Baptist Convention.

The Baptists of the Maritime Provinces have had their annual Convention, and by all who were present it is pronounced to have been everything that could be desired, in the temper and spirit of its discussions, and in the quick dispatch of business.

Everything in connection with the gathering was most favorable. The Fredericton church, upon which devolved the burden of entertaining the convention delegation, did its part nobly. The clerk of the weather seemed to have been given due notice, and every day was beautifully fine, tempered a trifle too highly with the Fredericton warmth some thought, but the evenings were always comfortable, with an occasional shower of rain to lay the dust.

To the delegates and other visitors who had not the larger responsibility of the Convention business on their hands, the occasion must have been one of refreshment and delight. Fredericton itself is a city of beauty and interest. The streets so regularly laid off and lined on both sides with beautiful shade and ornamental trees, make the stranger feel at once comfortable in mind in that he has no fear of losing his bearings, and in body in that there is shade on every hand.

The public buildings of the city were placed at the disposal of the visitors. At certain hours of the day the Departmental buildings and Provincial Normal school building were accessible to any who were interested to go through them.

And apart from the delights of the Celestial City, as Fredericton is called, the getting there and back is a source of the keenest pleasure. To delegates from this Province, travelling first by the D. A. Ry., and by that Prince of steamships crossing the Bay to St.
John, and from there taking the River route, such a trip as the Maritime Convention afforded is certainly dolightful. Journeying through the Cornwallis and Annapolis valleys at any season of the year is a pleasure, for the comfort and completeness of the D. A. Ry. train and boat appointments leave nothing to be desired; but at this season of the year when hill and valley, woodland and cultivated farms present to the eye a continual variation of shade and color, and the artistically built and well-kept farm houses with doors wide open for the afternoon coolness, seem to invite to a traveller that he feel like making to be let off at the next station that he may spend a few weeks amid such surroundings.

And who can expect in words all the beauties of the St. John river, and the interesting incidents that come to notice as he journeys up or down on a river steamer: the children standing here and there upon the shores, waving their little hands to the travellers; the elder people gathered on the wharves as the steamer passes, either saying good-bye to some departing guest or expectantly looking for friends from the boat; the novel fashions in which passengers are taken on or put off without the steamer coming to a standstill.

All these things have a peculiar interest to the person who travels for the first time upon this beautiful river, and they never lose their interest how ever often the trip is taken. Then the scenery! Pen of mine cannot describe it. Looking ahead one view is obtained which charms you, then turn and look behind and the charm is heightened; and so from St. John to Fredericton one has an ever increasing sensation of delight.

But attendance upon Conventions has a prosaic side as well, and for the faithful delegate there is work to be done, reports to be listened to, judgments to be given, else our churches receive no benefit of their representatives.

The young people had their innings first. The 8th Annual Convention of the B. Y. P. U. opened Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock, by devotional service of half an hour, led by Rev. J.
B. Morgan. Dr. F. W. Barbour delivered the address of welcome which was responded to by Rev. G. A. Lawson, of Isaacs Harbor, N. S. A message of greeting was read by Mr. Lawson from Dr. E. E. Chivers, Gen'l Sec'y of the B. Y. P. U. of America.

Rev. J. B. Morgan gave an account of the B. Y. P. U. Conventions in Richmond, Va. Rev. Ira Smith, of Leinster St. church, St. John, delivered an address on "God's demands upon young workers."

Thursday's exercises began by a quiet hour of prayer from 6 to 7 A. M., conducted by Rev. E. Quick, of Yarmouth. At 9:30 President F. W.
Emmerson took the chair and opened the first business session. Minutes were read by the secretary, Rev. G. A.
Lawson. Then followed the president's and secretary's reports. The matter of a separate B. Y. P. U. convention, meeting altogether independent of the church convention, came up for discussion, but motion carried uniformly to continue as at present.

In the afternoon session the reports of the associational secretaries were received.

Officers elected for the ensuing year are: President—Rev. G. A. Lawson, Isaacs Harbor, N. S. 1st Vice President—Rev. W. Camp, Sussex, N. E.
2nd Vice President—John Gordon, Charlottetown, P. E. I. Sec. Treas.— W. C. Cross, St. John, N. B. Assi-Sec'y—A. H. Chipman, St. John, N. B.
Auditor—Rev. A. A. Shaw, Windsor, N. S. Transportation Leaders—Rev. J. B. Morgan, Aylesford, N. S.; G. Fred McNally, Fredericton, N. S.; B. S. J. Yee, Charlottetown, P. E. I.
Junior Sect.—Rev. W. F. Parker, Yarmouth, N. S.

