PROVINCE OF QUEBEC.

SEAT OF GOVERNMENT, QUEBEC.

The Province of Quebec has an area of 190,000 square miles. The soil of a large portion of this immense area is exceedingly fertile and capable of high cultivation. The cereals, grasses, root crops, and many of the fruits of the temperate zone grow in abundance and to perfection. Quebec has vast tracts of forest land, and a very large lumber trade. It is rich in minerals, including gold, silver, copper, iron, plumbago, etc., and has specially immense deposits of phosphate of lime. Its fisheries are of immense extent and among the most valuable in the world. The inhabitants of the British Islands and France will both find themselves at home in the Province of Quebec, the English and French languages being both spoken. This province was originally settled by the French. Among the first English settlers who fixed their homes in Quebec were the United Empire Loyalists, whom the War of Independence in the United States caused to emigrate to Canada. To recompense their allegiance the British Government gave them large tracts of land in the eastern townships, or Quebec.

The great river St. Lawrence, which forms so remarkable a feature in the continent of North America, runs through this province from the head of ocean navigation to the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and gives to the Province of Quebec a commercial position of commanding importance, not only in relation to the Province of Ontario and the Northwest of Canada, but also to a large portion of the adjoining United States. This great river, apart from its commanding commercial importance, is also remarkable for great natural beauty at every point of its course. Its waters are everywhere clear and generally blue, and many of its affluents, some of which are 1,000 miles in length, would be demed great rivers on the continent of Europe.

The population of the Province of Quebec was 1,488,586 by the last census. Agriculture is the chief occupation of the population, but manufactures, fishing in its great waters and commerce occupy the labors of a considerable part of its inhabitants, as do also lumbering, mining and shipbuilding. The extension of railways has been very rapid in the Province of Quebec since Confederation; and these have led to a very large development of wealth. The total length of railways in 1897 was 3,232 miles. Many large manufactories have also been recently established. The principal articles manufactured are cloth, linen, furniture, leather, sawn timber, flax, iron and hardware, paper, chemicals, soap, boots and shoes, cotton and woollen goods, cheese, butter, etc., and all kinds of agricultural implements.

The river St. Lawrence from the earlier period of settlement has afforded the chief means of communication, but the province has other large navigable rivers, among which may be mentioned the Ottawa, which divides it from the Province of Ontario, and also in its turn has affluents of very considerable length. The Richelieu, with its locks, affords communication with the Hudson, in the State of New York. The St. Maurice is navigable for a considerable extent. The Saguenay is one of the most remarkable on the continent, and thousands visit it to view its scenery. There are other rivers of less importance.

Educational matters in the Province of Quebec are under the control of the Superintendent of Public Instruction, assisted by a council consisting of 35 members. The schools are maintained partly by local taxation and partly by Government grants, and are individually controlled by local boards or by the local clergy. Religion is assumed to be the basis of education, and the various Roman Catholic religious bodies and institutions are largely interested in such matters. Out of a total of 10,433 teachers, 3,845 were Roman Catholic clergy, or members of some religious institution. The total number of educational institutions in the province in 1897 was 5,848; number of teachers, 10,433; number of scholars, 307,280. Of the scholars 268,718 were Roman Catholics and 38,562 Protestants. The total expenditure for the year was $1,701,136, of which $304,410 was borne by the Government and $1,396,726 by the people. Number of elementary schools, 5,115; model schools, 524; academies, 165; universities, 4; schools of arts and manufactures, 7; agricultural schools, 5. The average attendance was 200,801, and formed a much larger percentage of the total number of pupils than can be found in any other province.

MONTREAL—Montreal was founded by Jacques Cartier, a rover of the sea, who sailed up the great river St. Lawrence in 1535. The city stands on the site of an Indian town, Hochelaga. Though not the political capital, Montreal is the most important city of the Dominion, whether in size, population or commercial importance. The population is estimated to-day at not less than 300,000. It is in the Province of Quebec, and is situated on an island of its own name, in a broad reach of the St. Lawrence River, at its confluence with the River Ottawa. At this point the water front is fully two miles wide. It is at the head of ocean navigation, for, although 600 miles from the sea, the great seagoing ships can come to the wharves and discharge. It is one of the finest cities on the continent, abounding in handsome edifices and other objects of merit. The streets in the old part of the city are, as they are in all old towns, narrow and inconvenient; but in the modern portion they are broad and handsome, while the noble quay and other external attractions would be admired in any part of the world. It has a fine long promenade, with protecting parapets and railings along the bank of the river. There is a city hall, also a modern court house, and a full complement of churches, halls, libraries, public schools, theatres, etc. The Catholic Cathedral of Notre Dame is a structure of great size and beauty. It is calculated to hold 10,000 people, perhaps more. It has a very fine peal of bells. The Church of St. Peter is another structure of much beauty and great size—monumental edifices that attest the piety and liberality of the religious population, although some of the cost of these and other places of worship may have been chargeable to sources of revenue reserved when the British came into possession of the country by the French evacuation. The crowning glory, from an engineering and architectural point of view, is the great Victoria Jubilee Bridge, across the river, the roadway of which is sixty feet above the river surface; there are 25 arches, making in all a length of roadway 9,184 feet. Montreal is the headquarters of the principal railways of Canada, and the offices and railway depots are structures of great architectural beauty. In addition to the more pretentious buildings enumerated, Montreal possesses an excellent custom house, several good markets, and other municipal and official buildings. It has also various mercantile and business structures in keeping with the times, as well as hospitals, with other charitable institutions. Milling and manufacturing establishments, usual in a great city, have sprung up in all directions. There are also foundries and rolling mills, lead works, cotton mills, sugar refineries, and many other important business establishments.

