TUESDAY EVEN'G, MAY 7, 1878.

The Pacific Railway.

A careful perusal of Mr. Mackenzie's speech on the Pacific Railway cannot fail to convince the most prejudiced that he has made himself thoroughly master of his subject. Though occupying two hours in delivery, and dealing with the whole of this vast enterprise in every material point requiring attention, it was singularly lucid, concise, and well arranged. The announcement that work is to be commenced without delay in British Columbia and carried eastward to meet the extension westward from Manitoba will be hailed as good news by the people on the Pacific Coast. A large portion of his speech was occupied with a detail of the merits of the respective routes through British Columbia. The Peace River Pass and the Burrard Inlet terminus are favored, and although the Premier did not say so in so many words, he indicated that they would be adopted. The discussion in Committee was very lame and confined on the opposite side to Messrs. Langevin, Plumb, Kirkpatrick, Dr. Tupper being absent. The general effect of this speech cannot but strengthen the Government, for it shows that they have adopted the wise and sound policy of building the road as the country can afford. At the same time the sooner it is constructed the better will it be for the Dominion, for it would do more to develop our resources, and add to our population in one year, than at present can possibly be done in ten. But the more one studies the subject, and makes himself acquainted with the carefully prepared and minute details furnished by the Premier, the more is he convinced of the unpardonable rashness and insane folly of the Macdonald Government in committing the Dominion to a promise made to British Columbia at the time she came into the Confederation, that the road would be built in ten years. Ten years? Why twenty years will be required before the last rail is laid and continuous railway communication secured between Ontario and the Pacific coast. And even in that time it will test to the utmost the financial resources of the country. We feel sure in this matter the people will endorse the wise and sound policy of the present Government.

The Great North-west.

Every day we are having fresh proofs furnished of the growing importance of the great North-west. The immense immigration from all parts of Canada, and also from many parts of the United States into Manitoba this season, gives us some idea of what it is destined to be in years to come, especially when that portion of the Pacific Railway is constructed between Lake Superior and Winnipeg, and through the Saskatchewan region beyond. The almost illimitable plains of this vast region will gradually become the homes of a hardy and industrious population, which will add greatly to the wealth and resources of the Dominion.

Not only in Canada but also in the Western States, is this interest in our great North-west manifested, for we notice that at a late meeting of the Board of Trade of Minneapolis, held to consider the commercial relations of Minnesota with our North-west Province, a Mr. Dowse read a carefully prepared and interesting statement of the railroad and canal resources of the Dominion, and the trade, population and climate of Manitoba and the northwestern British possessions, showing the importance of that growing trade to the merchants and manufacturers of Minnesota. Mr. Dowse's remarks were illustrated by a full set of large and very fine maps of the transportation lines and sections spoken of. He spoke strongly of the very kind, neighborly feeling the people of the whole Canadian northwest—especially Manitoba—have towards Minnesota. Among other subjects he touched on the Canada Pacific Railway, and on the extent of navigable waters in our territory to the north and west of that State, which he states extend some 6,000 miles. The amount of our trade with the States last year was $768,415, ninety per cent. of which came from Minnesota. The great and fertile valley of the Red River, the Assiniboine, Qu'Appelle, Saskatchewan, Arthabasca, and that king of them all, the Peace River Valley, which lays between latitudes 55 and 59, and longitude 115 and 122 west from Greenwich, the most northerly part of which is over 1,500 miles northwest in an air line from Minneapolis, and whose spring time is a month earlier than there, were all fully described. The great area of this fertile belt was given from quotations of standard authority as containing over 200,000 square miles, of which 80,000,000 acres are fit for the plow, 80,000,000 for pasture land, leaving 40,000,000 acres for lake and swamp, a region equal to twenty times the size of Manitoba. No wonder Mr. Dowse became enthusiastic when speaking of these tracts, and no wonder we in Canada should feel a pride in owning these territories. But the duty becomes all the more urgent to secure the trade of these regions for ourselves, which we will be able largely to do when our railway to Winnipeg is finished.

We are constantly receiving consignments of hardware material at our establishment direct from the makers, and our customers can depend on getting genuine goods at low prices.—John Horsman, Guelph.

The Entertainment in Aid of the Hospital.

The Tableaux Vivants and concert in aid of the Guelph General Hospital took place on Monday evening, and was very fairly attended. For amateurs, who have but little practice in getting up tableaux the different scenes were remarkably well got up, and both in the posing and dressing a just appreciation of the characters and situations was shown. The costumes, we may remark, were very good—in fact everything was excellent but the light, which was not sufficiently brilliant to bring out the characters properly.

The first scene was the assassination of Rizzio. Mrs. Harkin was of course the central figure in the group, and she was well sustained by the other characters.

Miss Taylor as Diana was a beautiful representation of this godess, and her attitude was quite classic.

The scene from Lear, when Cordelia bends over her aged father was admirably done, Miss S. Mickle acting her part with much naturalness.

"The Victims"—representing a scene in statuary from one of Tennyson's legends, was very fine in the grouping.

In Rebekah and Eliezer Miss Hogg and Mr. T. Vale were admirable both in their costumes and attitudes, The whole scene was graphic and life-like.

The classic scene representing Pygmalion and Galatea, in stuatary, was very fine, and the posing of Miss Galt and Mr. Cumberland natural yet dignified.

Flora Macdonald and Prince Charlie brought to view the well-known scene in the life of that unfortunate Prince after the battle of Culloden, Miss E. Mickle was very effective as Flora, and Mr. Johnston and Mr. A. H. Macdonald as faithful Highlanders in full uniform lent additional interest to the picture.

The allegorical group, in statuary, representing Music, Painting and Literature, was as beautiful as a classic model.

In the scene of King Richard with the Forresters, Mr. Baldwin looked every inch a King, and Mrs. Harkin a fit consort for him, while Messrs. Johnston, Grange and Hall made picturesque Saxons.

Hagar and Ishmael were admirably represented, Miss A. Hall doing her part to the life, while the child reposed as in a natural sleep.

The well-known balcony scene from the Merchant of Venice, was the last, and among the best that of those produced. Miss Galt and Miss A. Mickle showed to great advantage, and Messrs. Grange and Hall were equally effective. A full list of those who took part in the tableaux will be found below.

The musical part of the entertainment was equally pleasing and successful. Mr. Maitland's songs—"The Cameron men" and "Cam ye by Athol"—were admirably sung. The Misses Foster sang a pleasing duett, and Miss Nellie gave very sweetly "Our own," which was encored. Miss Barr was highly appreciated in "Bonnie Bessie Lee," "Let me dream again," and "Embarrassment," all of which were encored and responded to. Mr. Philp gave some choice violin solos to excellent accompaniments by Mrs. Clarke. Miss Geddes played the other accompaniments with her usual taste. Mr. Peterson did his part well in introducing and explaining the different scenes represented.

The Directors of the Hospital are certainly under great obligations to the ladies and gentlemen who spent so much time in getting up the entertainment in aid of this valuable Institution.

Mr. J. D. Edgar, is the Reform candidate for Monck.

Dr. Tupper was in the House on Monday, but still looking ill from his late severe attack.

The Government have dropped the Bill concerning the Registration of Titles in the Northwest, the Dominion Lands Colonization Bill, and the Stamp Bill.

Had the elections gone against Mr. Joly, it was the intention of the Tories at Ottawa to have moved for the dismissal of Mr. Letellier from the Lieutenant Governorship. Instead of doing so, they do not now whisper the word "Quebec" in Parliament.

A new clause in Mr. Blake's bill concerning the carrying of fire arms, gives the right of search of houses where information was laid that more than one firearm was kept, and that they would be forfeited unless the owner could show that they were not intended to be carried within the district.

This is how the Constitution, a campaign sheet, started in Quebec to aid the De Boucherville party, talks about the recent elections:—"The people, however, are masters; the majority must win and rule; and all that is left to us is to express our deep regret that public opinion should be so apt to develop 'cussed crookedness.'" We can excuse the slang of the disappointed campaigner in view of the signal defeat of its friends.

The Tories of South Oxford have had the hardihood to nominate Mr. Joseph Gibson as their candidate for the Commons, in opposition to Col. Skinner. Mr. Gibson is well-known in this county as one of the Dunkin advocates during the recent contest. He will be handsomely beaten. Another choice nomination is that of Mr. J. J. Hawkins, of Brantford, against Mr. Mills, for Bothwell. It is therefore certain that J. J. H. will stay Tory till after the election. After that it will be a toss on which side he will be.

CORSETS. CORSETS.

Physicians, Women's Rights Advocates, Collectors of Mortuary Statistics, and Reformers generally

Have all had their fling at Corsets on sanitary grounds. Like the critics of the chameleon, "they are all right and all wrong," because Corsets made in the ordinary way may with justice be condemned, though those constructed in accordance with nature's laws are decidedly beneficial and hygienic to the female body. They support the bust, soften the sudden changes of tempreature, and import a firmness and support to the spinal column that are peculiarly useful. All this can be effected without torturing the body, but on the contrary improving the general health, and adding much to the grace and elegance of the well dressed woman. A Corset to fulfil all these requirements should be fashioned after nature's model, and when that is done the garment will be perfect.

Wm, Stewart & Co. impressed with the truth of this idea have secured Corsets after NATURE'S MODEL. Our stock is now full in every size of the popular

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

On gaining the top of the height the gauger found that it contained a far more extensive view than he imagined. The forest terminated at no great distance in front, and stretching far beyond was a magnificent mountain landscape, the narrow features of which it would take him some time to survey. On the crest of the height lay confused masses of huge grey stones, mixed with tufts of heather, and open spaces covered with moss several inches in thickness. Seating himself on a soft cushion of this last with his back against the side of a high stone, he drew out his glass and proceeded with the work of inspection, passing his instrument slowly from point to point with a regularity which allowed no object to escape his notice.

The prospect he was thus scanning would have sent a tourist into raptures, so wide and magnificent was it, so bold and varied in outline, so fresh and gorgeous in colour, so beautiful and picturesque in blended light and shade, so manifold in interesting objects for the eye to dwell upon. But it was with little or no impression of its physical grandeur that Gillespie minutely surveyed it. He had not come there in search of the picturesque or the sublime. The vastness, the beauty, the harmony of that mountain landscape moved him not; his eager survey was conducted for a very prosaic purpose, and one that scarcely admitted of poetic feeling or elevated emotion.

Yet such as it was it absorbed him in his work, and he was greatly startled to hear a voice quite near to him say—

"That's a braw simmer day, Maister Gillespie."

Down went the glass from his eyes, and he wheeled round with a jerk in the direction whence the voice came to behold Daddy Duff seated on a stone not six yards off, and eying him very composedly.

"Bless my soul, Daddy Duff, is that you?" exclaimed the gauger, in great astonishment.

"Just me, sir," answered Daddy, with his usual sang froid.

"How came you here?"

"Hoo should I come but on shank's-naigie. I'm nae muckle gien tee ridin', nor hae I a horse tee ride."

"But what on earth are you doing in such an out-of-the-way place?"

"Muckle aboot what ye was daein' yersel', though no wi' the same help for my een. I'm feastin' on the grand and glorious prospect. Isn't it awfu' gweed, sir?"

"The prospect? Oh, well, it's extensive, certainly. But do you tell me that you have travelled through this solitary region to see these miles of moor and mountain?"

"Is that nae what ye hae comed for yersel'?" asked Daddy, with a sly and quiet smile.

"No; I'm not such a fool, nor you either, I am very sure. Some other purpose than to look at rocks and glens has brought you into the heart of this solitude."

"Maybe that's true, sir; but bein' here, and comin' on sic a sicht, I couldna resist the temptation tae sit doon and enjoy it."

"Ah!—hum—well, I daresay it has an attraction that way to those who have tastes of such a kind. I can't say it affects me so. I was examining it solely as a matter of business, and one which I believe you could help me with if you were willing."

"Me help ye, me!" cried Daddy. "Ye maun be jokin', Maister Gillespie."

"Not a bit. I am on the outlook for smugglers, and I have a strong impression that their haunts are not unknown to you."

"Might I ask ye, sir, what has given you that impression?" asked Daddy.

"Will you venture to say it is false?"

"I hae nae cause tae say it is either false or true. But there's twa things I will say. In the first place, I am nae a smuggler—never hae been, and never will be; and, and in the second place, if I had ony o' their secrets in my keepin', naething wad tempt me to betray them. Noo, sir, that's the short and the lang o't, and there need be nae mare words between you and me aboot it."

"Oh, I know how intractable you are," returned Gillespie. "I haven't forgot what took place between us the last time we met. You remember the time and place, I daresay?"

"Brawly; it's near hand a year syne—on the day that Harold Logan was before the Shirra."

"I wish to God that day had never dawned," said Gillespie, with a look and in a tone of bitterest regret. "I know you are in Harold's confidence," he added. "I know you are aware of all that has come and gone between him and me, therefore I need not scruple to speak freely to you. I was tempted, Daddy, tempted by the devil in the form of Gilmour Logan, and willingly would I give this right hand to be the free man I was yon day when you brought the letter to Skene. But what boots it speaking thus," continued Gillespie, with a fierce gesture. The past is past, and cannot be recalled. I have sought to show my repentance by serving Harold and have failed; I have done my best to discover where they have taken his wife, but to no purpose. You, too, have been engaged in the search; have you succeeded any better?"

"No a grain, sir, no a grain," replied Daddy. "I've been here, there, and everywhere. For hale three days I hae been wanderin' in this forest, thinkin' that maybe they had her and the wean in a cave or some ither secret place; but naething hae I seen o' them, and naething heard. It bates me tee think whaur they can be hidden."

"Do you think they are hidden at all?" said Gillespie, in a significant tone.

"Dae I think they are hidden at a'?" echoed Daddy. "Bless me, they maun be hidden, or why are they no tee be found?"

"May they not have—murdered them?" said the gauger.

"Na, they've nae dune that, for Maister Harold gets a letter fae his wife ilka month or sae. They alloo her tae write tae him, but tak' aye care tae see that naething is said tae tell whaur they are—What's the maitter, sir?"

This question was very natural, for the gauger, whose eyes had for some moments been wandering over the wide prospect, suddenly fixed them on one spot, and slowly bent himself forward in a gaze of great intensity.

STILL THEY COME.—We notice the railway companies delivering large quantities of new goods at the Lion this morning. These we are told are some of the bargains secured by Mr. Williamson at the trade sales in Montreal a few days ago—when goods were said to have been sold lower than ever. Special attractions in dress goods.

About five o'clock on Sunday afternoon, Patrick Farmer was walking up King-st., Montreal, when he was set upon by three young ruffians, who threw him down and kicked him about the head in a shocking manner. He was taken into the house of Mr. Duff, who keeps a lighthouse in the harbour, where his wounds were bathed. He said he had been beaten by three Young Britons.

In the general distribution of medals, if it had been possible for the "International Jury of Award" to have given a medal to the best hotel in Philadelphia, this honor would have been received by the Colonnade, "for all the requisites of a model establishment in every respect."

SUIT AGAINST THE ROYAL INSURANCE CO.—The Detroit evening News says:—Henry F. Crawford, insurance agent, Detroit, has instituted in the Wayne circuit court an action against the Royal Canadian Insurance Company, of Montreal, for $70,000, damages for breach of contract and balance of accounts unsettled. The company appointed Mr. Crawford manager for Michigan shortly after its organization, and he pushed business so effectively that in the years 1874, '75, and '76 he raked up $257,757,32 of receipts, against $101,128.73 of losses, showing a balance in favor of his management of $156,626.59. Last year, after the great fire which devastated the town of St. Johns, P. Q., and nearly swept away the resources of the company, its charter to do business in Michigan was revoked by the state commissioner of insurance, just as New York interdicted the company, and all Royal Canadian risks in this State were re-insured in the Continental. Mr. Crawford never obtained a settlement, so his bill of complaint alleges; was never paid his commission or compensated for the work he has done for the company, wherefor does he bring suit.

SUSPECTED MURDER.—On the 12th ult., a man who gave his name as Thomas Allan entered a shoemaker's shop in Bertie and applied for employment. He said he was on his way from Port Hope to Buffalo to see a brother, and seemed desirous of working his way thither, though he said he had money. On being told there was no work there he asked the way to Fort Erie, when Jack Smith, an Indian, who happened to be in the shop at the time, said he was going that way himself, and volunteered to accompany him. The two started out together, and from that time nothing was heard of Allan until a short time ago, when it turned out that on the 27th ult., a body had been hidden under some leaves in a sugar hut near Stevensville and buried. As near as can be learned no inquest was held at the time, but the proprietor of the shop in Bertie, at which Allan had called, having heard of this discovery suspected something wrong, and succeeded in having the body exhumed, when it was recognized as that of Allan's, and, on examination, it was found that his throat had been cut. Smith has not yet been arrested.

THE FENIAN SCARE.—Enquiries fail to elicit anything to substantiate the report concerning the contemplated Fenian movements in Buffalo outside of the floating Communistic population, who are at all times spoiling for a fight. There are about 200 Irish members in three private military organizations, which have been in existence about two years, who hold weekly drills similar to other private military organizations. No unusual excitement is manifest among them.

BASE BALL.—The following are late games played. On Monday the Tecumsehs defeated the Rochesters by a score of 4 to 0. Hornells made three runs, 3 base hits and 1 error, against the Live Oaks 1 run, 6 base hits, and 2 errors. Manchesters made 6 runs and 5 base hits, to Live Oaks 1 run and 8 base hits. Live Oaks made 7 runs, 13 base hits, and 5 errors, to Alleghenies 1 run, 11 base hits, and 7 errors.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Contradictory Reports About Russian Concessions.

MATTERS STILL SOMEWHAT MIXED.

LONDON, May 2.

The coming week will be unusually busy at the English arsenals and dockyards. Reports of recruiting officers for the past month show a remarkable increase in the number of enlistments, and the increase is still advancing.

At St. Petersburg much importance is attached to the visit of Count Schouvaloff.

A Vienna correspondent says: Although it is thought Schouvaloff's visit to St. Petersburg is merely for a short time, it is believed to be in connection with important negotiations.

A St. Petersburg correspondent believes that a question of the very highest importance will be practically decided next week. The public desire for a peaceable solution is increasing.

The North German Gazette of Berlin denies the report that Adlerberg has been selected temporarily to replace Gortschakoff.

A St. Petersburg special to Vienna says Schouvaloff comes to St. Petersburg in consequence of his request to be permitted to report respecting the pending negotiations.

A London News correspondent says that at Constantinople another palace revolution is threatened. The conspirators for the overthrow of the Sultan fixed one day last week for the attempt, but fear of Russian interference caused a change of plans, and the conspirators say they must wait until the Russians go.

A Cattaro despatch says:—An Austrian sentinel has been shot by the Montenegrins.

A Constantinople despatch says:—The Austrian Embassy deny that Austrian troops are concentrating on the Bosnian frontier. It is declared that Austria will not occupy Bosnia without the consent of the Porte.

A Pera special says:—Advices from Adrianople and Philippopolis report continued fighting about Haskoi, in which district twenty-one Mohammedan villages have been destroyed, the Russians laying the blame on the Bulgarians and the Bulgarians laying it on the Russians.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, May 6.

On the order for the consideration of the amendment made in the Bill respecting the leasing of the Pembina Branch of the Canada Pacific Railway, the Premier moved a resolution setting forth a number of reasons why the House should not agree with the amendment requiring the submission of the contract for the lease to the Upper Chamber. After a short but vigorous discussion Mr. Mackenzie's motion was carried on a vote of 92 to 32.

A short debate then took place on Mr. Blake's Bill for the Better Prevention of Crimes of Violence, in the course of which the mover of the Bill made an earnest appeal to the law-abiding citizens of Montreal to aid in carrying the measure into successful operation. The Bill was read the third time and passed.

The House then went into Committee of Supply on the Supplementary Estimates, and passed a number of items.

After recess, the remaining items in the Supplementary Estimates were passed, a discussion arising on the Oka Indians' case in consequence of a letter addressed by the Deputy Minister of the Interior to the agent of the Government at Oka.

A number of Government Bills, principally those relating to Manitoba, were then struck off the orders.

Mr. Laurier's Bill respecting the imposition of license duties on compounders of spirits and the adulteration of food was read the second time, passed through Committee, read the third time, and passed.

Additional Supplementary Estimates were then presented, and referred to Committee of Supply.

The House then went into Committee on the Temperance Bill. A number of amendments were submitted by the Premier, with a view of harmonizing the ballot system under the Act with that in force under the Election Law. The amendments were adopted, and after some discussion the Bill was read a third time and passed.

The resolution providing that a sum of $10,000 shall be placed at the disposal of the Government of Manitoba annually for a period not exceeding three years in aid of the Public Schools of the Province were passed, and a Bill based thereon introduced and read a first and second time.

The hotel keepers of York are taking their revenge for the passing of the Dunkin Act on travellers. For meals they now charge fifty cents instead of a quarter, twenty-five cents for hitching a team under a shed, and five cents for a glass of water.

On Sunday morning in Georgetown a man named William Wallace was found dead in his bedroom with his throat cut. He is supposed to have been insane.

On Monday morning a widow named Mary Ann Brown, who resided in Toronto, committed suicide by drowning herself in the cistern in rear of the premises. Deceased had been out of her mind for a long time, the disease being hereditary in her family.

A Vienna correspondent says the famine in the north-east of Russia is increasing.

It is said that no attempt will now be made to impeach Hayes, because Wheeler would succeed to the Presidency, and would unite the Republican party.

Manchester, England, was visited by a great fire on Monday which destroyed £50,000 worth of property.

The restoration of the Tuilleries and the conversion of the building into an Art gallery is likely to be decided upon.

The operatives at Burnley and Padiham, in Lancashire, have offered to return to work at a reduction of wages, provided it be accompanied by short time.

The trial of McDonald, for the murder of Rory Munro at Port Albert nine months ago will be taken up to-day at the Huron Assizes.

The supplemental elections held in France on Monday caused by the invalidation of the previous elections, resulted in the return of six Republicans and two Conservatives.

The presence of the Cimbria on the Maine coast is regarded by a shrewd foreign diplomat at Washington as a ruse to alarm British merchants and encourage them to support the peace movement.

A rumour, which fortunately lacks confirmation, was current in Quebec on Monday, to the effect that Mr. Boutin, the newly-elected member of the Local Legisture for Bellechase, had been brutally assaulted, if not murdered.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. FOR MANITOBA.—To-day (Wednesday) at noon a very large crowd was at the Great Western station to say good-bye and wish bon voyage to the large party that were about starting for Manitoba by way of the Beaty Line from Southampton. There was a good deal of weeping by the fair sex—both among those who were leaving and those who remained behind. Altogether there were some forty-three in the party principally from Eramosa and Erin Townships. The following are the names of the emigrants :—Wm. M. Kennedy and family of eight; Wm. Roadhouse and family of seven; Geo. Lawson and family of six, of Erin; Thomas Talbot, John Michel and family of six, Mrs. E. McKerlie, George Hutchinson, Jas. Kennedy, Arthur Aldous, John Duffield, Thos. Croft, Wm. Lowrie, Edwin Armstrong, David Cunningham, of Eramosa; R. Kennedy, of West Garafraxa; David Bain, of Fergus. Mr. Wm. Kennedy is leader of the party.

The occasional "hotel grumbler" is not a rarity, but there are few hotels that give the utmost universal satisfaction both in rates and accommodation that characterizes the Grand Central Hotel, New York. It is concededly the best kept and most popular among all its rivals. eod

Local News.

THERE was not a quorum present at the regular monthly meeting of St. Patrick's Society.

MR. TYRELL lately planted some fine horse chestnut trees in front of his property on King street. On Tuesday night cows ate all the tops off them, and they are now worthless.

A TRAVELLING variety troupe, calling themselves New York Serenaders, gave an entertainment in the town hall on Tuesday evening. Very few were present, and the performance was a very tame affair.

DREW'S ice cream will be sold for ten cents, and it's worth it. So he says. If possible strawberries and cream will be served up on Saturday, the grand opening day.

ARRIVAL.—Messrs. Hawes and Porter arrived in Montreal from the old country on Tuesday and will reach Guelph on Thursday. It is only about five weeks since they left Guelph with a shipment of cattle for the English market.

IT has been generally remarked around the Court House since the opening of the Court of Assize that when the new County of Dufferin is formed, with Orangeville as the County Town, Wellington will require no such court. Palpable irony.

MESSRS. ROBERTSON & CULL will not accept the contract for watering Carden St. and Market Square. The merchants on Wyndham street claim that the cart system, such as has been previously tried here, will not answer.

TOWNSHIP OF GUELPH.—The Assessors, Messrs. Sanders and Porter, have completed the roll—which shows the assessment for the township for the current year to be for :—Real property, $1,439,870; personal property, $139,350; income, $9,775—total :—$1,588,995. Population 2,738; cattle, 2,866; sheep, 3,322; hogs, 1,085; horses, 1,232; dogs, 250.

NEW POP FACTORY.—Mr. Broad, of Port Perry, has lately removed to Guelph, where he will carry on the manufacture of soda water, pop, etc., at his place of business on the Elora Road, on a large scale. The Port Perry Observer in speaking of Mr. Broad's removal from that town states that he was always found to be prompt, obliging, honorable and reliable in all his business transactions.

ROWDYISM.—A correspondent from Arkell states that the lodge of Independent Order of Good Templars in that village, have for some time past been annoyed during their meetings by parties making a noise around their hall, hooting and yelling. A committee has been appointed by the lodge, and if any of the parties are detected they will be punished. The guilty ones had better cease committing such acts of rowdyism.

FIRE IN EAST GARAFRAXA.—Dr. Carbert, of Orangeville, lately held an enquiry into the late fire at Mr. W. H. Hunter's, East Garafraxa. The evidence showed that a bottle, which had contained coal oil, was found near the place of the fire, and a son of Mr. Roney, on being examined, testified that a bottle like it had been in their house. The mother of the boy denied they had ever had such a bottle. Foot prints of a peculiar character were also found leading from the fire towards Roney's. Strong suspicion is entertained of the guilty party, but we have not learned whether proceedings will be taken.

STANLEY'S NEW BOOK.—We learn that Mr. J. B. Magurn, publisher, has secured the copyright for Canada of Stanley's great work, now in preparation, giving an account of his Travels and Adventures on his recent perilous journey through Africa. The Canadian edition will be printed from fac-simile plates of the English edition, giving all the illustrations and maps. The cost of these plates, engravings and maps amount alone to $5,000. The work will be issued in May, and its appearance will be looked forward to with the greatest interest. We may say that it is the largest and most important work ever issued by a Canadian publisher, and we congratulate Mr. Magurn on his enterprise in securing he Canadian copyright.

THE WALLACE-CAREY RAPE CASE.—We regret that for want of sufficient evidence the scoundrel Wallace got off on Tuesday. There is no moral doubt about his guilt, but there was not sufficient evidence laid before the jury to warrant them in bringing in a verdict of guilty. Dr. Herod's evidence might have strengthened the case against the prisoner, but he was at the time engaged in consultation with Dr. Aikens on Mr. Loghrin's case, and for some unaccountable reason the Judge would not adjourn the case. It is a great pity the fellow escaped unwhipped, for there is no doubt he is guilty of the crime for which he was tried.

IMPRESSIONS OF MANITOBA.—Mr. Ed. Schofield, a young man from here, who left with the Balkwill party for the Northwest, writes from Winnipeg to the MERCURY. He states that he has found, as he expected, many drawbacks, incident to a new country. The mud is about the most discouraging feature, and some who have reached here from Ontario purpose returning without going farther into the country than they have reached at Winnipeg. From those that do return no person can expect a favorable account of Manitoba. Mr. Schofield says that on the 25th ult. six parties with their horses started out for their new homes and without an exception they all became stuck fast in the mud. The way the mired animals were extricated was by fastening ropes to their harness and have horses on the sidewalk gradually draw them out of the sea of mud. In one place about one hundred yards of the railway has sank about out of sight. This will be remedied by placing a gravel bed on that particular portion. The mud appears to be of a greasy nature. At all events it is very easy to leave a life-size impression on the crossings. A few days of dry weather will remedy this state of affairs. The roads are said to dry very quickly. The writer thinks the people of Ontario ought again to be warned about emigrating to Manitoba, unless they intend to farm, have some capital, and are endowed with energy and patience. Clerks and mechanics, who are unwilling to work at anything but their trade are at a discount in Manitoba.

Eighty thousand persons visited the Paris Exhibition on Sunday.

SPRING ASSIZES.

His Lordship Mr. Justice Patterson, Presiding.

TUESDAY, May 7.

True Bills were found by the Grand Jury in the case of Robert Kelly on a charge of forgery, and in the case of James Bowman on a charge of perjury.

THE RAPE CASE.

The prisoner Isaac Wallace, charged with having committed rape was placed in the dock. The circumstances connected with the commission of the alleged crime have been published in the MERCURY. The narrative will still be fresh in the minds of our readers.

A jury was empannelled and the Crown Counsel explained the case to them.

The prisoner was defended by Messrs. J. P. MacMillan, A. H. Macdonald and J. T. C. Haldan.

Josephine Elizabeth Carey, the little girl who it is alleged was raped, was examined. Her evidence was substantially the same as given at the preliminary examination. She was cross examined by A. H. Macdonald.

The mother of the little girl also gave evidence, and she was cross examined by J. P. MacMillan.

Dr. Shafer, of Stratford, testified to having examined the little girl Carey about three weeks ago. He told the condition in which the child was when he examined her. The child told a story similar to what she related in the witness box.

He was cross-examined by Mr. Macdonald, but nothing further was elicited.

Drs. Herod and Cowan were called, but being absent a constable was despatched for them.

After waiting a short time it was learned that their absence was occasioned on a case of "life and death."

The Crown Counsel then intimated that the case for the prosecution was closed.

For the defence Dr. McGuire was called. He stated that he had given Mrs. Carey a pass to Berlin on the 3rd of April in his own house. A child was in the woman's arms at the time, and a little girl was with her. He had no doubt but what the children now in Court were the ones that were with her.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hardy—I could not be mistaken about the children being with her. When Mrs. Carey asked for two passes, she said her little girl could travel without a pass. His attention had been called by the report of the case in the papers, and he then examined his order book and found that the 3rd of April was the day on which he gave Mrs. Carey passes.

Alex. Doherty was sworn. He said that he was foreman in the tannery in which prisoner worked. He could not swear to the date on which the offence was alleged to have been committed. He could not recollect whether prisoner was at work on that day or not. He had always found the prisoner to be particularly honest.

John Marshall, a tanner, was sworn. He knew the prisoner, and remembered that he was working in the tannery from half-past seven in the morning until four o'clock in the afternoon, the day on which it was said the crime was committed. The prisoner was at dinner between twelve and one o'clock. He thought the day here referred to must have been the first Wednesday in the month of April—which was fair day.

Cross-examined by Mr. Hardy—He could not tell exactly what day he referred to when the prisoner worked until four o'clock.

William Thomas (colored) was sworn—The prisoner boarded with him in April last. He remembered that the prisoner worked in the tannery on the 3rd of April in the morning. He did not see him at work in the afternoon, but, if the prisoner had returned home in the afternoon early, he would have seen him, even if he went to Mrs. Carey's house.

Cross-examined—He could not keep track of the days of the month, and could not tell what day of the month it was at present. Witness could remember what time he had quit work on the 3rd of April, but did not know what time he had quit work on the 2nd or 4th. Other questions were asked, but the answers went to show that the witness, who is an aged person, had not a very good memory.

James Richey (colored) testified to having seen the prisoner on the 3rd of April. He had seen him go to work in the morning, returning home at noon and depart for work after dinner. He saw the little girl Carey playing around the yard until her mother left for the ticket. This was on the 3rd of April. He saw the prisoner return between four and five o'clock in the afternoon. He remembered this on account of him cleaning his coat with some patent soap.

Mrs. Carey was recalled, but the Counsel for the defence objected, and His Lordship sustained the objection.

This closed the case.

The Crown Counsel did not make any remarks.

His Lordship reviewed the evidence and the jury was locked up.

After being out over an hour, a verdict of Not Guilty was returned by the jury.

John Mann, of Garafraxa, who has been confined in gaol for four months, not having been able to find securities to keep the peace, was brought before the Court. He was allowed his liberty by giving his bond to keep the peace to the amount of $500.

Francis Murphy, of Mount Forest, lately committed to gaol, not having been able to find sureties to keep the peace in respect to his wife, was sent back to gaol.

Parsons vs. The Queen's Insurance Company.—The plaintiff, Wm. Parsons, is a merchant in Orangeville. Suit was brought to recover $4,000, amount of policy held on a stock of wool which was destroyed by fire, on the 3rd of August last. Although the wool was not all destroyed, the plaintiff claimed that more than the amount of the policy in value was burnt.

WEDNESDAY, May 8.

The Grand Jury entered the Court-room at ten o'clock, and made the following

PRESENTMENT.

To His Lordship Mr. Justice Patterson :

We beg to report that we have disposed of the business brought before us, and congratulate your Lordship on the small number of criminal cases that have come up in our Courts during the past six months. The small number of cases brought before us show the beneficial working of the law for the prompt trial of petty criminal cases by the lower Courts. The comparatively small number that have been tried durin the winter months prove, at least, that in this county few crimes have been committed, which is saying a great deal, considering the depressed times and the large number of persons out of employment travelling through the country.

We have examined the condition of the County gaol, and find it in a very healthy and cleanly state, with a very small number of inmates. We find that there is not sufficient labor within the prison to keep the prisoners employed, and think that their labor might be profitably used outside on the roads of the town, and that the same would be beneficial to the prisoners themselves.

It is hoped the above suggestion will be carried out by the proper authorities.

J. B. ARMSTRONG, Foreman.

Guelph, May 8, 1878.

His Lordship informed the Jury that the criminal business of the Court had been closed the previous evening. He thought that the few criminal case that had been brought before them was a subject of congratulation. In regard to the employment of prison labor outside the gaol walls, the Ontario Government had taken action in the matter, and he was of opinion it would prove beneficial to those who were incarcerated. He would now release them of their duties.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Hopes About Schouvaloff's Mission.

THE EMPEROR SAID TO FAVOR PEACE.

LONDON, May 7.

Twelve hundred Martini-Henry rifles have been ordered to be shipped to Malta immediately.

The New York Telegram's London special reports that the basis of the arrangement which the Powers have decided to submit to the Czar has been agreed upon. The arrangement is separated into divisions, each of which comprises great and special features. The first division proposes that the two regions of Bulgaria north of the Balkans shall be conceded to Russia, and that the southern portion of Bulgaria shall remain to a great extent under the authority of the Sultan. The second division relates solely to the Asiatic compensation, which shall be reduced to a minimum. The third division relates to the Straits question, and will be arranged hereafter. The fourth division demands the definitive settlement of the war indemnity. The fifth division proposes that Thessaly and Epirus shall be accorded the right of self-goverment.

A New York Herald's St. Petersburg special states that the Empress of Russia announced in the salon of the Czarewitch on Sunday that an understanding with England was now certain, and peace assured.

The Journal de St. Petersburg says :—The proper interpretation to give to Schouvaloff's visit is, that the Anglo-Russian negotiations have entered a more precise phase.

The change in the public opinion of Russia in a peaceful direction is said to be very marked, and to be the result of a recognition of the serious consequences that would result from a war. The Czar is personally directing negotiations with the assistance of Baron Jomini. The Czar's predilections are entirely in favor of peace.

A Vienna correspondent says :—The Czar is now to all intents and purposes his own Minister of Foreign Affairs, and in view of this fact and that the latest attempt to come to an understanding with England is attributed to the Czar's initiative. Schouvaloff's visit gains additional importance. Now that the Czar seems to have taken him into his especial confidence the Count is regarded as the herald of peace.

A Constantinople despatch says:—Todleben is about to retire to the lines of Tchataldja, leaving a small force at San Stefano. The Russians offer to fall back behind a straight line drawn between Dediagatch and Adrianople if the British fleet will withdraw at the same time.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, May 7.

Mr. Mackenzie moved for the ratification of the Order in Council granting a subsidy to the Canada Central under the authority of the Pacific Railway Act. He entered into a recital of the circumstances which had led the Government to adopt their present course.

Mr. Masson urged that in the interests of Quebec the road should go to the north of Lake Nipissing.

Mr. Huntington pointed out that the road was not an Ontario enterprise, but one in the interests of the whole Dominion by the extension of the railway system of Lower Canada. He characterised the remarks of the last speaker as sectional.

Mr. Tupper said he would not oppose the motion, as the present scheme was a vast improvement on that of three years ago.

Mr. McDougall (Renfrew) thought the Government should not have abandoned the Bonnechere Valley route without further information.

Mr. Laurier pointed out that those Quebec members who now opposed the scheme of the Government were simply slapping their own faces, as this scheme accorded with the views held by the Quebec Conservaties a few years ago. He concluded that the opposition to the proposal of the Government sprang from a desire to make political capital. Mr. Cameron moved an amendment to provide that the Canada Central should give running powers to all roads connecting with or intersecting that line. The House divided on the amendment, which was lost—Yeas, 54; Nays, 94.

Mr. Bowell then moved an amendment to amend the Order in Council by adding a clause providing that the rails to be advanced upon should be the property of the Government afterwards.

The amendment was voted down—Yeas, 53; Nays, 96.

The House then divided on the original motion for the ratification of the Order in Council, which was carried—Yeas, 115; Nays, 32—majority 82.

On the motion to go into Committee of Supply, Mr. McCarthy moved an amendment declaring that the Government were censurable for having increased the annual expenditure. Mr. McCarthy's motion was voted down by—Yeas, 52; Nays, 86.

Among the late Parliamentary returns is a report of an exploration made in 1876 by L. G. Bell, C. E., of the country between Nepigon Bay and the junction with the Thunder Bay branch of the Pacific Railway. As the result of Mr. Bell's work he says there are no considerable difficulties in the way of the construction of a line between the two points mentioned and running north of Dog Lake.

The village of Ancaster is becoming notorious. A Mrs. Weldon, and her two daughters are said to keep a house of ill-fame there, and have apparently exercised their blandishments to such an extent as to induce two or three young men of a most respectable family in the same village to leave home and parents and reside with them. The mother of the boys, Mrs. Cartlidge had the case up some days ago at the Hamilton Police Court, but failed to convict for want of evidence.

"NATIONAL POLICY."—A meeting was held in Merner's Hall, New Hamburg, on Thursday evening for the purpose of establishing a branch of the National League, i.e. a League for the assistance of Sir John's candidates at the coming elections. In spite of the fact that Mr. W. H. Fraser and Mr. A. Wright were present, the attendance was very slim—only twenty-six voters by actual count being present—the meeting being composed of about fifty others—non-voters and strangers. Mr. Fraser spoke about fifteen minutes, and pointed out that if their policy was adopted farmers would obtain increased prices for their grain. He was followed by Mr. Wright, who wandered over the whole subject of protection for about an hour. At the close he invited all in favour of Sir John's National Policy to remain, hand in their names and contribute twenty-five cents to the funds of the League. About fifteen remained. On the whole the meeting can hardly be considered satisfactory by the friends of the "National" policy.

Daily Mercury.

WEDNESDAY EVEN'G, MAY 8, 1878.

South Wellington Reform Meeting.

Bills have already been circulated through the different municipalities in the South Riding, calling a meeting of the Reformers, to be held at the Town Hall, Guelph, on Tuesday, the 14th inst., (Tuesday first) at two o'clock p.m., to take into consideration the representation of the Riding in the Dominion Parliament, and to take steps for the organization of the Reform party therein, with a view to the forthcoming election for the same. A cordial invitation is extended to all Reformers, and we trust they will respond to this invitation, and thus ensure a large and enthusiastic meeting.

North Wellington Reform Convention.

The Reform Convention for North and West Wellington will be held at Arthur Village on Tuesday the 28th May at one o'clock, p.m., for the purpose of nominating candidates for the Dominion Parliament and Ontario Legislature. The electors in the different municipalities will be notified by posters of the times and places where the preliminary meeting will be held for choosing delegates. We would impress on them the importance of turning out to those meetings so as to secure a proper representation at the Convention. It is the duty of every Reformer to interest himself in this matter, and to show that he has the welfare of his party and his country at heart.

THE Temperance bill has passed both Houses.

WE are glad to learn that it is the intention of the Government to proceed at once to the erection of Government buildings for the Post Office, Customs, Excise, and other offices in Brantford.

THE Tories in South Brant have nominated Mr. A. Watts for the House of Commons. Mr. McGregor has again been nominated by the Reformers of Essex, likewise Mr. Mills for Bothwell. In Montreal West Col. Stevenson is the Conservative candidate, and Mr. Edward McKay is the Reform Standard bearer. Mr. Workman declined nomination.

THE Montreal Star is of opinion that the Quebec Opposition will not even risk opposing the election of the Speaker when the House meets. It is stated positively that several members of the Local Legislature who have been elected as Conservatives, will extend an honest support to the Joly Government. The Ontario Reform Association have sent a congratulatory address to Mr. Joly.

THE first vote recorded this session gave a Ministerial majority of sixty-three, and the one taken on Monday, which will be one of the last, gave them a majority of sixty. The occasion was the moving by Mr. Mackenzie of a resolution disagreeing in the amendment made by the Senate to the Pembina Branch Bill, that the lease should be subject to their ratification, on the ground that it was contrary to the uniform practice of the House, and one that had never been conceded. The Opposition, however, took up the untenable position that contracts should be ratified by the Senate. The Senate, on Tuesday, however, by a vote of 35 to 20, refused to recede from the position they had already assumed with regard to the Bill, and agreed to submit reasons to the Commons for their refusal. It is evident from the recent vote in the House of Commons that there can be no prospect of that Chamber revoking its decision to reject the Senate's amendments, and the Bill will in that case fall through.

DR. TUPPER is always making rash statements, for which there are no foundation. For instance on Tuesday he stated that the $109,000 paid to the late A. B. Foster to compensate him for outlay on surveys and materials connected with his preliminary operations on the Georgian Bay Branch of the Pacific Railway "was utterly wasted." Mr. Mackenzie disposed of it most effectually. The $109,000 was made up of two sums, $41,000 for buildings and surveys, and $68,000 for rails. The buildings, of course, remain, and the $30,000 or more making up the $41,000 must have been spent by the Government if it had not been spent by the late contractor. That then was certainly not wasted. The $68,000 worth of rails will be used in the new contract, and not one dollar paid for them to the late contractor therefore will be lost. That also will not be wasted.

THE STRIKES IN ENGLAND.—The meeting of master cotton spinners and manufacturers at Manchester resolved to issue a circular to the millowners throughout the strike district, recommending the mills still open to be closed, and advising no individual arrangement for opening the mills to be made with the workmen. The adoption of the resolution has caused great anxiety at Manchester, as it is believed it will render a general lock-out inevitable and widen the gulf between the masters and employees. Should the cotton masters of Preston hold firm to their resolve of closing the mills on Wednesday, that will be the darkest day since the commencement of the strike. It will no longer be a turn-out but a compulsory lock-out. The spinners can afford to stand out for some time, but the weavers have only small funds at their disposal, and there will doubtless be much suffering.

In the general distribution of medals, if it had been possible for the "International Jury of Award" to have given a medal to the best hotel in Philadelphia, this honor would have been received by the Colonnade, "for all the requisites of a model establishment in every respect."

Bond & Co. tell us that they have just received a large lot of the celebrated rubber paint ready mixed, all colors, instruction books given free of charge to any one requiring them.

W. G. Hay, has sold his farm, 1½ miles west of Listowel, containing 100 acres, to Samuel Davidson, for the sum of $6,000 cash.

Accepting the Situation.

The Montreal Gazette has thrown up the sponge. It admits Mr. Joly's rule as established in Quebec, and accepts the situation with a readiness that shows that it has a rather strong desire to turn away from the defunct De Boucherville in order to do quick homage to the new ruler of Quebec. Says the Gazette:

"Leaving aside disputes as to the probable leanings of individual candidates, it is impossible to doubt that Mr. Joly has not succeeded in obtaining such a majority as will enable him to carry on the Government of the Province with that vigor and efficiency which are at this crisis in our affairs so necessary. A majority of two, which is the most that the most favorable estimate of the returns that can honestly be made to give him, is altogether insufficient in view of the difficulties which surround any Government in this Province at this time. We cannot, of course, pretend to speak for the gentlemen who have been elected in opposition to the Ministry, and we know nothing of the position they may be disposed to take. But unless, upon the meeting of the Legislature, they find themselves in a position to pass a vote of condemnation on the Government, their plain duty will undoubtedly be to offer no embarrassing opposition to the new Administration.

* * * * * *

"That (the censure on Lieutenant-Governor Letellier) being done, the duty, as well as the policy, of the Opposition will, it seems to us, dictate a course of extreme moderation, affording to Mr. Joly the amplest opportunity to give effect to those measures on the promise of which by himself and his friends he owes the measure of success which he has achieved at the polls."

CORSETS. CORSETS.

Physicians, Women's Rights Advocates, Collectors of Mortuary Statistics, and Retormers generally

Have all had their fling at Corsets on sanitary grounds. Like the critics of the chameleon, "they are all right and all wrong," because Corsets made in the ordinary way may with justice be condemned, though those constructed in accordance with nature's laws are decidedly beneficial and hygienic to the female body. They support the bust, soften the sudden changes of tempreature, and import a firmness and support to the spinal column that are peculiarly useful. All this can be effected without torturing the body, but on the contrary improving the general health, and adding much to the grace and elegance of the well dressed woman. A Corset to fulfil all these requirements should be fashioned after nature's model, and when that is done the garment will be perfect.

Wm. Stewart & Co. impressed with the truth of this idea have secured Corsets after NATURE'S MODEL. Our stock is now full in every size of the popular

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XXXVIII.

"Ha!" he eagerly ejaculated, and quickly raised the field glass for observation, bending a steady gaze for several moments in one direction.

Daddy looked towards the point of landscape which the other was so closely scanning, but saw nothing.

"I'm right—I'm right!" cried the gauger, with the most excited satisfaction. "You is the smoke of a still. By heaven, I have made a discovery at last!"

"Oh, you sly old rascal, you know well enough where," exclaimed Gillespie, his aroused professional feeling suddenly taking the place of the softer and more friendly one which he had just been manifesting. "Tell me," he fiercely yet triumphantly demanded, "is yon the headquarters of Black Dick's gang?"

"I hinna the slightest idea o' what ye mean," replied the mendicant.

"No evasion, no prevarication, old man!" shouted Gillespie, springing towards him, and, under the force of his excitement, clutching Daddy by the shoulder. "You have been deceiving me as to your purpose here. You are on the watch to give a signal to yonder smugglers of approaching danger. But dare to lift a hand or utter a sound, and I'll hurl you from this rock."

"Guid keep us a'! hae ye gaen clean gite?" ejaculated Daddy in sheer amazement. "I'm as ignorant o'——"

"Don't tell me a lie," burst in the gauger; "don't say you are ignorant of it, for I won't believe you."

"Oh, vera weel, dinna believe me, then," responded Daddy. "And I'll thank ye, Maister Gillespie, tae quit yer hand o' my shoother, for yer grip is rather a hard ane."

"Tell me the truth, then. Does yonder smoke come from Black Dick's smuggling stills?"

"That's a question that ye'll get naether ay or no, tee, fae me," answered Daddy, with a firm and dignified air. The man that ca's me a leer pits an insult upo' me that ends a' intercoorse. Sae hands aff, sir, and leave me alane."

"Ay—leave you, that you may send them a signal. I'm not such a d—d fool as that comes to. If you won't give me information I'll take care that you don't give it to them. Do you hear that?"

"If I dinna it's no because ye speak owre laich," returned Daddy. "It becomes ye weel, tae lay hands on an auld man like me. Think shame, sir; or, if ye dinna think shame, jist ca' tae mind the deein's o' the last twalmonth, and think whether or no ye hae cause to use me sae ill."

The gauger was struck into silence and even, as it seemed, into shame, or at least compunction; for his hand slackened its hold of Daddy's shoulder, and fell heavily by his side.

"I was wrong to be so violent, Daddy," he said, in a calmer voice. "But if you knew the cause I have to hunt out this daring and organised band you would have more consideration for my position. I may be suspecting you unjustly, but if in yonder smoke I have made the discovery which I think I have made, I cannot afford to let you give them a chance of defeating me, so you must go with me down through the forest as far as will put it out of your power to send them a signal."

"Wi' a' my heart," was the mendicant's ready response. "My wandering's here hae come tae naething, and, as my provisions are feenished, I maun e'en quit the forest ony way. Sae I am ready tee gang as sune as ye like."

Gillespie bestowed on him a long and questioning look, as if to read the truth in his face. Then unable to solve his doubt by this inspection, he turned again to the hill-side where he had detected the smoke, and slowly took the bearings of the exact spot, so, as to be able to lead his men to it. He took careful note of adjacent objects and their relative position to the place whence the smoke rose; and his eye travelled over the intervening space in search of the easiest and nearest route whereby to reach it.

It took him a good many minutes to secure these particulars, and while he was so occupied Daddy tried to make out the smoke of which the gauger had spoken. At length he discerned it—a thin blue streak, floating up into the sky from a dark gorge-like spot in the side of a steep hill a few miles off. From its peculiar hue the old man, pretty well experienced in such matters, recognised it as the smoke from a still, and knew that the gauger's discovery was a reality. Whether he knew more than this we need not now indicate; nor shall we seek to inquire whether he had any particular anxiety of mind as he silently accompanied Gillespie down the steep slopes of the forest.

As the last rays of sunset faintly illuminated the eastern heights they emerged from the gloom and shadow of the wood, far, far from the crag on which they had taken their observations. Here they parted, Daddy going off for some food and shelter for the night, and the gauger spurring his way to the place where he had appointed his men to meet.

As sunset was the time he had ordered them to be there, the greater part had assembled when he arrived, and the others came in a few minutes afterwards. He now acquainted them with the discovery he had made, and, after they had refreshed themselves by partaking of a hearty meal, they set forth on the expedition which Gillespie was convinced would result in a larger and more important seizure than any he had yet effected.

FROM J. H. HATHORNE, ESQ., proprietor of the Citizens' Line of coaches, Boston, Massachusetts:

Boston, Sept. 14, 1874.

MR. WM. M. GILES, Chemist,

DEAR SIR: Your agent, Mr. Guy S. Frazey, called on me early in July last to introduce your LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA. Being a skeptic in regard to the great variety of articles patent for the cure of all sorts of diseases, I had no faith in your Iodide, but, after a long discussion with your agent, it occurred to me that I had a horse I was using for private that had a shoe-boil on his near forward leg. I told him if he thought it would remove that bunch I would try it. Suffice it to say I have used it very persistently till the present time, and now I find it nearly removed, and think it will shortly disappear entirely. From this trial of your remedy I cheerfully recommend its use to any one who has a horse or horses afflicted in this way. I would further say that while using it for the above, the same horse started another bunch on the left leg; the Liniment was applied immediately and the bunch has disappeared.

J. H. HATHORNE.

PREPARING FOR RAIDERS.—Steps will be taken nevertheless by the Militia Department at Ottawa, to give any marauders who may cross the line a fitting welcome, and it is said that a sharp example will be made of any such ruffians caught in acts of hostility on our frontier, Active measures are being taken to arm the batteries and forts on the coasts of the Maritime Provinces. The formation of garrison artillery to man them will be proceeded with at once. The guns for the defence of Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, will be mounted at once, and a corps of artillery immediately organized there, that the town being one of the most exposed on the Atlantic seaboard.

Book Notices.

SCIENCE AND THEOLOGY.—The Rose-Belford Publishing Co. have sent us, through Mr. T. J. Day, the remarkable paper on "Science and Theology, Ancient and Modern," by Jas. Anthony Froude. Along with it is the no less remarkable essay by Ralph Waldo Emerson on "The Sovereignty of Ethics." These papers by some profound thinkers are well worthy a careful perusal. Copies for sale at Day's bookstore.

LA COMPAGNIE IRLANDAISE.—This is a sprightly little volume by Capt. Kirwan, now editor of the Montreal True Witness. It gives a graphic and well-written account of the experiences and hardships of the Irish Volunteer Company, who took part in the Franco-German war during the later period of that great struggle. Capt. Kirwan is an easy and graceful writer, and the stern realities of war, with all its attendant sufferings and privations are powerfully pourtrayed, while there is sufficient pleasantry introduced to give agreeable variety to the narrative. Dawson Bros., Montreal, are the publishers, and copies may be had through the booksellers in town.

THE FORTNIGHTLY REVIEW.—The Belford-Rose publishing Co. have sent us this Review for April. It has some very able articles, which will be read with great interest. The contents are The Political Adventures of Lord Beaconsfield. Public Affairs in Australia, by W. C. Purnell. Mazzini, by Frederick W. H. Myers. Modern Japan, by Sir David Wedderburn. The Desentment of Turkey, by Sir G. Campbell, M. P. Religious Beliefs and Morality, by A. C. Lyall. Gustave Flaubert, by George Saintbury. Memorials of a Man of Letters, by The Editor. Ceremonial Government IV, by Herbert Spencer. University Extension, by Wm. Jack. Home and Foreign affairs. Copies can be had at the bookstores.

THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW for April, just republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay st., New York, contains some interesting articles enumerated below: "The First Ten Years of the Canadian Dominion." Briefly reviews the history of the period, describes the political parties of old Canada, the formation of the Dominion, the rise of the Opposition, and the defeat of the First Dominion Government. "Mycenæ." Describes Dr. Schilemann's recent discoveries, and examines at length the traditions about the death and funeral of Agamemnon, with many doubts as to the "prehistoric" theory. "Victor Hugo." Pronounces Victor Hugo to be the greatest European poet of our century, and in illustration of this opinion, criticises in detail his principal poems, dramas, and romances. "A Woman's Reply to Frederic Harrison." A short protest by Frances Martin against Mr. Harrison's theory of the Soul and Future Life. "The North-West Frontier of India." The principal features of the border land are described, including the British relations with Afghanistan, and the Persian boundary; the apprehension of Russian attack on this frontier is pronounced to be an absurd dream. "Constantinople." An account of the present social and political state of that city, by a writer who has resided there for five years. "The Proposed New University in Manchester." The Duke of Argyll and Disestablishment in Scotland." "The Russian and Turkish War." In this article we have a short account of the actual events and course of the contest up to the present time. "Phases of the Eastern Question." Briefly presents the questions which Europe is now called upon to decide or ratify. The closing section, "Contemporary Literature," reviews, as usual, the principal publications of the last quarter.

The Canadian Monthly and Belford's Monthly are to be amalgamated, the joint publication to be edited by Mr. George Stewart, jun., a vigorous and able writer. The leading features of both magazines will be continued, including the illustrated articles of Belford's.

Who can sell the cheapest, those who pay thousands of dollars rent, or those who pay no rent? Those who have to support three or four partners and families, or those who have only one family to support? Those who lost thousands of dollars—by dealers in Toronto and other places—or those who did not lose one cent? Those who have had forty years' experience, or those who served no apprenticeship to the business they profess to follow? Please consider these questions before it is too late.

MONTREAL, May 6.

Twenty-eight car loads of cattle and about 600 hogs arrived at this market during the past week. Nearly one hundred head of these cattle were bought for shipment to Britain, mostly by Ald. THE GREAT FEMALE REMEDY.

Job Moses Periodical Pills

This invaluable medicine is unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excesses and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied on.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, pains in the back and loins, fatigue on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, hysterics, and whites, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution.

JOB MOSES, New York, Sole Proprietor.

$1 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., general agents for the Dominion, will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pills by return mail.

For sale by W. G. Smith & Co., A. B. Petrie, and G. H. McIntyre, Guelph, and all medicine dealers. 11-yw

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriages, etc., resulting from excesses.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured, without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

☞ This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

MARBLE.—Messrs. McQuillan & Hamilton have just received two car loads of marble, granite, &c., from Rutland, Vermont, where they purchased it at very low prices, considering the superiority of the stock. The firm turns out very handsome work, and are doing a large trade.

THE case of Parsons vs. Queen's Insurance Company is still in progress at the Court of Assize. The case was commenced on Tuesday afternoon, and up to now only five witnesses for the plaintiff have been examined. There are some sixteen to be examined on one side and quite a number for the defence. Rather an uninteresting job for the jurymen, three of whom are from Guelph—Messrs. Jacomb, Weir and Walker.

AN ILLICIT DISTILLER ARRESTED.—Acting under instructions received from High Constable Armstrong, of Guelph, on Wednesday afternoon, a man named Wm. Leeson was arrested by Detective Brown near the Toronto, Grey and Bruce Railway station, in Toronto, and held to the charge of running, or assisting to run an illicit whiskey still in the township of Erin, as far back as June last. At the time the still was seized, two men, Dœring and Bell, were arrested, tried, and fined. The third man, Wm. Leeson, escaped at the time, and managed to elude the officers of justice. Immediately after the arrest was made, word was telegraphed to Guelph, and on Wednesday night Mr. Armstrong went down to the city to bring the prisoner to Guelph. Mr. Armstrong arrived here this morning, and the prisoner commenced to serve out his sentence of six months. He has to pay a fine of $500 besides his imprisonment.

A COMMUNIST IN TROUBLE.—Edmund Mevy, the recognized leader of the French Commune, is in New York. He is said to be the individual who caused the death of Archbishop Darboy of Paris, and also the Chief of Police. He was arraigned the other day charged with threatening the life of Harry Marks, an attache of the World. Marks had written several articles on the Commune, in which Mevy figured prominently. The latter has since threatened the life of the journalist who caused his arrest. Justice Smith soundly lectured Mevy, telling him that the Commune was not an institution of this country, and that its principles would not be tolerated there. He held him in $500 bail to keep the peace.

The occasional "hotel grumbler" is not a rarity, but there are few hotels that give the utmost universal satisfaction both in rates and accommodation that characterizes the Grand Central Hotel, New York. It is concededly the best kept and most popular among all its rivals. eod

My daughter, aged 14 years, was attacked by Diphtheria in its worst form. I employed the most prominent physician in Mount Vernon, who pronounced it a very bad type of that disease. With the doctor's consent we used GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA, with rapid and speedy results. Applied it externally and as a gargle, diluted with water. It appeared to me as though it neutralized the poison in her system.

DIOCESE OF HURON.—It is rumored that the Bishop of Huron (Dr. Hellmuth) has offered to surrender the entire of his income of his Diocese to Rev. Dr. Sullivan, of Chicago, if he will accept the position of Coajutor Bishop. It is understood His Lordship is pressing the offer upon Dr. Sullivan's consideration. There may be some truth in this, but still we doubt it, for Dr. Sullivan in the first place is in the enjoyment of a very handsome stipend, and in the second place it is the Synod of Huron and not the Bishop who would have to make the appointment.

How is it that the authorities have not placed the usual warning at Allan's bridge cautioning parties not to drive over it at a pace faster than a walk? Parties not only drive over the bridge at a brisk trot, but occasionally have their horses on a gallop. It is necessary to have the notice posted, otherwise parties are not liable to be fined for driving rapidly over the bridge.

FIRST GAME OF THE SEASON.—On Thursday afternoon next, the first game of baseball for the Canadian championship will be played in Guelph, between the Maple Leafs and the Iroquois, of Markham. The visiting club is looked upon as a strong team, and a first-class game can be anticipated. The Iroquois lately played a game with the Clippers, of Toronto, and defeated that club by a score of 28 to 4. Each member of the Maple Leaf nine is a Canadian born, and the club is in every sense an amateur one. It is expected that considerable interest will be manifested in the game on Thursday next, and that it will attract a large crowd of visitors. Game will be called at half-past two o'clock.

IMPORTANT TO MILITARY MEN.—The regulations in future with respect to the promotion, up to the rank of Captain, of Adjutants holding subaltern rank, will be as follows:—An Adjutant of a corps in which promotions are made according to seniority in the corps, may be promoted when he becomes senior of his rank therein. In corps where promotions are made in the troop, battery, or company, an adjutant may be promoted when a vacancy occurs to which he would have succeeded had he not been appointed adjutant. But should he not have held rank in any troop, battery or company of the corps in which he is adjutant, he may be promoted as in corps where promotions are made only according to the seniority therein.

A SPLENDID GIFT.—For several years the congregation of St. George's Church, have been paying off the debt on their beautiful building at the rate of $1,000 a year, out of the income of the church, until it has been reduced to $2,500. Taking, however, so large a sum annually out of the income, prevented many desirable improvements from being carried out, and with the expenses incurred in the erection of that ornament to Woolwich street, the new Rectory, caused the congregation some embarrassment. To obviate this, Mr. George Elliott announced to the Vestry that he and Miss Elliott were prepared to give $1,000 to the liquidation of the church debt, if the balance was given by the congregation. We believe that the proposal has met with a hearty response, and that the congregation of St. George may soon be congratulated on having one of the most beautiful churches in the whole Dominion free from debt, and a Rector house in keeping with their church. Mr. and Miss Elliott's noble munificence is worthy of all commendation, and we would say to the wealthy in other congregations "Go and do thou likewise," for "there is that giveth and yet increaseth, and there is that withholdeth more than is meet, but tendeth to poverty."

In the general distribution of medals, if it had been possible for the "International Jury of Award" to have given a medal to the best hotel in Philadelphia, this honor would have been received by the Colonnade, "for all the requisites of a model establishment in every respect."

HEAVY THUNDER STORM.

Damage Done by Lightning.

About six o'clock on Wednesday evening a very heavy thunder storm passed over this neighborhood, and for a short time the rain descended in torrents filling the drains to overflowing and deluging a number of cellars.

A very loud and sharp peal of thunder, that sounded close enough to the centre of the town to cause alarm, gave many the impression that lightning had struck some building and perhaps done considerable damage. The storm only lasted a short time, and after its violence had abated it was learned that the spiralet of St. Bartholomew's Church, in course of erection, had been shattered by the electric fluid.

A reporter made an examination this morning, after climbing over scaffolding after scaffolding until the base of the spiralet was reached. From indications, the lightning struck the iron cross on top, and taking a course down the pole around which the spiralet is built, broke the top portion into splinters and tore off a portion of the outside framework. In its passage downward a couple of the supporting beams were splintered and will have to be renewed. Reaching the ceiling, which has been lathed, the lightning ran along the centre splintering it so badly that it will have to be renewed, tearing off a couple of arched mouldings, damaging one of the principals, and finally running to the ground down the back wall.

It is not thought that the spiralet will have to be taken down entirely, but judging from its unsteady motion at the top when the wind blows strongly, a great portion of it will have to be removed. A practical builder puts the loss at about $1000.

A tree was struck by lightning on the Elora Road and shattered it to pieces.

The rain flooded the cellar of Soden's hotel on Macdonnell street. Mrs Soden expects nothing else but a cellar full of water every time there is a heavy storm of rain until the drains are made sufficiently large to carry off the water. Water ran into the cellar of Hallett & Co's. seed store from the same street. On Norfolk street considerable water ran over the sidewalk into the cellar under Mayor Howard's shop. On Wyndham street water ran over the sidewalk into the cellar of Herod & Co's drug store and a little water in the cellars of the stores as far down as Marcon's

Considerable damage was done in other parts of the town on account of the insufficiency of drains, many of which have been gradually filled up and never cleaned out by the corporation.

There are several low spots on some of the streets,—notably Macdonnel street south side in front of the Mitchell hote stabling, and Quebec street west near St. George's square—which should receive attention from the proper authorities. A few hours work would put both places in good condition.

Attempt to Defraud Insurance Companies.

The Dead Alive Again.

From the London Advertiser Waterloo correspondence the following case of local interest is taken. On the 10th of March, 1877, the Cincinnati, Ohio, papers announced the death of Henry Scharstein, residing in Newport, Kentucky. The account said he jumped from a ferry boat in the Ohio river and was drowned. Scharstein had for many years been a resident of Preston, on the outskirts of Galt, and other parts of this neighborhood, and shortly after his announced deceased his family, most estimable and respectable people, returned to Canada, settling in Berlin. Scharstein, at the time of his disappearance, was a member of various lodges, and had his life insured for $6,000. This, of course, was to go to his wife, but the insurance company, in the absence of proof of the finding of the body, refused to pay the money. The affair might have died out and been forgotten, but murder will out. Scharstein, it seems, was not dead at all, but had concocted a plot to get hold of the insurance money. He followed his family to Canada, accused them first of having received the money, and demanded it. He supposed that when his family had received the money (thinking him dead) and he discovered himself to them they would not dare to betray him. They did not have a cent of the money, however, but this did not appease his wrath, and ever since he has been persecuting those of whom he is not worthy. His wife repudiates him, and this goads him to desperation. Last month Mr. Herman Markworth, a Cincinnati lawyer, received a letter dated at Guelph and signed by Scharstein, in which the make-believe dead man asks him to assume the power of attorney and get the insurance money for Scharstein and his labors would be well rewarded. It was the dark scheme of a desperate man, and it is needless to say did not succeed. It is fortunate for Scharstein that he is on this side of the lines or he might find himself behind prison bars for his attempt to swindle the insurance company and the lodges.

G. C. L. & D. S.—The regular meeting of this Society was held last evening. The attendance was not very large owing no doubt to the unfavorable state of the weather. Dr. Nunan, President, occupied the chair. J. C. Coffee, chairman of the executive committee, reported that complete arrangements had been made for the production of the drama "Hidden Gem" to take place on Friday evening, 17th inst. The exercises of the evening were as follows:—Moral Precepts, by Mr. John Green; Poe's Raven, by Mr. M. Piggott, and Irish Lamentations, a poem by Bishop O'Connell, was given by Dr. Nunan. This completed the recitations, which were all well rendered. J. Harris presented the May number of the Review, which was received very good naturedly notwithstanding that some of its criticisms were very severe. A good programme was promised for the next meeting. The tenor and bass singers of the Catholic Choral Society meet this evening at the usual hour.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

No Change in the Situation.

LONDON, May 8.

The good impression created by Schouvaloff's journey to St. Petersburg is strengthened by the fact that he had long interviews with Lord Salisbury and Beaconsfield before his departure. It is believed that he takes the British reply to certain enquiries and proposals determined upon at St. Petersburg ten days ago, having in view the withdrawal of the Russians and the British from Constantinople, and the facilitating of the assembling of a Congress. Schouvaloff is expected back in two weeks; so nothing decisive can be known until next week. High hopes are entertained in the best diplomatic quarters of the result of his mission.

The Agence Russe says:—Russia has no thought of setting aside England's legitimate influence or exercising an exclusive preponderance of power in Turkey. This is shown by the fact that, despite Russian sacrifices, English influence is still predominant at Constantinople.

A St. Petersburg correspondent, referring to Schouvaloff's mission, says:—The Russians earnestly desire an understanding with England. They believe it would be better for Russian interests than an agreement with Austria, and wish to unite with England for the benefit of the Christians and to secure peace. The only fear is that England may make proposals humiliating to Russia. It is generally believed that in Vienna and Berlin very little desire is felt to see the negotiations between Russia and England succeed.

An Aden despatch says:—A number of British transports, conveying the Indian contingent passed to-day.

OTTAWA, May 8.

Mr. Mills' Bill to authorize the advance of certain sums to the Province of Manitoba in aid of the Public Schools of that Province was read the third time and passed.

The House then went into Committee of Supply, and passed the remaining items of the Supplementary Estimates for the year ending 30th June, 1878, a discussion ensuing among the British Columbia members on the Pacific Railway items.

A short debate arose on the North-West items, and concurrence was then taken in the resolutions reported from Committee of Supply. The amendment made by the Senate to the Bill for the better auditing of the Public Accounts was concurred in. The amendments made by the Senate to the Independence of Parliament Bill were then considered, two of them being concurred in and one dissented from. The amendments made by the Senate to Mr. Irving's Bill regarding Stamps on Promissory Notes were concurred in.

Mr. Mackenzie then moved a motion providing for two distinct sittings of the House to-morrow in order to complete the business, so that a prorogation may take place on Friday.

The Balance of Trade.

While the national policy journals of Canada are pointing to the excess of exports over imports in the States as proof of the prosperity of that country, the leading commercial writers in the States are taking the very opposite view. The New York Times in its issue of yesterday says:—

It is impossible to assign more than one explanation to this extraordinary result, and that explanation must be an unpleasant one. It is that the low water-mark of our industry and exchanges, as indicated by the trade of 1876; is to be touched again and even passed in 1878; that ability and inclination to consume take a diminished quantity of foreign goods and leave for export an increased surplus of domestic productions, mainly produce, and not manufactures; that recuperation is slower, less certain and more vacillating than seemed to be the fact at the close of last October. It is more than a mere coincidence that, directly following a fair and a promising business season came slackening of business, declining imports, increasing exports, a large increase in failures, a feeling of extreme discouragement and uncertainty, a return of bonds from Europe.

The worst years for the merchants, manufacturers and mechanics in the States are those in which a large surplus of exports over imports have proved the poverty of the people.

GALT.—The Reformer says that in that neighborhood wheat was actually in ear on the last of April and the grass fully two feet in length. Good weather might result in a wheat harvest as early as the middle of June.——The foundries are kept running at full time, and orders are received much faster than the work can be turned out.——The Grand River and Shamrock base ball clubs have amalgamated.——The concert given in the Town Hall on Thursday night last, by the band of Waterloo Lodge, I. O. F., proved highly successful, a very large and appreciative audience being present.——The Methodist denomination purpose erecting a handsome church at a cost of about eight thousand dollars. The building will be of stone, and will have a tower spire. The seating accommodation will be ample for 600.

TAX ON ENTIRE HORSES.—The Farmers' Advocate suggests the imposition of a tax on entire horses, in order to prevent inferior animals being put on the road. The amount suggested is $50 per head. The collecting of the tax and the expenditure of it might be placed in the hands of Agricultural Societies in each locality, and, in fact, the right to impose the tax might be left with them. The law might fix a maximum and minimum rate, as some wealthy localities might wish to have it raised to $100, while other poorer sections might consider $25 sufficient. It would create greater interest in the Agricultural Societies, which would also be beneficial.

STILL THEY COME.—We notice the railway companies delivering large quantities of new goods at the Lion this morning. These we are told are some of the bargains secured by Mr. Williamson at the trade sales in Montreal a few days ago—when goods were said to have been sold lower than ever. Special attractions in dress goods.

THURSDAY EVEN'G, MAY 9, 1878.

The Immigration Committee's Report.

One of the most industrious and important Parliamentary Committees is that which has committed to it the subject of Immigration and Colonization, and Mr. Trow, its efficient chairman, devotes much time and labor to his work. Not only that, but he has by personal observation in the North West made himself thoroughly acquainted with that region, and therefore is in every way qualified to direct the inquiries and deliberations of the Committee over which he so ably presides.

The Report of the Committee just issued deals not only with immigration into the Dominion but such other subjects of interest relating thereto, as the meat and cattle trade with Britain; the manufacture of beet-root sugar; the timber interest of British Columbia and its adaptability for settlement; the transportation of passengers and freight into Manitoba; the forests of the Dominion; the manufacture of peat; and the navigation of the Hudson Bay. It will thus be seen that the inquiries of the Committee range over a wide field. We have not room for the Report in full, but will compress into shorter space its main points. The total immigration into Canada for 1877 was 27,082, being an increase of 5.65 per cent over that of 1876. As compared with this it is curious to note that the emigration from Britain during 1877 was 119,971, being over 13 per cent. less than in 1876. Of that number only 95,195 were of British origin. The immigrants reported as having settled in Canada in 1877, entered at the following ports: Quebec, 4,201; Suspension Bridge, 6,453; Halifax, N. S., 930; St. John's, N. B., 141; Portland, Me., 1,513; Manitoba from United States, 2,084; and there were further reported with settlers' goods by frontier Custom Houses 11,759, making a total of 27,082 settlers. In addition to these a considerable number of passengers entered at our ports to go to the Western States. These swell the total number of immigrant arrivals in Canada during the year to 35,285. The cost to Canada of immigrants was only $4.08 per head. The amount of money and value of effects ascertained to have been brought into the Dominion by immigrants during the last year was $632,269; and the unascertained values of effects and money brought would probably swell these figures to about a million dollars. Thus it will be seen that the actual money and value of effects brought into the country by immigrants was about nine fold greater last year than the whole of the ordinary expenditure of the Dominion Government for the servise of immigration; and this quite apart from the infinitely greater value of the immigrants themselves.

The expenditure for immigration in 1877 shows a very marked reduction as compared with the previous year. The gross total expenditure was during that year, $183,672, against $284,065 for the previous year. Take from this refunds by the Provinces, expenses of the London Office, loans to the Icelanders, to be repaid, leave the net expenditure $110,670 being the smallest expenditure since 1871. The Committee think that the immigration establishments have been reduced to as narrow limits as possible, if establishments are at all to be maintained. The number of travelling or lecturing agents in the United Kingdom has been reduced to four, as against the number of thirty-five employed for longer or shorter periods in 1873. The number of stationary agents in the United Kingdom is six, viz., at London, Liverpool, Glasgow, Belfast, Dublin, and Limerick; and on the Continent three, viz., at Hamburg, Paris, and in Switzerland.

The immigration into the Province of Manitoba during the year 1877 was about 7,000, which is very considerable in view of the limited population of that Province and the yet imperfectly developed means of access. The returns of this year will tell a very different story, and we are safe in saying that four times that number will make Manitoba their home. That Province is "all the rage" just now, but we must not forget that a large number of settlers are every year finding their way into Muskoka, Algoma, and the region adjacent to Thunder Bay. As regards British Columbia, the report states that there are large tracts of land in that Province of excellent quality, but we do not expect it will get many settlers till the Pacific Railway is finished. The special schemes of colonization in Manitoba and Keewatin, viz., of the Menonites, the Icelanders, and repatriated Canadians from the United States, have been fairly successful, and appear to be likely in the future to attract further additions without further aid from the Government.

The other subjects taken up in the Report are dealt with at length in an intelligent and liberal spirit. If we are not receiving now so many immigrants as we formerly did they are of a better class, and when once the news of the richness of the North West spreads through Britain and Europe—for the people in these countries are slow to learn—we shall have an immigration into these vast territories equal to that which was witnessed in the United States some twenty years ago.

Meeting of Presbytery.

The Presbytery of Guelph met in Chalmers' Church, Guelph, on the 7th inst., the Rev. Mr. Bentley, Moderator. On motion of Mr. Smellie, seconded by Mr. McDonald, the Presbytery expressed their congratulations to Mr. Wardrope on the honour he had received in having conferred upon him the title of D.D. by the Senate of the University of Queen's College, Kingston. Session records were called for, and produced from nine congregations, and committees appointed to examine. At the afternoon sederunt these committees reported, and each of the records was attested in terms of the report. A committee on the superintendence of students in the bounds was appointed for the year, consisting of Mr. Robert Torrance, Convener; Messrs. J. K. Smith, A. D. McDonald, John Davidson, Charles Davidson, and Thomas McCrae, to report as occasion may require. The Clerk reported that he had received statistical returns from all the congregations in the bounds except Knox Church, Guelph; and Rothsay and Moorefield, stating that the reason of the latter not being forward was the serious illness of Mr. Anderson. A large portion of time was spent considering remits from the General Assembly. Some alterations were proposed on the one containing Regulations anent Ministers' Widows' and Orphans' Fund. It was recommended that the General Assembly deal, on its own merits, with each case of a retired minister who wishes to have his name on a Presbytery roll. The questions proposed to be put to office bearers and formula to be subscribed by them was approved without a change. A committee previously appointed reported on the Remit on Ecclesiastical Procedure, suggesting certain alterations and additions. Most of these were approved by the Presbytery, and the Clerk was instructed to transmit the emendations to the General Assembly. The injunction to deal with those congregations which have not contributed to the Home Mission Fund, was taken up, when on examination it appeared that while there were nine congregations and mission stations in the bounds in default last year there would be no congregations this year, and only one mission station, so far as appeared from the statistics in the hands of the Clerk. It was learned that missionary associations, or what is equivalent thereto, exist in the congregations throughout the Presbytery. Mr. J. B. Hamilton, B. A., a student who had completed his course at College, was introduced as wishing to be taken on trial for license. At a subsequent stage of the proceedings, and after satisfying themselves as to his attainments and standing, the Presbytery, received the application, and agreed to apply to the General Assembly for leave to take him on trial. At his own request leave of absence was granted to Mr. Bentley, for three months, from his congregation, to allow of his visiting Britain, as recommended by his medical adviser, for the benefit of his health, and Mr. Torrance was appointed Moderator of Session during his absence. Dr. Wardrope moved, seconded by Mr. Mullan, in terms of notice previously given, that the Presbytery withdraws its complaint to the Synod of Toronto and Kingston against the Presbytery of Toronto in the matter of organizing a congregation at Ballinafad, when objection having been raised to the consideration of the motion, on the ground that notification had not been sent to the Sessions and congregations more immediately concerned, the Presbytery sustained the objection. Overtures having been made for the purchase, by the German Baptists, of the church and property at New Hamburg, the Clerk was instructed to correspond with the Presbytery of Stratford before any further steps be taken, to ascertain their views as to the disposal of the same. The Clerk reported the arrangements he had made for the supply of the mission stations in the bounds by students, during the summer months, when his conduct was approved. A Committee composed of Messrs. McPherson, J. C. Smith and McCrae, was appointed to visit Elmira and Hawksville, to inquire into the circumstances of the congregation there, and do what they can to encourage them in their present difficulties. A committee appointed at a previous meeting to visit certain congregations with a view to a more advantageous arrangement of the field, was discharged. Considerable time was spent considering what provisions should be inserted in the deed of the property lately purchased for church purposes at Preston, and the procuring supply of preaching in their own tongue to the Germans there who are in connection with this Presbytery. A petition signed by one hundred and three members and fifty-eight adherents of the congregation of St. John's Church, Garafraxa, praying that nothing be done to sever or weaken the tie between them and their pastor, as such a step would not lessen the present difficulty, and would inflict injury on the large majority of the congregation, together with a minute of Session, asking that it be transmitted to the Synod, if the Presbytery proceeded with their reference for advice or judgment was submitted and read. There was also read a minute of resolution adopted by the petitioners for supply of preaching at a meeting which they had held. As there was no one present to support these documents it was decided that they be returned to the parties by whom they have been sent in that they may make such use of them as they see proper before the Synod at their meeting. Other business was delayed. The next meeting was appointed to be held in Chalmers' Church, Guelph, on the second Tuesday of July next.

SIR JOHN and Dr. Tupper shirked the vote on the Canada Central extension lease. The question is one of vital importance to the people of the Province of Quebec and also to those residing in the Ottawa Valley, and to oppose it directly would not be policy. Two amendments of an unconsequential character, moved by Messrs. Bowell and Cameron, were voted down by decisive majorities, and then, when the Ministerialists called for the yeas and nays on the main question, Sir John Macdonald, Dr. Tupper and Mr. Masson left the Chamber. The Government were sustained by the very decisive majority of eighty three.

SIR JOHN MACDONALD has gone to Montreal with Mr. Masson to canvass with the Quebec Local House Tories, in order, if he can, to compass the discomforts of Mr. Joly.

Great destitution is reported among the peasants of the eastern provinces of Central Russia; and as the people are unable to pay taxes, the local administrations are not in a position to afford them relief.

PARLIAMENT will be prorogued on Friday.

THE Globe says that there are no returns yet of the election in Chicoutimi. The Mail says Mr. Price (Opposition) has been elected by a large majority.

THE obstructive course of the Senate in reference to the Pembina Branch Railway Bill will deprive Manitoba of railway communication for some time yet to come.

THE FENIAN MOVEMENT. — A Times Syracuse special reports the arrival of Col. Mulligan, who is travelling through the country, ascertaining the condition of the Fenian organization. He says that in case of war the Fenians propose to invade Canada from Ogdensburg to Fort Erie. A prominent citizen of Cleveland has contributed $25,000 towards the purchase of arms. Mulligan left for Oswego afterwards. The feeling in favor of a Canada raid is so strong that one will probably be made, war or no war.

CORSETS. CORSETS.

Physicians, Women's Rights Advocates, Collectors of Mortuary Statistics, and Reformers generally

Have all had their fling at Corsets on sanitary grounds. Like the critics of the chameleon, "they are all right and all wrong," because Corsets made in the ordinary way may with justice be condemned, though those constructed in accordance with nature's laws are decidedly beneficial and hygienic to the female body. They support the bust, soften the sudden changes of tempreature, and import a firmness and support to the spinal column that are peculiarly useful. All this can be effected without torturing the body, but on the contrary improving the general health, and adding much to the grace and elegance of the well dressed woman. A Corset to fulfil all these requirements should be fashioned after nature's model, and when that is done the garment will be perfect.

Wm. Stewart & Co. impressed with the truth of this idea have secured Corsets after NATURE'S MODEL. Our stock is now full in every size of the popular

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XXXIX.

THE GAUGER MAKES A DISCOVERY AND EFFECTS A SEIZURE WHICH PROMISES TO LEAD TO SOMETHING VERY IMPORTANT.

Under cover of the deepening twilight and the approach of such darkness as that summer night would know, the gauger and his men proceeded in silence towards that place among the hills whence, from the eminence in the forest, Gillespie had seen the smoke ascending. The gathering gloom had facilitated their unobserved approach, but the additional precautions were taken to pass along the hollow places which ran in the required direction, to avoid the ridges and the open slopes, and to choose the grassy parts of the path, on which their tread would fall lightly, and give forth no sound. Gillespie had left his horse in an old sheiling, as it would have been more a hindrance than an assistance to him in the deep and rugged roads they had to climb. He had given the order that no conversation should take place except when absolutely necessary, and then only in a whisper. Thus every means were adopted to render the expedition successful.

Gillespie was elated beyond measure. He deemed that he was now about to reach the source of those extensive smuggling operations which had so long baffled and humiliated him, and he exulted in his expected triumph as well as in the prospect of that promotion which his achievement would bring to him. If he was right in his surmise, the band they were to confront must be large; they would resist desperately; therefore there was likely to be a severe fight, the very anticipation of which made Gillespie's nostrils dilate and his bosom swell. He never doubted that he would gain the mastery, for he had a strong, well-armed force at his back, and each man was as determined as himself to win the battle. Besides the professional ardour which animated them, they had to avenge the death of their comrade on the Hill of Fare; he could therefore count on their efficient support, and looked on his his victory as already gained.

Though the gorge from which Gillespie had seen the smoke rise appeared to be but a very few miles away from the eminence in the forest, actual distance in the Highlands are scarcely to be estimated with anything like exactness. The inequality of the ground, the deep valleys, the huge elevations, make many miles of travelling space to intervene between the two points which seem not far sundered "as the crow flies." Thus after several hours of toilsome walking the party still found themselves still far short of the spot to which they were bound. On the whole they had been able to advance with considerable directness, and the gauger had taken the bearings of the place so accurately and minutely that they could go towards it without any hesitation. The darkness never became so very great as to shut from their sight the principal objects of the landscape, and by fixing their eyes on those they gradually lessened every hour the distance they required to travel.

Deep and unbroken was the solitude through which they passed. The motionless hills which stood round about them seemed listening to the silence, which ever and anon was deepened rather than disturbed by the sharp cry of a night bird or the howl of a fox in some far-off glen.

At last, about midnight, they drew near the gorge, whose dark sides they had seen all the way, and which their leader had constantly pointed out to them as the gaol which they had to reach. Now they required to use double caution, for scouts might be posted on the hill, whose observation it was specially desirable that they should elude. They crept on, therefore, under every covert they could find, treading lightly and carefully, lest their feet should strike against the stones.

The gorge was very deep, dark, and rugged. Thickly-branched pine trees spread along its summit, but on the lower part of its sides grew only bushes and brambles—the bottom being the watercourse, presently dry, of a mountain torrent. It might have been a dry, picturesque place in daylight, when the rays of the noon-day sun glinted on the variegated verdure with which the slopes were adorned; but in the obscurity of night it was gloomy in the extreme—indeed, so murky that they were forced slowly to grope their way up the steep aclivity.

It looked as if the gauger had brought his men into that dismal ravine on a wild-goose chase, for it seemed utterly deserted by man. Neither hut nor sheiling enlivened its solicitude, but Gillespie knew that it was just in such secluded nooks of the mountain that this illegal work went on, and he whispered the order for each man to use his eyes well, and be on the watch for any streak of light that might show itself.

"We are now at the very spot where I saw the smoke rise," he said to the man by his side. "They'll likely be burrowing underground in some cave or hole among the rocks where the devil himself could hardly find them."

"Then, what chance have we?" rejoined his companion, despondingly.

"The chance which the night and a close search will give us," said the gauger. "Man can't breathe, fires can't burn, whiskey can't be made without connection of some kind with the open air. The cave or hole will have an opening—a crack, or chink, or something—and through it a gleam of light may stream to catch our eye. Ha! is yonder not a stream of light?" he added, grasping the other by the arm.

"Where?"

"High up there to the right."

"I see nothing."

They had come to a stand in the path, and the others came up and joined them.

"Do none of you see anything?" asked the gauger, sharply.

"Not I," replied one.

"Nor I," said a second.

"Nor I," added two or three, in one whisper.

"I do," said Ned Skeat, who had been behind the others, but now came up and joined them. "I see a faint blue light come through the side of that rock."

"Right, Ned—that's what I mean," rejoined Gillespie, with feverish eagerness. "I said there would be some chink or crevice to show a light. Now, men, be quiet as weasles, and we'll take them by surprise. Keep close and follow me. Ned, this is a glorious chance for us."

"Do you think it is the headquarters of Black Dick's gang?" asked Skeat in a whisper.

"I have little doubt of it. Daddy Duff wouldn't satisfy me on that point, but I saw it in his face."

"Logan may be with them," suggested Skeat.

"'Tis like he may. But I can't help that. He knows I am resolved to hunt down all smugglers, and his party among the rest. I told him so."

"They may fight—this may be another Hill of Fair business."

"Can't help that, neither. We are strong for them, and if they are mad enough to resist I am not to blame for what may happen. But I am not afraid of any of them taking to steel or iron, except Dick himself. He's devil enough for anything. I tell you what it is, Ned—hist a word in your ear. I hope Dick will show fight."

"Why?"

"Because then I'll have liberty to shoot him, and I mean to do it if the chance offers. Confound it, the light's gone!"

The same remark was made at the moment by several of the men immediately behind, from whose eyes the light had suddenly vanished; but those in the extreme rear of the party intimated that they saw it still, and when those in front retraced their steps it became visible to them again.

"Oh, I see how it is," said Gillespie. "We had turned a point of rock which intercepted the light. If we go farther we may loose it altogether. We must climb up from here."

The men looked rather blankly at the huge mass of steep slope which towered above them, thinking of the difficulty and dangerous task which the words of their leader implied. Gillespie, however, set the example of executing it by making a dash at the brae and vaulting upward, when the rest immediately prepared to follow in his wake.

Arthur Correspondence—The Catholic Union.

The Catholic Union lately formed in this village has caused some little excitement in the community, and made people inquire if there was any cause for the Roman Catholics of this vicinity and Riding, joining themselves together for mutual protection and equal rights, along with their fellow Protestant subjects. We think it can be fully said that neither side can claim to be entirely free from religious bigotry, and that ultras on both sides are guided more by their religious prejudices than their political principles, both in municipal and parliamentary elections. As regards this village and the community around it, there has been for the last fifteen years, or more, the best of feeling existing between Protestants and Roman Catholics, and it has been the earnest desire of leading men on both sides to cultivate a fraternal harmony of feeling, and wipe out all bitterness that may have existed in times gone by, and as we fondly hoped would again return. So successful was this spirit been that strangers noticing the good mixture of all classes at public gatherings, whether religious or secular, were constrained to remark on the good feeling that prevailed among the different religious denominations in and around Arthur. Can the defeat of Roman Catholic candidates, in every instance, be attributed to religious bigotry? We think not. For instance, the late contest for the Reeveship in Arthur Township—when Mr. O'Donnel was defeated by about thirty votes, was not due altogether to his religion. Some of his bitterest opponents were Roman Catholics, and a great many polled their votes against him—far more than were necessary to elect him. Mr. O'Donnel, immediately after the elections, expressed himself well satisfied with the result in the first Ward—which is strongly Protestant—that it passed his expectations, and that it was his own people that defeated him.

The same thing happened with Mr. E. J. O'Callaghan, when he ran for the Local House. He lost the election by about 60 votes, and he counted 35 Roman Catholic votes himself that were polled against him, and it is well known that there were a much larger number—at all events, more than was necessary to place him at the head of the poll. Now, we don't pretend to say that no Protestant voted against either of these candidates on religious grounds, but what we want to show is that the good feeling that has hitherto existed among the Roman Catholics and Protestants of Arthur and this part of the County of Wellington, was demonstrated in these two elections. We have shown that Mr. O'Donnel, received a fair support in the strongest Protestant Ward in the Township of Arthur, and that Mr. O'Callaghan could have been elected to the Local House if his co-religionists had supported him unanimously. The result of both elections were such that neither gentlemen need to be ashamed of them.

