BRER CROCKET TO BRER SMITH. (Fredericton Gleaner.)

(Fredericton Gleaner.)

Mr. David Goliath Smith undertakes to lecture The Gleaner, Globe and Telegraph in regard to their attitude toward each other. This is a most sublime piece of cheek upon the part of the editor of the Chatham Advance, and one which The Gleaner is not disposed to allow to pass unnoticed. How did this great moralist David Goliath acquire the right to lecture his contemporaries of the newspaper press? Who made him a judge in Israel? Is it that David Goliath claims to be a descendant of the Emperor Charlemagne, but even that fact if properly established does not justify him in giving himself airs and censuring his neighbors. Besides David requires all his ammunition at home to enable him to get even with Commodore Stewart who watches him from his lofty tower. We regret exceedingly to say anything harsh to the round and rosy David, and therefore we trust that he will not consider himself insulted if we politely request him to mind his own business.

Said a little negro boy to his companion who was writing him about his color, at they were playing on a South End street:
"I'se not black. I'se just a respectable color!"—Beston Journal.

Tninks Colonies Connot Be Represented in the Imperial Parliament.

(Special to the Star.)

TORONTO, July 25.—The Evening Telegram's special cable says that Sir Edmund Barton, of Australia, in a speech at the Angio-Saxon club last evening said it was idle to suppose that the conference of colonial premiers was endeavoring to formulate a scheme for a united empire. The relations of the colonies to the empire were worthy of consideration, and proposals now before the conference might bring them nearer to common action. The pride of the British race was in its freedom of citizenship within its bounds. England had given the colonies autonomous government and they meant to hold it. This is consistent with the sense of empire. There were insurmountable obstacles to having the colonies represented in parliament at Westminster, but the tendency of the empire was toward closer unbn, not by iron bands, but by love, and this union was not bound together by the bonds of the counting room, but by the bonds of the counting room, but by the (Special to the Star.)

PLEAD FOR THE FRIARS.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Rev. J. F. O'Reilly, of Lawrence, Mass, made public today resolutions adopted by the Quadrennial Chapter of the Augustinian Order at Villanova, P. A., Jily 16, and presented to President Rodevelt today at Sagamore Hill. The preamble praises the friars for theirwork as philanthropists, educators and pioneers of civilization. The resolution deplores the seeming disposition of the government to discredit the friari and protests against their general comemation. In closing the priests offer sympathy on account of the "unmeited obloquy heaped upon the friars byfoul slanders emanating from misguded friemis and treacherous foes."

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—The executive council of the American Federation of Labor, in session here, has adopted a resolution supporting any legislation having for its purpose the abolition of child labor.

Another resolution declares the intention of the council to press the enactment of laws abolishing prison labor wherever it comes into competition with free labor. In the matter of the request of the International Association of Machinists, the Brotherhood of Blacksmiths and the Pattern Makers' League, for the revocation of the charter of the Amalgamated Society of Engineers, the council decided to notify the latter body that unless by October 1 it concedes full trade jurisdiction to the organizations named in the matter of trade disputes, such as increase of wages, threatened reductions, or changes of trade conditions or rules, its charter would be revoked.

Mr. Pomlan looked bewildered, but pleaded not guilty. The court granted his request, and excluded from the courtroom all the other witnesses while one was being examined.

COTTON MANUFACTURE.

COTTON MANUFACTURE.

The growth of the cotton manufacturing industry of the South is eloquently presented in the single fact that up to May 30, this year, Southern mills took 1,425,75 bales, or 42 per cent. of the entire quantity taken for consumption to the mills of the United States. In a few years, at the present rate of Southern progress, Southern mills will be consuming yearly more bales than Northern mills. It will then remain for the South to get increased profit from cotton maunfacturing by making the finer qualities of goods. This will come in time. A beginning has been made already.—New Orleans Times. Democrat.

THE RELIGIOUS ISSUE.