QUEBEC—This city has the advantage of being one of the most picturesquely posed cities of the continent. It consists of two towns—one on the heights, 350 feet above the river, the other immediately below, on the water level. The city is on the river St. Lawrence, situated on a small promontory jutting out from the land, at the junction of a small river with the greater stream. The chief industry of Quebec is shipbuilding, for which it is in some measure celebrated. The shipbuilding is incident to the timber trade, which is in great force at Quebec. The city has a large number of Catholics in its population, and may be said to be the stronghold of that religious denomination in Canada. The commercial importance of the place is centered in the lower town. It was on the heights of Abraham, in the immediate vicinity of Quebec, that the battle was fought between Wolfe and Montcalm, in which both commanders fell, but which gave Canada and the vast Northwest to the British. The population of Quebec is estimated at about 75,000. There are now four railways entering Quebec, viz.: the C. P. R., G. T. R., Intercolonial and Quebec & Lake, St. John railways. The city borrows interest from the fact of its being an exceedingly strong military position, and being strongly fortified. In time of peace this is of small account, and with the altered principles of war it might turn out to be of little importance should a difficulty occur. Quebec is about 180 miles from Montreal. The upper town has some points of interest in the House of Parliament and its many churches. The chief industries are boot and shoe making, with some other manufacturing establishments.

PROVINCE OF MANITOBA.

SEAT OF GOVERNMENT, WINNIPEG.

The Province of Manitoba is situated in the very centre of the continent, being midway between the Atlantic and Pacific Oceans on the east and west, and the Arctic Ocean and Gulf of Mexico on the north and south. The population in 1898 was estimated at 220,000.

The climate of Manitoba is warm in summer and cold in winter. The summer mean is 65° to 67°, which is very nearly the same as that of the State of New York. But in winter the thermometer sometimes sinks to 30°, 40° and 50° below zero, although those extreme temperatures are very rare. The atmosphere, however, is very bright and dry, and the sensation of cold is not so unpleasant as that of a cold temperature in a humid atmosphere.

Manitoba has already communication by railway with the Atlantic and Pacific seaboards and all parts of the continent. The section of the Canadian Pacific Railway to Port Arthur places the cereals and other produce of Manitoba in connection with Lake Superior, whence it can be cheaply floated down the great water system of the St. Lawrence and lakes to the ocean steamships in the ports of Montreal and Quebec; while the railway system affords connection as well with the markets of the older provinces as with those of the United states. There are also many branch railways which connect all sections of the province. The total length of all lines in 1897 was 1,575 miles.

The following are statistics of the public schools of Manitoba: The increase in the number of schools has been very rapid. In 1871 there were only 16 in the province; in 1881 there were 128, in 1893 there were 874 districts organized and 713 schools, and in 1897 there were 1,018 districts organized and 843 schools in operation, with 1,068 departments. The school age is 5 to 15 years inclusive, and in 1897 the school population in organized districts was 51,178, the number attending school 39,841, and the average attendance 21,500. There is a Normal School for the training of teachers at Winnipeg, at which the attendance in 1897 was 143. The number of teachers employed was 1,197. The total expenditure amounted to $505,417.

WINNIPEG—The commercial metropolis and seat of government of the Province of Manitoba, situated at the confluence of the Assiniboine and Red rivers, 1,800 miles northwest (via Canadian Pacific Ry.) from Montreal. Prior to 1870 it was merely a trading station of the Hudson Bay Company; to-day it is a city of over 40,000 inhabitants, with massive mercantile establishments, grain elevators, churches, colleges, electric street railways, electric lights, telephones, and all the comforts and conveniences of the highest type of civilized life. Among the educational institutions may be noted the University of Manitoba, St. John's College, Manitoba College, St. Boniface College, etc. There are also numerous churches, public schools and other educational establishments, besides the usual complement of clubs and societies which go to make up a prosperous and progressive city. It is situated in the midst of a fertile agricultural district, and the city is also rising as a manufacturing centre. The press is well represented. There are eleven banks and a host of large mercantile houses. Population, 40,000.

THE NORTHWEST TERRITORIES.

SEAT OF GOVERNMENT—REGINA.

