LOCAL MATTERS.

The first genuine sleighing of the season is here...

The thermometer was down to 14° below zero yesterday morning.

Assessment.—Denis A. Bourgeois, Fox Creek, Montreal, has assigned to R. Barry Smith, collector.

Special services were held every evening last week at the Methodist Church. They are being continued this week.

Parade.—A Mount Allison professor, taking a short day to Oxford, last Sunday fell into a well. He profanely taking his life and was together, to waiting a week between.

The residents of Woodville, Quebec, are advocating the opening of a new highway to start in the ridge back of the penitentiary hill and strike the Woodville road.

Mr. Allison.—A collection is being held in the interests of the Educational Institution in being carried on with great vigor in this parish. Some $4,000 is said to have been subscribed this week. There is one handsome donation of $1,000 and four of $500 each.

Conductors Strenuous and Crawford have taken the position on the I. C. R., lately held by Conductor Hilson and Sears. Ex-conductor Hilson has entered upon his duties as car driver, and yesterday proceeded north. Ex-conductor Sears assumed control of the Phoenix Hotel, in Montreal.

Risk.—The Transmar Risk is doing a rushing business. Mr. Beckwith has put in a number of extra lamps, the gas is good, and the attendance large. Among the skaters this year are a number of prominent citizens, who have not skated for years. We understand that a doctor will be in attendance for the first few days—to mend broken heads.

PERSONALS.—Rev. Mr. Good left here yesterday to take charge of a church at Annapolis, to which he has received a call. Mr. Good has made many friends during his residence here, who will regret his departure.—Hon. Senator Botsford is reported ill at Richmond Va., as Dr. Wilson, of Dorchester, who has enjoyed robust health for many years, has been seriously indisposed of late.

SUICIDE AT MAJOR.—A reliable report reaches us from Montreal, Cumberland Co., to the effect that Mrs. Welsh of that place committed suicide on Tuesday morning by hanging herself. She took two skeins of yarn, fastened them to the door knob, passed them over the door, climbed on a chair, put her head through the skin and jumped off the chair. She was dead when found. It is said that she has been partially insane for some time and had once before attempted to take her own life.

CHANGING OF NAME.—On Wednesday evening, the 11th inst., the people the residents of Harper's Brook met to take measures for changing the name of the place and for securing a post office. Samuel Estabrook was called to the chair and Allen E. Wall was chosen Secretary. It was unanimously decided that Hartford should be the future name of the place, that Arthur Chase draw up a memorial to the Dominion Government asking for a Post Office, and that a report of the meeting be forwarded to the Westmorland papers for publication.

CUSTOMS RETURN.—The following is the Custom's return for the port of Parbro, from January 1st, to December 31st, 1881: Value Foreign Imports, $81,066.00 Duty Collected, $7,789.20 No. vessels reporting inward, 148 No. outward, 232 Sick Mariners' Dues collected, $236.25 The following is a return of shipping for year ending Dec. 31st, 1881: Tonnage existing Dec. 31st, 1881, 18,488 Add new vessels, viz: 15 schooners, 1,640 5 briggs, 2,102 18,588 Deduct: 4 schooners lost, 507 1 transferred, 114 1 sold to foreigner, 124 3 briggs, 222 1,099 Total existing Dec. 31st, 1881, 17,489 Add 1 ship transferred to England, not registered here, 1,400 18,889

On Thirty Days' Trial. We will send Dr. Dye's Celebrated Electro-Vitalic Belt and other Electric Appliances on trial for thirty days to young men and older persons who are afflicted with Nervous Debility, Lost Vitality, etc., guaranteeing speedy relief and complete restoration of vigor and manhood. Also for Rheumatism, Neuritis, Paralysis, Liver and Kidney difficulties, and many other diseases. Illustrations sent free. Address: Voltaic Belt Co., Marshall, Mich.

LOCAL MATTERS.

(From our own correspondents.)

BOOBYPORT ITEMS.—The farmers are busy hauling mud to their upland.

The Baptists have no minister at present.—Rev. Mr. Thomas officiates in the Methodist Church very acceptably.

