SPORTING.—There appears to be an abundance of game this winter throughout the county. This morning two young returned from a hunting expedition with a number of skins of animals which they had trapped and shot in this vicinity.

CHANCERY SITTINGS.—The following dates have been set down for the hearing of causes before the Hon. Vice-Chancellor Proudfoot:—St. Catharines, April 2; Hamilton, 5th; Brantford, 16th; Simcoe, 23rd; Guelph, 26th.

POLICE COURT.—Jas. McIntyre, a vagrant, was charged with being such, at the Police Court this morning, and the Police Magistrate sent him to gaol for one month. James Rae, a young man who has lately finished his contract at the Central Prison, returned to Guelph a few days ago. He got drunk, and for that offence against the law was fined $1 and costs. Mr. Gallagher is a curious composition of howls, oaths, and a good deal of fight when drunk. His habitation is on Waterloo street, and last evening he was on a terrible rampage. A policeman tried to soothe his shattered nerves by leading him towards the police station. William divined his purpose, and immediately proceeded to give an exhibition of ground and lofty tumbling that startled every person living in the neighborhood. The guardian of the law called for assistance, and with the aid of three able-bodied men, conveyed him safely to the cells; not, however, before William had relieved himself of nearly all his clothes in his endeavors to escape. The Magistrate did not altogether approve of the actions of the prisoner, and fined him $1 and costs. Owen Macdonald was fined $1 and costs for allowing horses to run at large on the street. Alfred Clinton is a young man who thought he had a legitimate right to appropriate some of Mr. S. Myers' Havana tobacco. He tried it on, and Mr. Myers was clever enough to catch him at it. Arrest followed, and when he stood before the P.M. this morning he was sorry. He wished to be tried summarily, and as Tuesday is the day set down for the trial of criminal cases at the Police Court, he was not kept long in suspense as to what his sentence might be. He pleaded guilty, and received a sentence of three months in the Central Prison.

TORONTO CURLERS have never been considered very good at keeping a promise, after fixing a date for a game with Guelph. It appears they have not changed their front in this respect even yet. A game was arranged by the Toronto club to be played on the Guelph rink this afternoon, with three rinks. Preparations were made to receive them, and after everything had been arranged word was sent from Toronto by telegraph that in consequence of London being unable to play Toronto on Wednesday, Toronto could not come to Guelph on Tuesday. The curlers here think it rather unfair that the game should be thrown over simply because London was unable to fulfil their engagement.

MUSICAL AND LITERARY SOCIAL.—The socials of the Baptist Church have always been sessions of pleasure and profit. We understand that special pains are being taken to make the one that takes place on Thursday evening, 14th inst., better even than its predecessors. A real good time may be expected. Free to all.

FUNERAL SERVICES will be held in St. Bartholomew's Church to-morrow, at ten o'clock, when a high mass of requiem will be sung and sermon delivered on the life and labors of Pius IX. The Roman Catholic business men in town have decided to close their respective stores and shops, and have crape tied on the doors during the service.

THE STIRTON MEDAL.—On Monday afternoon the annual competition of the Guelph Curling Club at a point game for the Stirton medal was played on the rink. There were twenty-two competitors, and the play, in many instances, was remarkably good; the ice being in excellent condition to bring about such a result. At the conclusion of the game it was found that Messrs. Bobt. Emelie and Thos. Dobbie were ties, each having scored 11 points. It was then necessary for those two to play off. Mr. Dobbie scoring 2, he was entitled to the medal for 1878. Mr. Robert Mitchell held the medal last year.

NEW DAILY.—Mr. P. W. Moyer has started a daily paper in Berlin, the first number of which reached us yesterday. It is a small sheet, but neatly got up and well printed. About a third of the reading matter is in the German language. The Daily News is to go strong for "Protection to Home Industries and Productions," but it says nothing about its politics. Members of Parliament who do not feel on the question of protection as does the editor of the Daily News may look out for squalls, for he indignantly says:—"The advocacy of this principle will be unequivocal and certain, and in taking this stand, the coming elections will find us supporting only such candidates as can clearly define themselves in favor of breaking down the terrible commercial bondage which is now afflicting our country, and securing a National Policy which will recover Canada to our own people." We question if Berlin can support a daily paper, but Mr. Moyer deserves success for his pluck and enterprise.

PIGEON SHOOTING.—On Monday a team of six Brampton sportsmen came to Guelph to shoot the return match with an equal number of "dead shots" in Guelph. The shooting took place on the flats near the Silver Creek brewery, and a large crowd of spectators were present to watch the proceedings. The birds were all pretty lively, but the shooters were bothered occasionally by having one or two fly off like a dart as soon as released while it was perhaps difficult to get one or two birds following to make off at all. The total result was in favor of Brampton by a score of 28 to 23. In the evening the visitors were entertained at a dinner at Feek's Queen's Hotel, which was got up in excellent style and reflected credit on the house. The score is subjoined:

Report of the Agricultural College.

In speaking of the first sale of thoroughbred stock at the College last fall Mr. Brown says:—

Previous to October, 1876, we disposed of a number of young Berkshire pigs, at figures ranging from $15 to $30 each, but with this exception, no thorough bred stock has been sold privately. There are reasons for this: The question of the disposal of surplus live stock at this Institution is one that affects the Province. We cannot take the position of an ordinary farmer and say that we can sell to whom we choose, or act upon the motto—first come first served. As a Provincial establishment, the aim should be to distribute our overflowings without risk of even the suspicion to partiality by private bargains. Public sales alone will avoid this. But even a public sale may stand in the way of attaining the object desired,—that is, the distribution of animals of kinds better than what exist in many parts of the country; for it is plain, that speculators, not only in Canada but the United States, will out-bid the most of farmers—for superior lots at least. It may then be said we ought to condition that all classes should be retained within the Dominion for a certain period, and therefore are free to any market. Granting the suggestion, how are we to follow up the individual life and history of each animal throughout this immense country? It is simply impossible, and I am not even prepared to recommend what others may—that the sales be confined to farmers of the Dominion.

Altogether, the sale was 22 per cent. under our own valuation, and thus you will be pleased that one of the objects aimed at by the Government in establishing this farm is being realized,—the distribution of good thoroughbred, and not highly fed animals among the general farmers at prices not over market value. But 22 per cent. is not the opinion of everyone. During the time of advertising, when many breeders called to and from the Provincial Exhibition, as well as on direct visit, we were offered $300 for five shearling lambs of Cotswolds and Leicesters; $60 for a South Down shearling ram that brought only $20; $25 each for some five Berkshire boars, and $25 each for several of the dog pups, so that had we risked our reputation by selling privately what was publicly advertised, some $600 more would have been the result. Need I add then, that it is matter of serious import not only to the Government but to my own status as manager of what may have to fight its way as a self-sustaining farm, whether the power of private sales should not also be allowed in cases of special large profits at any time of the year.

Grant me this medium of saying to farmers that next year's sale will not only be more extensive, in greater variety of breeds of both sexes, but in all probability of higher individual excellence.

It is suggestive of more than one thing that animals purchased at this sale have since taken the following prizes:—

1st. For yearling Short Horn bull at Puslinch.

1st. For yearling Short Horn bull at West Wellington.

1st. For Leicester ram at West Wellington.

1st. For Leicester shearling ram at Walkerton.

1st. For South Down shearling ram at Elora.

2nd. For South Down shearling ram at Elora.

1st. For South Down ram lamb at Elora.

2nd. For Berkshire boar at Walkerton.

As regards the garden the improvements are about completed. The grading and gravelling of roads and walks have been largely overtaken, with trenching, levelling, and the removal of old fruit trees; the lawn, by special attention to repeated cuttings, is now an established bed of good grasses. An artistic flower plot, lined with cedar hedging, flanks the green house on the south, and was a show of itself last season. The north part of the pleasure grounds has been finished with shubbery and a spruce hedge of 300 trees; the new green house is near completion, and banking, levelling, and sod-laying is in progress in front of the new College buildings.

The students' interest in the Mechanical Department continues unabated, and the value of their labor is put down as close on $600.

In referring to the roots grown on the farm, Mr. Brown gives a valuable table of the average weight per bulb, the weight per cubic foot, the depth in soil, the taste and the weight per acre—full crop—of the different varieties; and he follows this up with the results of his experiments:—"Every product of the field is more or less valuable, nutritively, according to conditions of soil, climate, and cultivation, so with turnips and mangolds a clayey soil gives better in this respect than one of a lighter character, but a stiff soil means more labor, more difficulty in securing plants, and good cultivation. Both roots take much moisture, the mangolds more heat than the turnips, and a greater depth of available soil. It is well then for the farmer to choose that which suits his land best, having previously done everything in his power by drainage (if required), deep, cultivation, and liberal manuring. If his land be heavy, the surface-growing root must be cheaper, if as productive, and the deep-growing one is more productive on loam, if as valuable for food. The mangold needs more manure, moisture, and is less liable to insect attacks than the Swede turnips. Turnips are much easier harvested, and easier preserved than the mangold, but mangolds are about one-fourth more valuable as food."

If cubic weight gives value, we have Drummond's Improved; The Royal Norfolk; Carter's Imperial Hardy; Marshall's Purple Top; East Lothian; Hall's Westburgh; the White Swede; and Watson's Purple top taking first rank in the order named for feeding purposes. That they are so in reality the chemist, or, what is better, actual experiments in feeding, alone can tell; and while keeping in view the important fact that these same plants may entirely change places if grown on the clays of Chatham, or the light loams of Nova Scotia, I shall hold there is the relationship indicated—subject, of course, to more clear evidence. But may I again hint that the same table shows other figures agreeing largely with what is advanced, namely, that most of the sweet-tasting roots are included in the above list, the other one so marked being second on the second class. May we then say that much acidity and the highest feeding properties do not go together?

Upon the basis of mangolds being one fourth more valuable than Swede turnips, and 150 lbs. of the latter giving 1 lb. of flesh, any one can construct for himself a beef or mutton column by which will be impressed the serious national responsibility every farmer should live up to in the matter alone of simple root culture.

Very large roots are more spongy, watery, and of less value, weight for weight, than small ones; very small roots are more acrid and more woody than very large ones; therefore grow the medium size, paying more attention to form and sweetness than large size. Condemn at home and at Exhibitions the increasing practice of lauding and prize giving to unsouth, rubbishly, overfed sponges, called turnips and mangolds, and buy no seed without a guarantee.

Then follows a table giving full particulars about the different varieties of wheat, oats, &c., which we cannot find room for here, but which will be of interest to the farmer.

A Valuable Gift to Montreal Presbyterian College.

The Montreal Witness of the 9th says:—The Presbyterian College, Montreal, has just received from Alexander II., Emperor of Russia, a fac-simile copy of the Codex Sinaiticus. During his visit to Britain last summer Principal MacVicar chanced to mention to the Rev. A. B. Mackay, Brighton, England, his wish to secure a copy. Subsequently Mr. Mackay made known this wish to Count Schouvaloff, the Russian ambassador, who, along with his family, attended his church, and at the instance of His Excellency, the Emperor was pleased to make this invaluable gift, and at the same time presented a copy of the Codex to Mr. Mackay himself. The Codex Sinaiticus, of which this a perfect fac-simile, consists of 345½ leaves of a very fine and beautiful vellum, probably fabricated from the skins of antelopes or asses, each leaf being 13½ by 14½ inches. In the poetic books the writing on each page is distributed in two columns, and in the rest in four columns containing 48 lines of from 12 to 14 letters each, the characters being uncial or capitals without spaces between the words, or breathings, or accents, or the iota ascript or postscript, and with a few marks of punctuation. The manuscript contains the entire New Testament and nearly the whole of the Old Testament, together with the epistle of Barnabas and Hermas' Shepherd. It was discovered by the learned and indefatigable Dr. Tischendorf in the convent of St. Catharines on Mount Sinai in 1844. He was then permitted to copy only a few pages of it. Having informed the monks that it belonged to the 4th century, and was of great value, it was at once withdrawn from him. In 1853 he visited the convent a second time, but could get no tidings of the M.S. In 1859 he returned the third time, under the protection of Alexander II., the patron of the Greek Church, and now he gained access to the coveted treasure, and had it transferred to Cairo for transcription. He finally persuaded the monks to present this ancient monument of piety and learning to the Emperor of Russia. Accordingly he submitted it early in November at St. Petersburg, and the Emperor liberally undertook to defray the cost of a splendid fac-simile edition of 300 copies, which appeared in 1862 as a memorial of the thousandth anniversary of his kingdom. Two hundred copies seem to have been absorbed immediately as presents from the Emperor to various public bodies, (chiefly in his own Dominions), and to a few learned men. The Presbyterian College now rejoices in the possession of this treasure, which no money could purchase. A detailed account of its character and value would not be of interest to general readers, but it may be said, in one word, that it stands in the front rank of the great manuscripts of antiquity by which the original text of our Bible is determined.

[We congratulate the Presbyterian College upon its good fortune. It is not long since it received the entire library, a very valuable one, of the late Rev. Archd. Henderson, M.A., St. Andrews, Que. And about two years ago its shelves were greatly enriched by the gift of Peter Redpath, Esq. Montreal, consisting of Abba Migne's Patrologia in 384 vols., full bound, and embracing a complete collection of the works of the Fathers and Ecclesiastical writers from the first to the fifteenth century. The treasures of this library are now quite unique so far as Canada is concerned, or perhaps even the United States.—ED. MERCURY.]

Board of Education.

The Board met on Monday night. Present—Judge Macdonald, chairman. Messrs. Inglis, Robertson, Wilkie, Bell, Mackenzie, Leonard, Peterson, and Innes.

The Secretary presented reports from the Mail office, from Messrs. Burr & Skinner, from Wm. Sunley, W. H. Mills, and Mr. T. Chapman, which were referred to the Finance Committee.

The Secretary read the report of attendance at the High School for the month of January. The attendance was 74 boys, 42 girls, general average 108.

The Secretary also read the report of the Inspector of the attendance at the Public Schools for January. Total, 1,227,—647 boys, 580 girls, giving an increase of 181 over the corresponding month of last year, and giving a roll average of 61, average to each teacher of 51, and a general daily average of 57.

Moved by Mr. Wilkie, seconded by Mr. Inglis, that the following be a committee to consider the whole matter of the Grammar School and grounds, and report at next meeting of the Board whether they would recommend an entire new building, or remodel the present one, and the probable cost of the same; and whether the whole or what amount should be expended this year; also as to the propriety of selling part of the grounds, and the amount likely to be acquired from the same:—viz., Messrs. Peterson, Murton, Robertson, Knowles, Innes, and the mover. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Peterson, seconded by Mr. Innes, that the duties of the Committee on School Sites and Buildings shall have special regard to the care, maintenance and repair of the different School Buildings, and the grounds and sites connected therewith, and the efficient ventilation and heating of the Central and High School, and that the School Property Committee hereafter be relieved from the duty of repair, improvement and additions to school property, and that instructions Nos. 2 and 3 of section 27 of the Rules shall apply to the Committee on School Sites, &c. Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

The Toronto delegation in the matter of the acquisition by the city of the Garrison Common for the purposes of an exhibition ground were received on Monday by the Minister of Militia, who promised to give the matter his consideration.

THE WAR NEWS.

The Russians to Enter Constantinople.

The British Fleet Delayed.

Great Activity in the British Dockyards.

Feb. 11.

A Berlin despatch says Russia has declared her resolve to re-annex Bessarabia, despite Roumania's protest.

The Sultan has invited the Grand Duke Nicholas to spend a few days in Constantinople.

Safvet and Sadky Pashas will go to Adrianople on Tuesday to negotiate a treaty of peace with Generals Ignatieff and Nieldoff, formerly Ambassador and First Secretary of the Russian Embassy at Constantinople respectively.

It is rumoured that a telegram has been received from St. Petersburg stating that the Russians will enter Constantinople in a peaceable way.

A St. Petersburg despatch says:—It is officially announced that Prince Gortschakoff on Sunday telegraphed to the Powers stating that the intelligence that Great Britain and other Powers had determined to send ships to Constantinople for the protection of their subjects obliged Russia to consider the proper means for protecting the Christians whose lives and property might be threatened. For this purpose the Russian Government had been obliged to contemplate the entry of a portion of its troops into Constantinople. It is officially announced that orders have been sent to the Grand Duke Nicholas in accordance with the determination expressed above. The Russian newspapers generally doubt whether the protection of British subjects is the sole reason for sending a fleet to the Bosphorus. The Agence Russe declares that the facts do not justify the reasons alleged for sending a fleet, as, according to despatches from the Prince of Reuss, dated Feb 8 b, the safety of the Christians was in no way threatened. All reports of the Russians abusing the armistice are absolutely false.

A St. Petersburg correspondent telegraphs:—I can state positively that orders have been sent to the Russian troops to enter Constantinople. Count Schouvaloff has been ordered to explain to Lord Derby that as the great Powers have determined to send their fleets to Constantinople Russia is obliged to adopt similar measures, but Russia has no intention of aggravating the situation.

Another Vienna correspondent telegraphs:—The Russian note relating to the Conference has not been presented. This delay is only explicable on the supposition that it is occasioned by the determination of the British Government to send a fleet to Constantinople.

The report that Austria has asked for a firman admitting her fleet to the Dardanelles is confirmed.

A Berlin correspondent says:—The Emperor William received the Presidents of the Reichstag on Sunday, and it is reported that he said:—"The situation is indeed serious, but I nevertheless still hope that the maintenance of peace is possible,"

In the British House of Commons this afternoon Sir Stafford Northcote, in answer to an interrogatory, announced that the passage of the British fleet through the Straits of the Dardanelles had been delayed; but the intention of the Government regarding the fleet proceeding to Constantinople remained unaltered.

In the House of Lords this afternoon Lord Derby said the difficulty regarding the entry of the fleet would, he believed, soon be overcome, and that three other Powers had asked for a firman permitting their vessels to enter Turkish waters.

In the House of Lords this evening Lord Derby expressed his entire confidence that the permission of the Porte for the British fleet to go up the Dardanelles would soon arrive. The three other foreign Powers had, he said, applied to the Turkish Government for a firman to ascend the Straits.

This afternoon's Pall Mall Gazette says it was known in all the embassies in London this morning that the Porte had refused to allow the British fleet to approach Constantinople. A Cabinet Council was hastily summoned, and the Central News says negotiations are still proceeding for obtaining a firman. The whole British fleet remains in Besika Bay pending the result.

In consequence of an urgent order received at Chatham dock yard from the Admiralty to day the whole force, numbering 4,000 men, will begin working extra hours to complete vessels in hand.

A Constantinople despatch dated Sunday evening says:—There is no news of the British fleet yet.

The Times says a portion of the British fleet will proceed to Constantinople. That is unavoidable after what has occurred.

A Vienna correspondent says:—It is expected hourly that as a compromise the Porte will admit two men-of-war of each Power. The Ambassadors at Pera advised this course.

The orders which have been sent to Chatham for all dockyard hands to work overtime, have caused some excitement. Such an order has not been known since the Crimean war. More hands were engaged yesterday for all the departments of the Woolwich Arsenal and Portsmouth and Devonport Dock yards. A regiment which was under orders to leave Plymouth for Aldershot has been directed to remain at Plymouth, and hold itself ready for other movements.

The Provincial Police were on duty on Monday night at the Quebec Parliament House, idle rumors of an attack upon the building having got abroad.

The Governor-General and party arrived in Montreal by special train on Monday evening. An address of welcome was read by the Mayor at the station, and the visitors were escorted to the quarters provided for them at the Windsor Hotel.

A change is announced as impending in President Hayes' Southern policy.

TUESDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 12, 1878.

The Guelph Burying Ground.

We have before us the bill for converting the old burying ground in our town into a park, which was read a second time in the House on Monday night. The provisions in the bill are :

1st. It shall be lawful for the corporation of the Town of Guelph after the removal of the bodies interred in that parcel of land known as the "Burying ground," situate within the limits of Wyndam, Quebec, Yarmouth and Woolwich streets, in the said Town of Guelph, to have and to hold the said parcel of land, and after the passing of this act, the said parcel shall become and be vested in the said town, and shall be used and enjoyed by the inhabitants thereof as a public park and pleasure ground, and the council of the said corporation is hereby authorized to pass by-laws from time to time for the care and regulation of the same.

2nd. The said corporation is hereby authorized forthwith, after giving notice as herein after mentioned, to remove from the said burying ground the remains of the dead therein interred to the Union Cemetery or St. George's Cemetery, at the sole cost of such corporation, and to re-inter such remains decently and in order, and to erect any monument or headstone erected in said burying ground at the time of such removal and so far as reasonably may be with a due regard to the wishes or desires of the relatives or friends of the deceased, as to the manner of such removal and re-interment.

3rd. The said incorporation shall before removing the remains of the dead as aforesaid, during the period of one month publish a notice once in each week, in each of the newspapers published in the said town, stating their intention to remove the said remains after a day to be named in the notice, which day shall not be less than six weeks after the first publication of such notice, and no further or other notice to the friends or relatives of the deceased shall be necessary.

Galt and Guelph Railway Company.

The Bill now before the Ontario Legislature provides that in consideration of the payment of $12,000 the Galt and Guelph Railway Company give up all right and title to the road, and hand it over to the Great Western Railway Company, which has been working the road for years. The terms of the Bill are as follows:—The Directors of the Galt and Guelph Railway Company are empowered upon payment of the sum of twelve thousand dollars to carry out the said settlement; and for that purpose to execute or cause to be executed under the corporate seal of the Galt and Guelph Railway Company a valid release of the equity of redemption of the Galt and Guelph Railway Company in the Galt and Guelph Railway, and all the property and works thereof now in possession of the Great Western Railway Company, and a valid and absolute transfer of all the right, title and interest of the Galt and Guelph Railway Company in the said railway property and works, and of all the franchises, rights and powers possessed by the Galt and Guelph Railway Company in respect of the said railway and the working and management thereof, and such further releases and instruments as shall discharge all claims by the one company against the other, and shall confer upon the Great Western Railway Company a full and complete title to the Galt and Guelph Railway property and works.

2 The said sum shall be paid and applied as follows:—The sum of four thousand dollars to C. E. Anderson and Alexander McDonnel, in full satisfaction of the bonds of the Galt and Guelph Railway Company held by them and of all claims in respect of such bonds and moneys due, or to accrue due thereunder, and any costs of proceedings thereon; and the sum of eight thousand dollars, balance of the said sum of twelve thousand dollars, shall be paid to the Honourable Isaac Buchanan, Charles Davidson and Donald Guthrie to be applied according to the resolution passed by the Directors of the Galt and Guelph Railway Company at the meeting held by them on the twenty-eighth day of November, one thousand eight hundred and seventy-seven.

THE College of Cardinals is now in session for the election of a Pope. This College consists at the present time of sixty-three Cardinals, viz.: six of the order of bishops; forty-eight of the order of priests, and nine of the order of deacons. It is generally believed that Cardinal Bilio has already been fixed upon as the successor of the dead Pope.

A case of some interest was tried in the Hamilton Police Court, a few days ago. As the driver of the stage between Hamilton and Strabane was nearing the city, he overtook the waggon of a teamster, and turned his team to the right with the intention of passing. The teamster, to prevent his passing, also turned to the right, and crowded the stage off the road, upsetting it over an embankment, seriously injuring a horse and breaking the vehicle. The stage driver had the teamster cited before the magistrate, for the purpose of making him pay costs. The teamster admitted the offence, but urged that the stage driver was attempting to pass on the wrong side. The judge decided that the teamster was right, and dismissed the case. The statute distinctly provides that a team in passing another on the road, must pass on the left side. It would be well for parties driving with vehicles to bear this important fact in mind.

Mr. Watson, of the Ayr Agricultural Works, shipped to foreign markets four large loads of implements last week. Does this look as if we want protection?

Eighty three farmers of Russell County brought into Ottawa as many loads of wood for distribution among the poor of the city. The donation was brought about by Rev. Father Gillaume. The generous farmers were entertained to lunch at a restaurant by Mayor Bangs, and ex-Warden Morgan took a large number of them to the opera in the evening.

Evidence was given on Monday at the Metropolis investigation to the effect that the vessel was over-laden, and that portions of her timbers were rotten. Only four of the sixty-four bodies from the wreck have been identified.

After the funeral service of the late King of Italy at Rome, on Saturday, an Orsini bomb was thrown into the crowd by a person supposed to be insane, who was only saved by the police with the greatest difficulty from being lynched.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 11.

After routine business Mr. Barthe brought up his usual Bill for the repeal of the Insolvency Law.

Dr. Tupper asked the Premier if the report that Mr. Laurier had declared, during the election in Drummond and Arthabaska, that it was the intention of the Government to repeal the Insolvency Law, was correct.

Mr. Laurier denied having made such a statement, as he was not at the time in a position to indicate the future policy of the Government.

Mr. De St. Georges moved the Address in reply to the Speech from the Throne. He spoke in French for about half an hour, and received the closest attention of the House.

Mr. Charlton seconded the Address, and and made an excellent speech. His allusions to Lord and Lady Dufferin and the regret felt by the people of Canada at their expected departure from the country, were warmly acknowledged by the House. His references to the cause of the commercial depression, and the exact history which he gave of it, placed this much vexed question very clearly before the House. He complimented the Government on their economy and financial management, which had met the enormous obligations imposed by their predecessors without increasing the burthens of the people.

Mr. John Macdonald replied. He expressed his entire sympathy with the allusion made to the Governor General and Lady Dufferin. He objected to the clause relating to Sitting Bull as conveying the idea of settling United States Indians in our territory.

Mr. Mackenzie said it was intended to mean their peaceful settlement in their own country, and a slight verbal alteration making the point clearer was made in the Address.

Sir John went on to refer to other points, among them the visit of the Minister of the Interior to Washington, contending that the United States Government should have sent to Ottawa to make some explanation of the invasion of our territory by these Indians. He said it was an error of policy on the part of this Government that would require explanation. As to the route of the Pacific Railway, he insisted that all information should be given. He did not believe the hard times were passing away. As to the proposed measure relating to the independence of of Parliament, he believed the first thing in such an Act should be to restrain the influence of the Crown. His strong point was that the Government had insulted Parliament by granting an amnesty to O'Donoghue after the House declared he should not be amnestied. He was glad the Government proposed to legislate on the temperance question, and hoped it would be of a stringent nature. He concluded a very mild speech for him by declaring that he would not move any amendment to the Address.

Other speakers followed, when the debate was adjourned.

The Premier said the report on the Sydney Exhibition would be brought down shortly. The Canadian Commissioner to the Paris Exposition was selected on account of special qualifications, and was a gentleman well known as able to perform the duties required of him. Concerning the American Indians, it must be remembered that they were fugitives, and were allowed to enter Canada the same as the fugitive negro in former times. British hospitality was always extended to such persons, and Canada would not depart from that policy. These Indians were told that they would not be allowed to use Canada as a base of operations against the States, and they had faithfully observed that order. The United States Government had vainly attempted to get them to return peacefully to their own country. He proceeded to refer to the reports of the Pacific Railway Survey, which he said would be all laid before Parliament in about three weeks. Great amusement was caused by his allusion to Grip's cartoon of "Hard Times" leaving Canada, and the member for Kingston urging him to remain till after the general election. He repudiated the sweeping assertion that the Government had interfered improperly in the elections. It was the duty of the Government to avoid complications with the Imperial or foreign Governments. The papers relating to the O'Donoghue amnesty would be brought down, when it would be seen that the action of the Government had been decided upon long before there was any notion of an election in Quebec. The decision of the Government had been submitted to Imperial authority, and was approved. It was, however, a question of Government policy for which he was prepared to take full responsibility. He concluded by complimenting the mover and seconder for the able manin which they had acquitted themselves.

HAROLD THE OUTLAW

OR

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XX.

THE LAWYER AND HAROLD HOLDS A LONG AND IMPORTANT CONFERENCE, WHICH IS LISTENED TO BY EDWARD SKEAT.

Harold had opened his lips to speak when a creak was heard in the room, and the youth turned a startled look in the direction of the closet whence it came.

"What noise is that?" he asked, "I have heard it more than once while we have been speaking."

"Noise—eh, 'tis nothing—can't be—we are alone in the office—the street door is fastened."

"You are quite sure we are entirely alone?"

"Sure—certain. You might hear a mouse cheep—that's all."

"Ah, perhaps it might be that" returned Harold, whom this suggestion seemed to satisfy.

"It can't be anything else," added the lawyer, with a dogmatic assurance, which, however honest and sincere, was nevertheless wofully mistaken. Unfortunately it convinced Harold, and the secret, which it was of such immense importance to keep, became known to the listener in the closet—the putting it into the keeping of one whose interests and inclination prompted him to make the worst use of it.

"You have said," remarked Harold, "that as an outlaw I have lost all legal rights?"

"You have."

"And cannot, of course, succeed to any property?"

"That is so."

"So that my father being dead, I, though his eldest son and natural heir, am reckoned as dead also, and my inheritance passes to another.

"True—true—too true," sighed Mr. Adamson.

"I have now to ask you to whom the title and estate fall?"

"To your brother, of course."

"But suppose I should marry and have a son?"

"That would make no difference, after your brother had succeeded. He would then be in possession—vested therein by the law, and the law would not dispossess him on account of any act of one whom it had outlawed."

"Oh—I see. "Then," added Harold, with apparent indifference, but keeping a keen eye on the other's face, "suppose I had been married and had a son prior to the sentence of outlawry?"

"Ah, that would have changed the matter. In that case your son would have come in for title and estate."

"He would? You are clear on that point?"

"No doubt of it. With all its defects, our Scotch law is generally just, and does not include a child in its father's transgressions."

"Then they are baffled—baffled," cried Harold, with great excitement, as he rose and perambulated the room with rapidity, Mr. Adamson's eyes following him with astonishment.

"Baffled! ejaculated the lawyer. Who is baffled?"

"Gilmour and his mother. Their plotting has failed. I was pretty sure it had, but wished to hear your legal opinion. I have it certain, and they are as far as ever from the possession of Mount Cairn."

An exclamation burst from the lawyer's lips as a suspicion of the truth flashed into his mind. He too leaped to his feet, and grasped Harold's arm.

"What am I to understand by your words?" he exclaimed. "It cannot be that you are——"

"Married! Yes, I have been married for the last three years, and have a boy, as strong and healthy a child of two years as a parent could wish. That is my secret, Mr. Adamson."

"Married?" gasped the other. "Regularly married?"

"As regularly as the Church could do it. It was private, of course—for I knew what a storm would burst over me if my father knew it; but every legal and ecclesiastical form was observed. In the parish where it took place it was duly registered and certified. There also is to be found, a year after, the entry of the birth and baptism of the boy. You can have extracts for proof whenever you choose—that is, if you think it advisable to take action in the matter."

"Advisable to take action!" echoed Mr. Adamson, with looks and tones of tremendous excitement. "Why, that child is Sir Philip's heir-at-law. His existence must be disclosed and his claim preferred by the day of the funeral—not one moment latter—for M'Garray will be at work for Gilmour without loss of time. Ha, I should dearly like to be the man to checkmate him."

"You shall," returned Harold. "I give you full power to act in the child's behalf."

"You can't do that. The Court will appoint a curator bonus, but I can do the business in its first stages. I can appear at the funeral, I can intimate the existence of an heir in the person of Sir Philip's grandchild, and announce myself as his representative. Ha! I think I see the consternation and dismay of her ladyship and your brother, and the sight will go far to make up for the triumph she obtained when she got me dismissed by Sir Philip. I'll enjoy it, my boy—don't doubt I shall enjoy it to the full. Gad, this is a turning of the tables on them with a vengeance. Oh, 'tis a rare stroke—a rare stroke. All their iniquitous scheming will come to nought, and they'll find that instead of working for their advantage they have wrought for their defeat—a most righteous retribution for their foul injustice."

"In the meanwhile," cautioned Harold, every possible care must be taken to keep the matter secret. If information reached them neither my wife nor child would be safe."

"You are right," said the lawyer. "They have shown to what length they can go. But fear not. I shall take every precaution to hold them in ignorence till the last moment, by which time everything must be prepared to have your wife and child placed in the position of safety. Where are they now?"

"Where they have ever been," was the reply. In——Hark! by heaven, there is that creak again. On my soul, Adamson, I have a suspicion that some one overhears us."

"Impossible," Harold; but to satisfy you, I'll go and make sure that the street door is fastened."

While the lawyer was gone on this errand Harold went to the entrance to the closet, but as the door was locked and the key wanting, this one effort in the right direction was unfortunately turned aside. When Mr. Adamson returned he was able to report that the fastening of the street door was intact.

"Bah, it was silly of me," exclaimed the youth, half ashamed of his apprehension, which he sat down to the excited state of his nerves. "An outlaw," he added, with a bitter smile, "soon learns to be suspicious, and truth to say, complete as is the disdisguise I wear, I am too near Tolbooth to feel comfortable, so we shall finish our conference, and I will get me gone to my refuge among the mountains."

"Horrible necessity," groaned the lawyer, with a look of combined pity and indignation. "But I cannot abandon the hope of your innocence being one day brought to light, and of seeing you restored to honour and station as Sir Harold Logan of Mount Cairn."

"I dare not expect that," responded Harold. "All things are against it."

"No they are not. It only requires the man who did the deed to confess it, and if he isn't the most burdened ruffian in the world he'll have no rest or peace till he does

THAT WONDERFUL MAN

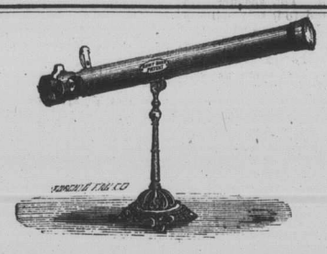
OFF AGAIN TO THE BRITISH MARKETS FOR SPRING GOODS.

WE COMMENCE OUR

GREAT CLEARING SALE

On Monday, 4th February next,

During that time we will fulfill to a demonstration all that we promise, namely, to sell all and every article we have in stock at the actual cost price of it.



We confidently refer back to our past Clearing Sales, and promise in this sale, as in all former ones, to keep faith with the public. When we advertise a Clearing Sale at cost price, we keep our word, and no matter at what loss or sacrifice it may be to us, we bind ourselves NOT TO DISAPPOINT OR DECEIVE THE PUBLIC, OUR FRIENDS OR CUSTOMERS. We ask, feeling confident of a hearty response, that all intending buyers of Fancy or Staple Doods, will advise themselves of this opportunity of supplying their requirements at a saving of 20 per cent. We ask an inspection of our goods, and the promise we make of actual cost prices; we will agree to pay expenses of a visit to our establishment if all that we here state does not turn out to be sound in every particular. Our Mr. Hogg, senior, leaves in a few days for the British Markets for spring Goods, and a clearance of present stock must be effected. People of the Town of Guelph and County of Wellington you have had a trial of the Wonderful Man for over 25 years. He has worked faithfully for your interests during all that time, and he is doing so to this day. He is strong, healthy and robust now as ever he was, and he is on the war path to exterminate and put to shame dealers in old bankrupt and moth-eaten goods. People of town and country do not be deceived. The test of a man is his past career. You have had every opportunity of knowing and judging of the Wonderful Man. All that he asks is that you consider him entitled to YOUR PATRONAGE AND SUPPORT.

John Hogg & Son only keep in stock the best class of Fancy and Staple Dry Goods, Millinery, Jackets, Ready Made Clothing, &c., and at the great reduction these goods will be offered at during the Clearing Sale will induce thousands to flock to our establishment.

It will then be supported by the man and woman who heard the murdered man's statement, and against such evidence no judge or jury could stand out."

"Well, well," remarked the youth, should that time ever come, be sure I'll not neglect to take advantage of it. Meanwhile I know you will see to the rights of my boy."

"And the rights of your wife also," added the other. "We must have her constituted the child's guardian, and she and it will receive a moisty of the free produce of the estate—only the Court will insist on her residing at some suitable place—probably Mount Cairn—and the Curator will have sole management so long as you are under the ban."

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 11.

Mr. Fraser introduced a bill to amend the Voters' Lists Act, and explained its provisions.

The House went into Committee of the Whole on Bill No. 5, respecting waterworks, and to validate By-law No. 212 of the Town of Owen Sound.

Among the other bills passed through Committee was one to enable the county of Bruce to assume the railway debts of certain municipalities.—Mr. Gibson.

Mr. Meredith moved the second reading of the Bill to incorporate the Western University of London. Carried on a division.

Among the Private Bills read a second time were the following :—

To incorporate the Georgian Bay and Wellington Railway Company—Mr. Hunter.

To incorporate the Saugeen Valley Railway Company—Mr. Sinclair.

Respecting the Galt and Guelph Railway Company—Mr. Massie.

Respecting the public burial ground in the town of Guelph.—Mr. Massie.

To incorporate the Arthur Junction Railway Company—Mr. McGowan.

Respecting the Stratford and Huron Railway Company—Mr. Hay.

Respecting the Credit Valley Railway Company—Mr. Clarke (Wellington).

Mr. Ross moved for an order of the House for a return of the number of pupils attending the different County Model Schools in 1877, the number who successfully passed the examinations and obtained certificates; also, the number of passed candidates who are now engaged in teaching, and the number of them holding third-class certificates who are now attending High Schools. He said he made this motion with the view of showing the success of the new-established County Model Schools. He believed it was the greatest step that had been taken in this country towards the training of efficient teachers. Forty-three persons out of fifty-seven who had attended the Model Schools in the county of Huron during one term were now engaged in teaching. (Hear, hear.) In that county there were now altogether some 70 or 80 persons engaged in teaching who had received instruction in the County Model Schools there. He desired by this motion to have the information relating to these schools in the hands of hon. members before the report of the Minister of Education for 1877 was brought down.

Mr. Crooks said some of the returns referred to by the hon. member for East Grey were almost completed. The system of County Model Schools in every respect had been very satisfactory, although established for only six months. The cost for passing third-class teachers was not more than $5 each, and for second-class about $35 each. (Hear, hear.) Some County Councils, however, had shown a hesitancy to make the proper provision for the schools. He was glad to see that all the School Boards had been very willing to place their schools at the disposal of the counties for Model School purposes, with the exception of one school, which had however recently recognized the advantage of the public Schools of doing so. During the last half-year of 1877 1,237 teachers had been trained in these schools—893 in the first term and and 344 in the second. He was glad the hon. gentleman had made his motion, and the information would be brought down.

Mr. Cameron was glad to be able to testify that the measure for the establishment of these schools had done some good.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Mostyn moved the second reading of the Bill to amend the act for the protection of insectivorous and other birds beneficial to agriculture. He explained that the Bill was intended to allow certain birds to be shot which were prohibited. Besides withdrawing protection from plover it provided that meadow larks, rails, rice birds, and blackbirds might be shot between the first of September and the first of January.

Mr. Clarke (Wellington) said he introduced in 1873 the Bill which the hon. member for Lanark now sought to amend, and which protected certain insectivorous birds for the whole of the year. He should be sorry to have the House withdraw that protection, for agriculturists were interested in this question as well as sportsmen. He had no objection to withdrawing protection from plover, but he had a decided objection to withdrawing it from the rice-bird or bob-o'-link and the meadow lark.

The motion was carried.

Mr. Bethune's bill to amend the law respecting High Schools was read a second time.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provide our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London, Sept. 28. d&w 9m

The last Clifford cattle fair was very largely attended. There were about 400 cattle on the grounds. Beef cattle ranging from 3 to 3½ cents per lb., live weight; lean cattle ranged from $20 to $35 per head.

In Mississippi a patent has been obtained for a method of collecting taxes upon drinks which is far better than the Moffat or Clarke register. Books of coupons are sold by the State Auditors to all liquor dealers. When a drink is sold the consumer receives a coupon, which entitles him to receive from the State, in payment of his taxes, one cent. If two drinks are to be paid for he receives an orange colored coupon, good for two cents. If five drinks, a blue paper good for five cents. Not only does the State enjoy an income from the tax on drinks, but the consumer has a reasonable chance of paying off his taxes with the orange and blue coupons. The saloons are crowded at all times with men making out their taxes.

Pyramid of Jeezeh.

Lecture by the Rev. W. H. Poole.

On Monday evening Rev. W. H. Poole, of Toronto, delivered his second lecture, in the Dublin St. Methodist Church, having for his subject "The great pyramid of Egypt." After the exceedingly high reputation acquired by the reverend gentleman by his previous lecture, it is little wonder that such a very good audience assembled. After devotional exercises, and singing by the choir, Mr. Poole was called upon by the chairman, Rev. Thos. Brock.

The lecture itself was a very dry one compared with "Anglo-Israel," as it was bristling with figures and deductions, but notwithstanding such being the case, the facts were so clothed with language, that interest was maintained by many throughout every minute of the two hours which its delivery occupied.

Mr. Poole in opening his discourse, descanted on the beauties of the Orient, or Eastern world, and the little change that had taken place in its appearance during the past few centuries. Egypt was then dealt with particularly as a place of Biblical renown; a place in which Abraham had dwelt; Joseph had found an asylum and was afterwards appointed a ruler in the time of Pharoah; Jacob with his sons and daughters had removed thither while there was famine in Canaan; it was the land in which Moses, afterwards the deliverer of Israel, was born; Solomon, King of Israel married the daughter of an Egyptian; and it was when the murderous Herod sought the life of the child Jesus that he was carried thither by night. Many other notable instances to be found in the Bible in connection with the land of the Egyptians. Egypt will partake of the blessings which are yet to be showered on the children of the Promised Land. The country in ancient times was the veritable cradle of prophecy, and from it the destines of nations were decided upon, as well as from its borders nations sprang into existence. Judaism Budhism, Mahommedanism, and other unnatural religions have had their rise. It was there where the truth of God had caused such signal manifestations of His power, it was also there where the Most High had been libelled and condemned. And there it is where Christ's name is expected to be vindicated. A traveller in visiting the land of the Pharaohs, the one great object of his attraction among smaller objects, must be the great pyramid of Jeezeh. The structure is the most ancient of any in the world. It stands as a silent monument and witness of the truths of revelation. The speaker held that Isaiah had referred to it as a witness to the Lord of Hosts. It is also a witness to all nations that the standard of weights and measures to be found therein after being sealed for centuries, is the same as the standard used in Britain at the present time. It is therefore a standard sanctioned by God. It is also a proof that the grand truths to be found in the Holy Scriptures are truths, and prevents doubt being thrown on the Holy Bible. Isaiah referred to it as a monument to be found in the midst of the land of Egypt and at the borders thereof. It stands at the edge of the Libian desert and in the centre of all the dry region of the globe. From its position it seems as if the God of nations had made it the standing point of measurement of all countries. It is the zero of longitude for all nations. All other pyramids, compared with the Jeezeh are bungling works of art and copies of this great pyramid. While some hold that the purpose for which the pyramid was built was for a sarcophagus or sepulchre for the kings, others hold that it was erected to prevent the drifting sands of the desert blowing over a certain portion of the country. Many, very many theories had been advanced; but the lecturer's own opinion, and that of many great scientists who have given the matter almost searching investigation, was that it was built solely for the purpose of standing as a monument in proof of the Bible, and also the just standard of weights and measures. While many pyramids, only thirty-seven of which deserve worthy the name, contained many scenes and hiroglyphics cut in the rocks, which were significant of idolatry, the Jeezeh had nothing whatever of the kind. The great pyramid covers fourteen acres of ground and is built altogether of hewn stone. The tiers number two hundred and eighty-six, some four or five feet deep, and the blocks of stone from twelve to fifteen feet in length. So closely are the huge blocks cemented together that it is almost an impossibility to remove them. The speaker referred to many different dimensions given by various travellers. Piazzi C. Smith, however, had given the pyramid a most minute examination and from the labor employed and the diligence of his researches he can be accepted as excellent authority. Mr. Smith had cleared away the sand from the base rock, which had been drifting for centuries. He found that the corner stones had been laid in sockets. The speaker quoted the words used by God to Job and drew the inference that the pyramid was referred to. Mr. Smith in taking the measurement of the base found a cubit for every day in our solar year, and the entire four sides made one cubit for each day in four years, which included leap year. It was here in the solid rock that the true solar year was laid down. The inches in a cubit and the number of days in the year give the length of the base side. The height of the pyramid is 486 feet, 23 feet higher than St. Peter's at Rome, and 116 feet higher than St. Paul's at London. The entire quantity of stone in the structure is eighty million cubic feet, and Herodatus tells us that it took 3,600 men sixteen years to built it. There is no other pyramid or building in the world that has the same mathematical precision in every point. When the pyramid was built in order that it might not be opened, the entrance instead of being put in the centre, it was placed 49 feet above the base and six feet to the east from the centre. The lecturer then proceed to give a graphic description of the peculiar manner in which the pyramid was opened by an Egyptian caliph, who believed that untold wealth would be found inside. Inside the gallery had a twenty-eight feet ceiling and six feet in width. The sides and ceiling were all of red granite, beautifully polished. At the extreme end there is a low portico, 42 inches in height, through which there is an entrance to the king's chamber. The only article of furniture in the king's chamber is a coffer made of the same red granite. This is the same size of the ark of the covenant which was made by God's directions, when he commanded Moses: See that thou make a tabernacle according to the directions given by me on the mount. The speaker continued his description of the rooms. Above the king's chamber were five unfurnished rooms. After describing the queen's chamber which lay below that of the king's, the speaker said that although no furniture was to be found in any of these places, they were full of mathematical problems. The pyramid must either have been built by inspiration, or the architect showed himself possessed of knowledge 4,000 years ago that has just been found out by our great scientists. The ventilation of the Jeezeh which is thorough, was explained. The same inspiration that ordered the building of the ark must certainly have been at work in the erection of the great pyramid. A lengthy description of the weights, measures, and other proportions of the work were gone into in detail by the speaker, and clearly shown how they agreed in every respect with the present Imperial weights and measures. The London quarter, a standard the world over, was exactly the quarter of the coffer in the king's chamber. All this sheds a flood of light on the Israelitish origin of the Anglo-Saxon. After expressing the belief that the British flag, the flag of God's own people, would always be victorious, the speaker sat down amidst applause.

The delivery of the lecture occupied two hours. Devotional exercises closed the meeting.

A YOUNG MAN had a beautiful upset on Macdonnell street this a.m. He was riding in a low back cutter and holding the halters of two horses which followed. The latter conceived the idea to halt and did so. The young man immediately turned a complete somersault backwards, and afterwards delivered an address more pointed than polite.

SALE OF MAGAZINES AND PAPERS.—On Friday evening next a large number of magazines and papers will be sold by auction at the Mechanics' Institute rooms. This will be a good opportunity to secure really good literature at a small outlay. We understand that the Institute is shortly to be removed to the more commodious rooms over Mr. G. B. Fraser's store.

"CHARLOTTETOWN PATRIOT."—We are glad to see that this staunch Reform paper is now issued as a daily. We wish it and its able and genial editor, Mr. Lawson, every success. The Patriot is doing good service to the Reform cause in Prince Edward Island.

KNOX CHURCH MISSIONS.—Last evening a very small number assembled in Knox Church at the annual missionary meeting in connection with the church. In the absence of the Rev. W. S. Ball, the pastor, through indisposition, the chair was taken by Mr. J. D. Williamson. Short addresses were delivered by Rev. Mr. Smellie, of Fergus, and Rev. Mr. Middlemiss, of Elora, on missions generally. An appeal was also made to carry on the good work. A liberal collection was taken up at the conclusion.

THE POPE'S FUNERAL.—In reply to questions from several foreign Courts, the Papal Nuncios have been instructed to announce that the funeral of the Pope will be privately celebrated in the Sixtine Chapel on February 16th, 17th, and 18th. Consequently persons attending the service will do so in a private manner. This is undoubtedly to avoid the necessity of assigning special accommodation for the Italian Royal Family and Ministers, or refusing to do so. The report that the Cardinals have rejected the idea of a reconciliation with Italy is untrue. The decision of such questions appertains solely to the Pope.

The worm of a still was found in George Campbell's hotel (White Horse), Bentinck Tp., Grey County. Campbell was arrested and committed for trial.

GRAND PATRIARCH WOODYATT, of Brantford, will be present at the special meeting of the Wellington Encampment this evening. The Camp is in a very flourishing condition. It has only been instituted two years and now numbers forty-eight members.

LEAVING TOWN.—Mr. J. C. Macklin, of the co-operative store, purposes leaving Guelph on the first of March for Brantford, where he will carry on a very extensive business. Mr. Macklin is a very energetic young man and no doubt will soon establish a large trade in the new city.

SPRING ASSIZES will be held as follows:—At Brampton, 9th April, before Chief Justice Harrison; Walkerton, 16th April; Stratford, 23rd April, before Mr. Justice Burton; Hamilton, 23rd April; Milton 7th May, before Mr. Justice Gwynne; Berlin, 22nd April; Brantford, 29th April; Guelph May 6th, before Mr. Justice Patterson.

ORANGEISM.—The annual county meeting of East Wellington was lately held at Orangeville. After routine of general business, the following officers were appointed for the ensuing year:—Bro. J. Witter, W. C. M.; Bro. S. Reid, D. M.; Dr. Halstead, Chaplain; Thos. Babe, C. S.; J. B. Reid, C. T.; J. Golden, D. C.; J. A. Spence, and S. Hunter, C. Lecturers.

ENGINE SHIPPED.—Messrs. Inglis & Hunter have just made a shipment of another of their celebrated Corliss engines, which have attained a great reputation throughout the country. The engine just shipped has an eleven inch cylinder,—between thirty and thirty-five horse power—and is to be placed in Dawson's grist mills at Orangeville.

OBIT.—Mr. Thos. M. Anderson, brother of Mr. Anderson, of the Paris Transcript, died at his residence, Ayr, on Monday last. Deceased was for over twenty years business manager of the Ayr Agricultural Works of Mr. John Watson, and at the commencement of his last illness occupied the highest position in the Globe counting-room.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—The annual missionary meeting of this church—the Rev. J. C. Smith, pastor—will be held in the school room this (Wednesday) evening. Addresses, both eloquent and instructive, on the life-work of the Church may be expected, as a deputation of its members has been specially appointed and designated by the Presbytery to this duty. The meeting will commence at half-past seven o'clock, and a collection will be taken up in the interest of Christian missions. The public are cordially invited.

HARRISTON.—The Oratorio of Esther was lately given by a class of local amateurs under the leadership of Prof. Osborne. The entertainment, on the whole, was very good——The last monthly fair beef cattle ranged in price from $2 75 to $3 50 per cwt. A large number of cattle was disposed of. The Tribune notices the following stock sales:—Robert Scott, a one year old bull to Neil Moore, of Elderslie, for $100; Robt. Richardson a bull calf for $85, to John Howes.

SERVICE OF SONG.—We are informed that one of these interesting services, consisting of sacred, vocal and instrumental music, will be held in this town next Monday evening, Feb. 18th, in St. George's Church, in aid of the Rectory Building Fund. Services of song have met with great success in many city churches, and it is hoped that the one in store for next Monday will be well attended. While it will partake less of the character of concert than an ordinary organ recital, it will, doubtless, be quite as enjoyable, from the fact of the audience being expected to take a part in it, and join in the beautiful hymns which will form part of the programme. The Misses Jones, Foster, and Taylor, Messrs. Vale and Stockwell, with other Guelph favorites, will assist, and Prof. Philp has kindly consented to take part in one or two organ duetts with Miss Geddes, the organist of the church. Selections from "Moses in Egypt," the "Stabat Mater," and other great works will be given. A collection will be taken up in aid of the object mentioned above, the Rectory Fund of St. George's Church.

PUSLINCH FARMERS' CLUB.—The annual meeting of the Puslinch Farmers' Club was held in the Town Hall, Aberfoyle, on Saturday, 26th January. Mr. Jas. Glennie, President, occupied the chair. The Secretary read the financial report, showing the Club to be in a flourishing condition. The report, on motion, was received and adopted. The election of officers for the current year was proceeded with and resulted as follows:—President, Wm. Rae; Vice-President, Robt. Buchanan; Secy.-Treasurer, Peter Mahon; Directors—D. McFarlane, D. Gilchrist, Jas. Scott, Neil Marshall, Jas. Anderson, Thomas Carter, James Scott (Arkell), James Eagle, Wm. Kerr, Alex. Smith and Jas. Glennie. Auditors—Jas. Scott and John Iles. An animated discussion followed as to the propriety of continuing the present practice of holding meetings at different places in the Township, resulting in a motion which was carried, that the next meeting of the Club be held as pre arranged, in the Temperance Hall, S.S. No. 11, on Saturday, 23rd Feb., at three o'clock p.m., and after that, that the perambulating system be discontinued, and henceforth the meetings of the Club be held in the Town Hall, Aberfoyle, at six o'clock p.m., commencing on the 15th March next. The subject for discussion at next meeting will be "Potato Culture," Mr. Charles Barret to lead; and on the 15th March, at Aberfoyle, "Agriculture as a profession," is the chosen subject, P. Mahon to open the debate. All desirous of advancing the interests of agriculture are cordially invited to attend the meetings of the Club.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 12.

The Premier stated that it was the intention of the Government to carry the brewers' license case, recently decided against the Province by the Supreme Court, by petition to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council.

Mr. Cameron improved the occasion by declaring his want of confidence in the federal constitution of the Dominion, and expressing the hope that it would soon be changed.

The Government measures for confirming the revised statutes of Ontario, and for the preservation of forests from destruction by fire, were, after a few additional explanations by the mowers, read a second time.

Mr. Mowat moved the second reading of the Bill respecting the Magistracy, explaining its scope and intention. The object in view in introducing it is to secure more effectually the conviction of offenders against the liquor laws in certain localities. After a long and general discussion on the measure the motion was carried by a majority of 43 to 31, after which the House adjourned.

Festivities in Montreal.

On Tuesday the Governor-General, after lunching with Mr. Joseph McKay (the gentleman who built the McKay Institute for the Deaf and Dumb, and made it a free gift to the city), proceeded to the institution, and formerly opened it, in the presence of a large and distinguished company. In the evening the citizens' ball to the Governor General and Lady Dufferin came off in the Windsor Hotel. At least fifteen hundred people were present, many having come from New York, Boston, and the New England States, as well as from the remotest part of Canada. The toilets of the ladies were magnificent, many having been imported specially from London and Paris.

The Governor was dressed in the uniform of the British army, and was decorated with the numerous Orders which he possesses. The splendour of Lady Dufferin's dress it is said is past description.

Fat Cattle at the Model Farm.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—The following statements, regarding the feeding of certain animals at the above Institution, may prove interesting to some of your readers:

The cattle comprise in all, 12 head, 4 being of our own raising, the remainder having been obtained at the required time. They were put in the stalls on the first day in November, at the average age of thirty months, and will continue there until the last of March. The daily amount of food given to each animal consists of 114 pounds of pulped turnips, 12 of cut straw and 15 of crushed Indian corn. Computing the cost of these at respectively 13, 3 and 12 cents, and supposing the value of manure to cancell the wages of the workman, we find the average daily cost to be 28 cents. This continued for 150 days gives us the total cost of keeping an animal as $42. The average weight per head on entering was 1,200 pounds, which being bought at the rate of 4 cents per pound, equals $48 as their price. This, in addition to the cost of keeping, gives us $90 as the average sum expended on each animal. The average increase per head per day is fully three pounds, and supposing this rate to continue until the expiration of the time, the average weight of each animal at the time of selling will be 1,650 pounds, which sold at rate of 6 cents per pound, will give us $99, being a profit of $9 per head.

Hoping this will satisfy the desire of many inquisitive farmers, I remain yours, etc.,

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 12

Mr. Mousseau resumed the debate on the Address. He went over the whole history of the Northwest troubles at great length. He accused the Quebec Liberals of trying to get the support of the clergy in the election of 1872.

Mr. Jette denied the latter charge. The Parti National was formed in Quebec without reference to religious questions. Its platform was published, containing nothing of a religious nature. He pointed out that when the election in Quebec was left to be fought independently of religion the Liberal party always were successful.

Hon. Mr. Huntington repudiated the charge that the Liberals defeated themselves by the tu quoque argument. It was singularly bad taste for the hon. gentleman opposite to cry corruption when their leader was strongly tainted with corruption, and only escaped disqualification by the judge of an election court giving him the benefit of a doubt. He pointed out that the Conservatives were twenty years in power, and during that period had persistently resisted amendments to the election law. The entire histories of both parties would show that the Conservatives had from the beginning been the hereditary opponents of the claims of the people for justice and right. The Liberal party he contended, had originated all the measures of reform ever proposed in Canada, and the Conservatives had persistently resisted them till public opinion became too strong for them to resist, and they yielded in order to hold on to office.

Dr. Tupper attacked the Government for its financial policy, the fallacy of which was evidenced by the annual deficit. He declared that the Government had violated every pledge they had made to the country, and had persistently pursued a policy of corruption. They had paid members vast sums of money for contracts. He reviewed the conduct of the Government from his point of view, from the date of their accession to office up to the present time, and, of course, condemned them in the strongest language he could command.

Hon. Mr. Jones replied to Dr. Tupper in one of the most scathing speeches ever heard in the Canadian Parliament, in which he entered fully into all the details of the various acts of corruption, public and private, with which the member for Cumberland has been charged in Nova Scotia and the Dominion. Mr. Jones also gave a full refutation of the charge of disloyalty made against him.

The debate was adjourned.

Charles Bradlaugh and Mrs. Besant, sentenced in London last summer for printing and publishing an immoral pamphlet, have been released, the Court of Errors deciding that the omission of the objectionable words is fatal to the indictment.

A number of Montreal Young Britons who were conducting to the railway station their delegates to the Grand Lodge meeting, were on Monday night attacked by rowdies. A body of police, who were held in readiness in case of a disturbance, were called out, and restored order before the affray had taken a serious turn.

Toronto Correspondence.

TORONTO, 12th Feb. 1878.

THE WORK OF THE SESSION, has progressed considerably during the last week at a steady if not railroad pace, and private bills, of which the number is large, have been got well forward, while several interesting debates have taken place. Perhaps one of the most lively of these related to the Public Printing of the Province, when an attempt was made by Mr. Creighton, member of North Grey, to prove that unfair prices had been paid to the contractors, Messrs. Hunter, Rose & Co. He charged that an improper advance upon the contract price had been paid to those gentlemen, but it was proved conclusively that this had occurred in two years only, 1873 and 1874, and that then the advance had not only been recommended to the House, but agreed to by it. The attack was completely turned, and the would-be grievance-monger was fairly hoist with his own petard,

THE EXEMPTIONS COMMITTEE

continues its labors, with very little result so far, and but poor prospect of agreeing upon any sweeping reforms. Public opinion has not yet been worked up to the necessary point, and until a more decided desire than has yet been evinced is exhibited, there will be no serious attempt at legislation. It is becoming evident that not until after the next general election will any strong attack be made upon the present long list of exemptions, but the Committee may be able to report some evidence which will set men thinking, and in this will effect some good. It is clear that no change with respect to churches, county property, Provincial property, and public schools will be made, and it is doubtful whether a removal of exemptions of ministers' stipends will be recommended. The report of the Committee will be looked forward to with interest, but nobody need feel disappointed if it is found to deal gingerly and vaguely with the whole matter.

THE REVISED STATUTES

are about to be sent out to every qualified Justice of the Peace, and will be a valuable and acceptable present to gentlemen who are ill required for the attention which they often pay to the due administration of the law without fee or thanks. Some 318 copies will be sent into Wellington for this purpose, and as it has been resolved that a copy shall be presented to every editor applying therefor, the newly codified laws will be within easy reach of the people.

THE ALCOHOL QUESTION

came before the Public Accounts Committee last Friday, when Drs. Clark, Lett, and Workman were examined as to the advisability of employing wine, beer and spirits in the treatment of the insane. As a pretty large sum is expended for this purpose annually, the matter possesses considerable interest. The witnesses coincided in the expression of the belief that alcoholic liquors judiciously administered possess great value as sedatives or stimulants, and expressed the hope that the Legislature would not lessen the grant of the medical comforts in our Asylums for the insane. Per contra, Dr. Dickson, of the Rockwood Asylum at Kingston, has stated that alcoholic stimulants is unnecessary, and he is to appear before the Committee on Friday next. It seems to be the opinion of the most eminent authorities, however, that beer and wine are the most simple and the safest stimulative medicines used for the treatment of the unfortunates in our Lunatic Asylums.

THE GAME LAWS

are undergoing another process of tinkering, and it is hoped that Dr. Mostyn's Bill, which has been referred to a large committee, will help to quiet this most vexed question, which periodically turns up to puzzle all who attempt to deal with it.

Eramosa Mutual Insurance Company.

The annual meeting of the above Company was held at Mrs. Limo's Centre Inn, on Monday, 4th February. There was a fair attendance of the members, who expressed themselves well satisfied with the management of the affairs of the Company.

The following Report and Financial Statement were read and unanimously adopted:—

ANNUAL REPORT.

The Directors of the Eramosa Mutual Fire Insurance Company in presenting the report for the year ending 31st January, 1878, are much pleased to be able again to state that, during the year, the Company has suffered no loss by fire.

At the last annual meeting a motion was passed, requesting the board, to continue the annual assessment. Accordingly, on July 2nd, an assessment of 5 per cent was ordered on all notes of undertakings held by the Company on May 1st, 1877. The assessment amounts to $191.87.

In the month of February last the attention of your Directors was called to some changes made in the law by the "Insurance Policy Act of 1876, which requires certain "Statutory conditions" to be printed on all policies issued by Mutual Companies. Some alterations in our By-law was necessary to adapt them to the changes made. We therefore made the required changes and had no policies printed.

And in reference to the "Act" we desire to say that we entirely approve of its provisions, as the members of Insurance Companies are required by the Statute to take every precaution, and carefully observe the rules, in order to prevent accidents, and then, in case of loss the liability of the Company is clearly shown. If Directors and members of Fire Insurance Companies faithfully observe the terms and conditions of the Act, litigation on the subject may be entirely avoided.

There are, at present, 107 policies in force, and property insured to the amount of $152,-0 0. The premium notes of the Company amount to $4,440.90

Music by the church choir. Tea served from six o'clock. Admission 25 cents.

PIUS IX.

Requiem Services at St. Bartholomew's.

To-day (Wednesday) the Roman Catholics in Guelph observing formally with becoming reverence the fact that a solemn high mass of requiem would be celebrated and a discourse delivered on the life and labors of the deceased Roman Pontiff, Pius IX. The service was set down to commence at ten o'clock, a.m.

At that hour all the places of business conducted by Roman Catholics were closed, and out of respect to the memory of the head of their church, crape was attached to the entrances.

Considerable time had evidently been bestowed in draping St. Bartholomew's church in mourning. The effect was impressive, and the dark drapery appeared to shed a greater shade of sadness over very many of those who were seated in the building, and who highly revered the name of the Holy Father that had so lately been called away from the church he loved so dearly. In the vestibule was a portrait of His Holiness in the position of conferring a blessing, and the inscription in black letters at the bottom read: "Pope Pius IX, died Thursday. Of your charity pray for the repose of his soul. R. I. P." The portrait, as well as the vestibule itself, was draped in mourning. In front of the altar was a catafalque, representing Pius IX lying in state, surrounded by twenty eight candles ranged in pyramidical form. Resting on the top of the catafalque was a beautiful transparency representing the armorial bearing of the Pontiff.

The church was crowded, and great interest was manifested in the high mass, in which Rev. Father Hamel was the celebrant, assisted by Revs. Father Dumortier and Nolan. At the conclusion of the mass Rev. Father Hamel delivered an address on the life and labors of the deceased. The speaker remarked that the passage of scripture, "Blessed are the dead who die in the Lord," could not but impress all as being applicable, on the occasion of the Father of the Great Catholic Church passing away. The event has spread deep sadness from church to church, and from clime to clime, and even to the far off missions which the church had established. The venerable Pontiff was one who had been well and loyally loved by all connected with his church, for his kindness of heart, generosity, and priceless services he had rendered his people during his life time. He had been one who had long stood before all nations of the earth, as the glory and pride of the Apostolic See. The Pontiff's name was Giovanni Maria Mastai-Ferreti; he was born in May 13, 1792, and occupied the Pontifical throne thirty-one years, and eight months. His actions during his life-time was too vast a theme for the speaker to do justice to, as every part of the world had heard of the glories of Pius IX., Pontiff of the Immaculate Conception. His object in life appeared to be a yearning for the well-being of his Church, and his actions was such as might come from one whose character contained all that was pure. His devotion from childhood; his work as ruler in Rome; the gathering of the Œcumenical Council, which was characterized by the speaker as being the greatest assemblage since the commencement of the Christian era; the establishment of hierarchies in England, United States, Canada, and Scotland were all briefly referred to by the speaker, who considered that that the hierachy of Scotland might be considered one of the last great acts of the Pontiff's life. Although he had been subjected to persecution from his cradle to the grave he never despaired. The persecutions of Jesus Christ, St. Peter, and the predecessors of Pius IX. were referred to in conjunction. The character and bearing of the Pontiff since 1872, while a prisoner in the Vatican, were spoken of as being all that was noble and forgiving, and to the credit of the time in which we lived the speaker rejoiced to say that many hearts within and without the Church had asked for justice while he occupied that position. Particular attention was drawn to the work done by the head of the Church in sending missionaries out to the North American tribes to instruct and teach them the way to obtain salvation. The speaker, in concluding, stated that the Holy Father's generosity knew no bounds. All might well weep, for he loved us even as Jesus his Master does. His forgiving disposition was remarkable, and had he been able he would have even attended the death-bed and soothed the dying moments of the robber king who had usurped his throne, thus recalling the dying words of our Lord who had exclaimed: "Father, forgive them for they know not what they do."

A grand Gregorian mass was chanted by a full choir, assisted by members of the Catholic Choral Society, conducted by Rev. Father Flock.

The Papal Flag was suspended from the tower of the church, draped with crape, during the day.

Ten thousand dollars were distributed to the poor of Havana on Monday, during the royal wedding festivities.

The reported discovery of a nugget yield on the south branch of the Saskatchewan is said to be apparently confirmed.

The Kingston City Council has adopted a resolution asking the city member to ask for the abolition of all exemptions from taxation.

A wit on being asked what are the most common monosyllables in the English language, answered, "I don't know; but the most common money-symbols are I O U."

Oats are now selling in Winnipeg at 35 cents per bushels cash, and wheat at about 60 cents. The Hudson Bay Company are paying 70 cents, one-third cash and the balance in goods.

Near South Deerfield, Mass., a family consisting of husband, wife, and seven children are happy and in excellent health on an income of $3 per week. They have had no need of medicine or physician for a year. The father and eldest son chop six cords of wood a week, at 50 cents a cord, which yields a little less than five cents a day for the support of each person. Their food is corn meal made into johnny-cake. Milk costs too much.

REVIVAL OF FARMING.—The following sensible remarks are taken from the Oswego Times:—The hard times have had the effect of driving many men who left farming for other employments back to farming again, consequently this Spring there are plenty of men who wish to rent farms or work them on shares. A revival in the farming interest means prosperity to us all, and if every person out of employment would turn to farming, the country would be richer and times easier.

The Evening Mercury

WEDNESDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 13, 1878.

Is it a Nomination or Not.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—The report is quite common in our Township that Mr. James Goldie, of your town, at the late Tory Convention in Toronto, was nominated as their candidate to contest the Riding at the next election with Mr. Guthrie. I was astonished when I first heard of it, but as I see that the Conservatives in our Township are organizing, I am inclined to think there is some truth in the story. If you know anything about it I would like that you would tell us, as the Reformers in this section want to know where we are; and we also want to know whether Mr. Goldie is coming out under the wing of the Tories, or whether he is coming out as a snake in the grass in the hope of working meanwhile quietly in the interests of his new found friends, and then stealing a march on us at the eleventh hour. Any information you can give us on this subject will be very welcome to myself and many other Reformers in this section.

Yours obediently,

OLD TIME REFORMER.

Eramosa, Feb. 11, 1878.

We publish the above letter just as we received it, and we must inform our correspondent—who by the way is an old and valued Reformer—that we have no authentic information on the point which he is so anxious to get cleared up. We have, in common with our correspondent, heard various rumors about Mr. Goldie accepting the nomination for this Riding at the hands of the late Tory Convention, but we have been unable to verify these. We do know, however, that the Conservatives in Eramosa—if not in other parts of the constituency—have since that Convention brought forward Mr. Goldie's name prominently in their caucuses and intercourse with the electors, and in such a way as to give colour to the belief that they were acting under directions from headquarters, and that he was the man chosen to uphold the Tory standard in South Wellington.

Judging from his antecedents, we would not suppose that Mr. Goldie is the man to accept a nomination in this underhand way, or without at once letting the people know where to find him—whether as the apologist and defender of the present Opposition, with all their sins and shortcomings, or as the avowed advocate of protection to manufacturers, millers, farmers and everybody else. If Mr. Goldie has accepted this nomination we think that as an honest man he ought to declare himself at once; and if he has not, then he should not leave the people in doubt.

As the matter now stands we warn the electors against committing themselves to any particular policy or individual. There is plenty of time yet to canvass the merits of these before the general election, and any attempt to entrap them into a promise now is done for a special purpose, and with a special end in view. To our Reform friends we would say, beware, and distrust the insidious advances of those who, at this early stage, seek to unsettle political convictions and faith in the interests of a party which has been proved guilty of every kind of corruption possible under our present political system.

THE Conservatives of North Bruce, at their meeting in Port Elgin on Monday, unanimously chose Lieut.-Col. Sproat, of Walkerton, as their candidate for the Commons at the next general election We fancy Mr. Sproat will have a hard time in beating Mr. Gillies. Preliminary arrangements were also made for a grand demonstration to be held at Port Elgin in the early part of the coming summer, at which Sir John Macdonald has consented to be present.

THE members of Parliament from New Brunswick say that the prompt manner in which the people and municipalities of the other Provinces and the Dominion Government came to the aid of the sufferers by the St. John fire has done more than anything that has ever occurred since Confederation to consolidate the people of that Province as earnest and true supporters of Confederation.

THE London Advertiser learns from a Toronto letter "that the friends of Sir John Macdonald have resolved to run him for the Western Division of that city, which they look as a much safer constituency than Kingston. The contests in the last named place have been so close of late that the chances are, if elected at all, Sir John would have to make an active and personal canvass which would fully occupy his time between the issue of the writs and the day of polling. West Toronto, on the other hand, the U. E. Club strategists regard as perfectly safe for the Chieftain, who, during the progress of the contest, will be free to make forays into the territory of the enemy." How will it look if Sir John is obliged to flee from Kingston and take refuge in Toronto? What then about the popularity of the great Chieftain?

THE Ottawa correspondent of the Globe says:—"Mr. Laurier's maiden speech as a Minister of the Crown, in reply to Mr. Masson, in the debate on Monday night, was a masterly effort. With perfect dignity and good temper he retaliated with great effect on his assailant, and rallied the Conservatives of Quebec on their docility in following, not one, but two or even three leaders. His allusions to Mr. Dorion were particularly graceful, and loudly cheered by a House in which the name of the present Chief Justice of Quebec is never mentioned without respect."

A Masonic Lodge Censured.

(From the New York Times)

Contrary to the usual course of Masonic matters, the action of the Grand Master of the State of New Jersey in censuring one of the lodges at Paterson has been made public, and is causing considerable excitement among the fraternity. As the world at large has known for a long time, no man is considered a fit candidate for initiation into the rights of Freemasonry who is not physically a perfect, complete, unmutilated man. The rule or custom has been rigidly enforced against applicants who have lost any important member of the body, like a leg, arm, or hand; but not against those having slight disfigurements. It appears that the Paterson lodge in question accepted a well-known citizen as a candidate, who had lost the thumb of his right hand by amputation, and duly commenced to initiate him. The Grand Master of New Jersey heard of this, and informed the lodge that he could be present on Tuesday evening of that week, when he proceeded to censure the lodge for its action in accepting the "imperfect" candidate, and suspended the Master of the lodge for the remainder of the year for non-observance of Masonic rules and customs. The Grand Master of the State also declared all initiations of such persons in this State to be null and void. The Grand Master of the State is Rev. Marshall B. Smith, of Passaic, who is now holding the office for his third term; being highly respected everywhere for his extensive researches and erudition, particularly with regard to the history and customs of the order of Freemasons, and in consequence the ruling and effective action in this case make it a matter of most serious importance to the entire fraternity. It was probably made known to the public so that persons suffering such slight disfigurements need not apply for admission to the order, and thus be spared the annoyance of being rejected. It is understood that the Grand Master considers that the loss of any portion of the body is sufficient to prevent the admission of a person to the privileges of Freemasonry.

Dr. Alexander Duff, the great Scottish missionary, to India, is dead.

HAROLD THE OUTLAW
—OR—
The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XX.

THE LAWYER AND HAROLD HOLDS A LONG AND IMPORTANT CONFERENCE, WHICH IS LISTENED TO BY EDWARD SKEAT.

"It will be a hard matter to separate from each other," sighed Harold. "Lizzie, poor girl, will feel it bitterly; but it will go hard if I cannot see her at times."

"She is hiding with you among the mountains at present, I suppose?"

"No—oh, no. She lives with her uncle and aunt in a shepherd's cottage at the head of Glenroy. Now, don't look so glum, my dear fellow. Though she is of humble origin she has been well reared and educated. In all that makes a true woman my Lizzie has few equals, as you will own when you come to know her. Bah! there is that confounded creak again. I'd rather a thousand times hear the cry of a muircock than the cheep of a mouse in my present position. So I'll e'n go."

"At the head of Glenroy, you say?" observed Mr. Adamson, making a jotting in one of his private books. "Shall I find the place easily?"

"What!" cried Harold, "do you mean to visit her?"

"I may find it necessary to do so; and she will form the medium of communication between us, for it would not be safe for either you or me to have any more meetings here. I have also a partiality for the cry of the muircock in some circumstances, Glenroy! I was once a great rambler among the hills, and have some recollection of the locality. Is it not wild and desolate—houses few, and miles apart?"

"A most accurate description," said Harold, with a laugh. "You have evidently been there, and remember the features well."

"I have cause to do so, for I lost my way, and would have died of hunger had I not chanced to stumble on a cottage half-hidden in a hollow, where a worthy couple lodged me for the night and fed me like a prince. A very intelligent man the shepherd was too, for in the morning he walked with me a long distance to set me on the right track, and his conversation interested me extremely. His name, I remember, was Thomas Morven."

"Thomas Morven;" cried Harold "That is my wife's uncle. Why, that is the very cottage where Lizzie and my boy live."

"Whew," ejaculated the lawyer. "How very extraordinary. I declare wonders will never cease, and a more wonderful night than this I never experienced. That is the cottage. Oh, I'll find it sure enough. Now, go, go, my boy, and don't again come within sound of the College bell till you are free to show yourself in Aberdeen without disguise."

Thus this long and important conference broke up. With a warm squeeze of the hand, and a fervently uttered "God bless and keep you," Mr. Adamson bade Harold farewell at the gate, and the youth, assuming a gait suited to his disguise, went away into the darkness of the tempestuous night. The lawyer watched his dim, bent figure as long as it was visable; then locking up the papers he had been consulting, he closed the office, and proceeded homewards, handing the key into Tom Ironby's lodgings as he passed, to the immense relief of the latter, who had spent the interval in a perfect fever of excitement and suspense.

No sooner did Tom make certain that his master was some distance off along the street than he stealthily followed, and kept him in sight till he reached his residence. Then with the speed of one whose movements were prompted by some intense inward feeling he took the nearest route back to Huxter Row, to relieve Skeat from his long confinement in the closet.

CHAPTER XXI.

ANOTHER SECRET CONFERENCE IN HUXTER ROW—THE ENCOUNTER IN THE PASS.

The interval between the departure of the advocate and Harold and the arrival of Ironby at the office was spent by Skeat in considering the momentuous secret which had come into his possession. Concealed in the closet, and but a few feet from the speaker, he had overheard every word of their conversation, devouring it with greedy ears, and growing so eager at the most important points as to move unconsciously nearer to the door, causing the creak which had so often annoyed and alarmed Harold.

