravan routes are protected by French Saharan forces. By gifts and favors, and courteous attentions in many ways, the colonial governments win and hold the friendship of desert tribes, and strengthen the hold of France upon the trade of a vast territory. The railway will awaken the desert, in which are found fertile oases of large extent, and gradually the French Sahara will cease to have any terrors for the European. French expeditions have explored and charted it, investigated its commercial possibilities, studied the opportunities for irrigation, tested the soil, explored for minerals, and gathered a vast amount of valuable information.

In considering the France of the future, therefore, account must be taken of her African possessions and their development. Mr. Powell states that he has been repeatedly assured by North African sheikhs that, should France become involved in a European war, her native soldiery would volunteer for continental service almost to a man. Her African soldiery does not now number more than 75,000 men, but the French drill sergeants are not idle, and have limitless reserves to draw from, of men of fine physique and of great courage and endurance. We may conclude this review of Mr. Powell's illuminating article with his closing remarks: "If French Africa becomes in time a rich and prosperous dominion, and I firmly believe that it will, it is to her patient and intrepid pioneers of civilization—desert patrols, railway-builders, well-diggers, commercial investigators—that the thanks of the nation will be due: for they are pointing the way to millions of natives, on whose activities and necessities the commercial development of Africa must eventually depend."

ABOUT THE NAVY
While the country is waiting to learn what the naval policy of the Borden government is to be, Lieutenant, the personal organ of the Postmaster-General, gives definition of the attitude of the Nationalists, saying: "It is true that Mr. Monk has pronounced himself against the principle of the naval wars of the Empire, and so have we. We do not desire that Canada should be thrown into the path of naval armaments, a costly and dangerous policy; we do not desire to create a Canadian navy, Canadian in time of peace and imperial in time of war; we do not desire to be taxed by a Parliament in which we have no deliberative voice, unless the electors, who are the judges and the most interested, shall have been first called upon to express their opinion."

Since the Nationalists are opposed to any navy, or naval contribution, we may perhaps assume that if Mr. Borden calls for a plebiscite at least three members of his cabinet will stamp Quebec denouncing the navy. If they are sincere, they could not do less.

The dullness in the lumber business makes a busy winter for workmen along the wharves all the more to be desired.

There is apparently a more hopeful feeling with regard to the construction of the works at Courtenay Bay. The government, however, is still silent.

Those interested in securing a modern abattoir for St. John, or at least reforming the method of killing animals for this market, will be encouraged by the following news from a Montreal paper: "Dr. Louis Latere, medical health officer, proposes the erection of a municipal abattoir or the killing of all meats sold in the city, in the interests of the public health. After a consultation with Dr. J. J. McArthur, pure food officer, yesterday, it was announced that the ensuring of a good sanitary quality of meat could only be established by the enactment of a clause in the new health by-law, compelling the stamping of all meats to be sold in the city, at the time of killing, by an officer of the health department."

One independent critic says that the Borden tariff commission "should consist of a trained publicist, capable of handling statistics, a manufacturer and a representative of labor." Will Mr. Borden fill this order?

The rapidity with which Montreal is growing is shown by the fact that the value of building permits for ten months this year totalled $15,079,185. This, however, is nearly $2,000,000 less than the figure for the corresponding ten months last year.

The Young Men's Christian Association in Chicago provides in winter a series of free popular lectures on farming, by arrangement with the agricultural department of the University of Illinois. It is found that young people of both sexes are interested, and that the experiment is considered worth the labor it involves.

In 1887 the Ontario legislature passed a bill empowering municipal councils to appoint boards of park commissioners to look after parks and boulevards, when properly petitioned by the ratepayers. These boards could expend up to half a million on the local assessment. In recent years the towns of Galt, Woodstock, Guelph and Owen Sound have adopted this plan with excellent results.

YF RAIN FOLK
(By A. G. Riddoch, Denver, Col.)
There's nae name just like yer ain folk.
This big green earth aroun',
An' there's nae names that mean as much
Or hae as sweet a soun'.

There's nae name just like oor ain folk,
(Use search where'er ye will;
Of coorse they hae a thousand fants
That absence dimna kill;
But we are jist the same coorse's,
Perfection's scarcer fan
Than breaks upon a Heilanman,
Or breaks 'mid scows' o' war.

There's nae name just like oor ain folk,
When washin' breezes an'
In yer heart by grief laid bare
The freest' aicht-shore fa'.
Ye then shut blood will quickly tell,
An' ye will ken for sure
Yer ain folk hae the freenship still
That's jist as warm as pure.

I weary for my ain folk,
Some o' them are at hame,
An' I haer scattered far awa',
In lands I canna name,
An' some o' them a lang time since
Hae crossed the silent sea,
An' when it comes my time ta' gang
They'll maybe welcome me.

IS THINNESS EMBARRASSING?
Undoubtedly It Is to Many a Maiden and Youth—While Even Those Well Along in Years Prefer Well Rounded Figures.
Prescription Increases Weight

A serawny, gangling youth of maiden is almost invariably slighted, overlooked or ridiculed in any social gathering. There is something about a plump or well proportioned figure which attracts not only friendship, but love and adulation as well.

People with a proper amount of flesh are favored in all walks of life, while the thin are unloved, unloved and frequently miserable for life. The difference lies in the power of the digestive functions and the ability to absorb and assimilate the food eaten.

The thin person absorbs and lacks the power to absorb and retain the flesh and fat elements which the gastric juices in the stomach and intestines should extract or separate from all kinds of food and drink.

A recent accidental discovery has proven that tincture cadonem when blended with certain other drugs, will add from one to three pounds of flesh per week during treatment, while the general health and strength also improves wonderfully.

