

CARMEL

Sunday School was the only service at this appointment on Sunday. Mrs. W. Simmons has returned from Peterboro where she has been attending the branch meeting of the W. M. S.

SALEM

The two fine rains which have come within the last two weeks have served to break the drought and improved the looks of the crops to a great extent.

Three merry carloads of young people from this neighborhood held a picnic at, and attended the opening of the Sandbanks.

Mr. and Mrs. Jackson, son and daughter of West Lake, visited at C. W. Ferguson's on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman Murphy, and son, Allan, and Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Sager of this community left on Wednesday last for a trip to Sarina and other points of interest in Western Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Adams of South Lakeside, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hennessey of this neighborhood motored to Oshawa and spent over Sunday with friends there.

C. M. Kemp is drawing gravel for a new cement fence. Chas. Ferguson and David Tripp have started again at cement work.

There will be no service in our church next Sunday as our minister, Rev. Mr. Campbell, will be at Conference.

The superintendents of the Sunday schools of Ameliasburg and the officers of the Sunday School Convention will meet Tuesday evening at Centre Church to decide on the question of a union picnic for the township.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Wannamaker and family spent Sunday at C. M. Kemp's. A large crowd from this neighborhood attended the Prince Edward County Sunday School convention which was held in Albany Church on Friday.

Mr. Neville Gooding is shingling his house with metal. Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Alyea entertained company from the Creek on Sunday.

Ernie Tripp had the misfortune to damage his engine while returning from the Sandbanks last Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Halton Spencer spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Seymour.

HALLOWAY

Owing to the dry season the May crop in this section of the country is very light. The shower on Saturday night will aid the spring grain which is looking fairly good.

5TH LINE SIDNEY

A serious accident occurred to Mr. Roy Bush on Monday night while turning some horses to pasture, when one of the animals kicked him in the arm and face, breaking the bone in the forearm in two places and sustaining several bruises about the face.

Mr. Reuben Chard spent Saturday with his brother, Mr. Clarence Chard. Quite a number from here attended the unveiling of the monument at Frankford on Wednesday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Breeze, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Bush motored from Brighton and spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Bush.

Mr. Lorne Herman spent the week end at his home here. Mr. and Mrs. Alex Bush spent Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Bush, Frankford.

Strawberries are ripening but there is not a very heavy crop this year. Mrs. Martin Donohue, Mrs. W. Hanna and Mrs. Easton Donohue took tea at Mrs. Hubble's, Frankford on Thursday.

Mr. Horace Yateman, of Oshawa, spent Wednesday with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. George Babcock and Mrs. Babcock of Belleville, Mrs. Ann Brickman, of Rednewville, also Mr. and Mrs. J. Hanna took dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. Cole.

Mr. and Mrs. Bradshaw visited at Mr. Wes. Brandshaw's on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sills and Mr. and Mrs. Will Yateman spent Monday at Mr. W. Park's, Plainfield.

Mr. S. Cooley entertained company on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Walter Sills visited at Mr. D. Phillips' on Sunday.

Mrs. Will Yateman entertained company on Sunday. The missionary meeting at Mrs. C. Cole's was well attended. The next meeting will be held on July 14 at the home of Mrs. John Ritz.

A number from this vicinity attended the concert given by the W. I. at Demerestville. Mrs. James Hallett spent last week with her father, Mr. Sam Stimpkins, at Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Warden of Belleville, spent Sunday with friends here. Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kerr and Miss Minnie Robson of Thomasburg Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Kerr of Marmora, motored down and spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Kerr and family.

Anniversary services next Sunday in Knox church and tea on Monday. A number in this vicinity are suffering with La Grippe.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Ayhart visited friends at Barr's on Monday. Mr. Wilson Stonecove has improved their residence with a fresh coat of paint.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Rathbun spent Wednesday with Albert Lout, Ameliasburg. Quite a number attended the Sunday School convention at Albany and all report a grand success.

Miss E. Keading spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. H. Rathbun. The welcome rain that came on Saturday night will improve crops greatly.

A number from around here took in the show on Wednesday last. The Ladies' Aid of the Stone Church intend holding an ice-cream and strawberry festival on the 23rd of June.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Harris took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Bacon, of Belleville, on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. H. Tweedie, of Thurlow, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. Pope.

Glad to report that Mrs. H. Jeffrey is improving. On Monday last the ladies of this appointment turned out and cleaned the church in a new cement and also erecting a new light for outside.

We had a grand rain on Saturday night and the crops are looking much better. Mr. and Mrs. R. Workman, of Trenton, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. H. Datoe motored through here Sunday afternoon en route for Oak Lake.

Mrs. Wm. Carlisle and Mrs. B. Winsor attended the Women's Institute at Mr. Edgar Morrow's of River Valley after attending the funeral service of the late Mr. John Carr, of Stirling on Thursday last.

Several of the ladies spent Tuesday of last week at the home of Mrs. Almira Wager. Mrs. C. Bailey spent a few days recently with her daughter, Mrs. C. Armstrong.

Several friends here held a picnic on the banks of the Trent in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Carlisle, of Toronto, who have been spending a pleasant honeymoon in our midst.

Mrs. B. Winsor and Mrs. B. Searl spent the week-end with the former's daughter, Mrs. A. Holzgate, of Millbridge. Mrs. Myrtle Brown is visiting friends in Trenton.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mills, Mrs. Ed. Abbott and Mrs. Lowery, of Frankford, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Green last Thursday evening. Mrs. J. Foreman is improving but very slowly after a severe attack of pneumonia.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Holden spent Sunday in Stirling. Mr. Holden lost a valuable horse last week. The friends on this line were very much shocked of the sudden illness and operation of Mrs. W. Alcombrack (nee Miss Ella Longwell) which took place last Sunday and on going to press she was in a serious condition but we sincerely hope for her recovery.

Miss Mabel Bartlett spent Sunday with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Will Woods of the 4th line visited at Mr. John Longwell's last Sunday. Some of the neighboring men attended the bee at Mr. Coulter's barn one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Wilson and former's parents were present at the memorial service of the late Miss Grace Wright at Plainfield Methodist church last Sunday evening. The strawberries are coming in full vogue now so picking them will be the topic of the day for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCullough and Helen; also Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Stuart visited the former's parents on Sunday. Dr. W. R. Rigle and wife, late of Port Arthur have come here to live. Mr. Chas. Frost and bride returned home on Sunday night after a motor trip to Niagara and other western points.

A P.M. that proves its value - Those of weak stomach will find strength in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, because they serve to maintain the healthy condition of the stomach and the liver; irregularities in which are most distressing. Dyspepsia are well acquainted with them and value them at their proper worth. They have afforded relief when other preparations have failed, and have effected cures in ailments of long standing where other medicines were found unavailing.

Our Sunday school was well represented at both afternoon and evening sessions of the county convention held at Albany on June 11. Mrs. Percy White spent last week with her mother, Mrs. C. N. Adams. Miss Annie Alyea spent several days last week in Concession visiting Mr. and Mrs. Herman Alyea. Miss Keachie gave an excellent report of the county convention last Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mastin visited with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brooks on Sunday last.

The recent showers are helping the hay and grain situation wonderfully. Mrs. Blanche Gamble spent Monday with Mrs. Edgar Alyea. Mr. and Mrs. S. DeLong attended the convention last Friday. Mr. and Mrs. Willard Lockie took tea on Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Mastin.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Parliament, also Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hennessey, Salem, were guests at Edgar Alyea's on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Wood spent Sunday at the home of Mr. John Wannamaker.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Lout took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Gout Crosby, Roblin's Mills on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Orser of Trenton, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. B. Wycoot on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wannamaker were guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Gibson on Sunday. Mr. Halton Spencer and wife took dinner on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Harry Simmons.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hennessey have returned from a motor trip to Oshawa. Messrs. Geo. Cunningham and Thos. Wood have improved the appearance of their residence by a coat of paint. Miss Alma Rothwell of Ottawa, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Milton Wood Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ferguson spent a recent Sunday guests of Mr. Chas. Sager and family.

Mr. Tom Warren has returned from his trip to Rochester. Mrs. Frost returned home from Toronto on Wednesday after attending the marriage of her son, Mr. Chas. Frost.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Sharpe spent Sunday in Murray visiting Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Sharpe. Mrs. (Dr.) Campbell, of Trenton spent Sunday in town with Miss Alice Cole.

Mr. Ernest Howard was home over Sunday. Mr. Wm. Stoddard, of Kingston, came home on Saturday for a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Chard and family, of Wooler, spent Saturday in town.

Mr. James Kitchen, Sr., was home over the week-end. Mr. A. E. Sharpe made a trip to Toronto on Tuesday last, returning on Wednesday night with a new Overland for Mr. Wm. Spencer.

A number of young people of the Methodist church made their way to the Napanee road on Wednesday evening to Mr. H. Files, where they surprised Miss Bella Lee, who resides there, with a shower. Miss Lee is an old choir member and friend of the young people.

Mr. P. Laughlin moved into his new home on Market St. on Friday evening last. Our town hall is now completed and Mr. Bedford has moved his office equipment there again. Very sad indeed does the news of the death of Mr. Wm. Woodcock, Toronto, come to the people of Deseronto. Mr. Woodcock kept a grocery here for years and is so well known.

Dr. W. R. Rigle and wife, late of Port Arthur have come here to live. Mr. Chas. Frost and bride returned home on Sunday night after a motor trip to Niagara and other western points.

Our Sunday school was well represented at both afternoon and evening sessions of the county convention held at Albany on June 11. Mrs. Percy White spent last week with her mother, Mrs. C. N. Adams. Miss Annie Alyea spent several days last week in Concession visiting Mr. and Mrs. Herman Alyea. Miss Keachie gave an excellent report of the county convention last Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mastin visited with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brooks on Sunday last.

The rain on Saturday night was gladly welcomed as things were beginning to look serious. It will greatly help meadows and carry the grain and small fruit through. Mr. and Mrs. P. Casey and Mr. and Mrs. McCullough, of Belleville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Radford on Sunday last.

The Ladies' Aid met on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Jones. Pres. Mrs. Cummings, Secretary, Mrs. Shortt, Treas. Mrs. Roy Thrasher. Rev. Mutton, pastor, is leaving for conference at Whitby this week and Mr. Arthur Burke, of Bayville will fill pulpit here on Sunday. The Epworth League is getting in readiness for a strawberry festival to be held on church grounds on the evening of June 23rd.

There has been an epidemic of measles here this summer but all are out of quarantine now. On Monday about forty of the boys and men gathered together and built a cement stoop in front of the church under the supervision of Mr. Dave Thrasher. It was badly needed in the looks of the church and the grounds.

Mr. Sidney Cummings has bought the B. Lott place and is moving in. Mr. Prentice of Frankford has taken over the stage and mail route from Belleville to Frankford.

This line was well represented at the circus held in Belleville on the 8th of June. Mr. Donald Longwell, wife and family spent last Sunday in Trenton. Miss Letitia Rose, of Halloway spent a couple of days last week visiting her aunt, Mrs. Wm. Bird.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Daniels also Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wilson and children were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Christie. The friends on this line were very much shocked of the sudden illness and operation of Mrs. W. Alcombrack (nee Miss Ella Longwell) which took place last Sunday and on going to press she was in a serious condition but we sincerely hope for her recovery.

Miss Mabel Bartlett spent Sunday with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. Will Woods of the 4th line visited at Mr. John Longwell's last Sunday. Some of the neighboring men attended the bee at Mr. Coulter's barn one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Wilson and former's parents were present at the memorial service of the late Miss Grace Wright at Plainfield Methodist church last Sunday evening. The strawberries are coming in full vogue now so picking them will be the topic of the day for a while.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack McCullough and Helen; also Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Stuart visited the former's parents on Sunday. Dr. W. R. Rigle and wife, late of Port Arthur have come here to live. Mr. Chas. Frost and bride returned home on Sunday night after a motor trip to Niagara and other western points.

A P.M. that proves its value - Those of weak stomach will find strength in Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, because they serve to maintain the healthy condition of the stomach and the liver; irregularities in which are most distressing. Dyspepsia are well acquainted with them and value them at their proper worth. They have afforded relief when other preparations have failed, and have effected cures in ailments of long standing where other medicines were found unavailing.

Our Sunday school was well represented at both afternoon and evening sessions of the county convention held at Albany on June 11. Mrs. Percy White spent last week with her mother, Mrs. C. N. Adams. Miss Annie Alyea spent several days last week in Concession visiting Mr. and Mrs. Herman Alyea. Miss Keachie gave an excellent report of the county convention last Sunday morning. Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Mastin visited with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Brooks on Sunday last.

The rain on Saturday night was gladly welcomed as things were beginning to look serious. It will greatly help meadows and carry the grain and small fruit through. Mr. and Mrs. P. Casey and Mr. and Mrs. McCullough, of Belleville, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Radford on Sunday last.

The Ladies' Aid met on Thursday at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Jones. Pres. Mrs. Cummings, Secretary, Mrs. Shortt, Treas. Mrs. Roy Thrasher. Rev. Mutton, pastor, is leaving for conference at Whitby this week and Mr. Arthur Burke, of Bayville will fill pulpit here on Sunday. The Epworth League is getting in readiness for a strawberry festival to be held on church grounds on the evening of June 23rd.

There has been an epidemic of measles here this summer but all are out of quarantine now. On Monday about forty of the boys and men gathered together and built a cement stoop in front of the church under the supervision of Mr. Dave Thrasher. It was badly needed in the looks of the church and the grounds.

Mr. Sidney Cummings has bought the B. Lott place and is moving in. Mr. Prentice of Frankford has taken over the stage and mail route from Belleville to Frankford.

This line was well represented at the circus held in Belleville on the 8th of June. Mr. Donald Longwell, wife and family spent last Sunday in Trenton. Miss Letitia Rose, of Halloway spent a couple of days last week visiting her aunt, Mrs. Wm. Bird.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Daniels also Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wilson and children were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Christie. The friends on this line were very much shocked of the sudden illness and operation of Mrs. W. Alcombrack (nee Miss Ella Longwell) which took place last Sunday and on going to press she was in a serious condition but we sincerely hope for her recovery.

height about 50 feet. The bottoms of the silo will be filled with earth up to the top of the cement work, so that the coal will be above the wagons, permitting it to be deposited by gravity through the chutes into the vehicles and screened at the same time. This will eliminate all shoveling and will be a big labor saver for the company; as under the existing system all hard coal handled at the yard must be screened by shovellers. Hand screening, however, will be necessary when the silos are exhausted and the coal is taken from the big storage shed alongside.

The Westport council has approved the lease of a part of the foundry building there to the Orewa Mica Company to carry on manufacturing operations. The council has also given the company an option to purchase the entire property within 12 months for $10,000.

The Hotel Dieu taggers of Kingston were out in force on Saturday and reaped a harvest from the generous citizens. The sum of $1,050 was raised for this worthy institution which is considered a handsome sum for one day's work.

A Tale of Two Cities (Craf. C. Slack) In the State of Minnesota, near the Minnehaha Fall, is the City of Minneapolis and the City of St. Paul; But Minneapolis has no love for her twin-sister "Paul."

They are both progressive cities and the folks who there reside are known throughout the country for their individual pride. Should you go to Minneapolis and hint you liked St. Paul, Would altogether likely bring about your earthly fall.

Now the saints of Minneapolis with their piety and grace introduced the Forward Movement as a helper to the place; They did not admit their city was real wicked as a rule, But they sought to have the Bible taught to children in the school So they formed a joint committee to labor to that end, And the first school trustee meeting that committee did attend; There they laid their case before them in a manner very plain. And the chairman of the meeting said: "Take it up again."

To be prompt with worthy matters with the delegation gone, The chairman of the meeting said they'd take the matter on, It met with some approval, and also with some dissent - He said he had no patience with new-fangled books and things, That taking them in general, they had only gaudy things; He said the book in question he didn't know much about, But if they would defer the matter he would get one and find out.

The chairman was in favor of taking up the plan, But he sanctioned an adjournment that the board the book might soon; The upward, onward movement it was moving quite amice, And the Bible class committee was a pressing hard their case, So the chairman of the council called a meeting for to see About the introduction of the book they could agree, With the meeting called to order the chairman set about To introduce the subject and to thrash the matter out.

One said he heard it highly praised in early boyhood days, But it no doubt, had suffered change to suit the recent ways, A lawyer member then spoke up who thought it quite unfit Because, he said, "Twas easy to prove anything by it." Another thought the Bible was no doubt of holy writ, But with present day conditions folks could never live by it, Another thought it "Graters," with a lot of books to sell - That the books they had at present the kids knew none too well.

One said, "The book in question I read some years ago, But really what it was about today I do not know." Here arose the cautious trustee, he was loyal to the core, And he said, "I bought a Bible and I've read it o'er and o'er, I have come to the conclusion that it's very far from fair, For I've failed to find the name of Minneapolis anywhere, It has a lot of things to say in favor of St. Paul, But the name of Minneapolis isn't mentioned there at all."

When you require any wood material for interior work, keep all the prices right. Arthur A. Sells Telephone 2-2-1. R. R. 1, Belleville.

Fire, Life, Auto and Accident Insurance. Fire, Life, Auto and Accident Insurance. Fire, Life, Auto and Accident Insurance.

W. J. Rhoden, London Mutual Fire & Marine Insurance Co., 100 Front St. E., Toronto. W. J. Rhoden, London Mutual Fire & Marine Insurance Co., 100 Front St. E., Toronto.

Real Estate Insurance. J. C. McCARTHY, 270 FRONT ST. Real Estate Insurance. J. C. McCARTHY, 270 FRONT ST.

Frank Baalim, Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer, etc. Money to Loan - Office 215 Front St. E., Toronto. Frank Baalim, Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer, etc. Money to Loan - Office 215 Front St. E., Toronto.

When you require any wood material for interior work, keep all the prices right. Arthur A. Sells Telephone 2-2-1. R. R. 1, Belleville.

Fire, Life, Auto and Accident Insurance. Fire, Life, Auto and Accident Insurance. Fire, Life, Auto and Accident Insurance.

W. J. Rhoden, London Mutual Fire & Marine Insurance Co., 100 Front St. E., Toronto. W. J. Rhoden, London Mutual Fire & Marine Insurance Co., 100 Front St. E., Toronto.

Real Estate Insurance. J. C. McCARTHY, 270 FRONT ST. Real Estate Insurance. J. C. McCARTHY, 270 FRONT ST.

Frank Baalim, Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer, etc. Money to Loan - Office 215 Front St. E., Toronto. Frank Baalim, Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, Conveyancer, etc. Money to Loan - Office 215 Front St. E., Toronto.

Malcolm Wright, Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Office 15 Campbell St. Belleville. Money to loan at lowest rates. Malcolm Wright, Barrister, Solicitor, Notary Public, etc. Office 15 Campbell St. Belleville. Money to loan at lowest rates.

Wm. Carnow, Barrister, County Crown Attorney, Office: Court House Building, Phone: office 233, house 433. Wm. Carnow, Barrister, County Crown Attorney, Office: Court House Building, Phone: office 233, house 433.

Porter, Butler & Payne, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., Solicitors for Dulon Bank, E. J. Payne, Money to Loan on Mortgages, and Investments made Offices 215 Front St., Belleville, Ont. Porter, Butler & Payne, Barristers, Solicitors, Notaries, etc., Solicitors for Dulon Bank, E. J. Payne, Money to Loan on Mortgages, and Investments made Offices 215 Front St., Belleville, Ont.

Out Flowers in Season; Wedding and Funeral Designs; a Specialty. COLLIP, Phone 195, night Phone 176. Out Flowers in Season; Wedding and Funeral Designs; a Specialty. COLLIP, Phone 195, night Phone 176.

Norman Montgomery, Auctioneer - Brighton, Box 180, telephone 101. Norman Montgomery, Auctioneer - Brighton, Box 180, telephone 101.

Belleville Assay Office - Ores and Minerals of all kinds tested and assayed. Samples sent by mail or express will receive prompt attention. All results guaranteed. Bleecker and Victoria Avenue, East Belleville, Phone 319. Belleville Assay Office - Ores and Minerals of all kinds tested and assayed. Samples sent by mail or express will receive prompt attention. All results guaranteed. Bleecker and Victoria Avenue, East Belleville, Phone 319.

Essex Aycoworth, Ontario & Dominion Land Surveyor and Civil Engineer, Madoc, Phone 6. Essex Aycoworth, Ontario & Dominion Land Surveyor and Civil Engineer, Madoc, Phone 6.

SANTAL MIDY CATARRH BLADDER. Each Capsule bears the name MIDY. SANTAL MIDY CATARRH BLADDER. Each Capsule bears the name MIDY.

When you require any wood material for interior work, keep all the prices right. Arthur A. Sells Telephone 2-2-1. R. R. 1, Belleville.

Mining Me... Hastings District... adian Mining Point and Bell

The Hastings... The Canadian Mining... delightful outing... profitable meeting... noon.

The following... eminent in the... branches of the... met here yesterday... S. B. Wier, D. Madoc, Prof. G. J. Gillespie, Elliott, Deloro, A. E. St. John, Clark, Deloro, Kingst. M. E. A. McNulty, Deloro, F. S. Bap Evans, Belleville, ville, J. R. Gordon Light, Deloro, T. Kingst. C. W. S. A. J. Legault, Bell Allan Harper, Bell

In the afternoon... showed them over... plant of the Canada... To the great... visitors, the witness... new experience... was taken in the... After an hour of... different success... to Belleville where... tained at high tea... home of Mr. and... Bleecker Ave.

The guests... selves upon all the... vided they repaired... room where the... day's proceeding... in brief time.

Mr. G. H. Gillespie... chairman and Mr. B... formed the duties... It was announced... McLeod, a student... verity had won a... donated by the inst... paper, "Omniscient... It was decided a... meeting of the inst... if satisfactory, agr... be made. Or failing... Peterborough.

Mr. Benny being... on gave a brief ad... constructive Geology... that nature had left... finished or undone... of the electrical fu... ducing results that... produced by nature... geological epochs.

Calcium carbonate... not found in nature... blation created by... furnace. So it was... newer abrasives... was practically unk... tural state.

Man had as yet, s... merely scratched the... earth. He had only... depth of about a mi... was 8000 miles in... predicted a great f... structive or synthetic Following his mor... liveness, Mr. Benny... ous paper on "Aeri... which the listeners... an aeroplane to visit... and some of the o... longer ago called... Mr. Benny's ap... The party's ap... hour after express... to the host and host... delightful evening.

SHANNONVILLE... Miss Lena Palmer, Ont., who has been v... Walter Morden's v... accompanied by Miss... Mrs. T. Farnsworth... H. Dostator are visit... Mr. and Mrs. Fred B... ronito, are spending... holidays renewing ol... of our village.

Mr. (Rev.) Roadho... ston, has returned ho... ing her daughter, Mrs... Mr. and Mrs. Joe W... Toronto are visiting... parents, Mr. and Mrs... kard.

Rev. W. W. Jones is... Bay of Quinte confer... this week. Rev. J. J. Cantrell, and Master Arthur a... their holidays at East... Mrs. B. Hinchey and... and Damon are spend... and with Mr. and Mrs... at Gananoque, Ont.

Mrs. Elmer O. Coyle... few days under the... We were all delight... excellent rain Saturd...

Mining Men Had Belightful Outing

Hastings District Branch of Canadian Mining Institute Visited Point and Belleville Yesterday.

The Hastings District branch of the Canadian Mining Institute had a delightful outing and a pleasant and profitable meeting yesterday afternoon.

The following gentlemen prominent in the education or practical branches of the mining industry met here yesterday afternoon:— S. B. Wright, Deloro, R. C. Bryden, Madoc, Prof. G. J. MacKay, Kingston, Geo. H. Gillespie, Madoc, R. A. Elliott, Deloro, A. G. Snider, Belleville, A. E. Stringer, Madoc, J. M. Clark, Deloro, Dr. C. W. Drury, Kingston, M. E. Wilson, Ottawa, H. A. McNulty, Deloro, W. L. Rigg, Deloro, F. S. Bapty, Deloro, J. W. Evans, Belleville, P. Bennie, Belleville, J. R. Gordon, Kingston, A. K. Light, Deloro, T. H. De La Franer, Kingston, C. W. Simmons, Kingston, A. J. Legault, Belleville and Capt. Allan Harper, Belleville.

In the afternoon the party motored to Point Anne where the officials showed them over the mammoth plant of the Canada Cement Co.

To the great majority of the visitors, the witnessing of the process of cement manufacture was a new experience and deep interest was taken in the explanations given.

After an hour of fishing, with indifferent success the party returned to Belleville where they were entertained at high tea at the charming home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Evans, Bleecker Ave.

After the guests had regaled themselves upon all the good things provided they repaired to the drawing room where the business part of the day's proceedings was put over in brief time.

Mr. G. H. Gillespie presided as chairman and Mr. R. A. Elliott performed the duties of secretary.

It was announced that Mr. G. D. McLeod, a student of Queen's University had won the silver medal donated by the institute for his able paper, "Observations of a Mucker."

It was decided to hold the next meeting of the institute at Sulphide if satisfactory arrangements could be made. Or failing that to go to Peterborough.

Mr. Benny being then called upon gave a brief address on "Constructive Geology." He explained that nature had left some things unfinished or undone and man by use of the electrical furnace was producing results that could only be produced by nature in the course of geological epochs.

Calcium carbide, for instance was not found in nature but was a combination created by the electrical furnace. So it was with some of the newer abrasives. Carborundum was practically unknown in the natural state.

Man had as yet, said Mr. Benny, merely scratched the surface of the earth. He had only delved to a depth of about a mile and the earth was 3000 miles in diameter. He predicted a great future for constructive or synthetic geology.

Following his more serious deliverance, Mr. Benny read a humorous paper on "Aerial Geology," in which the listeners were taken by aeroplane to visit Mercury, Venus and some of the other planets. Prolonged laughter greeted many of Mr. Benny's apt sallies.

The party separated at an early hour after expressing their gratitude to the host and hostess for a most delightful evening.

SHANNONVILLE

Miss Lena Palmer, of Oshawa, Ont., who has been visiting at Mrs. Walter Morden's has returned, accompanied by Miss Audrey Morden.

Mrs. T. Farnsworth and Mrs. W. H. Dostator are visiting their sister, Mrs. Bird, Stirling, Ont.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred B. Lake, of Toronto, are spending part of their holidays renewing old acquaintances of our village.

Mrs. (Rev.) Roadhouse, of Kingston, has returned home after visiting her daughter, Mrs. (Rev.) Jones.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Walmesley, of Toronto are visiting at the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Buehard.

Rev. W. W. Jones is attending the Bay of Quinte conference at Whitby this week.

Rev. J. J. Cantrell, Mrs. Cantrell and Master Arthur are spending their holidays at Easton's Corners.

Mrs. B. Hinchey and sons, Hugh and Damon are spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Baldwin at Gananoque, Ont.

Mrs. Elmer O. Coyne is spending a few days under the parental roof. We were all delighted with the excellent rain Saturday night.

Would Not Be Without Baby's Own Tablets

Once a mother has used Baby's Own Tablets for her little ones she would not be without them. They are the ideal home remedy for the baby, being guaranteed to be absolutely free from opiates or other harmful drugs. They are a gentle but thorough laxative and have been proved of the greatest aid in cases of constipation, indigestion, colic, colds and simple fevers. Concerning them Mrs. Earnest Gagne, Beausjour, Que., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for constipation and colic and have found them so successful that I would not be without them. I would strongly recommend every mother to keep a box in the house." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Popular Young Lady Receives Shower

On Tuesday evening, June 15, about fifty of the friends of Miss Beulah G. Ketcheson assembled at her home at 33 Henry street, tendering her a miscellaneous shower.

Miss Ketcheson was taken entirely by surprise, on witnessing the large company of her friends assembled at her home.

The most exciting part of the evening was when the bride-to-be was called to the centre of the room and was asked to unwrap the huge basket of gifts, consisting of silverware, cut glass, china, etc. After the parcels had been unwrapped by the recipient, she thanked all her many friends for their kindness towards her. When the "storm" was over, the convensors of the shower arranged the tables and card playing was indulged in for some time, then came the house games, music and singing, all present taking part.

At midnight dainty refreshments were served by the young ladies in charge. After the eats had been dispersed with, the pianist struck up the old reliable song, "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow," all present joining in the singing, then three hearty cheers were given to the bride and bridegroom-to-be.

Miss Ketcheson responded in a suitable manner, thanking her friends for the very pleasant evening she had enjoyed.

The young ladies who arranged the shower are to be highly complimented for their successful achievement.

MARMORA

Mrs. H. J. Clarke, of Tweed, is visiting friends in Marmora.

Mr. James McCracken, of Toronto is a guest of Mr. Robt. Phillips.

Mr. Bell, of Rochester, N. Y., visited his son, Mr. D. E. Bell, last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Green and son of Stanwood were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Anderson last Saturday.

Mrs. Mackay and children of Detroit, are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Julian Bedore.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Sabine attended the Annual Meeting of the Canadian Weekly Newspapers Association in Toronto last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mills and Mr. and Mrs. Ira Sine, of Frankford were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Anderson on Saturday and Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. O'Neill and daughter, Miss Jean, of Hastings, were guests of their son, Mr. Joseph O'Neill, over Sunday. Mrs. O'Neill will remain for a few days' visit here.—Herald.

WEST LAKE

Mr. Hubert Huff, proprietor of the Lake Shore House, Sandbanks, had his re-opening on Thursday. Mr. Huff expects to have a good summer. His resort is certainly an ideal spot to spend the warm weather.

Mrs. Cinda Cooper has been spending some time with Mrs. Roy Cooper.

Mrs. Shoebridge has gone to the sandbanks to spend the summer with her daughter, Mrs. Huff.

Mrs. James Wildman has returned home after spending some months with relatives at East Lake.

Mr. A. J. Lake spent a few days in Toronto.

The farmers have finished setting tomato plants and the tobacco growers are busy setting their plants.

Saturday night's rain was very joyfully received.

Mr. and Mrs. O. McConnell, Cherry Valley and Mr. and Mrs. McConnell visited friends in Hillier and Concession on Sunday.

Mrs. F. W. Haycock visited Mrs. Stanley McConnell on Saturday.

Talk of the Town and of the Country

Lieut.-Col. George Gillespie, well known in Belleville military circles as officer in charge of cadet services, M.D. No. 3, on Friday inspected the Normal Model School Cadet Corps at Ottawa. About 75 cadets paraded, and were complimented by Col. Gillespie at the close of the inspection on the improvement in their drill since he last inspected them. He remarked that if there were any prizes going for the best platoon he should have had to award it to No. 3 platoon. Col. Gillespie announced that he expected within the next ten days it would be possible to definitely state if there was to be a cadet camp at Barrieffield this summer. It is hoped to open the camp on July 2, and, if so, free transportation will be granted cadets. There would be lots of sports, and a little work in the way of drills. The camp would last five days, not including the time travelling to and from.

Popular Young Lady Receives Shower

Dual time for Brockville got a close call at the special meeting of the Brockville town council Friday. Mayor Lewis announced that he was in favor of a return to standard time, as did also Aldermen Dobbie, Logan, Parker and Bouf. The stand-patters Alderman Comstock, Hunt, Mitchell, Chrysler and Woodrow, however, turned down the suggestion and dual time will thus remain in Brockville for the duration of the term previously decided upon by the council.

The police answered a call last night to the corner of Wharf and Church streets, where some boys were causing a disturbance.

The Port Hope team with three juniors gave Fred Goyer and his Belleville stalwarts quite a hard run in Belleville last Saturday, says the Port Hope Guide. The score was 8 to 4 in Belleville's favor, but for the last half of the game McDonald had the Belleville crew at his mercy and they failed to score in the last four innings. Had Port Hope had their regular nine, the boys of the Bay of Quinte might have met their defeat right on their own ball field or at least on the tract of land known as Belleville's park. If it were not for the sign board people would never know it was a ball diamond.

Rev. Dr. Pringle tells the Presbyterian General Assembly that he considers as disgraceful the appointment of Old Country ministers as professors in Canadian theological colleges, while Canadian ministers are left to work in the wilds. Another application of the motto: "Canada for Canadians."

Among those from a distance who attended the Crothers-Free wedding last week were—Mr. W. J. Crothers, Kingston; Mr. and Mrs. W. Crothers, Plinton; Mr. and Mrs. W. Crothers, Plinton; Mrs. Arbuckle and the Misses Arbuckle, Toronto; Miss Armstrong, Russell, Man.; and Miss Florence Free, Toronto—Campbellford Herald.

