In these days when the world's leading economists are faced with the problem of feeding the starving millions of the United Nations, the word "nutrition" is on everybody's lips. Did you know that U.N.B. has, in her own quiet way, been adding to the general knowledge of nutrition for over a year? All over Canada the people of certain areas eat foods that are deficient in many of the essential elements of a good diet. This is particularly true of large areas of New Brunswick.

Biology Head . . .

Because of this fact, Dr. W. S. Hoar was able to interest the National Research Council in financing a survey of the native foods of N. B.

Through the cooperation of Dr. C. H. Best, Dr. Hoar was enabled to take a concentrated course in Nutrition Research Methods at Toronto University. He returned to U.N.B. in August, 1943. Our own University provided much of the basic equipment required, and N.R.C. contributed $2,000. to pay for technical assistance and special supplies. Miss Marjorie Barberie '41 was engaged as Research Assistant in August 1945, and has already completed the original project—an investigation of the riboflavin content of Atlantic Coast Fish. Many hitherto unknown facts about B2 in fish have been discovered, and the complete data is to be published shortly in the Canadian Journal of Research.

BLOOD BANK

L'I Abner gave ten gallons of blood and turned into a wooden Indian. But don't you worry, the most you can give is 420 cc. The junior foresters are still capable of wielding an axe and they have all been to the blood bank this week.

Soon, an Honor Roll of students who have donated blood will be placed in the Arts Building. If you want to have your name on that honored list, sign up for a donation. The following students have made donations since the commencement of the fall term:

FINAL BUDGET JUMPS $310.

Club Room to be In Memorial Hall

For many years the need for a Men's Common Room has been strongly felt, but never more than now. At the present time, with the friendly support being given the movement by President Gregg, the realization of such a piece is greatly heightened.

The Senate, which is in sympathy with this cause, has generously turned over the Electrical Laboratory in the Memorial Hall. This room, when it is vacated by the electrical Department around the first of the year, will be available to the students as a Common Room.

The room, although only a temporary substitute to fill the requirements of adequate Men's Rooms, will provide a large, pleasant gathering place. Here all the men can relax, talk and smoke in an atmosphere suitable to such action. Bridge will again be played by all the campus enthusiasts amidst congenial surroundings. Gambling and rough play will be strictly prohibited, and misdemeanor on this score will be severely dealt with.

Renovation, due to labor shortage, will take some time, but a livable Common Room should be a part of our campus by spring. The Common Room Committee during the fall months, will have the task of investigating the furniture problem in order to be prepared to open the room when renovations are completed. RESOURCES BOARD ORGANIZED HERE

Up the Hill this year is a new organization in connection with Forestry and Forest Information, has been established under Dr. H. J. Rowly. This organization, the New Brunswick Resources Development, sponsored by the Department of Lands and Mines, is headed by Dr. Rowly, Prof. H. E. D. Videto and K. B. Brown.

"The plan of this organization," said Mr. Brown, "is to survey all New Brunswick forests in order to plan more industries from forest products and to gather more information to enhance education along this line for the extension of the Forestry Department of this University." The organization, although still very young, has lost no time and already the study of aerial (Continued on page five)

S. C. M. ACTIVITIES

The S.C.M. held a successful meeting in the Y Rooms last Sunday evening. The meeting opened with a short devotional, read by Miss Eileen Wallace.

Brigadier Gregg then addressed the meeting. He complemented the organization on the worthwhile effort which the members are putting forth.

COUNCIL REDUCES SOCIAL, BOXING; CHANGES OTHERS

The final Budget Meeting of the team started off in the Math Lecture room on Wednesday, by quietly going through the business on hand.

Maynard Golt was accepted as Assistant Boxing Manager. Judge Harrison was approved as Honorary President of the S.R.C. A splendid report was handed in by the Rink Investigation Committee. The War Effort Committee was granted permission to hold an

Then everybody took a deep breath, the windows were opened, and the room plunged into the Budget. Getting the first budgets passed quickly, the Boxing budget created the first stop. There was a discussion on whether boxers would be running around in sweat shirts or bathrobes or neither and finally it was decided to let most (Continued on page five)

LOOKING AHEAD

I'm going mad! I am depressed, despondent, downcast and discouraged. I have the horrors. No sooner do I print the date of a forthcoming event when bang! the date changes. And no sooner do I see the column published when I hear of a dozen or so meetings that have crept up on me unawares. But don't give up. I'm right as often as the Residence clock.

Perhaps of interest to some students is the Art Centre on the campus. The observatory is to be opened on Sundays from 3.30 p.m. to 6 p.m. to allow those interested in art to see and participate in various phases of creative work being carried on in the province. Tea is served at 4.30 p.m.

Now that the student directory is out (for sale in the Library, and by Roy McInerney), we'll be able to find our friends. The directory is selling for 15c. The number of copies is sufficient to supply every (Continued on page five)

U. N. B. Foresters Attend Convention

That man is back again.

Harris Videto, well known to Freshmen for his encouragement to would-be draughtsmen, has returned from a trip to Syracuse, N.Y.

He and Ken Brown, U.N.B. extension Forester, attended a conference called by the New York State College of Forestry the largest forestry school in the United States, to discuss and hear about recent developments in wood products. The meetings were held on October 6 and 7 and consisted of a series of half-hour lectures by leaders in various fields of forestry. Some of the topics included in the two-day schedule were: transmuted wood; high frequency heating applied to bonding of wood; laminated timbers; resins and glues for marine use.

The conference was very well attended, as evidenced by the fact that at the banquet tendered the delegates, over 550 were present. Representation was made by four of our Canadian provinces; over 130 U. S. industries were represented and delegates were present from Great Britain, Australia and New Zealand. Thirty some companies sent in demonstrations: chairs, chair and chesterfield springs made of wood, aeroplane parts, resins and glues for plywoods and so on. Harris and Ken stayed over a few days after the conference and (Continued on page five)

CANADA'S POLICY WAS DISCUSSED

On Tuesday evening at eight o'clock, the International Relations Club met in the Ladies' Reading Room. For their first meeting of the year, the Club had quite a few students as well as several members of the faculty present. The panel discussion between Dr. Bailey and Dr. Pettie was cancelled, due to Dr. Pettie's illness. To replace this, members of the faculty led discussions on the chosen subject, "Canada's Foreign Policy".

