Negotiations
Not in Order

Uncle Sam's Reply to Li Hung Chang.

Will Not Negotiate With a Government That Cannot Control Its Own Army and Citizens-Pekin Fully in the Hands of the Allies-Russia to Have 375, 000 Men in the Far East.

REPLY TO LI.
Washington, Aug. 22.-The state department made public the following statement today: "The acting secretary of state authorizes the statement that a reply has been made today to Minister Wu's communication of two telegrams from Earl Li Hung Chang, dated respectively the 19th and 21st inst., relative to the cessation of hostile demonstrations and the appointment of representatives to negotiate with China." The reply of the United States Government to Li Hung Chang, says, in brief, that the government cannot enter upon negotiations until there is a government in China which can prevent the hostilities of Chinese troops and Chinese forces against the forces of the powers. The text of the reply has been communicated to the other governments.

IN THE ALLIES' HANDS.
London, Thursday, Aug. 20-4 a.m.-
Today 1,500 Americans attacked the imperial palace, says a dispatch to the morning Post from Pekin, dated Aug.
15, and captured four of the courts. The American flag is flying over the imperial granary and the imperial bank has been looted.
Describing events prior to the entry, the Morning Post correspondent cables: "On Aug. 12, the Tsung Li Yamen requested a conference with a view to peace. No armistice was granted, however, and that night we endured the longest fusillade of the whole siege. It lasted twelve hours.
On Aug. 13 the Tsung Li Yamen begged to be excused from any conference, saying that the members were too busy. Later they wrote that they had forbidden firing on us, and would court-martial any who disobeyed. During the evening many shells fell in the legation compound."

RESCUED BY THE JAPS.
London, Aug. 22.-An official dispatch from Tien Tsin, dated Aug. 20, says: A detachment of Japanese troops rescued the foreign missionaries and Chinese Christian converts, who had been imprisoned in the palace. Two hundred Japanese were killed or wounded.

THE DOWAGER'S POWER.
The Daily Chronicle publishes an interview with the Japanese minister in London, Kato Takaaki, which represents him as having said: "The empress is the heart and soul of China, so long as she lives, so long as she remains in China, whether the supreme power is taken from her or not, she will always be the greatest force, the one of all others to be reckoned with.
The difficulty will be to get anyone who can speak for her. I fear that the influence of Li Hung Chang is now of extremely little weight. The powers must come to a final understanding quickly. Riots, anarchy, bloodshed and misery throughout China will be the inevitable result of a policy that does not immediately disclose itself. The government must be established."

SEVERAL EXECUTIONS.
Washington, D. C., Aug. 22.-The Japanese legation has received a telegram, dated Aug. 21, from the foreign office at Tokio, giving the following dispatch received yesterday from the Japanese acting consul-general at Shanghai: "A dispatch received here from a Chinese official at Pao Ting Fu says that, by the em-press's dowager's orders, Hsiao Yung Yi, Li Shan and Llei Yuen were executed on the 11th, and Yung Lu, who was to have shared the same fate, is now in a jail of the judicial department, and that the empress and the emperor left Pekin on the 13th, escorted by Sun Fu Shiang troops for Wu Taishan, via Chuchow and Tse Ching Kwan. Kang Ye, it is further stated, has been appointed commander-in-chief of the Wu Wei army, while Princes Taun and Chwang and Tsong Chi, Kang Yi and Haul Tung have been ordered to remain at Pekin."

THE EMPEROR.
Another telegram, dated the 16th, has been received here from Pao Ting Fu, to the effect that, though the empress dowager has left Pekin, the emperor has decided to remain behind.

RUSSIAN INVASION.
"Three hundred and seventy-five Russian troops are already in the far east or on the way there by land and sea or under orders to embark." This statement is made by the Moscow correspondent of the Daily Graphic, who states that mobilization is in progress all over European Russia, and that there are now at Odessa, fourteen steamers chartered to take troops.

Field Marshal Count Von Waldersee, according to the Daily Mail's correspondent, expresses the opinion that his labors in China will be of long duration, "as pacification will be a difficult undertaking."

SHANGHAI NEEDS 15,000 TROOPS.
New York, Aug. 23.-The executive committee of the American Asiatic Association have received the following cablegram from the American Association of China, at Shanghai:

"Situation Yang Tse Valley increasingly critical. Military estimate 15,000 troops needed. Urge government immediately to send quota."

NOTES.
The German war office has received a dispatch from Taku, dated Aug. 19, saying the advance of the German battalion was delayed by violent rains.
It reached Pekin Aug. 17. Yang Tsun, it is added, was still threatened by the Chinese troops on the Imperial Canal.

The cable companies announce that the Che Foo Taku cable was open for international correspondence. The Commercial Cable Company subsequently sent out the following notice:
"We are advised that the Chinese administration gives notice that the courier service between Siam Fu and Pekin is suspended, the couriers having been unable to pass. Telegrams have, however, been forwarded by telegraph from Siam Fu via Che Foo, and from the latter place by the best possible means."

NOBLE'S RECORD

Death of a Mormon Who Had Six Wives and 47 Children.

Chicago, Aug. 23.-A special to the Chronicle from Salt Lake City says:
Joseph B. Noble, father of the first polygamous child born after that tenet was introduced into the Mormon Church, was buried at Bountiful, Utah.
The funeral service was attended by 30 of his children, 84 of his grandchildren and a number of his great-grandchildren. Mr. Noble had six wives, 47 children, of whom 33 are living, and 124 grandchildren. He was a Massachusetts shoemaker, when Brigham Young went to his native town in 1832, and converted him among several.

nual convention in Chicago.