Could anything more unlucky for the latter have occurred than that the vital secret which he has imparted to the advocate should reach the ears of another, and that other one who would be most ready to use the knowledge in the most disastrous way for the outlaw. Yet how often do we see the like untoward chance coming upon men who do not deserve this, to be made the cruel sport of circumstances—accidents seeming malignantly to conspire to play into the hands of their enemies and aggravate their own misfortunes. There are cases in which the fiend of adversity appears to delight in heaping accumulating evils on the helpless head of its victim, and, no good genius, either through pity or benevolence, interferes to avert the calamity or nullify its results. For the present Harold Logan is one of these victims of crowned and consummated wrong.

The immense value of the secret which had so unexpectedly fallen into his possession was seen at a glance by Skeat. The question for him was how he should make the most of it for himself. He knew that it might be worth thousands to Gilmour Logan to know of the existence of a child who would cut him out of the inheritance he had sinned so heavily to secure. Here, therefore, was the market to which this commodity should be carried; but who was to conduct the negotiation? Instinctively Skeat felt that he could not trust Malcolm Gillespie with the important transaction. He had realized by this time that the gauger had not a nature bad enough for these series of villanies. The crime against Harold which he had already yielded to had shaken him, and burdened him with remorse to a degree dangerous to all their interests; it would be most unsafe, therefore, to entrust him with a fresh piece of business of similar rascality. He would probably refuse to enter into it, and there was no time to get him wrought up to the purpose, or, still worse, he might seek to make some atonement for the wrong already done, by warning Harold that his secret was known, and would be communicated to his brother. So hurriedly as Skeat had to think over the subject, he very speedily concluded that Gillespie must be kept in ignorance of the secret, and take no port in the action which would follow.

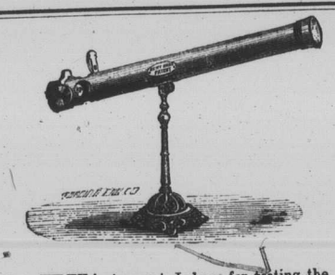
WE COMMENCE OUR

GREAT CLEARING SALE

On Monday, 4th February next,

During that time we will fulfill to a demonstration all that we promise, namely, to sell all and every article we have in stock at the actual cost price of it.



We confidently refer back to our past Clearing Sales, and promise in this sale, as in all former ones, to keep faith with the public. When we advertise a Clearing Sale at cost price, we keep our word, and no matter at what loss or sacrifice it may be to us, we bind ourselves NOT TO DISAPPOINT OR DECEIVE THE PUBLIC, OUR FRIENDS OR CUSTOMERS. We ask, feeling confident of a hearty response, that all intending buyers of Fancy or Staple Doods, will advise themselves of this opportunity of supplying their requirements at a saving of 20 per cent. We ask an inspection of our goods, and the promise we make of actual cost prices; we will agree to pay expenses of a visit to our establishment if all that we here state does not turn out to be sound in every particular. Our Mr. Hogg, senior, leaves in a few days for the British Markets for spring Goods, and a clearance of present stock must be effected. People of the Town of Guelph and County of Wellington you have had a trial of the Wonderful Man for over 25 years. He has worked faithfully for your interests during all that time, and he is doing so to this day. He is strong, healthy and robust now as ever he was, and he is on the war path to exterminate and put to shame dealers in old bankrupt and moth-eaten goods. People of town and country do not be deceived. The test of a man is his past career. You have had every opportunity of knowing and judging of the Wonderful Man. All that he asks is that you consider him entitled to YOUR PATRONAGE AND SUPPORT.

THE WAR NEWS.

The Russian Movement on Constantinople.

Britain to force the Dardanelles if Necessary.

Russia's Note to Austria.

The Peace Conditions not yet Stated.

February 12.

Vefyk Effendi informed the Chamber today that he hoped to communicate the peace conditions four days hence. He declared that if the British fleet passed the Dardanelles he would protest, and cast the responsibility for the consequences upon England.

Russia has notified Austria that among the questions withdrawn from the consideration of the Conference are the reorganization of Bulgaria, the occupation of Bulgaria by Russian troops, and the re-annexation of Bessarabia. This Note has given umbrage at Vienna.

A Vienna despatch says:—It is reported that the Sultan is ready to grant the firman demanded by the Powers for the admission of their fleets.

A Vienna correspondent says:—It is reported that Germany has announced that she will not send any ships to the Dardanelles. It is rumoured that Bismarck desires to be present at the Conference.

A Vienna despatch says:—Two of the Embassies here have received information that twelve Russian battalions will enter Constantinople to-morrow.

A St. Petersburg despatch states that both the press and public highly approve of Prince Gortschakoff's telegram of Sunday to the Powers, declaring that as Great Britain and the other Powers had determined to send fleets for the protection of their subjects in Constantinople, Russia would be obliged to contemplate the entry of a portion of her troops into Constantinople for the protection of the Christian residents.

Disturbances are reported in Syria. Several leading inhabitants of Damascus have been exiled to Polo.

An Athens despatch says:—All the regular troops who crossed the frontier have returned to Greek territory. Irregulars continue to enter Thessaly to keep the insurrection alive. Rifles are being distributed to them under Government superintendence.

LONDON, Feb. 12.—The news of the refusal by the Porte of a firman for the passage of the Straits by the fleet has caused a great sensation in London, though the excitement is less than last week.

A Times leading editorial says:—

The fleet must go to Constantinople for the protection of England's legitimate interests in the city and Straits. There need be no disguise that that is the real purpose with which our fleet will be sent to the Bosphorus, and Lord Derby would have done well to have avowed this fact plainly, instead of evading its responsibility by a transparent excuse of affording protection to British subjects and other persons.

The four ironclads comprising the Channel squadron were directed by telegraph to proceed immediately to Gibraltar for orders, on its becoming known that Vice-Admiral Hornby had been refused permission to enter the Dardanelles.

The Post says:—

A fatal mistake has been succeeded by a great humiliation. Lord Derby's career as a Minister ought to terminate, and, "the Dardanelles" ought to be engraved as an epitaph on his political tomb. It will now become us to speak in extremely moderate language, until deeds shall justify the resumption of that confident tone in which the England of Lord Palmerston used to maintain the cause of law and order.

A Constantinople despatch says:—The Grand Duke Nicholas expressed satisfaction to Vefyk Effendi at the non-admission of the British fleet.

A Constantinople despatch states that Vefyk Effendi, in the Turkish Parliament yesterday, replying to the deputies who urged him to act with moderation toward England, promised to consider their representations.

In the House of Lords this afternoon Lord Derby said he hoped to inform the House on Thursday that the fleet is before Constantinople. France and Italy have suspended their movement towards sending their fleets, probably because the firman was refused. Regarding Austria, he only knew that she had asked a firman. The only difficulty regarding the Conference was about the place of meeting, which he believed would be overcome.

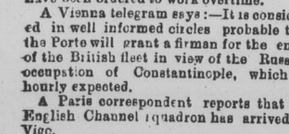
It is understood that Admiral Hornby is instructed to force the Dardanelles, with, if necessary, the whole of his fleet of ironclads. The matter caused a long discussion in today's Cabinet Council.

Mr Layard telegraphed to Lord Derby at midnight last night that he was still without instructions relative to the fleet. The Grand Duke Nicholas has telegraphed to the Porte that the Russians will enter Constantinople if the British fleet enters the Bosphorus.

All the men in the Sheerness dockyard have been ordered to work overtime.

A Vienna telegram says:—It is considered in well informed circles probable that the Porte will grant a firman for the entry of the British fleet in view of the Russian occupation of Constantinople, which is hourly expected.

A Paris correspondent reports that the English Channel squadron has arrived at Vigo.



At Portsmouth dockyard over 3,000 men are working overtime. Although 500 fresh hands have already been engaged since Saturday considerable numbers are still being entered.

The Standard says:—

We have reason to believe that the Porte will not much longer withhold the firman admitting the British fleet, but its concession will not ameliorate the situation.

The article, which is very warlike, concludes:—

We have power to bring cunning to naught and reduce overbearing force to prudence, and the Czar may rest assured that when other arguments are exhausted we shall not hesitate to employ it.

Another Silver Medal

TO THE

BELL ORGAN

At the Centennial.

THE UNDERSIGNED RECEIVED A Silver Medal at the Centennial Exhibition, this being the HIGHEST AWARD to Canadian Organ . Other medals for organs merely bronze . None of our organs had over four sets of reeds. Several other Canadian makers had instruments with from seven to twelve sets. The bronze medal organ had twelve sets.

At the Western Fair for 1876, our London agent exhibited only his ordinary stock, and with our Five Stop Organ took First Prize over all competitors.

A five years' guarantee accompanies each organ. This from a well established firm likely to continue in business is worth considerable. For Price List, address

Harriston Correspondence.

My attention has been called to an article in the last issue of the oracle of this place, which I think justifies me in departing from my decision of two weeks ago, viz., to treat him with silence. I was aware he would go a considerable length to vilify an opponent, but I did not think he would reiterate and stick so tenaciously to such a wicked falsehood of which he himself was the manufacturer. In my last I challenged him to show wherein I ever evinced any of the traits of character which he is laboring so hard to clothe me with, and in his last issue, instead of the proof being forthcoming, he only repeats his lie with an additional falsehood, viz., that on my own confession I am a sneaking eavesdropper and employed detective, which, like his former assertion, he well knows is an infamous falsehood, unbacked by a scintilla of truth, and I challenge him to produce a single reliable person to state in my presence, or over his own signature, that I ever made such a statement, which, if he does, I am condemned, and which if he fails to do he is proved a falsified and calumniator of the worst kind. The fact of his being taken into the confidence of those to whom there is strong indications of his being a traitor, is sufficient evidence I was not employed, or he would not be allowed to participate in that confidence; and as to my being an eavesdropper he should inside of four weeks have furnished evidence to make out his case. But better late than never. I now repeat the challenge, and anxiously wait the proof. As to my occupying what the little luminary imagines, the degraded position of having no interest in Harriston further than to draw my salary from my employers, I would say, being in the employ of one firm now bordering on eight years, and constantly drawing a salary from them which is my livelihood, is I think sufficient to inspire with as much interest in the welfare of Harriston as the average tenant, especially when their business is to such an extent regulated by the progress of the place, and though I am not a ratepayer in Harriston I own real estate not far from Harriston, which gives me a voice in the franchise of the country. And I think so long as I pay out of my salary one hundred cents on the dollar I occupy a better position in society than some who occupy fine houses who liquidated their debts with a heavy discount. As though only a menial I find I am backed by the longest established business men in the place, men whose reputation was creditably established long ere the little penny-a-liner was heard of in this section, and who will be revered and respected after this unappreciated, irrepressible bubble bursts. If as he alleges, after a business career of twenty-years in Wellington established such a noble reputation for himself, and won such an abiding place in the affections of his fellow countrymen in this country, as to render him invulnerable against any assault, why did he on Monday, the 4th of February, interview me with a view to extort a retraction from me in lieu of injury he alleged was done through my writing. Of course he thought that would tend to establish his shattered reputation, but finding his terrorism was of no avail, he with his pen dipped in gall falls back on his former tactics, and with that lack of moral culture peculiar to him gives vent to an issue of personal abuse which is the only stock in trade of his arguments. A few years ago, when the Mitchell Advocate in replying to a gross personal attack made by him on that journal, stated, we know his antecedents, and it won't be good for him if he puts me to the trouble of analyzing them. Why did he shrink from the task and retire ignominously beaten in a contest he himself invited? It is not my province, nor do I intend to probe into his private affairs, but this high character he gives himself does seem inconsistent with his actions as to his conducting the Tribune. I think every intelligent person will agree that his board of keeping it free from personal contentions is refuted in his last issue and the one of two weeks previous. And he would certainly appear more manly in the eyes of the public were he to announce himself on one side or other than to remain dumb in his paper and pretend to act on one side with such strong evidence of his being on the other. I have already noticed him more than he deserves, and will conclude by again asking him to prove his assertions. As to my personal character, I feel, while backed by the best yeomanry of Minto, and a number of our best business men who did not make their mark by compromising with their creditors at 50 and 75 cents on the dollar, but by good business principles that anything that he can say will be but weak and contemptible.

The ladies of Knox church gave a grand social in the basement of their new church, on Wednesday last, it was a splendid success. The eatables provided were such as to do great credit to the ladies of the congregation. Tea was served from six to eight p.m., after which order was restored, and Mr. Samuel Robertson was called to the chair, and in a neat speech opened the intellectual part. Addresses were delivered by the Revs. Messrs. McLivey of Milldmay, Young of Clifford, Gundry of Harriston, Mequin of Toronto, and Smith of Cotswold. R. Blackwood gave a reading entitled "Gathering up the fillers," in good style. J. Jun Hendo sang also gave a reading in his usual happy style. Mr. Bristow gave a solo, which was well received. Messrs. Bristow and Stafford sang a duet, which was deservedly appreciated. The choir rendered good service. Miss Allie Meek presided at the organ in a manner which did her great credit. The arrangements throughout were well conducted, and everything passed off in an excellent manner, socially and financially. The receipts were $77, which is applied to the building fund of the church.

The bachelor's necktie social, in connection with the Wesleyan Methodist church, came off in the town hall on Thursday last, and, all things considered, was a good success. The envelopes and refreshments having been dispersed with and order restored, S. R. Bollert was moved to the chair, and opened the entertainment, which consisted of a solo and chorus by Messrs Bristow and McPherson, and readings by Messrs. Taylor and Wallace and a solo and chorus by Miss Wedge. The amount realized was $40.

The second meeting of the Harriston quadrille assembly came off in Mr. Meiklejohn's hall, on Thursday, the 7th inst., and, without exaggeration, was one of the most brilliant affairs held here for some time. The commodious hall was tastefully decorated for the occasion, and every arrangement made to ensure its success. The Harriston quadrille band was present, and was fully equal to the emergency. Dancing was begun about nine o'clock and kept up to near twelve, when an adjournment was made for refreshments, when the dancing was again resumed, and kept up for about two hours, when it was satisfactorily concluded by all joining hands and singing, in a very enthusiastic manner, "Auld Lang Syne."

A roaring curling match came off on the rink last Thursday, between the young men and old men. Though the young men displayed good pluck and science the experience of the old warriors was too much for their youthful opponents. Though beaten this time they are not conquered, and will playing the return match for the oysters on Thursday next. The following is the score:

OLD MEN.	YOUNG MEN.

Patmore,	Clapp,
Gray,	Fuitor,
Arbuckle—skip 17.	Lavin—skip 10.

The dedication of Guthrie Church took place on Sabbath last, and was a very imposing affair. The morning service was conducted by the Rev. Prof. McLaren, of Knox College, Toronto, and the afternoon one by Rev. John Bakie, pastor of the church, and in the evening by Professor McLaren. All were efforts which should have a lasting impression on the people. The church was crowded on each occasion, but the ushers succeeded in getting all comfortably seated. The Soiree was held in the basement on the following evening. The tables were spread in a manner that reflected much credit on the ladies of the congregation. The basement and church were both beautifully illuminated with gas, which gave the building a very brilliant appearance. As the inner man became satisfied, the audience retired to the church which was most comfortably heated. Since the organization of this church, more than two years ago, everything the management has taken hold of has succeeded. From about half-past five o'clock the people began to gather in from different parts. Clifford, Mount Forest and Fordwich was represented, and even Palmerston threw in her mite, while Harriston and the yeomen of Minto did their duty nobly as they always do, which of course rendered the soiree more than ordinarily successful. At the conclusion of the tea, Rev. Mr. Bakie took the chair and opened the proceedings with prayer. Very appropriate addresses were delivered by the Revs. Messrs. McMullen and Fraser of Mount Forest, Davidson of Alma, Stewart of Arthur, Moffatt of Walkerton, J. R. Gundey of Harriston, and Geo Gray of Howick. The Guthrie Church Choir did their part well, ably assisted by Mr. Biston, leader of the Methodist choir, and Miss Burton, Mr. Yule and his little son as usual delighted the audience. Miss Mary Macready and Miss Kilpatrick sang a duet in good style. Miss Orr rendered a beautiful solo. Mr. McLellan and Mrs Davidson presided very ably at the organ. The following sums were realized: Sabbath collections, $270, proceeds of soiree, $168; sale of cakes, $40; total $478. The assembly broke up about ten o'clock p.m., having spent a most pleasant, agreeable and successful time, rendering the most auspicious event in the history of Guthrie church, an epoch which the members can ever look back to with a degree of pride. Perhaps one of the most pleasing features in connection with the affair was a presentation of a beautiful silver tea set by Jas. Connell, in behalf of the congregation, to Alex. Meiklejohn, in recognition of the services rendered by him in the erection of the church, and placing his commodious hall at their disposal for two years. Mr. Meiklejohn accepted the gift, and in a few remarks thanked the donors. The above church is worthy of more extended remarks, which your correspondent will endeavor to give at a future period, as time will not now permit.

Minto Lodge, No. 93, I. O. O. F., of this place, have arranged for the holding of a grand ball and supper in the town hall, on Thursday the 28th February. The supper will be served by Alex Yule, which is a complete guarantee of its success. The Harriston quadrille band will furnish the music, which is sufficient to place success beyond a doubt. In fact everything will be done to ensure its success.

FIRE.—On Friday night last the people were aroused from their first slumber about 11:30 by the alarm of fire, and soon the sidewalks were filled with people rushing at break neck speed to the scene of conflagration, west of the Royal Hotel. On arriving there it was found to be an old building, formerly used as a livery stable, on O. G. Hughes' property. The building itself being of small consequence and beyond redemption, the exertions of the company were turned to the surrounding buildings, and the fire engine was put to its first practicable test, and surpassed all expectations in drowning the fire, and thus preventing its spreading to other buildings.

Great Excitement in Austria.

THE FLEET BEFORE CONSTANTINOPLE.

LONDON, Feb. 14.

The London Times says that Russia has incurred grave responsibility, and will have to give guarantees to Austria as well as to England that she will quit Constantinople, if she should fulfil her rash intention to occupy it.

A Vienna correspondent says:—The excitement here is daily increasing, and the excitement in Hungary is even greater.

The British fleet passed through the Dardanelles at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

A Constantinople despatch announces the arrival of the British fleet. The Porte made a protest against the fleet having passed the Dardanelles.

LATER.

In the House of Commons this afternoon Sir Stafford Northcote confirmed the statement that the British fleet had reached Constantinople.

LONDON, 14th.—Chancellor Northcote also stated in the House of Commons that a despatch had been received from the Russian Government stating that the Czar was considering the question of the occupation of Constantinople by armed force. To this England had replied that action of Her Majesty's Government does not justify Russia occupying Constantinople.

New Candidates for the Papacy.

The Late Pope's Wealth.

ROME, Feb. 13.—The ambassadors of the Catholic Powers have jointly intimated to the Camerlengo that if some Cardinals known for their uncompromising spirit, whom they have named, were likely to obtain the suffrages of the Conclave, the ambassadors would be compelled to oppose their election. The Camerlengo found in the Pope's desk a sealed packet for the Pope's successor; also 400,000 scudi, the destination of which is probably designated in the Pope's testament.

The Pope's wealth is said to reach 120,000,000 scudi, mostly in the hands of the Rothschilds, of Paris.

La Liberta states that three parties have been formed in the Sacred College, namely, the irreconcilables, the advocates of a compromise, and the advocates of the maintenance of the status quo. The first of these parties led by Cardinal Manning, commands about twelve votes. The second is said to have decided to support the election of Cardinal Moretti, Archbishop of Ravenna; while the third, which is most numerous, is said to have elected Cardinal Luigidi Canossa, Archbishop of Verona, as its candidate.

The Cardinals have decided to reserve complete liberty of action, but to permit the Powers having a right to veto to make ulterior representation.

The lying in state of the remains of the Pope has terminated, and St. Peters has been closed preparatory to the interment.

Three notices of applications for divorce to be made to the Dominion Parliament, appear in this week's Gazette.

Louis Reil is now reported to be in one of the Western States.

The United States Senate has passed the Bill for the privacy of executions.

The official report of the Metropolis disaster places the unaccounted ones of the vessel beyond a doubt.

The Quebec City Council has adopted the resolutions against the railway policy of the Local Government, only four members dissenting.

The London stone-masons' strike is said to have cost them £30,000, and the strikers are no nearer the attainment of their object than when they left work.

General Butler is about to offer in the House of Representatives a resolution declaring want of confidence in the management of the Treasury Department.

DON'T PROCRASTINATE.—But as soon as you find you have caught a cold, or feel the least symptoms of hoarseness or pain in the chest, go to your druggists and get a bottle of Wilson's Wild Cherry. GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA, a new and great discovery; a remedy whose curative effects surpass any thing heretofore placed before the public.

No family can afford to be without a bottle, for all are alike liable to an attack of the ills for which it has proved itself a sovereign remedy. Its equal has not been discovered for the cure of rheumatism, gout, diptheria, pneumonia, erysipelas, frosted limbs, sore throat, bruises of all kinds and wounds of every nature—indeed, the list of diseases which it is recommended to cure has scarce a limit.

It is now stated that three parties, the irreconcilables, the advocates of the maintenance of the status quo, have been framed in the College of Cardinals—the first led by Cardinal Manning, who commands twelve votes, and the second and third respectively putting forward as their candidates Cardinal Moretti, Archbishop of Ravenna, and Cardinal Luigi di Canossa, Archbishop of Verona. The ambassadors of the Catholic Powers possessing the right of vote have intimated that if certain Cardinals persist in displaying the uncompromising spirit they have shown in the past, the Powers would be compelled to exercise their right in opposing the election of such candidates.

THE Sheppard Cabin Singers, who were formerly slaves, will appear in the Town Hall on Saturday, 16th Feb. They are said to give a good representation of slave life, so that a treat may be expected.

A LITTLE LAD in the West Ward wants other boys to know that boiled onions fed to pigeons will produce young pigeons in abundance. Doubtless the same little fellow has had considerable success in catching birds by putting salt on their tails.

IT is not an uncommon occurrence to see a general fight in the vicinity of St. George's Square among ten or twenty school boys, in the afternoon after the schools have been dismissed. The police purpose keeping an eye on some of the ringleaders hereafter.

THE young lad who turned the gas off at the metre in the skating rink, while the caretakers were scraping the ice, is now anxiously watched for by those in charge of the rink. The lad will be very sad some of those evenings when he least expects.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.—Wm. Gallagher was summoned to appear at the Police Court this morning to answer a charge of assault and battery, laid against him by one Edwin McEllistrum. He did not appear, but that did not prevent a fine of $1 and costs being imposed upon him.

DUNKIN.—At a late meeting of advocates of the Dunkin Act held in Brantford a resolution was unanimously carried that the operation of the Act, in proportion to its proper enforcement, had been found to diminish the traffic in intoxicants, and the consequent evils of intemperance; but as it has imperfections Parliament should be petitioned to amend the Act so as to secure its more perfect and efficient operation in supressing the traffic.

SNOW SHOVELLING.—It is expensive to leave a quantity of snow on the sidewalk in front of your premises. The police evidently do not like the appearance of sidewalks covered with the beautiful. In case of a riot they would not be able to make fast enough locomotion to get out of harm's way. Besides it is a breach of a certain By-law of the corporation. This morning the Police Magistrate imposed a fine of $1 and $2 25 on each of the following: Messrs. Frank Smith, E. O'Donnell, Henry Weldrake, Louis Fischer and James Mercer.

G. C. I. AND D. S.—The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Guelph Catholic Literary and Debating Society was held last evening in St. Ignatius College, where the meetings of the Society will be held hereafter, instead of in the Separate School building. There was a good attendance. The new Moderator, Father Fleck, was also present. The exercises commenced with an extempore debate, Mr. J. Kelcher in the chair. The following members participated: Mr. J. O. Coffee, J. Hayden, J. Howard, J. L. Murphy, and T. Coffee. After some further exercises the programme for the next meeting which takes place on the 27th instant was arranged, and promises to be exceedingly interesting.

MASQUERADE.—The carnival to be held on the rink this evening, as regards the number of fancy costumes, promises to far outrival anything of the kind ever held in Guelph. Over one hundred ladies and gentlemen have signified their intention to Mr. Davidson of appearing in fancy dresses. A misunderstanding seems prevalent around town with respect to the prices of admission. Spectators will be admitted for fifteen cents; members, masked, fifteen cents; and non-members, in costume, twenty-five cents. The band has been engaged for the occasion, and will furnish music at intervals, which will form a pleasing attraction. As at the last carnival the doors will be open at seven and parties not in fancy costumes will be allowed to skate after nine o'clock.

A BAD GASH.—About 8 o'clock this (Thursday) morning Mr. John Cormie had his cheek laid open with a piece of walnut lumber, which was thrown by the revolution of a circular saw. Just before the accident happened one of the workmen was using the saw, and Mr Cormie was waiting in order to saw a piece of plank after the cut had been made. He unfortunately stood in such a position that he would be liable to be struck by any loose piece of wood the saw might catch. Just as the first workman had the plank about through he let go of it, and in holding it in position with a piece of wood the saw threw the piece with great force, it striking Mr. Cormie near the nose and inflicting a great flesh wound. The cheek bone was uninjured. Mr. Cormie was conveyed home in a hack.

ST. VALENTINE.—The annual anniversary of St. Valentine occurs to-day. But unfortunately in this cynical and utilitarian age, the good old time-honored observance of the event is not what it used to be. The custom of honoring it as in days of yore, the sending of genuine tokens of friendship and love, abounding in such rhyming terminals as "love" and "dove," and "kiss" and "bliss," has almost entirely died out, or degenerated into the transmission of those horrible caricatures representing every known weakness or eccentricity of poor fallen humanity from a "cracked noddle" to bunion-ornamented pedal extremities of enormous size and indescribable shape. These latter—the missives, we mean, not the pedals—are now scattered about in great profusion, sometimes to vent little malices, but oftener from the mere love of fun and burlesque. The younger scions of the race, in whom nature has not yet given way to the tendencies of the generation, however, still indulge in bona-fide valentine literature as of old, and happy be their dreams and long delayed their awakening, say we.

REMEMBER the sale of periodicals and papers at the Mechanics' Institute on Friday evening.

ICE.—The dealers in summer ice are now laying in their supply, men and teams being engaged in the work of cutting and hauling it away to the ice houses.

SNOW.—Tobogganing on the hill sides in town is now attracting the attention of the young folks, and it would do the eyes of the country folks good if they could see the sport it causes these fine moonlight evenings.

SNOW BALLING.—Some of those young men who make a practice of snow balling passers by on some of the throughfares of town may find out some of these days that what they think is fun other people do not. We have heard of complaints being made about it.

WEATHER.—The weather probabilities for to-day are moderate to fresh northeasterly to easterly winds, and cloudy to fair weather, with possibly light snow in some localities.

THE carnival at Galt on Wednesday evening was well attended. A number from town was present. One little lad dressed as a sailor created considerable amusement to the spectators on the rink, having charge of two stalwart ladies who might have been taken for his caretakers.

MISSIONS.—The missionary meeting held in St. Andrew's church on Wednesday evening was well attended. Rev. Mr. Smith, pastor of the congregation, occupied the chair. The meeting was opened with devotional exercises, and addresses were afterwards delivered by Revs. Mr. Middlemiss, of Elora, and Rev. Mr. Smellie, of Fergus. A collection was taken up at the close in aid of the mission fund.

VAGRANCY.—Robert Gavin is a vagrant. He told the Police Magistrate this morning that he must be a victim to some foul and wicked conspiracy, conceived for the purpose of blasting his young life. That at all events, he was none of your vags. The Magistrate did not believe him, and ordered him to be imprisoned for one month, unless he left town instanter. He left.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT.—Wm. Mays was the primary cause of an extensive row yesterday afternoon, in the vicinity of the Queen's Hotel. A dispute arose between the landlord and Mays, which terminated in the the former being struck. Mays, hearing that Mr. Feek intended prosecuting him, committed another assault, and when an aged gentleman, wishing to preserve the peace, attempted to separate the parties, Mays struck him in the face, covering his spectacles. Chief Kelly arrested Mays shortly afterward. Young men who were present when the fracas was in progress did not in any way try to stop it. This certainly is nothing to their credit. Mays was up before the Police Magistrate this morning, and at the request of Mr. J. P. MacMillan, counsel for the defendant, the case was adjourned till to-morrow.

A fire near St. John, N. B., on Monday evening, burned a family of six persons, named Reardon. The family included father, mother and four children.

An overdose of morphine, taken to ease rheumatic pains caused the death of Mr. J. F. Taylor, at Montreal on Wednesday morning.

GOVERNOR GENERAL'S BALL.—The Governor-General's ball last night passed off in a most brilliant manner. The scene at the Windsor Hotel was no doubt the grandest spectacle of the kind ever seen Canada. Besides the elite of Montreal, and visitors from all parts of the Dominion, the United States was represented by a number of ladies and gentlemen, who had come specially for the occasion, nor was the Old Country misrepresented, there being among the names of these present some of the most famous in England. At 8:30 p. m., their Excellencies, accompanied by the Vice-regal party, Mr. Hayes, and the Committee of Reception, entered the large hall. Immediately after the formal reception was over, and their Excellencies had been conducted to the dais prepared for them, dancing began. His Excellency opened the ball, dancing the first quadrille with Mrs. Senator Ryan, Her Excellency danced the first set of Lancers with Mr. C. J. Brydges, and the next with Chief Justice Moss, of Ontario.

ABERFOYLE ENTERTAINMENT.—The arrangements for the Caledonian entertainment at Aberfoyle, on Friday evening, 15th inst., are nearly completed, and from the efforts that are being made by the Committee, the affair will be well worth patronizing. Songs and readings will form a considerable portion of the programme, which will, nevertheless, be varied by a dance in Highland costume to the strains of the bagpipes. The Caledonian concerts and dances have become celebrated in Guelph as enjoyable affairs, and we have no doubt that many of our Puslinch friends will avail themselves of the opportunity of spending a pleasant evening. The admission to concert is 15 cents; to concert and dance 25c. The charge is made simply to cover expenses. Commences at 8 p.m.

GRAND SOIREE.—A grand soiree will be held in the First Presbyterian Church, Eramosa, on Tuesday evening, 19th February. Several reverend gentlemen are expected to address the meeting. Music will be furnished by the church choir. Tea to be served at six o'clock.

SOCIAL IN MORRISTON.—The Puslinch Advance Division purposes giving an entertainment of a select nature in the Town Hall, Morriston, on the evening of Friday, 22nd February. Readings, recitations and music will form the programme. Doors open at seven o'clock and tea served at nine.

VALENTINE BENEFIT.—All valentines will be sold at Cooke's drug and book store, Market Square, for rest of this week, at half-price. Be sure and call as you pass by.

Mr. Turcotte will once more bring up in the Quebec Legislature his motion for the removal of the seat of Government to Three Rivers.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Blain gave notice of a motion for the termination of the nightly debate at ten o'clock, except when a majority of the House shall be in favor of a prolongation beyond that hour.

CURLIANA.

Guelph "Scooped Her Up" 33 Better Than Fergus.

The annual game between three rinks a side took place on the covered rink at Guelph, on Wednesday. The ice was in excellent condition, and the play on the whole was very good.

Guelph is singularly fortunate in regard to winning games at curling. The reason is easily stated, as the best players are always bound to win. Fergus, however, plays a good game, and they have no reason to be ashamed of their work yesterday. The ice they had to play on was not such as they are accustomed to, it being keener than the rough ice that is generally to be found out doors.

The lunch, which was served on the ice at noon, was excellent, and there was abundance of it. Mr. A. Mitchell was highly complimented by the curlers for the manner in which the hot viands were served. If anything in the way of lunch or a spread is required all that is necessary is to "leave that all to Archie."

The first rinks played a very even game, Guelph only scoring one more than her opponent; the second rinks placed Fergus twenty-two more behind, and the third rinks tied. The score is subjoined:—

Mr. Goldie and the Toronto Convention.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—In your issue of yesterday, an attempt is made to convey the impression that at the recent Liberal Conservative Convention in Toronto, Mr. James Goldie was nominated as the Conservative candidate for South Wellington at the next election. Having been present during the whole of the sittings of the Convention and also at those of the committee for this group, I beg to say that Mr. Goldie's name was not brought up in any way whatever. Further, no nominations were made for this, or any other constituency. As the article referred to appeared in both your daily and weekly editions, I shall esteem it a favor if you will also insert this communication in both.

Yours truly,
C. ACTON BURROWS,
Joint Secretary of the Convention.

A $100,000 WARDROBE.—The San Francisco Chronicle says:—We have been allowed to inspect the most extensive and elegant wardrobe ever made or owned on this side of the Atlantic ocean, and probably never before surpassed in the world, outside of the homes of the nobility, in extent and completeness. It is the property of a San Francisco lady, young and beautiful whose statuesque form they become most regally. She has just left for an Eastern city preparatory to making the grand tour of Europe. There were in the collection between thirty and forty robes of all kinds and of every variety of rare device. Only the finest, the richest and rarest, the most delicate material had been used in their creation—silks, satins, velvets, and snowy laces, such as envelope the form like an encasing snowdrift. Some of them came from Worth, the Paris man milliner, at whose shop they were ordered six months ago. The entire wardrobe, with its attendant paraphernalia, cost $100,000, not including diamonds, with solid gold dress cases and innumerable toilet articles of luxurious conception and fabulous cost.

EPPS'S COCOA—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provide our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. The Legislature of New York is discussing a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State which is intended to substitute biennial for annual sessions of the Houses. This change is urged on the ground that there is not sufficient public business to warrant the heavy yearly expense the commonwealth has at present to meet.

The British Fleet Passes through the Dardanelles Unopposed.

DERBY'S RESIGNATION DENIED.

England Prepared to Bridle Russian Aggression Single Handed.

No Russian Entrance into Constantinople so Far.

AN ANGLO-AUSTRIAN ALLIANCE.

Situation at Constantinople.

Feb. 13.

Last night's announcements in the British Parliament have not appreciably relieved the tension or diminished the excitement. The Pall Mall Gazette yesterday afternoon expressed the expectation that the Government would seek permission to enter the Dardanelles by means of a formal pledge that the fleet should have no other business before Constantinople except that declared in Lord Derby's statement on Friday. The Gazette considered this about as perilous and humiliating a position as possible. It declared it to be the imperative duty of the Ministry to redeem the country from this position at any cost; and demanded such a reconstruction of the Cabinet as would leave no doubt that it, like the country is of one mind.

A Times Vienna despatch says:—What looked yesterday merely as probable seems to-day pretty certain, namely, that the entry of the British fleet into the Dardanelles has become the subject of negotiations, ostensibly between the British Government and the Porte, but in reality, through the Porte, between England and Russia. The Times says:—However desirable, a compromise can only be based upon a re-establishment of some degree of mutual confidence. It still depends upon Russia to take the first step.

It has been reported that Earl Derby has resigned from the Cabinet because the Ministry resolved to force, if necessary the passage of the Dardanelles. The orders for the English fleet to proceed to Constantinople have been repeated.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The announcement that the British fleet has been ordered to force its way to Constantinople, and that in consequence Lord Derby has resigned, causes intense excitement. It is rumored that the Turkish forts have been ordered to resist, and prevent the passage of English ships. The Russians are marching into Constantinople amidst great excitement and confusion. Nothing definite, however, as to the truth of these rumors has been received.

The Standard positively denies the rumours of an impending dissolution.

The Standard announces that the Transport Department has commenced negotiations with large contractors for the immediate delivery, if required, of a considerable quantity of provisions for the troops.

The independent Liberal members have formed a committee to watch the progress of the Eastern question and prevent the Government from drifting into war. The movement has already received thirty adhesions.

There is considerable excitement in Malta in consequence of telegrams from the Admiralty that all ships under repairs shall be hurried forward and sent to join Admiral Hornby. The Devastation leaves Malta to-day.

A Constantinople despatch says:—It is rumoured this afternoon that the British fleet has passed the Dardanelles.

The Advertiser publishes the following official form:—

We have reason to believe that the fleet has passed the Dardanelles and is now in the sea of Marmora. We understand that Admiral Hornby has left full discretion as to the force he would take with him, and in all probability a larger force has gone than was at first contemplated. We believe the Porte contented itself with a formal protest.

The Standard and Post confirm the report that the British ships have passed the Dardanelles. The Post, however, gives the number as six.

The rumour that Lord Derby has resigned is positively denied.

The Standard says:—

England is ready to act with any or every Power in bridling Russian aggression upon their rights and interests. But if all hold back, we must act by ourselves, and leave our neighbors to save their own interests and honor if they can

It is rumored that Sir Stafford Northcote has been urged to call a meeting of Conservative members to express want of confidence in Lord Derby. Several moderate Conservatives sent Sir Stafford Northcote a memorial deprecating the meeting. The moderate section deny the reports of Earl Derby's impending resignation. Another rumour alleges that a dissolution is imminent. It is generally thought that new elections would largely increase the anti-Russian element in Parliament.

The Telegraph says:—The British fleet entered the Dardanelles at daybreak on Wednesday. The passage thence to Constantinople would occupy from twelve to sixteen hours.

The Black Sea blockade has been raised and many ships are going there for grain. Small pox and fever are increasing among the refugees and the distress is very great. The Emperor William of Germany has subscribed two thousand dollars to the International Refugee fund. It is not believed that the entry of the Russians would give rise to any serious troubles. There would perhaps be great excitement, but public opinion on the subject has so changed that the fears once entertained have almost disappeared.

A St. Petersburg special says:—Late last night the Government received information that the Sultan refused most positively to grant a firman for the entrance of the British fleet. Russia maintains an expectant attitude, and has taken measures for the advance of part of her troops now before Constantinople as soon as any foreign men-of-war enters the straits. The entrance of troops is not intended as an act of hostility, but anxiety is felt lest an accidental collission might occur. If the troops enter, it is thought the Sultan will retire to Broussa. In that event it would be extremely difficult to re-establish even a shadow of the Turkish Empire in Europe. The Russian Government does not for the present desire such a radical solution of the question. In view of all this the negotiations for the assembling of the Conference have for the moment fallen into the back ground. An Anglo-Austrian alliance is now spoken of as a possibility.

The "Times" on the Situation.

Great Excitement in Austria.

THE FLEET BEFORE CONSTANTINOPLE.

LONDON, Feb. 14.

The London Times says that Russia has incurred grave responsibility, and will have to give guarantees to Austria as well as to England that she will quit Constantinople, if she should fulfil her rash intention to occupy it.

A Vienna correspondent says:—The excitement here is daily increasing, and the excitement in Hungary is even greater.

The British fleet passed through the Dardanelles at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon.

A Constantinople despatch announces the arrival of the British fleet. The Porte made a protest against the fleet having passed the Dardanelles.

LATER.

In the House of Commons this afternoon Sir Stafford Northcote confirmed the statement that the British fleet had reached Constantinople.

LONDON, 14th.—Chancellor Northcote also stated in the House of Commons that a despatch had been received from the Russian Government stating that the Czar was considering the question of the occupation of Constantinople by armed force. To this England had replied that action of Her Majesty's Government does not justify Russia occupying Constantinople.

New Candidates for the Papacy.

The Late Pope's Wealth.

ROME, Feb. 13.—The ambassadors of the Catholic Powers have jointly intimated to the Camerlengo that if some Cardinals known for their uncompromising spirit, whom they have named, were likely to obtain the suffrages of the Conclave, the ambassadors would be compelled to oppose their election. The Camerlengo found in the Pope's desk a sealed packet for the Pope's successor; also 400,000 scudi, the destination of which is probably designated in the Pope's testament.

The Pope's wealth is said to reach 120,000,000 scudi, mostly in the hands of the Rothschilds, of Paris.

La Liberta states that three parties have been formed in the Sacred College, namely, the irreconcilables, the advocates of a compromise, and the advocates of the maintenance of the status quo. The first of these parties led by Cardinal Manning, commands about twelve votes. The second is said to have decided to support the election of Cardinal Moretti, Archbishop of Ravenna; while the third, which is most numerous, is said to have elected Cardical Luigi di Canossa, Archbishop of Verona, as its candidate.

The Cardinals have decided to reserve complete liberty of action, but to permit the Powers having a right to veto to make ulterior representation.

The lying in state of the remains of the Pope has terminated, and St. Peters has been closed preparatory to the interment.

GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA, a new and great discovery; a remedy whose curative effects surpass any thing heretofore placed before the public.

No family can afford to be without a bottle, for all are alike liable to an attack of the ills for which it has proved itself a sovereign remedy. Its equal has not been discovered for the cure of rheumatism, gout, diptheria, pneumonia, erysipelas, frosted limbs, sore throat, bruises of all kinds and wounds of every nature—indeed, the list of diseases which it is recommended to cure has scarce a limit.

It is now stated that three parties, the irreconcilables, the advocates of the maintenance of the status quo, have been framed in the College of Cardinals—the first led by Cardinal Manning, who commands twelve votes, and the second and third respectively putting forward as their candidates Cardinal Moretti, Archbishop of Ravenna, and Cardinal Luigi di Canossa, Archbishop of Verona. The ambassadors of the Catholic Powers possessing the right of vote have intimated that if certain Cardinals persist in displaying the uncompromising spirit they have shown in the past, the Powers would be compelled to exercise their right in opposing the election of such candidates.

A LITTLE LAD in the West Ward wants other boys to know that boiled onions fed to pigeons will produce young pigeons in abundance. Doubtless the same little fellow has had considerable success in catching birds by putting salt on their tails.

IT is not an uncommon occurrence to see a general fight in the vicinity of St. George's Square among ten or twenty school boys, in the afternoon after the schools have been dismissed. The police purpose keeping an eye on some of the ringleaders hereafter.

THE young lad who turned the gas off at the metre in the skating rink, while the caretakers were scraping the ice, is now anxiously watched for by those in charge of the rink. The lad will be very sad some of those evenings when he least expects.

ASSAULT AND BATTERY.—Wm. Gallagher was summoned to appear at the Police Court this morning to answer a charge of assault and battery, laid against him by one Elwin McEllistrum. He did not appear, but that did not prevent a fine of $1 and costs being imposed upon him.

DUNKIN.—At a late meeting of advocates of the Dunkin Act held in Brantford a resolution was unanimously carried that the operation of the Act, in proportion to its proper enforcement, had been found to diminish the traffic in intoxicants, and the consequent evils of intemperance; but as it has imperfections Parliament should be petitioned to amend the Act so as to secure its more perfect and efficient operation in supressing the traffic.

SNOW SHOVELLING.—It is expensive to leave a quantity of snow on the sidewalk in front of your premises. The police evidently do not like the appearance of sidewalks covered with the beautiful. In case of a riot they would not be able to make fast enough locomotion to get out of harm's way. Besides it is a breach of a certain By-law of the corporation. This morning the Police Magistrate imposed a fine of $1 and $2 25 on each of the following: Messrs. Frank Smith, E. O'Donnell, Henry Weldrake, Louis Fischer and James Mercer.

G. C. I. AND D. S.—The regular semi-monthly meeting of the Guelph Catholic Literary and Debating Society was held last evening in St. Ignatius College, where the meetings of the Society will be held hereafter, instead of in the Separate School building. There was a good attendance. The new Moderator, Father Fleck, was also present. The exercises commenced with an extempore debate, Mr. J. Kelcher in the chair. The following members participated: Mr. J. C. Coffee, N. Hayden, J. Howard, J. L. Murphy, and T. C. Ffse. After some further exercises the programme for the next meeting which takes place on the 27th instant was arranged, and promises to be exceedingly interesting.

MASQUERADE.—The carnival to be held on the rink this evening, as regards the number of fancy costumes, promises to far outrival anything of the kind ever held in Guelph. Over one hundred ladies and gentlemen have signified their intention to Mr. Davidson of appearing in fancy dresses. A misunderstanding seems prevalent around town with respect to the prices of admission. Spectators will be admitted for fifteen cents; members, masked, fifteen cents; and non-members, in costume, twenty-five cents. The band has been engaged for the occasion, and will furnish music at intervals, which will form a pleasing attraction. As at the last carnival the doors will be open at seven and parties not in fancy costumes will be allowed to skate after nine o'clock.

A BAD GASH.—About 8 o'clock this (Thursday) morning Mr. John Cormie had his cheek laid open with a piece of walnut lumber, which was thrown by the revolution of a circular saw. Just before the accident happened one of the workmen was using the saw, and Mr Cormie was waiting in order to saw a piece of plank after the cut had been made. He unfortunately stood in such a position that he would be liable to be struck by any loose piece of wood the saw might catch. Just as the first workman had the plank about through he let go of it, and in holding it in position with a piece of wood the saw threw the piece with great force, it striking Mr. Cormie near the nose and inflicting a great flesh wound. The cheek bone was uninjured. Mr. Cormie was conveyed home in a hack.

ST. VALENTINE.—The annual anniversary of St. Valentine occurs to-day. But unfortunately in this cynical and utilitarian age, the good old time-honored observance of the event is not what it used to be. The custom of honoring it as in days of yore, the sending of genuine tokens of friendship and love, abounding in such rhyming terminals as "love" and "dove," and "kiss" and "bliss," has almost entirely died out, or degenerated into the transmission of those horrible caricatures representing every known weakness or eccentricity of poor fallen humanity from a "cracked noddle" to bunion-ornamented pedal extremities of enormous size and indescribable shape. These latter—the missives, we mean, not the pedals—are now scattered about in great profusion, sometimes to vent little malices, but oftener from the mere love of fun and burlesque. The younger scions of the race, in whom nature has not yet given way to the tendencies of the generation, however, still indulge in bona-fide valentine literature as of old, and happy be their dreams and long delayed their awakening, say we.

SNOW.—Tobogganing on the hill sides in town is now attracting the attention of the young folks, and it would do the eyes of the country folks good if they could see the sport it causes those fine moonlight evenings.

SNOW BALLING.—Some of those young men who make a practice of snow balling passers by on some of the throughfares of town may find out some of these days that what they think is fun other people do not. We have heard of complaints being made about it.

WEATHER.—The weather probabilities for to-day are moderate to fresh northeasterly to easterly winds, and cloudy to fair weather, with possibly light snow in some localities.

THE carnival at Galt on Wednesday evening was well attended. A number from town was present. One little lad dressed as a sailor created considerable amusement to the spectators on the rink, having charge of two stalwart ladies who might have been taken for his caretakers.

MISSIONS.—The missionary meeting held in St. Andrew's church on Wednesday evening was well attended. Rev. Mr. Smith, pastor of the congregation, occupied the chair. The meeting was opened with devotional exercises, and addresses were afterwards delivered by Revs. Mr. Middlemiss, of Elora, and Rev. Mr. Smellie, of Fergus. A collection was taken up at the close in aid of the mission fund.

VAGRANCY.—Robert Gavin is a vagrant. He told the Police Magistrate this morning that he must be a victim to some foul and wicked conspiracy, conceived for the purpose of blasting his young life. That at all events, he was none of your vags. The Magistrate did not believe him, and ordered him to be imprisoned for one month, unless he left town instanter. He left.

DISORDERLY CONDUCT.—Wm. Mays was the primary cause of an extensive row yesterday afternoon, in the vicinity of the Queen's Hotel. A dispute arose between the landlord and Mays, which terminated in the the former being struck. Mays, seeing that Mr. Feek intended prosecuting him, committed another assault, and when an aged gentleman, wishing to preserve the peace, attempted to separate the parties, Mays struck him in the face, shivering his spectacles. Chief Kelly arrested Mays shortly afterward. Young men who were present when the fracas was in progress did not in any way try to stop it. This certainly is nothing to their credit. Mays was up before the Police Magistrate this morning, and at the request of Mr. J. P. MacMillan, counsel for the defendant, the case was adjourned till to-morrow.

A fire near St. John, N. B., on Monday evening, burned a family of six persons, named Reardon. The family included father, mother and four children.

An overdose of morphine, taken to ease rheumatic pains caused the death of Mr. J. F. Taylor, at Montreal on Wednesday morning.

GOVERNOR GENERAL'S BALL.—The Governor-General's ball last night passed off in a most brilliant manner. The scene at the Windsor Hotel was no doubt the grandest spectacle of the kind ever seen Canada. Besides the élite of Montreal, and visitors from all parts of the Dominion, the United States was represented by a number of ladies and gentlemen, who had come specially for the occasion, nor was the Old Country misrepresented, there being among the names of those present some of the most famous in England. At 9:30 p. m., their Excellencies, accompanied by the Vice-regal party, Mr. Hayes, and the Committee of Reception, entered the large hall. Immediately after the formal reception was over, and their Excellencies had been conducted to the dais prepared for them, dancing began. His Excellency opened the ball, dancing the first quadrille with Mrs. Senator Ryan, Her Excellency danced the first set of Lancers with Mr. C. J. Brydges, and the next with Chief Justice Moss, of Ontario.

ABERFOYLE ENTERTAINMENT.—The arrangements for the Caledonian entertainment at Aberfoyle, on Friday evening, 15th inst., are nearly completed, and from the efforts that are being made by the Committee, the affair will be well worth patronizing. Songs and readings will form a considerable portion of the programme, which will, nevertheless, be varied by a dance in Highland costume to the strains of the bagpipes. The Caledonian concerts and dances have become celebrated in Guelph as enjoyable affairs, and we have no doubt that many of our Puslinch friends will avail themselves of the opportunity of spending a pleasant evening. The admission to concert is 15 cents; to concert and dance 25c. The charge is made simply to cover expenses. Commences at 8 p.m.

GRAND SOIREE.—A grand soiree will be held in the First Presbyterian Church, Eramosa, on Tuesday evening, 19th February. Several reverend gentlemen are expected to address the meeting. Music will be furnished by the church choir. Tea to be served at six o'clock.

SOCIAL IN MORRISTON.—The Puslinch Advance Division purposes giving an entertainment of a select nature in the Town Hall, Morriston, on the evening of Friday, 22nd February. Readings, recitations and music will form the programme. Doors open at seven o'clock and tea served at nine.

VALENTINE BENEFIT.—All valentines will be sold at Cooke's drug and book store, Market Square, for rest of this week, at half-price. Be sure and call as you pass by.

Mr. Turcotte will once more bring up in the Quebec Legislature his motion for the removal of the seat of Government to Three Rivers.

In the House of Commons yesterday Mr. Blain gave notice of a motion for the termination of the nightly debate at ten o'clock, except when a majority of the House shall be in favor of a prolongation beyond that hour.

CURLIANA.

Guelph "Scooped Her Up" 23 Better Than Fergus.

The annual game between three rinks a side took place on the covered rink at Guelph, on Wednesday. The ice was in excellent condition, and the play on the whole was very good.

Guelph is singularly fortunate in regard to winning games at curling. The reason is easily stated, as the best players are always bound to win. Fergus, however, plays a good game, and they have no reason to be ashamed of their work yesterday. The ice they had to play on was not such as they are accustomed to, it being keener than the rough ice that is generally to be found out doors.

The lunch, which was served on the ice at noon, was excellent, and there was abundance of it. Mr. A. Mitchell was highly complimented by the curlers for the manner in which the hot viands were served. If anything in the way of lunch or a spread is required all that is necessary is to "leave that all to Archie."

The first rinks played a very even game, Guelph only scoring one more than her opponent; the second rinks played Fergus twenty-two more behind, and the third rinks tied. The score is subjoined:—

Mr. Goldie and the Toronto Convention.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—In your issue of yesterday, an attempt is made to convey the impression that at the recent Liberal Conservative Convention in Toronto, Mr. James Goldie was nominated as the Conservative candidate for South Wellington at the next election. Having been present during the whole of the sittings of the Convention and also at those of the committee for this group, I beg to say that Mr. Goldie's name was not brought up in any way whatever. Further, no nominations were made for this, or any other constituency. As the article referred to appeared in both your daily and weekly editions, I shall esteem it a favor if you will also insert this communication in both.

Yours truly,
C. ACTON BURROWS,
Joint Secretary of the Convention.

A $100,000 WARDROBE.—The San Francisco Chronicle says:—We have been allowed to inspect the most extensive and elegant wardrobe ever made or owned on this side of the Atlantic ocean, and probably never before surpassed in the world, outside of the homes of the nobility, in extent and completeness. It is the property of a San Francisco lady, young and beautiful whose statuesque form they become most regally. She has just left for an Eastern city preparatory to making the grand tour of Europe. There were in the collection between thirty and forty robes of all kinds and of every variety of rare device. Only the finest, the richest and rarest, the most delicate material had been used in their creation—silks, satins, velvets, and snowy laces, such as envelope the form like an encasing snowdrift. Some of them came from Worth, the Paris man milliner, at whose shop they were ordered six months ago. The entire wardrobe, with its attendant paraphernalia, cost $100,000, not including diamonds, with solid gold dress cases and innumerable toilet articles of luxurious conception and fabulous cost.

It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. The Legislature of New York is discussing a proposed amendment to the Constitution of the State which is intended to substitute biennial for annual sessions of the Houses. THE WAR NEWS.

The British Fleet Passes through the Dardanelles Unopposed.

DERBY'S RESIGNATION DENIED.

England Prepared to Bridle Russian Aggression Single Handed.

No Russian Entrance into Constantinople so Far.

AN ANGLO-AUSTRIAN ALLIANCE.

Situation at Constantinople.

Feb. 13.

Last night's announcements in the British Parliament have not appreciably relieved the tension or diminished the excitement. The Pall Mall Gazette yesterday afternoon expressed the expectation that the Government would seek permission to enter the Dardanelles by means of a formal pledge that the fleet should have no other business before Constantinople except that declared in Lord Derby's statement on Friday. The Gazette considered this about as piteous and humiliating a position as possible. It declared it to be the imperative duty of the Ministry to redeem the country from this position at any cost; and demanded such a reconstruction of the Cabinet as would leave no doubt that it, like the country is of one mind.

A Times Vienna despatch says:—What looked yesterday merely as probable seems to-day pretty certain, namely, that the entry of the British fleet into the Dardanelles has become the subject of negotiations, ostensibly between the British Government and the Porte, but in reality, through the Porte, between England and Russia. The Times says:—However desirable, a compromise can only be based upon a re-establishment of some degree of mutual confidence. It still depends upon Russia to take the first step.

It has been reported that Earl Derby has resigned from the Cabinet because the Ministry resolved to force, if necessary the passage of the Dardanelles. The orders for the English fleet to proceed to Constantinople have been repeated.

LONDON, Feb. 13.—The announcement that the British fleet has been ordered to force its way to Constantinople, and that in consequence Lord Derby has resigned, causes intense excitement. It is rumored that the Turkish forts have been ordered to resist, and prevent the passage of English ships. The Russians are marching into Constantinople amidst great excitement and confusion. Nothing definite, however, as to the truth of these rumors has been received.

The Standard positively denies the rumours of an impending dissolution.

The Standard announces that the Transport Department has commenced negotiations with large contractors for the immediate delivery, if required, of a considerable quantity of provisions for the troops.

The independent Liberal members have formed a committee to watch the progress of the Eastern question and prevent the Government from drifting into war. The movement has already received thirty adhesions.

There is considerable excitement in Malta in consequence of telegrams from the Admiralty that all ships under repairs shall be hurried forward and sent to join Admiral Hornby. The Devastation leaves Malta to-day.

A Constantinople despatch says:—It is rumoured this afternoon that the British fleet has passed the Dardanelles.

The Advertiser publishes the following official form:—

We have reason to believe that the fleet has passed the Dardanelles and is now in the sea of Marmora. We understand that Admiral Hornby has left full discretion as to the force he would take with him, and in all probability a larger force has gone than was at first contemplated. We believe the Porte contented itself with a formal protest.

The Standard and Post confirm the report that the British ships have passed the Dardanelles. The Post, however, gives the number as six.

The rumour that Lord Derby has resigned is positively denied.

The Standard says:—

England is ready to act with any or every Power in bridling Russian aggression upon their rights and interests. But if all hold back, we must act by ourselves, and leave our neighbors to save their own interests and honor if they can

It is rumored that Sir Stafford Northcote has been urged to call a meeting of Conservative members to express want of confidence in Lord Derby. Several moderate Conservatives sent Sir Stafford Northcote a memorial deprecating the meeting. The moderate section deny the reports of Earl Derby's impending resignation. Another rumour alleges that a dissolution is imminent. It is generally thought that new elections would largely increase the anti-Russian element in Parliament.

The Telegraph says:—The British fleet entered the Dardanelles at daybreak on Wednesday. The passage thence to Constantinople would occupy from twelve to sixteen hours.

The Black Sea blockade has been raised and many ships are going there for grain. Small pox and fever are increasing among the refugees and the distress is very great. The Emperor William of Germany has subscribed two thousand dollars to the International Refugee fund. It is not believed that the entry of the Russians would give rise to any serious troubles. There would perhaps be great excitement, but public opinion on the subject has so changed that the fears once entertained have almost disappeared.

A St. Petersburg special says:—Late last night the Government received information that the Sultan refused most positively to grant a firman for the entrance of the British fleet. Russia maintains an expectant attitude, and has taken measures for the advance of part of her troops now before Constantinople as soon as any foreign men-of-war enters the straits. The entrance of troops is not intended as an act of hostility, but anxiety is felt lest an accidental collission might occur. If the troops enter, it is thought the Sultan will retire to Broussa. In that event it would be extremely difficult to re-establish even a shadow of the Turkish Empire in Europe. The Russian Government does not for the present desire such a radical solution of the question. In view of all this the negotiations for the assembling of the Conference have for the moment fallen into the back ground. An Anglo-Austrian alliance is now spoken of as a possibility.

A Vienna correspondent reports that torpedoes have actually been shipped from Odessa for the Russians. The prohibition against the shipment of war material in the armistice is a mere form.

A Paris correspondent telegraphs:—It is believed in competent quarters that matters will be arranged peacefully.

A letter from St. Petersburg affirms that the Russians on entering Constantinople will promise to resume their present positions on the assembling of the Conference. It is known that Germany, within the past few days, has urged moderation on Austria.

A Vienna special, however, says the excitement is daily increasing. The word "mobilization," is in everybody's lips, but as yet it is only a rumor. A perfectly reliable person writes from St. Petersburg that the idea of a conference has produced general dissatisfaction.

A Constantinople despatch says: Hostilities have been renewed in Thessaly.

An Athens despatch says:

In consequence of the reports of atrocities in Thessaly, it is feared it may become impossible to restrain the troops from re-crossing the frontier.

A Vienna despatch says:

The situation continues to cause anxiety. It is positively stated that Count Andrassy is preparing a note to Russia, specifying the points in the Russo-Turkish Convention, compromising Austrian interests.

A St. Petersburg letter from a semi-official source states that the retrocession of Bessarabia is a personal question to the Czar. It is therefore impossible for Russia to draw back. A settlement of the question by the Powers, ignoring Russia's wishes, would raise threatening storm clouds.

A Vienna correspondent says:

The Russians are provided with a number of torpedo boats at Rodosto, and intend to insist on the closing of the Bosphorus as a preliminary condition to the granting of firmans for the passage of the Dardanelles.

A Bucharest despatch says:

The Czarewitch is expected here shortly on his way to St. Petersburg. Roumania is taking measures for the mobilization of all able-bodied men against contingencies. Austrian subjects residing in Roumania have been summoned to report at the Austrian consulates in view of a possible Austrian mobilization. Many petitions against the retrocession of Bessarabia to Russia are reaching the Government. Considerable Russian reinforcements are arriving at Jassy.

Tory Tactics.

It is really surprising to notice the length to which dire necessity will drive a political party. The present superabundantly "Loyal" Opposition of the House of Commons entered on the work of this session with many fair promises of success. At least we were so assured. There has been nothing for months past save chucklings over the defeat of the Mackenzie Administration, and the Tory leaders have one and all made very extravagant and highsounding promises to their followers, and have dilated at workingmen's presentations, Conservative banquets, and generally, at all times and on all occasions, on the principles of the Liberal Conservative party of Canada. Even old and time-worn Reformers bestirred themselves and girded on the armor for a fierce combat. But alas! all this bluster and noise and stamping have ended in smoke, and on the very first opportunity in the House, the Tories have displayed a weakness and total want of unity seldom witnessed in any political body. Sir John and his travelling troupe may console themselves with the idea that the first attempt at demolition failed, not on account of party causes, because other considerations affected the question. Well, if this is any consolation, they may have it. Here are the facts:—The Speakership vote was evidently selected with great care by the Conservative leaders as one on which they might build high hopes of success. Mr. Anglin was brought forward as the Speaker. He had resigned that honorable position on the ground that the Independence of Parliament Act had been violated by his connection with a Government printing contract. The whole question had been brought before the Committee on Privileges and Elections. Sir John A. Macdonald, Hector Cameron, Dalton McCarthy, and others of that political stripe were members of that Committee, and were certainly responsible with the rest for the Report on the Speaker's position. That report completely and candidly cleared the character and reputation of Mr. Anglin from all stain of personal corruption and condemned his conduct in no particular. Our readers will remember that Mr. Anglin, however free he might be from personal taint, felt it his duty to resign and was again re-elected. On his appearance in the House, at the beginning of the Session now in progress, Sir John, who had previously prepared a highly technical speech, objected on every possible ground to the proceedings appointing Mr. Anglin Speaker, and the cry was taken up by his obedient followers. The House divided and the Tories were most ignominiously beaten. The flimsy veil of technicality was rudely torn aside, and the House by its vote easily divined the Chieftain's abortive at tempt.

One very peculiar feature of the debate on this question must have made itself painfully prominent to the Catholic supporters of Sir John. Mr. Anglin is one of the most prominent, and at the same time, one of the most highly respected Roman Catholic Irishmen in Canada, yet the Tories singled him out as their first point of attack. And let our friends bear in mind this important fact. The most bitter opponent he had on the occasion was the Grand Officer of the Orangemen, Mr. Mackenzie Bowell! This is certainly coming out with a vengeance, and shows the spirit in which the Conservatives treat their Catholic friends when self rises paramount to principle. Mr. Bowell may be personally a paragon of perfection for anything we know, but we think that the factious part he played in the late attack shows very clearly the estimation in which he holds such prominent Catholics as Mr. Anglin. The treatment which the Speaker received is at once uncourteous and unfair, and certainly undeserved at the hands of those, who claim to be pure and good, but apparently anxious to curry favor with the Chieftain, forget, in their zeal for selfish party interests, when the personal character of another is at stake, that honor and that regard for truth and uprightness, which ought to characterize even the meanest politician.

THE Herald is never at rest unless immediately after writing something to bring the managing proprietor of that institution into prominence. The managing proprietor has been dubbed the well merited title of Sir. Charles Acton from the fact that when he is in the presence of Sir John Macdonald, that individual sinks into insignificance, so far as official or officious bearing is concerned, compared with his assistant. Sir John happened to be termed Mr. John Macdonald the other day. The Herald assumes to be indignant and says:—"The MERCURY has deprived the Conservative leader of his title and calls him Mr. John Macdonald." Well, if our cotem. makes its desire to be mentioned so palpable, we will gratify the manager. It is rumoured that the real truth of the matter is that at a late Tory caucus Sir John Macdonald broached the idea to his followers that he really ought to surrender his knightly handle to the man who was so enthusiastically received all along the road to Gorrie, as well as to Galt. So it will now be known that when Mr. John Macdonald is not prefixed with Sir, it is not done to belittle the chieftain, but merely to pleaseSir Charles.

A Manufacturer's Testimony.

(From the London Advertiser.)

Mr. James Noxon, of Ingersoll, is one of the leading manufacturers of Ontario. He has no need to shrink from a comparison in any respect with such men as Mr. Donald McInnes, Mr. Edward Gurney, or Mr. E. K. Greene. He is an admirable speaker and a well-informed man. And yet Mr. Noxon had the audacity to get up at the Convention and tell the assembled delegates that he was doing well in his business, that manufacturers needed no more protection than was afforded them by a revenue tariff; that for the money they had invested they were doing as well as any other class and better than most others, and that a smaller proportion of their capital was lost through insolvency than of the capital of men in any other line of business, except perhaps agriculture. He denounced the "Protection" cry as a delusion and snare, and declared his willingness to maintain these views and substantiate them with with facts and figures on any platform and against all comers whatsoever. It is needless to say that Mr. NOXON, who is as little given to exaggeration as man can be, was cheered to the echo. Such a man ought to be in the House of Commons, and if he will not go there he ought to be asked to take the stump when the proper time comes. His light has too long been hid under a bushel.

LICENSE COMMISSIONERS.—Messrs. A. Macdonald, Jas. Goldie and Wm. Stevenson, License Commissioners, met on Wednesday evening for general business. The following resolution was passed:—"Whereas it is reported that since the contest in this County respecting the By law under the Temperance Act of 1869—commonly called the Dunkin Act—the rules and regulations respecting the sale of liquor have not been complied with by tavern keepers and grocers as satisfactorily as formerly, the inspector for the South Riding of Wellington is hereby instructed to make special enquiry, and report upon the subject to this Board, as licenses cannot be granted to parties who practically do not appear to have a character for keeping the law, and the rules and regulations they agree to comply with on receiving a license." In connection with the above, the attention of all municipal officers, policemen and constables is called to section 97, Cap. 181, of the Revised Statutes of Ontario, which provides, that it is their duty to proceed against and prosecute offenders under the Liquor License Act; and for every failure of duty in that respect they incur a penalty of $10 for each neglect or default. Renewed vigilence will be observed by the Inspector, and if liquor dealers violate the law they have themselves only to blame if they are punished.

A very clever mode of serving a writ was lately adopted by a London attorney in the case of a bright, particular operatic star whom he couldn't approach. He took a stage box, and after she had finished a song threw a bouquet. It was received with a fascinating smile. Nestling amid the roses was a billet, but it did not prove to be particularly doux. "Victoria," exclaimed the lady, as her eyes caught that name, when she tore it open behind the scenes, "My name is not Victoria; why, what's this?—Victoria, by the grace of God, greeting." The Queen's Bench insisted that it was good service, and she was arrested just as she was about to play, when a kindly peer paid the money and saved her from a sponging house.

Of the 206 members of the House of Commons, 11 are journalists, 15 farmers, 6 manufacturers, 11 doctors, 3 insurance presidents, 5 shipbuilders, 10 lumbermen, 8 millowners, 4 civil engineers, 2 contractors, 1 a brewer, 1 a school inspector, 1 a banker, 55 lawyers, 56 merchants, and 17 gentleman of leisure. They are all patriots besides.

CHAPTER XXI.

ANOTHER SECRET CONFERENCE IN HUXTER ROW—THE ENCOUNTER IN THE PASS.

Skeat wished he could deal with Gilmour Logan directly, and without any associates; he would thereby secure the whole of the price the latter was willing to pay for his information. But he and Gilmour had no personal knowledge of each other, and thus there was a difficulty. There was nothing for it but to take Tom Ironby into his confidence, and concert with him the necessary measures for driving a bargain with Gilmour.

Having reached this conclusion he longed impatiently for Tom to come and liberate him. Every moment now was precious. The loss of an hour might make everything too late, and so bring all their scheming to an abortive end. What a frightful harassing thought. To lose all after they had won so much was maddening to contemplate. Rather than that should be, Skeat resolved to break open the closet door and force his way out of the office in search of Tom. This would have been a step fatal to the secrecy in which it was necessary all their movements should be enveloped, but his excitement was great enough to overlook that, and he had actually set his shoulders to the closet door to burst it open when the creaking sound of the iron gate outside the office reached his ear.

He drew in his breath and listened, till in a moment after he heard the look of the outer door turned, and some one enter, heard the door closed again and bolted, heard Tom's step in the lobby, and his rapid entrance into the room.

"Hist, Skeat," whispered Ironby from the other side of the door.

"All right—quick—let me out," was the prompt response.

Tom Ironby did let him out without a moment's delay, the gas was lit, and then began another long secret conference in that room which had already that same night been the scene of an extraordinary interview.

Ironby was electrified when told who the seeming old man was; still more so when the conversation between Harold and his master was related to him. At the grand point when the tremendous secret was let out, his head nearly reached the ceiling by reason of the bound he gave, and it was several minutes before the cooler and more experienced villain who stood beside him could moderate Tom's expressions of astonishment.

What passed during the subsequent hour through which their conference lasted does not require to be related now, as the result of the course they resolved on will afterwards appear. Let it suffice for the present to note that neither the one nor other was troubled with the slightest scruple in view of the nefarious character of their deliberations. They thoroughly concurred with one another in resolving that Gillespie should by no means be made a sharer in this new speculation; and after mature deliberation, their plans were laid and the course of their proceedings settled to mutual satisfaction.

The Tolbooth clock was striking the hour of two when the office door was stealthily opened, and Skeat glided forth alone into the silence and the darkness by which Huxter Row was at that early morning hour surrounded. Despite the solitude which prevailed, the sense of guilt is so strong in the evil mind that he took as much pains to conceal his forthgoing as he had done to hide his arrival, and he made his way along the Row with noiseless celerity.

Ironby only waited till he was assured that his confederate had made good his departure, then he, too, issued forth, using less caution, as being the articled clerk of the very highly respected advocate Walter Adamson, and one who had a right to leave the office at any hour of the day or night.

A little after the two worthies met again in a noted tavern near the centre of the old town. The landlord of the place was named Dicer, and his house was the resort of a set of the fastest youths of the city—roues, betters, gamblers, and spendthrifts. To this set both Skeat and Ironby belonged. The dissipated and expensive habits it engendered were the chief cause leading them on in that life of fraud and crime which they had begun to pursue. The indulgence of the gross appetites and passions to which they had given the rein, swallowed up far more money than they could honestly command, hence their readiness to engage in such wicked plots as those with which we find them connected. Ironby was the least heavily entangled in the snare, but under Skeat's tuition he was fast descending the slope. Skeat himself was far more deeply involved, and the necessities arising from his position were causing him to make at once an associate and a victim of his unsuspecting master, the gauger of Skene. Here, also, he was proving only too successful, and as the slope of sin is ever steeper and steeper the longer it is trod the reader need not be at all surprised if by-and-by—both are engulphed in a common and inevitable ruin.

But for the present we leave Skeat and Ironby to carouse and gamble with their dissolute companions at Dicer's till dawn of day, and using the privilege which, as a storyteller, we possess of annihilating time and space at pleasure, we drop the curtain and raise it on another scene.

It was the second morning after the night of these meetings in Huxter Row. The grey dawn had but lately broken on the scene, and the scene itself was a rugged, savage pass among the hills, many long miles away from the city. The rude blustering storm which we described at beating first on the granite towers and pinnacles of Aberdeen, then speeding with shrieks of triumph into the country, had by this time expended itself there, leaving tokens thereof, however, on bank and brae, where the rocks glittered with new wetness, where the swollen streams came tumbling and rearing down the steep, where the water courses were full, and rivulets flowed in many directions.

Except for the noise made by these streams and floods all was peace. The wind had ceased; the air carried in it a soft balminess; the first fresh breath of approaching spring which floated in the advancing light falling from a blue sky till the rocks and glens, the valleys and the mountains smiled as with the rejoicing sense of renewing beauty and of release from the stern rule of winter, whose last blast had howled so fiercely through the gorges not many hours before.

The tops of the higher hills and the peaks of the more distant mountains were shrowded in snow; in the ravines, too, and in the valleys snow lay deep; and would be so for many day longer; but, on the whole, the winter had been a mild one, and the spring promised to be more than usually early.

Down the broken bridle-path came a solitary horseman, riding slowly, for the road admitted not of fast motion either for man or horse. It was an early hour for a traveller to be abroad in that secluded region, but, in truth, this horseman had been traversing the hills all night, and was now, in no amiable mood, making for the lower country towards the east.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 13.

Mr. Plumb last night resumed the debate on the Address by continuing the attack on the Minister of Militia. He then reviewed the Speech from the Throne, his remarks extending till six o'clock, when the House, having almost become deserted, rose for recess.

After recess Mr. Norris resumed the debate on the Address. He recounted the circumstances which led to his resignation, and reflected humorously on the visit of Mr. Plumb and Dr. Tupper to his county during his election.

Mr. Sinclair referred to the value of the Prince Edward Island fisheries and congratulated the Government on their having grappled with the temperance question. Concerning the tariff dispute he believed 15 per cent, was the very highest that could be successfully imposed in this country.

Mr. Brunster was of opinion that Canada should take care of herself, regardless of other nations.

Mr. Bowell attacked the member for North Norfolk for having, as he believed, changed his opinion from protection to Free Trade.

Mr. Carlton protested against garbled extracts of his speech to be given to the House. The whole idea of the speech was to show that a 17½ tariff was quite high enough to meet the views of the protectionists, and the Government was wise in adhering to that view.

Mr. Bowell reviewed the question of amnesty, and entered into a long reading of all the charges made against the different Reformers who had been accused of spending money in elections. Finally he alluded to the charges made against Mr. Huntington in connection with certain mining transactions.

This brought Mr. Huntington to his feet. He branded the insinuation as a slander and a falsehood, and characterized the attempt of Mr. Bowell to fix a stain upon him as only worthy of a coward. It was always a matter of regret that party warfare should in its enormities permit such allusions as Mr. Bowell made use of, and to one in Mr. Huntington's position it was only to be expected that he should resent the allusion so injudiciously indulged in with that scorn natural to a gentleman holding the position of a Minister of the Crown. It was perhaps better after all that Mr. Huntington should call a spade a spade. He recounted his history in connection with the copper mines, and dared the member for North Hastings to call for the investigation he had insinuated was required.

Mr. Cook made a very telling attack on Sir John Macdonald for accusing him of spending money in his county when he had to contend against Sir Hugh Allan's ten thousand more. He recounted many points telling against the member for Cardwell, who, as usual, was absent from his seat.

Mr. Dymond entered with a volume of the Globe, which was a signal for some loud remarks on the Opposition side, which were met by the cool remark that it was not astonishing they should squirm at the sight of the Globe. Mr. Dymond then defended the Hon. Geo. Brown from the aspirations cast upon him by the member for North Hastings in reference to the "big push" letter case.

Cries of "Carried" arose, and the House adjourned, Mr. McCallum having the floor.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 13.

A short discussion took place on the Agricultural College and Model Farm, the occasion of which was Mr. Wigle's motion for a return of the receipts and expenditures connected with the institution. The arguments of the mover went to show that the College and Farm had not been a success, and Mr. Lauder went further, and predicted that it never would be a success.

Mr. Wood announced to the House that he would make what explanations he had to make when he asked the House to vote the item which had been placed in the estimates.

Mr. Bethune moved for a return showing the number of letters sent out from the various Government Departments during the years 1868 and 1877 respectively, the object being to show whether the amount of Departmental work had increased as rapidly as the expenditure for civil government. After some discussion of the value of the number of Departmental letters as a criterion of the amount of Departmental work done, and an amendment replacing the years mentioned by the years 1868 to 1871, and 1873 to 1877 inclusive, the motion was carried.

Mr. Hodgins moved for a statement of the fees collected for shorthand notes of evidence during 1876 and 1877 in the Superior Courts. He contended that the introduction of short-hand reporting had been productive of much good, but he would like to see the fees reduced in order to lessen the costs to appellants. The motion was agreed to after an expression of doubt from Mr. Macdougall as to the value of short-hand reporting in the Courts, and his usual distribe against judge-made law, and the multiplicity of Courts, and a spirited rejoinder from the Premier.

After recess several Private Bills were passed through Committee, some discussion taking place on the expediency of granting to railway companies the right to expropriate land for gravel pits. The discussion was not concluded when the hour for committee work had expired.

Mr. Bethune then moved the second reading of his Municipal Cumulative Voting Bill. After he had argued at some length in favour of the measure, Mr. Calvin protested that the rich had enough of influence already.

Mr. Mowat argued stronely, and at great length, against the Bill from various points of view, and Mr. Cameron briefly concurred in the position taken by the Premier. After some remarks in the same direction from Messrs. Broder, Macdougall, Meredith, and others the Bill was withdrawn, and the House adjourned at 11:30.