To show that Roman Catholics are not free from prejudice any more than Protestants, we might refer to Mr. Foley's election, when the bulk of the Roman Catholic vote was cast on the Reform side for the first time in this Riding. We believe that the gentlemen who have taken the lead in organizing this Catholic Union are as anxious to maintain the good feeling that has heretofore existed among all classes in the community as we are, but we are afraid they have made a mistake, and that instead of lifting themselves into political influence it will open up strife and renew religious bickerings, and awaken animosities between the two great religious bodies in this County. We would kindly recommend to the great body of Roman Catholic voters in this County to follow the example of their own Church, and learn to suffer long and patiently, and join hands with good men on both sides who have labored hard and with some degree of success, to break down all religious barriers, and elect men on their merits, independent of creed.

RAILWAY MATTERS.—Our by-law, granting $12,000 to the Arthur Junction Railway, passed with only two votes against it. It is to be hoped that our Railway Committee will push ahead, and get the rest of the bonuses as quickly as possible. The people are getting impatient to know the result. There is no doubt that the future welfare of Arthur Village and the surrounding country centering there is wrapt up in the railway scheme now before them. The people of Mount Forest are bestirring themselves, and have four railway schemes before the public. It has been suggested that they come down and hitch on to our road, and lay a third rail on the Narrow Gauge track, if arrangements could be made with the Toronto, Grey & Bruce Company. It would certainly be a more feasible plan than any of the lines they are agitating, and as Arthur has got the start, they might as well follow into line.

THE CROPS.—The promised early spring bids fair to be late enough. The late storms have damaged crops sown on hilly ground by washing the seed into gulleys, and on very flat land the water has covered it so long that it is turning yellow; but meadows are doing well, also fall wheat. There is fully one half of the spring crop to sow yet, and if the weather continues to hold up, will be got in good time.

Arthur, May 7th, 1878.

Harriston Correspondence.

Railway excitement is likely to become rife once more, the S. and L. H. railway company are apparently feeling their way. It is expected Harriston and Minto will give a bonus, the amount of which is not generally known.

A. G. Markle, of the Royal Hotel, has advertised for tenders for the erection of an addition to his already commodious hotel, and for extensive improvements. Mr. Markle is determined to keep Harriston in the front rank for hotel accommodation. The hotel when completed promises to be second to none in Western Canada.

Silas Welte is already busy preparing to rebuild his cabinet factory, recently destroyed by fire. He purposes building of brick this time on a site purchased by him from James Moore, more distant from the business part of the place than the old one.

I. B. Taylor, pop manufacturer, is also rebuilding of brick. On the ruins of the old buildings will be erected superior ones.

Farmers are pretty well through with their spring work. They are complaining of too much rain as the ground is too soft to work.

The T. G. & B. R. have arranged to run two trains a day through from Teeswater to Toronto, the time table of which up to time of writing has not appeared. It is said it will be much more convenient for the travelling public.

The 24th of May will merely be observed here as a holiday, without any demonstration. Clifford will show her loyalty on that occasion by giving a mammoth celebration. It is expected Dominion Day will be duly celebrated here.

Robinson & Robertson are erecting a brick building, near the Guelph Barrel Factory, to be used by them as a private bank.

The latest addition in the way of business is the opening of a new barber shop by the Bansley Bros., on Elora street, where they are prepared to do business in good style.

A very heavy thunderstorm passed over here on Thursday night last, threatening devastation as it went. Lightning struck the stone foundation of William Millar's residence, and knocked the end out of it and left some visible marks of its violence nearly all the way up the end of the building. No further damages reported from it.

At the meeting of the Presbytery of Bruce, held last week the call from Knox Church to the Rev. John Anderson, of Tiverton, was made, but that gentleman's congregation having raised his stipend, and presenting a contra petition, signed by about three hundred, he refused to accept the call. As Knox church congregation is a large wealthy body with a handsome church, they will likely get a pastor ere long, though they are for the time disappointed. It was generally thought the Rev. Mr. Anderson would have accepted, as he doubtless would have done, had it not been for the influence brought to bear by his own people.

A deputation, consisting of Col. Sproat, Mr. McLay and others, of Walkerton, visited this place on Friday last for the purpose of inspecting the fire engine, its fame having spread about owing to its great execution at the late fire. It is attracting considerable attention and will be the means of causing other towns to furnish themselves with steamers. At the time this engine was purchased last summer there was considerable opposition to it, but those who were instrumental in its purchase have now the satisfaction of seeing their policy universally approved as those who opposed it are prepared to admit its noble service.

Joshua Howse, the gentleman whose saw mill was burned some time ago, has a new mill under way, and expects to have it running in time to cut all his logs. Mr. Howse is a sterling business man, and it is hoped he will be equal to the emergency in his late severe loss.

Alex. Gibson, of Minto, raised a splendid frame barn on Friday last, wherein to store his grain The farmers of Minto generally are making great improvements on their farms, which will in a few years place Minto second to no Township in Ontario.

The Harriston Brown base ball club has leased the Exhibition Ground for the season. The ground is a good one, inclosed with a close board fence. Base ball is coming into more than ordinary prominence here. The Brown's have some players that would do no discredit to larger places. Among the best players we mention P. Lavin, who has identified himself with the base ball interest, and to whom in no small degree belongs the credit of bringing it to its present good standing. Last year this gentleman in playing seven matches had not a single error scored against him. There are others whose names bid fair to become prominent in the annals of Canadian base ball playing.

Geo. Newton attended a prayer meeting at Rocton recently, and to raise a laugh put a comical mask on his face. For this prank he had to pay $8.30 by order of a magistrate.

THE TWO ARMIES.

(O. W. HOLMES.)

As life's unending column pours,
Two marshalled hosts are seen—
Two armies on the trampled shores
That death flow black between.

One marches to the drum-beat's roll,
The wide-mouthed clarion's bray,
And bears upon a crimson scroll,
"Our glory is to slay."

One moves in silence by the stream,
With sad yet watchful eyes,
Calm as the patient planet's gleam
That walks the clouded skies.

Along its front no sabres shine!
No blood-red pennons wave;
Its banner bears the single line,
"Our duty is to save."

For those no death-bed's lingering shade,
At honor's trumpet-call,
With knitted brow and lifted blade,
In glory's arm they fall.

For these no flashing falchions bright,
No stirring battle-cry;
The bloodless sabre call by night—
Each answers, "Here am I!"

For those the sculptor's laurelled bust,
The builder's marble piles,
The anthems pealing o'er their dust,
Through long cathedral aisles.

For these the blossom-sprinkled turf
That floods the lonely graves,
When spring rolls in her sea-green surf
In flowery-foaming waves.

Two paths lead upward from below,
And angels wait above,
Who count each burning life-drop's flow,
Each falling tear of love.

Though from the hero's bleeding breast
Her pulses freedom drew,
Though the white lillies in her crest
Sprang from the scarlet dew—

While valour's haughty champions wait
Till all their scars are shown,
Love walks unchallenged through the gate,
To sit beside the throne!

Priceville Correspondence.

The greatest religious revival ever known in this section, which is now about ended, after having continued about three months, resulted in the baptising of about seventy converts to the Baptist Church, about seventy-five new communicants to the Presbyterian Church, and some to the Methodist. The revival spread to Durham, where the Baptist Church baptised about seventy-five. At the end of the services in Durham, the Rev. Mr. McGahay challenged Professor Torrence to a public discussion on the subject of Baptism, to be held in the drill shed, in Durham. Mr. Torrence accepted the challenge, but unfortunately Mr. McGahay was taken ill, which has delayed the discussion for some time. As a great many people are anxious to hear it, it is to be hoped it will not be long delayed, as Mr. McGahay has some note as a debater, and Mr. Torrence thoroughly understands his subject.

Spring set in very early this year. Most of the farmers are done seeding, and crops are looking well.

A number of parties have left here for Manitoba. They write back that parties who are comfortable here should stay, as times are dull there, and but little work to do.

Business as a rule is dull, very little money is in circulation, probably such a scarcity was never known here since the county was first settled.

Some good bargains are to be got in farms here by parties who are selling out and going west. Farmers in your section who want cleared farms cheap should take a look through this section, as good farms can be bought very much below their value. So much for the Manitoba excitement.

Erin Township Council.

The Council met at Kirk's Hall, Hillsburgh on the 2nd inst., for the purpose of considering petitions presented for aid to roads, and for other business; the Reeve in the chair. Members present—Deputy-reeve McMillan, Deputy-reeve Reed, and Dr McNaughton, Councillor; Mr. Pearen was absent on account of ill-health.

Moved by Mr. Reid, seconded by Mr. McMillan, that three days statute labor be allowed to Archibald Thomson in lieu of three days extra worked last year, and the clerk be instructed to note the same.—Carried.

On motion by Mr. McMillan, seconded by Mr. Reid, Mr. Henshaw was released from performing statute labor this year, on account of over-charge in taxable income.

On motion by Mr. Reid, seconded by Dr. McNaughton, the Council formed a Committee of the whole to consider road petitions.

Petitions were carefully considered in Committee.

On the Council resuming, it was moved by Mr. McMillan, seconded by Dr. McNaughton, that the Treasurer be instructed to give a statement of the amount of money in the treasury at next meeting of the Council.

Moved by Mr. McMillan, seconded by Mr. Reid, that Alfred O'Reilly's taxes of $2.82 be struck off the Roll on account of sickness.

Moved by Mr. Reid, seconded by Mr. McMillan, that this Council adjourn to meet at C. Anderson's hotel, Ospringe, on the 31st day of May, inst., for the purpose of holding a Court of Revision, and other township business.

WM. TYLER, Clerk.

West Garafraxa Council.

The Council of this Township met on call of the Reeve, at the "Sheaf of Wheat" Hotel, on Saturday, April 27th. Members all present.

The Auditors' Report for 1877 was received, read, and adopted.

On motion, $85.67 was received from J. L. Smith, in full, of his taxes for 1877; $55 was ordered to be paid to Peter Green for repairing a bridge on 1st Concession, at Lot 16; and $2 to Wm. Howitt for repairing 5th line, at Lot 25; and $1.80 to the Nichol Insurance Company, being the amount of assessment on the drill shed in Douglas.

On motion a by-law was introduced and passed, detaching the N. E. half of lots 31, 32, 33, and 34, in the 2nd Concession, and the S. W. halves of Lots 31, 32, 33, and 34, in the 3rd Concession, from Union School Section No. 1, Arthur Village and Garafraxa, with the view to form a union with a portion of the Township of Luther. Also a by-law detaching the S. W. half of Lot No. 1, in the 1st Concession, from Union School Section No. 3, Nichol.

James Porter and David Martin were appointed road overseers in their respective divisions. On motion the Reeve, Deputy Reeve, and Councillors were authorized to expend $60 each on the roads in their divisions, which divisions are to remain the same as last year.

Councillor Kennedy was directed to repair a bad portion of the side road between Lots 5 and 6, on the 6th Concession.

The Clerk was directed to suggest to the Local Superintendent and the Commissioners appointed to form a new Union School Section, with a portion of the Township of Luther, the advisability of adding the N. E. halves of Lots 33 to 34, in the 2nd Concession of said union.

W. CAMPBELL, Township Clerk.

Eramosa Township Council Meeting.

This Council met at the Centre Inn on Monday, 6th inst., all the members being present, the Reeve in the chair. The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Messrs. Waters and Hortop were appointed a Committee to examine the roads south of the gravel road, and the Reeve, with Messrs. Duffield and Mutrie, to examine those on the north side of said road, and to report at the next meeting of Council.

J. Anderson's account of $1.55 for stationary, &c., was ordered to be paid.

Two road scrapers were directed to be procured for the divisions under Josiah Royce and Charles McDougal.

$3 were ordered to be paid to John O'Boyle for repairing a culvert at lot 20, 5th line.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Guelph Markets.

GUELPH, May 9, 1878.

During the past week the markets here have been very quiet. Very little grain has been offered, but that brought in has found ready buyers. About the only changes in the quotations to note are a slight raise in spring wheat, and lowering of the price of butter. A magnificent lot of butter was purchased on the market to-day for 12 cents.

The first wool of the season was brought in to-day—eight fleeces—for which 28 cents per lb. were paid. From what can be learned from large dealers outside the Guelph market, it is not anticipated that wool will reach a higher price than was paid last year. It is said that the stock of wool now held by Canadians from last year's clip will amount to as large a figure as 750,000 lbs. Whatever the ruling price is, however, Wellington wool always fetches the highest figure in any market. Latest quotations are appended:—

Upper Canada Bible Society.

The thirty-eighth anniversary of the Upper Canada Bible Society was held in St. Andrew's Church, Toronto, on Wednesday evening. In the absence of Hon. G. W. Allan, President, the Rev. William Reid, D.D., one of the Vice-Presidents, occupied the chair.

Among other things the report states that up to the end of February the income was largely in advance of the receipts in the corresponding month period of the preceding year. But in March so much less was received that the total income fell short $708, being $31,335 compared with $32,043. It is very encouraging, however, to note that this difference is more than accounted for in bequests during the previous year, and that in such a time of continued stringency the receipts of the Society from ordinary sources show an actual increase of $1,025. The bequests received during the past year were $40 from the late Mr. John Thom, who was for several years a director of the Society, and always a very liberal contributor to its funds; $1,000 from the late Mr. James Cerswell, of Tecumseh; $40 from the late Mr. John Munro, of Grafton; and $50 from the late Miss T. Galbraith, of Princetown. The issues of the Society in the year have amounted to 38,769 copies, being 595 more than in the preceding twelve months. The total number of the copies of the Scriptures issued by the Society since its formation is 1,049,486. There are eighty-five branches on the auxiliary's list. Fifteen of these, however, have for several years made no returns, and will in most cases be struck off when the Board resumes direct connection with this part of the Society's field, as they are only a cause of expense. Forty-two have sent free contributions to the amount of $1,773.

In addition to those that have been under the superintendence of the London Committee, the Society had last year 366 branches in direct communication with the Board. Of these, four have been struck off the list, and three have been reduced to the position of mere depositories. Only three new branches have been formed and two new depositories, so that there are 362 branches and five other depositories.

The total income of the Society in the year has been $31,335.77. Deducting bequests, we find the receipts from ordinary sources, $30,115.77, to be $1,025 more than last year.

The number of Bibles, Testaments, and portions, which have been issued from the Society's House during the past twelve-months is 38,769, being 595 more than the number sent out the previous year.

Among the reports from foreign countries that of southern Russia and the field of war is at the present time most interesting:—

In a recent letter the Rev. S. B. Bergne, one of the Society's Secretaries, says:—"The issues in South Russia have risen, in consequence of the active steps taken in connection with the war, to nearly four times the level reached in 1876. Without unduly anticipating the details, which will be given in the Annual Report, it may be said that, whereas in 1876 the aggregate was 61,982, during the past year it has been 230,322. This, however, includes supplies made to the Russian troops in Roumania by Mr. Watt's colporteurs."

The Turkish prisoners in Russian prisons and hospitals have not been forgotten, and thousands of copies of the Scriptures have been presented "From the British and Foreign Bible Society to the sick and wounded soldiers."

Mr. Millard writes:—

"The figures from the seat of war are, up to November 24—sales, 34,642; gifts, 58,770; total, 93,412 copies; and you are sufficiently acquainted with the details of the work to know that such figures are not reached without much anxious toil."

Total issues for the year, 38,769.

Issues in foreign languages (included in above total):—German, 716; French, 511; Greek, 75; Gaelic, 64; Hebrew, 61; Latin, 38; Swedish, 21; Italian, 19; Icelandic, 10; Norwegian, 8; Chinese, 8; Spanish, 6; Objibway, 4; Welsh, 3; Irish, 3; Dutch, 3; Russian, 2; Armenian, 2; Syriac, 2; Hindustani, 2;—total 1,558.

Eloquent addresses were then given by Principal Dawson, of Montreal, Rev. Mr. Ross, agent of the Society, and others.

PARIS, May 10.—The Prince of Wales assured the French Government that England will not take any measures respecting the Suez Canal without first consulting France.

AN IMPORTANT DECISION.—In the suit of Hanna & Co. vs. The steamer of Manitoba, of the Beatty Line, for damages sustained by the loss of the propellor Comet and her cargo, in a collission with the former vessel, on the 26th of August, 1875, in Lake Superior, a decision has been rendered, finding both vessels at fault, and a decree given that the damages be divided. The decision gives the funds in court to the owners of the Comet.

PRINCE ARTHUR'S LANDING RAILWAY.—The Prince Arthur's Landing and Kaministiquia Railway was formally opened on Saturday, the 4th inst. The first train left Prince Arthur's Landing at 9 a.m., ascending the Canada Pacific Railway about fifty miles. The same evening a public entertainment was given to celebrate the event. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed, and all the proceedings were attended with great eclat.

PAT'S INGENIOUS PLEA.—Defendant—"Now, doctor, by vartue of your oath, didn't I say, 'Kill or cure, docthor, I'll give you a guinea?' And didn't you say, 'Kill or cure, I'll take it?" Doctor—"You did, and I agree to the bargain; and I want the guinea accordingly." Defendant—"Now, docthor, by vartue of your oath answer this: Did you cure my wife?" Doctor—"No, she's dead; you know that." Defendant—"Then, docthor, by vartue of your oath answer this: Did you kill my wife?" Doctor—"No; she died of her illness." Defendant (to the Bench)—"Your worship, see this. You heard him tell our bargain. It was kill or cure. By vartue of his oath he done neither, and he axes the fee!" The verdict, however, went against poor Pat, notwithstanding his ingenuity.

IMPORTANT RAILWAY MEETING.—On Tuesday last a most important meeting of delegates from the municipalities of Listowel, Palmerston, Clifford, Normanby, Sullivan, and other townships to the northward, was held at Chesley, under the auspices of the Stratford & Huron Railway Co., for the purposes of considering the best means of securing the construction of the line to the shore of the Lake. The Reeve of Elderslie was appointed chairman. The directors in answer to questions, said the amount of bonuses required was at the rate of $6,500 per mile, and they would make the line from Listowel to Clifford if Minto, Howick and Clifford would give $80,000. The Palmerston Telegraph says that the delegates from Minto said they could not promise any bonus to the Clifford route, and as the delegates from that village could not promise the amount required the directors were asked if they had any other scheme. They said that the line would be carried through Palmerston and Minto to Harriston if those three municipalities would give $80,000. The delegates from these places would not promise any sum, although they knew the full amount could be raised, because it appeared to them the directors were desirous of giving Clifford first chance. An animated but friendly discussion was kept up till the small hours of the morning, and when day was about to dawn the meeting decided to give Clifford time to see what she can do with Minto and Howick, in the matter of raising the $80,000.

AT three o'clock to-day His Lordship concluded his charge to the jury sitting on the case of Parsons vs. Queen's Insurance Company. The case was called at four o'clock on Tuesday afternoon.

ST. GEORGE.—At the meeting of the executive committee of St. George's Society, held in the rooms on Thursday afternoon there were present besides the members of the committee Mr. Roach, President of the North American St George's Union, Mr. J. E. Pell, Secretary, Mr. Howles, President of Hamilton St. George's Society and Mr. Green ex-president. The arrangements regarding the convention of the Union to be held here in August were advanced a stage.

CHECKER MATCH.—On Thursday evening the return match between Halton and Guelph players took place in the Caledonian rooms here—twelve a side. The result was in favor of Guelph by five games. J. Naismith acted as scorer. The score follows:—

HALTON.	Games.	GUELPH.	gm.	dw.

Total	35	Total	40	21

A championship match was played between John Leslie, of Halton, and Murdoch McKenzie of Guelph, resulting in a victory for the later. The former gentleman won one game only, the latter two games, and there was one draw. Mr. McKenzie now claims to be champion of the counties of Wellington and Halton.

A DEMON.—John Henry McDonald, a stripling of about eighteen summers, has been before the Police Magistrate on several occasions during the past year charged with beating his mother, who is a very delicate woman living near the Great Western station. His conduct was so outrageous that he was sent to gaol for a term. On his liberation he got drunk, and after reaching home threatened to take the life of his mother. She after securing his arrest did not appear against him and he was therefore liberated on promising to leave town. On Thursday he was again arrested on a charge of assaulting one Bridget Sweeney and is now in goal. He will be tried to-morrow.

GUELPH RIFLES.—Through the exertions of Mr. Speirs, Lieutenant commanding, the armory of No. 2 Company has been altered in many material points, and when finished, will present a room admirably adapted for the purpose for which it is intended. The Rifles are now in that condition which any commanding officer would desire it to be in—that is, composed of athletic young men who desire to become thoroughly conversant in drill, and who take an individual interest in the welfare of the company. Guelph will stand in the foremost rank of the Battalion, and the members will be not only a credit to the Company, but equally so to the country. At the drill on Thursday evening, there was nearly a muster of a full company.

Serious Accident.

On Thursday afternoon, shortly after four o'clock, Mr. J. F. C. Haldan, Guelph, had his right foot taken off by a train on the Wellington, Grey & Bruce Railway at Elora station.

It is the old story over again. Attempting to board a train while in motion—a mis-step—a fall,—and the train passes on, leaving the victim sometimes killed outright, and at times only mangled.

Mr. Haldan was in Elora during the day on business, and reaching the station just as the train was moving off, he hurriedly caught hold of the hand rail and ran along with the train preparatory to jumping on. Not observing a baggage truck standing on the platform in running partially sideways, as it is necessary to do in the position he was in, he struck violently against it and immediately lost his hold of the railing—falling along side the track, his right leg going over the rail. It was only a few seconds and the train passed over the limb, almost severing it and shattering the bone of the leg half way to the knee.

The train was stopped, and Conductor Lillis had the injured man conveyed to Biggar's hotel. An amputation of the limb near the knee was necessary, and the operation was performed by Drs. Paget and Savage. Dr. Herod, of Guelph, was sent for, and he visited the patient in the evening, finding him as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

Mrs. Haldan left Guelph for Elora this morning.

On Tuesday night the residence of Col. Perley, Burford, was discovered to be in flames. The sleeping inmates were aroused in time to escape by the windows, or a few moments delay would have added to the already serious loss, that of human life. The homestead was one of the most pretentious in that section of the country, and the calamity is a serious one, for the loss will reach $3,000 or over, and no insurance on it.

Mr. G. W. Ross, M. P., received a most enthusiastic reception from his constituents upon his arrival at Strathroy on Thursday. The price of wood has gone up in Paris to such a pitch that it is sold in the hotels at the rate of about sixty dollars a cord. And it is claimed that the hotels make but a small profit on it at that rate. Our speculators may find it worth their while to inquire whether in may not be more profitable to send wood to Paris than beef to London. It certainly would not be sending coals to Newcastle, as has recently been done in England.—N. Y. Observer.

The village Council in Brussels has submitted a by-law for $50,000 to be given as a bonus to John D. Ronald, of Chatham, to assist in establishing a machine shop in that place. The amount of capital to be invested in the establishment by Mr. Ronald is stated to be $30,000.

The first steel vessel of war in Her Majesty's navy, the Comus, has just been launched, and it is understood that she is merely the precursor of many similar ships. Some time back Sir Joseph Whitworth, the greatest machinist of the day, gave it as his opinion that iron-clad ships had reached the point of absurdity under their enormous panoply of armour, which threatened to bury them, just as the Knights of old were stifled by the weight of their armour, and that we were bound to return to first principles by building steel ships of amazing lightness and speed, carrying one or two guns of immense power. His prediction is now likely to be fulfilled, and that not a day too soon.

The recent explosion in Minneapolis suggests a little known danger in flouring mills. It appears that the exceeding fine dust of flour and bran, when mixed with nine volumes of air becomes a dangerously explosive compound if approached with a naked light. In this instance the explosion was terrific in its effects. The roof of the immense building was flung into the air, and the whole structure fell to ruins, while three or four other mills near by followed the example almost instantly.

STILL THEY COME.—We notice the railway companies delivering large quantities of new goods at the Lion this morning. These we are told are some of the bargains secured by Mr. Williamson at the trade sales in Montreal a few days ago—when goods were said to have been sold lower than ever. Special attractions in dress goods.

The Port Albert Murder.

On Thursday at the Goderich Assizes Duncan McDonald was tried for inflicting such wounds on the person of Roderick Munro, on the 26th of July last that he died on the 29th of last December. From the evidence it appeared that the prisoner boarded at the house of the deceased, in the village of Port Albert, in the County of Huron, and also kept a team there with which he was engaged in hauling tanbark. On the evening of the day first mentioned the prisoner who had been drinking in a tavern in the village a short distance from the deceased's house, was taken home by another young man and left there. About ten o'clock the young man who had accompanied McDonald from the tavern to Munro's, heard quarrelling at the house of deceased, and going there with some others found Munro lying in a pool of blood at the back of his house, and McDonald with a piece of board in his hand, with which he was apparently just about to strike the prostrate man. In the presence of these witnesses and of the prisoner, Munro made a remark to the effect that "Dunc had done for him now." Munro was carried into the house, and found to have frightful gashes in the head and back, on one arm, and one knee—four in all. An axe with blood upon it was found just after the occurrence. Two sons of deceased, both young lads, who were examined, deposed to having been awakened out of their sleep on the night in question by loud vociferation, in which they distinguished the yelling of their mother, and cursing and swearing by the prisoner, both apparently being out in front of the house. Deceased then rushed into the bedroom where the boys were, closed the door, and stood with his back against it. The lads then heard a hammering at the door, and immediately afterward an axe came through it. One of the boys had just jumped out of the window of the bedroom, and as soon as the door was broken in his father followed him by the same means of egress. At the same time the other son of the deceased went out of the bedroom door, passing on his way McDonald, who had in his hand the axe afterwards found with blood upon it. The deceased, preceded by the son who had got out of the window before him, ran round to the back of the house upon making their exit from the bedroom, and were there followed by McDonald, whom the lads then saw strike their father three blows with the axe, which he still carried in his hand, two blows when the deceased was lying on the ground. Subsequently the prisoner struck deceased with a piece of board, and just then the other parties referred to came up. An examination of the injured man shortly after the occurrence showed a very long wound across the forehead down through the skull and the membrane covering the brain, but not into the latter; a very ugly gash about seven inches long between the shoulders, and cuts on the arm and leg as previously stated. Before McDonald left the tavern on the night in question he was heard to make a threat against the life of Munro, and declare his intention of carrying it out when he went to deceased's house. Subsequently to the affray he was also heard by different witnesses to say that if he had a gun instead of an axe he would have finished Munro, adding that he had been obliged to do what he had done in self-defence, as the deceased was coming at him with a knife at the time.

After the evidence had been read, and the usual charge given, the jury found the prisoner guilty of murder.

He was then sentenced to be hanged at eight o'clock on the morning of the 10th of June.

Throughout the trial the prisoner wore a somewhat anxious expression, though one which is not specially marked. When the fatal formula which pronounced his doom was concluded he sat down and remained crouched from sight behind the high sides of the dock until the spectators in the court-room had left, when he was led away to the gaol through the crowd outside, with the expression of his features apparently unaltered.

The Rumors about the Fenians.

NEW YORK, May 5.—A Times Syracuse special says a Fenian meeting held there last night was largely attended. Letters were received from General O'Neil, stating that he was on the line of Red River with 10,000 men, ready for action. (Bosh!) Despatches were read from Buffalo stating that 3,000 men in that city were under arms, and that five steam tugs and a number of canal boats have been secured to transport Fenians to Canada. Robert McCarthy and John Moore, two Police Commissioners, and a son of Senator McCarthy were appointed Treasurers.

SYRACUSE, N.Y., May 9.—There is some basis for the reported Fenian movement in this locality, probably 250 men are engaged in it, claiming connection with a general movement along the frontier. Some money has been raised, and men armed with pistols. They say they await orders from O'Neil. The better class of Irish citizens give no sympathy to the movement.

MONTREAL, May 9.—At a meeting of the Police Committee to-day, the Mayor read a private letter from "A British Subject" in Massachusetts, to the effect that great preparations were being made for a Fenian raid upon Canada.

BUFFALO, May 10.—Interviews with leading Fenians in this city give no sort of credence to the sensational reports of 3,000 men under arms, securing of steam tugs and transports to transport Fenians to Canada, &c. The police and military authorities pronounce the report a canard. The city is, as usual, very quiet, and no unusual number of strangers are noticeable.

FARM PURCHASE.—Mr. WM. HARROW, of Wellesley, County of Waterloo, has recently bought a farm of Mr. Malcolm Ferguson, of Caledon, 100 acres, 40 cleared, for $1600.

ECCLESIASTICAL RUMOR.—The Hamilton Times is responsible for the following:—A rumor on the street has it that the Right Rev. Bishop of Huron (Dr. Hellmuth) has offered to surrender the entire income of his Diocese to Rev. Dr. Sullivan, of Chicago, if he will accept the position of Coadjutor Bishop.

The Arthur Enterprise says that a sad accident happened on the 30th ult., to a ten-year-old son of Mr. H. Sheppard, sr. He was engaged alone in making a swing in a tree in his father's woods near the house. It supposed he had fastened one end of the rope to the limb, and had wound the other round his neck, and was moving out on the limb for the purpose of fastening the other, when he slipped off. He was found hanging, with his toes just touching the ground. He died about an hour after being cut down.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

SCHOUVALOFF'S MISSION.

LONDON, May 9.

The conviction begins to find expression that a too sanguine view is taken of Schouvaloff's journey. He cannot have a mission from the British Government unless the latter has consented to abandon the idea of European concert, and will treat directly with Russia about special British interests, which is entirely unlikely. If the Government had decided to formulate counter-proposals they would probably have submitted them through the regular channels. It is conjectured, therefore, that Schouvaloff may have had a personal object in wishing to visit St. Petersburg.

A Berlin telegram says:—It is expected Schouvaloff will visit Bismarck at Friedrichsruhe to-day, arrive here to-morrow, and depart in the evening for St. Petersburg.

As a result of the mobilization of the army and militia reserves, 35,000 effective soldiers have taken their places in the ranks. There is little apparant decrease at Woolwich arsenal in the activity of war preparations. The laboratory department has received an order for thirteen thousand casks, to contain each 58 pounds of biscuit, to be carried on pack saddles. Fifteen hundred tons of preserved meat have been received from the United States principally from Chicago.

The reported withdrawal of the Russians from San Stefano is regarped as a very hopeful indication.

The Times criticizing the speech by Mr. Gladstone yesterday to a deputation of Welsh Liberal Associations at Hawarden, in which he denounced the Government in violent terms, says:—"His language was so reckless as to entirely overshoot the mark. It reads like a speech prompted by desperation.

Irish Russians.

(From the N. Y. Tribune.)

The gross absurdity of an Irish invasion of Canada in the interests of the Russian empire does not prove that there is no foundation for the rumors of war and conspiracy which come to us from Buffalo. Nothing apparently could have been more criminal or more ridiculous than the scheme for upsetting the British domination in Ireland by a few raids across the border from Buffalo and Vermont, and yet for that enterprise honest men offered their lives in 1865, and thousands of poor people gave their hard-earned money. After what we have seen of the Fenian conventions in America, and risings in Chester and Killarney, the Clerkenwell explosion and the assassination of Thomas Darcy McGee, the operations of the Fenian Sisterhood, the sale of bonds, the exportation of arms to Ireland, and the princely court held by head-centres and organizers at the Moffat mansion, we hesitate to pronounce any plan of Fenian agitation incredible merely because it may be preposterous. In that organization it seems to be the preposterous that always happens.

But if Fenian agents are really gabbling and collecting money in Buffalo, it does not follow that any military expedition is afoot. The society is composed of three classes of persons—a few sincere and light-headed patriots, a few dishonest adventurers, and a multitude of dupes who contribute the funds, swell the processions and inflate the leaders. Seven years ago a committee investigated the accounts of the brotherhood and reported that over $625,000 had been collected, nearly a third part of which had been expended in America. And the contributions still go on. A show of conspiracy in some safe place like Buffalo—is very useful to stimulate the flagging liberality of servants and laboring men; and if the fortunes of Russia are not materially improved by these operations, we may be quite certain that increased contributions to the "skirmishing fund" will sensibly affect the fortunes of some professional patriots. Sensible Irishmen must not let their national sympathies deceive them. This sort of agitation is not to be regarded with any leniency. It is a crime, and it ought to be denounced in the plainest terms. Rebellion made without a reasonable prospect of success, or war that can do no good, is always a crime. What shall we say of military expeditions that are not only useless but fraudulent?

We beg our Fenian friends moreover to observe that if they are busy with any designs upon Canada, they are also guilty of a crime against the country that has given them hospitable shelter, and Americans whose kindness and patience they have so often abused will demand that they be severely dealt with. Whatever cause of complaint Irishmen may have against England, they must settle their quarrel at home, or leave it unsettled. This country is not to be made the nursery of their expeditions. They were much too gently treated by the United States after the raids of 1866, and we trust that such mischievous leniency will never be shown them again. Raids across the border, while they can no more affect the course of war in Europe than they can trouble the procession of the equinoxes, involve the United States Government in serious expense and trouble, and may expose us to heavy responsibility. The Fenians must be made to understand that we are not going to fall out with our neighbors, or tolerate riot on the frontier, for their amusement. The Government will oblige them to keep strictly within the law. America has gladly made itself the home of Irish exiles, but it does not mean to be also the paradise of Irish fools.

HARRISTON.—During the severe thunder storm last week, Wm. Miller's residence was struck by lightning, knocking in the stone wall of the cellar, and also making a large opening in the brick work, scattering bricks and stones in every direction; but, strange to say, none in the house was hurt in the least, but were very much frightened.——A moulder who had been working at Mitchell & Teeple's was obliged to fly on account of being too much married. It is said, six years ago he left a wife and one child in Nova Scotia, came to Montreal, and there married a respectable young woman, with whom he had lived ever since, having by her two children.

Trade in the Russian districts bordering on Roumania is at a complete stand still. No increase in the price of merchandise and provisions has followed the heavy depreciation of the silver rouble as there are no buyers in the market.

FRIDAY EVEN'G, MAY 10, 1878.

Close of the Session.

The last session of the Third Parliament of the Dominion closes to-day. It has lasted a little over three months, the Houses having met on the 7th February. It will be remembered as one of the stormiest since Confederation. The anticipation that such would be the case was general when the session opened, and this was more than realized. The tactics that the Opposition intended to follow were sufficiently indicated during the previous summer campaigns, when all sorts of charges against the Government were trumped up, circulated, repeated and re-repeated by the Conservative speakers at their different pic-nics. These charges were circulated in the same or other forms in pamphlets, which were sown broadcast over the country. Thus it was sought to work up the public mind to such a state as would make it a fit recipient for whatever the Opposition would bring forward in the House, for the purpose of damaging the Government. And faithfully, and to the letter, did they carry out their tactics during the three months Parliament has been in session.

The first symptom of factiousness was manifested in the election of the Speaker, when Sir John on the strength of some musty old English Act opposed Mr. Anglin's election, because he had not been formally introduced into the House. He was beaten by a majority of 63—the yeas being 116, and the nays 53. The debate on the Address gave the Opposition another opportunity to show their hand. It lasted for a week, and ranged over the whole domsin of politics. Many members were anxious to "define their position," and therefore, they addressed their constituents through the House and the newspapers. Personalities were freely indulged in, notably Dr. Tupper's attack on Mr. Jones, and Mr. Bowell's on Mr. Huntington. The defence made by the two Ministers was masterly and complete, and effectually turned the tables on their opponents.

Although charge after charge was made by Sir John and his friends during the summer, and though they were repeatedly challenged to formulate them when the House met, yet they were too astute to risk such a dangerous experiment, knowing well that they could not substantitate them. They, therefore, shielded themselves under the childish excuse that such charges would not be fairly or fully investigated by Committees, the majority of which were supporters of the Government. Sir John, however, relegated some of these charges to his followers in the Senate, where he was sure of a subservient majority, and he found a fitting tool in Senator Macpherson, who called in question the public expenditure—a subject the Senate has nothing to do with. The Kaministiquia terminus, the Fort Francis lock, and the North West contracts were also investigated by Senate Committees, but they failed to establish a single charge of mal-administration, or corrupt expenditure against the Government. At the same time the Public Accounts Committee brought home to Sir John the charge of having paid Moylan $2,500 for no value rendered.

The debate which followed the Budget speech mainly hinged on the protection question. No changes were proposed in the tariff, and in consequence Sir John brought up his amendment in favour of the "national policy," which, however, he took good care not to define, for it was so vague that it might mean anything or nothing. The amendment was defeated by a majority of 37—the yeas being 77, and the nays 114. Later on in the session the same question was discussed more in detail, and the more important articles embraced in the "national policy" were the subject of debate. For instance, the motion to impose a duty on wheat and flour was voted down by a majority of 120—the vote being for the motion 28; against it 148. Again, the motion to impose a duty on oats and corn was defeated by a majority of 60—the vote being, for the motion 54; against it 114. Still another motion was brought up in favour of a duty on coal, and it shared the same fate, having been voted down by a majority of 108—the vote being 27 for, and 135 against it. Such has been the fate in Parliament of Sir John's "national policy."

The debate on Sir John's motion of censure on the Lieut.-Governor of Quebec, and the disgraceful scenes that marked the prolonged debate of twenty-seven hours will stand out prominently in the record of the work of the late session. We might refer to other minor incidents—to the studied and persistent obstructiveness of such Parliamentary bores as Messrs. Mitchell and Plumb—to the patience and forbearance of the members of the Government amid much provocation—to the many able speeches made by them and their supporters—but it is needless to go over these, for they must be fresh in the recollection of our readers. The Government have come out of the session stronger than they went into it and they have to day more of the confidence and sympathy of the people than they ever had before. They have faithfully, honestly and efficiently administered the affairs of the Dominion. They can give a good account of their stewardship, and whenever they feel justified in appealing to the people for a renewal of their confidence we are satisfied they will not appeal in vain, but be sustained by a handsome majority.

Says the Hamilton Times:—At a meeting of the "American Reform League," held in New York the other day, it was laid down that fifteen minutes' work a day ought to be enough for every man to perform as an equivalent for a living. Under the Tory $20,000 movement in Canada we are all to have our living obtained for us by act of Parliament. If we only tax each other enough, we will all be able to live on the taxes. Who is to pay the taxes is not so clearly set forth by Mr. Frazer; but he is quite certain that the more we are taxed the richer we will become.

Mr. Price, the Independent Conservative candidate, has been elected for Chicoutimi.

The Joly Government derives its greatest support from the District of Quebec, in which nine constituencies have been won from the DeBoucherville party.

The report of the Commissioner of Fisheries, just published, shows that in 1876 the fisheries were worth $11,147,590, and in 1877, $12,029,757. The value of fish exported in 1877 was $7,000,402, being $1,462,381 over the exports of 1876. The value of fish exported during the last six months of this year exceeds that of last year's exports by $1,118,521. The exports in 1877 were $1,829,530.

"We have planted the Liberal standard on the citadel of Quebec," said Mr. Laurier at the close of the hard fought battle in the Eastern division of the ancient capital, and, he added, "it will be kept there." His words have been fulfilled. To-day the Liberal banner floats not only over all the divisions of the capital, but over the Province at large.—Halifax Chronicle.

Mr. Joly and his colleagues have begun to retrench at the right end. At a Cabinet meeting held on Thursday, the Ministers agreed to surrender voluntarily about twenty per cent of their salary to the Province. This reduces them from $3,750 to $3,000. It was also resolved to abolish immediately the Provincial Police force, which will effect a saving of $25,000 anually.

Sir John is busy caucusing in Montreal with the Conservatives of the Quebec Legislature, and the report goes that he is meeting with little success. Several absented themselves from the meeting, and others would not commit themselves to any particular course. Sir John's attention to local affairs in a Province with which he has no personal connection is a curious illustration of the consistency of Conservative denunciations of the combination of Federal with Local affairs.

The city of Toronto is making a bold effort to consolidate its debt, which on the 1st of January last, was $6,271,309. Six years ago its debt was only $2,656,109, so that its indebtedness in that period represents an increase of 135 per cent. This increase is out of all proportion to the increase of wealth and population, and things have got to such a pass that the ordinary assessment is inadequate to meet the expenditure and growing requirements of the city. Mr. Tarner, the chairman of the Finance Committee, proposes three modes of getting over the difficulty, which is now under the consideration of the Council.

Lord Derby's assertion that the German Government shows "warm and undisguised sympathy with Russia," is corroborated by the facility with which the Cimbria was chartered, sent to Baltic Port, and thence dispatched to the coast of Maine freighted with Russian seamen. The company which owns the Cimbria is a private corporation, and as such, is at liberty to employ its steamers to the best advantage, but as it carries the German mails and sails under the Imperial flag it is obviously its duty as well as its interests to act in accordance with the German Government. When it places one of its steamers at Russia's disposal, it may be assumed that it acted in harmony with the friendly disposition which the German Government is disposed to display in regard to Russia in the event of a war with England.

The Senate has pursued its obstructive policy to the last. Not content with putting its veto on the Pembina Branch Railway Bill, it has adhered to its resolution to keep in the Independence of Parliament Bill the amendment passed by it, making superannuated public servants inelligible for seats in Parliament, though the House of Commons struck it out. The latter House is now obliged to accept this amendment rather than let the Bill fall to the ground. Then again the Senate made an amendment to the Supreme Court Bill specially affecting the Province of Quebec, to which the Commons also refused to agree. It was sent back to the lords, but they refused to yield, and the bill will have to come before the House again to day. Such are the tactics pursued by the old fogy majority in the Senate. The people of Manitoba have to thank that majority for depriving them—for a time at least—of railway communication.

The Conservative organs now trying to make their readers believe that Mr. Joly's success in Quebec will have no bearing whatever on the Dominion elections, do not deem it advisable to quote the following opinion of the Montreal Gazette, delivered on the day of the election. Even the Gazette itself is rather quiet on the subject:—"The battle that is being fought to-day will, in its results, determine the elections to take place some weeks hence for the Parliament of Canada. If by some accident Mr. Joly should succeed in this Province, the votes of gentlemen who talk about Conservative in Dominion politics and Liberal in Provincial ones, would avail nothing to prevent another five years' tenure of office by Mr. Mackenzie."

CORSETS. CORSETS.

Physicians, Women's Rights Advocates, Collectors of Mortuary Statistics, and Retormers generally

Have all had their fling at Corsets on sanitary grounds. Like the critics of the chameleon, "they are all right and all wrong," because Corsets made in the ordinary way may with justice be condemned, though those constructed in accordance with nature's laws are decidedly beneficial and hygienic to the female body. They support the bust, soften the sudden changes of tempreature, and import a firmness and support to the spinal column that are peculiarly useful. All this can be effected without torturing the body, but on the contrary improving the general health, and adding much to the grace and elegance of the well dressed woman. A Corset to fulfil all these requirements should be fashioned after nature's model, and when that is done the garment will be perfect.

Wm, Stewart & Co. impressed with the truth of this idea have secured Corsets after NATURE'S MODEL. Our stock is now full in every size of the popular

—OR—

The Gauger of Skene.

It required strong limbs and vigorous lungs to scramble up that rugged ascent, and but for the help of bushes, whose roots were firmly cast into the rock, they could never have succeeded. After many minutes hard climbing they came to a broad, level space, where they could rest, and here they discovered that the light came from a cleft in the cliff, high above their heads. A very rough, precipitous path wended up the rock towards it, and the gauger, whose eager impatience was now beyond control, made a dash at this, also calling on his panting men to follow. They had to do so in single file, and so precarious was the footing they obtained that had one fallen he would have hurled with him in his descent those behind.

Fortunately no such mishap occurred, but the ugly thought forced itself on Gillespie's mind that in the position in which they then were one determined foe alone could not only bar their advance, but send every one of them to destruction. Suppose their progress up the ravine had been observed by the smugglers, and that the latter were lying in ambush for them on the face of the cliff? The bare possibility of such a check infused new strength into Gillespie's limbs, and he put forth almost superhuman efforts to terminate the critical situation. This brought him many yards ahead of his men, but he soon had the satisfaction of reaching a point where the one path gave place to several, which branched upwards in various directions.

From where he now stood he could see the light glimmering through a fissure in the rock some twenty feet above his head, but it was in the face of a sheer precipice, which no mortal could ascend, and he stood eying it with perplexity, while one by one his men came silently up and joined him.

"There is no entrance to the place up there," he whispered to them. "It must be among these rocks higher up, and will no doubt be difficult to find. But it can't be far off, and a close search will discover it. Each man choose a way for himself, and a pound-note to the man who first finds the inlet. But, for the life of you, let no one enter till the rest are summoned. Let him who makes the discovery sound a low whistle, and all when they hear it make to the spot instantly. You understand?"

"Ay, ay," was the whispered response.

"Then off you go, each man according to his choice. This is the path I select."

Saying which the gauger plunged between two ledges and disappeared.

The group dispersed with silent alacrity, each man choosing a road which he hoped would prove lucky enough to lead to the promised reward.

They all vanished thus save one—a slender figure, which stood for some moments alone. Had the gauger counted his men as they stood in a group before separating he would have discovered the startling fact that there was one too many. And this had been the case for nearly an hour back. Shortly after they entered the ravine they were met in the darkness by a man who was making his way down with two ankers of whisky slung on his shoulders. He had no suspicion of their presence until within a few yards of them, when their footsteps in the gravelly bed of the torrent reached his ear. Then he quickly hid himself behind a rock and watched them as they went past. They being quite close to where he lurked, he recognised Gillespie, and his heart beat with wildest consternation. He slipped from his shoulder the strap to which the kegs were attached, and, hiding the latter in a recess, followed stealthily after the excisemen.

He tried to get before them, but the narrowness of the gorge rendered this impossible. In the darkness, however, he was enabled to join the party without detection, and kept close beside them, those who observed his figure taking him to be one of themselves. By listening to their whispers he learned the object of their expedition, and his heart beat with renewed terror and apprehension when Gillespie detected the light. His anxiety to get before was now greater than ever; and was compelled to crawl on behind, cherishing the one last hope that when they reached the various winding paths among the rocks he would be able to effect his object. This last hope was frustrated by Gillespie taking the very path he desired to enter, and he was left alone, gnashing his teeth in disappointment.

"Lost! lost a' is lost," he said, with a gesture of despair. "Oh, if I could but gie him warnin'. I maun try; I maun try."

Up this path Gillespie was making his way with great rapidity, for he was in the full flush of excitement and elation. On his left hand was the cliff through which the light had been descried. The latter was not visible to him now, for he had passed away from the side where it gleamed, but he had most minutely marked the direction, and never allowed his eye to lose it, though he found it more difficult every moment to retain the exact point amid the many windings of the road. These at length led him amongst a mass of outstanding ledges, where he had blindly to groupe his way, and at last he was on the level of another and larger plateau, where rocks rose all round in fantastic shapes and confused isolation.

The path he had followed was now lost, or rather it diverged into so many open spaces that he knew not which to explore. He looked about in search of a gleam of light, but all was dark. He was quite alone too, none of his men having been brought in that direction by the paths they had taken.

For some time he wandered hither and thither into recesses and around rocks seeing nothing. He paused to listen—an utter silence reigned around. He sniffed in the night air with avidity, trying to detect the aroma of whisky, and he fancied that he did feel the smell of the product of a "still." But the wish, expectation, might have caused him only to imagine this.

"Hist, Ned, is that you?" he called out in a suppressed whisper.

The figure seemed to hear, but instead of answering it drew suddenly away.

Gillespie was surprised. In size and shape the figure was like that of Ned Skeat, but why should it start back and glide away when he addressed it? He advanced towards the rock where it stood, a vague suspicion rising in his mind. The figure darted out, and went past him; then he saw that the dress was not like that of his men.

"Stand! Who are you?" he exclaimed, in a loud voice.

No heed was paid to the order—no answer returned to the question. The figure flew on at great speed, and vanished through an opening in the rocks.

THE TROUBLES IN MONTREAL.—A few nights ago a young man walking along Wellington street was fired at, the ball passing through his hat. On Monday evening last Mr. John Watkins, coal merchant, Cote street, was standing at his office door, when he was struck on the head with a piece of iron, which inflicted a severe scalp wound and rendered him insensible. On Thursday a row occurring at the Consecours Market. Constable McIntosh arrested a young man who was endeavoring to create a disturbance. On his being searched a loaded revolver was found on him. On the suggestion of the Mayor, a joint meeting of Protestants and Catholics is to be called to consider in a friendly spirit the best means to allay the existing party difficulty.

The Canadian Section at the "Paris Exhibition."

(From the Mail's Correspondent.)

Let us take the right of the two main corridors, and walking to the front of the building on passing the first large division ("the 49th parallel"), we find ourselves in Canada. On the right there is a long narrow court in which are to be seen many specimens of rocks and ores of various sorts, besides two very fine monuments: the largest, a granite one, which I briefly described last week, is on one side of another smaller opening into the United States, a fellow will be on the opposite side, and they will form a pair of noble guardsmen; the smaller, a cylindrical one, surmounted by an urn, is a grey coloured Laurentian marble, and therefore unrivalled in its antiquity; possibly it represents the dawn of a flourishing coral life, and therefore claims from us, its highly developed descendants, unlimited respect and veneration. This monument stands in the middle of the first passage to the next court, it was constructed by P. T. Somerville, and is fresh from Arnprior quarries. The court in which the monument stands, and which is even now nearly filled with geological, mining and metallurgical specimens, together with the various products of the last two industries, is under the care of Alfred R. C. Selwyn, F.R.S., Director of the Geological Survey. On our left, we see a court half the size of that on the right, which is to contain articles used for food, such as cereals, canned lobsters, fruits, &c.; nothing has been unpacked here, as the carpenters seem to hold possession. As we advance, on the left, we come to a much larger court, entered by five spaces occuring between the six show cases, which form its outer boundary; this, besides being surrounded on all sides by the cases, has a square one in the centre space on each side of the middle and main entrance. M. Perrault has charge of this division, and it is to contain all articles of clothing, drapery, furniture, &c. At present in one of the centre cases are some very handsome chairs, and an elaborately inlaid table from Thos. C. Kerr & Co., of Hamilton, is to be noticed; in the side cases there are some very good cloths from Paton Manufacturing Company, of Sherbrooke, and Mills and Hutchinson, of Montreal, besides capital samples of woollen goods from S. T. Williams' mills at Chambly, P.Q.

On our right is the largest court of all under the management of Dr. May. The show cases bordering the corridor correspond exactly with those on the opposite side, while the interior is arranged with two large and several small cases, placed so as to allow passage room most conveniently. In the centre is a tall hexagonal case made of dark walnut, and with a great rounded roof, elaborately decorated with gold, and surmounted by the Royal coat of arms; over each of the six windows is a beaver carved in the wood. This show case belongs to Chas. Raymond, of Guelph, and is to hold his exhibit of sewing machines. The far end of this division is being fitted up for the educational exhibit, which is to be a very extensive one, and even now models of school houses, desks, etc., with maps and books, are to be seen in the vicinity. In this department a number of goods from E. Chauteloup, of Montreal, have been unpacked and attract a great deal of attention; his articles consist of chandeliers and lamps of all descriptions, door locks and handles, many of which are nickle plated in a manner that will rouse the jealousy of Birmingham, telegraphic and other electrical machines, among which latter is a most ingenious bell, rung by passing a current which makes magnetic a piece of "horse shoe" iron, this then attracting a catch, a heavy weight (which is wound up by a key) acts on a striker and pulls it back against a spring, this action being stopped by another catch, the spring brings the hammer back with no small force against the bell, and a most sonorous note is the consequence. This conveyance does away with the bell-ringer in the most effectual manner and would enable a babe the arms to toll "Big Ben," or a school girl to play the most ponderous chime to be yet invented. A great number of pumps, jack screws, paper presses, iron-borers and cutters, meat cutters, etc., from James Smart's novelty works in Brockville have also been unpacked; this energetic man has sent over thirty boxes of a great variety of hardware. The only other things of especial interest to be noticed at present are some very fine specimens of rubber tubes, etc., from the Canadian Rubber Co., of Montreal, when these are all out of the boxes they will form a very fine exhibit. There is one attraction to the Canadian section which though only just added is already receiving a great deal of attention, and when the exhibition begins to fill with ladies, whose toilette has been deranged by the crowd, it does not require a vast amount of prophetic spirit to assert the mirrors in the cases will be a grand success. Each case on the corridor is built enclosing a pillar, and the division in front of it has most wisely been fitted up with a fine mirror, which besides hiding the pillar adds immeasurably to the beauty.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

OTTAWA, May 8.

Mr. Young asked if it was the intention of the Government to have the ballot papers printed in German as well as English in districts where there was a large German vote.

Mr. Casey said that such a provision was required in parts of his constituency.

Mr. Mackenzie said that he believed that the returning officers had now power to print the ballot papers in the language which prevailed in their respective districts, but for fear of mistakes special instructions to that effect would be issued.

The Supply Bill was introduced and read the first time.

Hon. Mr. Laflamme moved that the amendments by the Senate to the Supreme Court Bill be not concurred in, explaining that they virtually destroyed the measure. Carried.

Hon. Mr. Laflamme, while protesting against the interference of the Upper Chamber in certain clauses of the Independence of Parliament Bill, moved concurrence in this measure on the principle that half a loaf was better than no bread. After a brief discussion, in which the leader of the Opposition championed the rights of the Senate, the motion was carried.

The Supply Bill passed its remaining stages, at the second sitting of the House.

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie, in moving the adjournment of the House, took occasion to comment in strong terms upon the conduct of the Senate in defeating the proposed lease of the Pembina Branch. He characterized their action as untenable and unconstitutional, and remarked that, although he was one of those who helped to give the Upper Chamber its present constitution, he had had occasion during his experience of the last ten years to revise his opinion. He had some hope, notwithstanding this usurpation of their rights by the Senate, to be able to give the people of Manitoba the railway communication they so much required, though perhaps in a modified form.

Dr. Tupper defended the conduct of the Senate, contending that the reasons assigned by the Government for their policy in regard to this matter had been overturned in the Upper House.

After some remarks by Sir John Macdonald in the same sense, Mr. Mackenzie replied, remarking that the Senate were pursuing a course which might turn out to be a suicidal one.

REV. SOLOMON PETER HALE, a colored minister at one time stationed in Guelph, has created considerable excitement about Ingersoll by his discourses on "Future Punishment." In a few days he will come out with a new lecture, which certainly covers a good deal of ground, as the subject announced is "The British Empire, the Freedom of the Slave, and the Constitution of the United States," interspersed with a few general remarks about "Hell."

CHANGE OF TIME.—On Monday a new time table will come into force on the Wellington, Grey & Bruce Railway. Passenger trains will depart from the Guelph station as follows: Going south—6:15 a.m., 9:20 a.m., 2:15 p.m., and 4:20 p.m. Going north—11:20 a.m., 6 p.m., and 8:15 p.m. A train from the south reaches Guelph at 12:50, but does not carry passengers any farther north.

SEIZURE OF AN ILLICIT STILL.—On the morning of Friday the 10th inst., Collector McLean, of Guelph, accompanied by Officer Nichols, seized an illicit still on the premises of Robert Hassard, at a place called Bell's corner, on the County line between Wellington and Grey, lot No. 1, 14th concession, Luther. The still was not working. The apparatus seized consisted of still, worm and connections. It was a small affair, having a capacity of producing about three gallons per day. It was destroyed by the officers.

HAMILTON CALEDONIAN SOCIETY.—This Society gave an entertainment on Thursday evening. Mr. Maitland, of Guelph, took part in it, and the Spectator thus speaks of his singing:—"The singing of Prof. Maitland, of Guelph, deserves special mention. Many of our readers will remember with pleasure this gentleman's efforts at Caledonian entertainments in the Mechanics' Hall. Last evening he appeared in splendid voice, and his rendering of "My Ain Fireside," in the first part, was loudly encored. Later he sang "A Man's a Man for a' That," and the "Scotch Thistle," in splendid style; to these also he was obliged to respond. At the close a hearty vote of thanks was accorded to Mr. Maitland, who responded.

BASE BALL.—The Hamilton Times says: A well-known gentleman from Guelph is in the city making arrangements for a match game of base ball to take place in the Palace grounds here on the 1st June. The feature of the match is that no one will be allowed to play who does not weigh at least two hundred pounds except the captains. The Guelph team is called the Invincibles and will play against the Dreadnaughts of Hamilton. There is not the slightest doubt but that they will be well patronized, for these "fat" games are the funniest spectacles in the world. The following games were played on Thursday:—Manchesters 16, Alleghanies 1; Stars 7, Hornells 4; Rochesters 8, Uticas 7; Milwaukees 2, Indianapolis 1; Buffaloes 3, Lowells 0. Games played on Friday: Tecumsehs 17, New Bedford's 4; Auburns 4, Hornells 1; Lowells 2, Buffaios 0; Pittsfields 7, Troy Haymakers 2; Milwaukees 1, Indianapolis 6; Crickets 14, Springfields 4.

AT the meeting of the Young People's Association in the Dublin street Methodist Church last evening it was decided after a very interesting debate that there was more that is pleasing in nature than in art. Miss Husband and Mr. R. Barber advocated the claims of nature in the argument and Miss Goodfellow and Mr. Thompson the claims of art.

DEATH TO THE CURCULIO.—We are informed by one who has tried it, that if a small quantity of salt is sprinkled under the plum trees just as the fruit is forming, it will kill the curculio and prevent the young plums from being stung. The same person says wood-ashes spread underneath the plum trees will also drive the curculio away. He applies both of these remedies and always has nice smooth plums and a bountiful crop. Perhaps both are effectual; the ashes will, at least, promote a vigorous growth, and the salt can do no harm if it is used sparingly.

REPREHENSIBLE.—On Thursday evening last the servant maid at the residence of Mrs. Dr. Hogg, on Glasgow street, was very much frightened by a drunken rowdy. Mrs. Hogg was away from home at she time, and a rap being heard at the door the servant opened it, and asked the rough looking fellow standing outside what was wanted. He asked the way to some hotel and then made a move as though he would step inside. The girl slammed the door in his face and locked it. As soon as the door was shut the party outside shot off a revolver. This so frightened the girl that she ran to the back of the house and rang a dinner bell in such a manner that the neighbors were alarmed and hastened outside having an idea that there was a fire. Mr. G. W. Hall who lives in a house adjacent to Mrs. Hogg's residence looked around the premises but could not see anything of the man who had caused the alarm. As soon as he had shot his revolver off he doubtless hurried away.

A HARD CASE.—This (Saturday) morning John Henry McDonald, a youth of about eighteen years, was charged before the Police Magistrate with abusing Bridget Sweeney. The affair all happened through Mrs. Sweeney refusing to give the young scoundrel some lucifer matches. The case was made out and the prisoner was sentenced to two month's imprisonment at hard labor. As he was taken to the cells by Policeman Dooley, he remarked loud enough for the Magistrate to hear him that he would make Mrs. Sweeney suffer as soon as he had served his time. The Magistrate ordered him to be brought back and for making the threat bound him over to keep the peace for three years, and to find sureties, himself in $500 and two in the amount of $250 each. He has to remain in goal until the sureties are found, and there is little danger of him finding them. After he was taken to the cells he threatened the policeman and otherwise acted in such a manner as would lead any person to believe him possessed of a full corps of devils.

LISTOWEL.—The town is proud of the band which it claims to own.——The May cattle fair was a small affair. The Standard says that not more than twenty head all told were on the ground, and these having been brought through nigh impassable roads and drenching rains, did not make a very "taking" exhibit.—— A "Doctor" Douglass has been practising the healing art in Elma without a proper license. He was recently fined $25 and costs for the offence by the Mayor.——The Managing Committee of the Caledonian Society have make arrangements to give a grand concert on the evening of the Queen's birthday.

FRIDAY, May 10.

Parsons vs. the Queen's Insurance Company.—This case which occupied the Court from eleven o'clock, a.m., on Tuesday until 3:30, p. m., on Friday, has caused a great deal of interest, and involves questions of considerable importance to parties interested in insurance. The action was brought by Mr. Wm. Parsons, of Orangeville, against the above Company to recover 1st, the amount of a policy of insurance for $1,000 on a stock of wool which he had previous to the fire on the 30th of August last, in his storehouse at Orangeville. 2nd. The amount of an interim receipt for $2,000, dated the 15th June, 1877, on the same stock of wool, and thirdly, $1,000 the amount of another interim receipt, dated the 29th July, 1878, given by the Company preliminary to the issuing of the policy. There were a great number of pleas set up by the Company, all of which they abandoned at the trial excepting four, namely: 1st. That Parsons had more than twenty-five pounds of gunpowder on the premises. 2nd. More than a barrel of coal oil. 3rd. That the application for an insurance upon which the receipt of the 15th of June was issued was for one month instead of three as the plaintiff contended. 4th. That the plaintiff was guilty of fraud and false statement in putting in his proof papers to the Company after the fire. The defendants also challenged the amount of the loss. The jury, after being out but a short time, found all the issues in favor of the plaintiff, and fixed the amount due to the plaintiff at $3,000—it having appeared that $1,000 worth of wool had been saved. His Lordship, on this finding, entered a verdict for the plaintiff for $1,030—being the amount of the policy of insurance and interest; and entered a non-suit, which was merely formal, in reference to the interim receipts, and reserving leave to the plaintiff to move before the full Court to increase the verdict to the amount fixed by the jury, should the Court be of the opinion that a virtual contract of insurance can be sustained in law—it having appeared in evidence that the interim receipts, through the neglect of the agent of the Company, had not been issued until after the fire—although the plaintiff had made his different applications, paid his premiums, and got a virtual agreement from the agent of the Company to issue the receipts long before. The plaintiff no doubt will avail himself of the privilege of moving to have his verdict increased so that this question, which is one merely of law, may be decided by the full Court. Mr. Elgin Myers, of Orangeville, for the plaintiff, and with him Mr. Thomas Ferguson, Q.C., of Toronto, and Mr. Guthrie, Q. C. Mr. Small, of Toronto, for the defendants, and with him Mr. M. C. Cameron, Q.C.

Parsons vs. Victoria Mutual Fire Insurance Company.—This was an action on a policy for $1,000, on general stock of hardware in plaintiff's store in Orangeville. The defence was that the defendant had not lost the value of goods represented, and that he had insured in other companies without defendant's consent. Verdict for plaintiff $1,030. Mr. Guthrie, Q. C., and Mr. McCarthy, for plaintiff; Mr. Cameron, Q. C., for defendant.

The case of Parsons vs. Canada Fire and Marine Insurance Company is now in progress.

THE HAMBURG FIRE.—On Thursday fire consumed the dwellings of Mr. Henry Spahr and Mr. Henry Gerth. A large conflagration was feared, but by strenuous efforts the flames were confined to the two mentioned buildings. The Baden brigade was telegraphed for, but were not in time to render any assistance. The Berlin and Stratford brigades were also sent for, but the orders were countermanded ere they had started. The total loss is estimated at about $3,000. Mr. Spahr's house was insured for $800 in the Wellington Fire Insurance Company.

FERGUS.—The Driving Park Association have out posters announcing a big day's sport on the 24th. In addition to the usual prizes for men's and boy's foot races, &c., horse races are to take place.

ACTON.—A three year old son of Robert Ramshaw had two of his fingers taken off by the cogs of a lathe in the flour works last week.——At an open meeting of Acton Division Sons of Temperance, the audience became very much concerned for their safety when the floor sank about three inches in the centre of the hall.

THE RUSSIAN PRIVATEER.—The Tribune says the captain of the Cimbria willingly gave information concerning the Cimbria's mission, and said the Russians are simply making arrangements to attack the British on the seas in case of war. He intended to purchase fast-sailing vessels and supplies, but no privateering would be carried on. A Russian squadron would soon leave the Baltic for these waters, and the moment war was declared they would go away. The Russian vessels would be cruisers. A Russian squadron has already been stationed in the Pacific to watch the British there. No attempt has been made to draft any Irish in this country. It is rumored that several of the best steamers of the North-German Lloyd's line have been sold to the Russian Government.

Some Lives Lost and many others in Peril.

London, May 10.—The Allan Line steamship Sardinian, for Quebec, is on fire at the entrance of Loch Foyle, harbour of Londonderry. It is reported that an explosion of generated gas occurred, and that every effort to save the vessel proved ineffectual. There were about 460 passengers. A few were injured, one fatally. The Captain telegraphed to Londonderry for accommodation for 400 passengers, and two tenders were sent to assist in removing them. The Sardinian put into Loch Foyle to receive the Irish passengers.

Moville, May 10.—The explosion on the steamship Sardinian occurred in the forehold. Forty persons were injured and three killed. Some of the injured were dangerously hurt, and taken to Derry Hospital. The attempts to scuttle the ship at the latest reports were unsuccessful. Some steerage passengers are reported cut off from help, but possibly they may be saved. Four hundred passengers have been taken to Londonderry.

Londonderry, May 10.—Many of the injured by the explosion on the Sardinian are not expected to recover. The vessel is on fire amidship. Half of the watch in the forecastle and a number of steerage passengers in the fore part of the vessel are cut off from all help.

LATER.—It is believed that more of the passengers of the Sardinian were killed than first stated. Her passengers were chiefly Germans and Italians, but there were also some English and Scotch emigrants.

The Lieutenant-Governor --- the Hon. Letellier De St. Just.

The Hon. Luc Letellier de St. Just, Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec, Seigneur of Riviere Ouelle, is one of the few men who have adhered under all circumstances to the principles expressed by them in their early political career. He was born at Riviere Ouelle, in the County of Kamouraska, in May, 1820, was educated at the College of Ste. Anne de la Pocatiere and, like many of his countrymen who follow the notarial profession, entered at an early age the political arena, being in 1857 elected to represent his native county in the Canadian Assembly. He was an unsuccessful candidate for the same constituency later, and had many alternations between success and discomfiture, till in 1869 he was elected to represent the united counties of Kamouraska and Temiscouata in the Canadian Legislative Council, in which position he remained until Confederation. He held the position of Minister of Agriculture during the Macdonald-Dorion regime, and again, upon the coming into favor of the Reform party in 1874, was mentioned as having a right to a position in Mr. Mackenzie's Cabinet. He was called to the Senate by royal proclamation in May, 1867, and on the death of the late Lieutenant-Governor Caron, was elevated to his present position.

The Hon. H. G. Joly, M.P.P.

Henri Gustave Joly, the Premier of the Province of Quebec, is a son of the late Gaspard Pierre Gustave Joly, Esq., Seigneur de Lotbiniere and Julie Christine, daughter of the M. E. G. A. Chartier de Lotbiniere, the first speaker of the House of Assembly at Quebec. He was born in France in 1829, and educated in Paris. He was called to the Bar in Lower Canada in 1855, and for many years practised with much success. He was elected to represent his present constituency in the Canadian Assembly in 1861, and at the Confederation of the Provinces was elected by acclamation to both Houses. In 1874 he had the opportunity of remaining in either the Dominion Parliament or the Local Legislature, but one of them he must relinquish. On the one side he was almost sure of a seat in the Mackenzie Cabinet, should he remain in the Dominion Parliament, and at the same time secure his position by accepting a Senatorship which was offered; on the other, his talents and administrative ability were needed to encourage and direct the feeble Opposition in the Lower House, and do what little he could to correct the ruinous policy of the Government. He chose the latter, and has since, by his eloquence, moderate principles, rare courtesy in debate, cutting sarcasm when it was necessary to use it, and his unremitting efforts for the country's welfare, held undisputed the position of leader of the Opposition until called to form a government, which, if it holds its ground, will necessarily be more amenable to the country than its predecessor. His rectitude is such, that like Daniel, the only effective charge that was brought against him by the opponents was with regard to the service of his God, it being urged that the country would be put into the power of the Protestants by having him as leader of the Government—an accusation as unjust to Mr. Joly as unfounded in itself. In private life, Mr. Joly is a type of the gentleman of the old school, and his good qualities of head and heart make him loved and respected, and spread his influence wherever he is known. The wisdom of his choice in selecting to perform yeoman's work in Quebec where it is especially needed, rather than accept office in Ottawa, where his friends were in power, is shown by the result of the recent elections, and whether he has a working majority or not the warning given the reckless administrators, who have happily been thrown from power, must result to the general good.—Witness.

FRIDAY EVEN'G, MAY 10, 1878.

The Last Scene in the House.

The last scene in the House of Commons, on Friday, prior to prorogation, was a fitting climax to much of the disgraceful conduct which has given an unenviable notoriety to the leaders of the Opposition on more than one occasion during the late Session. It happened in this way. When the Pembina Branch Railway Bill was under discussion, Sir John Macdonald, in opposing it, took occasion to make an unwarrantable attack on Mr. Donald A. Smith, the member for Selkirk, Manitoba, and said among other things that the Government was actuated by corrupt motives in giving a lease of this railway to Mr. Smith and others, at the same time charging Mr. Smith with being a servile tool of the Government, and that this proposed lease was a reward for his support of the present Government, and for acting in accord with them while they were in opposition in 1873, at the time when the Pacific Scandal was before the House. It is well known by all who are acquainted with the members of the House that Mr. Smith is one of the most independent of them. Up to that time (Nov., 1873) he had given the Macdonald-Cartier Government an independent support, and it was not till the shameful revelations connected with the Pacific Scandal came to light that he made up his mind he could no longer give his confidence and support to men who were guilty of such transactions. This was done from no selfish motive, for all who know Mr. Smith know him to be honest, fearless and thoroughly independent.

Sir John was aware during the crisis in that memorable November, 1873, that Mr. Smith had become ashamed of him and his Government, and his rage knew no bounds. It is a matter of history that on the evening of the day that he resigned, he met Mr. Smith in the lobby of the House, and being particularly excited over that event, and it is said with something else, he met Mr. Smith, and abused him out of all measure. He even threatened personal violence, and in his wild excitement told Smith "that he could lick him quicker than h—l would scorch a feather," Had it not been for the timely interference of some members Sir John would have tried to put his threat into execution. Ever since that time Sir John's hatren to Mr. Smith has been extreme, and the late discussion gave him an opportunity of showing it.

Mr. Smith in his explanations on Friday went into a full history of the whole affair, and referred to the "stretchers" that Dr. Tupper had indulged in about his position at that time in the speech he made last summer at Orangeville. The Doctor accused him of being then on the fence, ready to jump on whichever side would be successful. Mr. Smith denied this, and amid cries from Dr. Tupper and Sir John of "coward" "it's false," &c., he stated that every effort was made in Nov. 1873, by Messrs. Langevin and Campbell to get him to support the then Government, but that he refused, and recommended the Government to acknowlege their fault anent the Pacific Scandal, and throw themselves on the people. At the same time he stated that not one member of the present Government had approached him to ask him his support. What followed after we give in the report:

He (Mr. Smith) had been sent for by the leader of the previous Government, and had found him in one of the Committee-rooms. Sir John Macdonald had then used arguments similar to those used by Mr. Langevin, but he had again replied that he could not do so. Sir John said if he was not sustained he would appeal to the country; that Ontario would support him to a man, as men had looked upon that Province as a sort of rotten borough which he could depend upon supporting him to a man. (Hear, hear.) The hon. gentleman on a previous occasion said in a sarcastic way that Selkirk was all right for him (Mr. Smith), that it was a rotten borough. But on this occasion he had applied the remark to the whole Province.

Sir John Macdonald said there was not a word of truth in the whole statement.

Mr. Smith said that since the hon. gentleman had denied that he had said so he could only say that it must have been the spirit within him, for most unquestionably the words had come out of his mouth. ("Hear, hear," cheers, cries of "It's false," and "You coward.") Not only so, but afterwards two members of Parliament had come to him and had endeavoured to get him to support the Conservative party on condition that Sir John Macdonald and Mr. Langevin should be set aside. (Hear, hear.) Mr. Smith (who during this part of his remarks was not distinctly heard in the press gallery owing to the constant interruptions of Sir John Macdonald, Hon. Mr. Tupper and their followers) was understood to say that the morning after Sir John Macdonald had made some very gross remarks to him (Mr. Smith) because he told him he could no longer support his Government. Mr. Tupper had come to him (Mr. Smith) and said to him that as soon as it was possible to approach Sir John Macdonald, as soon as it was possible to make him understand one thing from another, he (Mr. Tupper) would make it his duty to see that gentleman, and get him to make a full an ample apology for his conduct. Another supporter of the right hon. gentleman had also met him and had deeply deplored Sir John's conduct towards him. Sir John Macdonald had afterwards made a very full apology for his conduct.

Quite a scene of excitement ensued, Sir John Macdonald and Dr. Tupper loudly denying all the statements the hon. member was making. In his vindications Hon. Mr. Tupper was several times called to order, and Messrs. Smith and Tupper were engaged in a personal controversy, when Black Rod knocked at the door; Dr. Tupper shouting "coward," "mean, treacherous coward" across the floor, while Sergeant-at-Arms was waiting to announce the arrival of His Excellency's messenger. Black Rod ultimately got a chance to deliver his message, and the Speaker preceded by the Sergeant-at-Arms was walking towards the door, when another scene of indescribable confusion occurred. Sir John Macdonald and Dr. Tupper, and a number of other Conservative members gathered round Mr. Smith, and every description of fiery epithet was hurled at the hon. member for Selkirk. Mr. Rochester was with difficulty restrained from striking Mr. Smith. The exit of the Speaker was barred by the throng of persons at the door, and the noise and tumult increasing the Sergeant-at-Arms was directed to arrest the disorderly members. It was impossible for the Sergeant to execute this order owing to the great confusion which prevailed. The leaders of the riot suddenly awoke to the fact that they stood in danger of being arrested, and they cooled down somewhat and allowed the Speaker to proceed to the Senate Chamber.

The territory proposed to be added to Canada by the Address to the Imperial Parliament, presented to the House of Commons by Hon. Mr. Mills, and passed on Friday, is very important and very extensive. It is not easy to give the precise extent of the territory in question. It embraces all the territory north and east of a line drawn from the northwest part of Hudson's Bay to Great Bear Lake and west to Alaska. This territory, including the islands, must embrace 750,000 square miles. Within the waters of this region extensive fisheries are carried on, and upon Cumberland and Southampton Islands there are, besides extensive mines of copper, plumbago and mica, immense mines of ignite coal, from which steamers used in the fisheries are supplied. If the reader will take a map of North America and draw a line as indicated, all the country north of this line, east of the 141st meridian and west of Kennedy's channel, will be embraced under these resolutions in Canada.

Mr. S. R. Hesson, of Stratford, has been selected to take Mr. Daly's place as Tory standard-bearer for North Perth.

The Ottawa Free Press says:—Information from undoubtedly reliable sources, indicates that Hon. Mr. Joly, upon the opening of the Legislature, will not only have the majority of four or five which was elected to support him, but that he will be accorded a strong support from many members of the Conservative party, from whom it was not looked for or expected. Several voluntary offers of support have been tendered to Mr. Joly.

The Reformer says:—"The foundries in Galt are, as usual, kept very busy, orders coming in as fast as they can be turned out. There are a large number of mills being built throughout Canada this summer, the machinery for which is nearly supplied by Galt firms." Miserable manufacturers, they will go on turning out the products of their works, though they are deprived of the inestimable boon of having their coal and pig iron taxed by Sir John Macdonald.

DOMINION PARLIAMENT.

THE PROROGATION.

Ottawa, May 10.

Long before the hour appointed a large crowd had assembled in the Chamber of the Senate in order to witness the prorogation ceremonies. The Judges of the Supreme Court and a large number of ladies had seats on the floor of the chamber. The feeling that this was the last occasion on which His Excellency would take part in the pageant seemed to subdue the large assemblage and give the ceremony an air of solemnity.

Long before the hour appointed for prorogation a guard of honour of 100 men from the Governor-General's Foot Guards, under command of Captain Tilton, Lieut. C. Graburn, and Ensign R. Surtees, who carried the Queen's Colours, took up a position in front of the main entrance. The men were accompanied by their band, which, when His Excellency arrived, struck up the National Anthem, while the men presented arms. The Vice-Regal salute was fired by a detachment of the Field Battery under command of Capt. Stewart, the Ottawa Brigade Garrison Artillery being defunct.

The members of the Senate being assembled His Excellency was pleased to command the attendance of the House of Commons, and that House being present the Bills passed were assented to in Her Majesty's name.

The following are the most important ones:—

An Act respecting the Port Perry Harbour Company.

An Act to provide that persons charged with Common Assault shall be competent as witnesses.

An Act respecting the Duty on Malt.

An Act to provide for the creation and registration of Homestead Exemption Estates in the Territories of Canada.

An Act respecting Persons imprisoned in default of giving Securities to keep the Peace.

An Act to amend the Act thirty-seventh Vic., chap. eight, intituled, "An Act to impose License Duties on Compounders of Spirits, to amend the Act respecting the Inland Revenue, and to prevent the Adulteration of Food, Drink and Drugs."

An Act to authorize the advance of certain sums to the Province of Manitoba in aid of the Public Schools therein.

An Act to amend the Act respecting the Election of Members of the House of Commons.

An Act to amend the law relating to Stamps on Promissory Notes and Bills of Exchange.

An Act for the Better Prevention of Crimes of Violence in certain parts of Canada until the end of the next session of Parliament.

Then the Speaker of the House of Commons addressed His Excellency the Governor-General as follows:—

"May it please Your Excellency:

"In the name of the Commons I present to Your Excellency a Bill intituled, 'An Act for granting to Her Majesty certain sums of money required for defraying certain expenses of the public service for the financial years ending respectively the 30th June, 1878, and the 30th June, 1879, and for other purposes relating to the public service, to which I humbly request Your Excellency's assent."

To this Bill the Royal assent was signified in the following words:—

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE:—

Honourable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

I am glad to be able to relieve you from further attendance in Parliament after a somewhat long and laborious session.

I shall take the necessary steps at an early day after the close of the financial year to give effect to the measure you have passed for the better auditing of the public accounts.

I shall call the attention of Her Majesty's Government to your address praying that all of British America, except Newfoundland, shall be by Imperial action declared to be within the Dominion of Canada. I rejoice that during the term of my administration this final step to consolidate British interests on the Continent of America has been taken with so much unanimity, and that henceforth the Dominion Government will under Her Majesty, exercise undisputed sway over the northern half of this continent. I am happy to be able to state that, pending the final settlement of the question of boundary, a conventional line has been adopted by my Government and the Government of the United States between Alaska and British Columbia, on the Stickeen River.

The large sums you have appropriated for the great works of internal improvements will be expended with the most rigid regard to economy, and in the expectation that the principal canals under construction may be nearly completed within the next financial year.

The settlement of Manitoba and the North-west Territories has been proceeding this year with unexampled rapidity, and if the efforts of my Government to obtain a railway connection with Winnipeg at a very early day should be successful, I anticipate next year a still larger increase in the population. It is specially gratifying to find so many Canadians who had in former years emigrated to the United States, now returning to the newly organized territories of their native land.

Gentlemen of the House of Commons,

I thank you for the supplies which you have granted for the various public services.

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate:
Gentlemen of the House of Commons:

Nothing could have given me more gratification than the joint address with which you have honored me on the eve of my departure. My interest in Canada shall not cease when my mission as Her Majesty's Viceroy shall have terminated, and I am glad to know that you have taken so favorable a view of my efforts to fittingly represent Our Most Gracious Queen in this the most important of Her Majesty's colonial possessions. I now bid you farewell, and earnestly trust you may find in the future the manifold blessings which I shall ever pray may be continually showered upon you.

The Speaker of the Senate then announced that the House stood prorogued until the 19th of June.

His Excellency then withdrew.

The N. Y. Tribune is getting alarmed at the spread of Communism in the States. It says:—The event of every day strengthen the evidence that secret leagues of Communists have been forming all over the country, and in some quarters arming, and that the control of this desperate element over the Trades Unions has greatly increased, particularly in the cities where the foreign-born population is large, in the coal mines of Pennsylvania and Illinois, and in some manufacturing centres. Great strikes are now in progress at Fall River, and in the coal region of Illinois, and a greater is anticipated in the coal region of Pennsylvania. If there were no central guidance and deliberate plan, it would be quite likely that strikes would lead to outbreaks, and these to sympathetic riots all over the country, as happened last summer. But there is little doubt that there does exist the central guidance, and that it is in the hands, or directly under the influence, of the refugees of the Commune and the International Society. The leaders mean far-reaching mischief. The subordinate chiefs are stirred up in different localities on different topics; in California, about Chinese labor; in Fall River, about broken savings banks and plundered mills; in coal regions, about wages. The Trades Unions are swept into a general movement because of local issues or complaints peculiar to each trade; but behind all this is the desire to take from owners of property the fruits of their thrift.

CORSETS. CORSETS.

Physicians, Women's Rights Advocates, Collectors of Mortuary Statistics, and Retormers generally

Have all had their fling at Corsets on sanitary grounds. Like the critics of the chameleon, "they are all right and all wrong," because Corsets made in the ordinary way may with justice be condemned, though those constructed in accordance with nature's laws are decidedly beneficial and hygienic to the female body. They support the bust, soften the sudden changes of tempreature, and import a firmness and support to the spinal column that are peculiarly useful. All this can be effected without torturing the body, but on the contrary improving the general health, and adding mach to the grace and elegance of the well dressed woman. A Corset to fulfil all these requirements should be fashioned after nature's model, and when that is done the garment will be perfect.

Wm, Stewart & Co. impressed with the truth of this idea have secured Corsets after NATURE'S MODEL. Our stock is now full in every size of the popular

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XXXIX.

THE GAUGER MAKES A DISCOVERY AND EFFECTS A SEIZURE WHICH PROMISES TO LEAD TO SOMETHING VERY IMPORTANT.

Gillespie gave another shout and rushed after him—dashing fearlessly into the same opening. It was one he had not yet entered, and led into a narrow lane between high ledges—turning at various angles in its coure. The gauger was just in time to see the fugitive turn the corner of one of these. He had lost sight of him, but only for a few moments. Whoever he might be he was young and very active; but Gillespie, if not so young, was equally agile, and managed to keep him in view. The other had this advantage that he appeared to know well the various turnings, which Gillespie did not, and on this account the latter lost his way several times; but though the distance was increased between them the fugitive never got fairly out of sight.

Fearful that he might do so, the gauger sounded his whistle loudly as a signal to his men, and still continued the pursuit after him—stumbling against stones and striking against rocks as he rushed forward.

Right in front of pursued and pursuer was a gully formed by two lofty perpendicular crags. It seemed to form the entrance to a deep, black abyss, but as the figure darted into it the gauger did not scruple to follow. He was now in complete darkness, but, guided by the clattering steps of the fugitive, he kept on his way, and emerged by another opening into a wider space, where the gloom was still impenetrable. Here all was silent, the sound of the footsteps had ceased, and Gillespie thought the trail was lost, when suddenly, at about twenty yards distant, a red lurid light burst forth from a chasm in the ground, revealing a man's figure descending into it. The gauger sprang to the spot, but ere he reached it the figure sank out of sight, and at the same instant, the light vanished. So near was he that he could see nothing like a trap door fall.

The next moment he was on the ground on his knees examining the place with his hands with frantic eagerness, and shouting vehemently for his men to come. Presently his shouts were answered; the responses came nearer and nearer, and some of the officers bounded to their leader's side.

"Here it is," cried Gillespie—"here is the secret entrance to the place. I have been chasing one of the fellows, and he has run to earth here. There's a door somewhere; try and find it. Ha! a chain! Here, one of you, give this a pull, for I am almost dead beat."

The chain which Gillespie's fingers had touched, consisted of but a few strong links connected with an iron ring sunk into the edge of a large flat stone. One of the men pulled it vigorously, when the stone rose up, and the red light again appeared. Amid excited exclamations the stone was removed wholly from its place, and a lighted cavern appeared below, from which arose a strong odor of whiskey, leaving no doubt as to the use to which the place was put.

The descent into the cavern was by rude steps cut in the rock, making the access comparatively easy; but the officers naturally hesitated before venturing to enter. They must of necessity descend one by one, and if the place below was filled with desperate men the danger to be incurred was great.

They paused in silence and listened, but no sound came from beneath, except some crackling made by the fire, which flickered and flared, giving out the light by which the aperature was dimly illuminated.

Gillespie's courage soon asserted itself. Drawing a pistol from his belt he cocked it, and took his way down the steps, bidding his men follow close behind, all but two, who were left above to guard the entrance.

No opposition was offered to their descent, and after gaining the bottom of the steps they found themselves in a large underground chamber, containing, as they saw at a glance, the usual articles and vessels for illicit manufacture. A quantity of stuff was in process of being distilled, and liquor already made was cooling in vats full to the brim. But, to the surprise of all, no human being was visible, though everything gave token that people must have been there within the last minute or two. Besides, the gauger had seen the man whom he was chasing enter the cave, and unless there was another mode of exit he must be lurking within it.

The place was not large, and they soon made an inspection of the rocky walls. To all appearance there was no recess, and no opening, except in a crevice in the roof, through which the smoke escaped, but this was too small to admit of the passage of a man's body.

"This is not the whole of our discovery," said Gillespie, looking round upon the vessels which occupied the floor. "There are no kegs here to receive the stuff. There must be a storing place at hand—search till you find it,

"We needn't search here," remarked Skeat. "There may be more caves than one; but there's no way into them from this."

"There must be more, if my suspicion is correct that this is the headquarters of Black Dick's gang; and there must be a connection, too, for where is the man I saw enter? He's in hiding somewhere. Tap the floor, tap the walls with that iron pole."

In obedience to this order one of the officers lifted a strong iron bar which stood against the side of the furnace and struck the floor in every place—the others listening in silence to catch any hollow sound that might be given forth. But every stroke brought forth the same solid response, showing there was no vault beneath.

"Try the walls!" exclaimed the gauger.

The man went round the sides of the cave, striking it in like manner—the result promising to be the same till he came to a part a little farther in than the rest, though as rough and rocky looking. At the first stroke, however, it returned the sound, not of stone, but of wood.

"Ha! I knew it," cried Gillespie, in a triumphant tone. "Smash it in, Bob, and stand firm, every one of you, for the unearthed rascals may show fight."

They formed a close group round the spot, which was cleverly concealed by a covering of wood, framed and stained to resemble the uneven wall around it. Every man laid his hand on the hilt of his cutlass, and excitedly awaited the event.

The piece of wood so like the rock around was nearly as strong. It shook, yet stoutly defied the blows of the iron pole, though wielded by the strongest of the party. Gillespie seeing this called out—

The man inserted the end of the bar, gave a mighty heave, when, with a loud crash, out fell the piece of wood from before the mouth of a black aperture.

The officers started back, and grasped their cutlasses more tightly. They looked for the outburst of a band of desperate smugglers, with perchance Black Dick or Harold Logan at their head. But a moment passed and no one came. Then as the light from the fire penetrated into the interior, showing a small inner cave, filled with kegs, there came forth an old grey-haired man, and a young man behind him."

"Good gracious, David Barclay!" said the gauger, in astonishment.

"Ay, Malcolm, it's just me and my son Watty. Ye ken him tae, I think."

"And are you at this work again? Did the last conviction not cure you? On my soul, Barclay, I could not have believed this. The third time. Why, do you know what the consequences will be?"

"Ruin, utter and hopeless ruin," groaned the old smuggler. "It took a' my bawbees and mair to pay the fine last time. Noo, I fancy it will be dooble or three times as muckle."

"Not a doubt of it."

"Then I'm a broken man; a beggar for life."

"What tempted you to such mad folly?" asked Gillespie. Are you in league with a band of them?"

"Na, I'm nae that. Watty and I are here by oorsells, a' by oorsells, and we thoucht it safe, sae far up among the hills."

"Well, David Barclay, I am sorry for you, but I must do my duty. Yet, to tell the truth, I wish it had been any one but you."

"It's my auld luck, Malcolm. As ye say, this is the third time I hae fa'in into yer hands, and it maun be the last, for it will cost me a' my warld's gear, and maybe they'll jail me forby."

The old man's words ended with another groan, and he sat down on the top of one of the vessels in an attitude of extreme dejection.

The gauger's countenance expressed real commisseration, for Barclay was an old acquaintance, and, being a genial, warm-hearted man, he and Gillespie had in former days spent many happy hours together; but as an officer of Excise the latter had always been rigidly impartial. Twice already he had detected David in smuggling and shown him no forbearance on the score of friendship, nor could his duty allow him to do so now, though the consequence must be the old man's utter ruin.

As he stood silent and distressed, a light touch was laid on his arm, and, looking round, he found Barclay's son by his side.

"Maister Gillespie, can I hae a private word wi' ye?" whispered the latter, pointing to the inner cave.

The gauger shook his head in token that the expected request would be of no use; but he accompanied the lad into the well-packed recess, where they were beyond ear-shot.