LAWN TENNIS.

Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont., Aug. 22.—The Niagara international championship tennis tournament was begun here today. A large crowd greeted the best entry which the tournament has had in years, and the events were pushed through with a vim. In the men's open singles, at the end of the day's playing, there remained but eight survivors, insuring three good matches between ranked players. Today all the cracks had easy times in wending out the poster material. Scores:

Championship men's singles, preliminary round—W. S. Bond, Chicago, beat Peter Porter, Niagara Falls, 6-2, 2-6, 6-1. Summer Hardy, San Francisco, beat P. Norstrom, 6-4, 4-6, 6-4. LACROSSE.

BRANTFORD DEFEATS PERGUS.
Brantford, Ont., Aug. 22.—The lacrosse match between Pergus and Brantford leagues, played here this afternoon, resulted 10 to 6 in favor of Brantford.

BRANTFORD COMING.

On Wednesday next, London will cross sticks with the strong Brantford twelve at Tecumseh Park. The teams met last in Brantford on May 24, when the Brantfordites won out a hard-earned victory by a score of 3 to 1. The visitors are considered the fastest intermediate team in the west, and their defeat by the noted Tecumsehs of Toronto, by the narrow margin of one goal, shows that they are not far from senior form. The London team to meet them will be the best that has yet represented this city, and has been greatly strengthened. In connection with the game a programme of bicycle races, etc., will be put on, in which some of the noted flyers of Ontario will take part. The Brantford people are coming down in force, and will bring with them their famous "coon" band, which will entertain the grand stand.

From Near-By Places.

PROSPER GUSTIN.

Muncie, Aug. 23.—Prosper Gustin, the young son of the late John Gustin, of London township, and brother of T. E. Gustin, of St. Thomas, died on Saturday morning in his early manhood. Less than one year ago the deceased, because of the excessive heat and their defeat by the noted Tecumsehs of Toronto, by the narrow margin of one goal, shows that they are not far from senior form. The London team to meet them will be the best that has yet represented this city, and has been greatly strengthened. In connection with the game a programme of bicycle races, etc., will be put on, in which some of the noted flyers of Ontario will take part. The Brantford people are coming down in force, and will bring with them their famous "coon" band, which will entertain the grand stand.

EGMONDVILLE.

Egmondville, Aug. 23.—The report of the auditor appointed to examine the accounts of our township, Tucker-smith, during the past ten years, was put in print last week, and it must be very satisfactory to the authorities and all concerned, except the petitioners. They have been the means of incurring costs, to the amount of about $300, and their charges have all been proven baseless. However, the most regrettable feature is the charge against a former clerk, who died about thirteen years ago. Surely such charges are as cruel to the relatives and friends of the deceased as they are discreditable to the petitioners.

Mrs. Marcus returned last week from a lengthened visit among relatives and friends in England and Wales. She was accompanied by her grandson, Master Donald Shaw, of the manse.

School opened on Monday, to the great relief of anxious mothers, who will now have some idea of the whereabouts of their young hopefuls, during most of the year at least.

Miss Odie Kennedy, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Kennedy, of this village, died on Friday evening, about 6 o'clock. She had been a severe sufferer for about two years from that dreaded disease, consumption, and death must have been a merciful relief to her, as well as to those who lovingly ministered to her needs. From childhood Miss Kennedy was blessed with an attractive personality, and a disposition which in maturity developed into a very lovable character, the comfort of her aged parents, and greatly esteemed by all who knew her.

Mr. James Wright, who has worked for Mr. Thomas during nearly five years, left on Tuesday to take a position in Breslau, near Berlin. Jim is a genial soul and a first-class workman, and leaves a host of friends behind him, who wish him every prosperity in his new situation.

Mrs. J. S. Porter will sell her furniture by public auction on Saturday, as she intends moving to her new residence in Seaford next week.

Miss Jessie McDougall has been off duty for a few days on account of a severe cold, but is now improving.

Miss Minnie Pearson returned last week from a visit to friends in Park-

BLOODY WORK AT AKRON, OHIO

Mob Break Into a Jail—Rioting in the Streets—Several Persons Killed.

Akron, O., Aug. 23.—Between 1 and 2 a.m. yesterday Officer John Duffy arrested a colored man who had confessed to having attempted to assault Christina, the 6-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Maas, of Perkin's Hill. The man on Monday night offered to give the child a ride in his buggy. Christina accepted the invitation, and a few hours later she was found on the side of a road west of the city. The prisoner gave his name as Louis Peck. He is about 40 years old, married, and recently moved here. The story of his confession spread like wildfire through the city, and officers learned that an attempt would be made to lynch him. In the police court he pleaded guilty, and was bound over to the common pleas court. Bail was fixed at $5,000.

FORCED THE JAIL DOORS.
A large crowd gathered about the city prison last night at 7:30 o'clock and forced the doors. The prison was soon packed with the mob, and the officers offered no resistance as Peck, earlier in the evening, had been quietly taken away to Cleveland. Not finding the negro, the mob rushed across the street and forced open the doors of the county court house. A start was made to tear off the iron door of the treasury department, but the mob decided not to tackle the job, and the thousands of men and boys then rushed back to the city prison crying for the blood of Peck.