Millie's Worm Powders prove their value. They do not cause any violent disturbances in the stomach, any pain or griping, but do their work quietly and painlessly, so that the destruction of the worms is imperceptible. Yet they are thorough, and from the first dose there is improvement in the condition of the sufferer and an entire cessation of manifestations of internal trouble.

George Stewart, war veteran, winner of the Intercollegiate wrestling championship last year, and a member of Queen's '17 class, at present a senior since his return from overseas, has been chosen as the Canadian wrestler representing Canada at the Olympic games this summer.

Stewart went into the Olympic trials at Toronto last Friday against W. I. Garvock, Queen's graduate of '14 and winner of the 125 pound intercollegiate championship of his year, and won after a quick, clean battle.

Saturday, Stewart went up against Jacobs, of Toronto, won his first fall in 45 minutes and his second in one and one half minutes.

Stewart hails from the Georgian Bay region, which he calls his home but he is in Toronto for a few days at present visiting friends and evidently feeling pretty good over his success. He will return to Kingston early in the week to carry on his college work and keep in trim.

John Angus MacDonald was the last Queen's competitor, nine years ago, for the Olympic sports. He was beaten in Winnipeg by Walker of Vancouver after a close hard fight.

The first outing of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce is being held today. Between eighty and one hundred members left by motor at ten fifteen this morning for Deloro and intermediate points. The party was a gay and happy one.

Many a man who has his price gives himself away.

Wedding Bells

M'CALLUM—RICKS

A very quiet but pretty wedding was solemnized by Rev. A. L. Brown on Monday, May 24th, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hicks when their eldest daughter, Mabel, became the bride of Mr. W. J. McCallum, of Kingston. Promptly at 12 o'clock the bride entered the drawing room and took her place beside the groom. She was becomingly attired in a dress of rosy brown georgette over a bodice of blue satin and carried a huge bouquet of ophelia roses and baby breath. The drawing room was very prettily decorated with apple blossoms, roses and carnations. After congratulations and the signing of the register the bride led the way to the dining room where all partook of a sumptuous wedding dinner. An interesting feature of the wedding was the cutting of the cake by the bride, with a small souvenir sword brought to her by the groom from France. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and costly gifts, special mention being made of the Electric Grill presented to her by the young ladies of the Methodist Church. The bride's travelling suit was of Jersey cloth with picture hat. Mr. and Mrs. McCallum left amid showers of confetti for Toronto and other western points.—Tweed News.

Summary of Changes in "Luxury" Tax

OTTAWA, June 15.—The following changes in taxation passed the House during the day: The tax of 10 per cent. now applicable on men's hats over $7 each. Formerly hats were taxed over $5.

Underwear (except silk) is now taxable over $4 per garment or $8 for combination suits. Formerly these figures were $3 and $6, respectively.

Velvet, velveteens, plush and silk goods are now taxable at prices over $2 per yard (10 per cent.). This tax formerly applied to such articles at any price.

Ribbons, lace and braids, formerly taxable at any price, are now assessed on prices higher than 50c per yard for general goods and collarettes at $2.

The tax on carpets and rugs is now confined to those costing more than $5 per lineal yard of 27 inches wide.

The word "cushions" was removed from the list of taxable articles. Snowshoes were removed from the list of taxable articles.

Baseball requisites and lacrosse sticks are now taxable over $2 each where formerly they were taxable over 50c each. Skis in excess of $2 instead of taxed on the whole price.

Articles plated in nickelware or brass for household or office use are now exempt, as are also band instruments.

The following articles were taken out of the 20 per cent. class and placed in the 10 per cent. class: Ebony goods in toiletware, curtains in excess of $7.50 value, gramophones, gas and electric wall brackets over $3 each, and chandeliers over $12 (except for churches.) Oriental rugs are in the 15 per cent. class.

Pianos under $450 and organs under $150 are now taxed 5 per cent.

The following articles were added to articles taxable at 10 per cent: Pianos over $450, organs over $150 (except for religious purposes) mechanical piano-players, talking machines and records, music boxes. All jewelry over $5 in value. Wedding rings were exempted altogether from the jewelry tax. Gold-mounted fountain pens do not now come under the 50 per cent. tax on gold articles unless they cost more than $5.

Silk and silk fabrics are now taxable 10 per cent. in excess of $2 per yard. Formerly this tax applied on any price.

Playing cards are now taxable as follows: 15 cents a pack on cards sold at $24 or less per gross packs, 25c between $24 and $36 per gross packs, and 50c over $36. Formerly playing cards were taxed 25 cents a pack when selling at $25 per gross packs or less, and 50c a pack over $26 per gross.

Proprietary medicines containing not more than 40 per cent. proof spirits are reduced from 30 per cent to 20 per cent.

Jewellers are to pay 10 per cent. tax on turnover, unless receipts from stationery, books, and magazines, spectacles and eye-glasses, cameras and gramophone records.

Candles and corks in cartons bearing manufacturer's name selling at 10 cents or less per carton, are exempt from taxation. Cheating gum is reduced from 10 to 3 per cent.

Corns are caused by the pressure of tight boots, but no one need be troubled with them long when so simple a remedy as Holloway's Corn Cure is available.

Routing Coal Via Belleville

The Barge Isabelle H. is at Belleville discharging a cargo of soft coal at the new dock consigned to the Schuster Co. The ultimate destination is Oshawa. The vessel is equipped with the claw-shell unloading device, operated by one man, the coal being carried from the hold to the car on the dock.

This consignment of coal via Soder's Point and Belleville means the establishment of a short route which is a great saving of time. By way of the congested area of Buffalo, a consignment of coal might require three or four weeks to reach Ontario. By way of Soder's on the lake and Belleville the coal will leave the trains and reach its destination in three or four days.

Mr. W. E. Schuster, who has been instrumental in establishing this route believes it is permanent.

One of the commonest complaints of infants is worms, and the most effective application for them is Mother Graves' Worms Eterminator.

Changes Made in Luxury Taxes Not in Force Till Bill Passes

OTTAWA, Ont., June 15.—The changes made in luxury taxes today or preceding days do not go into effect until the bill covering all changes is brought into parliament and passed, but the taxes announced on May 19 remain in effect until then," announced Sir Henry Drayton tonight.

"It is improbable there will be any refunds on purchases made at a higher rate of taxation than is subsequently adopted."

Asks Dissolution of Austrian Assembly

Special 4 p.m. Despatches from the Canadian Press Ltd. VIENNA, June 16.—President Seitz has asked Chancellor Renner immediately to present bills for the dissolution of the Austrian national assembly and for the calling of new elections. In the meantime he has requested the dominant political parties to continue their efforts to form a new ministry.

Summary of Changes in "Luxury" Tax

OTTAWA, June 15.—The following changes in taxation passed the House during the day: The tax of 10 per cent. now applicable on men's hats over $7 each. Formerly hats were taxed over $5.

Underwear (except silk) is now taxable over $4 per garment or $8 for combination suits. Formerly these figures were $3 and $6, respectively.

Velvet, velveteens, plush and silk goods are now taxable at prices over $2 per yard (10 per cent.). This tax formerly applied to such articles at any price.

Ribbons, lace and braids, formerly taxable at any price, are now assessed on prices higher than 50c per yard for general goods and collarettes at $2.

The tax on carpets and rugs is now confined to those costing more than $5 per lineal yard of 27 inches wide.

The word "cushions" was removed from the list of taxable articles. Snowshoes were removed from the list of taxable articles.

Baseball requisites and lacrosse sticks are now taxable over $2 each where formerly they were taxable over 50c each. Skis in excess of $2 instead of taxed on the whole price.

Articles plated in nickelware or brass for household or office use are now exempt, as are also band instruments.

The following articles were taken out of the 20 per cent. class and placed in the 10 per cent. class: Ebony goods in toiletware, curtains in excess of $7.50 value, gramophones, gas and electric wall brackets over $3 each, and chandeliers over $12 (except for churches.) Oriental rugs are in the 15 per cent. class.

Pianos under $450 and organs under $150 are now taxed 5 per cent.

The following articles were added to articles taxable at 10 per cent: Pianos over $450, organs over $150 (except for religious purposes) mechanical piano-players, talking machines and records, music boxes. All jewelry over $5 in value. Wedding rings were exempted altogether from the jewelry tax. Gold-mounted fountain pens do not now come under the 50 per cent. tax on gold articles unless they cost more than $5.

Silk and silk fabrics are now taxable 10 per cent. in excess of $2 per yard. Formerly this tax applied on any price.

Playing cards are now taxable as follows: 15 cents a pack on cards sold at $24 or less per gross packs, 25c between $24 and $36 per gross packs, and 50c over $36. Formerly playing cards were taxed 25 cents a pack when selling at $25 per gross packs or less, and 50c a pack over $26 per gross.

Proprietary medicines containing not more than 40 per cent. proof spirits are reduced from 30 per cent to 20 per cent.

Jewellers are to pay 10 per cent. tax on turnover, unless receipts from stationery, books, and magazines, spectacles and eye-glasses, cameras and gramophone records.

Candles and corks in cartons bearing manufacturer's name selling at 10 cents or less per carton, are exempt from taxation. Cheating gum is reduced from 10 to 3 per cent.

Corns are caused by the pressure of tight boots, but no one need be troubled with them long when so simple a remedy as Holloway's Corn Cure is available.

MRS. LAURENCE TRIES HER HAND.

By KATE TUCKER.

The bugbear of Doctor Laurence's life as a general practitioner in the small town of Crawford was cases that are generally known as "nervous." He was courageous and versatile, as most small-town doctors have to be. He would go his rounds fourteen hours a day, and he would go to the bedside of the out of the twenty-four during epidemics; would go to the bedside of the patient through operations that steadily nerve tried a more celebrated surgeon; he would listen patiently to the queries of young mothers over their infants' teething difficulties—all that sort of thing. But when a patient said "nerves" Doctor Laurence wished to give up.

Mrs. Laurence, however, had been reading up on modern methods of treating nervous disorders in the doctor's medical journals and in the popular magazines. Psychopathy was her latest hobby, and somehow, in spite of the five little Laurences, Mrs. Laurence always had time for some hobby.

"I really feel," she told the doctor one evening while the mother's helper, Vera, was so patiently putting the younger two Laurences to bed and the older two were dancing an Indian war dance as a preliminary to putting themselves to bed, "I really think that I would have a positive talent for psychic healing. You know reputable doctors are taking it up now. There is a wonderful future for it. I don't see why you don't go in for that sort of thing. All the best doctors are doing it. Take Robert Ludlow, for instance. His case is purely psychopathic. It's perfectly absurd for you to look at the case in any other way. What you want to do is to get down deep at the root of the matter. He doesn't sleep and he's losing weight, not because he has overworked on that book of his, as you tell him, but because of some other cause that lurks in his mind. It is your duty to probe down till you find it, and then, through the force of your mentality over his, to dispel that fear image."

"So you said," commented Doctor Laurence, and then—"perfect bosh, perfect bosh." He paced back and forth before the living room open fire. "I wish I could do something for Robert, however."

There was suddenly an unusual note of pleading in Mrs. Laurence's voice. "Will you let me try?" she said, and apparently Doctor Laurence agreed, although if he did agree it was surely not because he had any interest in his wife's theory of psychopathy.

The first step in Mrs. Laurence's campaign to cure Robert Ludlow took place the next evening, when the doctor asked him to spend the evening at his home, without, of course, suggesting to him that Mrs. Laurence was going to administer her first treatment in psychic healing.

There was considerable confusion. Vera, the mother's helper, had been away on her very rare afternoon off. The twins refused to be put to bed by anyone else and their rebellion gave the cue to the older child to fall downstairs, with considerable injury to his three feet, but no great bruising. So dinner was late and the confusion still was discernible when Robert arrived.

There were intermittent walls from the nursery, a slamming of dishes in the kitchen and glimpses of the rather flushed, distracted Vera as she pursued the older children through the living room in her effort to pack them off to bed. But Mrs. Laurence was not one to be much ruffled by such mild domestic confusion, and eventually she managed to sit beside Mr. Ludwell alone before the fireplace and make the first probing.

She discovered one thing. He had a horror of boarding houses. He likewise had a horror of any sort of confusion. He estimated when Mrs. Laurence asked him point-blank why he had never married that possibly it was because he was a recluse by nature. He had to have quiet for his writing.

So Mrs. Laurence decided to invite Mr. Ludwell to leave his boarding house and spend a month at the Laurence establishment. There he would have no more boarding house coffee, there would be no more confusion, she was sure.

She was surprised when he accepted her and the doctor's invitation. She hadn't expected he would come so willingly. And the doctor was even more surprised.

"He says he wants to be away from confusion," gasped the doctor. "I am sure you don't think there is ever any confusion here," said Mrs. Laurence, "and the coffee is certainly better than the kind one gets in a boarding house." Mrs. Laurence was planning now for her system of psychopathic treatment on Mr. Ludwell. If she succeeded with him, she might take the work up as a career—she might become quite a specialist.

Meantime Doctor Laurence had been making observations, and he had observed a pair of pretty blue eyes which he had come to regard with something akin to fatherly affection. He noticed that at times those eyes turned a very soft limpid blue and then dropped in confusion. And then he would glance across the room, only to find a pair of supposedly melancholy dark eyes suddenly delve deep in a book or newspaper.

"At times Mrs. Laurence was profuse in her apologies to Mr. Ludwell. At breakfast she would ask him how he slept. "I hope you didn't hear the tipt," she would say. "They were up earlier than usual, and Richard fell out of bed. You may have heard him screaming in the night; not hurt, merely frightened." And you might have discerned her confusion which was deep-seated because it had been part of her plan to have the Laurence household breathe that calm and quiet which would be the proper antidote for the boarding house fear image.

Then one evening you might have seen her hidden somewhere beside the side veranda of the Laurence homestead, have heard the following conversation. It was an evening when Doctor and Mrs. Laurence were attending some board meeting or other and Vera was at home to look after things, as usual. Mr. Ludwell, in spite of a previous engagement, had remained home also.

"Did you get any sleep last night at all?" asked Vera wearily. "Some," commented Ludwell; "what was the row in the nursery?" "Well, Richard woke up at eleven and decided it was a good time to bite his sister Bella's big toe. He has been waiting for a chance to get even. That woke the twins, and so it went on, and, of course, some one is always sure to wake at five, and then they begin again."

"Hard on you," said Ludwell sympathetically. "But there's this about it. When I do get a chance to sleep, I sleep hard. I never saw such confusion—the boarding house was Eden compared to this bedlam."

"Then why do you stay?" came a rather shy question that seemed to trail off weakly toward the end. "You don't suppose I'd leave you here, do you? And I'll tell you, Vera, that what has set me on my feet again after the exhaustion that followed getting out my last book in such a frightful short time was because I realized I wanted to know you. After I knew you and saw how hard you worked here, I felt I had to pull myself together so I could take care of you. I wanted to be able to offer you a home where you could get away from this confusion."

Then there was a silence, during which, if you had listened, you would have heard nothing. Then from Robert Ludlow: "How wonderful you are, Vera." And from Vera: "You—you are wonderful, too."

Robert and Vera left the Laurence household in more confusion than they found it. Confusion, of course, because the mainstay and prop in the guise of Vera was going. But then there was the satisfaction to Mrs. Laurence that she had succeeded amazingly well in this, her first effort in psychopathy.

NEVER FREE FROM TROUBLE

Border Between United States and Mexico Has Always Been Lawless Strip of Country.

The border between the United States and Mexico has been for a long time one of the most troubled, romantic and lawless in the western hemisphere. Not only do the Mexican revolutionists periodically start something by shooting or raiding across the line, but this border also affords one of the finest opportunities in the world for smuggling. A large part of the opium which is consumed by addicts in this country comes by way of the Mexican border, and an illicit business in arms and ammunition goes the other way. In the old days stealing horses in Mexico, driving them across the river and selling them in the United States was a thriving industry and it is probably still carried on to some extent. In the old days it was known politely as the "wet horse trade," because the horses were often sold when they were still wet.

The border country is admirably endowed by nature for these lawless doings. It is flat, near-desert country, too dry for farming, but not too dry to support heavy thickets of chaparral and mesquite, which makes one of the densest and most impenetrable covers in the world. That part of the country which lies within the big bend of the Rio Grande is an especially dense jungle of this kind. It swarms with game. The desert white tail deer, the peccary, the wild turkey and the Mexican quail are abundant. This supply of wild meat makes it easy for a Mexican outlaw who knows where the water holes are to hide out for long periods.

Superfluous.

"How do you do, sir?" suavely saluted the gent at the door. "I am offering to the few persons in each community who are of sufficient culture to appreciate it, a valuable literary work. This book—"

"Book, ha?" interrupted G. Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark. "I had a book—forget now what 'twas about, though—for a good while, but about six months ago the baby took and gnawed it till it fell to pieces and wasn't no good on earth. No use to buy another 'till he gets old enough to understand what a book is fur."—Kansas City Star.

His Principal Objection.

The house agent had sounded his praises of the new property to the prospective buyer and at the end he said: "The death rate in this suburb is lower than in any other part of the country."

"I believe you," said the prospective buyer. "I wouldn't be found dead here myself."—London Tit-Bits.

REQUIRE ANY... A. Sils... FRANCE... London Mutual... Estate... BARRISTER, SOLICITOR...

Q. & R. Clothes

Straw Hat Season Is Here!

Better start the Season right. The Hats are here—it's time to wear them. Summer weather requires cool head-wear and a Straw Hat is what you need.

We've just your particular Hat in the right height and shape to give you hat distinction.

Wm. Walsh & Sons English Sennet Straw Hats of excellent clear straw, finished with black ribbon bands and Bon Ton easy fitting sweat bands—
$2.50, $2.75, $3.00 to $4.00.
Panamas from $2.25 to $10.

Quick & Robertson

Another Big Shoe Bargain For Ladies

Ladies' White Canvas Button and Lace Boots, with Cuban or Low Heels, made on a neat round toe last. This makes an ideal house or street boot and will give splendid wear.

Regular up to $3.00
All Sizes While They Last $1.95

The Haines Shoe Houses

BIG BARGAINS AT Earle & Cook Co. Anniversary Sale

LADIES' SUITS	Porches Dresses regular $5.50
Reg. $325.00 for . . . $19.50	Sale price . . . $3.95
Reg. $35.00 . . . $27.50	Bungalow Dresses sale price $1.75.
Reg. $45.00 for . . . $34.50
Reg. $48.50 for . . . $37.50
LADIES' COATS	DRESS GOODS
21.50 Coats for . . . $16.95	Regular $1.25 to $2.00 to clear at . . . $1.19
25.00 Coat for . . . $19.50	$3.00 Navy and Blue Serge 52 in wide to clear at . $1.95
25.00 Coats for . . . $27.50	SILKS
39.00 Coats for . . . $31.50	Regular $2.25 to $3.00 sale price . . . $1.95
BLOUSES	Corollette Silk, 34 in wide, reg. $1.50, sale price . $1.19
VOILE BLOUSES reg. $2.25 to $3.00 for . . . $1.95	HOSIERY
Crepe and Georgette Blouses, reg. $8.50 to $10.50 only $6.90.	Children's Hose only 19 cts pair.
DRESS SKIRTS	Ladies' Cotton Hose at 29c
Reg. $7.50 to $9.50 only $5.95.	Ladies' Lisle Hose at 49c
CHILDREN'S DRESSES	Ladies' Silk Boot Hose at 95c.
Regular $5.50 to clear at . . . $3.95	WASH GOODS
PULLOVER SWEATERS	Two lines of Wash Goods to clear at 29c and 49c yard.
$7.50 only . . . $5.90

Hundreds of Unadvertised Bargains!

EARLE & COOK CO.

READ THE WANT ADVERTISEMENTS

ROTARIANS LEARNED OF MAKING OF VARNISH

Montreal Expert Explained Mysteries of Manufacture—Mr. Knight MacGregor Delighted Members with His Songs

As is their usual custom, the Belleville Rotarians yesterday combined the useful with the enjoyable and at their noonday luncheon, in addition to the address of the day, they were especially favored by hearing several selections from a Belleville singer, who is rapidly rising to fame in New York City.

There were the usual rounds of jolly choruses during the luncheon. President Gus Porter presided but as he had to leave before the conclusion of the lunch for Ottawa he nominated Rotarian Percy Allen to take his place during the balance of the program.

Knight MacGregor, who had been elected an honorary member of the Belleville club rendered the following numbers:

"In Rotary," by Rotarian Harry Lauder.

"Border Ballad" by Cowan.

"The Light," a new song of great merit by Frederick Vanderpol of New York.

"Non Piu Andrai," by W. A. Mozart, from the opera, "Le Mozzi di Figaro."

Nearly all those present had had the pleasure of hearing Mr. MacGregor on previous occasions but all were surprised and delighted by the very evident improvement in his renditions. His period of training under one of the greatest of vocal teachers at New York has produced a deeper richness and resonance of tone and a finer command of expression.

Miss Edna Wallace, accompanied Mr. MacGregor and her work in that regard was notable for its finish and superb interpretation of moods.

Rotarian Norman Holland, president and general manager of the Holland Varnish and Paint Company of Montreal, was the speaker of the day. As his talk was illustrated by views the club adjourned to the Y.M.C.A. assembly hall, where there were facilities for exhibition of the pictures.

Rotarian Holland is not only a lucid and interesting lecturer, but he has the habit of giving point to his remarks by witty asides and apt anecdotes.

In his running talk he did not attempt to give more than a bare outline to the manufacture of varnish and the production and collection of the raw materials such as gums, oils and turpentine from their various quarters of the globe.

Mr. Holland himself took nearly all the photographs in the several dozen that were exhibited and they illustrated scenes not only in Canada, but also in Africa, China, the Antipodes and many distant points.

The audience gained a vivid idea of the practical difficulties to be overcome before the raw materials could be assembled in order to begin manufacture. The lecture which had previously been delivered to students at McGill University and elsewhere is indeed a fine exposition of a process that to the average layman is a complete mystery.

Golden Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Philip Shannon, 1870-1890.

On June 9th, 1920, there was a reception given in the evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Larkin, Latta, Ont., to celebrate the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Philip Shannon, Latta, Ont. Mrs. Shannon before her marriage was Mary A. O'Leary, daughter of the late John O'Leary, Hastings, Ont. Mr. and Mrs. Shannon spent their entire married life on the farm in Tyendinaga township where they still reside. The family consisted of nine children, the youngest deceased at the age of seven years and six months. Seven children, Mr. John Shannon, city, Mrs. Samuel L. Bryson, Carman, Man., and Mr. James Shannon, Mr. Philip Shannon, Mrs. Daniel H. Coffery, Mrs. Henry Larkin and Nellie A. Shannon, Latta, (Mr. Joseph Shannon, Williams, North Dak., absent) and seventeen grandchildren, (six grandchildren being absent) together with other intimate friends were present on this occasion.

Mr. and Mrs. Shannon were as usual most genial and trust that their lives may be spared to enjoy many more years of wedded life.

Good for Father and Good for Son

MR. C. ROY PRAISES DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

He States That They Relieved His Son of Bed Wetting and Himself of Bladder Trouble—Ask Your Neighbors About Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Thriverge Office, Bonaventure Co., Que., June 14. (Special)—That Dodd's Kidney Pills have been successfully used by both old and young as a remedy for kidney ills is again shown by the statement of Mr. Clement Roy, of this place.

"I am glad to be able to state," Mr. Roy says, "that Dodd's Kidney Pills relieved my little boy of bed wetting. They also helped my bladder trouble. I cannot say too much in praise of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are a kidney remedy pure and simple. But bladder and urinary troubles come as a result of weak or diseased kidneys. The natural way to treat such troubles is to strengthen or help the kidneys.

Mr. Roy acted on this principle when he used Dodd's Kidney Pills for his own and his son's troubles. The satisfaction he got is voiced by his statement.

If you have not used them yourself, ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills are not the remedy for kidney ills.

A man's greatest success in life is generally unexpected.

DEMOUREVILLE.

The rain which came Saturday last was much needed as our wells were nearly dry.

Miss Margaret Nelson passed peacefully away Sunday morning after a lingering illness. The family has the sympathy of the whole community.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Haré and Margaret spent the week-end at the latter's mother's, Mrs. S. Clapper.

Quite a number from our village attended the circus at Belleville. All report a good time.

Mrs. Lila Anderson came down from Toronto, to attend the funeral of her little sister Margaret.

Mr. and Mrs. F. T. Gorsline took dinner on Sunday last at Mr. D. B. Gorsline's.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Demih spent Sunday evening at the former's parents at Dorset's.

Mr. R. J. Smith and Essyt motored down from Belleville to attend the funeral of Margaret Nelson.

Talk of the Town and of the Country

The steamer Kingston arrived in Kingston Saturday morning with 350 members of the Buffalo Board of Commerce on board. The boat was under charter by the Board, which is taking its annual cruise. Formerly, until the war broke out, the Buffalo Board of Commerce had always gone up the Great Lakes but this year the members decided to go down through the Thousand Islands.

The idea of the trip each year is to get the members of the Board better acquainted with each other and also have a relax from strenuous duties. There is a number of prominent gentlemen on the trip, there being a number of bankers, heads of industries and leading business men.

Among the number is Mr. Edward C. Koons, one of the best known business men and one of the biggest real estate and industrial men of Buffalo and Henry C. Zeller, another prominent business man.

The secretary of the Buffalo Board of Commerce, Mr. G. C. Lehmann, is one of the prominent men of Buffalo with the party. The Kingston left at eleven o'clock for Alexandria Bay where some time was spent. The party left for Buffalo Sunday morning and arrived Sunday night.

IN LOVING MEMORY.

BIRD—In loving memory of Claude Bird, who was drowned in the river at Foxboro June the 14th, 1919.

It is not the tears at the moment shed,
That tells how beloved is the soul that has fled,
But the tears through many a long day shed,
And sad remembrance fondly kept.

Time has past since that sad day,
When God called you, dear Claude away.
Forget you; no, never can while we live,
As time goes by we love you still.

Friends may think that we forget
When by times they see us smile,
But they little know the troubles
That a smile does sometimes hide.
Father, Mother, Sisters, Brother.

MOIRA.

We had a nice rain on Saturday evening and everything begins to look more prosperous.

Sorry to report that Messrs. A. Herity and Gilbert Vanderwater are very poorly. Both are under the doctor's care.

The Moira W.M.S. Society intend having a pie social in the Hall on Tuesday evening, June 15th. A special programme is being prepared, consisting of recitations, solos and music, after which refreshments will be served in abundance.

Mr. Albert Welsh has been improving his dwellings and intends moving soon.

Mrs. Frank Herity has returned after visiting her parents at Windsor.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Thompson were guests of their daughter, Mrs. Clarence Elliott, Lodgeroom, on Friday.

The trustees have secured Mr. Roy Welsh for another year. The pupils are pleased to have their teacher remain with them.

Miss Ethel and Sarah Holbert spent Sunday at Mr. Will Morton's, Thomashurst.

Mr. R. P. Coulter, of Stirling made a business call to our town on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Clare spent Sunday at their daughter's, Mrs. Berson Mitts', Chatterton.

Mrs. Stanley and Miss Mae Herity of Toronto are guests of Mr. A. Herity.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Foster spent Sunday in Bellville.

Miss Elsie Flynn has gone to Belleville to take a course in Business College.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Ketcheson and family were guests at Mr. Fred Campbell's, Chatterton, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. I. Foster spent Sunday at Mr. Geo. Hollinger's.

Mr. Simon Elliott has been laid up with blood poison.

Miss Violet Jenkins and little Theda Salisbury of Roslin are spending a few days visiting here.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Vanderwater and family and Miss Mary Elliott

Biographical Sketch of Mr. W. D. Robb

Mr. W. D. Robb has risen from an apprenticeship in the service of the Grand Trunk Railway to that of Vice-President in charge of operation, construction, maintenance and equipment. He is regarded as one of the most practical railroad chiefs in the Dominion. His father was a railroad man before him and came to Canada from Scotland to join the Grand Trunk in its earliest days. Mr. Robb was born at Longueuil, Que., sixty-one years ago and received his early education at Sherbrooke Academy and St. Francis College, Richmond, Que. Entering the service of the Grand Trunk Railway System as an apprentice at Hadlow Cove in 1871 he went

RITCHIES

Dainty Comfort IN HARVEY "UNDIES"

HARVEY "UNDIES" for women and children—an exquisiteness of workmanship and a becomingness of pretty styles carefully made, that make an instantly favorable impression on every woman who delights in beautiful, well-made Underwear.

The shoulder straps on these unique "undies" WILL NOT SLIP OFF because in the making this part of the garment is fastened to prevent any possibility of slipping and also specially re-inforced to give the longest possible wear under all conditions. Their exquisite finish is remarkable. Every bit of ribbon and embroidery is worked with the utmost delicacy.

Harvey "Undies" form a perfect foundation for the corset, the street dress, or for the evening gown.

JUST ARRIVED
FAULARD'S
In shades of Navy, White and Copen, with white spots; also in many fancy designs. The daintiness of these Faulards will always attract and are well worth your inspection.

Special Price $1.50 per yd.
VOILES
A very large and enticing range of Voiles have now been delivered—Light and Dark Shades (Fancy)—75c to $2.00 per yard.
White Fancy Voiles in a neat design of cross-bars, stripes or spots—price 85c to $2.00 per yd.

SUIT SALE IS NOW $45.00 ON Per Suit ON

RITCHIE'S MEN'S STORE

SUIT SALE IS NOW $45.00 ON Per Suit ON

Men! Don't wait! Buy Now and save your money for vacation.

The RITCHIE Company Limited

DEATHS

ADAMS—In Belleville on Monday, June 14, 1920, Rev. Richard Newton Adams, aged 84 years and 10 months.

O'CONNOR—In Belleville on June 15, Patrick O'Connor, aged 80 years.

Nights of Agony come in the train of asthma. The victim cannot lie down and sleep is driven from his brain. What grateful relief is the immediate effect of Dr. J. D. Kollogg's Asthma Remedy. It banishes passages and enables the afflicted the frightful conditions, clears the one to again sleep as soundly and restfully as a child. Insist on the genuine at your nearby druggist.

PRICE

Council R to C

The city council 4 last night defeat allow the Cheese the Council Chamber meetings.

Mr. John Elliott, to request the use of the Council Chamber for the Board. For many had been used. To a very healthy condition, made to bring more men to Belleville.

Mr. Elliott received half of the sales of the buyers. The 1914 ruled that the was the proper place of the Cheese Board of the district. They west as Colborne's product of the soil. anything that can be buff. It would be a city if any stand would the city that would of the selling of Belleville. The chee things have been meeting of the council unnecessary. Mr. that the Council Chamber Council Chamber unit is received from the meeting.

Mr. W. S. Cook's buyers, thought they be all smoothed over the request.

Mr. W. L. McCrea also present.

Ald. Ponton thought ill feeling. He suggested the room in the Chamber. This would be fish more than giving city chamber.

Mr. Sprague said it of the farmers to building.

Mr. Elliott hoped tion of the Chamber would be the main branch. But at the he believed it most the accommodation chamber be granted.

Ald. Woodley under the unwelcoming board that the Cheese board borough and Campbell Chambers. The city private parlor of the and should not be ext "Tom, Dick and Harry."

Mr. W. S. Cook allowed the use of the ber.

Mayor Riggs felt ke tion. "I think we s any hesitation whatso use of the Council Chamber should be taken ca going to treat the They are the best fr got."

Ald. Ostrom thought Chamber should not be merce in the sell Everybody is in symp Cheese Board, but the help the Council to privity of the City Council this little room we had and which is so clear Mr. Sprague—"If th fied place, lets send where you can get the earth." Personally he where he brought chee ted to bring before the feelings of the farmers.

Ald. Ponton said the had to be considered. We don't support the have, how do we expect ones? He believed the ber of the Cheese Board 'eman. Commerce wa the dignity of the Council.

Mr. McCrea said of the Chamber of C decided on Monday aft the Chamber's board.

PRICE OF GAS IS RAISED TWENTY-FIVE CENTS

Council Refuses Use of Council Chamber to Cheese Board—Some Plain Remarks.

The city council by a vote of 5 to 4 last night defeated a resolution to allow the Cheese Board the use of the Council Chamber for their board meetings.