Ten arches of the iron bridge over the Schuylkill River at South street, Philadelphia, fell on Saturday. Workmen were engaged at the time of the accident in shoring a defective arch, but were warned in time. Loss $100,000. The entire bridge cost $770,000.

Mr. James Young made an important statement in the Convention on Wednesday night—a statement the truth of which can easily be verified a few days hence when the Public Accounts for 1876-'77 are published. According to him, the expenditure for that financial year was $23,586,000, a reduction of about $800,000 as compared with the year before, and only some $270,000 more than the expenditure of 1873-'74, the last year for which Sir John A. Macdonald's Government was responsible. In view of the greatly extended area over which the Civil Government has since that time extended this must be regarded as an extraordinary achievement in the way of administration, especially when the enormous magnitude of the legacies left by the Goverment is taken into account.

At a discussion recently in New Brunswick, Mr. Palmer, M.P., for St. John, N.B., made the assertion that that "to his personal knowledge, Mr. Mackenzie, the Premier, had drank four or five times as much liquor in five years as Sir John A. Macdonald." This will be news to the good people of Elgin and Lambton, and to everybody else acquainted with Mr. Mackenzie's personal habits. It is a case, however, in which "comparisions are odious," and in which one of the parties at all events has reason to pray Heaven save him from his friends.

Mr. Froude, the historian, describes Earl Beaconsfield as "posing like Harlequin before the footlights." Mr. Freeman, also an historian, speaks sharply of "government by a mountebank."

Book Publications.

THE LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW, for January, has been published by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay Street, New York. We can do little more than enumerate the articles: Art. I., in a review of Mr. Symonds' recent work, considers the moral and intellectual character of the renaissance in Italy and England. Art. II., on the use and abuse of scientific lectures, gives high praise to Prof. Tyndall for his endeavors to render scientific truth to the public at large, but severely condemns him for carrying his speculations beyond the province of the natural sciences. Art. III., in Schliemann's Mycenae, is a discussion by a writer who has seen and handled the treasures of the truth of Dr. S.'s interpretation of his discovery. Art. IV., "March of an English Generation through Life."

THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW, for January, just published by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, 41 Barclay st., New York, commences the year with an unusually interesting number. I. "The Mikado's Empire" reviews Griffis's work of the same name, and presents a brief survey of the resources, climate, people, government, and religion of Japan. II. "The Americans in Turkey" is an account of the secular results of the work of American missionaries in Turkey during the past fifty years, and of their educational establishments. III. "Savings and Savings Banks." A history of savings banks in general, and a minute description of the working of the Post Office Savings Bank of Great Britain. IV. "Precious Stones." Gives their relative values, and a history of those that are most celebrated. V. "Capital and Labor." A long and comprehensive article, being an attempt to give a impartial statement of the principles and facts on both sides. VI. "Comprehension." A discussion of the vital problem of doctrinal comprehension, especially in connection with Congregationalism. VII. "Parody and Parodists." A lively article, quoting freely from Calverley and other recent parodists. VIII. "Professor Henry Rogers." The number concludes, as usual, with many short notices of the principal recent publications in all departments of literature. The periodicals reprinted by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, (41 Barclay street N. Y.) are as follows: The London Quarterly, Edinburgh, Westminster, and British Quarterly Reviews and Blackwood's Magazine. Price, $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the postage is prepaid by the Publishers.

Dated this first day of February, 1878.

Eramosa Township Council Meeting.

This Council met at the Centre Inn on the 11th inst. Members all present; the Reeve in the chair. A By-law was introduced by Mr. Duffield, and read a first and second time; the third reading was deferred until the next meeting of Council. The Auditors' Report was presented by the Clerk, and received and approved. A resolution was passed that no petitions for improvement of roads and bridges be received after the May meeting of the Council, except in cases of accidental damage. The Clerk was directed to procure tenders for the printing of the minutes and voters' lists from printing offices within the County of Wellington. $10 were ordered to be paid to Wm. Loree for repairing a culvert in Everton. $1 dog tax was ordered to be refunded to Wm. Bowles. The taxes charged to Edward Wilkinson, $2.48, and Wm. Scarrow, $1, were remitted, owing to their indigent circumstances.

Alex. McIntosh appeared before the Council, and stated his case with regard to his being sued in the Division Court at Rockwood for declining to give a certificate for statute labor done upon the townline of Erin and Eramosa, which said labor was for property in the township of Erin, and for which he was brought in for damages. The Council decided to defer consideration of the matter until next meeting of Council so as to afford time to make further enquiry into the matter.

The Council then adjourned to meet again at the Centre Inn on Monday, the 25th day of March next, at 10 o'clock a.m. J. A. DAVIDSON, Township Clerk.

A Case Twenty-Five Years Standing.

FROM THE VENERABLE ARCHDEACON SCOTT. D. D., OF DUNHAM, P. Q.

* * * "I am an inveterate Dyspeptic of more than twenty-five years' standing."

* * * "I have been so wonderfully benefitted in the three short weeks during which I have used the Peruvian Syrup, that I can scarcely persuade myself of the reality—People who have known me are astonished at the change."

"I am widely known, and can but recommend to others that which has done so much for me." Sold by all druggists.

Lord Brougham and Barnes, formerly editor of the Times, cordially detested each other, and it is said to have suddenly occurred to the former, when he met with a coach accident on his way north, to spread a report that he had been killed, and thus hoax Barnes into writing an abusive obituary notice. To strengthen the rumor he had his coffin ordered, and all preparations made for his funeral. In those days there were no telegraphs and no railways, and for a day or two the Times was incredulous. Barnes, however, despatched a reporter to the north by special postchaise, who went to Lord Brougham's house, and being there shown the coffin with a pall upon it, returned convinced. Next day the Times came out with a biography, every line of which, to use a memorable phrase, was written with a pen dipped in venom and gall. Brougham, it is said, enjoyed the joke immensely. Barnes, however, treasured it up as an additional wrong.

The Conrt Journal relates a little incident of Mr. Carlyle, who is a frequent visitor to the London library. Other distinguished men go there also, and recently a discussion arose between Mr. Carlyle and another celebrity. The point in question involved a reference to one of Mr. Carlyle's own books. On application to the librarian it could not be found, and the two worthies sallied out to purchase a copy at a bookseller's, whose counters were literally covered with novels. To the astonishment of Mr. Carlyle, the bookseller told him he never heard of such a book, and offered the old man a copy of Miss Braddon's "Weavers and Weft." The sequel need hardly be told: Mr. Carlyle rushed out of the shop, shook hands with his friend, and went home to Chelsea in utter disgust.

When Mr. Hill was some years ago in Scotland, he was introduced to an aged minister, somewhat resembling himself in piety and eccentricity. The old man looked at him for some time very earnestly, and at length said, "Weel, I have been looking for some time at the leens on your face." "And what do you think of it?" said Mr. Hill. "Why, I am thinking that if the grace of God hadna' changed your heart, you would ha' been a most tremendous rogue." Mr. Hill laughed heartily, and said, "Well, you have hit the nail on the head."

A "better terms" deputation from the Local Government left St. John, N. B., on Saturday for Ottawa.

Guelph Markets.

GUELPH, Feb. 14 1878.

The weather for the past week has been so changeable that farmers from a distance could not well venture out to market their produce, but since the last fall of snow the appearance of our market is far more lively than it was for a few days previous, and even now people from the country complain of their not being uniform sleighing along their respective roads leading to town.

There is no alteration of any account in prices, and everything offered is freely bought up at the quotations we append, although the prospects outside for higher prices are anything but encouraging for dealers to operate to any extent and with any degree of safety. The present prevailing uneasiness in Europe has the tendency so far to prevent buyers from investing largely, but should a war be the result no doubt there will be more ready buyers on the surface than can be seen at present. Time alone can tell whether higher prices can be obtained or not this Spring. All in all, present figures are a good average for everything brought to market.

We see that dressed hogs in Toronto sell at from $4 50 to $4.60 per 100 lbs., while on the Guelph market this morning $5.12½ was paid for a select few. The general range, however, is from $4.60 to $5.00. Who says Guelph does not still lead in the way of high prices?

Here are the correct prices paid up to the last moment of our going to press:—

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 13.

Mr. Plumb last night resumed the debate on the Address by continuing the attack on the Minister of Militia. He then reviewed the Speech from the Throne, his remarks extending till six o'clock, when the House, having almost become deserted, rose for recess.

After recess Mr. Norris resumed the debate on the Address. He recounted the circumstances which led to his resignation, and reflected humorously on the visit of Mr. Plumb and Dr. Tupper to his county during his election.

Mr. Sinclair referred to the value of the Prince Edward Island fisheries and congratulated the Government on their having grappled with the temperance question. Concerning the tariff dispute he believed 15 per cent, was the very highest that could be successfully imposed in this country.

Mr. Brunster was of opinion that Canada should take care of herself, regardless of other nations.

Mr. Bowell attacked the member for North Norfolk for having, as he believed, changed his opinion from protection to Free Trade.

Mr. Carlton protested against garbled extracts of his speech to be given to the House. The whole idea of the speech was to show that a 17½ tariff was quite high enough to meet the views of the protectionists, and the Government was wise in adhering to that view.

Mr. Bowell reviewed the question of amnesty, and entered into a long reading of all the charges made against the different Reformers who had been accused of spending money in elections. Finally he alluded to the charges made against Mr. Huntington in connection with certain mining transactions.

This brought Mr. Huntington to his feet. He branded the insinuation as a slander and a falsehood, and characterized the attempt of Mr. Bowell to fix a stain upon him as only worthy of a coward. It was always a matter of regret that party warfare should in its enmities permit such allusions as Mr. Bowell made use of, and to one in Mr. Huntington's position it was only to be expected that he should resent the allusion so injudiciously indulged in with that scorn natural to a gentleman holding the position of a Minister of the Crown. It was perhaps better after all that Mr. Huntington should call a spade a spade. He recounted his history in connection with the copper mines, and dared the member for North Hastings to call for the investigation he had insinuated was required.

Mr. Cook made a very telling attack on Sir John Macdonald for accusing him of spending money in his county when he had to contend against Sir Hugh Allan's ten thousand more. He recounted many points telling against the member for Cardwell, who, as usual, was absent from his seat.

Mr. Dymond entered with a volume of the Globe, which was a signal for some loud remarks on the Opposition side, which were met by the cool remark that it was not astonishing they should squirm at the sight of the Globe. Mr. Dymond then defended the Hon. Geo. Brown from the aspirations cast upon him by the member for North Hastings in reference to the "big push" letter case.

Cries of "Carried" arose, and the House adjourned, Mr. McCallum having the floor.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 13.

A short discussion took place on the Agricultural College and Model Farm, the occasion of which was Mr. Wigle's motion for a return of the receipts and expenditures connected with the institution. The arguments of the mover went to show that the College and Farm had not been a success, and Mr. Lauder went further and predicted that it never would be a success.

Mr. Wood announced to the House that he would make what explanations he had to make when he asked the House to vote the item which had been placed in the estimates.

Mr. Bethune moved for a return showing the number of letters sent out from the various Government Departments during the years 1868 and 1877 respectively, the object being to show whether the amount of Departmental work had increased as rapidly as the expenditure for civil government. After some discussion of the value of the number of Departmental letters as a criterion of the amount of Departmental work done, and an amendment replacing the years mentioned by the years 1868 to 1871, and 1873 to 1877 inclusive, the motion was carried.

Mr. Hodgins moved for a statement of the fees collected for shorthand notes of evidence during 1876 and 1877 in the Superior Courts. He contended that the introduction of short-hand reporting had been productive of much good, but he would like to see the fees reduced in order to lessen the costs to appellants. The motion was agreed to after an expression of doubt from Mr. Macdougall as to the value of short-hand reporting in the Courts, and his usual diatribe against judge-made law, and the multiplicity of Courts, and a spirited rejoinder from the Premier.

After recess several Private Bills were passed through Committee, some discussion taking place on the expediency of granting to railway companies the right to expropriate land for gravel pits. The discussion was not concluded when the hour for committee work had expired.

Mr. Bethune then moved the second reading of his Municipal Cumulative Voting Bill. After he had argued at some length in favour of the measure, Mr. Calvin protested that the rich had enough of influence already.

Mr. Mowat argued strongly, and at great length, against the Bill from various points of view, and Mr. Cameron briefly concurred in the position taken by the Premier. After some remarks in the same direction from Messrs. Broder, Macdougall, Meredith, and others the Bill was withdrawn, and the House adjourned at 11:30.

Ten arches of the iron bridge over the Schuylkill River at South street, Philadelphia, fell on Saturday. Workmen were engaged at the time of the accident in shoring a defective arch, but were warned in time. Loss $100,000. The entire bridge cost $770,000.

Mr. James Young made an important statement in the Convention on Wednesday night—a statement the truth of which can easily be verified a few days hence when the Public Accounts for 1876-'77 are published. According to him, the expenditure for that financial year was $23,586,000, a reduction of about $800,000 as compared with the year before, and only some $270,000 more than the expenditure of 1873-'74, the last year for which Sir John A. Macdonald's Government was responsible. In view of the greatly extended area over which the Civil Government has since that time extended this must be regarded as an extraordinary achievement in the way of administration, especially when the enormous magnitude of the legacies left by the Government is taken into account.

At a discussion recently in New Brunswick, Mr. Palmer, M.P., for St. John, N.B., made the assertion that that "to his personal knowledge, Mr. Mackenzie, the Premier, had drank four or five times as much liquor in five years as Sir John A. Macdonald." This will be news to the good people of Elgin and Lambton, and to everybody else acquainted with Mr. Mackenzie's personal habits. It is a case, however, in which "comparisions are odious," and in which one of the parties at all events has reason to pray Heaven save him from his friends.

Mr. Froude, the historian, describes Earl Beaconsfield as "posing like Harlequin before the footlights." Mr. Freeman, also an historian, speaks sharply of "government by a mountebank."

Book Publications.

THE LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW, for January, has been published by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay Street, New York. We can do little more than enumerate the articles: Art. I., in a review of Mr. Symonds' recent work, considers the moral and intellectual character of the renaissance in Italy and England. Art. II., on the use and abuse of scientific lectures, gives high praise to Prof. Tyndall for his endeavors to render scientific truth to the public at large, but severely condemns him for carrying his speculations beyond the province of the natural sciences. Art. III., in Schliemann's Mycenae, is a discussion by a writer who has seen and handled the treasures of the truth of Dr. S.'s interpretation of his discovery. Art. IV., "March of an English Generation through Life."

THE BRITISH QUARTERLY REVIEW, for January, just published by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, 41 Barclay st., New York, commences the year with an unusually interesting number. I. "The Mikado's Empire" reviews Griffis's work of the same name, and presents a brief survey of the resources, climate, people, government, and religion of Japan. II. "The Americans in Turkey" is an account of the secular results of the work of American missionaries in Turkey during the past fifty years, and of their educational establishments. III. "Savings and Savings Banks." A history of savings banks in general, and a minute description of the working of the Post Office Savings Bank of Great Britain. IV. "Precious Stones." Gives their relative values, and a history of those that are most celebrated. V. "Capital and Labor." A long and comprehensive article, being an attempt to give an impartial statement of the principles and facts on both sides. VI. "Comprehension." A discussion of the vital problem of doctrinal comprehension, especially in connection with Congregationalism. VII. "Parody and Parodists." A lively article, quoting freely from Calverley and other recent parodists. VIII. "Professor Henry Rogers." The number concludes, as usual, with many short notices of the principal recent publications in all departments of literature. The periodicals reprinted by the Leonard Scott Publishing Company, (41 Barclay street N. Y.) are as follows: The London Quarterly, Edinburgh, Westminster, and British Quarterly Reviews and Blackwood's Magazine. Price, $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the postage is prepaid by the Publishers.

Dated this first day of February, 1878.

Eramosa Township Council Meeting.

This Council met at the Centre Inn on the 11th inst. Members all present: the Reeve in the chair. A By-law was introduced by Mr. Duffield, and read a first and second time; the third reading was deferred until the next meeting of Council. The Auditors' Report was presented by the Clerk, and received and approved. A resolution was passed that no petitions for improvement of roads and bridges be received after the May meeting of the Council, except in cases of accidental damage. The Clerk was directed to procure tenders for the printing of the minutes and voters' lists from printing offices within the County of Wellington. $10 were ordered to be paid to Wm. Loree for repairing a culvert in Everton. $1 dog tax was ordered to be refunded to Wm. Bowles. The taxes charged to Edward Wilkinson, $2.18, and Wm. Scarrow, $1, were remitted, owing to their indigent circumstances.

Alex. McIntosh appeared before the Council, and stated his case with regard to his being sued in the Division Court at Rockwood for declining to give a certificate for statute labor done upon the townline of Erin and Eramosa, which said labor was for property in the township of Erin, and for which he was brought in for damages. The Council decided to defer consideration of the matter until next meeting of Council so as to afford time to make further enquiry into the matter.

The Council then adjourned to meet again at the Centre Inn on Monday, the 25th day of March next, at 10 o'clock a.m. J. A. DAVIDSON, Township Clerk.

A Case Twenty-Five Years Standing.

FROM THE VENERABLE ARCHDEACON SCOTT.

D. D., OF DUNHAM, P. Q.

* * * "I am an inveterate Dyspeptic of more than twenty-five years' standing."

* * * "I have been so wonderfully benefitted in the three short weeks during which I have used the Peruvian Syrup, that I can scarcely persuade myself of the reality—People who have known me are astonished at the change."

"I am widely known, and can but recommend to others that which has done so much for me." Sold by all druggists.

Lord Brougham and Barnes, formerly editor of the Times, cordially detested each other, and it is said to have suddenly occurred to the former, when he met with a coach accident on his way north, to spread a report that he had been killed, and thus hoax Barnes into writing an abusive obituary notice. To strengthen the rumor he had his coffin ordered, and all preparations made for his funeral. In those days there were no telegraphs and no railways, and for a day or two the Times was incredulous. Barnes, however, despatched a reporter to the north by special postchaise, who went to Lord Brougham's house, and being there shown the coffin with a pall upon it, returned convinced. Next day the Times came out with a biography, every line of which, to use a memorable phrase, was written with a pen dipped in venom and gall. Brougham, it is said, enjoyed the joke immensely. Barnes, however, treasured it up as an additional wrong.

The Court Journal relates a little incident of Mr. Carlyle, who is a frequent visitor to the London library. Other distinguished men go there also, and recently a discussion arose between Mr. Carlyle and another celebrity. The point in question involved a reference to one of Mr. Carlyle's own books. On application to the librarian it could not be found, and the two worthies as lied out to purchase a copy at a bookseller's, whose counters were literally covered with novels. To the astonishment of Mr. Carlyle, the bookseller told him he never heard of such a book, and offered the old man a copy of Miss Braddon's "Weavers and Weft." The sequel need hardly be told: Mr. Carlyle rushed out of the shop, shook hands with his friend, and went home to Chelsea in utter disgust.

When Mr. Hill was some years ago in Scotland, he was introduced to an aged minister, somewhat resembling himself in piety and eccentricity. The old man looked at him for some time very earnestly, and at length said, "Weel, I have been looking for some time at the leens on your face." "And what do you think of it?" said Mr. Hill. "Why, I am thinking that if the grace of God hadna' changed your heart, you would ha' been a most tremendous rogue." Mr. Hill laughed heartily, and said, "Well, you have hit the nail on the head."

A "better terms" deputation from the Local Government left St. John, N. B., on Saturday for Ottawa.

Guelph Markets.

GUELPH, Feb. 14 1878.

The weather for the past week has been so changeable that farmers from a distance could not well venture out to market their produce, but since the last fall of snow the appearance of our market is far more lively than it was for a few days previous, and even now people from the country complain of their not being uniform sleighing along their respective roads leading to town.

There is no alteration of any account in prices, and everything offered is freely bought up at the quotations we append, although the prospects outside for higher prices are anything but encouraging for dealers to operate to any extent and with any degree of safety. The present prevailing uneasiness in Europe has the tendency so far to prevent buyers from investing largely, but should a war be the result no doubt there will be more ready buyers on the surface than can be seen at present. Time alone can tell whether higher prices can be obtained or not this Spring. All in all, present figures are a good average for everything brought to market.

We see that dressed hogs in Toronto sell at from $4 50 to $4.60 per 100 lbs., while on the Guelph market this morning $5.12½ was paid for a select few. The general range, however, is from $4.60 to $5.00. Who says Guelph does not still lead in the way of high prices?

Here are the correct prices paid up to the last moment of our going to press:—

The Evening Mercury

FRIDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 15, 1878.

Scottish-American Loyalty.

BY JOHN C. MACPHERSON, CHICAGO, ILL.

Scotia, though an angry ocean
Lies between us and thy shore;
Distance lessens not devotion,
Absence makes us love the more:
Threats of war by king or tyrant,
'Gainst thy freedom and thy fame;
We shall hurl them back defiant,
And defend thy honoured name.

Those who think our valor dormant,
And thy glory on the wane,
And with sneer and shout triumphant,
Thy dishonour loud proclaim,
Yet shall know that we inherit
Virtues of heroic sires;
That our fathers' martial spirit
Still each patriot's breast inspires.

Where our country's honour calls us,
We shall rally as of yore,
And the gibrock's strains shall rouse us,
As they oft have done before.
And its blast of war resounding,
Through Columbia's forests green,
Back shall come the shout re-echoing—
Scotland's honour, Britain's Queen.

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

The Czar and Roumania.

LONDON, Feb. 15.—A despatch from Bucharest says the Czar has written a letter to Prince Charles of Roumania, demanding retrocession of Bessarabia, and that Roumania has refused to accede to the demand.

English Residents in St. Petersburg Excited.

The Fleet to be at Constantinople To morrow.

LONDON, Feb. 15.

A despatch to Reuter's Telegraph Co. from Constantinople, Feb. 14th, says:—The British fleet is expected to enter the Bosphorus to-morrow.

A despatch of to-day's date from St. Petersburg to Reuter says: There is great anxiety here, particularly among English residents on account of the critical situation, the Russian national feeling being excited.

FURIOUS DRIVING cost John Hawkins, of Erin, $1 and $3.75 costs at the Police Court this morning. No person allowed to drive at a 2:40 pace within the corporation.

THIGH FRACTURED.—On Thursday morning Mr. James Inglis, son of Mr. John Inglis, of Guelph, met with an accident while unloading the Corliss engine shipped to Orangeville a day or two ago. He received a severe fracture of his thigh.

ST. VALENTINE.—The rush at the Post Office all day yesterday and to-day has been something extraordinary. In fact it has been nearly equal to the old-time days when the present heads of families wore frocks and pinafores, and no person, in the opinion of the younger portion of the community, amounted to anything unless they received a reminder—either a love sonnet, or a horrid caricature—of the arrival of St. Valentine's Day. The clerks in the Guelph Post Office have already handed out several thousand missives to the young people, and they still are in demand. The bookstores have done a lively trade in the tender missives during the past few days.

Who made the Presentation?

(From the Galt Reformer.)

The secretary of the committee of workingmen concerned in the recent demonstration in honor of the hero of the Pacific Scandal, writes us contradicting a statement made by the Guelph MERCURY, "to the effect that the oil painting recently presented to Lady Macdonald was not presented by the workingmen of Galt." For the purpose of allowing the public to judge for themselves how much truth there is in that statement," he requests us to publish a list of subscribers, which he sends us. He further adds that the list was sent to the MERCURY, which refused to publish it.

This statement of "A.C." B., regarding the MERCURY'S refusal, is literally correct, but might lead some to infer that that journal acted unfairly, which certainly was not the case. The MERCURY gave the number of names—112—on the list, and frankly accepted "A.C.'s" representation that they were the names of the workingmen who subscribed to the presentation. This it might not have done had it known more about the list, which appears to be the same sent to us. In all there are 112 names on the paper for sums varying from 25c to a dollar—names of workingmen, but not "workingmen" in the sense our Galt Tories and "A. C." would have the public understand the term; for among the names we find most of the market butchers, as well as clerks and book-keepers in several establishments of the town. What we are surprised at is that the committee's secretary should have been so considerate of the feelings of sanguine Grits that he did not give the names of the other workingmen? who subscribed the remaining two-thirds of the presentation fund. The "count" would have been more complete if the upper portion of the subscription paper had not been cut off, leaving only an occasional projecting stroke, to show that other workingmen, with longer purses, had also subscribed. Of the 112 given, it is to be hoped for the sake of the sham that not many were like one of them who told the editor of this paper that when the canvassers importuned him he subscribed "to get rid of them," and "was so disgusted with Sir John's speech that he left before it was half through." The truth regarding the presentation is that "the workingmen of Galt" did not make it, but that a small proportion of their number subscribed less than one third of the presentation fund, and was only used by Tory schemers to give the polish of "honest labor" to a sham.

DON'T PROCRASTINATE.—But as soon as you find you have caught a cold, or feel the least symptoms of hoarseness or pain in the chest, go to your druggists and get a bottle of Wilson's Wild Cherry. It will nip your disease in the bud, and prevent any possibility of its affecting the lungs. Don't procrastinate.

WEATHER PROBS.—Moderate easterly to north-easterly winds; cloudy to fair weather, and nearly stationary temperature, are the weather probabilities for to-day.

A BILL for the incorporation of Harriston as a town, and a Bill for the incorporation of the Arthur Junction Railway Company, have received first readings in the Local Legislature.

DISORDERLY.—Wm. Mays was fined $5 and $3 costs at the Police Court this morning for disorderly conduct in connection with the Feek assault case, on Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Feek withdrew the charge of assault and battery made by him.

HAMS.—Mr. J. T. Brill is now buying pork on the Toronto Market. 5,000 hams for curing have been received here from that city, dressed by Mr. Brill's own men. Several car loads have lately been shipped to the Ottawa district, and four car loads of prime cured meats are to be shipped to England in a few days.

THE buildings adjoining the old Commercial hotel on Wilson street are now being removed by the purchaser, Mr. George Barber. This will open up Northumberland street to the Market Square. The street is a leading one to the Great Western and Grand Trunk freight stations, and will be extensively used after the opening has been made between Wilson and Norfolk streets. Mr. Barber purposes using the material he is removing, in building an addition to his block on Gordon street.

WATERLOO Co. furnishes a good supply of criminals for the county jail at Berlin. The News states that in all probability the Sheriff will have to take a batch of prisoners to some other county for safe keeping. The present law is such that if one county fails to have ample jail accommodation, the authorities are obliged to take their surplus prisoners elsewhere, and the county from which they are sent will have to pay all the expenses.

RETURNS.—The annual report of the Inspector of Division Courts of Ontario, ending Nov. 30th, 1877, shows that the business of Wellington County for the twelve months reported upon were as follows:

THE regular monthly social at the Baptist Church, last evening, was well attended and a very interesting programme presented, which appeared to be thoroughly appreciated by the audience. It consisted of anthems by the choir, solo by Mr. Head, solo with guitar accompaniment by Mr. W. L. Newton, duett by Mrs. Durkee and Mrs. Rogers, duett and chorus by several young people, readings by Mrs. Raymond, Mr. Rodgers and Mr. Joyce, and the six virtues being represented in short recitations by six young ladies. The programme was, perhaps, above the average, the whole being exceedingly well rendered. A very fair collection was taken up at the close.

VINDICATED.—One Alf. Howard, not the member of the Guelph Band, but another Alfred, whose complexion is much shadier, was up before the Police Magistrate this morning, charged with stealing a coat, feather bed, and divers other articles. The soft impeachment was denied with honest indignation beaming on the prisoner's countenance. He had not done so, and the for proof called for in clarion tones. The proof was not forthcoming, and Alfred was released from custody.

ORANGE BALL AT ROCKWOOD.—The ball and supper given by the Orange lodge of Rockwood, in the town hall of that place, was quite a success. Twenty couples from Guelph were present. Several songs were sung, which added materially to the enjoyment of all. Mr. John Drayton sang "Tim Flaherty" amid applause, and Mr. Wisku sang "The garden where the praties grow" with good effect. Miss Ettie Kay sang "Beautiful bells," and also played the accompaniments in an admirable manner. Robertson's quadrille band, from Campbellsville, furnished music. Dancing was kept up till a late hour in the morning, when the company dispersed.

COASTING.—Complaints have on several occasions been made by residents on the Eramosa hill that a number of young lads create a considerable disturbance in that vicinity by coasting down the hill side. On Thursday evening Chief Constable Kelly paid a visit to the neighborhood and found that about one hundred boys were assembled with their sleds and having a high old time generally. When that number of boys are all together and feeling in pretty good humor, the noise made is equal to about a dozen or more steam whistles, therefore an idea may be had what the parties living in the neighborhood have to put up with so long as there is snow on the hill. Chief Kelly dispersed the boys. It is his intention to lay information against a number of them as nuisances if they do not cease their annoyances.

Masquerading.

A Brilliant Scene—Mirth Holding High Carnival.

The first carnival, arranged for and carried out by the Guelph Curling and Skating Rink Company, was a success. The second, which came off on Thursday evening, was a greater success in every respect. There were more masked skaters dressed in fancy costumes; there was by far a larger attendance than ever assembled at any previous affair of the kind; and the music furnished by Vale's quadrille band added such a pleasing feature that it is not likely the committee of management will dispense with their services on any similar occasion in future. Some estimated the number within the rink—skaters and spectators—to be nearly one thousand. Although that estimate is a little large, the number would reach nearly to those figures.

Although everything was done that very well could be, to ensure the comfort of spectators, nevertheless improvements were suggestive to those who were obliged to stand for a couple of hours watching the graceful gliding of some, the spasmodic hobbling of those who evidently had donned their skates for the first time in years, or the erratic gyrations of those who took tumbles to themselves very unexpectedly, and finally became so grieved at the bumps and misfortunes that befel them that they were not happy until the iron blades were detached from their feet, and they had found their way to the cool, bracing atmosphere without, where they might safely deliver an address without the public generally knowing that they were profane. An improvement might be made in the arrangement of the dressing rooms, by providing proper sheives to hold the cloaks and shawls of ladies; and a decided boon could be conferred on spectatcrs by having raised seats at the west end of the building. If the patronage of the present season warrants it, doubtless the directors will devise some better scheme of accomodation.

The scene during the entire evening was one of great brilliancy, and although it could not have been expected that collisions between the skaters would not happen, they were all taken in good part, and harmony reigned supreme.

Visitors in costume from Toronto, Georgetown, Acton and Galt were present, and several of them stated that Guelph certainly had an excellent rink, and that this town was just the place to come to for a social time and real enjoyment.

Among the best characters on the ice were the party that made up the Lord Hicks elopement case. Geo. P. Cormack personated Mrs. Lord to a nicety, and was dressed very becomingly. Nothing was wanting in the costume. The white veil, orange blossoms, sweet smile, dimpled chin and cheeks, lily white, and the general happy and self satisfied cast of countenance said to be a part of a bride that has just captured a rich husband, were all there. It is thought, however, that the real Mrs. Lord would not ask a gentleman for a "chew." H. C. Taylor, as Mr. Lord was dressed very loudly, and assumed the character well. The page was very attentive to the trail. A young lad named Albert Stewart, had one of the finest costumes on the ice. It was that of a Mandarin, and besides he is an excellent skater. O. Coulson as an Irish washerwoman had a correct conception of the character. His costume was good, and he acted the part, with the real Irish brogue, to perfection. The washerwoman displayed strong devotion to a swell Ethiopian, and the two caused much merriment among the spectators. The costumes of the young ladies dressed as Highland lassies appeared very neat. Mr. G. D. Pringle wore the kilts with becoming grace and he had for a partner little Miss Oliver, of Woodstock, dressed as a Highland laddie. The graceful skating of this little girl was the subject of remark. Miss Romain made an excellent "Child of the Regiment." The elegance and grace of this lady on the ice has already been referred to. Misses Paterson and Davidson, as Di Vernon and Lady Gay Spanker, noted equestriennes, wore very neat habits. The character of Snowflake, assumed by Miss Minnie Arnold, was a very pretty one. Taking the costumes worn by the ladies as a whole, considerable taste and ingenuity were displayed in the make up. The acting of Jonas Jones as a clown was quite equal to many who receive salaries for appearing in the saw dust ring. His acrobatic performances were intensely amusing. His disappearance early in the evening, caused many to suppose that he must have repaired to some blacksmith shop for readjustment. If he did not require reorganizing, his body must be a much harder substance than crystallized water. Mr. Alex. Macdonald appeared on the ice encased in hay, and was supposed to represent a hay-cock. It was certainly a novel costume. A bottle of Old Tom Gin encased the body of a young man, and it was remarkable how persistently many hung around him. There were many other characters which appeared to good advantage, but it would be an almost endless job to particularize.

By nine o'clock many of the maskers had found one another out, and when time for unmasking had arrived, as a rule the ladies and gentlemen, girls and boys, found themselves with partners which would have been openly chosen. There was one exception, however, "Shine," as a rollicking Pat, had been skating with a little miss that excused herself immediately after he had unmasked.

The following list was copied from the Secretary's books, but besides these there were a few other costumes that were very ordinary:

ACCIDENT ON THE W., G. & B. RAILWAY.—On Thursday while the pay train, Conductor Carter, on the Wellington, Grey, and Bruce Railway was within two hundred yards of Port Elgin, a team of horses which became unmanageable, and driven by a man named Malcolm McLean, ran into the train between the first and second coach. McLean jumped out of the back, and, the waggon falling upon him, he sustained injuries which it is thought will prove fatal. One horse was instantly killed and the other dangerously injured. McLean, who resides on the 7th concession of Bruce, near Underwood, had his leg and each arm broken in two places. His feet was also crushed so that the toes had to be amputated. He also received injuries about the head. The waggon was smashed to atoms, and the steps of the coach were broken.

OUTRAGE AND MURDER NEAR ST. JOHN, N. B.—A brutal and mysterious murder was committed at Little River, four miles from St. John, on Wednesday night. The particulars, so far as known, are as follows: Mrs. Mary Quinn, a widow, 65 years old, has been keeping house for a widower named Jno. Crowley, for some years past. It is believed that they have always lived on good terms. Yesterday morning Crowley, who works in the woods for Thomas Davidson, proceeded to work as usual. When he returned at six o'clock in the evening he says he found Mrs. Quinn lying dead on the floor, her clothes torn and disordered and several ghastly cuts in her head. An axe with which the murder had been committed was by her side. Crowley at once gave the alarm and the police proceeded to investigate the matter. It was found that the woman had been outraged before she was killed, and that the murderers had also searched the house for plunder. Suspicion was pointed to a man named Vaughan, a fellow of very bad reputation, who was seen in the vicinity of the house during the day, and who has been arrested.

ATTEMPT TO ELECT A COADJUTOR BISHOP.—The attempt to elect a Coadjutor Bishop for the Diocese of Toronto failed on Thursday, after a series of ballots had been taken, extending over two days. Archdeacon Whitaker, Provost of Trinity College, stood highest, having on the last ballot received 60 clerical and 42 lay votes. According to the canon this was not the necessary proportion of votes to ensure an election, and the Bishop therefore announced that he would not further persist in the attempt to secure a Coadjutor. His reason for so doing, he stated, was to be relieved of the care and responsibility while attending the Pan Anglican Synod of Bishops called by the Archbishop of Canterbury, to meet in London in June. There was, however, a strong feeling against Provost Whitaker in many quarters, because of his extreme High Church views, and this, with the feeling that if made Coadjutor he would afterwards succeed as Bishop led to his defeat.

BANQUET TO LORD DUFFERIN.—The citizens of Montreal gave a banquet to Lord Dufferin on Thursday night. There was a very large attendance. Lord Dufferin in proposing "The President of the United States," and in response to his own health, made very able and felicitous speeches. In speaking of the United States he paid a high compliment, and referred with heartfelt pleasure to the friendly relations existing between it and Canada.

THE ORANGE BILL.—In the Public Accounts Committee on Wednesday morning, Mr. Roberts, chief clerk of Hunter, Rose & Co., testified to the receipt of the Orange Bill notice from Gourlay, Grand Secretary of the Orange body. The advertisement was sent back because unaccompanied by money, and it was never received a second time.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Russia Bound to Occupy Constantinople.

HER TROOPS ADVANCE ON GALLIPOLI.

The Turkish Parliament Dissolved.

The British Fleet in the Sea of Marmora.

Feb. 14.

A Constantinople despatch says:—The Russians will shortly enter the city, but no official notification on the subject has been received. Considerable Russian forces have pushed forward to Tchatalja.

The Sultan does not intend to go to Brousa if the Russians enter the city. Mr. Layard has sent a telegram to Earl Derby stating that the Czar has telegraphed that he will occupy the environs of Constantinople if the British fleet enters the Straits, even if the object of the fleet is the protection of the Christians.

A Constantinople special reports that since Tuesday the Russians renewed the advance towards Gallipoli, and are now within a few hours' march of that place.

The Turkish Parliament was dissolved today by Imperial message, which declares this action taken in consequence of the necessities of the situation; that the Sultan appreciates the services of the members, and hopes soon to re-convoke Parliament.

A Pesth correspondent telegraphs that the situation is regarded as very critical. The Emperor has sent for the Archduke Albrecht, Field Marshal and Commander-in-Chief of the Austro-Hungarian army for the purpose of [illegible] important military measures; that the Government organs maintain that Russia has broken her word, and that Austro-Hungary will be compelled to march to war, with England, in order to force Russia to be faithful to her promises.

Count Andrassy's organ, the Pesther Lloyd, says the non-occupation of Constantinople is of foremost interest to Europe, and if Russia understands, by regaining her freedom of action, that she has the right to hoist the Czar's flag of victory in the Bosphorus, then it is time for the Powers to abandon their different categories of neutrality, and an end must be put to the policy of accomplished fact occupation of Bulgaria, and the exaggerated extension it is proposed to give that province will never be tolerated by Austria. Action, and energetic action alone can now save Europe.

Several St. Petersburg newspapers call attention to the statement last year by Bismarck that Germany would use her efforts in the Eastern question for the maintenance of a general peace.

Le Nord, the Brussels organ of the Russian Government, publishes a letter from St. Petersburg, announcing that Bismarck does not wish for a Congress of the Powers. The Conference will therefore be composed simply of ordinary Ambassadors.

An Athens despatch says:—The news from Thessaly is grave. There has been fighting near the frontier, and the Greek corps of observation is almost sure to be drawn into the struggle.

A Constantinople telegram says:—The Porte has telegraphed the necessary orders for the evacuation of Rustchuk.

The Manchester Guardian's London correspondent says:—Expectation increases that Lord Derby will resign.

The Daily News says:—

The difficulties of the hour are no doubt great, but when we find a sovereign so deeply interested as the Emperor of Germany in the maintenance of peace expressing a conviction that that object will be gained we may hope they will all be surmounted.

The Morning Post says:—

The peace at any price party will be gratified to learn that Earl Derby has suddenly become quite bellicose—a pretty sure sign that there is no risk of any collision.

A Constantinople despatch says:—The fleet is expected at the Princess Islands this evening, unless compelled to cast anchor at Marmora in consequence of tempestuous weather. Two ironclads have been left at Gallipoli to protect the outlet. Four will be stationed at the Princess Islands. The Flamingo will stay in the Bosphorus to maintain communications between Mr. Layard and Admiral Hornby. The Flamingo went to meet the fleet with sealed orders. No salute is to be fired or formal notice to be taken of the arrival of the fleet.

A Pera special, 2 p. m., says the British fleet is in sight off Stefanos.

The destination of the fleet is said to be Princess Islands, in the Sea of Marmora, thirteen miles south of Constantinople, which it is reported England intends to occupy.

In the House to-night the Bill for raising £6,000,000 by means of Exchequer bonds passed its second reading without a division after a rambling discussion, during which Mr. Gladstone deprecated an alliance with Austria as tending to limit the freedom of the Christians in Turkey.

In the House of Commons to-day Sir Stafford Northcote stated that the Government had received the communication from Russia previously reported announcing that in view of the Powers sending ships to Constantinople a portion of the Russian troops would enter the city. England protested that it can see no parallel between the two courses proposed. The Chancellor's statement was received with loud cheers from the Conservative benches.

There was much excitement in the lobbies of Parliament to-day after Sir Stafford Northcote's statement, and it was thought the situation had become most critical. A more hopeful view, however, was taken after Lord Derby's speech.

The Committee of Liberals to watch the progress of the Eastern Question and prevent the Government from drifting into war holds its first meeting to-morrow.

In the House of Lords Earl Derby read a despatch from Prince Gortschakoff informing him of the Russian occupation of Constantinople merely as a pacific measure.

A Vienna telegram states that the Sultan has requested Queen Victoria to relinquish the intention of sending a fleet to Constantinople, and simultaneously requested the Czar to defer the entry into Constantinople until the Queen replied. The Czar in reply merely confirmed Gortschakoff's declaration to the Powers, that the sending of a British fleet to Constantinople obliged Russia to contemplate entering the city. Queen Victoria replied that the fleet entered the Dardanelles with a pacific object.

The activity in Woolwich Arsenal is daily increasing. New guns of nearly every description and military transport waggons are being rapidly manufactured.

The Standard states that in consequence of orders from the Government for east steel tubes for large ordnance the works at Sheffield have resumed working full time with an increased number of hands. The Government also ordered a large number of rifles barrels at Sheffield. Some of the forges at Woolwich Arsenal are going day and night. The outer basin of Woolwich dockyard is being cleared, so as to be ready to receive vessels requiring repair in emergency. The Admiral Superintendent at Malta has been ordered to report as to vacant barrack accommodation as it may become desirable to station a reserve of seamen at Malta ready to draft to the fleet as required.

The Standard says Burns has offered to place one of the finest Cunard steamers at the Government's disposal free of cost, so that the capability of the vessels of that line for carrying armaments may be tested.

The Evening Mercury

FRIDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 15, 1878.

The Minister of Militia and His Traducers.

The complete answer given the other night in the House of Commons by the Hon. Mr. Jones, Minister of Militia, to that virulent political back-biter and pretentious "Stretcher," Dr. Tupper, must indeed have been refreshing to the rank and file of the Tory party. The Doctor, in his usual blundering and braggart way, made a most extraordinary attack on the loyalty of the Minister of Militia, and charged him with uttering treasonable words at a speech made at Halifax some years ago. True, the Doctor was but the mouthpiece through whom the dirty waters of the Mail and of other less important, but equally reckless Tory organs, have to find vent in Parliament, and judging from the character of some of the Conservative leaders, these mediums are very readily found. The real secret, however, of this course of tactics on the part of Doctor Tupper and his friends is, that the Tories, unable to lay down any principles which could command the attention of the country, and being convinced that their last hope, Protection, is a delusion and a snare, now feel compelled to divert the attention of the people to side issues, by devoting their time and talent to making untrue and certainly most disreputable charges on the floor of the House. Galled by the want of success, which was so fully expected and so earnestly prayed for in the great "reactionary" socials held last summer, the Tories fall back on their old and only stock-in-trade,—vituperation and abuse, and neither Ministers nor private individuals appear to be safe from their venom.

The attempt made by the irrepressible Doctor to substantiate in Parliament what has formed for the last few months the Mail's chief morsel in the way of libel, is really pitiable. With that full command of the dregs of the English language, which is so essentially peculiar to him as a speaker, and in the most forlorn and incoherent manner, he wandered about in truly Ishmaelite fashion from one unclean spot to another, until he finally wound up with the charge that the Minister of Militia had been guilty of treason! He seeks to prove his position by quoting from a speech made by that gentleman at Halifax, and in the most disgraceful manner, he endeavors to bolster up a bad cause by publishing a private letter from Sir Hastings Doyle. Every consideration of honor and all care for self-respect seem to have vanished from the Doctor's code, and he triumphantly tramples the sanctity of private correspondence under foot as readily as he fabricates false charges. Now, let us hear the reply of Mr. Jones. After recounting the circumstances which led up to the speech referred to, he says:—"Here are the words I spoke on that occasion,—

"Sometimes these distinguished gentlemen make speeches that meet my approval, and the one lately delivered by His Excellency at Quebec is of that description. We had it editorially published and approved in the Colonist, the organ of the Union party, wherein he says that if the people of British America desire a change, either of allegiance or a new nationality, he felt sure the British Government would give their prompt and cordial acquiesence. For myself I am disposed to take His Excellency at his word, and if we cannot go back to where we were, to go forward; and if Great Britain may desire us—as it would now appear—to assume an independent position, when she hauls down her flag and takes her last soldier from the Dominion, I have enough confidence in the intelligence of the people that they will shape for themselves their own destiny, in the direction their feelings and interests would point. And whatever that may be, if constitutionally expressed, it shall have, if not my approbation, my cordial acquiesence."

This is the gist of the treason! Does any sensible man mean to say that there is anything treasonable in that? Are these words the words of a traitor? Are they not rather the language of one who had a high appreciation of his countrymen, and whose "cordial acquiesence" in any change, requisite and "constitutionally expressed," shows him to be a man who had the best interest of his country at heart? We do not believe that the "intelligence of the people" will brook any such insult or palliate any such infamous slur as Doctor Tupper attempted to cast on the character of one of the Ministers of the Crown, and that, too, without the shadow of truth. That the loyalty of Mr. Jones has been cleared from all semblance of treason is perfectly established, and it will require more than the unsubstantiated vaporings of an unscrupulous and time-serving politician to weaken the confidence of the country in the administration of Mr. Mackenzie or any member of his Cabinet.

MR. J. P. WISER is spoken of as a possible candidate in the Reform interests for South Grenville. The Ottawa Free Press says that Mr. Wiser is one of the most prominent and enterprising business men of the county in which he resides, and should he be selected as the Reform candidate, would not have the slightest difficulty in being elected.

MR. JOHN NOXON, of Ingersoll, when addressing the Reform Convention at Toronto, declared that as a manufacturer he required no more protection. As Mr. Noxon is one of the leading manufacturers in Ontario, his declaration will carry considerable weight.

The Herald and Mr. Goldie.

The Herald attempts to raise a tempest in its little teapot about Mr. Goldie, and all owing to the harmless query of our Eramosa correspondent, and our remarks thereon. In dealing with this matter it is too sensitive by half, and gives one an impression that it doth protest too much. Our correspondent simply asked if the report that was, and is, quite current was true, that Mr. Goldie had received the nomination at the late Tory Convention. There was nothing surely wrong or criminal in that, and we may say that the report is not only current in the quarter from whence the letter came, but it is also freely talked about in Guelph. Not being in the confidence of the Tory Convention we could of course give no definite information on the subject, and accordingly left the question to be answered by those who are most concerned, or are in the best position to know. The Herald comes out promptly with the denial that no nomination was offered to Mr. Goldie, or a nomination made for any other constituency at that Convention.

For this small amount of information we thank the Herald, and it would have shown its wisdom had it stopped there. But it goes on to charge us with acting indecently towards Mr. Goldie during the contest beeween him and Mr. Guthrie, and that we treated him to daily doses of virulent abuse, The assertion we brand as a falsehood from beginning to end, and none know its untruthfulness better than Mr. Goldie and the Herald. We defy the Herald to point to a single line in the MERCURY that can be construed as such, for we endeavored in this, as in all other contests, to deal with our opponent in a fair and gentlemanly manner. In fact, some of our friends thought we treated Mr. Goldie too tenderly at that time. We have also yet to learn that either Mr. Guthrie or his friends "falsified about him," as the Herald puts it. Then it revives the old, exploded story about Mr. Howard calling him, in a printed circular, "a died in the wool Tory." The Herald knows perfectly well that Mr. Howard never did any such thing, for it has in the fyles of the MERCURY a full explanation of the mistake that occurred in the printing of that circular in this office, in which on account of the obscurity of the sentence and the illegibility of the writing, the words quoted were used in an entirely different sense from that intended. We took on us the responsibility of the mistake at the time, though the work was done by our printers, and was not seen by us—much to our regret—till after the circular was issued. It is very spiteful, puerile and unmanly, therefore, for the Herald to seek to revive this affair, which all sensible and reasonable men on both sides accepted as a mistake at the time.

THIS is how the great Plumb illustrates the beauties of protection. The other night in his speech he got on to the Protection question, as usual, and gave an illustration of the effect of Free Trade by stating that oats which sold at fifteen cents per bushel in Iowa were brought to Sarnia and entered into competition with native produce.

Mr. Charlton—Have they protection in that country where oats only bring 15 cents per bushel?

Mr. Plumb—Yes. (Laughter, and hear, hear).

Mr. Mills—And that's the effect of it. (Renewed laughter).

MR. HUNTINGTON in his reply to the attacks of Mr. Bowell, on the copper mine business, completely squelched the talkative Grand Master. Mr. Huntington's explanation was complete, but that did not prevent the repetition of imputations against him, and such strong language was used by both gentlemen that the Speaker had to declare it was unparliamentary. Mr. Bowell, however, had to acknowledge that he knew nothing about these charges, but that the job was put into his hands.

THE Committee appointed by the Local Legislature is carefully examining the exemption question in all its bearings.

IT is understood that upon the usual Ministerial explanations being given, Hon. Mr. Blake will make a speech which will fully explain the reason for his resignation, and show his opponents that he has had no disagreement with his late colleagues.

MR. JAMES YOUNG made a capital speech in the debate on the address, and hit Sir John some pretty hard raps, especially in charging him insincerity on the protection question.

HAROLD THE OUTLAW

—OR—

The Gauger of Skene.

It was Malcolm Gillespie, seated on his strong black horse Carlos, and both man and beast had a very different aspect from the last time we saw them, which the reader will recollect was on a September evening galloping furiously from the city to Skene, when Carlos was frightened out of his propriety, and very nearly threw his master, at suddenly beholding the tattered form of Daddy Duff seated by the roadside.

On the present occasion Carlos did not seem to have energy enough to be frightened at anything. He jogged down the rugged path with a wearied step, drooping head, and draggled mane. His eyes erst so fiery and so glancing, was dull and its expression meek—evidently the spirit was for the time almost thoroughly beaten out of him.

His master appeared to be in little better case. He looked gloomy, mortified, disappointed, thoroughly out of temper—far more so than if he had been tired and worn out by a long night ride. In itself a night ride was neither new nor unwelcome to the gauger—yea, he rather enjoyed it, especially when it resulted in any considerable seizure. In that case the mere fatigue was overlooked in the elation of spirit which success produced. But this night Gillespie had made no seizure, though he had fully expected to do so. Worse than that; he found that he had been outwitted—lured to that one spot by a false scent, while the convoy he hoped to secure had gone safely to the coast by another route.

This same thing had happened frequently of late. Again and again did he hear of large quantities of contraband stuff being safely conveyed from the hills, and do what he could he was unable to intercept them. Evidently there was a large smuggling organization, presided over by a master spirit, located far off among the mountains, and conducted by means so cautious and yet so daring that at all points the gauger was defied and defeated. His spies either deceived him or were deceived themselves, for any information they brought him never failed to prove erroneous. Little seizures were effected pretty often; and as he took care to have a glowing account of these inserted in the Aberdeen Journal, they served to keep up his reputation as an active and energetic revenue officer. But he knew himself the paltry character of the prizes so chronicled, and that they were absolutely nothing compared with the amount of illicit distillation which was being successfully carried on, and his wounded spirit was being galled exceedingly in consequence. He was being worsted in that warfare which it was his official pride and boast to carry on with brilliant success.

This was positively a punishment—a severe and bitter punishment to Malcolm Gillespie, and it took all the more effect on him that he suspected it to be the work of a personal enemy—one of whom had ample reason to be his enemy—and who was probably taking this method of revenging himself for an injury, the remembrance of which preyed so heavily on Gillespie's soul.

Need we say that this suspected enemy was Harold Logan.

And believing that he it was who was giving him this trouble, and mortifying him so extremely, the gauger's feelings were those partly of rage and partly of fear. He knew the deadly feud that must be between them; he knew what cause he had given Harold Logan to seek to bring on him the heaviest retribution; and knowing this, he both dreaded him and was made furious by the defeats he was experiencing.

Oh, that fatal error he had made when he had been tempted to emit the false declaration. His worst troubles dated from that hour. Since then he had known no peace of mind, nor had the object for which the thing had been done been gained. He had managed to screw but one or two paltry sums from Gilmour Logan, who represented to him that he had nothing in his power while the Baronet lived, though the gauger had a vague suspicion that his tempter, having obtained the service he needed, meant to evade his promise of reward. This thought filled the fiery soul of Gillespie with indescribable fury, and he swore if he found it so to ——. Yet what could he do. He could not harm Gilmour Logan without ruining himself, for the only way he possibly could reach the former was by revealing that secret which would bring the crash of destruction on his own head.

Thus we have amply explained the cause of Gilmour's dejected appearance as on the early morning hour we see him riding slowly down the pass. Still surrounded by financial embarrassment, haunted by remorse, and galled by the professional failure which that night's bootless ride had witnessed, he was anything but a lovely spectacle as he made his way through the mountain solitude.

It might have cheered him a little had he known that, two evenings ago, Sir Philip Logan died, but the news of this event had not reached Skene till after he had departed on his fruitless expedition. He was just gone when a carriage, stopping for a few minutes at Broadcastle Inn, left the news. Soon it reached the ears of Ned Skeat, who, having got the gauger out of the way for the night, he started for Aberdeen, and we have seen what befel him after his arrival there.

But Gillespie, being already gone, could not be told it, and as he had been among the hills all the time since, he was still in ignorance of a circumstance which had the prospect of a favorable effect on himself; for now Gilmour could have command of the revenues of Mount Cairn, and be able to keep to the terms of their secret though discreditable compact.

As he rode at a slow pace down the narrow glen he looked anxiously round in search of a hut or cottage, where he might obtain refreshment for himself and his horse, both being extremely tired and hungry after their long night journey. But for such means of relief he looked in vain. The pass seemed utterly solitary and without inhabitant. A shepherd's shelling was not even to be seen in cleft or hollow—nothing but black desolation, which grew more wild and rugged as he reached a point where the clustering rocks filled up the hollow, leaving but a narrow winding space between, barely broad enough for two horses to go abreast.

Here the gauger found it necessary to dismount and lead his horse by the bridle through the intricate passage, for the way was not only winding, but rough in the extreme, so that even with wary walking the horse stumbled repeatedly, and it required his master's closest attention to lead him safely forward.

While thus engaged, Gillespie saw the horse suddenly cock his ears, his nostrils dilate, and a shrill gladsome neigh burst from him and echoed far away among the cliffs.

Gillespie quickly turned to see the cause, when there stood not two paces from him, at the end of a jutting rock, a tall form—occupied, like himself, in holding a horse by the bridle, yet standing stock still and steadily regarding him.

The heart of the gauger gave a wild leap, for in the motionless form he regarded Harold Logan!

THE GOOD TIMES HAVE COME AT LAST.—And so has that which has hitherto been looked for in vain, namely, a medicine that could be relied upon for curing rheumatism, colds, coughs, neuralgia, tic douloureux, burns and frostbites, bowel complaints, &c. It is called the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," and everyone should really possess a bottle of it without delay. It gives relief the moment you apply it, and will effectually cure your disease; in fact it is the most wonderful medicine ever brought before the public. Sold by all medicine dealers.

Voters' Lists Act.

The Government's bill respecting Voter's Lists has been introduced in the Local Legislature by the Hon. Mr. Fraser. Mr. Hodgin's bill of last session made the lists final for all purposes, while the bill in question makes the lists final for the purposes of scrutiny only. In the event of a scrutiny it provides that a man who was found to have voted, not having a right to do so, should be subject to the penalties due to his action, but that his vote should stand so far as the election was concerned. If a vote was not struck off by a judge in his revision of the lists this measure provided that it should neither be struck off at the scrutiny. In regard to aliens, non-residents and farmers' sons, the lists, so far as the election was concerned, were to be made final by the revision of the county judge. The bill also discriminates between persons who, without any intention of contravening the law treated a few friends, and those who entered a contest, evidently with the deliberate intention of carrying an election by corrupt means. At the present time the penalty for such offenders was pereisely alike. Persons had a right to vote on income tax, if the taxes were paid, even after the judge's revision of the lists. On a scrutiny, judges, county attorneys, sheriffs, &c., who are disqualified by the Election Law from voting, should be struck off. If a man whose name was on the voters' list, though improperly so, was challenged on coming to vote, the oath might be administered to him as at present, and if he took the oath he would be liable not only to the penalty imposed on him by the Act, but also to prosecution for perjury. So that the Act was intended to furnish a sort of double protection to the candidate and the constituency. In all cases last year's lists may be complained against up to the first of June. If not complained against they become final under this measure, and if complaint be made, the lists are to be revised by the county judge by the first of August. The bill makes provision that a farmer's son shall be entitled to be assessed unless he made objection, and farmers' sons have the same privilege in the way of complaints, as other classes of voters. The Lieutenant-Governor in Council may refer a case involving any general question relating to voters' lists to the judges of the Superior Courts. A voter may also bring a special case before judges, providing he pays the costs. A penalty is imposed not only on an assessor who willfully inserts a name on the voters' lists which had no right to be there, also to the person who procured the insertion of such.

Mr. Angus McDonald, living near Acton, is 101 years old, and is hale and hearty.

The estate of B. Williams, Glenwilliams, has been bought by Mr. Chas. Williams, for twenty-five cents on the dollar, and B. Williams, we are told, has returned and will resume operations shortly. A bon-fire was built in honor of his return, by the villagers. Public indignation is high in that vicinity. So says the Acton Free Press.

Messrs. Thos. Smith and P. P. Johnson, of Acton, were entertained at a supper a few days ago by the members of the I. O. O. F. lodge of that village. Mr. Smith has secured a situation at Bracebridge and Mr. Johnson at Morriston.

The Waterloo February cattle fair was well attended, and very many of the cattle disposed of were in prime condition. About 200 head of cattle were sold at from 3½ to 4½ cts. per lb., live weight.

Mr. Flood, the wealthy Roman Catholic, of San Francisco, held a mortgage on the Tabernacle Presbyterian church for $100,000. The Tabernacle was sick, and no Kimball came along to clear off the weighty load, so it had to be sold under foreclosure, as the interest had long been unpaid. Mr. Flood bought it in and then presented it the congregation.

The new fashion for ladies going to the theatre in London is to wear a red silk bandanna on the head.

A young lad named John Gill, about eighteen years of age, of Brantford, had an eye put out by a companion playfully throwing a piece of coal and it striking him in the eye.

THE ONTARIO-QUEBEC ARBITRATION.—The case of Quebec against Ontario came before the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in London on Thursday. This important matter, concerning the validity of the award made by the arbitration between Ontario and Quebec under the Act of 1857, was referred by the Crown to the Judicial Committee for hearing and consideration to advise the Crown thereon. So far the arguments seem to be in favor of Ontario. The argument will be resumed on the 27th.

It is rumored in the lobbies that the next general election for the House of Commons will not take place till next January.

A motion to restore the right of trial by jury in civil actions has been introduced in the Local Legislature. There can be no doubt the taking away of the right has given umbrage to a large and influential section of the public.

The number of immigrants into Canada for 1877 was about 36,000 against 99,000, the largest number in any year, in 1873. The proportionate decrease is much less than in the United States.

The appointment of Mr. James Lowther as Chief Secretary for Ireland in the place of Sir Michael Hicks Beech is officially announced.

Judgments for over eleven million dollars have been entered against Tweed, probably in anticipation of proceedings for his release on surrender his property.

The Conclave of Cardinals will meet on the 17th inst. instead of the 18, nearly all the members of the Sacred College participating. It has been decided that the new Pope shall have full freedom of action.

Several Toronto cattle dealers are making large purchases of cattle with the view of shipping them to Liverpool in the event of England becoming involved in war.

It is stated that Lady Macdonald was much mortified over Sir John's collapse in the Speakership affair, which is not at all surprising.

Book Publications.

THE LONDON QUARTERLY REVIEW, for January, has been published by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay Street, New York. We can do little more than enumerate the articles: Art. 1., in a review of Mr. Symonds' recent work, considers the moral and intellectual character of the renaissance in Italy and England. Art. II., on the use and abuse of scientific lectures, gives high praise to Prof. Tyndall for his endeavors to render scientific truth to the public at large, but severely condemns him for carrying his speculations beyond the province of the natural sciences. Art. III., in Schliemann's Mycenæ, is a discussion by a writer who has seen and handled the treasures of the truth of Dr. S.'s interpretation of his discovery. Art. IV., "March of an English Generation through Life." Art. V.—"Democracy in Europe" reviews favorably Sir Erskine May's recent work on the subject. Art. VI.—"A French Critic on Goethe." Art. VII. Treats of railway accidents, and considers the causes of these accidents, and gives the substance of existing special legislation with regard to the safety of railway passengers, and urges the necessity of enforcing by the Legislature of precautions neglected by the railway companies. Art. VIII. is a summary of the leading events in the life of Lord Melbourne. Two other articles on domestic politics complete the number.

EVENINGS IN THE LIBRARY.—This is the title of a neatly got up volume of 250 pages by Belford Bros., publishers, Toronto, and the author is George Stewart, jr., author of the story of the "Great fire in St. John." The work contains bits of gossip about books and those who write them, Holmes, Whither, Bryant and others. The author of "Evenings in the library" has dealt with such great names in literature as pleases him best, and in consequence his appreciation of their style and ability is of a very warm character. He has not however lost sight of the fact that even the minds of some great men sometimes becomes warped or changed with addition of years, and do not always retain that vigor with which they might at one time have been endowed. In concluding the preface of the work the author states that if there is any thing within the pages that will cause the reader to turn to the pages of the great geniuses who have enlightened an age, and read the delightful poems, sketches and stories they have written, he shall feel more than satisfied with the work he has done.

Copies can be procured at Day's bookstore.

It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. Very Natural.

When a person has proved an article and found it good, and answering the purposes for which it is intended, he will not readily abandon it for one of doubtful reputation, or concerning which he knows nothing. We are led to make these remarks owing to the course always pursued by those who have used that celebrated and valuable horse-medicine known as "Darley's Condition Powders and Arabian Heave Remedy." All are so well pleased with it that they will not use any other; many have waited several weeks until the agent could obtain a new supply. There is nothing equal to it as a condition medicine, or for any complaint affecting the wind of horses. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all Medicine Dealers.

A Case Twenty-Five Year's Standing.

FROM THE VENERABLE ARCHDEACON SCOTT. D. D., OF DUNHAM, P. Q.

* * * "I am an inveterate Dyspeptic of more than twenty-five years' standing." * * * "I have been so wonderfully benefitted in the three short weeks during which I have used the Peruvian Syrup, that I can scarcely persuade myself of the reality.—People who have known me are astonished at the change."

"I am widely known, and can but recommend to others that which has done so much for me." Sold by all druggists.

Consumption, so prevalent and so fatal is dreaded as the great scourge of our race; and yet, in the formative stages, all pulmonary complaints may be readily controlled by using "Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers." They will relieve the worst cough in a few minutes, and have a most beneficial influence on the bronchial and pulmonary organs; but they must be used in time. Public speakers and singers will also derive great benefit by using them. Sold by all druggists and country deales. Price 25 cents per box.

SATURDAY EVEN'G, FEB 16 1878

Local News Items.

GENERAL HOSPITAL.—During the ensuing week Rev. W. S. Ball will be the visiting clergyman and Dr. Harkin the attending physician.

INSOLVENCY.—Mr. John Smith of Guelph, has been appointed official assignee of the Kennedy estate, and Messrs. Hugh Roberts and J. K. Barret inspectors.

$200 has been offered by the Kincardine Council for the arrest of one George Fleming, charged with committing divers burglaries within that municipality.

THE list of names published in connection with the late skating carnival was not wholly obtained from Mr. Davidson, Secretary. It was correct in every particular notwithstanding.

CURLIANA.—Two Goderich rinks lately defeated St. Mary's by a score of 48 to 37. Two Galt rinks scored 54 to their Dundas opponents 24. A match lately played between a number of curlers from Palmerston and Harriston resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 13 to 11.

THE Listowel Banner has just entered upon the thirteenth year of its existence. An engine has been added to the plant of the office, and the first number printed by steam power was issued last week. The Banner is one of the best weeklies on our exchange list, and it is a pleasure to note its continued prosperity.

ANOTHER.—The next skating carnival will be held on Tuesday, 26th inst., and not on Thursday, as was at first intended. A celebrated costumer from Toronto is expected to be in Guelph on Monday, 25th, so that all parties wishing to hire a suit for the occasion can do so.

BAGPIPES IN CHURCH.—In the report of the Rev. G. M. Grant's lecture on Norman McLeod, as given by the Globe, reference is made to the Doctor's great love for the bagpipes, so much so that "he would have been willing to see them take the place of the organ in the churches." Which church in Guelph will be the first to try the experiment?

FIRE IN CUMMINSVILLE.—One night last week, Miss Hunter, of Cummiasville, went up stairs with a lighted candle in her hand, and accidentally set fire to a dress which was hanging on the wall. She hurriedly carried the dress out, and extinguished it but on returning found that the flames had communicated with other inflammable articles, and the whole room was on fire. The flames were not extinguished until half the building was consumed.

POLICE COURT.—This morning John Bergin, porter at the Royal Hotel, was charged by Wm. Murray, operator at the Grand Trunk station, with having solicited passengers on the station platform. He pleaded not guilty, and the evidence not substantiating the charge the case was dismissed. Mr. A. McKinnon was counsel for defendant. The charge made against Jas. Eweing for soliciting fares on the platform was withdrawn.

GRIP for this week has been received at Anderson's bookstore. The cartoon subject is a rich one, and is entitled "The Pamphlet Chieftain." Senator Macpherson, dressed in Highland costume, is riding the Northern Railway cow, and to the tail of the animal is attached the Senator's latest pamphlet. The rider bears aloft the head of the Hon. Mr. Cartwright, which he has decapitated with the sword of finance.

OBITUARY.—We regret to record the death of Mrs. Clarke, the wife of Mr. Charles Clarke, M.P.P., of Elora, which took place on Friday. The deceased was a victim of consumption, and for a long time suffered before death came to her relief. She was, during her lifetime a faithful, affectionate, and loving wife and mother, and although thoroughly domestic in her habits, was highly esteemed by all who knew her for her many excellent qualities, her kindness of heart, and her benevolence. Her death, though long looked for, will cause a great blank in the family. We are sure that the sympathy of the people of Elora and vicinity will be heartfelt and sincere for the bereaved husband and family in their great loss.

LAW STUDENTS SOCIETY.—At the regular weekly meeting of this society last evening Mr. A. McKinnon was appointed chairman. The subject for debate was, "Would it be advisable to abolish capital punishment in this Province?" Messrs. Macdonald and Binkley for the affirmative, and Messrs. Thompson and Mowat for the negative. For the affirmative it was contended that the old rule of "an eye for an eye, and a tooth for a tooth" no longer applied, and that the tendency of the Legislature of all countries had been, and still is, to inflict less severe punishments for crimes than formerly, and that the wisdom of this was demonstrated by the decrease in crime. Punishment by imprisonment for life or a term of years was advocated as giving the sinner time for repentance. For the negative, that the safety of Society requires that the death penalty should be inflicted, at any rate for the crime of murder; and that in other countries where capital punishment had been abolished, the people, instead of lawfully inflicting the punishment of death on murderers, had recourse to lynch law, and that though imprisonment for life was in reality as cruel and severe a punishment yet it had not the same effect as a preventative of crime in the minds of the people as capital punishment. The chairman summed up the arguments and gave his decision in favor of retaining the law as it is at present exists. A vote of thanks was then tendered to the chairman.

MR. SCOTT ELLIOTT who was so severely injured in the face about a month ago by a piece of wood thrown off a circular saw is now nearly well enough to resume work.

THE weather probs for to day are: Moderate south-westerly to southerly winds, increasing cloudiness and light snow at night, with higher temperature.

A COLD BATH.—Joseph McGinnis, employed in cutting ice on the dam at the Red Mill, Waterloo Avenue, accidently dropped into the water on Friday, and remained there until a fellow workman came to his assistance and fished him out.

SCALDED.—Mr. James Harris, a workman in Bell & Co.'s Organ Factory, met with a painful accident this (Saturday) morning. It appears that he had entered the engine room unnoticed by the engineer, and was standing beside an exhaust tap when the engineer turned it. The steam penetrated his ear, and the hot water trickled down his neck, scalding it to some extent.

THE sale of machinery &c., belonging to the estate of the late Mr. Boult, builder, of this town, took place on Thursday, as announced, but was not entirely carried out, the engine, largest planer, and other property being withdrawn for want of purchasers, and reserved for private sale. The proceeds of the sale amounted to about $270.

A PROMINENT manufacturer in town received a valentine last evening, addressed in a proper manner, with the words added: "Only to be opened in the presence of three." On carefully taking off the wrappers he found, neatly done up, a piece of sausage, a pretzel and a well worn sock. The diversity of tastes is truly astounding. Now, it is a fact, that very few would enjoy a lunch of sausage and sock.

TEMPERANCE SOCIAL.—A social was given by the Farmers' Home Lodge, I.O.G.T., in Forrest's School House, Paisley Block, on Friday evening last. A large attendance was present, who appeared to thoroughly enjoy the somewhat lengthy programme which was carried out. A number of members belonging to the Guelph Lodge were present. All Good Templars remained after the audience had dispersed, and were treated to a feast of eatables, which the ladies had prepared.

STUBBORNNESS.—A steep hill is a somewhat dangerous place for a balky horse to take a notion to stop, especially when it is one of a team that is attached to a heavy load. Mr. Geo. Leslie found considerable difficulty in getting a load of wood up the hill near the new Wellington Hotel this morning on account of one horse balking. The stubborn animal finally got off the centre of the road and into the drain. After unhitching and extricating the animal Mr. Leslie was bound that his team and no other should draw the load up, and he succeeded in his object. It requires a strong and a steady pull to surmount the hill in its present state.

MARKETS.—Business on the market this week seems to have somewhat improved, there having been a larger quantity of produce disposed off than during the several previous weeks. This may be, in a degree, attributed to the fact that the roads are in a better condition than they have been for some time. About one hundred and fifty cords of wood have been sold, ranging in price from $3.25 to $4 per cord.

O. Y. B. GRAND LODGE.—The following are the officers elect for the ensuing year: W. Gibson, Toronto, Grand Master; Hamilton Douglas, Montreal, Deputy Grand Master; Peter Arnot, Toronto, Secretary; Frank Lloyd, Toronto, Treasurer; Robert McAuley, Ottawa, Chaplain; W. E. Milligan, Toronto, Director of Ceremonies; W. Robinson, jun., Kingston, Lecturer; W. Brodie, Quebec, Inside Tyler; A. McCurdy, Port Hope, Outside Tyler; A. J. C. Grant, Ottawa, and T. R. Foy, Toronto, Associate Grand Secretaries; A. Peacock, Ottawa, Associate D. G. M.; W. A. Walker, Thorold, Associate Treasurer; B. Froiland, Kingston, Associate Secretary; W. H. James, Hamilton, Associate D. of C.; and W. T. Heaslip, Gananoque, Associate Chaplain. London was decided upon as the next place of Grand Lodge meeting.

ENLARGED.—The Newmarket Era has entered upon its twenty-seventh volume considerably enlarged and improved. The Era is a first-class weekly journal, sound in its advocacy of the principles of the Reform party, and a credit to the county in which it is published. Old friend Jackson has our heartiest congratulations in his success.

THE Orange Lodge of Clifford had a demonstration in their lodge room on Thursday afternoon. After refreshments had been served by the ladies, speeches were delivered by Messrs. C. A. Burrows, W. Thompson, and Stephen Prebble. A dance was afterwards held in the hall.

SHEPPARD JUBILEE singers—all genuine colored people—will give a concert in the town hall this evening. A correct and interesting delineation of slave life will be given. The concert will doubtless be very interesting.

COOL BURGESS at the Town Hall on Monday evening with a large company of reputed first class performers.

An exchange says:—A timid girl, with her delicate hand half revealed, half concealed in a mit, came in and laid a poem on our desk, which opened as follows:

How dear to my heart is the goat of my childhood,
When fond recollection presents him to me;
The beautiful beast, which whene'er he was riled would Make everything fly from the presence of he.
My beautiful Nan was the frowiest butter
That ever did but a stone fence till it fell;
He'd see it a coming—a scream he would utter;
Then brace his four legs and go at it pell-mell,
Oh, how he would buck it! An iron bound bucket,
He once tried to buck it, and died in the well.

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

The Russians Within the Turkish Defences.

WAR SHIP ASHORE.

The British Cabinet

Feb. 16.

A Constantinople despatch says the English war ship Raleigh is ashore on Rabbit Island, uninjured.

It is officially announced that the Russians have occupied the Samedia redoubt within the defence lines of Constantinople. The Grand Duke probably enters the city as guest of the Sultan. The Russians argue that this not sufficient cause to justify England's going to war.

The English Cabinet has been in session all day considering the Eastern situation.

Russia not to Occupy Constantinople.

LONDON, 16.—It is announced authoritatively that Russia will not occupy Constantinople in consequence of the representations made by Austria, backed by Germany. Russia has in consequence abandoned her intention of occupying Constantinople.

The Silver Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 16—1.14 a.m.

The Silver Bill substantially as reported from the Senate Finance Committee, passed the Senate by a vote of 48 yeas to 21 nays, more than two-thirds.

Caledonian Society's Entertainment in Aberfoyle.

The Guelph Caledonian Society gave an entertainment in the Town Hall, Aberfoyle, on Friday evening, which was a decided success. It was got up entirely by the members of the Society, and its object was to bring it and its aims more prominently before the attention of the people of Puslinch, many of whom have already manifested their sympathy and support. The Town Hall was well filled with a large and respectable audience, over 400 being present. The programme was opened by the Chief in an introductory address. He was supported on the platform by Chieftains Robertson and Dobbie, Mr. Wm. Mitchell, President of the St. Andrew's Society, and Mr. P. Mahon, President of the St. Patrick's Society. The piper, Mr. George Smith, escorted these gentlemen to the platform, and played the music to the introductory Scotch reel, danced in costume by Messrs. D. Massie, Wm. Guthrie, George Anderson and —Johnston, which was greeted with the greatest enthusiasm, Mr. Kennedy followed with "The Kilties at the Crimea," which was deservedly applauded. Mr. E. F. B. Johnston next read Hallowe'en with much spirit. Mr. Wm. Guthrie followed with the stirring old song, "The Standard on the Braes of Mar," which was rendered with so much spirit as to call for a spirited encore, which he responded to by singing, with excellent effect, "My Native Highland Home." Mr. Alex. Gray in "The Auld Scotch Sangs," was highly appreciated, and loudly encored. Mr. W. Grierson followed with "Oh wi' the Tartan," which was well received and heartily encored. Mr. Guthrie next gave the "Cameron men with spirit." Then followed a three-some reel by Messrs. Massie, Johnston and Guthrie, which was done in splendid style, and elicited rounds of applause. Messrs. Massie and Johnston also danced the "Highland Fling," which thoroughly roused the enthusiasm of the audience. Later in the evening, by special request, Messrs. Massie, Johnston, Guthrie and Anderson again danced a Scotch Reel with as much acceptance as on their first appearance. Mr. Mr. Kennedy sang "Mrs. Jones's party" with true comic effect, and was greeted with a hearty encore. Mr. Thomson's band played, with much acceptance, an instrumental piece. Mr. Maitland gave, with great power, "Scots wha hae," and on an unanimous re-call favored the company with "A man's a man for a' that," which was rendered with so much spirit as to bring down the house. After a short but very appropriate speech from Mr. Johnston, Secretary of the Caledonian Society, the concert was wound up with "Auld Lang Syne," and "God Save the Queen."

The Hall was then cleared, and a social dance was indulged in for some hours, which was enjoyed by all, Thompson's Band furnishing excellent music. The entertainment was in every sense a great success, and was greatly enjoyed by all. The people of Aberfoyle and vicinity did everything they could to ensure the comfort of their visitors, and freely lent their services to make the entertainment the success it was. Mr. D. C. McLaren entertained a number of the visitors at a sumptuous oyster supper. The kindness of the people of Aberfoyle towards their friends of the Guelph Caledonian Society will not soon be forgotten. We must not forget to mention that the services of Mr. George Smith, the piper, during the concert and dance were highly appreciated. There was quite a number of parties present from Guelph, and from parts outside the township.