Dr. Wright spoke briefly about the "Citizens' Forum" broadcasts and encouraged the members to form listening groups on the campus.

Mrs. Thompson mentioned that the Carnegie Endowment has sent many informative books for the (Continued on page five)

INDUCTION HELD

Sunday evening, the second meeting of the Newman Club for the fall term was held in St. Dunstan's Hall. The program commenced with a short business meeting at which Bill Gibson, the club president, was elected delegate to represent the organization at the Convention of the Newman Club Federation in Toronto.

Saturday evening, October 14, the Pre-Medical Society, for the first time in several years, began their season's activities with a banquet, which was held in the Castle Hall. Practically a complete turnout of the society attended the banquet, together with President Gregg, as guest of honor, Dr. Wm. S. Hoar, as special speaker, and two of our alumnae, Miss Marjorie Barberie and Miss Laelie Stevens.

After a very enjoyable dinner, Gordon Simpson, president of the Society, gave a few introductory remarks concluding with a toast to His Majesty, the King. Following this, at the request of the president, those present observed a half-minute silence as a token of remembrance to Walter Ross, who took an active part in the society.

President Gregg, welcomed by Gordon Simpson on behalf of the society, gave a few remarks of interest to the members. Finally, Dr. Hoar, the guest speaker was introduced. The topic of Dr. Hoar's address was "The Medical Profession in the Post War World." After a resume of the evolution of medicine through the centuries to its present-day form, Dr. Hoar gave very interesting views on his conception of medicine as it would be practiced in post-war years. His address was enthusiastically received by those present, and it formed a fitting conclusion to one of the most enjoyable meetings of the Pre-Medical Society ever held.

STAG DANCE

On Tuesday, October 10, the War Effort Committee met and made plans for this term. The first project is the War Effort Dance—in Memorial Hall, October 21, beginning at 8.30 p.m. Music will be provided by the Depot Orchestra. This is to be a stag dance—men 46c—ladies 24c. The proceeds are for a very worthy cause—the U.N.B. war charity fund. Everyone is welcome.

In addition to this dance, an apple day will be held, Tuesday, October 24. The co-eds will sell the apples. It is up to everyone to make these projects successful. We need not say that the cause is worthy of your support. You know that already. So help the war effort and have a good time as well.

SPORTS

ANNUAL FOOTBALL CLASSIC TOMORROW

Sports Shots

First of all this week we'd like to say a few words about the new faculty advisor on athletics—Major Jones. The major is a familiar sight at all varsity games and his interest and experience gleaned from playing on former U.N.B. teams makes him the ideal man for the job. In wartime the many restrictions which confront various varsity teams, cause the position of faculty advisor to be more important than ever and in Major Jones we have a man who will co-operate in doing whatever is possible to help the teams.

Pans are going ahead for a banner swimming season. Although nothing is definite yet, an inter-collegiate meet may be held here around the end of November. Dai in particular is interested.

After last week's game we must take our hats off to Moncton's R.A.F. They were a smart, experienced team. We were definitely in second place to them in that respect. But whatever our team lacked in this field, they made up in spirit, fight and drive. It made the difference between defeat and victory for U.N.B.

The Hillmen will play host to their old rivals — Mount A. — tomorrow at college field in the game of the year. The U.N.B. team has shown up well in the past two games, particularly against the R.A.F. and feel confident of taking the Garnet and Gold through again. Here we would like to say a few words about our old perennial rivals. For the past two or three years, Mt. A. in football and hockey particularly, have been taking it on the chin, many defeats and few victories. Yet they can come back each year full of spirit to take a crack at any challenging team. That's our idea of real courage—using the polite word. Congrats to you Mounties.

As far as U.N.B. goes we cannot say the same. Lately no more than twenty have been turning out. Even though we have a winning team, there is still no opposition for practice. If we had more like Johnny Bell, George Crofoot and others who, unless some accident occurs to a regular player, will spend most of the games on the bench, we could be a lot better. They are a big help but what about the other boys who don't turn out. Surely we don't have to take a back seat to Mt. A. in this matter.

The footballers lost a valuable man in Charlie Weyman last Saturday. Charlie suffered a neck injury which will keep him out of the game for the rest of the season. Coming back after serving overseas for the past three years, Charlie (Continued on page five)

Mt. A. Here For First Game of Home and Home Series

PEP RALLY

Time — Tonight 8 p.m. sharp
Place — Memorial Hall
Conditions — Rain or Shine

Once again we come to the night before the Mt. A. game. This is the night when we find out how much college spirit and life there is in the whole student body. For the purpose of increasing this spirit and having a lot of fun, the A.A.A. have gone to great effort to make this a Pep Rally long to be remembered. The student body will meet at Memorial Hall at 8 p.m. The "Master of ceremonies" will be that versatile sophomore, Joe Richards. Also Al Cameron will be there with a band. Our regular cheer leaders will be there also to lead the students in their yells and songs. The football team will be introduced individually to the gang, maybe we can have a few words from our football captain, Gordie Simpson. Then a torch parade will proceed down town, so don't forget your torches and faculty signs. After a tour of the "main drag", we will come back to college field. More yells and songs and King Argosy (thank you, Ladies Society) will be really "done up brown". Then at about 10 p.m. the rally will break up, everybody starts for home, to return 28 hours later, when the football team will put everything they have got into the task of gaining another victory over the "Mounties". This pep rally is for everybody—so everybody be there.