The closing session was held Friday morning. The treasurer's report showed a deficit of $4.62.

The president, Rev. G. A. Lawson, Isaacs Harbor; E. C. Henderson, Fredericton; Rev. J. B. Morgan, Aylesford, and Rev. C. W. Carey, Middleton, were appointed delegates to the convention to be held in Winnipeg in July, 1900.

Among resolutions passed was one deploring the violation of Sabbath laws, and protesting against the running of Sunday excursions, whether under guise of religion or otherwise.

About sixty delegates from the Young People's Unions were in attendance.

The Baptist institute occupied the time on Friday from 10 o'clock A. M.

In the morning a sermon was preached by Rev. H. F. Adams, from Jno. xvii, 22-23.

In the afternoon papers were read by Rev. Dr. S. B. Kempton and Rev.
Dr. Trotter, reviewing Dr. Clarke's "Outlines of Theology."

Rev. Dr. Gates, of St. John, preached in the evening.

A report was made at the Institute suggesting the establishment of a summer school of Theology to be both educational and evangelistic in its nature. A committee was appointed to make arrangements for the first meeting early in August of next year.

Saturday morning at 10 o'clock the regular work of the Maritime Convention was taken up. The number of delegates in attendance was not especially large. The election of officers resulted as follows:

President—Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Premier of New Brunswick. Vice President for N. S.—Rev. H. F. Adams, Truro, N. S. Vice President for P. E. I.—Rev. E. J. Grant, Summerside, P. E. I. Secretary—H. C.
Creed, Fredericton, N. B. Assistant Secretaries—H. G. Colpitts, New Minas, N. S. and R. H. Phillips, Fredericton, N. B. Treasurer—J. W.
Spurden, Fredericton, N. B.

A letter of fraternal greeting was read by the Secretary from the Free Baptist Conference, and Rev. Dr.
McLeod, representing that body, was invited to a seat in the Convention.

In behalf of the pastors of other city churches, as well as for his own denomination, Dr. McLeod extended to the Convention a hearty welcome to the city. In behalf of the Free Baptist Conference he requested that a committee be sent from this Convention to meet with the Free Baptist Conference at Fredericton, N. B., in October, and expressed the personal pleasure and satisfaction he should experience if some understanding might be arrived at whereby the two bodies might become one organization.

The afternoon session was given almost wholly to the discussion of the Foreign mission report.

Among other things the report spoke of the number of missionaries home on furlough, and of Rev. Mr. Archibald's health being such that he too must give up the work in India and seek a more bracing climate. A number of missionaries at home are ready to return, but the report showed that because of lack of funds the Board was set in a position to send them back.

Miss Helen Blackadar, too, a new recruit, has been waiting for a year, hoping to be sent to India this fall. In the evening missionary addresses were given by Rev. C. W. Townsend, Rev.
J. W. Manning, Miss De Prazer, of India, and Miss Blackadar, and a strong appeal that the people come to the rescue of the Board to enable it to send the waiting missionaries.

As a result of the appeal amounts aggregating $1500 were pledged at the close of the addresses. Following this a communication was read from J.
W. Bais, Esq., of Wolfville, stating that he had deposited to the credit of the F. M. Board a sum of $3000, and a like sum for Home Missions.

A resolution was passed committing the Maritime Baptists to the work of raising $50,000 for F. M. work as a centenary fund; to be raised within the next two years, over and above the current contributions.

On Sunday at 11 A. M. Rev. W. M.
Richardson, of Antigonish, N. S., delivered the Convention sermon from Heb. 3:1. "Jesus Christ our High Priest."

Sunday school exercises were held in the auditorium of the church at 2:30 P. M., and an address on the lesson was given by W. C. Cross, of St. John.

At 3:30 Rev. J. A. Gordon, Rev.
Selden Wise, of Newwich, Conn., and Rev. Ira Smith, of St. John, delivered addresses in the interest of the North West mission work.

In the evening Rev. Ira Smith preached an evangelistic sermon from 1 Tim. i:15.

Monday was a day of business.
The report on obituary mentioned six ministers of the gospel and two deacons who had died during the year. Prayer was offered for the bereaved ones by Rev. G. W. Springer.

A resolution of sympathy with Rev.
Isa Wallace in his severe illness was voted to be forwarded him by the Secretary of the Convention.

The report on Temperance, presented by Rev. H. F. Adams, provoked a somewhat heated discussion, and was referred back to an enlarged committee.
A majority report of this committee was afterwards adopted without discussion.