The Star purposely misses the Free-man's point. It is that our co-reli-gionists are ignored, are ostracized. We have hitherto said, and we relter-ate, that their position must be im-proved, that they must have due re-presentation. It is ridiculous to sup-pose that in this fair dominion, the day will ever come when according to the Star, "no Catholic will vote for a Protestant and no Protestant for a Catholic." The day may come, and be not far rempte, when if both political parties refuse to recognize the just claims of our co-religionists, they may decide to remain away from the poli altogether, till some party evinces a disposition to deal justly with them. The above is an extract from a long

The above is an extract from a long article in the Freeman, replying to the very next paragraph the Freeman tells now, fifteen years ago, two candidates Dr. Quigley and John Connor, both Roman Catholics, were defeated by the Catholic vote of this constituency, n order that Mr. Ellis and Dr. Berry man might be elected. By whom were Dr. Quigley and Mr. Connor ignored ostracized? By their co-religion ists. Does our contemporary not see ment? Why make a charge of bigotry when the fault (if fault there be) lie earer home? The Star's view is that if the Catholic electors believed Messrs. Ellis and Berryman better representa tives than the other two they did ex ctly right to vote for them, and put aside altogether, as this paper claims religion stands the Star to suggest a general division along religious lines. That is what this paper opposes, but it would surely be a logical sequence of the Freeman's course. Mr. W. K. Rey nolds, in a signed letter to the Freeman Mr. W. K. Rey protests against the course pursued by that journal and observes that "we can never accomplish anything by fly-ing the red flag, shouting bigotry and says Mr. Reynolds, "aim to have a bad names, but by showing purselves as we are and by an intelligent use of the franchise when called upon for our gracefully retire from the controversy and leave the Freeman and Mr. Reynolds to thresh it out. But one thing -it quite fully agrees with both when excluded from a position because of his excluded from a position because of his religion, when he is otherwise well qualified for such position. To establish a grievance, however, it must be shown that there has been and is such exclusion and for such reason, and it need not be pointed out to our astute contemporary that in any such matter a mere general assertion is not evidence.

They did not all arrive at the same time, and therefore no opoprtunity was offered for a general demonstration. The Star suggests that the gentlemen in khaki be got together when the laying of the corner stone of the park memorial pccurs, so that the citizens may review members of their old corps, but as one body. If that be done the boys will have no cause to doubt the state of and their work in South Africa.
The Mail and Empire says:—

The Mail and Empire says:—

If they had done nothing else in South Africa the men who participated in the engagement on Doornbalt's farm, near Kleinhard's River, on the sist of March last, won sufficient glory to give them a lasting fame. No wonder Canada greets them with more than ordinary pride and enthusiasm on their home-coming. The incident was as fine a display of hardy bravery as the war has seen, and it occurred at a time which gave it an important bearing on the outcome of the war. Gen. Delarey had shortly before defeated and captured Lord Methuen. The Boers, who were beginning to recover from the many crushing blows they had received, were becoming more and more daring. The first steps towards the negotiations of peace had been taken, and another Boer success would for the time have thwarted them.

JEFFRIES WON

After the Crowd Had Thought He Would Lose.

He Was Badly Punished But Knock ed Fitz. Out in the Eighth

Round.

RINGSIDE, FAN FRANCISCO, July 25.—After lighting a battle of eight rounds that was fraught with brilliant and courageous work, Robert Fitz-simmons tonight forfeited his last claim upon the heavyweight champlonship. He was knocked to the floor by James J. Jeffries and counted out after he had so badly punished the champion that it was a foregone conclusion among the spectators that the Cornishman must win. Bleeding apparently weakening, and clearly unlor skill, Jeffries delivered two lucky punches as Fitzsimmons paused in his fighting to speak to him, and turn-

Jeffries rushed again and Fits smothered his left for the body. Both of them did a lot of feinting. Jeff finally trying left for the face, but it fell short. He forced his man into the corner, but missed a hard left swing. Then Fits tried for face, landing lightly. Jeffries sent in hard left on the body and Bob countered on the head without damage. Jeff continued to force his man and when the gong sounded he was on the aggressive.
When the champion took his corner his nose was bleeding slightly from one of Fitz's left jabs. He looked confident, however, and sat watching Fitz during the minute's respite.