SET 'EM UP

We have been receiving many inquiries as to when the bowling league will start activities for the year. While it is heartening to know there is so much interest in the league, this year the outlook for the first term is not very good. As usual, the league is postponing its opening to give the students a chance to support the football team, which certainly deserves it. However, once the football season ends, we have two C.O.T.C. training days on Saturday, which will also interfere with the league's schedule.

We are organizing, though, and probably by the time you read this, the bulletin calling for members will have been posted. This is your notice, then, to get your name on the list in the Arts Building. Last year everybody had a swell time each game, with lots of razzing and cheering. We quote a clipping we found, reading as follows: "Psychiatrists recommend bowling as a (Continued on page five)

Tomorrow afternoon at 2.30, the old gridiron rivalry between Mt. A. and U.N.B. will be renewed when the varsity squad clashes with the Garnet and Gold in "the" rugby game of the season. Even if a Maritime championship series should come this way, the annual tussle with Mt. A. is always the highlight of the season.

Last year, the Red and Black triumphed in both games, winning at Mt. A. 12-3 and on the home field 18-0. This year the boys will be out there giving their best in an effort to keep up their fine record.

From the records of these two teams this season, it appears—on paper at least—that we have the better team. The varsity gained its second victory of the season last Saturday when it stopped the highly rated R.A.F. team from Moncton 3-0. This team had defeated Mt. A. 12-3 the previous week in their first game of the season. However, things that look pretty good on paper don't always work out to advantage on the field and the Red and Black are looking for a tough game with the Mounties, who always have plenty of the old fight—especially when they meet us. The game with the R.A.F. does not give a true picture of the Mounties' strength necessarily, as it was played three weeks ago, and a lot can be improved upon in that time (eh Howie?)

The football squad has had a tough time this year with regards to practices. But in spite of this factor, the team, with the exception of Charlie Weyman, who is out with a compressed vertebrae of the back, is in good shape for the big game. The lineup will probably be much the same as it was for last Saturday's game—with a few changes possible.

Stan Spicer will be in the fullback slot, playing his fourth and final series against Mt. A. On the three-quarter line Howie will probably have Mitton, Foster, McDiarmid and Ed Reid, who scored the game winning points last Saturday. The halves will be Fleming, Simpson and in all probability Jake Covey, who has been alternating with Weyman at the picking quarter this season. Starters in the scrum will be as last week's—Young, Scott, Miller, Dohoney, R. Andersen, Wicks, O'Brien.

U. Andersen, Wade, Bond, Bell, Crofoot and Morgan will be on hand in case of any casualties.

GYM. TEAM

Starting early in November, it is planned to organize an efficient men's gym team for the forthcoming year.

Last year, there was little or no interest shown in gym work and as a result, there was no organized team, and no gym display.

By merely glancing around the campus, any intelligent person can easily see that there are a lot of these freshmen and upperclassmen who would be capable of making up a team and showing the rest of the college what beautiful physiques they have, or can have (provided that gold paint is on hand and the lighting effects at the display are functioning properly of course).

If you can't walk away at the end of 'the first workout, don't let it bother you! There are spare beds for cripples in the gym and the co-eds will render first aid if necessary.

Seriously though, fellows, if a man has any ability at all, and is willing to come to the bi-weekly practices, (on Tuesday and Thursday evenings) he will stand a good chance of making the team.

If enough of the "boys" do turn out, there will be our supposedly annual gala gym display in the spring, with both the men and the co-eds of the programme.

So, if you wish to build yourself up, or keep in shape, come on down to the gym next month. There is a lovely lay-out, and the best of equipment is available. It's a shame to waste such an opportunity!

BOXING

Up until now, the mitt-men around the campus have not had a chance to don the gloves. However, with practices starting this week, all those who can carry a glove will have the opportunity to exhibit their prowess under the watchful eye of Mr. Laskey, who is back with us again this year. Boxing is one sport up the hill that doesn't get all the credit and merit that it deserves. The boys practise practically the whole scholastic year, and last year they only had one meet. Boxing also is a paying sport, and last year the team con- (Continued on page five)

Varsity Edges R.A.F.

What a game! What a team! What a rain! I am afraid that Mt. A. is in for a tough time this Saturday.

Saturday brought the most exciting game of the season with the R.A.F. team from No. 31 Depot at Moncton. This team was definitely hot stuff and it was just an extra push that the varsity found in the final minutes that gave us the victory. The teams were equally balanced and it is not likely that U.N.B. will meet any tougher opposition this year.

The game started with U.N.B. taking the kick-off, and after a short aerial exchange, the ball ended up in the centre zone. Now for the first scrum! Could our boys hold the flyers? U.N.B. heeled out. Everyone nodded and thought "this is going to be easy." But they were mistaken. Our boys had to fight every inch of the way. The R.A.F. stayed on the attack throughout the half and broke up the varsity's plays before they hardly started. Our boys slowly moved down the field time after time and then the Flyers would get a break away and the drive would have to start all over again. The tackling was hard, with the scrum bearing the brunt of it.

The first half was a terrific battle with plenty of tackling and aerial exchanges taking place. U.N.B. scrum took the largest number of heels but the R.A.F. scrum out-dribbled the hillmen with such success that only brilliant plays and stiff tackling by individual U.N.B. men prevented tries from going over the line. Stan Spicer, U.N.B. fullback, was certainly one of the "Three Stars". Time after time during the game Stan was last man to beat but his tackling and kicking stopped the plays and sent them reeling back to the other end of the field. During the first half Stan stopped the Air Force right on the line. That play alone entitles him to one of the "stars". The game then went racing back to the R.A.F. line where the opposing fullback, O'Donovan, captain of his team, put up that necessary last minute opposition sufficient to keep "the boys" from going over. His long punting and level headed plays (Continued on page five)

Wish for Age of Chivalry to be Revived Yearn for Football Shoulders and Lively Conversationalists

Men, have you often wondered, "Gee, what's the matter with me? Everyone but the right one, etc"? Well, here are your answers. I've asked a co-ed here and there to picture her ideal man, and the result—is most interesting! They all vary, so the range is wide and most of you will have a decent chance. While the general consensus of opinion seems to be, "Clark Gable or equivalent, if you can get him," most of the girls seem to think it is what is inside the head and heart that counts. So boys, here's a chance to get a few tips to remould your personality and character. What nature's done, she has done, so try to work on whatever is within the realm of possibility. Perhaps you'll find yourself pictured as an ideal (although it is generally conceded he is pretty scarce). If you're not the first one, read on, perhaps you'll be the next, or the next.