A WALTZING MINISTER.—At Kingston the other Sunday a clergyman skated from the city to an island to fill an appointment to preach. Thereupon the Whig of that city said in a humorous paragraph that he "waltzed to the Island on polished steel." Some exceedingly scrupulous people took offence at the minister and for a day or two there was a breeze. A day or two afterwards the Whig said: We meant no serious reflection when we said that on Sunday a clergyman waltzed to the Island on polished steel. We believe the minister in question was on his way to fill an appointment, and skating being good he took that means of reaching his destination. It was not pleasure, but duty, which called him out. He was not one of the pleasure-seekers on Lord's Day, but was of necessity proceeding to his evening service, and, all things considered, deemed skating the safest and most expeditious way of getting to his appointment.

Sabbath School Entertainment.

Concert Exercise in the Congregational Church.

Last night the scholars and friends of the First Congregational Sabbath School held their annual winter festive gathering. The turn out was good, and the proceedings of the evening passed off most happily. The "Concert Exercise" was very appropriate, and in thorough harmony with Sabbath School work, and its rendition, considering the great need there is for care to make the several parts follow without clashing, was excellent. At five o'clock the scholars assembled in the school room; where a richly laden table, prepared by the teachers, through the generous kindness of the parents and friends, who contributed the good cheer, awaited their presence. In a little time the aspect of things was entirely changed, but we may rest assured that the end for which so much labor had been bestowed, was fully answered. Judging from the smiling faces and comments of earnest and unfeigned delight, all had a good tea. Then followed a season of free and unrestrained play, which if anything, was yet more heartily enjoyed than the tea. To attempt to give an adequate idea of the merriment and innocent fun in which all, both teachers and scholars, joined, is quite superfluous. It will suffice to say that, as one of the children expressed it, "we had a rare old time." First play, then business, was the order last night. So, about a quarter past seven o'clock the school assembled in the church. The infant class was seated with its esteemed teacher, Miss Fairbanks, on the platform in front of the pulpit, and the other classes were ranged across the church in front of the little ones. The exercise opened with the singing of "Joy Bells," after which the pastor, the Rev. W. Manchee, read Psalm 27th, and offered prayer. He also gave a short address on the relations of the Sabbath School to the Church, and the claims it has on the earnest co-operation and prayers of the Church. The statistics of the school were given as follows:—On the roll, 250; aggregate attendance for the year, 8,842; largest attendance at one time, 205; smallest do, 137; average attendance, 171; scholars left during the year, 25; new scholars, 68.

At the close of the pastor's address, the concert exercise entitled "The Heavenly Way," was given. This exercise consists of questions put by the Superintendent, Mr. Arms, and answered sometimes by the individual classes, and sometimes by the whole school together, in passages of Scripture on the subject. The answers were well selected and strikingly illustrated the topic of the exercise. These answers were interspersed with various selections of music, led by Mrs. Hodgekins, all of which were tastefully and powerfully sung. The expression of the sentiment in the pieces was very fine. Great praise is due to the leaders for the careful manner in which the singing was got up. A solo and chorus, entitled "One Sweetly Solemn Thought," rendered by Miss Greey and the school, was very sweetly given; so was the quartette, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul." We must not forget, either, the quartettes "Meet me in that Land," and "The Palace of the King," which were greatly admired. The proceedings closed about 9:15, with the benediction. Our friends are to be congratulated on their successful entertainment, and it is certainly a very hopeful augury for the future prosperity of the country that so much attention is bestowed on the religious and social education of our young.

GALT FEBRUARY FAIR.—The Reporter says that the last monthly fair was very largely attended. The number of cattle brought in was considerable, but the quality of the average was very poor, and only a small proportion of those offered were fit for the butcher. Sales were very hard to get; in fact but few were made, and in all instances those that were made were at very low figures, 3½c. to barely 4c. live weight, being the best realized.

ELORA.—At the last meeting of the village Council, Rev. Jas. Middlemiss was reappointed High School Trustee; John Macdonald Assessor and Collector; Jas. Burns Pound-keeper.——Mrs. Griffin, who resides a couple of miles from the village, fell on the sidewalk in Elora, on Sunday, breaking the bone of the forearm near the wrist joint.——Miss Baxter, for some time assistant teacher in the Salem public school, has obtained a second-class A certificate.

ELORA BRANCH REFORM ASSOCIATION.—The following gentlemen have been appointed office bearers:—President, Mr. Alexander Smart; First Vice, Mr. Andrew Gordon; Second Vice, Mr. S. H. Garrard; Secretary, Mr. J. M. Shaw; Treasurer, Mr. Alexander Carter. Committee—Messrs. W. Crackle, R. Carter, D. M. Potter, David Black, John McDonald, George Hay, Alexander Cuthbert, Joseph Baird, A. Davidson, D. Foote, John Mundell, A. Fishie, John Bain.

A PROLIFIC COW.—A milch cow, belonging to Mr. Wm. Carnochan, of the fourth concession of Tuckersmith, a few weeks ago gave birth to twin calves. This cow had six calves within a period of 31 months, having had three pairs of twins in succession. The calves are all alive and doing well, but the cow died shortly after giving birth to her last pair.

FARMS SOLD.—George Hume, of Esquesing, sold his farm of 100 acres to W. W. Roe, Esq., for $5,000. Mr. James Bell, near Acton, recently sold his farm to Mr. Patrick Lamb, for $2,620. Mr. Moses Bowman recently sold his farm, near the village of Bloomingdale, Waterloo township, containing 280 acres, to Mr. Joseph Bellinger, of New Germany; the price paid was $18,000. Mr. Bowman purposes removing to Berlin. Mr. John S. Bowman, of Bloomingdale, has disposed of his fine property—the old Jonathan B. Bowman homestead—containing 226 acres, to Mr. David Betzner of Woolwich, for $14,000.

MR. KAY'S PICTURES.—A "Workingman" writes to the Guelph Herald accusing the Reformers of Galt with grinding down Mr. Kay to $60 for the pictures of Messrs. Mackenzie and Blake, while the Tories paid $50 for Sir John's phiz. The actual facts are that the Tories paid Mr. Kay only $35 for the picture they bought, while Mr. Kay of his own accord, being a Reformer, offered the friends of the Government the two pictures referred to for $30 each. The slight difference of price was owing to the frame on Sir John's picture being more elaborate. Scribblers should not write to betray their ignorance.—Galt Reformer.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Russia Warned Against Moving on Gallipoli.

The Turks Emboldened by the Presence of the British Fleet.

HITCH IN THE PEACE NEGOTIATIONS.

Austria and Great Britain.

Feb. 15.

The Sultan has received a despatch from the Czar stating that troops would occupy the neighborhood of Constantinople, in a friendly spirit, for the protection of his subjects, the same as the British fleet.

A Constantinople despatch says:—Namyk Pasha has gone to Russian headquarters, charged to endeavor to dissuade the Grand Duke from occupying Constantinople. The Russians on Friday morning occupied the Samidie redoubt, which is part of the Constantinople line of defence. Although Austria remonstrated against the occupation of Constantinople, she will not abandon her present attitude if the occupation is accomplished peacefully and with the consent of Turkey. Russia has notified the Porte that she has prevailed upon Greece to adopt a pacific attitude.

A Constantinople special reports that the headquarters of the Turkish army of defence have been removed to Stefance. The Turks are hurriedly erecting earthworks on the Kujak-Chekmedje line of defence.

A Paris correspondent guarantees the following:—To prevent the Turks from firing on the fleet, England was obliged to give assurances that it came for the protection of Turkish as well as British interests. There was at first some talk of a small philo-English party among the Turks resisting the Russian occupation, but perseverance in this intention is most improbable.

A Vienna special says:—It is quite possible that the Czar will conclude the negotiations with Turkey before the Conference meets, thus creating the desired fait accompli. But, after the declarations of the Austrian and British Governments, he can scarcely expect that such a fait accompli will be unconditionally recognized.

A St. Petersburg correspondent says he has been informed that the peace negotiations are now practically interrupted, for since the appearance of the British men-of-war in the Sea of Marmora the Turkish plenipotentiaries declare that complete autonomy for Bulgaria is inadmissible. The correspondent adds:—This statement may be regarded as official. The same authority stated that Russia, in deference to Austria, was willing to limit the time of the occupation of Bulgaria to a maximum of two years, and to consent to the re-organization of Bulgaria by an International Commission but insists that the Sultan's direct jurisdiction in Europe should be limited to the strip of territory on the shore of the Straits.

The North German Gazette says:—A request was received from St. Petersburg yesterday that German influence would make itself felt. That influence cannot but be peaceful.

Admiral Hornby's flag-ship, the Alexandra, 12 guns; the Temeraire, 8 guns; the Sultan, 12 guns; and the Achilles 16 guns, arrived off Princess Islands at eight o'clock this morning. The Agincourt, 17 guns, and Swiftsure, 14 guns, remain at Gallipoli. The Raleigh, 22 guns, the Hotspur (iron ram), 3 guns, and Ruby, 12 guns, are at Besika Bay.

In the House of Lords this afternoon Lord Derby stated that he had informed Count Schouvaloff, the Russian Ambassador in London, on Wednesday, that if the Russians moved towards Gallipoli, or threatened communication between the British Mediterranean fleet and the Sea of Marmora, that he (Lord Derby) could not answer for the consequences, which might be most serious. There is no reply from Gortschakoff respecting Lord Derby's despatch objecting to Russian occupation of Constantinople.

Lord Derby's protest against the Russian occupation of Constantinople is published. It is very decidedly worded. It demonstrates that the entry of the Russian troops would be a violation of the armistice and might provoke disorders, causing very great danger to the Christians, which the Russian Government deprecates. It concludes as follows:—

Her Majesty's Government cannot acknowledge that the despatch of British ships to Constantinople has any bearing on the entry of the Russian troops into the city, which latter measure they consider uncalled for by the circumstances of military or other necessity, and the consequences of which may be disastrous to the whole population of the city.

The London Times says:—

The significance of sending the fleet to Constantinople is even greater than its importance, and a very powerful force is now in a position to maintain our interests in the Bosphorous and the Dardanelles. The Times hopes that Russia will not, from perfectly sentimental motives, order troops to take up a menacing position wholly unnecessary for the protection of her real interests.

The Manchester Guardian's London correspondent says:—The expectation of a pacific settlement of the Eastern Question diminishes day by day. Austria and England are rapidly coming to an understanding, and an actual alliance may only be a question of a few hours. It is regarded as exceedingly probable that the Porte left a door open for retreat from the grasp of her foe, and that yet, at the eleventh hour, Turkey may refuse to hand over its fleet to Russia and throw herself on the protection of England. There is every indication that before forty-eight hours we may hear of terrible confusion at Constantinople. British action depends on Austria. Much also depends on Suleiman Pasha, who practically holds the Dardanelles. The conduct of Roumania is another important factor. It is not improbable that Roumania may turn her sword against Russia. It is believed that Germany will decline to act on either side.

The London correspondent of the Scotsman says:—It is certain that Admiral Hornby was instructed to allow nothing which would imperil communication through the Dardanelles.

It is reported at Vienna that the Austrian Minister of Finance will proceed to London on a special mission.

The Agence Russe says all the newspapers point out that the British fleet entered the Dardanelles in spite of the Sultan's protest, and is consequently violating the Treaty of Paris.

The Evening Mercury

SATURDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 16 1878.

On the Old Tack.

The Herald keeps harping on the Goldie nomination, and will not allow the matter to rest, even after it has in an authoratitive way denied that he had received such a favor at the hands of the Tories. It tries to show that the whole thing is a matter of moonshine—conceived in the brain of the editor of the MERCURY, and then seeks to show that the story has its origin in the fears of the Reformers that any opposition will be shown to Mr. Guthrie.

We may tell the Herald that we are perfectly serene on that point, for we well know that whether Mr. Guthrie is nominated or not, this Riding will stand true to the Reform cause, even though the Tories succeed, as they did before, in getting out an avowed Reformer to espouse their cause, but who at the time was troubled with some crotchets about protection. We have nothing to fear, for we are satisfied as to the sentiment and feeling of the great majority of the people in this Riding. It is only the Tories who are in doubt, and who are trying their old tricks to dishonestly steal a march on their old opponents. We have it on the best authority that in Eramosa and other places the name of Mr. Goldie is freely used by them as their expectant standard bearer, and that they are now industriously at work securing votes for him. We do not know whether Mr. Goldie is aware of this, but such is the fact, and we dare the Herald to deny it. Mr. Goldie may not have received a nomination at the Tory Convention, but that was not to hinder an understanding being come to that the faithful in South Wellington should nevertheless work for him, and leave to the exigencies of the future the chances of his coming out again. The Tory brain is fertile enough in expedients, and this may be the best and most convenient one to adopt under the circumstances.

As regards the Herald's insinuation that Mr. Guthrie may have been nominated at the late Reform Convention, its surmises are terribly wide of the mark. It was frank enough to say that Mr. Goldie had received no nomination at the Tory Convention, and we will be equally frank and say that Mr. Guthrie was not nominated at our Convention. Nay, we will go farther and say that neither Mr. Guthrie nor any other candidate for any other constituency was talked of at that Convention. Reformers have a different way of doing such things. They do not settle who are to be candidates at hole and corner meetings. They do not put up their man and then issue an order for all the faithful to support him whether they have confidence in him or not. They leave such important matters to the people, who are the impartial arbiters in such cases, and they are prepared to stand or fall by their decision. We have yet to learn that the Tory leaders ever acted on such a principle, or that their followers ever enforced it.

THE Liberal Conservatives of the North Riding of Grey met in Convention on Friday, and selected Mr. S. J. Lane as their candidate at the general election.

THREE cases arising out of the submission of the Dunkin Act were up for hearing in the Court of Queen's Bench on Friday. That of the county of Peterboro' was reserved. In the Bruce case, the application for a rule nisi was refused, and the Northumberland appeal case came up for argument.

THE Independence of Parliament Act to be introduced this session will, it is said, somewhat relax the stringency of the present Act, while not affecting the position of members who have rendered themselves liable to its penalties.

IN the report of the Minister of Agriculture and Immigration, just laid on the table of the House, we find that it is estimated that 27,076 immigrants settled in Canada in 1877. The number of insolvents was 1,588; the liabilities, as furnished by the insolvents, amounted to $31,346,154; the claims proved to $22,251,791. The number of patents issued by the Department amounted to 1,353; fees received, $35,388.

THE Stratford Beacon says truly, that ten years ago Quebec began its legislative career with a million dollars in the Provincial Treasury. Now the million dollars is spent, the Province is running rapidly into debt, and has to pay seven per cent. interest on borrowed money. It is needless to say Quebec has been ruled by Tories these ten years. Ontario is under Reform rule, and though we have since the Reform Government came into power expended $7,618,394, or nearly eight millions of dollars in public improvements, we have still a surplus of nearly $5,000,000! As would be seen by the Treasurer's financial statement, our annual revenue exceeded our expenditure by nearly $90,000.

The Coal Interest.

It is astonishing after the poor mouth put on by those people last year who, headed by Dr. Tupper, appeared before the Committee on Coal Interests and demanded protection to the extent of $2 per ton, or a bonus on coal exported, to learn some facts conveyed in an article in the St. John Globe. From it we gather that recently the annual meeting of the Spring Hill Coal Mining Company was held and a very satisfactory exhibit made. Though the mine had been stopped during two months by a fire, and though a heavy expenditure had been contracted to make the needed repairs, which were paid for, there was a cash surplus on the year's operations (all expenses being paid) of $46,000. A dividend at the rate of seven per cent. on a capital of $480,000 was declared and paid, which left "a rest" or balance to the good of $11,000. Last year the dividend was five per cent. The Globe says the capital actually employed is only about $250,000, on which the earnings have been over eighteen per cent. Surely Dr. Tupper and those who clamored for additional protection for coal will hold their tongues now.

DEATH OF AN OLD SETTLER.—This (Saturday) morning, Mr. Matthew Sweetnam, one of the oldest settlers in this section, passed peacefully away. He emigrated to Guelph from Ireland, in October, 1827, the year in which the town was founded, and built the first frame house in the town. In the opening of the following year he purchased a farm about three miles from Guelph, on the York Road, where he continued to reside up to the time of his death. Many years ago he represented the Township of Guelph in the Council, but of late years, through infirmities of the flesh, he neither took an active part in public affairs, nor in the management of the homestead. At his decease he had attained the ripe age of eighty years.

A Paris letter says of Stanley, the explorer:—"Stanley feels the fatigue of his journey much less than he expected to, but he is now borne up by the excitement of a constant succession of festivals, and a failing of strength may be feared later. The grey hair and thin face speak volumes. The explorer has been so long accustomed to the utmost simplicity of diet that the grand dinners offered him are a dread ordeal. He drinks tea rather than wine, as even two glasses of ordinary claret makes him terribly drowsy."

ANOTHER NEWSPAPER DECISION.—At the Division Court held in Welland recently, the Telegraph says a very important decision was given affecting delinquent subscribers to newspapers. In one of the defended suits brought by the proprietors of that paper against one in arrears for subscription, the defendant claimed that he had not subscribed with them for the Telegraph. He had paid Mr. Dewhurst one dollar to January 1st, 1874, after which time he had not subscribed. The paper came along, however, and he took some copies out of the post-office. He afterwards removed his residence, and for over two years had not received it. The Judge ruled that he was liable for the credit price, it not being paid in advance, and gave judgment accordingly, defendant having acknowledged being a subscriber by taking some of the papers from the post-office.

IN APPLETON'S JOURNAL for March we have, simultaneously with the appearance of the book itself, a long and interesting paper based upon Lecky's "History of England in the Eighteenth Century." It is evident from this article that Lecky's social pictures and political portraits of the period described will become famous in literature. Julian Hawthorne resumes in this number his "Out of London" papers, and has now started off on a tour of observation, which promises many fine pictures of English rural life, with many acute and fresh comments. An article of special interest, entitled "Reading aloud," by Miss Kate Hillard, is based on Legouve's "Art of Reading," which has recently attracted so much attention in Paris. The anecdotes of Rachel and of Talma are eminently enjoyable, and the illustrations of the science of reading are most useful. A new serial story, by Mrs. Annie Edwardes, called "Jet: Her Face or her Fortune?" is begun, and is accompanied by a telling frontispiece by Reinhart. Edward Bellamy has one of his unique sketches, under the title of "Two Days' Solitary Imprisonment;" M. E. W. S. has a sparkling New York society story; and Lizzie W. Champney has a short story, the scene being Paris and the characters artists; Charlotte Adams describes in glowing and picturesque style "The Carnival of Venice;" and some examples of a new Russian drawing-room poet are given. The opening article is an illustrated paper on Rio Janeiro. Of the editorss papers one is devoted to Samuel Bowles and one to Victor Emanuel.

Hugh Campbell, a lad of sixteen years, from Galt was lately sent by Judge Miller to four years in the Reformatory at Penetanguishene for stealing $20 in cash and a bunch of keys from Mr. Adam Oliver, of North Dumfries.

Five boys under ten years of age were up at the Toronto Police Court on Thursday morning for larceny. One little scamp who could not see over the dock said, "I ain't guilty; I want to be tried by you; I want to be tried by you; I want to be sent to the Reformatory." He hails from Buffalo and was sent to the Boys' Home.

TWO HOURS OF SCOTTISH MELODY.—The Globe says that the complimentary concert given to Miss Jeannie Watson on Friday night was in Shaftesbury Hall, Toronto, was undoubtedly the best Scottish entertainment listened to in Toronto since the departure of the Kennedy's for Scotland. Throughout the entire programme, which took over two hours to discuss, no hitch occurred to mar the excellence of the performance. In the rendering of the first solo, "The Flowers o' the Forest," Miss Watson more than ever gave convincing proof of her title to rank as "The Queen of Scottish Song." Better singing than hers last evening—so far as the exposition of Scottish melody is concerned, at least—we do not remember having heard in Toronto. In every effort Miss Watson excelled; indeed, it is questionable whether she ever made a more favorable impression. Jeannie Watson's complimentary concert will keep her in kindly remembrance among her friends in Toronto during her absence on her western tour.

HAROLD THE OUTLAW

—OR—

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XXI.

ANOTHER SECRET CONFERENCE IN HUXTER ROW—THE ENCOUNTER IN THE PASS.

His ruddy face instantly grew white as ashes, as he staggered against the side of his horse, almost powerless with the sudden shock.

Harold stood quite motionless—his frame rigid, erect, stately, and his face stern, and wearing an expression too awful to be described, as his eyes rested with fixed unswevering gaze on the terror stricken exciseman.

Yes, terror-stricken Gillespie was, but only for a moment, and chiefly from the shock which surprise had given him. Fear was a thing so foreign to his nature that he could not long remain under its influence, even though his guilty consciousness told him what cause he had to expect violence at the hand of the man before him. The meeting, too, though unexpected then, was something which he had often contemplated as likely to occur, and he had as often considered how he should bear himself in the emergency. These thoughts ran through his mind with electric rapidity, and by a strong effort he recovered himself so far as to stand firmly up, and return with a show of composure the granite look with which Harold continued to regard him.

At length the latter spoke.

"So, Malcolm Gillespie, we have met at last," he said. "At last the victim is face to face with his betrayor, and no Sheriff with his officials is bye to curb our talk."

"Let me pass, Mr. Logan. I have nothing to say to you," blurted out the gauger, taking a step forward, and trying to escape.

"Not so fast, sir," added Harold, stepping into the middle of the narrow path, and effectually blocking the way. "'Tis like enough you have nothing to say to me but I have something of great moment to say to you."

Gillespie drew back a step, and put his hand in his bosom.

"Take care, Logan," he cried. "If you mean to offer violence, I warn you against it, for I am armed."

"Ay, with a pistol, I see," returned the youth, in a tone stern and bitter. "Is it," he inquired, with a meaning accent, "is it the same pistol with which Wanlass was shot?"

Gillespie replied not, but he kept his hand on the weapon.

"Nay, man; do not fear an attack from me. You know well enough that I am not given to the use of such things as that, though you swore the contrary at Aberdeen."

"What have you to say to me?" cried the gauger, with great bravado.

"Several things. Don't you think it natural that I should, when you recollect what I am, and who made me what I am, when you bear in mind that I am an outlaw, forced to hide among these hills lest I be taken and carried to the scaffold—and that I am in this situation solely through you, is it a matter of any great surprise that I should have something to say to you—whose perjury has brought this ruin upon me?"

"Some things to say," thought Gillespie to himself. "Oh, if he means to do nothing but speak I may as well listen and have it over. How cursedly awkward to have met him in this place."

"Come, sir, answer me. Is it not most natural?"

"As natural, perhaps, as for me not to wish to listen," returned the gauger doggedly.

"Like enough. But you are compelled to listen. I might, had I chosen, had this meeting in open ground, but well knowing what cause you have to keep out of my way I chose it should take place here, where you cannot pass till it is my pleasure to allow you."

"Then this is no chance encounter?" exclaimed Gillespie, in surprise.

"An outlaw can leave nothing to mere chance," returned Harold, bitterly. "I guessed you would be coming down the pass this morning, and you see I have not been mistaken. If you ask me why I wished the meeting I might answer that, amongst other things, I wished to see how troubled you would be at the sight of the man whom you have so foully wronged. You have borne it better than I could have believed. With the knowledge of your crime against me, and the ruin you have brought upon me, I would have looked for greater dismay. But every one knows that Malcolm Gillespie is a man of courage—it is few—very few, who know that, with gold, he has been bribed to send an innocent man to the gallows."

"Bribed—bribed," echoed Gillespie—"by whom?"

"By Gilmour. Oh! affect no surprise; I know all—all—from first to last. At first your perjury appeared inexplicable, motiveless—when I learned the truth it seemed so no longer, my only wonder was how a man of education, not to say of human feeling, could be induced by any mercenary consideration to bring such ruin upon another. However, that is past, the deed is done, and done uselessly. Neither Gilmour nor you will benefit by it. No doubt, now that my father is dead, my brother and you count on getting the reward of your iniquity, but——"

"Is Sir Philip dead?" exclaimed Gillespie, excessively astonished.

"Did you not know it? He died three days ago."

"I have been two nights from home."

"Ah, true—I forgot that," returned Harold, with a meaning smile, which the other failed not to notice or to draw an inference from.

"Yes, my father is dead," went on Harold—a frown deepening on his brow, and his voice growing hard and stern. "He is dead; and I, the eldest son and rightful heir, dare not occupy my proper place at his obsequies. For this and a thousand other deprivations I have to thank you, Malcolm Gillespie. Yet I have said it will avail you and your principal nothing. You have sinned in vain, and incurred retribution for nought. Ay, Retribution, Gillespie; it is to announce it that I have sought this meeting. Your ruin shall come, as surely as you have already brought mine upon me. It shall come—and, at my hands, as surely as mine has come from yours.

The net proceeds of the social lately given in Bothsay, under the auspices of the O.Y. B., amounted to over forty dollars.

Geo. May, an Exeter wife beater, has been sentenced to two months imprisonment for ill-using his wife.

Exeter wants a High School, and if there is any virtue in a vigorous agitation, it is likely to secure such an institution.

Mr. Adam Murray, Precenter in Rev. Mr. Bentley's Church, Galt, was lately presented with a purse containing $72 and an address.

Talk about female curiosity—it's all onesided; let one man stop on the street to spell out a sign on top of a high building, and every other mother's son that goes by will stand still and stare for ten minutes trying to make out what the first idiot is looking at.

Lucknow Sentinel: One of the largest average crop ever produced in this part of the country was that reaped on the farm of the late Jacob Seegmiller, near Goderich, the yield from fifty acres having been 1,550 bushels of spring wheat. This average has been obtained on smaller portions of land, say ten acres, but we do not remember to have heard of this quantity being raised on so large a farm as this.

A St. Petersburg despatch states that Osman Pasha has given positive assurances that there is no truth in the charges made against him of cruelty to prisoners of war.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 14.

The debate on the Address was resumed by Mr. McCallum.

Mr. Young followed, pointing out, as an instance of the care and economy exercised by the Government, that during the past year they were enabled to reduce the public expenditure by one million of dollars. In four years our expenditure was only increased $270,000 per annum. During the previous four years the late Government had increased expenditure at the rate of two millions a year. He complimented the Government on having carried the following reforms:—Simultaneous voting, vote by ballot, the reference of contested election trials to the judges, stricter parliamentary control over the expenditure, laying important contracts before Parliament for approval, economy in expenditure, and abolition of dual representation. Speaking of Sir John Macdonald's inconsistency on the protection question, and his endeavor to draw support from manufacturers on pretence of a hollow sympathy for them, he said:—When in Galt a short time ago the hon. gentleman made a point of visiting every manufactory in the town, and on leaving he invariably asked, with a little nudge of the elbow: "Would you not be better with a little protection?" Indeed, this question had become as popular in Galt since the hon. gentleman's visit as "How's your poor feet?" was during the London Exhibition of 1851. With regard to the workingmen's testimonials which were being got up for the hon. gentleman, he (Mr. Young) had no hesitation in saying that they were utterly bogus. They were started either by expectant Conservative candidates or politicians with an eye to the next election, and a few workingmen were placed in the foreground as decoy ducks. (Cheers.) But this practice would be of no avail. The great mass of our mechanics knew their interests too well to cast their votes against the present Reform Government. (Cheers.) One little incident which occurred during the hon. gentleman's visit to Galt was worthy of mention, as illustrating that some of his friends were desirous of turning his visit to good account. The hon. member was presented by one of the firms he visited with a great variety of clothing, including unmentionables, the firm with a sharp eye to business, perceiving, that he (Sir John Macdonald) was becoming one of the best, if not the cheapest, advertising mediums in the country. (Laughter and cheers.)

Mr. Gibbs (North Ontario) attacked the member for North Norfolk for an alleged change of view on commercial questions. He concluded by hoping the Government would afford him an early opportunity of going back to his constituency.

Mr. Patterson—On rising showed that as a manufacturer the commercial difficulties which had arisen were not caused by a lack of protection, but by too many manufacturers having been established in the same line. Referring to the attacks on the Ministry for being as bad as their predecessors he held that the Reform party was a party of purity because they had placed laws on the statute book calculated to purify public life, to keep Reformers pure, and if possible make Conservatives pure, too. He was loudly applauded when he held the Opposition recreant to their trust if they did not formulate their charges against the Government and bring them up in this House.

Mr. Farrow, Mr. Pope (P. E. I.) and Mr. Yeomans followed, and the debate was adjourned.

OTTAWA, Feb. 15.

The debate on the Address was resumed by Mr. Macdougall, of Elgin, who ironically complimented the member for North Hastings for his fairness and impartiality in reading the opinions given by the judges who had tried several election causes, and making an important omission by not reading the opinions expressed by the judge who tried the Kingston contested election case.

Mr. Wade indulged the House with a short and not very interesting history of his political career.

The liveliest portion of the debate, however, was during the speech made by Mr. Frechette, when he read a report of a speech delivered by Mr. Thibault, in Digby. This famous speech convulsed the House during the time it was being read.

Dr. Orton criticised at some length the fiscal policy of the Government, and urged that it was their duty to adopt some broad and expansive scheme for elevating the country above the cloud of depression which had weighed so heavily upon the industrial classes. He urged that a protective policy was necessary to restore prosperity, and that agriculturists needed protection just as much as other classes. Since Confederation the cost of government had increased two-fold, and he considered that vast improvements and great reforms should be inaugurated in this particular in each Department. Administrative reforms might be instituted by which the cost of Government might be very materially reduced, to the great benefit of the people. He next reviewed the acts of the Government, maintaining that the Premier and his colleagues had not fulfilled the promises made prior to their accession to power. He did not believe that there were indications of returning prosperity, but feared a continuation of the failures which had disturbed the commercial community so long. He hoped that the Government would do their duty during the present session, and show that they were not entirely indifferent to the wants of the Dominion.

Mr. Goudge replied to the charge of disloyalty made on the Minister of Militia by Dr. Tupper. He read a letter written to and published in the Halifax British Colonist by Dr. Tupper on the occasion of the visit of the Prince of Wales, which contained some decidedly disloyal, and in one instance positively indecent, allusions to Her Majesty.

Mr. Perry referred to the Premier's visit to Prince Edward Island, and the hearty welcome extended to him. He attributed much of the success of the Canadian cause at the Fisheries Commission to that visit. As for a reaction in his Province, a reaction was going on there since 1848 in favor of the Liberal party.

Mr. Bain repudiated the extreme Free Trade views attributed to the Liberal party, saying that he, as a farmer, in common with the members of that party, coincided with the resolution adopted by the Dominion Board of Trade recently, that the 17½ tariff was all that the country required.

The debate was going on at 3:10 a.m.

Nichol Council.

At the last meeting of the above Council, a by-law was brought in and passed, appointing certain municipal officers for the current year. The following were appointed: Thos Pritchard and John Anderson, for the assessment district applied for by them, respectively; poundkeepers—Patrick Hefferman, John C Wood, John Muir, and Matthew Stribe; fence-viewers—Wm Gibbon, Wm Clark, Wm Tindale, sen, Arthur Walker, Hugh Kilpatrick, Abraham J. ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 14.

The Government resolution providing for the payment of fees to rural police magistrates passed through Committee of the Whole, as did also the Bill to confirm the Revised Statues of Ontario.

Hon. Mr. Hardy moved the second reading of the Civil Service Bill. He referred briefly to the clauses which had been objected to on the occasion of the first reading of the Bill. The clause providing for the examination of persons nominated to the offices of Sheriff, Registrar, and Clerk of County Courts was one which the Government would not press.

He also promised to alter the clause which gives the Governor in Council the power of fixing the maximum amount of the fees and charges which County Clerks shall be entitled to retain for their own use, and transfer that power to the House.

In Committee of Supply, a lively discussion took place over the items for beer, wine, and spirits for use in lunatic asylums. Considerable diversity of opinion was expressed as regards the value of stimulants in the treatment of lunatics, even the doctors in the House differing on the point. Dr. Wilson brought the matter to a bearing by moving that the item of $1,850 for beer, wine, and spirits for use in the Toronto Lunatic Asylum be struck out of the estimates. On the motion being put, nine only voted in the affirmative.

TORONTO, Feb. 15.

Mr. Mowat in reply to a question said, it was not the intention of the Government to issue a general Commission of the Peace for either the county of Peel or of Simcoe during the present year, but if there were any localities where such was required in the interest of justice commissions would be issued.

The Bill providing for the employment of prisoners without the walls of common gaols passed its third reading.

Mr. Currie moved a second reading of the Bill respecting the sale of land under mortgages, after some discussion, the Bill was lost on a division.

A general debate took place on the second reading of Mr. Rose' Bill making the election of school trustees in cities, towns, and villages concurrent with the municipal elections, and also providing that their election be by ballot. The arguments in favor of the measure were, that it would be publicly more convenient, that there would be a great saving of expense, that more attention would be given to these elections, and that a better class of candidates would thereby be induced to run. The Minister of Education said that there had been no such manifestation of public feeling in favor of the changes sought in the Bill as would justify the Government in supporting it. Besides, it was a question whether the concurrence of the elections might not introduce a political element into school matters, and it was also one whether the ballot was desirable for voting for School Trustees. After the matter had been warmly discussed, a considerable diversity of opinion existing on both sides of the House, the Bill was lost on a division.

After several private Bills had been advanced a stage, Mr. Calvin's Bill to amend the Municipal Act so far as relates to the appointment of county valuators was read a second time, and referred to a Select Committee.

After passing some items in Supply, the House adjourned.

The Press and the Pulpit.

He was the manager at a Church fair, and one morning he walked into the newspaper office and said:—

"Want an item this morning?"

"Of course," replied the editor. Whereupon the visitor laid the following note upon the table:—

The ladies of the ——street Church will give a festival at their vestry hall next Thursday evening. Literary and musical entertainments will be provided, and supper will be served to all who desire. The ladies in charge of the affair have much experience in such matters and are sure to provide a good time. The admission will be only fifteen cents, and it is certain that no one can spend that amount to better advantage. Be sure to go and take your friends.

When the editor had read it, he said:—

"Oh, I see, an advertisement."

"No; not an advertisement. We prefer to have it go into the local column," replied the manager.

And seeing that the editor looked sceptical, he continued:—

"It will interest a great many of your readers and help a good cause; besides, we have spent so much money getting up our entertainment that we can't afford to advertise it without increasing the price of the tickets. In such as this we ought to help each other."

"Well," said the editor, "if it goes into the locals, I suppose you would reciprocate by reading a little notice in your Church next Sunday?"

The visiting brother asked what notice, and the editor wrote and handed him the following:—

The Weekly Chronicle for the coming year will be the best and cheapest family paper in Maine. Its proprietor has had much experience and has all the helps which a large outlay of money can procure. His paper has a larger circulation than any other published in the country, and is to be furnished for only $2. It is certain that no one can spend that amount to a better advantage. Be sure and take the Chronicle and subscribe for your friends.

The manager hemmed and hesitated, and then said solemnly, that he doubted whether it would be judicious to read such a notice, but suggested that if it was printed, copies of it might be distributed at the door of the vestry on the evening of the entertainment.

"Yes," said the editor, "but it would attract more attention in the middle of a sermon. It would interest a large number of your congregation and help a good cause; and, besides, much money is spent upon the Chronicle that I don't see how the owner can afford to print handbills to advertise it without increasing the subscription price. In such a matter as this we ought to be willing to help each other."

Then the gentleman saw the situation.—Fairfield (Me.) Chronicle.

The Great Western Railway Company have had prepared a magnificent map for the Paris Exposition, showing the main line of the road, with all its branches, amounting in all, to some 800 miles. The map is of the large dimensions of eight feet by ten feet, and, in order to show the whole of the line, embraces the western peninsula of Ontario. Every information respecting the road during the past year is given, the number of passengers, amount of freight, live stock, etc., carried, and other details.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provide our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage wich may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. MY DEAR DOCTOR: A few weeks since I had a conversation with my janitress as to a paralytic brother-in-law. He was stricken paralytically two years ago; the right side entirely paralysed, including the right arm and right leg. He has not earned a penny during the time; at my request he purchased and used a bottle of your IODIDE OF AMMONIA; before the bottle was one-half used, he could raise his arm and control his leg. He continued the application until he had used a second bottle, and is now earning two dollars a day, and keeps up his work well. Use this certificate as you please.

Bleeding of the Lungs.

Bowmanville, Ont., Nov. 8, 1872.

MESSRS. Seth W. Fowle & Sons, Boston:—

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with bleeding of the lungs for a long time. About two years ago I took a severe cold which made my lungs very sore, but after using one bottle of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry the pain and cough disappeared and have not troubled me since. I believe the Balsam is the best medicine in use and well worth the price asked for it.

Yours truly JESSIE BURK.

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

Austria to State Her Policy.

LONDON, Feb. 18.

A despatch from Vienna says Austria will to-day announce her definite resolution regarding her attitude on the situation of affairs in the East.

The British flag ship Alexandria on the passage up the Dardanelles saluted the Turkish flag at Halek Island, and the salute was returned by the garrison of that place.

The Silver Bill.

LONDON, Feb. 18.—The Times this morning highly praises resumptionists in the United States for their tenacious fighting in opposition to the Silver Bill.

The Trouble in Greece.

ATHENS, Feb. 18.—It is announced that Turkey will not send a fleet to the Piræus nor will she send troops to Thessaly, consequently Greece has re-called her troops from the frontier and all is now quiet. The Baden-Baden Congress will settle the question of the rights of Greece.

Russians Withdrawing.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Feb. 18.

Russians have withdrawn from Samedie redoubt, and have received orders not to cross the line of demarcation fixed by the armistice.

The Eastern Question.

A sudden change seems to have come over the aspect of affairs in Europe, and to-day the fears of war are changed to the speculations about a permanent peace. Through the good offices of Germany—it is said—Russia has refrained from advancing on Constantinople, and in consonance with this pacific determination Britain has withdrawn her fleet from before Constantinople. The advance on Gallipoli has been countermanded, the proposal for a Congress of the great Powers has been accepted, to meet at Baden-Baden, and the cloud of war has thus been suddenly lifted from the horizon. It is understood that Russia and England will maintain their respective military and naval positions until the close of the Congress of the European Powers which is to take the place of the proposed Conference, and that no other European fleet will be allowed to enter the Dardanelles for fear of further complicating the situation.

For the present then we are not to have war, and it will now be left to the Congress to settle the vexed question between Turkey and Russia. At the present time it would be folly for us to speculate on the deliberations and results of this Congress.

CURLING MATCHES.—Two rinks from Goderich will arrive here to-morrow and play two rinks of our club. Two Guelph rinks go from Guelph to Harriston on Thursday, when the formal opening of the rink there will take place. Arrangements have been made for playing for the Caledonian Medal between the Guelph and Point Edward Clubs at St. Mary's, on the 27th inst.—two rinks aside.

GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA is the most effective agent for the removal of tumours, and especially for the removal of those unsightly scrofulous tumours of the glands of the neck, which have hitherto proven to be incurable.

The head of the Militia Force has received, to date, several hundred offers of service in case of Great Britain being involved in war. These include, besides applications from officers of the Canadian militia, offers to raise regiments for service.

Rev. James Carmichael, of St. George's Church, in Montreal, has been appointed rector of the Church of the Ascension, Hamilton, Ont.

Hon. John Young is suffering from heart disease, which was aggravated by his returning from Australia by the Suez Canal, which route he chose in order to see the system of dredging pursued there. The heat was most oppressive, and he was prostrated by a severe sunstroke. He is better of late.

A curling match was played at Galt on Saturday between the employees of the Ayr Agricultural Works and the Dumfries Foundry, two rinks aside, resulting in favor of the foundry by fourteen shots.

Mr. Allan, Inspector of Weights and Measures at Paris, lately seized and confiscated a large number of unstamped measures in drug stores and groceries last week.

Local News Items.

CHALMERS' CHURCH.—Rev. Mr. Middlemiss, of Elora, occupied the pulpit of this church on Sunday, morning and evening.

AT the last semi-annual meeting of the Council of the Ontario College of Pharmacy held in Toronto, it was reported that at the last semi-annual examination for registration as chemists and druggists, the number of candidates was sixty-nine, of whom forty-seven obtained diplomas. Among these were Mr. T. S. Petrie, of Guelph.

THE Fergus School Board has appointed a special committee to draft a petition to the Ontario Legislature praying that the Intermediate Examinations be substituted for examinations for Third Class Teachers' Certificates. Steps have been taken towards purchasing a lot on which to erect a suitable building for High School purposes. The News Record thinks that the trustees would be acting very prematurely to incur an expenditure of some $8,000 at the present time.

COOL BURGESS.—Every person has heard of the great Cool Burgess as a brilliant comedian, and he never appears at better advantage than when he is an "endman," playing the bones or tamborine. He plays in the town hall this evening, supported by a first-class company. The Times in noticing a performance given by the Company in Hamilton, a few days ago, states that Cool is to-day what he was in the beginning of his dramatic career—the prince of burnt cork comedians.

SERVICE OF SONG.—A very interesting entertainment will be given in St. George's Church this evening, commencing at eight o'clock. No admission fee will be charged, but instead a collection will be taken up in aid of the new rectory. The affair promises to be a great treat. The performers have been to a great deal of trouble to prepare themselves, and the best way the congregation can show their appreciation of their labors will be by turning out in large numbers. All are invited.

WELLINGTON M. F. INS. CO.—The Monetary Times thus speaks of this Company:—The Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Wellington is amongst the few that have adhered closely to the mode originally contemplated by the Mutual Insurance Companies Act in working upon the premium note system only, and confining its business within reasonable limits. The result of this course has been entirely satisfactory to its members who have had insurance at small cost. The company has now $2,468,406 at risk. It paid for losses last year $4,890. Its premium notes amount to $247,650. The business is well under control. Its assessments in arrears reach only $693, and the balance in the hands of agents is very small, to wit, $122.

NARROW ESCAPE.—This (Monday) morning a young lad named Albert Grace, employed in the confectionary and biscuit establishment of Messrs. Massie, Weir & Bryce, had a very narrow escape from death. The only thing that saved him from serious if not fatal injuries, was the fact that the shirt he wore was not of very strong texture. At the time the accident occurred the young lad was feeding pans into the biscuit machine, and in reaching too far in his shirt sleeve was caught by a bolt on a revolving shaft. It commenced winding him up, and when it had drawn him close to the frame of the machine his shirt commenced tearing. The lad screamed, and although the machine was stopped by some of the workmen as soon as possible, it was not accomplished before the lad's shirt was torn completely off his back, and his chest was considerably bruised.

SHEPPARD JUBILEE SINGERS.—This concert company, (colored), appeared in the Town Hall on Saturday evening, and were greeted with a highly respectable audience, who listened with interest throughout the programme. No doubt a greater number would have been present had the Company been advertised properly; as it was many did not know of their capabilities as singers. The whole company acquitted themselves to the satisfaction of the audience. None of the performers profess to read music, but they certainly display a natural talent that was something very remarkable. The soprano of the company possesses a very sweet voice of great compass and flexibility. The baritone and contralto voices were also above the average, while the tenor was only fair. The singing of the old plantation songs were given with only a little of the notion that seems to be a necessity for colored people to indulge in while singing. The singing of the "Lord's Prayer," by the company, and "Old Black Joe," a bass solo, were the pieces most correctly and effectively sung. Andrew Sheppard addressed the audience between the first and second parts of the programme, narrating the terrible sufferings he had undergone while thirty years a slave. The audience was greatly pleased throughout, and expressed their satisfaction by repeated applause.

A quantity of unclaimed goods left at the Centennial Exhibition were sold on Saturday.

WAVERLY LODGE A. F. and A. M., meets this evening.

TOWN COUNCIL regular meeting this evening.

THE weather probabilities, as received by the Dominion Telegraph are, light to moderate winds and clear to cold fair weather.

PROPERTY SOLD.—On Saturday Mr. Chas. Davidson disposed of that property situate on the corner of Surry and Neeve streets, formerly the residence of Mr. Wm. Allan, for $2,905 cash.

PROF. L. B. ARNOLD, of Rochester, N. Y., the distinguished American dairy author and lecturer, is in town, visiting the School of Agriculture, specially with a view of inspecting the cheese factory system.

LODGE OF INSTRUCTION.—On Wednesday afternoon a Masonic Lodge of Instruction will be opened in the Masonic Chambers, Guelph, by D.D.G.M. Cavers, of Galt, and other Grand Lodge officers. The sessions will continue for three days.

ASSAULT.—On Saturday evening as a lad, residing in the East Ward, was going over Allan's bridge he said something disagreeable to a young man who was passing, whereupon the latter turned and struck him with a sharp piece of ice on the back of the neck cutting a large gash.

A SERMON having special reference to the death of the late Dr. McGregor will be preached in the Norfolk street Methodist Church on Sabbath morning next. Members of the Reliance and Progress Lodges of Oddfellows will attend the service in a body.

LUSUS NATURÆ.—An employee on the Grand Trunk Railway has left at this office a hog's foot, which truly demonstrates that nature's freaks are sometimes very strange. He was in Essex Centre, on the line of the Canada Southern Railway, a few days ago, and while there secured the hog's foot, which has three extra toes, and the horney nails bear a slight resemblance to those on a man's finger

NEW HARDWARE STORE.—Messrs. Thorp & Son announce in the advertising columns that they have opened up a large and well selected stock of hardware in connection with their stove and tinware establishment, Upper Wyndham street. Mr Frank Smith will be manager of the hardware branch of the trade. Messrs. Thorp purpose pushing trade, and in order to do so, claim that their prices are marked down remarkably low.

THE LATE ROMAN PONTIFF.—On Sabbath morning the pastoral issued by His Lordship Bishop Crinnon, officially announcing the death of His Holiness the Pope, and commenting on the same, was read in St. Bartholomew's Church. The circular, after referring to the death of Pius IX. as having taken place on the 7th inst., stated that—"This glorious Pontiff was, of all the successors of St. Peter, the most remarkable,—remarkable for the long period during which he governed the Church, and for the great progress the Church made during his reign. In England he established the hierarchy after 300 years of confiscation and persecution; and in the New World, at the time of his elevation to the chair of St. Peter, the Church was of slight dimensions; but at his death we find ninety-eight bishops in North America alone, thousands of priests, and millions of faithful Catholics firmly attached to the See of Peter. He defined that glorious dogma of faith, the Immaculate Conception of the Ever Blessed Virgin,—that she who was declared by the angel 'full of grace' and 'blessed amongst women,' was free from original sin, by the great mercy of God, and through the merits of the coming Saviour, and that flesh and blood with which she was to clothe the Divinity, was never stained by sin, nor under the influence of Satan." Reference was made to the bishops of the Church, defining the doctrine of Papal infallibility, which was that the Sovereign Pontiff—the Vicar of Christ on earth, when teaching the Church on faith and morals, was infallible. After reciting some of the work accomplished by Pius IX. and referring to his kindness and benevolence in laudatory words, the pastoral closes with the command that the prayer of the Holy Ghost be recited in daily mass until the late Pontiff's successor be appointed.

BELFORD'S MONTHLY MAGAZINE, for February has been issued, and can now be had at the bookstores. The illustrations in connection with "Down the Rhine" are all fair, while the reading matter is quite up to the usual high standard of the journal. The following is the table of contents:—Roxy, illustrated; Fragments of the War of 1812, My Grandfather's Ghost Story, The River in the Desert, Aunt Cundy's Dinner, Asleep, English and American Indian Policy, The Hermit's Bride, Down the Rhine, illustrated, The Neapolitans to Mozart, A few Hours in Bohemia, The Hireling School Master, The latest Chinese Outrage, French Novels of the 18th Century, &c.

THE RINK MEDAL.—On Saturday the last game of the first series for the Guelph rink medal was played between rinks skipped by Messrs. Jas. Emslie and John Mackenzie, the former winning by a score of 17 to 16. There were ten rinks competing and the five that have been defeated are not eligible to compete further this year. The five rinks which play off to decide the winner, are skipped by Messrs. A. Congalton, R. Mitchell, Alex. Bruce, D. McCrae and Jas. Emslie. The score of Saturday's game follows:

Wm. Bruce	Wm Douglas
John Oliver	Dr. McGuire
Robt. Emslie	John Spalding
Jas. Emslie, skip—17.	John Mackenzie—16.

The Sarnia Curling Club has beaten St. Mary's by one for the Governor General's gold medal. In the afternoon they beat Chatham by nine, and Sarnia beat Chatham by thirteen. These two latter games were merely friendly matches.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 16.

The debate on the Address was continued till 5 o'clock on Saturday morning.

Dr. Tupper followed Mr. Bain, and as was expected made a furious attack on Mr. Jones, writhing as he evidently was under the severe castigation given him by the Minister of Militia. The Doctor's efforts was in substance a repetition of his former speech, with occasional emendation, additions, and discursive flights into new regions. He took Mr. Jones' speech as reported in the Globe, attacking the said report, however, as partial and even garbled on the strength of here and there a some trifling reportorial omission, and broadly insinuating that this had been done of malice aforethought by a member of the House who was supposed to have relations with that paper. He spoke for fully two hours, reiterating his accusations against Mr. Jones and his defence of himself.

Mr. Mackenzie made a final and telling reply, in excellent temper, but the words were cutting. In reference to Sir John's reiterated assertion of Mr. Jones' disloyalty, after that gentleman had fully and satisfactorily vindicated himself, the Premier said:—The vigor with which the hon. Minister of Militia had defended himself showed that he was not a man to be put down, even by the noise and vituperation of the member for Cumberland (hear, hear), and for having thus defended himself that hon. gentleman and his friends would never forgive him. He went on to point out that this system of abuse of the Minister of Militia had been initiated by the member for Cumberland, and said that the House would agree that the attempts of him (Dr. Tupper) and his friends to put down the member for Halifax had utterly failed. It seemed to be the deliberate purpose of hon. gentlemen opposite to make the political life of those gentlemen who ventured to dispute their dicta as disagreeable as possible. (Hear, hear.) He would ask why the hon. gentleman from Kingston should parade his loyalty? (hear, hear)—he who had been an associate of the men who burned down the Parliament Buildings; who had associated with the men who had hoisted the black flag to insult the Governor-General; who was associated with the men who had formed a league at Kingston to drive the French into the sea (to use their own words); who was associated with the men who pelted the Governor-General with rotten eggs; who was associated with the men who hoisted the black flag of independence at Sandwich, etc.—the man who had as a colleague him who threatened to use the bayonets of Nova Scotia against the people of the Western provinces. (Hear, hear, and cheers.) After the explicit denial of the Minister of Militia that he had uttered the sentiments attributed to him, the member for Kingston should be desirous to accept this statement from one whom no one could deny was an honorable man. (Hear, hear, and cheers.) But it was not the object of the hon. gentlemen opposite to get a satisfactory explanation, but to heap as much dirt as they could upon the character of a political opponent—to humble if they could the standing of an honorable member of this House. (Hear, hear.) But the country would know the object of this tirade of abuse that had been uttered by the two hon. gentlemen opposite, and would value it precisely as he (Mr. Mackenzie) did, and that was as being worth a little less than nothing. (Hear, hear, and cheers.)

The Address was finally adopted.

The Ministers then laid their respective departmental reports on the table, amid loud cheers at this manifestation of business-like promptitude, and the wearied members adjourned at five o'clock.

AN IMPORTANT LAW SUIT.—The case of Meakin vs. Samson is one involving a principle of the most vital importance to the mercantile community. It is the result of proceedings instituted by Messrs. Samson Kennedy & Gemmel of Toronto, to test the legality of a business carried on by an undischarged insolvent in the name of his wife. The Monetary Times says that the case which is an interpleader issue in which the wife claims the goods seized by Samson Kennedy & Gemmel under an execution against the husband, was tried at the last summer assizes at Toronto before Mr. Justice Galt and a jury. A verdict was there given for the plaintiff. Against this verdict the defendants moved before the full court, and the matter was argued during last November term. No decision was announced until the present term when judgment was rendered setting this verdict aside. Mr. Justice Galt however dissented from the other members of the court, and adhered to the view taken by him at the trial. The judgment of the majority of the court is to the effect that the use of the wife's name was a mere blind intended to conceal the real state of facts, and that the creditors who supplied goods knew this. It is also pointed out in strong terms that if such transactions were to be upheld, the effect would be to entirely defeat the salutary enactments of our bankrupt laws providing for the refusal of a discharge to fraudulent bankrupts. The case is likely to be brought before a higher court.

For the week ending 31st ult., the traffic returns of the Northern Railway, show a decrease of $785; of the Toronto & Nipissing an increase of $190,14; of the Midland, an increase of $2,108; those of the Grand Trunk for week ending 2ad inst., an increase of $7,003; and of the Whitby, Port Perry & Lindsay, an increase of $1083.28 for the week ending 9th inst.

The Governor-General and Lady Dufferin returned to Ottawa by the Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa, and Occidental Railway on Saturday, receiving a hearty welcome all along the route.

The news from Cape Town is unsatisfactory. Although the Kaffirs have been defeated in several engagements with the Colonial volunteers, the difficulties of the situations are increased by the revolt of the Tambookies, and it is feared that yet another tribe will rise.

The Ultramontane Cardinals are said to be actively at work to secure the election of a member of their party. A combination of the foreign Cardinals, under Manning and De Falloux, is said to have fallen through owing to the refusal of the Austrian members to co-operate.

The mail steamer Hibernian has been heard from. The Government steamer Newfield, which arrived at Halifax this morning, came across her on Tuesday making for Queenstown under sail, having broken her shaft. Her mails and some of her passengers were transferred to the Newfield.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

From Rumors of War to Visions of Peace.

Russia Not to Occupy Constantinople

The British Fleet Withdrawn.

The Congress to Meet at Baden-Baden

All the Powers Agree to It.

Feb. 17.

A Constantinople despatch says:—The British fleet have been withdrawn to Mudania Bay, 40 miles south of Constantinople. This movement is attributed to a desire on the part of England to facilitate the negotiations to prevent the entry of the Russians.

The London Times editorially is very pacific in tone. It says:—It will be due to some gratuitous mismanagement if the relative position of England and Russia near Constantinople leads to any serious misunderstanding.

Up to Sunday evening the Foreign Office had received no official information indicating a Russian advance on Constantinople or Gallipoli.

It is reported from Constantinople that the British Ambassador had a long audience with the Sultan to-night to explain England's policy.

A Paris correspondent telegraphs that intelligence has been received there that Bismarck on Tuesday will be able to announce that owing to the Emperor William's friendly intervention, Russia has resolved to maintain attitude which cannot imperil the peaceful solution of existing difficulties. According to the latest information, England and Russia will maintain their respective military and naval positions during the session of the Congress. No other Power will enter the Dardanelles, lest it should increase the complications.

A Vienna telegram says:—Notwithstanding the prospect of a Congress the position is still considered grave. It is rumoured that England has made overtures for an understanding and arrangements with Austria. The latter is negotiating a loan with the Rothschilds.

A despatch from Berlin says:—The indications are that the Russian action is regarded here as at variance with the understood programme, namely, the liberation of the Christians and nothing more.

A Vienna special reports that a recent Cabinet Council decided on the partial mobilization of the Austrian army if the Conference question was not settled within a fortnight. At a subsequent Council it was decided to refer the question to Bismarck, and his good offices resulted in Russia's consenting to an early meeting of the Congress. All danger of an Austro-Russian conflict being thus avoided, the chances of an Anglo-Austrian alliance are greatly diminished.

The report that a Congress would be held at Baden-Baden is confirmed. Negotiations have been concluded. All the Powers, including Russia, have assented.

The London Observer believes that Russia has represented to England that the United States, as a great maritime power, should participate in the Congress. England has not yet objected, but has taken advantage of the proposal to suggest that Greece also be allowed to take part.

The Vienna Political Correspondence says:—The negotiations were only delayed by the sudden acuteness of the relations of England and Russia. The Czar and the Sultan are actively exchanging personal friendly despatches. It is expected peace will be signed by the time the Congress meets, namely, two or three weeks later.

The Observer is informed that Russia has suggested to the Porte the desirability of removing the Mussulman population from Bulgaria.

Advices from Adrianople state it is believed that the peace negotiations will be completed on Wednesday, when the Russians will withdraw from Roumelia unless England makes a new move.

The Agence Russe says orders have been sent to Russian headquarters not to occupy Gallipolis.

A Pera despatch says:—It is generally expected the Grand Duke Nicholas will enter Constantinople with a portion of his army as the guest of the nation, with the consent of the Sultan. The Russians contend this will give England no casus belli.

A Pera despatch of Friday says:—The Turkish squadron arrived to-day, bringing stores and torpedoes from Sulina, which has been evacuated.

A Constantinople despatch says:—The Russian advance guard have not transgressed the lines settled by the armistice in consequence of the withdrawal of the British fleet to Mudania. The Russians will not occupy the suburbs of Constantinople.

A strong body of Thessalian insurgents are besieging Platino in Thessaly. The Turkish reinforcements from Ormyros were repulsed. Seven hundred Greek volunteers crossed the frontier yesterday.

An Athens despatch says:—The Thessalian insurgents took Platino to-day. It is supposed they will not be able to hold it.

Athens advices indicate that the Greek Government is likely to ally itself to England in the event of war between the latter and Russia.

An Athens despatch says:—Hostilities are breaking out in all the districts of Crete, the insurgents taking possession of the blockhouses and strongholds under the flag of union with Greece.

A Pera correspondent says:—It is reported that the Circassians, when retreating before the Russians, suffocated with sulphur 300 women and children who had taken refuge in a cave.

RECENT ROBBERIES.—At Kincardine, before a full bench of magistrates, James H. Fleming was charged with receiving numerous articles stolen by his brother. After evidence prisoner was committed to Walkerton for trial—bail being accepted, himself in $500 and two sureties of $250 each.

FARM SALES.—It will be interesting to the farming community to know how the real estate market stands outside of Wellington County. The following sales are culled from exchanges:—J. Ford sold 50 acres in Tilbury West for $3,000; Chas. Hamilton, of Blyth, has purchased a farm of 100 acres near that village for $5,700; Alex. McBean, has sold 50 acres in North Yarmouth for $3,350; A. Rose, a farm of 50 acres on the 8th con. of Hallett for $3,000; N. Maslatt, 100 acres on the 7th con. of Yarmouth for $7,000; the Robinson farm, 4th con. Township of Smith, 100 acres, has been sold for $7,000 cash.

The Jowakis, a hostile border tribe in India, have been defeated by a body of British cavalry, and three of their leaders captured.

The Evening Mercury

MONDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 18, 1878.

The Debate on the Address.

It was the general belief, before the House met at Ottawa, that the present session would be marked by much bitterness, and that the Opposition would avail themselves of every means to make it so. Judging from the debate on the Address this belief has been more than realized. The debate commenced on Monday, and was carried on every day in the week. On Friday night the Premier announced the debate must end that night, or before the House adjourned, and members, therefore, who claimed the right of speech had to embrace the opportunity. This they did to the fullest extent, for it was near five o'clock on Saturday morning before the last paragraph of the Address was passed.

The debate began on Monday, and after appropriate speeches by the mover and seconder, Sir John Macdonald sharply criticized the Speech, without, however, finding, anything very objectionable in it. He was fully answered by Mr. Mackenzie in all the essential points. Other speeches followed, but none of them were remarkable until on Tuesday Mr. Huntington made a vigorous speech in reply to one by Mr. Mousseau, in which he vindicated the character and objects of the Liberals in Quebec, and showed that the Liberals in Canada had originated all the measures of reform ever proposed in Canada. Dr. Tupper followed with a furious attack on the financial policy of the Government, and then turned aside and made an equally violent and personal attack on Mr. Jones, the new Minister of Militia. Mr. Jones in reply was fully a match for his accuser. In one of the most scathing speeches ever delivered in Parliament he answered Dr. Tupper at every point, showed the member for Cumberland up in his true light, exposed the jobbery he had been guilty of, and finally to the satisfaction of every candid man triumphantly vindicated himself from the charge of disloyalty that had been brought against him.

On Wednesday the debate was resumed, when Mr. Bowell, who has a special appointment to do all Sir John's dirty work, among other things renewed the charges formerly made against Mr. Huntington in connection with certain mining transactions. This brought Mr. Huntington to his feet, who branded the insinuation as a slander and a falsehood, and characterized the attempt of Mr. Bowell to fix a stain upon him as only worthy of a coward. As regards this mining business, he said he was sued by the directors of the Company, and he might tell Mr. Speaker confidentially that he was sued for more money than he could have paid, had a verdict been rendered for the amount —£500,000. Now, no judge ever spoke on the case, for it never went before the courts. The Company sent people to Canada to investigate the affair, and subsequently withdrew their action. They apologised in a deed of settlement for the accusations preferred against him, and they declared in that deed that the action was brought upon representations made from this side of the water, and that they had found the accusations utterly unfounded and incorrect. This was the whole of the transaction he had with reference to copper mining companies. He never undertook to guarantee anything, and he refused to act unless he was permitted to be irresponsible as to titles and descriptions of the property; and he had never made money out the transaction.

On Thursday the chief feature of the debate was the excellent practical speech of Mr. Young and Mr. Patterson. On Friday Dr. Orton and other Protectionists had their little say, and at midnight Dr. Tupper took the opportunity of replying to Mr. Jones, writhing as he was under that gentleman's attack. Mr. Jones gave him a Roland for his Oliver, and flattened out the worthy Doctor. Sir John came to his relief, and treated the House to one of the most abusive speeches he ever made, but he was most effectually countered by Mr. Mackenzie, who reproved him for his vile abuse, and exposed his inconsistency. This brought the memorable debate to a close, and closed the first act in the exciting drama.

This, we believe, is only the beginning of a fierce battle, which will be continued during the session. In weight of argument, in power of reasoning, in the exposure of the sins and short comings of the Opposition, the Government and its supporters have had decidedly the best of it. We have no fear for them in the subsequent debates, but are satisfied that they will beat their opponents at every point.

"Emerged from a chrysalis state of pauperdom to the full blown millionaire." The new Minister of Militia was rather neat in this reference to Dr. Tupper in connection with the Spring Hill mine transaction.

The Galt Reporter thinks we made a mistake in not publishing the names of the subscribers to the Sir John portrait fund when asked to. We gave the number of subscribers as sent us, and we consider that the doing so answered all the purpose of the committee, for the mere publishing of these names was but of purely local interest, and in no way affected the question at issue.

The Herald makes a desperate attempt to sustain its allegations that we had treated Mr. Goldie to "daily doses of [virulent abuse," and that we had "falsified about him," by quoting one sentence from our issue of the 29th June, 1876, in which we say:—"Mr. Goldie says he comes out for a principle, but we can only discern in this whole movement a principle of self, which is paramount to all other considerations." If this is virulent abuse or "falsifying about him" then the Herald has a most extraordinary idea about such things. The Herald had better make another dive into our fyles, for the above extract so far from supporting its assertion proves the truth of our first statement.

Report of the Agricultural College.

We continue to-day some extracts of interest from Mr. Brown's report of the year's operations on the Farm attached to the Agricultural College. He gives the results of some interesting experiments in sheep and cattle feeding, which were conducted during the past year. These as compared with the experiments made in 1876, which were published in the Mercury at the time, will be of interest to the farmer. To begin with the sheep, Mr. Brown says:—On the 1st March we selected ten thorough-bred ram lambs, then twelve months old, eight being Leicester and two Cotswold. They were shorn on the same day, divided as equally as the eye could tell, four and one of Leicester and Cotswold respectively, and put, after weighing, into warm pens adjoining each other, the temperature of which could be regulated. They were fed at regular hours, three times a day, and were weighed weekly, and five weeks were adopted as the limit of change to differently prepared food. The experiment consisted in the use of a mixture of cut hay, whole peas, bran, and cut Swede turnips—in the one case raw, and in the other by steaming in vats erected for the purpose.

Pen 1 on raw food, started with a weight of 730 lbs, and during the first seven days lost flesh to the extent of 6½ lbs., a circumstance owing no doubt to the sudden change of treatment and food—not so much, if any, to the weather, for the following week, with a much lower temperature—the lowest of any during the period of ten weeks—there appeared an increase of no less than 26 lbs. on 32 per cent. less hay and turnips. Indeed large consumption of food seems to have had less effect in adding to weight of flesh than other conditions, as, observe how on the third week—temperature being about equal—over 62 per cent. more hay and turnips give 109 per cent. less increase than that of its predecessor. Succeeding this, however, occurs the largest addition in the whole trial of raw food—wanting only one lb. to make as much as one lb. of flesh per head per day; true, the weather was then milder, but so is the fifth week, during which the increase of 25 per cent. below the average. Let us follow the change of the same pen for another five weeks:—Removed from raw to steamed food, the animals give an increase of 10 oz. per head per day for three weeks continuously, during which not only the quantities of food but the temperatures were very uniform. You will notice the somewhat unusual evenness of temperature from 5th April to 10th May, and upon this, with the regular consumption of food, I am unable to account for the sudden falling off during the fourth week—such a falling off as implies some derangement somewhere. We say it was not in climate, nor in larger or smaller quantities of any kind of food, and it could not be any mouth disease, as the materials were consumed, nor could it be in the stomach, for many examinations every day told of no need of medicine. It is generally understood that young animals void less excrement, and come and go much more irregularly than aged ones, but here again we may be at fault without reliable experiments.

Pen 2 began with steamed food, weighed 722 lbs. on entry, added a little during the first week, and on the second, one of the most severe in weather, and one in which all the sorts of food were, in quantity under an average of the period, each sheep laid on more than 1⅜ lbs. per day, and so on in lesser proportions for the remaining three weeks but always adding, never going back. The same animals, when changed to raw food, however, at once fell off to a large extent, but recovering the shock, and getting considerably a larger proportion of peas, they made ¾ lb. each per day. Instead, however, of keeping up more or less to this recovery, as did pen 1 in its first stage, we have to record a break in the shape of minus 2, an isolated and unaccountable fact to be placed alongside the fourth week of the second stage of pen 1, as already noted.

As regards results and costs, without reference to attendance, we have the following figures:—

On raw food, one ram lamb, thirteen months old, newly shorn, comfortably housed, and having a mean temperature of 25° outside, will eat daily 15 lbs. of cut Swede turnip, one fifth lb. of bran, three and one fifth lbs. of whole peas, and 2¼ lbs. cut hay, adding 6oz. to weight, at an expense of 3½ cents, or say 9½ cents per lb.

On steamed food one ram lamb thirteen months old, newly shorn, comfortably housed, and having a mean temperature of 25° outside, will eat daily 16 lbs. of turnips, one and one fifth lb. of bran, three and one-fifth lbs. whole peas, and 4½ lbs. of cut hay, adding 8½ oz. to weight, at at expense of four cents, or say eight cents per lb.

This experiment then points meantime to five things:

1st. That sudden change of food, raw or cooked, affects young sheep deleteriously.

2. That severe cold temperature has little or no effect on young shorn sheep, well housed, and regularly fed on a variety of good plentiful food, raw or cooked.

3rd. That large consumption of food, raw or cooked, does not always imply a large, or any, addition to weight of mutton.

4th. That sudden fluctuations in the life of young sheep, so managed, seem to be unaccountable, both with raw and cooked food.

5th. That, adding the expense of steaming there is practically no difference in the cost of production, by this experiment.

As an experiment in cattle feeding, Mr. Brown says:—As a trial, preliminary, for the purpose of a lesson, and in order to gather some facts for a more extended extended experiment, we placed four cattle under special feeding for the period of ten weeks, beginning March 20th, and ending May 29th. Of our own breeding from Grade cows, by a thorough bred bull, we selected four steers, mated and managed under conditions similar to the sheep. Two went in with a joint weight of 2,346 lbs., came out in six weeks with an addition of 144 lbs under raw food, or a mean of one and five-sevenths lbs. per head per day; transferred to steam food they made 76 lbs., or one and one-third lb. per head per day. The other two, with a joint weight of 2,278 lbs, under steamed food, show an increase of 92 lbs. in six weeks, which is about 1 and one-tenth lb. per head per day. Charge 1 to raw food for four weeks, and they barely kept their own. Uniting the individual results under each heading, we find that cooking is eighteen per cent. better than raw, almost the same quantities being used—less actually in the former case.

The Conservatives are very unwilling to part with the hard times. They have depended so much upon them for carrying the next elections that signs of improvement are most unwillingly received and even boldly denied. The improvement in the revenue, reports from manufacturers in various parts of the country, and other things are of no avail. The commercial depression is their only hope, and, like drowning men clinging to a straw, they will hold on, however little good it may do them to shut their eyes to facts.

The Tory papers appear to be very much concerned about Mr. Blake's successor, and give us five or six names to choose from. It is very kind of them to advise the Government. The general talk, however, is about Mr. Jas. Young. Well, if he is selected we see no reason why the Tory organs should complain. Mr. Young is an able, industrious member, well versed in politics, a good speaker, and he would make a very efficient Minister. Let the Opposition possess their souls in patience.

Mount Forest.—A public meeting has been held to consider the action of the school trustees in regard to the proposed erection of a building to cost between $4,000 and $5,000. Mr. Watt, chairman of the Board was opposed to the plan adopted by the Board, but was in favor of a modified plan. Other speakers followed and the Board was requested to enter into a less costly scheme, than the one proposed, to provide school accommodation.—The concert and lecture lately held in the Town Hall, under the auspices of St. Mary's Church, was in every particular a grand success. The proceeds amounted to $140.

The Treaty of Paris.—As the treaty of Paris has been referred to so often of late it may not be out of place to give the text of it. It was signed in 1856. The first stipulation is that the statu quo should be maintained in Asia, and that Russia should give back Kars. The second is that Russia should restore that portion of Bessarabia to Moldava which borders the mouth of the Danube. The third is that the exclusive right of a Protectorate over the Principalities should be taken away from the Czar, and be exercised only by Europe. The fourth is that the Black Sea should be neutralized, and Russia and Turkey should be bound not to build or keep any maritime establishments there. The right is reserved only for Turkey and Russia to have a number of men-of-war there, viz:—six of 800 tons each, and four of 200 tons each. The fifth is that the independence and integrity of the Porte shall be secured by the six signatory Powers, viz: England, France, Sardinia, Austria, Prussia and Russia. It is also agreed that all disputes arising between these Powers and the Porte should be submitted to the co-signatories. England, France and Austria are bound by a separate treaty to support the clauses of the Treaty of Paris.

Mr. Farrow if not a genius is something of an original. During the debate on the Address, taking to himself the application of the anecdote told by the Premier in describing farmers like Tupper and Orton, who donned the hay-seed when they desired to carry farmers' votes, Farrow congratulated himself on the fact that if he was a pumpkin he was not squash. That's just about his calibre.

Fourteen persons have been drowned off Harwich, England, by the sinking of a coasting steamer by collision.

HAROLD THE OUTLAW
—OR—
The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XXI.

ANOTHER SECRET CONFERENCE IN HUXTER ROW—THE ENCOUNTER IN THE PASS.

"How do you propose to effect it?" asked the gauger, with assumed carelessness, underneath which, however, lay the real anxiety.

"Through your profession. You have begun to feel this even now. This night's bootless ride—the disappointment and mortification with which you are going back to Skene—are proofs of it."

"Then you it is who are thus organising these most successful smuggling expeditions.

"Yes—the successful ones."

"You admit it?"

"Admit it!" said Harold, scornfully, "I am here to declare it. I sought this meeting for the purpose. In your late failures, in last night's disappointment, you see the beginning of the end. I will baffle you thus, and so often that your official reputation will vanish. You will become the laughing-stock of the whole countryside, and also of the Board of Excise, who will cashier you as an incompetent driveller."

"Ha! that is your game, is it?" cried Gillespie, his pride roused now beyond all other feelings. "By heaven! then I'll smoke you and your infernal gang out ere long."

"Will you?" asked Harold, mockingly. "Have you not tried your best and failed already? Did you not make sure of a large seizure last night? Yet here you are returning empty-handed, and know that the stuff has passed to the coast, as many convoys have done of late. What has been done once, twice, thrice, will be done again and again, and you will be powerless to stop it. Multiply your hired spies by dozens, pay them as high as you may, nothing but deceptive information will reach you; let you and your men scour the hills night and day if you will, you will fail to find anything but a paltry "still" here and there, which it will be your chief glory to break up; or a keg or two, the load of an old hack, to boast of in the public prints; while all the time such a stream of stuff will be flowing, unchecked by you, as will bring the wrath of your superiors on your head."

"Pretty boasting, Mr. Harold Logan," said the gauger; "but I warn you, if you persist in this course it will land you in disaster. I am not always to be deceived, as I have been of late. I have my sure means of information too, as you should know by this time."

"Yes," answered Harold, with flashing eyes, "that was when I dreamt not that a plot was hatching to destroy me. One slightest hint would have enabled me to baffle all your schemes with perfect ease. Had my eyes been opened then as now your expedition to the Hill of Fare, under the guidance of Donald McCallum, would have been as futile as your last night's journey has been."

"Oh, so Dougal has been spotted?" returned the gauger.

"More have been spotted than Dougal," replied Harold. "I could rehearse to you all the steps you took from the hour you got my brother's letter, your meeting with him that night as the Loch of Skene, and all your conversation there."

"Impossible," cried Gillespie, startled into speech by sheer surprise. "No one was present, no one could overhear—pshaw, what am I saying?"

"You are confessing the truth against your will. But I'll tell you again that, secret as was your interview, I know all that was said and agreed on, even to the twenty pounds you had in exchange for our I O U."

"The devil!"

"Ha! You wince at that. You see now how complete and minute is my information. Such it is, and such it will be. Not a movement will you make or intend to make but it will be known to me, while your spies will be profitless and your exertions in vain. And this, Malcolm Gillespie—this is my revenge for the ruin you have brought upon me. Let its shadow haunt you continually, let its coming torture you, for, as Heaven is judge between us, you deserve it all. Go, sir; the path is now open."

Harold moved aside, and Gillespie strode past, foaming with passion.

"I'll hunt you out," he hoarsely cried. "Damn it, I'll hunt you out and stop your work, though I should spend thousands in doing it."

These words he accompanied with a backward glaring look and a gnashing of teeth, then, with furious strength, he dragged his horse forward and disappeared among the rocks, his retreat being followed by mocking laughter from the lips of Harold, who calmly pursued his way with his face set towards the western mountains.

He travelled in this direction nearly all the day, and at nightfall reached the cottage in Glenroy where dwelt his wife and child.

That night the weary, homeless Outlaw experienced the pure sweet joys of loving affection, and was made happy by the endearments of his darling Lizzie and the prattlings of the little Alfred, whom, to the surprise of Lizzie, he greeted as the baronet of Mount Cairn.

Then he described to her his father's death scene, and she threw herself into his arms and wept for joy at the thought that he had seen him, and that in repentance and reconciliation the proud, stern, yet weak-willed Sir Philip had heaved his last sigh on Harold's bosom.

Next, her husband related his visit to the advocate, and what had been arranged between them.

Lizzie turned pale and clung wildly to him.

"Part from you!" she cried. "Live in luxury at that grand place while you must dwell in the hill caves! Oh, Harold, this must never be."

"It is for our boy's sake, my darling. His rights must be our chief care. But we shall not be parted more than at present, for I shall find means to visit you at Mount Cairn as often as at Glenroy."

He found it hard to reconcile her to the prospect of quitting the cottage in the valley where she had known so much happiness. No scene of luxury could compensate for her his society, fitful though it had ever been, and with a sigh of foreboding she looked forward to the future which threatened to bring such a change.

So nervous and depressed had the intelligence made her that Harold could not leave next day as he intended. He remained till the succeeding morning, but longer than that he could not stay, for his presence was imperatively required at the smugglers' headquarters.