Mr. John Elliott headed a deputation, to request the Council to grant the use of the Council Chamber once per week for the Belleville Cheese Board. For many years the chamber had been used. Today the board is in a very healthy condition, and is very loyally attended. Efforts are being made to bring more buyers and salesmen to Belleville. The present committee room is too small and City Hall too large. The cheese board is anxious to preserve its connection with the city. As the Cheese Board are the leading men of this district, the little concession asked will be much appreciated.

The Board has a turnover of at least a million dollars per season. What would not the city do for a new industry with the turnover?

Mr. Elliott received his request on behalf of the salesmen.

Mr. Mark Sprague appeared on behalf of the buyers. Mayor Willis in 1914 ruled that the Council Chamber was the proper place for the meeting of the Cheese Board. The members of the Cheese Board are the cream of the district. They come from as far west as Colborne. They deal in the product of the soil. They feel deeply anything that can be taken as a rebuff. It would be a calamity to the city if any stand would be taken by the city that would mean the removal of the selling of the cheese from Belleville. The cheesemen feel that things have been said at the last meeting of the council that were unnecessary. Mr. Sprague asked that the Council grant the use of the Council Chamber until the partition is removed from the present place of meeting.

Mr. W. S. Cook of Cook & Son, buyers, thought the feelings would be all smoothed over by acceding to the request.

Mr. W. L. McCreary, buyer was also present.

Ald. Ponton thought there was no ill feeling. He suggested the use of the room in the Chamber of Commerce. This would perhaps accomplish more than giving the use of the city chamber.

Mr. Sprague said it was a custom of the farmers to come to the city building.

Mr. Elliott hoped the rural section of the Chamber of Commerce would be the most progressive branch. But at the present moment he believed it most important that the accommodation in the Council chamber be granted.

Ald. Woodley undertook "to deny the unwelcomeness." He denied that the Cheese board met in Peterborough and Campbellford Council Chambers. The city chamber is the private parlor of the city building and should not be extended to every "Tom, Dick and Harry."

Mr. W. S. Cook said Napanee allowed the use of the Council Chamber.

Mayor Riggs felt keenly the situation. "I think we should without any hesitation whatsoever allow the use of the Council Chamber. The room will be taken care of. We are going to treat the farmers right. They are the best friends we have got."

Ald. Ostrom thought the Council Chamber should not be used for Commerce in the selling of cheese. Everybody is in sympathy with the Cheese Board, but the Board should help the Council to preserve the dignity of the City Council Chamber—this little room we have decorated, and which is so clean and sweet."

Mr. Sprague—"If this is a sanctified place, lets send to the country where you can get the salt of the earth." Personally he had no choice where he bought cheese, but he wanted to bring before the Council the feelings of the farmers.

Ald. Ponton said the Cheese Board had to be considered an industry. We don't support the industries we have, how do we expect to get new ones? He believed that every member of the Cheese Board was a gentleman. Commerce will not lower the dignity of the Council Chamber.

Mr. McCreary said the directors of the Chamber of Commerce had decided on Monday afternoon to offer the Chamber's board room to the Cheese Board. Mr. Harris wanted to correct the impression that he was offended to the board meeting in the chamber.

Mr. Elliott said he resented the reference to the farmers as "Tom, Dick and Harry." He knew of no organization that was so free from smoking as the members of the Cheese Board.

Ald. Hanna and Ald. Wensley thought the request would be granted.

Mayor Riggs moved that the request be granted, until such time as the present room is suitable.

Ald. Ostrom twitted the Council with changing their opinions. "We like children's fall. What kind of men are we? Yet if we all want, I'll fall in."

Ald. Adams opposed the resolution "This chamber is no sanitationarium, judging by the proceedings."

Ald. Ostrom—"Let us make it unanimous then."

Ald. Wensley then called for the vote which lost.

Mayor—"It is a calamity. I think it ridiculous to vote that down."

Mr. Sprague—

Ald. Ponton asked for the yeas and nays on the motion.

Yeas—Mayor Riggs, Hanna, Ponton, Wensley—4.

Nays—Demarsh, Doyle, Adams, Ostrom and Woodley—5.

Mr. Sprague said the storekeepers and merchants had urged him to let the matter drop. "The die is cast."

Mr. Bert Campbell's tender for printing and lettering the hook and ladders truck for $100.00 was accepted.

Lieut. E. R. Hinchey, bandmaster of the G.W.V.A. band, addressed council regarding the concerts in the parks of the city during the summer. The investment in music and instruments is $1,500. He thought the band one of the finest in the province. The recommendation to give a $400 grant for 10 concerts would not cover the needs. Forty dollars per concert would go to the men and eight dollars or 20 per cent. to the G.W.V.A. The council adopted an amendment to the recommendation agreeing to pay $480 for the ten concerts.

Council awarded the contract to William Donahue of constructing a sanitary sewer on Station street at a cost of $47,280.

Ald. Ponton told Ald. Hanna that the boulevard on George St. would be filled up shortly.

Gas Price Up 25 cents.

Ald. DeMarsh moved, seconded by Ald. Adams that the gas manager be authorized to raise the price of gas 25 cts. per thousand feet owing to the advanced cost of coal oil and labor. Carried.

Ald. Ostrom said that present prices will mean a large deficit in the gas department.

Wedding Bells

ANDERSON—RATHMAN

A quiet wedding was celebrated this morning at ten o'clock when Miss Mabel Rathman, only daughter of the late Claus Rathman, and of Mrs. Rathman, was united in marriage to Mr. John Anderson of this city, son of the late John Anderson and Mrs. Anderson of Langside, Scotland. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. A. H. Foster, of Holloway Street Methodist Church, at the home of the bride's mother, 133 Catherine Street, in the presence of immediate relatives, the young couple being unattended. After the ceremony and following a buffet luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson left at noon for Montreal and Eastern points on their honeymoon. They will make their home in this city. The bride was the recipient of numerous beautiful gifts from her many friends.

DOHERTY—HOWARD

A quiet wedding took place at Trinity Methodist Church, Bloor St., Toronto, on Saturday morning, June 12, when Ruth A., daughter of Mrs. Howard and the late E. S. Howard was married to Captain William J. Doherty, R. G. A., son of the late Mr. and Mrs. James Doherty of Clinton, Ont. The ceremony was conducted by Rev. E. E. Howard of Brighton, grandfather of the bride, assisted by Rev. Newton Powell. The bride, who was given away by her uncle, Rev. F. H. Howard, of Strirling wore a navy blue travelling suit and hat, her corsage bouquet being sweet heart roses. After the ceremony the happy couple left for a trip up the lakes, and to Winnipeg. Captain Doherty served five years overseas, 2 years in France, and 3 years in the Eastern Campaign, receiving the Military Cross and Bar, Croix de Guerre, Order of Karageorgic (Serbian) and Mons Star.

BOWEN—JACKSON

A quiet wedding was solemnized in Kingston on Wednesday, June 3rd at 2 p.m. when Miss Clara Olive Elizabeth, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bowen, Napanee, was united in matrimony to Charles Nelson Jackson, son of Robert Jackson of Kingston. Rev. Mr. Watts of Kingston, performed the ceremony. The couple were attended by Miss Rubie Bowen, sister of the bride, and Kenneth Jackson, brother of the groom. After a buffet luncheon at the Randolph Hotel, the happy couple left on the afternoon train for points west. After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Jackson will reside in Gananogue—Napanee Beaver.

DENIKE—DINGMAN

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Williams, Inkerman street, on Wednesday afternoon, May 26th, when Miss Edith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chauncey Dingman, of Cramah, became the bride of Mr. Harry Denike, of Campbellford. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. E. Kenny, pastor of the Methodist Church. The bride's travelling suit was of taupe gabardine, with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Denike left on the afternoon train for a short honeymoon trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls. Tuesday evening a few friends of the bride gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Williams and "showered" her with a number of useful and handsome gifts. The Herald joins with the many friends of the bride and groom in wishing them a pleasant and prosperous voyage over life's matrimonial sea.—Campbellford Herald.

MERRILL—GRANFIELD

At the home of the bride's parents Beatrice Street, Toronto, the marriage took place of Ghitta Coral, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Granfield to Mr. Ray Alexander Merrill, only son of Mrs. W. H. Harte, of this town.

Rev. Canon Skey officiated. The bride, who was unattended, was gowned in cream crepe de chine, with veil and orange blossoms, and she carried cream roses and forget-me-nots. Miss Slocum played the wedding march, and Miss Sanders sang "O Sweet and Holy." The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace and to the pianist and soloist each a pearl pin. An interesting feature was the wearing by the groom of the wedding gloves worn by his father thirty-five years ago. Mrs. Granfield was gowned in grey crepe de chine and georgette with picture hat and corsage of sweet peas. Mrs. Harte was in grey satin, with French hat and corsage also of sweet peas.

Mr. and Mrs. Merrill will spend their honeymoon in Buffalo and points east, the bride going away in a suit of navy blue broadcloth with picture hat and corsage of Lily of the valley.

The groom's many friends and associates in this vicinity will join us in extended congratulations to the happy young couple.—Campbellford Herald.

SMITH—DAVIS

The marriage was solemnized at St George's Church, Hanover Square London, Eng., in February, of Mrs. Sel, only daughter of Mr. H. F. Davis, Canfield Gardens, South Hampstead, N. W., and J. Harry Smith, late Lieutenant R. A. F., only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Smith, Campbellford, Ont. The bride was assisted by Miss Dorothy Usher, while Capt. Allan Foote, son of Admiral Sir Randolph Foote, K. C. B., supported the groom. After the ceremony a reception was held for the immediate friends at the "Criterion" the young couple leaving later for a two weeks' honeymoon through Scotland. They will reside for the present in St. John's Wood, London, N. W. C.—Campbellford Herald.

MILLER—HICKS

An event of considerable local interest took place at the home of Mr. Joseph Hicks, reeve of N. Fredericksburg, on Wednesday, June 2, 1920, when his only daughter Kathryn A. (Kitty) was united in marriage to Mr. Harry B. Miller, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Miller, of Bethany.—Deseronto Post.

LOYST—MARTIN

A pretty wedding took place at the Edson Parsonage on Saturday, May 29th. The Rev. J. E. Collins officiating. The bride, Miss Alice Lela Martin, was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Martin, of Edinburg, Scotland, and the groom, Mr. Wallace Loyst, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Loyst of Flinton, Ont., now residing at Marlboro, Ont. The bride was attended by Miss Phoebe Pringle, cousin of the groom, and Mr. Roy Fraser was best man. The bride looked charming in a cream georgette and silk dress, with bridal veil and wreath of orange blossoms. Miss Pringle wore a dress of pale blue georgette and hat to match. The happy couple went to Marlboro, where a reception and dance were held. The friends of the groom presented them with a very handsome set of cutlery and spoons and wishing them every happiness. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Loyst will reside in Marlboro, Ont.

JONES—ARTHUR

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Arthur on Saturday, June 5, when their oldest daughter, Miss Jessie Arthur, was united in marriage to Mr. Bert Jones, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Jones. The bride looked very becoming in a white dress of pale blue and carried a sheaf of bridal roses and carnations. Miss Jennie Arthur, her sister, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Charlie Rand as best man. The flower girls, Miss Marjorie Minaker and Miss Doris Arthur, carried large baskets filled with a variety of flowers. After the ceremony a very quaint lunch was served. The bride's travelling suit was of navy blue serge. Many and beautiful were the gifts received from relatives and friends. Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Arthur, London, England, made the happy couple a present of two handsome leather rocking chairs and an umbrella stand. Mr. and Mrs. Jones left by motor for Toronto and Niagara for their honeymoon.—Picton Times.

MADOC JOY

Several from here attended the circus in the city.

The rain on Saturday night was badly needed as gardens and grain field were getting very dry.

Our pastor, Rev. G. C. R. McQuade leaves this week to attend conference at Whitby.

Among those who attended the branch meeting of the W.M.S. in Peterboro from this circuit were Mrs. Geo. Hollinger, Mrs. Pitman, Mrs. Blake Ketcheson, Mrs. Andrews and Miss N. Stapley.

Our school is still closed and those who have been on the sick list are reported out of danger.

Miss Irene Gulliver, who is employed at Syracuse, N.Y., is spending her holidays at the home of her parents.

Misses Margaret and Bessie Hollinger of Moira, were among the visitors here on Sunday.

The W.M.S. here intend holding their open meeting on June 29th in the church, the delegate, Miss Nina Stapley, will give the report of the branch meeting at Peterboro.

Justice Rose will preside over the non-jury session of the Supreme Court, which opens at St. Thomas on Monday.

Late E. E. Hubbard

The funeral of the late E. E. Hubbard took place yesterday afternoon from his late residence, Harriett St. to Belleville cemetery. The bearers were as follows, Messrs. Frank Orr, Bert Campbell, George Campbell, Jas. Clement, Laughton Webster, John Murphy.

Following are the floral tributes which showed the esteem in which deceased was held:

Pillows—Family, Mr. and Mrs. J. Penny and Gerald Lynch.

Wreaths—Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Webster, McLaughlin Motor Car staff.

Cross—Mr. W. J. Hogan and family, Misses Nellie and Theresa Hutchinson.

Heart—Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lynch and Mrs. Elizabeth Lynch.

Anchor—No. 2 Dept. B.F.D. Sprays—Mrs. Frank Scantlebury and Mary A. Graham, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Lynch, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Whalen, Mrs. M. Mcomber and son Kenneth, Watertown, Mr. and Mrs. J. Murphy, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Bly, Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. Bert Asselstine.

Bouquet—Mr. and Mrs. F. Landenberger.

The Late David Dickey

The death occurred on Friday, May 28th of David A. T. Dickey, youngest son of the late Matthew Dickey.

The late Mr. Dickey who was thirty six years and seven months old, was taken ill of Pneumonia to which he succumbed despite all that medical skill and good care could do.

He spent all his life on the farm in Percy Township, he was an industrious young man, who by his honesty and integrity won the esteem of all. He was a member of the Methodist Church. He leaves a wife and 3 small children to mourn the loss of a loving husband and father, also an aged mother and five brothers.—Matthew of Milwaukee, Wis.; John, of Regina, Sask., William and Roseburgh of Govan, Sask., George, of Hastings and one sister, Mrs. Fred Phillips of town.

The funeral was in charge of the Local True Blue Lodge, No. 35, Campbellford, of which the deceased was a member. The L.T.B. burial service at the grave was most impressive and a large number of the members turned out. The service at the house was in charge of Rev. A. R. Walsh, of Hastings. Interment took place in Trent Valley Cemetery, near Hastings.—Campbellford Herald.

Obituary

PATRICK O'CONNOR

Patrick O'Connor passed to his reward early this morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. D. Davidson, 54 West Moira St. The deceased was born in Ireland 80 years ago and came to Canada when a very small boy. He had been a resident of Trenton for many years previous to coming to Belleville. He was a member of St. Michael's church. He had been in ill health for a few weeks previous to his death.

He is survived by four children, Michael O'Connor and Mrs. Mary Leahy, of Bay City, Mich., Mrs. D. Davidson and Miss Maude, both of Belleville.

Rev. R. Adams was born in the township of Hungerford, Hastings Co., on Sept 1st, 1835. When he retired from the active ministry in June, 1903, he returned to his native county and located in Belleville, where he resided till called to his reward on Monday, June 14th, after an illness of one year. In 1854 under the ministry of Rev. Nelson Brown, Mr. Adams was converted and joined the Methodist Church. In 1859 he received his call to the ministry and entered the work. In 1863 he was ordained in the city of Quebec and spent eighteen years within the bounds of what is now known as the Montreal Conference. For forty-four years he remained in the active ministry of the Methodist Church, the last twenty-six being connected with the Bay of Quinte Conference. In 1863 Mr. Adams was united in marriage with Miss Mary Ferguson, who labored with him in works more abundant until her demise in 1908.

On superannuating Mr. Adams united with Bridge Street church where he richly enjoyed the services of the sanctuary and was seldom absent from his accustomed place at mid-week and Sabbath services.

Deceased leaves to mourn his loss and to cherish his memory three daughters: Mrs. E. Richardson, of Los Angeles, Cal.; and Misses Minnie and Florence at home.

SINCLAIR'S THREE DAYS SILK SALE

Thursday, Friday, Saturday

More than ten thousand dollars worth of Black and Colored Silks to select from.

Price Reductions 75c to $3.00 a Yard

Our Greatest Ever Silk Sale

On Thursday morning next we will place on sale over Ten Thousand Dollars Worth of Black and Colored Dress Silks, including Black and Colored Taffetas, Black and Colored Duchesse Satins, Black and Colored Satin Charmeuse, Black and Colored Charmeuse, 36 in Wash Satins, Black and Colored Silk Georgettes and Crepe de Chines Printed Georgettes and Crepe de Chines, Printed Silk Foulard's, Ivory Tricollette, Messalines, etc., in fact all the best dress and suit silks in our Store will be included in this Three Days' Silk Sale.

Here are some of our special offerings—

- 20 shades of 36 in Satin Duchesse, regular $3.50, $3.75 and $4.00 Silks, sale price, your choice, yd. . . . $2.75
- All our Printed Georgette Crepes $4.50, $5.00, $5.50 and $6.50, all newest designs, your choice, yd. . . . $3.50
- 40 inch Charmonte Satins, in Black and Colors, one of our best selling silks, regular $5.50 on sale, yd. $4.35
- 36 inch Wash Satins white and colors on sale at, yd $2.75
- 40 in Crepe de Chines all colors, $3.00 crepes for yd. $2.25
- 36 in Black and Colored Taffetas, our best $3.50 and $4 Taffetas on sale for, yard. . . . $3.00
- 36 inch Black Messaline, regular $4.00 for only, yd $3.00
- 1 piece only 42 in Ivory Tricollette $3.50 for only yd $6.50
- Your choice of 50 shades in Plain Georgette Crepes, all our $3.00 qualities, on sale for, yd. . . . $2.25
- 8 pieces only of Printed French Crepe de Chines, regular $6.50, $7.00, $7.50, and $8.00 to clear, your choice $5.

Our Absolute Guarantee

We absolutely guarantee that every Silk Dress purchased at this sale will affect a real saving of from $2.50 to $15.00 for Dresses, when our qualities and Sale Values are compared with firms elsewhere.

THREE DAYS ONLY

Thursday, Friday, Saturday

MANY OF THESE SILKS ARE NOW SHOWN IN OUR WINDOWS

SINCLAIR'S

ORMOND PATTERSON'S DEATH ACCIDENTAL

Jury Finds Driver Did all Possible to Avoid Accident—Rules of Motor Traffic Considered

That the death of Walter Ormond Patterson, the five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter H. Patterson, 41 Victoria Ave., was caused by his being struck by a motorbus on Wednesday, June 9th, was the verdict of Coroner Dr. Boyce's jury after a three-hour session last evening at the police court.

"From the evidence submitted," said the jury, "we consider the driver of the bus, Mr. James Cook, did all possible under the circumstances, to avoid the accident.

"And we would recommend that the police commissioners of the city take up the matter of the speed of motor cars and that the regulations of traffic be strictly enforced."

"It looks to me simply a deplorable accident. I don't see how it could have been avoided. The driver was exercising reasonable care in driving over that part of the route," said Coroner Boyce, addressing the jury at the completion of the taking of evidence.

"The question is: How to avoid these accidents? The past history of the hill shows that it is dangerous. In two years, three lives have been lost there. It is a hill down which it is easy to come rapidly and difficult to climb slowly. Besides, there is a curve in it. If it were very steep hill people would have to come down slowly, but it is not.

"Something should be done to prevent speeding there. There is no evidence of speeding in this case. Something should be done to minimize the danger of accidents. Dr. Boyce asked the jury to give particular attention to their suggestions as the possibility of evolving some means of preventing accidents.

"Surely it is proper in times of congestion to have a police officer located at this intersection," said Dr. Boyce. "It is more dangerous than Front street. The coroner also thought that drivers of cars were too anxious to whistle and make people get out of their way.

"On that hill accidents have been altogether too numerous in the past two years, no less than three fatalities having occurred there. If you can make any suggestions to prevent such, it is your duty to do so," said the coroner to the jury when the inquest was resumed.

Dr. Forrester, hearing cries for help, and a woman announcing the tragedy at the door, ran to the scene. The boy was dead on arrival at the office of Dr. Boyce. The skull was crushed from the side. The traffic was very heavy at this time. In answer to an inquiry from the coroner, Dr. Forrester said some cars speeded up the hill at a good rate, which seemed to be necessary.

Police Constable P. B. VanMeer testified that the chauffeur, Cook, said the lad had apparently jumped out in front of him and that nothing could have been done to prevent the accident.

Hector J. Post swore that he witnessed the accident from the corner of Victoria Ave. and Church street. The screams of the child first attracted his attention. Then he saw a man carrying a child from about the middle of the road and it seemed at the rear of the bus, which was stopped.

Mr. A. G. Davis, journalist, testified that he saw the bus turn up, followed by several automobiles. He heard a commotion, then screaming. As he walked up the street, he saw the little body lying on the boulevard. Cook told witness that he had not seen the boy until the car was right up to him. People in the car followed, expressed the opinion that the chauffeur was not to blame.

The bus was not in the centre of the street, but towards the right side. The cars following the bus were trying to pass the bus and seemed to be going quite rapidly. A bus was coming east, at about Church street intersection. At the time he thought there was a chance of an accident to cars, owing to congestion. He thought the bus was going at a lesser speed than 10 miles per hour. The other cars were travelling at about 20 miles per hour.

buyers. No one seems to desire (up) by the bag. They were quite plentiful.

The wool and hide markets are still declining. Washed wool brings from 18c. to 37c., unwashed from 10c. to 25c. Hides are quoted at 9c. to 10c., deacons 75c. to $1.00, veal 15c. to 20c., horse hides $4 to $5.

Apples offered at 75c. per peck. Eggs today brought 48c. to 50c. Buyers are paying 43c. to 45c. as this is the loss-off season.

Butter sold at 65c. Poultry brought 55c. to 30c. per pound or $1.00 onwards per fowl.

Produce sells as follows—radish 10c., bunch; rhubarb 10c.; lettuce 10c. to 15c.; onions 10c.; cucumbers 10c. to 20c.

Miss Clara Snarr recited very cleverly Pauline Johnson's "Ojibab."

The judges, after much consideration, awarded the prize to Mr. Andrew Boa.

The Graduate's Recital was the play, "Quality Street," by J. M. Barrie.

The toy symphony was also a big feature of the programme. About fifteen girls each played a toy instrument such as the whistle, bells, triangle, drum and tambourine.

Witness saw a car coming down the hill and other cars. He was looking straight ahead and not sideways.

The child was right in front of the front wheel when Mr. Cook saw him. He turned the wheel to the left so as to try to escape him.

Mr. Foley recalled, declared that both wheels passed over the child.

R. McMaisters, chauffeur for Tickle & Son Co., and Henry Copeland, also testified.

The coroner said there was no fracture except that of the skull. He was doubtful if even the child was run over. The cause of death was shock due to fracture. Had the wheel passed over the shoulder there would have been a fracture, but there was not.

He thought the witness was mistaken in his testimony that the car passed over the child's shoulder. There were abrasions on the side.

St. Michael's Win From Havelock

Belleville Baseball Club's Second Victory of Season.

St. Michael's Club won its second victory of the season in the Trent Valley Baseball League, by defeating Havelock yesterday afternoon at the Fair Grounds by the score of 6 to 4.

The game was not begun until 4.45 o'clock owing to the late arrival of the visitors.

St. Michael's proved themselves a likely championship team, although Havelock gave them club a scare, for the visitors opened strong, with a good batting exhibition.

The hitting was quite light. Both teams used two pitchers. Details by innings follow:

Havelock—Herrington walks. Hagerman singles, on wild throw to third. Baudreau singles past short, scoring Herrington from second.

Havelock—Hooper drove single to left. Champagne walks. Thompson fans. Herrington flew to Cornell.

Havelock—Thompson out third to first. Innis got first on error of second. Hooper hit offhand a single to left, and scores Innis. Champagne out, second to first.—One run, two hits, one error.

St. Michael's—Smith singled to centre and steals. Green first on thirds error. Woodley bunted, and Smith scored. Lynch bunted filling the bases. Green scores on over-throw to catcher. Clapper flew to third. Young struck out. W. Miles gets first on error of third and scores Woodley and Lynch. Cornell flew to centre.—Four runs, three hits, three errors.

Havelock—Thompson out third to first. Herrington out pitcher to first. Hagerman got first on error of short stop. Baudreau out, second to first.—No runs, no hits, one error.

St. Michael's—J. Miles singles and is out stealing second. J. Smith first on error of short. Green hits more would be here today if our people had enough faith in our own town to invest their surplus funds at home. We have offered to sell any or all of our investments in these factories to our people at exactly what they cost us, but so far only one citizen has come forward to take any of our hands and his money was not made locally.

Havelock—Anderson drove to left a single. Innis gets first. Wright gets first. Anderson flew out to third. Hooper flew out to second. Champagne got first, and Innis scored. Thompson out, pitcher to first.

Havelock—Herrington out, short to first. Hagerman lined single to centre. Baudreau singled and Hagerman was forced out at second. Anderson flew to short.—No runs, two hits, no errors.

St. Michael's—Hooper pitching for Havelock and Herrington in left field. J. Miles singles to centre. J. Smith doubled to right, scoring J. Miles from first. Green flew to right. Woodley fanned. Lynch flew to second.—One run, two hits no errors.

Havelock—Herrington out, short to first. Hagerman lined single to centre. Baudreau singled and Hagerman was forced out at second. Anderson flew to short.—No runs, two hits, no errors.

struck out.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

St. Michael's—Clapper got first on error of short. W. Miles flew to left. Cornell fanned.—No runs, no hits, one error.

Havelock—Hagerman out, third to first. Baudreau struck out. Anderson fans.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Havelock—Hagerman out, third to first. Baudreau struck out. Anderson fans.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Havelock—Hagerman out, third to first. Baudreau struck out. Anderson fans.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Havelock—Hagerman out, third to first. Baudreau struck out. Anderson fans.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Havelock—Hagerman out, third to first. Baudreau struck out. Anderson fans.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Havelock—Hagerman out, third to first. Baudreau struck out. Anderson fans.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Havelock—Hagerman out, third to first. Baudreau struck out. Anderson fans.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Havelock—Hagerman out, third to first. Baudreau struck out. Anderson fans.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Havelock—Hagerman out, third to first. Baudreau struck out. Anderson fans.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Havelock—Hagerman out, third to first. Baudreau struck out. Anderson fans.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Havelock—Hagerman out, third to first. Baudreau struck out. Anderson fans.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Havelock—Hagerman out, third to first. Baudreau struck out. Anderson fans.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Havelock—Hagerman out, third to first. Baudreau struck out. Anderson fans.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Havelock—Hagerman out, third to first. Baudreau struck out. Anderson fans.—No runs, no hits, no errors.

Willard
TRADE MARK REGISTERED

WHEN somebody tells you of a battery that has come through a long life and had some hard knocks along the way, don't put him down as a windjammer. But you can bet on it that if the tale is gospel-true he had a good battery to start with and he gave it a square deal. Ask about the Still Better Willard.

Quinte Battery Service Station
133 Front St.—Phone 731

Inspect These

Phaetons, Auto Seat Top Buggies, Platform Spring Democrat Wagons, Steel Tubular Axle Wagons, Bolster Spring, Royal Mail Delivery Wagons, Factory Milk Wagons, Repairing, Painting, Reupholstering, Rubber Tires. All kinds of Automobiles repaired, painted and upholstered.

The FINNEGAN CARRIAGE & WAGON CO.
BELLEVILLE, ONT.

NOVEMBER SUNSET FROM CEMETRY

Below a line of amber hue,
Transfused with tints of varied color,
Deep banks of purple clouds hang o'er
Sweet scented pines on Quinte's shore.

Whitest fleecy clouds, like souls unleased
From distant climes of Heavenly rest,
Float gracefully 'bove the globe of red,
Fast sinking in the West.

Looming dark grey on either hand—
Like sentinels placed to guard the land,
Stand veteran chain of hills—
Grim tokens of past early days,
When Redmen roamed at will.

Outlined 'gainst winter's tinted sky,
Giant trees on hilltops far away—
Seem like brave soldiers, well in line,
Fast marching on in wars array.

Now here, now there, in rapid flight
The sea gull's pinions far outspread,
Seeks out its pray, or yet anon—
Wing sadly past our blessed dead.

Tall shafts of marble dimly seen,
Through forests of nature's kindly green,
Mark where our dear ones rest—
Their souls enrapt in sweet repose—
Forever with the blest—

Oh! hallowed region of the quiet dead—
'Twould seem as though their voices heard
Were upward floating from their graves,
And speaking to sad ones left here.

'Tis pleasant here, side Quinte's shore,
To rest in peace for evermore—
'Tis pleasant here at Quinte's side,
In friends sweet memory to abide.

As sun sinks low in Western sky,
To rise again (the world make bright)—
To sink our souls in deep repose—
To rise forever, in that light of endless immortality.

Chas. Stewart,
62 Mohr street, west, Belleville.

Cheese Markets

Peterboro, June 10.—There were 991 boxes of cheese boarded yesterday. Sales, 445 to Free at 29 1/2 cts. and the balance to Morton at 29 1/2 cts. Seven buyers were present.

Campbellford, June 10.—Five hundred and ninety packages were offered, 300 packages sold at 28 1/2 cts. To Free, balance refused at 28 1/2 cts.

Stirling, June 10.—At today's cheese board 610 boxes were offered, all sold at 28 1/2 cts.

Late Mrs. Thompson

The funeral of the late Mrs. Annie Thompson took place from the residence of her brother-in-law, Mr. C. C. Atkins, on Thursday afternoon under the auspices of Quinte Lodge of Rebekahs. Mrs. F. Naylor, Noble Grand officiated, assisted by Mrs. Smith. The Rev. D. C. Ramsay conducted the religious service. Interment was made in the family plot in Belleville cemetery. The bearers were C. DeLisle, C. F. Cochrane, H. Ransou, A. Cole, C. Frost and P. G. Denike. Many beautiful floral tributes had been placed on the casket.

Mrs. Capt. Fagan and Mrs. Geo. Cousins have returned home after a week's visit to Mr. and Mrs. Ed. R. Smith, Erie, Pa., son of Capt. and Mrs. Fagan. They accompanied Miss Mildred Fagan to the Nurses' Training School at Buffalo, N. Y., and had a very pleasant trip. The Ontario's best wishes goes with Miss Mildred.

Laid to Rest

LATE WALTER O. PATTERSON.

The funeral of the late Walter O. Patterson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Patterson, Victoria avenue, took place on Friday afternoon from the parents' residence, Ven. Archdeacon Beamish, of St. Thomas' Church, officiating. The Rev. A. S. Kerr, of St. Andrew's Church, assisted. The interment was made in Belleville cemetery, the bearers being H. B. Stock, W. E. Clarke, E. A. Adam and Bert Boyce.

MRS. LUCINDA KAITTING.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Lucinda Kaitting took place on Friday from the Salvation Army Citadel, Pinnacle street, Capt. Cavender conducting the service. Interment was made in Belleville cemetery, the bearers being W. E. Parks, A. W. Brown, F. W. Churchill and J. Young.

School Dental Clinic

During the month of May, a number of the local dentists again gave their services for the School Dental Clinic, in several cases finishing in their own offices work which could not be completed with the school equipment. The report of the month's work is as follows:—

- Children treated—24.
- Fillings (amalgam)—34.
- Fillings (cement)—34.
- Extractions (acidulous)—12.
- Extractions (permanent)—7.

During the month of June, Dr. Gerald Morton is giving his services daily and a clinic is being held each morning.

DEATHS

HUBBARD

At the family residence No. 13 Harriet Street, Edward T. Hubbard, aged 57 years and 3 months.

BROWN

In Belleville on Thursday, June 10th, George Brown, aged 63 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Burrows and son, of Toronto, and Mrs. Eva Pollock and two children, of Washington, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. Burrows, cor. Bridge and William streets.

Poor Crop of Strawberries

Strawberries, which made their appearance on the market this morning at 45c. to 50c. per box, are not a large crop this year, due to the dry weather. One market gardener, who sold two hundred and fifty dollars worth of the fruit last year, has picked only eight boxes this year and is going to plough-up the patch next week as it is a failure.