The evening session was devoted to educational addresses. The speakers were Horace L. Britain, M. A., Principal-elect of Horton Collegiate Academy; Rev. J. H. McDonald, Principal-elect of Acadia Seminary; President Trotter, and Miss De Prazer, of India.

Tuesday finished up the business of the Convention. The Committee on Estimates places the amount to be raised for denominational objects during ensuing year at $21,600, distributed as follows: Nova Scotia, $15,000; New Brunswick, $5,600; P. E. Island, $1,000.

The report on N. B. Home missionary work showed an encouraging condition of things. Twelve mission fields had been aided to the amount of something over $500, with a cash balance in treasury of $489.70.

A resolution was adopted looking toward the appointment of a H. M.
Board for New Brunswick, under the direction of the N. B. associations.
It is hoped that will close the division that has existed for several years in the H. M. work of N. B.

A resolution in regard to reducing membership of Convention was moved by Rev. D. H. Simpson, and after a short discussion passed by the Convention.

Rev. Dr. Saunders in his report on Ministerial relief and Annuity fund, presented a scheme new given to ministerial education, be given to minister's annuity fund. An amount that three-fifths of these amounts be thus disposed, was carried.

Tuesday evening was devoted to addresses. The speakers were Rev. Dr.
Keirstead, who spoke on "The growth of the denomination and how to secure it"; Rev. E. Bosworth, on the Grande Ligue Mission work; Rev. C. B.
Whidden, of Galt, Ont., in behalf of the new Baptist College at Brandon, Man., and Rev. A. J. Vining, Supt. of North West missions.

Convention adjourned to meet in the North church, Halifax city, next August.

Some of the special features of the Convention were the quiet hour of prayer from 6 to 7 o'clock each morning, the open air meetings conducted by Rev. B. W. Ward, of Boston, at 6:30 in the evenings, and the addresses by Miss Eva De Prazer, who is a medical practitioner in the Victoria hospital in Calcutta. Miss De Prazer was converted under the preaching of our missionary Rev. R. Sanford about fifteen years ago. She is a thoroughly cultured young lady and speaks English perfectly.

The Master of the Mine.

BY ROBERT BUCHANAN.

JOHN RUDD, CARRIER,
ST. GURLOTT'S.

On coming up to the vehicle, my conductor paused and disposed of my trunk, then, turning to me with a "Come, young master, jump in," he gave me a lift which summarily placed me inside and on the top of my box; then, before I had time to recover myself, I felt that the wagon was jolting along.

What the day was like, and what sort of a prospect we were passing through, I had not the remotest idea; the tarpaulin and the enormous figure of the driver completely shutting me in from the world. I waited for a while, thinking, perhaps, my companion might turn communicative and make some suggestion as to my better disposal; but none came. He sat like a log, and beyond a few disjointed exclamations to the horse, uttered not a sound.

As he evidently had no intention whatever of taking the slightest further notice of me, I thought it best to approach him. I accordingly shouted "Hi!" several times and gave him a few vigorous pokes in the back; but neither of these attempts producing the slightest effect, I concluded he must be asleep. I accordingly swung off the van behind, and, running beside the horse, hulled him from the road.

This trick told better. Mr. Rudd, who seemed, indeed, to have become oblivious of the world, gradually turned his face towards me and gazed at me for a time with a vacant stare.
Then he pulled up the horse with a jerk.

"The Lord preserve us!" he said,
"what's the lad doin' thar?"

I explained that I had swung out of the wagon, because it was not pleasant inside, and added:

"Have you got room up there for two, Mr. Rudd?"

Instead of replying to my question, he gave a chuckle, and said:

"You're a smart 'un; Mr. Rudd, eh? Now, how did you come to know that that young man, eh?"

I explained that I had concluded from his appearance that he must be the master of the van, upon which "John Rudd" was painted; but he only chuckled again and piped:

"You're a little 'un to be such a scholar!"

As I saw he was about to become fossilized again, I hastened to repeat my former question. Mr. Rudd gazed abstractedly at the seat and then at me.

"Mayn't I come up?" I said, "it's so close inside the van, and I would rather ride beside you, Mr. Rudd."

Then, without giving him time for a refusal, I leapt up and nestled beside him.

Mr. Rudd made no protest—he simply said, "Move on, mate," and the mare moved on forthwith.

We had left Falmouth behind us, and were moving lumberously along the high road. Looking to the right and to the left I could see nothing but undulating sweeps of land, bleak and barren, with the stony highway stretching before us, and winding about, serpent-fashion, until it was lost to view. We were travelling westward, evidently, and, as far as prospect went, we might be going forward into the Desert. There was not a cart or horse or human being to be seen anywhere; and the only sound was the rattle of the wagon, as it passed along over the rough road.