With Alfred in her arms, Lizzie accompanied him a long way up the glen, unable so part with him. She had never felt so melancholy and so heavy hearted—a shadow of approaching sorrow weighed darkly on her spirit. She tried to throw it off, and Harold strove to banish it with cheerful, hopeful words; but all his efforts, all her strivings were in vain, and when at length they bade each other farewell, it was on Lizzie's part with passionate sobs and a flood of tears. That scene of sorrowful separation Harold had cause to remember with bitterness of heart during many days and years to come.

Quite a sensation has been caused among the leaders of ton in the village of Belmont by the arrest of Mr. M. G. Woodworth, at the instance of Dr. Harris, charged with having crim. con. with his (Harris') wife. The accused who was lodged in London jail was arrested on a capias, on the ground that he was about to leave the country. Mr. Woodworth was admitted to bail, and the case will be heard at the next assizes.

Lord Dufferin and the Fisheries Award.

At the banquet given by Lord Dufferin in Montreal last week he thus humorously alluded to the payment of the Fisheries award in reply to the toast of his health:—

Before attempting to express to you the deep gratitude I feel not only for the kind reception you have given to the mention of my name, but still more for the round of honors and hospitalities with which I have been greeted during the present memorable week, there is a little matter of business which, since it has been referred to by the Consul General of the United States, I feel perhaps it would be desirable for me to mention, in order that, once for all, I may reply to a query which has been put to me by almost every friend who has heard of my recent visit to Washington. Well, then, gentlemen, No! no! I have not brought them back in my portmanteau (laughter). Our five millions and a half of fish money were not handed to me across the counter by the President of the United States (great laughter), as many persons imagine (renewed laughter) to have been the case. What is more, I did not even ask for them, nor look as if I wanted them, or indeed if I knew anything about them (roars of laughter). And in assuming this attitude of reserve I am sure I consulted the delicacy of your feelings. (Renewed laughter). Some of those present—I trust not many, for money is difficult to come by in these hard times—(laughter) occupy the position of creditors. Well, how do they demean themselves under such circumstances? Why, however resolutely they may be disposed to put the law in force against the fraudulent debtor, when they see the man who owes them money, scraping together every sixpence within his reach, with the view of discharging his liabilities—appropriating his wife's pin money—(laughter) cutting down the allowances of his younger brother and sisters, stopping his children's schooling, and talking—as if he really meant it—of curtailing his own daily consumption of cigars and cocktails, (great laughter) he naturally feels it would be impious to trouble the serenity or embarrass the self-respect of so right-minded a personage by dunning him for payment. (Renewed laughter). If he knocks up against such a one in the street he slinks down the nearest alley (laughter), or shirks behind a shop door rather than disturb by his own obnoxious and compromising presence, the self-satisfied cogitations of so much virtue. (Roars of laughter.) Well then, gentlemen, that was exactly the conduct I pursued during my visit to the States. I was perpetually hiding behind doors (laughter) and running round street corners (great laughter), so satisfactory did I find the public temper in regard to our little matter; nor did I move a muscle of my countenance when I was confidently informed by an enterprising newspaper interviewer how General Benjamin Butler and other influential personages, had been overheard to propose the sale by auction of the furniture of the Treasury buildings at Washington, rather than that the great Republic should remain an instant longer in the debt of Canada. (Uproarious laughter.) And yet I did not altogether refrain from diplomatic action. When asked by the Secretary of State to dinner, I ostentatiously abstained from taking fish—(roars of laughter and applause)—a demonstration the force of which Mr. Evarts met and acknowledged by the maintenance of a precious and pregnant silence (laughter) on the subject of the Halifax award. Now, some uninstructed gentlemen might imagine this silence to have been of ominous import. Such an inference only shows how ignorant some people are of the subtle manner in which the representatives of great nations interchange ideas (laughter). Ambassadors do not dispute like washerwomen across a tub. (Great laughter.) When they meet they imitate the lofty reticence of those two famous augurs of ancient Rome, a nod, a wink—(laughter) a demimot—or as upon this occasion, no word at all conveys the most important decisions. (Laughter). In Mr. Evart's taciturnity I read, as all of you would have done, a reference to the ancient Greek apophthegm,—"Speech is silver, but silence is gold" (great laughter), and by remaining speechless Mr. Evarts intended me to understand—and the information upon the subject, of our the Consul-General, is not correct—that not only did he intend to pay up like a man, but that he intended to pay his gold like a gentleman (tremendous cheering and laughter), and as our friend the Consul-General with better information has most justly stated, the President himself has confirmed this solemn undertaking of his Minister by handing over to me his own son as a hostage (laughter and applause), though to save appearances in the guise of a friendly visitor. But we have had a narrow escape. If by a stroke of Machiavellian policy he had only substituted his daughter, we are so gallant I believe we would have kept the young lady and let the money go. (Cheers and laughter.)

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provide our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage wich may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. Immigration Statistics.

The Hon. C. A. Pelletier, Minister of Agriculture and Statistics, has presented his annual report to the House of Commons. It contains a vast amount of information in connection with the departments over which Mr. Pelletier presides. It also furnishes a statement in regard to the representations of the Dominion at the Australian Exhibition. The cost will probably reach $28,000. The total number of immigrants who arrived during 1877 was 35,285, being the smallest since Confederation. The number who actually settled was 27,082, an increase of about 2,000 over the previous year, and about the same as for 1875. A considerable number of immigrants had means, and came to invest in and on farms. The Mennonite colonies are reported in a very flourishing condition. The total number settled in Manitoba is about 7,000. The Icelandic colonists are reported generally satisfied with their condition. Notwithstanding the sufferings endured the colony of repatriated French Canadians in Manitoba is increasing. Five hundred and sixty-three arrived during the year from the New England States, and a considerable number from the Western States, making the total 846. The demand for agricultural laborers and female servants exceeded the supply, and he considers the prospect for the coming season good. Regret is expressed at the death of Mr. T. H. Mackay, and a tribute paid to him as a careful and painstaking officer. The total cost of transporting immigrants for 1877 was $29,669.62, less than half the sum spent in the same service in 1876. Two-thirds of the portion on immigrants to Ontario and Quebec is refunded to the Dominion by these Provinces.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. Bleeding of the Lungs.

Bowmanville, Ont., Nov. 8, 1872.

MESSRS. Seth W. Fowle & Sons, Boston :—Gentlemen—I have been troubled with bleeding of the lungs for a long time. About two years ago I took a severe cold which made my lungs very sore, but after using one bottle of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry the pain and cough disappeared and have not troubled me since. I believe the Balsam is the best medicine in use and well worth the price asked for it.

Yours truly JESSIE BURK.

50 cents and $1 a bottle, Sold by dealers generally.

An inquest on the remains of the unfortunate man, Edwin Penney, formerly of London, who was killed on the Hamilton and North-western Railway. The jury, after hearing evidence, submitted the following verdict :—"That the deceased, Edwin Penney, came to his death by being crushed between the water tank and the cars while the train was in motion, and we consider it gross negligence on the part of the Hamilton and North-western Railway Company to have allowed the tank to be constructed so near the track.

The Attitude of Austria.

No Advance of the Russians.

The Negotiations Getting to be More Amicable.

VIENNA, Feb. 19.

In the Austrian Reichrath to-day, Prince Aversperg, Prime Minister, answering the interpellation, declared that Austria will never consent to any modification of the limits of her power in the East which might damage Austria.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—A despatch from St. Petersburg says Prince Gortschakoff declared to Lord Loftus that he will not advance on Gallipoli, provided the British troops do not land.

LONDON, Feb. 19.—The debate in Parliament last night indicates the relations with Russia as growing more amicable.

Bismarck on the Situation.

BERLIN, Feb. 19.—Bismarck, answering the interpellation in the German Parliament, said he could see nothing in the peace preliminaries likely to produce war between Russia on one side, or England and Austria on the other.

THE Goderich curlers did not come to-day. They have telegraphed that they will be on hand to-morrow with two rinks.

REV. E. B. RYCKMAN, pastor of the Norfolk Street Methodist Church, delivered a lecture in Preston last evening.

CHICKEN CHOLERA is said to be prevalent in the West Ward. The death of a valuable white Brahma hen, bearing a fashionable name, is mourned by the owner.

THE Guelph Board of Health is constituted as follows:—Drs. Keating, Howitt, and McGuire, Mayor Howard, Messrs. Elliott, Melvin, Sleeman, Roche and Biscoe.

TABLEAUX VIVANTS will be shown in the Town Hall on Thursday and Friday evenings of next week. Proceeds to be applied to the St. George Rectory fund.

THERE were over one hundred vehicles in the procession at the funeral of Mr. M. Sweetnam, sen., on Monday. The services were conducted by the Rev. Canon Dixon.

CHIEF KELLY states that he was acting on the advice of the Town Solicitor, when he resolved to await the action of the Council in regard to the petition of a number of merchants in the matter of wire signs projecting over the streets.

CHECKER CLUB.—A match game of checkers between two noted amateur players, will take place at the American Hotel this evening. All interested in checker playing are requested to be present, as it is the intention to form a club and have regular evenings for meeting.

THE NEXT SKATING CARNIVAL.—The next Skating Carnival on the 26th inst., promises to be a grand affair, if the ice only holds out firm. A description of dresses and costumes can be seen by applying at the office of the Secretary. Arrangements have been made with Mr. Gildersleeve, of Toronto, to supply any costumes required.

HOTEL AND SHOP LICENSES.—In consequence of the Council having failed at its regular meeting on Monday evening to fix by By law the license fees for the sale of liquor in hotels and shops, the fees for next year will remain the same as at present. The statute states that all By-laws fixing the license fees must be passed previous to the first of March, at a regular meeting of the Council. The next regular meeting of the Guelph Council will not be held till the 4th of March, and therefore no action can then be taken.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT.—On Monday a very sad accident happened on the 4th line of Eramosa, to Joseph, youngest son of Mr. Wm. Mutrie, aged eight years. The little lad, while returning home from school in the afternoon, along with a number of other children, was running behind a loaded sleigh when another sleigh, also loaded, overtook him, and before he could get out of the way was knocked down and run over, one runner of the sleigh passing over his left leg, nearly severing it from his body. The lad was carried home and Dr. Johnston, assisted by Dr. Griffith, of Fergus, after making an examination, decided that an amputation was necessary. This was very skillfully accomplished and the little sufferer is doing as well as could be expected under the circumstances.

FANCY DRESS CARNIVAL.—A large assortment of Acme and latest style skates at Bond's & Co's. Prices extremely low.

BEST NEWS THIS YEAR.—To be found in J. D. Williamson & Co's new advertisement. All winter goods selling at auction prices.

Local News Items.

MR. WM. ARNOTT, W. M. of Prince Arthur L. O. L., Guelph, is a representative at the Grand Lodge now in session at Oshawa.

A NUMBER of skaters from town intend going, in costume, to the carnival to be held in Acton this evening.

THE FOLLOWING are the weather probs: Falling barometer, increasing south-westerly to southerly winds, increasing cloudiness, warm weather, and snow to-morrow.

THE annual entertainment, under the auspices of the Literary Society in connection with the Ontario School of Agriculture, will be held on Monday evening, 25th February, commencing at 7:30. The programme embraces music, comedy, farce, &c.

THE funeral of the wife of Mr. Charles Clarke, M.P.P., which took place at Elora, on Monday, was largely attended by friends from Guelph, Toronto, Stratford, Hamilton, and other places, as well as the immediate neighborhood of Elora.

THE many friends of Mr. John McCorkindale, Clerk of Guelph Township, will learn with extreme regret that he is suffering from an affection of the eye. It is necessary for him to have an operation performed, and for that purpose he will leave for Toronto on Wednesday to be treated by Dr. Roseburgh. His family physician, Dr. Herod, will proceed to Toronto on Thursday to be present while the operation is being performed. We sincerely hope that Mr. McCorkingdale will soon be in a perfect state of health, and that the operation on his eye-sight will be successfully accomplished and have the desired effect.

BASE BALL.—Mr. George Sleeman left this morning for Buffalo to act on the Judiciary Committee of the International Association. The following comprise the committee: Messrs. Geo. Sleeman, Guelph; T. C. Waite, St. Louis; G. A. Pond, Rochester; A. B. Rankin, New York; H. D. McKnight, Pittsburg. The Allegheny Club, of Pittsburg, intend disputing the right of the Tecumseh club to fly the International pennant on some technical ground. The Tecumsehs have won the International championship, and doubtless the committee will award it to them.——A first-class professional club will, in all probability, be organized in Hamilton, with good financial backing. A third baseman is wanted, and a few general players might also find employment by addressing the manager.

GUELPH GAS COMPANY.—The annual meeting of this company took place in the Town Hall on Monday afternoon, Vice-President Chadwick in the chair. The Secretary, Mr. McLagan, read the annual report, which showed that the company's affairs were in a fairly prosperous condition, although the dull times had seriously affected the prospects and revenues of the company. A dividend of ten per cent was declared. The following Directors were re-elected, Messrs. Guthrie, Richard Mitchell, Massie, Chadwick, McLagan, Higinbotham, and Wood. Messrs. H. D. Morehouse and H. H. Swinford were re-appointed Auditors. A vote of thanks was passed to the President and Directors for the attention they had given to the business of the company during the year. A by-law was passed for consolidating the stock. At a subsequent meeting of the Directors Mr. Guthrie was elected President, Mr. Chadwick Vice-President, and Mr. McLagan Secretary-Treasurer.

COOL BURGESS, and his combination, termed "Star," gave an entertainment in the Town Hall last evening before a fair audience. Cool is certainly a very amusing burnt-cork comedian, and whenever he appeared he kept the audience in roars of laughter. The "star" company, taken on the whole, were very ordinary, and did not come up to what was expected by the public, after reading such very complimentary notices as were accorded the company by some of the city dailies. Besides Mr. and Miss Whiting and Miss Ada Stellini in songs, Leon Caissie gave an exhibition of ventriloquism, which was very well done, but was so old and had been heard so often at entertainments that not a great deal of interest was manifested in the performance. Cool Burgess, supported by a first-class company, could draw a crowded house in Guelph, but it would be impossible to do so with anything short of really good support.

THE SERVICE OF SONG IN ST. GEORGE'S.—A very large company assembled at St. George's last evening to hear the programme laid down for the evening. Precisely at the hour appointed the opening voluntary was struck up by the organist, and piece followed piece until the well-known strains of the "Old 100th," and "God Save the Queen," announced that the end had been reached. Several solos and trios were gone through with, in some parts with good voice, but with one exception it was difficult to catch the words. The piece, "Jesus, Refuge of my Soul," by Miss Jones, was very nicely sung, the clear ringing voice of this lady bringing out each word distinctly. Two anthems by the choir were sung in good time, and to our mind the anthem "To Thee, Great Lord," was the best rendered, the tenor and alto voices being especially distinct. The "Te Deum" was also gone through with good taste. Three instrumental solos were set down for the organist, Miss Geddes, in one of which she was assisted by Miss C. Stevenson, and in all three pieces the well-known powers of the instrument were finely shown. A very pleasing original arrangement of the well-known tune "Nearer, my God, to Thee," was performed by Miss Geddes, in which all the stops of the instrument were brought into requisition in time—the fingering in the variations being especially brilliant, while in using some of the stops the air of this fine tune seemed to be charmingly sweet. A large collection was taken up during the intermission, and at the close of the proceedings the Rev. Canon Dixon expressed his thanks to those who took part and were instrumental in getting up the service, and announced that another Musical Service of a similar nature would be held early in April, after which the company separated.

Presentation to Mr. Robert Bucham.

Of late years it has become a very popular, and withal a pleasing custom for friends to bestow upon those they esteem very highly some token of respect, and who have, after years of residence in Guelph, finally decided to take their departure for pastures new in order to better their position in life by taking a higher step in commercial affairs.

Mr. Robert Bugham has resided in this town for about ten years, and during that time he has, by his urbane demeanor, made friends among his acquaintances who at all times remember him as one possessing many good parts. When it became known, a few weeks ago that he intended leaving his brother's store on Upper Wyndham street for the purpose of establishing a business in Walkerton, a few of his intimate acquaintances resolved on entertaining him previous to his leaving town. The affair culminated on Monday evening at the American Hotel, where an excellent repast was partaken of with Mr. Bucham as the guest of the evening. The following gentlemen, among others, were present:—Mayor Howard, Robt. Melvin, Wm. Mitchell, Capt. H. H. Swinford, Alex. Congalton, Wm. Anderson, Wm. Gibson, — Brillinger, John Robinson, E. F. B. Johnston, Geo. Anderson, Thos. Dobbie, John A. Wood, Wm. Hefferman, Jos. Ellis, Wm. M. McAllister, Peter Anderson, Hugh McMillen, Geo. Bruce, John Mitchell, Alex. Grey, A. Robertson, jr., Wm. Stewart, H. K. Maitland, Jas. Innes, A. O. Bucham, Caleb Chase, J. H. Moore, John Rogerson, Alex. Bruce, Wm. Guthrie, James Philips, John Mackenzie, A. M. McKinnon, Robert Mitchell, Wm. Rutherford, Jas. Bruce, Jas. Ward.

The chair was occupied by Mayor Howard, and the vice-chair by Mr. Jas. Innes. After oysters and fowl had been sampled to a considerable extent, and the cloth removed, the event of the evening took place, when the chairman called on Mr. Wm. S. Hefferman to perform a duty allotted to him. The following address was then read by that gentleman, and a handsome gold chain and locket were handed to Mr. Bucham at the proper time:—

To Robert Bucham, Esq.

DEAR SIR,—Having heard of your intention shortly to leave Guelph, for the purpose of engaging in business in a neighboring town, a few of your more intimate friends take this opportunity before your departure to express their regret at losing the companionship of one who has always been esteemed for his many good traits of character.

We will not attempt to enumerate the many ways in which you have popularized yourself with your friends, suffice it to say that during the time you have lived in Guelph, you have justly earned the respect and good-will of all who have known you.

While our sorrow cannot but be keen at the loss of so true a friend and worthy a companion, yet we are glad to know that the change you are about to make is one that will tend to advance your personal interests by the establishing of a business on your own account, in the embryo city of Walkerton.

Allow us, sir, before parting, to wish you every success in your new home, and may our hope be realized that with growth in years you will still have greater growth in prosperity.

In conclusion we beg of you to accept from us this small present as a token of remembrance from your old friends in Guelph.

R. MITCHELL, JAMES PHILIP,
WM. GUTHRIE, JOHN MACKENZIE,
WM. S. HEFFERNAN. WM. RUTHERFORD.

Guelph, February 18, 1878.

Mr. Bucham replied in a very feeling manner, expressing both thanks and surprise at the manner in which his friends had seen fit to part with him. While he had so many acquaintances in Guelph that he was loth to leave, it would not be a manly act if he neglected to push forward for himself, having the object of bettering his condition in a commercial sense in view. After referring in a very neat manner to the many happy recollections he would cherish of the good town he was leaving, he resumed his seat amidst great applause.

The gift was a very elegant one and the locket attached to the chain was of very chaste design. One side of the locket bore the monogram "R.B." and on the other side was engraved the words "A souvenir from Guelph friends, February, 1878." The glasses were then filled and the toast of "The Queen" was drunk with demonstrations of loyalty, and the National Anthem was sung by the entire company.

"The Army and Navy" was next given by the chairman and a response was elicited from Captain Swinford.

"The guest of the evening" was proposed in a very felicitous manner by Mayor Howard, who paid that gentleman a very high compliment in referring to him as a citizen of the town as well as a personal friend. Mr. R. Bucham replied and a few remarks were elicited from Mr. A. O. Bucham.

The vice-chairman proposed the toast of "The Legal Profession," and replies were made by Messrs A. M. McKinnon, E. F. B. Johnston and H. McMillan.

"The Commercial and Manufacturing Interests," brought forth remarks from Messrs. John A. Wood, C. Chase, and W. S. Hefferman.

"The Mayor and Corporation," were responded to to in neat speeches by Mayor Howard, Caleb Chase and R. Melvin.

Other toasts, among which were "The Bachelors," "Press," "Ladies," &c., followed in quick succession.

During the evening Messrs. H. K. Maitland, C. Chase and Alex. Grey sang stirring songs.

The company separated after singing "Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the Queen."

The chain and locket presented to Mr. Bucham were purchased at Mr. Savage's jewellery establishment.

CHIEF OF POLICE.—By the report of the Town Council proceedings it will be seen that thirty-two business men in town have petitioned the Council to remove the present Chief Constable. The petition expresses want of confidence in Mr. Kelly. The Police Committee will take the matter into consideration.

MAN KILLED NEAR ACTON.—A man named William Glover, about sixty years of age, who was in the employment of Jos. Arthurs, farmer, near Acton, met his death on Monday morning while assisting Arthurs in cutting logs. It appears there was a small tree in their way, and, in cutting it down, Glover pushed against the tree to make it fall in a certain direction, while Arthurs cut it down, and in so doing Glover's foot slipped, his leg came in contact with Arthur's axe in the descent, and it cut him just below the knee. Arthurs at once got some assistance, removed Glover to the nearest neighbor's house, and immediately sent for a doctor, but before he arrived Glover died from the effects of the shock and loss of blood.

Town Council.

A Petition for the Dismissal of the Chief of Police Presented.

A regular meeting was held on Monday evening. Present—His Worship Geo. Howard in the chair, Messrs. Elliott, Sleeman, Richard Mitchell, Chase, Bruce, Gowdy, Day, Roche, Doran, Melvin, Chubb, Biscoe, Robt. Mitchell, Dr. McGuire.

The Mayor reported that he had visited Toronto to look after the Bill before the House to enable the town to convert the old burying ground into a public park; that opposition had been offered by Guelph Township while the Bill was before the Private Bills Committee, and would be offered when it came up for passage in the House.

Accounts were presented from Innes & Davidson, $48 50; Hart & Rawlinson, $35 50; H. McAstocker, for interest on account, $30.95; Chas. Mickle, $18.76; Chas. Mickle, interest on account, $41; Jas. Mercer, $5.67; Geo. Stevens & Son, $15.95; R Stewart, $3.76; D. Kennedy, interest on account, $32.

An affidavit was read from Hugh Kelly, in reference to injuries sustained by his horse on the 4th December.

WIRE SIGNS.

A communication as follows was received from Chief Constable Kelly with reference to the By-law in regard to the projection of signs:

To His Worship the Mayor, &c.

On the 1st inst., I gave notice to several persons on Wyndham street to remove certain signs projecting on said street, at the expiration of said notices, I received a petition (which accompanied the communication) to present for your consideration. I therefore thought it advisable on my part not to take any further action in the matter until the petition referred to was presented.

JONATHAN KELLY, Chief Constable.

Accompanying the communication was a petition from John Hogg & Son and others, stating that in their opinion the Council, when the By-law was passed in regard to projecting signs, did not intend that it referred to signs and trade marks other than those which were hung in connection with verandahs. The petition asked to explicitly state where their signs might be placed as they were willing to comply with any reasonable regulation.

By Mr. Sleeman, from Dr. Nunan, President of St. Patrick's Society, asking for use of Council Chamber and committee rooms in connection with the Town Hall on the 4th March. Granted.

FOR DISMISSAL.

By Mr. Sleeman, in regard to dismissal of Chief Constable Kelly. The petition read as follows:—

The undersigned business men and ratepayers humbly beg to lay before your honorable body the following complaints in reference to what we consider the incompetency of the Chief of Police of our town. We now feel, and have felt for some time past, that he has not been fulfilling faithfully his duties in connection with his most important office. He appears to us to be totally unfit for the position, as he simply appears to do little or no work in connection with his office, save to draw his salary, and we have become convinced that in his hands the police affairs of the town are unsafe, and we have no confidence in him. We therefore humbly request your honorable body to replace him by some more efficient person.

Signed by W. J. Little, Jas. Massie, Thorp & Son, Henry Loch, G. B. Fraser, Robt. Crawford, Wm. Anderson, Hefferman Bros., John Rick, Fred. Knowles, John Tyson, Geo. Patterson, Wm. Rutherford & Co., E. O'Donnell & Co., Geo. Feek, Wm. Allan, J. B. Armstrong, Robert Millar, W. T. Vale, David Munro, J. Anderson, Geo. Murton, Jas. Hewer, jr., R. Murray, S. Jones, Jas. Penelton, V. Martin, E. T. Richards, A. Andrich, Hugh Walker, John A. McMillan, John C. Walker.

BOWLING ALLEYS.

By Mr. Biscoe from Walter Cook, asking the Council to amend By-law 164, in order that a license might be granted to him to keep a bowling alley.

By Mr. Elliott, from Geo. Pike, asking for $57.20, balance of the amount of his contract for building a covered drain across Upper Wyndham street.

By Mr. Elliott, from Christopher Shewan, asking for remittance of taxes for 1877.

By Mr. Elliott from Edwin Newton and fifty-three others asking the Council not to grant a license to Walter Cook to keep a bowling alley.

GENERAL HOSPITAL.

By Mr. Elliott from the Directors of the Guelph General Hospital, asking for an increased grant from last year to that institution. Accompanying the petition was a statement of receipts and expenditures.

LICENSES.

By Dr. McGuire from the Guelph Christian Temperance Club, asking the Council to cease issuing shop licenses for the sale of intoxicating liquors; also that the number of hotel licenses be reduced, and instanced Anderson's, Soden's, Merilhan's, and Hewer's hotels as being little else than boarding-houses. The Council was also asked not to grant a license to keep a bowling alley.

By Mr. Fred. Biscoe from the Wellington Prohibitory League a petition of similar import.

W. J. Fairbank and others asked for a crossing on the Eramosa Road.

Wm. Standish and others asked for a drain on London Road.

Thos. Robinson and others asked for a sidewalk on the north side of Yorkshire street; also for a culvert.

The various petitions were referred to the proper committees.

The petition in regard to the dismissal of Chief Constable Kelly was referred to the Police Committee to report at next meeting of Council.

FINANCE REPORT.

Mr. Elliott presented the third report, recommending

That $11 be remitted Macdonald & Shillington;

That the balance of John Carver's account, $35, be paid when the Committee on Walks and Garden report his contract complete.

On motion of Messrs. Elliott and Sleeman the report was adopted.

RELIEF COMMITTEE.

Dr. McGuire, chairman, reported that the committee recommended the Council to grant the petitions of Mrs. Gibbs, Mrs. Snelling, and Gerald Fitzgerald for the remission of taxes.

On motion of Dr. McGuire, seconded by Mr. Roche, the Relief report was adopted.

On motion, a By-law for the appointment of a Board of Health was read a first and second time.

On motion, a By-law for the appointment of fence viewers was read a first and second time.

The Council went into the Committee of the Whole on the appointment of a Board of Health, Mr. Chase in the chair.

The blanks were filled in with the names of Dr. Keating, Dr. Howitt, Dr. McGuire, Messrs. Elliott, Melvin, Roche, Sleeman, Biscoe, and the Mayor.

On motion the Council went into the Committee of the Whole on the By-law to appoint fence viewers, Mr. Chubb in the chair.

George Lees was appointed for the West Ward; Owen Macdonald for the North Ward; Evan Macdonald for the East Ward; David Kennedy for the South Ward. Jas. T. Mitchell, T. W. Cooper, and John Tyson, were also appointed fence viewers.

On the Council resuming, the By-law for appointing a Board of Health was read a third time and passed.

The By-law appointing fence viewers was also read a third time.

Moved by Mr. Melvin, seconded by Mr. Doran, that the Mayor be instructed to proceed to Toronto to take such steps as to him seem fit in regard to the passage of the Bill by the Legislature, relating to converting the old burying ground into a public park.

Moved by Mr. Robt. Mitchell, seconded by Mr. Chubb, that when the Council adjourns it stands adjourned until Tuesday, 26th inst. Lost.

On motion the Council adjourned.

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.—We understand that Mr. Arnold, a distinguished American author and dairyman, from Rochester, paid a visit to the Agricultural College on Monday, in company with the Rev. W. F. Clarke, and made a minute inspection of the Farm, stock, &c., with which he was highly satisfied. In the evening Mr. Clarke addressed the students on the question of Practical Agriculture, and Mr. Arnold gave an interesting address on cheese manufacture.

BURNED TO DEATH.—On Sunday evening an accident of a terrible nature occurred at the residence of Mr. Sidney Patterson, on the Hamilton stone road, near the St. Catharines station of the Great Western Railway. While Mrs. Patterson was playing the organ the children, who were with her, state that the lamp suddenly exploded, scattering burning oil over the woman's clothing. She was unable to extinguish the flames, and her screams were agonizing. Her little boy, nine years of age, ran to the station to notify his father, and informed some neighbors, but they arrived too late to do more than save the house from being burned. Mrs. Patterson lingered in great agony until midnight, when she expired.

ALLEGED ABORTION CASE.—The efforts of the Chief of Police to discover the person who caused the death of the child which was found in the river a week ago, led to the arrest on Saturday of Dr. T. E. Allen, a homœpathic practitioner of Belleville. The prisoner was brought before the Police Court on Monday, charged with using drugs or an instrument to procure abortion on the mother of the child, in the township of Sidney, on the 31st of January, and with having caused the death of the infant. The mother of the child is said to be the daughter of a highly respectable farmer in Sidney. As the prosecution was not ready to proceed the prisoner was remanded.

BRUTAL ASSAULT.—On Sunday night Mr. Reider, occupying a house near Paris station was assaulted and dreadfully beaten by two men. It appears that about eight o'clock in the evening these men rapped at the front door, which was locked, and Reider, thinking it was some neighbor, told them to go to the back door. When Mr. Reider opened the back door he was struck on the head with a club and stunned. The men then dragged him out in the yard and beat him in such a manner that there is not much hope of his recovery. He lost his watch at the time of the struggle. The villains escaped, and were traced as far as Princeton, and are still at large.

SCALDED TO DEATH.—Mary McCaskill, a woman aged about ninety years, residing in Ingersoll, was scalded to death by a kettle of boiling water being thrown over her. Some men and women were having a drunken spree in the house at the time, and commenced quarrelling among themselves, when one of them knocked the stove over, throwing the scalding water on the woman, who was lying drunk behind the stove. Three of the men were arrested and lodged in gaol.

MARRIAGE OF A PRINCESS.—The marriages of the Princess Charlotte to the Prince of Saxe-Meiningen and of the Princess Elizabeth to the Grand Duke of Oldenburg, were celebrated at Berlin on Monday night with great splendour. Princess Charlotte is the daughter of the Crown Prince and granddaughter of Queen Victoria. The King and Queen of the Belgians, Prince of Wales, Duke of Connaught, Prince of Orange, heir to the throne of the Netherlands, and many German royal and princely personages were present. A unique feature of the festive proceedings was the traditional dance by torchlight of twelve Ministers of the Emperor's Cabinet. The trousseau is entirely of German make. Bismarck took not only part in the wedding festivities, but also walked at the head of the Ministers in the ceremonial dance with flambeaux. Since 1872 the Chancellor has constantly remained away from all Court festivities. That he now re-appears is considered as indicating a reconciliation between the Chancellor and the Court.

DON'T PROCRASTINATE.—But as soon as you find you have caught a cold, or feel the least symptoms of hoarseness or pain in the chest, go to your druggists and get a bottle of Wilson's Wild Cherry. It will nip your disease in the bud, and prevent any possibility of its affecting the lungs. Don't procrastinate.

A serious stabbing affray occurred at Thornhill, near Toronto, on Friday night, resulting from a snowball fight. William Black and William Thompson, brakesmen, and John Smith, a sailor, of Toronto, were in a waggon and were attacked with snowballs by a number of boys and men, who immediately dispersed on the wagon stopping and the men getting out to return the attack of their assailants. Two men, who were, as they assert, merely observers of the snow-balling remained. Black and Smith fell upon them with terrible ferocity, drawing their knives and slashing right and left. William Owen, one of the victims, had his hand nearly severed from his wrist; the other, George Reith, will probably not recover from a gash received on the left side. The roughs have been arrested.

Dr. Talmage on the Late War Crisis.

The Turkish Collapse—Russian Oppression and Hypocrisy—Sympathy for England.

On the 9th inst., the Rev. Dr. Talmage delivered a lecture on the three events of the week—Stanley's reception in London, the Pope's death, and Russia's triumph. Under the latter head he spoke as follows:—

The third event of the week is volcanic. Turkey crushed, Russia triumphant, England aghast, the world confounded! What next you ask? That's what all the world asks. There has not been such an intense moment in European politics during our lifetime as this moment. If England halt she becomes a second rate Power; if she march, then all Europe is an Harmagedon. May the God of nations appear at this crisis! I am glad that the Turkish Empire has perished. She was an old butcher and the most cheerful page in her history to me is her obituary. Where shall the miserable old carcases be buried? Where are the spades long enough to dig a hole deep enough? But I have no admiration for her conqueror, Russia. We have heard from that nation a great deal of snuffling cant about religion during the past year. What does she care about true religion? She has been one of the world's most dreadful oppressors. Where is Poland? Where are the myriads who have strangled under the choking pressure of the hard heel? I will not hide the fact that my deepest sympathies at this moment are for England. She has not always acted kindly to this nation, but what is the use of keeping old grudges good while the fact is certain that England and the United States stand side by side to-day in the great cause of civilization and Christianity? (Applause.) When England is humiliated the Church of God and the cross of Christ are humiliated. Look at her churches, her universities; look at her throne, the purest in Europe, if not in the whole world. (Applause.) The girl Victoria kneeling with her ecclesiastical advisers on the night before her coronation, made vows to God and promises to England, not one of which has she ever broken. (Applause.) Her sorrows have been the world's sorrows, her bereavements the world's bereavements. Wherever there is a heart that knows how to admire pure, consecrated Christian womanhood there is an admirer of Queen Victoria. We unite with all the chapels and cathedrals of England, and all the good people of the earth, in praying, singing, and shouting "God Save the Queen!" (Applause.) The fact is that the most we can do in this crisis of the world's history is to implore God to raise for the safety of this Church, for the deliverance of the captive, for the downfall of despotism, for the ransom of all nations. Let sin perish and Christ reign. Though the ploughshare of battle cut through from St. George's Channel to the China Sea, Christ shall have all the Dominion, and all the power and all the glory, world without end. Amen and amen!

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 18.

After some unimportant business, Mr. Mackenzie gave the usual Ministerial explanations. He said: Before the business of the day is proceeded with I desire to say a few words to the House in connection with the changes made in the composition of the Cabinet during the recess. During the autumn Mr. Cauchon, then acting as Minister of Inland Revenue, was offered the appointment of Governor of Manitoba, which appointment he accepted, and Mr. Laurier, the then member for Drummond and Arthabaska, now member for Quebec East, was offered a seat in the Cabinet as Minister of Inland Revenue, which was accepted by that hon. gentleman. I should now refer to another matter which gives me a great deal of pain in making the references. Hon. gentlemen will remember that towards the close of last session the Minister of Justice was seriously ill, and soon after the session ended my hon. friend and member for South Bruce placed his resignation in my hands. He was induced at the time to withdraw his resignation, in the hope—and I might say the belief and the expectation, on our part at least—that a comparative cessation from the very severe duties of his Department might result in his restoration to his wonted health. I am sorry to say that this hope was not realized, and towards the latter part of the year my hon. friend determined that it was necessary, on account of his health, that he should resign the position which he held in the Government. Of course, for such a reason as that there was nothing to be said, except to express my extreme regret that we should be compelled to part with a colleague with whom I have acted all my political life, under whom I once served when he acted as Premier of Ontario, and who has acted with the present Administration so cordially since our advent to office. (Hear, hear.) No doubt, Sir, the loss of the member for South Bruce was a serious loss to myself specially, a serious loss to the Government, a serious loss to the House, and a loss to the country. (Hear, hear.) And I am sure I but speak the sentiments of the House in expressing my own deep regret that such a cause should have necessitated such a step. (Hear, hear.) There was no difference on any matter of policy between my hon. friend and his colleagues. (Hear, hear.) I have no doubt whatever that a short respite from the cares and labours of a laborious public life will result in restoring my hon. friend to his wonted health—a matter which will cause feelings of rejoicing, I have no doubt, to almost every one in Canada who takes an interest in the retention of men of great ability and high personal character in the councils of the country. (Loud cheers.) I would desire to say much more on that subject, but I am sure there are but few hon. gentlemen in the House but will comprehend properly how much it pains me to have to refer to a matter of this kind, and that every one will join with me in expressing our sympathy with and regret for one who has so efficiently discharged the public duties entrusted to him by his Sovereign. (Hear, hear.) The defeat of the late Minister of Militia in his county caused him immediately to place his resignation in my hands, and I at once offered the position which the hon. member for Halifax, who at once accepted the position and is now present in the House as Minister of Militia. In making these announcements to the House I rejoice to know that I have not to record publicly in this way any cause of disagreement which necessitated the Cabinet changes to which I have referred (hear, hear,) but that they were the result of simple and natural causes, such as are attached to every Government which may have power in this country. Nor is it necessary that I should deal any further with the subject than to make the announcement which I have made. I therefore leave the matter in the hands of the House. If hon. members desire any further information as to matters of policy, I am prepared to give it, though the simple statement that no matters of policy have to do with the changes we have made is sufficient answer in anticipation to any questions that may be put. (Hear, hear, and cheers.)

Sir John Macdonald—From the explanations made by the Hon. the Premier, I understand that the recent changes made in the Government involve no change of policy, and that the Government stand committed to pursue the same policy as since the hon. gentleman has been at the head of affairs. We have therefore nothing to say on the subject of policy. With respect to the changes alluded to, the first was the transfer of Mr. Cauchon from a seat in the Cabinet to the Governorship of Manitoba. I have no doubt that the hon. gentleman made that statement with as much satisfaction to himself as he made the subsequent statement with regret. No doubt the hon. gentleman felt that the presence of Mr. Cauchon in the Cabinet was a source of great weakness, and that he was relieved from embarrassment when that gentleman ceased to be a member of the Government, and the change enabled him to bring into the Cabinet the hon. member from Quebec East, who, to say the least, will fill the position with as much—nay, more—ability and more satisfaction to the head of the Government than the gentleman whom he has succeeded. I can join, and I have no doubt the gentlemen on this side of the House do join, in the expression of regret that an eminent person like the hon. member for South Bruce (Mr. Blake), a man of such ability, has been compelled to leave the Government for the cause assigned. Public men of ability and standing like the hon. member are not so plenty in Canada that the country or any party can afford to lose a man of his standing, of his character and ability. (Hear, hear.) Although I am not in sympathy, politically, with the hon. member for South Bruce, I can cordially agree with the hon. gentleman at the head of the Government in the wish that rest may restore that hon. gentleman to health, a want of which he is suffering from, and which has deprived the hon. the Premier of the great strength which that hon. gentleman gave him and his Government while he was a member thereof. (Hear, hear.) The last change is one subject of observation. Mr. Vail having been defeated, very properly placed his resignation in the hands of the head of the Government. This was done late on Saturday night, and I hope my hon. friend did not have his Sunday devotions disturbed by the necessity of making a change. (Laughter.)

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie—I was at church as usual.

Sir John Macdonald—The hon. gentleman went to church as usual, and I have no doubt paid particular attention to the sermon, especially if it was a sermon impressing on my hon. friend the necessity of resignation. (Laughter.) The appointment of the hon. member for Halifax (Mr. Jones) to the office of Minister of Militia is one which perhaps does not require observation, because he is an able man, and a strong supporter of the Government, and is competent to fill the position which, we understand, was at his disposal a long time ago if he had chosen to accept it. There is one other matter with regard to which I should like some information. Can the hon. the Premier inform us when the vacancy caused by the retirement of the hon. member for South Bruce will be filled?

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie—That matter is under consideration. (Laughter.)

In answer to a question relative to the settlement of the north-west boundary of Ontario, the Premier said that owing to the absence of Sir E. Thornton the Commissioners had not met, but it was probable they would at the close of the session. The Commissioners are Chief Justice Harrison, Lieutenant-Governor Wilmot, and Sir E. Thornton.

In reply to the member for Iberville, the Premier said no propositions had been made by this Government to the United States Government for a Reciprocity Treaty, but should that Government make any advances on the subject he was prepared to meet them according to the well understood policy of the Government.

In answer to Mr. Casgrain, Mr. Laflamme said it was not the intention of the Government to make any amendment to the Bankrupt Law.

In reply to Mr. Borden, Mr. Cartwright regretted to say that the state of the finances would not allow of the abolition of the stamp duties.

In reply to Mr. Roy, the Minister of Militia said there was a balance of $7,000 of the appropriation for militiamen, some of whom had not made good their claims. The disposal of this sum was under consideration.

A short discussion followed on a motion for papers respecting the admission of Canadian-built ships in France.

Several Conservatives were debating in a very lively fashion the question of Canadian ships and French wines, accusing the Government of want of interest in the question of admitting Canadian ships free into France and allowing French wines to come into Canada on reciprocal terms. But up rose Mr. Wood, with the remark that in this section of the country a large quantity of Canadian wine was made, and he, as a protectionist, wanted to know what consideration the speakers had for the Canadian wine-grower. The discussion dropped immediately.

CHAPTER XXII.

SIR PHILIP'S FUNERAL — THE UNBIDDEN GUEST.

The great gates of the chief entrance to Mount Cairn were set wide that the funeral procession might pass through, and though it still wanted an hour to the time appointed for the departure of the cortege the sable hearse, heavy with nodding plumes, stood in front of the mansion under the black hatchment displayed above the principal door, and a row of mourning coaches behind was drawn up in readiness to receive the company of gentlemen who had been invited to follow the body of the deceased baronet to its last resting-place in the family vault—situated two miles away. Several of these had already arrived and were met in the large dining room, which had been funerally decked for the occasion, and the company was every minute growing larger and larger as new arrivals took place.

It was evidently to be a large funeral. Great arrangements had been made to have it conducted in a style of pomp and magnificence suited to the rank of the deceased and the ostentatious grief of Lady Logan and her son, who took great pains to have every honor publicly paid to Sir Philip at the last. He had been made of little account in the household during the previous ten or fifteen years, and it was pretty well known that during the last six months of his lingering illness he had been the subject of great neglect; but, now that he had ceased to be an object of obstruction to the gratification of her ladyship's ambition, there was the more need that his remains should be the object of her sorrowful regards by being deposited by the side of his ancestors with every mark of honor, that all might witness the greatness of her unbounded love and the depth of her bereavement.

The scene, as it progressed, had features similar to all such occasions. There was the usual outward manifestations of decent gravity and solemnity, with very little real feeling. People came in black, wore no smile, and when they met talked in low tones; but their conversation was full of worldly interest—the affairs of the neighbourhood, the agricultural operations of the season—all local matters occupying general attention being discussed, with little reference to the serious nature of the mournful event which had assembled them together.

Of course the family affairs of the Logans had a large share in the gossip of the hour, for these were of a character sufficient to warrant it. The position of Harold was enough of itself to keep tongues wagging. The fact that he was the eldest son and should now have succeeded to the title and baronetcy gave to the case an exciting interest. Instead of being there that day and occupying the place of chief mourner, he was in hiding among the mountains, outlawed, deprived of all legal and social rights—if taken, liable to be tried for his life, and in all likelihood sentenced to the scaffold. What a source of talk was here for the assembled guests and to what a flood of speculation and opinions did it give rise. Universal regret was expressed for the poor unfortunate youth, who had won the liking of all who knew him, and whose fate seemed as hard as it was deplorable. His early and frequent escapades were kindly spoken of—if not with approval, yet with free extenuation, being set down to youth, and a brave, fearless, adventurous nature—also to the deliberate injustice of which he was made the victim at home. In a quiet but decided and emphatic manner, Lady Logan got the chief blame for the wildness which had developed itself in Harold; her purpose was also shrewdly guessed at, and she was abundantly credited with satisfaction rather than sorrow over his fate. Of course no one dreamed what share she and her son had in bringing this fate about. If that had been known to those good people who had come to lay Sir Philip in the grave we suspect their horror and indignation would have found vent in something more forcible than words.

So passed the time, marked each moment by the arrival of friend or tenant in carriage or gig, on horseback or on foot, till the hands of the clock on the stable turret pointed to within half an hour of noon, at which time precisely a plain, dark carriage, much bespattered with mud, made its way up the avenue among the other vehicles, and came to a stand at the stone-steps of the terrace.

It was a hired carriage from Aberdeen, and from it issued a gentleman, with seamed and rugged face, who was at once recognised by many present, and not without surprise, for no one looked to see him there that day, though the place had once long known him, when his form had been as familiar as that of the parish doctor or the parish minister.

The new comer was Walter Adamson, the advocate, at one time the factor for Mount Cairn, and Sir Philip's right-hand man in all matters relating to the management of the estate, but superseded these ten years past by a lawyer and factor of quite a different stamp. As his connection with the property had been entirely broken off, people wondered to see him here now, it being known that the change had been effected solely through her ladyship's influence, who could scarcely, therefore, have invited him to the funeral. There he was, however, dressed in deep mourning as anyone, and so soon as he alighted he entered the mansion with an official air, silently greeting the acquaintances whom he passed in his way.

He was ushered into the dining-room among the rest of the company, but, his name having been sent upstairs, he was shortly after desired to follow the servant to another apartment occupied at the time by only three persons, viz —Lady Logan, Gilmour, and Duncan M'Garray, the present factor and manager of the property.

An hour before, the three occupants of this room were in a state of great and restless anxiety. One or other of them was never absent from the window, which commanded a view of the park to the west and rear of the mansion, and so long as each reported in turn that no one such as they looked for was as yet visible their troubled faces betrayed alarm of no ordinary character. This arose from the non-arrival of a messenger, whose coming was expected that morning, bringing intelligence which was to them of the most vital importance. As hour after hour passed without his appearance their anxiety became almost unbearable, till at length Lady Logan gave expression to the fear which tortured them all by saying—

"Can Colson have failed in the enterprise?"

"If he has, all is lost," responded Gilmour, and at the thought his face grew pale with apprehension and dismay.

"I see some one in the distance," cried M'Garray, closing one eye and making a funnel with his hand to assist the sight of the other as he bent his gaze across the park.

Her ladyship and Gilmour were at the window in an instant, and in answer to their repeated inquiries of "Where, where?" he pointed to a spot among the far-off clumps of trees, where a small moving object was visible, though as yet too far off to be distinctly resolved into human shape.

Presently it was lost to view among the trees, and they waited breathlessly for its reappearance at a nearer opening, every moment seeming in their impatient eagerness to lengthen itself out to hours.

At last the object emerged from the shadow of a clump of dark pines, and a satisfied exclamation burst from all their lips at once, for now they saw it was a man, and—what was more assuring still—that he was dressed in Highland garb.

The window was raised, and from it there was waved to and fro one of her ladyship's white handkerchiefs, of which no notice was at first taken by the advancing figure. Then suddenly the Highlander paused, gazed a few moments, and returned the signal by shaking the end of his plaid in the air.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 18.

On the motion for the third reading of the Bill to incorporate the Western University of London, Ontario, Mr. Sinclair moved in amendment, "That it be referred back to Committee for the purpose of striking out such clauses as conferred university powers." He maintained that it was not consistent with the policy of the Legislature to pass a measure of this kind, for it would be tantamount to surrendering the principle that there should be but one University for the whole Province.

Mr. Bethune expressed his astonishment that the Government did not deem it their duty to oppose the Bill, for the reasons given for passing it would also justify the incorporation of other denominational and sectional universities.

Mr. Macdougall said that the Toronto University was created in order to break up a monopoly in the degree conferring power, and he argued that the concentration of that power in one university—as was the ultimate idea of those who opposed the present Bill—would be to reverse the policy of those Reformers who brought the Provincial University into existence.

Mr. Hodgins would not allow that the member for South Simcoe had stated the historical fact quite accurately. The creation of the Provincial University broke up an existing monopoly, it was true, but the creation of a great national university was the chief object he had in view.

Mr. Cameron took strong exception to the remarks of Mr. Macdougall, and protested against the national University being overshadowed by sectarian colleges. The Hon. Attorney-General said he supported this Bill because he could not see on what grounds it could be refused. He believed it would be best to have only one university in the Province, but until a scheme was proposed by which the other colleges should surrender their powers, it would be compelling this new college to work at a disadvantage to refuse the university powers sought.

On the House dividing the amendment was defeated on a vote of 40 to 23.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Advance of the Russians Arrested.

The Effects of German Intervention.

Russia's Claims on Britain

Feb. 18.

In the House of Lords to-night, Lord Stratheden and Campbell will move the following resolution:—

That in the opinion of this House the terms of the armistice are such as to justify the Government in taking every precaution to discourage the encroachments by which the treaties of 1856 and 1871 are unfortunately threatened.

In the House of Lords to-day Lord Derby read a telegram form Mr. Layard, denying the recent statement that Server Pasha declared that Turkey was encouraged to fight by a promise of English support. He stated that the movement of the fleet to Mudania Bay was not due to any negotiations, and no progress had been made in the matter of assembling the Conference.

In the House of Lords this afternoon, Lord Derby appealed to Lord Stratheden and Campbell not to bring on his motion, that the terms of the armistice justify the Government in taking every precaution to discourage encroachments by which the treaties of 1851 and 1871 are unfortunately threatened. Lord Derby said he could not discuss the armistice, that Admiral Hornby had moved the fleet to Mudania Bay on account of the better anchorage there and better telegraphic communication with Constantinople, and that there were no further advices regarding the Russian advance on Constantinople. Information had been received regarding a possible advance on Gallipoli, but the Government had not had time to consider it.

It is stated that an informal Cabinet Council to-night discussed the Russian communication respecting Gallipoli. It is said to be conciliatory.

The Daily News says:—

We have good reason to believe that if Lord Derby had left himself at liberty to speak more freely yesterday, it would have been found that the Russian communication was of a character to warrant and confirm the hopes of peace.

A Gibraltar special says the Channel squadron has arrived. Lord Napier of Magdala will start for Edgland to-morrow.

The situation may be summed up as follows:—The British fleet has withdrawn to Mudania Bay 40 miles south of Constantinople; the Russian advance is stopped, and it is not considered probable that any further action will be taken until the Congress held at Baden-Baden is ended. It is doubted whether Germany could act impartially as arbiter, and the general feeling favors the representative of the United States at the Congress as the most impartial member.

Conflicting explanations are given of the German intervention which seems to have tided over the recent crisis. Friday's North German Gazette, of Berlin, stated that a request was received from St. Petersburg on Thursday that German influence would make itself felt, and that influence could not but be peaceful, and that the relations of the three Imperial Powers were a sure guarantee of peace.

A Vienna correspondent asserts that Russia eagerly deferred to Bismarck's views when the latter intimated to Gortschakoff that he was straining the situation beyond reasonable bounds.

A Pesth special says:—M. Tizza, chief of the Hungarian Ministry, has conferred with the Emperor Francis Joseph and Count Andrassy, on the Eastern Question, and will inform the Diet that the Hungarian Government is in complete agreement with Andrassy that Austro-Hungary is resolved to defend her interests, first diplomatically at the Congress, and then if necessary by force. On Saturday and Sunday artillery was quietly despatched to the frontier of Transylvania, and more will follow. The Ministry of War has prepared plans by which it could mass 600,000 men on the frontier within a fortnight.

A Vienna correspondent believes that Gortschakoff's last despatch claims some concession from England in return for Russia's not occupying Gallipoli. This proposal, however, is couched in conciliatory terms.

A Pesth correspondent says:—It is reported that 80,000 men are being secretly mobilized, and that two camps will be formed on the Gallician frontier.

A Vienna correspondent says:—General Ignatieff proposes to Server Pasha that a million and a half Mussulman inhabitants of Bulgaria be withdrawn to some other part of Turkey.

A Paris despatch says:—It is understood that Russia has issued a circular informing the Powers that she has renounced the occupation of Constantinople at the request of the Emperor William.

A St. Petersburg correspondent hears on good authority that Russia has declared or is about to declare that she has no intention of occupying Gallipoli.

A Vienna correspondent says:—It is reported that Governor Tcherkasky is rapidly reorganizing Bulgaria. The Provincial Legislature will shortly assemble, which will elect a Prince to govern the Province. This news will relieve Austria of the necessity of mobilizing her army.

A Pera despatch says:—The Porte has informed the Powers that the Greeks have again crossed the frontier near the town of Arta, in Albania. The Porte has sent a thousand men to resist the invasion.

An Athens despatch denies the report that the Greeks have renewed the invasion of Turkey by way of Arta.

Temperance Legislation at Ottawa.

There is a good deal of speculation about the promised temperance measure by the Dominion Government. The difficulty of amending the Dunkin Act and enforcing it by Dominion authority, has often been pointed out. The Act of prohibition is one thing; the machinery for enforcing it another. If the Dominion attempted this the necessity would at once exist for creating a new machinery, providing a staff of officials, and discarding municipal intervention altogether, for that is, under our Constitution, the creation of local legislation alone. The probabilities, therefore, are:—1. That the aid of Imperial legislation will be invoked, and granted as a matter of course; and 2. That the Provincial Legislature will thus be enabled to enact their own liquor laws affecting the ordinary sale of liquor, while the Dominion will have the duty of regulating or prohibiting its manufacture and importation. This will render the municipal institutions and police of the respective Provinces available, as under the Dunkin Act, for giving effect to the popular voice and enforcing the laws when passed. It will meet the wishes of all reasonable people, and be an enormous advance in the direction of prohibitory legislation.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provide our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage wich may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. Bleeding of the Lungs.

Bowmanville, Ont., Nov. 8, 1872.

MESSRS. Seth W. Fowle & Sons, Boston:—

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with bleeding of the lungs for a long time. About two years ago I took a severe cold which made my lungs very sore, but after using one bottle of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry the pain and cough disappeared and have not troubled me since. I believe the Balsam is the best medicine in use and well worth the price asked for it.

Yours truly JESSIE BURK.

Local News Items.

WM. RUTHERFORD & Co. have just received a large bankrupt stock of clothing, gentlemen's furnishings, and hats.

IN RE HOLMAN.—A first dividend of 29 per cent, has just been declared in this estate, and another of about 20 per cent has yet to follow. Mr. Holman formerly conducted a business in Harriston.

YESTERDAY one of the engines on the G. T. R., which were attached, met with a small accident between Rockwood and Guelph, which caused a short delay for repairs.

POLICE COURT.—Samuel Jackson, Theodore Cross, Michael Cantwell and Joseph Dooley, jr., were charged with disorderly conduct in Bunyan's hotel, on 16th inst. All pleaded guilty, and were fined $2 and costs.

BITTEN.—The other day Mr. W. W. McAllister was bitten by a dog. Although the bite was not serious it, undoubtedly, would have been were it not that the cloth which the dog fastened to was very thick and prevented the teeth from getting a firm hold in the flesh.

GUELPH BURYING GROUND.—Messrs. Darby (Reeve) and James Laidlaw went to Toronto to-day on behalf of the Township to look after its interests in connection with the Guelph Burying Ground. Mr. Howard, Mayor, also went down on the same errand, to look after the interests of the Town.

YESTERDAY a full-grown gallant wandered into one of the dry goods stores on Wyndham street, his eyes intently scanning the well stocked shelves, addressing a salesman he seen, "Got any nice articles in your establishment which would make a suitable present for my Daisy." "Oh! yes," replied the good-natured salesman, "I have the thing you want right here;" and hauling down a box of kid gloves, he asked, "What size does the young lady wear?" "Well," replied the customer, "I do-on't know what size of gloves she wears, but she wears a number five shoe." Innocence.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH.—The social entertainment advertised to take place in this church to-morrow (Thursday) evening, promises to be one of more than ordinary excellence. A musical programme is being prepared under the management of Mr. T. W. Parker, choir leader, of such a character as will be sure to meet the most refined and fastidious taste. Prof. Philp, organist in Dublin Street Church, Masters Harris and others we believe have kindly consented to assist on the occasion. Brief addresses calculated at once to please and to profit may be expected from some ministerial brethren both local and from a distance. The Rev. K. F. Junor, Missionary designated to Formosa, is also expected to be present. Refreshments will be served in the schoolroom at half past six, and the feast of reason and the flow of soul will be dispensed in the church. See advertisement elsewhere and hand bills.

NOT SO INNOCENT.—The dealings of Mr. Patrick Kennedy, lately carrying on a flax mill business in Aboyne, as they gradually come to light, indicate that the innocent appearing Patrick was just about as honest in his dealings as Ah Sin, the Heathen Chinee, in his celebrated game of cards with Bill Nye. The stock, etc., which has been sold since his departure have realized $1,200, while the claims proven so far against the estate amount to over $4,000, with more to come in. Previous to his departure to the domain across the border he sold $800 worth of flax in the States, and had collected just half the amount. Besides the number of notes, termed forgeries, in circulation which Patrick realized on, letting in a number of his friends who had been kind enough to endorse for him, he has been playing the part of a dishonest man whenever opportunity offered itself. He had been looked upon as simple-minded, and although not always to be trusted, was supposed to be too simple to defraud the business men of Elora and people residing in that neighborhood.

SOIREE IN ERAMOSA.—On Tuesday evening the congregation of the First Presbyterian Church, Eramosa, gave a grand soiree in the church, which was attended by fully five hundred people. The people of Eramosa have in times past established a reputation for the very successful manner in which they carried out all their church entertainments, and judging from the perfection of arrangements on Tuesday evening, they are likely to remain in the van in that respect. A bountiful tea was served in the basement of the church, and many willing hands of young ladies served all as they could but seldom be served. The spread was a magnificent one, and indicated, in almost every tempting delicacy, that the fair sex in Eramosa are thoroughly accomplished in everything pertaining to cooking. The table specially laid out for the clergymen present, was a magnificent affair. After all had received satisfaction in the basement, the meeting was called to order in the body of the church by the Rev Mr. Smyth, pastor. After a few introductory remarks were made, the choir, conducted by Mr. Wood, and accompanied on the organ by Miss Day, sang a beautiful anthem, and speeches were next in order. Rev. Dr. Barrie, late pastor of the church, was first called on. The warm reception he received must have clearly indicated to him that the love his old congregation had for him was very strong indeed. His words of advice were well received. Besides Dr. Barrie, there were seated on the platform Revs. Messrs. Bentley, of Galt, Moderator of Presbytery; R. Torrance, J. C. Smith, Thos. Wardrope, W. S. Ball, of Guelph; J. B. Mullan, of Fergus; and — Duff, Congregational minister, of Eramosa. During the evening one of the rev. gentlemen remarked that he did not know, neither had he heard, what great sin the people of Eramosa had committed, that they should have no less than nine ministers to address them in one evening. All the gentlemen above named made short and interesting addresses referring to the late pastor of the congregation in encomiastic terms, and also wishing the pastor now in charge of the congregation God speed in his labors. Several of the speakers were particularly happy in their remarks. At the conclusion of the addresses, Rev. Mr. Smyth announced that the proceeds had footed up to the magnificent sum of $85. Votes of thanks were tendered the speakers, choir, and those who had provided and served refreshments. A Sabbath School social, to which the Speedside School children were invited, was held this (Wednesday) afternoon.

THE Soden Hotel property, on Macdonnell street, which has been in Chancery during the past two years, has been sold. Mr. John Hogg was the purchaser for $4,650.

THE young lad Joseph Mutrie, who had a leg crushed off by a heavely laden sleigh running over it, died on Tuesday night. Particulars of the accident were published yesterday.

THE case of Carter vs. Jackson, in which the matter in dispute was one of the Harley & Heather notes, has been settled, the defendant paying full amount of the principal and all costs.

THE following checker problem has been handed to us by Mr. M. McKenzie:—White men played by an Elora gentleman; black by Mr. McKenzie. Black men on 11, 10, 14, and 13; white on 20, 26, 22 and 21. How to move black and draw?

FOUR CURLERS from Goderich arrived in Guelph this morning to play a friendly game with a Guelph rink. Mr. Thos. Dobbie is acting as skip for the home rink.

WEATHER.—Moderate southerly to easterly winds, and cloudy to fair, mild weather, with areas of snow and rain, are the probabilities received this morning by the Dominion telegraph.

MARKETS.—There is still very little change in the markets, and business seems to remain much about the same. The grain which is coming in is of little account, while figures remain unchanged this week. The principal articles being disposed of are wood and hay, which still continue to come in in large quantities.

A CHECKER club was not organized last evening, although there was a number of checker players assembled at the American Hotel. A meeting for organization will be held on Tuesday evening.

DR. ALLAN, Councillor for Arthur village, seems to be imbued with the spirit of some of last year's Guelph Councillors. He has resigned. It appears the doctor took umbrage at the action of the Council in regard to licenses. Mr. Drummond and Dr. Allan were for limiting the number to two, at a fee of $150 each; while Reeve Clarke, Mr. O'Callaghan and Mr. Buschlen were in favor of granting three at $100 each. So says the Enterprise.

ALLEGED HORSE STEALING.—John Wesley Cheavers, of Orangeville, was charged recently with stealing a horse the property of Arch. Graham McMaster, of Adjala, before Messrs. S. H. McKitrick and F. Munro, Justices of the Peace. After hearing the evidence the magistrates decided to commit him to gaol to stand his trial at the next court of competent jurisdiction.

RINK MEDAL.—The rinks of which Messrs. A. Bruce and Robert Mitchell are skips, played for the rink medal on Tuesday. Mr. Mitchell's rink was defeated by 11. The contest is now narrowed between four rinks. A game between Mr. A. Congalton's rink and that of Jas. Emslie, with the medal for the object, will be played this afternoon. Yesterday's score follows:

Geo. Murton	W. Douglas
D. Stirton	Rev. W. F. Clarke
John Mitchell	A. Robertson, sr.
A. Bruce, skip—23.	R. Mitchell, skip—12.

THE LAW STUDENTS' SOCIETY had a debate last evening. Mr. W. Macdonald, President, occupied the chair. The subject of debate was: A. creditor of B. was allowed by him to bid at an auction of his goods, and to be allowed price of goods as a set-off against debt due by B. without payment. The auctioneer had no notice of this agreement. Can he sue A. for price of goods? Mr. T. Ede argued for the affirmative and Mr. A. D. Perry for the negative. Decision was given in favor of the former. At the conclusion of the debate Mr. E. F. B. Johnston addressed the Society, and threw out several valuable hints, which if acted upon will tend to advance its prosperity.

GUELPH MUSICAL UNION.—The first private rehearsal in connection with the Guelph Musical Union, took place last night in the Caledonian room, which was filled with a large and appreciative audience. The leading singers and the chorus turned out in good force, and the programme, as arranged, was gone through with spirit, under the able leadership of Mr. Philp, the conductor, who has bestowed a great deal of time and labor in connection with the Union. In a private rehearsal it would be wrong for us to enter into any particulars with regard to the programme, but we may say with confidence that in the short time the members of the Union have been under practise, they have displayed a proficiency in musical talent which is very encouraging, as far as the future prospects of the Union are concerned. The choruses are specially worthy of notice, and the balancing of the different parts in those pieces which were rendered last night was uniformly good, but in one or two instances might be improved. The solos, trios and quartettes were, on the whole, well rendered, and the instrumental part was admirably done by a small but choice orchestra. We can assure the people of Guelph that when the Union gives their first concert, they will fully justify the expectations of their friends and the people at large, and furnish such an entertainment as cannot fail to satisfy all the lovers of good music. Mr. Philp as conductor, and Mr. Leonard as manager, were very successful in making this rehearsal a success, and we hope that, before long the Union, under their management, will be able to announce such a concert as cannot fail to draw a large house, and meet the highest expectations of the people of Guelph.

PERSONAL.—Mr. A. D. Perry, a student in the office of Messrs. Lemon, Peterson, & Maclean, being about to remove to a Toronto office, was entertained at an oyster supper last night, by the Law Students' Society. During Mr. Perry's residence here, he has, by his obliging disposition and courteous manners, gained many warm friends, and in his new sphere he carries with him not only the good wishes of his fellow students, but a large circle of acquaintances as well. The supper was held at Anderson's saloon, and the evening was passed in an agreeable manner, interspersed with speeches, songs, &c.

Cardinal McCloskey arrived at Queenstown on Tuesday, en route for Rome, to take part in the Conclave.

The Court of Queen's Bench has refused the application for a rule to quash the Peterboro Dunkin By-law.

It is proposed to publish Mr. Trow's letters from the North-west in pamphlet form for distribution.

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

TORONTO, Feb. 18.

THE GUELPH BURYING GROUND.

In Committee on Mr. Massie's Bill respecting the public burying ground in the Town of Guelph,

Mr. Cameron said he understood that the land belonged to the Township of Guelph, and that it was now to be used as a pleasure ground, so the Town should pay for it to the Township.

Mr. Fraser said that the ground had been dedicated for a burying ground for the use of the Town of Guelph and the Township. If any one had a right to it when it was alienated from the purpose for which it was dedicated it was the Canada Company, but it did not take any stand upon it. There was, therefore, no reason why it should not be used as a park for the Town.

Mr. Cameron said it was a strange reasoning that when two parties had an equal right, one could arrogate to itself the interests of the other. The ground should be sold and the amount go to the maintenance of the new ground.

Mr. Curry briefly concurred in the remarks of Mr. Fraser.

Mr. Miller said that if the Town of Guelph wanted a park it would be able to pay for it, and Guelph had no right to divert the proceeds of this ground from the purpose for which it was originally designed.

Mr. Richardson deprecated the discussion, as the Bill had been passed through the Private Bills Committee without a discussion.

Mr. Deacon said that the Bill had not much of a discussion in the Committee, where its title was regarded with considerable curiosity, being to the effect that the Bill was to change the burying ground to a pleasure ground. He said that this legislation was, perhaps, a little dangerous, if the property were really vested in the Canada Company, for the Town might soon apply to the House for power to sell the property. He counselled delay, to give the Government time to enquire into the matter.

Mr. Ross said that the burying ground had been planned off originally without being conveyed to the Town by the Canada Company, and he held that when the Town had been incorporated all such property within its bounds became its property.

Mr. Fleshier thought that the Town of Guelph should have some say in the disposal of the land.

Mr. Hodgins said if the Canada Company had created a trust of this ground for burying purposes they still held the fee of it were it diverted from the purpose of this trust.

Mr. Deacon reiterated his caution against passing the Bill. They should remember that they, by passing this Bill would be creating a dangerous precedent. He thought that the title was in the Canada Company.

Mr. Fraser said that the purpose of the Canada Company no doubt in dedicating this land was that it might be for the benefit of those who should buy lands in the Town lot laid out by them. He questioned if the people of the Township had even the right to be buried in that plot. He did not think, even admitting the title of the Canada Company, which he did not, that they would raise any objection to this change of public purpose of this piece of ground.

Mr. Cameron said that when this matter was before the learned judges there was not one word about the Canada Company or the Township having had any interest in the ground. The old ground had been maintained by the Town and Township, and the value of the ground should go towards maintaining another ground for the use of both. He apprehended that the plain man who appeared before the Private Bills Committee had been in a manner laughed away. To his mind this matter was a piece of plain justice.

Mr. Meredith said that it was hardly fair to say that the gentleman who had appeared for the Township had been laughed away. It was unfortunate that he (the gentleman) had not with him the documents since sent down to the House. He contended that as the judges had not had the facts, since made known, before them when approving the Bill, it should be referred back to them. The map showed to the Committee was one of the Township, with the Town plot laid out and the burying ground marked, so he thought the utmost settler in the last concession had an equal right in the ground as an inhabitant of the Town. He cautioned the Hon. the Attorney-General against allowing such a precedent for legislation to be established by their present action.

Mr. Fraser questioned the accuracy of the hon. member for London's description of the map. He was sure that the plan was of the Town.

Mr. Currie reminded hon. gentlemen that they were only giving power for the diversion of the purpose of the ground, and not giving Guelph the power to sell the ground. He thought some clause might be inserted so that the ownership would be acknowledged as vested in the Town and Township.

Mr. Deacon spoke in support of the hon. member for London, and contended that the first clause contradicted the remark of the last speaker.

After further discussion the bills was allowed to stand over.

TORONTO, Feb. 19.

Mr. Crooks introduced a Bill respecting Union School Sections. He explained that it applied to such union school sections in townships which, not having been legally formed owing to a misapprehension of the School Law of 1874, were made legal under the Act of 1877. The object was to enable such union sections to assume and pay for any school house which might have been erected by one of the sections before the union was legalized. Failing an agreement as to the amount to be paid between the majority of the ratepayers of such section and the union sections, arbitration was to be resisted. This legislation was suggested by the Court of Common Pleas in a case recently before them.

Mr. Mowat moved, "That for the present session Government orders shall have precedence on Wednesdays and Fridays." Carried.

The bill to incorporate the Town of Harriston was read a third time.

The House went into Committee on Mr. Mr. Pardee's Bill to preserve forests from destruction by fire.

The Bill was amended by the extension of the period during which fires should not be set out, from the first of April to the first of November; by the alteration of the radius of the space to be cleared for the purpose of building a fire from twenty-five feet to ten feet; by the insertion of a provision that all railways running through any fire district should use proper precautions against allowing fire to escape from their engines, and should see that the smoke-stack of every engine should be covered by a certain kind of wire gauze; and by one or two other minor additions and changes.

The Bill as amended was reported.

Mr. Fraser moved the second reading of the Bill to give finality to voters' lists, and for other purposes. He said that as he had very fully explained its provisions on the first reading it was not necessary to add anything now. Read a second time.

The Guelph Gymnasium on Fire.

At noon to-day the City Hotel hostler noticed smoke coming into the stables, underneath the gymnasium from cracks in the plastered ceiling. Mr. John Haugh was at once told about the matter, and knowing that where there is smoke there must be fire, told Mr. John Campbell, and he crawled through one of the front windows. He announced that the building was on fire, and Mr. Hough at once burst in the front doors of the gymnasium and found the room full of smoke, and flames issuing from the floor, at the west side, close to the wall. Those who had gone in with Mr. Haugh acted promptly, and a few pails of water thrown on the flames quickly extinguished them.

The fire originated in one of the spitoons of the gymnasium. Those articles are all made of wood, and filled with sawdust. Before the place was closed on Tuesday evening, some party must have thrown a lighted cigar in the spitoon, and it was not noticed when closing-up time arrived. This must have smouldered all night, and up till noon to-day, and had only broken out into a flame a short time before it was discovered. As it is there is a hole through the flooring a foot square, and a portion of the wainscoting is charred.

What prevented an extensive conflagration is owing, in a great measure, to the fact that the ceiling underneath is plastered, which prevented the fire dropping through to the hay below. Had the smouldering wood burst into a flame during the night, instead of when it did, it is altogether probable that it would have gained considerable headway before being discovered. Wooden boxes filled with sawdust are not likely to remain very popular around the gymnasium, nor should they around any place where there is a danger of their being used as receptacle for lighted cigars.

THE young man who broke the window in Sharpe's seed store, it is said, will be called on to show cause at the Police Court.

The Incorporation of Harriston.

The Local member for the North Riding has introduced a Bill in the Legislature for the incorporation of the Village of Harriston into a town. The preamble sets forth that at a public meeting of the ratepayers a resolution had been passed representing that the incorporation of the village would promote its prosperity and that regulations could better be made for carrying out improvements. A portion of the Township of Minto will be included in the town. The limits of the town will comprise the present village, the south halves of lots 82, 83, 88 and 89 in Con. C., the north halves of lots 82, 83, 88 and 89 in Con. D., north halves of lots 86 and 85 in Con. C., in the township, except a portion of lot 85 in Con. C., eight rods in width running the whole length of the north half parallel with the road allowance between lots 85 and 86 in Con. C. The town will be divided into five Wards numbered One, Two, Three, Four, and Five. Ward One will comprise all that portion of the town lying east of Maitland street and north of Elora street; Ward Two, all east of Yonge street, and east of Elora street; Ward Three, all lying south of Elora street between Brock and Yonge streets, together with the tannery site, mill site and lots 1, 2, 3 and 4 on the north side of Mill street; Ward Four, all lying south of Elora street and west of Arthur street, together with that portion lying south of Mill street between Arthur and Brock streets; Ward Five, all lying north of Elora street and west of Arthur street, except a portion of the north half of lot 85, con. C., together with that portion lying north of Elora street, between Arthur and Maitland streets, and that portion lying south of Elora street, between Arthur street and the tannery site, on the north and east and the Maitland river on the south, and also lots 5 and 6 on the north side of Mill street and also the distillery site. The usual provision is made for holding an election immediately after the passing of the Act, and Robert Haig is appointed returning officer. The Council is to consist of a Mayor, Reeve and ten Councillors. The present village Council shall continue in office after the passage of the Act until the new Council is elected.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 19.

Mr. Mackenzie presented a number of returns.

Hon. Mr. Baflamme introduced a Bill entitled "An Act to secure the independence of Parliament." He remarked that the object of the Bill was to remedy the defects which were manifest in the application of the former Bill. The provisions of disqualification were to be extended to those who were holding public offices under the Provincial Legislatures and Government; also to those who were in in receipt of retiring allowances. The provisions of disqualification would also be extended to members of the Senate, so as to prevent them from entering into contracts with the Government. When he stated further that the Bill provided a better definition of the principles of the independence of Parliament, as stated in the previous Act, the House would be acquainted with the leading features of the Bill.

The motion for the first reading was carried.

Hon. Mr. Tupper asked when the Budget Speech would be delivered.

Hon. Mr. Cartwright said if no unforseen circumstances occurred he would make his financial statement on Friday.

The House resolved itself into Committee of Supply. Mr. Young (Waterloo) in the chair.

Mr. DeCosmos moved for a return of the respective sums of money paid to British Columbia in accordance with section 2, chap. 17, Vic. 37. He proceeded to show that by the non-conformance of the Dominion Government with this statute a loss of $280,000 had been entailed upon the Province.

THE EASTERN QUESTION

Amicable Relations Between Britain and Russia.

Austria Stands to the Treaty of Paris.

BISMARCK ON THE SITUATION

Servia and Russia Disagreeing.

Feb. 19.

The debate in the Imperial Parliament last night indicates that the relations with Russia are growing more amicable.

A Vienna despatch says:—In the Austrian Reichsrath to-day Prince Auersperg, Prime Minister, answering the interpellation, declared that Austria will never consent to any modification of the limits of her power in the East, which might damage Austria.

Prince Auersperg, President of the Austrian Council of Ministers, said in the Lower Reichsrath to-day that the Government on being informed of the preliminaries of peace, frankly stated it could not consider as binding any arrangement affecting the interests of this monarchy or the rights of the signatories of the Treaty of Paris, and so long as such arrangements were not agreed to by the Powers. The Government confidently hopes the European Council will reach a satisfactory understanding. The Government in the present circumstances will consider it its duty and mission to secure a due recognition of the political and material interests and dignity of the monarchy.

A Pesth despatch says:—The Chief of the Ministry made a statement in the Diet to-day identical with that of Prince Auersperg in the Reichsrath. The declaration was received with applause.

Bismarck, answering an interpellation in the German Parliament, said he could see nothing in the peace preliminaries likely to produce war between Russia on one side and England or Austria on the other.

A Berlin despatch says:—In the Reichstag to-day Bismarck discussed the separate provisions of the preliminaries of peace, and showed that Germany's interests were not affected in such a manner as to oblige her to deviate from her previous attitude. He described the apprehensions respecting the Dardanelles as not justified by the situation. Regarding the position to be taken by Germany he said he could not now give any official information, as the documents came into his possession to-day. He did not believe in a European war, as the Powers who opposed Russia would have to assume the responsibility of the legacy left by Turkey. Germany was in favour of hastening the Conference, which, perhaps, will meet within the first fortnight of March. He rejected emphatically all suggestions that Germany should intervene, and declared that she was willing honourably to mediate, but would not wish to exercise the part of arbiter of Europe.