Potatoes were offered at $6.00 per bag today, but found only a few monte. C. K. Grigg has completed a... has found the... states that the... family is unusual... frequently the num... bers relative to... at. The average... will not be over as farmed for over... near Shamrock... point to these... into bugs this year... they on the fact... not borrow very... nter hibernation... now to keep them... cold months. How... not come in the... plenty of severe... a consequence Mr... frozen up.

merchant in Pet... ve a couple of em... and tell him every... thing. To these and... and, he dedicated not always go... is the longest will daily run... the things he's... fully know... these fellows

el brigade of pri... begin a system... 100 acre estate of... Hampton, N.Y. discover the hiding... dollars worth... stolen from the... days ago. The... dig up every... on the grounds... certain that... reted within the... ds were doubled... result of threats... of the family... ate. It was said... ight be made to... from their hid... them away. None... being permitted

Cold.—Colds are... ents of mankind... lead to serious... has' Electric Oil... onchial passages... bedly and thor... strengthen them... attack. And as it... on it will stop... allays all irri... at. Try it and r, Henry St., is... at Albany, re... nances.

ON
... who has been... Mrs. Lorna Peck... returned to her the Roman... ed on Sunday... for women and... for men were ord St., accom... s Mae Mills of... ekville, where... mother, Mrs.

... wife, also little... ay with his fa...
Captain Clarke... ce at Whitty... o. Young of... been visiting... rned to their granddaughter... who accom... rry to Tren... their home... en months with... rry.
League will... arch on Thurs... ce, who has... er, Mrs. Stan... into, returned ten her toper... covers herself... reaches his bed... ad come home bed, gazes in... and says "Who... omes the ans...

IRIT
at then! I did... ight it was my... of Christian...

THE WEEKLY ONTARIO.

THE DAILY ONTARIO is published every afternoon (Sundays and holidays excepted) at The Ontario Building, Front St., Belleville, Ontario.

Subscription Rates (Daily Edition)
 One year, delivered, in the city . . . . . $5.20
 One year, by mail to rural areas . . . . . $5.00
 One year, post office box, 99, Belleville, Ont. . . . . $4.00
 One year, to U. S. A. . . . . $7.00

THE WEEKLY ONTARIO and Hay of Ontario Chronicle is published every Thursday morning at $1.50 a year or $2.00 a year to the United States.

JOB PRINTING: The Ontario Job Printing Department is specially well equipped to turn out artistic and stylish Job Work. Modern press, new type, competent workmen.

W. H. Morton, Business Manager. J. O. Herby, Editor-in-Chief.

THURSDAY, JUNE 17, 1920.

A PROPOSAL FOR INTERNATIONAL RECONSTRUCTION

Lloyd George and Signor Nitti are credited with a desire to moderate the economic burdens imposed upon Germany by the peace treaty in order to awaken a spirit of conciliation throughout the world. Some reports say that France opposes any lessening of Germany's burdens, since such a policy would be largely at her expense.

Be that as it may there is a growing body of opinion that the Allies cannot solve their own problems without taking into account the needs of their late enemy. This view finds expression in a recent manifesto of the British Labor Party, which is of arresting interest. In the opinion of the National Executive of the Labor Party France has been going down hill since the armistice. In spite of heroic efforts her industrial machine has refused to work normally; food crisis has followed transport crisis, to be succeeded by coal crisis. Her financial deterioration, reflected in the fall of the value of the franc, indicates the difficulty of re-establishing her foreign trade.

The British Labor leaders fear that nothing the French Government can do will arrest the process of deterioration, and conclude that the economic rehabilitation of France cannot be accomplished without the economic rehabilitation of Germany. They add that French statesmen are beginning to realize that France cannot place her dependence upon the execution by Germany of the reparation clauses of the peace treaty, since "France cannot expect to get economic or financial relief from a Germany bankrupt, and with her industries, commerce and finance in a state of collapse."

The British Labor leaders affirm that "common international action is the only possible method of dealing with the crisis" which confronts Europe. They therefore urge the creation under the Council of the League of Nations of a commission, representing Allied, enemy and neutral states, charged with the task of reviewing the whole international economic situation and of making proposals for meeting the immediate difficulties. The actions of this body would be directed, politically, towards the creation of an international economic life; financially, towards the rehabilitation of credit by international loans; and industrially, towards the distribution of coal and raw materials so as to assure the reconstruction of the industries of the various countries.

What the Labor men really advocate is the application of the trust principle to international affairs, a gigantic combine under state auspices. Possibly what the statesmen failed to effect with their League of Nations may be enforced upon the world by the necessities of peoples. Some such federation of forces and resources of the world may be inevitable; at any rate the only alternative is action by great trusts and banking groups. And action by great trusts or combines has dangers from the point of view of Labor. If groups of private capitalists are permitted to control the distribution of raw materials they will naturally make their plans to utilize the cheap labor in the more distressed countries, and presently be able to dispose of the surplus product of the cheap labor countries, bringing them in competition with the products of the countries where labor is more favorably situated. In the face of such competition any efforts through the League of Nations to establish an international standard of living for the workers would be futile.

The proposition of the British Labor leaders, apart from any value it may have as a possible means of promoting more or less immediate reconstruction in Europe, has therefore a special interest for Labor in all countries. The irony of the necessity of the Allies helping the late enemy will probably be galling to many people—but it is certainly better to work together than to fall one after another; and if common international action is necessary it is less dangerous for the states themselves to proceed on the combine principle than to give free play to the enterprise of private groups, who would be tempted to exploit the necessities of the nations, and drive the people to desperation.

RUSSIA'S NATURAL WEALTH

As the new experiment works itself out, there will emerge the larger question of the undeveloped resources of Russia, says John Ford, in Asia Magazine. The world knows more about these than it did, but the general impression is a vague conception of vastness, without much detailed knowledge. Even the Russia that will emerge from the throes of civil war and the perils of foreign aggression will be the largest connected state in the world, easily fitted to become the foremost state of the world in population, and therefore in wealth. In European Russia alone there are 550,000,000 acres of forests, which may easily enable her to organize the largest timber and wood working industries in the world, and the largest paper-making industry as well. These are very largely in North Russia and northern Siberia, but farther south Russia produces immense quantities of wheat, rye, oats, barley, beet root, manna, hemp, flax, apples, pears, plums, cherries and other orchard and garden fruits. Still farther south there is an abundance of maize, rice, cotton, jute, tobacco, tea, almonds, pistachios, pomegranates, oranges, apricots and grapes. Russia's food production per acre has been extremely low, because the great majority of the peasants merely scratch the ground and are entirely ignorant of scientific fertilization. It has been asserted that Russia's production could be doubled and trebled without extending her agricultural area, merely by improving the methods of cultivation.

A LESSON FROM JAPAN

Japan has had a financial panic, following a decided slump in prices, and the stock exchange, and also the silk, cotton and rice exchanges were closed. The Japanese financial commissioner at New York is quoted as saying that economic conditions in Japan are almost identical with those in the United States, and he adds: "The financial collapse there is caused by the same conditions that have inflated values here." War prosperity in Japan has stimulated production and also wild speculation, and coincident with stimulated production there has developed a large adverse balance of trade—$130,000,000 for the first quarter of the present year. The American Embassy at Tokyo describes the financial upset as a stock market panic, attributing it to unprecedented activity in company promotions and the adverse balance of trade.

Japan's financial trouble began about April 7, and some Tokyo journals blame the Government because it did not take measures to reduce prices, but rather encouraged speculation by inflating credits. In the United States there are signs of the appearance of a reaction; and in Canada the banks have been curtailing credits for some time past. The principal effects have been on stock market operations—not of a very serious character, however—while in neither country has there been any decided slump in commodity prices. Both the United States and Canada may expect a deflation of values, even if a League of Nations Loan enabling them to continue their sales to troubled Europe postpones the process; for both countries before the war and during the war largely over-capitalized their powers of production. But in Canada if the Government and the banks put their heads together and keep their heads, serious panic can be easily avoided, and the readjustment affected gradually. Our war debt is a handicap especially in so far as it is owed to other countries, but it can be carried without mishap while we are able to maintain a favorable balance of trade. That portion of the debt represented by internal loans is not a serious matter; it is largely a question of transferring money or credits from one pocket to another, and if the receivers of interest on war loans invest their interest in essential enterprises or purchase necessary commodities general business is helped.

For the Government and the bank the problem is to encourage essential industries, and to discourage speculation and waste. The steel merger, for instance, may prove a boon to the country, if the Government and the banks rigorously rule out speculation; but if the promoters are permitted to attempt the immediate capitalization of potential resources, the results may be anything but beneficial for the country. Similarly with pulp and paper industries. Here also is a basic industry of great possibilities. But the present inflation of capitalization, demanding abnormal prices, really retards the development of the industry, and menaces the whole fabric of the country's business.

EXAMINATIONS AND HOME WORK

Mr. Marshall's attack on examinations and home work in the Ontario Legislature has caused considerable discussion among teachers and others interested in school education. These are old questions, on which men differ not absolutely but relatively. Nearly everyone believes in some amount of home work and in some use for examinations.

It does seem that these good things have been abused and overdone in Ontario. One reason why too much home work is often assigned is that there is too much teaching and recitation in school time and not enough private study allowed. The over-active teacher sometimes makes a sluggish class between 3 and 4, who must then do their study at home. Rural ungraded schools have often produced good results just because the teacher was not everlastingly teaching everyone in the room. The boys and girls did work and thinking for themselves in school hours and built up their health or other interests at home.

Examinations have been attacked from different points of view. Some say they test cramming rather than knowledge and mental calibre. In answer to that it may be urged that in life cramming is an important matter. It is also argued that examinations are no test of one's practical and executive capacity. This may apply particularly to examinations for the civil service. The scientific men have been inclined to sneer at examinations in general and to prefer the teacher's observation of a student's daily work in the laboratory as the proper test of his ability. Lately, however, a pronounced reaction has set in against the German laboratory system of intensive research or practical work, and in favor of a wider conception of science; and this tendency is felt down to the secondary and school grades, though of more significance of course in the colleges.

For the more liberal, theoretical and philosophical grasp of the sciences it is clear that examinations of some sort are a necessary test as well as laboratory practice. It may be very true that the teacher's estimate of the practical side of intellect and character (if the teacher is competent, and this "if" is important) should be the most valuable test, but examinations are also needed to assess the student's equipment on the more philosophical side. "Showing up in class" may be a sign of bluff or swagger as well as of superior calibre and personality.

On the whole it may be conceded that the "reforms" advocated by Mr. Marshall are in the right direction. Perhaps he himself over-states his position somewhat, in order to correct the balance against the present preponderance of examinations and home work. He leans to one extreme to right the list towards the other. Surely examinations and home work are a dull and endless strife, a bore to teachers and pupils alike, a routine grind that takes up the time that might be used for more reading, writing, observation, manual and physical training, mental, moral and aesthetic expansion. They should be the servants not the masters of our educational system. Let them be put in their right proportion and place.

THE TERRIBLE CONDITION OF EASTERN EUROPE

There is building at the Cramp yard in Philadelphia a monster battle ship, one of a flotilla, 1,000 feet long, to cost $50,000,000. Its speed is to be greater by ten miles an hour than that of the Lusitania. It seems incredible that this huge sum should be sunk in a vessel of destruction while at this moment eastern and southern Europe are in dire need of food and assistance, says The Montreal Herald. In Vienna 300,000 children are fed one meal a day by foreign charity and get no other food. In Budapest there are 160,000 children of school age, and 100,000 of them are dependent on public charity.

Epidemics of typhus, influenza, smallpox and tuberculosis are prevalent in Poland, Ukraine, Austria, Hungary, Roumania, Serbia, Montenegro, Albania, the new Baltic states taken from Russia—in fact throughout the "broad belt of territory lying between the Baltic and the Black and Adriatic Seas." Imagine the Atlantic seaboard and the country as far west as Winnipeg with the death rate increased by half, with totally inadequate supplies of food, with practically all the children undernourished and suffering from the diseases of malnutrition, with almost no doctors and no medicines, with commerce and industry almost at a standstill, with economic barriers at every boundary line, and the magnitude of the disaster will be fairly indicated.

This is the account of eastern and southern Europe given by Henry P. Davison, who gets his information from the reports of the Red Cross workers in the afflicted districts. Charity is doing what it can, but it cannot furnish enough doctors, enough nurses, enough medicines, enough food, enough clothing to maintain life and health. If it could, such wholesale giving would make eastern Europe an immense poorhouse. Nothing but the restoration of production and transportation can do any permanent good. They cannot get back to work until they have food, machinery, raw materials and the necessities of public sanitation. These they cannot afford to pay for or obtain ordinary credit for.

Mr. Davison proposes that the United States Congress provide a credit of half a million dollars for the immediate use of eastern and central Europe; that President Wilson be authorized to appoint a non-partisan committee of three, with power to act, and that other governments will be asked to co-operate. With interest at six per cent. after the first three years, he is confident that the obligation would be met at the end of fifteen years. What should be furnished would be, of course, not money but goods—chiefly raw materials and machinery. This is a better program than Mr. Schwab's $50,000,000 engines of destruction.

TWO GREAT SINGERS

In his book "Musings and Memories of a Musician," Sir George Henschel, the well-known Silesian singer, has some pleasing recollections of Madame Joachim and Jenny Lind. The author, who is a naturalized Englishman, has spent many years in this country as a vocalist, composer, and orchestra manager, and has done much in the endeavor to raise and cultivate the popular taste for music.

Writing of Madame Joachim, Sir George says:

"Hers was a perfect vocal technique, joined to the gift of a beautiful sonorous contralto voice, great depth of feeling, a keen intellect, a subtle sense of humor, and fine musical perception. These forces are put into the service of an exalted ideal of her art, with the result that there was neither lack nor exuberance, but a sort of Grecian serenity, a faultless balance of values, so to speak, with just enough of her own personality in everything she did to render her singing interesting and gratifying beyond the intrinsic merit of the work she interpreted."

With reference to Jenny Lind, the author writes:

"I shall never forget my wonder when, asking me to watch the outside of her throat, she showed me how she used to sing the trill for which she had been so famous. During such a trill, which she continued for an astonishingly long time, increasing, decreasing, and again increasing it, her throat would be visibly quivering with the rapid pulsations of every succeeding little group of the two notes, exactly like the throat of a warbling canary. It was a marvellous performance."

The warning to not look upon the wine when it is red does not apply to the vintage of the dandelion.

Modern inventions beget new manners and new laws to govern the changed customs. The man who nets fish wholesale seems about to be outclassed by the aeroplane operator who gathers in wild birds by means of a net. So, apparently, think the sportsmen in one locality in Canada. As a consequence, an association of them are sponsoring a request to the Government to prohibit the flights of aeroplanes over marsh lands, and the use of flying machines in pursuit, shooting, or netting of wild fowl. When warned of anything approaching, these birds do not seek cover, but rise immediately into the air and obviously become at once open to the ingenious contrivances of aeroplaneists. Rapid-firing guns and nettings attached beneath the body of the machines would seem to be easy means of possible extermination of the birds, and this it is sought to avoid.

THE PRICE

"They say my boy is bad," she said to me,
 "A tired old woman, thin and very frail,
 "They caught him robbing railroad cars an' he Must spend from five to seven years in jail;
 His Pa and I had hoped so much for him—
 He was so pretty as a little boy"—
 Her eyes with tears grew very wet and dim—
 "Now nothing that we've got can give us joy!"

"What is it that you own?" I questioned then,
 "The house we live in," slowly she replied,
 "Two other houses worked and slaved for, when
 The boy was but a youngster at my side;
 Some bonds we took the time he went to war;
 I've spent my strength against the want of age;
 We've always had some end to struggle for—
 Now shame and ruin smear the page.

"His Pa has been a steady-goin' man,
 Worked day and night an' overtime as well;
 He's lived and dreamed and sweated to his plan
 To own the house, an' profit should we sell.
 He never drank nor played much cards at night,
 He's been a worker since our wedding day;
 He's lived his life to what he knows is right,
 An' why should son of his now go astray?"

"I've rubbed my years away on scrubbing boards,
 Washed floors for women that owned nesses than we.

An' while they played the ladies and the lords,
 We smiled and dreamed of happiness to be,"
 "And all this time where was the boy?" said I,
 "Out somewhere playin'!"—like a rifle shot
 The thought went home—"My God!" she gave a cry,
 "We paid too big a price for what we've got!"

PREMIER DRURY AND THE U.F.O.

Perhaps the highest compliment that has been paid to Premier Drury as a statesman and public servant has been the criticism directed at some of his acts by the United Farmers of Ontario on whose platform he took the leadership. The responsibilities of power involve the interests of all the people, which in a man of statesmanship calibre are sufficient to overshadow the selfish ambitions and interests of political self-seekers.

At that we doubt if an agitation in favor of another political leader would go far with the members of the U.F.O. They are not altogether ignorant of politics and perhaps appreciate that it would not be well to express enthusiasm for a Premier who in serving them best has not forgotten his obligations to others.—Financial Post.

DEFLATION.

The question of deflation, of a reaction in commercial and industrial enterprise, and a consequent decline in prices, becomes more insistent. The idea that prices are about reaching their maximum is certainly gaining ground, or perhaps, to put the case more accurately, the public mind is gradually waking up to the elementary fact that prices do not always move in one direction and that there is in fact that inevitable swing of the pendulum, which is one of the elementary axioms of economic science. The imagination of the general public, which is not touched by phenomena like tight money or restriction of credits, has been effectively reached by such action as that of John Wammamaker in cutting the price of all the goods in his enormous stores by 20 per cent. Mr. Wammamaker is a particularly astute merchant, and his action in this connection, is of course, not philanthropy by any manner of means. He knows exactly where he will "get off at" by way of profits and incidentally he is getting the biggest advertisement, free gratis and for nothing his stores have ever had in their entire career.—The Chronicle, Montreal.

ARMOURIES FOR SCHOOL PURPOSES.

The town of Paris, Ont., has been face to face with a situation similar to that existing in Lindsay—congestion in our public schools, and lack of accommodation for the children of school age. A new school was necessary, but the council, in order to avoid the heavy expenditure involved in the construction of the school, decided to ask the Government for permission to use the armouries which were standing idle. This request was granted.

The situation in Lindsay schools regarding accommodation is becoming acute. In the East Ward there are many pupils of school age who are unable to attend school and the school board is now using a private residence for classes. An extension of Victoria School is necessary and the Board will submit plans and specifications to the council in the course of a few days.

In view of the situation existing—a situation which is bound to become more acute—would it not be possible to use the armouries, or a section of it, for school purposes, until such time as the situation can be grappled with under more favorable conditions? This is only a suggestion. It may not be feasible, but it is deserving of at least a passing thought.—Lindsay Post.

THE QUESTION OF BILLBOARDS.

The men who are behind billboard advertisements are primarily responsible for the agitation that is setting in against their use. So many beautiful landscapes are marred by hideously painted billboards and so many streets are spoiled in appearance in the same way, it is little to be wondered at that the public is beginning to take notice and clamor for an improvement.

In some of the larger cities forms of this class of advertising are appearing to which little exception can be taken. There are paintings so realistic and interesting that the ordinary citizen is apt to approve of them rather than condemn. They are in their way, works of art.

For the ordinary billboards little can be said. It may in time become necessary to follow the action of the French Parliament which several years ago passed a law taxing billboards from ten to eighty dollars a square yard. Such a tax would have a tendency to reduce the number of billboards as well as the size of those erected and to ensure the appearance on them of a higher class of advertisements. It is safe to predict that this form of advertising is here to stay. It is in sad need of regulation, however, as it stands.—Oshawa Reformer.

Talk of the and of

A healthy looking day afternoon of Kingston "the money, but he of his proceeds. H employment ag job, but he turn this suggestion, fond of work, b very difficult ta change on the s of high cost of H

The tanker Id es for Belleville the lake from Oe M. Sicken. The ed. Returning st go of 30,000 cas through in bond She had about 30 lasses aboard.

For the past Wyld has been via the barge can it is manufacture rum and sent countries. In vie whiskey is worth In America the cases going thro value of appro probably one of values that has e the canal.

Reaching that be placed under customs officials, with it until it te New York to its South America. While whiskey Belleville for exp sold there except gists and on phy saloon and the h in the old days from Canada once

During the hea Sunday afternoon which was in tow Hackett, of Ber broke adrift when A high sea was ru and the crew of t danger. They were the tugboat, howe left to the mercy her deckload of o overboard and sh have swamped, for has been seen sin well-known on t built at Kingston t Labreque, of Lan the owner.

At Monday night ing Ald. Ferguson formed the membe ceived a reply to t tended to the Pike Michigan to visit L through sections of sation regretted unable to accept t would not state t visit Lindsay.

The Pikes Assoc in its membership the big interests facturers, capitala accompanied by a plied by Mr. Edsel Henry Ford. Ald. Ferguson w forward a night let tion asking it to vi Gaining easy ent ing a window in a thieves entered the Lindsay Canadian F Monday night and of whiskey. No tra the police are insti gation.

Miss Clara Snyder Mo., was called to hear a proposal of Arthur Monchester, tifornia, 2200 miles "Yes," and is on her ia to become a bride

Capt. Ruston, Ins Children's Aid Soco accompanied by C Carnew, visited Ma and brought back made wards of the magistrates. Capt. conditions very bad on sections where worst kind and whe noticeable, principa sence.

Messrs Ed. Hemo Wellman, of Marv rather serious loss o the new residence, w been erected on the east of the village, w ground. Mr. Hewitt of its furniture and other things intr of which were destr started shortly after origin is a mystery, tions are that it was

Talk of the Town and of the Country

A healthy looking man spent Monday afternoon going around the city of Kingston "holding up" people for money, but he did not get rich on his proceeds. He was directed to the employment agent's office, to get a job, but he turned his nose up at this suggestion. Evidently he is not fond of work, but he will find it a very difficult task picking up small change on the streets in these days of high cost of living.

The tanker Idle Wild with molasses for Belleville was towed across the lake from Oswego by the barge M. Sicken. The tanker is deeply loaded. Returning she will take a cargo of 30,000 cases of whiskey going through in bond for South America. She had about 30,000 gallons of molasses aboard.

For the past three years the Idle Wild has been carrying molasses via the barge canal to Canada, where it is manufactured into whiskey and rum and sent to non-prohibition countries. In view of the fact that whiskey is worth about $30 a case in America the cargo of 30,000 cases going through would have a value of approximately $900,000, probably one of the greatest cargo values that has ever passed through the canal.

Reaching that side the cargo will be placed under a special guard of customs officials, who will remain with it until it is transhipped from New York to its place of export in South America.

While whiskey can be made in Belleville for export, it cannot be sold there excepting through druggists and on physician's order. The reduction in cost of the school affected by substituting a cheaper brick and some minor alterations, would amount to $1,025. Dr. Bascom thought that this slight saving would not warrant the change in making a less attractive looking school on the exterior. He moved, seconded by Mr. Vanvalkenburgh, that the tender of Mr. Jas. Bogus, at $51,283 be accepted.

An agreement has been reached between the Kingston shoe store proprietors and the clerks whereby the stores will close at 5 p.m. each afternoon except Saturday during June, July and August. The negotiations have been on for some time, and it was finally decided yesterday, according to information given out today.

The quick action of a fourteen-year-old lad undoubtedly prevented a drowning fatality in the Kingston harbor Monday afternoon.

Bert the three year old son of Alexander Gray, the photographer, had been given a ride to the Grand Trunk station and getting off the rig wandered to the water's edge and in throwing stones into the lake fell into the water. The water is deep at this point and the young lad had gone down twice when Jack Wilson, who lives at 112 Ontario street, saw him and by crawling under the dock and stretching out on a plank he caught the boy's hand as he came up and pulled him to safety. Wilson is about fourteen years of age.

Mr. Grey is very grateful indeed to the young lad who showed such presence of mind. The boy who fell into the water was none the worse this morning for his experience.

Hit over the head with an unknown instrument by two men. Mr. Sam Hewitt of 78 Fisher Street Oswawa, is being attended to by Dr. Cameron. The cut in Mr. Hewitt's head is about one and a half inches long, while his face was badly scraped by falling after being struck. The assault occurred on the back line of the Oswawa Railway Company, beside the semaphore north of Fisher Street at 9:45 p.m. Thursday night.

In the presence of a large gathering a monument was unveiled on the four corners of Coe Hill in honor of the thirty-seven soldiers of this vicinity who laid down their lives on the field of battle. The monument was suitably draped with flags, and banked with wreaths and white flowers contributed by the I.O.B.E. The following speakers gave addresses: Rev. William Higgs, of Madoc; Capt. Yates, of Marmora; Rev. T. H. H. Hall, of Madoc; and Rev. Mr. Sutherland, of Coe Hill. The music was furnished by a community choir.

Rev. Henry J. Farrell, who has been in charge of Marmora Parish since the death of the late Father Murtash, and who assisted Father Murtash during the latter's illness, is leaving this week on a visit to his home in Ireland. During his stay here the people of the Parish have become much attached to Father Farrell and many hope that he may Hewitt expected to move into the house this week and Mr. Jim Byrnes and his mother were moving into Mr. Hewitt's house.

Such great progress has been made at the cut east of Deseronto, that the Chisholm Wallace Co. expect to be through with the work in a few days. The contractors will ship their horses and men to Lancaster where the company has another contract on the east end of the same highway.

Brigadier-General B. R. Hepburn, M. P., in a letter to his friend, I. Frith Fraser, Picton, writing on different subjects did not forget his old love, the Prince Edward Agricultural Society, of which he was for some years in the past a director and finally president, as he enclosed his cheque for $50.00 with the wish that it be applied on the same special prizes as he has been giving for the past number of years.

The Whitby Gazette, and Chronicle says:

The special meeting of the Board of Education held on Monday evening was one of the most important sessions held by the Board this year, as a decision was finally arrived at to proceed with the erection of a new public school, without change from the specifications originally prepared by the architects, Messrs. Chapman, Oxley & Bishop. It was really a momentous discussion for earlier in the evening the Board had taken a step which meant that for the present Whitby would do without a new public school.

Dr. Bascom, Chairman of the Building Committee, read to the Board a letter received from Mr. R. H. Bishop, architect, stating that the reduction in cost of the school affected by substituting a cheaper brick and some minor alterations, would amount to $1,025. Dr. Bascom thought that this slight saving would not warrant the change in making a less attractive looking school on the exterior. He moved, seconded by Mr. Vanvalkenburgh, that the tender of Mr. Jas. Bogus, at $51,283 be accepted.

A detective from Montreal has taken into custody an employee of the Dominion Arsenal, Lindsay, who it is alleged, is wanted in Montreal for a fraud. The accused was arrested at his boarding house on Mill street and expressed surprise at the arrest and indignation at the fact he had discharged all indebtedness before leaving Montreal for Lindsay. He vigorously denies all charges. He claims that he had closed his business in Montreal and left his affairs in legal hands.

The accused made no protest at spending the week-end in Lindsay's jail, and left quite cheerfully with the detective for Montreal.

The by-law governing the early closing of grocery stores in Lindsay was given its several readings Monday night. This by-law calls for the closing of all stores at 7 p.m. daily on all days except Saturday and days preceding statutory or proclaimed legal holidays, when they will close at 10:30 p.m. The by-law becomes effective on June 14.

A very successful series of meetings were held in St. Peter's Church at Madoc, on Wednesday and Thursday of last week by the Kingston Women's Missionary Society. About fifty delegates were billeted and numbers of others came in autos for the different sessions. Free meals were served by the ladies of the church on both days, and a royal hospitality was shown to all. The springtime beauty of the church and manse grounds made it an ideal meeting place, and the guests were thoroughly delighted with their reception.

The dominant note of the gathering was thankfulness for the progress of the past year, and an earnest appeal to young people to consecrate themselves to the work of missions. The sum of $5227 was raised by the Auxiliaries this year as compared with $4187 last year. In addition to this the Mission Bands raised $1905.

The following are the officers for 1920: President, Mrs. Sharpe, Belleville; 1st Vice President, Miss Hume, Stirling; 2nd Vice President, Mrs. McLean, Pittsburg; 3rd Vice President, Mrs. Brown, Picton; 4th Vice President, Miss E. L. Nowat, Kingston; 5th Vice President, Mrs. Rattray, Tweed; Recording Secretary, Mrs. M. H. Ross, Kingston; Corresponding Sec., Mrs. Gow, Kingston; Mission Band Sec., Mrs. Jenkins, Madoc; Asst. Mission Band Sec., Mrs. Jackson, Kingston; Home Helpers Sec., Mrs. Morrice, Belleville; Strangers Sec., Mrs. Bennett, Corbyville; Library and Literature

Sec. Mrs. J. Wright, Kingston; Press Secretary, Mrs. McTavish, Madoc; Supply Secretary, Mrs. Duff, Kingston; "Messenger" Sec., Mrs. Corkill, Napawa; Junior Auxiliary Sec., Miss Templeton, Belleville; Treasurer, Mrs. Diack, Kingston.

Turning themselves into a flaming comet, aviators Kerwood and Campbell gave delegates attending the third Pan-American Aeronautic Congress at Atlantic City, N. J., a thrill as the air port to test out a new preparation for fireproofing aeroplanes. The two fliers donned special suits painted with the preparation and then permitted mechanics to spray them with gasoline. They climbed aboard and the aerolanes, similarly "dressed", was touched off with matches at the same time name was applied to the aviators. The plane was then sent into the air and for five minutes anxious spectators watched the blazing ship shooting like a star until the flames had burned themselves out. When the descent was made neither the aviators nor the machines had suffered any damage except for the soot.

Another one of those pests often mentioned is the person who uses the telephone for practical joking. There is a time, place and means for doing everything.

Mrs. J. D. Bissonette, of Stirling, spent the weekend with her sister, Mrs. Wm. Rennie, Burnbrae and attended Divine Service at the Presbyterian church on Sunday, when Senor Chaplain Mack Omond, preached and a Memorial Tablet was unveiled containing 89 names of war heroes, nine of whom paid the supreme sacrifice. The tablet cost in the neighborhood of $350.00. The G. W. V. A. of Campbellford attended in a body to the number of 50 approximately. The church was packed and some 50 unable to obtain entrance. The choir rendered appropriate music and the service altogether was a most impressive one.

Miss Elsie Foster, one of Bancroft's popular young ladies, was quietly married in Toronto on Wednesday, May 26th, to Mr. Wm. Foster, of that city. Her many friends here in Bancroft extend congratulations.

A sad drowning accident occurred on Monday last at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Demille, Bethesda, when their little two year old baby boy was drowned by falling in an open well.

It appears that Mr. Demill had taken a can of milk from the well on Monday morning and after also drawing some water from the well, had left the cover open. Going to the barn he was accompanied by the little lad who started to return to the house after a short time. He was missed by his mother and when search was made his lifeless body was found in the well in about two feet of water.

His name was Stewart Lavergne Demille and he was a bright child, 2 years and 4 months of age. The funeral was held at Bethesda church on Tuesday, June 1st, at 2 p.m. Interment in Glenwood cemetery. Great sympathy is felt for the parents in their sad loss.

The Imperial Oil Company have added to their Picton delivery an international truck, two tons capacity. C. J. Pierson, Deering Agent, Picton is agent for the International truck in Prince Edward county.

The residents of Cordova Mines certainly showed their ambition and desire for the much needed sidewalk in their first effort on Friday last, when they placed on the ground a large quantity of gravel and stone, and the dance in the evening was the best ever held in that hamlet or vicinity. The ladies deserve special credit for the support they gave the good cause. On Saturday a delegation composed of Messrs. T. Fitzpatrick, W. H. McConnell and W. L. Wannamaker, waited upon the municipal council seeking some assistance in the undertaking, and the council unanimously consented to furnish the cement for the walk.

On Saturday last, May 29th, a meeting of Centre Hastings Teachers was held in the Methodist church at Tweed for the purpose of discussing the low salaries paid to teachers; and how, why, when and where salaries could be raised to a sufficient amount as to enable teachers to really live on their salary.

Mrs. Charles Whittick, sitting in the grand stand at Fairground Park, St. Louis, watched her husband play ball, screamed when she discovered that a man underneath the stand was cutting her spring dress of blue organdie. When a policeman caught him, with a piece of the dress three inches square in his possession, he explained that he liked the dress so much that he wanted to get a sample for his wife, and was afraid to ask the lady for it.