Get in a half pint bottle three ounces of essence of persin and three ounces of syrup of rhubarb; then add one ounce tincture cadonem compound (not cadonem); shake well and take a teaspoonful before and after meals, drinking plenty of water between meals and when retiring.

TO RECALL TRADE COMMISSIONERS?
An Ottawa despatch to the Toronto Mail and Empire says that while there is nothing official about it, there is a prevailing belief that a few of the trade commissioners will be recalled. In that list Messrs Preston, Jackson and Beldor are mentioned.

C. P. R. Steamship Lake Champlain, which is a trap just week a fox, along whose neck was a leather strap. The fox was later identified by Robert McMillan of Houlton as one that had once been kept as a pet by his grandson. The fox escaped from its coop nearly ten years ago.

A FIENDISH MURDER
Old Woman Lured to House, Killed and Body Cut Up—Murderer's Wife Gives Him Up
Rome, Nov. 6.—A ghastly crime is reported from Genoa. A young shoemaker named Romagnoli lured a sexagenarian named Angela Maccio to his house while his wife and sister-in-law were away at work in a suburban factory. There he murdered the woman, cut the corpse into pieces, and proceeded to burn it in the kitchen oven, having first taken scrupulous care to stop up all chimneys through which the odor might escape.

MR. LAWLOR'S HOME IS DESTROYED BY FIRE

The fire residence of Mr. W. V. Lawlor at 229 Prince street, West Side, and a valuable barn formerly a portion of the Jewett estate but recently a part of the property of the School for the Deaf were burned about 3 o'clock yesterday morning. The fire started in the barn but as it had no stove in it, it is feared that was started by intoxicated men. Mr. Keating, the school principal, notified the chief of the fire brigade but little could be done as there was no fire hydrant within reach. The barn was a two-story structure and was insured. Mr. Lawlor's house soon caught fire from the flying sparks and was soon destroyed. The house was valued at $15,000. Besides other insurance the house was insured with the Nova Scotia Fire Insurance Co., for $17,000. The conservatory of H. S. Craftsbank was slightly damaged by the chimney of the house when it fell.

Says There Are Some Things Here That Mother Country Might Learn—Approves Civil Service Reform and Union of Churches—The Boy Scouts

(London Daily Mail) Earl Grey is always the same persuasive and attractive personality, whether at Government House in Ottawa, or in London or Northumberland. After seven years as Governor-General in the Dominion he arrived in London very late on Friday night, and on Saturday afternoon I found him in South street among the impedimenta of a long voyage.

"I have come home almost a stranger," he exclaimed, after a greeting that made one forget the distance between Ottawa and London and the lapse of a whole year. "So many things have happened over here in the last seven years that it will take me some time to get my bearings."

When Earl Grey talks of Canada he talks with compelling conviction. His enthusiasm fires the imagination and you have visions of a mighty nation in the making. "Canada will one day be the dominant factor in the British empire. Nothing can stop her. The resources with which nature has endowed her; the vigor and enterprise of her people; her great railways—everything assures a great future."

"There is one lesson Canada will soon teach us. Here, as elsewhere, the cost of living has increased because the production of primary necessities has not kept pace with the needs and the growth of population. The new government will not be content with extending the area of settlement and cultivation. The indifferent farmer who merely scratches the soil is not unknown in Canada. It has been demonstrated that the province of Ontario could double its crops without adding an acre to its farms. More intensive cultivation will benefit every class. The farmer will profit; the people will pay less for food; and the manufacturer will save on his raw materials and merchandise. "Canada is well equipped for this work. Her agricultural colleges are practical institutions, and experts in every branch of agriculture are ready to give help and advice to the settler wherever he may be. The Canadian system of educating the farmer might be adopted with immense advantage in the United Kingdom."

"Another educational force is working wonders in the remotest parts of the dominions. Every centre of population has its club, and men who have a lesson to teach come home from the United States and elsewhere, sure of an intelligent audience. These influences have not yet made themselves felt, but they are working slowly and surely, and the result will be good."

The Union of Churches "Two other reforms have impressed me," added Earl Grey. "The civil service commission has effected a permanent and beneficial change in the civil service. This will improve administration and avoid needless expense. The other reform in progress is the union of Protestant churches."

"The boy scout movement has taken strong hold in Canada. Parents as well as boys are keen. Not long ago I asked a caddy what scouting taught him. The little fellow squared his shoulders, drew himself up, and said: 'It teaches me to do whatever I can to help everybody. There is more religion in that than in a hundred sermons, as I told a bishop at Montreal. And to illustrate this in operation: Before leaving Canada I presented a medal to a scout who had rescued a man from drowning. Other people saw the man's danger, but a boy scout came along and saved him. If he had been just an ordinary boy and not a boy scout, he, too, would have looked on helplessly. But the scout has been taught that it is his duty to help, and he rushed without hesitation to the rescue. Yes, the boy scout movement is going to do great things for the youth of Canada.'"

There are many other questions affecting Canada and the empire—questions political, industrial, and social—upon which Earl Grey has knowledge and opinions of the highest importance and interest. But he prefers to withhold them for the moment. He has been absent from the United Kingdom for seven years and has to adjust himself to the new conditions and circumstances.

"I will take time," he remarked. "And meanwhile I must go north to look after my own neglected affairs." W. M.