It was past mid-day, and the sun was as hot as it had been any day that summer. As I felt it scorching my face and head, I looked at my companion, and marvelled again. His high water-coat was buttoned up to his chin, and his great round face was shaded by his broad felt hat. He was by no means a bad-looking man, and he was still young—only five-and-thirty, or thereabouts. His skin was tanned and weather-beaten, and his eyes were fixed upon the mare with his habitual dreamy stare.

Finding it was useless to expect him to talk, I sat for a time quietly by his side, watching, with some amount of interest, the rough and stony track we were following; then, when we had covered a mile or so, the mare went along at a walk, and I leapt lightly into the road and kept pace beside her.

My change of position once more aroused my companion from his trance; he turned his eyes slowly upon me, and said:

"I reckon you know a deal?"

I replied, modestly, that I knew a thing or two.

CONVENTION NEWS WERE

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., SEPT. 1, 1899.

Editorial Notes.

Considering the fact that the agricultural are easily the greatest industrial interests in the province, the farmer is certainly a much neglected individual.

It has been found necessary to have the mining interests of the province looked after by a special member of the Council, but agriculture, which is an industry in which a considerably larger proportion of the population is interested, is intrusted to a subordinate official of doubtful usefulness.

One respect in which the farmers are the losers from the present management of affairs suggests itself very forcibly at this season of the year. A few weeks ago the crop reports for the year were given out by the provincial secretary.

Mr. E. D. King, of Halifax, gave a practical exhibition of Normal work in Bible study, and presented three certificates of merit for work done by teachers in the Canning Methodist S. S. Normal Class.

Most interesting was Miss Dickie's address on the "Use of aids in Primary Work" and her admirable teaching of a class before the Convention.

The evening session in the Baptist Church was treated to a very earnest and helpful address from Rev. J. Hawley on "The Home and the Sabbath School."

Dr. Kelley, of Montreal, being called upon addressed the Convention in well chosen, instructive and inspiring words.

In a late issue of the Montreal Star Mr. J. F. Herbin's "Mastheads" receives an extended and on the whole very complimentary review.

"Our remarks on these blunders may seem ungracious, but they are offered merely because we believe that Mr. Herbin has in him the making of a 'vates acer,' if he will pay strict attention to the technicalities of art.

The Montreal Star says: The air is full of rumors about general elections. The truth probably is that the government itself does not know with certainty whether the present parliament will see another session or not.

Cold Storage.

The Hon. Minister for Agriculture writes me, that the cold storage in the Farness Co's boats will be continued during the present season and an inspector will be stationed in Halifax to see that the plant is operated, so that shippers will have no cause for complaint.

Sabbath-school Convention.

Showers of blessing in the morning and interest tingling torrents of rain in the evening fell on the delegates to the Kings County Sabbath-school Convention, held in this town on the 24th ult.

Full reports as to the work accomplished during the past year could not be given, owing to a change in the method of carrying on the county work which caused some misunderstanding.

The new county president, Mr. E. W. Sawyer, is a man of ability and spirit, and will do his best to extend and intensify an interest in the work.

A fine spirit characterized the addresses and discussions and the effect of the gathering will surely be good for the schools represented.

Our natural tendencies are of two kinds, good and evil. These, like the lines upon the palms of our hands, are born with us, and remain until existence is obliterated, the forerunners of every course and the authors of our fate.

In Les Miserables, Jean Valjean, after having lived a life hard and loveless for twenty-one years and then for nineteen years enduring all the horrors of the galley, was touched by the first act of kindness and love he had ever experienced.

There are more living men dead than there ought to be, and there are many dead men still living. There was one man who died nearly twenty years ago and who has never yet ceased to live, and never will. Christ had natural tendencies, the same as we have.

It is not given us to do what comes easiest in this life and the worst people can become the best, and by striving to become so they not only make beautiful lives for themselves but, whether they know it or not, they are helping other people all around them to be better, too.

The President, E. W. Sawyer, magnified the encouragements in S. S. work and did it well. A deeper interest, a saner method, an improvement in general in our S. S. work was not far to seek and when found should be noted for the encouragement of workers in Sabbath schools.

Patriotic Private Post Cards.

J. C. Wilson & Co., the extensive paper makers and wholesale stationers of Montreal and Quebec, send us advanced proofs of their two new patriotic private post cards, which they are about to issue.

"Grim warden of the everlasting crags To whose black avenue the eagle steers; and we doubt whether Archibald Lampman ever excelled the sonnet, entitled 'Haying,' which is very similar to the Ottawa poet's peculiar style."