Our first girl wants a man with lots of pep and vigour. Football players would have a good break, too. But, then, I'll let her tell you. "Will I ever find the man in my mind?"

The one who is my ideal." Well, I sometimes wonder. He will, of course, have a positive personality, lots of pep and enthusiasm. He should be an interesting talker, not one of those men who sits back and expects you to carry on a conversation all by your lonesome. It is not necessary to string a big long line because the novelty of that wears off leaving the girl with a bad impression. A gal likes a man to be sincere at least once in a while. CO-EDS PICTURE IDEAL MAN

Men, have you ever wondered, "Gee, what's the matter with me? Everyone but the right one, etc"? Well, here are your answers. I've asked a co-ed here and there to picture her ideal man, and the result is most interesting! They all vary, so the range is wide and most of you will have a decent chance. While the general consensus of opinion seems to be, "Clark Gable or equivalent, if you can get him," most of the girls seem to think it is what is inside the head and heart that counts. So boys, here's a chance to get a few tips to remould your personality and character. What nature's done, she has done, so try to work on whatever is within the realm of possibility. Perhaps you'll find yourself pictured as an ideal (although it is generally conceded he is pretty scarce). If you're not the first one, read on, perhaps you'll be the next, or the next.

Our first girl wants a man with lots of pep and vigour. Football players would have a good break, too. But then, I'll let her tell you. "Will I ever find the man in my mind? The one who is my ideal." Well, I sometimes wonder. He will, of course, have a positive personality, lots of pep and enthusiasm. He should be an interesting talker, not one of those men who sits back and expects you to carry on a conversation all by your lonesome. It is not necessary to string a big long line because the novelty of that wears off leaving the girl with a bad impression. A gal likes a man to be sincere at least once in a while. They say the age of chivalry is dead and on looking around one really begins to believe that. So few men pay attention to good manners and it really means a lot to be treated with a little consideration.

Then here is the matter of good looks. This is not a "must". Of course we girls are not unaware of your charming countenances, boys, but they are not a pass to popularity. Nor are we unappreciative of broad shoulders and a good physique. Every nice girl loves a football player or his equivalent. A guy is certainly well-liked who is good at sports and naturally he must also be a good sport.

We all like somebody who knows his way around and who knows how to dress. We don't insist on Casanova in person but we like to think we're not the first gal he has dragged. It may be all right to turn up at the Pre-Med Barn Dance wearing three different plaids but for ordinary tearing around please stick to only one. In speaking of my ideal, it is, I hope, understood that it is next to impossible to find a man who possesses all the desirable qualities which to me make him acceptable. Don't be scared boys, I am really not so hard to please.

Our second co-ed seems to have her ideal pretty well formulated ("Lucky guy! And as you read on, you'll say, "Humm! Lucky gal, too!"). If we see you blonde six-footers out trying to improve your skating this winter, we'll know the reason why. Read on. Humm! I'll take one of these myself, too, please.

"The old question—what sort of man does a girl fall for? Confidently, boys, we like all of you, but this time I am supposed to be describing my ideal. He's tall, six foot one, weighs one hundred and seventy-five pounds, has blonde curly hair and blue eyes. You will know him by the dare-devil twinkle in his eyes. Incidentally, if you take a good look around the campus, you might be able to find someone who looks like him. He is gay and full of fun and can think up more mischief in one half hour than most people do in a lifetime. Yet he has lots of good sense too and brains—yes sir! But if he makes up his mind, right or wrong, absolutely nothing could change it. He's as generous as can be. He is the sort of person who makes friends easily. He knows everyone and everyone's business. Just has a genuine liking for people. You may notice that I have not mentioned his faults, they are easily overlooked. So cheer up, boys, your good points probably outweigh your bad ones too. Do you want to know his greatest accomplishment? Skating! He is a wizard on ice. You ought to know him, Mave! He's good at other sports too, in fact he can do almost anything well. I love that boy! It has been said that the only boy a girl is sure of having or her very own is one with buck teeth and crossed eyes. But thanks, I'll take the personality and the looks too and try my luck. For further information, girls, apply to "Joe".

Our next co-ed pictures a male who appreciates a home life. He's perhaps not perfect, but, gosh, he's nice and comfortable company. I can smell those tobacco-scented tweeds now. Start lighting those pipes now, fellas.

"My ideal man is tall and has dark eyes. He generally wears good tweed clothes, and he always smokes a pipe.

He loves to lounge dreamily in front of an open fire-place (he detests grates) on a cold winter night.

He has a grand sense of humour and laughs at every situation. And his laugh is deep and spontaneous. He hates to get up in the morning, and is grouchy when he does get up. But he always kisses me good-bye.

His clothes are always strewn around the bedroom, and he leaves the bathroom in a mess. He can never find anything, even when it is right where he left it, but I can forgive him because he never gets cross when I don't return his lead in a no-trump hand. Oh, yes, he may forget our anniversary, but he never forgets my birthday.

Friendliness and discretion seem to play a large part with our fourth co-ed, but oh, oh—he doesn't seem to be here on the campus.

"As I sit here in Freshman Math watching the "campus heroes" file reluctantly into class, a picture of a different campus hero flashes into my mind. Where had I seen him, I asked myself. He must surely have been a dream, for I certainly have never seen him on this campus.