Jeffrles went after Fitz, trying left for the head and falling short. Fitz jabbed left to neck and Jeff smiled and forced him to the corner. The lanky fellow quickly side-stepped away. Fitz tried right for the head but was quickly and neatly blocked. Fitz broke ground before Jeff's left, but finally tried a left for the head it was light, however, and the champion caught it on the shoulder. They exchanged lefts, Bob putting stiff left on the face. Jeff crouched lower and sent Fitz back against the ropes with a left on the body. Fitz put two left hooks on the face and got out of the way of the champion's left. Jeff went at him with a stiff left on the head. He got a left jab on the nose that brought blood in a stream from Jeff's mose. At the close of the round Jeff was somewhat worried but took matters coolly during the minute's rest. His nose was bleeding freely. Fitz on the other hand, was as cool as a cucumber and was not in the least blowed.

Jeff came up forcing matters. His bloody nose annoyed him a little. He changed his tactics for a moment and stood up straight. Two left leads were blocked by l'itz and a left jab on the face. The champion rushed, swinging left and right. They were blocked, but a left caught Bob hard in the stomach. Bob jabbed left to face twice. Jeff looked worried. The lanky fellow was cool and got out of the way. Jeff's face was covered with blood at the end of the round from his nose and a gash over the right eye. Delaney busied himself over him between rounds.

Round 4.

Jeff looked enraged as he crouched and clemched his lips. He was very careful and stayed clear of Fliz's left jabs. Bob blocked two swings for the head and got out of reach of another. A moment later they came together and exchanged lefts on the face. Fliz put a short right hook on the head and Jeff landed left on the chest. Fliz put a short right hook on the head and started the blood. Jeff got another right on head, but came in with two left hooks, one for the head and another for the body. Fliz was going away, however, and the force was broken. Bob led a stiff left to the body, but got a right on the head. Fliz then took a turn at forcing, putting left of duck away. Fits put a terrific right on the jaw and a moment later a left on face, Jeff cut Fitz's right cheek with a left. They fought rapidly, Fits cutting Jeft's face with his left and putting right on head. Jeff was bleeding freely and was tired. Just before the close of the round Fitz put a right over Jeff's left eye, cutting it and bringing blood. Jeff was not winded but was bleeding from the nose, left eye and right cheek. The only mark on Fitz was a slight abrasion on the right cheek.

THE COAL SITUATION.

What is Said From the Standpoint of the Mine Owners,

What is Said From the Standpoint of the Mine Owners.

At the meeting of presidents of the anthracite coal companies last Tuesday afternoon no arrangements were made to resume the mining of anthracite coal at any fixed date. We can state, says a New York paper, that when active work is begun the movement will be a general one. The prevailing impression in the street that individual mines belonging to the producing and carrying companies will be started is erroneous. This paper says it is authorised to emphatically deny the current reports that the mining companies have sold anthracite since the strike at high prices. Not a ton of coal has been sold at above the schedule figure and no advantage of the public will be taken when the mining is resumed, as the circular will be strictly adhered to. The operators continue to receive notice from their striking employes of a desire to have their names enrolled as willing to return to work as soon as they can do so with safety to themselves and their families. No one who has not lived in the coal regions can appreciate the risk that would be run by men who would return to active work in the mines in small numbers. One anthracite president said on Tuesday that a very short time will probably discourage the strikers if the shipments of bituminous coal are curtailed. Sp far the United Mine Workers organization does not appear to have devised a plan to keep soft coal out of the anthracite regions. Disputes have already arisen among the miners over the distribution of the strike fund, the strikers preferring to receive cash instead of food.

MORNING'S NEWS.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., July 24.—The Rev. Father Roy, one of the curates of the Church of St. Jean Bapliste, Manhattan, was applying the relic of St. Anne to the crowd of afflicted faithful as they took their turns at the altarail at the shrine of St. Anne in the chapel of the little church in Bast Seventy-sixth street, Manhattan, this morning, when he was approached by a man and his wife accompanied by their 7-year-old daughter, a rather small girl for her age.