"Was it you I chased outside, Watty?" asked Gillespie, before the other had time to speak.

"Ay, sir, it was just me. I could cut my fingers aff for showin' ye the way in."

"Nay; we would have found the place otherwise. I knew smuggling was going on about this spot."

"It's an awfu' business for my faither."

"It is, Watty, a cursed bad business, indeed. After the two former convictions, the fine will be enormous."

"I was gaunna see if ye could——"

"No use," interrupted the gauger hastily, but decidedly. My official duty must be discharged. Don't say another word with that view, for I can't listen to it."

He was about to turn and leave him, when the youth caught him nervously by the arm.

"Ha! how know you that?"

"Nae maitter—am I richt?"

"You are; and I would a thousand times rather that my expectation had been fulfilled. But what is your drift?"

The youth hesitated a moment, then he spoke in a lower tone.

"Black Dick's cave is far fae this. Ye'll never find it, but I could lead ye tee it."

"And will you?" asked Gillespie, with breathless eagerness.

"If it wull save my father," faltered the youth. "Naething but that wud tempt me tae betray them."

Here was a chance, and Gillespie was not slow to seize it.

"Look here, Watty," he returned. "I must seize this stuff, and break up the still; but I have it in my power to save your father from the heavy fine, and will, on condition that you do as you say. Guide us to Black Dick's headquarters, and your father shall escape both fine and imprisonment.

"I maun hae yer written promise for that, though."

"So you shall. The importance of your service will justify me in doing this."

"Then I agree; but for God's sake dinna tell ony onybody—no even my faither, for he wadna alloo me tae dae it even tee save himsel.'"

"No one shall know it," returned gauger. "You shall have the dress of one of my men, and that will put you beyond the danger of recognition."

"Ay, that'll dee. I wad maist as sune cut my throat, but it's tae save my faither—it's tae save my faither."

"And serve your country, Watty; think of that," said the gauger, clapping the youth's shoulder encouragingly. "There is more smuggling carried on in Black Dick's cave than in all the rest of Aberdeenshire. You are sure you can take us to it?"

"It wad be strange if I couldna," answered the youth, "seein' I was ance in the gang mysel'. The auld road in is built up sin' I was there, and there's a secret passage that I dinna ken, but, if I show ye the built up place, a' ye hae tae dee is—Pu' oot the stanes and divots, and the cave is afore ye."

"That's enough," said Gillespie, rubbing his hands with great animation. "Now, how far is it? When can we reach it?"

"It's a guid nine hours walk from here."

"Ah, well, we are too tired to start to-night; but we'll set off early in the morning, and reach the cave by the afternoon. So, Watty this business is settled. I have pen and ink here, and will write out the promise I have made."

"Whist, sir. No word aboot it tee my father."

"Oh, not a word—not a word. I'll tell him I am going to screen him for the sake of old friendship."

Here the conference between the two was broken up. Gillespie and his men passed the night in that underground cavity, and before sunrise they started, under the guidance of Watty, for Black Dick's cave.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. THE EASTERN QUESTION

THE FEELING IN ST. PETERSBURG FOR PEACE.

LONDON, May 10.

It is said that Schouvaloff was always opposed to those clauses of the San Stefano Treaty which raised the strongest objections, and that he will represent at the Russian Court the civilization party, in opposition to Ignatieff, whose influence seems to have materially dimished.

An Aden despatch says:—Nine transports with Indian troops, on the way to Malta, passed to-day.

A Constantinople special says in case of war Todleben intends to make Adrianople the base of operations, and the final stand for the army south of the Balkans. It will be defended by 500 guns, and so fortified that, Todleben says, it will be impregnable.

A Berlin special says:—The tone of the press is not altogether confident. The news from Vienna is generally warlike, and seems to indicate that Austria does not regard her prospects improved by the peaceful turn of the negotiations between England and Russia.

An Athens despatch says:—The Turkish Minister here has notified the refugees from the insurgent provinces that they have full liberty to return to their homes, the Sultan having granted an amnesty.

The negotiations for the surrender of the fortresses and withdrawal of the Russian army from Constantinople are reported to be progressing favorably.

A Belgrade despatch announces that Bosnia is in a state of great agitation. The insurrections are spreading, and the insurgents force all Christians to join them or burn their villages.

A Vienna correspondent says:—Earl Beaconsfield in his last interview with Schouvaloff explained with great precision the interests which England would in all circumstances protect. England lays chief stress on a European settlement of the question. The fact that England is entering into pourparlers cannot be interpreted as showing a disposition to swerve from the line first adopted. Schouvaloff is thought to be too English in his views and on his arrival at St. Petersburg will find that a strong counter-current has set in against his person as well as his mission.

SUICIDE IN STEWARTTOWN. — An inquest was held by Dr. Wm. Freeman, of Georgetown, on the body of Wm. Wallace, of Stewarttown, who committed suicide on Sunday morning, the 5th inst., about four o'clock. The following is the verdict of the jury:—"We, the jury, after hearing the evidence attending the death of Wm. Wallace, find that he came to his death by a wound in the throat, inflicted by a razor in his own hand, while of unsound mind. Your jury are of opinion that the said Wm. Wallace was not fit to be at large, and should not have been discharged from Brampton jail."

A FINE HERD.—The News Record says that among cattle shipped from Fergus for Britain by Mr. John Black on Saturday last was an extra fine herd of 22 bought from Peter Rennie, Esq. Of course there was some difference in the weight of the cattle, but when it is stated that they averaged over sixteen hundred each it will be admitted that they were good ones. The total price received for the 22 cattle was $1,920.55, or an average of $87.30 each all round. We question if any farmer in this County ever sold as large and fine a herd as this of his own feeding at one time.

The Lake Shore & Michigan Southern Railroad has settled with the families of eighty-three out of the ninty-two persons killed by the Ashtabula disaster. Of the sixty-four wounded, fifty-six have been settled for. The amount paid so far is $453,800.

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

MORE ABOUH RUSSIAN CRUISERS.

Arrival of Reinforcements at San Stefano.

LONDON, May 13.—A St. Petersburg despatch says that the Russian army is subscribing liberally to a fund to purchase cruisers to prey upon English commerce.

A Pera special to the Times says:—The arrival yesterday at San Stefano of reinforcements, revived an uneasy feeling. A coup de main on the part of the Russians is apprehended.

SCHOOL BOARD meets this evening at 7.30 o'clock, in the Council Chamber.

THERE was a light frost on Sunday night in this neighborhood. Very little damage was done to the produce crops or the fruit blossoms.

THE Wellington Field Battery purposes sending a team to London on the 4th of June, to take part in the Western Association rifle matches.

MR. J. D. VICARS, of the Bank of Commerce, Chicago, is in town visiting among his friends, and is the guest of Mr. A. M. McKinnon.

SAFE ARRIVAL.—By cable despatch, it is learned that Mr. Thomas Watt has arrived safely at Liverpool, and that the stock he had on board was all right.

MR. LOGHRIN was delirious during the whole of Saturday night but passed a comparatively quiet day on Sunday, and was easy during all last night. He is feeling pretty well to day.

FOR MANITOBA.—Mr. John Rummage, of Nassagaweya, leaves for the North-west to-day (Monday) and takes with him $1,500 worth of agricultural implements purchased from Mr. Levi Cossitt, of Guelph.

IN A TIGHT PLACE. — This (Monday) morning, as the train on the G. W. R. had got under full speed, about half a mile north of Galt, an indiscrete old horse was observed by the engineer to be browsing on the side of the track, near the bridge crossing the Grand River. The whistle for "down breaks" affrighted the animal, and he dashed across the bridge and was wedged between the fence and locomotive as the train came to a stand still. The driver, who resided hard by, extricated the equine by tearing down the fence and letting him through upon a narrow platform crossing the mill race at this point. No injury resulted.

THE FIRST HEAT.—It is said that the trotter, Abdallah Chief, won it this morning, and it was done in this manner. Abdallah is usually drivenby Frank West. About nine o'clock this morning, the driver left the horse in charge of a young man named Downs while he called in at Mr. Chubb's house. The driver being away, the groom for the nonce thought he would like a trot. He thereupon took his seat in the driving waggon, and with a chirrup Abdallah was started at a two-forty pace, which was soon brought down to what Downs thought a two-thirty, then a two-twenty, and eventually two-ten. This, be it known, is a rapid stride, and Downs thought so too. In fact he was satisfied it was a clear case of runnaway. As soon as this dawned on his mind he prepared to save his life ere it was too late. A careful scramble over the back of the wagon, a drop on the ground, and all was right with him. The horse kept up his rattling speed as though Lexington Joe and Dan Webster, both noted trotters, were with him neck and neck. When in front of R. Stewart's lumber yard an upset took place which frightened Abdallah and he increased his speed to, well down to one-fifty. This however is only a guess as no official record was taken. From this time until the horse had gyrated around the market building, twice, collided with a wagon belonging to J. & R. Miller, leaving his own rig behind him, taken the sidewalk on Macdonnell street, crossed over to the east side of Wyndham, upsetting boxes, bales, barrels and bacon in front of Jackson & Hallett's, and thence along the sidewalk to the front of Petrie's drug store, where the road was again taken, the space was brought down to about one minute. The horse was captured shortly after this, none the worse for its mad race. Abdallah never kicked once—merely made time. This to his credit be it said. When the animal was captured it was found to be unharmed. Frank West does not intend to trust Downs with his horse again. The heat was won by Abdallah.

BASE BALL.—The Iroquois, of Markham, who play here on Thursday next, defeated the Tecumsehs, of Toronto, on Saturday, by a score of 18 to 13. The following games were also played on Saturday: Hornells 4, Rochesters 8; Cincinnati, 4 Chicagos 1; Lowells 11, Tecumsehs of London, 8; in an eleven innings game, Meridans 4, New Havens 3; the Bostons defeated the Providence by 11 to 5; Indianapolis 1, Milwaukees 0; Buffalos 4, Manchesters 2; Alleghenys 10, New Havens 2.

MR. F. J. DREW has received a large order for fruit of various kinds from Mr. A. Smith, of Winnipeg. Drew expects to build up a large trade in that city, and that this order is only one of many he will receive during the ensuing season.

Local News.

MR. LOGHRIN passed a very uneasy and delirious night, but is feeling somewhat better to-day

MODERATE to fresh winds, and clear fair weather, are the weather probabilities received to-day.

ON Sunday evening Rev. Dr. Wardrope, of Chalmers' Church, and Rev. Mr. Brock, of the Dublin street Methodist Church, exchanged pulpits.

COMMITTED.—Mrs. Edward Gilbert, of Mount Forest, has been committed to gaol here on a charge of stealing two pairs of boots from Mr. D. Davidson, of Mount Forest.

THE loss sustained by the lightning striking the spiralet of St. Bartholomew's church has been estimated by Mr. Connolly, the architect, to be only about $100. It is now being repaired.

THE Hamilton Times still publishes a double number on Saturday, which contains as much reading matter as a good-sized novel. Such enterprise on the part of the publishers is sure to be recognized by a discerning public.

POLICE COURT.—This morning John Waldron charged Geo. Howard (colored) with assault and battery on Friday last. He did not appear on the summons, but was proceeded against, and was fined $3 and $2.10 costs, or twenty-one days in gaol.

"BUCK" RAE was brought before Judge Macdonald on Saturday. The case is in the same condition as it was when he was last brought out, Jennings, a very important witness, still keeping out of the way of the authorities. Rae was remanded until Wednesday evening next at six o'clock.

MR. DEVLIN, a spiritualist, who has been staying in Guelph for a week past, predicts that a European war is inevitable, and that on the 3rd July, 1878, England will be involved in a bloody battle with Russia. Devlin settles the whole matter in such an easy and off hand way that his services should at once be secured by some of the Powers.

SUNDAY FUNERALS.—The clergymen, of Stratford, following the example of those in Guelph are out in a card that they will no longer officiate at Sunday funerals. They consider that their pastoral duties on Sunday are sufficiently arduous to engross all their attention, and that they are entitled to Sabbath rest as well as other people.

NIAGARA SYNOD.—The annual meeting of the Synod of Niagara will be held in Hamilton during the present month. Bishop Fuller has issued a circular letter to the clergy and lay delegates throughout the diocese, urging them, if at all possible, to arrange their affairs at home so that they may be enabled to remain in Hamilton somewhat longer than usual, as several matters of great importance to the diocese will be submitted for the consideration of the Synod.

FOUND DEAD,—About 5 p. m. on the 10th inst., an elderly man by the name of Wm. Irvine, whilst returning to the home of his daughter in Beverly, Mrs. McNeilty, accidentally fell into some water beside the road, and being unable to extricate himself, was drowned. When found he was still warm, thus showing he was but a little time in the water. Deceased was about seventy six years of age. John Irvine, of Palmerston, son of deceased, passed through Guelph on Saturday to Carlisle.

WEIGHTS AND MEASURES.—The attention of our readers is called to the following clauses taken from the new or Amended Weights and Measures Act, 40 Vic. Cap. 14:—"Any trader not being a manufacturer or dealer in weights, measures or weighing machines, having in his possession such weights, measures or weighing machines unstamped shall be liable to a penalty of $50 for the first offence, and for each subsequent offence to a penalty of $100, &c. Any forfeitures and penalties imposed by this Act or by any other Regulation made under its authority shall be recoverable with costs before any civil court of competent jurisdiction or any Justice of the Peace for the District or, County, or place in which the offence was committed, &c. One half of any penalty so recovered shall belong to the party sueing for the same, not being a Deputy Inspector or any officer acting in pursuance of this Act, and the other half, or if the party sueing is an officer acting in pursuance of this Act, then the whole penalty shall belong to Her Majesty for the uses of the Dominion."

FIRE IN PUSLINCH.—On Saturday night last the barn of Mr. E. Hornbostel, a few miles from Guelph, was destroyed by fire. The flames were first noticed about half-past ten o'clock and at that time the building was all ablaze. Everything was destroyed, including a cutting-box, fanning mill—all new, two pigs, hens, turkeys, &c. Fortunately Mr. Hornbostel had his horses and cows out in the pasture field at the time. He believes the work was that of an incendiary, and for the conviction of the guilty party he offers a reward of $20. The loss is about $600. There is an insurance of $300 on the building and $200 on the contents in the Waterloo Mutual. Mr. Hornbostel has worked hard to get his farm in good shape, and it is very unfortunate that he should meet with such a heavy loss.

THE EASTERN QUESTION

Three Turkish Fortresses Surrendered.

Nothing more about Schouvaloff's Mission.

LONDON, May 11.

All the British regiments in the Mediteranean are to be made up to a thousand men. Reinforcements are ready to leave England for this purpose.

Aden, May 12.—Altogether sixteen transports have passed here, conveying Indian troops to Malta.

Constantinople telegrams state:—In consequence of a peremptory demand of General Todleben for the surrender of the fortresses, accompanied by a threat to occupy Constantinople, the Cabinet Council decided to evacuate all three of the fortresses—Shumla first, then Varna, and lastly Batoum. The decision was taken rather suddenly upon the report of Osman Pasha that the Turkish army was not in a condition to resist the occupation of Constantinople.

It is stated that the English agents are competing with the Russian agents for the purchase of American steamers. The owners of vessels are asking high prices. The Russian agent at Philadelphia admitted that his Government had already chartered several American vessels for indefinite periods.

The Agence Russe formally denies that Russian troops have begun to withdraw from the positions about Constantinople. It says however much the Government may desire to recall the troops they will only retire after the Turks have surrendered the fortresses and the English fleet has left its present anchorage.

A despatch from St. Petersburg of the 11th says:—Schouvaloff will remain here only long enough to obtain the Emperor's decision. The time has been appointed when he should be in London again, and it is desired he should spend some time in Berlin on the return journey, after submitting his views and receiving the Emperor's reply. Further negotiations conducted by him will assume an extremely important character.

The Agence Russe states that although it yesterday observed that it was impossible to know the proposals of which Schouvaloff was the bearer, it stands to reason they must refer to the only two solutions of which the present question admits, namely, the dismemberment and partition of the Ottoman Empire, or the combination and assuring the vitality of Turkey and the complete independence of the Christian populations from Turkish administration, while leaving them, nevertheless, tributary to the Porte.

THE Court of Assize will again open to-morrow, at 9:30, before Judge Macdonald. Mr. Justice Patterson, who opened the Court, has to be present at the Court of Appeal, to-morrow.

BATES' ADVERTISING AGENCY.—Mr. J. H. Bates, lately senior partner in the newspaper firm of Bates & Locke, at No. 34 Park Row, having succeeded to the business of the firm, has rented and fitted up rooms in the Times building, No. 41 Park Row. Mr. Bates is one of the oldest advertising agents in the city, having been in the business for a great many years. He was for a long time a partner with Mr. S. M. Pettengill, with whom he continued until 1873, at which time he formed a copartnership with Mr. D. R. Locke, at that time largely interested in the Toledo Blade newspaper, both as editor and stockholder.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—Miss Jessie Tytler, daughter of Mr. John Tytler, carpenter, Carling street, London, met with an accident lately, by which, it is feared, she may either lose her eyesight or have it impaired for life. It was caused by attempting to remove the cork of an ammonia bottle with her teeth, when some of the acid flew up in her eyes. Than ammonia, there is not a more useful cleansing agent, but housekeepers must handle it with care, and by all means keep it away from the face. This is the second casualty of the kind we have had to report within the last few weeks—a London Township woman having her eyesight completely destroyed by pursuing exactly the same course that led to Miss Tytler's injuries.

WARNING TO MANITOBA EMIGRANTS.—Mr. Grahame, the Dominion Government Immigration Agent at Duluth, has issued the following circular: You are requested to beware of land agents and others similarly interested, while on the American side, who will meet you at railway depots and on board trains, and who will use every means in their power to dissuade you from going to Manitoba. These men will doubtless offer you wonderful inducements to remain and settle in the Western States. They will very likely tell you plausible stories of the severe climate, the unproductiveness of the soil, the fearful grasshopper plague, and of the hundreds of their "personal acquaintances," who would be glad to leave the Province if they only had the means. To these men, I would say, "turn a deaf ear," go on to your destination and when there, exercise the right of judging for yourselves.

The Grand Central Hotel, New York, has long been a favorite with Southern people. Now that the St. Nicholas is soon to close, it is presumed that the Grand Central will absorb a still larger proportion of the Southern trade. eod

STILL THEY COME.—We notice the railway companies delivering large quantities of new goods at the Lion this morning. These we are told are some of the bargains secured by Mr. Williamson at the trade sales in Montreal a few days ago—when goods were said to have been sold lower than ever. Special attractions in dress goods.

THE EXPLOSION ON THE SARDINIAN.

LONDONDERRY, May 11.

At three o'clock yesterday the Allan steamer Sardinian arrived at Lough Foyle to receive mails and passengers before proceeding on her trans-Atlantic voyage. Shortly after she came to anchor an explosion occurred in one of the coal bunkers, and the vessel immediately caught fire. The passengers in the forecastle were cut off from their comrades, and for some time the greatest confusion and consternation prevailed. With some difficulty the captain was able to communicate with the shore, and the telegraph wires were brought into requisition for the purpose of obtaining the assistance of tug steamers, and making arrangements in this city for the accommodation of about four hundred passengers with board. When the officers of the vessel had succeeded in restoring comparative order a hasty examination of the various compartments was made, and it was found that about forty passengers had sustained serious injuries in various parts of the body. Several had legs broken; others arms injured; and a few were burned about the head. Three were found dead. It is not yet known how many were killed, but it is generally believed that when the scrutiny of the passenger list is made the number already stated will be considerably increased.

Shortly after nine o'clock three steam tenders brought ashore about 400 passengers. The wounded were temporarily placed in the stores running parallel with the quay, where they were promptly attended by Sir William Millar and other medical gentlemen. The spectacle was harrowing in the extreme. The shrieks of the unfortunate sufferers attracted large and sympathetic crowds. The thoroughfares in the immediate neighborhood were completely blocked. The passengers are chiefly Germans and Italians; but a number of English and Scotch emigrants are among them.

(Press Despatch.)

LONDON, May 11.—Several of the steerage passengers on the Sardinian were burned about the head and face and some had their arms and legs broken.

The agents of the line have no particulars.

Three of the injured are reported hopeless. Two bodies of the crew have been recovered. Some of the passengers are reported missing.

Among the passengers are forty orphan children destined for domestic service in America.

The fire brigade from Derry went to the vessel, but their efforts were unavailing. An attempt was made to beach her on McKinney's Bank, but she was finally scuttled and filled, and sank in five fathoms of water.

LATER.—All the saloon passengers are safe. Four persons, steerage passengers or members of the crew, are missing.

MONTREAL, May 11.—The Messrs. Allan this morning received the following private telegram anent the burning of the Sardinian:—

The Sardinian's spare coals exploded in Moville harbour. The ship took fire and was run ashore, scuttled and sunk in thirty feet of water. Several steerage passengers were injured. All the cabin passengers are safe. Two of the crew were killed. An attempt will be made to float the ship next week. The Peruvian sails from Liverpool on Sunday to embark the Sardinian's mails and passengers.

There was no insurance on the vessel.

Attempted Assassination of the Emperor of Germany.

LONDON, May 11, 5 p.m.—A despatch from Berlin says:—At 3:30 this afternoon, as the Emperor William was returning from a drive with the Grand Duchess of Baden, several shots from revolvers were fired at him in the Avenue Unter der Linden. Nobody was hurt.

Two shots were fired into Emperor William's carriage from the sidewalk without effect. The assassin ran into the middle of the avenue, followed by the crowd. On an attempt being made to capture him he fired three more shots and threw his revolver away. He was then secured. The Emperor's carriage was stopped, and the footman sprang from the box, and assisted at the capture. A few minutes afterwards another individual was seized in the middle of the avenue, in consequence, it is alleged, of an attempt to rescue the assassin. The assassin is a tinsmith named Emil Heinrich Max Hoedel, said to be from Leipsig. He was taken to the nearest police station, where a preliminary investigation was instituted. The accomplice arrested is named Krueger. He is a laborer, belonging to Berlin.

BERLIN, May 12.—At the official examination of Hoedel the prisoner stated he was a native of Leipsic, and born in 1857. He denied he fired at the Emperor. He affirmed he was without work, and intended to shoot himself publicly to show the rich the present condition of the people. He stated he shot once at himself, and could not account for the other three shots which were wanting in the chamber of his revolver. He thought he might have discharged them in absence of mind. The prisoner was in possession of several democratic writings.

His Lordship Mr. Justice Patterson, Presiding.

SATURDAY, May 11.

Parsons vs. Citizens' Insurance Company.—Action was brought on a policy of insurance for $2,500 on plaintiff's hardware store, Orangeville. The defences set up were: That the plaintiff had been guilty of fraud in his claim papers, and in his original application; that he kept on the premises a larger quantity of gunpowder than the policy permitted. The case occupied all day. The jury returned a verdict for plaintiff of $2,575. Mr. Guthrie, Q.C., and Mr. McCarthy, for plaintiff; Mr. Cameron, Q.C., and Mr. Smith, of Toronto, for defendant.

The Court then adjourned till Tuesday, at 9:30, to be presided over by Judge Macdonald, Mr. Justice Patterson having to attend the Court of Appeal in Toronto.

The Fenian Scare.

Excitement Along the Frontier.

We have it on undoubted authority that the utmost excitement prevailed on Saturday night and yesterday forenoon amongst residents on the Canada side of the Niagara River, at Fort Erie, Stevensville, and other points, in consequence of the report that a Fenian raid was anticipated from Buffalo. The operator at Fort Erie telegraphed the news along the wires yesterday morning that three hundred of Ireland's redeemers were parading in the streets of Buffalo, and the Paris, Brantford, Clifton, and Hamilton volunteers were ordered by the Government to hold themselves in readiness to repel the bloodthirsty invaders. A subsequent despatch, however, revealed the fact that there was no ground for the excitement exhibited by our friends on the Canada side, no Fenian demonstration having taken place, and the utmost quietude being noticed at the headquarters of the green brigade. It has been said by some that the detectives appointed by the Government must do something for the wages they receive, and possibly this was one of their inventions to show that they are alive to the interests of our country's peace.

No orders have been received by the volunteers here, but should there be, both the Wellington Field Battery and Rifles are anxious to take a part in the fray.

In connection with the above a rumor is in circulation in Montreal, and is believed by many of the lower classes, that an attempt will be made by the Fenians on the next 12th of July to visit Montreal, especially if the Orangemen make arrangements to have a procession on that day. The volunteers are somewhat agitated about the matter, but they are unanimous in their desire to be called out to keep the peace, no matter what the issue may be.

Another story is to the effect that a raid will be made at some other point on the same day, when the military have their attention directed to Montreal, where it is thought their services will be required. The police and military authorities regard the matter merely as a canard.

The Walkerton Telescope says:—It has been suggested that a meeting be held in this town, to give our people a chance to express their loyalty to the crown of England and their sympathy with the mother country, if she unfortunately should be involved in a war with Russia. Similar meetings have been held at Paisley and other places in the country.

The body of Timothy McCarthy, the missing Moncton tavern keeper, and the victim of the Shediac tragedy, was found on Friday in the Scadouc River. Brown answers the description telegraphed of the supposed murderer, viz., that he was half negro and half Indian, with black moustache, hair inclined to curl, and a scar on the cheek resembling a burn. Brown fully answers this description, with the exception of the scar, which, though it appears, is not very distinct.

Reform Meeting To-morrow.

We would remind our Reform friends in town of the Reform meeting to-morrow, in the Town Hall, at two o'clock, to take preliminary steps for the thorough organization of the party, and for the nomination of a candidate for the House of Commons. A cordial invitation is extended to all Reformers, and we trust that as many as can spare the time will be present to-morrow.

The Late Scenes in Parliament.

All the other Tory daily papers, except the Mail, are ashamed to publish the report of Sir John and Dr. Tupper's rowdy proceedings in the House on Friday, but in its place they heap all sorts of abuse on the head of Mr. D. A. Smith But those who read the coarse and brutal attack Sir John made on that gentleman on the preceding evening will readily justify Mr. Smith, who, to clear himself of the foul charges made against him by the leader of the Opposition, had no alternative but to reply to the allegations, and clear his character. This he did satisfactorily, and showed that in his efforts to secure railway communication for Manitoba he was only actuated, as a member from that Province, by a desire to forward its interests, and he denied at the same time that he had ever received any favor from the present or late Government. But Mr. Smith was not satisfied with this bare explanation and vindication of his character. He had been grievously wronged by Sir John, and in justifiable retaliation he went on to tell of some transactions which are far from creditable to Sir John and his friends. The rehearsal of these roused the ire of the "Chieftain" and his henchman, and in the true Tory spirit they assailed poor Smith with the coarsest and most abusive epithets, who, however, not at all abashed finished his story, and exposed the desperate means they resorted to during the Pacific Scandal crisis in November, 1873, to retain his support.

We have already given one account of this disgraceful scene, and in corroboration of it we give reports from other independent sources. The London Advertiser's correspondent says:—"Sir John Macdonald and Tupper out-shone all their previous efforts at mud-slinging. Their language was filthy, their conduct such as would disgrace the lowest gin mill in the country. All the fury and ferocity of the Tory nature found an outlet. * * * Tupper became perfectly fiendish with rage. He jumped about, yelled, stamped, roared—presenting a spectacle of impotent fury perfectly amazing. Sir John shook his fist under Mr. Smith's nose and swore at him in terms that cannot be written. To Mr. Smith's credit it must be said that he kept very quiet under this severe trial, and by his coolness saved the country the humiliation of witnessing a free fight on the floor of the House of Commons." The Hamilton Times' correspondent says:—"Dr. Tupper indulged in crying out. 'Coward, coward, mean contemptible coward, etc.,' and when Black Rod had disappeared, Sir John tauntingly cried out, 'Pembina Branch,' followed by 'That fellow Smith is the biggest liar ever met.' To this Mr. Smith replied by saying that 'Sir John Macdonald is the biggest liar in the country.' The members commenced to move out of the Chamber, and Mr. Smith, Sir John, Tupper, Rochester, Stevenson, White and others, met face to face near the door. Here Sir John went up to Smith and called him a liar. Dr. Tupper called out, 'Mean, contemptible coward.' Rochester—'You held the fort while poor Scott was shot.' And the other Opposition members joined in a chorus of execration, all aimed at Mr. Smith, who did the best he could to defend himself. The noises resembled pandemonium and the greatest excitement prevailed. . . . . More blackguardly proceedings it would be impossible to imagine, and it was thus that the Opposition brought to a close the policy of obstruction they have pursued all this session."

Had Mr. Mackenzie and his friends been guilty of such conduct, what an indignant howl would have been raised by every Tory organ from one end of the Dominion to the other. They would have been denounced as rowdies, as unworthy the confidence of the people, as unfit for the high position they held, and as a disgrace to their country. But it seems that with Sir John it is otherwise. He is apparently allowed all the license he asks from his followers, and the more disgraceful his conduct the higher he seems to rise in the estimation of some of these followers. We say some, for we cannot but believe that very many Conservatives are ashamed of his escapades. We would like to know what some of his new allies—the "national policy" men, think of such work. They have expressed their faith in his shadowy protection views—do they also endorse his conduct in such scenes as were witnessed last session, or are they ready to condone his offences in this respect in consideration of the hollow promises he makes to them. They cannot but feel in their hearts ashamed of their company, and our word for it, before they are much older they will not only be ashamed but disgusted.

The Conservatives of Kent have nominated Mr. Rufus Stephenson for the Commons, and Mr. Coutts for the Local. The Reformers of West Hastings have nominated Mr. James Brown, M.P., for the Commons. In West Middlesex, Mr. G. W. Ross has again received the unanimous nomination for the Commons, and Mr. Watterworth for the Local.

The Woodstock Sentinel thinks the title "Tory Taxationists" would be an appropriate and really descriptive title for the statesmen of the Opposition. Their "National Policy," boiled down, simply means that everybody is to be made to pay more for everything they have to buy.

The Truth about Newspaper Advertising Forcibly and Plainly Stated.

The newspaper is so comprehensive in its scope, so universal in administering to the wants of all classes and of every occupation in life; it brings, as it were, the financial and commercial markets of the world to our counting rooms, so that it may be truly said that a good advertisement in a widely-circulated newspaper is the best of all possible salesmen—one who never sleeps and is never weary, who goes after business early and late, who accosts the merchant in his store, the lawyer in his office, the student in his study, the cultivated woman at the family fireside—who can be in a thousand places at once, and address thousands of people each day, saying only the best things at the right time and in the best manner.

Now this typical salesman talks only about his own business in his own interests, and if in a crowd, he must, in order to secure a hearing, be more conspicuous than his own competitors, and at all times he must be as attractive as possible. The work involves intelligence, a good deal of ingenuity, and original and ready resource to make the stale matter of yesterday fresh and inviting to-day. This is the kind of newspaper advertising that it pays to do, and that we undertake to do.

Skilful newspaper advertising is now recognised as an art; one man spends money and gets poor results; another spends less money, but by his skill forces men to read his announcements in spite of themselves.

The Late Storm.—In several sections of Wellington reports have been received of the number of farms where fences had been blown down by the storm. The rain that descended completely filled a large number of cellars with water, and also washed the seed from the soil on hilly land. In Egremont the roof of the barn on the farm of Mr. Chas. Bye was struck by lightning, and was scattered in all directions. Several small out-houses in the same district were also struck. In Arthur Township the lightning struck several telegraph poles, and splintered them. The pieces were strewn along the road. The old residents said they had not heard such startling thunder for many years. The pasture fields, more especially the low lands, were like a sheet of water, and the creeks were swollen to a very great extent. In Galt the Grand Trunk station house suffered to some extent by the electric fluid. Two or three dwellings were also damaged.

Cattle Stealing.—Robert Stewart was brought before Judge Miller on the 7th inst., on a charge of stealing three head of young cattle belonging to Stephen Keen, of Dumfries, on or about the 1st of October, 1874. It seems that after the alleged theft, Stewart, who had been in the employ of Mr. Keen, fled to the States, where he remained until last fall, when he was brought back to Berlin on a charge of forgery. Of this charge he was acquitted at the late Assizes, but was immediately re-arrested on the charge of cattle stealing. The evidence, it is said, will show that the cattle were actually stolen, and that the prisoner sold them to a Mr. Rush, of Wilmot, for $30. Stewart asserts that he bought the cattle for $25, but cannot tell from whom. The witness whom prisoner called for the defence, when sworn, declared that he knew nothing whatever of prisoner's purchasing the cattle. Prisoner was sentenced to three years in the Provincial Penitentiary.

The lad Patrick Wallachan, who stole the horse and buggy from P. Bricker's livery stable at New Hamburg, has been sent to the Reformatory Prison for four years.

Dr. Orton's Reception.—The Fergus News Record, in speaking of the reception to be tendered to Dr. Orton on his return from Ottawa, says:—"It is generally believed that since the nomination of Mr. Robinson, Dr. Orton has been troubled with a feeling of uneasiness respecting his fate at next election. It was a judicious move, therefore, for the Dr.'s friends to arrange to give him a bit of a demonstration on his return from parliament. For a serenade from the station by a band of music, accompanied by an assemblage of his friends, cannot fail to have a cheering effect. And for various reasons we think there ought to be a fairly good turnout on the occasion. Many old supporters, no doubt, will be glad of an opportunity to show the Dr., immediately upon his return, that they are still faithful to him. And the opportunity will also be most favourable for any new supporters to make known their allegiance to him. Besides, there is always a supply of liquids furnished gratuitously on such occasions that add somewhat to the other attractions. And we feel bound to say that old and new friends ought all to make a point to be present at the reception and serenade. But it is not somewhat significant that while in the past Dr. Orton was permitted to arrive home from Parliament without notice in any way, now that Mr. Robinson is in the field as his opponent a great demonstration has become necessary? There is a shaking among the dry bones, and no mistake; but all this effort after affect will only make the defeat the more overwhelming when it takes place."

It is stated in the Iron Age that New Zealand is gaining importance as a market for American manufactures. A vessel lately left New York for that Island with a cargo, among which were the following items: 208 packages of agricultural implements, 23 of manufactures of iron, 180 barrels of plaster, 35 packages of carriage materials, 340 doors, 66 packages of glassware, 72 of clocks, 10,000 ft of lumber, 130 cases of hardware, 84 packages woodenware, 527 cases furniture, manufactures of wood, blacking, plated ware, organs, canned goods, sewing machines, pumps, and lampware.

A pleasing evidence of the kindly relations existing between the employer and employed was exhibited on Friday, in the Montreal Gazette office, when Mr. Thos. White, the editor of that journal, was waited on by the employees of his large establishment, and presented with an address abounding in expressions of most cordial regard and respect on the occasion of his silver wedding. The address was accompanied by a very fine oil portrait of Mr. White for presentation to Mrs. White.

It is now said by the Tory papers, that the policy of the Quebec Opposition is to secure the views of the Government, have a short session, and then adjourn until January. In the interval several seats will be regained. Montmorenci, Rimouski, Missisquoi, Montreal West, Kamouraska, and some other constituencies which are safe for the Conservatives on a new election, are to be contested, and when the House meets in January there will be a Conservative majority of ten or twelve. A very consoling calculation truly! But the Tories must have some reed to bear on however tender.

The Tories of Toronto got up a bit of a demonstration in honor of the "Chieftain" on Saturday, but it was a sorry affair. Tupper too came in for his share of the honors, but the whole affair had a sickly and galvanized look about it.

The Ontario Conference of the M. E. Church, which opened at Listowel on the 1st inst., was brought to a close on Monday last, after a very pleasant and successful session. Among the Ministers' stations in the Huron District are the following:—Mount Forest, J. C. Bell and W. Laidlaw Garafraxa, R. Carson; Hanover, T. C. Sanderson; Teeswater, G. A. Jamieson; Palmerston, J. X. Moran. Presiding Elder, J. M. Simpson, Mount Forest.

Guelph Township Council.

This Council met on Monday, 6th May, pursuant to adjournment. Geo. A. Darby, Reeve, in the chair. Present, Messrs. Sweetnam, McIntosh and Armstrong.

The Reeve read a communication from Mr. C. Davidson, Secretary of the Galt and Guelph Railway Company enclosing bank form of transfer of shares, for the Council to sign on behalf of this municipality, as receipt in full to transfer all right, title, and interest of twenty shares held in the Galt & Guelph Railway Company, and to make over the same in favor of the Great Western Railway Company, in accordance with an Act passed at last Session of the Ontario Legislature, for which this Township will receive the sum of two hundred and thirty-five dollars and twenty-five cents. Moved by Mr. Sweetnam, seconded by Mr. Armstrong, that the Reeve and Treasurer be instructed to sign the transfer of twenty shares held by this municipality in the Galt & Guelph Railway Company, to the Great Western Railway Company, in accordance with an arrangement entered into by the various municipalities interested with that Company and deposit the same with the Secretary and Treasurer. Carried.

The following accounts were presented and ordered to be paid:—Guthrie, Watt & Cutten, preparing By-laws, &c., $74.40; Hart & Rawlinson, municipal stationary, manuel, &c., $21.45; Innes & Davidson, printing, $26.60; Burrows & Co., printing, $21.63; J. Anderson, stationary, &c., $7.45; J. Risk, for necessaries to Mrs. Peter Esson $2.70; H. Devlin, for repairing plough, broken on road work, $5.40.

Messrs. Chas. Tuck and Philip Brickal were present, drawing the attention of the Council to the necessity of some action being taken to improve the boundary road between this Township and Waterloo, when on motion made by Mr. Sweetnam, seconded by Mr. Armstrong, the Clerk was instructed to request the Council of the Township of Waterloo to appoint a committee to confer with a committee from this Council, naming place and time of meeting for the purpose of opening and improving a portion of the road between both townships, and that the Reeve, Deputy Reeve, and Messrs. Howes and McIntosh, be a committee from this municipality for that purpose.

The Clerk stated that Mr. Thos. Lister had sold his farm, and had tendered his resignation as pathmaster. Mr. McIntosh moved, seconded by Mr. Sweetnam, that Albert Wright be appointed pathmaster in place of Thos. Lister, who has left the municipality.

The Council then proceeded to fill up the pathmaster's schedules, with the apportionment of Statute labor in the several road divisions. When completed the Clerk was instructed to forward them to the pathmaster's, who will receive the same through their respective post offices.

It was then moved and seconded to adjourn until Monday, the 3rd day of June, then to meet for general business and Court of Revision.

A. McCorkindale, Clerk.

CORSETS. CORSETS.

Physicians, Women's Rights Advocates, Collectors of Mortuary Statistics, and Reformers generally

Have all had their fling at Corsets on sanitary grounds. Like the critics of the chameleon, "they are all right and all wrong," because Corsets made in the ordinary way may with justice be condemned, though those constructed in accordance with nature's laws are decidedly beneficial and hygienic to the female body. They support the bust, soften the sudden changes of temperature, and impart a firmness and support to the spinal column that are peculiarly useful. All this can be effected without torturing the body, but on the contrary improving the general health, and adding much to the grace and elegance of the well dressed woman. A Corset to fulfil all these requirements should be fashioned after nature's model, and when that is done the garment will be perfect.

Wm. Stewart & Co. impressed with the truth of this idea have secured Corsets after NATURE'S MODEL. Our stock is now full in every size of the popular

CHAPTER XL.

FIRE AND FURY

Outdoor operations had not of late been very actively pursued by the smugglers connected with what was known as "Black Dick's gang." That name continued to stick to it, though it had ceased to have its former applicability. At first the name was thoroughly indicative of the truth, for then Black Dick was the constructing and controlling spirit of the lawless association. He was not so now, and had not been so for some time. His power and influence had declined since the tragic occurrence on the Hill of Fare. From that date he became less and less fit to keep his place as Captain of the gang. The position was universally accorded to Harold Logan as the man best fitted for it, and Harold made Dixon his lieutenant, to take command during his long and frequent absences, and carry out the policy which he had introduced.

Names, however, remain after the circumstances which gave them have altered, and the smuggling association which had its headquarters in the mountain cave was still called Black Dick's gang. This did not matter much. There was no special honor attaching to it which caused any one to envy Black Dick the notoriety which the name kept up, and so long as that worthy formed one of the fraternity it was likely to be maintained—nay, should he cease from any cause to continue a member thereof we suspect it would cause no difference. The association would still be called Black Dick's gang.

It had not, we have observed, been doing much open air business lately. The summer season was not favorable for the transmission of the contraband article to the coast. It required the long dark nights of late autumn and early spring to accomplish this enterprise safely, for protracted sunlight was not favourable to the requisite concealment. For a different reason it was nearly impossible to send out a convoy from the heart of the mountains in mid-winter, for then a snowstorm might suddenly descend and envelop its members in destruction. Thus in the height of summer and the depth of winter, open-air operations were not extensive, but at these periods the indoor work went more briskly forward—the stuff being then manufactured and stored up, ready to be sent out when the favorable season came.

This was the state of the case with the smugglers at the mountain cave at the point to which our story has now come. When Harold and Kenneth Fraser, with a few faithful assistants, were absent, traversing the district far and wide in search of Lizzie and the child, the inmates of the cave, under the command of Dixon, were busy over the "stills," and their places of storage were filled with barrels and kegs ready to be despatched when the lengthening nights of autumn should arrive. Their sense of security in that remote mountain solitude was so great that they had come to entertain almost no fear of discovery, and though Dixon had some one always on the watchplace, the others did not scruple to say that it was a work of supererogation—that is, they deemed there was no need for it. Dixon, however, was too faithful to his trust to neglect the precaution; and the man whom he most frequently deputed to perform the duty was Nip, he being the one whom he could most trust for its proper discharge.

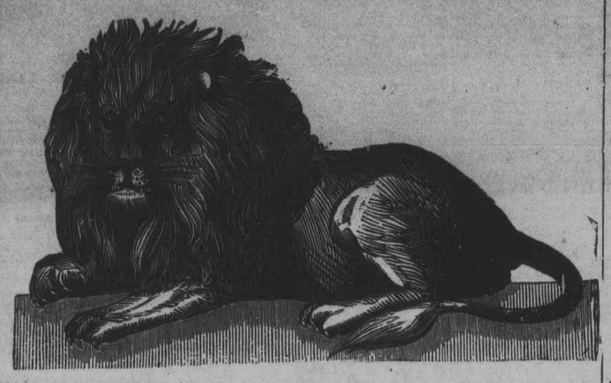
The watchplace was an eminence about half a mile from the secret entrance to the cave, a spot which commanded a wide prospect in all directions. To one stationed here every path of approach was visible for a long distance; and as the watchman was furnished with a powerful telescope, he was able to detect the character of any moving object while it was far off—his instructions being when he perceived anything suspicious to give immediate warning at the cave.

On the afternoon of the day succeeding the events of last chapter the man who occupied the post of outlook was Nip. The day was sultry and windless, and to escape in some measure from the fierce heat of the sun, Nip laid himself down within the shadow cast by a high rock. This was not quite in keeping with the conduct of a sharp, active watchman, but the great heat had made him lazy, and Nip had his full share of the idea entertained by his companions that there was but little fear of hostile visitors making their appearance in that far alpine region. So down he lay under the shadow of the rock without much compunction, and felt his position much more comfortable than it had been out on the dry, scorching hillside.

Nor was he wholly off duty when thus indulging himself, for from the spot on which he lay he obtained an extensive view eastward, away down into far distant glens and valleys, which, deep and broad when near, were dwindled by the outstretching space into mere waving lines.

Nip had just dined and felt exceedingly comfortable. The outside influences were also soothing. The quiet hum of the bees as they rifled the heather, and the buzz of the insects as they danced in the air, made him drowsy and reflective. Insensibly he glided into meditation on the past, and on circumstances of a strange character, which were not known to any person in that region but Dixon and himself. Gradually the scene around him passed from his thoughts, and for a time he had no consciousness where he was or of the duty entrusted to him.

Did he actually fall asleep! He subsequently denied that accusation most strenuously, but certain it is that he suddenly became aware of a dark moving object in a valley below, which he ought to have descried earlier, for the position he occupied by the object when his eye first lighted on in was one which it could not have gained without being for some time in sight.



Be this as it may, asleep or not asleep, Nip was fully awake now, and gazed down upon the dark object with lively interest. It had a kind of circular form, and was broken into several parts, but whether it was a group of animals or a party of men, Nip could not make out with his naked eye.

He had assistance at hand in the telescope by his side, and forthwith applied the instrument to his right eye, closing his left to give more concentration to his vision.

The violent start which he gave indicated that he had made a disagreeable discovery. An involuntary exclamation escaped him, and he flung himself forward on the ground on his face, so that the telescope might rest steadily on the ground and enable him to take a better observation.

The result gave him more alarm than ever. The telescope—which was a very good one—resolved the darkly moving object into a party of about a dozen men, one of them being mounted on a horse, and they were proceeding up the valley westward—in short, coming in the direction of the cave.

Who could they be? and what was their object? A number of their own men were out with Harold, and had been for some time. This might possibly be them returning in a body, the quest having been at length successful. Nip looked long and earnestly to see if there were a lady amongst them, but failed to discover this assuring fact. There was also something about the dark dress of the men that did not tally with the varied clothing of their absent associates. But, worst of all, that black horse and the figure which sat on it had a familiar aspect to Nip. He was certain he had seen both the one and the other before. His eye became dim from the intensity of his gaze, and he had to cease looking for a minute or two, during which the party were slowly but steadily advancing, and so drawing nearer to be resolved more distinctly into their personality by the glass.

Again he fixed the latter in position, and resumed his gaze, lying still as a stone while he made a long and steady examination. All at once he gave vent to an exclamation, and leapt to his feet.

"By all the fiends, its Gillespie and his men!" he shouted, not knowing in his excitement that he was uttering the words in a loud tone.

He gave one final look into the valley, clashed the joints of the telescope vehemently together, and bounded down the hill with the speed of a hare, going in the direction of the secret entrance of the cave.

AN ECCENTRIC.—The Mitchell Advocate says:—We had a call last week from old Bobby Milne, formerly of Elma, who is quite an eccentric. He has never been married, is seventy-five years of age, and for forty-five years has never worn a coat or hat, unless on very rare occasions. In Elma he has two hundred acres of valuable land, and two hundred more near the Georgian Bay. He lives in a shanty on the latter, all alone, his nearest neighbor being two miles away. He dresses rather old-fashioned, and makes his own shirts, the latter being sewed on him like a bag. He has no relatives in this country, and although worth about $20,000 is as grasping as though he had not a cent to his name. He rubs his person with a salve, which he says is a sure preventive of death. A few months ago he was robbed of a large number of notes and about $60 in cash. In Logan, last week, his pocket was also relieved of $20. He felt awfully cast down over his losses, and claimed that he was ruined. Altogether he is one of the most eccentric and tight-fisted individuals in existence, and of little service either to himself or anybody else.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. LATEST FROM THE EAST.

Protracted Session of the British Parliament.

OUTBREAK OF HOSTILITIES AT BATOUM.

LONDON, May 14, a.m.—Parliament is still sitting, having been in session since 4 p.m. yesterday. The Irish members are endeavoring to pass the Sunday Closing Bill, despite the opposition of the Government. There has been much confusion, and at times the scenes have been very violent.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 14.—Schouvaloff had an interview with the Czar yesterday. Schouvaloff subsequently expressed a hope that there would be peace.

THE WAR CLOUD BLACKENING.

LONDON, May 14.

A Pera despatch says the Russians at San Stefano have lately been reinforced by the arrival of thirty-two battalions of troops.

The Ottoman Commissioners arrived at Adrianople on May 10th. The success of the negotiations is considered doubtful.

The House of Commons in consequence of tactics of the obstructionists remained in session all night, and finally at 9.30 this a. m., adjourned.

Proposed New High School Building.

A Sketch of the Plans Prepared.

An inspection of the plans prepared by Mr. John Hall, architect, for the proposed High School building to be erected on the site of the old Grammar School, has been made. From the general appearance of the drawings there is no doubt but what the building, when erected, will be commodious in every respect, even after the school merges into a Collegiate Institute—as it certainly will do before very long—and will be an ornament to that portion of the town.

The building will have a frontage of 82 feet on Paisley street, the main entrance to which will be where the present entrance of the Grammar School is now. Nearly all of the old building will be used, but the architecture will be so altered that they will never be recognized as what are now standing. At the south-east corner facing Yorkshire street will be a tower, which will extend to a height of over seventy feet. There will also be an entrance here which opens into the Principal's room. Besides this apartment there will be a water tank and belfry, and a cistern in the basement. There is a staircase leading to the first floor.

The front position of the present building will be devoted exclusively to a main staircase leading to the flat above, and a stairway to the basement.

The basement, with a twelve-foot ceiling, will be divided into boys' and girls' lunch rooms, janitor's apartment, boiler room, and coal vaults. On the ground floor there will be two class rooms, 29 by 21 feet, and one class room at the rear 25 by 24 feet. Besides those there will be apartments for teachers, corridors for cloaks, &c.

The ceilings will be fourteen feet in height. The first flat will have a magnificent assembly hall 45 by 45 feet, with a ceiling 21 feet 6 inches in height. There will also be a class-room at the rear 26 by 24 feet, with necessary cloak-rooms, &c.

Great attention has been paid to the thorough ventilation of the building, and judging from the plans, the architect has succeeded.

A general outside appearance presents a mansard roof surmounted by an iron cresting, with ornamental work. The tower will also be ornamented in such a manner as to make it have a very pleasing and airy look. The shape of the building will be irregular and the sizes of the various portions of it will be: Main or old building 18 by 30; rear portion 38 by 26; the part entirely new and in which will be the assembly hall 48 by 48; the tower 16 by 16.

It has not been finally settled whether the work will be proceeded with at once or not.

MR. A. E. GOODFELLOW has sent us late copies of English newspapers, for which he has our thanks.

Mr. D. I. K. Rine is again holding temperance meetings in Stratford, and the meetings are largely attended.

FOR EUROPE.—Messrs. J. B. Armstrong, Wm. Bell, and J. T. Brill, purpose visiting Europe shortly, taking in the Paris exposition.

BASE BALL.—The following games were played on Monday:—Tecumsehs 6, Lowells 0; Pittsfields 4, Springfields 2; Holyokes 7, Alleghenys 2; Live Oaks 7, New Bedfords 6; Manchesters 2, Buffalos 1; Stars 7, Rochesters 2.

RECESS in the Central School has been done away with. Instead of fifteen minutes in the morning and afternoon, the school will be dismissed a quarter of an hour earlier at noon and also in the afternoon.

HANDSOME SIGN.—On Upper Wyndham street can be observed an exceedingly handsome sign, erected by McBean & Co., in the shape of a four foot circular saw, guilded handsomely by Moffatt, and presenting an appearance second to no sign in town.

SOMETHING WRONG with the bell-ringer. Seven minutes past seven o'clock this morning before the town bell was rung, and workmen who depended on the accuracy of the bell to commence work had a short and unaccounted for rest. Perhaps a gun barrel was at the bottom of the mistake.

DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT.—Read the advertisement of the "Hidden Gem" dramatic performance, to be given in the Hall of St. Ignatius' College on Friday evening, 17th inst., by members of the Catholic Literary Society. Those who take part are all excellent amateur players. The drama was written by Cardinal Wiseman.

A SPECIAL MEETING of the members of St. George's Society will be held in their rooms, Bank of Commerce Buildings, on Thursday evening, for the purpose of taking into consideration the procuring of more suitable and commodious rooms, preparatory to the North American Convention being held in Guelph in August. Every member is requested to attend.

THURSDAY'S GAME.—The Maple Leafs are practising regularly for the match which will take place here with the Markham Iriquois on Thursday. The boys, with scarcely an exception, handle themselves remarkably well, and have made some excellent playing. The game is likely to be a good one, and no doubt a liberal patronage will be bestowed on the amateur team that Guelph has this year.

THE frost of Monday night was very severe and much damage has been done to the blossoms of fruit trees. All plants that were uncovered were wilted to the ground and even leaves on the trees are now drooping as though all life had been frozen out of them. The loss sustained by this change in the atmosphere will be considerable. During the night ice formed on water fully a quarter of an inch in thickness.

ST. GEORGE'S VESTRY.—At an adjourned meeting held on Monday afternoon, there was a good attendance. Mr. Elliott, for special committee appointed to collect funds for the liquidation of the church debt, reported that $2,424 had been collected during the past week. A vote of thanks was tendered the committee. The report of the Committee on finance presented at a previous meeting was adopted. The report embraced a recommendation to clear off the debt on the rectory by the issue of debentures extending to the year 1881.

ROBBERY AT BERLIN.—On Saturday morning Mr. Price, general agent of the Oshawa Agricultural Works, arrived at Berlin by the Grand Trunk. He stepped into the station waiting room to pay his agent for freight, taking out his pocket-book and laying it on the seat. His agent, Mr. McKersey, then went into the freight office to pay the freight, and he followed him to the door, leaving the pocket-book on the seat. He immediately missed it, and at once returned into the waiting room to find it gone. Mr. Price was considerably shocked, as there was over $200 in money and notes in it, also valuable papers. Late in the afternoon a constable succeeded in arresting a tramp, to whom suspicion strongly pointed, as he was seen to go into the hotel adjoining the station some time after, and take out a large roll of bills and count them. When arrested he had on his person $20, and on being asked his name gave three different names. At present he is lodged in Berlin gaol awaiting further inquiry.

THE old water tank at the Grand Trunk passenger station is now being demolished. It has not been in use for several years.

SOUTH WELLINGTON.

MEETING OF REFORMERS.

A meeting of Reformers of South Wellington was held in the Town Hall this afternoon, at two p.m., to take into consideration the representation of the Riding in the Dominion Parliament, and to take steps for the organization of the Reform party in the Riding.

There was a large meeting, and an excellent representation of the Reformers from every Municipality in the Riding.

Mr. Geo. Elliott, President of the Reform Association, called the meeting to order, and stated its object. He was afterwards called on to occupy the chair, and Mr. Jas. Innes was appointed Secretary. Messrs. Parkinson, McFarlane, Milloy, and Whitelaw, Vice-Presidents in the different Townships, occupied seats on the platform.

[The business of the meeting is going on as we go to press.]

The Explosion on Board the "Sardinian."

The Ship Again Afloat.

From the Sardinian explosion only three deaths have occurred. Three more persons are in a dangerous condition. The others, who were wounded, are progresing favourably. Divers and a steam pump are working at the sunken vessel. It is expected she can be made to float again. The Receiver of Wrecks held an inquiry at Moville. Captain Dutton gave evidence of the supposed cause of the explosion. When all the crew got off the Sardinian was scuttled and sunk to extinguish the flames. Many of the Sardinian's passengers have joined the Peruvian, which has been substituted for the Sardinian. A great quantity of clothing has been distributed among the steerage passengers, contributed by the inhabitants of Londonderry.

LATER.—The Sardinian is again afloat, and will soon resume service.

Preparing for Every Contingency.

The Canadian authorities are promptly preparing to meet any threatened irruption of the Fenians. Several battalions have been warned to hold themselves in readiness for active service, and among these is the 13th Battalion. The 37th Battalion Haldimand Rifles, commanded by Lieut.-Col. Davis, is also in readiness. The captains of the respective companies of the 37th Battalion received orders to supply the men with clothes, arms, accoutrements, twenty rounds ammunition, etc., at ten o'clock on Saturday night. Nearly all the men of the different companies here were served out with their clothes, etc., by four o'clock Sunday afternoon.

Col. Powell telegraphed from Ottawa to Col. Fletcher, of Montreal, instructing him to distribute the arms from the armories to the members of all the border companies, who will also receive twenty rounds of ball ammunition per man. The officers of the district will be instructed to hold themselves in readiness, and all precautions will be taken to prevent any raid across the frontier. The armories in the Eastern Townships, and along the borders, are unprotected, and the precaution of removing the arms to the houses of the volunteers is a necessary one.

Col. Currie, of St. Catharines, commanding 19th Battalion, on Saturday night, received a telegram from Col. Villiers to notify the officers of his command to hold themselves and men in readiness for service. A conference was held on Sunday, and orders given to assemble the men this evening, and furnish them with arms and twenty rounds of ammunition each, also to instruct them to hold themselves in readiness for active service at a moment's notice, and in all probability to move on the 17th inst. The same orders were received at Niagara and Clifton.

Unusual activity was noticeable in the Militia Department in Ottawa, Saturday, and it is understood the Minister of Militia received important despatches, one from the Colonial Secretary and others from different points in the United States. The Premier, Hon. Mr. Jones, Lt.-Governor Sir E. S. Smyth, and Adjutant-General Powell are said to have held a long consultation after the receipt of the despatches, and the clerks in the Department had to forego their usual Saturday half-holiday.

The Militia Department in Halifax has been active of late in providing for emergencies. Four guns have been sent to Yarmouth, and four to St. John, with ammunition for these places, as well as Digby, where the guns are already in position. "T" Battery of artillery is being enrolled in Yarmouth. The officer commanding the Imperial troops here is furnishing an instructor. The battery at Sydney is being put in proper order. Ammunition has been forwarded, and the militia there are being trained to work guns. Vice-Admiral Inglefield has loaned rifled guns and ammunition for the Dominion steamers Lady Head, Glendon, and Newfield.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Discussion About the Indian Army.

LONDON, May 13.

In the Commons this afternoon Sir Stafford Northcote declined to fix a day for the discussion of Mr. Chamberlain's resolution concerning the Government's foreign policy. The Chancellor also, in answer to a question whether the troops in Europe do not exceed the number authorized by Parliament, said the Indian forces were never included in the Act fixing the number. The British army, he said, is about 715 above the estimate, in consequence of fluctuation in recruiting.

Lord Hartington announced he would shortly move a resolution that no forces be raised or kept by the Crown in time of peace, save within India, without the sanction of Parliament.

It is stated that orders have been issued for the first army corps to hold itself in readiness to embark on May 28th.

A St. Petersburg telegram says:—Schouvaloff visited Gortschakoff and had an audience of the Czar to-day.

A Vienna special says:—The Berlin bankers have, it is said, made Russia a preliminary advance of fifty million roubles.

A Belgrade despatch says:—In spite of peaceful rumors, the massing of Austrian troops near the Danube and Save continues actively.

The prevailing idea of the Constantinople specials seems that the Cabinet has somewhat too readily acted upon the panic view of the Palace, consequent upon Gen. Todleben's threats. Undoubtedly the first idea of the Sultan and those about him is to make any sacrifice to remain in Constantinople, but his sympathies and interests are with the English, to whose policy a surrender of the fortress would be a severe blow.

A Pera despatch says the question of the fortresses stands where it was. Whether the decision of the Cabinet has been officially communicated to the Russians or not is doubtful, except as regards Shumla. No further action has been taken in consequence of Todleben's peremptory demand. The Russians declare that even if the Turks surrender the fortresses their troops will only withdraw from before Constantinople when the British fleet retires. Thus to all appearances the Porte and the Muscovites are at cross-purposes.

SPRING COURT OF ASSIZE re-opened this morning before Judge Macdonald. The second case of Parsons vs. Queen's Insurance Company is now in progress and will occupy the entire day.

SCOTCH EDUCATION REPORTS.—The returns of the Scotch Education Department for the year 1877 are now published, and should be read with great attention. They show a wonderful state of advancement, alike in the number of scholars, in the efficiency of the teaching, and the attainments made in the higher branches of education. The number of scholars on the registers of all inspected day schools in Scotland is now 472,668—an advance of 43,919 on the preceding year. What is even more satisfactory, the average attendance increased from 329,083 in 1876 to 360,413 in 1877—an advance of 31,330. In like manner the number of scholars who presented themselves for examination in the higher subjects has increased from 4,407 in 1874 to 24,351 in 1877. The increase during the last year was 5,591, or 30 per cent.

THE BOAT RACE.—No betting is spoken of on Wednesday's race between Hanlan and Plaisted. It is thought speculation will be very light, as the odds asked by Plaisted's supporters—three to one—are rather more than Hanlan's friends are disposed to give. Both men continue to experience great inconvenience from the roughness of the water, and both are complaining a little of their hard luck. There is no doubt that Hanlan is rather out of form and Plaisted has the best of it on the score of condition, but it is the general opinion that the Canadian can afford to throw in the lack of condition and give his opponent a handsome beating.

"HONEST JOE."—The Hamilton Times says:—On Saturday afternoon last Mr. Joseph Rymall, M.P., reached Hamilton en route for home, and was driven to the Dominion Hotel, where, to his surprise, he was met and most heartily welcomed by the members of the Central Committee of South Wentworth, who had been summoned for that purpose. The reception was entirely informal, and exceedingly cordial.

GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA is a necessity at least in my practice. It enables me to fill cavities in teeth that are sensitive and where the nerve is exposed, the action of the Iodide being increased by Dr. Giles' happy combination with ammonia. The Liniment is safe, reliable and clean, and in tooth and face-ache among children should be in the hands of every parent.

STILL THEY COME.—We notice the railway companies delivering large quantities of new goods at the Lion this morning. These we are told are some of the bargains secured by Mr. Williamson at the trade sales in Montreal a few days ago—when goods were said to have been sold lower than ever. Russia's Naval Preparations.

The American papers continue to be considerably excited about the Russian war vessel Cimbria, which is still lying off the coast of Maine, and the diligent reporters have been busy interviewing some of the officers in order to find out the purpose and destination of the ship. To a Boston reporter one of the officers stated that in case of war he understood that the officers and men of the Cimbria were to be sent to the Russian naval station in the Pacific, called Viadovitch, from which point vessels could be manned and sent to their destination expeditiously. The N. Y. Tribune's representative interviewed the Captain on his arrival in that city, and he announced that the Caimbria was under his orders and that an expedition was to be organized on this coast. He had agents in various quarters, and intended to purchase fast sailing vessels and supplies. His Government was preparing, if need be, to attack England on the seas. A squadron would soon leave the Baltic for these waters, but no letters of marque would be issued and no privateering would be carried on under the Russian flag. These vessels would be cruisers under strict naval discipline, and the prizes which might be captured would revert to the home Government. He had made a careful study of international law, and was confident that in purchasing arms and stores in time of peace he would not violate any principles of neutrality. If war should be declared the Cimbria and her consorts would weigh anchor and leave the United States. It is well that he added this last saving clause, for according to the terms of the Washington Treaty, the U. S. law against privateering is very stringent. Two of the provisions of that Treaty read thus:—

To use due diligence to prevent the fitting out, arming, or equipping, within its jurisdiction, of any vessel which it has reasonable ground to believe is intended to cruise or to carry on war against a power with which it is at peace; and also to use like diligence to prevent the departure from its jurisdiction of any vessel intended to cruise or carry on war as above, such vessel having been specially adapted in whole or in part, within such jurisdiction, to warlike use.

Not to permit or suffer either belligerent to make use of its ports or waters as the base of naval operations against the other, or for the purpose of the renewal or augmentation of military supplies or arms, or the recruitment of men.

There is no doubt that the U. S. Government would feel in duty bound to enforce these provisions with the utmost rigour.

THE Tory organs are at present fully engaged in abusing Donald A. Smith, but none of them are bold enough to excuse the foul language used towards him by Sir John and Dr. Tupper.

COL. WALKER is announced as the independent Liberal candidate for London, for the Commons. Mr. R. C. Scatcherd has again received the nomination from the Reformers of North Middlesex, and Mr. Waters has been nominated for the Local Legislature.

SIR John and Dr. Tupper's consciences are not troubled about their misdeeds and political knavery—it is the bringing these to light that makes them swear and use all kinds of dirty language. For proof read their onslaught on Donald A. Smith.

THE Immigration Committee in referring to forest preservation calls the attention of the Local Governments, through the Parliament of Canada, to the necessity of measures for forest preservation in the interest of the general welfare of the country.

SAYS the Hamilton Times:—"Mr. Fraser, the National Mover, now lays it down that the motions to protect wheat, flour and coal were political tricks. That is singular. If it be a political trick to move on those articles individually, what a huge political trick it must be to bunch them together for protection as Sir John does."

SIR JOHN told Donald A. Smith in 1873 that Ontario was a sort of rotten borough which he could count on supporting him almost to a man. This "sort of rotten borough" soon after showed Sir John that it was sound to the core for the Liberals, and it will do so again. A "sort of rotten borough" forsooth! What an insult to the intelligent electors of Ontario, both Reform and Conservative!

MR. MACKENZIE BOWELL, who is continually hunting for some scandal against the Government, thought he had a good one when he moved for a return of the amounts paid to the Counsel in connection with the Northern Railway Commission. Not getting it as soon as he liked, he began to insinuate that something must be wrong, but at last he got his return, and complete satisfaction as well. The payments were as follows: To the Hon. O. Mowat, nothing; Mr. J. Bethune, Q. C., $463.20. The Grand Master had nothing to say.

THE Toronto Telegram puts the matter strongly when it says:—"It is becoming a serious question if there is really anything to be gained by continuing in existence the Senate at present constituted. While we are so greatly concerned about the principles of responsible government, it would be interesting to know to whom the Senate is responsible. Assuredly not to the people, for the people have nothing to say either as to their appointment or their removal. Being appointed for life, the grave and reverend seigniors who profess to represent the people in the Senate care for nobody, fully satisfied that nobody cares for them."

Board of Education.

New High School Building.

At a regular meeting held on Monday evening there were present Judge Macdonald in the chair, Messrs. Newton, Murton, Innes, Leonard, Knowles, Inglis, Bell, Wilkie, Dr. Keating.

COMMUNICATIONS.

From A. H. Macdonald, in which a letter from the Deputy Adjutant General of Militia was enclosed, acknowledging the receipt of correspondence, motion of Board, &c., in regard to the formation of a Drill Association in connection with the Public Schools.

Accounts were presented from Globe $8.60; C. Klopfer, $214.81; Burr & Skinner $251.75.

THE CENTRAL SCHOOL FENCE.

It was reported that John Crowe would put the iron fence in front of the Central School in proper shape for $25.

In course of a conversational discussion it was learned that Hornbostel, the builder of the fence, had not been paid for the work performed, but that liens were held on the work by certain parties.

Mr. Innes thought if the fence was to be altered or fixed in any way it would be well to raise it, or in some manner give it a more respectable appearance than it now possesses.

The chairman thought the matter should be referred to the Building Committee to see if Mr. Crowe could fix the fence in a manner in which the contract called for.

Mr. Wilkie thought the best thing to do with the fence would be to raise it out of sight altogether.

The matter was referred to the Building Committee.

SITES AND BUILDINGS.

Mr. Murton, chairman of the above Committee, reported that plans and specifications for a new High School building had been advertised for, offering $50 to the party whose plan was approved of. Mr. Hall's plan was considered the most desirable by the Committee. It was recommended that the amount offered be not paid until tenders be advertised for to see if the erection of the building would come within the limit of $7,000. Plans had also been prepared by Mr. John Day.

The main reason Mr. Hall's plans were approved of was on account of more room being afforded than would be by Mr. Day's.

On motion of Mr. Newton, seconded by Mr. Knowles, the Secretary was authorized to borrow $1,000 for the use of the School Board.

The Board went into Committee on the report of the Sites and Buildings report, Dr. Keating in the chair.

Mr. Innes urged the necessity of at once proceeding with the work of building the new High School, if any arrangement could be made whereby the money for that purpose could be secured without bearing too heavily on the ratepayers of the town.

Mr. Macdonald remarked that he had communicated with Mr. Elliott, Finance chairman of the corporation, in regard to the matter. If the town could furnish $5,000 the speaker was satisfied that the remaining $2,000 could be got from the county or neighboring municipalities. The fact that the High School could in time be merged into a Collegiate Institute and the Government grant would be increased some $750 was spoken of.

On the Board resuming the report was adopted.

On motion of Messrs. Innes and Leonard, the chairmen of the Board, the Finance and Building Committees were instructed to confer with the chairman of Finance Committee of the town, with a view to devise some scheme for raising a sufficient amount for enlarging the High School in accordance with plans accepted, and to spread the payment of the same over a number of years, so as to fall as lightly as possible on the ratepayers.

HIGH SCHOOL FEES.

The Board went into Committee on the notice of motion made by Dr. Keating in regard to charging fees to High School pupils.

Mr. Leonard thought, from what he had learned since he first gave notice of such a motion for the imposition of High School fees, that such a step would be a very injudicious one.

Dr. Keating agreed with the previous speaker. He believed that it would be a wrong step to take at the present time.

Mr. Macdonald advocated charging fees to pupils attending the school from other counties. He suggested that it would be well to endeavor to secure pecuniary assistance from municipalities adjoining Guelph, from which a large portion of the pupils were drawn. The speaker submitted a draft of a petition to be submitted to those municipalities asking for assistance.

The motion made by Mr. Macdonald that no fees be charged at the High School but that a memorial be addressed to the Township Councils was carried in Committee and in the Board.

RECESS QUESTION.

Moved by Mr. Murton, seconded by Mr. Knowles, that the resolution passed a short time since that fifteen minutes be allowed for recess in the morning and in the afternoon be rescinded.

The mover supported the motion on the grounds that fifteen minutes was too short a time to allow the children to get out of the school rooms and getting back again. He held it would be much better to allow the time set aside for recess to be deducted from the school hours. The buildings would not suffer loss by such arrangement.

Mr. Wilkie took the other side of the question. He thought the children's health and comfort should be considered far above any damage that might be done to the premises. The teachers were employed to carry out the wishes of the Board, and he did not think that any opinion the teachers might present on a question of the kind should outweigh other and more important considerations.

Mr. Innes did not consider that from nine to a quarter to twelve o'clock in the morning and from half-past one to a quarter to four o'clock was too long a period for children to be engaged in study. The speaker would like the question left over for the present until the chairman of the School Management Committee was present as that gentleman had stated his determination to fight against the question of rescinding the motion "if it took all summer."

Mr. Tytler explained to the Board how it was that a recess was almost an impossibility owing to the want of a play ground capable of accommodating the pupils.

The motion was carried by a vote of 5 to 2.

The Inspector reported that the attendance during the month of April had been 652 boys, and 600 girls—1,252. The roll average was 57; general average to each teacher, 47; daily average 51½. The increase in the number of pupils enrolled over the corresponding month of last year is 79.

The Board adjourned.

THE Ottawa Free Press believes that one cause of Sir John's onslaught on Mr. D. A. Smith was that he had been seized of ill temper since the Quebec elections, and the outbreak of Friday was probably the result of morbid reflection upon the certainty of the defeat of his party, and of his own ambition in the coming appeal to the country.

THE London Free Press must have strange ideas about political morality. It says that Sir John has come out of the Moylan affair "more honored and respected, more trusted and worthy of trust in the estimation of the people than before." Some people are easily pleased.

The Rural New Yorker gives the following picture of the state of affairs in the United States: "We hear reports from all over the country of mills lying idle, manufactories working on half time and thousands of people out of employment. The quantity of goods manufactured and sold is much less than it was ten years ago, and the people are asking with fear and trembling, 'What is to be end; will better times never come?'" Somehow that high tariff does increase the cost of living and does not ensure safety to the manufacturer, or either good wages or constant employment to the workingmen. The one thing certain under it—certain as death—is high taxes.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. Physicians, Women's Rights Advocates, Collectors of Mortuary Statistics, and Reformers generally

Have all had their fling at Corsets on sanitary grounds. Like the critics of the chameleon, "they are all right and all wrong," because Corsets made in the ordinary way may with justice be condemned, though those constructed in accordance with nature's laws are decidedly beneficial and hygienic to the female body. They support the bust, soften the sudden changes of temperature, and impart a firmness and support to the spinal column that are peculiarly useful. All this can be effected without torturing the body, but on the contrary improving the general health, and adding much to the grace and elegance of the well dressed woman. A Corset to fulfil all these requirements should be fashioned after nature's model, and when that is done the garment will be perfect.

Wm. Stewart & Co. impressed with the truth of this idea have secured Corsets after NATURE'S MODEL. Our stock is now full in every size of the popular

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XL.

FIRE AND FURY

In five minutes he had gained it, wriggled himself through the intricacies of the dark passage, and burst panting into the interior, where Dixon, Black Dick, and others were at work.

Instantly there was commotion and consternation. Half-dressed men sprang from all points towards Nip, and oaths and exclamations burst from every lip.

"Gillespie," was the appalling answer.

"Gillespie!" roared some and faltered others, according as the dread name moved their rage or excited their fear.

"Silence, all," cried a firm authoritative voice, and Dixon stalked into the midst of the excited group, his presence producing a momentary lull in the storm that had risen.

"Coming up the valley—two miles off."

"You are sure it is Gillespie?"

"Certain," was Nip's reply, and a panic again ensued.

"He can't be coming here. He is only out in search," exclaimed Dixon.

This opinion quieted them a little. They knew that unless some foul treachery had been at work the gauger could know nothing about the cave, and still less could he discover its secret entrance. Their hope rested itself on what Dixon had suggested—that he was only on one of his scouring expeditions, and if they kept carefully out of sight he would pass on without suspicion. Still the knowledge that he and his men were in the neighbourhood was disquieting, and a number of them issued forth to watch his movements.

There were various points in the vicinity where they could command a view of the valley without exposing themselves to observation, and on these they took up a position, watching with eager anxiety the course which the officers would take, and unable to believe that their visit was specially designed for the cave.

The party of excisemen were now not much more than a mile away, and were making for the heights where the cave was situated with a directness very uncomfortable to witness. There was no doubt that the man on horseback was Gillespie. Most of them knew him well enough by sight, and he was now near enough to be recognised without the aid of a telescope.

Crouching low on the brow of the eminence, the smugglers regarded the advance of the officers with silent anxiety till they came to a point where the course they took would either give relief to the mind of the watchers or deepen their apprehensions. The point in question was the sharp projection of a steep hill where two paths diverged. That to the right led by many winding and difficult ascents to the secret entrance of the cave; the other conducted by a much easier path round the left side of the hill in which the cave was hollowed. Formerly the entrance to the latter had been in this direction, but inasmuch as it was of comparatively easy access, and liable to discovery that entrance had been built up by the smugglers, and another formed by the much more secret and subterranean passage, which had its outlet on the opposite side of the hill. So intricate was this passage, so well concealed was the mouth of it, and so rugged and broken the path leading thereto, that it was next to impossible for any stranger to find it. They therefore considered that by building up the old entrance they had placed themselves in perfect security—had guarded against everything but the treachery of any of their sworn associates, all of whom had taken an oath as terrible as could be devised not to betray the secret.

This explains, therefore, why the anxiety of the smugglers culminated at this particular part of the road along which the officers were advancing, for if they there struck off to the left the utmost danger was to be apprehended, while if they turned to the right all fear might be dismissed. Keen and fixed, therefore, was the gaze of Dixon and his comrades as the officers neared the place, and their hearts seemed to cease beating when they saw them come to a halt at the separation of the paths. Nothing could exceed the suspense they endured. Was it to be discovery, and a stern, perhaps a bloody, resistance, or was the danger to pass?

This suspense had not to be endured long, for in a very few minutes Gillespie put his men again in motion, and—oh, joy!—they turned off to the right.

A low murmur of intense thankfulness burst from every lip, their knitted brows relaxed, their faces, hard set with anxiety, softened into the heartiest satisfaction—the danger was gone.

So at least they deemed; for though the built-up entrance lay on that side the hill which the officers had taken they had not the remotest suspicion of danger there.

Waiting till the shoulder of the hill hid the party from view, the smugglers left the height, where they had been watching so anxiously, to return to the cave. One man was left as a look-out to give notice should they return, and Nip was despatched to the other side of the hill to observe where the party finally went, for it was impossible to regain perfect uneasiness of mind so long as their dreaded foe was so near them. Nip was instructed to keep carefully out of sight, and follow the party with his telescope till they disappeared in the distance.

On their return to the cave and when near its entrance the smugglers met Black Dick, who had come forth to learn the state of matters. It was seldom now that he came outside the cave, but the fears under which he labored obtained so great a mastery over him that he could no longer remain inside in ignorance of what was transpiring without. On receiving the intelligence which his companions were able to give he gave a growl of satisfaction, and returned with them to the cave, where a glass of raw whisky was drunk off by nearly every one to help their nerves to recover from the terrible fright they had experienced.

Half-an-hour had not elapsed when Nip again burst upon them, and with tidings far more dismaying than before. His own agitation was so wild as to render him incoherent. He shrieked out some words which brought white foam from his lips, from the midst of which his listeners could catch only three—

"The old entrance!"

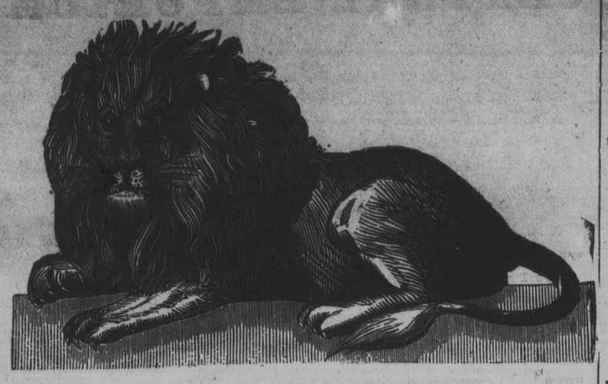
"What do you mean?" was the simultaneous inquiry, every one being seized with new consternation.

"They are making for it," gasped Nip.

"Making for what?" demanded Dixon.

"The old entrance."

"Impossible. They can make nothing out there. The place is as smooth as the rest of the hillside."



"No matter, they are making for it," persisted Nip.

"Bah, they may be going past that way, but if the devil himself has not told them of it they can't light on it," bellowed Dick, with a furious oath.

"Damn you and your croaking," he added, doubling his fist and glaring into Nip's face; "this is the second fright you have given us for nothing. I've a mind to stop your jaw by breaking it."

"No violence, Dick," interposed Dixon; "Nip has done right enough in warning us, but this time his fear is without cause.

Away again, Nip, and let us know what route the officers take."

"I tell you they are making for the old entrance," persisted Nip; "there is no mistake about this."

"Curse you, what if they are?" howled Dick; "they can't come through stone and turf, can they?"

"No, no, but they can tear them down, and some of them have long sticks, either of wood or iron. Hark! hark! what is that?"

The smugglers were struck into simultaneous silence, and listening, they heard a muffled exterior sound—a dull thud, thud at one side of the cave where the built-up entrance was.

This was a startling and ruthless dissipation of their incredulous hope that Gillespie had no design against them from that part of the hill. The sounds told them that the officers were busy tearing away the earth and stones with which long ago they had closed up the passage into the cave at that spot. Gillespie was actually but a few yards from them, and working his way into their long-maintained concealment.

Terror and dismay paralysed them. They stood in the light of their furnace fire like grim effigies of stone, so overwhelmed with affright as to be unable to realize the full character of the impending calamity.

A loud crash from without roused them from their stupor and impressed them with the necessity for immediate action. The obstruction was exceedingly thick and strong; but the energy and resolution of the gauger were well known to them, and they could not doubt that within half-an-hou he and his men would be in the interior.

What was it to be? Resistance or flight? They had but little time to make up their minds about it, and none at all to speculate on the source of that information which had brought Gillespie to the knowledge of such a secret. The consciousness had flashed upon them all that the measureless treachery of some forsworn catiff had effected their ruin, but they could give no thought to that now—their own safety demanded all their energy and care.

Their panic-stricken state was rendered worse by Black Dick, who went about like a raging wild beast. A mad fury possessed him as he rushed to and fro, cursing and blaspheming. Finally he disappeared into his den, and burst forth a moment after, with pistols in his belt, and a heavy hatchet in his hand.

Dixon was the only one who preserved any degree of self-possession, and he, seeing Dick so armed, went forward and demanded of him what he meant to do.

"Do," yelled Dick. "Why, fight them, of course. We are more than a match for them."

"In numbers we are, but not in weapons. Every one of them is fully armed. It would be madness to fight—madness and certain destruction."

"Curse you, for a white-livered fool. Would you let them seize the stuff?" roared Dick, in a foam.

"We'll save what we can of it. Quick, lads, load yourselves with kegs, and out by the secret passage. We have time enough for that, and once outside we can easily make off among the rocks. Night is coming on—quick."

The men made a rush to the recess where the kegs were stored, but Dick sprang in front of it, and brandished the axe.

"I'll brain the first man that lifts a keg," he shouted. We'll fight them, I say, and beat them off."

"Fight them, and come under the hangman's rope," exclaimed Dixon. "No, no, Dick, that won't do. We are ready to defy the law so far as smuggling goes, and think no harm in it, but fighting and killing the officers of the Government is another thing, and I for one won't risk it. What say you, men, are you ready to fight?"

"No, no, no," burst forth a dozen voices.

"But I say ay," bellowed Dick. "He's a traitor—he's betraying us. Obey my orders; I am your leader. If Logan were here he would fight to the last."

"No he wouldn't," cried Dixon promptly. "He has told me again and again that after the business at the Hill of Fare he would never fight with excisemen. Men, we are wasting time—every moment lessens our chance of saving anything. If we wait longer they will be in upon us. Load and flee."

This advice coincided so thoroughly with the general feeling that Dick was forcibly thrust aside, and they began to string the kegs around them, their motions being quickened by the increasing sounds made by the officers as they re-opened the built up passage. It was evident from the loudness of the noise they now made that the latter was progressing rapidly with the work—the tones of Gillespie's voice could even be heard giving orders to his men. In a few minutes the chance of escape would be gone.

From the London Advertiser's Correspondent

On Thursday night, when Mr. D. A. Smith was not in the House. Sir John Macdonald charged that the Pembina Branch Bill had been introduced merely in order to reward a member of the House for his servile support of the Government, and that this member had been compelled to admit that he was interested in this monopoly. Consequently, when the House met Friday, Mr. Smith rose to a personal explanation. He characterized the insinuation as most unfair and unjustifiable, and showed that what the Government had done was in the interest of the country, and that his act in reference thereto was in the interest of the Province and not himself personally. He took up the various statements made by Sir John and Dr. Tupper reflecting upon himself, and dealt with them at length. He denied most emphatically that he had ever asked a favor from this or any Government for himself or anyone else, and said it was cowardly on the part of hon. members opposite to go hawking charges of that character about the country. He declared that he was approached prior to the defeat of the Government of Sir John Macdonald, but denied that he had ever promised to give them his support after the circumstances had become known to him. He had proposed a very different course, and had stated that the Government should confess their fault and go to the country and that if the country condoned it it would be a very different thing. This is what he proposed to the hon. gentleman.

Sir John Macdonald—Hear, hear.

Mr. Smith—The hon. gentleman was altogether in the wrong. He had seen the hon. gentleman himself in the room. He (Smith) had been sent for. Mr. Mitchell was in the room, and in justice to Mr. Mitchell he would state that he (Mitchell) at public meetings had stated that he was perfectly justified in doing as he had done.

Dr. Tupper asked the hon. gentleman to refer to a single meeting in which such a statement was made.

Mr. Smith said he could bring any number of gentlemen—gentlemen who were highly respectable and whose word would be taken all over this country and all over the world too. On the occasion he spoke of he thought it was in room No. 6 or 5. The hon. gentleman did try to persuade him to vote for him (Sir John), and the hon. gentleman did not dare to say that he (Smith) had said he would support him. The hon. gentleman had said that if not supported now he would appeal to the country. The hon. gentleman had said on another occasion, speaking of Selkirk, that it was a rotten borough, but on this occasion he had stated that Ontario was a rotten borough, and that his whole system had failed him if Ontario was not with him. (Cheers.)

Sir John rose excitedly and denied that there was a word of truth in the whole statement.

Mr. Smith—The hon. gentleman says he did not say so. Well, if he did not say it, it was the spirit within him that said it. (Laughter.) Those were the words uttered by the right hon. gentleman, as sure as he (Smith) was alive. Did not the hon member for Cumberland tell him that he (Sir John) was not competent to know what he said when speaking to him (Smith)? Would the hon. gentleman deny this? Would the hon. member for Cumberland deny saying that as soon as the right hon. gentleman was capable of—

Dr. Tupper rose to a question of order and said that any man who would detail a private conversation would falsify a private conversation. (Cries of "order," and interruptions.) He had never witnessed such a mean, cowardly abuse of the rights of the House. (Cries of "order, order," prevented the concluding words being heard.)

Mr. Smith said he did not look upon it as a private conversation. He was sent for as a member of the House by the right hon. gentleman, who was leader of the House. Did the hon. gentleman say that was a private matter? Would the hon. gentleman deny that when he met him next morning, when in company with Mr. White, he was going to the Minister of Customs' house, he had not said to him that as soon as it was possible to make the right hon. gentleman understand right right from wrong he would—

Dr. Tupper interrupted and asked if the hon. gentlemen would allow him five minutes in which to reply to the statements that he (Smith) had never asked for a favor from the late Government.

Mr. Smith—I never asked any favor and never yet got any favor from the late Government.

Dr. Tupper (amid great interruptions) said the hon. gentleman had asked to be made a Privy Councillor of Canada.

Mr. Smith—I give that a most positive denial. All that I have said with regard to this is absolutely true.

Dr. Tupper—Coward! sit down. (Excitement.)

The Usher of the Black Rod gives the three additional raps.

Mr. Smith tries to continue his speech.

Dr. Tupper—Coward! Coward! Coward! Coward! Mean, treacherous coward!

These interruptions were kept up for several minutes. The handful of Opposition members present calling out "coward," "liar," and such unpleasant epithets across the floor of the House. Above all could be heard the voice of the Speaker giving the command to admit the Messenger.

The discussion then stopped until the summons had been delivered.

Sir John, tauntingly—Pembina Branch!

Mr. Smith—I never asked a favor from the right hon. gentleman or any other member.

Mr. Smith—Sir John Macdonald is the biggest liar in the country!

Mr. Smith and Sir John, Messrs. Tupper, Rochester, and other excited members had now met together. In going out the doors, being face to face, the epithets "Liar," "Scoundrel," "You held the fort while poor Scott was shot," and such like expressions, accompanied in some cases by oaths, were hurled at Mr. Smith, who was not slow in meeting his accusers and retaliating in strong language. The Sergeant-at-Arms had lifted the mace from off the table and was preparing to lead the procession for the Senate Chamber while Mr. Speaker still sat in the chair. This blackguardism being kept up, the Speaker gave the order, "Sergeant-at-Arms, arrest these members," but Mr. Macdonnel still held the mace high in the air and did not know what to do. The excited members kept up this interchange of compliments until the aisle was reached, where some parting shots were fired and the parties were separated.

At one time it looked very much as if the combatants would come to blows, and the manner in which some twenty or thirty Tories joined in cursing and abusing Mr. Smith was truly refreshing and quite in keeping with the tactics of the party.

In this way the third Parliament was brought to a close.

MODERATE winds and clear fair weather are the weather probabilities received this morning.

SOCIAL.—As will be seen by advertisement, a social will be held in the Baptist Church on Thursday evening. An attractive programme has been provided.

MUSICAL UNION.—A successful practice was held last evening in the Caledonian rooms. All the parts were well represented.

THE Orange Young Briton's gave an extertainment last evening in their hall which was largely attended. The performance of a very pleasing nature.

TEA MEETING.—The B. M. E. church will hold a a tea meeting on Thursday, May 16th, in the Good Templars' Hall, over bank of Commerce. Tea will be served at 7 p.m. Tickets, 25 cts.

FARES to Manitoba by way of Detroit have been reduced on the Great Western. Tickets can be procured at F. Gauhan's office for $18.50 to Fisher's Landing and Winnipeg $21.65.

CAPT. NICOL, of the Left Division of the Wellington Field Battery states that there would be no difficulty to raise three or four Companies in the neighborhood of Morriston, if they were required, to repel Fenian invaders.

A LARGE number from Guelph and neighborhood left for Toronto this morning to witness the single scull race between Hanlan, or Toronto, and Plaisted, of New York. There were nine cars on the Grand Trunk train leaving here at eleven o'clock —all filled.

THE QUEEN'S RECOGNITION OF THE TRIPLETS.—It will be remembered that on the 29th of September last Mr. Jas. E. Merlihan became the happy father of three fine baby daughters. Such events are usually recognized by Her Majesty the Queen, by presenting the mother of the children with three pounds sterling. Mr. James Massie, M. P. P., brought the matter under the attention of the Provincial Secretary, and through him to Her Majesty. This (Wednesday) morning Mrs. Merlihan received through the Provincial Secretary three sovereigns accompanied with a document setting forth the facts of the case. The following is a copy of the receipt which will be sent by Mrs. Merlihan to Her Majesty:

Received from Her Majesty Queen Victoria, transmitted through the Provincial Secretary, her bounty of three pounds sterling, granted to me as the mother of three children at one birth.

ANNIE CONSTANCE MERLIHAN.

Guelph, 15th May, 1878.