Here is my ideal. I present him as a possible campus hero of the future. A fairly tall man, he is of a strong, sturdy build, yet not the caveman type. He is the sort you meet on the campus, welcoming you with a whole-hearted smile and a friendly, passing word.

Wearing a leather jacket and tweed trousers, he walks briskly to a surveying or chemistry lecture. Most of the year he's seen without a hat, much less one of those inde-

CO-ED CAPERS

By Marion Morrison

The Freshettes are really in the news this week. To begin with on Saturday last they put on the much looked forward to Freshette Banquet. We might add that it certainly lived up to our expectations. Mrs. Milton Gregg, Dr. Louise Thompson, Miss Alathier Warren Miss Edith MacLeod and Miss M. L. Whimster were guests of honour. The banquet was, putting it mildly, a masterpiece, the food was wonderful and the organizing ability shown by our '48-ers was marvellous to behold. A great deal of credit goes to the committee (Helen Gibson, Ann Gibson, Pat Wright and Joan Ross) as well as to each and every freshette. Helen Gibson represented the freshettes at the head table and on their behalf, acknowledged the sincere thanks expressed by Marion Morrison.

In preparation for the Pep Rally Friday night, a committee under the leadership of Frankie MacLean began Wednesday afternoon, constructing or rather creating a garment and gold effigy. After seeing the results of their work, we are sure that even Mount Allison would be pleased with it.

On Tuesday afternoon at 4.30, Dr. Louise Thompson and Miss Louise Whimster entertained at an enjoyable tea for the Freshettes. Mrs. Milton Gregg and Mrs. Marjorie Thompson were also guests.

Miss Jean King, Secretary of the Y.W.C.A. in Fredericton, spoke to the Co-eds on Monday morning. Jean used to go up the Hill herself and so knew many of the girls. Her talk on Physical Fitness and Health was most interesting as well as educational. She gave us many helpful pointers and each co-ed is now checking up on her posture. Don't be surprised if you should have someone give you a nudge and say, "Pardon me but your knees are hyper-extended."

scribable, battered pieces of felt, which one can observe (though tries not to) on this campus. There's such a thing as college style, but . . .

Although he's interested particularly in mechanics and engineering, he takes an interest in politics and public speaking. Being an interesting conversationalist, praise Allah, he knows when he says enough (not like a couple of our well-known Sophomores).

Whether on the football field or the basketball floor he always has the rules of good sportsmanship in view.

So, when you go down the street and see some one of this type, with laughing eyes and a friendly smile, you'll recognize him as "my ideal".

So fellas, get out Emily Post's "Etiquette". Turn out for football. Take L'il Abner's advice for strength and pep, and then come Sadie Hawkins' Dance and Co-ed Week your problems will be solved.

Another Suggestion . . .

A Budget Meeting, such as we had last Wednesday, brings to the fore certain problems and differences of opinion that have been occupying thinking people's minds since last spring. Budget meetings, like football games, are usually hashed over and in these post mortems, lingering opinions of these students that think a lot but say very little, often come to the fore.

Among the many discussonal items that have come up is the Newman Club's budget. It has probably received more "unofficial" attention than any one of the dozen other organizational budgets. The general opinion seems to be that the Newman Club was operating within its S. R. C. approved constitutional rights, but that the religious organizations should, in the future, be denied the privilege of budgeting for money as was suggested. This opinion has been accepted in order to keep from this non-sectarian campus the division that so often results from so-called "religious favoritism".

The leveling principal involved is undoubtedly a solution but, as so often happens, the one answer that was suggested has been accepted as the best possible one. The majority of students appear to be satisfied that all support to these valuable organizations should be cut off immediately and that they should be thrown on their own limited means. It would appear that we are going to limit religion to the Church and are going to cease supporting it from the campus.

The obvious answer to the whole problem, it appears must include some sort of equality, or the proposal would be neither workable nor logical. Yet to cut these worthy organizations from their only dependable means of financial support seems to be very drastic indeed. From these arguments we see that a logical and workable solution would be to give each society that embodies religious concepts in its purpose an equal amount of money each year, and also the right to raise further money on the campus in such ways as they see fit. This arrangement continues to give the Newman Club and the Student Christian Movement the support to which they are due while at the same time permits the S. C. M. to sell Directories and sponsor dances; the Newman Club to levy its members and conduct its entertainments.

Please . . .

We are, as is everyone these days, limited in our supply of materials. Enough papers are printed so that each student may receive one copy—but only one. To ensure that everyone has the opportunity of obtaining a copy of The Brunswickan it is expedient that you co-operate and take only one paper from the Hall of the Arts Building.

Looking Around

C. U. P.

We read in the "Ubysey" (U.B.C.) of many speeches Dr. Norman MacKenzie has made since the college opened.

Hopelessly overcrowded post-war universities are a definite possibility in his opinion.

In an address to the U.B.C. Social Problems Club, Dr. MacKenzie pointed out that the number of returned men entering U.B.C. after the war would be considerable.

He expressed the hope that "every returned man who wants to come back to university will be guaranteed the opportunity."

Dr. MacKenzie as leader of the government and Dr. J. A. Crumb as leader of the opposition, were the principle debaters at the opening meeting of the Parliamentary Forum.

One, Bill Barrett, London authority on Photographic beauty, is sponsoring a contest in conjunction with The Gazette (undergraduate newspaper of the University of Western Ontario) to choose the loveliest co-ed of all. The selection will be made from a series of eighteen pictures to appear weekly until March. He will finance a trip to New York City, with accommodations at an internationally famous hotel for the lovely winner.

Moreover he will provide for her a letter of introduction to John Robert Powers, one of America's foremost beauty experts.

Basis of selection will be on photographic qualities. Barrett specified. The complete co-ed class is eligible.

The resignation of President H. J. Cody to take effect June 30, 1945, has been accepted with regret by the Board of Governors of the University of Toronto. Dr. Bruce MacDonald, chairman of the board, announced October 12. The appointment of Dr. Sydney Smith, new principal of University College as president elect was confirmed, to take effect July 1, 1945.