The mother carried in her hand a steel head brace, with a combination steel and canvas body supporter. While the child knelt the mother told Father Roy that her little girl, whom the priest remembered having applied the relic to the child's body for the past four days, suddenly told her last night that she experienced a peculiar feeling in her back, and that her brace seemed loose and about to fall off. The mother investigated, but found the brace taut, but the child still said it fell loose, and asked her mother to remove it, which the mother promptly did, and to her great joy her little girl walked about the ropm unsupported by the brace. The residence of the late C. F. Clinch Musquash, occupied by Mrs. C. F. nch, was entirely destroyed by fire sterday. The furniture was nearly

He declared that his wife had only taken the child to the shrine the past four days to have the relic applied, and he was positive the relic had effected the cure.

HOULTON HOME WEDDING.

"NOVEL "BODY FINDER." Located it With a Loaf of Bread and

NEW HAVEN, Conn., July 24.—All day long the police and citizens had been searching West River for the body of nine-year-old John Birmingham, who was drowned there Monday afternoon. The river is the western boundary line of this city. Matz Kapperl, of 35 Lafayette street, a fruit pedder, who watched the police, said: "You just wait a bit; I'll find that body for you."

Kapperi returned from his home with an ordinary round loaf of wheat bread and three tallow candles of regulation length. The several hundred people on the liver banks and bridge laughed at the jeddler when he lighted the candles tud stuck them in the top of the loaf and launched the "body finder" down stream.

The current carried the bread and candles right side up all right a few hundred feet, and then the loaf stopped and began to whirl on top of an eddy. It looked like a pinwheel doing business on a flat surface. But there it creled within a radius of 10 pr 15 feet.

Marriage of Kenneth Grant McKay and Miss Lillian Mae Hanson Occurred Wednesday.

HOULTON, July 24.—A quiet and very pretty wedding was celebrated Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock in the parlor of Mrs. Hanson, High street, when her only daughter, Lillian Mae Hanson, was united in marriage to Kenneth Grant McKay, son of Rev. Kemeth McKay, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Houlton. Only the immediate relatives of the bride and groom were present. The marriage service was rendered by the Rev. J. A. Ford, pastor of the First Baptist church, assisted by the Rev. Kenneth McKay. The room was beautifully banked with ferns, daisies and other flowers, in front of which the bride was led by her brother, Stephen H. Hanson, proprietor of The Aroostok Times. She was tastefully gowned in white organdle and carried white pases and maiden hair ferns. She was attended by her niece, little Miss Margaret Hanson, who carried a basket of beautiful white roses. After the celebration of the service, lunch was served, and then Mr. and Mrs. McKay took the C. P. R. train for a tour of Nova Scotia, intending to spend a week or more at St. Andrews on their return.

THE TEACHER'S WOES.

There is a teacher in a school in a town in New Jersey. Among her scholars was one boy, Tommy Russell, who was well nigh incorrigible. One day, patience exhausted, the teacher caught the lad and gave him a shaking that made his teeth rattle. More, so vigorous was her clutch that she tore his shirt. The next morning the lad appeared with a neat bundle, laying it before the teacher on the desk. "What is this, Tommy?" asked the teacher.

"What is this, Tommy?" asked the teacher.
"I dunno, teacher," was the reply.

MODERN TRENCHING METHODS.

MODERN TRENCHING METHODS The digging of the trench along Mill street where the new twelve inch main is to be laid has been carried far t street where the new twelve inch main is to be laid has been carried far enough to allow of the use of the new excavator, which will be put in position today and will greatly expedite the completion of the work. The street there is so narrow and the trench so deep that during the first part of the work the shovelled out earth had to be carted away and brought back later when filling in was necessary. The excavator, which is an ingenious adaption by Engineer Murdoch of a machine used in the American cities, will do away with this. It will carry an endless chain of buckets so arranged that as one is filled with earth from the forward part of the trench it will run back by its own weight and dump the earth farther back where the pipes have been laid and the trench is ready to be filled. Each bucket has a capacity of about a .ton.

Considerable interest is being taken in the St. John-Moncton cricket match, which is being played on the Victoria grounds today. The St. John team was chosen from the following players: Holden, Sweeney, F. Fairweather, Rodgers, Robinson, Whyte, Rev. Owen-Jones, Dr. McCully, Rarle, Clarke and S. Jones.

The Moncton team is a trong one and the being played is most interesting. "We are-and very serious consideration, too. It is, of course, true that Sydney must make us a good offer, for our plant is located in St. John, and such a thing as the transfer of the business to Sydney would be no small

He Got Drunk Again—An fid Acquaintance.