THE steam fire engine was taken out for practice last evening. Some of the flues were found to be in a leaking condition, and it evidently requires a thorough overhauling. One of the men who usually assists in running the engine has struck. At all events he insists on keeping some distance from it when working, for fear of an accident. The truth of the matter is that something should be done at once in the matter, as no person knows how soon a large conflagration might take place. Something has been done by the Fire and Water Committee in the matter of renting a steamer from some of the cities while the Guelph engine is being put under thorough repair, and it is to be hoped some satisfactory arrangement will be accomplished as speedily as possible.

DEATH ON THE RAIL.—On Tuesday evening a man aged about thirty-five years, named John Mounds, of Orangeville, was killed between Elora and Fergus, by falling off the train which reaches the latter place shortly after nine o'clock. From the particulars that can be gleaned, it appears that deceased was standing on the rear platform of the end car of the train talking to some of his friends. He was warned that he was in a dangerous position, but heedless of this, and evidently to show how accustomed he was to carelessness on a train, he jumped suddenly around. The motion of the train threw him off at the side. He alighted on his feet first, and immediately doubled over on his head and side. The train was stopped, and the greatly injured man taken to Fergus. Dr. Groves was called, and he saw at once that the man had only an hour or two to live. He died during the night. Deceased was one of the witnesses for the defence in the insurance cases in which Mr. Wm. Parsons, of Orangeville was the plaintiff. This is a sad warning to those who persist in standing on the platforms of cars while in motion.

THE GAME TO-MORROW.—The Iroquois, of Markham, will play the Maple Leafs on Thursday afternoon, commencing at half-past two o'clock. Both teams are first-class amateur nines, and a good game doubtless will be played. The following players compose the Maple Leaf nine:—Smith, p; Hunter, c; Maddock, 1b; Hewer, 2b; Watkins, ss; Reid, 3b; Hood, cf; Burgess, rf; Stapleton, lf. Mr. Sleeman, owner of the base ball grounds, has now everything in excellent shape, and that gentleman has secured for Guelph the finest grounds on the continent. Everything is now in thorough order, and those who have an eye for beauty of arrangement should attend the match, not only to witness the game but to view what has been done by the enterprise of Mr. Sleeman in the interests of base ball. There is little doubt but what there will be a large attendance at this the opening game of the season.

BASE BALL.—The following games were played on Tuesday: At Syracuse, Stars 8, Crickets, 0; at Manchester, Tecumsehs 3, Manchesters 0; at Springfield, Allegheny's 3, Springfields 5; at Lynn, Buffalos 7, Live Oaks 5; at Chicago, Indianapolis 5, Chicagos 3; at Milwaukee, Cincinnati 3, Milwaukees 8.

IT seems that the wife of Mr. Henry Michie, of Fergus, died very suddenly on Thursday evening last. Although ailing for some weeks, yet no danger was apprehended until about ten minutes before she died. Her husband hastened for a physician, but before he returned she had passed quietly away. The bereaved family have the sympathy of all, yet that will not fill the vacant place in the household that deeply mourns her loss.

SOUTH WELLINGTON.

MEETING OF REFORMERS.

Large Representation from all Parts of the Riding.

Mr. D. Guthrie Unanimously Chosen Reform Candidate for the Commons.

On Tuesday afternoon a large representation of the Reform electors of the South Riding of Wellington, met in the Town Hall for the purpose of discussing the political questions of the day, and for taking such measures as the meeting might deem advisable for bringing out a candidate in the Reform interest to represent the Riding in the House of Commons.

The meeting was convened shortly after two o'clock, when about three hundred electors assembled in the hall. There were present on the platform Messrs. Geo. Elliott, President of the South Riding Reform Association; Duncan McFarlane, of Puslinch; L. Parkinson, of Eramosa; Jas. Laidlaw and Wm. Whitelaw, of Guelph Township; Hugh Milloy, of Erin; and G. R. Pattullo, Secretary of the Reform Association for the Province of Ontario.

Mr. Elliott called the meeting to order by announcing that he had, after conferring with the Vice-Presidents of the South Riding Association, called a mass meeting of the Reform electors of the Riding to take such steps as was best calculated to advance the interests of the party, and to make arrangements for selecting a candidate it deemed advisable. It was also thought to be an opportune moment at the present time, inasmuch as farmers would not be as busy now as they in all likelihood would be at a later date. It was not known when the elections might be brought on. It might be in a couple of months, and again it was possible that it would be even as late as the fall.

On motion Mr. Geo. Elliott was elected chairman of the meeting, and Mr. James Innes secretary.

Mr. Elliott addressed the meeting briefly. In adverting to a few facts he remarked that South Wellington had always been, and is at the present time, a very strong Reform constituency. All that was required to enable the Riding to maintain its noble prestige and position was for the Reformers to be united in their objects. He felt satisfied such would prove to be the case, as notwithstanding the many side issues—the cry of National Policy, and other kindred subjects, this portion of the Province would remain true to their colors. (Applause.) Those who were travelling over the country at the present time shouting National Policy had not up to date been able to define their position. The end, however, as given forth by them, was to make every person in this wide Dominion rich and everybody happy. All were well aware that there was such a thing as a snake in the grass, and when the grass is long the snake could not very well be seen. The snake in the question referred to was to secure the defeat of the Mackenzie Government and the reinstating of Sir John Macdonald at the head of affairs. Mr. Guthrie was present and as it was a fit and proper time for him to give an account of his stewardship during the past two years that he had represented them in Parliament he had much pleasure in calling upon him.

Mr. Guthrie, on ascending the platform, was received with long and prolonged applause. He stated that the reason he asked their attention at such an early stage of the meeting was on account of being engaged in an important insurance case at the Court of Assize, and he took the opportunity of being with them during the adjournment of the Court for dinner. It was his duty and the duty of everyone who had been honored as he had been by the confidence of the electors, to appear before them at the conclusion of his term of office to give an account of his stewardship. All could easily look back two years and remember the nature of the opposition he had received then. It was stated that his election had been opposed merely for the purpose of entering a protest against the fiscal policy of the Government, but not in any way for the purpose of trying to ensure the defeat of the Mackenzie administration—merely a matter of difference on the question of trade. At that time the Government was perfectly safe, no matter who might be returned to represent them. It was entirely different now, as elections were general, and the very existence of the administration depended upon the results achieved. The question before them was exceedingly simple. Will you cast your votes to return a representative whose object it is to put Sir John Macdonald into power again after he has disgraced the country in the manner he has? These cries, of which "National Policy" was a fair sample, were merely made to place that gentleman in the position he occupied before the Pacific Scandal was unearthed.

A voice—It will never be done.

The speaker held that during the two years he had represented them he had extended to the Government what he considered to be a conscientious and honest support. No true Reformer who had studied the history of this country, or had sat in the House and compared the conduct of the supporters of the Government with their opponents—the policy of the former compared with the latter—but would have accorded them the same cordial support that he and others had consistently done. He was prepared to justify every vote he had given in the House while he had acted in the capacity of their representative. (Applause.) In speaking to an audience that was composed entirely of reading men—men who could judge for themselves, it was unnecessary for him to go over the entire work that had been accomplished, in detail. The Government had nobly done their duty, and when the Reformers of this Riding met with others inargument they could speak confidently in referring to the work that had been accomplished during their four years tenure of office. It was true that during the past two years there had been deficits. This arose from the fact that the people of this country had been unable to purchase dutiable goods to the same extent that they had been doing in previous years. This might also indicate that in many lines in which importations had formally been made, manufacturing had been increased, and thus importations checked. If in these goods Canadians were able to satisfy the people of this country other means of raising the revenue would have to be found. In 1877 the deficit was only nominally large, as over a million of dollars had to be expended in items that would not occur again. The question that was brought before the Finance Minister to raise the balance which only amounted to about four hundred thousand dollars was: Would it be wise to disturb the whole trade of the country when only that amount was actually required? He came to the reasonable conclusion that it was not, but we will put duty on such articles that can be easily removed. Duty was thereupon put on tea and malt, and cheaper coal oil was given to the consumers. This last item alone saved to the people of this country over a million dollars. The duty on the first named articles proved to be no burden at all, and did not disturb trade a particle. During the session of 1877 many acts of a very important character were introduced, principally by the Hon. Mr. Blake, and it was a matter that was deeply regretted that that gentleman was obliged to withdraw for the present from the arduous duties pertaining to a minister of the Crown. He was admired by all Reformers for his great abilities, judgment and honorable course of conduct, and by Tories as well, or rather such of them as could rise above blind partizanship. A number of the Bills brought forward by that gentleman were referred to by the speaker. Among the most important was the amendment to the Insolvent Act. The Act respecting weights and measures was so amended as to make it as easy for those who used those articles as it was possible to do. In carrying out this act the Government only brought into operation an Act that had been made law before they assumed office. Another measure was an Act to relieve members who had unwittingly violated the Independence of Parliament Act. Previous to this amendment the Act was in such an absurd condition that a member who had violated the Act even in a very small matter through an action of an employee would not only be unseated but liable to a fine of $2000 for every day he sat in the House. The amendment was not passed for the purpose of whitewashing any member, but for the sole purpose of applying common-sense to the Act. The last Session of Parliament was more than usually interesting on account of the many committees of investigation that had been appointed, and the work they had accomplished. Not the least startling was that which related particularly to the secret service fund, when it was found that $6,000 had been traced to Sir John Macdonald, and had never been accounted for. The Northern Railway investigation showed that $30,000 of the people's money had been mis-appropriated—taken by the late Government to be used for corrupt purposes. The action of Mr. Mackenzie and his Government had been the means of saving to the country a large sum of money which that corporation was forced to pay over. In referring to the Anglin case, the speaker told how the Opposition wished to have that gentleman condemned on a charge of violation of the independence of Parliament without a trial. A motion was brought forward by the Opposition in regard to the same that did not admit of an amendment. They wished to disgrace and degrade Mr. Anglin, who is a respectable Roman Catholic, a man of a high sense of honor, whose name never bore a suspicion of reproach, and who is an honor to his own Province, and would be to any Province in the Dominion, and this too, without allowing him a trial. In this matter the Government took a correct course. They claimed that they wanted to see wherein and how much he had sinned. The matter was thoroughly investigated, and the report brought in to the House was unanimously adopted, not even Sir John Macdonald daring to vote against it, although the fact was brought out that during that gentleman's term of office Mr. Beatty, of the Leader, and Mr. Stephenson, of the Chatham Planet, and Mr. Bowell had been paid time and time again for printing done while they were members of Parliament and supporting that gentleman. The fiscal policy of the Government was such as every one who had the interests of the country as a whole at heart would heartily approve of. Although there was apparently a very large deficit, it did not amount to so very much in reality. Mr. Cartwright and the Government looking at the fact that they were going before the people to discuss the fiscal policy of the Government, deemed it right to leave it as it was, believing that, as the tariff was now adjusted, it was in the best interests of the Dominion to leave it so. This too was done in all honesty, as they might, by acting contrary to their convictions, have secured the support of a certain class, who threatened them opposition if their wishes were not acceded to. Among a number of measures introduced in the House during the past session several very important ones were not passed. This was owing to the obstructive course of the Senate in dealing with questions of vital importance. Knowing this the Government despaired of having certain measures passed and consequently withdrew them. The late actions of the Senate thus force upon the minds of the people whether the time has not arrived when the constitution of that body should not be looked into and amended. (Hear, hear.) If the Toronto Globe did not now support the constitution of the Senate it would not remain as it is during the next five years. (Hear, hear.) The speaker hazarded an opinion that after the obstructive course pursued by the Senate during the last Session the Globe in the interests of the country will withdrew its support in upholding the constitution of the Senate. It was simply monstrous that eighty-eight men in Ottawa, occupying high positions in guiding the destinies of the country, were responsible to no person—can defy all authority, cannot be brought to task for their actions, neither by the people, the Commons nor the Governor-General. If matters are carried on by that body, as they have been, the power that created them — the British Parliament—will have to be appealed to for their reconstruction. The Senate of Canada occupies a different position to the House of Lords, for if that body proves obstructive the Queen can create new Peers, who are eligible to sit in the House. No such pressure can be brought to bear upon the Senate, and if that body wishes to thwart the wishes of the people, they can do so with impunity. As an instance of the obstruction offered to the Commons, the speaker referred to the Senate amending the Bill which would have ensured the opening of the Pembina Branch of the Pacific Railway, and the result was the bill had to be withdrawn. Taking all these facts into consideration, he would ask the electors to weigh carefully the question whether or not the time had arrived when it was necessary to reform the Constitution of the Senate of Canada. It is true the Senate had their opinion of the constitutionality of the act of Lieut.-Governor Letellier in dismissing the De Boucherville Government, but that made no difference, as the question had then been referred to the people of Quebec. Mr. Mackenzie showed his wisdom in dealing with the question when he held that it was the people that had to settle the constitutionality of the question. Sir John Macdonald was quite willing that the people should render the verdict, but he claimed that Mr. De Boucherville should have been allowed to carry on the elections and not Mr. Joly. The great question, however, in which the electors of South Wellington were interested in, at the present time, was:—Who are we going to have conduct the affairs of the Dominion during the next five years,—who is it that is wanted to be at the head of affairs during the construction of the great railway belt that is to span this continent,—and who is it, judging from the records of the past that will manage the affairs of this great, growing nation with honesty, and in such a manner as will prove to our best interests? Some say it will be a grand thing to support those who will promise us most for our individual business, to support Sir John Macdonald's National Policy movement. Are those the men that can be considered patriots, and are they so blind that they think they can make honest people believe that in all things they hold to the cry "country first?" (A voice—No! no!) The true Reformers of this Riding were willing to discuss this question of National Policy, and they would not hold hole-and-corner meetings either. But that question was only one of many that had to be taken into consideration. In referring to Sir John Macdonald's past actions in dealing with the question of putting a duty on breadstuffs the speaker spoke of a tax being imposed in 1871 and repealed the following year. Friends of that gentleman state that the duty was taken off while he was in Washington. Granting such to be the case it was strange indeed that although he was Premier for two years and a half after the repeal took place, that he never raised a finger to have it again put on. He however knew it was detrimental to the interests of the country and therefore took no action. Sir John Macdonald promised protection to manufacturers during an election campaign on one occasion in Hamilton. After the election was over he had evidently forgotten all about his pledges. At the present time the leader of the Opposition is looking for something whereby he might get back to power. One thing is certain he will never succeed on the merits of his own record. (Hear, hear.) He says to himself that he will fan protection to manufacturers into a flame, and then try and rope farmers in on the same cry. To show his insincerity, look at what is to be found in the resolution he brought before the House? No person can find anything in it. A newspaper in Prince Edward Island—a strong supporter of the Opposition—even goes as far as to endorse it on the ground that it is a free trade resolution. In fact it hardly means one thing or another. When, however, the question is afterwards defined by resolutions and certain articles specified, the Opposition is deserted by whole Provinces. A duty on coal, on which it is claimed the Lower Provinces are clamorous for, was defeated by a very large majority—even a majority of the Nova Scotians. Would it be right or just to impose a tax on flour to increase the price of that article to poor fishermen on our eastern coast, who are obliged to exchange their catch of fish for flour in the American market, and for which they are unable to get money, merely for the sake of putting a little more money in the pockets of millers. The speaker would ask them in all honesty, if they would desire their representative to do such a thing as that. (Voices—No! no!) How can any elector be lead to believe that a man like Sir John Macdonald can be trusted, or intends to redeem his pledges when he makes them. In concluding the speaker stated that he was proud of the support he had given the Government.

On Mr. Guthrie resuming his seat he was loudly cheered.

It was then moved by Mr. James Laidlaw, of Guelph township, seconded by Mr. P. Mahon, of Puslinch, that this meeting desires to express its continued confidence in the ability, integrity, and policy of the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie and the Government of the Dominion of Canada, and believing that the course pursued by them since they came into power has been wise, just and economical, and has a tendency to protect the interests of all parts of the Dominion against monopolies and the efforts that have been made to advance the interest of one portion of the community at the expense of another, we pledge ourselves to endeavour to secure the election to the next Parliament of a man who will sustain and support their Administration so long as they continue to pursue the same wise and judicious policy as hitherto.

Mr. Laidlaw, in moving the resolution, expressed his belief that all, or nearly all the Reformers of not only this Riding, but of the entire country, were in perfect accord with the spirit of the motion. He said that Mr. Guthrie had so thoroughly dealt with the work of the Government that little was left for him to say. The question of a National Policy, which had been brought so prominently before the electors of Wellington of late, he had no doubt would be thoroughly discussed before the election came off, and the fact that there was considerable important business to be transacted by the meeting would force him to make his remarks very brief. In referring to the farming interests he said that there was no one present but would admit that the harvest of 1876 was probably the worst that had ever been gathered in this country. When the farm fails every other branch of industry suffers more or less. While admitting that the manufacturing interests of the country were great, and proved of incalculable benefit to it, he was forced to say that its position was necessarily second to the agricultural interests. The falling off in the revenue during the past two years was spoken of, but he held that from the fact of a large increase during the past six months there was every reason to believe that the tide had now turned and that the country was on the high road to prosperous times again. The present Government had assumed office under very disadvantageous circumstances, and it was now the duty of every Reformer to tender it that generous support it was entitled to for tiding over our affairs during a depressed time. Through the great energy and executive ability of the Mackenzie Administration many corrupt acts and gross extravagances of the late Government had been brought to light. It was true that charges had also been brought against Mr. Mackenzie, but after a most thorough and impartial investigation his high character for probity and uprightness had been fully sustained. This fact even had to be admitted by his opponents. He felt satisfied that when this Riding was called to do its duty in electing a Reformer—one who would extend to the Government of the day a cordial support, the majority that was secured two years ago would be more than doubled.

Mr. Peter Mahon, the seconder of the resolution, held that the Mackenzie Government had administered the affairs of the country during the past four years in a highly satisfactory manner. Such being their record, it should be the feeling of all who had the welfare of the country at heart to not only record their votes to support the present Administration but both work and raise their voices to accomplish such a result. There had been a cry of National Policy raised in the Riding, but those who advocated the so-called policy acted as though they had very little faith in it themselves. In the Township of Puslinch the advocates held something of a hole-and-corner meeting in one end of the Township on an evening when many farmers were engaged in the centre of the municipality attending a meeting in the interest of agricultural affairs. The speaker claimed to be a farmer, and one who desired above all things to see farmers prosperous, but at the same time no person would ever find him advocating a policy that might perchance put a few extra cents in his own pocket to the great detriment of other portions of the country. There was no doubt this National Policy cry originated with manufacturers, whose object at the present time was to rope in farmers with them by appealing to their cupidity. If farmers were to be benefited by any such measure, he considered that they were possessed of sufficient intelligence to have seen it themselves without manufacturers and their agents ascending the platform and telling them what they should do and what they wanted. If any person is found to have the temerity to enter the lists with the Reform candidate, he had not the least doubt but that the farmers of this Riding would roll up a majority against any National Policy advocate, that would inform them of the position in which they stand. In concluding the speaker asked the question: If the policy of the Mackenzie Government is not just what was wanted by each section in every particular are the Reformers going to record their votes to support Sir John Macdonald—a man who has disgraced the country in the eyes of almost the entire world? (Voices—No! no!) Could any Canadian who loved his country be persuaded to so act? (Voices—No! no!) He had the fullest confidence in the present Administration, and to it he would extend his most cordial support. (Applause.)

The motion was then carried without a dissenting voice, the whole audience rising to their feet to express their approbation.

Moved by Mr. R. Melvin, of Guelph, seconded by Mr. L. Parkinson, of Eramosa, that the Reformers of South Wellington, in meeting assembled, express their great satisfaction at the present surrender of the last stronghold of Toryism in the Dominion and would fain hope that the destinies of our sister Province of Quebec may long be entrusted to the guiding care of an honest Reform Government under the wide and able leadership of Mr. Joly.

The mover and seconder of the resolution spoke briefly to the motion, referring to the great work that had been done by the Reform party, evidences of which could be seen in every Province in the Dominion. Unity of action on the part of the Reformers of South Wellington was asked for, and they were sure the battle would be won.

Moved by Mr. Hugh Milloy, of Erin, seconded by Mr. Wm. Whitelaw, of Guelph Township, that we desire to express our confidence in Donald Guthrie, Esq., Q.C., our worthy and able member in the House of Commons, and to convey to him our appreciation and approval of the very able manner in which he has represented South Wellington in Parliament, and the hearty and well-deserved support rendered by him to the Government of the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie.

Mr. Milloy, in speaking to the resolution, referred to the work of the National Policy advocates in the Riding of late. It appeared that the mission of a certain number of gentlemen was to educate the people of Erin into the ways of the League. Well, after all, these discussions had done much good, as before the discussions took place there were a good many that evidently had a leaning towards protection, but after the matter had been thoroughly looked into by themselves, the hollowness of the cry was easily perceptible. Many that voted for a protection candidate two years ago are now prepared to vote the other way. All told he did not believe the National Policy had secured the support of half-a-dozen Reformers in Erin. He was confident that all that was required was hard work and united action. With this there was no doubt but what the Reform candidate at the ensuing election would be elected by a majority double what it was two years ago. Such was the feeling in Erin at the present time. (A voice—"Eramosa is all right.") In concluding the speaker expressed his belief that Mr. Guthrie had done nobly and well as representative of South Wellington.

Mr. Whitelaw in referring to the work of our member during the past two sessions expressed himself as highly pleased with it and perfectly satisfied. During the next few years there would be great and important undertakings to be carried out in the country, and he believed that the man who was eminently fit to carry them out as the head of a Government, was the Hon. Alex. Mackenzie. Reference was made to the National Policy cry, and the speaker held that judging from the meetings held by its advocates, and which he had attended, no greater amount of clap-trap, as far as the farmers were concerned, could well be imagined. He would just like farmers and others to judge of the men who were endeavoring to work that policy up. Nothing but two roving agents, doubtless well paid, whose first interests were none but for themselves. (Hear, hear.)

The chairman stated that the question for the meeting now to decide was whether this meeting of Reformers would proceed to choose a candidate for the House of Commons, or would an adjournment take place and the candidates be chosen in convention, on some future day.

Dr. McGuire spoke favorably to a convention, inasmuch as there would then be a full representation of Reformers from all parts of the Riding. Notwithstanding the large representation of Reformers present he thought delay at the present time might be the wisest course.

Mr. L. Parkinson thought the matter could be easily settled, simply by the chairman calling on each municipality to vote on the question. If it was found that the meeting was favorable to the nomination of a candidate, it could be proceeded with, and if it was unfavorable to such a course a convention could be called at an early date. There was a fair representation from the different municipalities, and he did not know why farmers should be brought from home again—some of them twenty or thirty miles—perhaps in a busy season, to attend a convention.

This resolution was also carried unanimously.

Mr. Hugh Milloy did not object to the meeting proceeding to the nomination of a candidate, but the only question that rose to his mind was would it be safe to do so.

After some further discussion the sense of the meeting on the question by municipalities was taken. It was found that the feeling was very largely in favor of proceeding at once to nominate a candidate.

Out of the large meeting only two from Eramosa voted for a convention, three from Erin and one from Guelph town. Puslinch and Guelph Township were unanimously in favor of nominating the candidate at once.

It was then moved by Mr. Duncan McFarlane, of Puslinch, seconded by Mr. Robt. Royce, of Eramosa, that this meeting tender D. Guthrie, Esq., the nomination as a candidate to the Dominion Parliament for South Wellington in the Reform interest, and in the event of his acceptance of the same pledge ourselves to use every exertions to secure his election.

The mover of the resolution stated that all present had heard the satisfactory manner in which Mr. Guthrie had justified his course in the House as a supporter of the Mackenzie Government, and although it was a hard matter indeed to please every person, it was gratifying to know that our member had not only pursued a course which was satisfactory to almost every Reformer in the Riding, but that his conduct had been looked upon as unimpeachable by many Conservatives. He had given a consistent support to a Government, with which the Reform party was in perfect accord.

Mr. Robert Royce expressed the opinion that the Mackenzie Government was the best that Canada ever had, in fact he believed it was one of the best, if not the best, governments on earth. Some say Mr. Guthrie is a lawyer, and that we do not want a professional gentleman to represent us. Well, what if he is a lawyer, he is an honest man too. All that was necessary to win in the coming contest was to be united, to stand shoulder to shoulder and Mr. Guthrie would be returned triumphantly. (Applause.) The speaker was in favor of choosing a candidate by convention, but when a large representation of brother Reformers were assembled, together such as there was today he thought it would be just as well to proceed to business. He had no doubt but that united action on their part would elect their man by a largely increased majority to support the present Government.

Three rousing cheers were then given for Mr. Guthrie, and a vote was taken Not one in the whole audience dissented. It was then declared carried unanimously.

The mover and seconder of the resolution were then instructed to inform Mr. Guthrie of the result and request his attendance.

The chairman addressed the audience, briefly urging upon them thorough organization at once.

Mr. G. R. Pattullo was introduced. He stated that he was not only pleased at the meeting, but he was considerably surprised. He had read in the Conservative newspapers of a great re-action that had been going on in South Wellington—that great falling off had taken place in the Reform ranks, and that they had, for some unaccountable reason, turned their backs on the principles which they had upheld for many years. During the past eighteen months he had been anxiously looking out for this great Conservative reaction. He had been unable to find it, and notwithstanding the many assertions from the Conservative press that it had set in here, it was still something unrecognizable. The most perfect unanimity of feeling appeared to exist here among Reformers, and he could assure them that the same feeling was general throughout the Province. He was pleased that they had seen fit to again nominate the gentleman who had served them so faithfully during the past two years. Mr. Guthrie was now their candidate, and although he had received their unanimous vote as such, their duty did not rest here. From the present time until the contest was over no stone should be left unturned which would enable the majority of two years ago to be increased. His success at the polls would be their success. Suggestions were made by the speaker whereby the strength of the Reform party might be increased. Reformers were always good to work after the contest begun, but as a rule did not manifest much zeal when the preparatory work was in progress. In speaking of the necessity to scrutinize the assessment rolls and voters' lists the speaker stated that while Reformers would scorn to take steps that were not right, they should see to it that their side received justice. Jystice was all that was wanted. To show how carelessness in regard to the voters' list might operate, Pickering in South Ontario was instanced—it being nothing but the leaving off the names of Reformers who had a right to vote and the placing of the names of Tories on the rolls who had no right to be there, that Mr. T. N. Gibbs had been elected.

Mr. Guthrie here entered the hall with Messrs. Royce and McFarlane and was received with loud and prolonged cheering.

Mr. Pattulo in continuing stated that in all probability the 1877 lists would be used for the coming elections, 1878 would be used for the elections of the Local Legislature next year. In referring to the calculations made at the snobocratic U. E. Club in Toronto as to the probable results of the next general election, which claimed a majority for the Conservative, the ridiculousness of the figures were shown. The Quebec victory, however, had been won since then, and the Tories were now beginning to court over again with woebegone and pitiful faces. He knew the battle at the elections would be fought desperately by their opponents, but with an united front they could achieve a greater victory than ever won here before.

The chairman then tendered to Mr. Guthrie the resolution which made him the unanimous choice of the Reform party of South Wellington.

Mr. Guthrie stated that he looked upon the honor as one of no ordinary character. Two years ago he had received at their hands a very cordial support, and now at the end of his term of office to receive such a vote of confidence, with a proposal to again accept the high honor of being their candidate, was indeed pleasing to him. He would be untrue to his principles if he allowed any private consideration to interfere with what he regarded as his public duty. The treatment he had received from them had been so handsome that he could not do other than accept the nomination in the same spirit in which it was offered. He would not detain them with a speech, but had only to say that having entered upon his share of the battle he was resolved to do his duty, not only by the party but for the country. The interests of Canada were such at the present time that the Government should be supported and the affairs of State left under their control, The electors should not merely look upon this from a Reform standpoint but as Canadians who wish the country to be a prosperous one. We should not belittle our opponents, as it was known full well that no Conservative dare enter the field, but instead an unholy alliance is formed, and the Leaguers with a few Reformers will bring out a man, and the Conservatives will do their utmost to elect him. He had no doubt that those Reformers who had become identified with the League, or nearly all of them, would, when they saw it was nothing less than a question of electing a supporter of Sir John Macdonald or Mr. Mackenzie, prove true to the principles advocated by them for many years, and cast off all connection with the Tories and their League. The Reformers invited discussion on the trade question, and were opposed to those hole-and-corner meetings which had been held of late in the Riding. All that was wanted was to have the question brought faialy before the people, and their intelligence would settle which was correct. He had no fear of the result, as it would prove that South Wellington was among the strongest Reform Ridings in the country. (Loud cheers.)

Col. Higinbotham, M.P., was called upon. He spoke briefly from his place in the audience. During the course of his remarks he stated that the Nationalists were misnamed, as their right title was taxationists. He urged upon Reformers of the Riding to effect a thorough organization.

After a few remarks from Mr. Simpson on the work accomplished by the Reformers in years that were passed, it was Moved by Mr. Whitelaw, seconded by Mr. James Laidlaw, that the President of the Reform Association and Vice-Presidents of the various municipalities in this Riding, take proper steps for the organization and adopting such arrangements as may be required for the return by a large majority of Mr. Guthrie, the choice of the meeting.—Cheers.

After a hearty vote of thanks was tendered the chairman, three cheers were given for the Queen and the Mackenzie Government, and the meeting broke up at half-past five o'clock.

Daily Mercury.

WEDNESDAY EVEN'G, MAY 15, 1878.

Mr. D. Guthrie Nominated for South Wellington.

We devote a large portion of our space to-day to the report of the proceedings of the Reform meeting on Tuesday, when Mr. Guthrie was, by the unanimous voice of the meeting, nominated the candidate for the Commons at the next election. That he would be nominated again was a foregone conclusion, and, therefore, we think it was a wise proceeding on the part of the meeting to make the nomination at once, without going through the empty formality of calling a Convention. Mr. Guthrie has proved himself an able and faithful representative, and the Reformers present—who well represented every section of the Riding—testified their confidence in him by a nomination that was unpremeditated, spontaneous and enthusiastic. On this account it is all the more valuable, and it furnishes also a very conclusive proof that the great body of the Reformers are as united and hearty as they ever were, and that if opposition comes—from whatever quarter it may—the enemy will find them as ready and willing to do battle for their principles and party as they were in former times.

We have no room to-day to discuss the questions at issue between the Government and its supporters and their opponents, but we look upon the meeting on Tuesday as one of the most cheering signs that the reaction in this Riding is of the most insignificant character. It was one of the largest and best ever held in the Riding. It was admirably managed by the chairman, Mr. Elliott, and the unanimity and earnestness there displayed is but a foretaste of what the party is prepared to do when the contest comes. If the Opposition choose to bring out their man, the sooner they do it the better, so that we may have the issue clearly defined, and the grounds of the contest placed on a proper basis.

It is reported, on good authority, that Mr. John Macdonald, M. P. for Toronto, will be taken into the Cabinet as President of the Council.

The Reformers in Centre Wellington are at present very active. Eight or ten deputations were out on Thursday evening last at as many different places to attend to the revision of the voters' lists. More power to them.

Major Walker has announced himself as the independent Liberal candidate for London, and the Conservatives having got Mr. Fraser off the track have brought out Mr. Carling to oppose him. Now we shall have a stiff contest.

Death of Mr. Loghrin.—It is with deep regret we announce the death of Mr. Alex. Loghrin, of Eramosa, who died at the General Hospital this (Wednesday) morning at five o'clock. This regret will be shared by his relatives and his many friends in the neighborhood in which he resided. It was on the afternoon of the 4th inst. when Mr. Loghrin met with the accident in being thrown out of his waggon near the Eramosa bridge which has caused his death. The particulars regarding the same have been published in the Mercury. Mr. Loghrin's age was twenty-seven years. He was a young man of many good parts and was universally esteemed by all who knew him. The wife of the deceased and family of two children have the sympathy of the entire community in their bereavement.

Galt and Guelph.—At the half-yearly meeting of the Great Western Railway, the chairman asked the shareholders to sanction the negotiations with the Galt and Guelph Railway. Arrangements, he said, have been concluded which will be ratified by an Act now before the Ontario Legislature, for removing the impediments hitherto existing to working this railway of 15¼ miles as a part of the Great Western system. The controversy between the Galt and Guelph Company has caused many years of litigation. By the compromise arrived at, the Great Western are to pay the sum of $12,000, in consideration of which the Galt and Guelph Company surrender the whole of the shares, and satisfy all outstanding liabilities. The necessity of keeping separate accounts for the earnings of this line will then cease. The motion was carried unanimously.

Death of old Settlers.—We recorded yesterday the death of Mr. Charles Chase, father of Mr. Caleb Chase, who was a respected resident of Guelph since 1857, and who was held in great esteem by all who knew him. Mr. Jonathan Oakes, another old settler in this county, died on Sunday at the residence of his son, in Oustic, after an illness extending over a couple of days. The deceased was 87 years of age. He came to Guelph about 45 years ago, and lived for many years on one of Mr. John Howitt's farms, near Guelph. After this he went to Eramosa, where he spent the remainder of his life. The deceased was well known in this section, and was much respected by all who were acquainted with him.

Epps's Cocoa.—Grateful and Comforting.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. Moonlight Trimmings, Moonlight Vellings and Floral Trimmings.

These goods are quite new.

In Ladies' Millinery, Hats and Bonnets

Jackets, Mantles.

We congratulate the ladies of this section in having so rich and excellent a lot of Ladies Silk Paramatta and Tweed Jackets, exquisite styles. Also an endless variety of the material and styles to select from.

CORSETS. CORSETS.

Physicians, Women's Rights Advocates, Collectors of Mortuary Statistics, and Retormers generally

Have all had their fling at Corsets on sanitary grounds. Like the critics of the chameleon, "they are all right and all wrong," because Corsets made in the ordinary way may with justice be condemned, though those constructed in accordance with nature's laws are decidedly beneficial and hygienic to the female body. They support the bust, soften the sudden changes of temperature, and impart a firmness and support to the spinal column that are peculiarly useful. All this can be effected without torturing the body, but on the contrary improving the general health, and adding much to the grace and elegance of the well dressed woman. A Corset to fulfil all these requirements should be fashioned after nature's model, and when that is done the garment will be perfect.

Wm. Stewart & Co. impressed with the truth of this idea have secured Corsets after NATURE'S MODEL. Our stock is now full in every size of the popular

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XL.

FIRE AND FURY

When Dick found that no fight was to be made he gave vent to a volley of fierce oaths, and vociferating that he would be dammed if the gauger should seize any of the stuff, he leapt among the huge vessels filled with liquor in various stages of manufacture, and staved them in with his hatchet. Cask after cask, vat after vat he smashed, and the liquor flowed forth in a flood, till it streamed across the floor of the cave to a depth which floated the smaller articles. In his mad and insane fury he dashed his hatchet through the metal boiler which hung above the fire, when its contents instantly emerged and ignited. The horrors of the scene that followed baffles description. In a moment the cave was a mass of flame. The outpoured liquor was caught by it, and the blaze spread with incalculable rapidity. Fortunately most of the men had by this time entered the passage of exit with their loads. Those that remained, seeing what had happened, threw down the kegs they had got and fled with screams of terror. The madman who had precipitated the catastrophe was already a victim to his recklessness, for his clothes, saturated with the stuff he had spilled, caught fire ere he had time to escape from the burning mass.

Dixon and Nip, who were all that now remained, did their utmost to save him. At the imminent risk of their own lives they rushed forward, and dragged him all aflame from the spot where he was bellowing with agony, and the moment they had him beyond the edge of the conflagration they tore off his clothes, and threw them in burning fragments on the floor. Scarcely had they alighted there when the pistols which had been in his belt went off with reverberating sound, and the bullet from one wounded him in the arm, already scorched by the fire.

His sufferings were excruciating, but the prompt measures adopted had extinguished the flames on his person, and now they made for the passage to escape, while yet escape was possible, for the intolerable heat and suffocating smoke was fast overcoming them. Besides, the fire was spreading to the passage itself, and into every rocky recess. A moment or two longer and it would fill every part of the place.

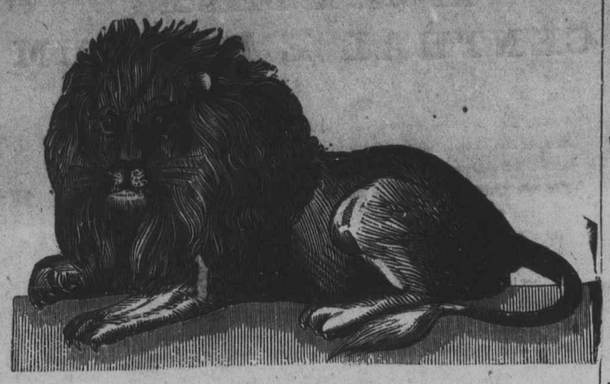
"Quick," shouted Dixon to Nip. "You go first and pull him. I'll come last and push forward."

A most difficult task it was to get the heavy form of Dick transported through the passage. Had he remained an inert mass in their hands they could better have carried his dead weight than the struggling and withering frame which they had to convey. His groans and cries were frightful to listen to, and all the more that agony-prompted oaths and blasphemies mingled with them.

There were other and tremendous difficulties to contend with. The flames pursued them, for as the burning liquid flowed along the passages—the smoke, laden with whiskey fumes, caught away their breath—the intolerable heat sent a fainting sensation to their hearts. But excitement and desperation nerved them to a superhuman exertion of strength, and at last, when exhausted to the utmost limit of nature's endurance, they had the joyous satisfaction of feeling the fresh outer air meet their fevered faces, and next minute they emerged from the passage, bearing the scorched and wounded man between them.

Most of the smugglers—at least those of them who were loaded with kegs—had disappeared, but those who had flung down their burdens and rushed into the passage at the outbreak of the fire were congregated at the entrance, and now crowded round the burned and wounded man, who presented a spectacle at once pitiable and appalling. His face, breast, and other parts of his body were scorched to blackness, the blood trickled from his lacerated arm, his sufferings were dreadful, and the expression he gave to them could not be witnessed, even by the hardest amongst them, without a shudder. The madness of rage which he had manifested in the cave had been turned into the madness of pain, and he rolled about on the grass yelling forth curses and imprecations which froze the very blood of the listeners, who could do nothing to give him relief. Strong though he was the frantic struggle could not last long, and insensibility mercifully intervened to save him for a time from suffering.

The nearest house to which he could be conveyed was a long way off—a small cottage occupied by an old woman, the mother of one of the gang. Hither it was resolved to carry Dick, and without further waiting they lifted his now inanimate form and began the toilsome journey, leaving the burning cave to be dealt with by Gillespie and his men as they pleased. One good result followed from the conflagration—it placed an insuperable barrier between them and the officers, who could not possibly pass through the cave to pursue them. They had also a conscious satisfaction in reflecting that the gauger would seize none of the stuff. With such poor comfort as these considerations afforded, they took their way through the narrow passes among the rocks, and while the last rays of sunset were gilding the peaks they left the place from which they had such a swift and tragic ejectment. As they passed out of the labyrinth of rocks which surrounded the cavern, a large eagle perched on a crag overhead, rose with a startling scream, and poising himself for a moment in the air, took his flight majestically upward—his lessening form growing fainter and fainter, till wholly lost in the boundless blue.



While these terrible events had been transpiring in the cave, Gillespie and his party were busy forcing their way in by removing the stones and rubbish with which the former entrance had been closed. Guided by Watty Barclay they had found the spot without difficulty, and having brought several iron bars with them set instantly to work. At first it seemed as if they were digging into the unbroken side of the everlasting hill, but they had not penetrated a yard when traces of the passage became visible. Large stones and pieces of rock were dislodged, and though these had got firmly embedded in the clay, making the work arduous, the iron bars raised them from their place, and one by one they were rolled out, each as it was removed bringing them nearer to their goal.

Thus they wrought with enthusiastic ardour for fully an hour, entirely ignorant of what was occurring inside, but hoping every new dislodgement would make an aperture through which they could burst on their expected prey. That hope was at length fulfilled, but in such a manner as to astonish and confound them. Without a moment's warning the last portion of the obstruction before them fell down, and, with a mighty roar, smoke and flame belched forth in their faces, blinding and terrifying them.

Back they rushed pell-mell, jostling each other in astonishment and affright, and, air being now admitted to the interior, the burning stuff blazed up with renewed fury, and with a brightness of flame and intensity of heat absolutely terrific. It was a grand, sublime, yet appalling spectacle—it was like the mouth of hell, as Gillespie exclaimed, while the roar with which it was accompanied was louder than the sea in a storm.

Frequent explosions were heard inside, showing that the "fervent heat" was NOTICE.

LONDON AND LANCASHIRE

LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY

LONDON, ENGLAND.

HEAD OFFICE FOR CANADA—42 St. John Street, Montreal.

The Directors beg to announce that they have appointed

MR. GEO. RENNIE, General Agent

(Signed) WM. ROBERTSON, Manager for Canada.

THE LONDON AND LANCASHIRE Life Assurance Company having Canadianized its business, now offers all the advantages of a home institution, with the security of a British office. The increase in new Canadian business during the year 1877, being over 100 per cent over that of 1876, is ample evidence of the favour with which this arrangement has been received by the public. Government Deposit $100,000, for the exclusive benefit of Canadian policy holders, in addition to which the whole of the earnings of the branch are invested in this country.

(Signed) WM. ALLAN Local Agent. GEO. RENNIE, General Agent, Guelph. a16d3w eod

bursting asunder the cave's rocky walls. Fearing that the hill itself might be rent open, the officers retired to a safer distance. This result would in all probability have eventuated had the fuel which fed the flames been in greater abundance, but, large though the quantity was, the intensity with which it burned soon consumed it—a fact ere long attested by the diminution of the fierce lightning-like flames, the lessening of the fiery glare, and the fast advancing supremacy of smoke. In half-an-hour after the red glow had nearly disappeared, and volumes of dark smoke poured out and rolled up the side of the hill towards the golden sunset.

Of course Gillespie knew by this time that his expectation of a seizure had been baffled, and he was bitterly disappointed. He knew it would be both useless and impracticable to go into the interior, for many hours, perhaps days, must elapse ere the place became cool enough for inspection. But he knew also there was nothing to inspect, for every fragment of the smuggling apparatus would be consumed. As for the smugglers themselves, he had no doubt they had effected their escape by another passage, and had already found concealment among the mountains.

Still, it was a great satisfaction to know that he had rooted up the extensive organisation that had so long baffled and mortified him, and with this consoling thought he gathered his men together, and putting himself at their head the party set out on the long return home.

The Fenian Scare.

Preparations by the Authorities.

HAMILTON, May 14.—A telegram received this afternoon from Mr. Geo. J. Bryan, President of the St. George's Society, Buffalo, states that all rumours as to Fenian raids from that city are mere gas, and there need be no alarm.

OTTAWA, May 14.—The Citizen this evening publishes the following anent the Fenian movement as coming from Major-General Sir Edward Selby Smith, which goes to show that the Government are prepared to give any marauders, should they dare to cross to cross the border, a warm reception. Four gunboats, armed with twenty-nine pound guns and manned by twenty-four gunners, have been ordered to the River St. Clair and Lakes Erie and Ontario. All the militia on the frontier are to receive immediately arms and a proportionate amount of ball cartridge, and the interior militia have been ordered to hold themselves in readiness to leave for the frontier at a moment's notice. None of them, however, have been ordered under arms as yet. These regiments are the 23rd, 50th, 51st, 52nd, 53rd, 54th, 55th, 60th and 79th. The headquarters of these regiments are located near the frontier, and they will be still further strengthened by a battery of artillery and a troop of cavalry.

Batteries are being placed at several points in the Lower Provinces. A battalion of infantry at Kingston has been ordered to be converted into artillery; a guard from "A" Batttery Kingston, has been sent to Toronto to protect the military stores; four nine pound guns have been ordered to Prescott, and a battery of artillery formed there. A battery of heavy guns has been ordered at Victoria, Vancouver Island, to command Victoria harbor and Esquimalt. Col. Irwin, of the Royal Artillery, has proceeded from Kingston to place this battery in an effective state of defence. The four gun-boats will be stationed at Kingston, St. Catharines, Windsor, and Sarnia. Sir Edward Selby Smith says that no effort will be spared to obtain information in every direction, and promises the marauders a hot reception.

BUFFALO May 14.—Universal excitement prevailed along the border to-day owing to the reported crossing of four hundred Fenians, but nothing has occurred here to cause any precautions, the whole thing being looked upon by all classes as a joke.

Affairs are very much unsettled in Hayti owing to the existence of a monetary crisis.

The medical examination in the Moncton murder case goes to show that the death of McCarthy was not caused by drowning.

Vera Sassulitch, who attempted to shoot the St. Petersburg Chief of Police, has been discovered in one of the suburbs of that city and arrested.

The friends of Mr. Joly are confident of the election, by a majority of at least five, of their candidate for Speaker at the meeting of the Legislature.

The Quebec members of the Dominion Alliance are organizing for the inauguration of a campaign in favour of the submission of the new Temperance Act in the various counties of the Province.

The Toronto Council have accepted the invitation of the Town Council of Walkerton and the Saugeen Valley Railway Company to visit these localities, and have named Friday, 31st inst. for the trip.

Henderson who has undertaken to walk 25,000 miles, on Tuesday walked from Toronto to Richmond Hill, on the Northern Railway, and back, a distance of 42 miles. He will complete his 410th mile to-morrow night at Whitby whence he makes his way to the Lower Provinces.

All attempts to establish the insanity of the man who shot at the Emperor of Germany, as well as his independence of the Social Democrats, have utterly failed. His crime is proved by numerous witnesses. The trial will be a mere formality, and the efforts of the police are directed to finding the threads of a general conspiracy, if such exists. It is reported that one accomplice is suspected, and that a detective is now in Leipsic looking him up.

A small immigration from Iceland to Manitoba is anticipated during the summer. The immigration will only be those of independent means, who will not require any assistance from the Government for passage.

There are over six hundred applications for positions in the North-west Mounted Police. Only fifty men are needed.

The Prince of Wales has won golden opinions as the President of the Royal Commission in Paris, taking as active a part as royal dignity would permit in the preparations for the Exhibition, and giving a great impulse to the work by making, a day or two before the opening, the tour of inspection through the British section.

Bishop McCoskry announces his intention to stand his ground and meet any and all charges that may be brought affecting his character as a prelate of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

The Rev. Mr. Chance, who has long ministered in the Indian Reserve near Brantford, has commenced his charge of the Paisley pastorate, and to all appearance will make a very acceptable pastor.

The British House of Commons sat from four on Monday evening until 9:35 next morning, most of the time in Committee on the Irish Sunday Closing Bill, which various Irish members obstructed.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Nothing Known about Schouvaloff's Mission.

AN UNEASY FEELING STILL EXISTS.

The greatest secrecy is being maintained regarding Schouvaloff's visit. Many versions and various explanations are current in St. Petersburg and elsewhere, but they are doubtless more or less plausible hypotheses.

A San Stefano special says:—All the troops here will move within a few days into camp on rising ground two miles and a half nearer Constantinople.

Constantinople advices indicate that despite Todleben's efforts the Porte will not evacuate Varna and Batoum. Shumla will probably be surrendered, partly as satisfaction to the Russians and partly because it has ceased to be of great importance, since the Russians established themselves on this line of communication with Varna.

Lord Hartington's resolution that no forces be raised or kept by the Crown in time of peace, save within India, without the sanction of Parliament, indicates the determination of the Opposition in the Commons to make a united attack on the most vulnerable point of the Government's policy.

A St Petersburg special says:—It is rumoured that England is sending 30,000 men from India to Lake Van to threaten the Russians in the Caucasus. This is unconfirmed.

A Vienna despatch says:—Fresh complications are reported in Roumania. It is stated that the Russian Eleventh Army Corps pressed forward during the past week, entirely isolating Bucharest from Little Wallachia, where the Roumanian army is concentrated. The Russian representative used every effort to prevent Prince Charles from going to the army, but the latter's position has been rendered intolerable by the military and political control assumed by the Russians.

The New York Herald's St Petersburg special reports a belief in Court circles that Schouvaloff has returned for the purpose of seeking categorical instructions as to the precise limits of Russia's concessions. The uneasiness is increasing.

STRIKE RIOTS IN ENGLAND.—Serious rioting began at Blackburn on Tuesday evening. Thousands of the lowest class of operatives, including women, paraded the streets, making violent demonstrations. The residence of Col. Jackson, Chairman of the Masters' Association, was burned to the ground. The same mob attempted to burn Jackson's mills. The residence of Alderman Hornby was partially wrecked, and the windows of the mills in the town demolished.

THE SARDINIAN.—The latest about this steamier is that two of her crew were killed and two wounded; twelve steerage passengers wounded, but none fatally. The cabin passengers are uninjured. The accounts received have been greatly exaggerated. The Sardinian was floated on Tuesday.

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

Change in Russian Position in San Stefano.

Pacification of Thessaly and Epirus.

Disquieting Rumours from St. Petersburg.

EXCITEMENT AT MALTA.

London, May 16.

A despatch from Constantinople says the Russian position at San Stefano has been moved nearer to that of the Turks.

A despatch from Vienna says that the Montenegrins threaten to occupy promised territory.

Terms have been arranged by England for the pacification of Thessaly and Epirus. The arrangement includes the withdrawal of all Turkish troops, the disarmament of the Mussulmans, and the Christian population to be exempt from taxation for one year.

There is intense excitement at Malta in consequence of the scheme of the English Government re-adjusting taxation.

London, May 16.—A special to the Pall Mall Gazette from Berlin says there are disquieting rumors from St. Petersburg, and the prospects are threatening; the Panslavists are resuming the ascendancy.

A Times financial article says the recent advance in the price of consols was partially due to purchases for the July dividend, in consequence of declining discount rates, and scarcity of commercial paper.

Cheshire Stakes Won by Woodlands.

London, May 16.—The great Cheshire handicap stakes, for three year olds and upwards, at Chester, was won by Swindell's chestnut horse Woodlands.

A "Valuable" Spring.—This (Thursday) morning crowds of citizens gathered at the corner of Carden and Sandilands streets, near the West Market Square, to watch and conjecture the why and wherefore of what they termed a spring of cool water bubbling out between the stones at the crossing in front of Sunley's tin shop. Men who had the interest of the town at heart at once said as Colonel Sellars had done on many occasions "There's millions in it," and could not believe other than that Providence had given a spring of water which would supply cool and refreshing water to the thousands of inhabitants of the town. Some held that it certainly must possess medicinal qualities, judging from its color, and one gentleman after tasting it said "By my sowl it has a quare taste; it's as cold as a dead man's fut, and as swate as a nut." Another, a very old inhabitant, asked himself if a spring had ever existed at the spot when the town was yet in embryo, and after deep study concluded there had not, but that if he was a judge it was worth thousands of dollars. A disciple of Bergh advocated the erection of a fountain at which all animals might stop and quench their thirst during the sultry summer days that are shortly to follow. Mr. Carter, the owner of the flour and feed store at the corner objected to this. Paying customers are what he dotes on. The town officials were called out. Some looked wise and thought of overflow pipes from cisterns and receptacles of like kind, while others carried away by the feelings of the crowd were willing to affirm, after tasting, that it was such water, the like of which could not have possibly been found since the gushing of the flood from Horeb. About noon, however, the secret began to leak out. The water had found its way out from a pipe that lead from the back of Mr. Thompson's residence, and the "overflow" was caused by a strong-limbed man pumping the water out of a cistern that had become brackish. Those who had been tasting and giving their opinion that it was like unto some mineral having medicinal properties, can now account for the difference between pure fresh water and that which perchance might have proven the death of some unwary rats that had fallen in months ago and were unable to get out.

The Fenians.—The Cleveland Herald says:—We do not think Canada stands in any danger of formidable attack by Fenians, even should war break out between England and Russia. The leaders have more serious designs upon the Irish-American pocket than upon the Canadian territory. If their followers are foolish enough to attempt a violation of American neutrality they will have to reckon with the forces of Uncle Sam as well as with the Canadians, and they must expect no sympathy from the American people. Irishmen endeavoring to free Ireland from English domination may be patriots. Irishmen raiding on unoffending Canadians who have nothing whatever to do with the subjection of Ireland, and whose conquest would not liberate a foot of Irish soil, will figure in a very different character.

The Mail has constituted itself adviser to the Governor-General, and tells him he should order his ministers to hold the elections in June. The Governor, no doubt, will give this advice the attention it deserves, and that is none at all.

Coughs, and colds, when left to themselves, frequently bring on pulmonary complaints, which lead to that distressing and fatal disease, consumption; but, if attended to in time, "Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers" are a certain remedy. They stop the irritating cough, and sooth and strengthen the bronchial tubes, allaying all irritations and inflammation. They are also particularly adapted for the use of singers and public speakers. Sold by all druggists and country dealers at 25 cts. per box.

Maple Leaf-Iroquois game of base-ball this afternoon. All the base-ball enthusiats in that classic village arrived in Guelph last evening and take considerable pride in the prowess of their team.

Zera, magician, &c., performed in the town hall last evening. Some were made happy with presents. It is considered a poor entertainment that cannot draw on its own merits. A bag of flour given away does not satisfy an audience.

Base Ball.—The following games were played on Wednesday:—At Lynn—Buffalos 18, Live Oaks 0; at Hornellsville—Auburns 3, Hornells 4; at Manchester—Tecumsehs 0, Manchesters 2; at Providence—Bostons 5, Providence 24.

Accident.—James McKenzie, blacksmith, employed at Steele's carriage works, was assisting to load a tire plate on a dray this morning. The plate, which weighs 1400 pounds, slipped on one of his fingers and completely smashed it.

Synod of Toronto and Kingston.—At the meeting of this Synod, in the case of St. John's Church, Garafraxa, they would not warrant any step being taken which would separate Mr. Milligan from his congregation. In the case of the Ballinafad congregation, it was shown that the Presbytery of Toronto had not violated any law of the church in organizing the congregation.

Synod of Montreal.—The Presbyterian Synod meeting was abruptly checked on Wednesday, owing to the unexpected proceedings by the members of the Church of Scotland in reference to the Temporalities Fund. The twelve members of the Board were served with a writ of injunction with the proceedings initiated by the Rev. Robert Dobbie, of Milton, Ont., to recover $46,357,182, the amount at stake. The Synod at once adjourned.

What does it Mean?—On Tuesday there was found by Mr. George Wilkinson in his back premises, a bundle of carpenter's tools and scraps of iron. The tools were all old and of very little value. The police was notified of the fact and possession was taken of the articles, which can no wbe seen at the Police Court. It all probability they have been stolen by some tramp who found the bundle too weighty to carry around.

Nearly another Accident on the Eramosa Hill.—Mr. Raymond's team was coming down the Eramosa hill this morning, the clevis bolt came out of the doubletree precisely the same as in the accident to the late Mr. Loghrin, but by the extraordinary good management of the teamster, the horses were brought to a standstill in the ditch next Mr. Webster's. With the exception of one horse being slightly cut about one of his hind legs, no other damage was done.

Larceny.—At the Police Court this (Thursday) morning James Cantwell, of Puslinch, charged John Forster with the larceny of a pair of boots. It appears from the evidence that both parties had been asleep at the Gas Works. Cantwell had taken his boots off to rest his feet. Before he got up in the morning Forster traded boots with him—an old pair for one comparatively new—and made off. He was afterwards arrested and elected to be tried summarily by the magistrate. Evidence was submitted that pointed to the guilt of the prisoner. There was no defence. Sent to gaol for one month at hard labor.

Drunks.—John Miller and James Dillon had taken too much of the "barley bree" aboard last evening, and after vainly endeavoring to maintain a perpendicular position looked to the police for assistance. They were at once corralled. After pleading guilty this morning before the Police Magistrate, expressing sorrow for their first offence, and assuring His Worship that they would keep away from the flowing bowl, they were let off. Jerry Conners—the incorrigible — pleaded guilty to the same offence, but could not be positive whether or not this was the first time. The Magistrate remembered that he had been up before, and imposed a fine of $2 and $3 costs, or twenty-one days. Jerry preferred the days.

All the Leading Physicians in New York prescribe Giles' Liniment Iodide of Ammonia in paralysis, and are never disappointed in its effects. Did space permit we could present hosts of certificates from sufferers in all parts of the country, who have been benefited by its application.

Everyone Should Read It.—Messrs. J. D. Williamson & Co.'s new advertisement to-day announces such a lot of tempting bargains that everyone intending to buy should bear them in mind.

THE GREAT BOAT RACE.

Hanlan the Victor.

The great Hanlan-Plaisted boat race, over which there was so much excitement for some days previous, came off on the Bay, Toronto, on Wednesday evening about six o'clock. There was an immense crowd in the city, thousands from all parts of the Province having gone by rail or boat to see the race. The water was not favorable in the early part of the afternoon, but about five o'clock the wind died away, and shortly after preparations were made for the race.

The following is the Globe's report of the race:—

On the question, "Are you ready?" being put to the men, Hanlan made a partial start of about half a boat's length and stopped. On the word "Go" both men sprang upon their oars. Plaisted catching first and gaining thereby about a length. The pace was very hot, Plaisted putting in sharp heavy work at the rate of 38 strokes to the minute, and Hanlan pulling a long full stroke at 28 to the minute. The latter did not show his truest form for the first half mile, but laboured more than is his usual; indeed so noticeable was this that some one remarked that he was pulling like "Frenchy" Johnson. However, it was only for half a mile, and can easily be explained from Hanlan's having had far too little practice in his new boat. At all events, Plaisted with his most determined efforts—and he did row too all he was worth—could not increase his lead one inch. When about an eighth of a mile had been traversed Hanlan began to creep up on Plaisted, and at 3m. 45 sec. from the start the pair were even for a moment, but only a moment, as Hanlan drew away from his antagonist. Plaisted, who had been swaying his body backwards and forwards with great force, had clearly pumped himself out. His mouth opened wide, and he was breathing heavily. Here and all through the race he did not seem to be able to make any use of his legs. His boat, too, seemed to stop with his stroke, for one-third of the duration of which "she carried a passenger." Hanlan continued in increasing his lead at his ease until they arrived opposite the Grand Trunk elevator, where Plaisted rallied, and spurting gamely reduced his opponent's lead to about one length. Hanlan then responded, and by a spurt easily regained his advantage. From this to the end of the race Hanlan took his ease, and won as he liked by two good boat-lengths. The official time for the two miles is given as 14 min. 10 sec. but it must be said that the race appeared to take something over 15 minutes, one experienced timer giving it as 15 min. 18 sec., there being a difference of 3 sc. in this and the time taken by Mr. Meecker, Plaisted's supporter.

The steering of both parties was good, Plaisted being in this respect the better of the two. Hanlan, as usual, often looked over his shoulder.

Plaisted rowed a good race, though he did not do anything like as well as when he met Riley and Courtney at Saratoga.

The victory is one pretty much of style as the men are, though built upon different models, of much the same physical power. No man can row in Plaisted's style and win against Hanlan. The former's stroke undoubtedly shows great power at the immersion of the oar, but it is a power which diminishes as the stroke is expending itself. On the contrary, Hanlan's power is sustained throughout, and so, with his wonderful recovery, his boat never for one instant ceases to travel. Plaisted's boat on the other hand stops short, and to get her again under weigh he has to expend an amount of energy that tells severely upon him. Every race is won on the first mile, and this was no exception to the rule.

Hanlan and Plaisted attended the theatres at night and received quite an ovation. Only one accident reported is that of a man who fell off the City Elevator and was killed.

Gauhan vs. St. Lawrence and Ottawa Railway Company.—This was a suit brought by Francis Gauhan, of Guelph, against defendant to recover the value of a car of mess pork shipped last July to his own order, to Prescott, and which defendants forwarded to Ottawa without orders. All trace of the pork after reaching Ottawa was lost as far as the shipper was concerned. The case was opened at half-past two o'clock, and lasted until after ten. Verdict for the plaintiff for $1,105. Mr. Cameron, Q.C., and Messrs. MacMillan & O'Connor for plaintiff; Messrs. Becher, Street & Becher for defendant.

Merchants' Bank vs. Trueman.—This was an action brought by the plaintiff against J. W. Trueman, of Orangeville, for the amount of a promissory note for $464 and interest. Verdict for full amount. Mr. Myers for plaintiff; no defence.

Stewart vs. McLaren.—The parties to this suit live in Kinloss, County of Bruce. Plaintiff, T. J. Stewart, sued to recover the amount of a note, $400, from defendant, P. McLaren, as endorser. Verdict for full amount. Messrs. Guthrie, Watt & Cutten for plaintiff; Mr. Macdonald for defendant.

Female Fools.—The Boston Globe says: We have some charity for the clergy from the manner in which some of the women act toward them. Empty-headed women, old and young, make themselves ridiculous by running after their minister. Some of them do all sorts of things to attract the attention of their pastor, tell them all their troubles, how the baby has had the measles, and how their husbands do not appreciate them, and how wretched they are, etc., and the recital of these things, of course, brings a tear to the eye of the poor, unhappy, wretched wife, and the pastor must sympathize with her, and if he does not commit some indiscretion; if he goes no further, he must have a pretty strong mind of his own, and a level head on his shoulders.—Boston Globe.

Over thirty years ago Michael Meyer, aged twenty years left his home in Wilmot, and went to the States. His father died some time afterwards, and the property was left to be divided among the children. Nothing was heard of the wanderer until a short time ago, when he communicated with his uncle, Casper Meyer, at Petersburg, and his identity was proven. Mr. Meyer has since arrived from the States, and taken possession of his property.

The Feeling in Favor of Peace at St. Petersburg.

May 15.

A Pera despatch states that Todleben threatens to take severe measures against the Turks unless the latter compel the insurgents in the Rhodope Mountains to disarm.

A telegram from Batoum states that a concentration of 7,000 armed Mussulmen inhabitants of Lozistar, in the Ardanutch district, has compelled the Russians to retreat, and the rapid gathering of armed bands renders untenable the Russian positions at Livana and on the Chorub River.

A Vienna telegram says:—It is said the Russians are throwing up entrenchments near San Stefano, and arming them with Krupp guns, which does not look as though they believed in the speedy success of the negotiations.

It is reported that the Providence Tool Co., has contracted to furnish Russia half a million rifles.

A New York Herald's cable says the Emperor of Russia alone holds out for war. Schouvaloff's mission is to urge the advantages of an amicable settlement, but the Emperor is not disposed to yield.

The statements yesterday of Prince Auersperg and Herr Tisza in the Austrian Reichsrath and Hungarian Diet respectively are well received in Vienna, and made a very favorable impression in London. It is believed they indicate beyond doubt Austria's intention to oppose Russia, so that if England is compelled to go to war she will go under more favorable circumstances than were recently hoped. It is also believed that Austria's attitude at this moment will have a favorable influence on the negotiations at St. Petersburg.

The movement of Indian troops to Malta will be discussed in the House of Lords on Monday, when Baron Selborne will call attention to the question whether such a movement previous to notifying Parliament is constitutional.

In the absence of authoritative information regarding Schouvaloff's mission or its result, public opinion in St. Petersburg varies each day. Pacific influences, it is said, prevail now.

A St. Petersburg correspondent reports that Schouvaloff has frequent interviews with those directing foreign affairs. He leaves towards the end of the week, and will probably arrive in London on Tuesday.

What England Could Do.

(From the London Week.)

However much the necessity of war would be deplored, if it should come, England could face it with calmess and a stout heart. A comparison between the resources of England and Russia is sufficient to prove that we have, in all respects, the advantage. Our home population is only about half that of Russia in Europe, but it lies in easier compass, and can afford an almost illimitable supply of recruits, much superior, man for man, than the Russians. We have a vast empire that could, and if necessary, would sustain us through such a war as our enemy dare not even contemplate; whilst Russia's alien territories are a source of military and financial weakness. At sea we preponderate so decidedly that Russian vessels could nowhere show themselves without becoming our property. Russia certainly could never find the bottom of our purse. Without anything like a supreme effort, we could treble our national income, but Russia would find it almost impossible to wring any appreciable increase from her overtaxed populations. At many points we can crush Russia and ruin her interests; it is scarcely possible that she can find a vulnerable point in our armour. We are probably stronger than we have ever been before, and could keep "pegging away" for years; Russia is bleeding and exhausted, and a single campaign would probably complete her bankruptcy. Nevertheless, let us have an honorable peace, if we can get it, rather even than a glorious war.

Music as an Index of Character.—The St. Louis Journal advises young men to choose a wife by the music she plays and the way she plays it. If she manifests a predilection for Strauss, she is frivilous; for Beethoven, she is impractical; for Liszt, she is too ambitious; for Verdi, she is sentimental; for Offenbach, she is giddy; for Gounod, she is lackadaisical; for Gottschalk, she is superficial; for Mozart, she is prudish; for Flotow, she is commonplace; for Wagner, she is idiotic. The girl who hammers away at "Maiden's Prayer," "Anvel Chorus" and "Silvery Waves" may be depended upon as a good cook, and healthful; and if she includes "Battle of Prague" and the "White Cockade" in her repository, you ought to know that she has been religiously and strickly nurtured. But last of all, pin thou thy faith upon the calico dress of the girl who can play "Home, Sweet Home."

Mining on the North Shore.—Mining and prospecting are again being pushed forward with renewed vigor in the Algoma district. At Pigeon River a force of men engaged in erecting a stamping mill at the new mine there. Dredging at the mouth of the Kaministiquia has again been commenced. Silver in paying quantities has been struck at the Shuniah. At the "2 A" work is also going ahead with prospects. A large party from Prince Arthur's Landing started lately for the Nepigon on a prospecting tour. From Silver Islet the Ontario brings about twenty tons of ore, and the managers in charge there report that a pocket of almost pure silver has been found on the third level, 180 feet from the main shaft, which promises to be richer than any previously obtained. The stamping works are running night and day with a force of thirty-five men. The Michipicoten Island Company have ordered from Detroit a steam engine and pump with the determination of making a good season's work. The lode is native copper, said to be equal to any of the south shore lines.

Laying of A Corner Stone.—The corner stone of the Ballinafad new Presbyterian Church was laid by Mr. John White, ex-M. P. for Halton, a few days ago. He was presented with a silver trowel purchased from Mr. Pringle, of Guelph. About 300 people were present, and addresses were delivered by Rev. Dr. Robb, Toronto, Rev. E. D. McLaren, Chelenham; Rev. Mr. Croll, Rev. Mr. McFaul, and Rev. J. Alexander, of Norval.

The Strike Riots.—The cotton operatives on strike in Lancashire are greatly exasperated at the refusal of the masters to compromise. The riot in Blackburn on Tuesday evening was the direct result of the announcement of the failure of negotiations. There were also riotous demonstrations at Accrington, and serious breach of peace is still apprehended there. A special says the agitation among the strikers at Blackburn is unabated. A mob assembled to-day in front of the town hall, and demanded the surrender of Col. Jackson, Chairman of the Masters' Committee, threatening his life. The mob was terribly excited, and ready for any violence. Col. Jackson escaped, with fully 10,000 rioters in pursuit, followed by the military and police. There was more rioting in Burnley to-night. A warehouse was burned. The military checked the disturbance. Most of the manufacturers, with their households, have quitted Blackburn. The soldiers keep comparative peace. At Preston there is great excitement and fear of rioting, and the militia are under arms.

The Question of Protection to Grain.

We are almost daily furnished with fresh proofs of the unsound policy favored by those who are crying out for protection to grain in the interest of the farmer, and the following from the Dundas Banner is one of the latest and strongest that has come under our notice :—

"We find that the Wentworth Oatmeal Mill in Dundas has been kept steadily running during the past five or six months, and that nearly all the oats manufactured into meal for export to the Sates and Britain have be imported from the States. Just the other day we happened to hear that there were no less than eleven car loads at the Dundas station awaiting delivery, and this has been kept up during the entire past winter. Oats for manufacturing could not be obtained in sufficient quantities in this section of Ontario by the proprietor of this mill—who, by the bye, is a strong Conservative—and had it not been for the facilities offered for obtaining American oats his mills would probably have been shut down, and the large export trade he has built up would never have been thought of, while at the same time the carrying trade of the country would not have been benefited in bringing the oats here and taking the oatmeal when manufactured to its destination. And further more, from a local point of view we may say that employment would not have been given to a large number of workmen who have been engaged in this business in handling the oats, teaming and manufacturing, &c. But then the farmer must be gulled at any cost, as the only hope of the great Conservative party of getting back to place and power is centered on this cry of "Protection to the "Farmer" —than which no more absurd or insincere plea for support was ever started by any political party in Canada."

An Unprejudiced Opinion About Protection in the States.

In a letter, received the other day from our old townsman, Mr. E. R. Martin, who has lived for some years in St. Louis, and whose connection with a leading railway there gives him good opportunities of judging of the state of trade, we are favoured with a very explicit and conclusive proof of the evils that protection have wrought in the United States. His testimony but serves to corroborate that of others as regards the baneful effects of protection all over the American Republic. Mr. Martin says :—

"Things here are dull. as usual, no signs of improvement visible to my naked eye in the business line. Land and property generally has fallen on the average 50 per cent. in the last four years, at the lowest calculation. The iron furnaces are closed, and other manufactures are in various stages of collapse, or non-prosperity. Not one in ten is making money.

"Protection for some years piled up the filthy lucre in their pockets, but too many rushed in, and they are now in a most calamitous state. The manufacturers have not prospered under protection, while the people here have been fleeced right and left, and have in the last fifteen years paid enough in the difference between a revenue and protection tariff to have built all the mills in the country more than once.

"I see protection is likely to be your war cry in Canada next election on Sir John Macdonald's side, and revenue tariff on the side of the Government. May the latter win so handsomely that the protection dodge and its originators may never re-appear above the horizon. Were this to be the fate of the magician the Conservatives would be in a most calamitous plight—no leader being left but Tupper or —Plumb."

SOME of the Quebec Tory papers are getting quite savage over their late defeat. The Canadian says "Mr. Joly brought about his victory by money, drink, calumny, assassination, purchase of consciencies, illegality and fraud." This is piling on the agony.

THE U. S. papers think that Sir John did not help his reputation—which the London Times says requires careful handling—by his furious attack on Donald A. Smith. The N. Y. Tribune speaking of that scene says :—In the Canada House of Commons, there was a scene calculated to bring a blush to the cheek of the highly sensitive British press. Sir John A. Macdonald made some scandalous charges of corruption against a fellow-member, and the epithets of "liar" and "coward" were exchanged with the utmost generosity. The honorable members did not, however, come to blows. This is a painful record to make of Sir John Macdonald In his sojourn in Washington as a member of the Joint High Commission, he might have developed himself into the pink of legislative propriety by a close and devout contemplation of the American Congress.

A GENERAL reduction of the salaries of the civil service employees is contemplated by the Quebec Government. The salary of Mr. Ouimet, Superintendent of Education, is to be reduced from $4,000 to $2,000, to make it at least equivalent to the salaries of the responsible Ministers. The friends of the Government are quite confident that their candidate for the Speakership will be elected by a majority of at least five, which is safe to go on increasing during the session.

The Issue Before the Electors.

It was well said by Mr. Guthrie, at the Reform meeting on Tuesday, that the tariff question was not the only one which the electors would have to decide on at the forthcoming elections. Th great; question before them would be, whether they had confidence in the present Government, or whether they would extend that confidence to the Opposition, led by Sir John Macdonald, who wished to get back to power. Almost every one who knows anything about our politicial affairs, and who has followed the debates in the House of Commons, knows that Sir John and his followers have taken up the cry of Protection as a means of enabling them to get back to power. They know perfectly well that their professions in regard to that subject are hollow and insincere, but that is the only cry left for them on which to go to the country, and that they are trying to make the most of it in their attempts to gain the sympathy of the manufacturers and farmers. They know in their hearts that Sir John has nothing to offer them w hich will help to get them out of their difficulties; that his promises are based on nothing tangible; but that by such promises of help to every suffering industry he seeks to secure such support as will help him to regain power, and that he will leave to the chances of the future his promises about protection.

The issue in the forthcoming election is squarely put. The man who has the hardihood to support such a shadowy policy must father and defend all the sins and shortcomings of the Chief, under whose banner he prefers to fight. He must swallow and be prepared to defend the Pacific Scandal, and all the other iniquities of which Sir John and his followers have been guilty, or by repudiating these he must virtually proclaim his want of confidence in the man who is the head and front of this protection movement. He cannot escape by any side issue, but must give his adhesion either to the one side or the other. There can be no third party in the coming contest, for the points of difference are sharply defined, and they will be rigidly adhered to in every county where there is a contest.

THE Reformers of West Durham have tendered Hon. Mr. Blake a unanimous nomination for the Commons.

WE very rarely consider it worth our while to notice any of the trumped up charges of the Herald about the MERCURY, for they generally go for what they are worth, and that is very little. Its latest one is that we did not insert Mr. Bathgate's last letter in its entirety. It failed to mention, however, that that gentleman when he brought us his letter remarked that there was a portion of it that he supposed we would object to, and that the editor of the MERCURY in reply told him that after a perusal of it he would use his own discretion, and strike out such portions of it as were irrelevant to the subject under discussion. This he did, after fair warning, and he is free to exercise the same right again in spite of the insane howls of the Herald, which makes no scruple about falsifying evidence when it suits its purpose.

A TRAMP'S TRICK.—A tramp employed at the water-works reservoir, near London, applied to a farmer in the neighborhood for work, and was told to call the following Monday morning, when if there was any work it would be given to him. On his calling, he was informed there was no work, whereupon he flew into a violent passion and threatened to sue for a month's wages and remain idle all the time. He did procure a summons, and by dint of hard swearing made out a case which the farmer, sooner than have any litigation, consented to settle. Such is the substance of the letter, the gist of the complaint being that under the present system such proceedings are possible. The farmer wished to give evidence on his own behalf on oath, but his oath was refused. Farmers beware of tramps.

CORSETS. CORSETS.

Physicians, Women's Rights Advocates, Collectors of Mortuary Statistics, and Retormers generally

Have all had their fling at Corsets on sanitary grounds. Like the critics of the chameleon, "they are all right and a'l wrong," because Corsets made in the ordinary way may with justice be condemned, though those constructed in accordance with nature's laws are decidedly beneficial and hygienic to the female body. They support the bust, soften the sudden changes of temperature, and impart a firmness and support to the spinal column that are peculiarly useful. All this can be effected without torturing the body, but on the contrary improving the general health, and adding much to the grace and elegance of the well dressed woman. A Corset to fulfil all these requirements should be fashioned after nature's model, and when that is done the garment will be perfect.

Wm. Stewart & Co. impressed with the truth of this idea have secured Corsets after NATURE'S MODEL. Our stock is now full in every size of the popular

Harold the Outlaw

—OR—

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XLI.

GOOD OUT OF EVIL.

Intelligence of the gauger's visit and the destruction of the cave was quickly conveyed to Harold, who was absent in his long and still unsuccessful search for Lizzie. The speed with which the news reached him was due to the fact that he never went in any direction without adopting means whereby he could be easily and early communicated with. Still another day or two might have elapsed before the messenger found him had he not been at that precise juncture on the way to the cave itself, a visit to which he always made when the time came at which Lizzie's monthly letter should arrive.

The mode in which these letters were transmitted from Aberdeen was this.

The moment it came into the hands of Walter Adamson it was despatched by a sure hand to a lonely house among the mountains, occupied by a faithful smuggling associate. This house was nearly twenty miles from the cave, and the letter was brought thither by Daddy Duff, who contrived to be in the vicinity at the time of its expected arrival. Hitherto the time had always been exactly kept, so that the very day could be counted on; and sometimes, in his impatience to receive the letter, Harold would meet Daddy at a point of the road known to them both as a trysting-place, that he might have it in his hands a few hours earlier.

So it was on this particular occasion. Harold and Kenneth Fraser had been exploring a wild district to the south-east; and having failed, as usual, to obtain the faintest tidings of the imprisoned ones, they had struck across the hills, in order to be in time to meet Daddy at the trysting-place.

Two days before this we had a glimpse of Daddy himself, and related his encounter with Gillespie in the forest. What he told the gauger as to his business there was the truth, but it was not the whole truth. He had, indeed, been wandering through the forest engaged in the common search, but the forest—at least the southern border of it—was at no great distance from the house to which the messenger from Aberdeen brought the letter, and he was on his way thither when he "forgathered" with the gauger in the manner described. He did not deem it prudent to mention his ulterior object to Gillespie, but, when he parted from him on the outskirts of the forest, it was to proceed direct to the house in question, where he expected to get the letter that night or next day.

Nor was the old mendicant disappointed. At a late hour on the following morning the messenger from Aberdeen came bringing the letter, and at an early hour on the morning after Daddy departed with it for the cave. The way was long and toilsome, and it was near to noon ere he reached the trysting place, where he sat down to rest and refresh himself with his mid-day meal, also to be on the look-out for Harold it he should be intending to meet him on that occasion.

He had not sat many minutes on a rocky mound which commanded a view of the adjacent heights when a loud halloo reached his ear, and, turning his eye to the point whence it came, he saw Harold and Kenneth making towards him. Kenneth waved his plaid as a signal of recognition, and for answer Daddy extracted the letter from his broad brimmed sou-wester, and held it up, so that its white surface could be seen by them. This made Harold instantly quicken his speed, and the foster brothers came bounding down the heights side by side at a rapidity which soon brought them to where Daddy sat.

The letter was, as usual, very short and very guarded in language. It contained the wonted assurance that Lizzie and the child were well and kindly treated—nothing more. No expression of that love which he knew the writer was longing to convey, but was prevented by her cruel captors from setting down. No word of endearment, only a cold formal sentence or two in which he was well aware Lizzie's bursting heart had no outcome. But it was her dear fingers which had penned the lines—her hand had rested on the paper. Instinctively he knew that her lips had been pressed to it in warm kisses, and he hastened to catch the spiritual aroma of the contact by covering it all over with his own. These letters of hers, poor and meagre though they were in everything that met the eye, were the most precious of all his possessions, and each as it came was put carefully beside the rest in the iron box—an article which he cherished more fondly than a miser does the chest which contains his hoarded treasure.

"Nae tidings o' her yet, I fancy," remarked Daddy, as Harold at length, with slow reluctance, folded up the letter.

"None, Daddy, none," replied the youth, with a countenance of deep despondency. "It is maddening to think that five days ago this paper was in her presence, yet we cannot find her. Month by month my hope gets fainter; and I begin to fear that I shall never see her again. Fear for her safety and that of the boy alone prevents me from a desperate outburst of violence. "Oh," he added, with passionate vehemence, "how my quivering soul pants to crush my enemies to pieces. But for this one omnipotent restraint, I would make Mount Cairn a heap of blackened ashes, and cast the usurpers of my inheritance into its burning ruins."

"Save us, that wad be a roastin," said Daddy. "But atweel they deserve nae less, and if that should ever be dune I hope ye'll gie the hettest place tae that sneck-drawin' deevil o' lawyer, McGarray."

"Ay, he is the master-worker in the fiendish conspiracy," cried Kenneth. "I could flay him alive. Ha! a signal from one of our men."

A peculiar whistle sounded towards the west then drew their attention, and on the crest of one of the nearest eminences they saw a man waving to them with his arm in a vigorous and excited manner. Then, having ascertained that their attention was drawn towards him, he started forward and came at a running pace down the slope towards where they sat.

"It's Nip," cried Kenneth," and he seems to bring us news. What can it be?"

"Ha! Perhaps something about Lizzie!' exclaimed Harold—this one absorbing idea being always uppermost.

They left the mound on which they had been resting, and hurried forward to meet the excited Nip. His aspect was indeed that of one who brought important tidings, and excited the keenest interest in the breast of all three.

Nip's news were soon told, for he was bursting with the burden of them. In an abrupt, precipitate way, he startled them by a statement of what had happened on the previous evening—the visit of the ganger, the destruction of the cave and its contents, and the calamity which had befallen Black Dick, chiefly through his own furious rashness.

His hearers heard him in silence, for the news stunned them; and, like all calamitous tidings, they produced the deeper effect in proportion to the outward stillness with which they were received.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. April 20th. dtf P. SPRAGGE.

Harriston Correspondence.

The weather and its probabilities are the main topics of interest amongst the farming community at present. A good deal of sowing remains yet to be done by some, while others who got their seed in earlier are afraid that the late rainy weather will have the effect of rotting it. In some instances, where fields have been completely submerged it will have to be resown. Prospects looked bleak last Saturday morning, for during the night it snowed enough to cover the ground. Since then we have had several flurries of snow, and a little frost on Sabbath night which no doubt will tell on the fruit blossoms.

Last Wednesday evening a painful accident happened to John Kerr, eldest son of Robert Kerr, Con. D. Minto. While he was returning from the fields one of the team kicked him on the hand, breaking his little finger and otherwise injuring his hand. Dr. Harvey dressed the wound and he is now doing as well as could be expected, though it will be some time before he can resume work.

Our brass band has decided on going to Orangeville to spend the 24th of May. Although Guelph can not support a public band yet our fair village boasts of having a band second to none around these parts, and under the able leadership of Mr. John Beard they will no doubt be able to give a good account of themselves that day in Orangeville.

The Brown base ball club have accepted a challenge from the Arthur club, and intend playing them in that village on the 24th inst., and our anticipations are, judging from the very efficient manner in which they handle the club and ball now, that their score will be a regular old-timer. The Secretary has received a challenge from a Guelph club, but as they had this above match previously arranged they could not accept it. The dress of the Browns is the same as that worn last year, and the boys make a very fine appearance when on the field.

From what can be learned from the deputation that visited Chesley last week from this village, in connection with the Stratford and Lake Huron Railroad, our chances are good for getting that road through Harriston, and then with three lines of railways coming here we will be known as the little metropolis of North Wellington or the future County Town of Dufferin.

A. G. Markle of the Royal, ever having an eye to the comfort and convenience of his travelling patrons, has just had built a splendid baggage and express waggon, which for style and finish could not be surpassed. It was built by our enterprising townsmen, Messrs. Fisher & Irvine, and reflects great credit on them both for taste and skill. The same firm have just finished a handsome bread waggon for Mr. Alex. Yule on which they have likewise displayed great skill.

Our Council are determined that if we should be visited by the fire fiend again, they will have everything in readiness. At the different points along the river where the engine obtains water they have placed large boxes and have filled them with coal so that the baste can have plenty to eat as well as drink when working.

On Monday morning about 3 o'clock, our villagers were suddenly awakened by a violent ringing of the fire alarm. Of course they turned out en masse. Some of them who did not take time to dress were to be seen running without coats, vests, hats, ready for action, but their indignation may be better imagined than described, when arriving at the fire hall to find one of our village worthies pulling as for life or death at the alarm. He had it would seem been lately on rather friendly terms with old John Barleycorn, and he imagined that he saw these blue imps jumping around in the factory of the Guelph Barrel Company, and knowing full well their firey nature at once realized the danger of the building taking fire, hence his action in summoning assistance. Of course the firemen heaped blessings on that man's head.

A meeting for the selection of delegates to attend the Reform Convention in Arthur will be held in the township hall on Saturday the 19th inst., when it is hoped there will be a large turn out, as business of great importance to the party will be laid before the meeting.

The Protection Cry.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

Jack Cade :—"There shall be in England seven half-penny loaves sold for a penny; the three-hooped pot shall have ten hoops; and I will make it felony to drink small beer; all the realm shall be in common; and in Cheapside shall my paltry go to grass, &c., &c.—Shakespeare.

In these days when the farmers of the defunct Tory oligarchy [that, unfortunately misgoverned Canada for too many years, are moving heaven and earth to taste once more the official flesh-pots, when even their old war cries are changed to catch the ear, and confuse the understanding of the unsuspecting, (and in the classic language of one of their "Lights," the "ignorant" farmers,) permit me as a member of this class in the township of Puslinch to give a little of what has been my own experience of late years, and which, I hope, may tend to convince some, at least, of my fellow farmers that their cry of Protection is a delusion.

The year before last, having had a pretty fair crop of fall wheat, I sold it all—intending to use the spring wheat to bread my family. When, however, the latter came to be ground, I found (as all my neighbors did) that there was no flour in it, and had, therefore, to go to the market for my supply, which, thanks to American wheat coming into Canada, I was able to buy at $4 per cwt., whereas if our kind(?) friends the millers, had the monopoly they aim at, I doubt not but I should have had to pay three times that amount—as they held all the fall wheat of Canada in their hands that year.

Again, this spring, I sold my peas at 65c per bushel, and bought American corn—ready ground for use—at $1 per cwt! Now what a beautiful paying protection they must have where this corn grows. Any one with the smallest intelligence may perceive what a fallacy those perambulating spouters of the Lakes and Wright stamp advocate—false and hollow, and I do not believe that one single individual in Puslinch will be carried away by such chaff, in order to change a tariff system under which we flourish and prosper at present, for a "something" that even the warmest advocates of the so-styled Protection cannot explain, or when they attempt to do so, merely puts money into A's pocket, and takes it out of B, C, and D's.

Yours respectfully,
A PUSLINCH FARMER.

Puslinch, 10th May, 1878.

Hespeler Items.

CHURCH AFFAIRS.—At the last meeting of the Quarterly Board of the Methodist church, Hespeler, which was held on the 4th inst., it was the unanimous wish of the members present that the Rev. Mr. Stewart (who, during the past year, has been the colleague of Rev. James McAlister) be the junior minister of the circuit, for the ensuing year. An invitation would also most cordially be extended to the Superintendent of the circuit—the Rev. James McAlister—only that the time of his ministration has about fully expired, and according to the discipline of the church, an invitation would be in vain. In justice to the rev. gentleman we have much pleasure in stating that during the three years which he has superintended the circuit, a great and noble work has been accomplished. He leaves the circuit in a very prosperous condition, both financially and otherwise. The church at Preston has been enlarged and beautifully fitted up. Large and commodious shed have been erected at Hespeler and a new chapel, besides a debt of about one thousand dollars on the Hespeler church liquidated; and out of a membership of two hundred on his entrance to the circuit he leaves a membership of three hundred and forty-nine, or an increase of 149 after filling up many vacancies caused by removals, etc. During his whole career on the circuit he has presented a noble example of self-sacrifice and untiring Christian zeal. We hope that in his next field of labor his efforts may be crowned with a similar success, and that eventually he, himself, will wear that crown which is the sure reward of all God's faithful.

THE MECHANICS' INSTITUTE.—At the annual meeting of the Hespeler Mechanics' Institute, held on the evening of the 9th instant, that institution was found to be in a very flourishing condition. There are now over one thousand volumes consisting of art, science, poetry, and other varieties of literature, in the library. After paying for the conducting of evening classes, and other incidental expenses, and expending the necessary amount in accordance with the statutes relating to Mechanics' Institutes, a sum of over $60 still remains in the treasury.

THE CROPS.—In the vicinity of Hespeler, the fall wheat and clover have at present a more prosperous appearance than they were known to have at this date before. The frost of Sunday night has changed the complexion of early potatoe vines.

The Wool Market of 1878.

The extract below, from the wool circular of Walter Brown & Son, of New York, states the outlook of the season as follows:—"During the past month there has been no material change except in a further decline in prices, which is particularly noticeable in the finer grades of Ohio fleeces, and wools of similar character. In these the concession has been at least two cents per pound from value of a month ago. At the reduced prices several quite large sales have been made in this and the neighboring markets to manufacturers, who wish to lay in enough to carry them over the first opening of the approaching wool season. We are now so near the shearing that the grower will begin to consider what price he ought to receive for his wool, and the buyer what he can afford to pay. Judging from the course of the wool trade since the last clip was taken up we think buyers will not be inclined to pay any higher than they did in 1876 while the farmer, remembering what he received last year, will naturally feel as if he ought this season to realize the same price. Pulled Wools—There has been a fair demand for good medium supers, leaving a very limited stock on hand. Other grades are, however, in ample supply; the sales have about kept pace with the production, and any increased accumulation has thus been avoided. California Wool—The first arrivals of the new clip at San Francisco were quickly taken at high prices, for eastern accounts; at a range, in fact, in no way justified by the values ruling in the Atlantic markets. From the latest reports, however, buyers seem to have in a measure recovered their poise, and have mostly withdrawn from the market, awaiting the time when an accumulation will induce holders to lower their views. It is said of the sales of new clip thus far made in New York and Boston that they do no pay cost. These wools must sympathise with general market, and we expect to hear a decline in California, which will admit of their being purchased with more prospect of a profit accruing from the transaction. The supply of fall clip is being reduced, and they are quoted without material change in prices.

Montreal Cattle Market.

MONTREAL, May 14.