Daily Hints For the Cook

NAVY BAKED BEANS Cover a quart of beans with warm water and soak all night. In the morning drain, cover with boiling water to which a very little salt has been added, and boil until tender. To a basin by blowing on it, and if the skin curls, it is done. Do not boil until the beans burst. Pack them in a deep earthen pudding dish in one gill of molasses, half a teaspoonful of mixed mustard and a dash of pepper. Stir one pound of salt pork, washed almost through, in the middle of the dish, pour in one and one-half cups of hot water, cover closely and bake six hours. Uncover long enough to brown.

OYSTERS A LA BOULETTE Scald two dozens oysters in their own liquor until plump, and strain. Put in the pan two tablespoons of butter, and when melted stir in four teaspoons of flour, until perfectly smooth then add the oyster juice, one cupful of cream, pepper, salt, and a dash of onion. Take from the flame, and when a little cool, stir in the beaten yolks of four eggs or the whole whole eggs, well beaten, return to the fire and stir until thick. Drop the oysters in for a second and pour immediately on a hot platter and serve.

MISTOOK WOMAN'S PLUME FOR SIGNAL TO START THE TRAIN

London, Nov. 6—Modern millinery is responsible for a curious mistake at St. Finsbury Railway station in Kent. A woman wearing a hat with a huge green plume was on the platform bidding goodbye to friends when, without any warning the train started. The train had to be stopped, and it was then ascertained that the engine-driver seeing the green plume bobbing about, took it for the guard's green flag that was clear to start.

LONGSHOREMEN IN FATAL FIGHT

Montreal, Nov. 5—Etienne Gagnon, a longshoreman, is dead and Frederick Frost, another longshoreman is held on a charge of manslaughter as the result of a quarrel in the Canadian Pacific Railroad Atlantic sheds at noon yesterday. The longshoremen were being paid off and Gagnon, arriving late, attempted to take Frost's place in the line. A quarrel started in which Frost was injured, but Gagnon stumbled as he went down with his opponent and struck his head on the floor, killing himself instantly. Frost gave himself up to the police. Gagnon was thirty-six years of age and leaves a wife and child. Frost is thirty years old and has also a wife and a child.

CRIPPLED WITH SORE BACK

Kidneys Were Badly Diseased and She Didn't Know It

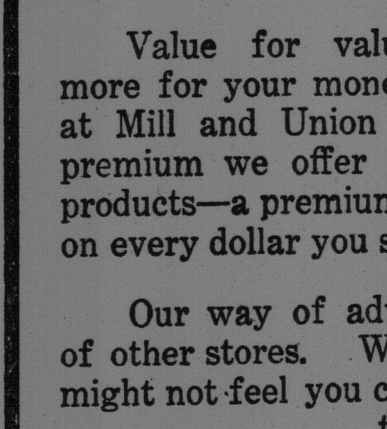

Was Completely Cured by Less Than Three Boxes of DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Women are very often deceived and mistaken in regard to kidney diseases. The pains in the back are attributed to other derangements, and kidney disease is allowed to run on until beyond the reach of medical science. There is no treatment which so quickly relieves and cures kidney pains in the back as Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. As proof of this read Mrs. Patterson's letter: Mrs. Richard Patterson, Haldimand, Gaspe Co., Que., writes: "I will gladly say that I was cured of kidney trouble by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. When I began using this medicine I was crippled with sore back and did not know what was the trouble. In looking over Dr. Chase's Almanac I saw Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills advertised and decided to try them. "I had not used two boxes before my back was all right, and before I had completed the third box was entirely cured. There has been no return of the old kidney trouble, and I therefore believe the cure to be permanent."

One pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers or Edmanston, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

BROADWAY HAS NO RIVAL IN THE WORLD

English Author Sees Drama at Every Turning

GOSSIP OF GOTHAM

Claude Graham-White's Valet Causes a Mix-up—No Great Wedding Display—Canadian Woman Advocates Adoption of Men's Clothing—City vs. Country Life

(Times' Special Correspondence) New York, Nov. 3.—Haddon Chambers, the English author, who has been here for several weeks sight-seeing, thinks that the section of Broadway which passes through what is colloquially known as "the white light district," the most moving, cosmopolitan and wonderful thoroughfare in the world.

Armchair Reflections

BY H. L. SPENCER

The wind whistles about the gables as if to keep up its courage, as the children sometimes do in spite of my opposition. Failing to obtain an entrance in that quarter, it thumps the roof and essays to descend the chimney, but is driven back by the warm breath of the Broad Cove coal that burns redly in the grate. I bow low to the man who first warmed himself by a coal fire, and likewise to the inventor and builder of the open grate. They are more worthy of honor and gratitude than the father of the gramophone or the automobile.

"The wind is still clamoring outside, and will sing at the Y. M. C. Hall, this evening at 8 o'clock." "The hall was packed, and so it was to expect a night of about a week. Mr. Dempster sang the old Scotch songs as we had never heard them sung before, and his accompaniments on the piano were magnificent. He revisited America three or four times in the next ten years, and we became intimate friends. On his last visit he told me that this was his farewell tour, that he had garnered up enough "sillies" in Broadway to pass the rest of his life in a quiet country town. He was going back to "Auld Scotland and his ain folk," and he was going to be a "Yankee" auditor he sang some verses by E. Sargent, then a writer on the Boston Transcript, two which I recall:

"When the night wind bewails
And sweeps from the forest
The leaves that are here,
And list to my slumbers
And list to my slumbers
And it saith to my spirit
"Oh, ne'ermore!"

The flowers of the forest
Will blossom again,
And the song birds will sing
A soul thrilling strain;
But the heart that is wasted
No spring shall restore;
And its songs shall be joyful
No more, ne'ermore!"