SHOOTING BEGUN.
The officers in the building appeared at the windows and began to shoot over the heads of the people. A man with a shotgun then fired at the officers. It is said several officers were wounded. The crowd then began to smash in the windows of the city building, and the firing became general. Hundreds of shots were exchanged.

TWO PERSONS KILLED.
Two people were instantly killed, and another person is dying at the city hospital. Many were wounded. Shortly after midnight the mob broke into a hardware store and stole all the firearms and ammunition they could find, including guns, rifles and revolvers, and proceeded to the city building and opened fire on the defenders, and finally set fire to the Columbia Hall, which adjoins the city building.

APPEAL TO GOVERNOR NASH.
Columbus, O., Aug. 23.—Governor Nash, in response to an appeal from the mayor of Akron, has agreed to furnish the Akron authorities assistance.

A RUN FOR LIFE.
Akron, O., Aug. 23.—At 1 o'clock this morning all the officers who had been penned up in the city buildings for two hours, escaped through a rear window and ran for their lives. The mob was still firing on the city building at that hour, and the militia had been called for. One fireman, whose name could not be learned, had been shot, probably fatally. The mob was making for the firemen, and as fast as lines of hose were stretched the hose was cut.

MOB USED DYNAMITE.
At 1:45 a.m. dynamite was being used in front of the city building. The first charge smashed all the windows in the building and did much other damage. All prisoners had been released, and the city prison had been set on fire. The crowd threatened to destroy the city buildings with dynamite.

LOSS TO THE CITY.
Later—3:30 a.m.—Everything was quiet about the ruins of the city building at this hour. In the destruction of the building the city has lost all the records of the city clerk, and also the records of the city engineer. City Engineer Payne said that the loss in his department would be fully half a million. No militia is here yet. The automobile patrol wagon has been run into the canal.

Quiet Restored.

MOB MELTS AWAY.
Akron, Aug. 23.—With the approach of dawn today the riotous mob, which had held possession of this city throughout the night, melted away, and when the sun arose the streets presented their usual appearance. At six o'clock a company of the 8th Ohio Regiment arrived on a special train from Canton and was at once marched to the scenes of the night's rioting. The militiamen were placed on guard duty around the county buildings, but found little to do.

RADWAY'S READY RELIEF

A Pain Remedy.

For over fifty years this wonderful remedy has proved itself the best, safest and surest antidote for pain in the world.

The True Relief,
Radway's Ready Relief

For Internal and External Use.

In using medicines to stop pain, we should avoid such as inflame injury on the system. Opium, Morphine, Chloroform, Ether, Cocaine and Chloral stop pain by destroying the sense of perception in the patient losing the power of feeling. This is a most destructive practice; it masks the symptoms, shut up, and instead of removing trouble, breaks down the stomach, liver and bowels, and, if continued for a length of time, kills the nerves and produces local or general paralysis.

There is no necessity for using these dangerous and uncertain agents when a positive remedy like RADWAY'S READY RELIEF will stop the most excruciating pain quicker, without entailing the least danger in infants or adult.

It instantly stops the most excruciating pains, allays inflammation and cures congestions, whether of the Lungs, Stomach, Bowels or other glands or mucous membranes.

PAIN CURED IN AN INSTANT

No matter how violent or excruciating the pains the Rheumatic, Bed-ridden, infirm, Crippled, Nervous, Neuralgic or prostrated with disease may suffer,

Radway's Ready Relief

Will Afford Instant Ease.

A CURE FOR

SUMMER COMPLAINTS,
DYSENTERY, DIARRHEA,
CHOLERA MORBUS.

A half to a teaspoonful of Ready Relief in a half tumbler of water, repeated as often as the pains continue, and a Bandaged saturated with Ready Relief placed over the stomach and bowels will afford immediate relief and effect a cure.

No bad after effects (which are invariably the sequel of dosing with opium, etc.) will follow the use of Radway's Ready Relief, but the bowels will be left in a healthy normal condition.

A half to a teaspoonful in a half tumbler of water will, in a few minutes, cure Cramps, Spasms, Sour Stomach, Heartburn, Nervousness, Sleeplessness, Sick Headache, Diarrhea, Dysentery, Colic, Flatulency and all internal pains.

MALARIA.

CHILLS AND FEVER, FEVER AND AGUE CONQUERED.

Radway's Ready Relief

Not only cures the patient seized with this terrible foe to settlers in newly settled districts, where the Malaria or Ague exists, but if people exposed to it will, every morning on getting out of bed, take twenty or thirty drops of Ready Relief in a glass of water, and eat, say, a cracker, they will escape attacks. This must be done before going out.

There is not a remedial agent in the world that will cure Fever and Ague and all other malarial, bilious and other fevers, aided by Radway's Ready Relief, as quickly as Radway's Ready Relief. SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.

Three Elections.

Very soon there must be elections in the three most important sections of the English-speaking world—Great Britain, the United States and Canada.

It seems likely that the Government will be sustained in every one of these cases.

In Great Britain the Liberal party seems for the present to be impossible. It is so thoroughly disorganized that it is not discharging well the duty of Her Majesty's loyal Opposition. We regret this, not only for the sake of the Liberal party, but for the sake also of the Conservative party, for the sake of the empire and the world. We believe it will be better for all concerned, when, through the influence of a good leader and the enunciation of a noble policy, the Liberal party in Great Britain regains a living unity. It can never have as much mechanical unity or strict party discipline as a party which defends traditional beliefs and vested interests; but that we do not regret, as it is the genius of Liberalism to encourage individuality and independence of thought. However, unless something startling happens, it does not appear that there can be an early return to power of Liberalism in England. Some even think that the best way of punishing the Government for its mistakes is to allow it to stay in and wrestle with difficulties which are largely of its own making.