Canon Henry John Cody was born in Ontario and was educated at Galt Collegiate Institute and the University of Toronto.

In addition to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts and Master of Arts at the University, his Alma Mater added the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws. Queens University conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Divinity as did also Trinity University and Knox College.

Among other honors, the President has been awarded the degree of LL.D. by seven universities.

At one time, Dr. Cody held the portfolio of Minister of Education for the Province of Ontario. In 1932 he resigned from the pulpit to become President of the University. Prior to acceptance of this office, he was chairman of the Board of Governors.

His successor, Dr. Smith, was formerly President of the University of Manitoba. A graduate of Dalhousie, Harvard, Queens and Acadia Universities, he has been a lecturer in law, a noted author and assistant editor of the Canadian Bar Review.

CANADIAN CAMPUS— A CUP Service

'48 ACROSS CANADA

Throughout Canada, stories are being poured into the Canadian University Press, recounting tales of freshman woes and pleasures. From all reports we find that freshman classes are the largest on record, due perhaps to the favourable turn of the war, and to the enrolment of discharged servicemen. Frosh reception is in progress, and here are a few highlights from initiations across the Dominion:

University of Manitoba

Winnipeg, October 12.—(CUP)—Freshies at the University of Manitoba are really taking over. F-Day, on October 12 promises to be one of the feature dates on the Frosh's calendar, when the Freshie Queen and Freshie King will be chosen. "Beauty of physique and regal carriage respectively will be the deciding factors."

Queen's University

Kingston, October 12.—(CUP)—Hundreds of freshmen, freshettes and upperclassmen crowded the gymnasium on Wednesday, October 5th, when the Frosh reception formally opened the Queen's social season. All in all, the evening was very successful. Fickle males delighted to see such pretty Freshettes and the co-eds delighted to see so many men.

University of Toronto

Toronto, October 12.—(CUP)—Freshies here are bewildered and weary. The reason? The poor unsuspecting frosh have been awakened in the dead of night by sophs and put through a routine of eating cold, wet, oatmeal, macaroni worms, and other delectable delicacies.

The Varsity has noted the remarks of upperclassmen, commenting on the new crop of freshies, to wit: "Non-essential, but nice."

McGill University

Montreal, October 12.—(CUP)—The McGill frosh attacked the city's night clubs en masse on their annual "Madcap March", disrupting traffic on St. Catherine Street until they were forced to withdraw "due to circumstances beyond their control."

University of British Columbia

Vancouver, October 12.—(CUP)—Freshie rules here included: freshettes are not to wear any lipstick, rouge, powder, nail polish or any form of make-up whatsoever; freshettes must wear their placards listing name, address and phone number, and they must wear green goggles. Frosh and freshies must not be seen together on the campus, and frosh must doff their hats and relinquish their seats in the library or the cafeteria to all upperclassmen.

University of Western Ontario

London, October 12.—(CUP)—Minor offenders of freshman reception rules were forced to shine shoes under the clock, as upperclassmen availed themselves of the opportunity for free shines for an entire afternoon. A member of the committee led a noisy snake dance from Victoria Park to the Capitol Theatre, where an appropriate picture was playing. After nine o'clock, the frosh were herded back to Western for an evening of dancing and refreshments.

of them wear some form of clothes. Then came the blackmark of the evening. Hours were wasted, people raved, unnoticed persons suddenly flashed to the fore, the members of the S.R.C. showed the feebleness of their thoughts. A double motion was passed, then controversy raged over its meaning. The Seniors handed together, the secretary jumped to his feet. Another motion was passed. All this was on the subject of whether the Newman Club should receive a budget or not. After realizing that the S.R.C. has a constitution, the members finally came to their senses and passed the budget.

Then followed a lot of foolish talk on the Social Committee. Naturally, nobody got anywhere. Finally the budget, after reductions, passed.

The Rink Budget was tabled but a lump sum was granted.

A brilliant mind conceived the idea that the number of Gym Police attending certain events be cut down. He didn't mention the number or how, but the idea was greeted enthusiastically.

The I.R.C. skillfully passed off a large budget brought up on the spur of the moment. It passed in about three seconds flat.

By now only a skeleton of supporters remained in the room and the last budget, after a short discussion and small reduction, passed successfully.

We find, that in spite of all our hard efforts, the Budget advanced $210.15 to a total expenditure of 3,812.72 with an income of 4,995.15.

its grant to $2,200, and the scope of the problem was enlarged to include a survey of the vitamin content of edible wild plants of New Brunswick. In this province, the vitamins most deficient in the general diet, are those found in the leafy parts of plants. Some "weeds" are eaten as "greens" in certain areas, and the nutrition workers hope to popularize many "weeds" which they have discovered to be vitamin stores.

Last summer, Don Davidson '46 was engaged to collect native plants and Miss Mary Murray '44 assisted Miss Barberie in analyzing them. Dr. C. W. MacMillan of the Department of Health, realizing the value of this work, urged his Department to provide extra assistance, so Miss Leslie Stevens '44 is busy investigating the vitamin C content of these same plants.

It is Dr. Hoar's ambition to establish the Nutrition Centre of the province here. With this in view, the Department of Biology has co-operated fully with the Department of Health in obtaining financial assistance from the Rockefeller Foundation to study the status of Nutrition in N. B. A grant of $15,000, to be used over a three-year period, has been provided for this work. Actual field work has not yet started because of lack of trained personnel, but at present Miss Joan Webb M.D., of Saint John, is being trained in Nutrition and Public Health at Toronto, and next March she will come to U.N.B. to direct dietary surveys. That old grey stone building Up-the-Hill may look calm and unafflicted to the casual observer, but there's a hive of industry up there under the roof.

THERE'S more to running a house than cooking meals and darnin' socks. It's a business . . . and a highly skilled business at that.