Bonner-Worth Company of Peterboro won their suit against Geddes Brothers of Sarnia for $22,500 on an order for a large quantity of yarn bought during the war. Mr. Justice Latchford gave plaintiffs judgment for the full amount. Defendants allege that in accepting the order they were at liberty to cancel any balance undelivered. The defendants paid into court $13,530, which, they claimed, as full payment for all shipments of yarn up to December 12, 1918. The dispute arose as to the alleged cancellation of shipments from Dec. 12 and plaintiffs claimed the balance of $9,020 due them. His Lordship gives judgment for the plaintiff for the full amount and dismisses the defendant's counter-claim for $15,000 damages for breach of contract.

Announcement has been made that Lt.-Col. Lorne T. McLaughlin, C. M. G., D. S. O., Durham county, will command the 9th Infantry Brigade, Col. McLaughlin is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John McLaughlin, Bowmanville, and won distinction during the war. He is acting as valuator in Durham county for farms purchased by the Government for returned soldiers.

John and Wilson Sutherland, who gave their home address at Toronto, gave themselves up at Mallorytown Monday afternoon to County Constable W. I. Mallory, while in charge of an automobile stolen recently at Armprior. In giving themselves up to the constable the men stated that they felt they might as well follow that course as they would in all probability be taken further on. They were brought to Brockville this morning and lodged in the police cells where they will be held awaiting the arrival of a constable from Armprior with warrants for their arrest.

That there may be a serious situation in Oswawa after two weeks, if something drastic is not done soon to check the spread of smallpox, in this town was the startling statement made by Sanitary Inspector Palmer, who resigned at the regular monthly meeting of the Oswawa Board of Health held last Friday night. Eight cases of this dread disease developed within the seven days previous to the meeting, and at least three of these had reached an acute stage before a physician was called and isolation carried out.

Y.W.C.T.U. Meeting

At the regular Tuesday meeting of the Y. W. C. T. U. held at the home of the President, Mrs. Williams, plans for the coming year were discussed and reports given. The total receipts for the past year were $325.04, an increase of $98 over any previous year. Expended $86.80 for Armenian Fund, $1.25 for Bible text calendars in the two R. R. stations, and three reading rooms (Y.M.C.A., Corby and Station), also White Ribbon Tidings provided for these reading rooms. $46.75 for Referendum work, $28.57 for Christmas cheer for shut ins, old folks and tokens of appreciation, $5.07 for Missionary, $2.00 for Travellers' Aid work, also 2921 Surprise Soap coupons. Each coupon means 1/4c towards the support of the Travellers' Aid at Toronto stations.

There were nine regular and seven executive meetings.

The new year plans are starting well. A parlor meeting June 22nd, annual garden party July 16. Watch for ad. Picnic in August and rally in September. More departments of work are being planned for, Canadian Marine among the number. Though Ontario has prohibition the "Ys" think there is much to do to carry out the motto "To make this life worth while and Heaven a surer heritage" and to keep up their watchwords "Agitate" and "Educate". They quite agree with "Janey Canuck" when she says, "By far the largest fight temperance workers have yet undertaken is in front of them and we are persuaded they will not strike play".

EIGHTH LINE SIDNEY.

Miss Bessie Rosebush took tea with Mrs. Mary Vandervoort on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carr, of Anson, spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chard.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bush spent Sunday with friends near Madoc.

Rev. B. F. Byers christened the young son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Chard on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Arthur Bush, of Glen Miller, took dinner with his brother, Robert Bush, on Friday last.

Quite a number from here took in the celebration at Belleville on Thursday last.

Mrs. Robt. Bush spent Monday at the lady for it.

Bonner-Worth Company of Peterboro won their suit against Geddes Brothers of Sarnia for $22,500 on an order for a large quantity of yarn bought during the war. Mr. Justice Latchford gave plaintiffs judgment for the full amount. Defendants allege that in accepting the order they were at liberty to cancel any balance undelivered. The defendants paid into court $13,530, which, they claimed, as full payment for all shipments of yarn up to December 12, 1918. The dispute arose as to the alleged cancellation of shipments from Dec. 12 and plaintiffs claimed the balance of $9,020 due them. His Lordship gives judgment for the plaintiff for the full amount and dismisses the defendant's counter-claim for $15,000 damages for breach of contract.

Announcement has been made that Lt.-Col. Lorne T. McLaughlin, C. M. G., D. S. O., Durham county, will command the 9th Infantry Brigade, Col. McLaughlin is a son of Mr. and Mrs. John McLaughlin, Bowmanville, and won distinction during the war. He is acting as valuator in Durham county for farms purchased by the Government for returned soldiers.

John and Wilson Sutherland, who gave their home address at Toronto, gave themselves up at Mallorytown Monday afternoon to County Constable W. I. Mallory, while in charge of an automobile stolen recently at Armprior. In giving themselves up to the constable the men stated that they felt they might as well follow that course as they would in all probability be taken further on. They were brought to Brockville this morning and lodged in the police cells where they will be held awaiting the arrival of a constable from Armprior with warrants for their arrest.

That there may be a serious situation in Oswawa after two weeks, if something drastic is not done soon to check the spread of smallpox, in this town was the startling statement made by Sanitary Inspector Palmer, who resigned at the regular monthly meeting of the Oswawa Board of Health held last Friday night. Eight cases of this dread disease developed within the seven days previous to the meeting, and at least three of these had reached an acute stage before a physician was called and isolation carried out.

Y.W.C.T.U. Meeting

At the regular Tuesday meeting of the Y. W. C. T. U. held at the home of the President, Mrs. Williams, plans for the coming year were discussed and reports given. The total receipts for the past year were $325.04, an increase of $98 over any previous year. Expended $86.80 for Armenian Fund, $1.25 for Bible text calendars in the two R. R. stations, and three reading rooms (Y.M.C.A., Corby and Station), also White Ribbon Tidings provided for these reading rooms. $46.75 for Referendum work, $28.57 for Christmas cheer for shut ins, old folks and tokens of appreciation, $5.07 for Missionary, $2.00 for Travellers' Aid work, also 2921 Surprise Soap coupons. Each coupon means 1/4c towards the support of the Travellers' Aid at Toronto stations.

There were nine regular and seven executive meetings.

The new year plans are starting well. A parlor meeting June 22nd, annual garden party July 16. Watch for ad. Picnic in August and rally in September. More departments of work are being planned for, Canadian Marine among the number. Though Ontario has prohibition the "Ys" think there is much to do to carry out the motto "To make this life worth while and Heaven a surer heritage" and to keep up their watchwords "Agitate" and "Educate". They quite agree with "Janey Canuck" when she says, "By far the largest fight temperance workers have yet undertaken is in front of them and we are persuaded they will not strike play".

EIGHTH LINE SIDNEY.

Miss Bessie Rosebush took tea with Mrs. Mary Vandervoort on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carr, of Anson, spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Chard.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bush spent Sunday with friends near Madoc.

Rev. B. F. Byers christened the young son of Mr. and Mrs. C. Chard on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Arthur Bush, of Glen Miller, took dinner with his brother, Robert Bush, on Friday last.

Quite a number from here took in the celebration at Belleville on Thursday last.

Mrs. Robt. Bush spent Monday at

SHIP ALL YOUR MUSKRAT

SHUBERT WINNIPEG

A CANADIAN HOUSE, FOR CANADIAN FUR SHIPPERS. Help us supply our tremendous demand for MUSKRAT, MINK, SKUNK, and all other Furs from your district. "SHUBERT" will pay you the EXTREMELY HIGH PRICES quoted below:

	NO. 1 EXTRA LARGE (Extra to average)	NO. 1 LARGE (Extra to average)	NO. 1 MEDIUM (Extra to average)	NO. 1 SMALL (Extra to average)	NO. 2 (Extra to average)
Spring	8.00 to 7.00	6.00 to 5.25	4.50 to 3.75	3.50 to 2.75	3.50 to 2.00
Winter	6.50 to 5.50	5.00 to 4.00	3.50 to 2.75	2.50 to 2.00	2.50 to 1.50

	NO. 1 EXTRA LARGE (Extra to average)	NO. 1 LARGE (Extra to average)	NO. 1 MEDIUM (Extra to average)	NO. 1 SMALL (Extra to average)	GOOD UNPRIME (Extra to average)
Fine, Dark Usual Color	48.00 to 32.00	28.00 to 22.00	20.00 to 16.00	15.00 to 13.00	15.00 to 8.00
Pale	38.00 to 25.00	20.00 to 17.00	15.00 to 13.00	12.00 to 10.00	12.00 to 6.00

	NO. 1 EXTRA LARGE (Extra to average)	NO. 1 LARGE (Extra to average)	NO. 1 MEDIUM (Extra to average)	NO. 1 SMALL (Extra to average)	GOOD UNPRIME (Extra to average)
Black	13.00 to 11.00	10.00 to 8.50	8.25 to 7.25	7.00 to 6.00	6.00 to 2.00
Short	10.00 to 8.00	7.50 to 7.00	6.75 to 6.75	5.50 to 5.00	5.00 to 2.50
Narrow	7.50 to 6.50	6.00 to 5.25	5.00 to 4.25	4.00 to 3.00	3.00 to 1.50
Broad	4.00 to 3.00	2.75 to 2.25	2.00 to 1.75	1.50 to 1.00	1.00 to .75

You've got to ship your Furs to a reliable house to get the "most money" for them. "SHUBERT" has been satisfying Fur shippers for "more than a third of a century" since 1883. That's a record that speaks for itself. Take no risk. "THE SHUBERT GUARANTEE" protects you absolutely—bundle up all the Furs you have on hand and SHIP TO "SHUBERT" TO-DAY.

A.B. SHUBERT
THE LARGEST HOUSE IN THE WORLD DEALING EXCLUSIVELY IN NORTH AMERICAN RAW FURS
324 Donald St. Dept. 323 Winnipeg Canada

termined with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Heasman. Crop conditions are somewhat improved since the recent showers.

June Wedding

McMULLEN — GAY

At the parsonage, Hillside street, the marriage was celebrated on Wednesday afternoon, June 9, of Miss Ada E. Gay, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. B. Gay, of the second concession of Sidney, to Mr. Cyril G. McMullen, of Sidney. The Rev. A. H. Foster of Holloway Street Methodist Church officiated. The young couple were attended by Miss Mabel Alexander, of Concession, and Mr. Lawrence Short, of Stirling. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. McMullen proceeded to the G.T.R. depot where a large number of friends assembled to see them start on their honeymoon. Amid showers of confetti they took the train for Toronto and western points. Mr. and Mrs. McMullen will reside in Sidney. The best wishes of many friends are extended to them for a happy wedded life.

Peterborough Cheese Board

At the Peterboro Cheese Board on Wednesday morning, free buying for the Harris Abattoir, bought 422 of the 991 cheese boarded at 29 1/2 and Morton 569 at 29 3/16. The bidding which was fairly brisk, was started at 28 by Thompson, of Montreal, and went up by sixteenths to the levels named. At the same time last year the cheese was bought up at 30 1/2.

Cheese Boarded.
Morton bought the 65 cheese from Warminster, 73 from Selwyn, 90 from Warsaw, 72 from Young's Point, 55 from Dummer, 36 from Stoney Lake, 140 from Norwood and 33 from Killarney. Free bought 90 from Villiers, 70 from Westwood, 225 from Ormonde and 42 from Lang.

OBITUARY

MRS. KAITTING.
Mrs. Kaitting, an elderly lady, passed away yesterday afternoon at the front of Thurlow. The funeral will be held at the Salvation-Army tomorrow afternoon.

The late Lucinda Kaitting was the widow of the late John Kaitting and was in her 90th year. She was a lifelong resident of Belleville and was highly esteemed by many friends. She leaves to mourn her death, two sons; John, of Buffalo, N.Y., and George, of Windsor, Ontario, besides many nieces and nephews residing in this locality and throughout the province. She was a member of the Salvation Army since its establishment in Belleville.

Conference on the Bay Bridge

A conference was begun this afternoon at the headquarters of the Chamber of Commerce on the bay bridge question. Warden Hazel and Clerk Ed. M. Young of Prince Edward, Mayor Riggs, Aid. Ostrom and Aid. Ponton, of Belleville, Mr. E. P. Frederick, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce and Warden Sills of Hastings County were present at the meeting. After luncheon the meeting discussed the matter of the purchase price, and as a result it is expected that the committee will approach the bay bridge company with a definite offer if the meeting can agree upon it.

Inquest Into Auto Fatality

The inquest into the Victoria Avenue bus accident in which a five year-old boy, Walter Ormond Patterson, lost his life at noon yesterday, was opened before Coroner Dr. W. W. Boyce, last evening at Tickell's morgue. The jury is composed of Messrs. R. W. Adams, foreman, C. H. Bonisteel, H. A. Morgan, G. Maden, Walter Brown, Thomas Harris, T. Arthur Macfarlane, Frank Corrigan and Leo Blaker. Only formal evidence was taken as to identification and the summoning of the jury. The witnesses were W. H. Patterson, father of the dead boy, and Sergt. F. J. Naphin. The inquest was adjourned until Friday night.

BIRTH.
BONISTEEL—At Glen Miller on Wednesday, June 9th to Mr. and Mrs. Don. C. Bonisteel, a daughter—Eleanor June.

Albert College Annual Concert

Program of Vocal and Instrumental Music and Readings Pleas'd Audience.

A treat was given the public at the City Hall last evening at the annual concert of the expressive pupils of Miss Jessie Tuite, the pupils of Mr. V. P. Hunt, in piano, and those of Mr. Sam Anglin in singing, at Albert College.

- Program of Vocal and Instrumental Music and Readings Pleas'd Audience. Piano duet, Hungarian Rhapsody, (Friska)—List—Mr. Ross Farrell and Mr. Hunt. Songs, After, Meale—Mr. T. R. Barrett. Piano solo, (a) Songs without words, Mendelssohn; (b) Morceau, Wollenhaupt—Mr. Charles Sankey. Song, Spring's Awakening, Sanderson—Miss Gertrude Staples. Piano solo, (a) Nocturne Op. 9 No. 2, Chopin; (b) Gondoliera (A Day in Venice), Nivin—Miss Alice Collins. Reading, A Cutting from Anne's House of Dreams, L. M. Montgomery—Miss Muriel Stewart. Song, Protogue from Pagliacci, Leoncavallo, Mr. James Booth. Piano solo, Valse C sharp minor Op. 64, Chopin—Miss Gertrude Staples. Song, Who is Sylvia, Schubert—Miss Stella Lane. Piano Solo, Humoresque, Dvorak—Miss Louise Wallbridge. Reading, selected—Miss Jane Bishop. Songs, (a) I Know a Lovely Garden, d'Hardelot; (b) Roadways, Denmore—Mr. Harold Barrett. Piano solo, Love's Dream No. III, Liszt—Miss Mabel Couch. Two songs from the Cycle "Arista" Jealousy and Take Pity, Woodford—Miss Stella Lane. Piano solo, Spazialisti, Liszt—Miss Mabel Couch. Duet, E Il Sol Dell Anima from "Rigoletto", Verdi—Miss Kathryn Sisson and Mr. R. J. F. Staples. Piano duet, Two Hungarian Dances, Brahms, Miss Vera Kindred and Mr. Hunt.

Offer is Made For Bay Bridge

Yesterday afternoon the following met in conference at the Chamber of Commerce building:—Warden Hazel and County Clerk Young and Mr. Baxter of Prince Edward County, Aldermen Ponton and Ostrom, of Belleville, Mr. R. J. Graham, Mr. E. P. Fredericks, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and the directors of that body. They discussed the matter of the purchase of the bay bridge. It was finally decided to make a definite offer to the Bay Bridge Company for the acquisition of this property. This offer has been passed on to the company and it is confidently expected that the reply will be received within the fifteen days which the committee thought fit to confine the offer. The price is not to be made public. According to information given out at the close of the conference there has been apparently a satisfactory arrangement made as to the proportionate costs Prince Edward County, Ameliasburg township and the city of Belleville are to bear.

U. S. Chemists Visit July 1st

The visit of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers to Belleville, June 30th and July 1st, will be an event of importance. Mayor Riggs has received a request for photographs of the city and of public men and of managers of various plants to be visited. Mr. J. E. Allen, who is looking after the itinerary locally, has been advised that there will be perhaps over one hundred and thirty in the party. The Institute leaves New York on June 28 and visits Montreal, Ottawa, Belleville, Shawangan Falls, La-Tuque and Quebec City. Belleville will be reached by "Institute Special Train" on the evening of June 30th. Next morning the party will tour the city in motors and leave for Delora via Stirling and Marmora. The Delora works will be inspected. The processes will be shown of smelting and refining ores from the Cobalt region, producing Cobalt, nickel and arsenic. The production of Steeltite metal will be carried out. Luncheon will be served the visitors at the club house of the Delora Smelting and Refining Co., Ltd. The party will return via Madoc, visiting the Gillespie talc mine at Madoc, and the Corbyville distillery. At 5.15 refreshments will be served the engineers and their lady friends at the Belleville Club. In the evening there will be a banquet at Hotel Quinte. The party will leave for Shawangan Falls at 11.30 p.m. During Dominion Day the lady visitors will be entertained by Mrs. L. E. Allen at Hotel Quinte. There will be another trip about town and in Prince Edward for their benefit. The entertainment committee is composed of the following:—American Institute Chemical Engineers—J. M. Allen, chairman. City of Belleville—Mayor Riggs and Council and City Clerk J. Wilfrid Holmes. Hastings—Warden Sills and Council and County Clerk Nugent. Belleville Chamber of Commerce—J. Bona, E. P. Fredericks. Belleville Motor Club—Col. S.S. Lazier, President and Directors. Belleville Rotary Club—E. G. Porter, M. P., and Directors. Belleville Club—President A. Gillen and Directors. Parliamentary—E. G. Porter, M. P.; T. H. Thompson, M. P.; W. H. Ireland, M. P.; R. Cook, M. P.; H. K. Denyes, M. P. P. Industries—C. I. White, S. B. Wright, W. J. Hume, Geo. Appelle, W. H. DuBlou, G. H. Gillespie, R. J. Graham, J. A. Riggs, J. W. Evans, J. O'Brien, A. Reid and F. B. Klibourn.

Obituary

GEORGE BROWN. There passed away last evening at 8.15 o'clock at the family residence, Albion street, Mr. George Brown, one of the oldest Grand Trunk Railway employees. He was born in Belleville in the year 1857 and was a life-long resident of the city. He entered the service of the Grand Trunk in the year 1881 and was a most trustworthy employee. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and three children also two brothers and one sister. The children are George of this city, Mrs. William Whelan of Belleville, and Mrs. Vincent Brennan, of the United States. The brothers are Chief W. J. Brown and Gilbert Brown and the sister is Mrs. George Madden of this city.

The death occurred early this morning of Mr. William Henry Dean at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Hiram Brown, 61 Albion street. He was in his 65th year and had been living in Belleville for the past six years. He was a Methodist in religion and a member of the Orange Lodge at Marmora.

Would Seriously Injure the Cheese Industry

Kingston, June 11.—That the co-operative marketing of cheese as promoted by H. B. Cowan, of Peterboro, is not practicable, and if put into effect will seriously injure the cheese industry, and ultimately deprive the factories of the benefit of the competition met with among buyers on the local boards as at present constituted, was the declaration of J. B. Wilson, Secretary of the Brockville Cheese Board, before the Frontenac board, yesterday. Mr. Wilson sells over 200 boxes of cheese weekly on that Brockville board. He showed that the scheme of co-operation as proposed by H. B. Cowan could not be successfully worked out and was bound to increase the costs of marketing, and in respect to wholesale purchasing, of factory supplies and equipment, the factory farmers' clubs, that all parties were members of already, can purchase them without organizing another company to do it. He warned factory men to beware of the fads now being advocated. The price-fixing by the Government had injured the cheese business, but that was now passed; the condenseries and milk powder factories would be only shortly-lived, and he predicted a splendid future if the farmers would only make full use of the local boards as they should, for it was there that they found the rivalry between the buyers that made the price.

Letters 10c to Register

Is Proposed to Cover Loss of $250,000 in Past Year—May Amend P.O. Act.

Ottawa, June 11.—The House of Commons went into a committee on a resolution which provides for several amendments to the Post Office Act. It provides for an increase in the registration fee on letters and other matter passing through the mails from 5 to 10 cents. The rate of postage on newspapers and periodicals printed and published in Canada, and issued at intervals of less than one month, is increased from 1 cent to 2 cents per pound, or fraction thereof. Newspapers and periodicals which are to be transmitted for a distance of more than 40 miles, or the publication of which is of greater frequency than once a week, shall be subject to postage at the rate of 1 cent a pound, or fraction thereof, for the year beginning January, 1921, and one and a half cents a pound, or fraction thereof, for the following years. This postage is to be affixed by stamps, or as the Postmaster-General may direct. Loss on Registration. Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Customs and Inland Revenue, explaining the resolution, said there had been a loss of $250,000 on registration of letters in the past year. The 10-cent rate was the same as that of the United States, and practically the same as that in England. Mr. Burrell said that while the post office was carrying 54 per cent. of the total weight of mail matter in newspapers, the revenue from these was only one per cent. Taking $7,000,000 pounds of newspapers at one-quarter of a cent per pound, the present rate, brought in $290,000 per year. The department was losing $5,000,000 a year by the present rate.

Obituary

GEORGE BROWN. There passed away last evening at 8.15 o'clock at the family residence, Albion street, Mr. George Brown, one of the oldest Grand Trunk Railway employees. He was born in Belleville in the year 1857 and was a life-long resident of the city. He entered the service of the Grand Trunk in the year 1881 and was a most trustworthy employee. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and three children also two brothers and one sister. The children are George of this city, Mrs. William Whelan of Belleville, and Mrs. Vincent Brennan, of the United States. The brothers are Chief W. J. Brown and Gilbert Brown and the sister is Mrs. George Madden of this city.

The death occurred early this morning of Mr. William Henry Dean at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Hiram Brown, 61 Albion street. He was in his 65th year and had been living in Belleville for the past six years. He was a Methodist in religion and a member of the Orange Lodge at Marmora.

Would Seriously Injure the Cheese Industry

Kingston, June 11.—That the co-operative marketing of cheese as promoted by H. B. Cowan, of Peterboro, is not practicable, and if put into effect will seriously injure the cheese industry, and ultimately deprive the factories of the benefit of the competition met with among buyers on the local boards as at present constituted, was the declaration of J. B. Wilson, Secretary of the Brockville Cheese Board, before the Frontenac board, yesterday. Mr. Wilson sells over 200 boxes of cheese weekly on that Brockville board. He showed that the scheme of co-operation as proposed by H. B. Cowan could not be successfully worked out and was bound to increase the costs of marketing, and in respect to wholesale purchasing, of factory supplies and equipment, the factory farmers' clubs, that all parties were members of already, can purchase them without organizing another company to do it. He warned factory men to beware of the fads now being advocated. The price-fixing by the Government had injured the cheese business, but that was now passed; the condenseries and milk powder factories would be only shortly-lived, and he predicted a splendid future if the farmers would only make full use of the local boards as they should, for it was there that they found the rivalry between the buyers that made the price.

Letters 10c to Register

Is Proposed to Cover Loss of $250,000 in Past Year—May Amend P.O. Act.

Ottawa, June 11.—The House of Commons went into a committee on a resolution which provides for several amendments to the Post Office Act. It provides for an increase in the registration fee on letters and other matter passing through the mails from 5 to 10 cents. The rate of postage on newspapers and periodicals printed and published in Canada, and issued at intervals of less than one month, is increased from 1 cent to 2 cents per pound, or fraction thereof. Newspapers and periodicals which are to be transmitted for a distance of more than 40 miles, or the publication of which is of greater frequency than once a week, shall be subject to postage at the rate of 1 cent a pound, or fraction thereof, for the year beginning January, 1921, and one and a half cents a pound, or fraction thereof, for the following years. This postage is to be affixed by stamps, or as the Postmaster-General may direct. Loss on Registration. Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Customs and Inland Revenue, explaining the resolution, said there had been a loss of $250,000 on registration of letters in the past year. The 10-cent rate was the same as that of the United States, and practically the same as that in England. Mr. Burrell said that while the post office was carrying 54 per cent. of the total weight of mail matter in newspapers, the revenue from these represented the University. He is a graduate of Ottawa University. Last year he coached Queen's University hockey teams.

Obituary

GEORGE BROWN. There passed away last evening at 8.15 o'clock at the family residence, Albion street, Mr. George Brown, one of the oldest Grand Trunk Railway employees. He was born in Belleville in the year 1857 and was a life-long resident of the city. He entered the service of the Grand Trunk in the year 1881 and was a most trustworthy employee. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and three children also two brothers and one sister. The children are George of this city, Mrs. William Whelan of Belleville, and Mrs. Vincent Brennan, of the United States. The brothers are Chief W. J. Brown and Gilbert Brown and the sister is Mrs. George Madden of this city.

The death occurred early this morning of Mr. William Henry Dean at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Hiram Brown, 61 Albion street. He was in his 65th year and had been living in Belleville for the past six years. He was a Methodist in religion and a member of the Orange Lodge at Marmora.

Would Seriously Injure the Cheese Industry

Kingston, June 11.—That the co-operative marketing of cheese as promoted by H. B. Cowan, of Peterboro, is not practicable, and if put into effect will seriously injure the cheese industry, and ultimately deprive the factories of the benefit of the competition met with among buyers on the local boards as at present constituted, was the declaration of J. B. Wilson, Secretary of the Brockville Cheese Board, before the Frontenac board, yesterday. Mr. Wilson sells over 200 boxes of cheese weekly on that Brockville board. He showed that the scheme of co-operation as proposed by H. B. Cowan could not be successfully worked out and was bound to increase the costs of marketing, and in respect to wholesale purchasing, of factory supplies and equipment, the factory farmers' clubs, that all parties were members of already, can purchase them without organizing another company to do it. He warned factory men to beware of the fads now being advocated. The price-fixing by the Government had injured the cheese business, but that was now passed; the condenseries and milk powder factories would be only shortly-lived, and he predicted a splendid future if the farmers would only make full use of the local boards as they should, for it was there that they found the rivalry between the buyers that made the price.

Letters 10c to Register

Is Proposed to Cover Loss of $250,000 in Past Year—May Amend P.O. Act.

Ottawa, June 11.—The House of Commons went into a committee on a resolution which provides for several amendments to the Post Office Act. It provides for an increase in the registration fee on letters and other matter passing through the mails from 5 to 10 cents. The rate of postage on newspapers and periodicals printed and published in Canada, and issued at intervals of less than one month, is increased from 1 cent to 2 cents per pound, or fraction thereof. Newspapers and periodicals which are to be transmitted for a distance of more than 40 miles, or the publication of which is of greater frequency than once a week, shall be subject to postage at the rate of 1 cent a pound, or fraction thereof, for the year beginning January, 1921, and one and a half cents a pound, or fraction thereof, for the following years. This postage is to be affixed by stamps, or as the Postmaster-General may direct. Loss on Registration. Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Customs and Inland Revenue, explaining the resolution, said there had been a loss of $250,000 on registration of letters in the past year. The 10-cent rate was the same as that of the United States, and practically the same as that in England. Mr. Burrell said that while the post office was carrying 54 per cent. of the total weight of mail matter in newspapers, the revenue from these

tel. Peterboro, for the purpose of organizing Sen. W. H. Bennett, Midland, who has been the pioneer in this movement, will be the principal speaker at the meeting.

Obituary

GEORGE BROWN. There passed away last evening at 8.15 o'clock at the family residence, Albion street, Mr. George Brown, one of the oldest Grand Trunk Railway employees. He was born in Belleville in the year 1857 and was a life-long resident of the city. He entered the service of the Grand Trunk in the year 1881 and was a most trustworthy employee. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and three children also two brothers and one sister. The children are George of this city, Mrs. William Whelan of Belleville, and Mrs. Vincent Brennan, of the United States. The brothers are Chief W. J. Brown and Gilbert Brown and the sister is Mrs. George Madden of this city.

The death occurred early this morning of Mr. William Henry Dean at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Hiram Brown, 61 Albion street. He was in his 65th year and had been living in Belleville for the past six years. He was a Methodist in religion and a member of the Orange Lodge at Marmora.

Would Seriously Injure the Cheese Industry

Kingston, June 11.—That the co-operative marketing of cheese as promoted by H. B. Cowan, of Peterboro, is not practicable, and if put into effect will seriously injure the cheese industry, and ultimately deprive the factories of the benefit of the competition met with among buyers on the local boards as at present constituted, was the declaration of J. B. Wilson, Secretary of the Brockville Cheese Board, before the Frontenac board, yesterday. Mr. Wilson sells over 200 boxes of cheese weekly on that Brockville board. He showed that the scheme of co-operation as proposed by H. B. Cowan could not be successfully worked out and was bound to increase the costs of marketing, and in respect to wholesale purchasing, of factory supplies and equipment, the factory farmers' clubs, that all parties were members of already, can purchase them without organizing another company to do it. He warned factory men to beware of the fads now being advocated. The price-fixing by the Government had injured the cheese business, but that was now passed; the condenseries and milk powder factories would be only shortly-lived, and he predicted a splendid future if the farmers would only make full use of the local boards as they should, for it was there that they found the rivalry between the buyers that made the price.

Letters 10c to Register

Is Proposed to Cover Loss of $250,000 in Past Year—May Amend P.O. Act.

Ottawa, June 11.—The House of Commons went into a committee on a resolution which provides for several amendments to the Post Office Act. It provides for an increase in the registration fee on letters and other matter passing through the mails from 5 to 10 cents. The rate of postage on newspapers and periodicals printed and published in Canada, and issued at intervals of less than one month, is increased from 1 cent to 2 cents per pound, or fraction thereof. Newspapers and periodicals which are to be transmitted for a distance of more than 40 miles, or the publication of which is of greater frequency than once a week, shall be subject to postage at the rate of 1 cent a pound, or fraction thereof, for the year beginning January, 1921, and one and a half cents a pound, or fraction thereof, for the following years. This postage is to be affixed by stamps, or as the Postmaster-General may direct. Loss on Registration. Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Customs and Inland Revenue, explaining the resolution, said there had been a loss of $250,000 on registration of letters in the past year. The 10-cent rate was the same as that of the United States, and practically the same as that in England. Mr. Burrell said that while the post office was carrying 54 per cent. of the total weight of mail matter in newspapers, the revenue from these short. In the seventh Weir hit centre, W. Mills bringing him home and scoring himself on his hit to the pavilion. They added another in the eighth when Ross hit to centre, and scored on Fred Goyer's first batter into the crowd back of first and Kalleher's hit to left. Their last run came in the ninth on W. Mills' three bagger into 'sick lake, he scoring on Turpin's bad throw to third. Cobourg did not score until the fourth innings when Gordon threw a pass, went to third on Turpin's two-bagger to right, both scoring on Higginbotham's two-base hit to right. Their third run came in the seventh when Wallington hit a long fly to right that looked like a sure out, the Belleville outfielder dropped it and it rolled into the crowd, Wallington scoring. Cobourg's big innings was the eighth. Skitch, first up to hit to right, Butler hit to centre. Phum hit to short. Skitch scoring, Turpin hit to left scoring Butler and Phum, and Turpin scored on Higginbotham's hunt. Score by innings:—Belleville . . . . . 302030211—12 Cobourg . . . . . 000200140—7 Batteries—Goyer and W. Mills; Wallington and Turpin. Umpires—Wilson of Oshawa, and Guy of Port Hope.

Obituary

GEORGE BROWN. There passed away last evening at 8.15 o'clock at the family residence, Albion street, Mr. George Brown, one of the oldest Grand Trunk Railway employees. He was born in Belleville in the year 1857 and was a life-long resident of the city. He entered the service of the Grand Trunk in the year 1881 and was a most trustworthy employee. He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and three children also two brothers and one sister. The children are George of this city, Mrs. William Whelan of Belleville, and Mrs. Vincent Brennan, of the United States. The brothers are Chief W. J. Brown and Gilbert Brown and the sister is Mrs. George Madden of this city.

The death occurred early this morning of Mr. William Henry Dean at the home of his son-in-law, Mr. Hiram Brown, 61 Albion street. He was in his 65th year and had been living in Belleville for the past six years. He was a Methodist in religion and a member of the Orange Lodge at Marmora.