Outside of the Province of Manitoba extends the region known as the Northwest Territories of Canada, and much of the general information given respecting the climate, productions, etc., of Manitoba, applies equally here. It is bounded on the south by the 49th parallel, which divides it from the United States. The boundary line then follows west to the base of the Rocky Mountains, which it touches at very nearly the 115th degree of west longitude, and takes a northwest trend until it comes in contact with the Territory of Alaska, and proceeds thence due north to the Arctic Ocean. The Territories are four in number, and have a population of upward of 100,000.

Assiniboia—This district comprises an area of about 95,000 square miles. The valley of the Qu'Appelle is in the district of Assiniboia, being on the second plateau or steppe of the continent, reaching from the Red River to the Rocky Mountains. This valley is a favored part of the Northwest, and settlement in it is proceeding with surprising rapidity.

District of Saskatchewan—This district comprises about 114,000 square miles and has immense resources, the two branches of the great river Saskatchewan passing through a large part of its territory. It has several railway lines to Prince Albert and other settlements.

District of Alberta—This district comprises an area of about 100,000 square miles, bounded on the south by the International boundary; on the east by the District of Assiniboia; on the west by the Province of British Columbia; and on the north by the 18th Correction Line, which is near the 55th parallel of latitude. This district may be said to be pre-eminently the dairy region of America. Its cold, clear streams and rich, luxuriant grasses make it a very paradise for cattle.

District of Athabasca—This district comprises an area of about 122,000 square miles, bounded on the south by the District of Alberta; on the east by the line between the 10th and 11th Ranges of the Dominion Lands Townships, until, in proceeding northward, the line intersects the Athabaska River; then by that river and the Athabaska Lake and Slave River to the intersection of this with the northern boundary of the district, which is to be the 32d Correction Line of the Dominion Lands Township system; and westward by the Province of British Columbia. The district has also vast resources, but from its northern position it is out of the range of immediate settlement.

The educational system of the Northwest Territories is under the control of a Board of Education appointed by the Lieutenant Governor in Council, and composed of five members, two Protestant and two Roman Catholic, and the Lieutenant Governor, who is Chairman.

The number of schools in operation in 1897 was 394; number of teachers, 470; number of scholars, 13,535. The total expenditure was about $275,000.

PROVINCE OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

SEAT OF GOVERNMENT, VICTORIA.

British Columbia (including Vancouver, Queen Charlotte, and other islands along the coast,) is that portion of Canada which looks out on the Pacific Ocean. It is the only British Territory on the western or Pacific Ocean side of the North American continent. The minerals of the province form, at present, its chief resource, and perhaps no event outside of the arena of the battlefield has during the present century so profoundly affected the English-speaking people in so short a space of time as the gold discoveries on the Yukon in 1896. The mining excitements of Australia, California, and Africa were similar in character, but they did not move the world as the Klondike moved it. Anywhere between a quarter and a half a million people from all parts of the world have arrived in search of the precious metal, and this momentous and concerted rush is a fitting commentary on the tremendous energy and directness afforded by modern agencies for the concentration of effort on a given point. The Yukon district comprises an area of 192,000 square miles, 150,000 square miles of which is included in the watershed of the Yukon river.

The production of gold for 1898 is placed at $2,844,563. Coal, silver, iron, copper, galena, platinum, antimony, bismuth, molybdenum, plumbago, mica and other minerals have also been discovered in different parts of the province, copper being very widely distributed. Some 1,135,865 tons of coal was raised in 1897.

The opening of the gold fields has had a most important influence upon railway construction, the total length at the end of 1898 being somewhat over 1,000 miles, with many lines in course of construction.

The climate of British Columbia, in general, is much more temperate than the climate of any part of Canada lying east of the Rocky Mountains. On the west coast of Vancouver Island little arable land is found. The principal settlements are upon the south and east coasts, where the soil is exceedingly fertile, and the climate enjoyable and favorable to agriculture and fruit growing. The rich valley of the Lower Fraser, or New Westminster district, is the largest compact agricultural district in the province. It is on the mainland, opposite the southeastern portion of Vancouver Island. The surface of the lower part of the valley is little above the sea level. The Peace River district, lying east of the Rocky Mountains, is of considerable agricultural value. There is no want of trees anywhere in British Columbia for the use of the settler, the miner, and for local purposes generally. The conifers cover the larger portion of the province.

The whole of the seas, gulfs, bays, rivers and lakes of the province swarm with prodigous numbers of fine fishes. Besides salmon and herrings, there are immense quantities of cod, bass, flounder, skate, sole, halibut, sardines, smelts, and the delicious candle fish, or oolachan. Salmon packing is the chief industry in operation in connection with the fisheries of the province. There are 44 canneries in operation, and their annual output has reached some 601,570 cases, each case containing four dozen one-pound cans. Sturgeon, sometimes exceeding 1,000 pounds in weight, are found at the entrance of rivers, also in their upper courses, and in the larger lakes. The coast abounds with oysters, a very large and excellent crayfish, crabs, mussels, and other shell fish, while the thousand lakes with which the interior is studded possess trout, pike, perch, eels, and a very fine whitefish. Whales, also fishes of the shark species, yielding oil, are numerous. The capture of the valuable fur seal is an important industry.