At the St. Gabriel market to-day, there were about 520 head of cattle entered for sale. All the extra good cattle were bought up by exporters, for the English market, at 5 to 5½c per lb. Fair to good fat cattle sold at from 3½ to 4½c per lb., live weight. Ald. McShane was busy selecting the finest beasts on the market to fill English orders. Messrs. Hopper Bros. & Benallack are shipping five car loads of choice steers to to Europe via Boston, this week. Messrs. Weixell & Allerton ship 135 cattle by the next Allan steamer for Glasgow. Mr. Head sold 30 cattle at from 4 to 5c per lb. Mr. P. O'Rourke, of Shakespeare, had two car loads of cattle, part of which he sold as follows:—20 cattle at $68 each, or 5c per lb., for Europe; 7 at $55 each, or 5c per lb.; 4 for $335; 2 for $110, and 1 for $60. He also had a load of hogs, for which he was asking 4½c.

HOUSE CLEANING.

BY A VICTIM.

It comes at last, that dreadful day
When carpets rise and flee away
And dust flies out of doors.
A woman comes with pail and broom,
A chaos makes of every room,
And scrubs on all the floors.

Lunch is a farce, the dinner cold,
'Tis all alike for young and old,
Discomfort every where.
The master gloomy, roams the street,
And dare not homeward turn his feet,
Disorder triumphs there.

Inside, all smells of paint and suds,
Outside, resounds the heavy thuds,
Upon the carpet falling.
Upstairs and down, whore all is damp,
The house is full of clank and tramp,
And tired children squalling.

The morrow comes, oh bless the day
When all these things have passed away,
Although the rooms look strange.
Each article that now you see,
Is moved from where it used to be,
Changed for the sake of change.

I knew just where my hand to lay,
On things I needed every day;
Now find but one, I can't.
I hunt, for I don't like the notion
Of all the household in commotion
For everything I want.

I hunt in vain for this and that,
My coat and slippers, e'en my hat,
Till tired out I am.
Then ask, "Oh it was put away,
We tidied up the other day."
Could you restrain a d——?

Russia Still Concentrating Her Forces near Constantinople.

UNEASY FEELING IN TURKEY

HOPE OF SCHOUVALOFF'S MISSION.

REPORT OF A PLOT ON FOOT

LONDON, May 17.

A Constantinople despatch says the Russians continue massing forces from all directions in the vicinity of San Stefano, and are daily drawing nearer the Turkish capital. They are also constantly pressing upon the Porte to insist upon England withdrawing her fleet from the Sea of Marmora. All advices received indicate that a general Turkish feeling of uneasiness is increasing.

The Stock Market is firmer to-day. Both consols and Russian security are rising in price on the strength of rumours current here that Count Schouvaloff will leave St. Petersburg for London to-morrow, with a favorable result of his mission.

A Port Said despatch announces the arrival at Suez of a portion of the Indian contingent.

A Bucharest despatch says Russia has forbidden Bessarabian deputies to attend the Roumanian Parliament.

BERLIN, May 17.—The Cologne Gazette publishes a report of a plot on foot to establish a Republic in Turkey, with Midhat Pasha as President.

THE VERY LATEST.

Peace Prospects.

LONDON, May 17.—Afternoon—European securities continue to rise.

Rumors are current that Count Schouvaloff's mission has been successful in the interests of peace.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 17.—It is generally believed here and semi-officially confirmed that notwithstanding the difficulties at Constantinople Count Schouvaloff has induced the Czar to concede to Europe the greatest part of England's demands.

More About the Fenian Movements.

NORTH TROY, Vt., May 16.—The activity along the Canadian frontier in this vicinity goes to prove the correctness of the rumoured Fenian invasion. A body of strangers are encamped in the woods near this place. They are all Irishmen, well-dressed and intelligent. Accessions are being made to the camp almost hourly. The Canadian militia has been called out, and a feeling seems to exist along the border that an immediate invasion of Canada by a large army of Fenians is more than probable.

MYSTERIOUS.—The Manitoba Free Press of the 10th inst., says: An Indian found a gun case on the bank of the river at Kildonan last Friday night, which he has brought to the provincial police. The case contains a muzzle-loading gun and ammunition, books, papers, photographs, etc. In the books is written the name of Arthur D. Cadenhead, of Wyebridge, Ontario, who also appears from documents to have resided in Fergus, Ont., and the Muskoka country. There was also a telegram in the case from a brother of Cadenhead's dated at Burlington, Ont. Some of the photographs were taken in Scotland, and others in Canada. The owner of the case has not turned up.

$500 has been posted on behalf of Wallace Ross, of St. John, N.B., for a five-mile race with Hanlan on the Kennebeccasis in July or August.

Local News.

MR. ROBB, of the Stratford Herald, is in town to-day.

MODERATE winds and clear to fair weather are the probabilities received to-day.

THE trial of Buck Rae has been further postponed till Monday morning next at eleven o'clock.

MECHANICS' INSTITUTE annual meeting for election of officers, &c. this evening in the town hall.

ZERA, ventriloquist, gave another entertainment in the town hall last evening. There was a small audience.

A BASE BALL match will be played between a team of lawyers and bankers on Saturday afternoon next, commencing at three o'clock, sharp.

SALE OF PROPERTY.—Mr. Chas. Davidson has bought half an acre of land, on Grange street, opposite Stevenson's nursery, for $160.

A TEA MEETING given last evening by the members of the B. M. E. Church (colored) was attended by quite a large number, and the proceedings were of a very interesting character.

"HIDDEN GEM," a drama written by Cardinal Wiseman, will be played at St. Ignatius College this evening. It will be an entertainment of more than ordinary interest.

CHAMPIONSHIP.—The following clubs have entered for the Canadian Championship:—Maple Leaf, of Guelph; St. Lawrence and Earls, of Kingston; Atlantics, of London; Iroquois, of Markham, and Standards, of Hamilton.

APPEALS.—Under the new Act relating to voters' lists forty-six appeals have been filed at the office of the Town Clerk against the list of 1877 of the town of Guelph. Six of the appeals on the ground of not being tenants, nine not being owners, twenty-nine not occupants, one assessed too low, and one under twenty-one years of age.

ANOTHER RUNAWAY IN THE NORTH WARD.—As Mr. Smith, ginger beer manufacturer, was dispensing his pop this morning, his horse thought it time to be getting home, and at once started at a rapid rate up Perth street and over the Eramosa road, but was brought to a stand still by the coolness and promptitude of Gunner Burgess, who deserves credit for the manner in which he acted. No damage.

ST. GEORGE.—A special meeting of the members of St. George's Society was held in their rooms last night. There was a fair attendance of members. The business brought forward was in regard to procuring more suitable and commodious rooms for the transaction of business, preparatory to the meeting of the North American Convention in August. The feeling of the meeting was unanimous in favor of securing larger rooms.

DISGRACEFUL.—On Thursday evening about nine o'clock an old man was assaulted in front of the Royal Hotel stables by three young men. He was not struck but he was jostled from one to the other and tripped up. When the old man remarked that if he had been twenty years younger they dare not treat him so they became sufficiently ashamed of what they were doing to allow him to depart without further molestation.

FIRE IN GALT.—About half-past one o'clock on Thursday morning the kiln of the oatmeal mill owned by Mr. D. Spiers was discovered to be on fire. Owing to the construction of the kiln little damage was done to the mill. The roof of the kiln was destroyed, also about one hundred bushels of oats. Loss light. The grain was covered by insurance in the Hand and Hand, the building in the Waterloo Mutual, Gore Mutual and Mercantile. Probable loss from $300 to $400.

PERSONAL.—The Hamilton Times thus speaks of a gentleman who formerly lived here, and is pretty widely known:—"We have pleasure in congratulating Mr. H. S. Griffin, son of Rev. W. S. Griffin, pastor of the first Methodist Church in this city, upon the success of his career at College, brought with unusual eclat to a close yesterday. Mr. Griffin graduated in Arts at the early age of 19, and now takes his medical degree when only 23. In each of each of the three years he studied medicine he carried off the first scholarships, and at his graduation yesterday won the University gold medal and two Starr silver medals."

A PARTY in town borrowed a horse yesterday and kept it much longer than he promised to do. The owner of the animal heard that the horse had been taken to Hamilton, and word was sent to the police there to be on the look-out for the man there. The alarm proved to be needless, as the borrower and the horse turned up all right this morning.

IN a letter to the Montreal Gazette, Vennor says:—"I may state that my impression is that June will be very hot, without much rain. After the 10th of July will be the same, but will be marked by a rather severe relapse with frosts, lasting through one week. I fear the summer will be unfavourable to heavy crops.

THE BALL AND BAT.

On Thursday afternoon the first match of the season was played on the Maple Leaf grounds, between a comparatively young club, the Iroquois, of Markham, and the Maple Leafs. The result, 13 to 0, was different from what many had anticipated, as the visitors came with a record of having defeated the best club in Toronto, on two different occasions.

The Leafs played a magnificent game throughout, and judging from the way the boys handled themselves, in many respects they were very little inferior to the professional team of last year, and no doubt, with plenty of practice they will, at the end of the season, occupy the old position they had for so many years held—the amateur champions of Canada. The Iroquois have material in their nine which will, with practice, develope itself into a first-class team. A pleasing feature, and one which predominates was the manner in which they worked on the diamond, and that too in the face of an up-hill game.

The attendance of visitors was very small, although among the number was a fair sprinkling of ladies. The visiting club was accompanied here by a number of prominent citizens of Markham. Messrs W. H. Hall, George Rankin and Dr. Armstrong, managers of the team, were present.

The game was called a few minutes before three o'clock, with J. T. Nichols as umpire. The Leafs went to the bat first, and Smith and Hood, both good batters, went out on strikes and Hunter on a foul bound. The visitors retired after a somewhat similar manner. The Leafs scored two runs in the second innings, and eight in the third. The latter were made by the visitors becoming demoralized, as each man that could get hold of the ball sent some fielder leather hunting by his reckless throwing. With the exception of this innings a very good game was played by the visitors, and they have no reason to feel ashamed of their defeat, even if it is a pretty bad one. Their weakness lies in their batting, only about three of the nine being heavy enough to send the ball any distance even if they got on it with their club, and, besides, every ball player knows that Smith's pitching is hard to hit. Among their fielders who made some very good playing, were Hewitt, on third, Wilson as short stop, and Burton and Ramsay in the left and centre. The two latter made a couple of brilliant catches in the ninth innings. Fierheller on first is a comparatively safe man for the bag. Crosby made errors on a couple of occasions, which counted heavily against them at the time. He is a fair second baseman. Burton, behind the bat, had a good many passed balls, but it was caused partly by wild pitching. R. Wilson pitches a very swift ball, and has a curve, which, however, he cannot as yet control to any extent. Three of the Leafs struck out. His delivery, however, is not, strictly speaking, fair, as it partakes of the nature of a throw. He should overcome this, as it would be unfortunate for one who bids fair to be a first class pitcher, to be liable to have throws called at any time by an umpire. Anthony is the heaviest batter in the team, judging from the game in question. Hunter caught Smith throughout almost faultlessly, only having one passed ball. No better catching has been seen on the Guelph grounds for same time. Smith's delivery yesterday was not as red-hot or as wicked as it often is, but judging from the number put out on strikes, his right hand has not lost its cunning. Maddock was unfortunate on first base, and exchanged places with Hood on left. The latter played faultlessly. Hewer was up to the mark, and looked after the second bag with jealous care. He has an error to his credit, but it was an excusable one, and saved a base hit. Reid on third made a brilliant catch in the early portion of the game. He is a safe man for bag number three. Watkins as short-stop had little to attend to, and the outfielders virtually nothing to do.

The umpire gave perfect satisfaction, and the visitors accepted his decisions as true ball-players should. The only error of judgment on his part was on giving Burton out on second in his running the bases.

The Iroquois are credited by the Leafs with being as fine a lot of fellows as they could wish to fraternize with, and wish them better luck when they play the return match on their own grounds. Full particulars of the game will be found in the appended score:—

SPRING ASSIZES.

Before His Honor Judge Macdonald.

THURSDAY May 16.

Stewart vs. McLaren.—The parties to this suit live in Kinloss, County of Bruce. Plaintiff, T. J. Stewart, sued to recover the amount of a note, $400, from defendant, P. McLaren, as endorser. Verdict for defendant. Messrs. Guthrie, Watt & Cutten for plaintiff; Mr. Macdonald for defendant.

Parson vs. McClellan et al—This was an action brought against defendants, as a building committee of the Congregational Church, in Alton, Peel County, by Wm. Parsons, of Orangeville, to recover price of two furnaces, Harris patent, $250, and also a set of chandeliers brackets and lamps, amounting to $85. Defence urged as to the chandeliers that they were only borrowed by one of the defendants, without authority of the others; and as to the furnaces the plaintiff had guaranteed satisfaction, or remove them without cost to the defendants. Judge's charge was rather in favor of plaintiff in regard to the furnaces, and left it with the jury to say whether defendant's account regarding the chandeliers was correct. The case continued all day and until ten o'clock at night. After an hour's absence, the jury returned a verdict of $85 for plaintiff for chandeliers, &c., and for the defendants as to furnaces. Mr. Guthrie, Q.C., and Mr. McCarthy for plaintiff; Mr. Myers for defendants.

Social in the Baptist Church.

The Baptist Church and congregation held their final social of the season last evening, and, judging from general expressions, not a few with regret that entertainments of its tone and character cease for a time. Both the musical and literary selection of the programme showed cultivated taste and religious sensibility, and the arrangement and performance of the parts was such as proves unity and strength of religious impression.

We give the programme in full:—

Prayer—Rev. Dr. Davidson.
Anthem—"Glory, Honor, and Power"—Choir.
Trio—"Firmly Stand"—Misses Thomas, Rundall, and Rogers.
Solo—"One Sweetly Solemn Thought"—Mr. Crowe.
Reading—"The last Hymn"—Mr. Rogers.
Anthem—"By the Rivers of Babylon"—Choir.
Duet—"Tamar and Absalom"—Mr. and Mrs. Rogers.
Instrumental duet—Prof. Philp and Mrs. Clarke.
Solo—"The Lord is Mindful of His Own"—Mrs Head.
Quartette—"Protect us through the coming night"—Misses Davidson and Pickard, and Messrs. Rundall and Rogers.
Reading—"My Soul and I"—Mr. Durkee.
Anthem—"To our Redeemer's Glorious Name"—Choir.

When all parts were fairly performed it seems invidious to particularize, and yet we may mention some, when if space allowed, we might allude to all. The reading "The Changed Cross" was well adapted to a voice of considerable sweetness and flexibility, and capable of increase in compass and power. Of the other two readings it is unnecessary to speak, except we allude in passing to the pleasing effect of the responses of Mr. Thomas to the "Last Hymn," so well read by Mr. Rogers. Those who have heard Mr. Crowe need scarcely be told that the solo "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," as rendered by him lost little of its subduing effect. The same may be said of the beautiful solo "The Lord is mindful of His Own," so admirably given by Mrs. Head, whose former public efforts have been so pleasing. We need hardly say that the duet "Tamar and Absalom" was well received, or that the instrumental duet by Prof. Philp and Mrs. Clarke called forth a deserved encore. We may mention in conclusion that the choir acquitted themselves well, and that the members that took part in the trio, quartette, and other music of the evening showed careful practice. We think the hearty thanks of the Baptist Church and people as well as those of the public to whom their efforts give pleasure, are due to Mr. Rogers, the leader, and to Miss. Ida Davidson, the organist, to whose continued and painstaking work the success of such entertainments as that of last evening is so largely due.

Agricultural and Arts Association.

The Council of this Association met at Toronto on Thursday. Among the members present were Messrs. David McCrae, Guelph, and Otto Klotz, Preston.

With reference to the holding of the exhibition at Toronto this year, Mr. Bowell moved, seconded by Hon. D. Christie, that the corporation of the City of Toronto having failed to enter into an agreement in compliance with Cap. 17, 40 Vic., Sec., 34, with this Council to provide suitable accommodation for holding the Exhibition of the Association for 1878, and that the question of providing such accommodation being still undecided, it is hereby resolved, that unless such satisfactory agreement be at once entered into this Council by virtue of the authority vested in them by the statute will proceed at once to select another place for holding the Exhibition of 1878. Carried.

A letter was read from Messrs. Inglis & Hunter, of Guelph, with terms on which they would put an engine in the Machinery Hall of the Exhibition.

In the afternoon a deputation from the Toronto Council waited on the Council respecting the new Exhibition Buildings. It was stated by Ald. Withrow that the Commitee were ready to carry out the erection of the new buildings and make all the improvements, provided they were backed by the people.

A resolution was afterwards passed, that the Toronto City Council be informed that this Association considers that the present Exhibition buildings and grounds in that city are totally inadequate and insufficient for the purposes of the Exhibitions of the Association, and could not be accepted for Exhibition purposes for 1878.

LEVI JONES, Markham, says: I had a severe attack of Bronchitis. I was so bad that I could hardly get my breath. I sought for a quick remedy, and seeing the Shoshonees Remedy so highly recommended, I procured a bottle, and am happy to say that, by the time it was taken, I was entirely well and have remained so, although I was much exposed through the winter in travelling.

REV. F. B. STRATTON, Demorestville, writes: I have found your remedies particularly beneficial for Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia and Bronchical Affections, and would advise all similarly affected to give them a trial.

MRS. A. D. PIERCE, Waverly, N.Y. says: It affords me much pleasure to express my heartfelt gratitude for the benefit I have received from using the Great Shoshonees Remedy. I was sorely afflicted with Dyspepsia and Disease of the Lungs. After having used six bottles, I have become hearty and well. I never knew a medicine to have such wonderful effects. I cannot speak too highly of its merits.

JOHN FINLAYSON, Athol, says: When travelling one of my feet got sore and broke out. I could not cure it and had to return home. It became better, and afterwards much worse, I finally purchased a bottle of the Remedy and a box of Pills, and before they were half gone I commenced to improve, and before they were finished my foot was completely cured. It is now seventeen months since, but have had no further attack. Price of the Remedy in pint bottles, $1; Pills, 25 cents a box. Sold by all medicine dealers.

Death of Earl Russell.

Earl Russell—better known as Lord John Russell—is dead. Some days ago the telegraph informed us of his illness, and now, full of years and honours, the veteran statesman has passed away. He was born in 1792, so that at the time of his death he was eighty-six years of age. We have no time to-day to give a resume of the life of one who in his day was known as a great Liberal statesman, who fought manfully for the first Reform Bill, and who since that time to the close of his life was closely identified with the Reform party. He was one of the Liberals of the old school, but his memory will be honoured by every Reformer as one of the great men who fought for their cause, and who stood true to Liberal principles to the last.

MR. JETTE will probably be opposed in the Eastern Division by Dr. Robbat.

THE London Free Press thinks it is an "outrage" because Mackenzie won't tell just when the elections are to be held. Sir John used to tell, didn't he?

THE New Brunswick House of Assembly has been dissolved, and writs for the new elections are ordered returnable on the 29th June.

SIR A. T. GALT, will it is thought, be induced to become a candidate of the Western Division of Montreal, for the Commons.

THE attention of the Reformers of the North Riding of Wentworth is called to an advertisement announcing a mass meeting in Dundas for the 30th inst., for the purpose of selecting candidates for the next elections for the Commons and Local Legislature.

MR. DAVID THOMSON has again been unanimously nominated by the Reformers of Haldimand as a candidate for the Commons. Mr. Thomson's was the only name brought before the Convention, and the result of the vote was received with great enthusiasm.

SPEAKING of the obstruction policy of the Senate in reference to the Pembina Branch Railway Bill, the Montreal Herald says:—"It is true that the demand of the Senate was engineered by Sir John, and that a single word from him would have induced that body to recede from a position which they cannot maintain; but which, in the meantime, may possibly postpone for a year the much desired filling up of the missing link between Old Canada and the first of the Western Provinces. That may be a satisfactory gratification of personal feeling, but it will cost the country, and especially will cost Manitoba dear."

THE Winnipeg Free Press in copying one of the MERCURY'S articles on protection says:—"When the Conservative leaders were making so much of their 'National Policy' cry, which was understood to mean an increased duty on imports, it was intimated from many quarters that they were over-doing it. They then made a very great party mistake. Taking advantage of the discontent caused by the depression in trade, they tried to persuade all and sundry that a protective tariff would be a certain remedy. They must have known that what they talked in this connection was so much bosh; but, having made so much of it they were not allowed to drop the matter as readily perhaps as they would have desired to, after it had done service as a pic-nic cry. They were crowded on, one way and another, and there was nothing to do but to adopt it as an issue for the elections. Even now, however, a reactive effect is setting in." Protectionists are a very scarce crop in Manitoba.

MR. ROBERT HAY, the great furniture manufacturer, who is out as a candidate for Centre Toronto on the protection ticket, used to get 50 to 100 per cent. profit and he can't get that now; so we must be protected. He excuses his change of politics to his belief that "protection" is needed to make our manufactures prosperous. From the fact, however, that under the existing tariff, and under the lower tariff of former times, Mr. Hay has been able to amass a very large fortune, although having his extensive factory twice destroyed by fire, it appears that "protection" is not required in his own case at least. He does not go into figures—preferring vague generalities—or he might have said that while the annual production of furniture in this country is over $4,000,000, the imports from the States amount to $276,383—slaughtered goods and all—or seven per cent. of the amount manufactured here. Not much of a slaughter there we would think. Mr. Hay's policy, which proposes to increase the manufacturers' profits by increasing the cost of the fuel and bread of the workmen he employs, is not likely to be swallowed by the intelligent mechanics and workingmen of Toronto.

Poor young thing! She fainted away at the wash-tub, and her pretty nose went kerslop into the soapsuds. Some say that it was overwork; others, however, whispered that her beau had peeped over the back fence and called out, "Hullo, there, Bridget, is Miss Alice at home!"

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Uncertainty About the Negotiations.

RUSSIA'S VOLUNTEER FLEET.

SCHOUVALOFF'S MISSION.

May 16.

A London telegram says:—The Russian preparations to attack British commerce attract great attention. The Times says:—The United States may be depended upon to do all in their power to observe the Treaty at Washington, but even if the Russians succeed in equipping their little fleet it will hardly do much mischief, and is more likely to fall victims to our cruisers than to inflict damage on our merchantmen. We might have some trouble at first, but a short time will suffice to clear the seas and make the passage of our vessels as safe as now.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says:—The Russian papers are full of news about the volunteer fleet. Subscriptions for fitting it are coming in from all parts. The Russian sums raised seem very small for the purpose, but they are double the amounts contributed from the same sources to the Czarina's Committee for the relief of the sick and wounded during the war.

A Washington despatch says:—The Government has information that Russia is negotiating for the purchase of vessels, arms and ammunition in various portions of the United States, and regards it as more in the light of a certainty than a contingency of war.

A telegram from San Francisco says:—The Pacific Mail Company has sold the fast steamer City of Sydney to unknown parties. She sailed from here in the regular way from New South Wales on Monday, and if so destined, may be delivered to Russia on the waters of the South Pacific after arrival at Sydney.

There is little doubt that the following despatch represents the present views of the Imperial Court and Chancellory at St. Petersburg:—

Complete secrecy is maintained in regard to Schouvaloff's reports to the Emperor and the conference at the Foreign Office. Strict silence upon the subject also appears to have been imposed upon the semi-official organs, so that previous to Schouvaloff's return to London no unnecessary discussion may arise between the Russian and foreign press to effect evident conciliatory intentions. In well informed political circles, though in the first place the necessity of securing the great object of the war, the independence of the Christians is insisted upon, there is on the other hand no disposition to inscribe noli me tangere on the map, of New Bulgaria, which was only set up as a provisional draft. At the same time other compensations than those fixed upon in lieu of the war indemnity are not regarded as excluded from discussion. While it is declared there can be absolutely no serious idea of the retrocession of Kars the same is not true of Batoum. The advantage to Russia of the acquisition of Batoum is said to have its reverse side, inasmuch as millions must be expended in the construction of convenient lines of communication and proper fortifications before possession of the place could be rendered of great importance. In the peaceful current of the general indications favorable significance is attached to the fact that the right of sale in the streets has been withdrawn from the Golos, which lately adopted a warlike tone, while the Brouse, Gazette and New Times, which recently observed an attitude favorable to peace, had that privilege restored to them. Gortschakoff is slightly better from his last attack of gout. The Czar will not in any case visit the Paris Exposition, but some of the Grand Dukes will, if circumstances permit.

The impressions received from Count Schouvaloff's visit to St. Petersburg are conflicting. Two such well-informed correspondents as the Times' Vienna and Times' St. Petersburg are entirely disagreed, the first saying that the prevalent opinion at present seems to be that the communications imparted by Schouvaloff scarcely afford a sufficient basis for carrying on negotiations likely to lead to any practical result; and the St. Petersburg correspondent saying that the solution suggested by the British Cabinet has been found such as by no means to preclude the possibility of an amicable arrangement, and for a moment the wind is blowing decidedly in favor of peace. The Times' Vienna correspondent explains that experience has proved that the five points previously indicated by England have by no means exhausted British interests, so that positive proposals which Russia wished could only have been put forward with the view of bargaining about them—that is, that more had to be demanded than England was prepared to be ultimately satisfied with, which would scarcely have been in harmony with the lofty position taken by her. But although the course pursued by the British Government will appear very justifiable, it may readily be believed it caused some ill-humor in St. Petersburg, as it still leaves the Russian Government more or less uncertain as to what England might ultimately be satisfied with, forcing it, if the negotiations are to be continued, to say the first word, and to specify more in detail the concessions it might be disposed to make.

BOOTS & SHOES

A pious elder of the Scottish Kirk, on his way to service on a Sunday morning, saw a little girl and boy playing marbles. He wrathfully inquired, "Boy, do you know where children go to who play marbles on Sunday?" "Ay, ay," answered the boy, "they gang doun to the field by the brig" (bridge) "No," roared the elder, "go to hell and are burned." The little fellow looking shocked and frightened, called to his sister, "Come awa, Jeannie; come awa, here's a mon swearing awfully."

CORSETS. CORSETS.

Physicians, Women's Rights Advocates, Collectors of Mortuary Statistics, and Retormers generally

Have all had their fling at Corsets on sanitary grounds. Like the critics of the chameleon, "they are all right and a'l wrong," because Corsets made in the ordinary way may with justice be condemned, though those constructed in accordance with nature's laws are decidedly beneficial and hygienic to the female body. They support the bust, soften the sudden changes of temperature, and impart a firmness and support to the spinal column that are peculiarly useful. All this can be effected without torturing the body, but on the contrary improving the general health, and adding much to the grace and elegance of the well dressed woman. A Corset to fulfil all these requirements should be fashioned after nature's model, and when that is done the garment will be perfect.

Wm. Stewart & Co. impressed with the truth of this idea have secured Corsets after NATURE'S MODEL. Our stock is now full in every size of the popular

Harold the Outlaw

—OR—

The Ganger of Skene.

"In the name o' a' that's mysterious, hoo could the gauger find his way to the cave?" exclaimed Daddy. "I met in wi' him the nicht afore last, and he was on the wrang scent then."

"Where was that?" asked all the others at once, and Daddy forthwith detailed his encounter with Gillespie, and all that had taken place between them—including the discovery of the smoke of a still which Gillespie had made, and his eager belief that it would prove to be the headquarters of Black Dick's gang.

"It must have been Barclay's smoke he saw," observed Harold, addressing Kenneth.

"I suspect so," returned the latter. "But to see the smoke miles off and to find the place is a different matter."

"Not for Gillespie, it would seem," rejoined Harold, with a bitter smile. "This is treachery again," he continued. "It was just possible for the officers to strike by accident on the mouth of the secret passage; but to go direct to the old built-up entrance proves that he was led on by a traitor. Is Dick badly hurt, Nip?"

"Dying!" exclaimed Harold, inexpressively shocked. "Are his injuries fatal?"

"So we fear. Dixon told me he has no hope of him. He thinks he may live for a few days, but that is all."

Harold was silent, but he and Kenneth exchanged a peculiar look. After the first effect of the shock subsided the possible consequence to himself rushed upon his mind. If Dick was so severely injured—if he was dying, as they believed—might the time not have come when Harold's innocence could be declared. When conscious that he was dying, would Dick not be ready—nay, anxious to confess that he it was who had fired the fatal shot at Wanlass? Such a declaration, emitted in the presence of two proper witnesses, would go far to free Harold from the charge, and this added to the other testimony would triumphantly clear him.

What a bright hope was hereby caused to thrill through Harold's soul, but he dared not cherish it, lest it might be doomed to a bitter and final disappointment. According to Nip's report, Dick was delirious. He might die in this state, unable to make any declaration. Then all chance would be lost, and the secret expectation which, amid all his trials, the youth had clung to—that his innocence would be manifested—would leave him for ever. His heart trembled between the mighty alternatives of the coming issue.

They set forth at once towards the cave—now the scene of ruin and desolation. The loss of the stuff which had been consumed did not greatly affect Harold. What was mere worldly loss in comparison to that which he had sustained, was still enduring and had no prospect of recovering—the loss of Lizzie and his. In losing them he had been deprived of all that could be enjoyed. There was just one thing included in the conflagration at the cave which was indeed to him a loss beyond all expression—viz., the iron box which contained Lizzie's letters. As we have said these formed his chief earthly treasure, and to lose them was almost equal to losing his wife afresh. How keenly he regretted not having them with him, but he considered them so safe there—so safe—but now——

He stifled a rising sob, and turned his head to wipe a starting tear.

Then he thought, or tried to think, of the changes which this sudden catastrophe had brought about. The smuggling organisation of which he was the head was broken up and it would not be reconstructed by him. Of late he had come to dislike that mode of life—he had come to see how disreputable and unworthy it was. His heavy trial, his wrongs, his sorrows had done much to consolidate his mind, to mature his judgment, to awaken him to a sense of the value, the greatness, the solemnity of human life. He saw, as he had not seen before, how wild and reckless he had been, how heedless of duty, how far from realising his position, and doing the work of a true man. Blessed are the misfortunes which have such a salutary effect. In the highest sense they are merciful visitations—things to be welcomed rather than deplored. After they are past, and when seen in their results, they appear as the gracious disciple of a Divine and loving Father, intended to reclaim His wayword child.

Yes, Harold Logan felt that his connection with smuggling was at an end. Begun through a spirit of adventure, and continued partly from necessity, partly for a vengeful purpose, its degrading character was now seen by him, and he was resolved to abandon it. The carrying out of this resolution might have been indefinitely deferred had this catastrophe not occurred, but it presented too favorable an opportunity to be missed. What other mode of life he would adopt he had not yet considered. His position and peculiarly trying circumstances made that a very difficult matter. At the present time everything was against him—his prospect was dark and dreary in the extreme, and more so at that moment than ever. For months its gloom had been deepening; now it seemed to have gathered into utter blackness, fit only to be the abode of despair. His courage was failing him now, for courage cannot survive hope; and but for the one ever-haunting thought of his lost ones he would ere this have sunk into utter apathy.

Yet, oh! sorely tried and bitterly-afflicted one, there may be relief coming to thee. The promise is of old, even from everlasting—"Light shall rise out of darkness." So much has this been recognised as true that it has been said—"the darkest hour is just before the dawn;" or as the devout proverb has it—"Man's extremity is God's opportunity." Who knows, therefore, but now, when misfortune has hemmed thee in on every side, as with a pall of universal gloom, the light may be about to break into the dawn of a brighter day than ever thou hast anticipated. Who knows but out of the very depths of calamity may come thine arm of deliverance, that from the very blow which has in apparent wantonness inflicted may come the opening of a path to freedom, love, and joy. The ways and workings of Providence are wonderful, and it is not till events are past and have brought their issues that we recognise the beneficent design unfolding through an unexpected agency, bringing good out of evil, and order out of confusion.

In Appleton's Journal for June advantage is taken of the public interest in the new silver currency to describe the process of coining the silver dollar. The article is by Mr. William H. Rideing, who is making a wide-spread reputation for the taste and literary skill with which he describes the places and industries of the country. "The Genesis and History of a Silver Dollar" begins with the mining of the ore, and carries the reader on to the moment when the tinkle of the completed coin as it drops from the coining machine announces that it is ready to enter the world on its mission of good or evil. The article is written in a picturesque and graphic style, and the illustrations by Kelly are striking and appropriate. Julian Hawthorne's stirring story, "Mrs. Gainsborough's Diamonds," which began in the May number, is concluded. This is one of the best short stories of the season. William Minturn begins a series of papers under the title of "French Writers and Artists," starting off with a graphic sketch of Ernest d'Hervilly, the Parisian litterateur. Miss Susan Fenmore Cooper, who has written of late years, begins a series of papers under the title of "Otsego Leaves," the first article being a contrast in the abundance of birds twenty years ago compared with their scarcity now. There is a short story by Christian Reid; a discussion of new "Varieties of Verse" by Brander Matthews; an essay on "Old Fogies" by C. P. Cranch; a paper on two old South Carolina architectural relics; poems by Fawcett, Lathrop, Earl Marble, etc.; and still other papers.

It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Synod of Toronto and Kingston.

The fourth annual session of the Presbyterian Synod of Toronto and Kingston, opened at Kingston on Tuesday evening. The Rev. Dr. Wardrope, the Moderator, conducted the services, and preached from Rev. v. 12—"Worthy is the Lamb that was slain to receive riches." After service the Synod was constituted by the Moderator, who afterwards in his retiring address enjoined the Synod to look to the Master of Assemblies for assistance in their deliberations. He expressed his thanks for the kindness and forbearance with which he had been treated while in office, observing that he hoped they would extend the same indulgence to his successor.

The Rev. Professor Mowat was then unanimously elected Moderator, after which a cordial vote of thanks was passed to the retiring Moderator.

When the Synod met on Wednesday, the Rev. Robert Torrance, of Guelph, presented a report of the Committee on Bills and Overtures, nominating Committees to examine records of Presbyteries, and recommending a programme of subjects for consideration during the day. The report was adopted.

THE GARAFRAXA CASE.

The first item of business taken up was a reference from the Presbytery of Guelph for advice or judgment with regard to a dispute in St. John's Church, Garafraxa.

The Clerk read an extract minute of the Presbytery of Guelph, setting forth the facts and the action taken upon the case by the Presbytery from time to time. It appeared that a portion of the congregation desired the pastor, Rev. Wm. Milligan, to resign, while the rest were anxious that he should not; that the Presbytery, while finding that no charge of immorality was made against Mr. Milligan, unanimously advised him to consider the propriety of resigning, as the only course which would reconcile the two parties; that Mr. Milligan considered Providence to indicate that his duty was to remain; that the disaffected members had ultimately withdrawn from the congregation, and that finally the Presbytery decided to refer the case simpliciter to the Synod.

Rev. A. D. Macdonald, in the course of a few remarks on behalf of the Presbytery of Guelph, stated that the petitioners considered that unless Mr. Milligan resigned his usefulness would be destroyed and the congregation permanently disunited. He intimated that the Presbytery, not feeling justified in dissolving the tie between pastor and people on the grounds of this case, referred it to the Synod, which had previously taken that course in similar circumstances.

Mr. J. C. Smith, of Guelph, followed, observing that the Presbytery in its action had been influenced by a sense of duty to the Church, and by a brotherly regard for Mr. Milligan.

Mr. Cameron, elder, of Acton, and Rev. Dr. Wardrope, also made a few remarks of a similar purport.

Rev. Mr. Milligan was then heard in his defence. He dissented from the statement that those who had risen up against him were the strength of the congregation, representing that they contributed but a small proportion of its expenses. Instead of regarding the departure of the discontented persons as a loss, he thought it had been an advantage, inasmuch as the remaining members were now labouring together most harmoniously. His whole flock, including another station, Mimosa, as well as Garafraxa, now numbered nearly two hundred, who were strongly attached to their minister; while those who had gone were hardly more than sixty. He felt confident that the Synod would sustain him.

Rev. J. C. Smith moved to appoint a commission, consisting of Prof. McLaren, Principal Grant, Mr. Ballantyne, of Cobourg, and Mr. Adamson, of Toronto, to visit the congregation.

Rev. Principal Caven thought the better course would be to refer the case back to the Presbytery to finally issue it. He moved that assessors, consisting of Revs. Prof. McLaren, D. J. Macdonnell, Dr. Fraser, of Bond Head, and Messrs. Donald, of Port Hope, and Adamson, of Toronto, be appointed by the Synod to sit with the Presbytery of Guelph for full consideration of the matters involved in this reference with power to finally issue. Rev. J. C. Smith preferred that the matter should not be sent back to the Presbytery of Guelph, as they had exhausted all their resources for its settlement, but he would not press his motion for a commission.

Rev. Principal Grant said that under those circumstances he would second Principal Caven's motion, as that appeared to him to be the safest solution of the difficult and painful case. It would remove the doubt of the Presbytery as to their power to dissolve the tie between pastor and people.

Rev. Dr. Reid said it would be a dangerous precedent to appoint assessors without the application of the Presbytery. A similar objection presented itself to the appointment of a Commission. It was much better to let each court do its own work, and the Presbytery could better deal with this case than the Synod, with the information they now had.

Rev. Dr. Robb was strongly disinclined to interfere between a minister and his people, and especially so in this case, while so many of Mr. Milligan's people adhered to him. He moved to sustain the reference, and find that "in the opinion of the Synod the circumstances do not warrant any step being taken which would separate Mr. Milligan from his present congregation."

In the course of a somewhat lengthy discussion,

Rev. Prof. McLaren expressed the opinion that Mr. Milligan had made out a strong case, and thought the Synod should pass their judgment upon the facts laid before them. He moved to sustain the reference, and find that "while there do not appear in the statement laid before the court grounds sufficient to warrant the Presbytery further urging upon Mr. Milligan the resignation of his charge, the Synod, in view of all the circumstances of the case, agree to refer to the Presbytery the petition of the minority of St. John's, Garafraxa, and instruct them to take such action there anent as they may deem for the interests of religion."

Dr. Robb's motion was carried.

THE BALLINAFAD CASE.

A complaint from the Presbytery of Guelph against the action of the Presbytery of Toronto in organizing a congregation at Ballinafad was then taken up.

The Clerk read extract minutes of the two Presbyteries, from which it appeared that the ground of the complaint was that most of the persons composing the congregation lived within the bounds of the Presbytery of Guelph.

Rev. Dr. Robb raised a point of order. The Toronto Presbytery had simply formed a congregation within their own bounds, which they had a perfect right to do, and unless the complaint alleged that that Presbytery had violated a Church law such a complaint could not be entertained by the Synod.

After discussion the point of order was sustained and the matter dropped.

On Wednesday afternoon the report on the state of religion was presented, and its adoption moved in an able speech by Rev. Principal Grant.

Rev. R. Torrance then read a memorial from the Kington Sabbath Reformation Society, setting forth the misobservance of the Sabbath throughout the country, and more especially in Kingston, where steamboats and street cars run ostensibly for the accommodation of persons attending divine worship, and asking the Synod to pass some resolution upon the matter adopted.

When the Synod met on Thursday the Clerk read a protest and appeal from Rev. Messrs. McMillan and Moffatt against a decision of the Presbytery of Saugeen with regard to a petition from the trustees of Knox Church, Mount Forest, praying the Presbytery to instruct Mr. John Martin, an elder and former trustee of that Church, to hand over to the trustees or to the Presbytery the patent deed of the plot of ground on which the Church was built. The Presbytery's final decision was that, the case being one of civil right, they should not interfere, although they thought that Mr. Martin should hand over the deed. The appellants contended that it was one of ordinary administration of Church affairs, involving congregational and Presbyterial rights, and that the Church was competent to settle such matters independent of the civil authority. Mr. Martin, it appeared, claimed to be still a trustee, and the only one constitutionally elected, and therefore entitled to hold the deed. He also alleged a claim on the Church property amounting to $2,000, for money which he had advanced. The various parties interested were called to the bar of the Synod and heard.

Rev. Mr. McMillan, pastor of the church affected, first addressed the Synod, reviewing the facts of the case at length. He accused the Presbytery of having acted inconsistently and irregularly—inasmuch as they had originally agreed to request Mr. Martin to hand over the deed, and afterwards decided to the contrary effect without rescinding their original resolution. He stated that Mr. Martin had left Knox Church, Mount Forest, altogether, and had therefore no right to hold the deed. With regard to this being a matter purely of civil right, even if it were the Church took cognizance of matters that involved civil rights, such as incest, Sabbath-breaking, &c. (Laughter.) This view, moreover, was sustained by the Apostle Paul in I. Corinthians, vi., 1—7, where he asked, "Dare any of you having a matter against another go to law before the unjust, and not before the Saints." (Renewed laughter.) He went on to argue that disputes of this nature should be settled within the Church.

Rev. Donald Fraser, of Mount Forest, said Mr. Martin had not acted in any disorderly fashion; he was not that kind of a man. He had promised to give up the deed on the condition it would not prejudice his claim against Knox Church, he having loaned the church $2,000 to enable them to liquidate a debt on a new house of worship. If the Church could deal with matters of this kind why did they go to the Legislature of Ontario for Acts of incorporation? Why not go to the General Assembly? The whole case turned on the interpretation of a legal document which inhered not in a Church court, but in the ordinary civil Courts of law. He maintained that the Church Courts could only properly consider the moral aspect of cases of this kind when they involved the discipline of any member. But the present was not such a question. They might as well say if one elder purchased a wheelbarrow from another the Presbytery should compel him to pay for it. (Laughter.) The seller might urge that it was used for ecclesiastical purposes, but that was no matter. (Renewed laughter.) The appellants really wanted the Synod to usurp the functions of the Court of Chancery. The Presbytery had done all they could in the matter, and even if they were competent to order Mr. Martin to return the deed they had no means of enforcing their order. He hoped the question would be settled speedily and amicably.

In the course of further discussion,

Rev. Prof. Gregg remarked that it was of no importance who held the deed so long as its duplicate was registered.

Rev. Dr. Robb moved "That the appeal be sustained, and that the Synod request Mr. Martin to give up the deed and resign his position as trustee of Knox Church, Mount Forest." He was not going to enter into the merits of the case, but he thought this was the best way to remove the difficulty.

Rev. D. J. Macdonnell moved, in amendment, "That the appeal be dismissed and the action of the Presbytery sustained, but that the Synod request Mr. Martin, who has ceased to be a member of Knox Church, Mount Forest, to resign his position as trustee." Of course the giving up of the deed would naturally follow. The Synod could not do more than the Presbytery had done, viz., request Mr. Martin to give up the deed, without having the power to compel him. If he had been a more sensible man than he was he would no doubt have done so when asked by the Presbytery.

The motion of Rev. Dr. Robb was carried by a vote of 15 to 8.

The Commissioners from the Presbytery of Saugeen declined to acquiesce in the decision of the Synod, but stated that they would not appeal to the General Assembly.

Daily Mercury.

SATURDAY EVEN'G, MAY 18, 1878.

Agricultural and Arts Association.

TORONTO, Friday.

After reception of reports, and the passing of a motion instructing the Secretary to get a reply from the Toronto Council as to accommodation for the exhibition, a motion was brought up to extend the time of the Exhibition four days longer. It was however, lost.

At a later stage of the meeting a message was received from the City Clerk of Toronto, stating that no answer could be given about accommodation for the Exhibition until the By-Law for raising money for the buildings had been submitted on the 22nd.

Mr. Bowell then moved, seconded by Mr. Klotz,

"That in the event of the Corporation of the City of Toronto failing to enter into an agreement with the Council (on or before the 25th instant.) to provide the necessary accommodation for the Exhibition of the Agricultural and Arts Association of Ontario for 1878, the Council do resolve to hold the Exhibition in question at the city of Ottawa in the event of the Mayor and Corporation of the said city at once entering into a binding agreement to provide the necessary accommodation."

Mr. McCrae moved in amendment, seconded by Mr. Hopkins,

"That the town of Guelph be substituted for the city of Ottawa as the place for holding the next Exhibition in case the city of Toronto cannot provide suitable accommodation."

Mr. Morgan said he would like to say something on the question before the vote was taken. Knowing that the question of where their next Exhibition should be held would come up, he had taken it upon himself to telegraph to Ottawa to find out whether that city would be prepared to furnish the Association with all accommodation in the case of Toronto failing to do so. He had received a reply, of which the following is a copy :—

OTTAWA, May 17.

To Ira Morgan, Agricultural and Arts Association :

Ottawa will accept Provincial Exhibition if Board so decide, and will provide and guarantee all necessary accommodation to make it a perfect success.

C. W. BANGS, Mayor of Ottawa.
J. SKEAD,
President of Ottawa Agricultural Association.

He hoped that the Council would favourably consider the claims of Ottawa.

Mr. McCrae said the people of Guelph were prepared to give all necessary accommodation. He thought it would be a painful thing if they had to go past Toronto; but if the by-law failed to pass they would have to do so in all likelihood.

Hon. Mr. Christie was in favor of going to Ottawa for the reason that there the the buildings were all but ready for their use. With Guelph it might be different.

Mr. McCrae—No it won't; the buildings will be provided; there is a guarantee for that.

Hon. Mr. Christie—That was given last fall. Things may be very different now. He hoped, however, that they would not have to take the exhibition to either of these places, although he had heard that there was an opposition among the citizens to the by-law. If the citizens fail to vote for the by-law they will have it thrown in their teeth in time to come. By so doing they will be guilty of doing a great wrong to the manufacturing interests of Toronto and the country generally, and to themselves as well. In justice to the Mayor and Corporation of Toronto he would state that they had done all in their power to favour the holding of the Exhibition here. It was a number of the property owners in the city who seemed to be making the greatest opposition. He thought they would lose by their action in the matter, for if the citizens of Toronto disappoint the Association this year they need not come to them in another year to ask them to come to Toronto with their Exhibition. It would be a lasting disgrace on the citizens of Toronto if they at the eleventh hour failed to endorse the pledge made by their Mayor and Corporation. He might add that he was sorry that they had not before decided to go to Guelph, but now that there was a likelihood of having to pass Toronto he would vote for Ottawa.

Mr. Graham objected togoing to Ottawa, on the ground that it would not pay so well.

On calls for a vote being made the amendment was put first, and lost on the following division :—Yeas—White, Shipley, McCrae, Hopkins, and Graham—5. Nays—Christie, Wilson, Morgan, Roy, Klotz, Bowell, Buckland, Bell, and Fraser—9.

The original motion was then put and carried.

Thos. Carlyle, in a letter lately published for the first time, and written to Thomas Aird, thus refers to his "French Revolution" :—"The unspeakable Book is fairly to press, thank Heaven. In six weeks more my share of business with it will be over for ever and a day. It will be worth little to most men, to all men; except to me the incalculable worth of troubling me no more."

Mr. Murphy says with great pathos that the poor drunkard is always travelling on the Jericho road and falling among thieves, on which a Western paper comments truly by saying that it is generally the Tom & Jerry Co. road.

Montreal harbour at present is alive with shipping, freight vessels being unusually numerous. The greater number of the labourers are employed, and business is brisk on the wharves.

The Countess of Dufferin has donated to the Protestant Orphans' Home $500—the surplus fund from the children's bazaar after liquidating the debt on St. Bartholomew's church.

At Duluth reports from the interior promise an extra large crop this season, the largest ever harvested in the North-West.

The Ottawa Free Press is glad to learn the fact that our chief and almost only industry, the lumber trade, is experiencing a revival which will no doubt in a short time restore it to all its old prosperity. Several large buyers are now in the city from the United States, and extensive purchases are being contracted for at improved prices, with an upward tendency.

The Bill appropriating $35,000 to ascertain the practicability of a water route between Lakes Michigan and Erie, has passed through the House Committee at Washington.

Local News.

THE Weights and Measure office has been removed to the Post Office Building.

MODERATE to fresh southerly to easterly winds to fair warm weather, are the probabilities received to-day.

THE Rev. W. H. Porter, M.A., the popular pastor of the First Baptist Church, Brantford, will occupy the pulpit of the Baptist Church to-morrow, morning and evening, exchanging with the Rev. Mr. Durkee.

THE Young People's Union in connection with the Dublin Street Methodist Church will hold a musical and literary entertainment in the above church on the 24th. Programme will be punlished next week.

FOR general information we give the following list of counterfeit notes known to be in circulation, which is worth preserving :—Dominion, $4's, old issue; Bank British North America, $5's, stamped Kingston; Ontario, $10's. Look out for them.

FIRE NEAR HESPELER.—On Saturday, the 11th inst., the house of H. B. Lepscomb was totally destroyed by fire. Nothing was saved. Fire accidental. No insurance. A subscription list is being circulated, and no doubt quite a sum of money will be raised to help rebuild the house of Mr. Lepscomb, who is an industrious farmer.

DO IT YOURSELF.—When you ask the clerk to stick a stamp on your letter don't get angry if he refuses. The Postmaster-General has issued orders that hereafter employees in post-offices will not be allowed to attach stamps to letters for any one. This order is given that no blame may be attached to the official in case letters should miscarry. Stick the stamp on yourself.

PROMENADE CONCERT.—There is little doubt but that the promenade concert to be given by the Musical Union in the Town Hall on Tuesday evening, will be among the finest musical entertainments ever given in the town. The patronage will be liberal, as already a large number of tickets have been sold. The choruses will be from the works of the best masters, including Handel, Hayden, Mozart, Costa, Butterfield, Verdi and Pensuti. Admission twenty-five cents.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH.—There are to be a series of interesting services in St. George's to-morrow. In the morning at 8:30 an early administration of the communion. In the next service at 11 there will be an ordination by the Lord Bishop of Niagara, who will preach on the occasion, and there will also be another communion service. At 3 p.m., there will be a Sunday School service in the church, to which parents of the children and all others who are desirous of attending are invited. The Bishop will address the children. The offertary is to go towards paying Sunday School expenses. In the evening the Venerable Archdeacon of Huron will preach.

FROM B. B. Russell, publisher, Boston, Mass., we have received a very nice steel engraving of Lord Dufferin. This picture is pronounced by those familiar with the Earl of Dufferin as a fine likeness, and will be a pleasing memento of one who has ruled so wisely and taken such deep interest in the welfare of the people of the Dominion. The portrait is neatly printed on plate paper, 10x12. Twenty-five cents. Sent by mail, post paid, on receipt of the price.

INSOLVENCY ITEMS.—W. R. Chisholm, hotel keeper, of Erin, at a meeting of creditors showed that his liabilities were between five and six thousand dollars, and his assets about two hundred. Mr. W. McDowell, of Erin, was appointed assignee. At a meeting of the creditors of Orange Clark, it was shown that the assets scarcely equalled the liabilities, which amounted to $10,000. A composition of thirty-five cents on the dollar was offered, and the meeting adjourned till Tuesday next to consider the offer. At a meeting of the creditors of B. Williams, of Glenwilliams, the creditors confirmed the deed of composition and discharge, being a dividend of twenty-five cents on the dollar. The stock in the general store of James Henderson, of Elora, has been purchased by J. O. Tate, of Hollin.

BASE BALL.—The bankers and lawyers engaged in playing this afternoon.——The Chicago Tribune talks about Nolan, the Indianopolis pitcher, in this way, after the White Stockings had been beaten by the Hoosiers :—"It is claimed for Nolan by his admirers that he has more control of the ball than any other pitcher. Then it must be that he bruises up his opponents on purpose. The plan of having a stout man with an available club to go out and put a lump on him would work well with Nolan. Why should he be allowed to do what no other pitcher would do? It is a brutal and ungentlemanly trick to wound a player with the ball.——Games played on Thursday :—Hornells 7, Crickets 0; Rochesters 6, Auburns 2; Buffalos 5, New Havens 2; Milwaukees 12, Cincinnatis 8; Uticas 13, Alleghenys 0; Manchesters 1, Worcesters 0; Tecumsehs 14, Live Oaks 0. Games played on Friday: The Tecumsehs have the satisfaction of knowing that they are the first team this season that "kicked" sufficiently to break up a game. The Live Oaks, of Lynn, scored 3 to the Tecumsehs 0 up to the seventh innings. The latter then quarrelled with the umpire, the game was thrown up, and a decision given of 9 to 0 in favor of the Live Oaks. Buffalos defeated the New Havens by 3 to 2; New Bedfords the Resolutes, by 5 to 0; Stars the Alleghenys by 16 to 1; Lowells the Worcesters by 12 to 0.

"THE man in the moon was looking," from the burlesque of the "Babes in the wood," is the latest five cent music received at Anderson's bookstore.

LACROSSE—A Armstrong has been elected captain of the Guelph club. A match between Guelph and Elora will be played in is a prize at stake.

THE G. W. R. will issue return tickets at one fare on the 24th, and on the 23rd and 24th return tickets for one fare and a third will be issued good till the 27th.

CRICKET.—At a meeting of the Guelph Cricket Club, held at the Royal Hotel last evening, it was decided to lease the crease on the base-ball grounds on the terms offered. Practice will be commenced at once.

WOOD STEALING.—A gentleman living in the West Ward heard some person at his wood pile on Friday night about twelve o'clock. He got up and caught a neighbor in the act of taking a small load away. The party excused himself in a very lame way by stating that he was only borrowing it without leave, but would have spoken of it in the morning.

ZERA, magician, held forth in the Town Hall last evening. The audience was largely made up of children, who had been attracted by promised presents. They got them, but they were not of great value, being ordinary slate pencils. The subject so often discussed by young people "Whether there is more pleasure in anticipation than in realization?" was on this occasion decided unanimously in favor of the anticipation.

FIRE CRACKERS.—The irrepressible small boys have already begun their fusilade of fire crackers, which will continue to terrify nervous females until the Queen's Birthday and Dominion Day are over. Just now, therefore, a few statistics of the cost of these destructive little articles gathered in July last year may be considered timely reading. The figures have been taken from some 3,000 cities in the United States, with an aggregate population of over 12,000,000. In 126 cities 428 fire alarms were reported from fireworks and and firecrackers; 130 cities reported 287 fires, damaging property valued at $260,417; 175 cities reported 528 casualties of which 31 were fatal, 106 serious, and 391 slight. These are all from across the lines, but we have no doubt that in Canada we could show a proportionate amount of damage from pyrotechnics. The plain moral of it all is that the use of firecrackers and fireworks generally should be prohibited, and some other means provided for the letting off of juvenile enthusiasm.

HAROLD, THE OUTLAW.—To-day we present our story readers with a very interesting portion of this tale, but by far the most tragic parts of the incident are to come yet. We have got pretty well acquainted with Daddy Duff, and the incidents at Black Dick's cave, and now we come to the most taking part of the whole affair—the finding and rescuing of Lizzie and her companion in tribulation from Benachray, which is not accomplished without a great deal of hard work; and the ultimate rejoicings at the Highland home of Thomas Morven in which Daddy Duff and the Advocate of the estate, Mr. Adamson, are almost wild with joy. A dozen more chapters, and we shall have completed a tale the equal for interest has not been published away from the land of the bonnie blue heather.

GRIP for this week has been received at Anderson's. In a capital manner the cartoon takes off the closing scene of the last session. Sir John and Tupper are seated at a refreshment table in a groggery, and while the drinks are being brought in by the landlord Sir John remarks to Tupper, with uplifted hands, "Smith is a liar! I'll slap his chops! He's a coward, a liar! liar! liar! liar!" Tupper takes up the refrain and echoes: "Smith is a coward! He's a liar, a traitor, a villian, a liar! liar! liar!" The landlord appears on the scene and exclaims: "Hold up, gents! This is not a House of Commons; it's a decent groggery—none of your "Parlimentary" language here!" In the back ground, amidst amazed frequenters of the house, stands a stout lady, typical of the Tory party, who raises her hands heavenward and exclaims "How elegant! How clever! How perlite!" The hit is a capital one.

CANADA AND THE PARIS EXHIBITION.—The Premier has received the following interesting letter from the Right Hon. Dr. Lyon Playfair :—Paris, April 26, 1878. My dear Mr. Mackenzie,—I have come over here to make a preliminary inspection of the Exhibition, in my capacity of Chairman of the Finance Committee of the Royal Commission, before the Prince of Wales inspects the Industrial Department. I cannot refrain from complimenting you on the admirable position which Canada has taken in the Exhibition. It is the only Colony that will be ready for the Prince's inspection on Monday next. The trophy, which is admirable, cannot be completed for ten days yet; but this is no fault of agents, but of the French, who have not yet completed the building in which it is. The general space given to the Dominion is admirably advanced, and filled with specimens of raw materials and manufactures, which have fairly surprised me. In leather and tweeds especially I had no idea that Canada was so far advanced. All your exhibition will do much honor to the Dominion, and will, I have no doubt, contribute to its material prosperity. You have chosen your agents well, and they have done their work admirably.

DRAMATIC ENTERTAINMENT.

"The Hidden Gem."

On Tuesday evening there was produced in the hall of St. Ignatius' College, the drama bearing the above title, written by Cardinal Wiseman. Unfortunate it was that the hall was too small. After an audience of two hundred had been seated and a number standing, it was found necessary to discontinue selling tickets, and in consequence several were obliged to go away. The entertainment was under the management of the Catholic Literary and Debating Society, and the members are to be congratulated on the manner in which those deputed to take parts filled their various characters.

The tale was that of a Roman patrician mourning for the loss of his only son, who had left the paternal roof. A pilgrim chances to beg at the house of the Roman's something in the mien of the traveller attracts the patrician's eye; he receives him into his house and orders him to be treated as a guest. Then ensues ill-treatment of the pilgrim, by the steward and slaves of the household, who endures all uncomplainingly. To close all, the pilgrim is accused of attempting to rob the house of his benefactor, and on being questioned refuses to answer. The patrician believes in his guilt, and with scorn orders him to begone. This has the effect of killing the pilgrim. After all is over it is learned that the pilgrim was the only son returned incognita, and then follows grief and remorse on the part of the father, and penetince on the part of the household who had grievously ill-treated the son and heir.

The scenery and appointments throughout were all excellent, and reflected great credit on the artist, Professor Albert. Euphemianus, a Roman patrician, was a part sustained by J. E. McElderry with ability. His grief at the loss of his son, doubts and hopes in regard to him, and finally when discovered and his death hastened by the words of himself, followed by the most poignant grief on his part, were all vividly pourtrayed. The only fault to be found was at the opening, when his voice was pitched too low to be heard by those at the back of the hall. Alexius, under the name of Ignotus, his son, by J. C. Coffee, had a very correct conception of the author's meaning, and ably sustained his part. His voice was also too low at times. Proculus, the steward of the patrician's house, by Thomas Howard, was the sycophant, bully and coward to the life. Bibulus, a slave, by J. L. Murphy, was a fire brand in the household stirring up dissension among his fellows, and ready to murder to avenge a real or imaginary wrong. This character was a very difficult one to carry through successfull, but it was done. After Bibulus had placed poison in his master's cup, his struggle with conscience was powerfully pictured. Gannio, a beggar, by S. Heffernan, was a feature in the play. His make-up could not have been better, while his idea of the character was correct. He played the villian to the life. Eusebius, by J. J. Gough, Davus, by J. T. Harris, Ursulus, by J. J. Hazelton, and Verna, by J. Hayden—all slaves, were satisfactory performed. Carinus, a young nephew of Euphemianus, by Master J. MacMillan, was capital. Although a young lad, his general air on the stage, the reading of the lines, and display of emotion at the proper time, were such as was highly creditable to him. Jas. Wiley, imperial chamberlain, had little to do or say. What he had to do was effective. His make-up was very rich and appropriate. Carl Kaiser made a very good officer, and judging from the rough handling of Gannio and Bibulus, who were his prisoners, he must have served his time in early life on some police force. A chorus by the slaves, another by a number of boys, and an organ solo by Rev. Father Fleck, constituted the music, winding up with the "National Anthem."

The proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to the establishment of a Sunday School Library.

CATTLE FOR ENGLAND.—This (Saturday) morning Mr. S. L. Head has been busily engaged in superintending the loading of fifty head of as fine cattle as ever has been shipped from this county at the Grand Trunk station. The animals are all in prime condition, and will average over 1,400 lbs. There is no doubt but that they will realize the top market figure in Liverpool, if they have fine weather in crossing the Atlantic. The owners of the stock are Mr. Head and Mr. Alex. White. Perhaps the finest animals in the lot are three purchased at the Model Farm. They certainly appear to be in such a perfect condition that nothing but the most careful feeding would make them attain it. Mr. Head thinks that although the Old Country correspondent of the Mail argued that because the cattle purchased by Mr. Goodfellow at the Model Farm had died after a rough sea voyage, that Old Nick must be in the institution, he is always ready to purchase such animals as the management are prepared to sell. In all probability there is a much larger portion of Old Nick in the correspondent than in most of things earthly. The cattle will be shipped from Boston on the steamer Ibernian, of the Leyland line, on the 25th inst. The proprietors will accompany the stock. The shipment was made up by purchases from the following parties :—8 head from John McLeod, Nichol; 8 from John McGowan, M. P. P., Peel; 6 from Peter Rennie, Fergus; 5 from — Oliver, 1 from Jas. Warnock, Galt; 2 from the Model Farm; 2 from A. Aitcheson, 2 from Wm. Murdoch, 1 from J. & R. Hunter, Pilkington; 2 from Robert Law, Woolwich; 2 from Arch. Jackson, 2 from Geo. Patterson, Guelph; 1 from Jas. Elliott, Paisley Block; 2 from — Barnet, 1 from L. Bain, Garafraxa; 1 from Jas. Armstrong and one from Fred Armstrong, Eramosa.

Bond & Co. tell us that they have just received a large lot of the celebrated rubber paint ready mixed, all colors, instruction books given free of charge to any one requiring them.

EVERYONE SHOULD READ IT.—Messrs. J. D. Williamson & Co.'s new advertisement to-day announces such a lot of tempting bargains that everyone intending to buy should bear them in mind.

Guelph Mechanics' Institute.

The annual meeting of the Mechanics' Institute was held in the Tywn Hall on Friday evening. The President, Mr. G. B. Fraser, occupied the chair, and the following was read :

ANNUAL REPORT.

The Directors of the Guelph Farmers' and Mechanics' Institute, in presenting their Annual Report for the year ending 30th April, have much pleasure in adverting to the steady advancement made in carrying out the objects contemplated by your Institute, and its prospects of future usefulness.

On account of the dilapitated and sanitary state of the room occupied as library and reading-room, your Directors appointed a committee to look for premises more adapted. They reported in favour of room 81, Upper Wyndham street, as being larger, better lighted and ventilated, easier of access, and where lectures and where literary entertainments can be given without extra expense for hall, which report was received and adopted; and, so much is the change appreciated, that fully double the number of members avail themselves nightly of a quiet hour's reading.

Your Directors point with pleasure to the great success of the commercial and drawing classes, conducted by Messrs. Somerville & Martin. About forty young men availed themselves of the knowledge imparted to them.

Your Directors have received $400 Government grant, which was spent according to Statute and which enables their successors to rank for a like sum this year.

At the close of the year the financial position may be briefly stated as follows :—

ASSETS.

Library and furniture	$3360.00
Savings' Bank	159.08
Due from members	52.00
" " papers and magazines	10.00
Cash on hand	94.53
	$3675.53

LIABILITIES.

Sundries
Rent and salary
Gas fixtures, &c	$ 150.00
Balance	3525.53
	$3675.53

Your Directors have had under their consideration the advisability of reducing the subscription from $2 to $1, thereby giving a larger number the benefit of cheap reading.

The total number of books in the library is now 2,214, ninety-eight of which is so dilapitated as not being fit for circulation, and seventy-five not accounted for. There are $140 worth of books purchased, which will be placed on the shelves in course of a few weeks ready for distribution, which cannot fail to attract quite a number of new members.

They find on reference to the Librarian's books that 4,722 books were taken out during the year, comprising works in biography, history, natural history, miscellaneous works, poetry, fiction, reviews, science, travels, adventures, magazines, &c.

They would, in conclusion, earnestly advise their successors to give their utmost attention to the Institute, as they are convinced that, by careful management, it can be maintained as one of the most powerful agencies in the dissemination of a healthy literature.

The Directors beg to tender their thanks to the proprietors of the Guelph Herald and MERCURY and the London Advertiser for copies of their paper sent gratuitously for the year.

All of which is submitted.

G. B. FRASER, President.

Mr. Robt. Mackenzie, Secretary, read the financial statement as follows :

A hearty vote of thanks was passed to the office bearers for the past year, after which the meeting adjourned.

An account of the present state of the fortifications of Gallipoli is printed by the Neus Wiener Tagblatt. The writer says that British troops are already stationed at Gallipoli; they were landed by Rear-Admiral Commerell to establish a provisiou depot, and have remained there ever since. The Turkish garrison of 20,000 men under Selami Pasha would suffice to resist a sudden attack, but the fortifications are anything but imposing. They consist of three principal works; the largest, Fort Sultan, is in the middle of the line extending from west to east across the peninsula; it has been tolerably well restored, and is strengthened by a series of earthworks. The other forts are also being reconstructed and provided, with new works; and the Turkish soldiers are constructing a new line of defence, "Under the guidance of British engineer officers," at a distance of 9,000 metres to the east of Gallipoli. This line begins at the hill of Bakla-Bornu, to the south of Ayavil, crosses the sharp ridge of the Dohan-Arslan, and ends at Cape Ingyr, on the Sea of Marmora. The works have been so rapidly provided with cannon that guns had to be taken from the coast batteries for the purpose. "The Turks arm to the teeth against the Russians, and at the same time deprive themselves of all means of defence against the English."

PAINTERS and others can procure paints, oils, varnishes, and brushes cheap at John Horsman's mammoth hardware store, St. George's Square—the best place in town to get good value for your money.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

REPORTED SUCCESS OF SCHOUVALOFF'S MISSION.

Russia Conceding to Britain.

EXPECTED MEETING OF A CONGRESS.

LONDON, May 17.

A St. Petersburg despatch says it is believed Schouvaloff has succeeded in convincing the Emperor that it is to Russia's interest to concede to Europe most of the demands formulated by England. The assembling of a Congress appears assured.

A St. Petersburg despatch says :—The Russian journals to-day generally express hopes of peace. Even those hitherto warlike have adopted a temperate tone.

A St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphs that Schouvaloff probably leaves to-night or to-morrow. There is reason to believe that a Congress meets in a fortnight.

Significence is attached to the current belief that the Channel squadron will leave Port Said for Besika Bay immediately after the arrival of the Indian troops.

A Pera despatch says the advance of the Russians near to Constantinople has increased the uneasiness. The Russians are now extended before the city in a manner impressive to the popular mind. News come of other advances from the rear towards the frontier. It is reported that the Russians are about to deepen the channel from Tchekmedje Lake to the sea sufficiently to permit of the passage of small vessels.

A Constantinople correspondent is informed that Todleben notified the Porte yesterday that he was compelled to demand the speedy evacuation of Shumla, Varna, and Batoum, the removal of the Turkish camp at Maslak, and permission to occupy Buyukdere. No answer has yet been given. A Council of Ministers and Generals was held over which the Sultan presided. It is considered almost certain that the Turks will decide to fight rather than yield.

A Constantinople telegram says the examination of Suleiman Pasha has ended, and judgment will be given soon.

A Vienna despatch says :—Alarming reports come from Agram, Ragusa, Serejavo and Antivari of numerous criminal excesses on the part of Bosnian refugees.

CRUELTY TO A CHILD.—At the London police court on Friday, a man named Steeds was committed for trial for cruelty to his child. Sergeant Crawford deposed that he had heard of a lad being confined in an empty house on Wellington street in a state of idiocy and total neglect, and on forcing the door found the boy as described. He was lying on a bundle of rags, almost naked, without food, fire, or furniture of any kind. He was very much emaciated, and apparently starved. The day was bitterly cold. He accordingly arrested the father for cruelty to his child.

GREAT MUSICAL FESTIVAL.—The opening of the new music hall and exhibition building in Cincinnatti, on the evening of May 15th, was quite an event in the history of art of this country, particularly as regards music. The erection of this grand hall is directly due to the munificence of Reuben R. Springer, a retired merchant of that city. The new hall is a magnificent edifice, and will seat nearly 4,500. The organ fills a recess in the west end of the hall, and projects fifteen feet upon the stage. It was built by Hooks & Hastings, of Boston, and cost $26,000. It is the largest instrument in America, and probably fifth largest in the world. The chorus consists of 700, and the orchestra 180.

The formidable body of a well-dressed and intelligent Irishmen who—according to a North Troy despatch published on Friday—were encamped in that vicinity ready for an immediate invasion of Canada, and to resist whose incursions the Canadian militia had been called out, now takes the shape of fifteen tramps who had camped out in the woods for the night. Further than this there have been no signs of activity on the Vermont frontier.

The general situation in Lancashire has assumed a somewhat more favorable aspect, the employers having agreed to open the mills on the basis of a ten per cent. reduction, and to meet the operatives in three months to discuss the matter. This is regarded as a practical acceptance of the operatives' terms, but still it is doubtful if the latter will be satisfied. There have been riots at Halsingden, Preston, and Great Harwood, in which several policeman and rioters have sustained injuries. At the first named place a mill was burned.

Dr. Falk, the Prussian Minister of Public Worship, and well known as the framer of the celebrated Falk Laws, has tendered his resignation, owing, it is understood, to matters connected with the internal affairs of the Evangelical National Church.

There has been a falling off of one third in the amount of Peter's Pence during the last four months as compared with the same period last year. It has been decided by the Congregation to which the question was referred that under no circumstances can the Pope accept the provison made for him under the Italian guarantee law.

RUPTURE OF AN ARTERY in the right arm. Tried the most prominent surgeons in this city without benefit. By accident heard of DR. GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA. It acted like magic. Am now well.

Travellers will find the Great Central Hotel, New York, is one of the most excellent hotels in that city. Those who cannot be suited in price and accommodation they must be very hard to please indeed. eod

Suit Against the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

The old broil between the Presbyterian Church in Canada, and the few congregations in Canada who refused to become parties to the Union, and who still keep up their connection with the Church of Scotland, has broken out afresh. At the meeting of the Synod of Montreal the other day, some of the leading members were surprised by being served with an injunction at the instance of the Rev. Robert Dobie, minister of the Presbyterian Church of Scotland at Milton, County of Halton, forbidding them to in any way intertere with the Temporalities Fund, and to suspend all acts and proceedings in respect to the payment of such moneys, and to answer for their past acts before the Superior Court at Montreal, on the 4th of July, especially as regards their administration of the said Fund. This order was issued by Mr. Justice Rainville, one of the Judges of the Superior Court for Lower Canada. The following is a concise statement of the case as it now stands:—

By an Act of the Parliament of the Province of Canada in 1855, the Clergy Reserves belonging to the ministers of the Presbyterian Church of Canada in connection with the Church of Scotland, were commuted and placed at their own disposal in the shape of what were called "municipalities" in both Lower and Upper Canada, amounting to an annual stipend or allowance of £112.10s. to each clergyman for life. By a resolution passed at the 26th Synod of the Presbyterian Church of Canada in connection with the Church of Scotland (Rev. Dr. John Cook, Convener), on the 10th January, 1855—to which resolution the petitioner was a party—it was agreed that these funds should be devoted to a "permanent endowment for the maintenance and extension of religious ordinances" in that Church. This endowment fund was recognized by the Parliament of Canada by the passage of an Act, 22 Vic., Cap. 66, incorporating a Board of Management for that fund, to be composed of four commissioners who should be elected annually. After the union of the three Presbyterian bodies in Canada in 1875, the Legislature of the Province of Quebec passed an Act, 38 Vic., Cap. 64, amending the before-mentioned Act, incorporating the Board, who are the respondents, to be composed of twelve members—five ministers and seven laymen—whose appointment should be for life, and to whom the endowment fund was transferred.

It is alleged by the petitioners that this last-mentioned Act was unconstitutional, and that only the Federal Government had the power to enact such a measure, inasmuch as the former Act, which this amends, was passed by the Parliament of the Province of Canada, a higher legislative body than the legislature of Quebec. Also, that although the present Board, the respondents, administer this fund to all, and only to the churches formerly connected with the Church of Scotland, whether now in the union or dissenters from the union, the dissenting body is virtually and verily the Presbyterian Church of Canada in connection with the Church of Scotland, to whom the fund belongs. And the petitioner demands that the respondents be deposed from the management of the fund, as they illegally hold office, and that the funds which they now hold, $463,371.52, be made over to the petitioner and his colleagues, remaining with the dissenting body.

The case will be watched with special interest by the whole Presbyterian body. The Presbyterian congregations who have stood out against the Union are bound to fight it out to the last, and this process of law just taken is their only hope of securing the fitly lucre, the loss of which, however, cannot weaken the Union which was consummated under such auspicious circumstances.

Protection a Fraud.

(From St. John N. B. Telegraph.)

The new issue of Protection was discussed in various forms, the foremost men in the House of Commons mingling in the peaceful affray. In this as in other measures, the Government were fully sustained, and gained rather than lost in the conflict. The popular idea of Protection is rather fascinating; it readily appeals to a certain class of minds but when the whole scheme is developed, it must be clearly seen that while it can do something towards securing markets for home products, at prices inflated by Act of Parliament, or it may be ruinously depressed by excessive competition, unduly stimulated it is unfavorable to commence with other nations. The products raised in the hot bed of Protection can seldom compete successfully in the markets of the world. On the other hand if Canada is made a cheap place to live in, if goods are not made dear by any artifical process, and if taxes are not imposed on the great staples that enter into manufactures, the producers will be in a fair position to undersell those who are less favorably situated. We should be sorry to see any province of Canada misled by this Protectionist cry. We do not know any province that would, as a whole, gain by it. We feel very confident that it would be very injurious to the ship building, the lumbering, the fishing and the agricultural interests of the Maritime Provinces, while it would not fulfil its promise to the coal and other industries of the country. In so far as any of our representatives in Parliament, in or out of office, have opposed this ad captandum appeal to popular prejudices and erroneous teaching on fiscal questions, we most heartily approve of their course.

Four white whales, captured in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, arrived at Quebec on Friday en route for England, comfortable quarters having been secured for them on the steamship Circassian. They are destined for the Royal Westminister Aquarium, London.

The Detroit Free Press says:—Lord Dufferin takes his last farewell of the Dominion Parliament. He must feel relieved to get away from a set of roughs who shout "liar," "scoundrel," "villain," "thief" and such epithets across the floor of the House as they did at the close of the Parliament on Friday night.

Earl Russell Not Dead.

The telegraph on Friday mislead us in regard to the death of Earl Russell, which was announced at that time. Our latest despatches are that through the Earl was troubled with the effects of illness and old age, still he was hale and hearty, and had somewhat recovered from his late attack.

THE London Reform Association have endorsed the nomination of Col. Walker as the candidate in their interest.

IT is generally believed that the elections for the House for the House of Commons will take place in June.

THE nomination of Mr. Macmahon for Kent has thrown a bomb shell into the camp of the enemy, and the general belief is that Mr. Macmahon will beat Mr. Stephenson.

REFORMERS BEWARE.—We hear that a red hot Tory is busy circulating a petition asking Mr. Goldie to come out in opposition to the Reform candidate. We merely mention the matter to warn parties not to be trapped in this way, but to wait till the issues are fairly and squarely put between the supporters of Mr. Alexander Mackenzie and Sir John Macdonald.

MR. J. J. HAWKINS is making himself conspicuous in Bothwell. At his first meeting he was an advocate of protection for wheat and corn, but manifested no interest in manufactures. At the second meeting he abandoned the wheat duty and was silent as to corn. This is a good beginning for Mr. Hawkins, and there is reason to hope that long before the campaign is over he will avow himself a sincere free-trader.

WE are pleased to see that the Reformers of North Middlesex have chosen Mr. John Waters, brother of Rev. Dr. Waters, as their candidate for the Local Legislature. Mr. Waters is a very able man, and in him the electors of North Middlesex, without distinction of party, would have a representative who would do them credit and the country good service. Mr. Waters' speech at the convention on Monday is described by a gentleman who heard it as being far above the average.

THE thanks of the people of this county are due to Mr. David McCrae, for the bold fight he made at the meeting of the Agricultural and Arts Association, to get the Exhibition held at Guelph, failing the people of Toronto carrying their By-law to raise $150,000 to put up buildings for the Exhibition. Ottawa carried the day through underhand influence, but that is no discredit to Guelph, which was well represented in the person of Mr. McCrae, who did all that was possible for any one to do in favor of Guelph.

THE estimated cost of the Canadian Pacific Railway, says the Toronto Telegram, is one hundred millions of dollars. Where the money is to come from goodness only knows. The national debt now is one hundred and sixty millions. The distance of the route from New Westminister to Montreal is 2,730 miles, while the distance from San Francisco to New York by the Union Pacific and connecting lines is 3,363 miles, being a difference in the two routes in favor of the Canada Pacific of 623 miles. Up to the present time there has been spent on the enterprise something like fifteen millions of dollars. What a wild scheme it was for Sir John A. Macdonald to pledge the faith of the country to the building of this railway. It is at least a quarter of a century in advance of the requirements of the country.

THE President sent to the U. S. Senate on Friday afternoon a message enclosing a communication from the Secretary of State on the result of the Fishery Commisson. The President recommends the appropriation of the necessary sum, with such discretion to the Executive Government with regard to its payment as in the wisdom of Congress public interests seem to require. The message and accompanying document were referred to the Committee on Foreign Relations. Secretary Evarts in his accompanying communication raises a question as the competency of the Commission to make the award except with the unanimous consent of all its members, but intimates that an appropriation should be made by Congress at its present session, and that before the close of the year the attention of the British Government be called to the sentiments of this Congress on the subject of the award and its payment, and the measure of the value of the fishery privileges involved therein.

Captain Crappo's example of crossing the Atlantic in a dory is soon to be followed by Mr. A. W. Andrews, of Beverely, Mass., who propose starting about the first of nex month for the Paris Exhibition. His boa will be a little larger than Captain Crappo's, but it is being built after the same style. It is now being constructed by Glouchester parties. She will be named the Nautilus. She is built of of cedar and pine, and is extra timbered of oak. She is 19 feet deep and 1 inch over all, 15 feet keel, 27 inches in depth, and 6 feet 7 inches wide. She has no bowspirit, but will carry a lateen and square sail. She will be fitted with lockers and water tight compartments. Her intrepid owner will be accompanied by a companion, probably his wife.

The Manitoulin Enterpise (19th) says:—Since our last issue 2,800 acres of land have been taken up in the township of Mills, a large quantity on Barrie Island, and nearly all of the vacant lots in the townships of Gordon and Allen. Campbell and Carnarvon are also receiving a fair share of attention, while from Little Current we are informed that eight families have already settled in that locality this season. The majority of the settlers in the township of Mills are from the county of Bruce, farmers of good standing, and well qualified to give an opinion on the quality and quantity of farming land in that township.

Special Attraction.

We offer during the balance of this month wonderful attractions to intending buyers of Fancy and Staple Dry Goods, Millinery, Carpets, Silks, Mantles, Jackets, and General Dress Goods.

Our stock stands unrivalled in the Dominion. The taste is exquisitely beautiful, the value is the best to be found, the most polite and courteous attention, is paid to all ranks of respectable purchasers, and the best of satisfaction is guaranteed to all who make their purchases of us. We submit for this week the greatest bargains ever before shown to the inhabitants of Guelph in

Black Silks,

for ladie's Mantles or Dresses. We unhesitatingly say that we are offering an advantage of 20 per cent under any establishment in Guelph. We are showing a nice stock of Moonlight Trimmings, Moonlight Vellings and Floral Trimmings.

These goods are quite new.

In Ladies' Millinery, Hats and Bonnets

we excell in taste, style, and novelty all previous efforts. The young lady at the head of this Department combines the most refined taste with lofty artistic ideas, making at once her department the reception room for ladies who are in quest of all that is novel and excellent.

Jackets, Mantles.

We congratulate the ladies of this section in having so rich and excellent a lot of Ladies Silk Paramatta and Tweed Jackets, exquisite styles. Also an endless variety of the material and styles to select from.

Our stock of all classes of general goods is full and complete, and we remind our old customers and friends that we only keep new, fresh, sound and satisfactory goods, satisfying all who purchase them. We are straightforward in dealing, and represent goods just as they are. We wage war against old, motheaten, bankrupt stocks, kept by second class stores, and again warn the public against such trash. Call and see the wonderful man, and you will receive the best value for your money.

CORSETS. CORSETS.

Physicians, Women's Rights Advocates, Collectors of Mortuary Statistics, and Retormers generally

Have all had their fling at Corsets on sanitary grounds. Like the critics of the chameleon, "they are all right and all wrong," because Corsets made in the ordinary way may with justice be condemned, though those constructed in accordance with nature's laws are decidedly beneficial and hygienic to the female body. They support the bust, soften the sudden changes of temperature, and impart a firmness and support to the spinal column that are peculiarly useful. All this can be effected without torturing the body, but on the contrary improving the general health, and adding much to the grace and elegance of the well dressed woman. A Corset to fulfil all these requirements should be fashioned after nature's model, and when that is done the garment will be perfect.

Wm. Stewart & Co. impressed with the truth of this idea have secured Corsets after NATURE'S MODEL. Our stock is now full in every size of the popular

CHAPTER XLI.

GOOD OUT OF EVIL.

The walk to the cave was ardnous by reason of the heat, and rendered more so by the fierce rays of the western sun, which streamed in their faces. Yet did they press forward without flagging and without complaint. Even Daddy Duff, with his clouted feet, kept manfully abreast of the rest, though his age might well have excused him from such rapid motion. But Daddy was inured to pedestrian travelling both on mountain and on plain, and could sustain a foot journey better than many a younger man. His sturdy, old limbs had much pith in them yet; his interest in Harold's affairs had even got the better of his laziness, though at times, it must be confessed, he longed, not for Harold's sake, but his own also, that the weary quest would end in discovery that he might be basking in the sun on the hillside as of yore—and come and go, move and stay as he listed, with his old and more than ever prized freedom from care. He sighed to think that no such termination of their anxiety and exertions seemed likely, but he never dreamed of ceasing to withhold his aid so long as it was wanted, so thoroughly unselfish was the foundation of Daddy's nature.

At the shoulder of the hill where the roads diverged, Dixon was waiting for them. He had seen them from one of the heights above, and descended to accompany them to the cave, as he doubted not they were thither bound.

"Well, Dixon," said Harold, "this is a sad catastrophe.

"Most deplorable. But I hope, Mr. Logan, you do not charge me with blame in the business? Dick wanted to fight the officers. I would not consent."

"You did perfectly right," replied Harold. "Had I been there I should have done precisely the same thing. It would have been madness to fight. How is Dick?"

"Very bad. His sufferings are dreadful, but I don't think he feels them in all their acuteness. His mind wanders, and," added Dixon, with a curious and rather confused look at Harold, "he has strange fancies—he labors under a—an extraordinary delusion."

"Of what nature?" asked Harold, with a deep flush.

"Why, his disturbed mind dwells on the brush we had with the Excise on the Hill of Fare; and, curiously enough, he imagines that he fired the pistol at Wanlass."

Between the tone in which Dixon spoke, and the keen, steady look with which he regarded Harold there was a wide difference. It was a silent, watchful, question-look. Harold noticed it, flushed to a deeper red, and tried to ignore it by saying—

"Ah, strange fancies often come in delirium."

Dixon was silent, but his fixed gaze was continued some moments longer, then were transferred to the also conscious faces of Kenneth Fraser and Daddy Duff.

The silence was embarrassing, but Dixon terminated it by abruptly asking—

"Which road shall we take?"

"What state is the cave in?" asked Harold, in turn.

"I don't know; none of us have been at it. I think it will be best to go to the south side, where the officers re-opened the built-up passage."

"Agreed," said Harold, and they at once struck into the path which had on the previous day been followed by Gillespie and his men.

As they went on Dixon showed such unmistakable anxiety to speak privately to Harold that the latter gave him an opportunity by separating himself a little from the others. Scarcely had he done so when Dixon joined him, and said in a low and impressive tone—

"Is it true, Logan?"

"What Dick is continually asserting in his ravings—that he shot Wanless?"

"Yes, Dixon, it is perfectly true."

"Good God; and you have borne the blame of it, and suffered for it so enormously. How could you endure it?"

"How could I do otherwise?" rejoined Harold. "The charge was fastened on me by Gillespie, and Dick had not the courage to clear me by declaring own guilt."

"The destable coward!" muttered Dixon, through his firmly set teeth.

"This being so," went on Harold, "I would have done a mean dishonorable thing had I denounced Dick in order to save myself."

"Nine hundred and ninety-nine men out of a thousand would have done it," said the other, emphatically.

"No, no. Many would have done as I did. You would have done it yourself."

"Never! Your noble generosity of soul I could not display—at least, at such a mighty sacrifice as you have made. But this must be set right now. Dick must be made to emit a declaration of the truth ere he die."

"Not made to do it, Dixon. If he does it voluntarily, good and well; but not on compulsion. To be vindicated in that manner would do me little good."

"But when he knows he is dying he will declare it voluntarily," said Dixon.

"I think he will," was Harold's simple reply; and just then they came in sight of a mound of fresh rubbish scattered on the side of the hill in front of a circular aperture made in the rock. This was the passage into the cave which the gauger and his men had opened.

No one had approached the place since the officers left; the state of the interior of the cave was therefore as yet unknown. The fire had long since burned itself out, but a warm, strangely-smelling air met them as they entered, and the furt her they penetrated the hotter did it become.

It was, however, possible to endure it, and they advanced till they stood within the principal cavern, where the manufacturing operations had been chiefly performed, and where the conflagration had raged with such intensity.

Here all was wreck and ruin. The smouldering ashes of the consumed utensils were spread over the rocky floor; the roof and walls were blackened with smoke, cracked, and rent, while many huge masses had been tumbled down by the force of explosions. Some of the recesses, which had formed sleeping places, were blocked up by these detached mass s; others were open still; but their contents were consumed.

In front of the place which had formed Harold's own special sanctum a large piece of rock had lodged, which by their united efforts was toppled over, and access obtained. Here the youth found, to his intense satisfaction, that the fire had done little injury—the flames having been stayed in their course by the stone falling into the mouth of the recess. He rushed to the spot where his precious iron box had been deposited, and uttered a cry of joy when he found it entire. But its contents, would they be safe? Would the heat not have singed the letters and obliterated the writing? He flew outside with it to learn by examination if this mischief had been done.

Here he found Daddy Duff reclining at full length, obtaining repose after the day's journey and watching the golden sunset. The heat and heavy odour of the cave had been so little to the old man's taste that he quickly returned to the open air, where nature's fragrance and beauty could be enjoyed, and his tired limbs find repose on the thick greensward.

"Oh, Daddy, my box is safe," exclaimed Harold, in a joyous tone, as he bore his burden to where the mendicant lay, and began to open it.

"I'm glad o' that, sir. Will the letters be safe tee?"

"That's just what I'm going to learn. Confound the key—it won't go in."

"That's nae the key's blame, sir," remarked Daddy. "It's yer shakin' hand that canna pit it in. There, it's in noo, and the lock opens just as usual. What about the letters?"

"Safe, too," exclaimed Harold, as with intense delight he brought a packet from the box. "One or two of the upper ones are a little singed, but I don't think the writing will be injured. Let me see."

With eager fingers he unfolded the topmost, which seemed to be most discoloured by the fire.

"Not a word, not a line injured," he shouted; "the writing is as distinct as ever; in fact there's a line or two blacker than before. Upon my word, Daddy, there is. Eh—what—what—my God!"

"Guid life, sir, what's the matter?" ejaculated Daddy, rising to his elbow in amazement, at sight of a most extraordinary change which had come on Harold. He had sprung to his feet with the open letter in his hand, and was gazing at it with eyes distended and countenance so altered that Daddy was positively terrified.

"Heaven and earth! is this a delusion? or are the words really there? No, no; I would have seen them before. It is a horrid conjuration—a cruel and fiendish mocking. My eyes are bewitched."

He dashed his hand with violence across his face and looked again expecting that the appearance of written words which had so astounded him would be gone.

They were not gone; they met his reeling eyes with the same dark vivid distinctness.

"Oh, some fiend must be making sport with my misery!" he exclaimed. "Look, Daddy, look at the letter, and read aloud all you see. Quick, for God's sake, quick, for my brain throbs to bursting!"

"But I canna see tee read either prens or writin' wi'oot my spectacles," said the astonished Daddy. "They are somewhere in my wallet, if I can get them."

"Oh, I can't wait a moment. Here, Kenneth—Kenneth!" he shouted, in a tone which brought his foster-brother from the cave with a rush.

"Kenneth—Kenneth," cried Harold; come and read me this."

Kenneth, in startled wonder, took the letter from Harold's hand. His eye was at once caught by those lines, of intense blackness, inserted near the middle, and mechanically read the words which comprised them—

"We are confined in a ruined castle on an island near to the Benachray. Come and rescue us."

"You also see the words, then," exclaimed Harold, with frantic vehemence. "The spell is laid on us both."

"Spell!" echoed Kenneth. There's no spell; the words are written there, between the other lines of the letter, and they are in Mrs. Logan's hand, the same as the rest."