Though the words of the song fell distinctly on the ears of the audience, I remember how in the improvised accompaniment the wind whistled in the tree tops about the chimneys and windows, and the rain pattered on roofs and pavements. I heard of the death of the author in Nova Scotia. I wish my old friend, Mr. W. B. Alley then editor of the Colchester News, would kindly tell me where he was buried, and of the memorial, if any, that was placed over his grave.

RECENT DEATHS

Much sympathy will be felt for Mr. and Mrs. G. D. Olive in connection with the death of their daughter Jean D. who passed away at her parents' residence on Saturday, aged five years and nine months.

FROM KING OF SPAIN

Wrinkleless Skin Now Easy to Have

(From Family Physician) There's no excuse for the woman having wrinkles now. A simple mixture of alcohol and glycerine has a remarkable effect on the skin, whether it be wrinkled or otherwise, and it is a fact that it is a remedy for the aged and the young.

Why Actresses Never Grow Old

(Theatrical World) Nothing concerning the profession seems more puzzling to the dilettante public than the perpetual youth of the actresses. How often we hear a smart remark like, "Why, I saw her a little forty years ago and she doesn't look a day older now!"

CANADIAN AFFAIRS

THE OLD COUNTRY

Interesting Facts Concerning Women

Women suffrage is in one sense, the Woman's Column

greatest victory in the history of the movement, since it enfranchises more women than any of the preceding ones, California having a much larger number of women citizens than any one of the other suffrage states. Furthermore, the social conditions in California approximate those of the great body of the country even more nearly than is the case in Washington, and the results from equal suffrage there will be regarded as more conclusive than in the states where women are in a minority and social conditions have a somewhat peculiar character.

British Passenger Agents Discuss Dominion

EMIGRATION MATTERS

Truth Has a Word on Complaints of Ladies Who Came Out to Fruit Farms—Quebec Opens Offices in the Empire Metropolis

(Times' Special Correspondence) London, Oct. 24.—Canada was the theme at the annual dinner of the British Passenger Agents' Association last week. The Hon. J. H. Turner and Major John Howard, Agents-General for British Columbia and Nova Scotia, Mr. Bowden, representing New Brunswick, and Mr. Obed Smith, of the Dominion government, and W. P. Bull, K.C., of Toronto were among the speakers.

Truth Has a Word on Complaints of Ladies Who Came Out to Fruit Farms—Quebec Opens Offices in the Empire Metropolis

(Times' Special Correspondence) London, Oct. 24.—Canada was the theme at the annual dinner of the British Passenger Agents' Association last week. The Hon. J. H. Turner and Major John Howard, Agents-General for British Columbia and Nova Scotia, Mr. Bowden, representing New Brunswick, and Mr. Obed Smith, of the Dominion government, and W. P. Bull, K.C., of Toronto were among the speakers.

The real fathers of federation in a commercial sense, he said, "were the bonds forged by the C. P. that first welded the dominion into intimate relationship from coast to coast."

Recently there have been attacks on Canadian emigration made by several journals. Mr. Crook, M.P., in the course of an address at the Borough Hall, Deptford, regarding incidents associated with his recent tour round the world, said that Canada had nothing to give the tired man. He had to get to the point that it was wrong that 10,000 men should be shipped there at harvest time when work was plentiful, and afterwards left to shift for themselves as best they could, a proceeding that often entailed great suffering and hardship.

The speaker dealt with the natural and unnatural aspects, pointing out that the former should be regulated by reason and the latter should be resisted utterly. The man who cultivated the unnatural appetite for whisky or tobacco weakened his own physical system against the attacks of disease.

Mr. Gaetz expressed pleasure at the resumption of the Every Day Club's Sunday evening meetings, which he felt must be of value not only to the club but to many others.

Mrs. Caroline Jones Hudson, who observed her 103rd birthday anniversary at Templeton, Mass., on Monday, estimates that she has probably more than 200,000 relatives in the United States.

Mrs. Charlotte Perkins Gilman started last week a lecture tour of the entire country. Even when Mrs. Gilman does not speak directly on suffrage, her lectures invariably leave the minds of her hearers in a receptive mood for suffrage propaganda.

In order that she may form a law partnership with her young son, who is a student in the Catholic University Law School, Mrs. T. Andrew has matriculated in the Washington College of Law. She was formerly a teacher and was awarded the law scholarship offered by the Catholic Women's Circle by Mrs. Ellen Spencer Mussey, dean of the College of Law.

C. W. Koons of Guthrie, Ok., general manager of the Eastern lines of the Atlantic, Topoka & Santa Fe system was offered $25,000 for the purchase of a new station. He refused to enter into the trade, but it is understood that word has gone to headquarters recommending a new station.

It is all the more reprehensible because of the claims made for the league that it has been specially formed to prevent such incidents as these.

There is one other point worthy of notice in connection with this affair. After careful inquiry I have satisfied myself that the utmost trouble is taken by the Canadian emigration authorities to prevent emigrants being lured to the dominion by ill-considered promises. But they cannot be expected to know all that is going on in the private agencies unless they are consulted by those to whom the work is made, and I would, therefore, strongly recommend intending emigrants to go straight to headquarters, if they want (Continued on page 4, first column.)

PARIS CRIME AND OUTCOME

Fearful Plot of Two Men Against Father and Brother

SETTLED AT BILLIARDS

Paris, Nov. 6.—Two brothers, Joseph and Camille Rostaing, are in prison in Grenoble for the attempted murder of their father and brother. Both Camille and Joseph have been in prison more than once, and their brother Charles, who is a decent fellow and works hard to keep a roof over his father's head and his own, has been in the place where Gustave Rostaing kept a wine and liquor store, and spent the money in Grenoble. Old Rostaing would not call the police in and have his sons imprisoned, but he went to see the mayor of the village, told him what had happened, and asked him to help him. The brothers were forced to leave home.