Would Seriously Injure the Cheese Industry

Kingston, June 11.—That the co-operative marketing of cheese as promoted by H. B. Cowan, of Peterboro, is not practicable, and if put into effect will seriously injure the cheese industry, and ultimately deprive the factories of the benefit of the competition met with among buyers on the local boards as at present constituted, was the declaration of J. B. Wilson, Secretary of the Brockville Cheese Board, before the Frontenac board, yesterday. Mr. Wilson sells over 200 boxes of cheese weekly on that Brockville board. He showed that the scheme of co-operation as proposed by H. B. Cowan could not be successfully worked out and was bound to increase the costs of marketing, and in respect to wholesale purchasing, of factory supplies and equipment, the factory farmers' clubs, that all parties were members of already, can purchase them without organizing another company to do it. He warned factory men to beware of the fads now being advocated. The price-fixing by the Government had injured the cheese business, but that was now passed; the condenseries and milk powder factories would be only shortly-lived, and he predicted a splendid future if the farmers would only make full use of the local boards as they should, for it was there that they found the rivalry between the buyers that made the price.

Letters 10c to Register

Is Proposed to Cover Loss of $250,000 in Past Year—May Amend P.O. Act.

Ottawa, June 11.—The House of Commons went into a committee on a resolution which provides for several amendments to the Post Office Act. It provides for an increase in the registration fee on letters and other matter passing through the mails from 5 to 10 cents. The rate of postage on newspapers and periodicals printed and published in Canada, and issued at intervals of less than one month, is increased from 1 cent to 2 cents per pound, or fraction thereof. Newspapers and periodicals which are to be transmitted for a distance of more than 40 miles, or the publication of which is of greater frequency than once a week, shall be subject to postage at the rate of 1 cent a pound, or fraction thereof, for the year beginning January, 1921, and one and a half cents a pound, or fraction thereof, for the following years. This postage is to be affixed by stamps, or as the Postmaster-General may direct. Loss on Registration. Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Customs and Inland Revenue, explaining the resolution, said there had been a loss of $250,000 on registration of letters in the past year. The 10-cent rate was the same as that of the United States, and practically the same as that in England. Mr. Burrell said that while the post office was carrying 54 per cent. of the total weight of mail matter in newspapers, the revenue from these

ANOTHER VICTIM OF RHEUMATISM

Entirely Well After Six Weeks' Treatment With "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

MR. AMEDEO GARCEAU 82 Hickory St., Ottawa, Ont.

"I was for many years a victim of that terrible disease, Rheumatism. In 1918, I was laid up for four months with Rheumatism in the joints of the knees, hips and shoulders and was prevented from following my work, that of Electrician. I tried many remedies and was under the care of a physician; but nothing did me any good. Then I began to take 'Fruit-a-tives' and in a week I was easier, and in six weeks I was so well I went to work again. I look upon this fruit medicine, 'Fruit-a-tives', as simply marvellous in the cure of Rheumatism, and strongly advise everyone suffering with Rheumatism to give 'Fruit-a-tives' a trial." AMEDEO GARCEAU. 20c. a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size, 25c. At all dealers or sent postpaid by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

upon the president of the girls' club Miss Eleanor Armstrong, to read an address to Miss Penfold. After the reading of the address, Miss Lenore Arthur presented Miss Penfold with a silver case. Following this address, Mr. Allan Field read an address to Mr. Dinsmore, and presented him with a pair of gold cuff links. Both teachers replied in a suitable manner and expressed regret that they were severing their connections with the C. C. I. All the pupils present then bid good-bye to Miss Penfold and Mr. Dinsmore and wished them both every success. Miss Penfold will spend the summer at her home in Guelph, and Mr. Dinsmore will visit his parents at Thorntonsburg.

It is understood that a Provincial Government Experimental Farm is to be established somewhere in Northumberland and Durham and every possible attempt will be made to have it located at Brighton. R. J. Wade and R. B. Scripture were appointed a committee to interview W. Montgomery, M. P. P., on the matter.—Brighton Ensign.

Mr. and Mrs. Marshall, of Belleville Mrs. Williams and two daughters, of Toronto, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Oakley Hastings, on Monday.

Mr. McColl, a representative of the Dominion Railway Board was in Norwood last week looking into the matter of complaints regarding the C. P. R. service. The Norwood people want the midnight and early morning express trains to stop at the Norwood station and they also request that the station be open for the accommodation of the public when the evening local arrives.

The annual inspection of the cadets of Lower Canada College, Montreal was held with a large assembly of parents and guests present. Major-General St. Pierre Hughes addressed the cadets, complimenting them on their work and informing them that their drill was good, even when compared with that of the Royal Military College cadets, whom he had recently inspected.

"Lost, Found and Lost Again," is a suitable heading for the case of Charles Carey, the thirteen-year-old son of A. J. Carey, of No. 12 Reglan Road, Kingston, who disappeared from his home about ten days ago. On Wednesday word was received that the lad had been rounded up in Toronto. Constable Thomas Mulhinger went to Toronto, to bring back a prisoner charged with breaking windows at the outer station, and it was his intention to bring back the runaway lad at the same time, but on his arrival in Toronto, he found that the youngster was again missing, having made his escape from the shelter he had been placed in there, waiting the arrival of a constable from Kingston.

The automobile drivers must slow up in this city; if they don't it will be either the police court or the hospital for them, says the Kingston Whig.

Beaver

Insatiable Desires Sappers C.

An alarming report about in-ent reserve, north-east of the bay, was carried on a sloop for the past beaver, once plenty of lakes and government lifted destruction in the is now threatened tion due to the Indians and (tr of Amnek—the be- The reserve, wh ands of square m from Boyce, north the Timiskaming & Railway and runs Elk Lake City, bounds some of grounds in Canada they are nursed as aged by those who and not tomorrow. Such inroads have the less the government their destruction the fur-bearing animals extinct as the great confines of the reserve aggression to say t ception of perhaps the beavers will be of the reserve under- tem.

The exact number ped last year in the ably not known even ment, but in the dist Island where the H pany has operated years, and where the by the Ojibways, headquarters there, safe to say that 2 turned over to the and the free traders business there dur season.

This large amount dition to the thous taken out of the mo- treme western section has practically消- knell of the beaver of Ontario, and ex- claim that even with of five years, it is a beaver will ever aga in the Timiskaming under any circumst- that the only possi- the beaver back to another tightening u laws and supervision they are enforced to While trapping w possible for these dep the coupon system th Government put into object of securing a cents on each pelt, is an arrangement cal- the beaver propaga- trapper pays $5 for receives ten coupons upon the ten pelts that to take out in a season hand, any Indian that reserve does not permit become for himself, ten and ten for his child- matters better, or w may be, race suicide, among the "haughty r This system might n but, of course, there is the woodpile." Free tr coupons on the skins be Indians. It means th can kill as many as there is only the trade them up and he is not anything by." It also loopholes in the law, b trapper can take his trader, who will put in on them. Then the tr back to the bush. H this as many times as enough to secure ten pel- fish up the season by another ten pelts, on places his own coupon. Many beavers are al- direct from the Indians and hunters, and this be the killing. The govern- bounty of 50c on these pe- trapper in many cases se- than he would have sec- turned the pelts over to Bay Company or the free

A quick way of blottin- of beavers is to brea- the dam, insert a net in- and then smash in the through the aperture in- get tangled in the net, on the head finishes c- career on mother earth. Summing it up, there

VICTIM OF RHEUMATISM

After Six Weeks' Frustrating Treatment

GARCEAU

St. Ottawa, Ont. years a victim of Rheumatism. In for four months at the joints of the shoulders and was owing my work, medicines and was a physician, but good. Then I a-trives' and in a and in six weeks I work again.

GARCEAU

50, trial size, 25c. sent postpaid by D. Ottawa, Ont.

of the girls' club long, to read an old. After the Miss Lenore Penfold with following this ad read an ad, and present-gold cuff links, and in a suitable regret that their connect-All the pupils good-bye to Miss more and wish success. Miss the summer at and Mr. Dis-vents at Thorn-at a Provincial ental Farm is to here in North- and every made to have R. J. Wade were appointed view W. Mont- the matter—ill, of Belleville two daughters, guests of Mr. Hastings, on entative of the was in Nor- ing into the regarding the the Norwood light and early to stop at the they also re- be open for the public when ves.

on of the ca- College, Mont- large assembly present. Maj- Hughes address- ing them od, even when the Royal ets, whom he ost Again," is r the case of reteen-year-old No. 12 Raglan disappeared ten days ago. was received rounded up in Thomas Mul- to bring back th breaking station, and it ring back the me time, but nto, he found gain miss- cape from the aced in there, a constable ers must slow "don't it will rt or the hos- the Kingston

Beaver Being Killed Out

Insatiable Desire of Indians and Trappers for Pelts is Cause.

An alarming situation has been brought about in the Temagami forest reserve, northern Ontario, as a result of the beaver hunts that have been carried on in that huge territory for the past few years. The beaver, once plentiful in that country of lakes and forests before the government lifted the ban on their destruction in the early part of 1917, is now threatened with utter extinction due to the insatiable desire of the Indians and trappers for the pelts of Ammek—the beaver.

The reserve, which takes in thousands of square miles and stretches from Boyce, north of North Bay, on the Timiskaming & Northern Ontario Railway, and runs as far north as Elk Lake City, on the Montreal, bounds some of the finest trapping grounds in Canada; provided that they are nursed along and not ravaged by those whose slogan is "today and not tomorrow."

Such inroads have been made upon the beavers in the reserve that unless the government puts the lid on their destruction those highly prized fur-bearing animals will become as extinct as the great auk within the confines of the reserve. It is no exaggeration to say that with the exception of perhaps a few families, the beavers will be wiped clean out of the reserve under the present system.

The exact number of beavers trapped last year in the reserve is probably not known even to the government, but in the district around Bear Island, where the Hudson Bay Company has operated a post for many years, and where the skins captured by the offhays, who make their headquarters there, are handed, it is safe to say that 2,000 pelts were turned over to the "Big Company" and the free traders that do a small business there during the trapping season.

This large amount of pelts, in addition to the thousands that were taken out of the northern and extreme western sections of the reserve has practically sounded the death knell of the beaver in that section of Ontario, and experienced trappers claim that even with a closed season of five years, it is doubtful if the beaver will ever again be plentiful in the Temagami forest reserve. But under any circumstances, they argue that the only possible way to bring the beaver back to the reserve is another tightening up of the game laws and supervision to see that they are enforced to the last letter.

While trapping was largely responsible for these deplorable affairs, the coupon system that the Ontario Government put into effect with the object of securing a bounty of 50 cents on each pelt, is certainly not an arrangement calculated to help the beaver propagate its race. The trapper pays $5 for his license and receives ten coupons to be placed upon the ten pelts that he is entitled to take out in a season. On the other hand, any Indian that belongs to a reserve does not need to take out a license and is permitted to kill ten beaver for himself, ten for his squaw and ten for his children. To make matters better, or worse, as the case may be, race suicide is not popular among the "haughty redmen."

This system might not be of such a devastating nature if adhered to, but, of course, there is a "nigger in the woodpile." Free traders put the coupons on the skins gathered by the Indians. It means that the Indians can kill as many as they like, as there is only the trader to check them up and he is not going to "pass anything by." It also leaves another loophole in the law, by which the trapper can take his furs to the trader, who will put Indian coupons on them. Then the trapper can go back to the bush with his ten original coupons intact. He can repeat this as many times as he is fortunate enough to secure ten pelts, and then finish up the season by bringing out another ten pelts, on which he places his own coupons.

Many beavers are also purchased direct from the Indians by tourists and hunters, and this helps to swell the killing. The government loses its bounty of 50c on these pelts, and the trapper in many cases sells for more than he would have secured had he turned the pelts over to the Hudson Bay Company or the free traders.

A quick way of blotting out a colony of beavers is to break a hole in the dam, insert a net in the opening, and then smash in the houses. They will immediately endeavor to escape through the aperture in the dam and get tangled in the net, when a blow on the head finishes their short career on mother earth.

Summing it up, there are many ways of killing the beavers that they have not a chance in a thousand to escape. Sometimes they are fortunate enough to erect their houses on the river bank, and as the water goes down it leaves an opening between its surface and the ice. This forms a supply of air, and once the beaver has escaped from the house should the trapper fence it in, he is able to secure plenty of air under the ice. Under such conditions he cannot be caught.

There will be a tremendous objection to the killing of beaver by the killing of beaver is prohibited in the Temagami forest reserve for at least five years, but there are to be any fewer left in that part of the province a closed season of the above period is absolutely necessary.

Aged Man Took His Own Life

James Bailie, aged sixty-five years, a life long resident of Odessa, took his own life on Wednesday morning by hanging himself in the barn at the rear of his home. According to the information received from the village, it appears that Mr. Bailie had gone to bed but was unable to sleep. He got up and said that he was going down, stairs to have a smoke. It is thought that after he went downstairs, he went out into the barn at the rear of the house, crawled up into the hay loft where he placed a heavy rope around his neck and then slipped down through a hole in the floor, breaking his neck by the fall.

James Dennis, a neighbor, found the body hanging in the barn. Mr. Bailie had locked the barn door after going in. A little girl who happened to peek through a crack in the barn wall saw the lifeless body hanging from the beam and notified Mr. Dennis.

Coroner Northmore, of Bath, was summoned and he found that it was a clear case of suicide. It is thought that worry caused Mr. Bailie to do the rash act. It is stated that the night before he committed the deed, he had traded a horse with a band of spies who had been passing through. After he started to drive the horse he found that it was very wild and almost useless for his work. For some time he had been employed in driving the rural mail from Odessa out around Glenora. On Tuesday he had delivered the mail as usual.

The late Mr. Bailie was well known in Lennox and Addington having worked for different people in the village of Odessa for some years. He was employed by Walle Clarke, who kept the general store for some years. Deceased was twice married.

Boy's Camp at Moira Lake

Two Camps For Belleville Y. M. C. A. To Enjoy Outings

The Boys Camp this year will be under the directions of the Advisory Committee for boys work, which is made up of Local Pastors, Sunday School Superintendents, representatives of Salvation Army and Y. M. C. A.

The new camp site is on the shore of Moira Lake at Madoc, with plenty of fresh air, ball grounds and the lake makes a splendid swimming pool.

The camp will be under the supervision of the Advisory Committee with A. Buchanan as director, there will also be a number of other leaders who are interested in boy's work. The camp will be divided into two groups, first group going to camp July 12th to the 24th, the second group from July 28th to August 7th. The programme will consist of instruction camp craft, wood craft, athletic and aquatic, group and team games, there will also be splendid boating and fishing, camp fires and sing-songs.

A fee of $6.00 will be charged each boy which includes board and transportation to and from the lake.

Talk of the Town and of the Country

Search is being made at Cumberland House at The Pas, Man for ten Indian legends, have been buried there for the past century and a half. The story, which has been handed down is that the rum was brought into the North by a French trading party, who were stopped at Cumberland House and turned back by the Hudson Bay people after they had hidden the liquor, which had been intended for Indian trade. The alleged cache is supposed to include merchandise, muskets and ammunition, but it is thought that these goods may not have aged to the same advantage as the rum, which is the subject of search.

Dr. Saxon T. Pope, San Francisco, has killed two grizzly bears with bow and arrows in Yellowstone Park, according to a telegram received from him by the California Academy of Science. Dr. Pope, an expert in archery, is hunting the animals under permit from the United States Government to provide a "habitat group" for the academy's museum. The project is financed by Ogden Mills, of New York. The doctor hopes to kill two more.

While fishing near the Lasalle Causeway Thursday night, Mrs. Gus Beecher, King street, Kingston, hooked a twenty-two pound pike, and after quite a battle she succeeded in landing it in the boat. The fish made things lively in the bottom of the boat for a time, and a large number who were on the causeway watched the incident with interest. Mrs. Beecher is very proud of her catch.

Growing of door mats has been carried out for some time in certain parts of America, the only articles required being some pieces of old sacking or any similar material, and common grass seed. The Sacking is cut to the desired size and shape and then moistened with water and placed on level soil. Grass seed is then sowed rather thickly over the surface of the sacking, the whole covered with paper so as to shade it from the strong sun and keep it protected for about a week, at the end of which time the seed will have germinated. The cover is then removed. Every three or four days the mat is moved to a fresh position to prevent the roots fastening themselves to the soil beneath. After a week or ten days, when the mat has dried and the grass turned a nice shade of green, the mat is ready for use. The little grass plants hold on to the canvas most tenaciously, even when they are dead, this being due to the fact that the root hairs become entangled in the rough hairs of the sacking and are extremely difficult to remove.

The Rev. V. O. Boyle, M. A., will be inducted as rector of the parish of Lansdowne Rear at Christ Church, Athens, on Wednesday evening, June 16, at 8 o'clock (sun time). The venerable Archdeacon G. G. Dobbs, of Kingston, will act as the Bishop's Commissary and the Rev. A. F. C. Whalley, M.A., B.D., rector of St. Peter's church, Brockville, will preach the induction sermon. Canon J. W. Jones, secretary of Synod, and Canon W. F. Fitzgerald, M. A., rector of St. Paul's church, Kingston, will also be present to assist in the ceremony. After the service the congregation are having a reception in the basement for Rev. and Mrs. V. O. Boyle and the visiting clergy.

Alcartha King Sylvia, a two-months-old Holstein-Friesian bull, purchased at the St. Paul, Minn., pure-bred Holstein sale recently by A. C. Hardy for a sum in the neighborhood of $50,000, has been added to the herd at Avondale Farm, the animal which was bought from At. W. Morris & Sons, Woodlands, Cal., was sired by Carnation King Sylvia, a product of Avondale Farm, which sold at Milwaukee, Wis., two years ago for $108,000. A. C. Hardy and Hamilton Lynn, herdsmen at Avondale Farm, attended the sale, Mr. Lynn returning with the high-priced animal.

New coal at gas house, Pt. Hope, is neither smokeless nor smellless. The aroma from the gas range these days is anything but pleasing. It is a new brand of coal being tried by the company. The cargo was 71 tons, and the price is either $16 or $17 per ton, says the Port Hope Guide.

A very bad accident occurred north of Victoria Road, near Lindsay, when Edward Lucey sustained injuries which later resulted in his death. While driving, his horse took fright and ran away, jumping over a fence and throwing his driver out in such a manner that he alighted on his head and shoulders.

J. J. Morrison, organizer for the U. P. O. addressed a gathering of farmers at Napanee with the object of getting a candidate for the Farmer party for the next Dominion election. The selection was left in the hands of a special committee to call another meeting later and name a candidate.

When the time comes for ladies to vote they will no doubt remember that the Government declares and decrees that $2 silk stockings are a luxury, and subject to a tax of 10 per cent, making the cost $2.20.

The first real thunderstorm of the season passed over the town of Port Hope about three o'clock Friday morning and the nervous ones had a busy time for about thirty minutes. Lightning flashed continually and the rain, while it lasted, was very heavy. The electric lights were put out of commission but the company reports no local damage. A large tree on Charles street was struck but no other damage about town is reported.

A basis has been arrived at where the Ontario Military Hospital at Cobourg, is taken over by the Ontario Government just as it stands, buildings and contents intact, to be again conducted as a provincial institution. The delay in opening it is caused, it is understood, by the customary red tape in connection with such transfers. Nobody likes to lose a ten-dollar bill, especially nowadays, when the dollar is shrinking like a Palm Beach suit in water, and Thursday evening a couple at the circus held in Kingston, can thank the company, for recovering what they believed "lost." The young couple were enthusiastic about the circus. So many so, that they decided to get reserved seats. Two or three bills were handed in the wicket for tickets, and a few minutes later the man who bought the tickets came back, and stated that there was a ten-dollar bill between the other bills. The cashier looked through the bill, but there was not a bill of that denomination there. Matters might have become more troublesome but for the manager of the circus pouring oil on the troubled waters, by instructing the cashier to give the man ten dollars, and avoid any trouble whatever.

A few replies have been received up to date to the circulars recently sent out from Queen's soliciting subscriptions to the fund for the War Memorial. A total of 3,600 letters was posted.

A few square feet of floor space occupied by a stand for soft drinks, at the Park Row terminals of the Brooklyn Bridge, will bring New York City a rental of $12,300 for one year and nine months. The site was auctioned by the city. The proprietor, who has occupied the premises for several years, has been paying an annual rental of $5,000. His name is Fioresi Geonopolis. His was the highest bid at the auction conducted by Commissioner Whalen.

The Thousand Islands will be visited this summer by a musical prodigy tot, in the person of Miss Muriel Kerr, niece of Mrs. Hugh Kerr, formerly Miss Keith Whaley, of Brockville. The letter has leased the residence of Mrs. W. A. Gilmore for the summer months, and little Miss Kerr will be her guest and will also be entertained by Mrs. J. M. Walsh. From press notices at hand Muriel, at nine years of age, is a marvel.

John McMillan, of the Cassiar Cannery, on the Skeena River, British Columbia, who is now in Montreal, states that the catch of salmon on the Fraser River has decreased from an annual product of about a million cases, representing from four to eight million dollars, to a product of less than 40,000 cases, representing a few hundred thousand dollars.

With the regulations coming into effect next June, under which unlimited purse seine fishing is to be allowed, Mr. McMillan thinks that there is promise of a total destruction of the salmon fisheries of all the other rivers along the British Columbia coast.

To prevent this, a movement is under way in which the influence of Eastern Canada will be enlisted to save the British Columbia fisheries, and it is pointed out that the matter will require international co-operation, and the suggestion is made that some sort of a congress should be convened, to which representative men from the United States and Canada should be called.

In a week Oshawa Employment Bureau placed 25 men. Three of these secured positions in Bowmanville at the Goodyear Rubber Factory. All the applicants were placed, as there were 110 vacancies in 12 lines of work.

TWO FAMOUS SONS OF PRINCE EDWARD COUNTY

Every district, village, town and city has its distinguished sons. In this respect not many can equal the present standing of Prince Edward County. Many of its young men have gone forth into the world and become leaders. Why, it could be hard for the casual visitor to that district of fertile farms to say, but a fact remains that they did leave home. The field of operation may not have been wide enough at home or the wanderers may not have been fitted for such occupations as might be found there.

Certainly in the case of two particular men, it has been proved that the whole province of Ontario, perhaps the whole Dominion of Canada, does not offer them enough scope for their ambitions nor their abilities. They are Lieut.-Col. W. Grant Morden and Col. P. D. Saylor. Both are famous soldiers, and achieved excellent service in the late war. Both are also young men, but, although young, they have reached positions which might be admired, if not envied by most people.

Lieut.-Col. W. Grant Morden has been a prominent Canadian for many years. His daring and foresight are a matter of wonder to all who are connected with him in business matters. Forty years ago he part of Mr. McCook will be greatly appreciated by the Hospital Board and citizens generally.

Juvenile offenders seem to be receiving more kindly attention just now and quite right too. They grow into the grown-up criminals and the best way to prevent that is to bring out the good in them by wise and patient methods.

The Rock City of Petra, situated at the southern end of the highlands of the Jordan River, is described in a National Geographic Society bulletin as one of the strangest, most beautiful and most enchanting spots on earth. Petra is known as the "safe deposit" of caravans en route with precious wares to Tyre and Sidon. At the dawn of human history Petra became the central point to which the caravans from the interior of Arabia, Persia and India came laden with all the precious commodities of the East, and from which these commodities were distributed through Egypt, Palestine and Syria, and the countries bordering on the Mediterranean.

The entrance to the Rock City is the most striking gateway to any city on the planet. It is a narrow rift or defile, bisecting a mountain of many-hued sandstone and winding through the rock as though it were the most plastic of clay. This defile is nearly two miles long. Its general contour is a wide semi-circular swing from the right to the left, with innumerable short bends, leaving sharp curves and corners in its general course. The width of the defile varies from 12 feet at its narrowest point to 35 or 40 feet at other places.

The alk, or defile, is unquestionably one of the great glories of ancient Petra. Wealth untold went in and out of it for centuries, although it has now been silent for over 1800 years. Carved in the face of the cliff, half revealed, half concealed in the growing shadows, is one of the largest, most perfect and most beautiful monuments of antiquity, Pharaoh's Treasure. It is now almost as perfect as it was 2000 years ago when it first came from beneath the sculptor's chisel.

was born in Prince Edward County. He vacated that position to take over the duties of general manager in Toronto, started upon a financial career in Montreal, been overseas when the war broke out he offered with the first contingent and transferred to the Royal Flying Corps, and immediately after the war he entered politics in England, and was elected to represent the riding of Chiswick in the British House of Commons. At the present time he is promoting the merger of the largest steel masters in England with the Dominion Iron and Steel Company and other steel companies in Canada.

Col. Grant Morden has an insight into affairs and a grasp of matters relative to big business which is reputed to be almost uncanny. Despite his colossal responsibilities and the work which is always before him, he finds time to indulge in a few hobbies. He is an ardent admirer and collector of horses, thoroughbred cattle and deer-hounds. The flying experience which he acquired during the war has left him with a strong liking for communing with the clouds via aeroplane. Besides the large steel interests with which he is concerned at present, Col. Morden is connected with the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company, the Pacific Coast Coal Mines, the British Cellulose Company, Canada Securities Corporation, Prudential Trust Company, Canada Steamship Lines, Davie Shipbuilding Company, and numerous other smaller firms, most of them in this country.

The other of these two famous sons of Prince Edward is Col. P. D. Saylor, recently appointed vice-president and general manager of Dunlop America at a salary of $50,000 per year. There does not seem to be anything miraculous about his business methods. His success is due to confidence, hard work, frank smile, honesty, and the fact that he sees his way through before he goes in.

Colonel Saylor was born in Wellington, Prince Edward County, some forty-four years ago, the son of a physician. Following in the footsteps of his father he became a doctor himself, and practiced in New York. He gave up the medical profession to enter the service of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, and by so doing robbed the world of a good physician and gave it an excellent business man. Some time after he left this firm and set up a retail business for himself in Hamilton, dealing in tires and tire-repairing. He became connected with the Canadian Goodyear nine or ten years ago. When this company purchased the plant of the Durham Rubber Company at Bowmanville he was made manager. From that position he rose to the general sales manager of all sales in Canada.

On receiving information Inspector Ruston went to Trenton last week and made an investigation after which a serious charge was laid against Charles Deline and Mrs. M. Everett, of Trenton. The Inspector proceeded to Oromo with Inspector R. Martin and Chief Constable Bayne, of Trenton and placed Deline and Mrs. Everett under arrest. They were brought back to Trenton and fession to enter the service of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, and by so doing robbed the world of a good physician and gave it an excellent business man. Some time after he left this firm and set up a retail business for himself in Hamilton, dealing in tires and tire-repairing. He became connected with the Canadian Goodyear nine or ten years ago. When this company purchased the plant of the Durham Rubber Company at Bowmanville he was made manager. From that position he rose to the general sales manager of all sales in Canada.

Mr. Henry Aulthorpe and Miss Aulthorpe of Port Hope have returned home after spending the week with their cousin, C. H. Grass, Charles St.

THE STANDARD BANK OF CANADA

Established 1875 Head Office—Toronto

For the convenience of our customers and the general public, a sub-branch of this Bank was opened at MELROSE on Monday, May 10, 1920, at which point a general banking business will be transacted.

There are branches of this Bank at Napanee, Marysville, Selby, Deseronto, Shannonville, Foxboro and Rednersville.

John Elliott, Manager, Belleville Branch.

Do Your Banking by R. F. D.

Make the mail your messenger; and save yourself the long rides to town.

Deposits may be made—butter and cheese cheques cashed—money withdrawn—just as easily and safely by mail as in person.

Write the manager to tell you all about this convenient plan of Banking By Mail—or call in and have it explained, the next time you are town.

THE MERCHANTS BANK OF CANADA

Head Office: Montreal, Quebec, Established 1864. BELLEVILLE BRANCH, N. D. McFADYEN, Manager.

Safety Deposit Boxes to Rent.

ATTENTION!

Mr. Farmer. How about a Plumbing Job in your home? City Conveniences in both

PLUMBING and HEATING can be installed at a moderate cost. Drop in and talk it over and don't forget we give all our estimates free. We carry a full line of Stoves and Furnaces, Granite and Tin Ware. "Auto Radiators Repaired" was born in Prince Edward County. He vacated that position to take over the duties of general manager in Toronto, started upon a financial career in Montreal, been overseas when the war broke out he offered with the first contingent and transferred to the Royal Flying Corps, and immediately after the war he entered politics in England, and was elected to represent the riding of Chiswick in the British House of Commons. At the present time he is promoting the merger of the largest steel masters in England with the Dominion Iron and Steel Company and other steel companies in Canada.

HOWE & HAGERMAN Phone 1268 101 Front Street

Col. Grant Morden has an insight into affairs and a grasp of matters relative to big business which is reputed to be almost uncanny. Despite his colossal responsibilities and the work which is always before him, he finds time to indulge in a few hobbies. He is an ardent admirer and collector of horses, thoroughbred cattle and deer-hounds. The flying experience which he acquired during the war has left him with a strong liking for communing with the clouds via aeroplane. Besides the large steel interests with which he is concerned at present, Col. Morden is connected with the Collingwood Shipbuilding Company, the Pacific Coast Coal Mines, the British Cellulose Company, Canada Securities Corporation, Prudential Trust Company, Canada Steamship Lines, Davie Shipbuilding Company, and numerous other smaller firms, most of them in this country.

The other of these two famous sons of Prince Edward is Col. P. D. Saylor, recently appointed vice-president and general manager of Dunlop America at a salary of $50,000 per year. There does not seem to be anything miraculous about his business methods. His success is due to confidence, hard work, frank smile, honesty, and the fact that he sees his way through before he goes in.

Colonel Saylor was born in Wellington, Prince Edward County, some forty-four years ago, the son of a physician. Following in the footsteps of his father he became a doctor himself, and practiced in New York. He gave up the medical profession to enter the service of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, and by so doing robbed the world of a good physician and gave it an excellent business man. Some time after he left this firm and set up a retail business for himself in Hamilton, dealing in tires and tire-repairing. He became connected with the Canadian Goodyear nine or ten years ago. When this company purchased the plant of the Durham Rubber Company at Bowmanville he was made manager. From that position he rose to the general sales manager of all sales in Canada.

On receiving information Inspector Ruston went to Trenton last week and made an investigation after which a serious charge was laid against Charles Deline and Mrs. M. Everett, of Trenton. The Inspector proceeded to Oromo with Inspector R. Martin and Chief Constable Bayne, of Trenton and placed Deline and Mrs. Everett under arrest. They were brought back to Trenton and fession to enter the service of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, and by so doing robbed the world of a good physician and gave it an excellent business man. Some time after he left this firm and set up a retail business for himself in Hamilton, dealing in tires and tire-repairing. He became connected with the Canadian Goodyear nine or ten years ago. When this company purchased the plant of the Durham Rubber Company at Bowmanville he was made manager. From that position he rose to the general sales manager of all sales in Canada.

Mr. Henry Aulthorpe and Miss Aulthorpe of Port Hope have returned home after spending the week with their cousin, C. H. Grass, Charles St.

WOODEN SPOIL

By Victor Rousseau Illustrations by Edwin Myers Copyright, 1919, by George H. Dore Co.

CHAPTER I

The Roamy White Elephant. The office in Quebec which Georges Lamartine, the notary, occupied was located inconspicuously in a small building in an old part of the Lower Town. Small, wiry, black-haired, with an air of unassuming plausibility about him, Monsieur Lamartine was seated at his desk, drumming his fingers, staring out of the window, and turning again to look at a letter signed Hilary Askew, when his boy brought him a card with the same name upon it. Monsieur Lamartine frowned.

"Tell Monsieur Askew that I am busy with an important court case," he said. "Ask him to call at this time tomorrow."

"Mr. Askew says he's busy, too, and he'll wait," announced the boy, returning.

The notary considered. "Well, tell him I'll see him in a few minutes," he answered.

"When the boy was gone he took down the telephone receiver and gave a number."

"Is that you, Brousseau?" he asked. "Monsieur Hilary Askew has turned up."

"There was a spluttering at the other end of the line which made the notary smile."

"I can't say, I haven't seen him yet," said Monsieur Lamartine, in answer. "But if I can't send him home with a smile on his lips and a check in his pocket I shall try to keep him in Quebec until I have seen you. And you'd better try to get Morris by long distance and warn him. Good-by."