The estimated population of the province, at the end of 1898, was 150,000.

The educational system of British Columbia is free, and supported entirely by the Government. There is a Superintendent of Education, acting under the Minister of Education, and each school is locally controlled by trustees, elected by the ratepayers of each school district.

ROSSLAND—The third city in British Columbia, situated at the base of Red Mountain, district of Yale, 7 miles west of Trail, and 8 miles north of the International boundary line. It is connected with Trail and other towns on the Columbia river by the Columbian & Western Railway. The site of Rossland was first surveyed in 1894, incorporation was granted in the summer of 1897, and to-day it is a city of 10,000 inhabitants, with water works, electric light and power plants, saw mills, breweries, telephone exchange, a good system of sewerage, and an opera house. Mining operations commenced in this district in 1894, since which time the whole neighborhood has been staked off into claims, which are now numbered by the hundreds, and many of the incorporated companies have their head offices in the new city. Churches and secret societies are all represented. There are also three banks, five newspapers, telegraph, express, post and money order offices—in fact, all the essential conveniences of a modern city.

VANCOUVER—The first city in the Province of British Columbia, is situated on the banks of Burrard Inlet, which latter forms itself into one of the finest harbors on the American continent. It has three distinct bays or inlets, in which may be found at all times vessels from every part of the world. A line of three magnificent steamships, owned and operated by the Canadian Pacific Ry. Co., trades between this port and China and Japan. There is also a line of three steamships trading to the Hawaiian and Fiji Islands, New Zealand and Australia, and several lines running to Northern British Columbian and Alaskan ports in the Klondike. Salmon, lumber, and coal are the principal exports. Gold, silver and copper are also found in the vicinity, and a large smelter and refining plant will shortly be built in the city. The annual output of lumber in this city is 200,000,000 feet. There are 35 salmon canneries on the Fraser river, which in 1897 produced 356,984 cases, valued at 1,600,000. The population of Vancouver in 1876 was 600; in 1890 it was 16,000, and at the present date it is estimated to be 25,000. It is the western terminus of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

VICTORIA—The commercial metropolis and seat of Government of the Province of British Columbia is situated on a peninsula at the southeastern extremity of Vancouver Island, 90 miles from the city of Vancouver, on the mainland. It is considered the most picturesque city on the Pacific coast, and contains many handsome public buildings, churches, private residences, etc. It is the headquarters for the salmon and fur trade, and the terminus of the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway. The exports consist principally of fish, gold, furs and manufactures. Steamers ply regularly between Victoria and the mainland, and other lines run to Portland, San Francisco and other places on the Pacific coast. There is also the Canadian Pacific Railway Company's line to China and Japan and to Australia. Esquimalt harbor, about three miles to the westward of Victoria, is the British naval station, and is connected with the city by railway. Victoria has all the attractions and improvements of a modern city, notwithstanding its somewhat isolated location; electric street railways, water works, electric lights, telephones, fire department, public library, parks, hospitals, educational institutions, etc. Population, 20,000.

PROVINCE OF NOVA SCOTIA.

SEAT OF GOVERNMENT—HALIFAX.

The Province of Nova Scotia is situated between 43 degrees and 47 degrees north latitude and 60 degrees and 67 degrees west longitude. Nova Scotia proper is connected with the Province of New Brunswick by an isthmus about 14 miles wide. Its area is about 300 miles in length by 80 to 100 miles in width. The island of Cape Breton, which is a part of the province, and contains four counties, is separated from the mainland, or peninsula, by a narrow channel called the Strait of Canso. The province contains something over thirteen millions of acres, of which nearly one-fifth part consists of lakes and streams. Five or six million acres of land are fit for tillage; the remainder, which is chiefly a belt on the sea coast, is rocky and barren. The coast is indented with numerous excellent harbors, most of which are easy of access, safe and commodious.

There is no finer scenery to be found in America than in many parts of Nova Scotia. There is a great variety of hill and dale; small, quiet, glassy lakes and pretty land-locked inlets of the sea, which afford charming studies for an artist. The gloriously bright tints of the Autumn forest scenery, warmed by an Indian summer sun, cannot be surpassed anywhere. Each county has, in its scenery, some feature peculiar to itself and distinct from that in the others, thus affording a great attraction to the tourist, and those persons who are in search of a quiet and rural residence, away from the noise and bustle of the city, may have a choice of localities such as for variety can hardly be found in any country of the same extent on this side of the Atlantic.

The climate of Nova Scotia is well suited to European constitutions, and of late years the province has become a favorite Summer resort of tourists from the Old World. It is not generally known outside the province that the temperature is more equable than in any other part of the Dominion, but such is the fact. The extreme cold which is experienced in Winter in other parts of America is not felt here, owing perhaps to the fact that the province is almost completely surrounded by the sea, and that the Gulf Stream sweeps along within a few miles of its southern shore; and, further, that the province is protected from the chilly north winds by an almost continuous belt of mountains, or very high hills, stretching along its northern side. The climate is extremely healthy; there is probably none more so in the world. The health returns from British military stations place this province in the first class. Nova Scotia has fewer medical men in proportion to the population, and requires their services less, than any other part of America.