Strange to say the issue of the elections is likely to be the same in the United States as in England, viz., what is called imperialism. It does not seem likely that the citizens of the republic will, as a whole, desire to change the executive at this critical stage of their history; and even if a change did take place, it could hardly lead to an utter reversal of the policy to which the country has been committed. The United States cannot decline its share of "the white man's burden." The old policy of quietly waiting and reaping the fruits of other nations' work, cannot be repeated; risk and responsibility must go together. If the republic is, as some of its representatives assert, about to lead the world, there must be action as well as speech. The Republicans claim to be entitled to power because the country is prosperous; a state of things due, they think, to their beneficent policy in restoring that confidence, without which commerce is crippled. We are not prepared to criticise this claim; but of one thing we are sure, that if there is in the republic a feeling of prosperity and stability it will act in favor of the Government.

The Canadian Government will soon have to face the electorate, and both on the question of "imperialism," and that of commerce, it has a good record. It is a fact known to all the world that Canada has given material aid to the empire at a critical period, and has helped in knitting together the British communities which are scattered throughout the world. War is only occasional, and we trust that the occasion for it will grow less and less, but in war Canadians have shown themselves loyal supporters of the Empire. Trade, however, is with us all the time, and the more prosaic incidents of commerce are perhaps as important to the life of the world as the dashing, romantic achievements of war; and the present Government has sought to encourage trade with Britain, while treating other nations fairly. Without jingoism, it has represented the British sentiment which prevails throughout Canada, and without risky experiments it has directed commerce to the finest open market in the world. While details of administration may be open to criticism, seeing that the age of perfection has not dawned, we cannot think that the country will leave this reasonable and successful policy when nothing better is offered to them.

Capital and Labor in England.

There is danger of a strike as a result of a difference between the Great Eastern Railway Company and its servants. One of the last points we noticed in connection with it was the feeling of rejoicing with which it was announced that the battle was postponed, and that consequently the railway would not be crippled on Bank Holiday. There are not so many public holidays in England as in Canada, and on the August Bank Holiday, St. Lubbock's Day, thousands of Londoners count upon getting a run to the sea. Our present subject, however, is not English holidays, nor the details of the dispute, but the spirit in which the matter is handled in England. We do not think that there is any country where such a strong effort is made to hold the balance fairly between capital and labor. Every effort is made to avert the strike. In this case the editor of the Daily News was asked to use his friendly services in the interest of peace. Disorderly conduct is discouraged and repressed; but it is recognized that while a strike brings great risks to the public, men have a fair right to combine in their own defense, and that if men are not allowed to intimidate, neither must wealthy corporations be allowed to practice intimidation. There is general feeling that such quarrels ought now to be settled by arbitration. The chairman of the London Labor Conciliation and Arbitration Board said: "Strikes ought now to be considered anachronisms. Whether employers or employed, they should never ask for anything that was not reasonable; and as reasonable men, why could they not meet together and discuss matters in dispute, instead of cutting each other's throats by resorting to strikes?" During the ten years that the board had been in existence it had become apparent that workmen could be very good and impartial arbiters. He was confident that labor conciliation and arbitration was the principle of the future.

The London Times' correspondent says: "The strike, therefore, is 'off' for the present. The turn in the situation is satisfactory, and does credit to both sides. Both, no doubt, claim that they are doing exactly what they have always offered to do, for men oddly enough pride themselves far more upon a foolish obstinacy than upon a wise yielding."

Note these remarks by the same person, as showing that both masters and men are amenable to the tribunal of public opinion: "Later on, if further dispute should arise, it might be desirable to inquire which side had shown the more reasonable spirit, in order to fix the responsibility for the failure of the negotiations."

The London Spectator has an article on the subject, which begins: "We can hardly do wrong in taking Lord Claud Hamilton's letter to the Times as evidence on those points on which it makes, or seems to make, against the company of which he is chairman. At the outset, however, we must say that the general tone of the letter is in happy contrast to that of many similar documents. Lord Claud Hamilton shows no desire to overstate his case, and his charge against the servants of the company, who are understood to be meditating a strike, resolves itself into this, that they are disposed to consult their own interests before that of the public. In this respect they are not unlike boards of directors."

Another paragraph which we quote, not because of the point under discussion, but because of the spirit in which it is discussed, shows that the higher English press does not unduly favor the capitalist, but discusses the case on its merits: "We do not see, however, that railway servants are under any special obligations to respect the comfort of railway travelers. A strike is a battle, and the attacking force naturally chooses the moment when the most loss will fall on the other combatant, and so dispose him to make terms. Moreover, the alienation of public sympathy sounds a more formidable consequence than it really is. The sympathy in question is apt to evaporate in letters to the newspapers; and after all, this is an argument which cuts both ways. If it is wrong in railway servants to threaten a strike which would disorganize the Bank Holiday traffic, it must be equally wrong in railway directors not to grant terms asked of them rather than allow this disorganization to come about. We have no right to expect from one class more than another an entire subordination of their own interests to those of the public."