"A delusion—a bitter, a devilish delusion," said Harold. "Think you if Lizzie had written them I would not have seen them the moment the letter came into my hand; or think you her jailer would not have seen them? No, my brother, I tell you again, it is a diabolic mockery."

"Let me see it," cried Daddy, who had by this time got on his spectacles.

Kenneth handed the mendicant the letter with a face of astonished perplexity, and Daddy scanned it with grave attention.

"Weel," he observed very deliberately, "if it's a deevil's cantrip we are a' bewitched thegither. But it's nae sic thing. I see it as plain as a pike-staff. When ye got the letter, and first read it, thae words were inveesible, for this hae been written wi' some stuff that turns black only at the heat. It's the fire that's broucht them oot, sir."

"Is it—can it be possible?" cried Harold, as the dawn of this bewildering possibility broke on his mind.

"There's nae a doot aboot it," continued Daddy, "It's a curious device o' the brave lassie's tee tell ye where they hae her confined, and wha kens but it's on mair o' the letters than this ane."

This shrewd idea Harold instantly caught at, and snatched out the next letter of the packet. Yes, there sure enough were the same words, black and vivid, between the lines of the dictated letter.

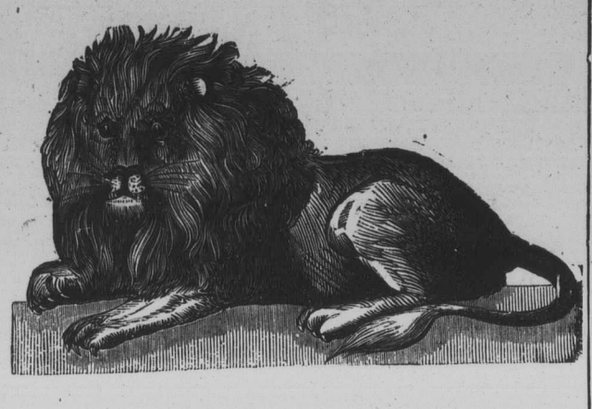
"Try the next," suggested Daddy, whose keen sagacity had penetrated the mystery which neither Kenneth nor Harold could solve.

"The third letter in the packet was quickly unfolded, but no such interpolated words appeared on it.

"Ay," was Daddy's ready comment. "She hadna fun' oot the stuff whan that ane was written. But I'll wager they are on the letter I brought the day."

Harold had it from his bosom in a twinkling, and Kenneth, whose excited sensibilities were on the alert, ran into the cave for a quantity of the glowing ashes, which he brought in a small copper dish that happened to escape the ravages of the fire.

The letter received that day did not appear to have any writing upon it but what Harold had read. He examined it very closely, and held it between his eye and the light; still, nothing more was to be discovered.



"Let in fin' the heat," said Daddy Duff, his interest in the result being so strong as to rouse him from his lair and cause him to approach the spot where Kenneth had forced it into a fiercer glow the living wooden ashes.

It was amid the breathless excitement of all three that Harold held the paper to the ashes in such a way that they could all see what might happen. The heat was not very great, and for a minute or so no effect was produced; but at the end of that time marks of a faint color began to grow, as it were, out of the paper, very dim at first, and light in shade, but gradually darkening and deepening in hue till the intensest black was reached, and the words written on two former letters stood revealed before their eyes.

Harold was in doubt no longer, and the blessed truth rushed into his mind that the place of Lizzie's imprisonment was at length discovered. His joy and rapture were indescribable. He embraced Kenneth—he embraced Daddy; he leaped and skipped upon the hill side like a man possessed, crying forth with a loud voice—"Benachray, Benachray, where is Benachray?"

In response to his call there issued at that moment from the mouth of the cave the only two men within a circuit of many miles who could answer the all-important question.

These men were Dixon and Nip.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—Further particulars regarding the death of Wm. Irvine, of Beverly, are learned from the Dundas Banner:—On Friday afternoon last a sad and melancholy affair happened on the fifth concession of West Flamboro', near the town line. Mr. Wm. Irvine, formerly of Carlisle, but lately living with his daughter, Mrs. McNeillie, 5th concession, Beverly, had been in Carlisle transacting some business. On his way home from Carlisle he spent some time in Mr. Charles Milne's hotel, Millgrove, which place he left about three o'clock, p.m. He rode with Mr. Matthew Porter from Millgrove to a little west of the Brock Road, from whence he started to walk home, but about six o'clock Mr. John George found him dead—the lower half of his body on a log, while the upper half was submerged in a pool of water, his face downwards. It is supposed that he tripped on the end of the log, one end of which was out on the road, while the other end was in the water, and that he fell forwards on his face into the water and was suffocated. Being an old man, he was unable to extricate himself, either through debility, or from the shock of the fall on the log. Dr. Davidson, coroner, held an inquest, and a verdict in accordance with the above was found.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. ARMENIANS WANT RUSSIAN PROTECTION.

At Pera all Hopes of Peace have been Abandoned.

Passage Troops from India through Suez Canal.

LONDON, May 20.—A despatch from St. Petersburg says the Armenians are despairing of English aid, and are agitating in favor of Russian protection.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 20.—15,000 Russians are expected to arrive at San Stefano from Adrianople. A number of Cossacks have arrived there also, and demanded a surrender of the Turkish position at Akhoumain, on the Black Sea. Turkish troops were immediately placed under orders. The Porte endeavored to induce them to retire but was unsuccessful. The Cossacks and Turks are now encamped together.

LONDON, May 20.—A special to London Times from Pera yesterday says all hopes of peace now are nearly, if not entirely abandoned. Austria is impressed with a conviction that Russia is irreconcilable and has adopted a definite policy for the protection of her interests. The Turkish Government has no more misgivings concerning Austria's military preparations than concerning the presence of the English fleet in the Sea of Marmora.

A despatch from Port Said announces a passage through the Suez Canal to-day of five English transports with troops for Malta.

AN ENTERPRISING THIEF.—The Palmerston Telegraph says: On Saturday last a man went into the store of Mr. Touchburn and solicited that gentleman to subscribe for "The Life of Christ," but could not secure an order for the book. As he left the store, he took with him a roll of butter, weighing about eight pounds, and crossed over to the Dominion Hotel, where he sold it to the landlord, taking his dinner as part payment; but whilst the dining-room maid was absent from the room the thief stole the butter again, and went into the store of Mr. Nicholson, boot maker, and to him sold the butter; but there he did not succeed in re-stealing it. The rogue is about twenty-three years old, speaks German very fluently, says he is a printer, and learned his trade at Stratford.

A writ of attachment has been issued against the estate of Senator Sicard, of Ottawa, and a meeting of creditors called for the 6th of June. His liabilities are said to be enormous, but his business and assets are also very large.

Applications has been made to the War Office for an armament of heavy modern guns for Quebec and other Canadian fortresses, as it is felt that the ordnance in our possession is not as powerful as some that might be brought against us, and the Dominion is not in a position, financially, to spend large sums for war material.

"A Scotchman" sends some remarkable information to the London Globe. He says, upon the strength of a private letter which has been placed in his possession, that the Russian authorities have a plan of destroying the English ships by the use of 1,000 tons of crude petroleum. This is to be allowed to float on the surface of the water, so as to be carried down with the current at the time when the English ironclads are midway in the Straits. The oil then being ignited, the whole length and breadth of the Bosphorus Narrows would be converted into a sea of fire, destroying the crews and leaving the ironclads to be captured at leisure. The Russians can always rely upon abundant and rapid supplies of crude petroleum, the wells in Roumania and the Caucasus being inexhaustible. The whole expenditure would amount to only about $30,000. Such is the plan which the "Scotchman" professes to have discovered.

WALKING MATCH.—Mr. C. W. Goodeve, of Hamilton, formerly of Guelph, is to walk with a Montreal champion on the 24th, in Toronto. Distance is to be three miles. Considerable interest is manifested in the match at Hamilton, and large crowds watch Mr. Goodeve in his evening practices. He is a very rapid walker, and stands a very good chance of winning. The result of the walk will decide the championship of the Dominion.

WAR MAP.—Messrs. W. H. Smith & Son, of London, England, have issued a very interesting and complete war map, shewing the vast entire Russo-Turkish Frontier in Europe and Asia. It is nicely colored, and is said to be the most complete one that has been published, having been compiled under authority of the Admiralty, with all the towns, fortresses, and additional railways combined. The references are also very distinct. The particulars throughout are most minute and accurate, and every possible information that a war map can give is afforded. Every householder should procure one. Mr. W. H. Widdicombe is now canvassing for orders.

ST. GEORGE'S CHURCH.—The services yesterday were of an interesting character. In the morning early Communion, when the Rev. C. R. Lee assisted Canon Dixon in its administration to a large number of communicants. Mr. Thomas Rixon, of Milton, at the mid-day service, was admitted to the Diocesate, and the Bishop preached an excellent sermon to a full congregation, on "The Pastoral Office." There was then another celebration of the Holy Communion, at which a large number of the congregation partook. The music was very good. Canon Dixon, the examining chaplain of the Diocese, presented Mr. Rixon as a fit person for holy orders. At 3 p.m. there was a Sunday School service. The school is in a flourishing condition, having greatly increased under the supervision of Mr. E. Morris, and Mr. G. Murton, the Librarian. The Bishop gave a catechetical lecture to the children, questioning them as he proceeded, and the answering reflected much credit on the teachers. The boys sang very well, Miss Geddes accompanying them; they also took up the offertory as if they had been well drilled in that important office. In the evening Mr. Rixon read prayers, and the Ven. Archdeacon Ellwood preached an eloquent sermon on the "Penitent Thief." Mr. Rixon proceeds to Europe for a few months ere he takes clerical duties.

DAMAGED BOOTS AND SHOES.—Just received two thousand pairs of boots and shoes, damaged by water. The above will be sold at half the regular prices. George Goulding, Guelph Auction Mart, Market Square.

Mr. D. I. K. Rine is reported to have entered an action for libel against the New Dominion for calling him a characterless tramp, laying damages at $10,000.

THE BALL AND BAT.

Law vs. Banks,—Before His Umpire J. R. Hood.

This suit, which has been pending for some time, was decided on Saturday last There were nine witnesses on each side, and after considerable evidence had been taken, and many of those interested had succeeded in having their friends "whitewashed," the matter was determined in favor of the plaintiffs. Some of the evidence was of a very base nature. The parties had evidently intended to remain in town for some days, as one side brought their Coffee and Wardrobe with them, and the other side Butler and Steward. They were also well provided with fowls, pitchers, butter, muffs, and other like necessaries. Great inconvenience was occasioned by the immense number of flies, and considerable difficulty was also experienced from the many strikes that happened in the ranks. After bawling round for some time they tossed for first choice. Tobe or not Tobe was the question. The plaintiffs declared they would give no quarter, and the opposite parties were too dolorous about the close of the case to care one way or the other. The case began. Discounts were offered by the defendants, but the plaintiffs were not to be hoodwinked by any such ledgerdemain. A running commentary was kept up throughout. Some parts of the evidence were very slippery, owing, probably, to the number of Gelatinous experiments tried. Good feeling prevailed, epecially about the hands. After a good deal of Cuttin' up the matter was decided and found to be largely in favor of the plaintiffs. The defendants were Sacheated, and agreed to take the will for the deed, when a renewal of hostilities was proposed. This sealed their fate, and it cost them all yesterday to get over it. The following is the bill of costs:—

Law..... 1 0 0 5 8 0 8 2 4—28.

The following are the names of those intrested:—Lawyers—T. Coffee, p; Cutten, 1b; J. Coffee, 2b; K. McLean, 3b; W. Macdonald, rf; J. Wood, cf; R. McLean, lf; Wardrope, ss, and Hugh McMillan, c.

In the evening continuous exercise was kept up by a number of those who had been chasing the ball all afternoon, in order to prevent contraction of the muscles. The route chosen for the tramp was principally along the Market sq. About 11 o'clock "wearied" with the exercise it was discontinued. As a grand finale to the contest pyrotechnics were invested in at Drew's, and a Queen's birthday celebration on an extended scale took place on Wyndham street. The sky rockets shot up many metres high. Shortly before the solemn hour of the Sabbath approached, the celebration was brought to a close and the party meandered home.

EN ROUTE TO MANITOBA.—A letter has been received from Mr. Wm. Kennedy, of Erin, the leader of the party of some forty who left Guelph for Manitoba about a week ago, dated Duluth, May 11. He said that the party had arrived so far in good health and in excellent spirits. Reference was made to the kindness and attention shown to passengers as had been done this trip on the Ontario, by Capt. Robinson and his officers, and on that account would heartily recommend this route, and especially the Ontario, to all intending emigrants to Manitoba. At an impromptu meeting, held in the cabin of the Ontario, just before reaching Duluth, it was moved by Thos Croft and seconded by Wm. Kennedy, "That the thanks of every passenger on this steamer are due to Capt. Robinson and his officers, for the kindness and attention we have received on our voyage to Duluth." After which round upon round of cheers were given for the captain, crew and steamer.

The Provincial Exhibition.

To the Editor of the MERCURY.

DEAR SIR,—I notice your remarks in to-day's issue on the selection of Ottawa as the possible place for holding this year's Provincial Exhibition. While regretting that choice—believing it to be against the best interests of the Exhibition—allow me to differ from you in your remarks on the members of the Board who advocated the claims of that city. You have, in my opinion, done them an injustice—inadvertently, I presume—which I take this early opportunity of asking you to correct.

Yours truly,
D. MCCRAE.

Guelph, May 18, 1878.

In the good old days when Ireland had a Parliament of her own, one honorable gentleman said pleasantly, in the course of debate, of another honorable gentleman: "The house of the honorable member are, and have ever been, political and personal hirelings, from the white-livered hound that is trimbling on the flure to the painted hag that is grinning in the gallery." After the duel some one asked the speaker how he came to know that the sister of his adversary, the "hag" of the peroration was to be present in the House. "Sure I walked down with him, and he tould me himself," answered the orator.

Mr. Blake's Bill for the prevention of crimes of violence passed through both Commons and Senate and has received the assent of the Governor-General. A couple of amendments which were sought to be made to the measure while it was before the Commons were carried through in the Senate. The one was to prohibit the possession of any arms, instead of a stand of five, in any house within the proclaimed district; and the other was to provide for the summary trial by magistrates instead of by jury of persons arrested under the Act.

The boiler in Cameron's saw-mill and heading factory, Widder, exploded on Saturday morning at about half-past eight. Robert Truesdale, the engineer, was instantly killed, and several others badly hurt.

There is quite a fever in Quebec in reference to asbestos mining, large beds of this mineral having been discovered in Megantic. A quantity of the mineral lands are to be shortly sold by auction by the Local Government.

In consequence of telegraphic orders from Ottawa to forward ball ammunition immediately to Capt. Nash, commanding officer of the Emerson Infantry Company on the Manitoba boundary, several boxes of cartridges were shipped on the 18th.

The Trustees of the Presbyterian Church Temporalities Fund having been prevented by injunction from disbursing the stipends for the present half year to the ministers, an application is about to be made to the Courts to remove the injunction.

THE CARLAW-WHYTE AFFAIR.—The Arthur Enterprise says:—For several months past Mr. Carlaw's friends in Scotland have been instituting enquiries, with a view to unravelling the mysteries connected with the unceremonious and sudden flight from Arthur, of Miss Carlaw, some thirteen years ago. These friends appear to take hold of the matter with a will, and a commendable degree of energy. They kept Mr. Carlaw posted as to their progress, and of late their efforts do not appear to be altogether in vain. The last letter, dated April 22nd, says that in reply to interrogations concerning Miss Carlaw, from the session of his Church, Whyte affirmed that she was still alive. The same letter states that Whyte was to be married on the 30th April; that his betrothed was a captain's widow, named Harknege, etc. There appears to be no doubt about the marrying business, but the people of Queensferry do not appear to be so well satisfied as to the lady, a general suspicion existing that she is the heroine of this great social scandal. However, this suspicion will probably be satisfied by this time, as Miss Carlaw's photographs and a description of marks on her person, have been placed in the hands of parties who will find her out if at all possible. In the meantime it is quite plain that Whyte knows all about Miss Carlaw if she is alive; and, doubtless, has had her under his thumb ever since she left Arthur; and is now marrying her to save himself, when he finds his crimes are being brought home to him.

Another cruelty case is being investigated in London. Wm. Steeds, sign painter, was charged with confining a simple-minded son in a house on Clarence street without furniture or fire. Sergeant Crawford found the house apparently deserted, but on forcing the door found a young lad, aged about 13 years, lying on a bundle of rags on the floor. He appeared very thin and emaciated and looked like as if he had been cruelly treated. Notwithstanding that the day was bitterly cold there was no fire in the house, nor no coverings for the poor child. He arrested Steeds on a charge of ill-treating the lad. The prisoner was committed to stand his trial.

The late severe frosts seems to have been destructive as far down as Southern Virginia and Kentucky.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

The Factory of Messrs. Tolton Bros. & Co.

Since the above firm commenced business in Guelph, a couple of years ago, their trade has constantly increased. This has necessitated an enlargement of their premises, and now they have a workshop on the corner of Waterloo and Huskisson streets which is a credit to the enterprise of the firm. The building is frame, three stories in height, and is 65 x 40 feet in size.

The first flat of the building contains an office, fitting shop, iron shop, store room, boiler and engine room. The principal implements manufactured are Pea Harvesters, Combined Pea Cleaner and Pneumatic Chaff Carrier Attachment, and Straw Cutters. General repairing is also carried on to a large extent. The iron shop is roomy, and well lighted. Besides an iron lathe, drill, and several other machines required for finishing iron work, there is a steam hammer, which is found exceedingly useful, and saves a large amount of elbow power. The engine was manufactured by Mr. A. Robertson, and does excellent work. Its capacity is ten-horse. The number of reapers and mowers in stock of various makes is very large.

From the ground floor a steam hoist is used for shifting the work from one flat to another. Reaching the first floor by this means the wood shop is found. Labor saving machines are extensively used. Among the number are a planer, lathes, jig and circular saws. On this flat there is a store room which is well filled with seasoned lumber. The second flat is used as a paint shop, and it is here where the finishing touches are given with the brush.

During the past year the sale of Pea Harvesters was very large, orders having been received for them from various parts of the Province. This year the firm will make up 1,000 of these implements, and there is no doubt but what they will be sold as fast as they can be made up.

Messrs. Tolton are all hard workers, thoroughly understand their business, and have considerable enterprise. These traits taken altogether will ensure success.

Cheese or Butter Making—Which are Most Profitable?

The Monetary Times of last week discusses at some length the question, "In what way can our dairymen dispose of their milk to the best advantage?" Whether to make it into butter at home, sell it to cheese factories, or establish butter factories? The first named method does not give satisfaction, on account of the generally low grade of home-made butter, the bulk of such butter being of inferior quality, owing to the small quantity of milk that can be treated at one time, and we may add, the lack of proper appliances for the production of a good article. The next alternative is to send the milk to the cheese factories, a practice which has of late become so general, and we may say so profitable, that its discussion is unnecessary. The Times thinks, however, that it will not be advisable for all the milk to be made into cheese, for if the market were over-stocked low prices would be the result; and thinks the better plan would be for dairymen to support the cheese factories already established, but to start butter factories in localities where cheese factories do not exist. Comparatively few butter factories have as yet been established in Ontario; but we believe those that are in existence have proved very successful, the article produced, where the factory is properly conducted, being so much superior to the ordinary run of butter, that it always commands the very highest price in the market; while the profit from feeding butter milk to pigs is so much greater than that realized from the whey of the cheese factories, that it forms an important item in the season's profits. As we learn from the paper referred to, the total cost of a butter factory, including building, churns, milk pans, and other necessary appliances, is about $1,000; where horse power is employed in the churning. If steam is used the cost of the boiler and engine will have to be added, say $200 more; but this will be off-set by the price of the horse and the fuel by the animal's feed, so that the difference will not be so great, while the advantages otherwise will be largely in favor of steam. A factory at this cost is calculated to manufacture the milk of 300 cows. A factory in the County of Huntington, Quebec, cost nearly $3,000, but it has a large and handsome building, and all the machinery necessary for manufacturing the milk of 500 cows, including boiler and ice-house; the latter being an indespensable requisite for every good butter factory. This factory is a joint stock one, and gives a dividend of 10 per cent on the investment. They charge the patrons 3½c. per lb. for making the butter, and furnishing salt and tinnets, and make one lb. of butter from 25 lbs. of milk throughout the season. The butter sold at 23½c., netting the patrons 20c. per lb. after paying all expenses. In two adjoining factories, which cost $1,000 each, 4c. per lb. was charged for manufacturing the butter last season, but it brought 21c. per lb. clear, better sales having been made than in the factory alluded to. The patrons also get back the skimmed milk and the butter-milk, which are much superior to whey for feeding young stock and hogs. These particulars will enable the patrons of the cheese factories in this County to judge of the comparative profits of the two methods of disposing of their milk. Whether giving it to the cheese or butter factories may be most profitable, one thing seems clear, that either is much better than to attempt to manufacture the milk at home, as it will not only realize a better price, but save the farmers' wives and daughters the drudgery and labor necessarily involved.

Travellers will find the Great Central Hotel, New York, is one of the most excellent hotels in that city. Those who cannot be suited in price and accommodation they must be very hard to please indeed. eod

Mr. Shewan, living within a mile of Listowel, while on his way home, in trying to pass a load of hay, he got between the two wagons, was knocked down, and the wagon wheel passed over his leg below the knee, smashing it to pieces.

"What has been done once, can be done again," said some philosopher. This may be true, but we are inclined to doubt it. We once found a ten dollar bill in a horse car, and we have been gunning horse-cars in vain ever since.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Nothing Definite About the Negotiations.

Debate in the House of Commons.

LONDON, May 19.

The Government will meet Lord Hartington's resolution in the House of Commons on Monday, that no force be raised or kept by the Crown in time of peace, save within India, without the sanction of Parliament, with an amendment which will be offered by Sir Michael Hicks Beach, Secretary of State for the Colonial Department, as follows:—

This House being of opinion that the constitutional control of Parliament over the raising and employment of the military forces of the Crown is fully secured by the provisions of the law, and by the undoubted power of this House to grant or refuse supplies, considers it unnecessary and inexpedient to affirm a resolution tending to weaken the hands of Her Majesty's Government in the present state of foreign affairs.

The notice by the Colonial Secretary in the House of Commons last evening that this amendment would be submitted was received with loud and prolonged cheering by the Conservatives.

A Calcutta special says:—Orders have been issued for the immediate construction of coast defences. Madras will be protected by five batteries, armed with 65-pounder rifled guns. Batteries will also be erected at various ports on the eastern coast. Another battery for the defence of Calcutta is being constructed at Fultah, one of the narrowest points of the Hooghly River, which will cover torpedo defences. Bombay and Rangoon will be similarly defended.

Large quantities of Government stores are being sent to Liverpool to arm and equip steamships belonging to lines running to America, which have been chartered to be used in case of war with Russia.

A St. Petersburg correspondent says:—While there is reason to believe that the foundations of an arrangement have been laid between the Cabinets of London and St. Petersburg, the small group of personages who know what has occurred maintain extreme reserve, and it is extremely difficult to say how far the various rumors are to be relied on.

A Vienna correspondent telegraphs:—The conciliatory disposition in St. Petersburg was maintained to the end of Schouvaloff's visit, despite the efforts to the contrary, and the struggle, political and personal, going on for the last week in St. Petersburg was decided in favor of Schouvaloff.

It is said that at his first interview with the Emperor he assailed the Treaty of San Stefano and its framers boldly. The impression produced on the Czar's mind is reported to have been so deep that no efforts of his adversaries could weaken it. The effect of the Count's communication about the extent of the concessions which must be made if war with England was to be avoided was startling. Now there can scarcely be a doubt that Schouvaloff goes back to London empowered to make concessions in accordance with the British view, or even to offer great concessions.

In proportion as the news from St. Petersburg is more pacific that from Constantinople is more warlike. The Russians insist that the movements of their troops are not intended as hostile, but the Turks are notwithstanding hard at work strengthening their lines, and bringing up guns. This is not easy, as the Turkish line of defence from the Sea of Marmora to the Black Sea is so long, and while the Turkish force about the capital is superior to the Russian it is hardly sufficient to man such a length of line. The Turks will be soon reinforced, however, by forty battalions released in Thessaly, and twenty battalions from Varna.

The Times says:—The war has cost Russia about one hundred millions sterling.

THE WESTMINSTER REVIEW, just republished by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay Street, New York, contains articles on a great variety of subjects of present interest:—"The Literature of the Servians and Croats." After briefly glancing at Servian history, as a guide to the student of its literature, the writer gives some account of the oldest documents passes on to the ballads and national songs, and closes with short notices of the principal Servian and Croatian authors of the present century. "Popular Buddhism according to the Chinese Canon." A very interesting account of the life and teaching of Buddha as it is accepted by the popular Buddhist mind. Many a reader will be astonished at hearing that "Buddhais a canonized saint of the Christian Church." "An Indian District: its People and Administration." "Peasant Life in France and Russia." The writer of this paper sets out to note a few of the characteristics of the peasant's life in three of its most interesting aspects—his relations to the priest, to the doctor, and to the dead; and points out close resemblances in the manners and customs, opinions and superstitions of peasant life in the two countries. "Our Present Convict System" describes the leading features of the present system, and suggests the general direction in which reform ought to be attempted. "Life of the Prince Consort" reviews the third volume of the life by Theodore Martin, just published. "Russian Aggression and the Duty of Europe" takes strong ground against Russia, pronounces the Czar's victories to be the defeats of freedom, and advises the hand on the hilt of the sword while parleying with Russia. "Contemporary Literature" and an article entitled "India and our Colonial Empire" complete the number. The periodicals reprinted by The Leonard Scott Publishing Co. (41 Barclay street, N. Y.) are as follows:—The London Quarterly, Edinburgh, Westminster, and British Quarterly Reviews, and Blackwood's Magazine, Price, $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the postage is prepaid by the Publishers.

Dr. Carruthers has just completed the fiftieth year of editorship of the Inverness Courier, a length of tenure of office unparalleled in the history of the newspaper press. In a brief note to his readers Dr. Carruthers alludes with characteristic modesty to this interesting epoch in the annals of the journal he has so long and so ably conducted; and expresses his "deep obligation to that portion of the public who have lent us their support throughout all the changes and fluctuations of half a century."

Protection and its Fruits.

If the people of Ontario do not understand all the outs and ins about protection it is their own fault, for one can scarcely take up a paper without finding an article or speech bearing on the question. We are almost daily favored with the high-sounding platitudes of the Tory press about the many and great benefits that protection would secure to the country, but they carefully and prudently avoid going into details. They love to parade and laud to the skies Sir John's mis-named "National Policy" resolution, but they very cunningly steer clear of the subsequent motions that were made in the House last session to impose a duty on wheat and coarse grains, and which were defeated by such large majorities, among which were many of Sir John's followers, who supported his vague and meaningless resolution, but who dared not vote for protection when it was presented in detail.

It seems strange to us that those farmers who profess to believe in protection cannot be made to see through the fallacies which Sir John and his supporters advance in support of it. Has he ever given any rational explanation of the way in which he would protect the agricultural industry? Not that we have seen. He rather appears to us to be like the quack doctor, who pretends to understand all about the disease and its symptoms, but who refuses to prescribe because he has not been called in. What he wants is to be called in—in other words, to be put back into power—and then the farmers might whistle for protection, for it would be quite impossible for him or any Government to protect them. What difference does it make to the producer whether there are two cents, four cents, or even six cents per bushel imposed on grain coming into the country, seeing that we export such vast amounts of grain more than we require. The fact is Sir John does not believe in such protection himself, and were he in power to-morrow we would hear nothing of it. Some of the advocates of protection to farmers point to the States in illustration of the benefits of their pet policy, but when they are met by the prices that grain and produce bring there, they are unable to explain the incongruity, and fall back on the puerile, selfish argument that if American grain were not brought into Canada, the price of our grains would be greatly enhanced. But they have failed to prove this, and, moreover, they overlook the fact that nearly all the grain brought into Canada from the States is imported for the purpose of manufacture, thereby employing a large amount of capital, giving employment to a large number of men, affording a great impetus to our carrying trade, and bringing hundreds of thousands of dollars into the country every year, which would find other channels.

One of the legitimate fruits of stringent protection is seen in the movement now going on in some of the States of the Union to protect their products and industries from those coming in from other States. We have an instance of this in some Counties in California. The policy of the people in these Counties is carried out to its legitimate result—the same as our Taxationists in Canada advocate—and that is the taxation of everybody for the benefit of everybody. The protective policy of the States in refusing trade with other countries being found one that reduces the workingmen to starvation, that same principle is now to be pushed to its legitimate extremes. That is, the States is to be protected against the outside world. Each State is to be protected against every other State. Each county is to be protected against its own State. That is the game they are playing in the States and the one that Sir John invites Canada to imitate. No doubt this would suit a certain class of our manufacturers, who it seems will be satisfied with nothing short of discriminating, special legislation in their interest. But while it would please them, and put money in their pockets the consumers—the artizan, the farmer and the working man—would be the sufferers, for they would be the victims of a tyrant monopoly which would grind the last cent out of their hard earned wages.

In order to bring the expenditure for drill and training of the Active Militia for the fiscal year 1878-79 within the appropriation made by Parliament, the strength of the force to be drilled has been limited to 20,000 officers and men and 1,276 horses for a period of 12 days. The drill will be performed at the headquarters of each corps. The pay will be: Officers, $1; non-commissioned officers and men, 50 cents; horses, 75 cents each per diem. The following is the allotment for each military district: No. 1, 2,350; No. 2, 3,400; No. 3, 2,150; No. 4, 1,500; No. 5, 3,000; No. 6, 1,300; No. 7, 2,000; No. 8, 1,550; No. 9, 2,000; No. 10, 200; No. 11, 200; No. 12, 350. Total, 20,000. In the selection of corps for drill of 1878-79, 1st Field Batteries of Artillery are to be taken; 2nd Garrison Batteries having guns of position; 3rd corps in cities; 4th corps, not drilled last year; 5th corps which can assemble most of its companies at their battalion headquarters without expense for transport. Rural battalions desiring to perform their training in battalion camp may be supplied with tents and blankets, but no expense can be allowed to cover transport or subsistence of the men. Field Batteries of artillery will be drilled for twelve consecutive days in camps of exercise. The rates of pay will be for officers and non-commissioned officers the pay of the ranks; the gunners and drivers at the rate of sixty cents, and for horses one dollar per diem. Allowance for rations (for fuel, water, light) at the rate of twenty-five cents per diem, and for forage at the rate of thirty-five cents for each horse per diem. No allowance for transport will be paid. From the 1st of July the pay of Brigade Majors will be 1,200 per annum. The allowance hitherto made, $8 per company for each company inspected in their brigade division, will cease after that date.

In semi-official circles it is asserted that the general elections for the Dominion will be brought on between the 20th and 25th of June.

The Stratford Beacon remarks that four years ago Mr. T. M. Daly had to step down to satisfy the clamoring of a Stratford clique, and the other week he had to step out to make way for the figure-head of the same selfish faction.

The Algoma Pioneer says that "the Governments of Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Mowat have done more good to the district of Algoma than all the Governments preceding them." This is what may be said with equal truth in every other part of the Dominion.

The Quebec Cabinet are holding daily sessions, preparing for the work of the coming session, and the different Ministers are busily engaged in their several Departments promoting all possible economy, and dispensing with every unnecessary expenditure. The various items of economy proposed by the Government, with those already effected, will ensure a saving of $200,000 per annum.

Messrs. Mackenzie, Cartwright and Laurier will deliver addresses at Lindsay on the 28th inst., and the Post promises these ministers a splendid reception by the Liberals of Victoria. It is expected that they will also speak in Kingston, Toronto, Hamilton and other places. The Government are evidently not afraid to face the music and tackle Sir John and his taxationist followers.

The Reform Association of London have endorsed the candidature of Col. Walker, and pledged him their support. The Tories have brought out Hon. John Carling with a great flourish of trumpets. The two candidates are, therefore, fairly "entered" for the contest which will be as hot a one as was ever witnessed in the Dominion. The Reformers are, however, very confident. Col. Walker is a most indefatigable worker, and there is every prospect that he will beat his opponent, strong as he thinks himself.

Says the St. Thomas Journal: "At the present time there is no real question of paramount interest stirring the political life of the country. Protection is only a stalking horse. Beyond the self-interested sphere of certain industries, none can be found to maintain that a delusion which has been left behind with the less intelligent age in which it arose can be of any benefit to the country at large. The Conservative party knows this as well as anybody else. They are only playing with it in the hope that it may grease the rusty wheels of the crazy coach driven by Sir John A. Macdonald. The real issue just now is one of just and capable administration. If this is kept steadily before the public mind the result cannot for a moment be doubted."

The Reformers of Hamilton held a most enthusiastic meeting on Saturday night, when Messrs. Irvine and Wood received a unanimous nomination. In nominating Mr. Irvine, Mr. Anthony Copp, the well known stove manufacturer, expressed his views on the tariff question to the effect that no future protection was required in his line of business, and the hope that the present Government would yet succeed in procuring reciprocity. Mr. Dennis Moore, another stove maker seconded the nomination. Mr. Andrew Wilson, the sewing machine manufacturer, in nominating Mr. Wood, said protection was a term which sounded well, but examine it as one liked, it ultimately resolved itself into a question of taking money out of somebody's pocket and putting it into the pocket of somebody else. Under the Tory regime sewing machines really worth $23 to $26 were entered at $12 to $15, thus giving an active tariff of only 7½ per cent., and as the business had unquestionably flourished at the latter figure he could not see his way clear to grumble at a tariff of 17½ per cent. He also explained very clearly the evil effects which would follow an increased tariff. The prospects for the re-election of Messrs Irvine and Wood are excellent

I have resided for the last seventy-five years in the city of New York, and during that time have seen and tried a great variety of remedies. Of all that I have met, GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA excels. Have not only used it myself, but a great many with whom I am acquainted speak so highly of it in headache, neuralgia, toothache, rheumatism, pains in the shoulder, back and loins. It is equally serviceable in the stables. I therefore pronounce it the best combination I know of.

Harold the Outlaw

—OR—

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XLII.

'FROM DUSK TO DAWN, AND THENCE TO DUSK AGAIN."

While this exciting scene had been transpiring outside the cave, Dixon and Nip were in the secret passage which had been used by the gang as a means of entrance and exit; they, therefore, knew nothing of the discovery which Harold had made, and were amazed beyond measure to see him rushing to and fro with bursting excitement, and calling out—"Benachray! Benachray! Where is Benachray?"

They stood still on the verge of the broken entrance, gazing with more than surprise, for the name was one which had a special and peculiar though secret interest to them.

The moment Harold heheld them he rushed forward, exclaiming—

"Dixon, have you heard of a place called Benachray?"

"Benachray!" repeated Dixon. Why do you ask that?"

"Because that is where they have taken my wife and child. I have discovered it at last, thanks to this fire, the heat of which has brought out some writing in her letters which was before invisible. See, read it yourself."

Dixon cast his eye on the letter which Harold held towards him, and mechanically read aloud the interpolated lines.

"My goodness," ejaculated Nip, with an air of consternation, as he listened. Then he and Dixon gazed wonderingly at each other, but there was understanding as well as wonder in their look.

"This is very extraordinary," observed Dixon.

"It's amazing," returned Nip.

"What is extraordinary? What is amazing?" demanded Harold, with wild impatience.

"This," answered Dixon, laying his finger on the lines. "To Nip and me the information here conveyed is singular in the extreme, for a reason known to ourselves. If you don't know where Benachray is your brother must, for he has evidently obtained the help of Colonel McPherson, its owner, in the abduction and concealment of Mrs. Logan."

"Who is Colonel McPherson? I never heard of him, or remember the name mentioned at Mount Cairn. Gilmour may have acquaintance of him for ought I know, but I never suspected that he had the help of any one in abducting my wife except McGarray."

"McGarray!" echoed Dixon. "Do you mean Jabez McGarray?"

"The same."

"Your brother knows him, does he?"

"Knows him! Why, he has been factor for Mount Cairn these dozen years."

"Ha!" cried Dixon, "the matter is now as clear as day."

"Of course it is," said Nip, to whom the last words were addressed.

"What do you mean? For Heaven's sake, tell me what you mean!" exclaimed Harold, with feverish impatience.

"It's a pity, Mr. Logan," returned Dixon, "a great pity that you did not mention to me the name of McGarray in connection with the disappearance of your wife. Had you done so—had you said you suspected him to be the author of the scheme—I could have told you in a moment whither your wife had been taken."

"Is it possible; but how—how could you have told me?"

"Because—"

He hesitated and looked at Nip.

"All right," said Nip, with a nod. "It will have to come out ere long."

"I suspect so. At present it is enough to say that Nip and I were formerly in Colonel McPherson's service at Benachray, McGarray is his facter also, and some years ago he counselled the confinement on this island of a lady whose existence was adverse to the interests of the Colonel and his son. It is a place admirably adapted for such a purpose, and McGarray was likely to pitch on it for Mrs. Logan's seclusion. Be content with this explanation at present, Mr. Logan. I may be able to make it fuller ere long; but of course you will proceed at once to rescue your wife and child."

"Without an hour's delay," answered Harold, impetuously. "Where is the place? How far is it from this?"

"Many, many miles. But caution and stratagem will both be required. Nip and I will accompany you, for you will need our help. Of course Kenneth will be of the party."

"That you may be assured of," cried Kenneth quickly.

"And what aboot me?" put in Daddy Duff.

"I doubt it will be too far for you to travel," said Harold.

"Much too far," added Dixon.

"Deil a fear o' that," returned Daddy, with spirit.

"Auld as I am, I can tramp the Heilands yet wi' the youngest o' ye. But in a maitter o' this kind I jaloose I wad be o' little use. Sae lang as it was searchin' and speirin' that was needit I was equal tee the best, but noo that it has come tee breakin' into an auld castle, and maybe fechtin', that's oot o' my way a'thegither."

"So it is, Daddy," said Harold, laying his hand, trembling with the excitement under which he laboured, on the old man's shoulder. "You have been a faithful friend to me in all my trouble. You have served me day and night with unselfish devotion. I can never, never repay you for one tithe of what you have done and endured for me."

FERGUS.—The Rifle Company is now nearly full, only a few more recruits being wanted.——Mr. A. D. Ferrier has returned to Fergus, after an absence of a few years in the old country.——The following statistics are taken from the assessment roll of this year:—Population 1701, cattle 117, sheep 20, hogs 70, horses 110, dogs 91, bitches 2. Value of real estate $329,681. Personal property $33,650, taxable income $8,050, non-resident land $5,425. Total assessed valuation $376,806.——On the afternoon of the 14th inst., Thomas Buckland, a leading farmer and stock raiser in West Garafraxa, was badly injured by a kick from the vicious stallion, British Ensign. Mr. Buckland had his left arm collar bone and a couple of ribs broken. He is slowly recovering.——The Council has been in a quandary in regard to the opening up of streets that have been closed. Legal proceedings will be taken in the fall to have all the streets opened.

ELORA.—The annual meeting of the Mechanics' Institute was held last week. The Treasurer's report was satisfactory, exhibiting the receipts to have been $763; expenses $756.85; leaving a balance in hand of $6.15. The following office-bearers were appointed for the ensuing year: President, Mr. E. H. Newman; First Vice, Mr. C. Allan; Second Vice, Mr. P. A. Switzer; Secretary and Librarian, Mr. R. Mitchell; Treasurer, Mr. Godfrey; Committee, Messrs. Blakeney, Clarke, Boyle, Snyder, Day, Macdonald, Grant, Savage, Watson, Crackle.——Mr. Wm. Kerr and family left Elora, this week, for the village of Harriston, where he has opened a large stock of of boots and shoes.——Mr. J. M. Shaw has been appointed High School Trustee, vice Mr. Henderson, resigned.

The harvest in the United States last year was unprecedently large. Such a fruit and wheat crop has never been reaped before. But this year, according to the most voluminous and reliable reports, there is the prospect of equal abundance.

At the request of the Governor-General, the University of London has decided to hold examinations in Canada for the first and second years of their course, as well as for the matriculation examination at which the Gilchrist Scholarship is awarded.

The Paris Exhibition.

The Canadian Exhibits.

(From the Globe's Correspondent.)

The Canadian Department is well situated to attract observation. The main entrance to the building is by the Avenue Rapp, and the visitor in seeking the English section, which will attract great attention, must necessarily pass through the Canadian Department, after crossing the by no means extensive or attractive exhibit of the United States. Even now the Department is filled by curious observers. Care has been taken to utilize the chairs furnished by Mr. George Moorehead, of London, Ont., to afford rest for weary wanderers, and they are gladly used. The rocking chairs have attracted so much admiration that the cards of a French marquis and a duke are to be found attached to two specimens, showing their desire to buy them at the close of the Exhibition. The photographs of Messrs. Hunter & Co., of Toronto, of Mr. Poole, of St. Catharines, of Notman & Sandham, and Alexander Henderson, of Montreal, and others, are closely investigated and much admired. The architectural drawings of Messrs. Joseph Connolly, Smith & Gemmell, and J. A. Fowler, of Toronto, furnish much for the eye to rest upon in the open spaces of the Department; and there are some fine drawings and designs exhibited by the Council of Arts and Manufactures of Montreal, as well as engravings and lithography, by Messrs. Copp, Clarke & Co., and Messrs. Rolph, Smith, & Co., of Toronto.

One of the most prominent exhibits is that of leather. Messrs. Pilkey & Bush have a very fine show of calfskins and lace leather, Messrs. Wm. Craig & Son, of Port Hope, of bookbinders' and saddlers' leather, and Mr. John Hallam, of Toronto, has a fine show of leather and sheepskins, while Gunn & Co., of Kingston, and Moseley & Ricker, of Montreal, show excellent varieties of the former article. Mr. Hallam, who is here in person, has considerable quantities of leather in England, and has ascertained that it can be sent to France and sold here at a profit. He also has discovered that, could the French duties on Canadian leather be reduced to the rates which are levied on similar British goods, a very important market would be opened for an article which can be furnished to an illimitable extent by Canadian tanners. It remains to be seen whether Canada can offer to the French such advantages for their products in our markets as to induce them to place the Dominion on the same footing as the Mother Country.

The largest and finest department of the exhibit is that of woolens. It occupies a very long range of cases, and is much admired. There are carpets from the Elora Company, John & A. Armstrong, of Guelph, and Thomas Kerr & Co., of Hamilton. The Paton Manufacturing Company, of Sherbrooke, the Rosamond Manufacturing Company, of Almonte, Gault Bros., of Montreal, the Oxford Manufacturing Company, of Oxford, Nova Scotia, S. T. Willet, of Chambly Mills, and Hutchison, of Montreal, send specimens of tweeds, doeskins, blankets, flannels and shirtings. McCrae & Co., of Guelph, show woollen yarns, woollen vests, shirts, &c., and the Strathroy Knitting Company of Hamilton have a fine exhibit of ladies' clouds, scarfs, hose, skirts, &c. There is no question about the excellent quality of these goods, and I believe that in price they are quite unexcelled.

Very conspicuous in the Department is a case of drawing-room furniture by Mr. Geo. Moorhead, of London, and he has besides a bedroom suite and a writing desk, all in the finest quality of Canadian walnut.

The exhibit of agricultural machinery, of carriages, of specimens of timber and deals, and boats, is to be found in an annex adjoining the great Machinery Gallery. The Canadian section lies between Great Britain and the United States. It is, of course, comparatively small, but a gallery has been constructed, which largely adds to the floor space. A very fine flag pole has been carried through the roof, and a large flag with the word "Canada" upon it indicates to the outside world the location of this Department, which has been carefully attended to by Mr. Perrault. Mr. John Watson, of Ayr, makes the best exhibit, rising from a general purpose plough to reappers and mowers. Sawyer & Co., F. J. Craig, Frank & Ketchum, David Maxwell, W. A. Gerolamy, Green Bros. & Co., John Abell, Samuel English, George Wilkinson, John Elliot, D. W. Van George Gillies, N. F. Patenaude and Edward Collins are the other exhibitors. I wish that the list had been larger and the articles more numerous. The Americans have a very large exhibition, and do a thriving business in Europe. When Canadian sewing machines are to be found in every country in Europe, I know no reason why our reapers and mowers should not compete here with the American products.

Among the carriages and wheelwrights' work are shafts, felloes and spokes of Plummer & Son, London; woodwork by W. G. Von Staden & Co., Strathroy; a pony phaeton, a Stanhope, and waggon by John M. De Wolf, of Halifax; buggy and cutter by Woods Lyons, of Brantford; cutter and sulky by G. W. Robinson, of Kingston; family sleigh by Wm. Ramsay, Orillia; park phaeton by J. B. Armstrong, Guelph; and wheels and spokes, hubs and rims, by John Dew & Co., of Catharines.

The Commissioner of Agriculture and Public Works of Quebec exhibits models of ships of various classes built at the port of Quebec; Mr. Daniel Herald, of Gore's Landing, hunting canoe with paddles; Messrs. Power & Co., of Kingston, models of ship, schooner, and schooner yacht; Mr. Wm. English; iron and copper fastened canoes; A. McCorkill, of Kingston, pleasure boat; and George J. Mosher, of Maitland, N.S., a ship's steering wheel. There are some magnificent displays in the same department of Canadian woods by R. R. Dobell & Co., of Quebec, and Benoit Bastien, of Montreal.

There is also a beautiful exhibit elsewhere of lumber from British Columbia. Nothing can exceed the beauty of the grain of the Douglas pine.

A frightful æronautic accident occurred at Victor, near Rochester, N.Y., last Friday. As Mr. Lavelle grasped the bar to his trapeze-balloon and gave the order to cut loose the strap, one guy missed and the balloon shot upward, only to be held in dangerous captivity. Finally the guy broke, and the balloon still carreened and tossed terribly, and as it shot upwards hurled the æronaut against the roof of a neighboring building with such violence as to break his left arm, crush his thigh, and inflict serious internal injuries. Notwithstanding this terrible accident the æronaut clung to the trapeze, drew himself up, threw one leg over the bar, and patiently waited the cooling of the air in the balloon. The machine descended in about half an hour, and the unfortunate man was properly cared for. It is feared that his internal injuries may prove fatal.

FIRE AT PALMERSTON.—A fire occurred at Palmerston on Sunday morning. An approximate estimate of the losses is as follows:—Wm. Reid, shoe shop, loss $1,500; insurance $500. J. D. Caswell, general store, loss $10,000; insurance $3,000. Miss Murphy, milliner, loss $500; no insurance. Samuel Caswell, photographer, loss $500; no insurance. Marshall Hall's buildings, loss $1,500; insurance $900. John Poland, merchant tailor, goods removed much damaged; insurance $1,000. Mrs. Cowans, milliner, loss $500; no insurance. Adam Thom, grocery, loss $1,500; insurance $400. M. C. Potts, hardware, goods much damaged by removal; insured. Cause, supposed incendiarism.

THE GREAT FEMALE REMEDY.

Job Moses Periodical Pills

This invaluable medicine is unfailing in the cure of all those painful and dangerous diseases to which the female constitution is subject. It moderates all excesses and removes all obstructions, and a speedy cure may be relied on.

In all cases of Nervous and Spinal Affections, pains in the back and loins, fatigue on slight exertion, palpitation of the heart, hysterics, and whites, these Pills will effect a cure when all other means have failed; and although a powerful remedy, do not contain iron, calomel, antimony, or anything hurtful to the constitution.

JOB MOSES, New York, Sole Proprietor.

81 and 12½ cents for postage, enclosed to Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., general agents for the Dominion, will ensure a bottle containing over 50 pills by return mail.

For sale by W. G. Smith & Co., A. B. Petrie, and G. H. McIntyre, Guelph, and all medicine dealers. 11-yw

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriages, etc., resulting from excesses.

The celebrated author, in this admirable Essay, clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured, without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain, and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately, and radically.

☞ This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS.

Who can sell the cheapest, those who pay thousands of dollars rent, or those who pay no rent? Those who have to support three or four partners and families, or those who have only one family to support? Those who lost thousands of dollars—by dealers in Toronto and other places—or those who did not lose one cent? Those who have had forty years' experience, or those who served no apprenticeship to the business they profess to follow? Please consider these questions before it is too late.

Manufactures Then and Now.

(From the Dundas Banner.)

The manufacturing business in Ontario is not now what it was ten or twelve years ago. Then manufacturers could sit in their offices like gentlemen princes. Receive their orders with condescension. Fix their prices with an eye to the Dutchman's one per cent. profit—which means one hundred. Build palaces to live in—furnish them with every luxury—live in style—be liberal in all things—and independent in every sense of the term. Then their productions were at a premium. The demand was greater than the supply. But now a change has taken place, and if our manufacturers will persist in waiting for a return of the former times when they were monarchs of the situation, and little despots as it were so far as their almost exclusive production of certain articles were concerned and the prices they would have for them—then all we can say is they may have to wait a very long time before they will ever realise their dream of returning prosperity.

Other men saw and marked their extraordinary prosperity—their lavish expenditure of money—their extensive preparations for still more extensive business and profits—and they very naturally concluded that if such things could be done here they could be done elsewhere—the result being that similar manufacturing establishments were speedily erected in various other localities, and now the supply is greater than the demand.

This is the true cause of the depression in many branches of manufacturing in Ontario, and the sooner it is recognized as a fact, the better for all parties interested. Our manufacturers must turn over a new leaf if they expect to secure a return of prosperity. They must take off their coats and roll up their sleeves, and go to work with a will, and not sit still in their office, and wait for customers, and allow rival manufacturers in other places, who have some push and vim about them, to get all the orders for any work that may be required. They must keep up with the times, and not expect that their establishments will be patronized before those of other manufacturers who are live men in every sense of the term—who keep an eye to all the improvements made in their particular line, and who push their business on every available occasion in every locality where they can turn an honest penny. And pennies they must be content with in the place of pounds they used to rake into their tills when they had everything their own way—when they had no opposition, and when they could just charge what they pleased for their productions, and occasionally clap on a bonus for getting work out by a specified time for those who were extra urgent in their demands for their wares.

These are plain truths which must yet be recognized if prosperity is ever to return to some of our work shops, which are now, and have been for more than a year, almost idle. We hope those interested will take them to heart and act upon them, and that in time they may learn that prosperity in any line of business depends more upon a man's own exertion and wisdom in the management of his affairs, than upon tariffs or "National Policies" hatched by political parties for the sole and only purpose of securing place and power for ambitious politicians.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. BOOTS & SHOES

A pious elder of the Scottish Kirk, on his way to service on a Sunday morning, saw a little girl and boy playing marbles. He wrathfully inquired, "Boy, do you know where children go to who play marbles on Sunday?" "Ay, ay," answered the boy, "they gang doun to the field by the brig" (bridge) "No," roared the elder, "go to hell and are burned." The little fellow looking shocked and frightened, called to his sister, "Come awa, Jeannie; come awa, here's a mon swearing awfully."

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

PEACE MORE PROBABLE THAN EVER.

RISE IN STOCKS IN LONDON.

LONDON, May 21.

The following is from a source highly entitled to credit as the result of Schouvaloff's mission has been received. It is said on certain points Russia and England are now agreed. On others, one of which at least is of great importance, no agreement could be effected. He was authorized to submit these questions to the judgment of the Emperor William and Bismarck. In other words Germany as arbitrator, but at the same time neither party pledged itself to abide by decision of Germany. Each reserves to itself right of rejecting decision; although the chances are that each will accept. This explains Schouvaloff's pause at Berlin yesterday, and his interview with Bismarck, Von Bulon, and the Emperor. Peace is now considered more probable than ever.

The German Federal Council passed a Bill against Socialists.

A Berlin despatch says it is reliably stated that Von Bulon, after an interview with Schouvaloff yesterday, announced every probability of a peaceful settlement between England and Russia.

A material rise in securities has taken place at stock exchange to-day, in consequence of more favorable rumors regarding political outlook.

An Impudent Lie.

Messrs. S. M. Pettengill & Co., of New York, have just issued a new edition of their Newspaper Directory for 1878. The list includes the newspapers published in Canada. As regards the circulation of papers the Publishers say:—"The circulations reported are, in all cases, those given by the publishers themselves. The circulations which appear in full-face figures have been sworn to, and the affidavits are on file in the office of the Directory. Turning to the papers published in Guelph we find the Herald's circulation given in full-face figures—being sworn to on affidavit as follows:—Daily 986; weekly 3,560.

Now, we pronounce the above statement an impudent, unblushing and premeditated lie, and yet the returns according to Pettingill & Co,, are sworn to on affidavit.

We beg further to state that the Herald's bona fide circulation is far, far below those returns given to the Directory, and we know whereof we speak; but even such barefaced lying shall not tempt us to betray confidence and give particulars or state what we know when doing thankless favors for that office.

We challenge the Herald to make good its statement and affidavit or confess itself guilty of a gross deception. Even admitting for a moment that it was true, what a vast difference must there be between the circulations of the MERCURY and the Herald, as is proven by our own authentic post office returns. On the 11th April we published a return, which can be sworn to if necessary, that the postage paid by all the papers published in this County from the 1st of January, 1877, to 30th September, of the same year was $413.38. Of this sum the MERCURY paid for that period for postage $194.41, being within $24.56 of THE HALF OF THE ENTIRE POSTAGE PAID BY THE WHOLE OF THE NEWSPAPERS PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF WELLINGTON—and there are ten of these including the Herald—besides the MERCURY. The postage is fixed by the weight of the papers taken to the post office, so that there is no chance of deception or erroneous returns. And we have no hesitation in saying that since that time—September 30th, 1877—the postage paid by the MERCURY has proportionately advanced, which is a sure test of the growing increase of its circulation. The Herald has a peculiar weakness for blowing its own trumpet, but this last stretcher throws Dr. Tupper's efforts completely in the shade.

The Fenian Scare.

RICHFORD, Vt., May 20.—The rumor of a band of Fenians in this vicinity has caused a sensation. Six hundred Irishmen are reported drilling at Chasey, N.Y., 68 miles from here.

DAMAGED BOOTS AND SHOES.—Just received two thousand pairs of boots and shoes, damaged by water. The above will be sold at half the regular prices. George Goulding, Guelph Auction Mart, Market Square.

Travellers will find the Great Central Hotel, New York, is one of the most excellent hotels in that city. Those who cannot be suited in price and accommodation they must be very hard to please indeed. eod

Bond & Co. tell us that they have just received a large lot of the celebrated rubber paint ready mixed, all colors, instruction books given free of charge to any one requiring them.

EVERYONE SHOULD READ IT.—Messrs. J. D. Williamson & Co.'s new advertisement to-day announces such a lot of tempting bargains that everyone intending to buy should bear them in mind.

A new Roman Catholic diocese—that of Chicoutimi—is about to be formed in the Province of Quebec, with Rev. Mr. Racine, brother of the Bishop of Sherbrooke and parish priest of Chicoutimi, as first Bishop.

Local News.

MODERATE to brisk westerly to northerly winds, cloudy to fair colder weather, are the probabilities received to-day.

COURT OF REVISION for consideration of appeals against the 1878 assessment roll. There are only thirty-eight appeals.

PALMERSTON post office has been authorized to transact savings bank business.

A KICKING shot gun is the next best thing to a mule after the animal has been stirred up with a whip about the hind leg, is what the proprietor of a stove and tin shop on the Market Square thought the other day after the stock of the gun had raised a good size swelling on his upper lip.

FOR WINNIPEG.—Mr. Wm. Bathgate, of Guelph Township, left for Winnipeg on Monday on business. Mr. John Ramage, of Nassagaweya, leaves to-day (Wednesday) for the North-West, with sixty fanning mills, six gang plows, three mowers, one waggon, and a span of horses. The implements were purchased from Mr. L. Cossitt.

REMEMBER the promenade concert this evening in the town halls. The programme issued embraces a collection of magnificent selections from the great composers. There is every prospect of there being a very large number present. Concert to commence at eight o'clock. To prevent anything like confusion the members are particularly requested to be in their places at least five minutes before commencing the concert.

BASE BALL.—The Live Oaks, of Hamilton, a junior club, will come to Guelph on the 24th, to play a junior championship match with the Guelph Athletics. The following games were played on Saturday: Hornells 10, Rochesters, 3; Manchesters 3, Lowells 1; Bostons 6, Providence 2; Buffalos 8, Springfields 0; Stars 7, Utica 6; Worcesters 6, Live Oaks 4; Tecumsehs 5, New Havens 0. Games played on Monday: Chicagos 3, Indianapolis 1; Buffalos 6, Uticas 3; Crickets 3, Alleghenys 0; Stars 19, Rochesters 1.

APPOINTMENT.—We congratulate Mr. D. Ferguson, of Killean, on his appointment to the position of Overseer on one of the Government Colonization Roads at Junction No. 2. Mr. Ferguson is well deserving of the office he has received, and we know of no person who could fill it more satisfactorily to all concerned than he will. He was the pioneer of the Muskoka district, and at that time did much in assisting new settlers who found their way thither.

LARCENY.—On Friday morning last, an old man named Charles Wilford, entered the store of Messrs. Lock & Galbraith by the back door, and immediately began to fill his pockets with oranges. He was seen by one of the clerks, and at once captured, He was allowed to go at the time, after being made to disgorge the fruit. A roll of butter was found in his overcoat pocket, without any wrapping around it. He claimed to have purchased this at another store, and was allowed to retain it. He was subsequently arrested, and on being tried summarily was sent to gaol for one week.

ONTARIO SOCIETY.—The Sixth annual Exhibition of the works of this Society was formally opened by Lord Dufferin, in Toronto, on Monday. A number of leading citizens were present. Mr. W. H. Howland, the President, introduced His Excellency in a short speech, in which he referred to the great regret the people of Canada felt at his early departure. Lord Dufferin replied in a felicitous speech, and declared the Exhibition open. The collection of pictures is said to be the best yet exhibited by the Society.

WATER WORKS.—At the meeting of the Council on Monday evening the report of the Fire and Water Committee presented at a previous meeting which recommended that in due time a special act of Parliament be obtained to confer all necessary rights to enable the town to carry out a complete system of water works, such as would be to the greatest benefit to the municipality, and with such power of extensions as would be required by the growing wants of the town was adopted. A system which the committee would approve of would combine protection from fire, and at the same time provide a suitable supply of pure water which might be used for other purposes.

"BUCK" RAE ACQUITTED.—On Monday afternoon Rae was brought before Judge Macdonald on remand charged with burglary. Prisoner was accused of entering the house of Peter Mellon, on the York Road about six weeks ago, at night, and stealing therefrom a trunk containing $310, the property of Miss Mellon. The case had been remanded a number of times for the purpose of endeavoring to secure the evidence of one Jennings who had been with prisoner on the night of the burglary. The only evidence submitted which pointed to the prisoner as being the guilty party was that of James Kennedy an avowed accomplice, who had been promised by the Chief Constable his freedom if he made a clean breast of the whole affair and told the truth. The Judge remarked that there had always been a doubt about evidence of that kind, when there was no corroborative testimony, inasmuch as a promise of freedom often constituted an inducement for the guilty party to throw blame on an innocent person. A few words of advice was given the prisoner and he was discharged. Mr. H. W. Peterson prosecuted for the Crown, and Messrs. A. M. McKinnon and A. H. Macdonald defended the prisoner.

G. C. L. & D. S. meets to-morrow evening.

ALUM and water, a strong solution, will keep off the currant worm.

THE St. Joseph's Hospital annual picnic has been set down for Thursday, 20th June.

BUTTERMILK SODA is now one of the approved beverages at the high-toned soda fountains.

AN ENGINE is expected from Toronto in a day or two, to take the place of the town steamer while it is undergoing repairs.

MR. J. H. SMITH, a well-known horse dealer, of Buffalo, will be in town on Friday and Saturday, for the purpose of purchasing one hundred heavy draught horses.

RELIEF.—So far the Relief Committee has expended some $1,100. Dr. McGuire, chairman, has a very arduous position to fill.

THE FENIANS.—From information received at Ottawa, there is little doubt but Canada will be raided upon by Fenian ruffians during the present season.

A PARTY, who gave his name as Sixteen Spring Jack, claimed to have lost a horse last evening. He left the animal tied to a post on Macdonnell street.

LONDON CONFERENCE.—The London Conference of the Methodist Church of Canada, will continue its sittings at St. Thomas, on Wednesday, the 5th day of June next.

"COLLINGWOOD LINE OF STEAMERS."—Mr. W. H. Marcon has been appointed agent for this line, and is now prepared to issue tickets to all points in Manitoba, the North West and Lake Superior. The fare to Winnipeg is only $20.50.

WHEN a Councillor thinks $1,500 sufficient to build a bridge over one hundred feet long, such as would be required to span the river at Heffernan street, the probability is, he knows very little about bridge building. Why not recommend the old style of floating bridge at once. It would even cost something less than $1,500.

ROWDYISM.—Last evening there was a good deal of rioting on the street about eleven o'clock, and a gang of roughs committed several assaults on unoffending pedestrians. Den. Fahey was crossing the railway track at Gordon street, when he noticed several young fellows standing together. He asked them if any one could lend him a key to wind his watch, he having lost his own, and it was too late to purchase another. Instead of accommodating him one of the crowd struck him in the face and the whole crowd for a few moments amused themselves by abusing him. They tried to get his watch away, but he hung on to it. Later in the evening Jas. Innis, of Durham, was brutally assaulted on Macdonnell street, evidently by the same party. He was very badly cut about the face. Neither of the parties who were assaulted could recognize their assailants. This is serious work, and if the police succeed in discovering the guilty parties they should receive severe punishment.

THE BALKWILL PARTY.—From the Winnipeg Free Press of the 11th inst., it is learned that Mr. George Balkwill, formerly of Guelph, returned to Winnipeg from the Little Saskatchewan, and took back with him the machinery for a grist mill; and he and another person, whose name we did not learn, will also import the machinery for a saw mill. To show how the country is pushing ahead there, it might be mentioned that arrangements are being made for the erection of a flax mill. Mr. G. Ferguson is already building a store, and another person also intends entering business life amongst the Little Saskatchewaners, and will also erect a building to be used as a general store. A post-office, with a weekly mail, has also been promised. Nor do the new settlers intend neglecting their spiritual wants and educational requirements. Arrangements have already been made for the erection of a Presbyterian church, and as one of the party, Mr. McLeod, is shortly to be ordained, a minister will be supplied. The school question is being agitated, and schools, it may be presumed, will be shortly in operation.

PETITION NOT PRESENTED.—The following has been sent to us:—A well and numerously signed petition of ratepayers in reference to the appointment of a town engineer and surveyor, which Mr. Robert Mitchell undertook to present to the Council last night, was witheld by Mr. Mitchell for reasons only known to himself. This petition will be presented at the next meeting of the Council.

By Mr. Chase, from John Jackson and seventy-five others, for improvements on Palmer streets.

The account and petitions were referred to the proper authorities.

Mr. Chase called the attention of the Road and Bridge Committee to the manner in which Palmer street had been neglected. The petitioners certainly had ground for complaint, and he hoped their wishes would be acceded to in regard to the street.

FINANCE AND ASSESSMENT.

Your Committee present with this report an estimate of the liabilities, expenditure and receipts, for the current year, which show the total liabilities to be $83,415.70. Estimated revenue $10,393, leaving a balance of $73,152.70 to be provided for. The assessment roll for the present year, as returned by the assessors, is $2,850,190, and to raise the whole of this amount by assessment would require a rate of 26 mills in the dollar; if the balance unprovided for left over from 1877, viz: $16,993.12 is deducted, a balance of $56,159.58 will be required for the current year's expenditure, which an assessment of two cents in the dollar would cover. Your Committee have already recommended that a By-law to cover the amount unprovided for in 1877 be submitted to the ratepayers which By-law they will have prepared and placed before the Council at the next meeting.

Your Committee also recommend that as soon as the assessment roll is revised a rate be immediately struck to raise a portion of the amount required, as they consider by collecting the taxes in two instalments it will be less burdensome to the taxpayers than by collecting the whole rate for the year in one sum.

Your Committee recommend that the amounts contained in the estimates, if passed by the Council, be placed to the credit of each standing committee as their appropriations for the year, less the amounts formerly credited upon the adoption of their own reports.

Your Committee in revising the finances of the town, based upon the annual estimates, observe that of the sum of $56,159.58 only $7,928 is appropriated for the expenditure of the standing committees and the remainder is for fixed liabilities, or such liabilities as the Council have no control, and this sum $48,231.58 is six-sevenths of the of the roads and streets being made from the funds derived from the By-law passed last year. This expenditure does not enter into the calculation, but in looking forward to the future the liabilities will be about the same another year as this; and as there is little present probability of an increase of our assessment, there will be no means of levying an excessive rate to provide for the maintainance of streets and sidewalks, your Committee are of opinion that the subject should engage the sincere attention of the Council to consider some plan of the improvement of the streets and highways outside the general assessment, and that with this end in view they would ask that the committee on streets and highways be instructed to report upon the subject.

Accompanying the report was a schedule of estimates for the year.

ROAD AND BRIDGE.

Mr. Richard Mitchell, chairman, reported:—

Your Committee have considered the petitions and communications referred to them at the last meeting of Council. They have also examined the localities to which the petitions refer, and beg to report as follows:—

1. That the account of Chas. Mickle, for lumber, amounting to $111.39, be paid.

2. That $15 be granted to make improvements near Bristol street, petitioned for by James Higgins.

3. That $25 additional be granted to improve a part of Metcalf street, as prayed for by Allister M. Clark and others, and that the question of placing a street lamp on the corner of Metcalf and Elizabeth streets, and one about the centre of Elizabeth street, be referred to the Committee on Fire, Water and Gas.

4. That in reference to the petition of S. C. Wideman and others for a sidewalk and grading on Tiffany street, from the Eramosa Road to Exhibition street, $25 be granted for grading and filling up the gravel pit complained of, and that a sidewalk be dispensed with in the meantime.

5. That $50 be granted for cutting hill, grading, raising sidewalk and making ditches, etc., on Liverpool street, in order to remove and remedy as far as possible the condition of things complained about by Mark Tovell in reference to a flow of water into his premises. No damages recommended.

6. That $20 be granted to open drains and making a large open ditch from Northumberland street to the G. T. R., for the purpose of carrying off part of the water complained of, through his solicitor, by Mr. Johnson.

7. That $25 be allowed to W. M. Wheatley, for damages done to his property on Paisley street, by the embankment of clay which was made against his fence for the purpose of raising the sidewalk, as the same caused the fence to fall down and he had to re-build it.

8. That $50 be granted to the late Town Engineer, to reimburse him for expenses incurred in moving from Stratford to Guelph, and expenses he will be put to in returning to Stratford, as it is evidently he was indirectly led to believe his stay in Guelph would be more than one year.

9. That $50 be granted for the purpose of repairing underground drain on Kerr street, and otherwise improving said street.

10. That your Committee are of opinion that every citizen has a right to petition this Council and ask redress for any grievance, real or imaginary, but they consider that such petitions should not contain any language of the nature of a threat; and your committee recommend that in future all such petitions be laid on the table and allowed to remain there.

11. That Messrs. Robertson & Cull having notified the Town Clerk that they declined to accept the contract for watering Carden street and the Market Square at the grate of $18 per week, the contract for watering the aforesaid and Wyndham street and St. George's Square, was, in accordance with resolution passed at last Council meeting, awarded to James Mitchell for twenty-two weeks at the rate of $38 per week.

12. That your Committee have expended up to the end of April, the following accounts:—

For general repairs	$306 75
For stone for breaking	456 15
For breaking stone	1,037 40
Cedar posts (not used)	12 39
Pine lumber	111 39
Hammer handles	4 80
Total expenditure to May 1st	$1,928 88

13. That the sum of $260 granted by this report be considered as a part of the fund for contingencies mentioned in your Committee's sixth report.

14. The above statement of expenditure does not include some small items for hammers, nails, cedar and elm lumber, etc. etc.

FIRE, WATER AND GAS.

Mr. Gowdy, chairman of this Committee, presented the sixth report as follows:—

To amount to credit of Committee as per last report	$678 20
Paid gas account to April 1st	276 28
Mr. Cull, packing engine	5 50
Cleaning hose	4 00
Smith & Co., account for coal oil	111 52
Firemen's salary to May 1st	112 50
Hay and oats	64 67
Total	$564 47
Balance to credit of your Committe	$113 73

PRINTING.

Mr. Doran, chairman of the Committee, recommended the payment of the MERCURY account, $41.50.

RELIEF.

Dr. McGuire, chairman of the Committee, recommended the payment of the following accounts:—N. Tovell, coffins, $9.75; Mrs. Edwards, meals furnished prisoners, $17.50; Ladies' Benevolent Society, $29.58; S. J. Cherry, flour and oatmeal, $27.50; John Harris, bread, $5.75; Toronto Eye and Ear Infirmary, for W. Allison, $13.29. These accounts, with about $30 for small accounts, make up the expenditure for April.

On motion the Council went into Committee on the Finance Report, Mr. Gowdy in the chair.

Moved by Mr. Elliott, seconded by Mr. Sleeman, that the first clause be adopted.

After some discussion on the subject, the amendment was lost, and the original motion carried.

The remaining clauses were carried, after explanations had been received from the chairman.

On the Council resuming, the report was adopted on motion of Messrs. Elliott and Sleeman.

The Council went into Committee on the Road and Bridge report, Mr. Elliott in the chair.

Several items were passed. After much urging on the part of Mr. Chase the chairman of the Road and Bridge Committee expressed his willingness to increase the grant to Palmer street from $50 to $100, but as there was a petition presented the matter would be taken into consideration, and be reported on later.

The first clause was adopted.

In amendment to the second clause it was moved by Dr. McGuire, seconded by Mr. Bruce, that the clause be struck out, and an appropriation be made for the erection of Heffernan street bridge, the cost not to exceed $2,300.

Mr. Melvin advised the Committee to be instructed to see what a suitable bridge would cost.

Mr. Robert Mitchell thought a $1,500 bridge would be sufficient.

Mr. Chase pointed out the great necessity there was for a bridge at the point indicated. The ratepayers would be perfectly satisfied with a foot bridge, or even do with less money on some of the streets.

Mr. Biscoe objected to having a foot-bridge. It would be better to wait a year or two rather than have a foot bridge only. After the Great Western brings its station near the Eramosa bridge it will be dangerous to drive a horse over the iron bridge with a locomotive snorting within a few rods of the place.

Mr. Gowdy considered it might be much longer than the previous speaker expected before a locomotive would be seen in the vicinity of the Eramosa bridge.

Mr. Robert Mitchell advocated a $1,500 bridge. The one at Inglis & Hunter's foundry cost only $500, and teams could pass over it with perfect safety.

Mr. Melvin advocated leaving the matter over until estimates could be received as to the probable cost.

Mr. Richard Mitchell stated that a bridge with two spans and a stone abutment in the centre, and one at each end would be well to leave the clause over. Estimates would be procured and presented at the next meeting.

On motion the report was left over

The third clause was amended by limiting the payment of frontage to 1st of July, 1878.

The remaining clauses were adopted without discussion.

The Council resumed, and it was moved by Messrs. Mitchell and Day, that the report, as amended, be adopted.

Mr. Elliott objected to the clause having reference to Suffolk street. He considered that if the report was adopted it would be establishing a wrong precedent, and Oxford, or any other street might be purchased in the same manner. He would feel obliged to vote against that clause in the report.

Mr. Roche objected to the Suffolk street clause of the report, and instanced some trouble that existed on Northumberland street.

Mr. Gowdy considered that it would be a great hardship if the property owners on this street were not allowed to straighten the street. In one case a house was five feet on the street, and another some three feet. This street was an exceptional one, and the speaker thought it should be granted. The street would be left plenty wide enough as it was at the proposed place in which the street was to be narrowed ninety-nine feet.

It was then moved by Mr. Elliott, seconded by Mr. Sleeman, that the third clause be referred back to the Committee for their re-consideration.

The mover stated that the reason he brought forward the amendment was to have the whole matter looked into.

Mr. Richard Mitchell said that the Road and Bridge Committee had no desire to sell a portion of Suffolk street. The Committee was merely complying with the wish of the inhabitants of that street.

The clause was then left over, and the report, with the exception of the second and third clauses, was adopted.

The third report of the Market Committee was adopted.

Moved by Messrs. Gowdy and Day that the third report of the Fire and Water Committee, and the report of the Special Committee on Waterworks be adopted. Carried.

The fourth report of the Fire and Water Committee was adopted.

These reports have already been published.

The sixth report of the same Committee was adopted.

In reply to Mr. Robert Mitchell, Dr. McGuire stated that some $1,100 had been already expended by the Relief Committee, and with that sum 175 cords of wood had been purchased.

Dr. McGuire and Mr. Roche moved that the fourth clause of the fourth report of the Relief Committee asking for $1,100 be adopted.

It was moved in amendment by Messrs. Robt. Mitchell and Day that the amount, be reduced to $700.

Mr. Sleeman thought the sum could be cut down. It was a large amount and the chairman should endeavor to economize.

Mr. Elliott thought $1,000 was a very large amount for relief considering the large number of charitable institutions in our midst.

The amendment was lost and the original resolution was carried.

The fifth report of the Relief Committee was adopted.

The Railway Committee's report, already published, was adopted,

The Printing Committee's report was adopted.

The Park and Exhibition Committee's report was adopted.

The Police Committee's report was adopted.

Moved by Messrs. Melvin and Doran that the Mayor issue a proclamation requesting that all parties to close their places of business on the 24th of May.

Mr. Gowdy referred to the leakage of flues in the fire engine. Word had been received from Toronto that an engine, a little out of repair, could be procured, while the town engine was being refitted. The Mayor, Mr. Cull, and the speaker, had visited Toronto, and interviewed the Chief Engineer there, and although he was anxious to sell, it was found that they would put the steamer in proper repair and lend it to the town. It was expected to be here almost any day.

The Council adjourned at 11.30 o'clock.

The card-room operatives at Oldham have accepted a five per cent. reduction, expressing the hope that the employers will advance wages when trade revives.

The Tribune says the grounds are well adapted for the purpose, and are enclosed by a high board fence, which will enable them to make a little gate money, should they be fortunate enough to get up a few good matches. FAMINE AND FIRE IN CHINA.—United States Minister Seward sends accounts of the Chinese famine up to the middle of March. The district affected comprises parts of or the whole of the Provinces of Shansi, Chihli, Shantung, Shensi, Honau, Izhnew, and Kansu. Actual famine is pressing upon fifteen millions of people, while fully sixty millions are suffering. There is abundance of food in the country, but great lack of transportation. The crops have been good immediately around the stricken districts, but as food can only be transported on wagons or pack animals it cannot be taken thither in sufficient quantities to save the people. The Chinese officials have done all that is possible. The Chinese have usually classed opium and missionaries as among the chief evils due to foreign intercourse, but the latter are now winning favor through the practical help they afford. There are numerous refugees from the famine districts in Pekin and Tientsin. In the latter city a house made of mats for the accommodation of suffering women and children, was recently burned, and 150 lives lost. Recurring famines may lead the Chinese to recognize the need of encouraging adequate means of internal communication.

Mr. Blake's Bill for the prevention of crimes of violence passed through both Commons and Senate and has received the assent of the Governor-General. A couple of amendments which were sought to be made to the measure while it was before the Commons were carried through in the Senate. TUESDAY EVEN'G, MAY 21, 1878.

The Elections.

The Mail seems to be greatly excited over the forthcoming elections, which it asserts will be held very soon, though beyond mere rumour it has nothing to go and come on. The Government has not yet determined when the elections will be held. As soon as the date is fixed we will let the public know.

The War News.

The Mail publishes a despatch, which purports to come from the Imperial Government to the Government in Ottawa, announcing that war between Britain and Russia is inevitable. There is no ground for the statement made above, and our latest news substantially contradicts it.

The Tariff Question.

The Tory organ in this town parades a resolution, moved by Mr. Wood, of Hamilton, during the session of 1877, which was in favor of increased protection to Canadian manufacturers, and which the MERCURY approved of. And the MERCURY adheres to its position then taken. It said at the time that the Government would have been justified in increasing the tariff from 17½ to 20 per cent., on the ground that the state of the revenue required it, because on account of the reckless extravagance of the late Government, the liabilities of the Dominion had been largely increased, and that the rise in duty, while satisfying the manufacturers, would have yielded a larger sum to the revenue.

It is doubtful, however, if this increase would have satisfied the manufacturers who are clamoring for protection. A year ago the rate of gold, as between the States and Canada, was between six and seven per cent. premium, which by about three per cent. more than makes up for the difference between the tariff as now in force, and the 20 per cent. which some of our manufacturers profess they would be satisfied with.

But the great difficulty is to reconcile the conflicting opinions of these manufacturers. Some of them are satisfied with 15 per cent., others with 17 per cent. Again, there are those who will not be pleased with anything short of 20 per cent, and a small proportion stand bravely out for 25 per cent. How are we to reconcile all these divergent elements? How is it possible for any Every manufacturer is looking to his own interests—to his own pocket—and never takes into account for one moment the interests of the great mass of the people, who would be in very poor hands, indeed, if they had to depend on the forbearance and mercy of those who, if they had the power, would screw them down to the last cent, and reduce them to a state of decent beggary.

We have no wish to shirk the question at issue. We would have backed the Government had they proposed a 20 per cent. duty. As it is we defer to their better judgment as to what was best for the Dominion as a whole, and we have yet to learn any arguments worth the name that have been brought forward to show that their policy has been in any way inimical to the best interests, or to the advancement, of the country.

All about Another Contract.

We notice that some of the Tory papers are trying to make a little capital about a contract for the construction of a graving dock at Quebec. They charge that some ten parties sent in tenders for the work; that the three lowest tenders were passed over, and that to give the Government a decent pretext for so doing they changed the specifications and invited only four of the firms who tendered first to re-tender for the work. Also it is alleged, that these four firms who had the opportunity to tender for the work a second time, had subscribed money for the late Provincial elections.

Such are the charges, and now for the explanation, which the Ottawa Free Press supplies, and it is in a good position to know all the facts. The Government had nothing to do with letting the work, for the contracts were given out by the Quebec Harbor Commission, which is entirely independent of the Government, and in no shape or form connected with it. Some skilled English engineers were entrusted with the tenders, and the acceptance of them lay with these gentlemen. The nature of the work was of a kind entirely unfamiliar to most Canadian contractors, and many of the tenders were placed at figures ridiculously below the lowest possible cost. To have accepted any of these tenders would simply have meant the ruin of the contractors, delay and embarrassment to the Harbor Commissioners, and ultimately a much heavier expense than would be incurred by accepting the figures next above the estimate of the engineers, as we believe was done.

Now that this charge has been disposed of, we wait patiently for the fabrication of some other outrage by the Tory press.

Wm. Doerfling, an employee of J. & J. Livingston, at Baden, has mysteriously disappeared. He had about $60 in his pocket when last seen. Fears are entertained that he has committed suicide, being of a gloomy turn of mind.

THE Montreal Herald moots a proposition that will find favor in Quebec—the abolition of the Second Chamber, known as the Legislative Council. This utterly useless body could do no greater favor to the public, it so eggregiously misrepresents, than to consent to be voted out of existence, but there is small reason to believe it will even civilly receive the proposition. It plays in Quebec precisely the same role the Tory majority in the Senate at Ottawa plays there. It has a large Conservative majority and, no doubt, will remind Mr. Jcly of this fact on every conceivable occasion.

TRUE to instructions from Sir John, which are dated from the U. E. Club, the Tories in some places are objecting to several names on the voters' list of 1877, who are dead. This is being done in South Oxford. "Whenever a Grit voter is dead have his name struck off," was the instructions from Toronto, and the intriguing "harpies" who do the dirty work have carried it out there. This insult offered to the friends of the dead, all of whom are highly respectable people, will be resented at the polls by the better class of Conservatives, who feel indignant at such disgraceful proceedings, several of whom have so expressed themselves ahead.

THE Tribune speaking of Mr. Hayes' message to the Senate, recommending the payment of five and a half millions—the award of the Halifax Fisheries Commission, says:—"The able paper in which Secretary Evarts reviews the history of the Halifax Fisheries Award sustains, in his statement of facts, all that has been alleged of the injustice of that verdict, and approves, in its suggestions, the recommendations made by Mr. Blaine. In a word, Mr. Evarts says, as we have already said—"Pay, but not without a protest." Mr. Evarts calls it "an extravagant and inexplicable measure of value." There is something significant about the President's statement that he will hold the money until the end of the year, taking pains to make the British Government acquainted with the feeling in the United States and Congress, that the sum is far too excessive. His object is doubtless to try and get the Home Government to consent to a very large reduction, in which he will not succeed. His Secretary of State draws the attention of the Senate to the fact that the award was not unanimous, and this may prove the hint on which the body will refuse to pay the same.

THE Cornwall Freeholder, the organ of the late Sandfield Macdonald, and which pursues an independent course in politics, thus speaks of the position of the two parties:—"We are quite satisfied that the Opposition from the very opening of the Session lost and continued to lose ground; and what was lost on one side was assuredly gained on the other. In order to justify congratulations upon this prospect it is not necessary to say a word in favor of the record of the Mackenzie Administration. It is quite sufficient to cite the record, the deplorable record of the Conservative party. There is a great amount of [illegible] evidence, from the Pacific Scandal down to the least of the many minor scandals which have since been unearthed, which proves that the Conservative Administration was steeped in corruption. Those corrupt and thoroughly dishonest acts have all been accepted by the party as their own, and have one and all received a pretended justification. So long as the Conservative party continue capable of bold and defiant denial of wrong-doing until the wrong doing is proven, and then of an equally bold and defiant acknowledgment and justification of the facts when they are no longer in concealment or capable of denial, so long, we trust, will they be deemed incapable of being entrusted with the Government of this country."

CHAPTER XLII.

"FROM DUSK TO DAWN, AND THENCE TO DUSK AGAIN."

"Hoots, Maister Harold, dinna gang on in that gate," interrupted Daddy, absolutely distressed at the other's words. "I am only vexed that the little I've tried tae dee has dune ye nae guid. But blithe am I tee think ye hae got word o' the poor lassie at last, and I houp ye'll be able to rescue her."

"Doubt it not, Daddy. Rescued she shall be, at whatever cost, whatever danger; and if they dare to bar my way to her, the consequences be on their head. As you say, the work now to be done is not of your line; but you can do me a further service, if you are not tired of toiling for one so poor and unfortunate as I am."

"Noo, Maister Harold, ye ken me better than that comes tee," responded Daddy, in a tone and with a look of reproach.

"So I do, my friend—so I do. Pardon me for giving utterance to the words. I know you are as ready as ever to labour in my cause, and I hope in God the time will come when I shall have some means of showing my gratitnde."

"If you mean when ye are Sir Harold Logan, I'm thinkin' that time winna be lang noo," said Daddy with an aspect of great satisfaction. "There are strong signs o't onyhoo, if it be true that Black Dick is wearin' to the deidthraw. And here, just in time tae help the coorse o' events comes the news tae hand o' the whereaboots o' Mrs Logan. Tak' my word for it sir, you'll be the safe and honoured laird o' Mount Cairn in a jiffy, and nane shall rejoice mair tae see ye sae than Daddy Duff. But this piece o' service, sir—what is it? Just tell me, and I'll rin or ride as fast as—nae, faith, I canna ride, as Maister Dixon here weel kens; but I'll walk tae John o' Groat's Hoose if need be."

"Not to John o' Groat's Hoose, but to Aberdeen, with intelligence of all that has occurred to Mr. Adamson, then to Glenroy. I wish you to carry information of this discovery to Mr. and Mrs. Morven, that alleviation may be given to their long anxiety and deep grief. Tell them what we have discovered and how. Tell them I have gone to recover Lizzie and the boy, and that I hope to bring them back in a few days."

"A' richt, sir; I'll awa' first tee Aberdeen, and then I'll tak' the guid news tae Thomas and Mysie, and stay wi' them till we learn the upshot."

This was an arrangement peculiarly satisfactory to Daddy. Truth to say, he was not so able to undertake such a long journey over the mountains (as the distance to Benachray implied) as he had so spiritedly asserted. Had he been given his own time and way of doing it he would not have failed in the task, but in company with such strong young men as Harold and Kenneth—actuated, too, as they would be by feelings of the most restless impatience, prompting them to rapid motion—he foresaw that his energies would be taxed far beyond their strength. More than that, he anticipated that when the party got to Benachray the rescue of Lizzie would require some work of a violent nature, and for this Daddy's peaceable disposition had no relish. It was much more congenial to his taste to trudge away by himself to Glenroy on such a merciful mission as that of carrying glad tidings to the mourning hearts of Thomas Morven and his wife. The vision of rest to be there enjoyed was also very tempting to him. For months he had not been able to indulge in his favourite occupation of lying on a hillside doing nothing, and the prospect of passing several days at the cottage in that delightful condition was attractive beyond measure. From these various considerations it was with eager alacrity that he engaged to undertake what Harold requested.

Of course Daddy nor the others could depart on their several routes that evening. The sun was set. They were already fatigued by that day's travel, and it was absolutely necessary that they should obtain a few hours' repose. It was therefore agreed that, after partaking of supper, they should go to rest, and start at sunrise.

Of the five who formed the group Daddy was the first to find oblivion in the arms of Morpheus. He sought about till he found a recess among the rocks, gathered a handful of mountain grass to form his couch, and laid himself down, after giving Nip an injunction to "waukin' him when it was time to gang." In two minutes after his head had touched the ground he slept the sleep of the just, and heard nothing of a brief, whispered conversation which took place between Dixon and Nip a few yards from where he law.

It was the first opportunity they had of being alone after the discovery made by the letters, and as they had a mutual reason for exchanging thoughts they sought to do so in private.

"This is a pretty business, Nip," remarked Dixon, as the former joined him behind a jutting rock.

"A regular floorer," replied Nip, without much regard to elegance of expression. "The rescue of Mrs. Logan, however managed, will bring Myra's existence to light, and the scheme by which she has been disposed of so long."

"That is what I fear," returned Dixon. "But she may not be alive now. You know we have heard nothing of how matters have gone on the island since we left Benachray. Now, I don't think that either the Colonel or Roderick would sanction foul play touching her life; but when Roderick died, that scoundrel Allan would think his chance was increasing, and he might plot her distruction. He is wicked enough for such a deed."

"But in that case," suggested Nip "Joe and his wife would have quitted the island. Now, I learned when last I paid a secret visit to Benachray that they were both still there. To be sure that is nearly a year ago, and who knows what may have happened since then?"

"Who knows, indeed!" rejoined Dixon. "We should have kept ourself better informed. The boy was sickly then, and if anything should come over him, you know my purpose?"

"To keep out Allan by producing Conrad's child," said Nip, understandingly.

"Yes; that is my resolve. But utter not the caitiff's name in my hearing, for at the sound my blood boils with furnace heat. It is this possibility alone that has kept my vengeance so long asleep—the possibility that one day I should be able to make it full and sweet by plucking Benachray from his grasp. The death of Roderick seemed to bring that day nearer. The weak and sickly constitution of the child made the prospect still more clear. He, I doubt not, counts that were the child to die, an old man's life alone stands between him and wealth. Let him cherish the dream till the moment comes when he thinks it realised. Then—then—will my hour of triumph have arrived, and it will add gall to his bitter cup when he knows the hand that has filled it."

CLIFFORD.—This village is making rapid progress in building operations, more especially since the late fire. Substantial stores are being erected, and private dwellings of tasty architecture are adding attraction to the place.——Mr. Thompson is about erecting a large saw mill on a more extensive scale, at the east end of Clifford.——Street improvements are being rapidly pushed forward, and at almost every entrance to the village, no matter in what direction one may enter, there are good sidewalks laid down. Let other villages show the example.——The Howick and Minto Agricultural Society have let the contract for building a hall 100 by 50 feet, to be completed in time for the Fall Show. They have added three acres more to their ground in this place.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Debate in the British Parliament.

Hopes of Peace Not Very Bright.

LONDON, May 20.

In the House of Commons to-day Lord Hartington, leader of the Liberals, moved his resolution that no forces be raised or kept by the Crown in time of peace save within India, without the sanction or Parliament.

Lord Selborne opened the debate in the House of Lords on the movement of Indian troops by calling attention to the constitutional question involved.

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach moved his amendment at the conclusion of Lord Hartington's speech. He said the doctrine laid down by Lord Hartington's resolution had been repeatedly departed from in special circumstances, and the House had sanctioned the declaration that this was a time of emergency, when the Government was resolved if possible to employ Indian troops.

The debate continned until late at night.