The fertility of the soil in many of the agricultural districts is unsurpassed, as is evidenced by the fact that, in quantity and quality, the production of the farms, even under a careless system of cultivation, is equal, and in some cases superior, to those of Great Britain.

For all the fruits of the temperate zone the soil and climate of Nova Scotia are eminently favorable. Apple growing has received most attention hitherto, and the crop last year reached some 300,000 barrels, a large part of which was exported. The excellent flavor and the keeping qualities of Nova Scotia apples have won for them a high position in the markets of Europe and the United States, and there is legitimate room for an immense extension of the present area devoted to that fruit. Peaches, plums, and especially very fine local varieties of cherries, strawberries, raspberries, etc., and tomatoes, give enormous yield with little attention.

The fisheries of Nova Scotia have long been celebrated. No country in the world can produce so great a variety of delicious fish, and in such inexhaustible quantity. Good sport is afforded by spearing lobsters at night by torchlight. There is a splendid supply of shellfish, and the rivers and lakes afford salmon, grayling and trout; and there is no lack of the disciples of Izaak Walton, from the youngster of ten years to the grey-headed sportsman of seventy, who may be seen all through the season wending their way, with rod, landing-net and basket, to the favorite haunts of the silvery salmon or speckled trout.

The province is a sort of sportman's paradise, as there is excellent hunting, shooting and fishing in every county. Of wild animals there are bears, foxes, moose, deer

(caribou), otter, mink, sable, musquash, hares, raccoons and squirrels; and of feathered game, woodcock, snipe, plover, partridges, geese, ducks, brant, curlew, etc. The game laws are simple and not oppressive. They are made only to protect game when out of season. This is necessary in order to preserve it from total destruction. There are no private game preserves in the country, consequently there is no necessity for a law for the punishment of poachers. The hunting and shooting grounds are easy of access, as there are good roads to every part of the province.

Nova Scotia contains vast tracts of woodland, which produce timber for shipbuilding and for manufacturing into lumber for exportation. Millions of feet of pine, spruce, hemlock, hardwood, deals, scantling, staves, etc., are annually shipped from the different ports in the province to the West Indies, United States, Europe, etc.

The mineral resources of Nova Scotia are very valuable, and it is one of the few countries which have workable deposits of coal, iron and gold side by side. In Cape Breton, Pictou, Inverness and Cumberland counties are extensive deposits of bituminous coal, which are worked by several companies. The coal trade is steadily growing, and 2,320,916 tons were raised in 1898. The iron ore deposits of the province, although very extensive, are worked only at Londonderry, in the county of Colchester, and in Pictou county, where iron of excellent quality is made. The gold fields of Nova Scotia, although extensive and valuable, have hitherto been worked only on a small scale, but more attention is being devoted to them, and their development will form an important industry. Large deposits of gypsum abound, and about 100,000 tons are annually extracted. Among other minerals that are worked to some extent may be mentioned manganese, antimony, pyrites, grindstones, &c., deposits of copper, lead, graphite, etc., are also known. The quarries of Nova Scotia furnish excellent granites, syenite, serpentine marble, freestone, etc. The total value of the mineral production of the province for the year 1898 may be estimated at about six million dollars.

Although Nova Scotia is perhaps better adapted for a manufacturing country than any other part of America, owing to an unlimited command of water power and its inexhaustible supply of coal and iron, there are few manufactures in comparison with what, considering the facilities, there might be.

Nova Scotia owns more shipping in proportion to the population than any other country, and her vessels do a large proportion of the carrying trade of the world. They may be found in every port of the habitable globe, loading and discharging cargoes. The exports consist of fish, coal and other mineral substances, lumber and general produce; and the imports of West India produce, British and American manufactures, tea, etc., from China and the East Indies, and hemp from Russia.

There are now over 600 miles of railroad in operation. Nearly all parts of the province are in direct communication by rail with the metropolis, and also with the other provinces of the Dominion, and with the United States. The province is connected with Europe by lines of excellent steamships. There is also a line of steamers to Newfoundland, two to Boston, one to New York and one to Baltimore.

The population of the province is about 600,000, consisting of English, Scotch, Irish, German, French and native-born inhabitants, a few thousand colored people, and about two thousand Indians. The latter supply the market with baskets and other small articles of woodenware, by the sale of which and by hunting they earn a livelihood and supply their wants. They live in tents or wigwams in the forest, on land of their own, granted to them by the Government.

The Council of Public Instruction in Nova Scotia consists of the members of the Executive Council. There is also a Superintendent of Education. The local management of the public schools is in the hands of trustees chosen by the rate payers of the sections. Attendance at the public schools of children between the ages of 7 and 12 is by law compulsory.