All these quotations from various sources show that there is a widespread desire that the working classes shall be justly treated, and that is to the credit of the country, and is certainly one of the signs of real progress.

Tupper vs. the Record.

[Hamilton Times.]

"The result is that this tariff goes into operation, and the honorable gentleman knows that the industries of this country are almost paralyzed in consequence, while honorable members gloat over the destruction of Canadian industries."

"I was reading the wall—the sorrowful wall—of those industries in the Montreal Gazette, where one manufacturer after another declared that those industries were ruined, that their mills must close."

"I say that a deeper wrong was never inflicted upon Canada."

"I feel that so far from rejoicing at the fact of a party standpoint, I deplore from the bottom of my heart the ruin that is going to be inflicted upon the best interests of Canada, and upon its great industries."—Sir Charles Tupper in 1907.

That was Sir Charles' prophecy of the effect of the Liberal tariff, uttered not when he was in any doubt of what it would be, but spoken with the schedule before him.

What are the facts? The total of Canada's exports of home products has increased nearly 50 per cent since that time.

Our export of home-manufactured goods has increased from $9,206,758 to $13,692,773, or nearly 50 per cent.

Our tariff has been greatly reduced; a special preference has been given to British goods, and our finances show a large surplus.

Canadian industries have not been ruined, as Sir Charles falsely prophesied. Our industries are thriving; new ones are springing up all over the land; business is brisk; the country's resources are being developed; employment is plentiful; wages are higher, and there is more general comfort.

The impetus the country has received in the path of prosperity will have a lasting and beneficial effect, and Canada won't swap leaders and policies at this stage. Sir Charles had his try at it, and what did he leave?

Enormously increased debt, Growing deficits, Burdensome taxes, Unjust legislation, Race and religious rancour, A disrupted party, Does Canada wish to return to that state of things?

Even now there is a movement to supplant him in the leadership of his own party, and it will take all the Tupper influence to save him from the fate to which he is doomed poor, spirit-broken Sir Mackenzie Bowell.

But whether Tupper fall to the Maclean skean-dhu, the Foster crease, the Wallace club, or the Montague hypodermic charge of bacilli, or succeed in keeping his position as party dictator, Canada will have none of the great political Baal. His prophecies are falsehood; his policy is retrograde; his influence is malign. Canada, freed from his spell, is not likely soon to give him and his followers a chance to gamble with her prospects.

No more Tupper!

A Dishonest Policy.

[Toronto Globe.]

If the tactics of the Opposition in regard to the war are successful, it will be a victory for political dishonesty and demagoguery. There were honest people who thought that the contingents ought to be sent, and who perhaps were impatient at the idea of hesitation or of any delay being necessitated by the observance of constitutional procedure. There were equally honest people on the other side, people who hesitated or who thought that the government ought not to act without the consent of parliament. There were also politicians whose main idea was: "We have got the government in a hole. If they send the contingents we will hammer them in Quebec, and if they do not we will hammer them in Ontario." The latter policy was pursued until it was found to be useless, and now the party is bending all its energies on the capture of Quebec constituencies. If it succeeds it will be because the people of Quebec disapprove of the imperial policy of the government. But more important still, it will mean a victory for a policy of degrading imperialism into the football of politicians and dragging the flag through the mire of faction. It will mean a condemnation of moderate, thoughtful, conciliatory statesmanship, and an encouragement to the demagoguery that shouts with the biggest crowd and seeks to inflame its passions and to drive it into extreme courses.

Treason Bill Gets Its Second Reading in the Cape Legislature—Home-Coming Canadians.

London, Aug. 23.—Paul Kruger, according to a dispatch from Lorenzo Marquez to the Daily Express, has issued a proclamation counter to the latest proclamation issued by Lord Roberts. The Transvaal president says: "It will help you nothing to lay down your arms or to leave the commandos. Every step homeward means a step nearer St. Helena."

A Pretoria dispatch states that the combined forces of Gens. Dewet and Delarey are moving eastward of that city. Gen. Paget's troops came in contact with the Boer rear guard yesterday.

CORDUA'S CASE.

Pretoria, Aug. 22.—Col. Godfrey, the judge, in summing up the Cordua case, caused a sensation by declaring that a violation of parole was punishable with death, and a period of 48 minutes was occupied in considering the verdict.

TOMMY JEALOUS.

London, Aug. 23.—Sergt. Barnes, of the New South Wales Mounted Rifles, in an interview with a representative of the Daily Chronicle, referring to Lord Roberts' colonial bodyguard on his entering Bloemfontein, says: "I am afraid that then, as on other occasions, Tommy Atkins was somewhat jealous. There were times when the Australian and Canadian men had to band themselves together for mutual protection against the imperial troops."

THE TREASON BILL. Cape Town, Aug. 22.—In the House of Assembly today the treason bill was sent to a second reading without a division. Broadly described, the reason for this was the responsibility and future status of rebellious subjects of Queen Victoria in the colony of the Cape of Good Hope. Although the question of compensation is left to another session, the crux of the debate was the question of amnesty.

Mr. Rose-Innes, in moving the second reading, appealed to the members of the house to exercise common sense and self-restraint in dealing with the bill, remarking that if the colony emerged from the ordeal it would simply vindicate its rights to self-government. He charged the punishment which it was proposed by the bill to mete out to the rebels as the "mildest imaginable," observing that the rank and file, if tried by the ordinary courts, would be liable to disfranchisement for life.