One evening, Camille conceived a terrible idea. He and his brother Joseph, both drinking, and the two were playing billiards in a cafe. "I'll tell you what we'll do," said Camille. "I'll play you a game at billiards. The winner shall do for Charles, and the loser shall do for Gustave. And with a grim nod of undertaking the two chatted their cues, and the game for these horrible stakes began. They had been alone in the cafe at its beginning. But both were good players. Several people looked in to watch them play, and before long there were about a dozen people in the room. The two brothers had started their game on an abject apostrophe, and the loser shall do for Gustave, and the winner shall do for Charles. As the points were being counted, the two began to talk of what they meant to do and what the stakes were. Camille made his last cannon, he threw down his cue and shouted to Joseph: "I'd just as soon you killed the old man. Killing Charles is rather a job than otherwise."

A man slipped out of the cafe and ran to warn the gendarmes. There has been three of them. Camille and Joseph took no notice of the noise, but they were ready. Each of the two brothers carried a drawn revolver, set to work to smash every piece of furniture and everything of any value on which they could lay hands.

Terrible Ending

Charles Rostaing was not there when his two brothers came. Their father, though a strong man, was afraid of the firearms and was being held in a chair by an attack of gout. But presently Joseph Rostaing snatched at his mother's picture, which was hanging on the wall, smashed the glass and the frame on his knee, tore the little photograph across, and probably would not believe when their last day envelope comes along, it is usually, "Your services no longer required." If the truth were known, the reason for their unceremonious removal would probably be that their usefulness was destroyed because of some mental worry, bodily ailment or general indisposition. These things, as we all know, are the most fruitful causes of failure in the walks of life. The battle of Waterloo was lost because of a headache. In this struggle our minds must be clear, rapid, active and free from outside influence or worry, or else we go down to failure with the throng of "losers" who go from one place of employment to another, giving no satisfaction to others or to themselves, constantly growing older and less useful, with no ambition, no will power, and no hope.

Every man requires of every other man the best that is in him. But no man can use the best that is in him until he is first free from these mental indispositions and worries. That was my trouble. I was full of troubles. My stomach in the first place was always out of order, and I was worrying about it and my mind grew cloudy and slow. I made mistakes and grew touchy. That was the end. There are thousands like me, going about with "weak lungs," faces, dyspeptic manners, and a dusky atmosphere. No employer wants such a man's services. Take my advice. A healthy stomach is half the battle. It keeps your mind clear, and you are ready. I have a healthy stomach now and hold a good position, and my employer is satisfied and so am I.

I started to take Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets which I was told were good for the worst cases of indigestion and dyspepsia. The first two tablets made a wonderful difference in my condition.

One ingredient of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets digests 3,000 grains of food. The stomach doesn't have to work at all. The Tablets do all the work, no matter how heavy your meal.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets cure heartburn, cructations, burning sensations, flatulency, irritations, loss of appetite, nausea, heartburn, lack of energy, loss of memory and dyspepsia and indigestion in their worst forms.

No other little tablets in the world can do so much. You should carry them around with you wherever you go and take them regularly after meals. Then you will realize what it is to be freed from stomach trouble, and have a clear mind, a quick memory, a happy disposition, comfort and rest. Man's Clothes for Women

The dullness and monotony of the latter are most injurious to mental efficiency. "One of the most important factors of health and longevity is congenial occupation, and one of the great tragedies of our social system is that so many thousands are obliged to be engaged in occupations for which they are not suited, and which they hate. Uncongenial occupation deteriorates the mind, depresses the spirit and weakens the body. But there is a wider field of choice in the city than in the country."

Morning News over the Wires

Through careless handling of a rifle by his brother, the little two-year-old son of Wm. Sanderson, of Lakeville, near Moncton, was shot in the back yesterday. The wound is not very serious.

J. R. McKnight, of Chatham, suffered loss of about $1,000 on Saturday when his automobile caught fire, and was partially destroyed.

Captain James A. Hagen, of the New York fire department was killed at a party given at the Waldorf-Astoria, New York, on Saturday night. He was on a roof with his men when it showed signs of collapsing. He hurried the men down the ladders but was too late to save himself. He was aged thirty-four and leaves his wife and one child.

The body of George Akeley, of East Machias, Me., was found near the carcass of a cow moose which he evidently had shot. He had a bullet wound in his abdomen and apparently had been killed by a stray shot from the rifle of some other hunter.

The tory camp is in a state of war over the navy question. Two prominent conservative papers, the Ottawa Journal and Montreal Star, are at logger-heads over the naval question and each is advocating a different method of procedure. The Star wants a direct contribution of dreadnoughts while the Journal advocates the construction of ships at home and controlled by Canadians.

At the land show in Malison Square Garden, New York, on Saturday afternoon, announcement was made that in the competition for the best wheat in the world, for the prize of $1,000 offered by Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, Canada had won over the United States. In the awards for the best alfalfa and potatoes Canadians were winners as well. S. Wheeler, of Rolapah, Sask., won the $1,000 prize.

Say "Tillson's" when you buy Rolled Oats

DON'T simply ask for "rolled oats." That is only a term indicating the process of rolling oat grains flat. In ordinary rolled oats some of the flakes are thicker than others. They can't cook evenly.

Look at a handful of Tillson's Rolled Oats. Every flake is as thin as it can be rolled without breaking, and all the flakes are the same in size and thinness. That means not only quick cooking, but also even cooking.