The New York Telegram's London special says:—It is rumoured in diplomatic circles that the British Government has sent instructions to Lord Loftus, Ambassador at St. Petersburg, to request a categorical explanation from the Russian Foreign Office concerning the reported armament of Russian privateers in the United States, with special reference to the Cimbria.

A Pera despatch says:—Gen. Todleben's object all along has been to take up a good defensive position. He was not allowed to fall back as he wished from San Stefano. He therefore consolidated his men as far as possible, by bringing up troops from the rear.

Bucharest advices state that the Russians continue to move troops and guns from the Danube into Bulgaria. None are coming northward.

A Constantinople telegram says:—The Russian Ambassador at his reception to the Russian residents to-day expressed strong hopes of peace, but recommended them not to be too sanguine, as the situation was still one of great tension.

Some uneasiness is felt at Vienna about the prospect of an understanding between England and Russia, but this is not shared by Ministers, who are thoroughly convinced of England's good faith. Berlin seems incredulous about an amicable arrangement. A Times correspondent says Russia has not offered England sufficient concessions in Bulgaria. Russia in fact prefers to surrender her Asiatic acquisitions rather than forego her schemes in Bulgaria.

A Berlin despatch says:—Schouvaloff arrived here to-day. After brief interviews with Von Bulow and the Emperor, he left to visit Bismarck at Aix-la-Chapelle. Numerous rumors are in circulation, but nothing definite can be learned as to the result of the mission.

A St. Petersburg correspondent says:—All that seems authentic in the current rumors is that the two years occupation of Bulgaria may be shortened, the number of troops diminished, a European Commission appointed instead of a Russian, and a new scheme adopted regarding the payment of the indemnity.

A Stockholm despatch says:—In the Riksdag to-day the Foreign Minister said the report about Germany's efforts to close the Baltic against the British in case of war was untrue.

A Constantinople telegram says:—There was a riot to-day before the Imperial palace, originating with refugees going to present a petition to the Sultan. The disturbance ceased before the arrival of the police.

MOUNT FOREST.—J. Hampton who has been visiting Britain during the past few months has returned.—John W. Walker and family, and H. Bigham and George Simpson have left for the Rockwood settlement in Manitoba.—At the cattle fair sales were not numerous and prices remained at about the same as those quoted last month. Farrow cows ranged from $18 to $25; milch cows from $20 to $35; and fat cattle from $3.50 to $4 per cwt.—Road commissioners of Wellington and Grey last week made a thorough examination of the Pike Lake Road about four miles from Mount Forest, on the County line. The Examiner says that if the gap formed by the lake were properly bridged the route between Mount Forest, Harriston and Clifford, would be materially shortened, by a comparatively level road, far superior in every respect to any now in use. A thorough examination was made by the commissioners, and they after due deliberation agreed that something should speedily be done to meet the wants of the travelling public. The respective County Councils will be recommended to instruct an engineer to estimate the cost of building a bridge across, or to construct a road around the end of the lake.

THE PARSONS INSURANCE CASES.—The Orangeville Advertiser, in referring to the suits which were tried at the late assizes, says:—We congratulate Mr. Parsons on the success which he has met with in overcoming all the attempts of those unscrupulous parties to do him injury. Mr. Parsons has been a resident of this town from boyhood, and has been very successful in business. His character stands high throughout the country, and no man is more highly esteemed by our townspeople. The severe loss which he sustained in the destruction of his premises, was deeply deplored by all, and we trust that he will soon be able to recover his loss, and to enter upon a more prosperous career than before."

FIRE AT BARRIE.—On Saturday a fire broke out at the Innisfil wool factory, situated at Tollendale, opposite Barrie, across the Bay, and owned by Mark McNay. The fire broke out in the boiler room, and although a stream of water from the creek was poured on the building, it proved futile to stay the fire. The mill, machinery and a dwelling house at the side were all burned to the ground. Insured in the Royal for $1,000; in the Phœnix Mutual for $1,000. The total loss is estimated at $7,000.

An Irish gentleman writes to Truth to say that he has never found a Frenchman who can pronounce this:—"Thimblerig Thistlethwaite thievishly thought to thrive through thick and thin by throwing his thimbles about, but he was thwarted and thwacked, and thumped and thrashed with 33,000 thistles and thorns for thievishly thinking to thrive through thick and through thin by throwing the thimbles about."

If it be true, that Hon. Mr. Jones, Minister of Militia, is about to leave for Halifax to spend the summer months, the fact must be accepted as indicating that at Ottawa there is no belief entertained that a Fenian raid will take place. It may fairly be assumed that the authorities at the Capital are better informed as to the probabilities in this matter than anybody else in Canada can be.

A. J. DITMAN, the enterprising Druggist, corner of Barclay Street and Broadway, N. Y., manufacturer and proprietor of "Ditman's Sea Salt," says:

I sell large quantities of GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA. It is the best preparation I have seen in an experience of many years, and do not hesitate to recommend it before anything of the kind I know of.

Unequalled in its location, and unsurpassed in its arrangements, for the convenience and comfort of the travelling public, the Colonnade Hotel on Chestnut street, Philadelphia, holds the highest rank. deod

The Board of Examiners and the County Council.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—I see by your issue of the 2nd inst., that your correspondent "Signum" availing himself of the rights of a free and independent citizen of this great Dominion, has, as becomes a genius of his marked and very exact and original method of thought, judged it incumbent upon him, pro bono publico, to give his own logic and the "School Board," as he calls it, an additional airing. With all this, his individual rights, privileges and purposes, I have nothing whatever to do, only I should advise him, before he next condescends from his "cold serene height," to enlighten the public, to make sure that he knows exactly what he is writing about. I certainly did not know till now that there was any difficulty between any "School Board" and the County Council. Will "Signum" just decide for himself what "School Board" he has become muddled about, and on which he is attempting to vent his ill-disguised spleen, instead of replying to my letter, which he seems wholly to have lost sight of in his extreme anxiety to give the public a supplement to the Warden's letter, and an apology for that already written. I assure "Signum" that I have no objection whatever that he should constitute himself the apologist of the Warden, and had he followed this course to the end of his epistle, I should not have given myself the trouble of noticing his effusion. But it is evident that he is laboring under some outre conception of his own with regard to the whole matter, and so far as I am concerned, except in a single instance to be hereafter noticed, has been firing off blank cartridge of home manufacture. Indeed, I am inclined to think, from strong internal evidence, that "Signum" is that zealous young man who has for the past four months been doing voluntary missionary work, and who a few weeks ago publicly offered to "go and modify the Warden's letter if it had not yet gone to press." If your correspondent be not that interesting and irrepressible individual, he is evidently very strongly en rapport with him, and has probably now given the modification he then intended. In fact unless the Warden and your correspondent labor under a condition of chronic clairvoyance, subject to that most interesting mental phenomena, mutual intellectual transfusion, I am at a loss to account for the vagaries of Mr. "Signum," for I can find nowhere in the Warden's letter a number of the statements for which he becomes the apologist. If, however, he has constituted himself the index of the Warden's mental condition with regard to the Board, he may probably be the irresponsible medium of what the Warden thought but has not written. For instance, where does either the Board, the Warden, "Sphinx," or "Teacher" mention third class papers on Education or School Law, yet he takes the opportunity of firing off this little bomb on his own account, under the guise of a reply to "Teacher." This is, I presume, part of that reserve war missile with which probably every teacher in South Wellington has already heard the Board threatened, if it did not maintain a discreet silence, at the very time when its members were challenged to make a public statement. Probably however it is a specimen of that fair play which "Signum" and his friends are so anxious to mete out to the Board. But why with this apparent anxiety for fair play does he not, if he really knows anything at all about the matter, say to your readers that the subjects of school law and education as formerly presented to third class candidates consisted of some six or eight questions contained on a single paper, while the new model school examinations include four distinct subjects. Besides, if the Government regard model schools as sufficiently distinct to place them under a separate Inspectorship, and the board were not only placed under the necessity of a meeting for the distribution of candidates, and two additional examinations, one in Guelph and the other in Mount Forest, surely it is the most gross injustice to force upon the public or the Council, the idea that this was part of the unfinished work of the former session, when the whole Model School system and its consequent expenditure is a new feature moulded upon our Public Schools; and I am satisfied it was so regarded by the Council, as no attempt whatever was made to connect it with the expense of the former July session. But this is not the only evidence of unfairness in "Signum's" letter. He knows perfectly well unless he is unpardonably ignorant of what he attempts to discuss, that the $168 which he is so anxious to fix upon the Board, as the amount arising out of the Guelph and Mount Forest Model School examinations, and in his view part of the midsummer expense, is in large part made up of the expense of an extra second class teachers' examination held in December, 1877, including as it does, advertising, stationery, postage, mileage, express charges, and the attendance of two members of the Board during the five days' sitting of the candidates, yet he wilfully glosses this over as model school work, under the guise of Education and School Law, and then characterises the whole as part of the ordinary midsummer expenditure. This is indeed fair play with a purpose, as well as a vengeance, but altogether too transparent and contemptible, to receive anything more than the reprobation it deserves from all honest thinking men. I might here pass over without further remark, this part of "Signum's" epistle were it not that I believe him possessed of a species of ability which might be utilized to his own advantage in some other sphere. I would therefore advise "Signum," at once to enter the service of the Czar, as he evidently manifests very strongly the budding instincts of an amateur diplomate. Canada as yet affords no fitting sphere for the development of abilities so promising.

It would be altogether unnecessary to notice "Signum's" insipid pleasantry over his "per cent" did it not bear very strong evidence of coming from one of the grateful, who lacking the mental energy necessary to throw off his own intellectual swaddling bands had been put for several years in leading strings, over his "per cents" and is now anxious to show the public that he still remembers the name, whatever he may know of the application.

I come now to notice the only part of your correspondent's communication directed against myself. This is a transparent but very cheap bid for the teachers' influence in the matter in hand, while at the same time it wholly misrepresents the statements and sentiments of my letter. The opinion therein expressed and the only interpretation that it will justly bear, was that few of the teachers of the county have that personal acquaintance with the moral character and professional abilities of the various candidates now in the field, which would enable them to judge of their fitness for the office of Public School Inspector; and that therefore, if petitions are to be signed by them it can only be on the representation of others. And what are the facts in the case, simply that perhaps not more than twenty teachers out of the two hundred in the whole county have had, or now have any intimate acquaintance with the present aspirants to the office. Their opinions must therefore be largely based upon mere hearsay. When I therefore expressed the opinion that such teachers cannot intelligently and conscientiously sign a petition embodying any strong expression of opinion as to the qualification of any of the candidates, I pay their manliness and independence a compliment, of which "Signum" seems to have no conception, and of which his very act would rob them, when he hopes by cajolery and flattery to obtain their signatures to any such documents.

But Mr. Editor, there is another side to this feature of "Signum's" letter, and not at all the least absurd in his farsical effusion. Did it ever occur to you that it requires considerable self importance, perhaps I should rather say the sublime of primitive innocence, for "Signum," who is, I judge, a teacher in South Wellington, to take upon himself, with all his ability to judge, the selection of Inspectors for the two divisions of the county, "running them in pairs" as it is said, one for the north and the other for the south, as if the whole management of the matter were handed over to one or two enthusiasts? Surely if teachers are to have any voice in the matter, those in the north are equally interested, and might be left to move in the selection of their own candidate. But no, the ground has been all laid out, and the candidates placed long ago, by men of "Signum's" diplomatic tendencies. It is true there have been, so far, a good many hitches in the negotiations, and the double-team arrangement does not seem to work sufficiently smooth to promise success, and at present matters seem to be in statu quo, with the exception of a determined attempt to make capital out of the Board, by taking the whole case out of the hands of the Council to be settled according to the dictum of "Signum," and the little circle of which he is perhaps the Head Centre.

As Mr. "Signum's" reference to Sunday charges, is another of his little private bombs, which he probably feels under the necessity of letting off for his own relief, but which has no connection whatever with my letter to which he pretends to reply, I leave the matter between himself and the Board as it is no concern of mine.

Another remark and I have done—"Signum" insinuates that my letter is a second, but not improved edition of "Sphinx," as if I had used the sentiment, but failed to improve the style of that communication. To this I have only to say that my letter had gone to press before I had seen or known anything of "Sphinx" or his letter. But after all, it is little to be wondered at, if reasonable men take a similar view of a case so plain as the one in hand. It is only when men attempt misrepresentation and insinuation that the result becomes somewhat heterogeneous in character, killing the "Signum" but missing the mark.

TEACHER.

Wellington, May 10th, 1878.

DAMAGE BY LIGHTNING.—During Monday's thunder storm considerable damage was done at Woodville, about 400 feet of sheds in connection with the Presbyterian Church, and a harness shop owned by Mr. A. Smith, were levelled to the ground. The roof of the Queen's Hotel was torn off, exposing valuable furniture to torrents of rain. A house in the rear of Mitchell's store was badly damaged. In London, Ruben Stinchcombe and wife, while crossing Blackfriar's Bridge last night during the storm, received a shock from the lightning, which hurled them both against the iron-work of the bridge. It was some time before they recovered.

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS.

Who can sell the cheapest, those who pay thousands of dollars rent, or those who pay no rent? Those who have to support three or four partners and families, or those who have only one family to support? Those who lost thousands of dollars—by dealers in Toronto and other places—or those who did not lose one cent? Those who have had forty years' experience, or those who served no apprenticeship to the business they profess to follow? Please consider these questions before it is too late.

New Books.

FUTURE PUNISHMENT.—This is a neat pamphlet giving discourses on the questions of future punishment and eternal hope—as presented by Canon Farrar—by Rev. Prof. Salmon, Principal Tulloch, Rev. J. Baldwin Brown, Rev. Wm. Arthur, Rev. John Hunt, and other distinguished English divines. We have thus presented in neat form, and at a small cost, the best thoughts of the ablest preachers on these themes.

MOODY'S TALKS.—In this little book are collected some of the plain, homely, but effective "talks" Mr. Moody has had in the course of his evangelistic work in Chicago, Boston, and other cities. Many interesting and affecting incidents connected with conversations are also given. The book is a valuable one, especially to young people.

THE SOUL, FUTURE LIFE, ETC.—This volume deals with the soul and future life, being papers by Frederic Harrison, R. H. Hutton, Prof. Huxley, Lord Blachford, Lord Selborne, Hon. R. Noel, Canon Barry, Mr. Grey, Rev. Baldwin Brown, and Dr. G. W. Ward. There are also papers on the influence upon morality of a decline in religious belief by Sir James Stephen, Lord Selborne, Dr. Martineau, Mr. F. Harrison, the Dean of St. Paul's, the Duke of Argyle, Prof. Clifford, Dr. Ward, Prof Huxley, and Hutton.

The above are from the Rose-Belford Publishing Company, Toronto, and are for sale by T. J. Day.

PETTENGILL'S NEWSPAPER DIRECTORY.—This Directory and Advertiser's Hand Book for 1878, published by the world-known advertising agency of S. M. Pettengill & Co., 37 Park Row, New York, has just come to hand. For simplicity and convenience of arrangement, comprehensiveness and scope, and appearance we have long regarded this as by far the best and most reliable Newspaper Directory published in the United States or elsewhere. It contains a complete list of the newspapers published in the United States and the British Provinces, a second list arranged, for the convenience of advertisers, in counties; lists of the daily, weekly, monthly, religious, agricultural, and specialist newspapers and periodicals, with full information as to character, circulation and proprietorship, and a list of the leading newspapers of Great Britain, Australia, and Europe. The volume is illustrated with portraits of Bayard Taylor, Geo. W. Childs, and Bret Harte among living, and Samuel Bowles, James Gordon Bennett, of the dead journalists of the United States, whilst an excellent steel engraving of Mr. S. M. Pettengill appears as the frontispiece. An interesting article on advertising, replete with hints drawn from long practical experience of the subject, should make this volume specially attractive to business men.

WIDE AWAKE, is an illustrated magazine for young people, published by D. Lothrop & Co., of Boston. The June number has been received. As usual, it is full of interesting reading for children.

Mr Francis Henry Moran, one of the Light Brigade in the Crimea, has died at Chatham, Eng. He was the trumpeter who sounded the memorable "Charge" at Balaclava, when the order was received. He was dangerously wounyed. For the last sixteen years he had been bandmaster of the 2nd Battalion of the 5th Fusiliers, and had been in the service over thirty-two years.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. BOOTS & SHOES

A pious elder of the Scottish Kirk, on his way to service on a Sunday morning, saw a little girl and boy playing marbles. He wrathfully inquired, "Boy, do you know where children go to who play marbles on Sunday?" "Ay, ay," answered the boy, "they gang doun to the field by the brig" (bridge) "No," roared the elder, "go to hell and are burned." The little fellow looking shocked and frightened, called to his sister, "Come awa, Jeannie; come awa, here's a mon swearing awfully."

THE horses employed in drawing Mr. Mitchell's watering carts are frisky as well as strong animals. Already two runaways have taken place. During the runaway this morning the boy who was driving was thrown off his seat and was nearly run over. No damage.

MR. F. WILSON, living on Norfolk street, had two valuable fowls stolen from his hen coop on Tuesday night. The owner of the fowls invites the thief to return for some more of them, when he intends giving him a warm reception.

DEMOCRAT waggons by wholesale, are being purchased at the carriage works of Mr. J. B. Armstrong, by S. D. Rice. Five were taken away this (Wednesday) morning. Two hundred of first-class quality are to be manufactured for the same gentleman.

COMMITTED.—David Graham was fined two dollars and costs by the Police Magistrate about two weeks ago for being implicated in a Sunday fight. He left town without paying the fine and located in Brantford. Constable Colson brought him back on Tuesday evening, and this morning the magistrate committed him to gaol for three days.

MR. ALEX. MACDONALD received a letter to-day from his brother William who is at Fisher's Landing along with Winer and George Wardrope awaiting the arrival of Mr. McAllister who left here about a week ago for Manitoba. They were all well and were anxious to get to work in tilling the soil. George Wardrope had been suffering from a severe cold, but at the time of writing had fully recovered.

Kennedy was used as Queen's evidence against Rae but there being no corroborative evidence brought out, both have now their freedom.

TALL RYE. — A correspondent from Beverly writes about a magnificent field of rye belonging to John McQueen, of that Township, which is much farther advanced than that noticed in last week's MERCURY, belonging to Mr. Moore. Mr. McQueen's rye was out in head a week and a half ago and in height over the entire field it would average four feet and a half, and some stalks measured five feet one inch.

PROSPECT DIVISION.—A correspondent says:—An open Division was held in the Town Hall, Brookville, (Nassagaweya P.O) on the evening of Friday, 17th inst., under the auspices of the above-named Division. Mr. Jas. Milner, W.P., occupied the chair. The chairman, after explaining the object of the meeting, introduced Mr. J. Y. Easterbrook, who sang an excellent temperance song, which was loudly applauded. Master James Lozier, of Acton, favored the audience with some choice instrumental music, and was repeatedly encored. The Misses Micklin, of Acton, sang some fine selections, as also did the Misses Allison. Short but interesting addresses were delivered by Mr. J. Lozier and by Mr. D. Barbaree. Mr. John Little, in his usual humorous style, related some spicy anecdotes, and sang some pieces which were highly appreciated. Readings and recitations were given by Messrs. J. Collins and R. Flescher. The usual vote of thanks being given, the company united in singing the National Anthem, after which the crowd dispersed, all apparently highly satisfied with the evening's entertainment.

PUSLINCH FARMERS' CLUB.—The regular monthly meeting of this club was held in the Town Hall, Aberfoyle, Friday, 10th May. Mr. Wm. Rae, President, in the chair. The subject for debate was "The advisability of establishing a Farmers' Convention for the Province of Ontario." A very able essay was read on the subject by Mr. Peter McLaren, which was well received by the meeting. Speeches were delivered by Messrs. McFarlane, Gilchrist, Smith, David McFarlane, Glennie, Mahon, and others. The general tenor of the remarks made were in favor of the establishment of such an institution. The question of establishing a semi-annual seed fair in connection with the club was then considered, and on motion the establishment of such a fair was unanimously agreed upon, and a committee appointed—the President and Directors, to draft rules and regulations to govern the fair, and report at next meeting. The subject for next meeting is "The importance of a judicious rotation of crops," Mr. D. Gilchrist to open the debate. The next meeting of the club will be held at the same place on Friday, the 14th of June.

THE Young People's Union in connection with the Dublin street Methodist Church will give a musical and literary entertainment in the body of the above church on the evening of the 24th. Admittance free. Full particulars in programme tomorrow. 1t.

Musical Union.

The Concert a Grand Success.

On Tuesday evening the Guelph Musical Union gave its first concert in the Town Hall, and considering everything connected therewith, it was a very pleasing and successful entertainment. Successful on account of the harmony of voices prevailing throughout most of the choruses; successful on account of the instrumental music being of a very high order, given with considerable brilliancy of execution; and particularly successful on account of the large and appreciative audience—over four hundred being present.

The Musical Union is not a very old established institution, being only of a few months' growth, still within that time much good has been accomplished in the way of developing the latent musical talent among a number of young people of the town. It has been fortunate in securing a conductor who is in every way fitted for the position, not only on account of being a master musician, but because he fortunately is one of those few who are able to manage and guide a number of musicians—a class whom every person now looks upon as being composed of temperaments much more sensitive than possessed by other mortals. Mr. Philp is the right man in the proper position, and much of the success of the Union is due to his management.

The concert, however, is the matter now in hand. Both halls had been thrown into one by removing the partition, and seats porary stage placed at the side of the new extended from the front of the temhall, down through the entire length of the old one, with aisles at either side, wide enough for an extensive promenade. The "walk around" took place during an intermission of twenty minutes between the first and second parts of the programme. Refreshments, such as ice cream, and other delicacies, which many are particularly fond of, were served out by Mr. F. J. Drew at one end of the old hall. The seats which the singers occupied were raised one above the other—five rows, and carpeted. In all there were some sixty voices, and the various parts appeared to be well represented. In the orchestra, Messrs. Dyson and Emery played cornets, Mr. Billinger the saxophone, and the Harris boys violins. Miss Geddes played the piano accompaniments to the singing, and Miss Cossitt showed great brilliancy of execution on the piano in the instrumental pieces.

To mention each vocal and instrumental selection in detail, and to express an opinion in regard to the same would prove more monotonous to the reader that would a concert without a solo on the programme to an audience. The suggestion that the programme of any future concerts given by the Union should have a few solos or duets, is here thrown out. The chorus "And the Glory of the Lord," by Handel, was rendered with excellent effect, the various parts being given with great volume of voice. The galop and chorus "Day of Gladness" from the Opera of Ernani, was marked with exact time throughout, while every part was ably sustained. In this chorus the Union showed what they could accomplish. In fact every portion of it was almost faultlessly rendered. Even the fault so apparent in the rendering of Mozart's "Gloria from the 12th Mass," and noticeable in a couple of other pieces, of the difficulty the good voices had of tiding over novices in music, and distinctness in pronounciation, could not be found in rendering "Day of Gladness." The triumphal march and chorus "With sheathed swords," is also worthy of special mention. For a double quartette the rendering of "Good Night Beloved," was on the weak side. In "Come Gentle Spring," the baritone and tenor voices became a little mixed, but this is excusable as the practice for such a piece has it is said not been quiet sufficient to enable its correct production beyond a peradventure. Two selections from Belshazzar were given—"We will give thanks," and "The voice of the Bridegroom" as a chorus, and "O God of our Fathers" as a solo and chorus. Mr. Rodgers sang the solo. The first named chorus was the better rendered of the two. The instrumental music throughout was excellent. In fact it was such music as has seldom been heard in Guelph. Each individual player appeared to enter into the spirit of the music, which added to the effect produced. Those young lads, the Harris boys, would be missed from musical circles here. They appeared to great advantage in all their performances. "The popular airs in the overture "Guy Mannering" always take well, and they did on this occasion. The selections from "Somnabula," by Bellini, and "The Barber of Seville," by Rossini, undoubtedly stood, as they should, first place with the audience. "God save the Queen," closed what was conceded on all side to be a first-class concert. The Union is to be congratulated on the success attained.

DIOCESAN SYNOD OF NIAGARA.—The Fourth Synod of the Diocese of Niagara met at Hamilton on Tuesday at 10:30 a.m. The Clergy of the Diocese assembled in the School Room and proceeded in order to the Cathedral. The prayers to the 3rd Collect were said by the Rev. Canon Roberts, Rector of Thorold. The Rev. E. J. Fessenden, Incumbent of Clifton, read the 1st Lesson, and the Rev. Canon Houston, Incumbent of Waterdown, the 2nd Lesson. The Communion Office was begun by the Right Reverend the Lord Bishop of the Diocese. The Venerable Archdeacon McMurray was Epistoler, and the Rev. Canon Osler acted as Gospeller. After a hymn the Bishop advanced to the chancel steps and thence delivered his address. After the address, the offertory sentences were read by the Rev. Canon Dixon, Rector of Guelph, and Examining Chaplain.

BASE BALL ITEMS.—The Boston-Providence game on Wednesday was the most remarkable game played since 1876. The batting of the Providence men was tremendous. Twenty-five base hits were made by them, with a total of thirty-four. The Bostons had seventeen errors, while the Providence nine are credited with six. In the eighth inning Bond, the pitcher of the Bostons, was retired and Manning substituted. This is the first time that Bond has been batted out of his position during his professional career. This inning lasted twenty-five minutes, sixteen men went to the bat, twelve runs were scored, a total of fifteen base-hits was batted, and three of the runs were earned—the greatest inning on record in professional games. York, of the Providence team, did the heaviest batting, making two three base hits and three single hits. Hines made a run home.

FALL IN BREAD.—On Tuesday afternoon an accident to the bread waggon of Mr. John Harris, driven by Mr. Haley. The driver was in the house of Mr. Tobin, on the London Road, as is usual, the horse was left untied. On ordinary occasions such would be a very safe course to pursue, but it appears that a tethered horse was grazing alongside the road, and the happy manner in which it chewed the sweet herbage incited a feeling of envy in the bread wagon animal, and it at once proceeded to graze on the road side. Not taking into consideration the length of turn required, the waggon was upset and several boxes of biscuits were strewed around promiscuously. The waggon was soon righted and the delivery of the staff of life was continued without further mishaps.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

BRIGHTER HOPES OF PEACE.

EARLY MEETING OF A CONGRESS.

Germany to Arbitrate.

LONDON, May 11.

A Herald cable despatch reports that peace is regarded as certain at the Palace in St. Petersburg. Schouvaloff is to return and take the chief direction of public affairs. The people are discontented with the concessions to England. Gortschakoff is pronounced incapable, and popular sympathy is centering around Ignatieff.

A London despatch says:—It is announced that it is now probable that a Congress will meet in the first fortnight in June; also that, owing to the unsettled state of public affairs in Constantinople, the English fleet will probably move to the Princess Islands.

A Vienna despatch says:—The possibility of a Congress seems generally admitted, although few have confidence in its result. Andrassy no longer has implicit faith in that mode of a settlement.

Pacific news comes from St. Petersburg, Berlin, and Paris. A Berlin despatch says:—Schouvaloff expressed to the British Ambassador a hope that the negotiations between England and Russia would lead to a peaceful arrangement.

The New York Telegram's cable says:—The British Admiralty is making extensive arrangements for opposing Russia's scheme of establishing a fleet of cruisers to prey upon British commerce. Counter-centres are to be established at Bermuda, in the Bahamas, at New Foundland, in the Atlantic, and at Victoria and Fiji in the Pacific. At each station the fleet will consist of three turret ships and three gunboats of the heaviest armament. Two fast unarmoured cruisers have been put in commission for special service. The Boadicea, unarmoured corvette, with a capacity of steaming fourteen knots an hour, has just been commissioned, and will probably proceed to the Bahamas. The Admiralty is also considering the adoption of a new propeller which is claimed to increase the speed of steamers one-sixth.

The debate in the House of Commons was continued to-night, the members, as before, confining themselves to the legal and constitutional aspect of the question. Mr. Gladstone, who spoke for over an hour, hoped a division would be persisted in, no matter how small the minority. He repelled the charge that Lord Hartington's motion evaded a declaration of policy. If the Government pursued European objects in concert with Europe, not by a policy of isolation, and allowed Europe to determine the method, it would go into a Conference pursuing diplomatic aims by diplomatic means, refraining from warlike menace until cause for war appeared—that would be a policy many Liberals recommended. The debate was adjourned till Thursday.

Many pretended Russian emigrants are passing through Germany. It is believed they are seamen disguised, on the way to America to man cruisers.

The Wool Trade.

It is generally conceded by dealers that the wool business for the season of 1878 has been inaugurated with gloomy prospects for the wool growers of the country. Justice, Bateman & Co., of Philadelphia, in a circular says that since the 1st inst., prices are a shade lower. Manufacturers have generally held off from buying because they have believed that a further decline was probable. Prices are now so low that wools are beginning to attract attention. More activity is noticable, and some large lots of fine fleeces have been taken off the market by consumers who were in need. The combing branch of wool manufacture, which has been active during the last few years while other branches of the business have been unsatisfactory, has at last begun to share in the general depression. Combing fleeces have, in consequence, been neglected, and have declined more than any other quality. Washed Canada combing costing 56c landed here last July, and which sold then at 55c finds no buyers to-day at 40c, and other grades of coarse long combing are correspondingly low. On this account the opinion is gaining ground that combing wools will be worth little if any more than the short staple or clothing. That grade which at present is best sustained, is the long wool, which is improved by a merino cross, and nearly, or quite, half of this blood. The coarse, or Cotswold and Leicester breeds, if not made finer by crossing with Merino, are neglected. New unwashed wools are arriving, and sell at 29c to 30c for combing and delaine; 27c to 30c for medium short, or clothing; 25c to 26c for coarse, or quarter blood clothing; 24c to 25c for fine Merino, unwashed, and 18c to 20c for common, burry, and bucks' fleeces. Tub-washed wools sell at 36c to 40c, the latter for choice clean medium grades.

In a circular dated the 16th inst., the same firm says:—Canada wools have been neglected so long that prices have fallen to 30c for the best selected washed fleeces. This is lower than they have been for many years. As the tariff is not likely to be changed, the new clip will have to be bought very low to send it to this side at a profit. We think it will not be much lower, and may be a good speculation to hold at this price. The sales that are being made at 38c to 39c are to parties who do not expect to use it immediately.

Canadian buyers to send wool to the States at the above figures would have to buy here at 23c a pound. Last year it was 30c to 33c a pound.

The Fenian Scare.

Lieut.-Colonel Fletcher, of Montreal, states that he has received lately no disquieting despatches from the frontier, and that the Fenian excitement on the border seems to have completely subsided.

NORTH TROY, Vt., May 21.—A correspondent has visited several of the principal towns on the Canadian border. The Dominion militia are ready at an hour's notice to concentrate on the bordre. The soldiers claim, no doubt, that an invasion is imminent, and that the Irish Nationalists are now in large numbers, with the greatest secrecy possible, making their way into the interior of Canada, with orders to concentrate at different points for an onslaught on Montreal, Quebec, Ottawa, and other prominent Canadian towns. Another theory is that the Fenian demonstration is merely a ruse originated and conducted by Russian agents in this country to engross the attention of the Dominion Government to her home and interests, and bring recruiting for the English service in the Dominion to a dead stop. Another theory is that the demonstration has its inception in the Provinces. It is reported that arms and ammunition have for weeks been brought into the Provinces, where they are now concealed. The rumor that ten thousand men had congregated in the vicinity of St. Albans and Fairfield is greatly exaggerated. There are without doubt, however, a large number of men scattered all along the line.

NO HARD TIMES THERE.—One hears very little now-a-days but the cry hard times. Judging from the constant rush in business at the Lion, Messrs. J. D. Williamson & Co. never feel them. Their ruling principle is, make goods cheaper than any other store, and there is no trouble about selling them.

Book Notices.

Notes on the English Literature Examination Papers for Admission to High Schools, 1878. By G. A. Chase, M.A., Collegiate Institute, Galt. Jas. Campbell & Son, Publishers, Toronto.

Notes on the Examination Papers in English Literature for Third Class Certificates, 1878. By L. C. L. Armstrong, M.A., Collegiate Institute, Hamilton. Jas. Campbell & Son, Publisher, Toronto; T. J. Day, Guelph.

One of the greatest boons conferred upon the country in connection with the education of its youth, is the introduction of the systematic study of Literature—continuous works for the advanced classes of High Schools, and extracts, or short narratives and poems for the lower classes and for Public Schools. It is not too much to assert that, if the proper method in teaching be adopted, the generation now growing up under this training in literature, will display in after life far more intelligence and literary taste than any former one.

But it is necessary to be cautious, and to have a clear idea what end is to be accomplished by this study of literature. In their new-born zeal teachers and examiners may go too far, and really destroy what they are eager to promote. An examiner, for instance, may, on the strength of a short extract in the Fourth Book from Humboldt's writings, ask not only for a life of the author, but ask an enumeration and classification of his works; unfortunately the illustration is not exaggerated, it is even much within the reality. This is literature run mad, from which but one result can be expected—disgust with the whole subject.

On the other hand a teacher may rely altogether upon notes, or he may turn his literature into a lesson in parsing and analysis; both of these cannot be too strongly condemned. If parsing and analysis must be taught, let them form a lesson completely apart from the matter of the text.

Notes have their lawful use, and few of our teachers even could well do without them independently of the facts contained in the text of the author on which the pupils are engaged; other facts may be alluded to, a knowledge of which is necessary for a full understanding of the author's meaning; these may not have come within the range of the teacher's reading, or may not be within reach now; this lack it is one of the duties of notes to supply. Notes are useful too, in guiding both teacher and pupil in the primary object of the study of literature—the acquisition and study of language—learning the full force and accurate use of words, the advantage gained by different location of words or sentences, the history wrapped up in the words themselves. Inaccuracies of expression or looseness in composition must be pointed out; for pupils, and too often teachers, have the idea that all they find in books is right, and indeed was written by quite a different order of beings from those around them. These are some of the proper uses of notes.

But whatever the nature of the notes may be, whether they give additional fact, criticise the author's language, explain difficult constructions or call attention to the text in any way, they can never to the learner supply the place of the living voice of the teacher: it is that which must give life and animation to the whole. The pupils must be taught to bring their own thoughts to bear on the pages before them; they must imperatively be thrown back from the book upon their own experience in life, limited as it may be; and this must be seconded by the teacher's own experience. In short, teaching in literature must be more or less of a conversation between teacher and pupil; it must not be task work; the notes are a useful auxiliary but must never be made a burden. The authors of these notes have ably mastered their subjects and deserve our thanks.

A Few Plain Truths from "Honest Joe."

At the meeting in Hamilton on Saturday night, at which Messrs. Irvine and Wood were nominated, Mr. Joseph Rymal, M. P., made the following excellent speech on the protection and taxation humbug. We copy it from the Hamilton Times:—

Mr. Rymal, who was received with great cheering, having congratulated the Reformers of Hamilton upon the choice they had made, he said he had been a member of Parliament for twenty-one years, but he had never seen any gentlemen perform their duty by their constituents more fearlessly or efficiently than had Messrs. Irving and Wood. (Cheers.) Mr. Rymal, in referring to the Tory cry for Protection, said the Conservatives were advocating in Opposition that which they had ignored when in power. They were not friends of Protection at all. They were merely using the cry as a party football—as something to split the Reform party and help themselves back to power and a career of misrule. If they were in earnest, why do they refuse to tell the people what they propose to do? Sir John certainly does not know anything about Protection. He cares nothing for it. He has never given it his attention. He has been the political leader of a party and has entrusted these matters in turn to Sir A. T. Galt, Sir John Rose and Sir Francis Hincks. He was always guided by their advice and accordingly went in one direction one time and in an opposite course at another. (Laughter.) At one time he was a Free Trader; at another a Protectionist—just as the wind blew. (Laughter.) In 1866 he put a tax on wheat, flour and meal, and called it a great boon. Then, after two year's trial, he took it off and called it another great boon. (Laughter.) At the end of four years more he put it on again and baptizing it the "National Policy," said it was still another great boon. (Loud laughter.) But it was born out of due time, and at the end of eleven months was strangled by those who had given it birth, and this was called yet another great boon. (Roars of laughter.) He was then the leader of a Government. Now he is in the Opposition, and being very hungry is very anxious to confer more "great boons." (Renewed laughter.) Mr. Rymal related an anecdote to the effect that last autumn, when Sir John was expected in this city, he happened to meet Hon. Isaac Buchanan near the arch erected opposite McInnes' Block. Mr. Buchanan drew his attention to the motto, "Hamilton Redeemed, 1878." He (Mr. Rymal) quietly replied that the people in the city must have been asleep, as he believed it had been redeemed "four years ago." Mr. Buchanan said "Good-day," and went off without further parley. (Great laughter.) Mr. Rymal said the issue of the present campaign in Hamilton was in the hands of the Reformers. All they had to do was to buckle on their armor, cheer up any who felt discouraged, if any there were, and press on to victory. (Loud cheers.) He was anxious to be again invited down to assist them in celebrating a great triumph, and he did not wish to be disappointed. (Laughter.) He had known Hamilton since it was a village, and knew all about its industries and progress. He had been astonished to hear Sir John talk of the suffering manufacturers of Hamilton. But he (Mr. Rymal) could not be made to believe that men who attended to their business were among the sufferers. He had noticed that men who failed from want of paying attention to their affairs always blamed somebody else and grumbled. It was because they were not allowed to put their hands into other people's pockets and take money out of them. (Laughter.) The best kind of Protection was sound health and minding one's own business. (Applause.) Those who break down are those who wait for Providence to help them. Those who help themselves get on well enough. Mr. Rymal said that the eyes of the Dominion were upon Hamilton, and that the Tories had boasted that the Reform candidates would be rejected as the present members had sacrificed the interests of the city. The Reformers here had therefore a duty to perform in sustaining Messrs. Irving and Wood and Mr. Mackenzie's Government. (Cheers.) Sir John had boasted, too, that Quebec would not send five members to support Mr. Mackenzie. There had been an election in Quebec, and the Liberals were victorious. De Boucherville and his forty robbers had been defeated. Where was Sir John's boast to-day? (Cheers.) He (Mr. Rymal) had conversed with Reform members from all parts of Canada, and they were confident of being re-elected. New Brunswick would send twelve Liberals out of sixteen members. Nova Scotia would surely return sixteen out of twenty-one. Quebec would go strong for Mr. Mackenzie. In Ontario, it was scarcely possible the result could be uncertain. As for Hamilton and the Wentworths, he knew they were sound. (Cheers.) The Reform cause was just, and would certainly succeed, and the majority all over the country would be greater than in 1874, when the Liberal party swept the country. (Loud cheering.)

Daily Mercury.

WEDNESDAY EVEN'G, MAY 22, 1878.

SAYS the St. Thomas Journal:—The Tory Chieftain would appear to be growing jealous of his lieutenant, the Great Stretcher's reputation. Any way he has published a card to the electors of Kingston in which he professes to give the expenditure of Canada for the several years since 1872, and for 1877-8 he has the courage to say that the amount is $26,203,000. This makes an increase of nearly three millions over the expenditure of 1873-4, the last year of his own administration, but unfortunately for the Chieftain the financial year 1877-8 is not yet closed. All we know is, that the Estimates only called for $25,378,228, and Mr. Cartwright has always ways been careful not to exceed his Estimates. Sir John has stretched his figures by three millions at the least.

THE N. Y. Herald says that two of the parties who shot Lord Leitrim and and his two servants are in the States, and that the third will soon be there also. It also states that it has received information of a character which sweeps away the presumption that land troubles had anything to do with the murder of the Earl, and goes far to prove that his death resulted from the fierce resentment which sought to avenge a dishonored home. The informant is a relative of two of the men who were concerned in the death of the Earl of Leitrim, and who are now he says, safe in America.

MR. DENNIS MOORE at the Hamilton Reform meeting paid a tribute of no small worth to Mr. Mackenzie and his policy. He said he had been a member of the Reform party for forty years, and he saw no reason to leave it. And yet he is one of Hamilton's leading manufacturers, and one of those who according to the taxationists should have more protection thrust on them whether they want it or not.

HON. MR. JONES has gone to Halifax. Hon. Mr. Laflamme is on a visit to his constituency. The Premier will probably visit Lambton next week. Hon. Mr. Cartwright is in Lennox and addressed his constituents on Tuesday. Hon. Mr. Burpee and family leave on Thursday for their home at St. John, for the summer months. It is probable that he will accept the Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick when the vacancy occurs.

SAYS the Telegram:—After clamouring so loudly for a general election, and beseeching Lord Dufferin to turn his advisers out of office and send them to their condemnation, it does not look well for the Mail to begin to shake in its boots and wail about "another midnight attack" the moment a hint comes from Ottawa that the writs may be issued shortly.

THE Quebec Chronicle says that a number of members have already chosen their seats in the Legislative Assembly. It is a significant fact as showing upon which side of the House the seats are mostly in demand, that while twenty have already been reserved on the Government side only five have been yet taken of those to the left of the Speaker's chair.

IT would be a pertinent question to put to Mr. Hay, the Taxationist candidate for Centre Toronto, whether in securing protection he would be willing to advance the wages of his workmen. We venture to say, not a cent; and most certainly not if he follows the lead of the protected manufacturers of the States, who are constantly cutting down the wages of their employees.

THE presentation humbug is to begin again on the 24th, for there is to be a grand political demonstration in Brantford on that day in honor of Sir John and Dr. Tupper, and a presentation will be made to Lady Macdonald by the workingmen (?) of the city.

THERE is no truth whatever in the report circulated through the country that the Government had received intimation from the Imperial authorities that war between England and Russia was inevitable.

MR. PATTERSON, M. P., and Mr. Heyd completely used up Mr. Frazer, the taxationist spouter, the other night in Brantford. The collector of the $20,000 fund has withdrawn for repairs.

BOTH Mr. Turcotte and Mr. Irvine are talked of in connection with the Speakership for the Quebec Legislature.

ALE AND PORTER IN PARLIAMENT.—The Bassas are stealing a march upon the Allsopps. The senior partner of the firm of Bass & Co. has been in the House of Commons for forty years. Thirteen years ago his eldest son also obtained a seat there. This was not relished by Messrs. Allsopp & Sons, and in 1873 the eldest son of the head of the firm was elected for East Staffordshire. The year after, the senior partner himself was elected for East Worcestershire, and thus in the matter of Parliamentary influence the two families were placed upon a footing of equality. Now, however, another son of Mr. Bass has come forward as a candidate for Parliamentary honors, and he will probably make a stout fight of it at Tamworth. The Allsopps do not despair, as there are still six sons who may eventually become available as candidates.

LONDON May 22.—A despatch from Vienna says Austria will forcibly prevent cessation of Autovari to Montenegro.

Agricultural Protection.

We cannot believe that our Tory friends are sincere when they advocate a protective tariff on agricultural products, nor can we understand on what principle such an imposition of duty would benefit the farmer. Could we or rather our millers obtain their wheat at the lowest possible rate, and have at the same time a prohibitory tariff placed on the article of flour, doubtless they would be benefited and the farmers and the consuming population of the Dominion be correspondingly injured. But raise the price of flour and you at once strike a blow at some of the most important interests of the country,—the lumbering and the fishery. Very large quantities of a cheaper flour than we manufacture are yearly used by the great lumber companies of Canada, and to tax that commodity would be simply restricting and impeding their progress. Then, in regard to the fishing population which yield such a large income to the country, we find the inhabitants of the Maritime Provinces engaged in that trade. Coasting down the American side, and bartering their fish for flour, they make, by this interchange, a profitable trip for the vessels and boats both ways. Again, we could not tax either wheat or flour without taxing coal. The Tories might do it, but what we mean is, that it would be unjust and unpatriotic for us to place a duty on the outside productions competing with those of Ontario, and not to give our Maritime and Quebec friends a like advantage. Tax coal, therefore, and you at once raise the price of that staple article throughout this Province, at least 30 per cent. Endeavor to keep out salt, and you increase the burden of all except the Goderich salt wells, that is, you tax the whole Dominion for the benefit of less than one Township, and an obstacle is at once thrown in the way of our British traffic, as a large portion of the salt imported is English production. Then, let us see how it would work to tax corn. This is used as a substitute for our coarse grains, such as peas, barley, oats, etc., and if we are to believe our farmers, a capital substitute it makes. What would be the result of shutting this article out? Look at the figures. For the last five years the exports from Canada have averaged per bushel for barley 70 cents, and for peas 79 cents. We imported corn into Canada and used it as a substitute for which we have paid on an average for the same period only 53 cents per bushel. Surely this looks like a good bargain, and we do not imagine our farmers will care to make a change in this respect.

What will we tax to benefit the farmers? Not wheat, as we export more than we import. Not peas or barley, as we get a far higher price for them than we pay for corn, which we do not produce except in small quantities. Not coal or salt, as that would only add to the burdens of the farmers, especially those of Ontario. Not cattle, as all we import cannot and does not affect our market here. We would therefore ask the National League party one question. Name one article, name the duty they desire placed upon it, and let them show that this would be a national benefit to the agricultural population. If they prefer going into a more extensive policy than this, let them name half-a-dozen with the like information as above required, and the people will then be able to judge for themselves. If they will not do this, then let them not say we are actuated by party motives when we tell this League that the whole of the National Policy is Tory buncombe and hypocrisy.

That Requisition.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—How is it that the person peddling the requisition round town for Mr. Goldie to come out as the protection candidate will not take the names of Conservatives? It seems to be his little game to entrap weak-kneed Reformers on the Protection dodge, and by telling them a lot of rubbish that will not stand inquiry. Surely the Reformers are not going to be caught by such chaff.

Explosion in a Coal Mine at Cape Breton.

HALIFAX, N. S., May 21.

An accident occurred at Old Sydney mines this morning, caused by an explosion of gas. Six men have been taken out dead. At the time of the explosion there were between thirty and forty men in the pit. A number escaped in safety. Ten or twelve were taken out unconscious, and are slowly recovering. Two dead bodies have also been taken out, two at the bottom of the shaft, and two more are said to be in the pit, but they cannot be reached on account of foul air. Fires have been started in the Queen pit to restore the circulation of air by passages which connect with the new winnings. The first to enter the mine after the explosion were three brothers Sullivan, who succeeded in rescuing thirteen of the cutters who had been overcome by gas after the explosion. Sixteen pairs of cutters were at work. There were a number of men at work in the south side of the mine, but all escaped uninjured. One of the Sullivans was prostrated while searching for the dead, but was fortunately rescued by his brothers in time to save his life.

We offer during the balance of this month wonderful attractions to intending buyers of Fancy and Staple Dry Goods, Millinery, Carpets, Silks, Mantles, Jackets, and General Dress Goods.

Our stock stands unrivalled in the Dominion. The taste is exquisitely beautiful, the value is the best to be found, the most polite and courteous attention, is paid to all ranks of respectable purchasers, and the best of satisfaction is guaranteed to all who make their purchases of us. We submit for this week the greatest bargains ever before shown to the inhabitants of Guelph in

Black Silks,

for ladie's Mantles or Dresses. We unhesitatingly say that we are offering an advantage of 20 per cent under any establishment in Guelph. We are showing a nice stock of Moonlight Trimmings, Moonlight Vellings and Floral Trimmings.

These goods are quite new.

In Ladies' Millinery, Hats and Bonnets

we excel in taste, style, and novelty all previous efforts. The young lady at the head of this Department combines the most refined taste with lofty artistic ideas, making at once her department the reception room for ladies who are in quest of all that is novel and excellent.

Jackets, Mantles.

We congratulate the ladies of this section in having so rich and excellent a lot of Ladies Silk Paramatta and Tweed Jackets, exquisite styles. Also an endless variety of the material and styles to select from.

Our stock of all classes of general goods is full and complete, and we remind our old customers and friends that we only keep new, fresh, sound and satisfactory goods, satisfying all who purchase them. We are straightforward in dealing, and represent goods just as they are. We wage war against old, motheaten, bankrupt stocks, kept by second class stores, and again warn the public against such trash. Call and see the wonderful man, and you will receive the best value for your money.

Harold the Outlaw

—OR—

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XLII.

"FROM DUSK TO DAWN, AND THENCE TO DUSK AGAIN."

"He believes you are dead or in a foreign land," said Nip.

"I know he does," exclaimed the other, as a fiercer light—a light of vengeful triumph—kindled in his eyes. "That belief will make his discomfiture all the greater, only I fear this enterprise on which we are to start at sunrise will reveal to him the fact that I am neither dead or abroad, but watching and waiting for his overthrow. If Joe should see me, the fact will soon be reported to the wretch who has such good reason to fear me."

"But what of Myra?" asked Nip. "When Harold comes to know her history and the wrong she has sustained, he will never consent to leave her to the cruel fate she has so long endured."

"'Tis certain he will not; and it is hopeless to expect that the two women have not made the acquaintance of each other, for Joe would not think of keeping them separate."

"He could not," added Nip, "unless he kept both of them continually locked up."

"Oh, they have had the free use of the island, you may be sure; so there is nothing for it but that I should tell Logan the whole story as we travel to-morrow. For the rest I would know better how to do if I had information as to how matters stand in the mansion of Benachray. When we reach the Eagle's Mount you shall go on before through the Pass of Cloy, and learn if any new event has transpired since your last visit. We shall wait your return at Glentyne wood-end."

To these various plans and instructions Nip gave a ready assent, and as no purpose could be served by farther conference they left the shadow of the rock and betook themselves to such places of repose as they could find.

For Harold Logan there was no sleep that night. At the earnest solicitation of Kenneth he lay down on the couch which the latter had prepared for him that he might at least obtain some bodily rest. But his mind was too feverishly excited to submit to the gentle power and reviving influence of slumber, and he longed—oh, how impatiently—for the dawn to break, that he might be on the way to his darling's rescue. Months had elapsed since first she wrote the invisible words which told the place of her imprisonment, and implored him to come for her deliverance. Her stratagem having produced no result, he imagined that her hope must now be fading into despair. He bitterly, though very unjustly, reproached himself for not having examined her letters more closely, for not subjecting them to the test of heat, the idea that she might have taken some means of secretly communicating with him. Now that the discovery had been made, he thought it the most natural of all things that her love-quickened ingenuity would devise a plan whereby the letters should become the medium of a secret message, and accused himself of all manner of dullness and stupidity.

"After all," he inwardly exclaimed, "it was Black Dick who brought about the blessed discovery, though the deed which led to it is likely to cost him his life. He has been the cause of all my misfortunes, and Providence has made him the instrument of the rectification of the worst of them. Let me but recover my darling and the boy, and all else that I have to endure shall seem light and insignificant. Ha! the east begins to brighten; Heaven be praised! it is the dawn at last."

We need not linger to describe the journey of the four impatient men over the mountains to Benachray. It was long and toilsome in itself, and rendered more so by their consuming anxiety to be at the end of it. The wings of an eagle could not have given Harold sufficient swiftness and directness of progress to satisfy his eager longing to reach Lizzie. As mountain after mountain rose before them, and his eye measured the distance which lay between, the time which must be spent in traversing it brought many a sigh and a groan from his fevered heart, and he would have pushed forward without food, rest, or sleep, had not Kenneth and Dixon represented to him that he would thereby do much, perhaps everything, to frustrate their object by spending the last remnant of their strength, and leaving them no energy to perform the work they would have to do when they reached the loch. Recognising the truth of their remonstrance he exerted every effort to school his spirit into patience, and at something like reasonable times and seasons consented to pause for food and repose.

Still it was by travelling at a rate of speed much greater than usual that on the evening of the third day they gained the summit of the height which gave them a view of the wide valley, the loch, and the island in its centre. The scene which here met their eyes we described in a former chapter, when Lizzie reached the same spot in charge of her abductors. It was fair and beautiful then; but fairer and more beautiful now, for the first freshening signs of spring had developed into the effulgence of summer, and a garment of glory was spread over all the landscape.

At any other time, or in less exciting circumstances, Harold would have gazed with rapture on such a prospect; now he had eyes only for the island and the pile of buildings which stood upon it. That dark speck of irregular shape was all in all to him, for it contained his lost ones whom he had so long sought in vain. It was with great difficulty that he could steady his trembling hands as he gazed through his field-glass to bring the place nearer to his sight, and it was not till he had thrown himself on the ground and laid the end of the telescope on the top of a stone that he could obtain anything like a settled view.

The glass was a very powerful one, and revealed the island and the ruin with great distinctness. The larger features of both were quite distinguishable—the height, precipitous rocks, the knolls of wood and heather, the broken fragments of the ruined Castle, and the square tower rising above all—these he could descry with wonderful minuteness, but no living object was at first discernible.

Suddenly he gave a great start, and the telescope rattled sharply on the stone where it lay.

Among some low trees near the building he saw a dark object moving, and believed it to be Lizzie. The very thought of such a thing brought a rush of emotion which dimmed his eye and took the vision away, so that a misty veil spread between him and the object of his eager scrutiny.

There is now in session in Indianapolis, a meeting of the heirs of Robert Edwards, called for the purpose of perfecting an organization through which an estate in New York city valued at $90,000,000 is to be recovered and divided. The originators of the movement are persons from the city and neighborhood. The claimants are scattered all over the United States as well as Canada.

"Keewatin" is discarded by the Government as the proper spelling of the name of the Territory, and "Keewadin" adopted, which is after Longfellow in "Hiawatha," whose authority is "Schoolcraft."

The first new wheat of the season arrived at St. Louis, from Dallas, Texas, on Monday. It was graded No. 4, and sold by auction at $1.25.

Unequalled in its location, and unsurpassed in its arrangements, for the convenience and comfort of the travelling public, the Colonnade Hotel on Chestnut street, Philadelphia, holds the highest rank. deod

A Painful Chapter of Real Life.

The divorce case of Haynes vs. Haynes, which is now before the Montreal Courts, is attracting considerable interest. Mrs. Haynes alleged that, when she was 17 years old, she was induced to marry a man in the city, in respectacle circumstances, who turned out a confirmed drunkard, left the city two weeks after the marriage, and never communicated with her. After the lapse of a year, she obtained, on the advice of Haynes, who was then a visitor at her father's house, a legal separation in the Courts here. Subsequent to this, Haynes offered her marriage, on condition that she would proceed to the United States and obtain a divorce. She at length yielded, and went to the State of Michigan. She domiciled there for a whole year, and obtained a legal divorce from the Courts. On her return to Montreal he fulfilled his promise and married her. They lived happily together until Haynes began to keep other company than hers. Last summer it was proposed by Haynes that his wife should go to her father's for a week, and prepare there for going to the country. She acquiesced, but was only at home a couple of days when she was waited upon by an attorney with a deed of separation drawn up for her to sign, and allowing her $15 per month for herself and child. She refused compliance with such an arrangement. On coming back to this city, Mrs. Haynes found that her husband had sold off the furniture of their dwelling, and rented the house. She called upon him and he repudiated her and her child, declaring that the marriage was not legal, a United States divorce not being held as binding in the Dominion. Mrs. Haynes is still young, exceedingly good-looking, and is refined and lady like in her manners. Mr. Haynes is a bank clerk, receiving a good salary, and well able to provide for the support of his family.

The explosion on board the Sardinian will, no doubt, lead to careful enquiry being made as to the cause. It is a well known fact that soft bituminous coal, when heaped together in large quantities, is liable to explode or to spontaneous ignition. In 1804, over one thousand houses were destroyed in Copenhagen by a fire originating in a coal heap. Similar fires have also broken out in several United States navy yards. Scientific authorities are divided as to the best means of preventing disasters such as that which happened on the Sardinian. It is claimed on one hand that the air should be excluded from the coal after it is placed in the bunkers, while others, well qualified to express an intelligent opinion, declare that a free circulation of air should be kept up by artificial appliances, citing as proof of the theory the well known fact that heaps in which the lumps are large have never been known to explode.

A peculiar action is under trial at San Francisco. Mr. Ho Ah Kow, arrested for an alleged infraction of the health laws, and not having money enough to pay his fine, was sent to jail. There his head was shaved, cue and all. He now brings suit against the Sheriff in the United States Circuit Court, laying his damages at $11,000. His case is that the cue was worn in accordance with an immemorial custom of his country; that by violently depriving him of it against his will the Sheriff has disgraced and humiliated him in the eyes of his countrymen; and that the municipal ordinance of San Francisco under which the sheriff used the shears is unconstitutional.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. Sept. 28, d&w 9m.

Mr. J. H. Donald has purchased the Orangeville tannery, and intends carrying on the tanning on a larger scale than heretofore.

TERRIBLE BOAT ACCIDENT IN GALT.

A Pleasure Steamboat Carried Over Blain's Dam.

SEVENTEEN PERSONS IN THE RIVER

Eight of These Drowned.

ONLY ONE BODY YET RECOVERED.

From our Special Correspondent.

GALT, Thursday, May 23.

A frightful accident occurred at Blain's dam, on the Grand River, last evening, at about eight o'clock. The Empress of India, a little pleasure steamer built by two of the young machinists employed in Cameron & Co 's foundry, and designed to run daily trips up stream during the summer, went over the dam with a party of seventeen on board. It appears that the boat was just starting out, and was crossing the river on the dam to enter the channel on the other side, when she was caught in the current and became unmanageable. The rudder refused to work, and in spite of all that was done, she drifted swiftly towards the falls. In going over the keel caught on the edge of the dam, and the craft fell over sideways, landing below in a capsized manner. The struggle which ensued was fearful to behold, and struck the bystanders with horror. Most of the party were dragged on shore, or made their escape through their own exertions, but a large number were lost. The news of the disaster caused the most intense excitement in town and long after midnight the crowds lined the stream and the search for the dead went on. The following is a full list of those who were on board, as bulletined in front of the Reformer office:—

H. J. Jaffray, James Montgomery, Samuel Smith, Daniel Scott, Andrew Jackson, John Fraser, Mr. Godfrey, Chas. Knowles, Wm. Begg, Fred. Cane, Miss Landreth, Miss McGill, John Owens, J. Beatty, Edward Uren, Thomas Elliott—17. The body of Mr. Jaffray, one of the proprietors of the Galt Reporter, was found and drawn out shortly after the accident. All possible remedies were applied but he never breathed again.

Those who still missing at this time (eleven o'clock) are as follows:—James Montgomery, one of the builders of the boat, John Fraser, Fred. Cane, Edward Uren, Andrew Jackson, and Thomas Elliott.

The Queen's Birthday celebration has been postponed until July 1st on account of the calamity.

GALT, May 23.

The most sudden, painful and disastrous accident that has ever visited this locality occurred here last night. An accident that the pen cannot picture and one which has thrown a deep gloom of sorrow over all classes of the community and caused many an aching heart. The little steamer Empress of India, which had just started running on the river above Blain's dam for the season, on leaving her moorings last night, with a living cargo of seventeen souls, refused to obey her helm; and the river being very high at the time she was unable to contend with the current and drifting slowly, but alas! too surely towards the edge of the dam and was carried over, with all on board, save one, who succeeded in scrambling out along on top of the dam. Of the remainder, eight were rescued. One dead body was taken out, H. Jaffray's, and seven are still to be accounted for, but all are supposed to be lost. The following are the names of the missing, all young men of good promise: Jas. Montgomery, Ned Uhren, Andrew Jackson, John Fraser, Fred. Cane, Thomas Elliott, and David Scott. Business is entirely suspended this morning, and the river is being dragged in all directions, but at present nothing further has been discovered of the missing ones. Truly it has been a sad visitation, and one not easily forgotten. I never saw such a heart-rending scene. Old and young were deeply affected, and one after another kept enquiring after some member of their own family, supposing they might be among the number of the lost, and would not be satisfied until they had seen them face to face.

THE LATEST.

No more bodies have been found up to this hour.

EXPLOSION OF "HERALD" GAS.

The Herald, with its characteristic low cunning, dodges the question about its circulation. We want to nail it to the one point, on which we challenged it, and on which we are ready to stake $100, that the returns it gives of its circulation to S. M. Pettengill & Co., for their Directory, on affidavit, are untrue and a gross fabrication. When it has disposed of this challenge then we will deal with its buncombe wager. We were first in the field with our challenge, and we want to nail this lie to the counter.

Local News.

THE post office will be open to-morrow between half-past ten and half-past eleven o'clock, for mail delivery.

THE bookstores of Messrs. Anderson and Day will be open to-morrow morning for the delivery of the morning newspapers.

THERE is a pond of water on Macdonnell street, at the rear of Mitchell's hotel, which should be drained by the Road and Bridge Committee. It is a positive shame that the side of the road should be in the condition it is.

PROPERTY SOLD.—At a public sale in Berlin on Saturday last by Mr. Charles Davidson, of Guelph, the lot 98 feet front, adjoining the residence of Mr. R. Lang, was sold to Mr. Peter Becker, for $500. Mr. J. G. Smith bought the lot on King street, across the G. T. track, No. 133, for $121. Several other sales were effected by Mr. Davidson, previous to the date of public sale. The News says the prices paid for these properties are considered very good for forced sales.

THE FENIANS.—We have been shown a letter written by a gentleman living at Wheatland, in Michigan, to his daughter residing in this neighborhood, in which it is stated that the Fenians in that neighborhood are drilling regularly with the intention of raiding Canada. Colonel Mulligan is at the head of the gang and is visiting all the towns in that neighborhood to raise money. The Colonel states that he will have no difficulty in raising 100,000 men well drilled and armed with Remington rifles. One man in Cleveland has subscribed $25,000 towards the liberation of Ireland.

EXTRAORDINARY HEIGHT OF A PUSLINCH BOY. — Dougall McLarty, son of Mr. Donald McLarty, of Puslinch, is remarkable for his extraordinary height. The second of September last was his fourteenth birthday, and he now measures in his stockings a little over six feet. For the past few years he has been stretching at the rate of about seven inches a year. In reference to this case two important questions may be asked. 1st. What height will he reach at twenty-five years if he continues growing at the same rate? 2nd. Where in Canada is there one to surpass his height at his age? So much for Puslinch.

RUNAWAYS. — A good crop has been gathered in at Chase's carriage shop during the past few months. On Wednesday afternoon a spirited horse attached to a buggy was left untied by young Mr. Parkinson, of Eramosa. Something startled the animal, and before it got tired running the buggy was a complete wreck as far as the body was concerned. It will take about $30 to make it all right again. A horse belonging to Mr. James Hicks went off on its own accord on Paisley street the same afternoon, but little damage was sustained although the light waggon to which the animal was attached upset in such a manner as to throw it partly on the horse.

G. C. L. & D. S.—There was a fair attendance of members at the meeting of this Association held last evening. The President, Dr. Nunan, presided. The Secretary read a letter received from Mayor Howard acknowledging the receipt of an invitation to be present at the entertainment given by the Society on the evening of the 17th inst., and expressing his regret at being unable to attend owing to a previous engagement. J. C. Coffee presented a report from the executive committee which showed that the financial success of the dramatic entertainment was very satisfactory, quite a handsome sum having been realized, which will be handed over to the President of the Sunday School board. Among the exercises of the evening worthy of particular notice, were an interesting lecture by Mr. John Greene, and a reading by Mr. T. Howard. Some duett and solo singing by members of the Choral Society were also well received. The annual meeting of the Society will be held on the evening of the first Tuesday in June, when the Secretary's yearly report will be submitted and the President's annual address delivered. At this meeting the election of officers for the coming year will take place.

CRICKET.—On Wednesday afternoon the bankers, of Guelph, played with what was considered a representative team of Law and Medicine, on the new crease at the base ball grounds. The game was middling well contested, but the bankers came out a long way ahead. There is promise of a strong eleven for Guelph this year. Fitzgerald proved himself to be the heaviest batter for the bankers, followed closely by Chas. Conolly. From the score it is shown that Evatt took first place in bowling over all others. McIntyre did effective work when he substituted, at the close of the game, under-arm bowling for round-arm. Particulars of the game can be learned from the following score:—

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

Schouvaloff at Buckingham Palace.

Mohammedans in Favor of a Holy War.

LONDON, May 23.—Schouvaloff attended the State ball at Buckingham Palace last night. Hinted prospect of peace Congress most excellent.

Constantinople despatch says that the Mohammedans in Sanistan are preaching in favor of a holy war. A committee is in Constantinople for the purpose of supplying them with arms and encouraging resistance to the surrender of Batoum.

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

To-morrow being the Queen's birthday, no paper will be issued from this office.

MODERATE to fresh, easterly to southerly winds with increasing cloudiness at night.

FOR the accommodation of parties wishing to purchase excursion tickets for to-morrow on the Great Western Mr. F. Gauhan will keep his office open this evening between seven and eight o'clock.

THE lots belonging to Messrs. Innes, McIntosh & Hill, situate in Mitchell's survey, were offered for sale by auction on Wednesday. None were sold as it was impossible to get a bid. Land is not very saleable at the present time.

ON account of Friday being the Queen's birthday there will be no meeting of the Catholic Choral Society on that day. The members will meet as follows this evening: Second tenors at eight o'clock, bass at nine o'clock.

COWS AT LARGE.—F. Kerrison laid information against Mrs. P. H. Gibbs for allowing her cow to run at large. The prosecutor did not appear and the case was dismissed, the costs, $1.25, to be paid by Kerrison forthwith, and in default two days in gaol without labor. John Groom was charged with allowing two cows to roam about the streets. He pleaded guilty and was fined $1 and $2.60 costs.

THE LOUISA STURDY PETITION.—The petition which has been circulated in town for the purpose of obtaining the release of the young girl Louisa Sturdy has been numerously signed by all classes. Nearly all the prominent business men and others of the Town have added their signatures. We understand the petition will be presented to the Minister of Justice very shortly.

A MEAN TRICK.—For some days past a number of little lads in the West Ward in the neighborhood of Glasgow street have been gathering material for a bonfire, to be lighted on Friday night in honor of the birthday of the Queen. Last evening when the lads retired to bed everything was in readiness for firing when the proper time arrived. About eleven o'clock a match was put to the pile and it was burned up. The disappointment of the children this morning on learning what had been done was very great.

WILLIAM OF ORANGE.—At a meeting of the various Orange Societies in Guelph, held on Wednesday evening, it was decided to celebrate the 12th of July in Guelph on a magnificent scale. There was a full representation of the Orange Lodge, Orange Young Britons, True Blues, and the 'Prentice Boys. It is expected that at the celebration every lodge in the County of Wellington will be represented, besides a number of lodges from Halton, Brant, Waterloo, and Wentworth counties. Arrangements are expected to be made with the various railway companies for cheap fares to Guelph on that day.

REFORM ROOMS.—The meeting of Mr. Guthrie's supporters will be held to-night in the new Liberal Club Room. It is desirable that there should be a large turnout. The Reformers of Guelph have done well to secure a proper place for meeting, and no better position could have been selected than the one chosen. The room is the one lately occupied as the Mechanics' Institute, and has undergone a thorough reformation, being newly floored, papered, and painted. It will be divided off into committee rooms, &c. We hope to see as many as possible at the meeting and trust that a general interest may be manifested by the Reformers of this town in sustaining the efforts now made to have suitable and convenient rooms for the benefit of the party generally.

PISCATORIAL.—Rods, reels, lines, gut, hooks, &c. A large and fine assortment of fly hooks and gut casts at Anderson's bookstore.

TO-MORROW, Queen's Birthday, Mr. H. K. Maitland sings at the Caledonian Concert to be given in Listowel by the Society of that town. Mr. Wm. Guthrie will also sing, and will appear in Highland costume.

Wm. Keeler and Isaac Cook, inmates of the Central Prison, were arrested on the 17th, charged with attempting to set fire to one of the workshops. They appeared in court, when Keeler pleaded not guilty, and elected to be tried by jury. Cook pleaded guilty, and elected a summary trial. After hearing evidence he was sentenced to five years' imprisonment in Kingston penitentiary.

It is stated that a joint stock company is being formed to purchase the Toronto Leader, which is soon expected to be in the market.

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

How the Day will be Observed in Guelph.

The royally named town will in all probability have a comparatively quiet day of it to-morrow. Seldom indeed has it been that a programme of sports and amusements has not been prepared for the carrying out of the celebration of the anniversary of the natal day of our beloved Sovereign Queen Victoria, and it is almost unfortunate that action had not been taken early enough to ensure something like a right loyal demonstration.

Notwithstanding the position of affairs there will be several points of attraction about town, and doubtless the great feature which Guelph has long been noted for—base ball—will be liberally patronized as it is expected two matches will be played.

The following programme will embrace about everything of interest that will take place throughout the day.

TARGET SHOOTING.

As early as seven o'clock, a. m., the Guelph Rifle Association purpose meeting at the butts to compete for first place at 200 and 400 yards, five shots at each range. Several money prizes will be shot for. There is considerable interest manifested by the members of the association in target practice this year, and in all probability a large squad will be early on hand. A conveyance will leave Marcon's seed store at the above mentioned hour for the range.

CRICKET.

In all probability a match will be played on the Maple Leaf grounds between a Model Farm eleven and a picked team from the merchants of the town. If possible the game will commence between nine and ten o'clock. The public is invited to witness the game.

ROYAL SALUTE.

The Right Division of the Wellington Field Battery will air themselves in their uniforms in the morning and towards noon they will muster at the gunshed. The nine-pounders will be taken to the Market Square, and a royal salute of twenty-one guns will be fired. The turn-out will, no doubt, be a very creditable one.

BASE BALL.

The Clippers, of Toronto, will visit Guelph, to try conclusions with the Maple Leafs. If the afternoon is fine, there is little doubt but what there will be a large attendance of spectators. Those who have not seen the grounds, which are the finest on the continent, should not lose this opportunity of doing so. The game will be called at 2:30 o'clock.

The Live Oaks, of Hamilton, a junior club, will play with the Athletics, of Guelph, in all probability in the Agricultural Park.

ENTERTAINMENT.

The Young Peoples' Union, in connection with the Dublin street Methodist congregation, will give a musical and literary entertainment of unusual excellence in the Church, in the evening. The preparations made have been such as to ensure a very enjoyable entertainment. The public is cordially invited. No admission fee will be charged. See programme in advertising columns.

BOATING.

There is little doubt but what the river will be dotted with boats between the Dundas bridge and the Rocks. The water at the present time is high and everything is favorable to a pull on the water.

EXCURSIONS.

The Grand Trunk and Great Western Railways will issue return tickets at one fare, good for Friday only. Return tickets for a fare and a third, good till Monday, will also be issued. No doubt quite a number will take advantage of the cheap rates.

THE CELEBRATION ELSEWHERE.

Elora will prove a point of attraction. The Guelph Lacrosse team play the Elora for a prize of $10. The Guelph boys, although knowing that Elora has an old and very strong twelve in good practice, are not afraid of their opponents, and expect to win. We hope they will. The following are the names of the Guelph players: Andrew Mills, R. Aikins, C. Davidson, Andrew Armstrong, W. Burgess, W. Brasbie, Arch. McIntyre, J. Hewer, M. Parker, E. W. Turner, W. Brown, and R. Barber. The 30th Wellington Band give a concert in the evening.

Fergus will have games and horse racing.

Clifford, Arthur Village, Listowel, Mt. Forest, Orangeville, Waterloo, Berlin, and in fact nearly every town and village in this section will celebrate on a large or small scale.

Texas "jewelry" is at present generally worn in that State, and the demand for it is said almost to exceed the supply. "Everywhere," says the Galveston News, "breast pockets, breeches pockets, belts, boots, waistcoat pockets are the hiding places of Colt's, Smith and Wesson's, and English revolvers, dirks, bowie-knifes, clasp-knives and derringers. Our gun shops, hardware stores, variety stores, book and jewelry stores, and retail shops, display glittering blades and ingeniously wrought murderous revolvers; but, not being able to supply the demand, the mails and the express are loaded with weapons ordered from distant marts and manufacturers."

A shocking accident occurred on Tuesday evening at Ottawa, while the field battery were out drilling on Cartier Square. Gunner Robinson had both hands blown off through a mistake in the discharge of one of the guns.

Colorado beetles have appeared in the gardens in Montreal.

Death of an Old Guelph Resident.

From the Marysville, California, Weekly Appeal we learn of the death of Mr. R. S. Watson, who in 1865 and 1866 was in the Express office in Guelph when Mr. Martin Ryan and the late Mr. John Grant was agents. Mr. Watson's father was a mason, and the family at that time were well known in Guelph. They afterwards removed to Cleveland, Ohio. The deceased after he left Guelph was for some years in the Express office in Toronto and while there he married Miss Jenny Fraser, a native of Guelph, and well known as an accomplished vocalist. His health failing he afterwards went to California, and for a while was much better of the change, but his fatal malady consumption at last proved the mastery, and he died, as already stated on the 5th inst. The deceased and his wife were well known and respected residents of this town.

The Appeal says:—R. S. Watson, for a number of years chief clerk at the freight depot of the California and Oregon Railroad, in this city, died after a lingering illness, of consumption, at his residence on E. Street, on Sunday morning at 8 o'clock. Deceased was highly esteemed by his acquaintances in this city, and especially by the Odd Fellow's fraternity, he being a Past Grand in Oriental Lodge No. 45. The deceased leaves a wife and son to mourn his untimely death, who have the sympathy of this entire community.

The funeral took place on Tuesday afternoon from Oddfellows' Hall under the auspices of Oriental Lodge No. 45, of which Lodge deceased was an honored Past Grand, and highly esteemed by all of the brethren of the Order in this city. At the appointed hour the Hall was crowded with members of the Order and ladies. Extra chairs for the latter were necessary. The body was encased in a silver-mounted coffin, which was profusely decorated with flowers. The religious services were conducted by the Rev. J. L. Trefren, who delivered an eloquent and affecting discourse, and pronounced a well-deserved eulogy upon the principles of the deceased. The sympathies of all present were touched by the speaker's reference to the bereaved widow and fatherless child. At the close of the services in the Hall the members of Oriental Lodge, as well as a large delegation from Yuba Lodge, numbering over one hundred brethren fell into line under the Marshalship of Past Grand J. M. Newhard, and formed in D street in front of the Hall. The pall-bearers removed the coffin to the hearse, and together with a line of carriages the procession moved to the City Cemetery, and the body was laid in its last resting-place in the Odd Fellows' plot. At the grave the usual burial rites of the Order were duly observed, Past Grand L. T. Crane reading the service and the Rev. J. L. Trefren the prayer and pronouncing the benediction.

GALT.—Manufacturers in this town are making large shipments of goods to Manitoba.——The May cattle fair was fairly attended. Prices ranged from 3 to 4 cents, 3½ being the ruling figure. The Reform Club rooms are being further improved. A billiard room, containing two tables, is the latest addition.——The Reformer says an experienced fruit grower informs us that in his long experience (23 years) of fruit growing at Galt, he never before knew grapes to be cut off by a spring frost. Only a cluster here and there and a few whole vines will yield fruit this year.——Mr. Dixon, late of the Commercial, has purchased the ashery and soap factory lately owned by Mr. D. Simpson.——On Saturday evening the residence of James Young, M. P., was visited by the Preston silver cornet band, accompanied by a few leading citizens of Preston.——The Mechanics' Institute have elected the following officers:—G. A. Chase, M. A., President. A. Macgregor, 1st Vice President; G. J. Jaffray, 2nd Vice President; R. S. Walbank, Secretary; Wm. Trotter, Treasurer. The number of volumes now in the library is 2,252. The total number of volumes added to the library during the year was 208.——Rev. Mr. Curran, of Hamilton, and late of Galt, has been made the recipient of a complimentary address and a number of volumes by members of the literary society of St. Thomas' church.

DEATH UNDER PECULIAR CIRCUMSTANCES.—There has been considerable talk in Hamilton over the death of Miss Fanny Northey. The young lady visited a dentist's office a week or so ago, and had twenty teeth extracted at one sitting; she however, having first been put under the influence of chloroform. She recovered from the effects of the chloroform all right, and returned home with her mother, remarking that she then felt somewhat better, as the teeth had troubled her a good deal. The fact of her dying within a few days of the operation, caused a rumor to be spread that her death might possibly have been caused by the maladministration of the chloroform. The parents of the young lady, however, as well as the medical practitioner, scout the idea that she died from the effects of chloroform, believing that her death was owing to other and natural causes.

CRAZY AT PRAYER MEETING.—On Tuesday night of last week, Robert Carter, of Burford, an unmarried son of Mr. J. P. Carter, while attending prayer meeting was seized with acute mania and attacked the Rev. Mr. Shepherd. It took six men to master him, and next day he was committed to Brantford jail as a dangerous lunatic. Carter has shown symptoms of insanity for some time past.

The China famine relief committee received a telegram from Shanghai announcing a rain fall in several of the Provinces. Sowing is general, and the prospects for the harvesting are encouraging.

Daily Mercury.

The Galt Tragedy.

The terrible accident that happened at Galt on Wednesday night, created a profound sensation in Guelph when the news was first telegraphed, and this feeling was intensified when all the heartrending details came to hand. We give from our special correspondents as full details of the catastrophe as could be procured up to the hour of going to press. Of the seventeen who where on board the ill-fated pleasure steamer, eight have found a watery grave. We can well imagine the distress that to-day prevails in Galt. We can to some extent enter into the feelings of the relatives and friends who have in this sudden and terrible manner been deprived of those near and dear to them. They have the full sympathy of their fellow-townsmen, and the people in Guelph join heartily with them in their sorrow over their great bereavement.

The Toronto By-Law and the Provincial Exhibition.

Defeat of the By-Law.

The Toronto By-law, authorizing the issue of $150,000 of city debentures for the erection of buildings for the Provincial Exhibition on the ground leased to the City Council by the Ordnance Department, was defeated on Wednesday by the votes of the property holders. The vote was as follows :—

Against the By-law.....	1,420
For it	1,045
Majority against.....	375.

Another by-law, submitted at the same time, authorizing the issue of $45,000 of debentures for increasing the school accommodation of the city, was rejected by a majority of 117. From the above it will be seen that the property owners in Toronto are beginning to realize their true position. The debt of the city has increased enormously within the last few years, and the heavy taxpayers of the city have come to the conclusion that it is time to step in and put a stop to the reckless extravagance that has prevailed for years. The vote on Wednesday is a significant indication of the feeling on the subject, and the protest of the property owners against any more expenditure is not taken any too soon. The probability now is that the Provincial Exhibition will be held in Ottawa, in accordance with the resolution passed at the late meeting of the Agricultural and Arts Association.

It is reported to us that the person who is hawking round the petition in favor of Mr. Goldie, stated in a machine shop the other day to one of the mechanics, that 75,000 sewing machines were imported into Canada during the past year. This was done in order to induce him to sign the requisition in favor of Mr. Goldie. If this person did not know that he was telling an untruth, we would inform him now that only 5,000 sewing machines were imported into Canada last year, while 38,000 were exported to foreign countries. The Taxationists ought, at least, stick to the truth.

TEN YEARS OF HORRIBLE TORTURE.—MRS. Sarah Hanlon, of East 33rd street, New York, for ten years bore, as patiently as she could, the agony of a leg swollen to four times its natural size, which was red and raw, and from which oozed a blistering secretion. One week's application of GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE AMMONIA restored the hideous member to complete soundness.

It is now stated positively that Mr. Turcotte will accept the Government candidature for the Speakership of the Quebec Legislative Assembly.

The armour-plated iron steamship Triumph, 6,660 tons, sailed from Portsmouth on Wednesday to replace the Shah as flagship on the Pacific station.

A severe earthquake is reported at Tama, in the New Hebrides, the upheaval reaching a height of twenty feet, and seriously damaging the harbour.

Much interest continues to be taken in Manitoba, and no less than 30,000 acres of land were located there recently in one week. Many from Ontario continue to go thither.

A number of prominent Republicans in France have united to organise a Voltaire Centennial celebration. The Catholic dignitaries violently oppose the scheme, and have appealed to the Government, but the latter declines to interfere, as the celebration is a private affair.

When the weary mother calls out to her daughter, who is playing the piano in the parlor, to come and help her in the kitchen, the modern young lady snaps out "O, do you think I have nothing to do but dirty my hands on stovepipes?" and then goes on singing "Kind words can never die, no, never die!"

The girls of Tuscola, Ill., place a temperance society blue ribbon and a mitten on the table when their lovers come to visit them, and say "Choose."

"You may pray till you die, but the Lord will never forgive you for shooting a man in the back," said Bowler, on being shot by Holliday in Collinsbury, La. They were negro farm hands. Bowler soon died, and Holliday was so impressed by his words that he has twice tried to kill himself.

Typhus fever is raging in New South Wales.

Crowds of men, believed to be either Fenians or Communists, are drilling in the more remote suburbs of Scranton, Pa.

Private advices received in Ottawa from the Northwest foreshadows trouble with the Indians, owing to the machinations of Sitting Bull, whose band has been raiding in the neighborhood of the Black Hills.

NO HARD TIMES THERE.—One hears very little now-a-days but the cry hard times. Judging from the constant rush in business at the Lion, Messrs. J. D. Williamson & Co. never feel them. Their ruling principle is, make goods cheaper than any other store, and there is no trouble about selling them.

Bird cages, of all varieties, cheap; sporting goods an excellent assortment; building hardware cheap as the cheapest; paints, oils, varnishes in excellent quality. Call and see the immense stock at JOHN HORSMAN'S new hardware store, St George's Square.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Schouvaloff Back in London.

NOTHING CERTAIN YET ABOUT THE NEGOTIATIONS.

The Feeling in Austria.

LONDON, May 22.

Count Schouvaloff has arrived in London.

A Berlin despatch says that Schouvaloff, in consultation with other diplomatists, described the proposals he was carrying to England as pacific. He seemed confident they would not be rejected. The semi-official Provincial Correspondence anticipates a favourable result from Schouvaloff's efforts.

A New York Herald's St. Petersburg special reports that the Czar insists on the possession of Kars and Ardahan, but is willing to renounce Batoum. This is the utmost limit of Russian concessions in Asia. With regard to the limits of Bulgaria, he is perfectly satisfied to leave the decision to a Congress.

A correspondent at St. Petersburg says:—The opinion prevails that Schouvaloff takes to London instructions containing the elements of a friendly and decisive solution of the questions at issue. The secrecy maintained by him will continue until the Government receives his answer from London, which is not to be telegraphed, but sent by courier. Accordingly nothing certain will be known before next week.

A Vienna correspondent heart that although Schouvaloff is the bearer of propositions he has not obtained all he desired. Nevertheless it is believed he succeeded to a certain extent.

A Copenhagen despatch reports that two Russian ships of war from Cronstadt last night passed through the Sound, between Denmark and Sweden, from the Baltic to the North Sea. Their destination is believed to be America.

A Constantinople telegram says:—The Russian troops continued to day their forward movement toward the Bolgrad forest. General Skobeloff, reinforced with artillery, stationed his troops close to the Sweet Waters. Osman, Baker, Moukhtar, and Fuad Pashas to-day inspected the Turkish lines and ordered the detachment in front not to retire. A Russo-Turkish Commission will fix an exact line of demarkation.

The Turkish censorship suppresses particulars about the affair before the Tcheragan Palace, on Monday. As far as can be learned there was a regularly organized conspiracy to dethrone the Sultan and restore Murad, who was in the palace at the time. Murad denies any knowledge of a conspiracy. It is reported that he has since been removed to Topkapou. The number of revolutionists is estimated by correspondents at from 100 to 300, though the Government in its circular to the Turkish representatives abroad says the number was thirty.

The Times expresses the utmost confidence that England has nothing to fear from "Alabamas" or Fenians. The United States will do their duty. The assurances of the popular American journals to this effect may be accepted more frankly because they are not always accompanied by complimentary language towards England, and are very generally qualified by expressions of good-will towards Russia.

Her Majesty's iron steamship Triumph, armour-plated, 6,660 tons burden and carrying 14 guns, sailed from Portsmouth for the Pacific Ocean, to relieve the Shah, 6,040 tons and 26 guns, as flagship.

How Come the Flowers?

As robes herself my Phyllis sweet,
Just in her teens, while fresh years cling
Unto her as her gown discreet
Clings to her dainty ankles, fain
To lengthen as the years go on,
And usher in sweet woman's dawn.
A mirror-look—ah me! so vain!
Then shapely limbs are stockinged neat,
And slippers laced o'er dainty feet,
And breasts like slight-raised works on frieze
Are coyly hid neath white chemise;
Then, like the ghostly mists of spring,
She flies about on feet of air,
And, blue-bird-like, essays to sing
Songs half-remembered in the press
Then, with her wealth of golden-brown hai
She toys awhile, and coils or braids
Or curls are fixed as dainty aids
Towards that perfection she, dear girl,
Must be to be—herself the p e a r l!
Makes brighter still her wealth of hair;
Then suddenly a 'wildering flash
Of silk appears; and then a sash
Of daring color round her waist,
Where lover's arm has ne'er been placed—
All stately now, in blossom full,
In color rich and bountiful.
So come the flowers of spring. So slow
Comes blossom-eve, you scarcely know
'Tis half so near. Like Phyllis, prim,
Sweet Nature first must get in trim;
And when a blossom first in air
She flaunts like ribbon for her hair,
Before you know it, all around
Her dress with richness will abound,
And greens and scarlets, pinks and blues,
Shine in their freshest, brightest hues.

Harold the Outlaw
—OR—
The Gauger of Skene.

Quickly he called to Kenneth to take his place, and say if the form was that of his wife.

"It's a man!" cried Kenneth, "at least I think so, but the form is so ill defined; the length and breadth are about equal."

"It must be Joe," said Dixon, "Let me take a peep; I would know the misshapen rascal ten miles away."

Accordingly the glass was resigned to the hands of Dixon, who at once pronounced the moving object to be the hunchback."

"And see you no one else?" asked Harold, breathlessly.

"No one," was the reply. "Only Joe is visible; he is quitting the garden and making for the Castle. There—I have lost him; he has gone inside. I have swept the island from end to end, and all is solitude."

"Good God! perhaps some evil has befallen them," groaned Harold. "Lizzie or the child may be ill—perhaps dead. For mercy's sake, let us push forward."

"Wait but a few minutes. I have to despatch Nip by a shorter route than the shore of the loch to Benachray, to learn what is geing on there."

"To Benachray," repeated Harold, at once surprised and alarmed. "Why, when he is seen there he will be questioned, and his answers will raise their suspicions. They will get to know we are here, and——"

"Trust Nip for that," said Dixon, with a smile. "It is essential for me to obtain such intelligence as he can gather at the mansion; but he will go in disguise."

"Worse still," said Harold, with increasing alarm. "His disguise will be penetrated, and the very fact that he has made an effort at concealment will raise their suspicions tenfold. For heaven's sake, abandon the intention."

"Fear nothing, Mr. Logan," said Nip, rather annoyed by the doubt cast on his ability to conduct this enterprise. "I have done more difficult things than this in my day."

Harold shook his head in a way to show that his doubt was not abated, but made no further objection to Nip's departure. "How long will he be absent?" he asked, when he was gone.

"He will rejoin us to-morrow in a certain wood near the loch.

"To-morrow!" echoed Harold; I cannot wait till to-morrow. Lizzie must be rescued to-night. Longer waiting, longer suspense would kill me."

"For any sake, Mr. Logan, do not break down or risk all by rashness at this juncture," counselled Dixon. "A hasty step now might be ruinous—might prove fatal to the three lives we seek to save. Promise me—for heaven's sake promise—to be guided by me in our next proceedings, or you may have for ever to deplore the consequences. You speak of rescuing them to-night, but that is impossible, for we have no means of reaching that island. There is but one boat, and it is at the island in Joe's custody."

"But he may be lured across," returned Harold. "You know the signal. When you whistle he will be sure to think it is the man you call Colston or the Highlander Ranald, and will cross to the shore without any suspicion. We can seize him, take possession of the boat, and row to the island."

"No, Mr. Logan, that won't do; it would be madness to try it. Joe is not to be imposed on so easily. Our hope of success lies in keeping him wholly in the dark and taking him by surprise. Let him once get scent of our presence, and frightful mischief may be the result."

"Then how are we to gain the island?" asked Harold, in a desponding and disappointed tone—"how and when?"

"Promise to be guided by me, and to-morrow night by midnight I engage to have the four of us under the walls of the Castle."

"Another day—another long day to wait!" groaned Harold.

"Is success not worth it?" was Dixon's remonstrance. "Better work and wait for one day longer than bring destruction to your wife and child. Would you rather yield to impatience and entail such a consequence than by waiting take the only path to success?"

"No, no—a thousand times no!" exclaimed the youth, with passionate earnestness. "I will yield to you Dixon; I will be guided by you—only tell me what your plan is."

"A very simple one," replied the other. "In this bundle over my shoulder is a sharp axe, and a few coils of stout cord. When we reach the wood, which is quite near the water's edge, we shall rest there for the night, and to-morrow we shall occupy ourselves in constructing a raft large enough to float us across to the island."

"Ha! I understand you now. Say no more. I understand and approve. Yes, this is a thousand times better than my rash plan. Is it not, Kenneth?"