Mr. Merriman, speaking for the opposition, declared that the bill was an expression of Mr. Chamberlain's desire to establish an artificial majority to do his bidding and to grind the whole race. He predicted that it would perpetuate strife, render a settlement impossible, and create new crimes. He said that he had not the slightest doubt that the object of the bill was to wreak political vengeance on the Afrikaner party.

THE MARKETS

Local Market.

London, Thursday, Aug. 23. The only feature of this morning's market, apart from a remarkably abundant supply of small stuff, was the tendency on the part of butter to reach a top-notch price. There were several instances of good pound butter selling for 25 cents per pound. Even with the price so high, trade was not backward, and nearly all the butter that was offered was bought early. While this much-desired staple has risen in price to such a high figure, the price of eggs has remained in a remarkably stationary position for some weeks, and no change from quotations was noticed today. In both departments of dairy produce the supply was abundant.

The offerings of fruit were profuse, as usual. A fairly good trade was carried on. Peaches sold for 30 to 50 cents per basket; pears, for $1 a bushel; plums, for 40 to 60 cents per basket. Apples were unchanged.

Trade in vegetables was very active and prices unchanged. Meats, such as small; demand weak; quotations rule. Poultry, supply fair, demand good and prices the same.

MUSSELMAN, C. D. Johnston's Old Stand

MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED.

A FATEFUL...
DIAMOND

She pressed her face close against one of the small, diamond-shaped panes of glass, which were upon each side of the entrance, and tried to peer into the gloomy hall; but all was dark as midnight and she could see nothing. She stepped back down the steps into the alley, and looking upward, counted three windows, one above the other, and a dormer above those, showing that the building was more than three stories high.

Then, with a long-drawn sigh, she glided like a somber ghost from the place, sprang across the street before, and regained her seat in the carriage, panting and frightened, just as her mother and the coachman reappeared from the house of Annette's mother; the next moment they were driving toward home.

That evening, a dismal, rainy night, Arthur Aspinwall made his appearance in the Houghtons' parlors at an early hour.

He found them sitting cozily around a bright wood fire, and busily engaged in disposing of a basket of popcorn in true New England fashion.

It was one of those attractive, home-like pictures that do the heart good, and that is seldom seen in the heart of a foreign city like Paris.

Margaret was perfectly lovely, in a white cashmere negligee, with a full ruffling of lace about her throat, and fastened with a cascade of white satin ribbons; a heavy cord, with massive tassels, was drawn about her waist, while her golden hair was gathered into a careless knot at the back of her small head and fastened with a silver arrow. Her only other ornament was that flashing diamond, with its guard, on the third finger of her left hand.

She sat on the right of the fireplace, her small feet encased in bewitching slippers of bronze, surmounted by black velvet bows, resting upon a handsome crimson hassock.

She made a picture that an artist would have delighted in copying, and to Arthur Aspinwall nothing had ever seemed so beautiful.

"I got homesick enough to do to do almost anything desperate. I could not stay by myself another hour this dreary night," he said, with a rueful face, as he came into the room where this cheerful party was gathered. "You will think I am almost homesick or homesick," he added, flushing.

"Then you did the right thing to come to us," Mr. Houghton remarked, regarding him gravely. "What do you busy yourself with all day long?"

"Oh, I read, smoke, and look in upon the club, or drive on the boulevards," Mr. Houghton turned upon him suddenly, and said, kindly, though bluntly:

"That kind of life isn't just the thing for a man of your years; why don't you do something, Aspinwall?"

"In what way?"

"Why, take up some employment—" go into business—anything to make yourself useful."

"What could I find? I never did anything in my life in the way of work. I know nothing of business."

"Try bookkeeping."

"I abominate figures."

"Well, I'll set you to work; you write a good hand. I can give you plenty of copying."

The young man shrugged his shoulders, thought a moment, then replied, indignantly:

"Thank you; I'll think of it and let you know my decision when Uncle Albert returns; perhaps he may have different plans for me."

He glanced at Margaret as he spoke. She was regarding him fixedly, while there was an unmistakable curl of contempt on her beautiful lips, which brought a hot flush to his cheek.

"Confound it! She measures everybody by that infernal puppy," he said to himself, wrathfully; "but if she imagines that I am ever going to make a drudge of myself, as he has done, she is everlastingly mistaken."

"This fire is very comfortable, and the corn tastes like old times at home," he said, to break the awkward pause that followed his last remark, and to change the subject. "The night is an ugly one outside, but no one would ever dream of it here; and now, if the rest of you desire, I believe I am ready for that game of euchre."

"All right, come, Margie," and Mr. Houghton sprang up, drew a small table into the glow of the fire, and arranged chairs about it.

Seating himself in one, he took a pack of cards from a drawer in the table, and began to shuffle them vigorously, for he was always eager for his favorite game.

Margaret left her corner at the grate, came forward and quietly slipped into the seat opposite her father.

"Ah, going to play with me, my lady?" he questioned, with a fond look into her fair face.

"Yes, sir. I know too much to allow you and mamma to have everything all your own way," she replied, with a significant smile.

Mr. Houghton laughed heartily as she began to deal, while Arthur, somewhat disappointed not to have Margaret for a partner, seated himself opposite Mrs. Houghton, and the play began.

They played two hours, and at the end of that time the count was in favor of the father and daughter.

Margaret had seemed to concentrate all her powers upon the game, and had joined but very little in the general chat.