He hung up the receiver, rang for the boy and told him to admit Mr. Askew. Then he rose to receive his visitor.

He looked at Hilary keenly as he shook hands with him. The young man was different from what he had expected. He was about as big, and he had the same air of American energy; but he appeared more determined, he looked like one of those unscrupulous men who have the knack of disengaging themselves from obligations. However, Hilary looked good-natured. And he was certainly inexperienced. Monsieur Lamartine gave him a chair and looked very plausible indeed.

"Your visit has followed very close upon your letter, Mr. Askew," he said. "Perhaps you did not get mine, advising you to wait before coming to Quebec?"

"No," said Hilary, "but I would have come anyway. I want to get this matter settled."

"The American haste," said the notary looking almost ingenuous. "But the law is not to be taken by storm, least of all in Quebec. It is only a month since your uncle died. Perhaps it will be months before we can turn over the property to you. I understand that you were not in close touch with your uncle during his latter years?"

Askew, I cannot advise you to consider your uncle's legacy seriously."

"I'm sorry to hear that," answered Hilary. "But I suppose something can be done with the wood. There are uses besides pulp-wood to which the timber is entirely irregular, Mr. Askew, really?"

"Let me have the papers, please," said Hilary, smiling. "And you need have no fear that you will be held responsible for my anticipating my inheritance. I imagine I have as much right there as Mr. Morris."

"Of course, it that is your decision, there is nothing more to say," answered the other brusquely. He pulled out a drawer and removed an envelope containing some documents. "You will find the statement here," he said. "Mr. Morris has the books and the map of St. Boniface. I wish you a pleasant journey, sir. You wish me to continue to represent you?"

"For the present, yes. Good-bay."

"When he was gone Monsieur Lamartine sat back in his chair and drummed his fingers for nearly a minute. Then he picked up the papers and looked at them with a frown. "He's just gone," he said. "And he starts for St. Boniface tomorrow morning, in spite of all my representations."

He smiled at the spluttering that came over the wire.

It was well into the afternoon when Hilary reached St. Boniface on the small tri-weekly mail boat. For fifty or sixty miles below Quebec the country, sparsely inhabited though it is, and primitive, contains settlements of shingle houses, hotels, tourists and a thorough knowledge of lumber conditions in this province could dream of pulling out even."

Hilary leaned forward in his chair. "Monsieur Lamartine," he said. "I didn't build any extravagant hopes upon my uncle's legacy. I'm not so strict as that was. What I want is simply to settle somewhere among trees and to get together with them. I'm tired of what has been doing these past five years."

"I'm tired of hunting a job here and a job there to find somebody else's trees. I'm tired of other people's trees. I want my own trees. I want to see them grow up, and then them out, and have a real forest in being."

"So I've decided to take hold of that St. Boniface tract and see what I can do with it. I'm going to show my uncle, Monsieur Lamartine, that he sized me up wrong."

Monsieur Lamartine smiled at the caller's frankness.

"I understand how you feel, Mr. Askew," he said. "What you want is a nice little tract of a few hundred acres, not far from Quebec. A place with a little trout lake on it, to build your camp beside, ten acres frehold and the rest leased. You'll enjoy that, and—"

He looked at Hilary keenly as he shook hands with him. The young man was different from what he had expected. He was about as big, and he had the same air of American energy; but he appeared more determined, he looked like one of those unscrupulous men who have the knack of disengaging themselves from obligations. However, Hilary looked good-natured. And he was certainly inexperienced. Monsieur Lamartine gave him a chair and looked very plausible indeed.

"Your visit has followed very close upon your letter, Mr. Askew," he said. "Perhaps you did not get mine, advising you to wait before coming to Quebec?"

I think I shall refuse your company's offer. Will you let me have the papers, Monsieur Lamartine, including the last half-yearly statement and the map of St. Boniface. I wish you a pleasant journey, sir. You wish me to continue to represent you?"

"For the present, yes. Good-bay."

"When he was gone Monsieur Lamartine sat back in his chair and drummed his fingers for nearly a minute. Then he picked up the papers and looked at them with a frown. "He's just gone," he said. "And he starts for St. Boniface tomorrow morning, in spite of all my representations."

He smiled at the spluttering that came over the wire.

It was well into the afternoon when Hilary reached St. Boniface on the small tri-weekly mail boat. For fifty or sixty miles below Quebec the country, sparsely inhabited though it is, and primitive, contains settlements of shingle houses, hotels, tourists and a thorough knowledge of lumber conditions in this province could dream of pulling out even."

Hilary leaned forward in his chair. "Monsieur Lamartine," he said. "I didn't build any extravagant hopes upon my uncle's legacy. I'm not so strict as that was. What I want is simply to settle somewhere among trees and to get together with them. I'm tired of what has been doing these past five years."

"I'm tired of hunting a job here and a job there to find somebody else's trees. I'm tired of other people's trees. I want my own trees. I want to see them grow up, and then them out, and have a real forest in being."

"So I've decided to take hold of that St. Boniface tract and see what I can do with it. I'm going to show my uncle, Monsieur Lamartine, that he sized me up wrong."

Monsieur Lamartine smiled at the caller's frankness.

"I understand how you feel, Mr. Askew," he said. "What you want is a nice little tract of a few hundred acres, not far from Quebec. A place with a little trout lake on it, to build your camp beside, ten acres frehold and the rest leased. You'll enjoy that, and—"

He looked at Hilary keenly as he shook hands with him. The young man was different from what he had expected. He was about as big, and he had the same air of American energy; but he appeared more determined, he looked like one of those unscrupulous men who have the knack of disengaging themselves from obligations. However, Hilary looked good-natured. And he was certainly inexperienced. Monsieur Lamartine gave him a chair and looked very plausible indeed.

"Your visit has followed very close upon your letter, Mr. Askew," he said. "Perhaps you did not get mine, advising you to wait before coming to Quebec?"

"No," said Hilary, "but I would have come anyway. I want to get this matter settled."

"The American haste," said the notary looking almost ingenuous. "But the law is not to be taken by storm, least of all in Quebec. It is only a month since your uncle died. Perhaps it will be months before we can turn over the property to you. I understand that you were not in close touch with your uncle during his latter years?"

"I had not seen him since I was a boy. That was what made the legacy a surprising one. He had not shown any interest in me. I had a hard fight to get through my forestry course. So when I heard that I had become the owner of a tract of a hundred square miles it seemed like an intervention of Providence. That is almost a king's demerit."

"Ten miles by ten?" inquired the notary, smiling. "Well, I suppose it does seem a large territory to you, although the Roamy seignior was one of the smallest of the old feudal grants. It is almost the last on the north shore of the St. Lawrence that remains in the hands of the original family."

"Four hundred thousand dollars seems a big sum for my uncle to have paid for it," said Hilary.

"Your uncle," said Monsieur Lamartine, beginning to drum softly, "made this investment against the advice of a good many people. The Roamy timber rights are practically valueless, because the wood is principally balsam fir instead of pine and spruce."

He noted that Hilary only watched him instead of answering, and he began to feel that he would not be disappointed as easily as he had anticipated.

"The property has never begun to pay its way," continued Monsieur Lamartine. "Your uncle paid three hundred and fifty thousand for the cutting rights alone. He found himself up against the St. Lawrence which limited on the size of trees. Seven inches for black, or swamp spruce, I believe; twelve for white spruce; twelve or thirteen for pine. And nearly all the trees on the Roamy limits that aren't fir are under the legal size. Your uncle sank half his fortune in it. He was—excuse me—eccentric. This is the case: the timber cannot be cut except at a loss, on account of its sparseness and the high cost of transportation. The balsam fir is too young to make any but inferior paper, because the standard sizes of the newspapers. It occupies the greater portion of the tract, together with second growth birch, which is, of course, of use only for firewood. The expenses are very considerable. In short, Mr.

Askew, I cannot advise you to consider your uncle's legacy seriously."

"I'm sorry to hear that," answered Hilary. "But I suppose something can be done with the wood. There are uses besides pulp-wood to which the timber is entirely irregular, Mr. Askew, really?"

"Let me have the papers, please," said Hilary, smiling. "And you need have no fear that you will be held responsible for my anticipating my inheritance. I imagine I have as much right there as Mr. Morris."

"Of course, it that is your decision, there is nothing more to say," answered the other brusquely. He pulled out a drawer and removed an envelope containing some documents. "You will find the statement here," he said. "Mr. Morris has the books and the map of St. Boniface. I wish you a pleasant journey, sir. You wish me to continue to represent you?"

"For the present, yes. Good-bay."

"When he was gone Monsieur Lamartine sat back in his chair and drummed his fingers for nearly a minute. Then he picked up the papers and looked at them with a frown. "He's just gone," he said. "And he starts for St. Boniface tomorrow morning, in spite of all my representations."

He smiled at the spluttering that came over the wire.

It was well into the afternoon when Hilary reached St. Boniface on the small tri-weekly mail boat. For fifty or sixty miles below Quebec the country, sparsely inhabited though it is, and primitive, contains settlements of shingle houses, hotels, tourists and a thorough knowledge of lumber conditions in this province could dream of pulling out even."

Hilary leaned forward in his chair. "Monsieur Lamartine," he said. "I didn't build any extravagant hopes upon my uncle's legacy. I'm not so strict as that was. What I want is simply to settle somewhere among trees and to get together with them. I'm tired of what has been doing these past five years."

"I'm tired of hunting a job here and a job there to find somebody else's trees. I'm tired of other people's trees. I want my own trees. I want to see them grow up, and then them out, and have a real forest in being."

"So I've decided to take hold of that St. Boniface tract and see what I can do with it. I'm going to show my uncle, Monsieur Lamartine, that he sized me up wrong."

Monsieur Lamartine smiled at the caller's frankness.

"I understand how you feel, Mr. Askew," he said. "What you want is a nice little tract of a few hundred acres, not far from Quebec. A place with a little trout lake on it, to build your camp beside, ten acres frehold and the rest leased. You'll enjoy that, and—"

He looked at Hilary keenly as he shook hands with him. The young man was different from what he had expected. He was about as big, and he had the same air of American energy; but he appeared more determined, he looked like one of those unscrupulous men who have the knack of disengaging themselves from obligations. However, Hilary looked good-natured. And he was certainly inexperienced. Monsieur Lamartine gave him a chair and looked very plausible indeed.

"Your uncle," said Monsieur Lamartine, beginning to drum softly, "made this investment against the advice of a good many people. The Roamy timber rights are practically valueless, because the wood is principally balsam fir instead of pine and spruce."

He noted that Hilary only watched him instead of answering, and he began to feel that he would not be disappointed as easily as he had anticipated.

"The property has never begun to pay its way," continued Monsieur Lamartine. "Your uncle paid three hundred and fifty thousand for the cutting rights alone. He found himself up against the St. Lawrence which limited on the size of trees. Seven inches for black, or swamp spruce, I believe; twelve for white spruce; twelve or thirteen for pine. And nearly all the trees on the Roamy limits that aren't fir are under the legal size. Your uncle sank half his fortune in it. He was—excuse me—eccentric. This is the case: the timber cannot be cut except at a loss, on account of its sparseness and the high cost of transportation. The balsam fir is too young to make any but inferior paper, because the standard sizes of the newspapers. It occupies the greater portion of the tract, together with second growth birch, which is, of course, of use only for firewood. The expenses are very considerable. In short, Mr.

Askew, I cannot advise you to consider your uncle's legacy seriously."

"I'm sorry to hear that," answered Hilary. "But I suppose something can be done with the wood. There are uses besides pulp-wood to which the timber is entirely irregular, Mr. Askew, really?"

"Let me have the papers, please," said Hilary, smiling. "And you need have no fear that you will be held responsible for my anticipating my inheritance. I imagine I have as much right there as Mr. Morris."

"Of course, it that is your decision, there is nothing more to say," answered the other brusquely. He pulled out a drawer and removed an envelope containing some documents. "You will find the statement here," he said. "Mr. Morris has the books and the map of St. Boniface. I wish you a pleasant journey, sir. You wish me to continue to represent you?"

"For the present, yes. Good-bay."

"When he was gone Monsieur Lamartine sat back in his chair and drummed his fingers for nearly a minute. Then he picked up the papers and looked at them with a frown. "He's just gone," he said. "And he starts for St. Boniface tomorrow morning, in spite of all my representations."

He smiled at the spluttering that came over the wire.

It was well into the afternoon when Hilary reached St. Boniface on the small tri-weekly mail boat. For fifty or sixty miles below Quebec the country, sparsely inhabited though it is, and primitive, contains settlements of shingle houses, hotels, tourists and a thorough knowledge of lumber conditions in this province could dream of pulling out even."

Hilary leaned forward in his chair. "Monsieur Lamartine," he said. "I didn't build any extravagant hopes upon my uncle's legacy. I'm not so strict as that was. What I want is simply to settle somewhere among trees and to get together with them. I'm tired of what has been doing these past five years."

"I'm tired of hunting a job here and a job there to find somebody else's trees. I'm tired of other people's trees. I want my own trees. I want to see them grow up, and then them out, and have a real forest in being."

"So I've decided to take hold of that St. Boniface tract and see what I can do with it. I'm going to show my uncle, Monsieur Lamartine, that he sized me up wrong."

Monsieur Lamartine smiled at the caller's frankness.

"I understand how you feel, Mr. Askew," he said. "What you want is a nice little tract of a few hundred acres, not far from Quebec. A place with a little trout lake on it, to build your camp beside, ten acres frehold and the rest leased. You'll enjoy that, and—"

He looked at Hilary keenly as he shook hands with him. The young man was different from what he had expected. He was about as big, and he had the same air of American energy; but he appeared more determined, he looked like one of those unscrupulous men who have the knack of disengaging themselves from obligations. However, Hilary looked good-natured. And he was certainly inexperienced. Monsieur Lamartine gave him a chair and looked very plausible indeed.

"Your uncle," said Monsieur Lamartine, beginning to drum softly, "made this investment against the advice of a good many people. The Roamy timber rights are practically valueless, because the wood is principally balsam fir instead of pine and spruce."

He noted that Hilary only watched him instead of answering, and he began to feel that he would not be disappointed as easily as he had anticipated.

"The property has never begun to pay its way," continued Monsieur Lamartine. "Your uncle paid three hundred and fifty thousand for the cutting rights alone. He found himself up against the St. Lawrence which limited on the size of trees. Seven inches for black, or swamp spruce, I believe; twelve for white spruce; twelve or thirteen for pine. And nearly all the trees on the Roamy limits that aren't fir are under the legal size. Your uncle sank half his fortune in it. He was—excuse me—eccentric. This is the case: the timber cannot be cut except at a loss, on account of its sparseness and the high cost of transportation. The balsam fir is too young to make any but inferior paper, because the standard sizes of the newspapers. It occupies the greater portion of the tract, together with second growth birch, which is, of course, of use only for firewood. The expenses are very considerable. In short, Mr.

Askew, I cannot advise you to consider your uncle's legacy seriously."

"I'm sorry to hear that," answered Hilary. "But I suppose something can be done with the wood. There are uses besides pulp-wood to which the timber is entirely irregular, Mr. Askew, really?"

"Let me have the papers, please," said Hilary, smiling. "And you need have no fear that you will be held responsible for my anticipating my inheritance. I imagine I have as much right there as Mr. Morris."

"Of course, it that is your decision, there is nothing more to say," answered the other brusquely. He pulled out a drawer and removed an envelope containing some documents. "You will find the statement here," he said. "Mr. Morris has the books and the map of St. Boniface. I wish you a pleasant journey, sir. You wish me to continue to represent you?"

"For the present, yes. Good-bay."

"When he was gone Monsieur Lamartine sat back in his chair and drummed his fingers for nearly a minute. Then he picked up the papers and looked at them with a frown. "He's just gone," he said. "And he starts for St. Boniface tomorrow morning, in spite of all my representations."

He smiled at the spluttering that came over the wire.

It was well into the afternoon when Hilary reached St. Boniface on the small tri-weekly mail boat. For fifty or sixty miles below Quebec the country, sparsely inhabited though it is, and primitive, contains settlements of shingle houses, hotels, tourists and a thorough knowledge of lumber conditions in this province could dream of pulling out even."

Hilary leaned forward in his chair. "Monsieur Lamartine," he said. "I didn't build any extravagant hopes upon my uncle's legacy. I'm not so strict as that was. What I want is simply to settle somewhere among trees and to get together with them. I'm tired of what has been doing these past five years."

"I'm tired of hunting a job here and a job there to find somebody else's trees. I'm tired of other people's trees. I want my own trees. I want to see them grow up, and then them out, and have a real forest in being."

"So I've decided to take hold of that St. Boniface tract and see what I can do with it. I'm going to show my uncle, Monsieur Lamartine, that he sized me up wrong."

Monsieur Lamartine smiled at the caller's frankness.

"I understand how you feel, Mr. Askew," he said. "What you want is a nice little tract of a few hundred acres, not far from Quebec. A place with a little trout lake on it, to build your camp beside, ten acres frehold and the rest leased. You'll enjoy that, and—"

He looked at Hilary keenly as he shook hands with him. The young man was different from what he had expected. He was about as big, and he had the same air of American energy; but he appeared more determined, he looked like one of those unscrupulous men who have the knack of disengaging themselves from obligations. However, Hilary looked good-natured. And he was certainly inexperienced. Monsieur Lamartine gave him a chair and looked very plausible indeed.

"Your uncle," said Monsieur Lamartine, beginning to drum softly, "made this investment against the advice of a good many people. The Roamy timber rights are practically valueless, because the wood is principally balsam fir instead of pine and spruce."

He noted that Hilary only watched him instead of answering, and he began to feel that he would not be disappointed as easily as he had anticipated.

"The property has never begun to pay its way," continued Monsieur Lamartine. "Your uncle paid three hundred and fifty thousand for the cutting rights alone. He found himself up against the St. Lawrence which limited on the size of trees. Seven inches for black, or swamp spruce, I believe; twelve for white spruce; twelve or thirteen for pine. And nearly all the trees on the Roamy limits that aren't fir are under the legal size. Your uncle sank half his fortune in it. He was—excuse me—eccentric. This is the case: the timber cannot be cut except at a loss, on account of its sparseness and the high cost of transportation. The balsam fir is too young to make any but inferior paper, because the standard sizes of the newspapers. It occupies the greater portion of the tract, together with second growth birch, which is, of course, of use only for firewood. The expenses are very considerable. In short, Mr.

Askew, I cannot advise you to consider your uncle's legacy seriously."

"I'm sorry to hear that," answered Hilary. "But I suppose something can be done with the wood. There are uses besides pulp-wood to which the timber is entirely irregular, Mr. Askew, really?"

"Let me have the papers, please," said Hilary, smiling. "And you need have no fear that you will be held responsible for my anticipating my inheritance. I imagine I have as much right there as Mr. Morris."

"Of course, it that is your decision, there is nothing more to say," answered the other brusquely. He pulled out a drawer and removed an envelope containing some documents. "You will find the statement here," he said. "Mr. Morris has the books and the map of St. Boniface. I wish you a pleasant journey, sir. You wish me to continue to represent you?"

"For the present, yes. Good-bay."

"When he was gone Monsieur Lamartine sat back in his chair and drummed his fingers for nearly a minute. Then he picked up the papers and looked at them with a frown. "He's just gone," he said. "And he starts for St. Boniface tomorrow morning, in spite of all my representations."

He smiled at the spluttering that came over the wire.

It was well into the afternoon when Hilary reached St. Boniface on the small tri-weekly mail boat. For fifty or sixty miles below Quebec the country, sparsely inhabited though it is, and primitive, contains settlements of shingle houses, hotels, tourists and a thorough knowledge of lumber conditions in this province could dream of pulling out even."

Hilary leaned forward in his chair. "Monsieur Lamartine," he said. "I didn't build any extravagant hopes upon my uncle's legacy. I'm not so strict as that was. What I want is simply to settle somewhere among trees and to get together with them. I'm tired of what has been doing these past five years."

"I'm tired of hunting a job here and a job there to find somebody else's trees. I'm tired of other people's trees. I want my own trees. I want to see them grow up, and then them out, and have a real forest in being."

"So I've decided to take hold of that St. Boniface tract and see what I can do with it. I'm going to show my uncle, Monsieur Lamartine, that he sized me up wrong."

Monsieur Lamartine smiled at the caller's frankness.

"I understand how you feel, Mr. Askew," he said. "What you want is a nice little tract of a few hundred acres, not far from Quebec. A place with a little trout lake on it, to build your camp beside, ten acres frehold and the rest leased. You'll enjoy that, and—"

He looked at Hilary keenly as he shook hands with him. The young man was different from what he had expected. He was about as big, and he had the same air of American energy; but he appeared more determined, he looked like one of those unscrupulous men who have the knack of disengaging themselves from obligations. However, Hilary looked good-natured. And he was certainly inexperienced. Monsieur Lamartine gave him a chair and looked very plausible indeed.

He Saw the Blue of Her Eyes, the Curve of Her Flushed Cheek, the Dignity and Gentleness and Pride That Blended in Her Looks.

flushed cheek, the dignity and gentleness and pride that blended in her looks. If ever he had any quarrel with Brousseau, he would show him.

Then he cursed himself for a fool, and, entering the hotel, took his lamp and went up to his room.

CHAPTER II

Le Conte Explains. After breakfast the next morning Hilary joined Monsieur Tremblay's buggy and started out with Lefe, with the intention of covering a portion of the limits and seeing the operations of the jobbers; he also meant to keep his eyes open as to the nature of the timber.

The buggy surmounted a hill, and another hill appeared in the distance. Here and there, scattered along the roadside, were solitary cabins, with little patches of cultivated ground about them.

On the right of the road is the Ste. Marie territory," asked Hilary. "Yes, Mr. Askew. The two rans neck and neck back into them mountains. We turn off presently. We haven't touched this district yet."

Le Conte noted the first growth spruce along the banks. "Why don't we cut this spruce?" asked Hilary. "It's a good deal of fir on our property, and what pine and spruce there is is smallish. There was a big fire over this district fifteen years or so ago. Now Mr. Morris calculates that if we go slow for a while and give the trees a chance to grow, they'll be worth twice as much in a few years. We're developing the property slowly, Mr. Askew."

Hilary's hand fell on Lefe's shoulder. "Connell," he said. "I brought you up here with me to learn the truth on my property. You're going to sign on again on October 1st, and it's me you're going to sign with, not Mr. Morris. Now tell me the facts about all this."

Lefe stammered and hung his head like a schoolboy caught in wrongdoing. But Hilary's hand was gripping his shoulder, and at last Lefe raised his head and looked straight at Hilary.

"If I thought you'd stick here," he said. "I guess I'd back you to the limit. But you'll never stand for St. Boniface, Mr. Askew. They're so in earnestly slow here, they ain't got him money ways, sir. And they're crooked. I thought, when I heard you was coming, you'd be like Mr. Morris—I mean, you ain't the game—but you ain't. I guess most business is crooked everywhere, but here it's crooked all through. You'll be selling out to Mr. Brousseau in a month's time, and that'll be my finish."

"That wasn't enough. He wanted the seignior's place, because he found that the folks up here thought more of old Mr. Roamy, with his broken-down house and debts, than they did of him with all his money. So he set to work and got him cinched."

"The old man hates and despises him, and he's been fighting against it for a long time, but he seen what's coming to him and I guess he's made up his mind he'll have to stomach it. Brousseau's staked old Mr. Roamy's pride against his love, and I guess he's won his stake and won Mamzelle Madeleine into the bargain."

He rose. "That'll be all for tonight, Mr. Askew," he asked.

Hilary rose too. "Thanks, Mr. Connell," he said. "In the morning I shall ask you to show me around the place."

He didn't follow Lefe Connell inside the hotel, but sat upon the porch, musing. Lefe had enlightened him on several points. He doubted whether Lamartine had spoken anything approaching truth concerning the property, and he was sure that Morris and Brousseau were the company in whose behalf he had offered forty-five thousand dollars. There would be need of a good many explanations from Morris.

Yes, Hilary felt instinctively that it was Brousseau, not Morris, with whom he would have to contend.

On the face of the sun, right over the face of Madeleine Roamy painted with surprising clearness. He saw the blue of her eyes, the curve of her flushed cheek, the dignity and gentleness and pride that blended in her looks. If ever he had any quarrel with Brousseau, he would show him.

Then he cursed himself for a fool, and, entering the hotel, took his lamp and went up to his room.

CHAPTER II

Le Conte Explains. After breakfast the next morning Hilary joined Monsieur Tremblay's buggy and started out with Lefe, with the intention of covering a portion of the limits and seeing the operations of the jobbers; he also meant to keep his eyes open as to the nature of the timber.

The buggy surmounted a hill, and another hill appeared in the distance. Here and there, scattered along the roadside, were solitary cabins, with little patches of cultivated ground about them.

On the right of the road is the Ste. Marie territory," asked Hilary. "Yes, Mr. Askew. The two rans neck and neck back into them mountains. We turn off presently. We haven't touched this district yet."

Le Conte noted the first growth spruce along the banks. "Why don't we cut this spruce?" asked Hilary. "It's a good deal of fir on our property, and what pine and spruce there is is smallish. There was a big fire over this district fifteen years or so ago. Now Mr. Morris calculates that if we go slow for a while and give the trees a chance to grow, they'll be worth twice as much in a few years. We're developing the property slowly, Mr. Askew."

Hilary's hand fell on Lefe's shoulder. "Connell," he said. "I brought you up here with me to learn the truth on my property. You're going to sign on again on October 1st, and it's me you're going to sign with, not Mr. Morris. Now tell me the facts about all this."

Lefe stammered and hung his head like a schoolboy caught in wrongdoing. But Hilary's hand was gripping his shoulder, and at

MEMORIAL STONE TO FRANKFORD'S FALLEN

Historical Event in Frankford Yesterday—Sir Sam Hughes Unveils Monument—The Names of the Dead.

Their names cut in letters of gold upon enduring stone and their memories cherished in the hearts of a grateful people, forty-seven heroes of Frankford and vicinity, who gave their lives in the Great War, were honored Wednesday afternoon when a beautiful and fitting monument was unveiled in the village of Frankford to their undying fame. Lieutenant-General Sir Sam Hughes, former Minister of Militia and Defence, performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by thousands of people. Almost every part of Hastings was represented, while the citizens of Frankford and the township of Sidney turned out in great numbers. Prominent among the spectators were the relatives of the honored dead.

Frankford and Sidney suffered heavily in the war. Their contingents were very large, and their officers and men won honor and glory in the field. Few realize that seven of the young life of that district surrendered their lives in the cause of freedom, but the record proves this.

The monument cost two thousand dollars and is the work of Mr. Coughlin, of Peterborough. It occupies a commanding position in the school grounds, on Front street. The Rev. J. D. P. Knox, of Warsaw, formerly of Frankford, occupied the chair. On the platform were men prominent in the political life of Canada and in the military service. The proceedings opened with the singing of the hymn "Abide with Me", followed by prayer by the Rev. Mr. Knox. Mr. Gladney sang with deep feelings "In Flanders' Fields."

To Sir Sam Hughes, Canada's ex-war minister, who made a record in raising volunteer armies in the Dominion, fell the honor of unveiling the memorial stone. The General did not speak at great length but referred to the part Canada, and Hastings in particular, had played in the great conflict. Sir Sam referred to the deeds of heroism of Canadian boys in France and at the close of his address he drew aside the veils and the monument stood revealed. The bugle sounded "The Last Post", and comrades of the fallen, as a guard of honor, fired a salute of three volleys over the monument in tribute to the glorious dead.

1914—1918
"Erected by the citizens of Frankford and vicinity in memory of our soldiers who fell in the Great War 1914—1918. Their names shall live forevermore."

Mr. J. J. B. Flint Writes About His Return Journey

Editor Ontario.—
Before continuing an account of my return journey, I wish to point out what I think is a great injustice to citizens of Canada who visit the United States. Upon the train before you reach the international boundary, an American official asks your name, age, parentage, how long are you going to remain in the United States, your object in going there, and you pay this officer $3.00. American money, losing the discount. You are told if you return to Canada within six months your money will be returned. We do not treat visiting United States citizens in this manner. Why should Canadians be submitted to what looks like an outrage?
During a former trip, I visited the White and Green Mountain regions in the United States. I ascended Mount Washington by rail. The views from the summit were entrancing. Many mountain peaks, deep valleys and pines resembling a vast green velvet carpet. Cultivated fields appeared to be about two feet square. The summit is a mass of rocks. The observatory roof is covered with rocks and heavy chains to withstand terrible tempests. I walked down Mount Washington which was dangerous, because fogs, enveloping the mountain, frequently occur.

Undying valor of the Canadian boys and of Vimy Ridge, the crowning achievement of the Canadian troops, which was taken when all others failed, and which the Hun could not recapture.

The scholars of the schools sang "The Maple Leaf", the music for this and the program being provided by the G.W.V.A. band of Belleville under the direction of Lieut. E. R. Hinchey.

The chairman praised the efforts of Mr. McAllister, of Frankford, for his efforts in making the memorial stone a reality.
Mr. W. H. Ireland, M.P.P. for West Hastings, paid tribute to the men of Hastings and of Frankford district. Short speeches were made by Lt.-Col. Bywater, Lt.-Col. R. Vanderwater, D.S.O. and Bar. Major J. H. Ellis and others. The proceedings closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

The names on the monument and the inscription that follows are:

- ROSS HERMAN
- EDNA CHARD
- HENRY NOLAN
- DUNCAN HAMILTON
- CLARENCE COULTER
- LOUIS COX
- FRED ADAMS
- RALPH MARELLI
- JAMES TONELLI
- ERNEST WELLES
- WALTER MCKINNON
- JOHN LODGE
- FRANK DEACON
- DAVID PARKS
- WILLIAM A. SHAW
- EDNA MALLORY
- ARTHUR MALLORY
- HAROLD BABONDY
- FRANK STONE
- RALPH COON
- ARTHUR CARR
- CECIL J. WANNAMAKER
- JOHN CHARD
- ALFRED J. SMITH
- DAVID FRASER
- ALBERT FORD
- OSCAR PEARSON
- WILLIAM MORRISON
- ROY MORRISON
- R. YOUNG
- ARTHUR BISHOP
- ROBERT PARKER
- DAVID C. GUNTER
- WILLIAM G. SEATH
- WILLIAM ROBERT BELL
- SIDNEY SANFORD
- RICHARD POLLARD
- ARON SENE
- EDNA H. SARKLES
- KENNETH BARTLEY
- LEONARD J. FERGUSSON
- H. D. CARL
- CLEMENT BIRD
- HENRY ALDOUN
- ISAAC LEE
- JOHN MCILLEN
- O. AKINS

There is no road, the way is marked with several rock piles. When the fog arises, you sit down and wait until it disappears. Near the summit is a pile of rocks marking the spot where a young lady wandered away from the summit and died from exposure during a storm. Upon the summit of a mountain overlooking a small lake is "the old man of the mountain," a mass of rocks so arranged by nature that at a distance they represent the face of an old man, wearing a flat cap. The face seems perfect. Recently it was feared that a displacement of rocks might occur, which would injure the face and the authorities have now secured the rocks by spikes. Another great attraction is "Echo Lake" embosomed by a number of mountains. Evening was approaching, and the surface of the lake mirrored the shadows cast by the mountains. I was rowed to the centre of the lake by a man, who carried with him a bugle. He blew a few notes on it. Instantly the sound was repeated from the mountains by five or six voices, gradually dying away until the sounds ceased. The effect was wonderful. It seemed as if the air was filled with spirits. The echoes brought to my mind Tennyson's celebrated Bugle Song:
The splendour falls on castle walls,
And snowy summits old in story,
The long light breaks across the lakes,
And the wild cataract leaps in glory.
Blow bugle blow, set the wild echoes flying,
Blow bugle, answer echoes, dying, dying, dying.
O hark, O hark, how thin and clear,
And thinner, clearer, farther going;
O sweet and far, from cliff and scar,
The horns of elfland faintly blowing,
Blow, let us hear faintly blowing,
Blow, let us hear faintly blowing,
Answer echoes, dying, dying, dying.
O love, they die on you rich day,
They faint on hill or field or river,
Our echoes roll from soul to soul,
And grow forever and forever.

dying, dying.
Till thou, still present to my bodily sense,
Dost vanish from my thought,
Awake my soul; not only passive praise thou owest:
Voice of sweet song, awake my heart, awake!
Green vales and icy cliffs, all join my hymn,
Thou first and chief, sole sovran of the vale!
Thyself earth's rosy star, and of the dawn, co-herald;
Wake! O wake, and utter praise!
Who canst thy sunless pillars in the earth?
Who filled thy countenance with rosy light?
Who made these parent of perpetual streams?
Who called you forth from night and utter death?
And who commanded and the silence came?
Who made you glorious as the gates of heaven?
Beneath the keen full moon?
Who bade the sun clothe you with rainbows?
Who with living flowers of loveliest blue,
Spread garlands at your feet?
God!
Let the torrents like the shout of nations answer
And let the ice plains echo, God!
Great hierarch! tell thou the silent sky,
And tell the stars, and tell your rising sun,
Earth with her thousand voices praise God!
John J. B. Flint.