Tillson's Rolled Oats make porridge that looks good and tastes good. And they are perfectly digestible after cooking but 15 minutes—no more.

Try a dish of porridge made from Tillson's Rolled Oats tomorrow.

CANADIAN AFFAIRS IN THE OLD COUNTRY

Salvation Army Work

"By the end of this year we will have sent out 10,000 British emigrants to Canada. Next year we hope to send as many more," said Col. Lamb, chief of the Salvation Army Emigration Bureau, who has just returned from Canada.

"I have come back from the dominion this time," he said, "more firmly convinced than ever that it offers a better livelihood to thousands of our people than any other country. Every year in every one of Britain's 15,000 villages, there is at least one family for which there is no room. Our policy is to advise this surplus family to emigrate before it becomes submerged, and to help it to do so. That policy is vindicated by the fact that hardly one per cent of our emigrants have failed to 'make good.' Many of them have done exceptionally well and are on the high road to prosperity. Practically all of them are contented and happy."

"We don't advise the 'down and out,' to go. They won't be any more use in the colonies than at home, but we know that the unskilled man often does well on the land if he has the right stuff in him, and as we believe that Canada's prosperity will continue to be built on her agriculture we encourage our men to go on the land from the start. We don't paint a glowing picture of ease and plenty at once, for we know that the development of virgin land is hard and heart-breaking work and we try to brace our men up for the inevitable hardships and disappointments they will have to face."

"Whenever we can we send out married men with families, for the family keeps the man steady and makes him just the kind of settler Canada wants."

"I was impressed by the prosperity of Canada and the soundness of business conditions in general, but in some places I am sure there has been over speculation in land and some are bound to suffer. I don't think it has been generally enough big enough to be really serious, however. I got over the border a couple of times before the United States and in my judgment conditions there are extremely unsettled."

"We have heard a good deal of this country about the hostile attitude of Canadians toward English immigrants, but I can assure you they are highly exaggerated. There is some bias for them, however, and it all lies in the fact that the Englishman times he kicks unjustifiably, but often he justifies for necessary reforms and better conditions and I sincerely hope he will keep on doing so. Conditions of labor and housing in Canada are on the whole excellent, but there is room for improvement and that is what the Englishman is kicking for."

WHY I LOST MY JOB

Reasons Why Thousands Like Me Cannot Satisfy Their Employers.

I believe my fate is not unlike that of thousands of other workers who daily lose their places for reasons they do not know, and probably would not believe. When their last pay envelope comes along, it is usually, "Your services no longer required." If the truth were known, the reason for their unceremonious removal would probably be that their usefulness was destroyed because of some mental worry, bodily ailment or general indisposition. Baseball

Baker's Post Duplicated. Frank Baker is not the only player who has made two home runs in a single game. His pair, coming under dramatic circumstances, created more furor than any previous home run making in the world's championship series, but the feat has been performed twice before.

Two-base hitting has flourished extensively in the world's series, but there has been a noticeable shortage of three-baggers. No doubt ground rules limiting long hits into outfield crowds to two-baggers have been strictly responsible. There was one year which was a notable exception in the production of three-baggers. That was 1905, when the Bostonians made the surprising number of sixteen and the Pirates athered nine.

Except in that year triples have been frequent. There was not one in 1905 between the Giants and Athletics, two in 1906 between the Sox and Cubs, three in 1907 between the Cubs and Detroit, two in 1908 between the Cubs and Tigers, one in 1909 between the Tigers and Pirates, and two in 1910 between the Athletics and Cubs.

The two-bagger record prior to this year is: 1905—Boston, four; Pirates 7; Athletics seven; Athletics five; 1906—Sox one; Cubs nine; 1907—Cubs six; Tigers one; 1908—Cubs four; Tigers five; 1909—Pirates thirteen; Tigers sixteen; 1910—Athletics nineteen; Cubs eleven. So it will be seen that previous series have furnished much longer hitting than this year's contests.

Home runs prior to this year were made as follows: 1905—Dougherty, two; Sebring, 1905—None; 1906—None; 1907—None; 1908—Tinker, one; 1909—Clarke, two; D. Jones, Crawford, 1910—None.

Ty Cobb, credited with being the greatest natural player of a century, probably will be seen in the uniform of a New York Yankee next season. Cobb's contract with the Detroit team will expire in a year, and President Dan Johnson, of the American league, has figured that with Cobb in the lineup, the Highlanders will be the biggest drawing card of the league.

Following the game the other day, Hugh Jennings of the Tigers, and Johnson of a conference, the subject matter of which is understood to have appertained to the transfer of Cobb from the Detroit to the New York American league team. While neither Jennings nor Johnson could talk about the matter, it is common gossip among baseball men that Johnson figures upon putting the National league out of business in at least four years.

These are Boston, where "Jimmie" Keeler is to manage the team; Cleveland, where Harry Davis probably will manage the White Sox; and New York, where Hal Chase as manager of the Highlanders, and Ty Cobb, as a player, they will draw the crowds. After the recent game in Philadelphia, an Johnson figure McGraw as a "dead end" if he can put in an attraction in New York, and he is going to put Ty Cobb in as that attraction.

Patsy Sheppard May See. Boston friends of Patsy Sheppard, the ill-timed manager of John L. Sullivan, are received from the Carney hospital, who, who strengthens the hope that she is veteran may ultimately regain her eyesight. Sheppard recently underwent an operation for cataracts and the surgeons are planned for another, which is to take place within a few days.