"How much in earnest you are, Margie," Arthur observed, as he saw her perplexed face when once her father had "passed," and she was uncertain as to just what course she ought to pursue.

She flashed a lightning look at him, and it seemed to him as if there was something of defiance in it.

"Of course I am in earnest. I am playing against you with all my might. I am determined to beat you if such a thing is possible," she answered.

The words were lightly spoken, but, somehow they affected him unpleasantly. They grated upon his nerves, and made him angry in spite of himself. But he bent more closely to his own work, and that was all.

Whatever Margie does, whether it is work or play, she does it with her whole heart," Mrs. Houghton remarked, as she observed that he was stung by her remark.

But, though they both did their best, they were badly beaten, and at 10 o'clock Arthur arose from the table more nettled than he would have been willing to confess.

"That was pretty well done, my lady fair," said Mr. Houghton, winding his arm about his daughter's slight waist. "I never knew you to play so well before."

"Thank you, papa. It was diamond cut diamond, you know—when the enemy use keen weapons, we need to sharpen our own," she answered, with downcast eyes and flushed cheeks.

"I am afraid you have allowed yourself to get excited over the game; you are almost in a fever," he said, touching her hot face anxiously.

"Oh, no," Margaret replied carelessly; "the room has only been getting too warm; but she turned away from him as if the subject was distasteful.

"By the way, my friends," Arthur suddenly remarked, "I came near forgetting something very important. Doubtless you all know there is a grand fête here in Paris tomorrow."

"Yes, great preparations are being made for it throughout the city; it will be a regular gala day," returned Mr. Houghton.

VAN BUELOW'S
FALL EXPECTED

On Account of His Rows With the Kaiser.

480 Fatal Duels Fought in Italy Last Year—Fuss About a French Ribbon.

VON BUELOW'S POSITION SHAKY.

Berlin, Aug. 23.—Count Von Buelow's position as minister of foreign affairs for the empire has been so seriously shaken by his differences with the Kaiser on the subject of the latter's China speeches—differences which have led the emperor to take the direction of the Chinese matters out of the count's hands and to assume personal control yesterday, that the downfall of the statesman is regarded here as imminent.

MAY MAKE UP.

London, Aug. 23.—Numerous dispatches appear in the morning papers regarding the Bulgarian-Rumanian situation, growing out of the demand of Rumania for the suppression of the Macedonian revolutionary committee, whose headquarters is at Sofia. What appears the most reliable summary of the latest developments comes from the Vienna correspondent of the Standard, who says: "The conviction prevails that the conflict between Rumania and Bulgaria has now lost much of its acuteness, and that in the end Bulgaria will satisfy Rumanian demands."

2,400 DUELS.

Rome, Aug. 23.—During the last few weeks duels have caused a perfect slaughter in Italy. As many as four duels were killed in different towns last Saturday. During the last year 2,400 duels have been fought in Italy and 480 deaths have resulted. Most of these combats were between army officers and based on the most trivial pretexts.

IN RE A RIBBON.

London, Aug. 23.—Regarding the accusation that he had violated the constitution in accepting the decoration of grand officer of the Legion of Honor, tendered him in behalf of the French nation, Ferdinand W. Peck, the commissioner-general of the United States at the Paris Exposition, said yesterday: "I was especially careful not to make a formal acceptance. Mr. Peck has received the decoration, possession of which he holds, pending advice from Washington. The Paris edition of the New York Times says over ninety applications for the decoration of the Legion of Honor have been made by the American commission, which is twice as many as made by any foreign country. The French authorities invited recommendations. Mr. Peck's list included Mrs. Potter Palmer, Mrs. Daniel Manning and Mr. Michael H. De Young, proprietor of the San Francisco Chronicle. The applications for Messrs. Palmer and Manning were refused. In this connection the Paris edition of the Times says: 'Either it is a measure of precaution in view of the jealous uproar which it would create among French women of note, who have been denied the honor, or, more likely, it is owing to certain social rivalries.'

COMPROMISING LETTERS.

London, Aug. 22.—Mr. Henry Labouchere's publication of the correspondence advising him of the seizure at Pretoria of compromising letters to Secretary Reitz, is to be followed by the publication of the whole correspondence, which the colonial office officials say will be issued tonight or tomorrow, all the members of parliament involved having answered the official communication sent to them on the subject.

COLLISION ON THE G. T. R.

Montreal, Aug. 23.—A collision, attended with considerable damage to rolling stock occurred in the Grand Trunk yards, Point St. Charles, Tuesday night. A freight train from St. Albans, Vt., with about 40 or 50 cars, broke loose just as the train had passed out of Victoria bridge and was running down grade. The rear portion collided with the front portion with terrific force, smashing and hurling cars into kindling wood, and scattering the contents in all directions and blocking both main line tracks. Incoming Boston and New York trains delayed in consequence. No one injured.

A DASTARDLY DEED

Thirteen-Year-Old Girl Criminally Assaulted Yesterday Afternoon—The Perpetrator Still at Large.