The school, "Vesta," "Edmond," "Adelaide," "Blue Wave," "Mary O.," and "Minnie E.," are laid up here for the winter.

On Christmas Eve a festival was held in the Methodist Church for the Sunday School children. There were refreshments and music given; Miss Collins presided at the organ.

On Sunday last Rev. Mr. Mossy baptized fourteen persons by immersion at Lorne's farm, where he has lately been holding special services.

The cold weather and the little snow that has fallen lately were welcomed by the lumbermen. The lumbering interests have been considerably affected by the lack of snow cover. Messrs. Wright & Co., however, whose mill was destroyed by fire a short time ago, have since erected another, and are vigorously pushing on their operations.

On Monday evening about thirty-five of the members of Victoria Division visited the Crystal Steam Division of Salisbury. It will be remembered that Victoria Division was organized only about two months ago; but its members give glowing accounts of the success which has attended it. The people at Victoria Mills seem to be really in earnest in the cause. A mass meeting of the friends of temperance will be held at that place on Wednesday evening, 25th inst., to further promote the work.

AMHERST ITEMS.—A good deal of sickness prevails in the place.

J. Albert Black, Esq., Editor of the Gazette is seriously ill.

Mr. Buckley ships this week 1600 carloads of mutton and 30 of beef to England.

The "Amateur Club" by special request intend to give a performance of "Patience" in St. John on Thursday and Friday evening of next week.

The Waterson Company had three of their mills at Amherst last week. One was for Messrs. Doyle & Smith, Amherst Head, a second for Joe McDaniel, Avondale, Fricton, and the third a 10 horse power saw—its for sale.

The proprietor of the "Hamilton Hotel" discovered last week what he thinks was an attempt to fire the buildings. An old salt bag was found in the washroom, partly buried, and the floor in the neighborhood with sulphuric, but the salt adhering to the bag had no doubt prevented it from accomplishing its work. An empty bottle was found near it, and contained turpentine.

The "redecor" recently placed in Christ Church is of white stone. It has three panels: the central has a cross, on the right a lamb and on the left a pelican feeding her young. The whole is surmounted with five crosses, and underneath are the words "Sanctus," "Sanctus," "Sanctus." It, together with a handsome hanging brass in the chancel containing six wax candles, and brass branches for the altar with wax tapers, were solemnly dedicated to "God's House" on Saturday evening by special service.

ALBERT ITEMS.—The Crozier property, sold last Thursday, was bid in for $800.

Mr. J. W. Smith has moved his business to Hillside and the stores number one less in this locality.

Mr. Ois Cannon had his sleigh broken last Monday by the shoe catching the rail near the station.

Mr. Chas. Kiver sold his big sleigh to Mr. Eison at Westmorland. They were not a year old, yet they girthed about 51 feet each.

The choir of the Methodist church are practicing for an entertainment they propose giving in Oulton Hall, St. Valentine's night.

Rev. W. B. Blake, the Irish Evangelist, is billed to lecture in Oulton Hall, Albert, Thursday night, 19th inst., also, at Demoselle Creek next Tuesday night.

Mr. George Smith, School Inspector, seemed highly pleased with the progress made by the scholars under Mr. Hommel's charge; he examined the school last Friday.

A trial comes off in "Squire Pipes" court Thursday. Mr. E. S. Stiles proposes collecting $50 from Master Egbers Wood for use of horse two days and two nights. Counsel have been retained by both parties.

The school meeting held in the B. Hall Thursday, passed off very quietly. Mr. C. A. McLean, the outgoing trustee, was re-elected. Mr. Murray was re-elected Auditor. The sum of $250 was voted for current expenses; and $500 to be expended in the building of a school house.

The Cape Amherst Troupe gave a splendid entertainment in Oulton Hall, Albert, last Thursday evening. Two dialogues were well acted, and the songs and music were highly spoken of. There was a large audience, and the proceeds must have been upward of $50. The Goose Rapper, after the entertainment, was well patronized. Proceeds, over $80.

FARBRO NEWS.—An you "Regular Farbro" correspondent had not written the piece up, in full, I, an irregular correspondent beg to assume that duty. Farbro's has stood a long

LIBEL SUIT.

Kinnear vs. Loverson.