HALIFAX—This city is the capital and seat of Government of the Province of Nova Scotia. It is situated on the west side of Chebucto bay, now called Halifax harbor. The city is three miles in length and averages about a mile in width. It is laid out in squares, the streets, which number 133, running at right angles. The population is estimated at 40,000. There are 28 churches and a large number of schoolhouses, some of which are elegant brick structures. The city is the seat of Dalhousie College, a prosperous institution. The Parliament buildings and the Post Office and Custom House are very fine structures, and the new city hall, completed in 1888, is also an imposing edifice, and ranks among the finest buildings in the Dominion. The scenery around Halifax is charming. The Northwest Arm, a narrow arm of the sea, about two miles west of the city, is very pretty. It is about three miles long, and a number of pretty villas along its shores add considerably to the natural beauty of the locality. The Darmouth Lakes, Bedford Basin and the Eastern Passage also present some beautiful landscapes. Halifax is the headquarters of the British Army in North America, and is the only city in the Dominion occupied by Imperial troops. Halifax harbor is one of the finest in the world, is well sheltered, and capacious enough to afford anchorage for the navies of all Europe. A new Government dry dock, the largest in America, was completed in 1888. Among the manufactories the principal ones are a rope works, cotton mill, sugar refinery, several iron foundries, machine works, etc., etc. The city is the terminal point of four railways, viz.: The Canadian Pacific, the Grand Trunk, the Windsor & Annapolis, and the Intercolonial.

PROVINCE OF NEW BRUNSWICK.

SEAT OF GOVERNMENT, FREDERICTON.

New Brunswick has an area of 27,177 square miles, and is situated between the provinces of Quebec and Nova Scotia.

It possessed, until the Intercolonial Railway was constructed, no direct rail communication with the western portion of the Dominion that was of any commercial significance. To this fact may be largely attributed the tardy recognition of its valuable resources, notwithstanding its unique advantages in climate, soil, and position. The completion of the New Brunswick Railway system throughout the interior of the province is doing much to help forward the development and settlement of the country. The direct line of the Canadian Pacific Railway running from St. John to Montreal through the State of Maine, is a leading factor in the carrying trade of the province. Grain elevators have been built at St. John, and with good wharves this city is capturing a large share of the winter trade of Canada. Its harbor has never been known to be closed with ice.

If the climate of a country is to be judged by its effects on animal life, then the climate of New Brunswick may be pronounced one of the best in the world. Nowhere do men and women grow to finer proportions than in New Brunswick; nowhere does the human frame attain to greater perfection and vigor, or is human life extended to a longer term. This is proved conclusively by the statistics of mortality and by the records of the British Army, which show that the death rate is lower in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia than in almost any other country garrisoned by British soldiers.

New Brunswick produces every kind of grain and root crop. The pastures are fine, and the abundant crops of roots afford the means of preparing beef and mutton of good quality for the provincial or English markets. The fruits are apples, pears, plums, cherries, gooseberries, strawberries, raspberries, blueberries, and blackberries. Wild grapes grow all over the islands of the St. John River, and butternuts and hazelnuts are abundant in a wild state.

A great deal of attention has been paid of late years both by the Government and by private breeders to the improvement of the live stock of the province; and recently the Government established a stock farm, which, in connection with the efforts of private enterprise, is likely to be productive of much benefit

Next to agriculture, the industry which, in New Brunswick, employs the largest number of men and yields the largest returns, is the lumber trade. The whole of the province was originally covered with magnificent forests, and these forests are still a great source of wealth, their products forming by far the largest item in the exports of the province.

New Brunswick, owing to its cheap coal and proximity to the markets of the world, has many advantages as a manufacturing country. It is now the seat of a number of extensive manufcturing industries, which are constantly being added to as the field for their products becomes wider. There are five large cotton mills in the province, which give employment to about thirteen hundred persons, and three large woolen mills, besides a number of smaller cotton and woolen mills and other manufactories.

The fisheries of New Brunswick are very valuable, and employ a large number of men. The total money invested in the fisheries of this province is $1,878,459. The fishery products are valued at $4,799,433, and stand next in value to those of Nova Scotia in the Dominion fishery statistics. All the waters which wash the shores of the province abound with fish, and the great rivers are the natural home of the salmon and trout.

There are indications of mineral wealth throughout the province, and a number of mines have been successfully worked.

There is plenty of sport in this province. The moose or elk, cariboo, red deer, bear, otter, fox, beaver, mink, musk rat, sable, fisher, ermine, racoon, lynx, porcupine and hare are all more or less abundant; also game birds, such as wild geese, brant, ducks, partridge, grouse, curlew, plover, snipe, woodcock, and pigeon. The Indians (consisting of the Micmac and the Milicete tribes—the former inhabiting the coast and the latter the interior) are very inoffensive, and make useful guides in hunting and fishing expeditions.