Little Ila Tufts, the 13-year-old daughter of Robert Tufts, 202 Rectory street, was yesterday afternoon subjected to a criminal assault by some miscreant as yet unknown to the police authorities. Ila, with her two younger brothers and the baby, had left their home for a walk, the object being to obtain quiet in the house, Mrs. Tufts being seriously ill. The children went to the Hamilton road, and walked east some distance back of Rectory street, then turned down a quiet lane leading to the river. The children were knocking down some apples from an overhanging tree, when a stranger rode up on a bicycle, and told the little boys they could get nicer apples nearer the river. The boys then went to get the fruit, and the stranger then knocked some more apples off the tree, and persuaded the girl to get over the fence for them. He immediately followed, and accomplished his foul purpose. The little girl struggled as best she could, but the stranger gagged her to prevent an outcry and easily overpowered her resistance. He then mounted his wheel and rode rapidly away. The girl hurried home, and notified her relatives, and the police are now investigating. It is to be hoped that the miscreant will be captured and due punishment meted out to him.

SPORT IN AFRICA

A Baseball Match in Which the London Company Shows its Superiority.

Sergt. Dixon, late of the Queen's Own Rifles, writes from South Africa as follows:

There is not much going on in the athletic line here just now, as the duties are too heavy to allow much time, but the other day B company challenged A company to a game of baseball, which came off on Thursday, the 12th. At the appointed hour the teams took the field, B company going to bat first and knocking out four runs before the third man hit the dust. After a very exciting game B company won by 16 to 4. Some fellow raked up a couple of balls, but the regulation bat was not obtainable, and one had to be manufactured for the occasion. Pte. Macbeth (Strathroy) went on for B company, rubbed his hands in the dirt in professional style, swiped the ball for a home run and smashed the bat, and prolonged cheers from the spectators. A pick hand was the only substitute which could be found, but it lasted out the game and hammered the covers off both balls.

A feature of the game was Sergt. George Macbeth's magnificent base-running.

Pte. Ballard's (of B company) pitching was splendid. The ball left his hand with all the velocity of a 40-pound shell, but his range-finder was not working properly, and elevation and direction were not good; in fact, batter and catcher discussed the advisability of digging a trench and taking cover, but their ammunition was scarce, and they decided it would be politic to evacuate the position.

The spectators, outside the soldiers, were not numerous, and were mostly colored folk. One black sod took up a position within twenty feet of the home base on the foul line, between third and fourth base, and when a hot liner caught him in the "thicker," he merely grinned in a pleasant manner, as though it was what he was looking for. He was a trifle nervous after that, however, and ducked every time the batter struck, shifting his position after he thought he had been there long enough to indicate his supreme scorn of danger.

Col. Buchanan was an interested spectator of the game, and noted the fine points of play with a critical eye.

Sergt. Sippl's left-hand batting and throwing were great factors in the score.

B company are so proud now that they think of entering a team in the Southern African Republic Baseball League, but C company talk of putting out a team that will wipe them off the face of the earth. B company must, however, first establish a reputation by defeating a picked team from the balance of the battalion.

Mr. Mason, of the "Grens," arrived in Springs from Cape Town last Thursday night. He seems to have quite recovered from the effects of his wound, and is looking almost as well as the day he won the sculling championship a couple of years back.

Capt. Barker took a flying trip up to Johannesburg last Friday, returning Saturday night.

CRICKET'S WANE IN ENGLAND.

Cricket is said to be losing its popularity in England. In several of the British newspapers this is discussed as an established fact, and it is said to be due to somewhat the same reasons that have led to the decline of baseball in the United States.

Just as professionalism has ruined the national game, so the same evil seems to have arisen in England. It seems that the best cricket clubs are made up of professionals and alleged amateurs who are really professionals and do little else than play the game and reap financial benefit thereby more or less surreptitiously.

Cricket has become not a game but a business or profession, and few amateurs are able to devote sufficient time to its exacting demands. So the alleged amateurs are paid salaries as assistant secretaries, but really to enable them to live while they are playing. Meanwhile golf, which is quite as lively and exciting, is becoming popular and has captured many former votaries of cricket, who find in the latter game the added advantage that women can play it.—New York Tribune.

STARVATION OF HORSES.

A writer in the London Times says that the "great blot" on the conduct of the war by the British was that the horses were "systematically starved." They lacked food and died for that lack because the department had "possibly through inexcusable ignorance of their duties" not made preparations for giving the horses sufficient food to keep them alive. The carelessness cost the nation casualties in men counted by the hundreds and in horses counted by thousands. The cavalry horses, he says, were not overworked and had been properly fed they would have been all right. Aside from the point of view of the person who loves animals, the death of the horses was an extravagance. A trained cavalry horse costs about $300 at the least, and the loss of 5,000 horses unnecessarily is hence an important expense. The writer urges that in future warlike operations care be taken to see that the horses are supplied with sufficient food. The carelessness with which horses and mules are sacrificed in war nowadays would seem to indicate that with new methods of warfare all love for the "noble charger" has gone.

Norris & Rowe's Shows.

Performances will be given at 2:30 and 8 p.m. A new grand free spectacular street carnival and children's fairland parade will be given on the morning of the exhibition at 11 o'clock, at which time the entire company of over 300 animal actors will be seen. Norris & Rowe's Show this season is up to the high standard of past years. Every boy and girl should see this entertainment, as it is very instructive, moral and highly entertaining and the lesson of what kindness and patience will accomplish over dumb brutes can nowhere else be so thoroughly taught.

CUCUMBERS AND MELONS are "forbidden fruit" to many persons so constituted that the least indulgence is followed by attacks of cholera, dysentery, griping, etc. These persons are not aware that they can indulge in their hearts' content if they have on hand a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial, a medicine that will give immediate relief, and is a sure cure for all summer complaints.