The Court was occupied from its opening on Tuesday afternoon until Friday noon with the trial of the case of Kinnear vs. Loverson.

Messrs. Milner and Wells appeared for plaintiff and Messrs. Blair and Remond for the defendant. It was an action of defamation for words applied to the plaintiff with imbecility in his capacity of Overseer of the Poor. There were several defenses, denial of using the words, the statute of limitations, that defendant merely repeated the words told him by plaintiff, and that the words were a privileged communication. The plaintiff called James L. Bent and Amos Ogden. The former proved that defendant in speaking of the plaintiff was a privileged communication. The plaintiff called James L. Bent and Amos Ogden. The former proved that defendant in speaking of the plaintiff was a privileged communication.

The defendant admitted what Bent swore to was correct. Amos Ogden being one of the Municipal Councilors for Sackville testified that he asked defendant as to who would be good parish officers and defendant told him that the plaintiff was not fit to be an Overseer of the Poor. He was not honest, he had taken Jane Love's name, and had not accounted for them or had not given the Parish credit for them. Defendant denied saying that to Ogden and he swore positively that the identical words he used were never spoken by him. He said that he had taken Jane Love's name.

The plaintiff being called testified that he had been an Overseer of the Poor for sixteen years, that in 1870 he was Overseer of the Poor he went to see Jane Love, a person receiving parish aid, who was dying of an illness, and he asked her name of some respectable burial then such persons usually have given them, that plaintiff demurred to putting the parish to the additional expense, but suggested that she should be taken and applied towards the parish. He was asked to take it and took it for his own use. That shortly afterwards she died, and plaintiff employed Edward Bower to make the coffin, and after the funeral he took Bower to the house where the woman died, had her buried there, and then he argued to take it and took it for his own use. That he was taken to Bower's house and he has it yet. Bower, who lives in the States, and whose deposition was taken last September, corroborated the plaintiff's story. The close of plaintiff's case Blair made a motion for nonsuit, taking a great variety of legal points, and sustaining them by a lengthy address. Wells replied. The Chief Justice closed the motion but gave the Defendant time to say what he had above for a month. The defense was then entered upon and the Defendant called as a witness. He denied that he had said anything more to Ogden than "that it was a very small thing the way they took the coffin and the time he believed it. He said he had heard from several persons that Plaintiff's reputation as an Overseer was the best—not very good. He said he had been a candidate for the office of Overseer of the Poor on two occasions and had been defeated. That when Amos Ogden was candidate, the plaintiff told defendant he would not vote for him, and he canvassed against him, but it did not cause him to have any ill-feeling towards plaintiff. Timothy Hicks, son-in-law of defendant, was called on the part of the defendant and testified that the plaintiff at the court on July last told him he wanted the suit settled and he had brought it for fun. Defendant then took the stand and testified upon which the Chief Justice remarked that the defendant then said satisfaction. "The fun is going on yet." The accounts of the Overseers of the Poor, of Sackville, for 1870 were produced and an credit appeared to the court. The witness Hicks, who had been called on the part of the plaintiff. He swore he had been an Overseer of the poor for many years with plaintiff, and he knew nothing against his character as an Overseer, and plaintiff contradicted both defendant and Timothy Hicks about saying the action was brought for fun. Blair closed for the defendant, and insisted that the defendant had in talking of plaintiff, referred to the fact of the not having been credited on the accounts filed by the Overseers of the Poor, as required by law, and that no imputation against plaintiff's honesty was intended. Wells closed the case for the plaintiff, and urged that it would not do for defendant now to put another construction upon his words than he intended at the time, and treated that as this charge had been made by defendant after plaintiff had opposed him in the Municipal Election, and nine years after the alleged crime had been committed, and when plaintiff had been subsequently elected by the people several times, it would not now do, and he claimed moderate damages.

The Chief Justice charged the jury that if they believed the evidence of Kinnear and Bower, and he did not see how they could do otherwise, there was not the slightest foundation for the alleged crime imputed to him. That it was a question for the jury to say whether the defendant had intended to impute to plaintiff the crime of embezzlement, and if they did to give such damages as they thought fit. The jury disagreed.