Johnnie Thomson and Sam Langford. Johnnie Thomson, Nov. 4—Cyclone Johnnie Thomson and Sam Langford may meet the ring. STRANGE MEMORIES OF FLORENTINE CASTLE

Continued from page 6.) This recital of "My Own Story" can do credit for himself from royal Saxons. She had them sorted, arranged in piles held by rubber bands, and personally answered each one, on a card, especially designed for her, of Villa Montauto.

She had also a cushion of satin bearing on it the names of thousands upon thousands of Saxons, still loyal to her. On a number 1 was permitted to inspect the found inscriptions overflowing with devotion and German sentimentality. A knowing Saxon explained to me that it was largely a matter of religion, Louis having all the domestic arts of the Fatherland in a castle not noted for munificence. One of her teachers, later a teaching man in Florence, has said she was a very religious girl, one she thought, who might have a vocation, an example perhaps to all the domestic arts of the Fatherland in a castle not noted for munificence.

It was in the winter of 1908 that, with some friends, I was invited to tea at Villa Montauto. Our hostess announced she would call for us at four, but she came at five, punctually apparently, not being with her the royal virtue which, so Mme. de la Roche Brulard indignantly informed me, was the mark of a noble lady.

Receiving no reply, I descended on my own to the kitchen, where I found the cook of no mean order. One of her delights was to send her Florence friends cakes of her own making and baking. She is also well-read in many languages, and up to the minute, usually on all current topics. The fairies, however, forgot to leave one gift and that is dignity in circumstances, she said, do royalties even speak in dark places, it being a precaution against assassins never to reveal identity except in the open.

The Villa Montauto just then, had received the additional decorations of its owner's personal belongings, which, that autumn, had been sent to her from Dresden. We had tea in Hawthorne's quadrangle dining-room in his day "a walled garden damask in favor of the prince's family trees, great colored charts of the Hapsburgs and Bourbons in all their various ramifications.

Monica, that afternoon, looked like a little princess in a fairy tale. She was arrayed in a velvet costume with a charming deep blue collar, and golden hair ornaments and gleaming from recent brushing. She cut across to all the guests with an unobtrusive air of royalty in spite of her unroyal surroundings.

"Mamma," was her chief interest, and her devotion to her like a passion. She received the additional decorations of its owner's personal belongings, which, that autumn, had been sent to her from Dresden. We had tea in Hawthorne's quadrangle dining-room in his day "a walled garden damask in favor of the prince's family trees, great colored charts of the Hapsburgs and Bourbons in all their various ramifications.

James Thorpe, who came here from Oklahoma in 1908 with no knowledge whatever of athletics. Thorpe is a baseball pitcher of great talent and also covers any of the sack or outfield as well. Portland, Nov. 4—The most important development since the members of the Portland Longshoremen's Benevolent Association voted Tuesday night to disaffiliate because officials refused to grant demands for increased wages came Friday, when the announcement was made that plans were formulated for the organization of the Longshoremen's union of Portland.

Opera House Burned

Medford, Mass., Nov. 5—The Medford opera house building was destroyed by fire on Saturday, causing a loss estimated at $30,000. The equipment of the 28th Dragoons was inspected on Saturday by Captain Langford of Halifax and Lieutenant Langford of Fredericton, who expressed themselves as well pleased. After the inspection by officers of the regiment, including Major F. P. Day, Major, the Hon. Thomas Ashburn of Fredericton, Captain Macleod of Fredericton, Paymaster H. M. Hopper and Captain J. Starr of St. John's, a dinner at the Union Club by Colonel H. H. McLean.

It was easy to see the prophesy of Monica's future attitude towards her unconversion photograph and nodded approvingly when her mother wrote "From me, Monica," as a souvenir.

For warmth's sake, we went up to the princess' bedroom, where an open fire was blazing cheerfully. It had for its decorations photographs of pictures and portraits of her children. There was a beautiful, life-size one of "Ermi" I think, on the wall, and their mother takes of them all incessantly. Standing before the portrait she said: "I intend to give up Monica myself later. She must take her position as Princess of Saxony, and I am teaching her to love her father and brother and sisters, and she may yet accustom to the idea of leaving me." Then she told of amusing speeches Monica had made, saying, for example, of Frederick Augustus: "He is not a papa, he's only a king."

Countess Montaigne, in all her exile, has uniformly dwelt upon the goodness of her husband, as she did that afternoon in speaking of Monica. It was just before her second marriage that Countess Montaigne and Monica left Villa Montauto, and the former severed herself entirely from royalty. Little Monica, reports says, is as happy as her mother is not. However that may be, the old Villa Montauto goes on sunning its Donatello tower as indifferently on the hill of Belluardo as if neither geniuses nor princesses had planned masterpieces in its towers.

Washington, Nov. 6—Leaders of national politics are looking ahead with acute interest to the state elections tomorrow because of their possible bearing on the presidential campaign of next year. IN THE POLICE COURT

A Variety of Cases Before Magistrate—Fort Howe Prisoner Remanded—May be Liquor Cases

Six prisoners—but one of them charged with drunkenness—were before Magistrate Ritchie in the police court this morning. Frederick Peck was the one charged with drunkenness and he also had to face the charge of violently resisting the police. He pleaded guilty to both charges and was remanded. He was arrested yesterday and it is likely that at least two people will have to appear in court and answer to the charge of selling liquor unlawfully. May Ferris appeared in court with a nice new aviation hat on. She was charged with being drunk and lurking in a yard off Courtney street. She pleaded not guilty, saying that she was just there talking to a fellow. Her case will be brought up tomorrow morning.