Bismarck also stated in the Reichstag that the Russian official communication made it certain that the chief interests of Germany, namely, the freedom of water ways such as the Straits and the Danube for commerce, would be maintained. He believed it was Russia's interest to come to an understanding, and not have the fear of complications with Austria or England constantly impending. The supposition that Russia might forcibly compel the other Powers to accept the settlement to which they objected seemed entirely out of the question. He denied that the Russians had pushed forward their troops under the cloak of negotiations. He believed all the Powers honourably desired to send representatives speedily to the Conference. He energetically repudiated the idea of Germany engaging in a war relative to the Eastern Question. Nothing should induce him to hazard a rupture with any Power relative to questions in which Germany had no direct interest. No Government—at least neither of those principally interested—has proposed that Germany should enter upon any such course. The speech was loudly cheered.

A despatch from St. Petersburg says Prince Gortschakoff has declared to Lord Loftus that he will not advance on Gallipoli, provided the British troops do not land.

A Berlin correspondent of the Times states that the Russians are concentrating 300,000 men in Roumania. This occasions much comment in Austria.

The Telegraph believes that Prince Gortschakoff attached no unreasonable conditions to the assurance that the Russians will not occupy Gallipoli.

A Paris correspondent hears that the British ironclads have gone to the Gulf of Saros.

A Vienna correspondent says a difficulty has arisen relative to the date of the convocation of the Congress. Gortschakoff considers that a preliminary treaty of peace should be first signed. Austria objects to Russia being able to present a treaty as a fait accompli.

A Semlin despatch says:—The Servian Prime Minister has drawn up a memorandum to the Czar claiming the whole of Old Servia. The Servians are resolved not to evacuate the conquered territory unless forcibly expelled. It is stated that Russia has decided to add the Pashalik of Nisch to Bulgaria. A collision between Servia and Russia is therefore probable.

It will nip your disease in the bud, and prevent any possibility of its affecting the lungs. Don't procrastinate.

Mr. Langmuir when before the Committee on Public Accounts last week said he thought a good deal of insanity was due to poverty, the hard struggle for existence having a great weight in unhinging weak minds. He did not think insanity was on the increase in Ontario. The cost of patients was $130 per head, while in the States it was $200 a head.

WEDNESDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 20, 1878.

A Batch of Reports.

The report of the Minister of Public Works show in detail the transactions and general expenditure, with the cost and maintenance of the various Public Works of the Dominion during the fiscal year ending 30th June, 1877. The amounts expended on construction were $8,633,928.13; repairs, $373,293.55; staff and maintenance, $2,279,458,81; grand total, $11,286,680.49. Of this sum there were expended on construction of the Pacific Railroad, $936,525.40; Intercolonial, $1,318,352.19; Prince Edward Island Railroad, $200,000. Expenditure on staff and maintenance was —Intercolonial, $1,661,673.55; Prince Edward Island Railroad, $228,595.25; telegraph lines in British Columbia, $27,108.54; subsidy to do., $4,000; telegraph lines in Prince Edward, $1,946.66. On repairs at London—Post Office, $671.64; repairs to the Drill Shed, $600; repairs Custom House, $1,007. On construction Guelph Custom House, $18,111,74; Pacific Railway survey, construction account, $754,624.57; construction harbors and piers at Bayfield, $2,120; Chanty Island breakwater, $36,095 12; Goderich harbor, $86,175 10; Kincardine, $10,514.56; Port Burwell, $5,173.75; Port Stanley, $3,394.31; Lachine Canal construction, $1,439,375.73; repairs, $19,824 33; Staff and Maintenance, $33,148.86; Welland Canal construction, $2,183,147,-61; repairs, $50,048.93; Staff and Maintenance, $59,693.47

The report of the Postmaster-General shows the following to be the year's business:—Number of offices, 5,161; miles of post route, 38,526; annual rate of mail travel, $15,126 676 miles; letters carried, 41,510,000; post cards, 5,420,000; registered letters, 1 842,000; free letters, 1,096,000; newspapers and periodicals, 39,000,000; books and miscellaneous articles, 46,308,000; parcels, 90,000; revenue, $1,051,134; expenditure, $2 075,618; number of money order offices, 756; amount of money orders issued, $6,856,837; number of savings bank offices, 282; number of depositors, 24,074; total amount deposited in the year, $1,521 000; deposits and interests to credit of depositors at the end of the year, $2,639,937.

The report of the Minister of Inland Revenue is contained in three blue books, representing the excise, weights and measures, gas inspection, and civil statistics respectively. The total revenue of the Department was for the year ending June 30th, 1877, $5,829,-000, as against $6,376,000 in 1876. The decreases were: on Excise, $587,000; on culling timber, $4,825; and on bill stamps, $17,992. On the other hand there was an increase in Public Works of $10,351, and on weights and measures and gas of $52 941. The revenue, however, is some $400,000 in excess of that of 1873.

The Report of the Engineer-in-Chief of the Pacific Railway, attached to the Report of the Minister of Public Works, covers twelve pages, and is accompanied by two maps. It gives explicit details of surveys and explorations, as well as a sketch of what has been done or actual work under construction. The Engineer states that the feasibility of the Pine River Pass has been solved. The gradients are stated to be generally easy, and the land in River Valley of excellent quality for agricultural or grazing purposes. Should the engineering character of the line by this route prove on closer survey as favorable as reported, the engineer is of opinion that some of the serious difficulties in crossing the Rocky Mountains will have disappeared, and this formidable chain, once held to be insurmountable, can be passed with very favorable gradients. Another advantage of the route is that in place of a bleak, sterile country the line would traverse areas of remarkable fertility, besides passing through the vast mineral districts of America and Cariboo. By this pass communication can be had with Port Simpson or Bute Inlet.

It is expected that Mr. Cartwright will make his financial statement on Friday.

The first formal vote in Committee of Supply was taken in the House of Commons on Thursday—little more than a week after the House assembled. This is something extraordinary in the history of our Dominion Parliament.

The Bill amending the Independence of Parliament Act introduced by the Minister of Justice on Tuesday will disqualify from holding a seat in Parliament all persons in the receipt of emoluments from the Provincial Government. It will extend the principle of excluding the holders of contracts to the Senate, will render the recipients of retiring allowances ineligible for election, and better define the law as at present existing.

PROPOSED RAILWAY.—The Berlin News in a report of a railway meeting lately held in that town states that a representation from Elmira, Conestoga, and St. Jacobs was present. Mr. Fennell one of the deputation from Berlin gave a full explanation of the proposed route, showing the great advantages it possessed over any other scheme that had been suggested, and the feasibility of carrying it out. That no bonus could be carried for the Grand Trunk from any locality south of Woolwich. His scheme was to connect Berlin and Elora with a branch of the Great Western. The section through which it would pass would be, from Elora through the township of Pilkington, thence to Elmira, and southward through the centre of Woolwich and the northern part of Waterloo township to Berlin—thus securing to Berlin and these townships direct communication with Hamilton and the United States markets, and opening up to them the long line of Western railway to the north, terminating at Lake Huron. He thought the cost of the road not an insurmountable obstacle, for although Woolwich would be expected to bear the greater burden of the expense, yet some assistance could be obtained from the other localities interested. A committee was afterwards appointed to communicate with with the manager of the Great Western and learn his views on the scheme.

THIS is Vennor's latest:—We are now in a spell of broken wintry weather which may be expected to last up to and perhaps beyond the 15th of the month. I expect to see some severe weather and some very heavy snow-falls, and it is not unlikely that we shall this month record one of the coldest dips of the winter. The month again end stormy and cold, and March will probably be ushered in by deep snows. I advise railway men not to put by their snow plows, but to keep them ready for use; for I still maintain that February "will be the most wintry month," and that we shall yet have extensive snow blockades.

BEST NEWS THIS YEAR.—To be found in J. D. Williamson & Co's new advertisement. All winter goods selling at auction prices.

The Estimates.

The estimates for the year ending June 30th, 1879, were laid before the House on Tuesday, and are as follows:—

Summary of the estimated expenditure of the financial year ending 30th June, 1879, together with the sums granted for the financial year ending 30 h June, 1878, and a statement showing the decrease or increase for such service:—

For the redemption of the debt the sum required in 1878 9 will be $7,588,431, against $5,382,739 in the current year. On public works chargeable to capital it is proposed to expend $8,305 900, against $5 738 600, the estimate for 1877 8 the additional canal works absorbing $2,000,000 in the increase. The trifling increase in the charges to Consolidated Fund account is represented by a charge to account of Public Debt and Sinking Fund.

Guelph Township Council.

The Council met on Monday the 11th inst., pursuant to adjournment. Geo. A. Darby, in the chair; present, all the members.

The collector was present, and submitted a highly satisfactory statement of the amount of moneys collected by him for the Township and school sections. With the exception of $3.64 the whole amount has been collected, which was ordered to be struck off the roll, the parties having left the municipality.

Messrs William Whitelaw and M. A. Kennedy, Township Auditors, were present, and submitted their annual financial statement for the year 1877, ending 31st January, 1878.

Moved by Mr. Sweetnam, seconded by Mr. McIntosh, that the auditors' report be received and published in conformity with the statute, and the clerk to get two hundred copies printed for distribution to the ratepayers.

Applications were presented and read from E. Harland, for re-appointment to the office of Collector, and from Messrs. H. J. Sanders and G. D. Porter, to the office of Assessors.

In accordance with notice given at last meeting Mr. Sweetnam introduced By-law No. 117, for appointing Assessors and Collector. The appointments are:—Henry J. Sanders and Geo. D. Porter, Assessors; and E. Harland Collector.

By law No. 118 was introduced and passed for remunerating Township officers, the Collector to receive two per cent on all moneys collected on behalf of the Council; assessors, $75 each; auditors, $10 each; clerk, $130; Treasurer, $100.

The Reeve read a letter from the Guelph Herald proprietors, requesting the Council for a larger share of Municipal printing. No action taken.

The Reeve read a circular from Messrs. Hart & Rawlinson, relating to the Magistrates Manual, a new publication. The clerk was instructed to procure a copy for the use of the Council.

Mr. Chipchase was present, and stated his case relating to a suit brought by him against Mr. Dawson, for allowing cattle to run at large. As the case was dismissed, on some technical point, it was considered that Mr. Chipchase should not be held responsible for the expense, the court ordering costs to be paid, amounting to $7.90. On motion made and seconded it was ordered that Mr. Chipchase be refunded the amount paid by him.

The Reeve read a communication from Mr. James Keough, applying for assistance on behalf of Nelson Smith. No action.

The Reeve read a communication from Mr. Wm. Crichton, enclosing account for gravel required to be certified by the Pathmaster, of the amount put on for improving the road, and that four cents per load is the amount allowed by Council.

The Reeve called the attention of the Council to the action taken by the Town Council, relating to the burial ground. That arrangements had been made by him and Mr. Sweetnam to watch the Bill when brought before the House of Assembly to secure the interests of the Township.

It was moved by Mr McIntosh, seconded by Mr. Armstrong, that this Council petition the Legislature not to pass the bill that is before the House for the purpose of converting the old burying ground into a public park, in its present shape, and the Reeve, Deputy-Reeve and Clerk be instructed to take what action and advice they may deem necessary to prevent this Township being deprived of their interest in the old burying ground, and that they be empowered to draw upon the Treasurer for any expenses they may deem necessary. Carried.

Moved by Mr. Sweetnam, seconded by Mr Hawes, that the assessors be instructed to assess divisions A. E. F. and G. in company, and that Mr. Sanders assess the east side of the Township as far as the line between the 3rd and 4th concessions of division D, and that Mr. Porter assess the west side of the Township to the same line.

A By-law was introduced and passed, appointing the following Township officers for the current year, viz., Poundkeepers, Fenceviewers and Pathmasters:—

FOR POUND-KEEPERS.—Jas G Wright, H K Parsons, Robert Matthews, Walter West, Jno Lillie, Geo Fyfe, Andrew Hook and Thomas Powell.

FOR FENCE-VIEWERS.—James Keough, Geo Elliott, Robert Blyth, H Nisbet, John Laird, John Bolton and John Laidlaw.

FOR PATHMASTERS.—Thos McCrae, Peter J Husband, H K Parsons, Jeremiah Woodhouse, Samuel Rife, Jas Lester, Geo Fyfe, John H Reist, Geo Wingfield, Thos Henderson, Gideon Hood, H McDougall, Jas Jackson, John Hobson, John Laidlaw, Ed Hammond, Geo Elliott, Robert Brydon, Geo Jackson, Jas G Wright, Chris Quarry, Ben Sallows, Wm Shortreed, Wm Watson, Wm Patterson, Jas Richardson, John Shuke, James Norris, Joseph Myers, Jas Cowan, Geo B Hood, John Ellis, Hugh Nisbet, Symington Gerrand, James Wilson, Thos Coghlan, Michael Carreher, John Bolton, Robt D Parker, Matthias Kirby, Francis Rawson, Thos Card, jr., John Mutrie, Thos Powell, John Brown, Henry Watson, Ed Tizzard, Isaac Dyson, G H Carter, H Devlin, Thos Gibson, Dennis Kelehr, Patrick Morgan, Patrick Keleher, John Newstead, James Keough, Patrick McQuillen, H Sanderson, Wm Downie, Wm Birney, Joseph Zimmerman, J B W Kelly, Geo Reid, Jas McGrogan, Samuel McCuan, Thos Lister, and Chas Tuck.

The Clerk was instructed to notify the persons appointed of their several appointments.

The Council then adjourned to meet subject to a call from the Reeve.

A. MCCORKINDALE, Clerk.

The strike on the Midland Railway and the consequent suspension of traffic continues, but no disturbance have occurred, and it is expected that a settlement will be reached to-day.

LICENSE COMMISSIONERS.—A meeting of the Board of License Commissioners for Centre Wellington was held on Tuesday at the City Hotel, Guelph, being the first on re-appointment. Mr. James Cattanach was re-elected chairman, and Inspector Macdonald Secretary to the Board. An application for a tavern license for the Cumnock House, Township of Nichol, by Anthony Griffin, of Alma, was laid before the Board. The application was granted. Subject to the report of the Inspector, a few amendments were made to the rules and regulations, enabling the Inspector more effectively to enforce the same.

BASE BALL.—From a despatch received from Mr. George Sleeman, one of the Judiciary Committee of the International Base Ball Association, it is learned that the Tecumsehs, of London, have been awarded the international championship, they having won fourteen games and the Allegheney's eleven.

1,000 chromos from 5c. upwards. Anderson has the goods and sells cheap.

On Monday evening a fire broke out in the storehouse of Mr. Alexander Speers, Water street, Owen Sound. The building, together with the contents, including one valuable horse, was totally destroyed. Loss about $800; no insurance. Cause of fire unknown.

The Toronto Telegram rightly says that an insult is offered to to the people of Canada by O'Donovan Rossa being brought among them to lecture, and says it cannot understand how the open advocate of a fiendish dynamite to effect what he considers the liberation of his country, and a released Fenian convict, has the hardihood to set foot on British soil. It does not think the Young Irishman and Hibernian Societies are offering any very good compliment to the memory of St. Patrick by inviting such a wrong-headed firebrand to let off his rhetorical fireworks on his anniversary.

Oshawa seeks incorporation as a town.

The Waterloo County gaol is overcrowded and eight prisoners are unprovided with sleeping accommodation in cells. Unhappy prisoners they must be.

The Hamilton and Dundas Street Railway Company have decided to have steam motors.

The School of Agriculture.

(From the Globe.)

It is a thousand pities that certain "friends of the farmer" have not sense enough to refrain from picking at the Provincial School of Agriculture. The criticism and strictures upon this institution with which we are continually regaled come from persons who have no more idea of suggesting a remedy for the evils they allege to exist than they have of flying, and who, as well as being ignorant of their subject, completely mistake the sentiment of the part of the community of which they would be pleased to be thought champions. There are those, in and out of Parliament, and farmers too, who constitute themselves critics, and have so feeble a conception of the purposes of an agricultural school that they suppose such institutions are started with the object of teaching the manual processes of the farm. If that were so, our school would be useless indeed; but we question, judging from the tenor of the remarks of some Conservatives, whether that was not really the idea with which that party started out to revolutionize Canadian agriculture. There is Mr. Wigle, M.P.P., for instance, who solemnly stated in the House the other night, while making an avowedly hostile motion for papers, that the Guelph School was not an institution to which a farmer would care to send a son that he might learn how to plough. We do not know who ever said that the art of ploughing was part of the curriculum of the School. Of the true mission of the School Mr. Wigle and his brother detractors seem not to have the ghost of an idea. It was not instituted for the purpose of teaching farming in the way that the greatest part of farming has hitherto been done in Canada. That kind of wheat, fallow, wheat and tallow farming has seen its day, as every intelligent farmer knows, and has left mortgaged farms and broken farmers throughout the Dominion. It is to teach that which can be learnt with any measure of perfection on no Canadian farm that we know of; and only imperfectly on one farm out of ten thousand. No farmer would think it necessary to send his son to school of agriculture there to acquire the art of holding a plough or turning manure, which Mr. Wigle seems to think is the true end and aim of higher agricultural education. It is when and how to plough, at what depth and width for different purposes, with what pattern implement, and with the least expenditure of strength; the chemical constituents, methods of applying and storing barnyard manure; the relative value of commercial fertilizers and when their purchase would be profitable; on these and a thousand other deeper questions the coming generation of farmers must have light unless Ontario farming is to be abandoned as New England farming has been. And we suppose if the Wigles, Tooleys, and others could have their way, no such "new-fangled rubbish" should be taught.

Then we have Mr. Lauder closing up a tissue of partisan misstatements by declaring that the School "always has been a failure and always will be a failure." After such a prophecy it may be taken for granted that Mr. Lauder is going to do everything in his power to make the institution a failure. The fact is that some of the lawyers and doctors in the House begin to think it necessary that they should "do something" for their farmer constituents; and just exactly as a farmer would do if he represented a constituency of doctors and lawyers with whom he wished to make himself popular, a pretty mess they are making of it. There is a great and growing sentiment among the agricultural community in favour of allowing the Guelph School fair play, of which as yet has had very little—in fact, the School may congratulate itself that whatever comes it cannot be more virulently or unfairly assailed than it has been. Intelligent farmers can see how, apart from its educational features, the experimenting with new varieties is going to make the School of immense value to the present generation. Much good work has already been done in this line, and it is beginning to bear fruit. The Opposition see that the School is fast passing into an era of popularity, and to say that they are frantic about it conveys only a slight idea of the depth of their exasperation. They see that they cannot now cripple the institution, the one thing which they had reckoned upon as a chronic Opposition grievance will become a source of pride to the country. Their bile is so stirred up at the sight, that nothing but a corrective in the shape of a strong hint from the farmers that there is to be no more fooling with their interests will put their systems into working order again. We shall be much mistaken if this hint from the farmers is not given soon and unmistakably. The farmers, if anybody, have cause to complain that their interests are neglected. It is but little at the best that any Government can do or ever has done for agricultural interests. These same lawyers and doctors, now, who are so much afraid that the Government shall spend $20,000 more on the attempt to solve the problem of agricultural education, had, or might have had, the benefit of liberal Government assistance in acquiring a knowledge of their professions. Even now, the doctors are anxious for the appropriation of additional millions for the purposes of lunatic asylums—and, of course, they do not have an eye, also, to the number of extra fat berths there will also be for medical men; and lawyers think it "just splendid" that hundreds of thousands of dollars should be sunk in law courts, which are convenient for them, but of less practical good to the public than is the determination of the degree of merit between two varieties of turnips. Spend as much money as you like on lawyers and doctors, but $20,000 a year for the education of farmers! Why, it's monstrous! an outrage! "Always was a failure and always will be a failure!"

As for the talk of "economy" in this matter, such talk is unadulterated bosh. Economy is all very well, even when the suggestion from such a source is somewhat incongruous, but to talk of dropping the School of Agriculture so that $20,000 a year may be saved, with the absolute certainty that the whole ground would have to be gone over again—which Heaven forbid!—is dreadful rubbish! The attack on the School of Agriculture, everybody knows, is not for economy's sake, and least of all is it in the farmer's interests, but simply to embarrass the Government. It is time the farmers in the House and in the country too came forward and summarily "squelched" this making of their interests a mere stalking-horse, under cover of which the Ministry may be harassed. A deep and lasting injury would be done to the farming interests of this country if the usefulness of the Guelph School of Agriculture should be marred. But the would-be thought farmers' champions do not care a straw what injury they do to the farmers if only they can worry Mr. Mowat.

As for those self-sufficient ignoramuses who unfortunately exist among farmers, as well as among doctors and lawyers, and who decry agricultural education because they have lived without it, there is not much to be hoped for from them. They are usually men who have, at the close of a long and laborious life, about made both ends meet, and in doing it have completely exhausted the fertility of a virgin farm. As they already know all they want to know, the School of Agriculture is not for them, but for those sensible farmers who admit that there are yet many unsettled problems in agriculture.

Harriston Correspondence.

Mr. Benjamin Gray, an old and respected resident of this place, and whose name is connected with the early history of this section, and who always identified himself with the interests of the place, having signified it his intention to remove to Ingersoll, in the County of Oxford, a number of friends assembled at his residence on Saturday evening last to do honor to himself and family ere they took their departure, which event took place on Tuesday of this week. The company being assembled, Mr. George Preston was elected to the chair, and Mr. Alex Yule read an address, with which was presented a cup to Mr. Gray and a fruit basket to Mrs. Gray. The address bore testimony to the high character borne by Mr. and Mrs. Gray, that they had known them for many years, and their life had been made up of honorable deeds and had at all times kept clear of all petty village gossip. Reference was made to the large family which they had raised, and to the excellent character borne by each individual member of it. Great sorrow was expressed that in the course of events they had felt it their duty to remove from amongst them. The concluding portion of the address referring to Mr. Gray was as follows: You will be long missed in the church with which you identified yourself and in which you have been an honorable and honored member, and our earnest hope and prayer is that the same honorable, staightforward course will mark your career in the locality to which in the providence of God, you are about to remove, and that you may find your expectations abundantly crowned with success."

Mr. Gray in replying for himself and Mrs. Gray expressed regret at his inability to adequately thank his friends. He felt if his citizenship had in any way been instrumental in advancing the interests of the town, or the welfare of the Church and School, he was amply repaid without further mark of favor from his friends. In leaving he severed himself from associations that he held very dear, and parted from friends whose memory he would ever cherish in grateful remembrance. He would ever cherish the presents he and Mrs. Gray had received with great pride for the kind and generous spirit in which they wer given. In concluding he hoped the same kind Providence who had watched over them would keep and guide them in the paths of rectitude till as last all could say "I have fought the good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith."

The remainder of the evening was spent in social intercourse. Such as singing and addresses, all indicating a kindly feeling towards Mr. and Mrs. Gray and family, and a wish for there future welfare. The assembly broke up about 11 o'clock all wishing the family a kind good bye and future prosperity.

FIRE.—The citizens were aroused about 11:30 on Sabbath by the sound of the firm alarm. The flames were soon discovered in the west part of the village. They were found to proceed from a dwelling, the property of Harvey Bros, on Margaret street, occupied by Peter Millar. Before assistance could be obtained the place was completely enveloped in flames, placing it beyond redemption. The family barely escaped, unable to save a single article of either furniture or clothing.

The second carnival of the season came off on the rink on Thursday evening of last week. Owing to circumstances it was not as large an affair as was anticipated. Quite a number of ladies and gentlemen appeared in fancy costumes, which made the scene a brilliant one. The band was present, and did their part. The managers expect to have another one shortly, which will be so arranged as to make it a grand affair.

The return curling match between the young and old men, for the oysters, came off according to agreement on the rink, on Thursday last, and resulted in quite a reverse from the previous week. Notwithstanding the experience of the old curlers and their buoyancy of hope over their previous victory, the muscle and science of their youthful rivals proved more than they bargained for, and by a score of nearly two to one were elected to pay the oysters. The following is the score:

Seniors.	Juniors.
Montgomery,	Clapp,
Patmore,	Millar,
Gray,	Fulton,
Arbuckle, skip—8.	Lavin, skip—35.

At the conclusion of the game the seniors fulfilled the agreement, by entertaining their opponents to a sumptuous oyster repast at A. Montgomery's restaurant.

The sniff of sleighing last week was the means of bringing considerable timber in town in the shape of cord wood and saw logs. The yards are being filled up, though they are not yet as full as is desirable.

The Odd Fellow's assembly which is to take place in the Town Hall on the 26th inst. promises to be a magnificent affair. All the arrangements for bringing it to a successful issue are being made, so that its success is certain.

Owing to the retirement of Mr. Alex. Meiklejohn from the general store business, the firm have announced a grand clearing sale, to continue for a few weeks only. Now is the time to secure good bargains.

Mr. S. Maynard, of Listowel, has opened out a flour, feed, and grocery store, in the Odd Fellow's block, adjoining Eakin Bros., on Elora street, where he proposes carrying on the business in all its branches.

Quite a number of tramps have been on the sorrowful mission, peculiar to that class, through here of late. While some appeared the objects of pity, others bore more the semblance of impostors.

Services are now held regularly in the basement of Knox Church, and will, till the completion of the main body, which will be soon. It is a very good building, and wonderfully improves the appearance of that part of the village.

The London Times states that seventy millions of people are starving in the northern provinces of China.

Bowmanville, Ont., Nov. 8, 1872.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Sons, Boston:—

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with bleeding of the lungs for a long time. About two years ago I took a severe cold which made my lungs very sore, but after using one bottle of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry the pain and cough disappeared and have not troubled me since. I believe the Balsam is the best medicine in use and well worth the price asked for it.

HEALTH RESTORED

REMEDY FREE for the speedy cure of nervous debility, premature decay, lost manhood, and all disorders produced by youthful excess. Mailed to any address. DAVIDSON & Co., 86 Nassau Street, N. Y. n15 w6m

MANHOOD: HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured, without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically

☞ This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

ELEPHANT STORE

IT IS THE BARGAINS WE GIVE THAT DOES IT.

Clothing Cheaper than Ever.

Since we commenced our Clearing Sale our receipts daily have just doubled. We have still on hand a very heavy stock of WINTER CLOTHING, and being anxious to reduce our immense stock we have resolved to offer every article at such prices as will be sure to suit the customers, and substantiate that the sale we now advertise is a genuine one—no pretence.

Woollen Underclothing Selling at Cost Price.

We have just received a splendid new lot of Gent's Silk Squares, Silk Handkerchiefs, Scarfs, Bows, Gloves, Shirts, Collars, and Cuffs, all bought expressly for the Christmas trade. To be sold cheap. Hats and Caps—A large and fresh stock just received.

For a good Overcoat, Suit, or anything else in the Clothing Line, if you want to save money, and get better goods than elsewhere, try the "Elephant."

Russia's Demands.

LONDON, Feb. 21.—It is believed that Russia demands that she shall occupy Bulgaria for a period of two years.

Agreement between Britain and Russia.

LONDON, Feb. 21.

In the House of Commons this afternoon, Lord Northcote announced that the Russian and English Governments had come to the following understanding: — Russia agreed not to occupy Gallipoli or the lines around Constantinople, or land troops on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles. England agrees not to land troops at either of those places.

Local News Items.

PROPERTY SOLD.—Mr. J. Carlin has sold to Mr. J. Welsh, a house and lot, situate on Sultan Street, in the West Ward, for $600.

THE DUNKIN contest is waging at a white heat in Brantford. E. King Dodds has the stump on the repeal side of the question.

FOR THE CENTRAL.—This morning a Central Prison officer escorted Alfred Clinton and John Parvis to the Government works in Toronto. The former will remain three months, for larceny; and the latter two years, for burglary at Walkerton.

BASE BALL.—A number of gentlemen in Toronto are making efforts to form a first-class professional base ball club, to compete for the championship of 1878. The Clipper prizes, valued at $290, will be added to the International championship prize, won by Tecumsehs. These will consist of a $100 club flag and nine badges, of the aggregate value of $150, to be awarded to the accompants of the nine positions in the game from catcher to right fielder—who excel in playing their home positions in the field, batting skill only to be regarded in case of a tie in the fielding score.

NAUGHTY NAMES.—Mrs. Rebecca Buckner resides on Essex Street, and although that particular thoroughfare breathes profanity in the very name it has been dubbed by a certain class, it is not considered a sufficient excuse for any one to call a person residing on that street vile names. Joseph Carey did address Mrs. Buckner the other day in terms very coarse, and being summoned before the Police Magistrate this morning, duly charged with the offence, was fined $2 and $3.85 costs, or in default of payment, fifteen days in gaol.

WATERLOO SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION.—The County of Waterloo Annual Sabbath School Convention has been in session at Hespeler on Tuesday and Wednesday. The attendance has been large, and great interest was manifested. Rev. W. H. Andrews, of Galt, was re-elected President, and Mr. James Woods, Secretary-Treasurer. Able and earnest addresses were given by the President, Rev. McAllister, Rev. Mr Moyer, Rev. C. A. Thomas, Rev. J. V. Smith, and Mr. Peter Marshall, of Ayr. Rev. John McEwen, of Ingersoll, gave a most powerful practical, and convincing address on the importance of teachers' training, which is likely to result in the establishment of Normal classes for Sabbath School teachers in this county. The Provincial Sabbath School Association was represented by Rev. Wm. Millard.

SEVERELY BITTEN.—Yesterday afternoon, as the children of Mr. Thos. Gowdy and the young five year old son of Mr. Charles Taylor, were playing at the residence of the former gentleman in the West Ward, a little affair occurred which marred the pleasure of the afternoon, and soon separated the children. The dog of Mr. Gowdy, a useless but playful animal, was with the children at the time, and from some cause jumped up at Harry Taylor, and seized him by the nose and upper lip, tearing the lower part of the right side of the nose, and sending his teeth through the upper lip, besides making six or eight wounds in different parts of the face. The poor little fellow bled very much, and on the suggestion of a passer-by was hurriedly taken to the office of Dr. Macdonald, who cauterized the several wounds as speedily as possible. The sufferings of the little fellow during the dressing by the doctor can be better imagined than described. Whether the animal has bitten the child in play—as some imagine—or in earnest, it cannot be said, but it will be a sad matter for the parents of the child if, as a result, the boy be seized with hydrophobia in days or years to come. The little fellow passed a tolerably quiet night, there being a little inflammation in the nose and lip. He will at the least be disfigured for many days.

IT STANDS UNEQUALLED.—Those who have used Wilson's Compound Syrup Wild Cherry, know it to be unequalled for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Loss of Voice, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all kindred diseases. A 25c. bottle will cure any ordinary case. A 50c. bottle has frequently cured chronic cases of from one month to two years' standing, and that after having spent many dollars in vain attempts to get relief. A dollar bottle holds more in proportion, and should be kept in every house. It will save many a doctor's bill.

FANCY DRESS CARNIVAL.—A large assortment of Acme and latest style skates at Bond's & Co's. Prices extremely low.

Waterloo is to have a band. $103 have been subscribed, and the town council has granted $150 for that purpose.

NOTHING doing on the market this morning.

ORATORIO OF DAVID.—Practice to-morrow (Friday) evening 7:30, St. Andrew's School Room.

A NUMBER of young persons intend going from here to the social to be given by the Good Templars in the town hall Morriston, this evening.

THE weather probabilities for to-day: Falling barometer, fresh to brisk southeasterly to northeasterly winds, and cloudy to rainy weather.

ON WEDNESDAY at noon some boys were snow balling on Macdonnell street and and managed to break a pane of glass in the side window of J. D. Williamson's dry goods store.

ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday afternoon while a little girl was getting off a sleigh on Wyndham street one of the bobs ran over her foot. She was not hurt seriously but perhaps enough to make her backward in attempting to hang on another sleigh for some time.

SALE OF PROPERTY.—Mr. W. S. G. Knowles, on Wednesday, sold lots 38 and 39, 2nd con., Minto, belonging to the estate of the late Mr. Alex. McMaster. The former brought $3,400 and the latter $2,505. Mr. Malcolm McMaster was the purchaser.

THE last of the series of private assemblies, arranged by a committee appointed for the purpose, was held in the town hall last evening. There was a large attendance and dancing was kept up to a late hour to the inspiring strains of Seiger's band from Toronto.

ALLEGED PIGEON STEALING.—Mr. Moffatt, painter, like many others in this town who keep pigeons, has lost some of his birds. He believed that his pigeons had been stolen, and with that idea in his mind proceeded to make enquiries. The result of his research led him to charge a young lad named Jas. Daley with the theft. The matter came up in the Police Court this morning, and the case was adjourned till Friday.

MASONIC.—A lodge of instruction in connection with the masonic order was opened in Guelph on Wednesday afternoon in the Masonic Chambers. D. D. G. M. Cavers, of Galt, and P. Begg, P. G. Sup't Ontario District, of Brighton, were present. Members of the order from Orangeville, Palmerston, Elora, Harriston and Waterloo, besides Guelph, were present. The lodge of instruction will continue in session to-day and to-morrow.

A HEAVY BABY.—About ten months ago a baby boy, was born in Ennotville, which has grown in size and increased in weight to a wonderful degree. The child was christened John Patrick and by that name it will be known as the heaviest baby in this section of the Province. The baby's weight is 42lbs., stands three feet in its stocking feet, is twenty-five inches around the chest, and at the present time can both walk and talk nicely.

SOCIAL AT WINTERBOURNE.—A very successful entertainment, in connection with Chalmers Church here, was held last Friday evening, in the lecture room. The efforts of the committee were rewarded with a full house, there being nearly two hundred present. The programme consisted of vocal and instrumental music, dialogues, readings, and recitations. The choir sang several fine pieces with commendable taste. The instrumental music supplied by Messrs. Peter Henderson, James Henderson, Adam Gerrie, and James H. Glennie (all of Puslinch), was of the first order, and thoroughly appreciated. James. H. Glennie, sang three songs in capital style, and his Scottish reading was simply inimitable. Mr. Hyde, of Guelph, gave a good recitation, which was well recieved. Some of the performances of home get-up were very well done, too, and seeing that all were trying to please, to be very critical would be unkind, but I would say that "brevity is the soul of wit," and also of fifth-rate speeches and recitations. By attention to this, and more thorough preparation of their parts, some performers would at least show good sense and more respect for their audience. A good deal of merriment was caused, during the intermission, by several funny experiments on an electrical machine, kindly lent by Dr. Pasmore for the occasion. The money raised, I understand, is to be given to the poor.—COM.

SOIREE IN DOUGLAS.—The annual soiree in connection with St. John's Church, Douglas, came off on the 14th inst., and was a decided success, not only for the number present, but for the superabundance of provisions of the best quality; no less than ten story-cakes reared their beautiful mottoed heads to tempt the epicurians. Revs. Messrs. Smith, of Eramosa; Fowlie, of Hillsburg; and Anderson, of Rothsay, besides all the resident ministers of the various denominations, were present, and gave short, interesting, and some amusing addresses. The choir of the Church discoursed sweet music between the addresses. By special request a duet, "Waiting for the Tide," was rendered by Mrs. Wray and Robt. G. Blyth. They were encored, and responded. At the close of the meeting they were requested to give one of the pieces over, which they did, amidst the applause of the house. The proceeds of the soiree were $76. At a social the next evening, the amount realized was $18, and everything went off harmoniously and successfully.

DEATH OF ROBERT CALLANDER.—From a late number of the Clinton New Era we gather some particulars of the death of Mr. Robert Callander, of that place, which took place in the end of January, and was caused by the efforts he made at a fire there, and being struck by a falling wall while removing goods from the fire. He had lived for a good many years in Clinton, and had endeared himself to all whom he came in contact. He was an active member and worker in the Methodist Church, and for years was a zealous and influential teacher in the Sabbath school, and also leador of the choir. In his business and social relations he was all that could be desired, and as School Trustee, Reeve, and Mayor of Clinton he discharged his duties with great fidelity. After his death the County Council of Huron passed a resolution expressive of their high opinion of his services. His funeral was one of the largest ever held in that place, all the representative men, besides citizens of all classes, being present, to testify the high respect entertained for him. He leaves a wife and five children to mourn his loss. Deceased was distantly related to Mr. Robert Royce, of Eramosa. He seems, from the account in the New Era, to have been a most lovable, kindly man, a sincere Christian, and an earnest worker in all that tended to the moral and spiritual elevation of his fellow men.

DEATH OF DR. HODDER.—The Toronto papers record the death, on Wednesday, of Dr. Hodder, after an illness of some duration. Dr. Hodder was one of Toronto's oldest citizens, and the acknowledged head of the medical profession of Ontario.

"Irish Liberty."

A Released Fenian Convict to Lecture in Toronto.

The city of Toronto, in certain circles, is at present in a lively state of excitement over the proposed lecture on "Irish Liberty" to be delivered in the Royal Opera House, on Monday, the 18th of March, on which day the celebration of St. Patrick's anniversary will be observed—the 17th falling on Sunday, by O'Donovan Rossa, the notorious Fenian convict, who at present is enjoying his liberty only through the clemency of the British Government. Rossa is to lecture under the auspices of the Hibernian and Young Irishmen's Societies, St. Patrick's Society standing aloof from the affair altogether.

Those who have been instrumental in securing the services of this Fenian agitator must know full well that he has for months been busily engaged in raising a "skirmishing fund" in the States to be used in destroying British property. The means he proposes to use are gun cotton and dynamite, a proposition which can only be described as fiendish.

The New York Sun speaks as follows in regard to the Fenian in question:—O'Donovan Rossa, whose "skirmishing fund" now amounts to $44,373, hints darkly, in the Irish World, at the manner in which he will spend it against England. He quotes a description of a body of Russian cavalry who, "in a belt round their waist, carry a few pounds of gun-cotton or dynamite, and, with this highly destructive explosive, they may work incalculable harm." He adds that gun cotton and dynamite are not very dear, and leaves the reader to infer that the fund, thus expended, would destroy a great part of England. He adds: "A small charge of gun-cotton, placed simply upon a rail and fired with fuse, suffices to blow several feet of the iron to a distance of many yards, thus rendering the railway unserviceable in an instant. A trooper may dismount, place a charge at the base of a telegraph pole, fire it, and be in his saddle again within sixty seconds. Even light bridges and well built stockades may be thrown down by the violent detonation of compressed gun-cotton, and forest roads considerably obstructed by trees thrown across, which are never so rapidly felled as when a small charge of this explosive cotton is fired at their roots." Rossa claims the invention of this kind of warfare, and says, jocularly, that Russia ought to pay him a royalty. He also describes a terribly destructive torpedo that has recently been invented, and says that he will probably be able to obtain the secret of its construction.

An Interesting Will Case.

Before His Honor Judge Macdonald.

A Surrogate Court case was heard in the Court House on the 19th instant, before the County Judge, re the will of the late Bernard O'Donnell, of the Township of Arthur. The proceedings were instituted by John O'Donnell, of Arthur Village, for the purpose of testing the validity of his late father's will. The will in question was made by Bernard O'Donnell, of the Township of Arthur, in May, 1876, and John not being satisfied with the disposal made by the old man of his estate, sought to have the will annulled by the Court.

Mary Ann Shaughnessy, a married daughter of deceased, and sister of John, had in the meantime applied to prove the will, and to obtain letters of administration with will annexed.

It was alleged that there was only one witness to the will, when legally it required at lest two, and that although there were three names besides the testator's subscribed, that one only was an actual witness, and that the other two were not present when it was executed.

The will was produced, and on examination it appeared to have been signed by the testator at the bottom towards the right corner, where such documents are usually signed, and immediately thereunder were written the names of Thomas Goodyear and Garratt Cavanagh, while at the left corner where the witnesses usually sign, the name Robert Stevenson alone was written.

Mr. Goodyear deposed that some time before the will was executed, the testator had applied to him and Cavanagh to become executors, and that they were willing to assume the office, and that they called at testator's house together on the matter. When there Mr. Stevenson was sent for, and on his arrival the will was read and executed by the testator in presence of all three. That he and Cavanagh both signed as executors, having an impression that such was required of them in order to enable them to act in that capacity; and when they had done this Mr. Stevenson signed as witness.

Mr. Cavanagh, on being sworn, corroborated Mr. Goodyear, and stated further that he was the custodian of the will from the time it was executed until after the death of the testator; and that some time after he had obtained possession of it, he asked the testator if he intended to alter it in any manner, and that he was informed he did not, and that he wished it to stand as it was.

On this evidence His Honor held the will sufficiently proven, remarking that although it was the fact that Goodyear and Cavanagh had signed, not as witnesses, but erroniously, as they supposed, as executors. Yet when they were present, and saw the testator make his mark, and acknowledge the execution of the will, and also that they signed it themselves, they were competent. Both in the English and Canadian Courts it has been decided that although present, and seeing the execution of the will, the persons who sign must have the animo testandi, and could not sign in the double capacity of witnesses and executors. The case in point is an indication of the wisdom and forethought of Mr. Mowat, whose Government in 1873 passed an Act called "The Wills Act," which provides that executors can be competent witnesses, even although, as in this case, they do not sign with the intention of being witnesses. It is sufficient if they see the testator sign, and that they subscribe their names in his presence, whether intending to be witnesses or not. Had it not been for this statutory provision Mr. O'Donnell's will would have been null and void.

Considerable interest was taken in the result of this case, as the parties are widely known, and it proves the necessity of prudence on the part of testators. The will is admitted to probate. Guthrie, Watt, & Cutten for John O'Donnell; McMillan & O'Connor for Mary O'Shaughnessy.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

No Anglo-Austrian Alliance.

Britain, Austria, and Russia to Settle the Difficulty.

The Meeting of the Conference.

Feb. 20.

A Gibraltar special states that the Channel squadron received sealed orders before proceeding eastward. Lord Napier of Magdala, has gone to England to confer with the Government in regard to the Indian troops.

A Paris despatch says:—It is stated that Lord Derby and Prince Bismarck have announced that they will not represent their respective countries at the Conference. Gortschakoff has given notice of a similar decision.

A St. Petersburg special says:—It is now stated that the British Government will not withdraw the fleet to Besika Bay. Accordingly the Russians are likely to occupy Constantinople, or at least one of its faubourgs, if they have not done so already. Late last night (Wednesday) there was a rumour in circulation that they were already at Therapia.

A Belgrade despatch says:—Gen. Leschanin has gone to Adrianople to endeavour to obtain a modification of the peace preliminaries in favour of Servia, and to protest against the Russian occupation of Nisch. The Servians are already removing all their artillery from Nisch for safety.

A Bucharest special says:—A surgeon of the Red Cross Society reports 22,000 sick and wounded Russians in hospital between the Danube and the Balkans.

Herr Bennigensen, who yesterday introduced an interpellation in the German Reichstag is a National Liberal and a personal friend of Bismarck. He said it behoved Germany to protect the threatened interests of Austria.

Bismarck said a judicious regard for her own interest required Russia to obtain the sanction of the Powers for the terms of peace. Germany was the first to consent to the Conference and was indifferent as to where it should be held, but if on German soil it must have a German President. He could hardly conceive that fresh complications would arise.

Doctor Hænel assured the Chancellor of the support of the advanced Liberals if it became necessary to protect Austrian interests.

Herr Windhorst gave a similar assurance for the Ultramontanes.

The Times says Bismarck's speech simply eliminates Germany from the calculation, and the issue rests between Russia, Austria, and England.

A Vienna despatch says:—Bismarck's speech has caused satisfaction in political and diplomatic circles here, as it is believed that Germany has no intention of attempting to counteract the decided measures by which Austria may have to uphold her interests.

The report of the abandonment of the project of an Anglo-Austrian alliance is fully confirmed. Bismarck's speech has greatly strengthened the hopes of the Austrian Government that war will be averted.

Curliana.

Guelph Defeats Goderich by a Score of 29 to 22.

On Wednesday a crack rink from Goderich visited Guelph to see if they could accomplish what so very many had failed to do—defeat the curlers of this town. The ice was in fair condition, the only thing wrong with it was it being on the soft side, occasioned by the extremely balmy weather.

The game was well contested throughout and was watched with considerable interest by the spectators present. The Goderich men were all first-class curlers, perhaps the best that western town could produce, a fact which makes the victory a greater success for Guelph.

An excellent lunch was provided for the visitors at the Mitchell Hotel. The score is subjoined:—

GUELPH.	GODERICH.
John Oliver,	Capt Robertson,
A. Robertson, jr.,	H.H. Smith,
D. Kennedy,	Capt. Dancy,
Thos. Dobbie, skip, 29.	Hutchieson, skip, 22.

On account of the very unfavorable weather the Guelph curlers did not visit Harriston to-day.

More and Cheaper Money.

In view of the limited amount of money, and the high rates of interest in Canada, as compared with Britain, France, and other countries, it has been decided by some of the prominent business men of Guelph, to hold a public meeting in the Town Hall, on Monday, Feb. 25th, at 8 p.m., for the purpose of hearing the explanations of Mr. Geo. D. Griffin, the editor of The Dominion Watchman and National Financier, upon the subject, and to consider whether it is advisable to take any action in the matter.

He has consented to give an outline of the currencies of Britain, France, Germany, the United States, and other countries, the national effect of different kinds of currencies; and will explain the course pursued by Britain, France, and other nations to secure relief in times of financial distress similar to that which now prevails in Canada.

Through the information that will be furnished it is hoped that some method may be devised that will afford a large measure of relief similar to that which occurred to Britain and France by the wise acts of their governments in their hour of need; one that will relieve the farmers and manufacturers from the ruinous high rates of interest prevailing, and the banks from the enormous losses to which they are now daily subject.

It will be entirely non-political; there will be no charge for admission. Every one who wishes to see better times is cordially invited to come, and to bring with them ladies who desire to understand how it may be possible to secure a return to national prosperity, and to obtain the comforts that will accrue thereby.

Town Hall, Guelph, Monday, Feb. 25th, at 8 p.m.; admission free. dlw1.

FROM JOHN F. HENRY, CURRAN & CO.—United States Medicine Warehouse, 8 and 8 College Place, New York: It is truly wonderful with what rapidity your LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA has been introduced. The Election of the New Pope.

General Satisfaction over his Election.

Sketch of the New Pope's Life.

ROME, Feb 20.

The smoke of the burning ballots having been seen at 12:30 to-day, the crowd before the Vatican, thinking that the ballot was again without result, had almost dispersed when, at 1:15, Cardinal Caterini appeared in the grand gallery of the Vatican Basilica and announced in the customary formula Pecci's succession to Papacy as follows:—

I announce to you a great joy. We have for Pope the most eminent and most reverend lord, the Cardinal Gioachin Pecci, who has taken upon himself the name of Leo XIII.

The few bystanders cheered most enthusiastically, and a large crowd soon assembled—densely thronging the open space before the Vatican, and the approaches thereto.

At 4:30 the newly-elected Pope, surrounded by all the Cardinals, appeared in the inner gallery of the Basilica. The crowd vociferously shouted "Long live the Pope." The Holy Father at length made a signal for silence, then intoned the Benedicite, and pronounced the benediction. After this the cheering was renewed, and continued until the Pope withdrew.

The circumstances of the election are as follows:—At this morning's ballot Cardinal Pecci received 36 votes, which was five short of the requisite two-thirds majority. When the voting was finished, and the papers were burned, Franchi and those holding the same views with him, advanced and knelt before Pecci, this example being followed by the others. Cardinal Pecci's election was accomplished by the method known as "by adoration."

Count Zegueri immediately notified the Pope that he proposed to present him with a million of francs as the first donation of Peter's pence from the French episcopate.

As soon as the result of the election became known the bells in all the churches of Rome were rung, and the diplomats went to the Vatican to congratulate the new Pope.

Pope Leo XIII was born on the 2nd of March, 1810, at Corpinelo, near Anagni, of an old patrician family. He was in favor with Pope Geogory XII, in whose household he was for some time as prelate and private referendary, and who employed him as his delegate first at Benevento, then at Spoleto and Perugia, where he did good work in ridding some of those districts of the prevailing scourge of brigandage. Pecci was subsequently sent as Nuncio to Brussels; created Archbishop of Perugia; and was one of the candidates for whom the old Pope reserved the honor of the purple when he died in 1846. Pecci remained, however, Cardinal in petto in spite of the good offices of the King of the Belgians, who solicited Pope Pius IX to fulfil the benevolent intentions of his predecessors. Seven years elapsed before Pius IX came to the resolution to do justice to the candidate of Gregory's choice, and this delay was owing to the ill-will of Cardinal Antonelli, who held influence over the Pope's mind. On the 19th December, 1853, Pecci received the hat; but for many years was left at his See of Perugia, the Cardinal Secretary of State standing in the way of any preferment. In 1874, upon the death of Cardinal Barnabo, Prelate of the Propaganda, an English prelate suggested Pecci to the Pope as competent to fill the vacant place, but he was not chosen Camerlengo until after Antonelli's death. There are but rare instances, and none recently, of the Camerlengo (who is looked upon as Pope-maker, and who exercises the whole authority of the Pope during the interregnum), ever obtaining the votes of the Sacred College on his own behalf.

The new Pope is tall, with a fine head, sonorous voice, great dignity, even austerity of manners in public life, but privately is affectionate, unassuming, sociable and witty. As Camerlengo he was head of that party which, without formally renouncing the right of the Holy See, acknowledges the wisdom of submitting to the decrees of Providence, accepting what seems to be irrevocably accomplished facts. The general opinion is, that for learning, tact, energy, dignity, amiability, real moral worth, and sincere piety, the Sacred College could not find a more deserving Pope.

Cardinal Pecci spoke with great effect against the proposal of the removal of the Conclave from Rome and the other measures advocated by the reactionary party. He enjoys the confidence and support of the Liberals, or at least a reasonable majority of them, in the Sacred College. His private life at all periods has been above reproach. He has considerable literary talent, and has written poetry. He has never had intercourse with the functionaries of the present Italian Government, but is esteemed by them all.

LONDON, Feb. 20.—A Berlin correspondent says:—Bismarck considers Pecci's election to the Papacy the most suitable one possible at present.

A Rome correspondent telegraphs that the Pope after his election assumed the pontifical robe and received the homage of the Cardinals in the Sixtine Chapel. The crowd before the Vatican waiting for the benediction of the Pope is estimated at 20,000. Only a portion of the crowd was able to hear as the inner gallery from which it was pronounced looks into St. Peter's. The Ultramontanes are furious at the result of the election. Pecci, when he was Camerlengo, ordered pontifical carriages to be prepared for the new Pope to drive out on a solemn progress. The myth of the Pope's captivity is thus exploded.

A Paris despatch says:—The election of Pecci has made a favourable impression here.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. The Evening Mercury

THURSDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 21, 1878.

The New Pope.

On Tuesday, the ceremony of opening the conclave being ended, the Cardinals began balloting for a successor to the late Pope. The ancient rules and ceremonies observed on such an occasion were strictly adhered to, and on the second ballot Cardinal Pecci was declared Pope. The last four Popes were elected at the Quirinal, in accordance with the regulation which prescribes that the Conclave shall meet, if possible, in the place where the previous Pontiff died. In this case the Cardinals met in the Vatican, which has become in a more exclusive sense than ever it was before the chief seat and citadel of the Papacy.

The election was not long delayed. On the second ballot Cardinal Pecci was found to be within five of the required two-thirds majority, and those in opposition to him, finding that he was so strong, withdrew from the contest, and left the field entirely to him.

The newly elected Pope is an old man. He was born in 1810, and held a prominent position in the household of Pope Gregory XII., the predecessor of Pope Pius. It seems that though well enough liked by the late Pope, he was kept in the background through the influence of Cardinal Antonelli, who for some reason or other disliked him. It was not till after the death of the Cardinal that Pecci came to the front, and then he took a prominent position as one of the leading members of the Church. It is said that he is of the Liberal school, inclined to accept things as they are, in the belief that Providence has done all for the best, and that it would be madness to fight against the decrees of Providence.

Judging from what we have read, the new Pope is a Liberal, and has no sympathy with the reactionary or Ultramontane party. As a proof of this, his election gives satisfaction to Germany, which, in view of what she has done in curbing the priest party, has a great deal at stake in the present business. She is, however, apparently satisfied, and will no doubt leave the Pope to take the oath of office without molestation.

As an interesting episode in the history of the Church, this election of the Pope has considerable significance, but beyond that it has no political importance. It is not likely, therefore, that his election will be followed by any immediate change in the attitude of the Holy See toward the governments of the world. Changes there will no doubt be in time, for the old society of nations upon which so much of European civilization is based is fast giving way to a new order of things; but changes, when they do come, will result from the change of circumstances, not from a change of Pontiffs.

Mr. Higinbotham has given notice for a return of the number and value of all horses, horned cattle, and sheep imported into the Dominion of Canada from the 1st day of February, 1877, to the first day of February, 1878; also the number and value exported during the same period.

Judge Dean, of Lindsay, who was appointed by the Government to enquire into all the facts in connection with the stealing of the papers relating to the Lincoln election case, has presented his report. It is in substance that though the thief has escaped detection there is no possibility of doubt as to the fact that a premeditated and carefully planned theft had been committed, and the public have now the satisfaction of knowing all that can be known with respect to the matter.

Speaking of the U. S. Silver Bill the Tribune says: "The Silver Bill involves dishonor. It makes lawful the payment of silver for interest and principal of bonds, and for customs duties, though previous legislation of the United States had justified creditors in expecting gold. Bonds amounting to more than $600,000,000 have been bought from the United States, and bonds to a large amount have been bought and sold, upon the faith that the United States could not dishonor its pledge. The effect of a disregard of that pledge is not calculable. It may be very great; if the Secretary of the Treasury defends the public honor and credit as long as he can, it may be small. For it is obvious that, under the Bill passed by the Senate, he can defer for a long time the payment of interest or principal in silver. At present no sharp advance in the premium on gold indicates any immediate apprehension."

The Premier on Monday spoke with deep feeling in regard to the resignation of Mr. Blake, and Ministerial cheers were subdued and sympathetic. His clear and emphatic declaration that there was no difference on matters of public policy was so convincing that even the Opposition were satisfied and said not a word to call forth the speech which it is believed Mr. Blake was prepared to make.

A few days ago, while a son of Mr. Adam Burenstiehl, of Bridgeport, was drawing logs out of the bush, the horses became unmanageable and turned shortly against a tree about six inches in diameter and thirty feet long, breaking it off near the ground, and throwing it with force against the boy's leg, smashing the bones midway between the knee and ankle.

A good joke has been got off by Mr. Campbell, Dr. Tupper's "goose." It seems that refreshments of all sorts can be procured in the Commons restaurant as well as that of the Senate. Mr. Campbell was treating a day or two ago, and asked Mr. Frazer, of London, in Gaelic, what he would have. Mr Frazer replied that he did not understand the language "Why," answered Campbell, "I thought you were an educated gentleman." Other rum stories are told of Mr. Campbell.

Cattle Trade of Canada.—At a meeting at the Cannon street Hotel, London, on Wednesday, of the Foreign Cattle Trade Association, resolutions were unanimously adopted to oppose the Duke of Richmond's Bill, on the ground that compulsory slaughtering at the place of landing, of imported animals, will increase the already high price of meat, by diminishing the numbers of imports. Opposition meetings are to be held at Manchester, Leeds, and Liverpool.

Hamilton Opera House Burned.—Early this (Thursday) morning a fire broke out in the Opera House, corner of King William and John streets. The fire originated in the rear, and notwithstanding the prompt and untiring exertions of the brigade it steadily gained the ascendancy until the whole was one grand mass of flame. By dint of persevering effort however, the buildings adjoining on both sides were saved. During the fire one of the firemen named Worst had his leg broken by the falling of a piece of the cornice.

Erin Township Council.

The municipal Council of the Township of Erin met pursuant to adjournment, at Kirk's Hall, Hillsburg, Feb. 15, 1878.

Reeve in the chair. Members present—Messrs. McMillan, Reed, and McNaughton. Mr. Pearen was absent on account of sickness.

A bill from Messrs. Innes & Davidson was presented by the Clerk, which received attention, and on motion of Mr. McMillan, seconded by Dr. McNaughton, the bill of $3.36 for advertising voters' list notice, was ordered to be paid.

Mr. Reed moved, Dr. McNaughton seconded, that a by-law be introduced authorizing the appointment of path-masters, pound-keepers, and fence-viewers, and that it be read a first and second time. The by-law was read.

Moved by Mr. McMillan, seconded by Dr. McNaughton, that the Reeve order payment of $1.50 to Angus McLean, for cedar furnished for a culvert in his neighborhood, and that the said Angus McLean be refunded $1 for dog tax, not having any dog.

The Auditors brought in their report, which was read by the Reeve, item after item, and on motion by Mr. Reed, seconded by Mr. McMillan, the report was received and adopted, and the Clerk instructed to have 100 copies of the detailed amount printed by Mr. Lacy in sheet form.

Moved by Mr. McMillan, seconded by Mr. Reed, that the Reeve order that the auditors be paid $8 each for their services. Carried.

On motion by Dr. McNaughton, seconded by Mr. McMillan, Thomas Easton, James Brown, Mrs. Widow Price, Dougal McGill, James Currie, and John Keith have had their dog tax refunded, having lost their dogs—so say they all.

Mr. McMillan moved, seconded by Dr. McNaughton, that the Council adjourn, to meet at Anderson's Hotel, Ospringe, on Friday, the 8th day of March next, ensuing. William Tyler, Clerk.

Hillsburg Items.

The teachers of Erin Township and neighborhood have organized a Teachers' Association. The object is mutual improvement in public school subjects and methods of teaching. The next meeting will be held in the Hillsburg schoolhouse, Saturday, March 2nd. Mr. R. McMillan, President; and Mr. R. Wansborough, Secretary.

Elder O. G. Hertzog, of Suspension Bridge, N.Y., has commenced a series of meetings amongst the Disciples, at Erin Centre, about three miles north of Hillsburg.

Information has reached here from a "semi-reliable" source that work will be resumed on the Credit Valley Railway early in spring, and that a small gang is at work now on the Elora Branch, near the village of Belfountain.

His Lordship Bishop Fuller, of Niagara, has appointed the Rev. Alfred Chowne as the Incumbent of Erin and Garafraxa. Mr. Chowne is lately from England, but more recently from Richmond, Pa., and appears to be thoroughly qualified for the work in his new field of labor, and will, no doubt, command the esteem of his parishoners.

Manitoulin Correspondence.

To the Editor of the Guelph Mercury.

Dear Sir,—If it will not take up too much space in your valuable paper, you will be kind enough to insert the following, as a favor, it may be of interest, I hope, to some of your readers, and particularly to those who take an interest in our welfare in our new homes on the great Manitoulin Island.

In the first place, I would wish to say that we are, one and all that are settled here, in the enjoyment of the best of health—this being one of the healthiest places in the Dominion of Canada, and am happy to say, have plenty of everything to eat and drink; plenty of work to do of every kind, and a little recreation now and again for pleasure, in sporting, fishing, boating, sleighing on the ice in winter, &c. You must observe that Little Current river never freezes over in the winter, except two or three days at the coldest time; consequently we have open water nearly all the year round. We have had a most extraordinary open winter this season, not more than two days' sleighing, so far. Our past season's crops turned out most excellent; some of our farmers have two thousand bushels of grain, and some fifteen hundred and one thousand each. Wheat is valued at one dollar per bushel, but I am sorry to say there is, as yet, no grain buyer here to pay cash for wheat, so they have to hold on till navigation opens, to ship to the nearest market. I have built a new grain storehouse, with a capacity of holding ten thousand bushels, for storage, to sh p from my dock at Little Current. So all we want is a good enterprising man with funds, to buy and open a market for wheat and other grain. My Galloway cattle are doing first-rate; also my sheep and other cattle. On account of the fine weather we have had this remarkable season, plowing was going on here until after Christmas. There is plenty of good land to be got cheap, and homes for those who wish to get them. A great many people settled here last season, and a great many are coming this next, from all parts of Canada. Many of the farmers here are securing homes for their rising generation, which are not a few, as the population is increasing very fast, with plenty of room for more.

Yours, &c.,
Wm. Griffiths.

Arthur Junction Railway Company.

Mr. McGowan in the Local House has introduced a Bill for the incorporation of the Arthur Junction Railway Company. The preamble sets forth that Joseph Draper, Thomas Whale, Mark Langdon, Thomas Graham, Geo. Povey, and Frederick Jasper Chadwick, have represented that the construction of a railway from some point on the Wellington, Grey and Bruce Railway, in the Township of Peel, in the County of Wellington, to the village of Arthur, has become desirable, for the purpose of developing certain portions of the county, and for the public benefit and accommodation of the inhabitants thereof, that the length of the proposed railway will not exceed (blank) miles; that the said railway, owing to the natural facilities of the country, can be built at a cost not exceeding (blank) dollars per mile; that the municipalities interested, namely, the village of Arthur, township of Peel, township of Arthur, township of Luther, township of West Garafraxa, and town of Guelph are willing to grant bonuses to an amount sufficient to build the said railway, and that their petition to be allowed to build it be granted. The Act provides that the aforementioned gentlemen together with the inhabitants and corporations of the aforesaid municipalities, or such of them as shall grant bonuses to the company are hereby declared to be a body corporate and politic, by the name of "The Arthur Junction Railway Company." The gauge of the road is to be four feet 8½ inches. The gentlemen named are appointed provisional directors and are to hold office until other directors are appointed, or until the several municipalities named have refused to grant the bonuses. When a municipality grants a bonus its reeve or other head of the municipality will be ex-officio a director. There shall be one director for each municipality which grants a bonus to the company; which directors, together with the ex-officio directors under the Railway Act, shall constitute the board of directors of the company. When bonuses are voted the debentures are to be placed in the hands of trustees. The Company is authorized to make necessary arrangements with other roads to secure the efficient operation of the railway.

Grand Caledonian Celebration in Erin.

The Guelph Caledonian Society have made arrangements for giving an entertainment in Clark's Hall, Erin village, on Thursday evening, the 28 h inst., when a most excellent programme will be prepared. In addition to singing and recitations by well-known Guelph amateurs, Mr. George Smith, Piper to the Society, will favour the company with some choice music on the pipes, and will also furnish part of the dance music. Four gentlemen in full Highland costume will dance several reels, the Highland fling, the threesome reel, &c. After the entertainment there will be a social dance to the music of an excellent quadrille band. This entertainment, as given in Puslinch, met with the greatest success, and was pronounced to be one of the best ever given in the township, and we can safely promise the same for the one to be given next Thursday in Erin village.

The St. Paul papers mention the formation of an Irish organization called the General O'Neil Skirmishers. Private information has reached Winnipeg that the Fenians are drilling in both St. Paul and Minneapolis. The object of the movement is not quite clear at present. It is believed to have reference to contemplated operations in this direction in the event of England going to war with Russia.

Centre Riding Reform Convention.—The Centre Wellington Reform Convention meets at Elora on Tuesday, the 5th of March (Fair-day), for the purpose of making preliminary arrangements for the nomination of candidates for the House of Commons and Local Legislature. The meeting will be held in the Town Hall, at 1 p.m., and it is hoped every Reformer who can spare the time will be present.

CHAPTER XXII.

SIR PHILIP'S FUNERAL — THE UNBIDDEN GUEST.

Gilmour rushed from the room, descended a private stair, and made his way into the park by a secluded path. The Highlander had withdrawn under the shade of a yew, and there Gilmour joined him.

Their conversation was but brief, but when it terminated Gilmour put a handful of money into his hand, and they separated—the Highlander returning the way he came, and Gilmour coming back to the mansion, with a radiant and triumphant countenance. The tidings he brought gave equal joy to his mother, and from that moment ther restless anxiety was wholly at an end.

When Mr. Adamson entered, her ladyship sat dressed in the full robes of widowhood—a picture of woe and bereavment, so far as garments could indicate the situation. But she neither was nor affected to be drowned by her grief, and she received the lawyer with perfect dignity and composure.

Gilmour also bestowed on him a cold, frigid bow, while McGarray noticed him with a curt professional nod.

"Mr. Adamson," said her ladyship, "I am gratified to see you here on this melancholy occasion. Doubtless your former relations with Sir Philip have prompted you to pay this tribute of respect to his memory."

"Pardon me, madam," returned the lawyer "I would not have presumed to intrude here at present except in an official capacity. I am here as the authorized representative of Sir Philip's heir and successor."

"Indeed! I was not aware that Sir Gilmour had invested you with that office—especially as he is present to represent himself."

"Nor have I done so," exclaimed Gilmour, with feigned surprise. "Mr. Adamson is not here by my direction."

"I do not say so," was the ready rejoinder.

"Yes, you certainly did. You intimated that you are here as the representative of my father's heir and successor, which is myself."

"I must be allowed to dispute that, Mr. Gilmour."

"How—Mr. Gilmour!" cried her ladyship. "Sir Gilmour, if you please, Mr. Adamson."

"No, your Ladyship, not Sir Gilmour. The deceased baronet had another and an elder son."

"Alas, he had, as he knew to his sorrow. But you cannot affect to be ignorant that this misguided young man has by folly and crime forfeited an elder son's rights, and can put forth no claim which the law will recognize."

"I know Mr. Harold Logan has been charged with crime, and is not in a position to prove his innocence," answered Adamson, bending a steady look on Lady Logan's face.

She slightly changed colour under the lawyer's fixed gaze, but otherwise returned it with a bold unflinching eye.

"His innocence!" she repeated, in a tone meant to be incredulous. "Unfortunately the proof of his guilt is too conclusive to be doubted; but if it were, he has himself practically confessed it by fleeing from justice."

"His flight may be so construed by those who are ignorant of the truth; but your ladyship and your ladyship's son know better."

"Sir, what mean you?" she demanded, drawing herself up with the aspect of a woman at once aroused and insulted, though the finished acting did not, of course, deceive the well informed lawyer. Neither Gilmour's violent and blustering attitude, which had too much consciousness in it for genuine passion. He was not so sure about McGarry. Not knowing how far that astute agent was cognizant of the plot, he had difficulty in determining whether the surprise depicted on that gentleman's countenance was real or spurious. As it was of importance that he should know this he resolved to put the matter to a test which should solve the doubt in his mind.

"I am quite prepared to answer your question," he returned "But I have to remind you that there is another party in the room. Probably ere I do so you may see the propriety of asking Mr. McGarry to retire."

"Certainly not," responded Lady Logan, with a somewhat haughty disdain. "You can have nothing to say to my son, Sir Gilmour, and myself which it would be inconvenient for us that Mr. McGarray should hear."

"Of course not," exclaimed Gilmour. "McGarray is my factor and confidential legal adviser. Not only do I decline requesting him to withdraw, I specially desire him to remain that he may be a witness to any statement you make."

"Ah," thought Mr. Adamson, "this satisfies me that Mr. McGarry is behind the scenes."

"Very good," he returned "Now, your Ladyship asks what I mean by saying that you and your son know better than to interpret Mr. Harold's flight as a proof of his guilt."

"Yes. I demand to know what you mean by that?"

"I mean that both of you know full well he is innocent. On the night following Sir Philip's death Harold paid me a secret visit, and told me all."

"All what?" vociferated Gilmour.

"The plot concocted against him by you and Malcolm Gillespie."

"A plot against him!" cried Gilmour, with a mocking laugh. "And you believe it?"

"I do."

"Ha, ha, ha. He believes the word of an outlaw. What think you of that, Mr. Garray?"

"Why, Sir Gilmour," observed McGarray in a bland, felicitous tone, "every lawyer is bound to profess belief in the statement of his client. We understand all about that sort of business, don't we Adamson?"

"Speak for yourself, sir," returned Mr. Adamson, rather stiffly. "I am not in the habit of saying one thing and thinking another."

"Oh, ah, good—very good. Might pass with a listner out of the profession, but not with me, you know."

"With your class of practitioners, you mean."

"Enough of this," interrupted Lady Logan, in a peremptory tone. "Whatever Mr. Adamson may or may not believe, it is ridiculous for him to come here on such authority as he has mentioned, and impertinent in the extreme to insult Sir Gilmour and myself in the manner he has done. On such a day as this we should have been safe from such annoyance."

"It is insufferable presumption," roared the son. "I desire, sir, that you will leave Mount Cairn instantly; you have no right here. Had you come as a mark of respect to your former patron, I should have overlooked the fact that you were not invited; but, having the ignorant audasity to appear here on the authority of an outlaw, whom you dare to style the heir and successor of my father, Sir Philip Logan, I refuse to treat you with further courtesy. I require you to withdraw, and forbid you to join in the funeral procession."

"Neither of which orders I shall obey at your instance" returned Mr. Adamson, firmly.

"No."

"No, since I do not recognize your right to act as master at Mount Cairn. Your elder brother is in truth and justice his father's heir. I am well aware that in his present position the law has deprived him of his rights. I believe the time will come when these will be restored, but at present he has no standing, and it is not on his behalf I am here."

Annual Meeting of Western Ontario Dairymen.

During last week the dairymen of Western Ontario held three days of consultation for the promotion of the large and growing industrial interest in which they are engaged. The meeting was held at Ingersoll, and was the thirteenth annual gathering with the same object in view. It was, however, the first assembling of the Dairymen's Association of Western Ontario. Heretofore there has been but one organization of this kind for the entire Province, but owing to this industry having grown up in two localities, east and west, widely sundered, so much so as to forbid a general attendance at one point, two associations have recently come into being. The Provincial Government, which has been fostering this important interest, by an annual grant from the public chest, now gives each of these organizations $1,000 per annum. A large representation of practical cheesemakers, on the factory plan, attended the meeting recently held, and a series of topics, genuine to the business, received careful attention. The past, present and future of cheese and butter formed the subject of a paper by J. H. Reall, of New York, which, in the absence of the author, was read by the Secretary, Mr. Hegler. It depicted the rise, progress, and prospects of dairying, and showed that there was no danger of too great an extension of manufacturing cheese and butter. The market is large, and the demand steadily increasing for these important products. They are becoming more generally sought after as articles of diet. Several dairymen expressed the utmost confidence that there was almost no limit to the enlargement of this industry. The cheese factory system had wrought wonders in this country for our dairy product, both as to quantity and quality, and there was room for a similar development in the way of butter-making. Improvement in the quality of butter was urgently called for, and more care in preparing it for market was hardly less needed. Firkins made of the toughest and best white oak, were recommended as the most suitable market package. To remove the flavor imparted by all wooden receptacles, scalding with water boiling hot, and soakage for a week were prescribed, also covering the butter after packing with a strong brine, made with pure salt.

"Cooling milk" was discussed, and Prof. Arnold, of Rochester, N. Y., stated that ventilated cans were the best means of securing this object. The ventilation is obtained by cutting a hole four inches in diameter in the can cover, over which a piece of wire cloth is soldered, with a depression towards the milk; and an outer rim to prevent spillage. Milk might be carried several miles in such cans, and whether delivered in bulk at the factory, or measured out in small quantities by the milk-man, would be kept in good condition. The cow also must be kept cool by means of shade and quiet treatment. Various other devices for cooling milk were spoken of by sundry of the dairymen present.

"How can the profits of dairymen be increased?" was a question ably treated in a paper by C. W. Horr, of Ohio. The difference in profit between a milch cow giving a large yield and one giving but a small yield, was put in a strong light. From seven cows the writer received $3440 during the eight factory months as follows:—Best cow, $92; second best, $80; third, $75; fourth, $60; fifth, $50; sixth, $43; seventh, $40. He knew of one dairyman who received $10 per acre for his milk yield, and fifty others who only got $5 per acre. The disparity was due to the difference in milking qualities of cows; differences in milking and care of cows; difference of water and pasture; difference in feeding, not only in winter, but during the fall and spring months. No farmer should keep a cow that would not bring him $50 worth of milk in a year.

"Suggestions on Cheese Making" were made by Prof. Arnold. He described at length the action of rennet, recommended the heating of milk to the temperature at which the rennet was most active, namely, from 90 to 100 degrees, the rennet then to be added. This was preferable to heating the curds afterwards. The whey should be separated from the curds at the earliest possible moment. Cheese thus made would keep better than on the common plan.

A paper on "Dairy Breeds of Cattle," prepared by the Rev. W. F. Clarke, of Guelph, at the request of the Board of Directors, was then read. It indicated the Ayrshires as, on the whole, the best cows for butter and cheese. A discussion arose as to whether a large yiel of milk and beef could be obtained from the same animal, in regard to which it became evident that much could be said on both sides.

"Marketing Cheese," was very practically treated by A. A. Ayer, of Montreal, a large buyer for the English market, and by several other cheese dealers present. The requisites for a saleable cheese were enumerated. It was satisfactory to learn that in quality Ontario cheese held a high place, but there was much complaint of shrinkage and loss of weight. This was to be silenced bynot marketing too early, and by making allowance for the inevitable result of long carriage.

Canadian salt was condemned by the cheese buyers as not being sufficiently purified of limey elements, and its avoidance was earnestly recommended. Liverpool salt was greatly to be preferred.

"What Luck I Yet?" was the text for a practical homily by the Hon. Harris Lewis, of New York, on the deficiencies of dairymen. Lack of love for their business, lack of energy and perseverance, lack of attention to details, lack of good pasture, and various other lacks, were forcibly pointed out.

Returning the whey in milk cans was reprobated by Mr. Ballantyne, M.P.P., and others. Drawing milk only once a day to factories was considered better than the plan of delivery twice a day largely practised. The feeding of turnip tops, raps, and swede turnips to milch cows was condemned because of its imparting a taste to cheese and butter. Mangolds and carrots were free from this tendency.

Passing over several other matters which our limited space forbids our noticing, we must not omit an item of the proceedings which specially relates to the latitude of Guelph. We avail ourselves of the Globe's report of it.

THE GOVERNMENT DAIRY FACTORY.

Mr. Allison moved the following resolution:—That this meeting expresses its satisfaction with the action of the Ontario Government in establishing a dairy conducted on the factory system in connection with the Model Farm, as it is believed that such a dairy, properly conducted, will be of incalculable benefit to the dairy interests of the country, and this meeting has the utmost confidence in Prof. L. B. Arnold as one whose great ability and practical knowledge on all matters pertaining to the manufacture of butter and cheese eminently qualify him to take charge of and make successful the dairy part of the establishment, and we strongly recommend that his services be secured for the position."

After considerable discussion on the Model Farm, and its adaptibility for a dairy factory,

Rev. Mr. Clarke said that the history of the College was unfortunate in some respects. It did not stand alone, however, for all the agricultural colleges in the world had had their troubles at the outset. The difficulty was to get the right class of men to take charge of such institutions. It was easy to get purely practical men, or purely theoretical men, but to find a man who was both practical and theoretical was to get a rara avis. The Guelph College had a peculiar class of difficulties to contend against; so peculiar that they could not be publicly spoken of. When he, the worst used man in connection with the institution, said that he wished it success from the bottom of his heart, and would do his utmost to promote its prosperity, he thought he said as much as could be said to commend it to the farmers of the district. The institution had been made the scapegoat of our miserable party politics, and no end of slander had resulted. (Cries of "Question.") He proceeded to say that he looked upon it as a very important thing that the Government should have conceived the idea of connecting a dairy department with the institution. It was a bold stroke, when it was considered that the district in which the farm was situated was an unfavorable country in which to start dairying. If the Government could establish a cheese factory in connection with the institution it would be doing a great work for the whole Province. He was strongly in favor of the dairy department which the Government were introducing. (Hear, hear.) They must strongly support the Gov't. in this matter, for if the experiment succeeded it would redound to their interests. He supposed the object of the latter portion of the resolution was to indicate to the Government the opinion of the Convention as to who was the best man to take charge. He knew of no man who was Professor Arnold's equal in the faculty of combining a sound practical knowledge with a remarkable aptitude for giving instruction on the operations of the dairy.

After some discussion, the resolution was put to the vote and carried, Messrs. Weld and Watson voting against it.

The Australian Expedition.

JOTTINGS BY THE WAY.