"The Diver," at p. 24, is also a very fine sonnet, and the local colour of the scenery described is in every instance admirably preserved. As a proof of this we may refer to 'Partridge Island,' at p. 59."

The Montreal Star says: The air is full of rumors about general elections. The truth probably is that the government itself does not know with certainty whether the present parliament will see another session or not.

There are more living men dead than there ought to be, and there are many dead men still living. There was one man who died nearly twenty years ago and who has never yet ceased to live, and never will. Christ had natural tendencies, the same as we have.

It is not given us to do what comes easiest in this life and the worst people can become the best, and by striving to become so they not only make beautiful lives for themselves but, whether they know it or not, they are helping other people all around them to be better, too.

The President, E. W. Sawyer, magnified the encouragements in S. S. work and did it well. A deeper interest, a saner method, an improvement in general in our S. S. work was not far to seek and when found should be noted for the encouragement of workers in Sabbath schools.

Patriotic Private Post Cards.

J. C. Wilson & Co., the extensive paper makers and wholesale stationers of Montreal and Quebec, send us advanced proofs of their two new patriotic private post cards, which they are about to issue.

"Grim warden of the everlasting crags To whose black avenue the eagle steers; and we doubt whether Archibald Lampman ever excelled the sonnet, entitled 'Haying,' which is very similar to the Ottawa poet's peculiar style."

"The Diver," at p. 24, is also a very fine sonnet, and the local colour of the scenery described is in every instance admirably preserved. As a proof of this we may refer to 'Partridge Island,' at p. 59."

Cold Storage.

The Hon. Minister for Agriculture writes me, that the cold storage in the Farness Co's boats will be continued during the present season and an inspector will be stationed in Halifax to see that the plant is operated, so that shippers will have no cause for complaint.

Mary Currie—Algebra, 96. Alice Strong—Geometry, 85; Algebra, 83. Gertrude Hamilton—Geometry, 95; Algebra, 91. Edgar Archibald—Algebra, 92. Edmund Crawley—Algebra, 90.

The silver medal, presented by the principal, was won by Edna Sutherland. It may be seen in Mr Herbin's window.

A full list of the successful candidates with particulars, will appear in next issue of the ACADIAN. Look out for it.

Evangeline Beach Notes.

Owing to the heavy rains of Thursday, the 24th, the swimming races were postponed. However, the attendance was fairly good, picnic being present from Wolfville, New Minas and other places. On Monday the Episcopals of Hantsport held their annual picnic at the Beach.

On Wednesday there was a large picnic present from Lochbertville. Point Pleasant Cottage, which has been vacated by Prof. Sawyer, is now occupied by Mrs McVicar, of Wolfville.

Glee Cottage is now occupied by Miss Fred Forsyth and friends, of Greenwich. Weather permitting, the postponed swimming races and the last band concert of the season will be held on Friday, Sept. 8th. All should take advantage of this last opportunity of spending a delightful day at the Beach.

A Pleasant Day's Outing.

The writer had the pleasure of making one of a party of twelve who enjoyed a very pleasant drive and picnic on Friday last. The whole party occupied a comfortable four seated wagon drawn by three fine horses. The day opened unfavorably, but the afternoon was most delightful. The party comprised Mr and Mrs William Cox, Mr and Mrs Sherman Bulcher, of Upper Dike Village; Mr and Mrs Clarence Kinsman, of Sheffields Mills; Mr and Mrs Davidson, of Wolfville; Miss Hattie Moore and Miss Winnie Bulcher, of Kentville; Miss Minnie McKay, of Halifax; Miss Edith Hennigar, of Canning. The first place visited was the fine large barn under construction by the R. W. Kinsman Co., at Woodside. Mr Connors, the foreman, courteously placed the whole establishment at the disposal of the party. Tables were arranged and a most elaborate picnic dinner was had. The ladies of the party are recognized as experts in the culinary art and in this case had evidently vied with each other in the preparation of things dainty and delicious. After full justice had been done to all and a thorough inspection made of the barn and premises, the horses were again harnessed and the drive resumed to Hantsport's beach, the point of destination. The drive was a most beautiful one and was heartily enjoyed. On arriving at the beach bathing was indulged in by some, while others organized a clam-digging expedition. After spending some hours in walking about the beach and enjoying the delightful scenery and cool sea air, tea was served and at dark the drive homeward began. This was the most delightful of all. The moon came out and added its charm to the scenery. With song and conversation the drive passed all too soon, and at about 11 o'clock home was reached.
