THE RIGHT POLICY.

President Roosevelt has requested all the members of the martyred Mc-Kinley's cabinet to retain their respective portfolios for the remainder of his term. In taking this action the new executive has undoubtedly followed the wishes and hopes of ninetenths of the people of the United States.

Roosevelt has purhed a natural policy. He has anas nearly as possible after the lines laid down by President Mckinley.

The Klondike Nugget and his determination to retain the cabinet in its entirety is proof positive that his intentions are exactly what he has declared them to be.

McKinley's policy had the approval not only of his political supporters $40.00 but also of the great majority of his countrymen irrespective of political affiliations.