In the daily MERCURY of Friday, February 1st, you gave a description of the subscription book business of J. W. Lyon, of your town, and the leaving of twenty of his picked agents for Australia. They left Guelph on Saturday 2nd, by the 1:25 p.m. train by the Great Western Railway for Detriot, where we arrived at ten o'clock, and left again at 11:30 p.m. for Chicago, by the M. C. R. R., where we arrived the following morning. We remained all day, Sunday, in Chicago. There seems to be very little regard for the Sabbath, as almost all the retail places of business were open, so that anything that was wanted could be purchased, and at every corner fruit stands were to be found, while on Washington street in the afternoon all the fast horses owned in the city were out, where they race all afternoon, while it was almost impossible to get along the sidewalk for the crowd which must have numbered thousands. This seem to be the fashionable place of amusement for the city "bloods." We left Chicago on the 10 p.m. train for Omaha, by the Chicago, Burlington, and Quincey Railroad. Owing to our leaving during the night we could see nothing of the country as far as Burlington city, a place containing a population of about 25,000. We crossed the Mississippi River before entering the city, whichhas a beautiful situation. The business part is confined to the valley, while the hill that rises gradually and slowly to the west is covered with fine mansions. After a delay of a few minutes we steamed towards the far west all night. We were travelling through the state of Illinois—now we are in the State of Iowa. The land is rolling having a deep, black, mucky soil with a clay subsoil, the farms appeared to be large and well fenced with oak rails. The houses are principally frame and painted white. They have all large orchards and if the apples offered for sale at stations is a fair sample of their fruit the State must be well adapted for fruit growing. The principal produce of the state is corn, nothing but corn stalks could be seen as far as the eye could reach. They have also great numbers of cattle and pigs which feed out of doors all winter. The cattle are generally small. On only two farms did we see short-horns. The pigs seem to be the old Bushranger breeds. They grow grain but the land would need draining as it would be liable to be wet in the spring and remain so till it would be too late for seeding so as to get a good start before the heat of summer set in. The above is a fair description of the country to Brook's station, 215 miles from Burlington, when darkness again shut out all outside objects from our view. The land in this section some twenty-five years ago was sold for $1.25 per acre, and now it will sell readily from $20 to $50, according to location. The land has been generally covered with scrubby oaks and white popular.

We crossed the Missouri river and arrived in Omaha at 10:30 p.m., Tuesday, we took a walk through the city. We saw some very fine private residences, with grounds beautifully ornamented with trees and scrubbery, and magnificent business blocks. The merchants seem to be doing a thriving business. A deputation of the Australian's called on the Pacific Railway Agent, who, on being informed that there were twenty of us, said he would grant our request if possible, and give us a car for our use, which he did. In this we had two seats for each passenger, and by turning one seat we had ample room for sleeping, as we had purchased small mattrasses for the purpose. At 4:45 p.m. the bell rung, the whistle shrieks, and we are off through Nebraska The country west of Omaha is rather rough, but by the time you reach Gilmore, nine miles west of Omaha, you strike the mud creek valley. This valley is thickly settled, and is said to be very productive—equal, to any land on this continent. At Waterloo, eighty miles from Omaha, and 1,140 feet above the sea level, we entered the great Platte valley. The whole of this valley is drained by the Platte river. No matter how hard it rains the water remains but a short time on the surface. Almost every kind of grain is grown. The soil is a black mould, with a sandy subsoil, water can be obtained anywhere in this valley by sinking what are called drive wells from six to twenty feet. Wind mills are extensively used by large farmers who have stock confined on their premises, and which otherwise they would have to drive some distance for water. At Fremont, 46½ miles from Omaha, is the junction of the Atchison and Nebraska Railroad, Elkhorn Valley Railroad, and Sioux City and Pacific Railway, making it a railway centre, as you can go in every direction. This is the natural route to the Black Hills by the E. V. R. R. The place has a population of nearly 4,000, and some very fine buildings. Among them is an elegant public school, six churches, two banks, three elevators, steam flouring mill, an opera house, and fine dry good stores. At Fremont the great Platte Valley varies in breadth, from five to ten miles. The river hugs the bluffs on its southern side, the bluffs to the north are more distant. Around many of the residences are large groves of cotton wood trees that have been planted by the proprietors of the land. Trees fifty feet high and about eight feet in diameter are no uncommon result of eight years growth. The rolling land adjoining it is very fertile, and with proper tillage produce large crops of grain. The bottom lands are better adapted for corn, as it matures later in the season. The roots of the corn penetrate to a great depth, till they reach the moisture from below. Every alternate section is held by the U. P. R. R. Company, and sold at from $8 to $10 per acre according to locality. Cattle raising is carried on very extensively in this section, large herds are to be seen in every direction. We were unable to see anything further in this part of the country, as night had set in. Early in the morning of Feb. 6th we arrived at Grand Island station. The country in this vicinity is principally settled by Germans, who came in before railroads were thought of. They have comfortable homes, and have grown wealthy since they have gotten communication with the outside world. After passing Grand Island a magnificent stretch of prairie country opens to view; the same may be said of the entire valley, but the view in other places in more limited by bluffs and hills than here. After passing Silver Creek the road is perfectly straight for over 40 miles. Up to this point many groves of cotton wood grow around the numerous dwellings that are passed, but they begin now to diminish, nearly the last of them being seen at Abda station, 161 miles from Omaha, and at an elevation of 1,907 feet. All the stations for more than 50 miles east of Gannett, 280 miles from Omaha, are surrounded by excellent grazing country; there was no frost in the ground. We saw antelopes for the first time to-day. At noon the glass stood 55 degrees. At 6:30 p.m. we arrived at North Platte. Before reaching this station the adaptibility of the country for stock raising can be seen, and from this time to where the river is again crossed, numerous herds of cattle and flocks of sheep can be seen. The snow in these elevated regions is dry, and storms not frequent. The hills are always left bare, as the snow drifts into the hollows and ravines, so that cattle and sheep can always obtain access to the grass. In Lincoln County, of which the town of North Platte is the county seat, there are over 60,000 head of cattle alone. The weather being mild, a number of the Australians could at all times be seen on the top of the cars, contemplating the scenery. On leaving the above station darkness had set in. At 5:30 in the morning of the 7th inst., we arrived in Sidney, and were awakened by the call of the brakesman, informing us that we halt 30 minutes for breakfast. This place is 414 miles from Omaha. As daylight had not broke we could not form any opinion of the place. When daylight broke large droves of cattle were still to be seen on the plains. This country is kept for pasturage, as there is a great want of rain in summer; grain has not been tried; the cattle are kept within easy distance of the rivers, as it is impossible to get water by digging. We had a fine view of the Black Hills, covered with snow, before arriving at Cheyenne, stretching far away to the east and west. We also had our first view of the Rocky Mountains. We pass a prairie dog city; they are pretty little animals, curious shape, fat, and of a greyish red color, about 16 inches long, and always live with a multitude of their companions in villages; on the approach of an intruder the little creature gives a sharp yelp of alarm, and dives into its burrow, its neighbors following the same example. They are not easily got; unless shot through the head they are sure to escape into their holes. Several attempts were made from the trains to shoot them, but without success, the bullets tearing up the grass and sand all round them, only making them tumble the quicker into their holes. We arrived at Cheyenne at 3:45 p.m., 616 miles west of Omaha, and elevation 6,041 feet.

In my next will be a description of Weber Canon, which cannot be surpassed for towering rocks.

Bleeding of the Lungs.

Bowmanville, Ont., Nov. 8, 1872.

MESSRS. Seth W. Fowle & Sons, Boston:—

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with bleeding of the lungs for a long time. About two years ago I took a severe cold which made my lungs very sore, but after using one bottle of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry the pain and cough disappeared and have not troubled me since. I believe the Balsam is the best medicine in use and well worth the price asked for it.

Yours truly JESSIE BURK.

Dr. Wm. Gray's Specific Medicine

Before Taking After Taking

The Great English Remedy is especially recommended as an unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhea, Impotency, and all diseases that follow as a consequence of Self Abuse, as Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other diseases that lead to INSANITY or CONSUMPTION and a PREMATURE GRAVE, all of which, as a rule, are first caused by deviating from the path of nature, and over indulgence.

The Specific Medicine is the result of a life study and many years of experience in treating those special diseases. Pamphlet free by mail.

The New Pope.

Rome, Feb. 21—The Pope held a Congregation of Cardinals to-day. He announced that an Encyclical to the Catholic world would be despatched to-day announcing his accession. It has been decided that the Pope shall not for the present leave the Vatican, and it is announced that he will continue the policy of his predecessor. The coronation, which will be private, will take place in the Sixtine Chapel on Sunday. There will be no ceremony at St. John Lateran. Te Deum will be sung in the churches to morrow.

It is stated on good authority that Pope Leo XIII. was not chosen "by adoration," but by the requisite majority of votes of the Conclave; that Bilio having declined to be a candidate, his partisans, numbering nine Cardinals, gave their votes to Pecci; that when the votes were counted all the Cardinals knelt at the feet of the Pope, and this act has been misconstrued as an election "by adoration."

Grand Orange Lodge.

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 21.—The Grand Orange Lodge concluded its session about twelve o'clock last night, after resolving to petition the Ontario Legislature at its next session to pass an Act of Incorporation. The grand officers elected are as follows:—Grand Master, John White, M. P., Roslin; Deputy Grand Master, David Marshall, Port Hope; Junior Deputy Grand Master, Wm. Johnson, Belleville; Grand Chaplain, Rev. J. C. Ash, Renderville; Grand Secretary, A. J. Van Ingen, Cobourg; Grand Treasurer, J. G. Moore, Belleville; Grand Lecturer, J. B. McWilliams, Peterboro; Grand Director of Ceremonies, Wm. Porter, Ottawa; Deputy Grand Chaplains, Revs. James Morris, Omemee; W. M. Pattyson, Norwood; F. M. Finn, Stirling; Andrew Gordon, Duffin's Creek; F. Burt, Minden; Dr. W. F. Smith, Lindsay. The next meeting will be held at Cornwall, on the third Tuesday in February, 1879.

ST ANDREW'S CHURCH SOCIAL.—On Thursday evening the Ladies' Aid Society in connection with St. Andrew's Church gave a social in the church, which, considering the very disagreeable state of the weather, was largely attended. After an excellent tea had been served in the school room—served in such a manner as the ladies connected with the church know so well how to do—an adjournment was made to the body of the church. Rev. J. C. Smith, the esteemed pastor, occupied the chair, and after a few well timed and happy remarks he called upon the Rev. Dr. Barrie to lead in prayer. Short and very interesting addresses were afterwards delivered by Revs. Messrs. Macdonald, of Elora; Smyth, of Eramosa; J. B. Mullen, of Fergus; Thos. Wardrope and E. B. Ryckman, of Guelph. The choir rendered excellent service by singing selected pieces during the evening. The Misses Webster in a duet, Mr. Cooke in a solo, and Mr. Philp and the Harris boys in instrumental pieces, were among the most pleasing features of the evening's entertainment. Miss C. Stevenson, the talented organist of the church, played the accompaniments to the singing in good taste. The social, on the whole, was one of the most enjoyable and pleasing entertainments that has been given in connection with the Ladies' Aid Society. The gathering should be duplicated at no distant date. There has been some talk among prominent members of the congregation regarding the advisability of enlarging the church building. If the attendance keeps increasing as it has been doing such a step will be an imperative necessity. The receipts last evening were a handsome amount.

IT STANDS UNEQUALLED.—Those who have used Wilson's Compound Syrup Wild Cherry, know it to be unequalled for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Loss of Voice, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all kindred diseases. A 25c. bottle will cure any ordinary case. A 50c. bottle has frequently cured chronic cases of from one month to two years' standing, and that after having spent many dollars in vain attempts to get relief. A dollar bottle holds more in proportion, and should be kept in every house. It will save many a doctor's bill.

Dr. Herod, Mr. McCorkindale's family physician, was present at the time. The patient stood the painful operation very well, and passed a very quiet night afterwards. He will be able to return in a few days.

THE "PATRIOT."—The first number of the Daily Patriot, published at Charlottetown, Prince Edward Island, has been received. It is about the same size as the MERCURY, is very neatly got up, and everything about it flavors of that enterprise which always precedes success. In referring to the Patriot's political feelings, it says:—"In politics, although our colours are nailed to the mast and Grit to the backbone, we will always respect a straightforward, manly opponent and give his written or oral opinions the most courteous considerations. To the sneak, the trimmer, the braggart and the hypocrite, whether in politics, religion, or social reform, we can only promise as heretofore the finest polishing off and soundest castigation in our power." Charlottetown is to be congratulated in having a first-class daily paper started with excellent prospects of its success, and the proprietor, Mr. Lawson, has our best wishes in his enterprise.

INSANE.—The large number of people that has been confined in the Guelph gaol during the past year for safe keeping on account of lunacy is truly sad. Perhaps, all told, the number will foot up to at least a dozen. In nearly all cases the subjects have been strong, healthy young men, possessed of years when the mind is generally in a very healthy condition. Some of them appeared to have become demented through religious excitement, and others through no apparent cause. The latest case of lunacy hails from Orangeville, and he was brought to the gaol here on Thursday. His name is William Tipping, son of Mr. George Tipping, and his age is about twenty-three. He appeared to enjoy excellent health until about three months ago, when he became morose in his disposition and very short in his temper. Becoming worse, he assaulted every person with whom he came in contact, and eventually tried to batter his own brains out with a bar of iron. Failing in this he leaped out of a high window. His father, fearing he would commit some crime, had him committed to gaol by the Mayor of Orangeville, to remain there until he could be removed to a lunatic asylum.

POLICE COURT.—A young lad named Jas. Daley, was brought up on remand, charged with stealing pigeons from Wm. Moffatt. The Magistrate dismissed the case, and at the same time extended a few words of advice to the young lad and his companion, who was in the witness box, that it will be well for them if they act upon. It would be a good thing for a number of boys in town, if their parents obliged them to go out of the pigeon business. Markus Friend charged Jas. Jeffrey with assaulting Hannah Friend, his wife. The injured party not being able to appear, the case was adjourned for a week, and the defendant had to give sureties for his appearance at the proper time. Joseph Carey, a vagrant, hailing from Chicago, was coralled by the police last evening. He was in a happy frame of mind this morning, and did not care whether he was committed for fourteen days or for life. He remarked that he would "bounce the town" if given a chance. The magistrate suggested that he should contribute to the town funds $2 and $3.50 costs, or take fifteen days in gaol, or leave town at once. The tramp chose the latter.

FARMS SOLD.—Lot 29, 3rd con. of Minto, 100 acres, has been sold for $3,400. Lot 31, in the 3rd concession has been sold for $2,505. Mr. Malcolm McMaster was the purchaser at a sale conducted by W. S. G. Knowles Sons, auctioneers.

OLD ESTABLISHED BUSINESS FOR SALE.—By reference to advt. it will be seen that following the dissolution of partnership of James Cormack & Sons, Mr. Cormack offers for sale his old established business as clothier and tailor. His establishment is one of the best and oldest in town, and in the hands of a good energetic man could not fail to meet with the same success as has marked the career of Mr. Cormack. See advt.

RUNAWAY.—A horse which Mr. Jno. McKenzie, of Everton, was driving became unmanageable and started off at full speed down the Elora road towards Guelph. When within a short distance of the town the wheels of the buggy caught those of another vehicle which was passing and threw Mr. McKenzie forcibly to the ground. Here the animal became detached from the buggy and continued on his mad career until stopped on Macdonnell street. Mr. McKenzie only received a bruise on the back. The buggy and harness were totally wrecked and the horse was cut to some extent about the hind legs.

LODGE OF INSTRUCTION. — Wednesday, Thursday and to-day a lodge of instruction is being held in the Masonic Temple by R. W. Bro. Cavers, D.D.G.M., of Galt. The attendance, considering the state of the roads and rainy weather, was large, the different lodges in the district mustering through their officers in goodly numbers. The instructions given were of the very best, and useful hints were freely exchanged. Last evening the members of Speed Lodge invited the sister lodges in Guelph, as well as the visiting brethren, to a banquet at the City Hotel—Bro. John Haugh's—when a most pleasent time was spent. W. Bro. Secon occupied the chair, supported on the right by R. W. Bros. Cavers and Petrie, and W. Bros. Begg, McDonald, and Carter, and on the left by W. Bro. Pettiford, and W. Bros. Lockie, Barber, Moffatt and others. After justice being done to the excellent spread, toasts and song were in order, and when we mention that Prof. K. Maitland took part in the latter, we can vouch for the excellence of that portion of the proceedings.

Ontario Legislature.

TORONTO, Feb. 20.

After some routine business the House went into Committee of Supply.

On the item for hospitals,

Mr. Lauder wanted to know the reason that two hospitals were aided at Guelph. He considered that it would be better to have a few good hospitals in the cities than a large number of poor ones scattered through the country.

Mr. Wood denied that there was any partiality exercised by the Government. The hospitals received aid according to results, and the work at Guelph, instead of being confined to one hospital, was divided between two—one a Protestant and the other a Roman Catholic.

Several items were passed. On the item of $86,115 for the Central Prison,

Mr. Wood made some explanations with regard to the relations of the Government with the Canada Car Company, and with regard to the appointment of the recent Prison labour Commission. He explained the provisions of the agreement made between the Government and the Company in January, 1876, by which it was arranged that the claim of the Government on the Company for $14,090 for the hire of prisoners should be deferred for two years, and that the Government should pay the Company $15,576 for work performed and materials provided. After full discussion the House ratified that agreement. One clause provided that the Government might appoint a Commission to enquire into the value of prison labor. The Car Company complained that the 55c per day which they paid for each prisoner was too high. A Commission was appointed, composed of gentlemen of a very high character, the Hon. Mr. Howland, Mr. Noxon, and Mr. Brockway, who had founded an institution similar to the Central Prison at Detroit. Their report placed the value at 42c. per day, and recommended that for prisoners, whose term expired within one year, 40c. should be paid, and for those whose term exceeded that period, 50c. The amount due the Government by the Company to November last, according to the original contract, was $45,425.80, which they declared it would ruin them to pay. The Government feeling that they should act as fairly and liberally with the Company as possible, did not insist on the payment of the full amount according to the original contract, but took from the Company, the new machinery used in connection with the new industry of the prison, and a proportion of raw material and manufactured goods to make up their indebtedness at the reduced rates. The Government felt a responsibility so far as the prisoners were concerned, and it became necessary to give them employment, either by the Government furnishing them with raw material, or by entering into an agreement with others to do so and to take the goods. The latter would be the simpler method, but the Government failed to find any Company which would agree to take the goods and pay the Government for piece-work. They had therefore, no course but to take the work into their own hands, and they asked the House for $25,000 for material. They proposed to adopt a system which was carried out successfully in some prisons of the United States. It was proposed to find out, as far as possible, what a prisoner could do in a day, as to turning out pails, brooms, &c., and to expect each prisoner to do that amount. If a prisoner worked hard, and turned out more than the average quantity, the difference went towards a fund which he should receive after the expiration of his term, and if he spoiled any material it would be charged against him. It was also intended to take advantage of an Act passed by the Ottawa Government, allowing the Ontario Government to shorten the terms of prisoners for good behaviour, and to thus enable prisoners to have their terms shortened by from one to five days per month. There was a new item of $2,000 for a Superintendent of Industries, who was a skilled man employed to superintend all the work. For an accountant also $1,000 was asked. It was intended to extend the shoemaking and tailoring departments. Several gaols had already sent orders for gaol clothing, and more orders of this kind was expected. As the ground at the prison was well adapted to brick-making, it was intended to have some of the prisoners employed at that work.

TORONTO, Feb. 21.

Mr. Wood moved "That the Lieutenant-Governor in Council may from time to time, in his discretion, invest any surplus of the Consolidated Revenue Fund, not exceeding in the whole at any one time the sum of two hundred thousand dollars, in the purchase of municipal debentures issued under by-laws for tile drainage purposes, in respect of which the Commissioner of Agriculture shall certify to the propriety of investment." The proposition was, to invest any surplus of the Consolidated Revenue Fund, not exceeding altogether at any one time the sum of $200,000, in the purchase of the municipal debentures referred to. Sums would be lent to municipalities, from a minimum of $5,000 to a maximum of $15,000, at five per cent., in cases where the Commissioner of Agriculture could certify to the propriety of the investment. The loans so obtained would be re-loaned to persons for tile drainage purposes, and for which an annual charge of $8 on every $100 would be made for twenty years—this charge liquidating both interest and principal.

Mr. Macdougall regarded a scheme of this kind as an unwarrantable interference with private enterprise. He was inclined to question the very great value claimed for tile drainage by many people.

Mr. Graham claimed to speak with practical knowledge on the subject, and his views were diametrically opposed to those of the member for South Simcoe. He predicted that the Bill based on the present resolution would be the most valuable measure of the session.

Mr. Scott thought that it was a repetition of the old Municipal Loan Fund blunder.

Mr. Pardee pointed out that the measure had been urged upon the Government by the farmers from one end of the Province to the other, and the recent Grangers' Convention was unanimous in favour of it.

Mr. Cameron thought the Government might make a better use of their surplus money.

Mr. Ballantyne cited the action of the British Parliament as a precedent for the resolution before the House. In 1846, three million sterling was voted "for works of general utility" in England and Scotland, and one million sterling in Ireland; and in 1850, two millions sterling was voted for the same purpose, half a million of it being for Ireland. These appropriations for a loaning fund gave an immense impetus to the drainage of farms and moorlands throughout the United Kingdom. He argued that, if a measure of this kind was necessary in Great Britain, it was much more so in this country.

After a protracted debate, in which members representing rural constituencies largely participated, the resolution was passed, and the Bill founded on it introduced and read a first time.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 20.

Hon. Mr. Huntington introduced a Bill to amend the Post office Act. He explained that one provision of the Bill was intended to meet a possible difficulty in the administration of the Department. The other clause had reference to correspondence with lotteries and gift enterprises, which having been found very objectionable in the United States, and having been driven from that country by severe legislation, had apparently directed their attention to Canada. He referred to one firm whose postage had amounted to a sum of $8,000 in one post office in New Brunswick.

The motion was carried.

After some other business Mr. Young moved for a return showing the nature and value of all manufactures and other articles exchanged between Canada and the Australian Colonies, from the 1st of July, 1876, up to the latest returns in possession of the Government, together with copies of the tariffs of these Colonies and any other information in the possession of the Government which may be useful in promoting the valuable trade springing up between us.

The motion of Mr Blain that the House adjourn every night at ten o'clock was withdrawn.

Mr. Perry moved for accounts and vouchers showing the amount of expenses incurred in running the steamer Northern Light between Georgetown and Pictou.

OTTAWA, Feb. 21.

MR. Young said he should like to ask the Government whether they were likely to grant the prayer of the malsters of Ontario for the removal of import duty on malt.

Hon. Mr. Cartwright said the question to which the hon. gentleman referred was brought before the attention of the Government not long ago by a deputation of prominent brewers and malsters of the country. As the hon. member had stated, the duty was not put on for revenue purposes, but simply for the convenience of the Excise. After consultation with the officers of the Excise it appeared that the interest of the Excise could be sufficiently protected even if this duty were removed, and he thought he should advise the Government to recommend to the House the removal of this duty, and thereby place foreign malt in the position as malt in Canada.

Mr. White (Renfrew) asked whether the Government had since the 15th of February, 1877, entered into any contract or contracts for the construction of the Georgian Bay Branch of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie—The Government has not.

Mr. DeCosmos moved for an address to His Excellency the Governor-General for a copy of all correspondence in 1877 and 1878, and not now before Parliament, between the Imperial, Dominion, and British Columbia Governments respecting the Canada Pacific Railway.

Mr. Blain moved that an humble address be presented to Her Majesty praying that she may be graciously pleased to cause a measure to be submitted to the Imperial Parliament for the purpose of amending the British North America Act so as, while adhering to the principle by representation by population underlying that Act, to confer upon the Parliament of Canada the power of determining the number of members which shall from time to time constitute this House; and, further, so as to confer the power upon the Parliament of Canada of re-adjusting or reducing the number of Senators in that Chamber.

After some discussion the motion was withdrawn.

Canadian Press Association.

At the recent business meeting in Toronto of members of this association interesting discussions took place on subject of deep interest to newspaper publishers, and steps were taken with a view of rendering the next annual meeting interesting and profitable. Among other subjects of moment to be then discussed are the following, to be presented by the gentleman whose names are prefixed:—

Mr. John Cameron,—The question of paragraph advertisements and advertisements in reading matter: as to the advisability of keeping advertisements in such shape and places as will show distinctly that they are advertisements.

Mr. C. D. Barr,—Advertising rates, and all commissions for advertising and job work, with reference to the adoption of an equitable rate for advertising in proportion to circulation.

Mr. Creighton, M. P. P.,—The advisability of preserving impersonality in editorial journalism, and the question of exercising greater judgement in regard to the publication of anonymous letters.

Mr. J. B. Trayes,—The advisability of forming District Associations; and the terms of subscription as applied to country journals.

WM. ANDERSON, Central Emporium, has just received another case of damaged white cotton which is selling fast at 11c. (yard wide) worth 16c. d6t.

Great damage to property, but fortunately no loss of life, is reported from the flooded district in California.

The Evening Mercury

FRIDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 22, 1878.

Disgraceful Garbling.

The average Tory editor is not scrupulous how he makes a point against an opponent, so long as he does make it. Here is the latest sample we have seen, and it is worth recording. A few days ago the Toronto Telegram referred to the fierce assaults made by the Tories on Mr. Jones. Among other charges—"it is claimed that on one occasion Mr. Jones said publicly that he would take off his hat and cheer on the day the British flag was pulled down from the citadel at Halifax. This, of course, would be a very improper thing for Mr. Jones to do, for the people of Canada are British subjects, and could not be expected to quietly submit to see the British flag pulled down and insulted. Mr. Jones has been getting a good many hard raps for his alleged offence, and has been denounced by almost every Tory newspaper in the land as a disloyal citizen, whose presence in the Cabinet is an insult to a loyal people and should not be tolerated a single day. But there are two sides to this story, as there are to every other story, and it must be admitted by everybody who desires to be fair that the other side of the flag story puts a very different face on it. In the first place, Mr. Jones was referring on the occasion in question to the removal of the British flag by Great Britain herself—quite a different thing to that represented by his assailants; and in the second place he said no more than has been said by hundreds of Canadians time and time again, and what no loyal Canadian need ever be ashamed of saying."

Now mark what use that pink of Tory propriety and that fountain of Tory honor—the London Herald—makes of the foregoing:—"The Toronto Telegram, the ablest independent journal in the Province, although it does slant a little towards the Grits, does not feel very satisfied with Annexation Jones' presence in the Ministry. In an able article, headed 'More Disloyalty,' it says that he is a man 'whose presence in the Cabinet is an insult to a loyal people and should not be tolerated a single day.' But the Telegram should remember that Jones is merely another rung in the same ladder that already contains Mills, Huntington, Laflamme, and others. Our esteemed contemporary should no more expect loyalty in a Government presided over by Mr. Mackenzie than it would to gather grapes from thorns or figs from thistles. It is only compromising its own character by its occasional defences of their character."

Mark how the ingenious and dishonhonest Tory wrests the words which the Telegram had put into the lips of Mr. Jones's accusers as its own sentiments, and then goes on to give us a homily on the subject. Such shameless garbling we have not seen far a long time.

Dominion Alliance

A meeting of the Dominion Alliance was held in Ottawa on Wednesday. A letter was read from E. H. Dewart Chairman of the Executive Committee, who referred to the numerous imperfections in the Dunkin Act, and the necessity there was for making such amendments as were required. He then goes on to say:—The present meeting is called to press for legislative action to encourage organized efforts throughout the country, and to grapple with the difficulties in the way of success. If the Alliance declares and maintains an aggressive, vigorous legislative policy, and enters into all contests and efforts to promote the objects for which it was organized, it will receive the sympathy and support of temperance people generally, and become a recognized medium for united effort in connection with temperance legislation. To this end the Executive asks for a fund of $100,000, payable in five annual installments.

In the afternoon most of the temperance members had an interview with Hon. Mr. Scott, when they took the ground that the Dominion Election Law should be taken as the basis on which to work a law something like the Dunkin Act, but free from its objections.

The following day the Committee on resolutions submitted provisions to be included in the bill proposed to be introduced in Parliament for the regulation of the liquor traffic.

A deputation from the Alliance then waited on the Premier, who stated that Government were prepared to do everything in their power to suppress the evils of intemperance. Still the Government was peculiarly situated, as though it was expected to lead public opinion to a certain extent, it had also to give effect to the voice of public opinion. No Government could hope to check the evils of intemperance and to cause a removal of the evils by which it was surrounded without being thoroughly supported by the people. Anything the Government could properly do in this direction they were prepared to do. At the same time it was right that those gentlemen who looked merely on one phase of the subject, should remember that the Government were bound to regard it from all other aspects; and while he might be disposed to regard the question through their spectacles, he was obliged through his own spectacles, to look on all the other phases of the question. He assured them that nothing would give him greater pleasure, while he remained in power, than to assist in reducing, if not annihilating, the evils of intemperance.

HON. MR. BUREAU has given notice of enquiry in the Senate whether, in view of the remonetization of silver in the United States, measures will be taken by the Government during the present session, to prevent the recurrence of the abuses and losses which were formerly occasioned by the circulation as a medium of exchange of silver coin, whose conventional and fictitious value were not in accordance with their real or market value.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Russia to Get the Turkish Fleet.

SERVIA DISPLEASED WITH RUSSIA.

The Understanding Between Britain and Russia.

LONDON, Feb. 21.

In the House of Lords Earl Derby stated that the difficulty as to the place for the meeting of the Conference has been removed, and Baden-Baden has been chosen. Austria proposed that the meeting should take place in the first week in March, but the Government objects to the shortness of time being asked. England will not deviate from the usual course of sending her ambassador.

The Liberals and other members cheered the speech. The situation is generally considered more peaceful.

It is stated positively in the lobbies of Parliament that the Government has received private information that the Turkish fleet is to be surrendered to Russia, and that part of it has already been surrendered.

It is stated that an officer of the Horse Guards arrived at Bristol yesterday, accompanied by a veterinary surgeon, to purchase 5,000 horses for the War Office. The officer states that this is part of a purchase of 21,000.

A Melbourne despatch says:—The Australian Colonies are considering measures for the defence of their coast in the event of Great Britain engaging in war.

The War Office has invited tenders for the supply of 150,000 Martini-Henry rifles.

A Vienna correspondent telegraphs that pour parlers are proceeding between London and St. Petersburg. Russia claims that the British fleet should either quit the Sea of Marmora, or that the Russians should have guarantees against its entering the Black Sea. Unless such guarantees are given the Russians consider they ought to occupy the shores of the Bosphorus.

A London despatch says:—It is believed that Russia demands that she shall occupy Bulgaria for the period of two years.

A Constantinople despatch says:—Considerable numbers of Russian troops are concentrating beyond Adrianople.

The Agence Russe says:—"Together with the whole Russian press we unreservedly approve of Bismarck's speech." The Agence declares that England's armaments are ill calculated to inaugurate a pacific Conference.

A St. Petersburg correspondent has reason to belive that in spite of the active interchange of views between the those Empires no agreement has yet been reached concerning the main questions to be submitted to the Conference. Prince Bismarck's utterances in regard to the Straits have caused some apprehensions in St. Petersburg, as Russian diplomatists still hope to obtain a fort at the northern end of the Bosphorus.

A special to the Cologne Gazette says:—Recent events have so shattered the Sultan intellectually and physically as to cause serious apprehensions.

A Berlin despatch says:—A conviction prevails that the military and court parties at Vienna will induce the Emperor to settle amicably with Russia, notwithstanding the prepossessions of the Hungarians.

A Berlin special says the Emperor William has assured the Czar of his friendship, and begged him to consider Austria's claims and interests. It appears that Austria is anxious to induce Russia to moderate her programme before the meeting of the Conference.

A St. Petersburg despatch says:—Among those who expected that Germany would give Russia active diplomatic support Bismarck's speech caused disappointment. In official circles it produced no impression whatever, being precisely what was anticipated and confidently predicted.

A St. Petersburg despatch says:—It is generally felt that Russia's present relations with Roumania are extremely awkward. The Government shows no signs of relinquishing its demand for the retrocession of Bessarabia.

The Guelph Burying Ground.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—There appears to be a very indistinct idea among the people of Guelph and surrounding townships respecting the title to the burying ground, situated within the ambit of the town.

This land was laid out on the original Canada Company's plan of the town, and marked "Burying Ground," and was by the Company dedicated for the use of a burying ground to the public. It was used for burial purposes from the year 1827 to the end of the year 1853, when by By-law of the Town of Guelph it was closed up, and after that time no bodies were allowed to be interred within the limits of the Town.

A stone wall was then built round the ground by private subscription, the Councils of the Town and Township of Guelph each giving $14 to pay for the gates.

As the law permits of no dedication to any particular class of people or individuals, the Town's people had no more right to the use of the ground for the purpose for which it was dedicated than the people of any other place. A dedication must be to the public at large. If it had been intended by the Canada Company to limit the use of the ground to the inhabitants of the Town, the Company would have required to have done so by deed of grant. But as that was not done, the Canada Company is still interested in it, subject, however to the burial regulations which were parted with when the dedication took place.

The Company, however, do not, we understand, lay any claim to the ground, or wish to interfere with any action which may be taken respecting it. The advantage over the rest of the public that the Town has is, that the ground is in its possession, and as it is no longer needed for burial purposes, and the Canada Company disclaim any interest in it, there does not appear to be any good ground why any one Township more than another should claim to interfere in the matter.

We should be glad to see the place improved and put in decent shape. It has been for too long a time allowed to lie waste, nearly all the bodies being removed from it long ago, and it would be equally to the benefit of the Town and Township to have it improved and made a pleasant and quiet resort. Guelph does not expect to make a dollar by the transaction. On the contrary, it will cost the Town from $1,500 to $2,000 to put the place in decent order, and it will then be equally open to the people of the Township as well as those of the Town. Where the pecuniary benefit will be to Guelph in this matter, we would like to know.

Yours &c.,
Guelph, Feb. 22. LAW AND JUSTICE.

THE LEONARD SCOTT PUBLISHING CO., 41 Barclay st, N.Y., have sent us their reprint of the Westminster Review for January. The following summary of the contents shows that it is a very interesting number: "Democracy in Europe." The reviewer discusses Sir Erskine May's recent work on the subject, and presents his own views on the nature, present condition, and future prospects of European democracy. "Charlotte Bronte." A sketch of her life, accompanied with discriminating criticism of her works. "The Education of Girls: their Admissibility to Univerities." Gives many details respecting the educational and professional facilities granted to women in Europe and the United States. "Lessing: his Life and Writings." We have here a long and valuable article, which glances briefly at the leading facts in Lessing's life, notes some of his charateristics, and brings prominently forward some of the great lessons deducible from his works as theologian, poet, and critic. "The Indian Famine: how dealt with in Western India." "Charles Sumner." A sketch of that statesman's early career. "The Telephone." A short and clear description of Mr. Bell's researches in electric telephony, and an explanation of the action of the telephone. "India and our Colonial Empire." "Contemporary Literature." The periodicals reprinted by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., (41 Barclay Street, N. Y.) are as follows:—The London Quarterly, Edinburgh, Westminster, and British Quarterly Reviews, and Blackwood's Magazine. Price, $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the postage is prepaid by the Publishers.

THE deputation from New Brunswick to the Dominion Government, asking better terms, present the following claims:—Penitentiaries and maintenance of criminals, the Eastern Extension line of the European and North American Railway, now a portion of the Intercolonial, and the Lazaretto.

HAROLD THE OUTLAW
—OR—
The Gauger of Skene.

"On whose then?"

"On behalf of the next heir."

"I am the next heir."

"You are not."

Mr. Adamson paused, waiting for the next question that he might enjoy to the full the dismay which he fully anticipated its reply would produce. Deeming himself to be master of the situation, and about to throw a bomshell into the midst of the listeners, he dallied for a few moments with the pleasure that it might be all the keener.

"Am I not the next heir?" repeated Gilmour, with every appearance of scornful incredulity.

"No."

"Then who is?"

"Sir Philip's grandson."

He watched the effect, and was not a little disappointed to see the bomshell burst without the expected result. Not one of them started or uttered an exclamation. The answer was received with silent, passive incredulity.

Mr. Garray was the first to speak.

"Sir Philip Logan had no grandson," observed McGarray.

"Not to his knowledge; but he had nevertheless. Harold was privately married between two or three years ago. He has a child—a boy—nearly two years of age. That boy is now the heir to title and estate."

"Oh—oh—really, Mr. Adamson," broke in McGarray, in a tone of remonstrance. "Upon my word, this is too bad. A man of your talent and respectability, too. I would never have expected it of you; I would not, indeed. After this, anything. Pray, consider the thing, and—yes, I think I may advise Sir Gilmour to allow you to take back your words and—and—forget them."

"Thank you, Mr. McGarray," returned Adamson, drily. "You are very considerate—very magnanimous; but I do not require to take back my words. I am not generally in the habit of saying things that will not stand investigation, and have not now. But, instead of taking back my words, sir, I deliberately repeat them once more."

"What? Are you really resolved going on with this daring deception?"

"Deception, sir?" repeated Adamson, with rising indignation. "I have you to know, McGarry, that I am not a lawyer of your stamp—to stoop to deception. However, I won't bandy words with you on the subject. I have told Lady Logan why I came here. I shall attend the funeral as the representative of the infant heir, and, in a day or two, his claim to the succession will be laid before the Court of Session."

"Let it be made there," replied Gilmour. "I am prepared to meet it. I treat the story as a pure invention—not on your part, Mr. Adamson, for I have no doubt you believe it. But Harold has imposed on you."

"Mr. Harold is incapable of any such a deception!"

"Incapable," echoed Gilmour, with a sneer. "You forget what he is—an outlaw, a mur——"

"Hold," cried Adamson, sternly, "Do not these slanderous words stick in your throat? Knowing what you know, and knowing that I know the truth, how have you the hardihood to brand your innocent brother with so foul a name? Ah, when the truth becomes known, how the countryside will stand aghast at the enormity of your deed."

"Insolent!" exclaimed Lady Logan, her face livid with rage. "Are we to submit to this in our own house from a man who I have no doubt takes this means of revenge for his dismissal from Sir Philip's service? Gilmour, assert your authority and have him instantly expelled."

"I shall," roared Gilmour, with fierce gesture of assent. "Adamson, I order you to depart; if you refuse, the servants shall be called to remove you by force."

"Very well, you may order them to do so if you please, but it shall not be done till I have publicly proclaimed to all at the funeral that Sir Philip Logan's grandson is heir to title and estate."

"And I'll proclaim that it is an unfounded lie," cried Gilmour, seeking for the bell-rope.

M'Garray caught his arm.

"One moment, Sir Gilmour, if you please. Might I suggest before this extreme measure is taken that you ask Mr. Adamson for a sight of the document on which he rests his present action."

This was Adamson's weak point. M'Garray shrewdly suspected it—hence his throwing out the suggestion, which Gilmour promptly followed by asking for the lawyer's written authority.

"I have none," he rather confusedly answered.

"None, sir—none," blustered Gilmour. "Do you tell me that you have come here with such monstrous statements without a document to show for the pretence?"

"Who was to furnish me with such a document?" was the response. "Harold is not in position to do so, and I have not had time to obtain certificates of the marriage and birth. These, however, I shall procure immediately."

"Forged," sneered Gilmour.

"No, sir, I leave that bit of evidence to you."

"To me, sir?" said Gilmour, with fierce eagerness. "What do you mean by that? Speak, sir. Explain yourself. I demand an explanation."

"Ay, but I am too cautious to commit myself to a statement that I would find it difficult to prove. All that I say is that we understand each other perfectly."

"Well, Adamson," said M'Garray, with an air of friendly candour, "I put it to you, as a lawyer, whether it would be safe and prudent for you to make the public proclamation you have threatened—safe and prudent, I mean, in the absence of any written proof. Suppose, now, when you begin to investigate further you find that there is neither wife nor child, what a serious position you would be in."

"I am prepared to risk it if this threat of expulsion is carried into effect."

"Well, Sir Gilmour," said the lawyer, turning to the youth, who stood irresolute, "if I may be allowed to say so, it might be better to avoid such an unseemly scene. I would advise that, provided Mr. Adamson makes no public declaration at the present time, he and I should occupy a place together in the funeral procession. This will answer the purpose for which he has come, and avoid unpleasant altercations."

"Oh, well, I agree to that," said Gilmour, who read in M'Garray's eye that this would be a desirable course to take. What say you, Adamson? Do you also agree?"

The advocate reflected that in his unarmed condition this was a compromise which it would be prudent to make, and he intimated his readiness to do so, providing the place given him in the procession should be prominent, and near the hearse. This also was satisfactorily arranged, and as it was now the hour appointed for the departure from the mansoin, they decended to the dining room, which was by this time filled to overflowing.

The undertaker and his men, who were waiting in the hall only till Sir (?) Gilmour should appear, now proceeded to put the procession in motion. There was some difficulty in getting the large company placed in due order of precedence, but this also was ultimately effected. It does not concern us to know how the delicate matter was arranged in reference to the titled and other country gentleman, professional men, and the rest. What we have especially to note is that in the same carriage which Gilmour occupied, immediately behind the hearse, sat the two lawyers, Adamson and M'Garray—a circumstance which did not cause any surprise or remark, though it had a significance beyond what appeared at the time.

And so winding slowly along the avenue, filing quietly through the gates, and passing slowly along the high roads, the long train moved forward, and the body of Sir Philip was conveyed to its last resting-place.

The mild rays of the afternoon sun fell silently on the grey stones of the churchyard as the gold-mounted coffin was borne along the gravelled path, and carried within the yawning portals of the gloomy aisle, whence only a few could enter to witness or take part in the final rites of the interment.

But again among these few were the two advocates; and when Mr. Adamson quietly stepped forward and took one of the coffin cords, all but Gilmour and M'Garray thought that the position had been accorded him, because of his former connection with Sir Philip and the estate. These two knew that the act had another meaning, but it did not trouble either of them very much, for reasons best known to themselves.

All was over—Sir Philip was placed beside the mouldering bones of his ancestors, the heavy gates were closed, and the aisle left to its wonted darkness and silence, the company had left the churchyard, and was already being dispersed in all directions, for the procession was notre-formed for return, and its component parts were rapidly scattering towards the near and the remote parts of the districts.

Both Gilmour and M'Garry furtively eyed Mr. Adamson as they proceeded from the churchyard, to see what he now intended to do. They wondered if he meant to go back to the mansion, but their minds were quickly set at rest on that score when they saw the muddy carriage in which he had come from Aberdeen drawn up close to the churchyard gate evidently waiting for him.

Without a word or nod of adieu, without so much as looking at them, he entered the vehicle, and was driven away along the road to the city. Curiously enough, though the shades of evening were beginning to descend, he drew the blinds of the carriage quite close, a proceeding which must have plunged him in semi-darkness.

"Very odd," he said to himself. "It beatsme to understand how they took my intimation so coolly. I expected it would stun them, but it hardly made them start. If I did not know it was impossible, I would be inclined to believe they had heard of it before. They evidently don't believe it—think it a hoax or a fraud, I suppose. Well, they shall be made to believe different ere long; but, upon my soul, I didn't enjoy the triumph I expected. I wish that villain M'Garry may not see to work to countermove us in some way or other. He is as cunning and unscrupulous as the devil; but if I am prompt, as I mean to be, cunning as he is, he'll be foiled."

He drew one of the blinds opened the window, and put out his head.

"James."

"Wal, sir?" responded the driver, interrogatively.

"Let me know when we come to the cross roads."

Yes, sir."

Up went the window again, and the blind was out-spread as before, but James, from his perch on the box, was sensible of certain motions and vibrations in the interior of the carriage, as if its occupant was doing anything but sitting still, a matter at which he wondered not a little.

These motions continued for a considerable time, but at length they ceased, and soon after, the carriage reached a point where several roads converged. Here, according to the direction he had received, James pulled up.

"The cross roads, sir," he called out.

"Anybody in sight, James?" asked the advocate, in a suppressed voice.

James looked before, behind, on this side and on that through the now dim gloaming, and reported—"No."

Whereupon the carriage door was jerked open, and out came a figure, which caused James to stare with distended eyes and open mouth.

Instead of the deep mourning dress which he had worn all day, the lawyer was now arrayed in a plain country suit of douce iron grey, his feet being shod with stout shoes, and his head adorned with a close-fitting cloth cap. The meaning of the futerior motions was explained now,

"Ha, ha, James; how you stare. Did ye never see me in my walking dress before?"

"B—but what dis it mean, sir?" faltered the driver.

"It means that ye'll just drive on to Aberdeen, and let on to nasebody that I am not inside the carriage. My black clothes ye will find in a carpet bag under the seat, take it to my house, and say that I'll be home in a few days. But not a word to anybody, James, that ye set me doon here; for the life o' ye, don't mention it."

"Nae fears o' me. I can keep my mouth shut as weel as ony man."

"That's richt; but if he have any difficulty, here's a crown piece to buy ceiling wax to hold it firm. You understand?"

Finely, sir, finely; but I'll nae need sealin' wax. My mooth will keep close wi'oot it."

"Then the crown piece will just buy something else that you do need—ahem, tea and sugar for the guidwife say, or a pair of shoes for young Jamie. Here, catch it."

A shining coin flew through the air, which James interrupted with his hand, with a hearty "thank ye, sir," and by the time he had dropped it into his breeches pocket Mr. Adamson had set off at a quick pace on the road which led towards the west.

James sat like a statue, gazing after his retreating figure till it vanished in the gloom. Then with an ejaculation of mystified astonishment he gave a tug at the reins and started off with his now empty vehicle to Aberdeen.

Bleeding of the Lungs.

Bowmanville, Ont., Nov. 8, 1872.

Messrs. Seth W. Fowle & Sons, Boston:—

Gentlemen—I have been troubled with bleeding of the lungs for a long time. About two years ago I took a severe cold which made my lungs very sore, but after using one bottle of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry the pain and cough disappeared and have not troubled me since. I believe the Balsam is the best medicine in use and well worth the price asked for it.

Yours truly JESSIE BURK.

Another Silver Medal
TO THE
BELL ORGAN
At the Centennial.

THE UNDERSIGNED RECEIVED A Silver Medal at the Centennial Exhibition, this being the HIGHEST AWARD to Canadian Organ . Other medals for organs merely bronze . None of our organs had over four sets of reeds. Several other Canadian makers had instruments with from seven to twelve sets. The bronze medal organ had twelve sets.
At the Western Fair for 1876, our London agent exhibited only his ordinary stock, and with one Five Stop Organ took First Prize over all competitors.
A five years' guarantee accompanies each organ. This from a well established firm likely to continue in business is worth considerable. For Price List, address

Dr. Wm. Gray's Specific Medicine

Before Taking

After Taking

The Great English Remedy is especially recommended as an unfailing cure for Seminal Weakness, Spermatorrhœa, Impotency, and all diseases that follow as a consequence of Self Abuse, as Loss of Memory, Universal Lassitude, Pain in the Back, Dimness of Vision, Premature Old Age, and many other diseases that lead to INSANITY or CONSUMPTION and a PREMATURE GRAVE, all of which, as a rule, are first caused by deviating from the path of nature, and over indulgence.
The Specific Medicine is the result of a life study and many years of experience in treating those special diseases. Pamphlet free by mail.

IT STANDS UNEQUALLED.—Those who have used Wilson's Compound Syrup Wild Cherry, know it to be unequalled for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Loss of Voice, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all kindred diseases. A 25c. bottle will cure any ordinary case. A 50c. bottle has frequently cured chronic cases of from one month to two years' standing, and that after having spent many dollars in vain attempts to get relief. A dollar bottle holds more in proportion, and should be kept in every house. It will save many a doctor's bill.

THE regular Sunday Gospel Temperance meeting of the G. C. T. C. will be held in the Y. M. C. A. rooms every Sunday at four p.m. Short addresses will be delivered, interspersed with good music. All are cordially invited. C. Raymond, President; J. T. Mitchell, Secretary.

BEST NEWS THIS YEAR.—To be found in J. D. Williamson & Co's new advertisement. All winter goods selling at auction prices.

FARMS SOLD.—George Tocher, of Nichol, has sold his farm, comprising eighty-six acres, for the handsome sum of $4,500. James Spiers, of the township of Clarke, was the purchaser. The farm of John G. Ament (now of Seaforth), situated in the township of Wellesley, adjoining the village of Heidelberg, and containing 109 acres, was sold to J. G. Hahn, of Heidelberg, for the large sum of $11,500, or about $105.50 per acre. Mr. David Scott, of the 8th concession of Maryboro', has sold his farm, consisting of 100 acres, to J. W. Scott, of Listowel, for the sum of $5,000 in cash.

Local News Items.

BASE BALL.—Several very interesting base ball items have been crowded out.

THE next Orange Grand Lodge for Western Ontario will be held in Guelph.

GALT, like Guelph, has made no change in the By-law fixing the hotel and shop license fees for the ensuing year.

REV. E. B. RYCKMAN is expected to deliver an address at a tea meeting given by the Methodist Church, Galt, on Monday evening.

PROF. LINDER, the "mind reader," who held several entertainments in Guelph some time ago, died in Kansas the other day.

AMONG new patents lately granted is for a hand drill machine to A. Jardine, Hespeler, and for an automatic cut off engine to J. Goldie, of Galt.

DURING the ensuing week Rev. James Howie will be the visiting clergyman at the Guelph General Hospital, and Dr. Howitt the attending physican.

PETERSVILLE, a suburb of London, wants Rev. J. C. Lancely to remain there another term, and the Methodist congregation will petition Conference to that effect.

GRIP.—Mr. John Anderson has sent us Grip for this week, which contains a good cartoon on the Ministerial position, with John A. trying to find out the handwriting on the wall. It is equal to any of Grip's previous efforts.

IN Berlin when young lads disturb public worship wilfully they are summoned before a magistrate and charged with the offence. Recently a number of boys were fined $1 and costs for being merry at the wrong time.

MR. LANGMUIR, Inspector of Prisons, has informed the Waterloo County Council of the necessity of at once making improvements in and enlarging the gaol, besides providing the gaoler with a residence. The Government will contribute $2,500 towards the improvements.

THE following are the weather probabilities received by Dominion telegraph:—Rising barometer; fresh southerly to north-westerly winds, cloudy weather, with light snow, followed by partially clearing weather and lower temperature.

FUNERAL SERMON.—The members belonging to the order of I.O.O.F. will assemble in the lodge room to-morrow morning at ten o'clock, for the purpose of attending the funeral sermon of the late Bro. Dr. McGregor, which is to be delivered in the Norfolk street Methodist Church, by Rev. E. B. Ryckman, commencing at eleven o'clock. All visiting members are invited at the lodge room at ten o'clock. The centre pews in the church will be occupied by the brethren.

SOCIAL AT MORRISTON.—The social given by the Good Templars residing in the vicinity of Morriston, in the town hall of that place, on Friday evening, was in every way a success. A very pleasant programme was carried out. It was composed of readings, recitations, &c., which were well given by the different parties. A spread of edibles which was prepared by the ladies, formed an attraction of the evening. A number from Guelph were present.

ANOTHER.—Accidents in which circular saws play a very prominent and aggressive part, have been quite frequent of late. The latest mishap of that particular nature happened this (Saturday) morning to a young man named Fred. Curtis. He was running a piece of plank through a saw, when a piece broke off and was thrown with great force, striking him on the abdomen. He doubled up like a jack-nife, and was unable to move for some time. It is not thought that he is dangerously injured.

SALE OF BOOK DEBTS.—The notes and book account, a part of the insolvent estate of Mr. R. D. Boomer, of Erin, have been sold by Mr. John Smith, official assignee. They foot up to the sum of $2,000 and realized only $75. A gentleman in Guelph was the purchaser. The book accounts of Messrs. McDonald & Oliver, late general storekeepers in Drayton, amounting to about $1,000 were also sold by the same party for less than ten per cent of the face value. Book accounts of insolvent estates evidently do not amount to much in value.

WAVERLY LODGE.—On Friday evening Grand Lodge was opened and the usual formalities connected with constituting a lodge of the Masonic Order were gone through with in connection with Waverley Lodge, A.F. and A.M.,—the latest established lodge in Guelph. The following officers were installed by D.D.G.M. Cavers, of Galt, assisted by R.W. Bro. Otto Klotz, of Preston:—

W. Tyler, W.M.
A. McBean, jr., S.W.
John H. Emmons, J.W.
H. D. Morehouse, Treas.
Adam Weir, jr., Sec.
W. Anderson, S.D.
F. B. Skinner, J.D.
Jas. Galbraith, G. A. Somerville, B. Savage, D. of C. } Stewards.
George Smith, Tyler.

After the installation short addresses, with remarks pertaining to the occasion, were given by Bros. Cavers and Klotz. Waverly Lodge has been instituted under very favorable auspices, and from all appearances a bright future is in prospect.

THE TRIPLETS.—Mr. Jas. Massie, M.PP., has had the necessary papers prepared informing the Queen that Mr. Jas. Merlihan, of Guelph, is the father of triplets. The papers will be transmitted to England through Hon. Mr. Hardy, Provincial Secretary. A bounty of £3 will be forwarded in due course to Mr. Merlihan.

New-laid eggs in Old London bring sixty cents a dozen.

THE CHESS CLUB holds meetings every Friday evening in the Caledonian rooms. The attendance of members is not so large as should be.

WIDE AWAKE, for March, an illustrated magazine for young people, has been received from D. Lothrop & Co., publishers, Boston. Can be secured through the bookstores.

INVITATIONS have been issued some time since for an entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Ontario School of Agriculture Literary Society on Monday evening. Comedy, farce, music, etc., fill up the programme.

A Chilian meteorologist predicts great atmospherical disturbances all over the globe from the 16th to the 28th of March, on the 26th and 28th of August, and again on the 24th and 26th of September. He also prophesies a snow storm in August.

SCARLET FEVEE is prevalent in some sections of the town. There are no less than five cases in one family living on the Eramosa Road. The type is not malignant.

DR. C. E. CARTHEW, of Teviotdale, is in town to-day, and reports the dispensing of pills in that neighborhood very brisk. Of late there has been a great deal of sickness there.

FOR ENGLAND.—Mr. W. Weatherston, foreman of Mr. W. J. Little's baking establishment, well leave for England on Monday. The trip will be one of pleasure and taken for the purpose of improving the traveller's health.

GUELPH A MODEL TOWN.—Vagrants, drunks, &c., have a higher opinion of the efficiency of the police force than others. The former fight shy of Guelph, and the latter get quetly home, never dreaming of making a disturbance.

THE new crane erected at the Great Western station is a very powerful and handy affair. Mr. Frew, the station-master, secured the erection of the crane for the benefit of those who have heavy articles to ship. Two men can easily raise twenty tons weight with the crane. It is an article that was greatly needed at the station.

CALEDONIAN.—A meeting will be held on Monday night, at eight p.m., for the purpose of completing arrangements in reference to the Erin Entertainment. All those desirous of going to Erin on Thursday next, will be expected at the meeting. We have been requested to remind those members who promised books towards the library and have not handed them in, that their attention to this important matter will very materially advance the welfare of the Society.

THE windows of Messrs. Jones & Guthrie's dry goods store, Upper Wyndham street, are always models of beauty.

THE DUNKIN ACT IN BRANT.—The first day's voting for the repeal of the Dunkin Act in Brant stood 205 for repeal; and 324 for repeal in Brantford.

SOUP KITCHEN.—If farmers and others who have so liberally contributed to the Guelph soup kitchen during the past winter will continue to act in the same generous manner, they will have the satisfaction of knowing that they have done charitable deeds which redounds loudly to their credit. Among the many who have acted a good part in connection with the institution, Mr. Geo. Lees, pork dealer and packer, is worthy of mention. During the whole winter he has regularly contributed good pieces of meat, which gives such a relish to the soup doled out to the unfortunates who are obliged to avail themselves of the sustenance to be found at the soup kitchen.

HANDSOME MEDAL.—Mr. B. Savage has had manufactured in his jewellery establishment by an experienced workman he employs, the medal awarded by the Guelph Rifle Association to the marksman coming out at the head of the list during the season. Wheeler Ogg, of the Wellington Field Battery, was the successful competitor. The medal is in shape of a cross of Malta, surmounted by two rifles crossed, and a ribbon and clasp. In the centre is a crown, surrounded by a highly chased ring. The sections of the cross bears the letters and figures in Gothic style, "G. R. A., 1877." The reverse side, which is plain, bears the inscription "Annual Medal, won by John Ogg, W. F. B."

A new dock is to be built at the foot of York street, Toronto, which will cost $32,000.

Mr. Finnemore has become the managing partner in a mill at Palmerston. He was formerly manager of mills in Oshawa, a position he had filled for twenty-two years. Previous to leaving that town he was presented with a gold watch and chain.

The announcement of O'Donovan Rossas' appearance in Toronto, as lecturer, under the auspices of the Young Irishman's Society, on the 18th of March, is received with indignation by the respectable citizens of both classes, Protestant and Catholic, in that city.

FIRE IN INGERSOLL.—On Wednesday about midnight the hotel known as the Atlantic House, a handsome three-story brick building, situated on Thames street, near the station, caught fire and was burned to the ground. The building was valued at $7,000; the contents at $4,000; insured for $6,000.

Andrew Robertson has been appointed President of the Royal Canadian Insurance Co. at the annual meeting, instead of John Ostell.

The near approach of the termination of the session in Toronto is indicated by the fact that the House will commence eleven o'clock sittings next week.

$68 were realized at the social of the M. E. Church, 6th line Garafraxa, held last week. Several reverend gentleman made short and interesting addresses.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Russia Still Threatens to Occupy Constantipole.

The Treaty not yet Signed by the Sultan.

No Mobilization in Austria.

Feb. 22

In the House of Lords last evening Lord Derby said great inconvenience would result from the absence of a Foreign Minister at the Conference, therefore England will send an ambassador with full powers.

A workingmen's peace demonstration in Hyde Park on Sunday is persisted in. Five hundred voluntary special constables will protect the platform.

The London Times, commenting on last night's statement in Parliament, says:—Immediate anxiety is allayed. Two dangers remain: one that the Turks may yet be encouraged to resistance by the vote of credit and recent movement of English ships; the other that the approximation of the warlike forces of England and Russia may lead to an accidental collision.

The Standard announces that the Channel squadron has been directed to call at Malta for orders.

A Vienna correspondent states that the intention to immediately mobilize a portion of the army has been abandoned, but the Austro-Hungarian delegations will be asked to vote eighty million florins in order that the Government may have the means in readiness in case of mobilization becoming necessary.

The London Telegraph's Vienna correspondent attaches much importance to the statement that the Emperor William telegraphed the Czar reminding him of his promise to fulfil certain duties towards Austria. The correspondent fears the Czar has lost all control over the war party.

A Constantinople special of Wednesday reports that the Czar telegraphed that the Russians will occupy Constantinople if the Turks continue to delay signing the terms of peace, which include the cession of Armenia and the surrender of the Turkish fleet.

The Russians, under Todleben, entered Rustchuk on the 20th.

A Vienna despatch says:—Fresh difficulties seem to have arisen about settling the preliminaries of the Conference. There is a disposition to drop the idea of a Congress and revert to the original idea of a mere Conference.

A Belgrade despatch says:—The Roumanian force having left Bulgaria, the Russians have requested the Servian division to occupy Widin and Belgrade.

A BIG ACTION FOR DAMAGES.—The Reeve of the Township of Moore has been served with a writ claiming $10,000 damages, at the suit of Jane Lucas, widow of James Lucas, deceased, who was killed about two months ago on the River Road, through the alleged neglect of the corporation to keep the road in repair.

THE WESTERN UNIVERSITY.—The discussion on the Western University Bill in the Local Legislature the other day was one of the best of the session. The bill was carried by a considerable majority. The scheme is promoted by Bishop Hellmuth and other members of the Church of England in the Diocese of Huron, and its promoters have in view the double object of increasing power and influence of the evangelical party in the Church, and of erecting a university for the use of those in the West who are willing to accept its degrees. It will be located in London.

ATTEMPT TO ASSASSINATE SIR GEORGE JESSEL.—On Friday morning as Sir George Jessel, Master of the Rolls, was alighting from a cab at Rolls Court, Rev. Henry Dodwell, of Brighton, fired a pistol at his head. Sir George in Court stated that he had no doubt that the man was insane. He had made some absurd application to the Court of appeals while he (Sir George) was sitting there, and disturbed the Court, when Sir George ordered his removal.

MOUNT FOREST.—The anniversary services in connection with St. Andrews' Church, were of a very interesting character. Two sermons were preached by Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, of Toronto. A handsome sum was realized at the annual soiree given in the twn hall.——A young man named Morrison, employed in hauling saw logs to Martin's mills, while skidding a log it was thrown against his thighs. Although bruised he did not think himself seriously injured. He caught cold and died two days thereafter.——A fire, which caused a loss of about $100, recently occurred in one of the outbuildings of Tanner & Co's woolen mills.

FILKINGTON BRANCH REFORM ASSOCIATION.—On Thursday last a large number of Reformers from the township of Pilkington met in Elora, and organized an association bearing the above name. The following office-bearers were appointed:—President, C. Allan; 1st Vice-President, John Hunter; 2nd Vice-President, H. Larter; Sec.-Treas., T. D. Wallace. Committees were appointed for the various polling sub-divisions in the township, and the meeting adjourned to meet on the 4th day of March next, in Elora.

IMPORTANT MUNICIPAL ELECTION CASE.—Before His Honor Judge Dean, at Lindsay. Regina ex rel McMillan vs. Ashman.—This was an action to try the validity of Mr. Ashman's election by acclamation as Councillor for Ward No. 2, Eldon. The facts are that Mr. Ashman was the only person nominated within the hour for receiving nominations, but before the returning officer had declared that the time was up, and Mr. Ashman elected, Mr. McMillan was nominated, and the returning officer refused to receive the nomination, and hence the action was brought. His Honor held that it was the returning officer's duty as soon as the time expired to call the attention of the electors to the fact that Mr. Ashman was the only person nominated, and then, if he did not receive any other nominations, to declare him elected, and on these grounds set the election aside with costs.

BREACH OF MEDICAL ACT.—"Dr." McKinley, who professes to cure drunkenness, has got into trouble in Toronto. In the Police Court on Tuesday he was charged on remand with unlawfully practising as a physician, not being registered. The defendant pleaded guilty, and proceeded in most violent terms to attack the complainant in the case. His Worship immediately put a stop to the abuse, and stated that if McKinley did not stop he would commit him for contempt of Court. He was then fined $50.

Mr. J. Alexander, wife and child while driving to Palmerston recently had an upset, and Mrs. Alexander was severely bruised about the head.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 23.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT.

Mr. Cartwright made his financial statement. After referring to his fears expressed five years ago of the then threatened depression, he said:—Making allowance for the admission of Prince Edward Island into the Union, the total volume of the trade and commerce of Canada has in that short interval been reduced by very nearly fifty millions of dollars, while the revenue derived from Customs alone showed a decrease in that period of something like three millions of dollars, the actual figures in round numbers being that our trade and commerce collectively have been reduced from something like 218 millions of dollars to something like 168 millions, making the allowance which I have mentioned, while the duties derived from Customs alone have fallen off from some $15,851,000 to $12,546 000. To put the matter before the House in another shape, while during that interval the total volume of our imports has been absolutely reduced by fully one-third, it is probable that our population has increased at least one-ninth; and, consequently, whereas a few years ago, with a total population of 3,600,000 souls, we imported something like $127,000,000 worth of goods, we now find ourselves, with a population of four millions, importing a little over $94,000,000 worth. In other words, the total importations have fallen from an average of $35 25 per head to something like $23 38 per head. Had the imports continued stationary, as at that time was supposed might have been done—though not by me, I may say—the revenue under our present tariff would in all probability have considerably exceeded 27,000,000 of dollars; and had the revenue which has actually taken place not exceeded the estimated amount for which provision was made, it would still have remained at about twenty-four millions of dollars, while, as the House knows, the actual fact is that our revenue has sunk to a sum very little exceeding twenty-two million dollars. The strain had been severe. It had visited not only ourselves but our best customers, and in fact the whole world. But it was satisfactory to mark the turning of the tide as exhibited in the improved revenue returns of the past seven months as compared with the corresponding period of 1876-7. In the seven months ending the 10th February, 1878, the revenue amounted to $13,434,235, and in the previous year to $12,494,279—an increase of nearly a million in seven months. Of this some $200,000 might be due to the importations arising out of the fire at St. John, but then, on the other hand, the very extraordinary character of the season had been exceptionally unfavorable. Turning to the expenditure of 1877, it would be seen that in Civil Government there had been a total expenditure of $812,000, or $71,000 less than in 1873-4. The charge for superannuations amounted in 1877 to $104,000. The additions to the charge for superannuations had been largely counterbalanced by the abolition of useless offices or other savings in a similar direction. Under the head of Immigration had to be included the loan (repayable) to the Mennonites and Icelanders, amounting to $79,000, and $21,000 caused by the outbreak of small-pox at Gimli. The expenditure in operating the Government Railways had exceeded the estimates by nearly $90,000, but on the other hand this had been met by a corresponding increase in the receipts from those undertakings. After noticing some other items he warmly defended his application for the last loan at the time selected. Had he waited six months the fate of the transaction would have been uncertain. At that period such unexceptionable securites as those offered by the Corporation of Birmingham, the Metropolitan Board of Works, and the Government of Natal, had been practically rejected when attempts to raise loans were made, and a Portuguese 3 per cent. loan for 6¾ millions were taken up very slowly at 50, or equal to an interest charge on the actual amount raised of 6 per cent. At the same time the Canada fours loan stood at 90¾ per cent. for retail transactions. He next reviewed the liabilities which confronted the new Administration when they came into office. On the first of July the engagements of their predecessors anticipated an additional outlay annually on railways of $750,000; on Indian treaties of $400,000; on North-west organization of $400,000. The contemplated additions to the debt were as follows:—On Canals, $43,800,000; on Intercolonial Railway, $10,000,000; on public debt maturing, $35,000,000; on Nova Scotia and New Brunswick Railways, $2,000,000; on Prince Edward Island, $2,500,000; on minor Public Works, $4,500,000; on St. Lawrence improvements, $2,500,000; on advances to sundry objects, $1,000,000; making a total of liabilities of $131,800,000 or nearly equal to the total net indebtedness of Canada at the same date, twenty-three millions more than the amount of debt in 1873, and requiring to meet it an annual loan of twenty millions per annum for seven years. The lowest estimate of the former Finance Minister put the additional charges for new debt at $3,337,400 per annum. The liabilities the present Government had felt it necessary to meet were the expenditure on the Welland and Lachine Canals, an additional five and a half millions; less maturing, thirteen and a half millions; Pacific Railway, so far as was immediately necessary, six millions, and other charges amounting to five million dollars. It would be still necessary to borrow, but after 1881 it was satisfactory to know that redemption of debt maturing would be optional, and not, as heretofore, compulsory. The causes of the excess of the sudden increase of expenditure in 1873-74 were then recapitulated, amounting to four millions of dollars, and it was shown that as between 1872-73 and 1876-77 the increases solely due to the policy or engagements of the Macdonald Administration were represented, by a sum in the annual expenditure of $5,100,000. Having regard, however, to the increase of population, the receipts from the gross taxation of the people would be $5 79 per cent. in 1876-77, as against $5 86 per cent. in 1872-3, or taking the sum actually paid in taxes, the charge per capita was only $4 79, against $4 90 in 1873—an actual reduction, notwithstanding the enormous additions made by the outgoing Administration and the obligations their policy had entailed. And although 2½ per cent had been added to the Customs duty on a large portion of the imports in 1874, the diminution in the tea duties, as compared with former years, and the reduction of the duty on coal oil had practically counterbalanced the increase in the tariff above referred to. He then, at some length, discussed the question of the relative taxation of Canada as compared with the United States, including, of course, the municipal taxes. He pointed out that, as a consequence of a false and injurious fiscal policy, out of from four to five hundred million dollars paid by the people of

The Budget Speech.

Mr. Cartwright, the Minister of Finance, made his budget speech on Friday night, which was an able and exhaustive exposition of our financial position. It was more than that, for it was an honest and straightforward statement of our finances for the past five years. The Minister of Finance does not make a fancy exhibit. He does not try to make things appear better than they are. He does not encourage the delusive hope that by some financial legerdemain he will be able to balance the public accovnts, and figure out a balance in favour of the Dominion.

On the contrary he adopts the more honest and more honourable course. He explains very fully the causes of the commercial depression which overtook the country in 1873, and which ever since has so materially affected the revenue, which even, after all the drawbacks, showed an increase over the same period in the previous year. In contra distinction to this, the cost of the Civil Government had been largely reduced, in the face of much more work having to be done, in consequence of the increase of work in connection with the opening of the North West.

The Finance Minister pointed out in clear and plain language the liabilities which they had to assume on taking office in 1873. These had to be met at all hazards, and became a fixed liability on the country. His remarks on the question of the relative taxation of Canada as compared with the States were of a practical and convincing character, and he showed that the taxation of the Canadian was barely one-third of the American.

He announced a small deficit, which we were led to expect under the circumstances; and, indeed, considering the late and present depression, and the increasing claims on the Government in the maintenance of the Civil Service in the old Provinces, and in the new territories, we are surprised that they are able to keep the expenses down to such a low figure. His remarks on protection are well worth a careful perusal, as he shows clearly how it would be inimical to the best interests of the country. He closed his able speech by showing up the Conservative fallacies on this subject, and some general but interesting remarks on the financial situation.

Bismarch on the Situation.

The following is a fuller report of Bismarck's speech on the Eastern question than was at first cabled:—He said that the recent debates in the British Parliament have nearly exhausted the subject. A judicious regard for her own interests required Russia to obtain the sanction of the Powers for terms of peace. If such consent is unobjectionable, Russia might be expected to act on the maxim beati possidentes. Germany was the first to consent to a Conference and was indifferent as to where it should be held, but, if on German soil, it must have a German president. Whether, after the principles has been admitted, it will be advisable to adhere to it absolutely will be reserved for ulterior decision, according to the personages who attend the Conference. He hoped that peace would be maintained. Indeed, he could hardly conceive that fresh complications would arise, but, should they, he would not advise the Emperor to go to war, except in harmony with the Federal Council, the Imperial Parliament and the German Nation. Were Germany now to announce her intentions at the Conference, she would simply render it impossible to continue the work of mediation. In such case, the programme announced by Germany might be adopted by others when peace might be imperilled. Accordingly, it would be a serious mistake to avow a programme which might be evaded by some and taken advantage of by others. Germany had no wish to act as arbiter in the pending conflict. All her ambition was confined to the modest task of a broker who settled a bargain between different parties. Germany was on most friendly terms with Russia and Austria, and had not a single interest, except friendly rivalry in trade, antagonistic to England. This enables her to mediate, and she does not intend to throw her power into the balance. The alliance of the three Emperors, which is based, not on written engagements, but on personal sympathies, is not strong enough to induce any of the participants to sacrifice important National interests pour les beaux yeux of another Power. Only for German interests, German independence, would he advise the Emperor to draw the sword."

THE other night, when the grants to the hospitals were under discussion, objection was made to having two hospitals in Guelph. The Treasurer, in explanation, said that one—the Guelph General Hospital—was for Protestants, and the other—the St. Joseph's, for Catholics. This is, to a certain extent, a mistake, for the Guelph General Hospital is open to all creeds and nationalities, and from the returns of last year, it will be found that as many Catholics as Protestants took advantage of the accommodation offered in this Institution and all were treated alike. The Guelph General Hospital is open to all, and is in no sense denominational.

ELORA.—A young men's Liberal Association has been organized in the village, with the following officers:—Charles Clarke, honorary president; James Foote, president; Wm. Ferguson, first vice; D. S. Ritchie, second vice; secretreas, Andrew Smart. Committee of management—Joseph Laird, Peter Land, Edward Leech; George Gordon, A. Filshie.——William, son of Henry Hicking, while assisting in coupling a shafting in the brush factory, had the top of the index finger taken off.——Mr. H. Blackeney has been appointed permanent manager of the Merchants Bank.——The Credit Valley Railway Company, in compliance with the $15,000 by-law recently passed in Elora, have deposited, with the Provincial Treasurer, bonds of the road to the amount of fifteen thousand and eighty-six dollars and sixty-six cents.——Messrs. Filshie and Carter have been appointed a committee by the Elora branch Reform Association, expressive of the sympathy of the association with the irreparable loss recently sustained by Mr. Charles Clarke, in the death of his beloved wife.

The feeling against the Insolvent Act has been increasing, and there may be a larger vote against it this year than ever before.

Two plucky females gave a young fellow in Elmira a severe drubbing recently, while the said young fellow had their brother down and was striking him. One of the girls had some time previously been robbed of woman's brightest jewel by the party who was drubbed, and no doubt this gave her extra strength to strike freely and hard. The case was heard before a magistrate and it was dimissed.

"What's the difference," asked the teacher in arithmetic, "between one yard and two yards?" "A fence!" said Tommy Beales. Then Tommy sat on the ruler fourteen times.

Mr. D. M. Shoemaker, Reeve of Berlin has been unseated by the County Judge, reserving the question of costs. The charges of personal corruption were withdrawn.

Rev. W. Miller, pastor for many years of the North Arthur Baptist Church, died at his residence on the 14th inst. He had resided in the section over twenty-four years.

The Mail has the assurance to claim for the Tory party the credit of inaugurating our admirable municipal system. In point of fact it was Mr. Caleb Hopkins, a Liberal in politics, who gave the casting vote in favor of the Preliminary Act while the Legislature was sitting at Kingston. At a later period the Hon. Robert Baldwin, the great Liberal leader, made further improvements in the system, the only opposition he met with being from Tories.

During a recent meeting in Boston, called for the purpose of relieving the distress of some thousands of "protected" workingmen, one of them said:—"Let us turn over a new leaf; we have been protected long enough, and you all see the result in our mercantile marine being swept off the ocean—in our manufactories being idle and in thousands of men crying out for 'bread or work.'"

DAMAGES OCCASIONED BY RAIN.—The rain which has been falling for the last few days has been general throughout Canada. Reports from different places state that considerable damage has been done to property by the overflow of water. Two mill dams have been swept away at Burton mill about three miles north of Oshawa, while in that town bridges have been carried away and streets rendered impassable by the flood. Robson & Lauchlane's tannery has been damaged to the extent of one thousand dollars. On the first concession line the water is level with the top railing of the bridge. At the Cedardale works the office and stoops were completely flooded and the workmen had to abandon the premises. The dam at Small's flour mill was carried away and the hollow in which the mill stands was covered with water to a considerable depth. A house situated near the bank of the stream was surrounded with water before the occupants a girl and child had time to escape. On leaving the house they were carried away by the force of the water, but were rescued by two men who witnessed the accident from the mill. It is impossible to estimate the extent of damage done along the course of the creek, but it will be very heavy. At Port Hope there has been the most extensive flood ever known in that place, resulting in the destruction of thousands of dollars worth of property and in the drowning of two children. Part of the track of the Midland railway has been washed away, the bridge near Smith's creek is gone as well as three or four other bridges the property of the town. Several dwelling houses have been destroyed. The express and old post offices were three or four feet under water. The flood has not yet abated and the greatest excitement prevails. Several store windows were broken by the ice, hundreds of tons of which is blocking up the street. At Meriden, Conn., extensive damage has been done by the overflow of water. A large number of dwellings and underground gin mills are flooded. The river Don at Toronto is swollen larger than it has been for twenty-eight years. The brewing establishment of Thomas Davis & Co., was a scene of great confusion on Friday. It is situated on the flats north of King street and abutting on the river. The water rose steadily around the building and compelled the workmen to quit work. The first floor is flooded and the boilers partially covered with dirty slimy water.