The woman of the house is a combination business manager, nurse and chancellor of the exchequer. Hers is the job, among other things, of planning the family budget and making it behave. Good training for this important job is to practice thrifty habits while you are a student. Follow the practice of making do on a little less than actual cash available. Start now to build . . . by slow degrees if necessary . . . a fund of personal savings. One effective method is to use spare quarters to buy War Savings Stamps. We sell them over the counter at all branches.

Looking Ahead

(Continued from page one) student with one, so don't be left behind. Get your copy immediately. The mixed volleyball league still needs players. You can join in on the fun by signing the poster in the Arts Building. League games are to be played each Tuesday and Thursday at 7 p.m. for one month. Intramural basketball has already started. The schedule is published in the Arts Building.

A C.O.T.C. reminder—all new students at the University should be sure to remember their regimental numbers as published in Part I orders, now posted in the Arts Building. Here are a few dates for you to remember: Friday, October 20. At noon the Foresters have a meeting, and they expect a full turnout.

Friday, October 20. Friday evening is the night of the Pep Rally. Is it going to be full of college spirit? Is it going to be peppy? It won't be if you don't turn out.

Saturday, October 21. That's a big day. The highlight of the football season, the Mount A. game, will be played in the afternoon. We are hoping Al will have his band organized, and so add to the pleasures of the day.

Saturday, October 21. The evening, after the game, will see Memorial Hall bulging with life. The W.E.C. stag dance looks like lots of fun. If you haven't been haunted by ticket sellers, you'll be able to get four tickets at the door. Note the cut rates: Stags 46c; Stagettes 24c.

Sunday, October 22. You Chirpsters! It's the Glee Club that's calling you. A meeting is being held at 2.30 p.m. We need a better Glee Club this year. How about you, support?

Friday, October 27. The Foresters take the lead in entertainment. Remember the date. It will be a good dance. The piece is the calisthenic—Memorial Hall.

Saturday, October 28. We hope students are planning to go to Sackville to see the U.N.B.—Mount A. game. The team will appreciate it if we lend a hand.

Betty Brewster, one of our Juniors, is to be congratulated on winning a prize for her article on "What I Saw at a Street Crossing." This prize was awarded by the New Brunswick branch of the Canadian Women's Press Club. We're proud of you Betty and think the prize well deserved.

That's all for this week. I'll see you Saturday, at the football game.

Boxing

Forming the back bone of this year's team will be Charlie Bunker, captain, Ed Napke and Frank Dohaney, all of whom were on the team last year.

Men in all divisions are needed from flyweight to heavyweight. So if you have any ability in the squared circle, come out and help support the boxing team.

Resources Board

One of these assistants is J. G. Lockhart, "Jerry" to most of us, who is acting as assistant forester to Mr. Brown. Jerry graduated last spring from the Forestry Department of U.N.B. as a forest engineer. You will also remember him as captain of and a brilliant player on last year's basketball team.

Sport Shots

(Continued from page two) resumed his education in his junior year where he had left off in '41. We hope the injury isn't too serious. Charlie and the team will miss you in there behind that scrum.

Acadia meets St. F. X. this Saturday in the first game of the N. S. Intercollegiate finals. Did they forget about our "friends" from Dalhousie—but that's their worry. If we eliminate Mt. A. and possibly St. Dunstan's, then we intend to meet the N. S. winner for the Maritime title.

Odds 'n Ends - - - The Pep Rally is tonight at 8. Don't forget it gang - - - Thanks to the army for the opposition they supply for our practise. - - - Ed Reid's touch-down against the R.A.F. will long be remembered - - - The budget meeting last night was more like a young dog-profit over some matters—"all take and no give". - Adios for now.

Set 'em Up

(Continued from page two) mental relaxation. As one expert puts it: "Bowling permits the most strait-laced citizen to unbend long enough to blast into utter confusion a regimental array of ten neatly arranged objects to the cheers of his compatriots. For 15 cents you can make a shambles and a hell of a racket without apologizing to a soul and you can derive excellent exercises at the same time." That expresses the idea of the game pretty well. All are welcome, good bowlers and bad. It takes all kinds to make up the league, and last year averages ranged from 55 to 105. Make sure to get in on the fun. The only stipulation we make is this: if you sign up, plan to be present for all of your team's games. We will probably be bowling Saturday afternoon, as we did last year.

As a parting word, we should like to express our regret in the tragic death of Walter Ross last spring. Walter was one of our best and most-liked Lowlers, and we shall all remember him as a real sportsman.

Varsity Edges

(Continued from page two) throughout the whole game entitle him to one of the 'Stars'. The third "star" I give to Reid who made himself "hero of the day" by scaling the other try in a very smooth play and very late in the game. The score was made from a serum on the 25-yard line. The ball came out of the serum and due to its wetness, could not be handled and came bouncing out to one side. Dohaney grabbed it, made a mad dash for the line only to go down as he passed the ball to Reid. Reid passed to MacDiarmid who with head down, charged for the line. He was tackled but he passed back to Reid, who flashed around to the outside and went over the line standing up to touch the ball down in good position.

On the convert Dohaney let the ball touch the ground too soon which allowed the R.A.F. to rush the ball and smother the kick.

Jake Foster stopped one sure attempt at a critical stage of the game. The R.A.F. retaliated by taking his pants. Johnny Bell gave his pants to the cause and play went on. That wasn't funny; that

Induction

(Continued from page one) session, the induction of new members took place. This induction, a new venture on the part of the club, had as its purpose, a means of giving the new members a better understanding of the club, and of instilling in them the spirit which prevails throughout it. The actual ceremony in which the masked applicants were paraded before the robed executive in a candlelit setting, had a very profound effect upon all the inductees.

At the conclusion of the impressive ceremony the social committee served refreshments. During this time the old members extended their personal welcome to the newcomers. The meeting concluded with a hearty sing-song led by the chaplain, Father Gillis.