"Most assuredly," replied his foster brother. "But I, too, had a strong desire to reach the island to-night. The loch seems small enough to swim across.

"Ay, at this height it does so," said Dixon, with a smile; "but wait till you reach it and you will see your mistake. Suppose, however, that we could accomplish the feat, and failed to seize the boat, we should be in a worse position than ever."

"Dixon is right, and we are wrong," exclaimed Harold. Come. Forward! Every step now brings me nearer my darling, and it is a consolation to know that I shall spend the night so near her. My cue now is patience, but when I have recovered her, oh, then—then—then—"

His eyes flashed, his teeth snapped against each other, his hands were violently clinched, and he strode down the hill with a fierce, determined tread.

The sun had set ere they came so near the side of the loch as to incur the risk of being seen from the island. It was of essential importance to keep out of Joe's sight, for if he came to know that strangers were in the vicinity, his suspicions would be instantly roused; he would become alert and watchful, so that their voyage to the island on a raft would be rendered impossible. Dixon was well aware of this, and did not come forth with his companions from the shelter of the hills upon the open ground by the shore of the loch till the shades of evening effectually shrouded them from view. Then they were at liberty to move with freedom, and proceed past the landing jetty to a spot about a mile further along the shore, where a dark pine wood descended nearly to the water's edge. Here in the dim shrouded recesses of the trees they made preparations for encamping for the night—the last night which Harold expected to intervene between him and his separation from Lizzie.

FIRE IN ERIN.—Early on Tuesday morning, the 21st inst., the barn and stable of Mr. A. Swindlehurst, 7th con., township of Erin, were destroyed by fire, together with two horses and about 100 bushels of wheat. The cause is not known at present, but it is supposed to be the work of an incendiary. Mr. Swindlehurst is one of the most respectable and inoffensive men in the county in which he lives, and therefore it is much to be wondered at, and regretted that the like might be maliciously performed, as is now conjectured.

ATTEMPTED SUICIDE.—On Wednesday morning, 15th inst., William Abbot, of Ballinafad, who had been on a visit to his daughter in Erin village, made an attempt to cut his throat. His daughter noticed that he took a razor in his hand and walked into the stable, and in following him found that he had partly committed suicide, but not so much as to cause death. It took three parties to take the razor from his grasp. We are informed that he has since tried to stab himself with a knife, and would have made away with himself only for timely interference.

How Buckeye Victories are Won.

To the Editor of the Oshawa Vindicator.

SIR,—Three weeks ago we published a challenge to the Messrs. Dickie & Kennedy to test the merits of the respective Seeders manufactured by us, based on the tests used at the celebrated Centennial test. They dared not accept, but instead, published an account of a pretended trial at Mount Forest, which they claimed to have won, and to have sold four Seeders, as the result. We have received the facts of this trial from our agent, Mr. John Henry, whose veracity will not be disputed in this section of the country.

In Dickie & Kennedy's report of the trial, it was stated that the following persons bought a Buckeye in preference to a Superior after a test: Jas. McLuhan, W. Harriot, John Wilson and Neil McIntyre. In the first place, no trial between the Seeders took place; there was simply an exhibition of the machines on the fair ground. Second, Luther and Harriot are brothers-in-law of Perry, Dickie & Kennedy's agent, and had bought their machines ten days before the alleged test took place. Thirdly, Wilson took a Buckeye because he could get one in trade for a horse. The trade was first offered to our agent, but as we are not driven to such means to get rid of our machines he refused to accept, and he took the Buckeye; but this was also ten days before the pretended test. Lastly, Neil McIntyre is a mistake; the name is "Neil Brown." This gentleman saw the machines, and took one of each to test on his own farm, agreeing to buy the best. As the result of the trial the Buckeye failed, and he bought a Superior. Not a Buckeye was sold on the day of trial, as alleged, those taken that day having been sold beforehand, whereas not only were Superiors sold, but one was actually sold to a brother of Dickie & Kennedy's own agent. Such is a specimen of the Buckeye victories of which Messrs. Dickie & Kennedy boast. Farmers will not wonder after such statements that they are afraid to submit their machines to an impartial test. The following statement signed by our agents and Mr. Brown, will certify to the correctness of the fuller account given above:—

MASSON MANUFACTUR'G CO.

Oshawa, May 13th, 1878.

To the Editor of the Confederate.

DEAR SIR,—I noticed an article in the Examiner of April 19th, headed "Buckeye vs. Superior" and signed John O'Brien, agent. Now, with your permission, I will give the farming community some idea of the trial on the Mount Forest fair ground, and through which he says he got four farmers to sign "on account of the spring of the Superior giving way bought Buckeyes." Now these farmers had Buckeyes bought some days previous, and had arranged to come in on fair day for them, and for decency sake they could not possibly buy any other. The same day Mr. Neil Brown, of the township of Arthur, arranged to have a trial of the above mentioned machines on his farm, and to test the two together in all kinds of sowing, and to purchase the machine proving to be the best in the field. After testing them together in all kinds of sowing, and on rough and smooth ground, he purchased the Superior. In his short trial of the Buckeye the springs proved a complete failure, and in sowing the machine would not sow the quantities represented, while the spring foot on the Superior is a complete success and the machine sows as near the quantities as could possibly be expected. He would advise his brother farmers to purchase a Superior machine in preference to the Buckeye.

These cattle were fed by Mr. Stagg himself, and weighed 25,960 lbs., and are destined for the British market. T. G. Conn sold eight steers, weighing 10,700 lbs. at 5c. per lb. J. Elliott sold seven choice steers, weighing 8,800 lbs., to D. McCarthy at 4¼ per lb. less $1 per head. D. Coughlin sold a pair of oxen weighing 3,530 lbs to Wm. Ryan, of St. Ann's Market, at 4¼c. per lb. M. Gordon, of Guelph, sold four steers weighing 4,860 lbs., at a little over 4½c. per lb. R. Collens, of Napanee, sold three cattle at 4c. per lb. R. J. Hopper sold thirteen choice steers to H. Benallack at $58 each, or about 4½c. per lb. A carload of of common cattle, which have been on the market for some time past, were sold today 3½c. per lb., but the unfortunate seller did not wish that his name should be published, as his neighbors would laugh at his misfortune, he having paid higher prices to the farmers for these cattle, and also paid for transporting them 250 miles, with the cost for feed and market dues added.

This is another little wedding incident. It—the incident, not the wedding—happened at St. James,' in Winnipeg. A young couple stood at the altar. The marriage ceremony was being performed, and when the officiating clergyman reached that portion of the service where it is demanded of anyone who could show just cause why they might lawfully be joined together to speak now—a young lady sitting amongst the spectators seized the golden opportunity, and mildly remarked that she had, as the perfidious bridegroom had promised to marry her, stating time and place where that solemn obligation, now apparently to be unfulfilled, had been made. The bashful bridegroom admitted the soft impeachment, and in response to the enquiry what he was going to do about it, suggested, as the best way out of the difficulty, that he would go to town and get another ring and license—and marry both of the charmers. Owing to the existing state of the law this was deemed impracticable, and the wedding party adjourned, without having concluded the ceremony. How that chap got out of the pickle, deponent saith not.—So says the Free Press.

FIRE AT HEIDELBERG.—At ten o'clock on Saturday morning a fire broke out in L. Weber's farm dwelling at Heidelberg. The fire was first discovered in the back part of the kitchen and soon was all over the building. The fire bells were rung which soon assembled the neighbors, who succeeded in getting out all the furniture and implements.

A timely rainfall in the famine-stricken provinces of China has awakened hopes of an abundant harvest and relief from the prevailing destitution.

No Place Like Canada.—Mr. Nicholas Peters, who left Stratford about a year ago with his family on a trip to the land of his birth, Germany, for the benefit of his health, returned on Thursday last, looking hale and hearty. The Beacon says that Mr. Peters, however, does not draw a very glowing picture of matters and things in the old fatherland. The hard times are also making themselves felt there; business is almost completely at a standstill; the banks refuse all discounts except in exceptional cases, and failures among business men are of daily occurrence. Mr. Peters thinks there is no place like Canada yet.

The Legislature of New South Wales has made a motion for the release of the lunatic—supposed to be Arthur Orton—now confined in Paramatta gaol.

BOOTS & SHOES

A pious eldar of the Scottish Kirk, on his way to service on a Sunday morning, saw a little girl and boy playing marbles. He wrathfully inquired, "Boy, do you know where children go to who play marbles on Sunday?" "Ay, ay," answered the boy, "they gang doun to the field by the brig" (bridge) "No," roared the elder, "go to hell and are burned." The Late Sad Accident in Galt.

RECOVERY OF SEVEN OF THE BODIES

The gloomy excitement in Galt has continued from Wednesday evening up till the present time, and it will be many a long day before the stricken relatives of the deceased will recover from the shock they have received. No business was transacted in the town on Thursday. All were attracted to the river, where constant efforts were continued to be put forth to recover the bodies. Tinning of Toronto had been sent for and the river received a thorough dragging, but without success. On Friday, the day which had, a month before been looked forward to as one on which there would be much rejoicing, was a repetition of the preceding day. It would have been a mockery to think of amusement.

On Friday at 9.30 o'clock the body of Edward Uhren was found in about six feet of water near the Main street bridge, about five hundred yards from where the accident happened. The body of David Scott was found at 11 o'clock; James Montgomery at 11.40; Andrew Jackson at 2.45; Fred Cane at 3.30 and John Fraser at 4.45. The bodies were all found within about one hundred feet of each other. The body of Thomas Elliott is now the only one missing. The bodies recovered all bore evidence of the great struggle which they had undergone, and one or two bore traces of bodily injury.

On Friday the funeral of Mr. Harry J. Jaffray took place, and his remains were interred with Oddfellows' honors. Waterloo Lodge headed the procession. The cortege was a very long one, taking nearly half an hour to pass any point. A number of Oddfellows from Guelph, Waterloo, Berlin and other places, were present. The order of procession was: Oddfellows on foot; the hearse; mourners; friends and citizens on foot; citizens in carriages.

In connection with the accident, it might be mentioned that Miss Landreth, who was saved by being washed against the bridge pier, was to have been married to James Montgomery, one of the lost, on Friday.

It is learned that the cause of the little steamer not answering the helm as it should have done, was on account of not being loaded to the extent it should have been, and in consequence the paddles did not have sufficient hold on the water. When danger was apprehended by those on board, a rush was made by many of them to one side of the boat, which caused the paddles on one side to be lifted out of the water altogether.

LATEST—THE LAST BODY FOUND.

Galt, 25th May.

The body of Thomas Elliott was recovered to-day.

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

LONDON, May 25.—A despatch from Constantinople says the Russians and Turks have arranged a new line of demarcation.

ENTERTAINMENT.—On Friday evening the Young People's Union gave its first musical and literary entertainment in the Dublin street Methodist Church. There was a large attendance—the church being comfortably filled. Taking the entertainment all in all, it was very creditable to those who took part in it. "God Save the Queen" was sung with excellent effect by the audience, as appropriate to the natal day of Her Majesty. The instrumental music was of a very high order, and was fully appreciated and heartily enjoyed by all who had the pleasure of listening to it. Selections from "Sommambula" and "The Barber of Seville," were given by Mr. Philp and the Harris boys on the violin and organ. Mention has already been made of those selections played by the same parties. Miss Bessie Oldham was in good voice, and sang in charming style "One Sweet Solemn Thought" and "Sweet Spirit hear my Prayer." This young lady has a clear silvery tone in her singing. In the duet "Forgive my Brother," Mr. and Mrs. Rodgers sang correctly. Miss Ida Davidson, Miss R. Pickard and Misses Rodgers and Rundell, sang, "Protect us through the coming Night." It was very nicely done, though in some portions there was a lack of harmony. Mr. John Crowe sang "Consolation," with marked sweetness. Master Louis Harris showed that he was capable of handling the organ with considerable effect in a Grand March. Mrs. James Clarke made her first appearance in playing on the organ in a solo, which was executed in such a manner as to reflect very creditably on her musical abilities. The same lady and Mr. Philp gave an organ duet, "Pas Redouble," which brought out the powers of the instrument in excellent style. Mr. C. New recited "The Old Man in the Modern Church." It was done very well, but still there was much room for improvement in his declamation. Miss Keables read "Death Doomed" with considerable taste, and her delivery indicates that she bids fair to be a first-class reader. Miss Maddock read "The Daughter of Herodias," and appeared to have a very correct conception of the author's meaning. It was read a little on the low side however. The "Doxology" was sung by the entire audience, and the benediction was pronounced by Rev. Mr. Brock. An alarm of fire hastened to empty the church.

The Grand Central is now offering unusual inducements to business men, families and tourists. The prices for board have never been so low, and the table is still kept up to its first-class high standard.

Local News.

MR. AND MRS. GEO. MARSTON, of San Diego, California, are in Guelph, and are the guests of Mr. James Cormack.

OIL PAINTINGS AND ENGRAVINGS.—Waters Bros., have in stock a fine display of the above. They have also another branch of trade in their business, of which the advertisement gives full particulars.

TOLTON BROS. & Co. are sending some pea harvesters to Manitoba with Mr. Ramage, who left for that place a few days ago.

THE horse attached to Mr. Moon's milk waggon ran away yesterday morning while coming down the Eramosa hill. The animal was stopped before any damage was done.

PROLIFIC.—Mr. A. Vance, of Mossboro, has a cow not yet two years old that has given birth to three calves. Two of the number were twin animals.

POUND SOCIAL.—The Ladies' Association of Dublin street Methodist Church will give a pound social at the residence of Mrs. Husband, West Market Square, on Thursday evening next.

A RARE BIRD SHOT.—On Thursday last George Elgie, of Nichol, shot in a beaver meadow, on the farm of his farmer, a fine plumed bittern—rarely seen in this section of the country. The bird measured from tip to tip of wings three feet eight inches.

BASE BALL.—The Buffalos defeated the Tecumsehs at London on Friday by a score of 7 to 1. The London Atlantics were defeated by the Cleveland Forest Citys, by a score of 16 to 2—just about the way the Leafs will play them.

GRIP has been received for the week, and has a good cartoon, "Not Afraid of the Gunn," in which the faces of John A. and George Brown figure prominently. Get a copy at the book stores.

COMPLAINTS have been made about the lamps at Allan's bridge not being lighted some nights when they should be. It is a very dark portion of the town, and not long ago a young man was severely beaten by some roughs that were gathered there.

Two young men, in company with a couple of ladies, rowed as far as the "Rocks" yesterday. The boats were beached, and the parties clambered the steep bank to pic-nic on the beautiful green sward on the top. While there some scamps put off with their boats.

RUNAWAY.—Yesterday as Mr. Hugh Moon's milk waggon was coming down the hill, near the Eramosa bridge, the shaft bolt came out, leting the shaft on the horses heels, causing him to run away, but he was fortunately stopped on the bridge before he had time to do much damage.

MR. AND MRS. BROWN, the latter a daughter of Mr. Mitchall, of Paisley Block, have arrived in Guelph from the old country. They commenced their voyage in the Sardinian, which was burned in Loch Foyle.

CHURCH PARADE.—Members of the Wellington Field Battery and No. 2 Co., 30th Battalion Guelph Rifles, are ordered to parade to-morrow for church at 10:30 a.m., in church parade order. They will attend the Dublin st. Methodist Church at 11 a.m.

THE other morning an early riser on Cork street detected a couple of tramps helping themselves to what had been left on the clothes line of a neighbor. He interrupted them, and they were quite willing to make themselves scarce after being allowed to depart. They claimed to have only been in quest of a clean shirt apiece, considering their own to be pretty dirty, not having changed them since last fall.

Two couples, who visited Berlin on Friday in a hack, had something of an adventure in returning home early this morning. In crossing the track at Mossboro station, when nearly the whole party was asleep, the hack had just cleared the last rail when the midnight express dashed past, grazing the hind wheels. No whistle was blown nor a bell rung to warn the party of their approaching danger. The effect of the narrow escape so impressed the party that from Mossboro to Guelph nothing but what was purely of a theological turn would be even whispered by any in the party.

THE FIRE AT STAMBOUL.—A Constantinople special to London says:—The fire among the buildings of the Sublime Porte proves to have been the work of an incendiary. One and a half million of dollars deposited there was lost.

The Primitive Methodist Conference opened in London yesterday morning Their proceedings commenced by singing the National Anthem.

On Friday night the dwelling of Isaac Lawrence, of Burford, Ont., was entered by burglars, and clothing and other valuables to the extent of $100 stolen. No trace of the thieves has been discovered.

John Bartholomew's saw and shingle mill at Teeterville, with its contents, was totally destroyed by fire at eleven o'clock on Thursday night. Loss nearly $10,000. No insurance.

An unknown person fell overboard from the steamer Quebec on Thursday night just when the boat stopped at Batiscan. A small boat was sent to look for the unfortunate man, but without success. His hat—an old felt one—was found on the beach a short time after the accident.

QUEEN'S BIRTHDAY.

Loyal Canadians Celebrate the Day.

Guelph was quiet on Friday, May 24th. Still, notwithstanding there was not any public demonstration, the day was observed in a proper manner. It is a strong indication that the love for the mother land is not by any means dying out, but is rather growing with the strength of the nation, when it is known that nearly every city, town, village and hamlet in Canada have some peculiar manner of celebrating the natal day of Her Majesty Queen Victoria. The central points of interest to which the attention of the citizens were turned during the day can be found in the undermentioned notices of events of a public character which occurred during the day.

TARGET SHOOTING.

In the morning eleven members of the Rifle Association repaired to the butts for practice. Ten dollars in prizes were offered for competition which should have been an inducement for a larger turn out. The atmosphere was in a fair condition for good shooting, and the scores are creditable. The match for the Ladies' Challenge Cup between the Companies of the 30th Battalion did not take place, on account of the men being at present without arms—the old rifles having been returned into store, and new ones not served out yet. The day was lacking even this item of interest, and accounted for the smallness of nnmbers of competitors in the match fired. J. Ogg won the first prize of $3; G. Barber $2; C. Cottis, W. Young, W. J. Watson, and John Crowe $1 each; T. Mitchell and W. H. Marcon 50 cents each. The score follows:

CRICKET.

Through some misunderstanding, the Model Farm Students and Merchants did not meet to play cricket in the morning. A number of merchants were present with all the material for a game, and after a short wait chose sides, and played for 37 each.

BATTERY PARADE.

A number of the members of the Right Division of the Wellington Field Battery mustered at the gun shed about 11 o'clock. Everything was made ready for action, and in lieu of the horses the gunners acted in that capacity themselves. The cannon were taken to the fair ground, and twenty-one guns were fired, commencing precisely at 12 o'clock. There was a large crowd present to witness the firing. The squad out were nearly all raw recruits, and judging from the manner in which they handled themselves they must have paid considerable attention to the instructions given by Drill Serjeant Rae. After the firing was concluded, the men were drawn in line and gave three cheers for the Queen.

BASE BALL.

The game on the Maple Leaf grounds between the Clippers of Toronto, and the Maple Leafs drew a large crowd, over five hundred being present. The visitors proved a very weak nine, as will be seen by the score, which is 35 to 1. The Leafs batted the Clippers terrifically, scoring no less than 23 base hits. The Clippers batted Smith for 3 base hits. Their fielding throughout was very poor. The only catch worthy of credit made by the visitors was a running fly by Smith in the centre field. Hunter, catcher for the Leafs, made some pretty plays, one in particular was catching a foul bound after falling. It is unnecessary to particularize in regard to individual play, the score will be quite sufficient to show all the points. It is subjoined:—

In the forenoon a nice little game of ball was played on the old cricket ground, between two junior clubs, the Athletics, of Guelph, and the Live Oaks, of Hamilton. Both clubs proved themselves to be good players, and the match was closely contested, resulting in 4—0 in favour of the Guelph team. One of the Hamilton boys claim that one run was made, while the scorer states otherwise. The following is the score:—

PIC-NICKING.

A number of pic-nic parties were held up the river, and boating and fishing were indulged in to a large extent. The rumour in circulation that mosquitoes as large as grey-birds were to be found in the neighborhood of "Paradise," is incorrect. No increase in the size of this season's crop is noticeable. It was truly wonderful the quantity of provisions and bottles of pop that were consumed by boating parties.

THE CELEBRATION ELSEWHERE.

There was a a grand day in Elora, and a large number from Guelph visited the village, attracted thither no doubt by the fact that the Guelph team were to play with the Elora twelve. The Guelph players were beaten in three straight games. The play was excellent on both sides it taking nearly two hours to decide which should attain the supremacy. While the Guelph boys acknowledge the Elora players to be perfect gentlemen off the field they claim that they are a scurvy lot of fellows in playing. They have not on any occasion been subjected to such punishment as far as roughness is concerned, which they received on Friday. The players also find fault with the referee, claiming that although his intentions might have been honest, if they were, his knowledge of the game was very limited. The players were as follows:—Guelph—Andrew Mills, R. Aikens, C. Davidson, W. Burgess, W. Brasbie, A. McIntyre, J. R. Hewer, M. Parker, E. W. Turner, W. Brown, R. Barker. Elora—Turner, Leech, Simpson, W. Hamilton, James Hamilton, W. Simpson, Lamb, Perry, Callan, B. Duncan, Grey, H. Allan. The Browns, of Harriston, played the Athletics, of Elora, and defeated them by 12 to 4. The other games were carried out very successfully.

Fergus, and all the villages to the north, besides Berlin, Waterloo, Acton, Brampton, celebrated the day in a becoming manner. Berlin was particularly lively, and dancing was kept up with spirit all day and all night.

FIREWORKS.

Explosion at Drew's---An Expensive but Beautiful Sight.

The day for large pyotechnic displays under the management of amateurs has about passed. Occasionally an exhibition is now and again given in such a manner as happened at Drew's store on Wyndham street, but never otherwise than by accident. In speaking of accidents it is only something of a miracle that some parties were not perforated by shooting sky-rockets about ten o'clock on Friday night.

Mr. Drew had a large stock displayed in his window, and during the whole of yesterday had been selling large quantities of fire crackers, grasshoppers, mines, and the hundred and one other named articles, which all go under the one head of fireworks. About a quarter to ten o'clock Mr. Drew lighted the fuse on some crackers and threw them into the middle of the street. In doing so it is supposed that a spark dropped among the fireworks, and they at once began going off at a lively rate. There was a large crowd on Wyndham street at the time the fusilade opened, and to see men, women, and children scampering in all directions, would have been intensely amusing had there not been grave danger of a conflagration. A fire on Wyndham street would have been indeed a very serious affair.

As soon as Mr. Drew saw that the whole mass of fire-works would be destroyed, and that there was great danger, he and an assistant displayed considerable courage by jumping on the burning mass and kicking all they could of it into the street. One rocket after another shot across the street, now straight across, then at an angle up street, and again in the opposite direction. The battering against the plate glass windows and walls was terrific.

The fire alarm was sounded, and with great promptitude the Brigade was at their post and ready to throw a stream.

Engineer Armstrong took in the situation at a glance, and knowing full well that much damage would be done by water, kept the Brigade only in readiness. Fortunately its services were not required. The fire-works had done their best—all had exploded—and a couple of pails of water put the fire out.

At the time the explosion took place there were a number in Drew's ice cream parlor refreshing themselves. At the first explosion when squibs were shooting inside the store a gentleman not possessing a great deal of nerve grasped his hat, put it well down over his ears and plunged head first out of the back window, carrying most of the lower sash with him. He was quickly followed by several ladies. They all escaped unhurt. The loss of a back comb was about the only inconvenience the party was put to.

Mr. Hawkins, bar-tender at the Western Hotel, had a narrow escape, a rocket shot through the window and came within an inch or two of striking him on the head.

A young man passing the store at the time the affair commenced had an idea percolating through his head that he had been shot by one of the Battery's nine-pounders. He tumbled over, but after crawling on his hands and knees out of harm's way found himself unhurt.

A careful examination of the surrounding premises was made after the fire was extinguished and all sparks were extinguished. This morning Mr. Heffernan found that a rocket had shot through the fan light in their store and was carried to the extreme end of the building. A window in Messrs. E. O'Donnell & Co's. was broken.

The loss altogether will amount to about $100.

While the son of Mr. Samuel Henderson, of Burford, Ont., was playing with a gun on Queen's Birthday it went off by accident, the contents lodging in the thigh of a young man named Samuel Thompson, and seriously wounding him.

Meissonies's painting, "The Two Vandeveldes," was sold by auction in Paris yesterday for $11,400.

The London Athenæum announced that Lord Dufferin has accepted the Presidency of the Royal Geographical Society.

The South Waterloo Reform Convention for the selection of a candidate for the Dominion election will take place on the 30th instant.

CHURCH MUSIC.—The finest music provided by any church in the country is to be heard on Sundays and holidays at St. Francis Xaviers' in New York. Its organ and its choir are alike famous, and its services are crowded by both the religious and the critical. The credit of this superb pre-eminence belongs to the organist, Professor Wm. Berge, music doctor, who but a little while ago, ruptured an artery in his arm and had to abandon his profession until cured by GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE AMMONIA.

Reform Organization.

Opening of the Reform Club Room.

On Thursday evening there was a large attendance of Reformers in the new rooms of the Liberal Club, called for the purpose of effecting a thorough organization of the Reform party in Guelph for the coming contest. There were present many of the old men of the party who have fought its battles many long years ago, and there were also not a few of a later generation—many of them workingmen—who have been known as pronounced Reformers, and are still true to the record of their past professions.

On motion Mr. R. Melvin was appointed chairman, and Mr. E. F. B. Johnston Secretary.

The chairman congratulated the Reformers of Guelph on securing such desirable rooms in which to hold their meetings. He was satisfied that the establishment of a Reform Club, and having such a desirable place for meeting, would have a strong tendency to strengthen the party. In times that were past the Reformers of South Wellington had always won a great victory, with little organization. The time had, however, now arrived to institute a Club which would have the effect of bringing Reformers together to become acquainted with one another, and strengthen the bonds of friendship which were known to exist among the members of the party. The Club was not only intended to accomplish much good at the present time, but would bear fruit in elections hereafter. The chairman called upon Mr. Guthrie to address the meeting before the business of organization, by appointing committees, was proceeded with.

Mr. Guthrie was received with applause. He congratulated the Reformers of the town in securing the handsome rooms in which they had met for such a laudable object as the strengthening of the hands of the party. He hoped the power of the Liberal Club, Reform Association, or whatever it might be termed, would not only be felt in the approaching contest, but would form the nucleus of an organization that would wield a great influence in all future contests. The Club would prove of great benefit to the young men of the Reform party. Meetings could be held and questions of vital importance discussed and ventilated. He had no doubt but that a reading-room would in time be connected with the institution, and that before long the Reform Club of Guelph would rival similar institutions in Brantford, Toronto and London. The present meeting had been called by the convener on the principle of being ready for the contest when the time came. The speaker considered it would be well to be up at once and doing, as he believed parties were at present canvassing for support to a person who was not yet in the field. The canvass conducted by our opponents was being done in secret—nothing in a manly way. The Reformers of the Riding had brought out their candidate in a straightforward manner, and he was now in the field. Instead of bringing out a candidate they were holding secret meetings, and endeavoring to undermine Reform interests by misrepresentation. What the Reformers desired was a thorough and fair discussion on the questions of the day. The position they held was that the policy of the present government would bear inspection—would stand any amount of ventilation—and the more it was discussed the greater the fallacy of the arguments used in opposition to it would be exposed. The meeting, however, on the present occasion was for organization and not for delivering addresses. He would suggest that committees be appointed not only for each Ward in the town, but for every sub-division. He advised persistent work on the part of his friends. In concluding, the speaker referred to date of the coming elections. It might be in a few weeks and possibly not before autumn. As soon as the Government had decided it would be at once made known.

Mr. James Massie made a few remarks pertinent to the subject of organization, and the appointment of Committees was at once proceeded with.

Committees were then struck for each Ward, and after some discussion of various points of interest in effecting an organization the meeting adjourned till Monday evening next.

The Contest.

As will be seen in another column, an enthusiastic meeting of Mr. Guthrie's supporters was held at the Liberal Club Room on Thursday evening. We are glad to see that our friends have commenced the campaign in good spirit, and we urge upon them the necessity of acting vigorously and promptly. The enemy is losing no time, and not a stone will be left unturned. Every effort and every means will be used to defeat the nominee of the Reform Party in South Wellington, and although Mr. Guthrie's friends may not be able to meet all the wiles and hypocritical schemes of their opponents, very much can be done by earnest and careful work. Let the Committees appointed the other evening at once commence the performance of their duties, and we have every reason to believe that the cause for which they are working will meet with success.

Rumors from Ottawa.

The Ottawa correspondent of the London Advertiser says :—Anxiety with regard to the time when the general elections are likely to come off, having found frequent expression in Opposition prints, it will perhaps act as a sedative on Tory nerves to be informed, on good authority, that there is no likelihood, not even a remote probability, of the elections taking place till after harvest or perhaps late in the fall. On the first of June Auditor General Langton will receive one month's leave of absence, at the expiration of which he will be superannuated. In the meantime Mr. Courtney, an experienced gentleman, will act as Deputy Minister of Finance till the new Auditor is appointed under the act of last session. The disappearance of Mr. Langton from the Civil Service will mark a new era in the personnel of this department, and open the way for the introduction of those reforms in management which have recently been perfected, after much labor, by Mr. Cartwright.

The American Presbyterian Assemblies.

A peculiar interest has been aroused in the American Presbyterian body at its present Assembly, which opened in Pittsburg on the 16th inst., owing to the fact that it will probably never meet again in its present form. The Assembly has become a bulky and unwieldly body, consisting as it does this year, of 520 members. The yearly travelling expenses of these delegates, too, render their consultation a costly benefit to the church. It is proposed to lessen the number in future by either taking away the basis of representation from the Presbyteries and giving it to the Synods, or by allowing only too delegates to every three thousand communicants. As this denomination in the Northern States numbers considerably over half a million of members, either of these reforms would still leave its yearly congress a formidable affair. The pressure of the times has not hindered the good work of this powerful church so much as might reasonably have been expected. The financial report shows the receipts $562,361; expenditures, $511,180, including a debt of $43,000 at the end of last year. Early this year a gift of $50,000 by Mrs. Jno. C. Green extinguished the debt, and left nearly $7,000 towards current expenses. The Southern Assembly of the same church, representing some 114,000 members, began its session at Knoxville, Tenn., last week. It was hinted that there would be an earnest effort made at the convention in Pittsburg for the reunion of these bodies which were violently sundered during the war. There is now most probably no actual unkind feeling between these great bodies of good, honest, god fearing people, and they are much more likely to continue kind and fraternal if they are not hurried into close contact sooner than the affinities of a common faith and practice naturally draw them.

Public Morality.

The greatness of our country depends largely upon the moral vigor of its rulers. History teaches us the lesson, that however great may have been the advantages, or however favorable circumstances may have proved, States have been able to maintain their superiority just so long as their lawgivers were honest and upright men. The contagious effects of immorality on the part of the leaders of public opinion soon make themselves felt from the highest to the lowest. Having the example of unscrupulous men, both in a moral as well as in a political sense, daily before their eyes, a large portion of the population having no very fixed ideas on these matters naturally adopts and imitates the practice of its superiors. What was a dishonest act on the part of a scheming politician soon becomes anything to be repeated and applauded in every-day life, until society discovers often too late that vice brings its own punishment. Ancient States and powerful nations have gone down in the scale of greatness owing to this cause and no other. Having reached the highest pinnacle, their rulers became pampered, corrupt and immoral, delighting more in the debasing practices of debauchery and drunkenness than in the ennobling duties of the government of their country. These habits were not confined to a few. Rapidly spread throughout, not only the Court but the Kingdom, and vice, gilded by the lustre of royalty, became a thing to be pitied first, and then embraced. Then began selfish intrigues, conspiracies, and misrule. The core of the nation being rotten, it is not to be wondered at that the disease soon found its way to the utmost limit, and painted everything it touched with foulsome and degrading corruption. Country was forgotten, even the interests of party were neglected for those of self, until the whole nation succumbed to the pressure of a great moral disorder.

Doubtless much of the national grandeur and nobility of England is due to the high moral character and stability of her rulers. Whenever there has been, particularly of late years, any tendency to a violation of the moral code, such tendency has been at once checked by the innate worth of the vast majority of her representatives in Parliament. Laws have been made and enforced in guarding the sacred interests of morality and suppressing and punishing vice in every shape and form. The law makers and those who have shaped the destinies of our mother country, and those who now are at the helm of public affairs, have respected the laws of the land, have obeyed the teachings of a stern morality, and above all, have respected themselves. They have thereby inspired a trusting confidence which the demon of Communism cannot reach, and whatever may be the state of the nation, the great mass of the people feel assured that the integrity of their Parliament and the honor of their rulers can be neither impeached nor disturbed. The gross impurities of blackguardism have no root in the soil of English politics, nor do the members of the British Parliament forget either their responsibility or their manhood. And so long as this state of affairs continues, so long will the supremacy of England be asserted in the council of nations, but when the leaders of public opinion shall forget their high position and their moral obligations, then shall the meridian sun of British splendor and power sink gradually below the horizon of national grandeur.

We would, therefore, ask our readers to pause and ponder well the ideas we have endeavored in this article to impress upon them. Let their voice go up at the approaching contest in favor of integrity and moral worth. Let them sink personal feelings, and look calmly and considerately at the character of such men as Alexander Mackenzie, against whose private conduct, or personally in regard to his public acts, not one of his numerous enemies has dared cast the first stone. Let his example of honesty of purpose, integrity of character, and moral energy be the criterion by which we, as electors, should weigh the exercise of our franchise. We need not make the contrast. The late scenes in the House of Commons, the past record of the Opposition leaders, and the moral turpitude of their acts, together with their debasing influence, are unfortunately all too fresh in the minds of the people to require repetition here. We say, unfortunately, for we believe that if we are to become a great people, if we are to have a voice in the worlds' councils, and a name in the history of this or any future age; if we are to be listened to with respect and attention by other countries and to be conscious of respect for ourselves, we must keep our young Dominion freed from the corruption and disgraceful acts which have too often marked the conduct of some of our public men, and we must at the same time retain in power those whose public morals are blameless, and who, by a life of temperance, moderation, and morality, have set worthy example to their fellow countrymen, and added largely to the fair fame of Canada.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

PROSPECTS OF A CONGRESS

Military Preparations in Austria.

A Difficulty at Constantinople.

LONDON, May 24.

The Post, after stating that Schouvaloff brings an assurance that the disposition in St. Petersburg for peace quite equals that in London, and is also the bearer of certain expressions of willingness to meet the English views, though Russia declines to pass the sponge over the San Stefano Treaty, adds :—"This appears to amount to a reiteration of Gortschakoff circular. On the other hand it is hoped the British Cabinet will stand firmly by the conditions of Lord Salisbury's despatch.

The Agence Russe says so far all seems to augur well for the assembling of a Congress.

The Standard says:—The Cabinet Council sat three hours on Friday and will resume its deliberations on Saturday. We can renew with considerable confidence the statement that the difficulties are in a fair way of being removed. Peace prospects are certainly brighter to-day than they have been for some time past. The Czar is resolute in regard to the retrocession of Bessarabia, but made considerable advances in regard to the limits of Bulgaria. There need be no surprise if Russia under pressure consents to reduce the indemnity half, or even more.

A Vienna correspondent telegrophs:—The hopeful disposition in political circles increases, especially in St. Petersburg and Berlin. There has been an active interchange of ideas between Austria and Great Britain, which there is every reason to believe has led to a pretty perfect understanding between them, so that Russia by coming to an understanding with England will also agree with Austria.

The first vessels, two in number, carrying Indian troops arrived at Malta to-day.

A German newspaper states that Great Britain has ordered at Berlin immediately 200 electric lights for the British fleet. These illuminate the darkness to a distance of 250 yards.

The majority in the House of Commons last night against Lord Hartington's resolution that no forces be kept in time of peace save within India without the sanction of Parliament, was nearly double the figure conceded by the Opposition. The Times says :—"This was because the debate brought out clearly the fact that the real issue was the approval or condemnation of the Government policy in utilizing the Indian troops. If the resolution had been carried, it would have been accepted by all the world as a vote of censure. The question of the legality or constitutionality of the Government's methods may exercise Parliament's attention some other time. The resolution was properly considered in its bearing on the conduct of the Government at a great political crisis, and in that light was overwhelmingly defeated."

A Constantinople despatch says :—The Russo-Turkish commission has failed to agree on the line of demarcation, the Russians claiming several points which the Turks refuse to concede.

The Austrian opposition to the aggrandisement of Montenegro towards the Adriatic becomes more pronounced. There is some talk of an Austrian occupation of Antivari and Spitza. A Vienna correspondent says Russia was long ago informed of Austria's determination in this respect.

A Vienna special says Montenegro has assured Count Andrassy that she intends to keep the peace, and that her attitude will be strictly defensive.

The Porte has decided to surrender Varna.

A Bucharest despatch says: — The Chamber of Deputies has voted 750,000 francs for the clothing and mounting of troops.

A British corvette is said to have sailed from Bermuda to watch the Cimbria.

A five years' guarantee accompanies each organ. This from a well established firm likely to continue in business is worth considerable. For Price List, address

IMPORTANT QUESTIONS.

Who can sell the cheapest, those who pay thousands of dollars rent, or those who pay no rent? Those who have to support three or four partners and families, or those who have only one family to support? Those who lost thousands of dollars—by dealers in Toronto and other places—or those who did not lose one cent? Those who have had forty years' experience, or those who served no apprenticeship to the business they profess to follow? Please consider these questions before it is too late.

Harold the Outlaw
—OR—
The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XLIII.

A DAY OF PREPARATION—NEW ARRIVALS—DEPARTURE FOR THE ISLAND.

Harold made a pretence of lying down with Kenneth and Dixon on the mound of dry moss which had been collected for their couch, but no sooner did he find by certain signs that they were asleep than he rose and walked down to the edge of the water, drawn thither by a resistless attraction, the centre of which he could dimly see through the semi-darkness of the still summer night.

Oh, the cruelty of that inexorable watery barrier which lay between him and his heart's love. Why was not the old miracle repeated, by which a dry path was made through the deep, that he might fly to the side of his darling and accord her that protection which had been so long withheld. Where was the rod of Moses, to cleave the water in twain and open a passage across? Where was the mantle of Elijah, to smite the rippling waves and roll them back at the behest of a prophetic faith? Vain, vain the question, and vainer still the desire to have it so. Miracles are not performed except from necessity. When patience and work can effect the same end by natural means, supernatural power is not to be called into operation. It was as easy for God to lay bare the bed of that Highland loch as to roll back the waters of the Red Sea or uncover the channel of the Jordan; but inasmcuh as this would have anticipated by a few hours a result to be achieved by human labour acting in harmony with existing laws, no miracle was necessary, and therefore none was performed.

For hours—aye, even till the rosy tints of dawn had flushed the east, and the increasing light would have rendered him visible—Harold continued to pace the shore, and gaze with wistful intensity to the dark pile where Lizzie was confined. Then, as the sun was about to rise and chase away the shadows, he returned within the wood and resumed his place by the side of his companions, who had all the while been enjoying sound and refreshing slumber. Fain would he have roused them, that the work of making a raft might be begun; but when he looked on their unconscious forms and reflected how much they stood in need of rest, he generously refrained, thereby imitating, at a far distance, that Divine night watcher on whose spirit lay the weight of a world's woe, when he said to his slumbering disciples, "Sleep on now, and take your rest."

Wrapping his cloak closely round him, Harold stretched his weary limbs on the greensward, and ere he wist the angel of sleep drooped his gentle wings over him likewise, and he slept undreamingly for some time, to awake at length amazed and self-reproachful.

He sprang up, and gazed hurriedly around. Kenneth and Dixon had both risen, and had been up for some time, as was evidenced by the number of young trees which they had felled for the construction of the raft. He speedily joined them, and, by their united and diligent efforts, the sun had not gained his place in the meridian when a strong raft was constructed, sufficiently large to bear the whole of them, and furnished with poles broadened at the end to serve for paddles.

The work being done thus early, they were landed in enforced idleness, for they could not launch the raft till night had again descended. Thus many weary hours of inactivity had to be endured, specially trying to Harold in his state of intense excitement. The only tolerable way of passing the time was by lying on a knoll by the edge of the wood, facing the loch, and watching the island—the object of all his fears, hopes, and longings.

After the preliminary services on Tuesday, the Synod met in the afternoon, when the roll was called. From this district there were representatives from Acton and Rockwood, Elora, Erin and Garafraxa, Fergus and Alma, Georgetown, Guelph, Nassagaweya, Minto, Mount Forest and North Arthur, Orangeville, Palmerston and Rothsay and Huston.

The Standing Committees of the Synod were then appointed.

The report of the Executive Committee was then read and adopted. The Trust Fund Committee's report was then read by Mr. George Elliott, of Guelph. The report states that the attention of the Committee has been given to the augmentation of the Episcopal Endowment Fund, by means of the collection of unpaid subscriptions. Mr. Thomas Bate, of Fergus, has been appointed the agent of the Committee for this purpose, and his reports to the Secretary-Treasurer shows a sum of $1,300 already collected and paid us by him, which sum will at once be added to the invested capital.

In carrying out the provisions of the by-law of the last Session of Synod for the distribution of the supplies received from the Commutation Trust Fund, the Committee have had the pleasure of placing on the list of annuitants,

3 Clergymen of over 15 years' standing at $400 per annum.
2 Clergymen of over 10 years' standing at $300 per annum,
2 Clergymen of over 5 years' standing at $200 per annum.

The report of the Mission Fund was next read. At the meeting of the Mission Board on the 22nd of January last, they felt themselves compelled, in consequence of the small amounts received by the Treasurer from the parishes and missions of the Diocese, to make reductions in their grants. Among other reductions are the following:—Harriston, Clifford and Drew, $50; Arthur Travelling Mission, $100; Mt. Forest and N. Arthur, $100.

Again, on the 1st of April, the Board adopted the following resolution, without a dissenting voice: "That the Mission Board, taking into consideration the large indebtedness, the interest to be paid for money borrowed, and the necessity there is for meeting the liabilities without continually increasing the debt; and feeling that most of the parishes of the Dominion have not as yet responded as they should have done to the many appeals made to them; and having also taken into consideration the condition and capabilities of the several missions, feel obliged, though most reluctantly, to make the following reductions, viz: Georgetown, $50; Fergus, $50; Mount Forest and North Arthur, $50; Port Colborne and Marshville, $50; Harriston, etc. Arthur Travelling Mission $50; Nanticoke, etc., $50; Lowville, etc., $50; Rothsay and Huston, $50; Palmerston, $50; to take effect from this date; also Dunville, $100, from 1st October next; and the Mission Board trust that the several missions in which these reductions have been made will not allow their missionaries to suffer from these reductions, but will themselves make up the sums which the Mission Board have felt obliged to withdraw."

The report was adopted.

On Wednesday the delegates to the Provincial Synod were elected. Among them are George Elliott and A. A. Baker.

Bond & Co. tell us that they have just received a large lot of the celebrated rubber paint ready mixed, all colors, instruction books given free of charge to any one requiring them.

NO HARD TIMES THERE.—One hears very little now-a-days but the cry hard times. Judging from the constant rush in business at the Lion, Messrs. J. D. Williamson & Co. never feel them. Their ruling principle is, make goods cheaper than any other store, and there is no trouble about selling them.

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

BRITISH MINISTRY UNITED

THE RUSSIAN PRESS AND SCHOUVALOFF.

Invitations by Congress Issued

A PEACEABLE APPEARANCE

LONDON, May 27.

It is now said that the English Ministry are united, and rumors of dissension are unfounded.

Official portion of the Russian press are clamoring to know the result of Schouvaloff's mission.

There is a great rise in prices of securities. The report on all European Bourses are consequently encouraging. On account of the outlook of affairs in the East the consols have advanced, and are firm at 97.

The Journal Des Debats, of Paris, to-day says invitations for Congress were despatched yesterday, and if matters are satisfactorily concluded the treaty replacing the Treaties of San Stefano and Paris will be signed at Berlin.

LONDON, May 27.—The report is being circulated in Opposition Parliamentary circles that Schouvaloff outwitted Beaconsfield and Salisbury, and that Congress will result either in giving Russia all she would have gained under the San Stefano Treaty, or in war. It is believed a perfect understanding exists between the three Emperors; that Italy will not take England's side, and France will positively remain neutral, only England and Turkey will stand together, and it is doubtful even if firmness of Turkey can be counted on, that the result of Congress will be the humiliation of England by the acceptance of all Russia asks or plunging into war without a single ally.

Although no official statement has been made, it is understood to be certain that Schouvaloff, acting upon lines agreed upon by Bismarck and himself, has yielded to England's demands. The exaltation of the Ministerial party is great. It is now believed that Congress will be held in Berlin, that the treaties of Paris and San Stefano will be laid on the table, and new convention lines which are already known and approved by the three Emperors, as well as France, Italy, and England, be signed. In less hopeful quarters it is pointed out that unless the Congress meets merely to ratify what has already been settled, the danger is only postponed and there is no assurance that Austria or Turkey will be satisfied.

Officially stated that in the House of Commons this afternoon Northcote, in replying to a question, said he was not yet in position to make a definite statement, but within last few days prospects for an early meeting of the Conference had been materially improved. The announcement was received with cheers.

A DASTARDLY ACT.—There are some men in the town of Guelph who have as black hearts as the worst felons in the penitentiary at Kingston, and judging from deeds perpetrated on Sunday morning last there is little doubt but what the scum will sooner or later come to the surface, and those who have an idea that they can destroy their neighbors' property with impunity, will find to their cost that their punishment will be severe although it cannot be quite as great as their acts merit. Shortly after three o'clock on Sunday morning two men, one of large build and wearing a broad-brimmed slouched hat and the other a much smaller man in stature but quite as small in principle, commenced destroying the young maples in front of Mr. Gowdy's property on Dublin street. The trees are set out in front of the houses occupied by Rev. Mr. Brock and Mr. Wm. Philp and the corner of Oxford and Dublin streets. Mrs. Brock hearing some disturbance in front of the house looked out of the window and saw two men, whose appearance answered the description given above. The trees in front of the residences of Mr. Alex. Bruce, Mr. Hatch, Mr. Gowdy and Mr. Keables were also destroyed. Some were cut off with a hatchet, others only mutilated, and again others were broken off. It appears that Mrs. Hatch also saw the same men that were seen seen by Mrs. Brock in front of their residence. The trees in front of Mr. Keable's property had only been planted a day or two and they were torn up by the roots. Great indignation existed in the neighborhood on Sunday morning when it was learned what acts had been committed during the night There are surmises as to who the guilty parties are, but as yet nothing clear is known. It appears, however, that there are some parties who own cows and who appear bound to keep them pasturing on the street if they are not forced to do otherwise. Messrs. Hatch and Gowdy have been the means of trying to force people to observe the By-laws of the town in this respect—and it was right that they should do so—and for so doing it is said they have incurred the enmity of some who are not above taking revenge in the manner above indicated. Whether this be correct or not it makes little difference. The act was a malicious one, and the guilty parties, whoever they are, would for revenge fire a building or even commit murder. It is hoped the police will be able to find out the guilty parties.

Local News.

ANNUAL MEETING of the Guelph Board of Trade on Tuesday evening.

REV. H. HARRIS, of Guelph, has been elected President of the Primitive Methodist Conference now in session in London.

THERE will be over one hundred candidates at the entrance examination of the Guelph High School. Verily, a popular institution.

REFORM MEETING this evening in the Reform Club rooms. All the Ward committees appointed at the late meeting will be present to report. All supporters of Mr. Guthrie are invited to be present.

POLICEMAN DOOLEY interviewed some lads on Waterloo Avenue near the Pound Creek, last evening, who had been guilty of setting a trap on the sidewalk for the purpose of tripping up pedestrians. They were let off with a warning. Another time they will be obliged to spend a night in the cells.

ON Thursday morning at eleven o'clock Ascension service with Holy Communion at St. George's Church. Vestry meeting at four o'clock in the afternoon. Matters relating to the issue of debentures for clearing off the Rectory debt will be disposed of. On Friday afternoon at three o'clock a baptismal service will be held.

AT the trotting races at Brampton on the 24th, Mr. F. Gauban's "Mayo Boy" won first money in three straight heats. There were five entries and three started. The following is the complete list of races run:—1st race—purse of $65 3 minute trot—3 in 5 to harness—C. Merlihan's Lazy Dick, 3, 3, 3; F. Gauhan's Mayo Boy, 1, 1, 1; J. Stubb's Lady Morgan, 2, 2, 2; T. Beamish's Lady Price and McConnell's Geo. Moore, drawn; no time. 2nd race—purse of $45—green trot.—Middleton's Panic, 1, [illegible]Down's Bolton Boy, 2, 2, 2. Hopkin's Britannia Boy, 3, 3, 3; Beamish's Sporting George, 4, 4, 4; no time. 3rd race—purse of $115—2.40 trot.—Williamson's Arthur Boy, 1, 2, 2, 2; Middleton's Grey George, 2, 1, 1, 1; Crozier's Garafraxa, 3, 3, 3, 3; no time. Mr. Merlihan entered a protest against Lady Morgan receiving second money, as she had made better time than three minutes. We understand the judges have sustained the protest, and Mr. Merlihan will get second money.

THE GALT DISASTER.—The public funeral of the recovered bodies from the Empress of India wreck was to have come off at three o'clock on Saturday afternoon, but was postponed over an hour on account of the finding of the last missing victim, Thos. Elliott. It was just at twelve o'clock that the body was drawn out above Main-st-eet bridge. The interment of five of the bodies, those of James Montgomery, Andrew Jackson, Edward Uhren, David Scott, and Thomas Elliott, took place in Galt cemetery, the sixth, that of Fred. Cane, in Trinity Church cemetery, and the seventh, John Fraser, was taken to Paris Plains. All the places of business were closed during the time of the funeral, and the townspeople followed the hearse en masse, the procession being about two miles in length. The various ministers of the town officiated.

THE EXPLOSION AT DREW'S.—From Mr. F. J. Drew it is learned that the explosion on Friday night at his store was not accidentally caused by himself but by some boy throwing a firecracker among the fireworks which were exposed in his window for sale. Instead of setting off fireworks during the evening Mr. Drew was guarding the goods in order to prevent an accident happening. Notwithstanding his greatest care an accident did happen, and great loss was the consequence. All told the loss will be between $300 and $400, on which there was no insurance. Besides the direct loss it will take fully two weeks to have everything look as snug and trim as it was previous to the accident. Business will be carried on as usual, however, and as Mr. Drew has the sympathy of the community in his less there is no doubt but what he will have a larger share of their support. He is an active live business man, and is bound not only to succeed in this enterprise, but will prove himself an acquisition to the town.

THE LATE MR. HARRY JAFFRAY.—Mr. Harry Jaffray, of the Galt Reporter, who was drowned on Wednesday evening, 22nd inst., by the distressing accident on the Grand River, was one of the oldest members of the Galt Cricket Club, and was known amongst cricketers of this city as a skilful batter, he having, on almost every occasion when the Galt Club played out of their own town, participated in the game. Mr. Jaffray had also been one of those who, in the spring of 1870, volunteered for the first Red River Expedition under Col. (now Major-General Sir Garnet) Wolesley, and was a member of No. 2 Company, 1st Ontario Rifles. On his arrival at Fort Garry, Mr. Jaffray, in conjunction with a printer of Hamilton, also member of the expedition, was detached to do the printing required for the crude formation of a Government in a new country, in which such things as Gubernatorial proclamations, election writs, summonses, law forms, &c., had hitherto been unknown. Mr. Jaffray applied for and received his discharge in the January following, and, in company with Mr. James McArthur, of Hamilton, crossed the plains to St. Paul in an ox-sled. The trip was a trying one, and Mr. Jaffray afterwards published an account of it in his own paper. Deceased was a genial, whole souled man, and was never known, no matter what the provocation, to lose temper. His untimely death will be regretted by many throughout the Province, and by none more than his acquaintances in Hamilton.

A BARBER POLE was taken away from the front of J. Thorne's shop, Macdonnell street, the other evening. The guilty party is known, and to avoid a prosecution he is invited to return it to its old position.

THE poisoning of cats and dogs on Suffolk street has lately been extensively carried on, doubtless, by some peevish individual who has an aversion to those domestic animals, and is not willing that neighbors should be in possession of them. If the poisoner is found out he will be called upon to liquidate several claims.

REV. MR. SMITH, of Galt, preached an eloquent sermon in the Dublin street Methodist Church, on Sunday evening, taking for his text the reply of the Shunamite woman to the prophet "It is well." Reference was made to the distressing accident that happened in Galt on Wednesday last, and throughout the whole discourse application was made of the same. There were few dry eyes in the audience. The anthem sung with grand effect was "Open ye Gates."

FIRE.—About five o'clock this morning the dwelling house owned by a poor cripple, named Dickson, on the Eramosa Road, near the farm of Walter West, was destroyed by fire. The house was a small frame structure. Dickson had been in the Poor House for a time but was afterwards liberated. The origin of the fire is unknown. The loss will be small. There was no insurance.

CHURCH PARADE.—On Sunday morning about seventy of the citizen soldiery belonging to the Field Battery and Guelph Rifles paraded to the Dublin street Methodist church. They presented a very fine appearance. Rev. Mr. Smith, of Galt, conducted the services, and preached a very eloquent sermon, applying some of his remarks particularly to the military present and the complication of affairs in the east. "Though War should arise," "Praise ye the Lord," and "Onward Christian Soldiers," were sung by the choir.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Gerald O'Reilly, of Hamilton, formerly student at the Guelph General Hospital, has passed successfully the examinations which have just been concluded at Toronto in the third year subjects in medicine before the University and the Medical Council. Mr. O'Reilly was one of the few whose high aggregate of marks at the written examination before the Council entitled him to pass without an oral.

AN exchange:—"Anything new or fresh this morning?" a reporter asked in a certain city office. "Yes," replied the occupant of the apartment. "What is it?" queried the reporter, whipping out his note-book. Said the man, edging towards the door, "That paint you are leaning against." Such are the loads a newspaper man must bear.

A VALUABLE MIXTURE to keep on hand at this season is one of coal ashes, sulphur and hellebore. The ashes should be very fine. It is best after passing them through an ordinary coal-ash sieve. To one pailful of ashes thus sifted, add a quart each of flour of sulphur and hellebore, and mix together. For currant worms, plant lice, cabbage fleas, slugs on pear trees, melon bugs, we found this to be so effectual last season that we confidently recommend it to our readers. It is always best to use it in the cool of the morning while the dew is upon the leaf.

AN amusing incident in connection with the fireworks explosion on Friday night took place. Mr. Sache was in Higinbotham's block when the first report was heard. He descended the stairs about four steps at a time, and when turning the corner at Wyndham street he was considerably surprised when a sky rocket curved from the scene of explosion and shot between his legs, doing no damage whatever. Following the rocket closely was a fiery serpent. Doubtless, acting on the truthfulness of the old saying that "lightning never strikes the same place twice." Mr. Sache did not stop to consider what might have been, but repaired to a nearer position to obtain a good view of the pyrotechnics.

DEATH OF AN OLD RESIDENT OF PUSLINCH.—We regret to record the death of Mr. John Moffatt, an old resident of Puslinch. He came to that Township about twenty-four years ago, and lived on the farm near Morriston, belonging to the Rev. Mr. Meldrum. About ten years ago he removed from Puslinch to the Township of Stanley, where he lived with his sons. The deceased was well known in Puslinch, and was highly respected by all who knew him.

A Baltimore man has been arrested for playing ghost by dancing around at night on the top of houses in his night-shirt, his object being to depreciate property in his neighborhood so that he could buy it cheap.

A tramp was roasted to death near Baltimore on Sunday night. Having no lodging-place, he sought warmth and shelter at a lime-kiln, and while asleep he was stupified by the fumes. Strange to say, he and another tramp fell asleep last winter at this same kiln, and the other fellow was burned to death. His companion woke up with a smell of some kind of meat cooking, as he expressed it, and found that a part of his left arm, which hung over the kiln, had been roasted. His arm was amputated at a hospital and he started out on the road again, but returned to the same oven for a final roast.

The William Tell trick has ceased to be entertaining and ought to be immediately suppressed. Recently a circus performer in Rockport, Ind., undertook to shoot a potato off the head of a woman. He was an extremely awkward marksman. He neither hit the potatoe nor the woman, but he did kill a small boy who was standing outside and peeping through a hole in the canvas. The combination circus company did what it could to soothe the feelings and assuage the grief of the urchin's parents; it gave a performance for their benefit, and the treasurer handed them the "proceeds of the evening's show." The heart-broken father could not, however, be convinced that the account was balanced.

WALLACK'S ORCHESTRA.—The orchestra of Wallack's Theatre, New York, is famous for its extraordinary precision. This is due entirely to Thomas Baker, an Englishman, who has conducted it for years. The door of the school room had been inadvertently left open, and the thief found easy access.

ANOTHER OF THE OLD PIONEERS GONE.—We noticed on Saturday the death of William Jones, of this town, at the ripe old age of four-score. Mr. Jones came to Canada in 1833, and settled in the township of Puslinch in the autumn of that year. As the section in which Mr. Jones settled was almost a dense wilderness, he had his full share of the difficulties attending a pioneer life, but his honest, earnest efforts were ultimately crowned with complete success, and he had the satisfaction of seeing, under his own hand the wilderness supplanted by fruitful fields. Mr. Jones was an advanced farmer for his day, and as such he did much to improve practical agriculture in the neighborhood; he was one of the most earnest friends of our early plowing matches and agricultural exhibitions, and did much to encourage the young to take an interest in good plowing. In short Mr. Jones was a fine specimen of the honest, good-hearted Englishmen who have done their full share in making our fine County one of the foremost in the Dominion. He was at one time proprietor of the Red Lion Hotel.

THE ATHLETIC-LIVE OAK GAME.—A correspondent signing himself "B. F. R." has written a communication to the MERCURY finding fault with the score of the base-ball game as published. The score given was 4 to 0 in favor of the Athletics, while he claims it should have been 4 to 1. "B. F. R." says:—In the ninth innings Richardson, of the Live Oaks, reached the home plate. He was touched, but as the player touched him the ball dropped out of his hand. The umpire gave the runner out, but the captain of the Live Oaks claims the run by section 15, page 35 of Spalding's Guide for 1878, where it says "the ball must be held by the fielder after touching the runner." This was not a forced run, but if the umpire knows more than any guide book it was wrong and he was right. If the Live Oaks had fair play in the eighth innings, when two were out and two on bases, the batter struck foul and out, but the umpire called a strike, while the foul was heard all over the field. The Athletics got in two runs in this innings. The fair score, therefore, would be 2 to 1." The correspondent also finds fault with what he states was done in regard to the pitching, by putting Dyson on instead of the pitcher of the club.

The New York Times, referring to the threatened Fenian raid, says:—A careful inquiry along the Canada border, in the towns of Northern New York and Vermont, reveals an utter lack of fact in the reports recently furnished to the press concerning Fenian demonstrations in that locality. A prominent Fenian, well-informed regarding the status of that organization, divulges the cause of such statements by explaining that the districts mentioned were visited by emissaries from New York city, who commingled with the various societies throughout this and other States, and endeavoured to enthuse the members by inflammatory representations. The sentiments at these gatherings were adroitly exaggerated in the presence of press agents, so that a fictitious agitation could be secured, on the heels of which were to follow urgent appeals in behalf of the notorious skirmishing fund. The spirit of the whole movement, according to his statement, was a cleverly designed raid on Fenian purses and sympathies rather than any aggressive venture against Canadian possessions or contentment.

The first passenger train on the Hamilton and North Western arrived at Port Dover on the 24th.

They have a Frenchman in New Orleans who plays billiards with his nose. The following account is from the New Orleans Democrat:—The crowd was very quiet and were only aroused to enthusiasm when the captain chalked his nose preparatory to executing a difficult shot. Captain Robert played entirely with his nose, lying at full length on the table when he made his shots, and as he is rather short and stout it was quite an exhibition of physical strength and endurance if not of skill and science. The entertainment consisted of two games of 200 points each, and as "the man with the nose" had to jump on the table to make his play and then jump down again, he must, calculating the table to be three feet high, have jumped up and down about 2,400 feet, nearly half a mile, and it was not a very good night for jumping either. The nose-player beat both his opponents, and looked fresh and lively at the end of the contest, the only noticeable change in his appearance being a slight redness at the end of his cue.

APOLOGY.—Quite a number of our customers left the shop without being served on Saturday at the great sale of damaged boots and shoes. On account of such large sales, and being short of hands, we could not possibly avoid it. Just received 2,179 pairs more slightly damaged by water, and will be sold at half the regular prices. G. The Grand Central is now offering unusual inducements to business men, families and tourists. The prices for board have never been so low, and the table is still kept up to its first-class high standard.

Travelling is rather dangerous in some parts of Minnesota. A Mr. Miner was recently attacked by wolves while returning hime. The fierce beasts sprang at his horses, and when Mr. Miner struck at the nearest one with his whip it made a leap to get at him, but struck against the waggon-box. At this moment Mr. M.'s dog bravely attacked the wolf, and was at once set upon by the whole pack and killed, and almost entirely devoured. This gave Mr. Miner an opportunity to whip up his horses and make off, which he did at full gallop, calling out loudly for help. His cries attracted the attention of Mr. Joselin and family, who came to the rescue, and the wolves were driven off. But for the fortunate interference of the dog the result might have been much more serious. An attack of this kind by wolves is almost without precedent in this part of the State, and it must be that the animals were driven to it by ravenous hunger.

Opposition Tactics.

The opponents of the Reform party in the South Riding of Wellington are conscious of their weakness. A fair and a manly fight does not suit them. Extraordinary election tactics are being every day brought into requisition, and the would-be Tory leaders do not hesitate at overcoming all scruples on the score of honesty so long as their point is gained. Instead of an outspoken and straightforward course, they have adopted the line of action displayed by the treacherous bully of the prize ring, by striking below the belt, and stabbing their opponents under circumstances which render retaliation almost, if not quite, impossible. Afraid to meet the advocates of the present Government policy on the broad platform of free public discussion, they have dropped the series of public meetings and have resorted to tactics worthy the zeal of enthusiastic renegades. These worthies have been readily embraced by the Tories, and have been given petty offices for the purpose of satisfying a little inordinate vanity and love of prominence, and of soothing a conscience which can play traitor to life-long principles for the sake of a trifling and insincere popularity to be enjoyed amongst half-a-dozen of the wire-pullers of the Opposition in this Town. The Tories would not do the dirty work themselves. They have too much sensitiveness for that sort of thing, and they are too dignified in their own way, to appear before the public as political hacks. We regret to say that amongst our own party were to be found men who willingly accepted the task of handling the dregs of political action, and who set to work at once with that blind fervor and mistaken zeal so peculiarly characteristic of turncoats. Despised by their former friends for deserting their colors, and utilized by their newly found associates as pliable tools, willing and ready to perform any kind of duty assigned them, these individuals have adopted a plan of securing the return of the Tory candidate, which not a respectable Conservative in South Wellington would publicly attempt to carry out.

A petition is prepared and exhibited only to friends of the Protection stripe; this is hawked about from one shop to another, and from one farm house to another, by men who look ashamed of what they are doing. Like those who entered the domains Pluto and bade good bye to hope, so these men have shaken hands, apparently for the last time, with truth and candour. Not only are the Ministerialists maligned and slandered, but their acts are misrepresented, and untrue figures are taken from convenient and servile brains, where they had their origin as well as their falsification. And all this is done by whom and for what? By the men, who, a few weeks ago, were loudest in their condemnation of Sir John and his bogus protective, yet unprotective resolutions, and partly for the purpose of returning a man to represent the electors of this Riding, whose one solitary and unbending remark when previously before the public was, "I am fighting for a principle!" This was all he said, and we believe he was fortunate in not being able to say more. Yet this is not the sole object by any means. The Opposition is bound to succeed, if it can, and at the expense of everything and everybody but Sir John. Every vote which is cast during the coming contest, and every name that is secured on petitions, are looked upon by the Tories as so much strength to the Chieftain. This is the grand aim in view. And it matters not who is elected, nor on what cry, so long as he is opposed to the Mackenzie Government.

The whole thing narrows itself down to the question, "Will you vote for Sir John A. Macdonald or Alexander Mackenzie?" We would, therefore, warn our friends against the treachery and fraud of those who have, for so small a consideration, thrown their principles to the dogs, and whose selfish motives and puerile vanity are easily seen through the thin veil of an apostates' assumed candor.

MR. BLAKE'S Act for the Better Prevention of Crimes of Violence is proclaimed in force in the City of Montreal and the County of Hochelaga on and after June 1st. It is well received.

ARCHBISHOP TACHE of Manitoba has issued a pastoral cautioning the priests not to interfere in the forthcoming elections, and pointing out to the electors the importance of the privilege of the suffrage.

THE elections in British Columbia have resulted in a victory for the Opposition, who carry ten of the twelve seats on Vancouver Island. On the mainland, so far as heard from, one Government candidate and two Oppositionists were successful.

THE motion for awarding the graving-dock contract by the Quebec Harbour Commission was seconded by R. R. Dobell, a strong Conservative and son-in-law of Senator Macpherson. This is the best rebuke to the libels of the Conservative papers upon the Commission, who said that it was awarding the contract by order of the Dominion Government to a firm which had provided the sinews of war for the last Provincial elections.

LOOK at this picture drawn by the Rural New Yorker of the condition of affairs in the States:—"We hear reports from all over the country of mills lying idle, manufacturers working on half time, and thousands of people out of employment. The quantity of goods manufactured and sold is much less than it was ten years ago, and the people are asking with fear and trembling, 'What is to be the end; will better times ever come?'" Doubtless, a little more protection,—40 to 80 per cent cannot be enough—will hasten bankruptcy.

THE Conservatives of East Middlesex have again nominated Mr. D. McMillan as their candidate for the Commons.

THE Reformers of North Waterloo nominated their old members on Saturday, and they begin their canvass under the most cheering prospects of success.

FAILING the carrying of the $150,000 By-law to put up buildings for the Provincial Exhibition, the Toronto Council, at a special meeting on Saturday passed a resolution to submit to the ratepayers a by-law for $75,000, should it be lost, pledging to provide the amount out of the assessment of the year. In view of the passage of this resolution the necessary buildings will be proceeded with at once. The Mayor was authorized to give his guarantee to this effect, so that it is now all but certain the Exhibition will be held in Toronto.

THE Charlottetown, P.E.I. New Era, a Conservative journal, takes strong grounds against the Tory Taxationists' so-called "National Policy." If the U. E. Club managers hope to make any converts to protection in the Island they had better despatch Mr. Frazer on a missionary expedition instanter. He doubtless would find a hard time of it in persuading the people down by the sea that it is to their interest to increase the cost of living.

IN compliance with an order issued from the Tory U. E. Club at Toronto, the North Wentworth Taxationists have appealed to the County Judge to have the names of quite a number of deceased Reformers struck off the Voters' Lists. "Whenever a Grit voter is dead have his name struck off!" was the order, and they have complied with the mandate. What they hope to gain by such proceedings it is difficult to say. Such tactics are, however, not very complimentary to the friends of those who have departed this life. So says the Banner.

THE export trade of France for the past year showed a decline of $32,000,000 from that of the previous one, while the decrease in the imports was $40,500,000. Some Conservative papers recently quoted with delight, an extract, which only partly conveyed the sense of an article in the Saturday Review, stating that Bismarck, so sensible of the enormous prosperity of France, was led by her example to want a protective policy for Germany. Surely the home of protection ought to be more flourishing and exempt from the commercial depression, for which the wicked Mackenzie Government is responsible, according to the Conservatiee journals, but which thinkers of bigger counties than Canada put down to uncomfortable, but none the less inexorable, laws of political economy.

MR. ROBT. HAY, who is out as the Tory candidate for Centre Toronto, but who hasn't the ghost of a chance of election, is a fair specimen of the average protectionist. A member of a wealthy furniture manufacturing firm, he has managed under the existing tariff and the lower one of former times, and notwithstanding that his factory has been twice destroyed by fire, to amass a large fortune, yet because he doesn't make from 50 to 100 per cent. profit as formerly, he is hot-foot for protection. How it would benefit him though, is a problem, seeing that Canada makes nearly $4,000,000 worth of furniture annually, and imports only $276,000 worth—and this amount, small as it is, is reduced to $142,558, when our exports to the States, $133,825, are deducted. This doesn't look much like "slaughtering" Yankee furniture in Canada, of which we have heard so much. The Stratford Beacon says:—If rumour speaks correctly, the workingmen in Mr. Hay's factory need protection more than he does—protection from the greed which keeps their wages down to the lowest point, while requiring of them the full tale of work.

Primitive Methodist Conference.

This Conference was opened at London on Friday.

Rev. Henry Harris, of Guelph, was elected President. On coming forward he thanked the Conference for the honor conferred upon him, and asked them, as he was elected on the Queen's Birthday, to sing the National anthem, which was very heartily done.

Rev. M. H. Matthews was elected Secretary; and Mr. Walter Reid, Vice-President.

Commendatory resolutions were read from the district meetings extolling the course of the Connexional editor, Rev. Thomas Guttery. He was unanimously re-appointed.

Several of the stations were ordered to be written to with a view to their becoming self-sustaining. A second preacher was ordered to be sent to Minto station.

The report of the Central Board of Examiners was presented, showing the probationers had at each examination acquitted themselves most creditably and been each allowed his year. Twelve candidates for the ministry had been before the Committee, and were reported to the Conference as suitable for the itinerancy.

North Waterloo Reform Convention.

WATERLOO, May 25.—A large convention of the Reformers of North Waterloo met in the Town Hall here to-day to nominate candidates for the House of Commons and Legislative Assembly, and for the election of officers for the Reform Association for the riding. The officers elected for the current year were as follows:—President, Dr. Bowlby, Berlin; Vice-Presidents—Woolwich, J. S. Bowman; Wellesley, R. Y. Fish; Waterloo township, Levi Stauffer; Waterloo town, J. B. Hughes; Berlin, Conrad Stoebing; Secretary and Treasurer, Fred. Colquhoun, barrister, Waterloo. After a vote of thanks to the retiring President, Mr. Cyrus Bowers, and speeches by the several candidates proposed, Mr. Isaac E. Bowman, M.P., was unanimously nominated for the House of Commons, and Mr. Moses Springer, M.P.P., for the Legislative Assembly. M. James Young, M.P., and Mr. G. R. Pattullo subsequently addressed the Convention, which closed with hearty cheers for the Queen, the Reform Government, and the Reform candidates. Messrs. Bowman and Springer begin a serious of meetings in the Riding next week.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Peace Prospects Improving.

THE CONGRESS SHORTLY TO MEET.

LONDON, May 25.

The London Times expresses the opinion that there is legitimate ground for the favorable impression respecting the results of Schouvaloff's mission.

A Herald's St. Petersburg special states that the peace negotiations are regarded as in a fair way of a satisfactory conclusion. Gen. Ignatieff says the Treaty of San Stefano will tend itself to all manner of concessions.

The Paris Journal des Debats says:—Count Schouvaloff's mission has led to a most satisfactory result. Russia consents to lay the treaty before the Congress. All the Powers adhered to this proposal, and a Congress meets at Berlin on June the 11th.

The London Observer says:—"As far as we can learn, the foregoing, to say the least, is far in advance of the present position of the negotiation." The Observer believes that Schouvaloff is not authorized to propose forthwith any very comprehensive modification of the treaty. His proposals, however, contain a firm basis of settlement, the prospects of which, to say the least, are undiminished.

A Constantinople despatch says:—Mr. Layard has received a telegram from London, which he communicated to the Porte, said to be of a favorable character.

A Vienna correspondent says:—The difficulty about placing the whole treaty before a congress seems to have been surmounted by wording the invitation so as to contain a guarantee for the free discussion of the whole treaty. Germany will issue the invitation, and will thus give the guarantee instead of Russia. Pourparlers have been begun about the date of the the meeting, and June the 11th is proposed.

Austria and France have already adhered to the foregoing.

A Paris correspondent telegraphs:—A private telegram from London states that England has rejected the detailed concessions offered by Schouvaloff, who thereupon declared Russia's readiness to submit all questions raised by the treaty to the sanction of the Powers. It is known that on Saturday Germany was informed of a welcome solution, and requested immediately to issue invitations.

The Times says:—Whatever may be the case as to details, we have reason to believe that our Vienna correspondent's information is well founded. Invitations to the Congress will not be issued until the explanations between England and Russia are somewhat further determined, but there is no reason to apprehend a failure on such points. The preliminary requirements of England are at all events on the whole being acceded to.

An American gentleman, returned from an extensive tour in Russia, says 200,000 Russians are moving towards the Galician frontier of Austria. The garrisons throughout Poland are moving southward. Camps of troops and recruits were noticed at many points along the railway. Moscow and St. Petersburg are full of troops, and levies are constantly coming forward. The Commissary Department is purchasing heavily all kinds of supplies. There is great bitterness among the people against England. Business is active, but the foreign trade is unsettled by the decline in exchange.

An Impudent Lie.

Messrs. S. M. Pettengill & Co., of New York, have just issued a new edition of their Newspaper Directory for 1878. The list includes the newspapers published in Canada. As regards the circulation of papers the Publishers say:—"The circulations reported are, in all cases, those given by the publishers themselves. The circulations which appear in full-face figures have been sworn to, and the affidavits are on file in the office of the Directory. Turning to the papers published in Guelph we find the Herald's circulation given in full-face figures—being sworn to on affidavit as follows:—Daily 986; weekly 3,560.

Now, we pronounce the above statement an impudent, unblushing and premeditated lie, and yet the returns according to Pettingill & Co., are sworn to on affidavit.

We beg further to state that the Herald's bona fide circulation is far, far below those returns given to the Directory, and we know whereof we speak; but even such barefaced lying shall not tempt us to betray confidence and give particulars or state what we know when doing thankless favors for that office.

We challenge the Herald to make good its statement and affidavit or confess itself guilty of a gross deception. Even admitting for a moment that it was true, what a vast difference must there be between the circulations of the MERCURY and the Herald, as is proven by our own authentic post office returns. On the 11th April we published a return, which can be sworn to if necessary, that the postage paid by all the papers published in this County from the 1st of January, 1877, to 30th September, of the same year was $413.38. Of this sum the MERCURY paid for that period for postage $194.41, being within $24.56 of THE HALF OF THE ENTIRE POSTAGE PAID BY THE WHOLE OF THE NEWSPAPERS PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF WELLINGTON—and there are ten of these including the Herald—besides the MERCURY. The postage is fixed by the weight of the papers taken to the post office, so that there is no chance of deception or erroneous returns. And we have no hesitation in saying that since that time—September 30th, 1877—the postage paid by the MERCURY has proportionately advanced, which is a sure test of the growing increase of its circulation. The Herald has a peculiar weakness for blowing its own trumpet, but this last stretcher throws Dr. Tupper's efforts completely in the shade.

EXPLOSION OF "HERALD" GAS.

The Herald, with its characteristic low cunning, dodges the question about its circulation. We want to nail it to the one point, on which we challenged it, and on which we are ready to stake $100, that the returns it gives of its circulation to S. M. Pettengill & Co., for their Directory, on affidavit, are untrue, and a gross fabrication. When it has disposed of this challenge, then we will deal with its buncombe wager. We were first in the field with our challenge, and we want to nail this lie to the counter.

Harold the Outlaw

CHAPTER XLIII.

A DAY OF PREPARATION—NEW ARRIVALS—DEPARTURE FOR THE ISLAND.

Being distant not more than two miles, he could see it very plainly, and the aid of his telescope, brought it, as it were to his side. The trees, the rocks, the very clumps of bushes and patches of heather came minutely within the range of his vision. Yea, even the winding paths were discernable, which Lizzie had doubtless often trod. As he lay gazing thus through the tube, he was suddenly electrified at beholding two forms sauntering slowly by the edge of the water. A glance sufficed to show that one of them was Lizzie, and that she carried Alfred in her arms.

A loud cry escaped him—a cry of joy and grief, for even at that distance he could see how sorrowful and dejected she was. Hope, long deferred, had evidently made her heart sick, and the kindled hope had itself died out, till the shadow of despair had settled on her countenance. Of her companion Harold took little heed, every faculty of his soul being concentrated on his wife and child, whose motions he followed with a hungry gaze till the two went over a knoll and were lost to view.

Then he rushed away to where Kenneth and Dixon were still busy with the raft, and told them what he had seen. They accompanied him back to the spot in the hope that the forms would again come in view, for Dixon was anxious to know if Lizzie's companion was the wife of Conrad McPherson. They waited long and anxiously, Harold keeping the glass constantly at his eye, and directed to the spot where the girls had disappeared—a mistaken course to follow, since the height over which they had gone stretched along the island and concealed them until they emerged at quite another point. Thus, while the youth was steadfastly surveying the place where the last glimpse of them had been obtained, Kenneth chanced to gaze in a different direction, and thought he saw something in motion near to the edge of the water. This being announced, Harold turned the telescope towards the point indicated, and instantly a joyous cry again escaped him, for there, seated on a grassy slope, were Lizzie and her companion, while Alfred played among the flowers a few feet off.

Their faces being turned towards the wood where the three lay, the gazer had a view not only of their features, but of the expression which rested on them, and its sad pensiveness shot pain into his soul, for it told of the sorrow they had endured, and were presently suffering. Lonely and desolate save in their melancholy companionship they appeared to have given up all hope of deliverance.

"Lizzie, my darling Lizzie!" cried Harold, forgetting in his excitement that she could not hear his voice. Alas, her unresponsive and unaltered attitude soon reminded him of the distance which separated them. The faintest sound of that voice falling on her ear would have brought a radiant light to her eye and the joyous animation of hope and love into her countenance; but long, long ere the tones could travel to the shore of the island they were dissipated in the mountain air, and reached not the ear which they would have made beyond expression glad.

Fearing lest in his intense agitation Harold would repeat the cry in a voice so loud as to betray their presence to others than those whose attention he sought to arouse, Dixon laid a cautionary hand on his arm and warned him of the danger of so doing.

"Yes—yes—I know—I know," he replied, with a visible start. "But, oh, it is tantalising to see her so plainly and still keep her ignorant of my nearness to her—so near. It seems as if I had but to open my arms to clasp her to my heart. Oh, heaven, this is as trying as anything I have yet endured. Every nerve is throbbing with impatient agony."

"Bear it with fortitude, Mr. Logan. Having suffered so much and so long, call up your energy for the last endurance. You may well do so, seeing that the end of your trial is so near, and the prospect of joy immediate."

"Your are right, Dixon; this is weakness, or worse. By rashness now I may peril all."

He laid down the glass, trembling in every limb with the strong feelings which agitated him. Firm as adamant, he had set his face as a flint while the knowledge of Lizzie's fate was denied him; but now, when the prospect of reunion was immediate, his emotion was rendering him weak as a child. The words of Dixon showed him the necessity of summoning his manhood to sustain the joy as firmly as it had borne the grief.

Dixon took up the glass, and turned it towards the group on the island.

"Ah—'tis she," he said, almost immediately. "Tis she; but, good God, how changed! What ravages suffering has made upon her!"

"You can't wonder at that," remarked Kenneth.

"No, I can't wonder at it," returned Dixon, in a voice more unsteady than his usual. "I have often regretted my share in her ill treatment, but I never felt remorse till now. Upon my soul, Kenneth, I could not stand this sight if I did not know that I have it in my power to end her misery and bring joy to her heart. What a wretch I was to inflict such cruelty upon her. Our Highland devotion, Kenneth, is admirable in certain views of it; but how easy can it be made accursed. In your case it has been sublime; in mine diabolic."

"Hush! Here come a stranger," said Kenneth, with a startled look, and his alarm was instantly communicated to the others, when following the direction of his eyes, they saw a wild, shaggy Highlander approaching among the trees. That he had seen them was evident, for he was walking directly to where they lay. He was a big, burly fellow, dressed in the roughest garments; his towsy black hair and bushy beard encircled a towsy face and a pair of sharp, glittering eyes. His arms were bare, and brown leather leggins encased his lower limbs up to the thighs, while a plaid, so dirty that its check was undistinguishable, was wrapt round his broad brawny shoulders.

They awaited the approach of this unwelcome addition to their company in silent concern—a circumstance which the Highlander did not seem to notice, for he squatted himself down beside them with a show of cordiality and satisfaction, and the air of one tired with a long journey. He announced himself as Hamish McCraw, a Highland drover, bound for the Lowland markets to buy cattle. He had lost his way, had been wandering for hours upon the hills, and was now both tired and hungry.

Glad to find that the presence of the stranger had no worse meaning for them, they gave him food and directed him as to the route to take for Aberdeen, hoping that he would quickly leave them. But Hamish McCraw showed no disposition to adopt the latter course. After he had filled his belly he laid himself out at full length with an expression of great content, and intimated that as they were such kind people and as the day was drawing to a close he would remain with them till the following morning.

This proposition filled them with visible dismay. It had been sufficiently annoying to Harold to be prevented by the man's presence from continuing to gaze through the glass at the dear ones seated on the island, but to have him beside them for the night was intolerable. Nay—worse, for how could they float themselves off in the raft if he were by, a witness to their proceedings?"

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.—The numbers of The Living Age for the weeks ending May 18th and 25th respectively, have the following noteworthy contents:—Lecky's "History of England in the Eighteenth Century; From the Quirinal to the Vatican; Macleod of Dare, by William Black, parts VIII. and IX., from advance sheets; Popular Buddhism according to the Chinese Canon; The Poetry of Doubt—Arnold and Clough; Second Sight, a story by Rudolph Lindau, translated for the Living Age; Thomas Arnold, D.D., by Canon Farrar; The Comet, a story by Marie Orm; The China-Clay Industry of Cornwall and Devon, by J. H. Collins, F.G.S., Secretary of the Royal Institution of Cornwall; The Apollo Belvedere; Flowers of Anglo-Indian Literature; The Luxury of Reading Old Novels; Courtesy at Home; The Chinese Reconquest of Eastern Turkestan; and the usual select poetry and miscellany. For fifty-two numbers, of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,000 pages a year), the subscription price ($8) is low; or for $10.50 any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies is sent with the Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Gay, Boston, are the publishers.

THE WHEAT.—Many farmers are complaining that their wheat has changed greatly in appearance since the severe frosts of last week. Many fields have assumed a bluish black appearance which is anything but satisfactory; and those who have examined the plant carefully say that the stem appears to be filled with water. These unpleasant appearances may of course pass away, and it is to be hoped they will; but at present it would appear as if the injury inflicted on this crop by the frost was far more severe than was at first anticipated. So says the Galt Reporter.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. SLEEPWALKING.—As two young gentlemen of Brantford were recently enjoying a midnight saunter on Queen-street, they were startled by encountering a ghostly form. It was that of a young lady, attired in the costume in which young ladies usually slumber. They at once saw by her uncertain movements that she was asleep, and once touched her so as to awaken her. She at once realized her position, and asked them to accompany her part of the way home. This was done, and she soon intimated that she could proceed the rest of the way alone.

Bond & Co. tell us that they have just received a large lot of the celebrated rubber paint ready mixed, all colors, instruction books given free of charge to any one requiring them.

NO HARD TIMES THERE.—One hears very little now-a-days but the cry hard times. Judging from the constant rush in business at the Lion, Messrs. J.D. Williamson & Co. never feel them. Their ruling principle is, make goods cheaper than any other store, and there is no trouble about selling them.

A CARD.

THE CONFERENCE.

THE NAMES OF THE COMMISSIONERS.

BERLIN, May 28.

Bismarck has signed the invitations to the Powers to attend Congress. Probably they will convene about the 11th June.

The following are the representatives nominated:—Russia, Schouvoloff; England, Lyons; Austria, Andrassy and Haymerle; France, Waddington; Greece, if admitted, Sir Peter Armeni.

BASE BALL.—The following games were played on Saturday:—Chicagos 8, Cincinnatis 10; Yale 11, Harvard 5; Uticas 9, Live Oaks 4; Stars 4, Pittsfield 2; Milwaukees 10, Indianapolis 7; Nations 11, New Haven 6; Buffalos 2, Alleghenys 1; Bostons 17, Providence 10; Lowells 4, Manchesters 1; Crickets 9, Hornells 0. On Monday the Tecumsehs defeated the Alleghenys by 10 to 0. The Tecumsehs played without an error while ten were marked against their opponents. On the same day the Uticas scored 11, Live Oaks 2; Buffalos 4, Hornells 0; Crickets 9, Rochesters 5; New Bedfords 2, Washington Nationals 0; Stars 3, Springfields 1.

An Impudent Lie.

Messrs. S. M. Pettengill & Co., of New York, have just issued a new edition of their Newspaper Directory for 1878. The list includes the newspapers published in Canada. As regards the circulation of papers the Publishers say:—"The circulations reported are, in all cases, those given by the publishers themselves. The circulations which appear in full-face figures have been sworn to, and the affidavits are on file in the office of the Directory. Turning to the papers published in Guelph we find the Herald's circulation given in full-face figures—being sworn to on affidavit as follows:—Daily 986; weekly 3,560.

Now, we pronounce the above statement an impudent, unblushing and premeditated lie, and yet the returns according to Pettingill & Co,, are sworn to on affidavit.

We beg further to state that the Herald's bona fide circulation is far, far below those returns given to the Directory, and we know whereof we speak; but even such barefaced lying shall not tempt us to betray confidence and give particulars or state what we know when doing thankless favors for that office.

We challenge the Herald to make good its statement and affidavit or confess itself guilty of a gross deception. Even admitting for a moment that it was true, what a vast difference must there be between the circulations of the MERCURY and the Herald, as is proven by our own authentic post office returns. On the 11th April we published a return, which can be sworn to if necessary, that the postage paid by all the papers published in this County from the 1st of January, 1877, to 30th September, of the same year was $413.38. Of this sum the MERCURY paid for that period for postage $194.41, being within $24.56 of THE HALF OF THE ENTIRE POSTAGE PAID BY THE WHOLE OF THE NEWSPAPERS PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF WELLINGTON—and there are ten of these including the Herald—besides the MERCURY. The postage is fixed by the weight of the papers taken to the post office, so that there is no chance of deception or erroneous returns. And we have no hesitation in saying that since that time—September 30th, 1877—the postage paid by the MERCURY has proportionately advanced, which is a sure test of the growing increase of its circulation. The Herald has a peculiar weakness for blowing its own trumpet, but this last stretcher throws Dr. Tupper's efforts completely in the shade.

EXPLOSION OF "HERALD" GAS.

The Herald, with its characteristic low cunning, dodges the question about its circulation. We want to nail it to the one point, on which we challenged it, and on which we are ready to stake $100, that the returns it gives of its circulation to S. M. Pettengill & Co., for their Directory, on affidavit, are untrue, and a gross fabrication. When it has disposed of this challenge, then we will deal with its buncombe wager. We were first in the field with our challenge, and we want to nail this lie to the counter.

THE LEADING HARDWARE STORE.—A splendid lot of spades and shovels, manure forks, plow lines and chains; fresh ground paints, all colors, paints, oils, and varnishes, guaranteed quality, at John Horsman's, corner Wyndham and Quebec streets.

AN AUTHORITY ON BLACK EYE.—Harry Hill, the famous "Sport," is said to know more about black eyes than the brightest brunette in America. He has given and taken thousands in his time, and he says that the only thing which will remove them within twelve hours is GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE AMMONIA.

Sold by all druggists. Send for pamphlet.

DR. GILES,
451 Sixth Avenue, N. Y.

Trial size 25 cents.

APOLOGY.—Quite a number of our customers left the shop without being served on Saturday at the great sale of damaged boots and shoes. On account of such large sales, and being short of hands, we could not possibly avoid it. Just received 2,179 pairs more slightly damaged by water, and will be sold at half the regular prices. G. GOULDING, Guelph Auction Mart, Market Square. 2d.

The Grand Central is now offering unusual inducements to business men, families and tourists. The prices for board have never been so low, and the table is still kept up to its first-class high standard.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., endorsed by eminent and distinguished visitors as a model establishment, will be an exception hereafter to the general complaint of high prices.

Dr. Butt has reluctantly agreed to resume the leadership of the Irish Home Rulers, without, however, holding himself responsible for the action of the party in his absence.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—The building of the two transepts to St. Andrew's Church will be begun at once, the contracts having been let to the following parties; D. Kennedy, masonry; Geo. & Alex. Bruce, carpenter work; John Crowe, iron work; W. H. Mills, tinsmithing; Humphries & Reynolds, painting. The total amount of the contracts is $4,000. The whole work is to be completed by the first of November. It is thought that excepting a month or six weeks service can be held in the church while undergoing alterations.