DEATHS

PATTERSON—In Belleville on Wednesday, June 9th, Walter Ormond Patterson, in his sixth year.
KAITTING—In Belleville, on June 9, Mrs. Luenda Kaitting, aged 59 years.

Talk of the Town and of the Country

Mr. Horton Sheldon, M.A., son of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Sheldon, Belleville, was successful in passing with honors the recent examinations at the University of Chicago. At convocation, June 15th, Mr. Sheldon will have conferred on him the degree of Ph. D. (doctor of philosophy), which bearing honorary degrees, is the highest university degree obtainable.

A rare and interesting specimen has just been received by J. S. Box, Calabogie. It is the head of a doe which he shot last season at Norway camp, and has horns about eight inches long and the horns have the velvet still on them. The mounting is a very fine example of taxidermy.
Mr. Sullivan, chairman of the property committee of the Kingston Yacht Club, is engaged in superintending the laying of a permanent concrete floor on the wharf, some years that was greatly needed for the work which reflects credit upon the chairman. The "L" that was years a menace to the safety of any person who tried to disembark upon it has been finished like the main wharf, and the value of the property has been increased.

On Monday morning Roy Simmons, of Trenton, who is employed and lives at a garage in Grafton, was fined $200 and costs for breach of the O.T.A. On May 13th he got five cases of liquor, which was unloaded at Trenton. On May 31st his place at Grafton was searched, and no liquor was found. On being asked to explain in police court what became of the liquor he stated the liquor cost him $325 and that he and his friends had drunk it at his expense in 17 days. As he is a working man with a family, the magistrate refused to believe it, and fined him $200 and costs. The fine was first fixed at $500, but through the pleas of A. A. Abbott, of Trenton, the fine, which was paid, was reduced to $200.

Jurors who are attending court at Cobourg, have a well grounded grievance, says the Cobourg Star. For a day's attendance at court they receive the magnificent sum of $2.50 per day. For their board at hotels they pay $3.00 and $3.50 a day. The counties council might consider other putting in easy chairs, instead of the hard benches jurors are compelled to use, or raise the pay to what it should be.
W. E. Smallfield, Renfrew, is having a fine time in Scotland-telling of local option in Canada. He writes that he favors a Soldier's memorial for Renfrew in the shape of a chime of bells. He visited a bell manufactory at Crofton, Eng., where the chimes for St. Andrew's Kingston, were made.

The Provincial Board of Health has ordered the town of Smith's Falls, to install a filtration plant immediately. Dr. J. W. S. McCullough, Provincial Officer of Health, saying that action in this connection can be no longer deferred. The sheriff has been instructed to serve the town council with an order under the Health act required, a filtration plant of either the rapid sand, drifting sand or slow sand type to be installed at once.

The appeal that circuses have for the small boy was illustrated to the night operator at the Peterboro G. T. R. Station Tuesday night. About midnight he thought he saw something dark on top of one of the freight cars on the siding east of the station. On closer inspection he found it to be two small boys huddled up on the top of the cars, sleeping on a cushion. He woke them up, and elicited a long and pathetic story from the little fellows about the unknown way they had been treated at home, and they said they were afraid to return to the parental roof.
Although the operator knew there was a nigger in the fence somewhere, the boys would not go home; so he fixed them up in the waiting room, and there they slept, head to head on the one pillow, till morning.
The operator awoke them when he heard the circus coming in, knowing full well the reason for their escapade. Either the mixed air of the waiting-room or the ozone they drew in in the early part of the evening had its effect on them, and it was a hard job for him to finally get them roused up.
Once, however, they understood where they were and what all the racket outside was about, there was no holding them, and with shouts of glee they rushed out to witness what to them, was the greatest event in their young lives.

The sad news of the death of Chas. McMillan, Vancouver, was received last week by Mr. and Mrs. Canfield Shore, Napanee. Mrs. McMillan was formerly Miss May Shore, Napanee. Her sister Miss Vera Shore, was with her at the time of her husband's death.
Tuesday night when the west-bound train from Montreal was at the Outer Station, Kingston, a couple of the passengers took time to visit the lunch room. Not wanting to depart without a souvenir of the station they proceeded to make things rough, and broke one of the show-cases, disappearing, it is alleged, with a quantity of cigars and cigarettes. The train pulled out and the men caught it, but word was telephoned from here to Toronto, and this morning when the men stepped off the train Thomas Bowen was arrested on the charge of burglary. P. C. Mullinger left at noon for Toronto, and will bring the prisoner back to Kingston to face the charge.
H. A. Harrington, Fuel Controller for Ontario, in a statement issued says:

"The fuel situation in the United States is at a critical stage with little relief in sight. The congestion of freight cars has been relieved to a considerable extent but with no effect on the supply of coal for Ontario.
"Prices are soaring in anthracite and bituminous, the former quoted as high as $11.00 gross ton at the mines, and the latter as high as $8.00 per ton, and not much available at these figures.
"The lake demands from Lake Erie ports have been relieved by the diversion of Illinois coal to Lake Superior ports, but even with this relief it will be impossible to ship full requirements.
"The shortage of anthracite and bituminous coal in Ontario is steadily increasing, and if our industries hope to continue in full operation, resort must be had to steam sizes of anthracite which are available."

That the wonderful mineral deposits of Renfrew county are becoming more widely known is being evidenced daily. Last week a party of New York mineralogists arrived at Calabogie after having spent some time in the bush, and although reticent to give their opinions of what they had seen, they were undoubtedly pleased with their investigations. Evidently American capital is interested and rumor suggests great smelters and the appurtenances of iron mines. With our wonderful electric power all this is possible, and indications certainly point to greater resources.
Major G. W. Hall, William-st. N. Lindsay, was agreeably surprised recently when he received two valuable decorations from King George V. in recognition for valuable services at the front in the war.

The decorations are in the form of two oak sprays (in brooch style) and are presented for having been mentioned in despatches while attached with the Imperial Royal Engineers. It is a new decoration, created by the King since the cessation of hostilities, as previously there was no form of decorations for soldiers mentioned in despatches. The decorations are of bronze and needless to say are highly valued by Major Hall, who was mentioned three times in despatches. It is understood that there are only two such decorations so far allotted to soldiers in this country.

Mr. R. N. Bird, of Oak Hills, conducted the services on the Ivanhoe circuit on Sunday.
Mrs. J. G. Wood and Mrs. Joseph Wood are in Peterborough attending the branch meeting of the Women's Missionary Society.
A number of our young people attended the celebration held in Madoc on June 3rd.
Mr. and Mrs. Richard Clement and family, of Salem, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. Clement on Sunday.
Mrs. John Downey, of Bethesda, visited her daughter, Mrs. S. Kilpatrick one day last week.
Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Shaw and Master Milton spent Sunday with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hollinger, of Moira.
Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Mils and family visited Mr. and Mrs. B. Ketcheson of Moira last Thursday evening.
Mrs. Joseph Rollins spent Sunday the guest of Mrs. Frederick.

Mr. S. G. Way spent a few days in Peterboro this week.
Mr. Chas. Porritt spent last week in Montreal.
Norman Hinds and Miss Louisa of Belleville, spent Sunday in town.
Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Marris and Miss K. Quinn, of Marmora, motored to Tweed on Sunday.
Miss Priscilla Doran, of Belleville, spent a couple of days last week visiting Mrs. M. McAvoy.
Mr. Lynch and family and Miss Ryan, of Marmora, motored to Tweed on Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Ryan.
Mr. and Mrs. James Feeney were called to Madoc on Monday by the sudden death of his aunt, Mrs. Thos. Waters. The funeral was held on Wednesday.—Tweed Advocates.

Where Ignorance is Not Bliss

What Lovers Should Know Before Marriage.

London, Eng., June 12.—The Rev. Hugh L. Marsh, vicar of Mansfield, is very keen on his proposal that classes of instruction for lovers should be established.
"If parents neglect their duties towards their daughters of marriageable age and leave them in a state of ignorance," he says, "then the clergy should step in and conduct such classes as I have suggested.
"In certain districts where there is a very low code of morality, it would be necessary to impress upon young lovers the need for purity and the necessity for sanctity in marriage.

A Little Boy Had Close Call

A little boy was nearly run over yesterday afternoon on Pinnacle St., back of Graham's cold storage, when a large motor truck owned by S. Domenico and driven by L. Domenico was running slowly in Graham's siding, a little five-year-old boy ran in front of the truck and was knocked down, the front wheels just catching the youngster's clothing. The truck was immediately stopped and Dr. Boyce called for, but it was found that he was not hurt whatever. But for another few inches, another serious accident would have happened.

Married Happiness

"I am sure that such instruction would do away with the cause of a great deal of real misery," he adds.
"One wants young people to get married and to enjoy life, but at the same time I darest say there are many occasions when it would be better if there were far fewer marriages."
Asked whether he thought the teachers should make it part of their duty to advise young lovers as to the suitability of their intended unions, the vicar laughed heartily.
"Oh, dear no!" he said, "I wouldn't interfere. It would almost amount to coming between a man and his wife, and you know what happens in such cases!"

Duty of Parents

The proposal of Mr. Marsh has excited a good deal of interest among social workers, who while approving find the practical application of the suggestion a stumbling-block to its introduction.
"I cannot think the clergy or school-teachers should act, directly or indirectly, as matchmakers," said Bishop Weldon, Dean of Durham. "They are not only concerned with love affairs, but the ignorance in which young men and girls have been allowed to group up upon moral issues has been a serious blot on society."
"When I was a schoolmaster I used to hold that every tutor should instruct his boys upon the danger of moral temptations and the right way of meeting them.
"Similarly, I think every youth and maiden before going out into life should know what moral laws are, and how they can be kept, and what is the penalty of breaking them.
"That instruction could best be given, not by clergy, or school teachers, but by parents. If parents are unwilling, as often they are, or unable to give in, then the clergy can step in to show them their duty and if need be, in some sense to discharge it for them."

Marriage Held Too Cheaply

"Instruction, wisely given, would be a very good thing," said the Rev. Dr. Morrison, of Marylebone. "It is an excellent idea which has been ventilated, but the practical application of it is much more difficult than it looks. It seems to me that it would be difficult to carry out on any big scale."
"It is undoubtedly of the greatest importance that our young people should address themselves seriously to the problems and duties which may be before them," remarked the Rev. F. L. Wiseman.
"Influence can be exercised through the imagination. Nothing makes a greater impression on young people than the story they read; and a modern novel, instead of depicting a low married life, can be made to convey lofty impressions.
"I am of the opinion that marriage is being held a great deal too cheaply; and one would hope that the tremendous number of divorce cases is only one of the after-effects of the war rather than an indication of change in the sentiments of the people."

One of the commonest complaints of infants is worms, and the most effective application for them is Mother Graves' Worms Exterminator.

One of the commonest complaints of infants is worms, and the most effective application for them is Mother Graves' Worms Exterminator.

Talk of the Town and of the Country

The annual Warden's Excursion on Wednesday and Thursday of this week was exceptionally well patronized by residents of Trenton section.

The Bay of Quinte Conference of Methodist churches has made White by its permanent meeting place, owing to the difficulty in securing accommodation in the average town for the large number of delegates who annually attend.

Whether or not the Oshawa Board of Trade should be re-organized and broadened into the newer spirit of a chamber of commerce was discussed Wednesday night at a meeting called by the executive to hear a representative of the Canadian City Bureau Ltd.

The suggestion is made that a wheel tax should be placed on all classes of motors, trucks and vehicles and the money so received by the municipality devoted to the up-keep of the roads.

American literary circles have been stirred by the appearance of a prodigy who threatens the rule of even the much-discussed Daisy Ashford. She is Hilda Conkling, 9 years old.

The child, according to one of her verses, the child, according to many well known writers, is a rare genius. Her work had been much discussed by readers of poetry magazines, when it first appeared; but it was not until a few weeks ago, when a New York publishing house issued a collection of Hilda's poems in book form under the title "Poems by a Little Girl," that general recognition came.

A Passion play takes place yearly in the Raton and Sandia mountains of northern New Mexico. A group of people living in this district have for centuries each Lenten season gone through a series of self-inflicted tortures, enduring their agonies in the belief that these barbaric rites will absolve them from past and future sins.

These people are known as Los Hermanos Penitentes, or the Penitent Brotherhood. The Penitentes are of Mexican origin, with a marked strain of Indian blood. They are educated at Montreal, and in English, and only a few are able to read Spanish, and only a few are able to read English.

Montreal Methodist Conference received word from Ottawa that held at Kempsville Ont., went on record in favor of providing divorce courts instead of the present method of adjudicating applications by the Senate. They said the gaining of divorce must not be a matter of money, but should be allowed on the sole ground of marital infidelity.

Dr. Philip, of Ottawa, thought there were other legitimate grounds for divorce than marital infidelity while in the United States he had become convinced that divorce on such grounds as cruelty, insanity and incurable impotence had very happy results.

The Oshawa Central baseball team goes to Peterboro Saturday afternoon and it is a terror what is going to happen to Hap Harrison and his team mates. Peterboro is feeling quite cocky after their win last Saturday over Port Hope, but after the Oshawa boys set through with that bunch of ball tossers they will feel as they did after Belleville got through with them on the 24th.

A swan only sings before it dies, so be sure and listen for Catcher Swanson's swan song Saturday. As for Peterboro's crack short stop, Roy Chertitt, Pat promises to stop his batting average up short with a crack. The Oshawa boys are going to the northern city with the idea of giving the Electric City a shock through the score that will be run up.

Rev. D. McGillivray, Gandier, D. D. son of Rev. J. Gandier of Newburgh, and brother of Principal Alfred Gandier of Knox College, Toronto, died in Los Angeles, California, on June 4th, after an illness of six months. Principal Gandier is now on the ocean on his way to the Old Country, but visited his brother before he left.

Dr. Gandier was born in Kingston, fifty-two years ago, and was a distinguished scholar at Queen's University. He took his theological course at Queen's and then went to Rossland, B.C. About twenty years ago, because of the ill-health of his wife, he went to Los Angeles.

He was an influential man in California, and was greatly interested in the Anti-saloon League there. His wife, formerly Miss Burdette of Newburgh, and daughter, survive him. Lady Falconer of Toronto, is a sister.

Always to the fore with every progressive movement, Brighton now can boast of several citizens who have enjoyed a ride in an aeroplane. On Wednesday of last week a flying machine was noticed paying considerable attention to Brighton, and in turn attracted much attention here, especially when he alighted at the Fair Grounds and announced that he had come to stay for a while.

The old saying "Oh! what's in a name?" may be more respectfully treated after this, for on that day it was proven that a name made quite a difference. The aviator's name proved to be Garrett and when he learned that he had a young lady by that name on the High School staff, he very gallantly invited her to come take a trip in his air-ship.

After taking Miss Garrett up for a ride, he carried several passengers for short trips, at the modest sum of ten dollars. Among those who went flying were Miss Marjorie Wright, Dr. McKee, Earle Sanford and Royal Quick, and they all agree that they liked it so well they didn't like coming down.

On Saturday the death occurred at Montreal of Rev. Father J. J. Kavanagh, S. J., one of the most noted educators in Canada. He had been in ill-health for some years. He was of Mexican origin, with a marked strain of Indian blood. They are educated at Montreal, and in English, and only a few are able to read Spanish, and only a few are able to read English.

Mayor A. McIntyre, of Peterboro, received word from Ottawa that Judge McGillivray, of Whitby, has been appointed to represent the Canadian General Electric of Peterboro, on the conciliation board. Fred Bancroft, of Toronto, will represent the men, and a third member remains to be appointed. They will deal with the dispute between the striking machinists, numbering about 400, and the company. The men have been out nearly four weeks.

Thornin, of the Brockville, Fruit Market, has received from his son, Anthony, who is attending the Carnegie Technical Institute at Pittsburg, Pa., a telegram announcing his success in the examinations being held there. He received first mention on Beaux Arts problems and is now half through his sophomore work. The young man is a graduate of Brockville Collegiate and a pupil of the technical classes. He left here in September last on a first year.

Oshawa's building permits for the month of May total 48, with an aggregate value of $138,560 which is a decrease of almost $25,000 from those issued in April. The largest permit issued was to the Oriental Textiles for $50,000, for an addition to their present plant as large as the present structure itself. Of the 48 permits issued, 37 are for residences of various kinds.

There is a permit for the Bekerite Co. for $5,000, for alterations to old Customs warehouse on King St. west. Four permits were issued to M. W. D. Burden for four frame and rough cast houses on Agnes St. There are also permits for various stores.

Aemilius Jarvis, the well-known Canadian yachtsman, who is to assist in sailing the twenty-three-metre Shamrock III, in the trial races with the challenger, arrived at City Island, Wednesday. Mr. Jarvis has ordered to be sent to New York a timber of rock elm from the Blue Hills of Ontario, which is to be used in the new spreaders for the challenger. It is eighteen feet long and four by ten inches. The substitute spreaders of Douglas fir are to be used until the timber arrives and is made into the new spreaders.

Sir Thomas Lipton is expected to arrive here from England on Thursday or Friday, when the steam yacht Victoria, on which he and his guests will witness the cup races, will be turned over to him. The Victoria was formerly named Dolara and was built in Scotland for the late Hon. James Dunsuir, of Victoria, B. C.

Fire destroyed about ten rods of stump fence along the road on the east side of Mr. Jacob Jackson's farm near Corborne and only for the prompt arrival and help of neighbors would more serious loss might have occurred, as there was a lively wind at the time. It is thought the fire came from a cigarette which someone carelessly throwing down a lighted match, or a cigar or cigarette stub. The fire was first noticed by Mr. H. along, so that in a short time there was quite a little crowd of people on hand. The fire happened about ten o'clock at night, and made quite an illumination.

Kingston citizens are calling and writing to the customs office for information about the excise tax. In some cases it is alleged that they are not taxable, through misunderstanding of the law. One woman stated that she was charged five cents on a purchase of cooked ham, which is not a taxable article.

For the information of the public the customs officials point out that the following articles are exempt from taxation and are expressly mentioned in the bill: "Meats, fresh, salted or pickled; butter, cheese, oleomargarine, margarine, buterine or any other substitutes for butter, lard, eggs, vegetables, fruits, grains or seeds in their natural state, buckwheat meal or flour, pot, pearl, rolled, roasted or ground barley, corn meal, oatmeal or rolled oats, rye flour, wheat flour, coffee, green, roasted or ground; tea, salt, cattle foods, hay and straw, nursery stock, fresh, pickled, salted, smoked, dried or boneless fish; sugar, syrups, molasses, antracite or bituminous coal and artificial limbs and parts thereof."

Mayor Riggs received today a communication from Ottawa, from Lt. Col. A. G. Doughty, Director of War Trophies, stating that the city of Belleville had been allotted the following war trophies:— One 150 m. Field Gun and one 105 m. Field Gun, captured by the Second Battalion, C. E. F.

Miss Irene Grant, of Toronto, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. Walter Brown, 74 Gordon Street.

Belleville Boy in Australia

Mr. W. A. Lingham Making Fine Success in Antipodes Trade.

The Briabans (Australia) "Store-keeper" in a late issue contains an interesting article in reference to an old Belleville boy, Mr. W. A. Lingham, who by his enterprise has built up a most profitable trade in the antipodes as a manufacturer's agent. Mr. Lingham is a son of Mrs. Esther Lingham and the late Job Lingham and a brother of Mrs. Ada Wagner of this city. The Store-keeper says:—

Mr. W. A. Lingham, of Sydney, is now in Brisbane, on his tenth trip to Australia from Canada and America. He is a great traveller, and is one of the first in the field when a proposition happens along that offers scope for the brains and energy of a salesman and possesses the necessary qualities to secure the confidence of the public and a repetition of orders. Mr. Lingham sold the first Cash Register in Australia, and was general manager of the National Cash Register Co. for ten years. He also sold one of the first typewriters introduced to Australia, and the first computing scales. Having a few moments of spare time on his hand many years ago, Mr. Lingham imported for his own use one of the first automobiles which came to Australia. He now represents 20 firms—10 American and 10 Canadian. His leading line house is the National Lead Co. of California—a company which controls most of the factories in America. This company has a tremendous output of white lead, red lead, and all lead products. In displaying his samples to the editor of the "Store-keeper," Mr. Lingham put his fingers in his waistcoat pocket and produced three little lead discs. "There, sir," said he, "are my samples of a line of goods of which I sell many thousands pounds worth per annum. I wish I could carry all my samples in my waistcoat pocket like these." The little discs are for screwing on to galvanized iron, but to a newspaper man they might have represented a patent vest button. A very important line carried by Mr. Lingham is wallpapers, by Stauntons, Ltd., one of the largest wallpaper manufacturers in Canada. Mr. Lingham has over 3000 samples of these papers and friezes, suitable for every class of buildings, from the cottage to the palatial mansion and public buildings, and they have a range which must suit every taste. Half an hour spent in examining the different varieties of colour and pattern is quite an education in itself.

A line which appealed to our representative was dehydrated vegetables. The system of which these vegetables are prepared for the market is a new one, but it has stood the most exhaustive trying-out tests, including severe trials by the American, French and Italian Governments. The principle is simply that of extracting the water from vegetables and leaving all the rest of their qualities. The consumer opens the carton and replaces the water, which has been extracted. The vegetable is then equal to the article fresh from the garden. The firm handling this line has 29 factories from Vancouver, British Columbia, to Halifax, Nova Scotia. They have their own farms in the neighborhood of each factory, and raise their own vegetables. The company is now considering a proposition to establish a factory in Victoria, this State being considered to offer the greatest inducement for the enterprise. Mr. Lingham laughingly remarked, "They call Victoria 'The Cabbage Garden.' Well, sir, it is quite probable that my firm's action will justify the use of that expression." Our representative here handed to Mr. Lingham an extract from the "Scientific American" which reads as follows:—

The Dehydration Process of Preserving Vegetables. "Mr. E. Clemens Horst, in the 'Scientific American,' gives some interesting information on this profitable infant industry in U.S.A. He states:— 'Fostered by large Government contracts, there is developing in this country that which will be of material benefit to our economic life. This industry is dehydration, or drying of vegetables. By subjecting fresh vegetables to the action of circulating currents of warm, dry air, the moisture content is exhausted, with the consequence that the weight and bulk is greatly reduced, and the vegetable is made non-perishable, and can be kept indefinitely. The cell structure and the flavor is not injured by the drying process; soaked in water for a few hours, the dehydrated product is restored to its original color, bulk and food qualities, and when cooked it has the flavor and appearance of the fresh article.'"

"When it is considered that from 65 to 85 per cent of the entire bulk and weight of fresh vegetables is water, and that it is the moisture that causes decay and deterioration, it is apparent that when the drying product is used, a wonderful saving can be effected in transportation, storage and handling. One pound of dried tomatoes or cabbage is equal to 20 pounds of the fresh or canned; 1 pound of spinach when dried is the equivalent of 18 pounds of the fresh, and so on down to potatoes, which have a ratio of 1 to 6. One carton of dehydrated tomatoes, weighing 2 1/2 pounds, is equivalent to a case of the canned containing two dozen quart cans, the whole weighing 80 pounds. Therefore, in shipping dried vegetables to our soldiers in France, the Government is able to furnish in one shipload as much actual food as could be furnished in from 15 to 20 shiploads of canned goods. If we went a bit further, and included the weight of the tin and the wooden containers needed for the canned product, we should find a still greater saving, for in every can of canned vegetables the containers alone weigh 24,000 pounds. While the dried vegetables furnished to the Government are put in tin, large enough to hold 20 pounds each, and two tins make up a crate light enough for one man to handle. The lightness of the dried product also permits a vessel to be loaded to full cargo capacity, whereas in the case of heavy canned goods it is often true that the weight capacity of a boat is fully utilized without taking up all the bulk." Mr. Lingham allowed that the article was a correct statement, but he said personally that he only guarantees that one pound of the dehydrated vegetable is as good as ten pounds of ordinary fresh vegetables. We have had samples of the dehydrated soups and vegetables prepared, and our experience is that they are excellent. They will keep for all time. One may use the whole or a portion of a carton, and the result is always perfect. Just before we went to press we learned that Messrs. E. Rich and Co., Brisbane, have these goods in stock and are in a position to execute orders at once. In the dry West where vegetables are very scarce, this should be an excellent line for storekeepers to handle.

In the Southern States Mr. Lingham is often referred to as "The Father of Typewriters" for the simple reason that he brought out some of the first typewriters which came to Australia. He brought to Queensland the first typewriter ever made use of. He also brought the first Underwood to Australia, and appointed agents and opened business in many important centres, and has the control of the Oliver typewriter for the whole of Australia, and his representative is Mr. Colin V. Munro, A.M.P. Buildings. These machines are strong, well-made, beautifully enamelled, will do all the work of machines costing $34 and are sold at $24 each. Mr. Lingham informs us that fifteen Oliver machines have been in use in the Education Department for ten years without requiring any repairs.

Another line handled by this gentleman is the brushware by Meakin and Sons, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, the largest manufacturers of brushware in the Dominion. Mr. Lingham also handles the product of the Clippert Bell Lacing Co., Grand Rapids, Michigan, and controls all the output for Australia. This firm produces a machine for lacing belts. Its use and economical attraction may be gauged when we consider the fact that the machine will do in three minutes what would otherwise take an hour to accomplish. Over one hundred of these machines are in use in Queensland now, and he is appointing agents to control the sale of the machines in this State.

Mr. Lingham is a typical Canadian or American. He wastes no time—neither his own nor his customers'. He is well known in business circles in every State in the Commonwealth, and has been so known for over 25 years. After half an hour's inspection of his samples our representative has no hesitation in assuring storekeepers that ten minutes spent with him would mean good business to both parties. Mr. Lingham will be here for the next ten days to a fortnight, and residing at the Queensland Commercial Travellers' Association Club, and has sample rooms in the Association's buildings. In Sydney his address is Challis House.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Bly of Toronto are in the city attending the funeral of the late Mr. Hubbard.

Mr. C. R. Cole has returned from St. John, New Brunswick, where he attended the Prentice Boys Grand Lodge.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Bly of Toronto are in the city attending the funeral of the late Mr. Hubbard.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Bly of Toronto are in the city attending the funeral of the late Mr. Hubbard.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Bly of Toronto are in the city attending the funeral of the late Mr. Hubbard.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Bly of Toronto are in the city attending the funeral of the late Mr. Hubbard.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Bly of Toronto are in the city attending the funeral of the late Mr. Hubbard.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Bly of Toronto are in the city attending the funeral of the late Mr. Hubbard.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Bly of Toronto are in the city attending the funeral of the late Mr. Hubbard.

MOTH PROOF BAGS Now is The Time to Store Away Your Furs Moth Proof and Dust Proof Bags—size 26 1-2 x 44—26 1-2 x 55 Special Price 59c Each THE BEEHIVE Chas. N. Sulman

Fur Storage Our system of storage gives every protection to your furs. Upon receiving them, we give every article a thorough cleaning before hanging them away on individual hangers in our specially prepared storage vaults. This treatment of furs assures their long life. In one month moths will eat half their value away so why take the risk when for a small fee we will give them the proper attention and will insure them against moths, fire and burglary. DELANEY "The Furrier" Phone 797 17 Campbell St. Opp. Y. M. C. A.

Feed! Feed! We carry a full stock of all the best brands of Feed at all times. Gives you a call when you're passing. Examine these feeds and get our prices. Findlay & Philbin SUCCESSORS TO THE W. D. HANLEY CO. PHONE 812 329 FRONT ST.

FOR SALE Houses and Building Lots Best Locations in all Parts of the City Satisfactory Terms Arranged Whelan and Yeomans REAL ESTATE & INSURANCE GET UNDER YOUR OWN ROOF BELLEVILLE, ONT.

"Foundation" for Industrial Research The Ontario of the 5th inst. containing letter, to hand. I thank you for giving it such a splendid "set up." The booklet issued by the City Council and Chamber of Commerce would have aided much in its preparation, that I obtained too late. However, that booklet is well done and should be kept considerably in bringing Belleville before the citizens of this province and our Dominion. Now will you permit me to seriously direct your attention to that part of my communication which treats you—'Ontario Foundation for Industrial Research'—such is most important. The Americans are doing much in various branches of Industrial Research. In Industrial life, Electrical and Steel plants, Dye works, Fabrics, etc., besides the great foundation like The Rockefeller Institute—endowed with $20,000,000, New York. "The Carnegie Foundation" at Washington, with $22,000,000, see manual of Public Benefactions by Andrew Carnegie, and this is not all, for Mr. Carnegie gave "The Pittsburgh Carnegie Institute of Technology" for all purposes, located in Pittsburgh, amounting to $28,000,000. There again there is the Mellon Institute in connection with the University of Pittsburgh which spends annually quickly $150,000 on Industrial Research Problems and is doing genuine work. How are Canadians going to measure up with such research work if they do not have some foundations for Industrial Research worth while? Is it not time we had an Ontario Foundation contributed by the rich citizens of this province? Assuredly it is. Where will our manufacturers be in the market of the world—they will simply not be in it. Away with protection that aids our manufacturers to grow rich on home markets; let protection be on the basis of meeting all comers in the markets of the world, with Canadian manufactured goods. We want the products of the farms (Cheese and butter factories) the woolen factories and the metal industries, etc., etc. to command prominence in the world markets. This is the only way in which Canada can hope to keep in the march with foremost nations in the markets of commerce. By all means let us do first things first—Ontario needs a Foundation of at least $5,000,000 for Industrial Research—to insure her products first place in the markets of the world. THOS. WICKETT, Hamilton, Ont. Mrs. H. F. Mitchell left this morning for Kingston where her husband has undergone a serious operation. Mr. Mitchell is not improving very quickly.

ESTABLISHED DEFER COLE Lowest Tent Arouses Straight Contract Coleman Ward, be built for the Board of Education evening. The tend of the building the lowest being $ furnishings and eq were three bulk to commission basis on part of the work Mr. F. S. Deacon, Sites, Building an mittes, presented a that the City Cou to make a grant of tion to the $100,00 for the school. Mr. O'Flynn said enormous. "It seem to defer building fo cannot be worse nec strengthen our hand ic. This would n school being built, are a little crowd afford to be." The look at this very ca Time For Halt Fin Col. Ponton said called a halt in Be doubtful if the City grant the $60,000 vi ing the public. Pub set itself against the program of the City. Ponton believed the in the building trad tenders were local. C ored Mr. O'Flynn's st the committee be not acc Mr. Ackerman see tion saying if the not keep close to the work ought to be de Mr. Elliott favored year. The bond m good today. Mr. McGee thou should be deferred, sarily for a year. So ley. Mr. W. R. McCrea favor of going on w with the great increa of building. He wa the size of the tend that the matter be r Sites Committee for eration. Dr. O. A. Marshall eers and contractors building would be m next year, owing to the deferred this year. Mr. Deacon said th be proceeded with by unit. He did not thi go down. The amendment lost. tion of Col. Ponton date was set for the Diocesan at High Sch A tornado of letters ers of the High and teachers swept up to Education. All call increases and expre tion with the action Management Committee to appointments and es The High School tea satisfied with the ac School Management Co contracts relating to the tie. The Board decli no change. The School Manage tee reported a decisio following changes in School salaries: A. $1,800 instead of $1,700. $1,800 instead of $1,700. $1,900 instead of $1,800. $1,900. But this was ed satisfactory. Mr. F. E. O'Flynn's commendation of the teachers, re salaries with last year's salaries aries offered this year What Teachers Want P. C. McLaurin $3000 W. W. Knight . 2500 G. A. Bunton . 2400