ST. JOHN—The commercial metropolis of New Brunswick, and Winter port of Canada, is situated at the mouth of the St. John river, county of St. John. It contains churches of all denominations, five banks, eight newspapers, five of which are published daily, and many handsome public and private buildings. Quite a number of manufactories are located here, shipbuilding being one of the leading industries. St. John has been visited by several destructive fires, that of 1877 devastating property valued at over $27,000,000. But no traces of the fiery element remain, and the St. John of to-day, with its many grand buildings and excellent harbor, ranks among the finest cities in the Dominion. It is the terminus of the Intercolonial, the Canadian Pacific, and the Shore Line railways. Distance from Halifax, N. S., 275 miles, from Quebec 575 miles, from Montreal 465 miles. Population about 45,000.

PROVINCE OF PRINCE EDWARD ISLAND.

Prince Edward Island, the smallest of the provinces of the Dominion of Canada, is situated in the southern part of the Gulf of St. Lawrence, and is separated from Nova Scotia and New Brunswick by the Strait of Northumberland, which varies from nine to thirty miles in width. In shape it takes the form of an irregular crescent, concave toward the north, measuring in length 150 miles, and being deeply indented at many points by large bays and inlets; varies in width from four to thirty miles. It contains an area of 2,133 square miles, equal to 1,365,400 acres, and its population is estimated at 115,000.

Communication with the mainland is maintained, during the period of ordinary navigation, by a line of steamers connecting daily with ports in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and thus with the various railway systems of Canada and the United States. The island has also 210 miles of railway in operation.

The climate is remarkably healthy. The cold is certainly severe, and lasts for a long period, but the atmosphere is dry and salubrious, and the Summer is of such brightness and beauty as amply to compensate for the Winter. Prince Edward Island is noted for the fertility of its soil, and it may confidently be asserted that, with the exception of a few bogs and swamps composed of a soft, spongy turf, or a deep layer of wet black mold, the whole island consists of a highly valuable cultivable land. It is, without doubt, the best fishing station in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, but the habits and feelings of the inhabitants are so decidedly agricultural that the fisheries have not received from them the attention which they deserve.

Educational matters are under the control of a Board of Education appointed by the Government, and of a Chief Superintendent, and are supported partly by Government grants and partly by district assessments. The number of schools in 1897 was 467; number of teachers, 579; number of scholars, 21,845; percentage of attendance, 59.41. Expenditure by Government, $128,662.53; by districts, $32,781.01; total, $161,443.54.

COLONY OF NEWFOUNDLAND.

SEAT OF GOVERNMENT, ST. JOHN'S.

Newfoundland is the oldest of the colonial possessions of Great Britain, and forms the key to her dependencies in North America. It is a large island, 317 miles long by 316 broad, and contains an area of about 42,000 square miles between the parallels of 46° 36' and 51° 39' north latitude and the meridians of 52° 37' and 59° 25' west longitude. It is bounded on the east and south by the Atlantic Ocean, on the west and north by the Gulf of St. Lawrence and the Strait of Belleisle separating it on the north from the coast of Labrador. The country abounds in lakes and ponds, whence issue numerous rivers; the main streams are the Humber, Exploits, and Gander rivers. The Atlantic cables terminate at Heart's Content, a small cove in Trinity Bay. The chief lakes are Deer Pond, Grand Pond, and Red Indian Pond. Among the minerals found are silver, copper, lead, iron, plumbago, manganese, gypsum, limestone, coal, marble, etc. There are the deer, wolf, bear, beaver, marten, and wildcat among the wild animals. The coasts abound in whales, seals, and porpoises, and its Grand Banks swarm with cod and many other kinds of fish. Dense fogs, caused by the meeting of the cold ice-current from the north with the warm Gulf Stream from the south settle on the Banks between the months of May and the beginning of June. The government of the colony is vested in a Governor and Executive Council of 6 members, a Legislative Council of 13 members, and a Legislative Assembly of 33 representatives. Newfoundland has not yet joined the Dominion, and is treated as a separate colony. The inhabitants are engaged chiefly in the fisheries or agriculture, but shipbuilding is also carried on to a considerable extent. The total value of imports is about $6,000,000, and of exports $6,750,000. The chief exports are dried cod, cod-oil, seals, sealskins, etc. The population according to the last census, including Labrador, was 202,040.

Newfoundland must now be considered one of the best countries for sport. A railroad runs across the country from east to west tapping the principal settlements in Conception, Placentia, and Notre Dame Bays, terminating at Port au Basque, on the S. W. coast, and there connecting with the railways of Canada. The large rivers teem with salmon and trout, especially Exploits, Gander, the Humber, and Victoiver rivers. Nearly every stream, lake, and pond is stocked with trout, chiefly of specially fine flavor. The facilities offered by the railroad has afforded access to lakes and ponds never before fished in. Here the sportsman always meets a surfeit. Wild geese and ducks are numerous in the arms of the magnificent bays around the coast. Ptarmigan are very abundant—a very gamey flavored bird; spruce partridge, the rock, and the willow grouse. Plover and snipe come in season, the latter being eager sportsmen's best practice. The caribou, or reindeer, however, distances all other sport. Immense herds of these splendid animals are frequently seen by sportsmen and by settlers, who hunt for a supply of meat during Winter. Capable guides may be engaged at all times, who are well acquainted with the haunts of the deer. A matter worthy of attention is that there are no snakes in the colony.