Canada's Policy

(Continued from page one) I.R.C. to the Library. That the development and preservation of freedom of expression should be one of the aims of the I.R.C. was the theme of a brief address by President Gregg. He recalled that in 1940 the Hun might have reached this continent. Had this happened, true thought would have been destroyed. Leading up to the feature of the evening, President Gregg remarked that the Department of External Affairs is sensitive to public opinion.

Next, Dr. Bailey drew a clear sketch of Canada's traditional foreign policy—one of no commitments from the time of Sir John A. MacDonald to very recent years. This extreme reticence led, in the thirties, to the feeling that we had no foreign policy.

It was pointed out that Canada has now risen from one of the smaller powers to one—although she is the smallest—of the great powers of the world.

was serious. What do you think Jake?

The best minute description of the game was: "It was like a whole game of over time with both sides trying to get that one important score."

'Shorty' Clark refereed the game and handed out plenty of penalties. The R.A.F. was penalized for off-sides mainly and U.N.B. for falling to observe the yard rules on offside.

DEBATING SOCIETY

The oldest Society on the campus held its first meeting in the oldest building on the campus last Thursday. A new president, Mort Margolian was elected. Plans for the term were discussed. The club intends to hold one and possibly two inter-collegiate debates as well as to send a delegate to M.I.D.U.

The next meeting will be held Monday, October 23. There will be a debate: Resolved that Co-eds Should Take C.O.T.C. Training. All attending will be welcome as well as new members to the club who want to learn or get help in debating.

deat gave a short talk on the do's and don'ts of the club, climaxed by his "I'm not here to entertain you like Jack Benny" which produced beaming smiles on all concerned.
Bob Lawrence gave a short talk on the Acadian Conference which he attended during the Thanksgiving weekend. He informed us that the S.C.M. is very different in other places regarding the social aspect which predominates in our college. He also informed us that by crook or by other fair means, the club is going to donate $75 to the National S.C.M.

Scoop by "Snoop":

Off on a new tangent this week. After our delving into the subconscious last week, we come to a new phase, or better, return to an old theme. That theme being an old-fashioned game of "Truth or Consequences." Naturally you want the truth and we will give it to you as best we know it after sitting in on a game of the same last week.

To Jack Jeans was put the question, "Is Margaret Vince your ideal woman?" We must confess his reply was a stammering one but in so many words, "... a very intellectual personality, perfect young lady. I don't think the question of love is a factor."

Breaking the train of the theme for a moment, this item should be included here. For your information, it came through the editor. It is a letter to Margaret Vince: "Margare Vince you are the loveliest girl I have ever met. You are sincere, honest and your eyes are beautiful. What's more you are wasted on Jack Jeans."

Signed: John Baxter
We asked Marie Graham who stood No. 1 in her date book and she preferred the consequences. On the other hand John Weyman and Paul Gland were for renaming her "Queen of the Sophettes". It may be the fact that John had her to the show Friday night and Paul occupied most of her dancing at Y next evening.

To Marion Morrison went the question, "Is Dave Whittingham creating a triangle in your life?" Her quite definite reply was negative. However, counter this with the fact that Ted Owens is being seen more with John Baxter on the weekends that Dave comes home.

A social is being planned by the club social committee. It will take place the same week that Miss Harriet Christie, the National S.C. M. associate secretary, will be in Fredericton. A programme committee under Roy McInerney, was formed.

Discussion groups on various subjects, will start soon under the guidance of Mrs. Thompson and other capable leaders.

ENGINEERING MEET.

The first meeting of the Engineering Society was held on Thursday, October 12 in the Math lecture room. A very large turnout was registered and all new students were cordially welcomed, and introduced themselves to the meeting.

Matters of routine business were discussed and among them was the election of an Honorary President. Our University President was elected to this office.

A new feature of the meeting was a short talk by several of the Juniors and Seniors in which they told the gathering of their summer's work; this proved very enjoyable to all present and especially to the new students who were able to gather an idea of what Engineering is really like and what branch of the field they would like to go into after graduation. The topics discussed included highway construction, airport construction, electrical services, assembly line production and topographical surveying.

The meeting was in the nature of a smoker and at the close refreshments were served to all present.

Four Colleges Announce

At least four Canadian Universities have announced their intention to cut the training hours for junior and senior students. Other Universities are expected to announce the adoption of the new Ottawa ruling shortly. Following is a summary of C.U.P. stories from those Universities which have already accepted the new plan:

Toronto

Lt.-Col. H. H. Madill, Community Officer of the University of Toronto C.O.T.C., stated that training periods would be carried on as usual, until a total of 60 hours have been completed. Although this will cut the amount of work covered, it should not affect the status of the student when he joins the active service.

Students, in an already accelerated plan of training, as in medicine, are unaffected by this ruling.

Just how many students will be affected by the new ruling is not at present known.

Cokes Back On Campus

The famine up the hill has been averted. No longer will we wander about the campus with half starved looks on our innocent faces. No longer will we wonder where the next coke, polar bar or cigarette is coming from. The solution to our nutritive problems has been solved by the new tuck shop which opened this week in the Gym, under the management of Mrs. Don Mersereau.

The tuck shop is situated where the former kitchen used to be. It has been converted into a pleasant little shop having its entrance in the left corridor off the main lobby. The shop, divided by a counter, has one half of the room for the equipment and merchandise, and the other portion for the students.

Suitable seating accommodations have been provided for the students. The shop will sell the usual run of merchandise and will also serve light lunches at noon hours, for the convenience of students living a distance from the campus.

ARTSMEN PEP UP

"With a substantially increased membership, the Arts Society should, this year, be an active organization on the campus," said Miss Fran MacLean, the Society's president.

A short meeting was held in the Philosophy Lecture Room on Thursday, October 19, at one o'clock. Among the plans discussed was an amendment to the constitution. If the S.R.C. approves, the Club will have an honorary president, also, the professors of the liberal arts subjects will be made honorary (Continued on page five)