Ciarence Homes, of Parrsboro, N. S., who got drunk for the first time in his life, and who was arrested on Thursday night, seems to have enjoyed his experience, for on being released yesterday he went right out and began to irrigate his aosophagus for the second time. Yesterday morning he was fined two dollars or five days, but this morning the amount was doubled and Homes didn't have the cash. He had been drunk on King street.

"If every person with whom Ned Yorke has taken a drink, or for whom he has paid for booze, were to blow the bead off one glass on his coat he would sleep tonight in an ocean of froth." But last night Ned was not drunk—only sleeping. He was found lying on South wharf, where he often lies, and as his presence there is not desired by the mrchants, he was taken in charge. Since Ned's last appearance in the police court his face has undergone an operation and the reconstructive process has certainly worked an improvement. The pair of dark chinchillas which previously ornamented the low-er part of his face, have been removed. "Then in regard to our supply of scrap. We could bring scrap metal from the old country to Sydney somewhat cheaper than to St. John, and for that portion which is purchased by us in the Maritime Provinces the cost would not be increased, no matter where the iron was delivered.

"In St. John we are now paying an exhorbitant rate for the water used in the mills and I believe that in this item our expenses would be reduced.

"Our business has grown to such an extent that we must purchase new land on which to extend our plant. With the present equipment it is impossible to handle the orders received, even though we keep the mills running night and day.

"This question of transferring to Sydney was first mentioned some little time ago, but nothing definite was heard from that town until recently. They now offer us a free site for the plant, and outside parties are making many different propositions, all of which goes to show that the Sydney people are anxious to have the rolling mills in their town. But, as I said before, they have to make us a pretty good offer before we accept for our plant is already here, it is owned by St. John people, and we are not anxious to make a move unless the increased advantages warrant it. As a citizen of St. John I should feel very sorry if this industry were to be lost to the city, but as one of the Portland Rolling Mill Company I cannot be blind to business interests. Quite a lot of correspondence has been received from Sydney and we expect to hear from the town council again in the very near future."

The Portland Rolling Mills give employment to almost three hundred per-

Will Remove Some Poles.

Will Remove Some Poles.

The workmen who are engaged in excavating on King street for the telephone conduits are making some interesting finds. At one spot just in front of Brock & Paterson's they came across what had evidently been a deep ditch, which was filled in with small trees, laid crosswise, with a covering of clay. This was at a depth of almost four feet. Farther up the street specimens of copper pyrites containing a very high percentage of sulphur were found, and some of the men, believing they had made a find, carefully preserved the samples taken out.

The laying of these conduits will result in the removal of some of the unsightly poles which now encumber Market Square. All the telephone wires now crossing the square will be put underground and the poles, being of no further use, will be removed. The heavy cables which are now carried along Prince William and up Church streets, as well as those on Chipman hill will also be run through the cogaduits, but the poles will in all probability be left standing for the support of light wires.

We note with pleasure that the Portland Rolling Mills, of St. John, have written a letter enquiring, what inducements would the town of Sydney give them if they locate here. We also note with approval that the council appointed a committee to correspond with them.

There is one great inducement that the town can offer to all companies, and that is tax exemption for a period of years.

THE DAIRYING INDUSTRY.

The conditions have been much more favorable for the dairying industry during the past month than earlier in the season. The continued cold weather it the spring and early summer proved injurious to the supply of milk, but it the past five or six weeks the grash has been of stronger quality and the production of milk has materially in creased. On this account the different cheese factories throughout the province are now doing a larger business and quite an amount of cheese is being shipped or is ready for shipment. Up till the first of June the production was scarcely greater than was required for the local market and shippers were unable to secure any quantities.

Tax exemption on the machinery used and buildings erected for the purpose of maunfacturing, with free water, would not mean an extra burden for the town, and it would mean a great benefit to the company. The town would benefit in the amount of taxable property created in the property of the employes, and also from the amount of money brought into the town and spent in it because of the new works.

It would not be a wise move to bonus small concerns. Let Sydney concentrate its bonusing abilities on the shipbuilding industry. Concentrate our