Mining has boomed surprisingly in the colony, particularly during the past and present year. Over a million dollars' worth of ore is annually exported, but the industry is yet in its infancy. The island teems with rich mineral deposits, including copper, lead, coal, iron pyrites, and other varieties, asbestos, silver, manganese, marbles, (black, white, and variegated;) limestone in abundance, barytes, gypsum, shell marl, kaolin clay, brick clays, roofing slates, granites, syenites, serpentines, sandstones, whetstones, petroleum, and many others. Capital only is wanted to render Newfoundland the chief exporting country of minerals in the world. It does not matter where you go, information as to existing minerals may be gathered from the untutored residents.

The educational system is denominational, and there are ample facilities for the education of youth. There are now 600 schools under the different educational school boards, with an average attendance of 26,452, and employing 629 teachers, as follows:

Denomination.	No. of Schools.	No. of Teachers.	Attendance.
Church of England	213	230	9,509
Methodist	168	180	7,913
Roman Catholic (including 19 Convent Schools)	213	210	8,775
Congregational	3	3	55
Presbyterian	3	6	200
Total	600	629	26,452

In addition to the above there are several colleges, academies, grammar, and training schools; also several private schools. The total grant from the government for educational purposes is about $120,000 annually.

HORSE

We make Horse Nails exclusively, and are the original and largest manufacturers of this article in Canada; our business was established in 1865.

Our "C" brand Horse Nails are manufactured from the best quality Swedish Charcoal Steel Nail Rods; these are "hot forged" and finished by machinery used by us alone in Canada.

Every box of Nails is carefully inspected and sorted by hand, and guaranteed perfect and ready for immediate use. They will wear and hold the shoe on longest, and are the most economical to use.

Our registered trade mark (the letter "C") and our name in full are on each box of our make; none otherwise are genuine.

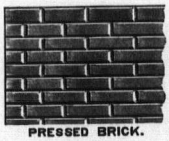
PLAIN AND FANCY CEILINGS.



METAL GOODS FOR OLD AND NEW BUILDINGS.

ROOFING. SIDING. CEILINGS.

Our Safe Lock Metal Shingles are so constructed that they interlock each other on all four sides, absolutely preventing leaky roofs. They are made in one piece, having no cleats or rivets to get loose. Will send model sample upon application. We also make various styles of standing seam and flat roofing.

Metal Siding in large and small sheets, many styles and patterns to select from. Old buildings easily made new at small expense. Warmer in winter, cooler in summer. Dry and wind proof, practically fire and lightning proof.

Ornamental Metal Ceilings. In every way superior to plaster; always look neat, easily cleaned, everlasting, at small cost. We have latest designs to select from. Our ceilings are easily applied and are so constructed that joins are practically invisible. Can be put on right over plaster.

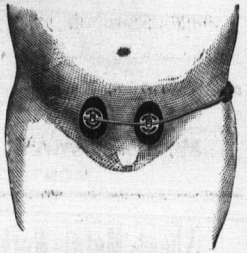
Truss Manufacturers.

THE LINDMAN TRUSS,



SURE TO HOLD AND COMFORTABLE TO WEAR.

HIGHLY ENDORSED BY PROMINENT PHYSICIANS.

This Truss is designed to effectually control all classes of reducible Hernia, and at the same time, on account of its easy adjustment, be comfortable to wear.

Each Truss can be adjusted to various forms of Hernia, and is convertable from a right to a left, single to double, or vice versa, and can be used for umbilical Hernia or Abdominal Support. It can also be used in combination for any two or more Hernias.

One of its strongest recommendations is the regulation of the pressure upon the Hernia by means of the patent joint in the LINDMAN Truss; the pressure can be regulated at will by the wearer to any degree desirable, either for comfort when at rest, or for safety when undergoing straining exercises.

B. LINDMAN, Esq., Toronto.

Dear Sir—Yours of the 24th to hand, and I take great pleasure to say that the Truss I got from you Oct. 22d, 1895, I wore for three months, and it has entirely cured me. I took it off on 17th January and have not had to put it on since. I must say it is the best Truss ever invented, and you can refer anyone to me with pleasure. Yours truly, (Signed) J. M. APPLIED BY THE USE OF

THE LALONDE AUTOMATIC COMBINATION CUSHION SYRINGE

CURE IS BETTER THAN SICKNESS.
PREVENTION IS BETTER THAN CURE.

Takes away the cause of sickness by washing clean the Colon or large intestine. The injection is given by sitting on a warm cushion filled with water, the weight of the body forcing the water into the passage. This syringe can be used also as a hot water bag.

Good for men, women and children, for rectal, nasal and vaginal use.