James Canning, charged with indecent exposure on Fort Howe yesterday afternoon, pleaded not guilty. Sgt. Scott, Police-man Totten and Fireman Mat Cavanaugh gave evidence and Canning was remanded to jail in order that he may be examined as to his sanity. All three witnesses swore that his work had been going on for some time and Cavanaugh told of catching Canning at it yesterday. The prisoner is a married man and has a family in the city.

Stanley Brown, reported for pointing a revolver at William Richardson, was allowed to go as the complainant did not wish to press the charge.

William Duffy, reported for breaking glass valued at $3.50 in the store of J. Quinn, in Main street, pleaded not guilty and said the glass was broken by accident. Mr. Quinn said that he did not wish to press the charge if the prisoner would pay the damages. Duffy was remanded.

Joseph Daley, charged with loitering about in King Square last night between 10 and 11 o'clock was remanded.

Leo McLaughlin, reported for removing sand from a west side beach, was told that he was liable to a $25 fine. The minimum penalty, $2, was imposed and he was told not to repeat the offence.

William F. Henderson, aged 34, was arrested between 10 and 11 o'clock this morning by Detective Killen on a warrant.

MONTHLY REPORT OF FREE KINDERGARTENS

The reports of the Free Kindergartens for October show that progressive work is going on. The kindergartens are now full to overflowing and those in charge have greatly regretted having to refuse mothers who have brought their little ones in hopes of their being admitted.

It is pleasing to note that so many of the city children have had their thoughts happily and busily occupied with the preparation of all nature for winter.

The children of the Waterloo street kindergarten were surprised and delighted to find that the windblown leaves had a work to do in protecting seeds and roots from frost.

The characteristics of local trees have been studied by play and story with leaf, bud and nut. The arrival of the birds has been discussed, also the birds that migrate and those that remain here all winter.

A very successful mother's meeting was held in the Brussels street kindergarten on Monday afternoon. Light refreshments were served. These meetings will be held once a month in the evening.

The kindergarteners have been giving much time to calling and becoming acquainted with the homes, that they may know better how to help the little ones under their care.

Gifts of clothes, fruit and refreshments are gratefully acknowledged. It is helpful and encouraging when kindergarteners are visited by friends. There is still a need for clothing as some children are not prepared for change of weather and have had to stay home. Any clothing will be gratefully accepted. Miss Estey of Brussels street kindergarten making a special request.

This lodge has reported a membership of about sixty. Its meetings are well attended and great interest taken in all its activities. The hall has recently been put in first-class condition and presents a very pleasing appearance.

ALDERMEN TO DEAL WITH MATTER OF POWER RATES

Important Questions Before Common Council—Inglewood Company Proposition

A strong possibility of better rates for electrical heat, light and power in St. John is indicated by the business before the common council at the monthly session this afternoon.

The council will hear the report of a special committee on the application of the New Brunswick Hydro-Electric Co., Ltd., for admission to the city and also a letter from the Incorporated City of St. John, announcing their intention of bringing electricity to the city. Other important matters are also on the order of business for the day.

In addition to the usual reports of the boards, there will be a report from the special committee on the lease of Carleton harbor lots to the Union Foundry & Machine Works, on the application of the Hydro-Electric Co. and on a number of houses. The latter was laid on the table at the last general meeting.

The communication from the Inglewood Pulp & Paper Co., Ltd., advises the city that it is the intention of the company to develop their power. Musquash for light heat and power and asking that the city will not give any rights at the present time to any company until the plans of the Inglewood Company are completed, or any rights which it is not prepared to give their company.

The board of trade writes, asking the common council to appoint a committee of three to act with a committee from the board and representatives of shipping interests to go into the question of pilotage matters here and bring in a recommendation.

Communications will also be presented from the school trustees, notifying the council that the term of office of David H. Nae, as trustee, has expired; from Mary H. Knowles, asking for a renewal of lease of lot No. 47, in Leinster street; from The Franklin Baker Co., of Philadelphia, in reply to questions asked by the common council and from Frank Theall, gateman on the ferry service, asking that the city find him some other position.

COW MOOSE AND EVEN CALVES BEING KILLED

Reports From the Woods Tell of a "Wanton Slaughter" of Big Game

Moose are being not merely hunted but slaughtered, according to stories told by guides about French Lake district conditions. He tells of seeing cow moose killed and a single quarter removed. Other guides and hunters have told him of similar finds, and not only are the cow moose being shot but calves are also reported killed. "Wanton slaughter" is the term he applies to the way the big game is being destroyed.

Some of the killing is blamed on Indians, who, it is said, prefer the meat of the cow moose, and will not eat the flesh of the moose when they secure the other. The moose are declared so plentiful that they are travelling the woods in herds and offer great temptations to the man with a gun.

While the Indians are blamed for some of these violations of the game law, serious fault is also found with hunters from the cities, on account of their carelessness with long range rifles. The guide tells of a steel bullet from an army rifle burying itself in a log within a couple of inches of where he was sitting on one occasion recently.

AMALGAMATION OF THE SHIPLABORERS SOCIETIES HERE IS NOT EXPECTED

The annual meeting of the Longshoremen's Association, the first since the organization has been affiliated with the International Longshoremen's Association, annual assembly, its new title of 1911-12, will be held this evening. There will be election of officers and matters arranged for the winterport season. The question of rates will not be considered as the association has some time yet to run on its agreement with the C. P. R. and Dominion line.

Just what shape the talk of amalgamation of the Ship Laborers' Association will take, is not clear, but it is said there is little likelihood of their uniting. An officer of the association said this morning that he did not know what the Ship Laborers' Society proposed to do, intimating that the latter body had made no overtures in the matter.