BLACKWOOD'S MAGAZINE for February is out in good season, from the press of the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., No. 41 Barclay Street, N. Y. The present number, like several preceeding ones, is conspicuous for an unusual variety of readable magazine articles—reminding us of its early days, when it gained deserved celebrity for short essays and tales, spirited descriptions of life and manners, incidents of travel, and records of adventure. The article "Ironclads and Torpedoes" considers the difficulties which beset the naval architect, and gives a short and clear account of the construction and armament of a war-ship of the present day. "A visit to Sophia—Christmas, 1877," gives a glimpse of things inside the Turkish lines. "A ride for life" is a well told narrative of the adventures of a reconnoitering party during the great Indian mutiny. Other articles are "Mine is Thine. Part VIII." "Above the Clouds, a Reverie on the Bel Alp." "The Life of the Prince Consort," and "The Storm in the East. No. IX."

The London Advertiser's Ottawa correspondent says that Mr. Young's speech was probably the best delivered during the debate on the address. Many say it is the best he has delivered in the House. For calmness and ease of delivery and choice of language it was equalled only by that of Hon. Mr. Huntington in the early part of the debate. It was full of facts in support of the Government policy and of keen thrusts at the Opposition.

HAROLD THE OUTLAW

—OR—

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XXIII.

WALTER ADAMSON IN GLENROY.

It was a bold undertaking for an elderly gentleman, who for a number of years had been a douce, home abiding citizen of Aberdeen, to travel into the regions of the mountains at that early period of the year, when snowstorms might still be expected to sweep through the gorges, and wintry tempests to rage in the valleys. But the winter had been exceptionally mild. The weather was, for the close of February, singularly fine, and Walter Adamson had not lost the pluck—though years had deprived him of much of the vigour—of his younger days. Besides, the professional case he had now in hand was one in which his personal interest was largely concerned, and he was prepared to undergo fatigue, and even risk, in order to secure the important objects of his journey.

These objects were to pay a visit to the young wife of Harold Logan at the secluded cottage in Glenroy, to obtain from her the certificate she had in her possession, and, if necessary, to procure from the parish registers extracts of the entries of marriage and birth necessary to arm him with requisite power in the application which he was about to make to the Court of Sessions.

After parting with the carriage at the Cross Roads he had to walk three good miles through the increasing darkness ere he reached a small wayside pusblic house, which he had known of old. Here he obtained refreshment, which he greatly needed, as well as up putting for the night, and at an early hour in the morning resumed his journey.

The evening of the following day found him among the solitudes of Glenroy, but at a considerable distance from the upper end, where was the cottage to which he was bound. There, at a small shepherd's hut, he again found lodgings for the night, and was made to experience the sincerity and warmth of Highland hospitality. Though his bed was but of rushes and soft meadow grass, he slept far more soundly than he usually did on his couch of feathers at home, and did not wake till two hours after sunaise, owing to such circumstance it was verging towards noon ere he was again fairly in motion, and as he had still half-a-dozen miles of wild moorland road yet to traverse, he pushed on at a greater than his wonted speed, being anxious to reach the end of his journey before the best of the day was past.

His sound sleep and the ample breakfast of bannocks, cheese, and milk of which he had partaken made him as fresh as a lark, while the keen mountain air gave him an exhiliration of spirits which reminded him of the pleasures of his early manhood, when in this same pedestrian like fashion it had been his greatest delight to roam through Highland regions. It was like a renewal of his youth, and he enjoyed it accordingly.

After leaving the hut where he had slept, he saw no other human habitation, and he had, indeed, been told that there was no other house farther up the glen. The lawyer was rather nonplussed by this statement, and ventured to inquire if the cottage of Thomas Morven was not in that direction.

"Ou, ay, to pe sure," replied the old Highlander. "But it's not just convenient to the glen; it's in a place all py itsell, and there's no road that way, and nopody ever goes over there. Surely you'll not pe goin' neither."

The lawyer had made no direct reply to this, but it served to show the utter seclusion in which the wife of Harold lived. He had his own recollection as corroborative testimony to the fact, for once, many years ago, he had been at the cottage in question, and remembered he had accidentally stumbled on it after he had lost his way, and wou'd not have been able to find his way back to the main glen without the aid of its occupant.

As he advanced he began to be afraid that he would be unable to discover it, for as his eye roamed over the dreary features of the scene it seemed to present one vast unbroken desolation. Except the faint and narrow foot tract, which vanished into invisibility in open level places, there was no road, and the bleak and rugged character of the hills—red and bare and seamed with scaurs—gave little promise of sheep pasture, so that the chance was a small one of meeting a shepherd at whom he might inquire the way.

THOMAS B. PENTON, ESQ., of the Equitable Life Insurance Company, 120 Broadway, N.Y., says:—I have had experience, and know DOCTOR GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA is the cleanest, nicest, and most perfect combination that has ever come before the public. It never soils, is not greasy, is agreeable and pleasant, at the same time so effectual, and beneficial. I have not only used it myself and family, but have given it to many afflicted with aches, pains, and bruises, and all willingly unite in testifying to its wonderful and great merit.

THOMAS B. PENTON.

The exportation of forest tree seeds is assuming dimensions in the United States. California sends $10,000 worth per year. The principal purchases are made for Germany, Austria, England, and the colonies in Australia and New Zealand, and at present the demand exceeds the supply. The seeds of the Oregon pine, known as the yellow fir, are most in demand. The timber of that tree is as good as British oak for shipbuilding, and has been found sound after eighteen years' use for this purpose. The South Sea colonies are planting the California red-wood tree extensively.

An effort is to be made on behalf of the licensed victuallers in Ontario county, to quash the Dunkin By-law, the grounds being that it is illegal, inasmuch as it received the third reading before being submitted to the ratepayers.

"Rome in Canada."

This is the title of a new work of attractive typographical appearance, and handsomely bound, which has recently issued from the Canadian press. It is from the pen of Mr. Charles Lindsey, of Toronto, a writer of acknowledged ability, who has been a versatile contributor to American publications for many years past. Mr. Lindsey has written on a number of historical subjects of real interest to Canadians. The much vexed question of the Clergy Reserves was discussed by him, some years ago, in a small volume containing much useful and valuable information. Latterly his assistance was sought by the Local Government in investigating the complex question of the north-west boundaries of Ontario. Although the report which he prepared was not intended for general circulation, it is of paramount value, and discloses a wide and intimate acquaintance with what is admittedly a difficult and puzzling subject of enquiry. Mr. Lindsey is, however, better known as an old and vigorous writer on the Conservative press—the editor of the Leader in its palmy days, when it was a power on the Conservative side; and as the author of "The Life and Times of William Lyon Mackenzie," the most complete and impartial historical narrative we have of the early struggles for responsible government in this country. In "Rome in Canada," Mr. Lindsey again moves in an historical groove. He treats in a scholarly fashion, and in trenchant and graphic style, the "Ultramontane struggle," in Lower Canada, for supremacy over the civil authority. This is a movement of which, in Ontario, we have caught but glimpses, and felt almost imperceptibly, and which is at the best imperfectly understood. Mr. Lindsey describes it with all the fulness that careful and accurate research, and new and various stores of information, can furnish, and with a completeness and vividness of detail that are deeply interesting. Those who have watched the conflict between Ultramontanism and the political forces of continental countries, will be surprised to find with what incessant vigilance, and crafty determination a similar conflict has been maintained in the sister Province of Quebec. To that Province the contest appears to have been exclusively confined. The weapons which have been employed there have never, so far as we could discover, been used here, nor has any attempt been made to initiate that peculiarly dangerous system of priestly coercion in the political arena which, in Quebec, has provoked protests, on the platform and through the press, from representative protestants of both political parties. Mr. Lindsey casts no reflection in this connection upon the Roman Catholics of Ontario. He evidently feels that, as a minority of our population, they have always been fairly and graciously treated, that their civil and religious rights and privileges have always been respected by the majority, and they could have no reason, even if they had the inclination, to engage in these designs or resort to these practices, which he condemns in French Canada. In fact he shows that Archbishop Lynch has censured these on more than one occasion, and that like some of the more liberal Bishops in Lower Canada, "he in turn, came under the fire of the Ultramontane skirmishers of the Province of Quebec." He expressly relieves Ontario Roman Catholics from so much as sympathizing with their extreme co-religionists there, and says: "Among Roman Catholics in Ontario there is, so far as I can learn, no sympathy with the arrogant pretensions of the Quebec Ultramontanes, and not one educated Roman Catholic, out of a hundred in the former Province, is even aware of the extremes to which the Episcopate of the latter has gone." In Quebec, however, the extraordinary pretensions of the Roman Catholic clergy in political matters, the paramount control which they have sought to acquire over the electorate, their unwarrantable and intolerant interference in purly party contests, the undue influence and spiritual intimidation which they have freely used from the pulpit, in the confessional, and through the press, are pourtrayed in fresh and startling colors, In the marvellous array of facts, which are cited as evidence of all this, many are entirely now, and have here appeared probably for the first time, in any English publication. They are called from manifold sources the authenticity of which is undoubted. "Line upon line and precept upon precept" from every quarter, and all ranks and condition of the clergy are given as proofs of the aggressions of ecclesiasticism, and its attempt to suppress free thought, opinions and action, and to subordinate to the church, its ministers and teachers, the political liberties of the people. To the priest, Mr. Lindsey conceded the fullest rights as a citizen, and finds no fault with his voting, as well as speaking and writing on political questions. He shows how, in regard to all these, the law places a minister of religion on the same footing as a layman, gives him the same latitude, no less and no more, and subjects his transgressions of the law to the same pains and penalties. "When," for example, "he oversteps the line of persuasion, and abuses the powers of his sacred office to constrain, by means of spiritual terrors, electors to vote against their natural inclination, he becomes amenable to the law which guards the rights of the citizen from undue influence and intimidation." This is sound doctrine to which no sensible Roman Catholic can take exception. The Canadian law on the subject is a transcript of the English law, the principle of it, as stated by Sir Samuel Romily, must commend it all to the common sense of every person. "Undue influence," said Romily, "will be used if ecclesiastics make use of their powers to excite superstitious fears on pious hopes; to inspire, as the object may be best promoted, despair or confidence; to alarm the conscience by the horrors of eternal misery, or support the drooping spirits by unfolding the prospects of eternal happiness." This principle was followed by the presiding judge in the May's contested election case in 1857, and it was followed in Canada in the Charlevoix and Bonaventure election cases. All three elections were set aside on the ground of undue influence by the clergy.

With Roman Catholicism as a religious system Mr. Lindsey does not deal. So far as this is concerned, his whole book may be read by any Roman Catholic without a feeling of offence. It is moderate in tone, and as unsectarian in spirit as any such work can be. It is free from cant and rancour in any shape, and is characterized throughout by a calm, dispassionate statement, and judical fairness of opinion and judgment, that are worthy of the highest praise. The author naturally pre-supposes a certain knowledge of the whole question on the part of the reader, but there is no aspect of it that is not comprehensively dealt with, and that the reader will not fully understand by a perusal of the volume. The opening chapters treat of the presumptions of the Ultramontane struggle—the publication of the Syllabus and the promulgation of the Vatican decrees in Quebec, after which "the fullest liberty and the most perfect equlity no longer sufficed for the church of Rome" there. The hesitancy with which the more liberal bishops adopted, and enforced the new policy, is clearly pointed out. The rise of the new school, under the leadership of Bishop Bourget, its attacks on the ancient liberties of the Gallican church, the transplanting of Gallicanism to Canada, the intrigues of the Jesuits against the civil power, etc., gradually lead up to an interesting description of the Programmeists, and the all potent influence exerted by the Ultramontane press in the struggle. The ingenious devices of Bourget and others in assailing "Catholic liberalism" are vigorously expressed, while those chapters in which the writer deals with the political power claimed by the Bishops, their claims to immunity from the civil process of the courts, and the spiritual terrorism exercised by them at elections, to which we have referred, are among the best in the book. The chapters on "the marriage relation" and the "wealth of the church" are species of episodes, in which some extraordinary facts are disclosed. In his closing pages Mr. Lindsey admits that there has been a recoil in the struggle at one point of the line, and that that the adverse decisions of the highest courts of the country against clerical interference in Canadian politics had so far awakened the Roman See of the gravity of the crisis that it was forced to "let the world know that it had never intended to authorize the priests to descend to the battle ground of political parties." The mission of Dr. Conroy, Papal Abiegate, is adduced as further evidence of this, and we can readily believe that Dr. Conroy, who appears to be a gentleman of shrewdness and sagacity, and who has created a most favourable impression wherever he has gone will succeed in making his influence felt in favour of a wise and moderate policy in matters political amongst the ecclesiastics of his own church. His mission of conciliation, however, must be confined to Quebec. In Ontario there is no need of such an ecclesiastical diplomat. To the sister Province he must be accredited, and we hope and believe that his diplomacy as a churchman, in dealing with the questions to which we have referred, will never be called into requisition in any other Province of the Dominion.

JOTTINGS BY THE WAY.

In my last we had arrived at Cheyenne, the magic city of the west, in Wyoming Territory. This is a new city; the buildings are generally good, being mostly brick; the streets are wide, giving it quite an airy appearance; the population is about 6,000. We left again at 4:30 p.m., and our next stop was at Hazard station. To the right you see the Black Hills, Wyoming stretching to the north, to the left Wing Peak rears its snow capped summit high in the air. It is one of the famous mountain ranges of Colorado; it is always covered with snow, and frequently obscured by clouds. After leaving Hazard the road enters a draw or ravine, and the monotony of the plain is passed; mountains rear their hoary heads on every side, Granite Canyon, 7,278 feet elevation; the station is high, being upon the side of the ravine. We passed through deep cuts of granite while on the Black Hills. Stunted pines like lone sentinels are seen, where they have for ages withstood the frosts of time. The next, stopping-place was Burford. To the left is the Twain Mountains—two peaks in the Black Hills,—lift their rocky heads above the barren waste. This section is covered with short Buffalo grass. There are numerous ravines with fine springs of water, and in places covered with stunted pines. Near here are the Crow Creek copper and silver mines. At the next station, Sherman, 549 miles from Omaha, and 1,527 from Guelph, there is an elevation of 8,242 feet, or 7,142 feet higher than Guelph. The snow never falls very deep here, owing to its elevation. There are constant breezes that most people would pronounce a gale; at this station, at 7:30 the glass stood at freezing, and at 10 p.m., further west, it had fallen to 20 above zero. Snow is deeper here than at Cheyenne; it is only four inches deep. During the night we passed through the great Laramie grazing plains; they have an average width of 40 miles, and is over 100 miles in length. They begin at the western extremity of the Black Hills, and extend to the Medicine Row Mountains, and north beyond where the Laramie river cuts its way through the hills to join its waters with the North Platte. These plains comprise some 2,500,000 acres, and are regarded as the richest grazing portions of the country. The following statistics will give your readers some idea of the number of sheep, cattle, horses and mules that graze on the Laramie plains of Laramie County, on the 1st of January, 1876:—Sheep, 78,322; worth $3 per head—$234,766. Horned cattle, 87,000; worth $20 per head—$1,740,000. Horses and mules, 2,600; worth $50 per head—$130,000. Total value of animals in Laramie County, $2,104,966. The average weight of fleeces of sheep in the spring of 1876 was 9 lbs. per sheep; the average increase in flocks is 60 to 90 per cent. per annum; and the average increase of capital is 50 to 60 per cent. per year. The breeds of sheep are Merinos, Cotswolds, Mexicans, and crosses between the above Laramie Peak; this is the highest peak of the Black Hill range in Wyoming and Colorado, north of Long's Peak, and is about 10,000 feet high. The Wind River Mountains, to the north of the railroad, two well-known peaks, rise among them: Freemont's Peak and Snow's Peak, the latter being 13,570 feet high. Feb. 8th at day-light, we arrived at Percy station. This is the first station on the line where the Company obtains coal; the shaft is about 120 feet deep; the coal vein is about six feet thick. As the train only stopped here a few minutes there was no time to prospect. At sun rise the glass was up to 30 above zero. As we came near Percy we had a fine view of the Elk Mountains on the south; we were unable to ascertain its height; it can be seen from a great distance either east or west, and is the noted peak of the Medicine Row Range. From this on to Fort Steele the bluffs are rugged and wild; the road passes through a short tunnel and several deep cuts. There is nothing but the changing scenery as you move along with the train to relieve the country from its desolate appearance; sage bushes seem to be the only product of the soil. Suddenly bursting through a cut, we enter the valley of the North Platte, through what is called by the railroad men Rattlesnake Pass. We cross the North Platte river just before arriving at Fort Steel station, which has an elevation of 4,051 ft. higher than when we crossed the same stream at North Platte City, near the junction of the two Plattes in the State of Nebraska. The Platte river here is over 700 miles from its mouth, near Omaha, and has an elevation of 6,845 feet. On the plains it is a wide, shallow stream; here it is a deep, cold stream, and but a little distance from its source, among the perpetual snow banks of the Rocky Mountains. There are two companies of U.S. troops here. We expected to see a fort here, but instead we saw only a few wooden buildings for the accommodation of the soldiers; they had a stone magazine, protected by two brass 9-pounders. On leaving this station we passed through level plains; the plains extended to the north as far as the eye could reach, while to the south high lands were seen in the distance. There is no vegetation to be seen on the plains, except the sage bush. We saw several large droves of antelopes; we also saw the coyote, a kind of wolf. The country has a very desolate appearance, not a house to be seen. Creston, at an elevation of 7,030 ft. was passed, and three miles further on we came to the divide of land, or water-shed, the line that divides the waters of the two oceans. Standing on the rear platform of the cars you notice the undulating irons of the road as it passes beneath you. Elk Mountain, of the Medicine Row Range, and the Black Hills rise gradually in view as you approach the crest, but gradually you have passed to the other side, and a stretch of country 200 miles long drops from view in an instant. As you pass along, looking to the north you see the snowy heads of the Wind River Mountains; looking towards the west you see Pilot Butte, one of the land-marks of the plains to the south. A range of mountains is also visible. Twilight is coming on as we pass through several snow sheds. During the night we passed the magnificent scenery near the Green River, such as Castle Rock, Twain Sisters, Grant's Tea-pot, and other scenery. Feb. 9th, at 7:10 a.m., we arrived at Piedmont. The weather is rather colder, the glass having fallen to zero. We are now crossing a high ridge in the Utah Mountains, the second highest elevation on the Union Pacific; to the left they are higher, lifting their summits towards the clouds, and are mostly covered with snow. There is not much change in the looks of the country until you reach Echo, and then canyons, with their wonderful towers and natural castles, rocks, beside which all eastern scenery sink into insignificance, rise up with astonishing abruptness and massiveness; colossol old Titans of majestic dimensions and sublime towering summits, and perpendicular sides succeed each other for miles. Into a short distance of 60 miles is crowded a constant succession of those scenes and objects of curiosity. Between Wahsatch and Castle Rock stations we pass over heavy grades and round sharp turns; we enter a tunnel 1,100 feet long. After you pass the tunnel you see high reddish rocks, moulded into every conceiveable shape. The massive rocks which form Echo Canyon are red sandstone. The rocks are formed into many curious shapes by the action of the weather. The average height of the rocks are from 500 to 800 feet; the Amphitheatre and Stear boat Rocks are fully 800 feet in height. We now pass into Weber Canyon. We first come to the Battlement Rocks, they are near one mile from Echo station; next we have the Witches, two wierd looking rocks, which seem as if speaking to each other. These rocks are grey, and it seems that the formation changes. Here the red rocks disappear, and dark grey rocks take their places. The next place is Slate Cut; then Lost Creek Canyon is to be seen to the right; and round the curve you see the little Mormon town of Croyden. Further on and on the opposite side, we have the "Devil's Slide," the most singular formation to be seen on the route; there are two parallel ledges of granite turned on their edge, jutting out in places 50 feet from the mountain side, and about 14 feet apart; in places they are as smooth as if chiseled, and in other places quite rough and rugged; the slide runs up the mountain side fully 600 feet. After passing Patterson Station, you pass through a huge gap in the mountains, known as "Devil's Gap," and "Devil's Gate." We have now passed the Wahsatch range of mountains, though their towering peaks are on the right, and recede from view on the left as we leave their base and get into the plain. We are now in the great Salt Lake Valley. Although we cannot see the lake we can see the mountains on its islands. We arrived at Ogden at 6:40 p.m., 1,033 miles from Omaha, and 9,051 miles from Guelph, and the termnous of the Union Pacific Railroad. The city has some 6,000 inhabitants; to the back of the city high mountains were seen, the peaks are almost always crowned with snow, and their summits are often lost in the clouds. We changed here to the Central Pacific Railroad for San Francisco. We were provided here, as at Omaha, with a car to ourselves. We left here about 8 p.m., San Francisco time, some three hours slower than Guelph time.

Mr. Myles, of Toronto, has decided to invest a large amount of money in the development of the Snowdon iron mines. Mr. Myles intends to have smelting works at some lake port, either Whitby or Port Hope, and reduce the ore to pig iron, which he can ship to the American market, or to Canadian manufacturers.

The following is the results of the races held at Port Perry lately:—Two men were killed, two badly injured, several looked as if they had been fearfully mangled by some beast of prey, and one has had to escape to parts unknown after having killed a harmless old man.

From a Distinguished Jurist.

"I have tried the PERUVIAN SYRUP and the result fully sustains your prediction. It has made a new man of me, infused into my system new vigor and energy; I am no longer tremulous and debilitated, as when you last saw me, but stronger, heartier, and with larger capacity for labor, mental and physical, than at any time during the last five years.

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

The Treaty of Peace to be Signed.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—It is reported that the treaty of peace is to be signed to-day.

LONDON, Feb. 25.—Some doubts have been thrown upon the accuracy of the terms of peace between Russia and Turkey as published in some of the morning papers. The only points that seem clear are as to the amount of money indemnity demanded by Russia, and the occupation by Russians of Bulgaria. Sir Stafford Northcote announced in the House of Commons this afternoon that the Government had as yet received no official statement of the terms of peace.

THE Bills to incorporate the Arthur Junction Railway, and respecting the Galt and Guelph Railway Company, passed through Committee of the House on Friday.

REV. MR. JUNOR, lately of Burmuda, and who is now to be sent by the Presbyterian Church of Canada to Formosa, delivered a sermon in Chalmers' Church last evening.

GEO. C. CALDER, employed in Loch & Galbraith's grocery, received a fall on Friday last which injured one of his legs very severely, and has forced him to keep to his room since then.

THE DUNKIN ACT IN BRANT.—The second day's vote on the repeal of the Dunkin Act gives a total majority for repeal in the County of 357, and a total majority for repeal in city and county of 803.

CURLING.—On Wednesday two Guelph rinks will leave for Goderich to play the Point Edward curlers for the Royal Caledonian medal, on the following day. The place for playing has been changed from St. Mary's on account of the Point Edward curlers being unable to go to that place.

J. C. MACKLIN & Co., will not close their store on Wyndham Street until Monday next, 3rd of March. The business will be removed to Brantford on Tuesday. In order to clear out the greater portion of the stock, bargains unprecedented will be given. The public are invited to call and price goods.

DESTITUTE.—Since Saturday ten able bodied men were allowed the privilege of sleeping on the soft side of a plank in the police cells—they all claiming to be in destitute circumstances. This morning they struck for the east, totally disregarding the late Horace Greeley's standing advice.

"I WANT to go to gaol," is what Ellen McLaughlin stated to a policeman this morning. As she had committed no wrong within the knowledge of the police, and besides was not destitute, her request was not granted. She left the vicinity of the Police Court a sorrowful woman.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES.—Rising barometer, moderate to fresh northerly winds, cloudy weather, with flurries of snow, followed by clearing and colder weather, are weather procabilities for to-day, received by Dominion telegraph.

ACCIDENTS.—On Sunday, while Mrs. Lynch, a resident of Puslinch, was approaching Macdonnell street from St. Bartholomew's Church, she slipped on the hill, which was covered with ice, and falling on her face, received a large cut on the forehead. She was taken to Dr. Nunan's surgery, where the wound was dressed. On Saturday evening, as a lady was coming out of one of the stores on Wyndham-street, she fell on the sidewalk, and was bruised considerably.

ARRESTED.—A few days ago a Frenchman, named Joseph Cairie, was fined by the Police Magistrate for addressing Rebecca Buckner in terms more forcible than polite. Not being able to pay the fine he remained quiet for a few days, and then thinking that the police officials were all possessed of very short memories, he sallied forth on Saturday evening to see his old acquaintances. He had not been out for a sufficient length of time to "see" them very often before he was corralled by the police. He could not pay the fine, and will therefore have to try and perform satisfactorily some county work during the next fifteen days.

DRUNK.—Edward T. Louth had been indulging in the maddening bowl on Saturday, and towards evening became incapacitated for walking. He meandered around Cork street until he was met by a policeman, who gently led him to the police cells. This morning the Police Magistrate was informed of the facts of the case, and as Edward had never graced the Court inside the railing, where magistrates, lawyers, reporters, clergymen and police are wont to congregate to watch important cases, he was allowed his freedom on promising to lead a better life.

A writ of attachment has been issued against Geo. Winks & Co., wholesale dry goods merchants. Liabilities will be heavy. The firm has been in trouble some time. Mr. Winks lately failed in an attempt to compound with his creditors in England.

Messrs. A. W. Ogilvie & Co., of Montreal exhibited on 'Change, the other day, a sample of Spring wheat grown at Prince Albert settlement, on the River Saskatchewan, 500 miles north-west of Winnipeg. The wheat is one of the finest samples ever exhibited on 'Change, and weighs 70 lbs. per bushel. Mr. Ogilvie states that barley, oats, and other grains are grown at Prince Albert with equal success, and that the native grass and hay, of superior quality, grows in great quantities.

Funeral Sermon.

Remarks Bearing on the Death of Dr. McGregor.

On Sabbath morning the Norfolk street Methodist Church was completely filled with an attentive audience. Shortly before eleven o'clock about one hundred and fifty members of the order of Oddfellows marched in in a body to the church, as a mark of respect to the memory of the deceased brother. The brethren occupied pews in the centre of the church, and all wore badges of mourning. The services throughout were impressive, and the music by the choir as well as the selection on the organ were peculiarly adapted to the occasion.

The Rev. E. B. Ryckman conducted the services, and he chose for his text a part of the 15th verse of the 2nd chapter of Hebrews: "And deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage." The theme of the discourse was the deliverance from bondage through fear of death. The universal dread of an exit from this world by mankind was referred to, and the love of life that permeated the whole being of man was spoken of. He thought that doubtless God had planted that instinct in the mind of man for some good purpose. If we lived in the love and fear of God when the time should arrive to take our departure, our feelings would allow us to be perfectly willing when God called us. The dread of something after death was what made us feel the more nervous in regard to our departure. Shakespere referred to it as

The undiscover'd country, from whose bourn
No traveller returns,—puzzles the will,
And makes us rather bear those ills we have,
Then fly to others that we know not of.
Thus conscience does make cowards of us all.

The speaker spoke at length on the manner in which poets and painters referred to death. Death has been printed in books and painted on canvass as everything that was horrible. In the cemetery could be found broken shafts of marble or granite, representations of chiselled broken vases or rose buds—all giving forth that a sudden and terrible breaking off had taken place, and picturing death to the mind in its very worst phases. Even in funeral sermons, singing connected therewith, and the dress of the relatives, all were so doleful and lugubrious that it caused a shock to the finer feelings. This too was all done notwithstanding we are taught by the Bible that death with the Christian is a great victory, that it is "Better to depart and be with Christ than live." It was no wonder that children grew up to look upon death with horror when the trappings of mourning, the slow measured tread of the funeral procession and the pitiless pelting of the clods on the hollow coffin, were all so painfully displayed. They could not well feel that the departed had gone to a better world when the friends manifested so much grief. Death was certainly a victory, as we are told that "Eye hath not seen, nor ear heard, neither hath it entered into the heart of man to conceive the glorious things prepared by God for those who love him." The speaker believed there was great reason for offering thanks in regard to the late brother McGregor. He had, so far as any person could tell, died in the hope of a glorious resurrection, and that through the Lord Jesus Christ he had made his peace with God. As a man he had been known to be truthful, honorable, and affectionate. As a physician he had always been kind. This was said because it was well known that many physicians, through their constant association with death and suffering, grew rough and unsympathizing. In the year 1859 the deceased attended revival services held in connection with the Methodist Church, and was converted. He afterwards, of his own free will, began to attend class, and he enrolled himself as a member of the church. Mr. David Plewes was his first class-leader. The life he afterwards led was striking proof that his conversion was genuine. He afterwards left home for a college course—a place above all where it would test a young man's Christian character. Medical students, as a rule, are not a class that pay attention to, or care much for, religious affairs. Dr. McGregor proved himself strong enough to withstand temptations and was as thorough a Christian after his college course as before he commenced studying. Twelve years ago he settled in Guelph and joined the Methodist Church. He was faithful in maintaining a Christian character for a time, but eventually became a back-slider. This was mentioned that a lesson might be taught to the living, for the deceased brother afterwards mourned over his shortcomings and unfaithfulness. He did not merely regret his relaxation of duty but again sought God, was triumphant, and eventually was taken to the better world beyond the skies. In conclusion an urgent appeal was made to the living to seek Christ, so that when death should overtake them—as overtakes all it must—they would be found ready.

"But how can we drink the nasty saut water, Kate?" replied Jenny. "Hoots, lassie! saut or fresh, sweet or sour, I'll drink onything for a laddie!" "Faith, an' sae wad I, Kate; sae let's aff to Gourock the morn, for everybody's there already, and they'll no leave a drop that's drinkable."

CONFLAGRATION.

The Worswick Engine Works Destroyed.

Loss Between $50,000 and $60,000; Insurance $29,300.

Again has very valuable property in Guelph been swept to the four winds of heaven by the terrible and destructive element of fire. The works of the Worswick Engine Company, situate on the corners of Dublin, Norwich, and Charles streets, are now in ruins, and what was on Saturday last a stately building, filled with the most valuable tools for working iron, that money could purchase, is now nothing but the bare stone walls, within which are what were lathes, planers, punches, &c., the equal of which was only to be found in few of our very large machine shops, all twisted and warped.

On Saturday afternoon work ceased in the shops at four o'clock and the men left for home. Before, as is usual at the end of the week, the shops had been cleaned and swept throughout. In the evening Mr. Worswick returned to the office and worked at drafting plans until twelve o'clock. Before leaving he took a walk through the shops and states that everything was all right—that there was no appearance of fire any place. In fact it is strange how there could be any fire, as the shops are heated with steam, and there had been no fire in that part of the building, where it originated, for some time previous. It was nearly half-past twelve when Mr. Worswick reached home. In about one hour thereafter D. Bridgeford and W. Garlick, living in a house adjacent to the works on Charles street, observed a light shining through their bed-room windows, and jumping up noticed a light in the north-west corner of the Engine Works in the second storey. Several other parties observed the fire about the same time, and they all state that when the fire was first seen it blazed up furiously for a time and then evidently smouldered. This fact would lead to the supposition that coal oil, or some other very inflammable material, had been ignited in the pattern room, where the fire started, and after blazing up at first, smouldered on the floor before breaking out in a blaze that became in a short time uncontrollable. In a few moments after the fire was discovered Mr. Abram Waters gave the alarm with the Baptist Church bell.

Messrs. Bridgeford and Garlick, employees in the Works, as soon as they saw the blaze ran to the shop and bursting in the door found the place so full of smoke that it was impossible to try to save any of the machinery. They at once proceeded to the office and carried out all the books and papers that were there. Mr. Boiffeuillet, Secretary of the Company, arrived shortly after the alarm was given, and went into the office, unlocked the safe and removed all the books and papers.

The Baptist Church bell had been ringing for some time before word reached the Fire Hall that the services of the fire department were required. Mr. Chas. Sharpe had arrived home by the Grand Trunk at half-past one o'clock, and he, seeing the blaze in the West Ward, ran to the Fire Hall, and aroused the men. In a moment everything was in readiness, and a start was being made before the alarm was sounded from the Town Hall building. By the time the steamer reached the tanks on Norwich street, steam was up. A little delay was occasioned in placing the hose. In a very short space of time two streams were playing on the building, but with no prospect of quenching the fire, as the wind was blowing in such a manner as to sweep the main shop from the end in which the fire started, and ensure its entire destruction. The rear wing of the works, in which the engine and boiler which furnished the motive power, was saved through the exertions of the firemen. A lean-to, at the north side, on Charles street, escaped destruction. It was used as a boiler room; and a boiler partly finished, several heaters, drills, and other tools, were removed.

In a short time the two tanks were emptied, and the engine was then removed to the bridge at Inglis & Hunter's foundry, and a stream forced up the steep hill and to the fire, a distance of fifteen hundred feet. The steamer had to be run at a very high rate of pressure, in order to make the water surmount the hill, and a short delay was occasioned by the bursting of a length of the rubber hose. By this time all danger of the fire communicating to other buildings was passed and there was little to do but to quench the seething bed of flame within the four walls.

At an early stage of the fire to the very high wind prevailing, there was danger of wooden buildings on Norwich and Green streets. The roofs were carefully watched however, and the frost with which the shingles were covered militated against anything of the kind happening. It was thought by some that the residence of Mr. J. W. Lyon was in danger, and Mrs. Lyon had some of the furniture removed. The wind was blowing in the wrong direction for danger to be looked for in that quarter. There are always over anxious people at fires who like to advise people to be on the safe side, and sometimes even go to the extent of chopping down shade trees to prevent their destruction. Firey flakes of shingles and timber were carried through the air down as far as Nelson Cresent, and the sight of the brilliant particles floating in the atmosphere were beautiful in the extreme, notwithstanding great destruction of property was in their wake.

During the progress of the fire a young man who was assisting in removing tools, &c., from the boiler shop, found the excitement incident to his situation too much for him to stand and fell down in a fit. He was assisted home by some of his friends. An excited man was assisting in removing articles from the office, his eye espied a large clock on the wall, and agreeing with the old adage that time was money, decided to save money for the Engine Company. He grasped the case, wrenched the front of the clock off and left the works on the wall. The works eventually ran together in a mixed mass. A wholesale oyster dealer, doing business on Quebec street found the fire with the aid of a lantern. He also rendered excellent service in finding burning cinders on streets where all was darkness.

The total loss on building, plant and stock will be between $50,000 and $60,000. The insurance amounts to $29,000, and in the following companies:

Waterloo Mutual	$5,000
National	5,000
Imperial	5,000
Queen's	4,300
Wellington Mutual	3,000
Scottish Imperial	3,000
Mercantile	3,000
Western	1,000
Total	$29,300

In the top story of the Engine Works was the plant necessary for the manufacture of reeds for organs. This property had been purchased by Mr. J. C. McLagan, some time ago, at a bailiff's sale. It formerly belonged to Deacon & Co. The plant was insured for $700.

The plant and material belonging to the reed business was valued at $2,300. It was insured in the Canada Fire and Marine Company.

The pattern makers lost all their tools. Millard Cossitt was particularly active in getting out tool boxes; the last one he pulled out had the cover burned off, and he had a narrow escape in getting out of the burning building.

The walls as they now stand, although slightly damaged, are almost ready for roofing. If the Company decides to rebuild at once and put in new machinery, it is expected that the works can be in running order again in about six weeks. Some of the machinery, it is expected, can be fitted up again, but very little of it is to be found that is not warped or twisted.

About twenty-five men are thrown out of employment by the conflagration, and one of the greatest industries of the town is closed.

It is not likely that the Engine Company think of letting the works cease, and it is therefore confidently expected that work will be pushed on with vigor, and that in a few weeks again they will be in running order.

Minister of Agriculture's Report —Interesting Statistics.

We have received among other Blue Books the Report of the Minister of Agriculture for the Dominion, for the year 1877. It contains some interesting facts relative to exports and imports of the cattle trade between Canada and Great Britain, especially in regard to the quarantine arrangements, of which it recommends moderation.

The cost of sending Canadian exhibits to the Australian Exhibition was $19,550, but five or six thousand dollars more will be required to pay off all the claims.

The number of patents taken out last year was 1,355, against 1,382 in the previous year, and the fees amounted to $35,388. The United States patentees numbered 757, and the Canadian 533, of which number 340 were resident in Ontario.

The emigration returns show that 35,285 immigrant passengers and immigrant settlers arrived during the year. The arrivals by the St. Lawrence being 7,743. The total settlers were 27,076.

The report from the Mennonite colonies in Manitoba and from the Icelandic are of the most satisfactory nature, and go to show that the people are contented and prosperous. The former people had at the end of the year some 30,000 bushels of wheat for sale, and their land yields on an average 25 bushels per acre.

The Insolvency statistics show that there were, during the year, no less than 1,588 insolvents, with liabilities amounting to $31,346,154 and assets $22,251,791.

THE Brampton Times notices the death of Mrs. Henry Carter, about one of the earliest settlers of Peel County. She emigrated there with her husband about sixty years ago. Her remains were interred in the old burying ground in Brampton, by the side of her husband, who was the first one buried in that cemetery. Deceased was forty-six years a widow, and 92 years old when she died. She was held in very high esteem by all who knew her.

THE AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

On the item $21,970 for the School of Agriculture,

Mr. Wood stated that he could now reply to statements to the contrary by saying that the majority of students at the College now are farmers' sons. Up to date there have been 188 students, 87 of whom are now on the roll. Of the remaining 101, 81 are following farming, 4 are at other Colleges, 18 are engaged in other pursuits, and of 8 they had no trace. Of 87 on the roll 67 are from the farm or garden direct, and the others have expressed their intention of following agriculture or horticulture as their business. The number of students has been doubled within the last year, and they have had to shut the door in the face of as many as were on the roll, who sought admission. He quoted from the report, and contended that great good had been accomplished by the trials made of seeds, in fencing and laying out of grounds, by hard, practical work. There was no expectation of the Agricultural College paying; no Agricultural College ever did pay, and no one ever would pay. The Michigan College, with all its advantages of twenty years' experience, endowments, &c., costs each year about $28,000, and, so far as farm operations are concerned, we were far ahead of them, though their indoor wook might be in advance of ours. Our outside appliances and stock were far superior to those of the Michigan institution. He said that an increase of $500 and been made in the President's salary, and a Bursar had been appointed at a salary of $800.

Mr. Scott gave credit to the hon. gentleman for doing his utmost to render the farm successful and acceptable to the country, but he apprehended that it would never be a success. He said that on capital account alone $156,590 had been expended, besides considerable sums for maintenance, the sum for this purpose being considerably increased this year. He thought it not what it should be that an official of that institution should attack in print hon. members who exercise their right of criticising the institution. In 1876 each pupil had cost about $995, and when they knew that one-half of these pupils had not followed agriculture it appeared that each pupil cost the country that year about $2,000. He thought that the teaching was too technical, and proceeded to read from the examination papers. Altogether, he said, there was too much theory and too little practice in the institution.

Mr. Wigle said that though the President in his report last year said that the expense would not be increased, there was a material increase this year.

Mr. Tooley approved of having a farm, but took exception to some details.

Mr. Graham thought that the country would be greatly benefited by the experiments at the farm and was glad to see that the farm was conducted with such ability. If the College did educate the sons of professional men it would do good, inasmuch as it would make them producers instead of consumers.

Mr. Ferris though that hon. gentlemen who talked of the cost to the country of these young farmers should consider how much the education of young professional men had cost the country. He contented that they had cost the country ten times as much as the farmers' sons. His son was at the College, and he would rather have his son a farmer than a briefless barrister or a miserable doctor. (Hear, hear.)

Mr. Boulter was much better pleased with the Treasurer's statement to day than last year, and was willing to continue encouraging the Institution.

Mr. Meredith would like to know whether any steps were taken towards making a collection of Canadian birds, fish, &c., for the museum of the Agricultural College. He said that a gentleman at London—Dr. Mummery—had gone to great expense in gathering specimens of Canadian birds, and if anything was done in the direction indicated he hoped that gentleman's efforts would be recognized.

Mr. Patterson rallied the hon. member for East Northumberland on his remarks regarding professional men in contradistinction to merchants, after which he went on to say that no hon. gentlemen were opposed to the existence of an agricultural college, but were only desirous of its being conducted as it should be. He rejoiced to see the improvement in it, and it was only fair that it should have a further trial.

Mr. Dawson thought they should have a museum in the Province, such as they had in Montreal.

Mr. Creighton said if there was any one requiring a technical education it was the farmer, and thought an agricultural college was calculated to elevate the occupation. While approving the action of the Government that founded the College, he could not endorse that of the Government which had carried out the scheme. He claimed that the criticism of the Opposition had been attended with good results. He stated that the Government blundered hopelessly in their conduct of the farm.

Mr. Gibson said that he thought at one time during the debate that on this question they were going to be a happy family, but it was the old case, skin a Russian and you find a Tartar. With the hon. member for North Grey, he (the speaker) contended that a farmer should, as well as anyone else, be educated to appreciate the beauties of Shakespeare; it was hardly to be expected that he was all times to be a hewer of wood and a drawer of water. The money for the College should not be grudged when so much is spent each year on higher education. It was easy to see that a young farmer would make more progress where all the latest ideas were focussed than were he left to grope along by himself at home, so he would support the institution, which would take a series of years to prove its efficiency.

Mr. Broder said that they only joined issue with the Government on the manner in which the College was conducted, and then he went on to institute a comparison between the Ontario and the Quebec Colleges. The necessity for scientific farming at present did not make itself felt, but as the soil became impoverished it would become more and more necessary. He contended that education should be acquired at other institutions, and only the practical part taught at the Agricultural College. He deprecated strongly any manifestation of sectional feeling in the House.

Mr. Hunter said that it was evident that hon. gentlemen were trimming their sails to the popular breeze, and rallied the hon. member for North Hastings on his attitude this year towards the College.

Mr. McGowan thought that more attention should be paid in the College to the practical part of the work. He thought it was not right that there should be four pupils from Quebec and only one from Essex. One thing that had militated against the College was that it had not had hitherto the sympathy of the agricultural community. If agricultural societies were consulted in the management of the farm it might be still further improved. He thought the change to Guelph had been a great improvement.

Mr. Massie said that the success attendant on the farm during the past two years augured perfect success for it if the Government extented to it that support to which it was entitled. The object was to elevate farmers from being mere grovellers in the soil. The future of the institution was perfectly safe in the hands of its present management and of the present Government. It was desirable that the farming community should take more interest in their farming. He rallied the Opposition on their sudden love for the farmers.

Mr. Ballantyne thought that the farm was calculated to do great work. He spoke of his own difficulties in starting farming, and said that one or two men often changed the character of farming in the entire district, the truth of which he illustrated by giving his experience. He was pleased with the tone of the debate, as the criticism had been fair. He continued by saying that if the experiments discovered one single variety of wheat peculiarly adapted for this country the discovery was worth ten times the amount expended in establishing the College. If young men could be made to stay at home and take an interest in farming it would be a benefit to the country.

Mr. Mostyn complained of Mr. Johnston's letter, and asked the hon. the Treasurer if he approved of the conduct of Mr. John ston.

Mr. Wood said that he himself thought that no explanation by Mr. Johnston was required, but a public man who was criticised had the right to criticize. He thought it was very unkind and ungentlemanly of any one to take advantage of the hospitality of the College, and then reflect, as had been done on the occasion of the visit to Guelph.

Mr. Mostyn resumed by saying that the class of education was not what was wanted for a farmer. There should be more practical and less theoretical education, and he would recommend that a thorough preliminary education be insisted upon before admission.

Mr. Bishop was glad that there were more applicants for admission than could obtain it. He, as a farmer, protested against the idea that none but farmers' sons should be admitted into the College. All farmers' sons wanted was a fair field without favour, and all who entered that College might be supposed to want to make farming their business. The experiments mentioned in the pamphlet were worth all the money spent on the farm. He thought that public men should try to elevate the farming class.

Mr. Merrick took exception to the hon. Treasurer's opinion that a public official attacked in debate or otherwise should resort to the public press for redress. Speaking of the College, he said that he objected to the Province paying the expenses of educating twelve students from outside the Province.

Mr. Wood said that this year they had had a much more favourable expression of opinion on the Agricultural College than last year. The hon. member for Peterboro' was wrong in his estimate of the cost to the country of each pupil. He could not understand why it was that some members thought it undesirable that farmers' sons should not be able to read Shakespeare or the literature of the day. He ventured to say that in every Agricultural College in Germany, France, and the United States Shakespeare was taught. He contended that the increased accommodation had reduced the cost per annum from $360 to $258 per pupil. He agreed with hon. members that there should be a museum. He could not subscribe to the assertion of hon. members opposite that the success of the College was due to their criticism. Such was not the case, for success was achieved in opposition to the wishes and efforts of hon. gentlemen opposite.

Mr. Scott said that what he contended for in his remarks was that the education in the College should be reduced to a level more practicable. He made up the cost per pupil by taking the maintenance account, the annual addition to the capital account, and the interest on the capital. He denied having sneered at farmers or farmers' sons, having himself graduated, as had been said by the hon. member for Huron, from between the handles of a plough.

Mr. Wood said it was poor financing to charge permanent improvements that might be made to the annual cost of a pupil.

Mr. Cameron said that the Government of Mr. Sandfield Macdonald contemplated erecting a farmers' college which would have been a credit to the country and not to patch up a farming reference. His side of the House desired that the farm should be a success, and it could only be that by keeping down expenses. He went on to take exception to the salary of the President, and the proposed establishment of a bursar. He said that hon. gentlemen encouraged the President with an additional $500 per annum for insulting members of the House.

Mr. Widdifield said that the site selected by the late Government at Mimico was a good one, but he had seen nothing that would lead any one to impute improper motives to the Government. He approved the grant.

Mr. Hardy said that the increase in the number of pupils warranted the Government in having a bursar. When it was remembered that he had been working seventeen hours a day he did not wonder at the President defending himself against the attacks made upon him behind his back, but he did wonder that hon. gentlemen could find no more offensive words than those, "that in the inexperience of youth he had mistaken politicians for statesmen and partisans for patroits." The salary paid to Mr. Johnston was no great inducement to him to remain. He defended the teaching of high class literature to the pupils.

Mr. O'Donoghue thought that it was the less the labor the more the pay in the matter of the President's salary.

Mr. Cameron said that he wished it to be understood that if ever hon. gentlemen on his side of the House crossed to the other side any official insulting the people's representatives would without fear be removed from his position. It was an offence that that gentleman might be summoned to the bar of the House to answer for, but it was not the intention of hon. gentlemen on his side of the House to do anything of the kind, but he was surprised to hear the hon. the Secretary defend that gentleman.

Mr. Hardy said that the charge made by the members of the Opposition was that favor had been extended to sons of supporters of the Government, and when he was slandered in that way the President had a right to reply.

Mr. Fraser said that the debate of last session, so far as hon. gentleman opposite was concerned, was an unfair one. He ridiculed the idea of a man being called to the bar of the House for terming the people's representatives politicians and not statesmen, and partisans instead of patriots—because, forsooth, he did not call all the members of the Opposition statesmen. (Laughter.)

Mr. Cameron said that the effort was evidently to throw the members into contempt, and he wanted to know if the Government was going to protect hon. members.

After a few remarks from Mr. Sinclair the item was passed.

The Utah Legislature has passed an election law practically excluding the Gentiles from the exercise of the franchise.

An enthusiastic meeting of the Reformers of East Lambton was held at Watford on Saturday for the purpose of reorganizing Reform Association. After the election of officers a resolution was adopted endorsing the policy of the Premier, and pledging the support of the meeting at the next election.

The Evening Mercury

MONDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 24, 1878.

The Agricultural College.

We give to-day the debate in the Ontario Legislature on the item in the estimates—$21,970—asked for by the Government for the maintenance of this Institution for the current year. It will be observed that the Opposition have got down from their high horse—that they in effect give up their opposition to the College, but in their retreat make a valiant attack on the President for talking too plainly to them last year. In the discussion on Friday night scarcely a single member of the Opposition, who, before had talked long and loud in opposition to the College, raised his voice against it. They all admitted its importance and usefulness—they all agreed that it was doing good work, and they only wanted to have some changes and improvements made to meet their own wishes and those of their constituents.

The sudden change of front assumed by the Opposition was entirely unexpected, and was an equal surprise to the supporters of the Government, as it was to many who sympathize with the Opposition. It was understood at the beginning of the session that the College was to be singled out as the special object of attack, and that it was expected the Opposition would be able to make considerable capital in attacking its management, &c. Whatever led them to change their tactics we cannot tell, but in the debate on Friday the College was more praised than blamed; its opponents, in old times, frankly admitted that it was an important factor in our educational system; and that, as a training school for our young agriculturalists, it was fully answering all the purposes for which it was intended. Of course it was natural to expect that some members would cavil at the expense, and that some intensely practical farmer would object to the mere mention of Shakespear's name in the studies of the pupils, as if he knew nothing of farming or the rotation of crops. But these were only exceptional objections, and we cannot but feel, on the whole, highly pleased that this Institution has at last come to be fairly appreciated, and that it has outlived the bad reputation and slanders surrounding it in the early days of its history.

We believe that the admirable and exhaustive reports, as regards the management of the Farm and the College, have done much to bring about this change of opinion. These reports, among other good results, have led the farmers of our Province to reflect on the position they occupy, as compared with other classes in the community, and to estimate how much Government has done for them, as compared with its expenditure in aiding the other professions. This matter is too often lost sight of, even by our farmers. They forget that until the establishment of this College nothing had ever been done to raise farmers in the intellectual or moral scale, and their profession, as a profession, was entirely lost sight of, while all the others in a more or less direct way were fostered and encouraged. From the tone of the debate it is quite evident that the Opposition have changed front. The College has become too popular to warrant the old-time attacks to be made on it. They, therefore, shift their ground, and now for want of a greater grievance, they fall foul of President Johnston, who considered that he was fully justified in answering through the press some attacks that were made on him during last session of the legislature, when some members meanly insinuated, and even asserted, that favor had been extended to sons of supporters of the Government, in preference to all others in their admission to the College. We believe that the sting of that letter was in its tail, and that Mr. Johnston with an outspokenness which does not seem to please many of our legislative Solons, in winding up his letter said "that in the inexperience of youth he had mistaken politicians for statesmen and partisans for patriots." Mr. M. C. Cameron particularly seemed to be greatly exercised about this sentence, and in his good old Tory mind could not understand how any Government official would dare to tell such truth about many of our lawgivers, for as we know, there is such divinity doth hedge an M. P. P., that common mortals dare not even peep at it. We hope that Mr. Cameron will not feel his nerves greatly unstrung by such irreverent talk, and we also hope that President Johnston when he has got to say anything to our rulers will always talk in the same plain, unambiguous language.

We feel that the College has passed its turning point. The Opposition have dropped their charges. They have practically admitted that the Institution is doing a good work—that it is becoming more and more a matter of necessity to the farmer—and that it is now fully justifying the expectations we formed of it long ago, and realizing our hopes as one of the most important and valuable training schools we have in the Province.

The debate on the Budget was quiet and moderate in tone; the Finance Minister not being so aggressive as on some previous occasions and Dr. Tupper being calm in the manner of his reply; in consequence the enthusiasm was not great on either side, the passages being comparatively few where there was much applause. Mr. Cartwright's speech was able but not so well arranged and connected as on previous occasions. He was better in his reply than in his main speech. His matter was good and when he explained, in reply to the statement of a deficit for the seven months of this year, that $1,500,000 of subsidies which would not have to be repeated was included, by far the strongest part of Dr. Tupper's attack was met in a way that seemed to satisfy even Dr. Tupper himself that there was a fair prospect of a balance this year from the convinced manner in which he subsided after asking a question in regard to it.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

CONDITIONS OF PEACE.

Rumours About the Conference.

The Peace and War Demonstrations in London.

The Feeling Strongly in Favour of Turkey.

Feb. 24.

The draft of the peace conditions contained the stipulation that six of the principal Turkish iron-clads be ceded to Russia on the ground that otherwise the Porte might sell them to England. The Sultan objected. He would prefer to destroy the vessels, and promised not to tranfer them to any other Power.

The Times and Telegraph both regard the situation as very unsatisfactory. The Telegraph says nothing could well be darker than the prospect.

A Constantinople despatch gives the principal points of the fresh conditions of peace demanded by Russia.

A Pera despatch states that Russia demands that peace be concluded before the 2nd of March, and that the Musculmans shall quit Bulgaria within a year, with the right to sell their property.

A Vienna despatch says:—The joint council of the Ministers of Austria and Hungary to-day lasted five hours. The Emperor presided. Count Andrassy said he desired a vote of confidence and vote of credit for military purposes to support Austria's views at the Conference, as some of Russia's conditions, especially the holding of Bulgaria as security for the indemnity, were inadmissable.

The St. Petersburg Golos says:—Either the British squadron should withdraw to Besika Bay or the Porte receive proof that it reckons in vain upon the presence of the British iron-clads in the Sea of Marmora. Turkey should be informed that if peace is not signed at the earliest practicable date hostilities will be resumed.

The Agence also says that Russia would agree to a meeting of the Conference in Berlin if this would facilitate the preference of the Foreign Ministers.

LONDON, Feb. 24.

The supporters of the Government met in great force near the Marble Arch this afternoon for the purpose of voting down the peace resolutions, and protesting against any attempt to embarrass the Government and against a Russian occupation of Constantinople. After enthusiastically passing resolutions in favour of the Government, the crowd attacked and temporarily broke up a peace meeting which was in progress in Hyde Park. After some time Chas. Bradlaugh moved resolutions in favour of peace, but he was frequently obliged to change his position. Several fights occurred in the meantime, and the mob sang "Rule Britannia." After Bradlaugh's departure there was some heated discussion and more fighting. The crowd in and around the park was estimated at from 80,000 to 100,000. It gradually dispersed. A large and excited section went to hoot before Mr. Gladstone's residence, but was prevented from doing any damage by a strong force of police.

A few persons have been taken to the hospitals, injured at the peace meeting in Hyde Park. The affair was a complete failure. The peace resolutions were carried by a knot of persons around Bradlaugh, after he had been driven from the platform. In the evening crowds cheered before the residences of Musurus Pasha and Lord Beaconsfield. Some windows in Mr. Gladstone's house were broken.

The Post announces officially that Lord Lyons will be appointed British representative at the Conference.

MR. DALTON MCCARTHY will resume the Budget debate. Amongst the members on the Ministerial side who are likely to speak are Hon. Messrs. Mills and Burpee, G. W. Ross, and James Young.

HON. MR. LAFLAMME'S Bill to further secure the Independence of Parliament, cuts off all members of the House from accepting or holding any office, commission, or employment, permanent or temporary, in the service of the Government of Canada, or of the Government of any of the Provinces of Canada, either at the nomination of the Crown or of any of the officers of either of the Governments to which any salary, fee, wages, allowance, or emolument, or profit of any kind is attached. It also prohibits any person entitled to any superannuation or retiring allowance from the Government of Canada from being a member of the House, or sitting or voting therein. This proposition cuts off the employment of members of Parliament as Crown Counsel, School Inspector, and a variety of positions to which members of the Commons were not ineligible by the Act are to be null and void, and a penalty of $200 is added for every day on which any disqualified member sits or votes in the House. The disqualification is not to extend to officers of the militia or militiamen not receiving any salary or emolument out of the public money of Canada except only his daily pay when called out for drill or on active service. The prohibition also extends to the Senate.

Mr. McDougall on Friday on a question of privilege ventilated a matter for which he was rightly brought to task in the Hamilton Times a few days previously. We have not room for any reference to the matter to-day but must leave it over till to-morrow.

GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA is almost magical in its removal of pain no matter from what source the latter proceeds.

Ex-Mayor William Workman, who has been seriously ill for many months, died on Saturday night. He was a brother of Mr. Thomas Workman, M. P. for Montreal.

A San Francisco correspondent writes:—'We are no longer enterprising Californians; all the old spirit is out of us—has evaporated under the gradual change that has come over the character of the country by virtue of rapid and easy railroad communication. We are just like everybody else; can be as close, as mean, as unreliable, and bear watching as closely as if just fresh from the East. The day was when it was considered the proper thing to open-handed, liberal, cock your hat on one side of your head, swagger up to a bar and invite everybody to drink. We don't do it now, for that noble army of martys that lean against the door-posts and counters of saloons would impoverish Flood & O'Brien. I see men slipping into little dens for a furtive 10-cent lunch solus, that were wont to indulge in champagne and oysters and smoke 50 cent cigars. Now they smoke the 50-cents-a-hundred quality. The truth is the community is poor. What between stocks and a general depreciation of values, the class of men that were considered well to do a couple of years ago are now, in Californis parlance 'busted.'"

The End of the World.

When is it to come, has for years—centuries indeed—caused much speculation and prophecy, all of which thus far seems useless. Now we are decidedly tired for the various set times for the end of the world, and therefore have had our "Foreign Correspondent" look into the matter, and the result is that he finds in the British Museum certain "Prophecies of Mother Shipton," which we herewith give to our readers. This good old lady lived and flourished as long ago as 1641, and the Museum contains several editions of her Prophecies—one made in 1635, another 1667, and the last one, a reprint, dated 1870, and from which we copy the following prophecy. Will the reader read it carefully, mark many of the prophecies that have already come to pass, and then note those that are yet unfulfilled. We think that Mother Shipton is much nearer right than any of the Millerites who have so often prophecied the end of all earthly things. But here is Mother Shipton's prophecy, word for word, as copied from the records of the British Museum:

A house of glass shall come to pass
In England—but, alas!
War will follow with the work
In the land of the Pagan and Turk;
And state and state in fierce strife,
Will seek each others life.
But when the North shall divide the South,
An eagle shall build in the lion's mouth:

Carriages without horses shall go,
And accidents fill the world with woe;
Primrose Hill in London shall be,
And in its centre a Bishop's See.
Around the world thoughts shall fly,
In the twinkling of an eye.

Water shall yet more wonders do;
Now, strange things shall yet be true.
The world upside down shall be,
And gold found at the root of a tree.
Through hills man shall ride,
And no horse or ass by his side.
Under water men shall walk,
Shall ride, shall sleep, shall talk,
In the air men shall be seen,
In white and black and green.

Iron in water shall float,
As easy as a wooden boat.
Gold shall be found and shown
In a land that is now unknown:
Fire and water shall more wonders do.
England shall at last admit a Jew,
The Jew that was held in scorn
Shall of a Christian be born, and born.

Three times three shall lovely France
Be led to dance a bloody dance,
Before her people shall be free,
Three tyrant rulers shall she see;
Three times the people rule alone,
Three times the people's hope is gone,
Three rulers in succession see,
Each springing from differently nasty.
Then shall the worser fight be done,
England and France shall be as one.

All England's sons that plough the land
Shall be seen book in hand.
Learning shall ebb and flow,
The poor more wisdom know.

The world to an end shall come,
In eighteen hundred and eighty-one.

CHAPTER XXIII.

WALTER ADAMSON IN GLENROY.

If he missed the opening which led into the valley where Morven's house was situated he might wander far from the path, and not only fail to reach the termination of his journey, but be benighted among those savage mountains—a prospect anything but cheering to a sober citizen of Aberdeen, who seldom stirred from his cosy fireside after nightfall.

The mere thought of such a catastrophe befalling him brought the sweat upon his brow, and made him look in all directions with a desperate earnestness for the opening in the glen which he ought to enter. Openings, or what appeared to be openings, he saw in plenty, but on investigation they turned out to be mere recesses, or or cul-de sacs, closed in at the further extremity by cliffs, and he wasted precious time in exploring them.

With a groan almost of despair, Mr. Adamson glanced towards the sun and saw that it had begun to decline towards the western heights. In two hours, or three at most, it would sink out of sight, and the evening shadows would gather overhead, Then what an evil case he would be in, without beild or shelter for the night, not to speak of the want of food, a keen appetite for which his unwonted exercise had engendered.

Things looked so serious that the lawyer sincerely repented his rashness in undertaking such a mission, and wished most unfeignedly, that he was at that moment walking the pavement of Huxter Row, instead of treading the heather of that solitary Highland glen.

As he stood indulging in this vain regret and trying to consider what he should do, a faint and distant sound came to his ear, which made his heart bound with hope. At first he was afraid it was but the cry of a plover or some other bird of the wilderness, but the sound was too continuous and too rhythmical for a feathered throat to emit; and as he intently listened it came more distinctly through the stillness, till he could discover it to be a human voice, lifted up in song.

He looked behind, before, and around in search of the singer, and at length spied a moving speck descending a slope to the right. It was yet a long way off, and but for the sound of singing he could not have determined whether the object was a man or an animal.

Satisfied, however, for the reason mentioned, that it was a man, and that he was going in the same direction as himself, the lawyer hurried forward to join him when he reached the hollow of the glen, hoping to receive from the stranger such directions as might enable him to find Morven's cottage, or failing that, some place of lodging for the night.

As the distance was lessened between them the sound of singing became more and more distinct. Sometimes it stopped, but soon broke out again in a different tune, but always of a style merry and lively, showing that the singer was in one of his happy moods, and beguiling the loneliness of the way with snatches of some pleasant airs.

For a time the lawyer lost sight of him behind a screen of bushes which skirted the crest of the slope; but even then, though unseen, his presence was made known by the cheery trill of his lifting. Presently he emerged on a ridge, where his form came out in bold relief against the sky, and the lawyer stood still in astonishment at the strange outline of the figure thus presented to view.

To any person acquainted with the district and accustomed to travel there, the extraordinary aspect of the figure would have occasioned no surprise, for it would have been instantly recognized as the form of Daddy Duff; but the lawyer had never seen the wandering beggar, nor had his character and peculiarity of dress been described to him. His amazement, therefore, can easily be imagined when he caught sight of such a singular, wild-looking being bearing down upon him from the height. The broad-brimmed sou'-wester, the long flowing hair, his tattered and multifarious garments, bare legs, and clouted feet, together with the wallet on his back, and the huge cudgel in his hand, constituted a tout ensemble so unusual that Mr. Adamson might well gaze with a feeling bordering on dismay.

If this was a lunatic, as he could hardly doubt, what a dreadful business to meet him in that lonely place, where no protection could be had from his insane fury. The strength of such persons he knew to be prodigious, and such as he could not expect to cope with even for a moment. The man was evidently in a hilarious mood at at the present time, but who knew what effect might be produced on him by the sight of a stranger. He might be driven into a paroxysm of rage, and kill the lawyer on the spot.

Inspired by fear, Mr. Adamson crept behind a jutting rock and watched the object of his terror. He knew he could not long remain concealed there. As soon as the man passed the ridge and turned the corner of the path he would discover him, and then—Mr. Adamson shuddered with fearful apprehension at what might be in store for him.

On the very crown of the ridge Daddy paused, threw himself in a threatening attitude, swung his cudgel fiercely round his head, and sung with great energy the following portion of a Jacobite ballad:—

"Donald's run owre the hill, bot his tether ran
As he were wud or stang'd wi' anither man;
When he comes back there's some will look merrily;
Here's to King James and Donald Macgillvray.
Come like a weaver, Donald Macgillvray—
Come like a weaver, Donald Macgillvray—
Pack on your back, wi' elwan' sae cleverly,
Gie them full measure, my Donald Macgillvray."

"Mad—clean mad," ejaculated the lawyer with increasing dismay. "I sair doot I'm a gone man. Oh, if I only knew how to quiet him. There he is coming on again. In half a minute he'll destroy me. I had better go boldly forward and meet him, for should he see me here it might encourage him.

The lawyer rose and came from behind the rock, apparently calm and unconcerned, but inwardly full of the utmost trepidation. Almost at the same moment Daddy Duff turned the corner of the road and beheld him.

He did not start exactly, for Daddy was not a little amazed at seeing an elderly, well-dressed man walking in the hollow, and as he came leisurely down the descent he scanned him narrowly and curiously, his thoughts finding vent in the verse of another Jacobite song which he burst out with—

"Come up among our Highland hills,
Thou wee, wee German lairdie.
And see how the Stuart's land kail thrive.
They dibbled in our yairdie.
An' if a stock ye daur tae pu',
Or hand the yokin' o' a plou',
We'll break your sceptre owre your mou',
Thou were bit German lairdie.

By the time he had finished the verse he and the lawyer were within a yard or two of each other.

"Weel, neebor," exclaimed Daddy, who never scrupled to address a stranger, "ye seem far frae hame, if ane may judge by lookin' at ye."

The lawyer was immensely relieved. Wild in dress and shaggy in aspect as the man was he seemed neither ferocious nor insane. On the contrary, the expression of his face, as seen through the mass of grey hair, was pleasant and good-natured. On noticing this, Mr. Adamson's confidence and composure returned at once.

"Why, yes;" he replied, "I am at considerable distance from home, and was, in fact, at a loss which way to go, when I heard you far up the height sounding forth Jacobite songs."

"And where should Jacobite songs be sung but among the Highland hills?" returned Daddy. "It's the natural atmosphere for them, I trow; and I hope ane may sing them nae wi'oot treason?"

"Oh, certainly, certainly," Mr. Adamson hastened to answer. "Many of the Jacobite ballads, apart from their political sentiments, are full of poetry—pure soul stirring poetry—force, fire, vigour, and—and—all that sort of thing. Then, as you say, there is no place so appropriate for singing them as in the Highlands, for the Highlanders were nearly all Jacobites—faithful and enthusiastic followers of the Stuarts, though it might puzzle one to know the reason, for the Stuarts had shown them anything but special favour or goodwill."

"Hoots," responded Daddy. "The Heilanders were nae mare Jacobite than the rest o' the kintry. Ilka Clan foucht on the side its Chief ordered, and foucht that side because he ordered it. The Campbells were Hanoverians because MacCallumore was a Whig, and the Camerons because Lochiel was a Tory. As for the Frasers, they were on the tae side in the '15, and on the tither side in the '45,' just because Lovat had changed his political coat in the interval."

"I believe you are to a great extent right, my friend," said the lawyer, inwardly marvelling at the shrewd sense and intelligence of the queer being by his side, and greatly at a loss what to make of him. He had by this time entirely dismissed from his mind the idea that the wanderer was insane. Eccentric he no doubt was, as his dress and whole appearance indicated, but instead of being deficient in mental faculties he seemed to have more than the usual share of these.

They went on side by side for some time in silence, while the lawyer was trying to take stock of Daddy, the latter was in turn endeavouring to discover who his companion could be and what could be his purpose in thus rambling among the solitary recesses of Glenroy. Every now and then he cast a furtive glance at Mr. Adamson, and the more he looked the more unable was he to make any satisfactory conjecture. To Daddy's mind the stranger was not a farmer or a minister or a doctor, and it was not a season of the year for any one traversing the Highlands for pleasure. For once in life Daddy's penetration was at fault, and he had recourse to his snuff-horn for aid in his perplexity.

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

Russia Modifies her Terms

English and Russian Situation Unsatisfactory.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—A Constantinople despatch says that Russia has slightly modified her terms.

Constantinople advices state that matters pertaining to the treaty are progressing favorably, and that it will probably be signed to-day, the Russians having modified some objectionable portions of the conditions.

The situation as regards England and Russia is looked upon as unimproved and unsatisfactory.

Entertainment at the Agricultural College.

The annual entertainment given by the students of the Agricultural College, under the auspices of their Literary Society, came off on Monday night. The affair was entirely under the management of the Literary Society, the Committee of which had sent invitations to the officers of the College, and the members had the privilege of extending invitations to their friends in town. Acting on these invitations there was a very large attendance, between 300 and 400 being present. The audience included several of the ministers of the town, and quite a number of the professional and business men. The ladies were well represented and there was a goodly proportion of young people. A very neat stage with all the accessions of footlights, scenery, wings, curtains, &c., had been erected by the students, who deserve great credit for the tasteful way in which it was fitted up.

After a duet by Miss Geddes and Miss Foster, Mr. Johnston, the President, welcomed the company on behalf of the Literary Society, then followed a comedy of "The Rough Diamond," which considering all the circumstances was well played. Mr. Crompton as "Margery" was excellent, "Cousin Joe" by Mr. Davies was also well done, Messrs. Lawson, Stirling and Hartshorn took their parts well, and Mr. Toole as Lady Plato did as well as could be expected under the trying circumstances.

This piece was followed by a favorite duett by Miss Geddes and Miss Foster, which was followed by a pianoforte solo and a vocal solo by Miss Foster, both of which were well rendered and well received.

Then followed a lecture on "Electricity," which, whether we regard the character and make up of the lecturer, or the substance of his lecture, was greatly admired. The lecturer took quite naturally to his subject, and his extravaganzes in language and gesture were thoroughly appreciated and heartily laughed at.

The farce of "The Cantab" closed the entertainment. In this comedy "Charles Cheddar," (Mr. Crompton) and "Hannah" (Mr. Davies) stood out conspicuously, and they were well supported by Mr. Stirling as "Boodle," Mr. Carey as "Mrs. Boodle," and Mr. Breckon as "Sergeant Berlins." The playing was very fair, and the actors thoroughly succeeded in amusing the audience and in winning applause.

"God Save the Queen" brought this very successful entertainment to a close, and all left highly pleased with their evening's enjoyment, and fully appreciating the efforts that the students had made to provide such a pleasing and enjoyable entertainment.

CURLING.

Guelph, 22; Fergus, 6—Rink Medal.

Fergus sought satisfaction at the hands of the Guelph players on Monday, and for the purpose of accomplishing the end desired, sent down a crack rink of curlers to vanquish the best team here. The visit was unexpected, but Guelph is always ready to meet rivals, and Mr. A. Robertson, jr., skipped the rink that defeated the visitors by a score of 22 to 6. The ice was in excellent condition, and the game throughout was interesting. The score is subjoined:—

GUELPH.	FERGUS.
John McKenzie.	T. Hughes.
Alex. Bruce.	C. Young.
R. Mitchell.	M. Anderson.
A. Robertson, sk—22	Henry Michie, sk—6

Robert Service, of Hamilton, has written to Mr. Wm. Mitchell, President of the Curling Club, stating that he wishes to donate a Kilmarnock bonnet, to be played for by members of the Guelph Club:

Four rinks from Brampton are scoping the stanes with an equal number of Guelph rinks to-day.

Another of the games for the rink medal was played on Monday, between rinks skipped by Messrs. James Emslie and A. Congalton. The ice was in good order, and the game throughout was remarkably close. Considerable excitement was manifested when it was a tie at the last end. The play was made, and Mr. Congalton proved the winner by one shot. The score is subjoined:—

Wm. Bruce.	John Oliver.
Thos. Gowdy.	Dr. McGuire.
Robt. Emslie.	W. H. Mills.
Jas. Emslie, sk—20.	A. Congalton, sk—21

THERE is likely to be a School Drill Association formed in connection with the High and Public Schools in town, under the instruction of Major Macdonald. It certainly would prove healthy exercise and be an advantage to the young lads to become proficient in military drill.

THE Caledonians met in their rooms last evening for the purpose of completing arrangements for the trip to Erin on Thursday next. It is said that half the township is likely to be present. The Caledonians have certainly adopted an excellent mode of strengthening their Society.

A NEW SCHOOL BUILDING.—A special committee appointed by the Board of Education to take into consideration the whole matter of the old Grammar School and grounds, recommend that steps be at once taken to place a portion of the ground in the market for sale, and that plans and specifications be prepared for a new building for the High School.

CHECKERS.—Three noted players from Acton were in Guelph yesterday for the purpose of trying conclusions with some of the Guelph players. Mr. Naismith played with two of them, proving a victor in one case and was vanquished in the other. It is expected that a match will be arranged at Guelph with the same visitors as opponents within a few days. The meeting for the organization of a checker club and election of officers will be held at the American Hotel this evening.

FOUR MONTHS.—It will be remembered that Henry Soden was sentenced to four months in gaol, a short time ago, for vagrancy. As soon as the Police Magistrate had expressed his opinion that Henry should be cared for during the spring months he left town. Becoming ill he returned home and was attended until he got better. Not mending his ways thereafter he was apprehended by the police and placed in charge of the gaol officials.

CHEEKY.—A tramp entered the newsroom of the MERCURY office this morning, with a waltz step. He was a brawny fellow, whose fighting weight would be at least two hundred pounds. His countenance was a study. It was deeply scarred, and the seams that had riven his cheeks looked as though they had been accomplished by means of something more striking than study. Still it could be seen that something was on his mind; that he was abstractedly thoughtful. His mission was soon learned from the address he delivered to the compositors: "Boys, I am one of you. In me you behold a great mind, who in his day had been the pride of New York offices, and had money enough and to spare. Now I am "busted," and want relief. In fact, in me you behold a dead beat. Notwithstanding that trivial fact, shell out, or tell me that ye will not." His artless manner softened the heart of one of the compositors, and he contributed. The others were not possessed of the same sympathizing nature, and the two hundred pounder could not soften their hearts to the extent of twenty five cents each. The tramp then left to try his hand at imposing on others.

THE SUMMIT OF MEANNESS.—There is a certain class of people in the neighborhood of Cumnock, a post village about five miles from Fergus, who have doubtless been making the whole study of their life such as would fit them for any act of meanness whereby they might eclipse all former efforts. They have made favorable progress in that direction, judging from a what occured on Friday night last. A correspondent informs us that Mr. Geo. Anderson, living in the village, had made arrangements for giving a social party on Friday evening last. Several parties from the neighborhood drove to Cumnock, and their horses were put in the stables of Mr. John Anderson, which are only a short distance from the former's residence. Time sped on with swift wings until toward morning, when the company began to separate. Messrs. John Ross and Albert Deans proceeded to the stables for their horses and rigs, when they were unable to tell which animals belonged to them. The horses occupying the same stalls they had put their animals into were bob-tails, and they remembered that the animals they had driven had tails of considerable length. Finally satisfying themselves that some scoundrels had wantonly cut off the horses' tails, and that as the deed had been done, it could not be helped, they proceeded to hitch up. It was then discovered that the harness had been utterly ruined with a sharp knife. The work was doubtless done by some parties who would not scruple at committing a great crime if anything stood in the way to prevent an accomplishment of any purpose they had in view. It is stated that $50 will be offered as a reward for the conviction of the guilty parties.

A REFORMED YOUNG MAN.—January 1.—The coming year I am determined neither to drink, smoke nor swear. Nor will I use any manner of "slang." It is coarse and impolite. Nor will I eat with my knife; nor make any noise in swallowing my soup. I will attend church regularly. I shall take a Sunday school class. I will not read any light, trashy literature. I am going to study French, German, music, Spanish and Italian; also Latin and Greek. I am resolved to speak mildly and politely to my mother, brothers and sisters. I am going to rise at five o'clock the year round, and bathe in cold water winter and summer. I shall avoid late suppers, and too much butter. I will not stare at young ladies on the streets. I shall join a debating society. I wish to be an orator, and get to Ottawa. I am going to read Darwin, Spencer and Hill. I will read only solid books. I am going to join a gymnasium, to perfect my muscles. I will not speak evilly or slanderously of any one. I will not poke fun at anybody. Febuary 28.—It is too darned big a contract. [End of Diary.]

Mr. Robert Clarke of Badenoch, Puslinch, died on Sunday last. Deceased is the eldest son of Mr. John Clarke.

WEATHER PROBS.—Light to moderate winds, clear to fair weather, nearly stationery temperature, are the weather probs. for to-day.

THE expenditure through Capt. H. H. Swinford, inspector of weights and measures for Wellington, for the past fiscal year, was $862.05, and was made up as follows:—Office rent, $120; travelling expenses, &c., $142.05; salary, $600. Fees collected were $916.15.

READ the advertisement having reference to the tableaux vivants in the Town Hall on Thursday and Friday evenings.

BY advertisement, it will be seen that a bargain can be secured in the sale of the house No. 3, Mary street.

MARKETS.—As will be seen by the quotations to-day compared with those of yesterday there has been a change in several articles. Wheat has risen in price slightly; pork is higher than it has been for some time—no doubt owing to the fact that it is becoming scarcer. There is a slight rise in oats and other articles.

POST OFFICE RETURNS.—From the Postmaster General's report for the year ending 30th June, 1877, it is learned that the gross revenue of the Guelph Post-office for that period, was $11,611.41; salaries, $2,912; forward allowances, $400; allowance towards rent, fuel and light, $400. Money-orders were issued for $26,739 21; total commission received, $162 34. Orders were paid to the amount of $54,611.51; commission allowed postmaster, $89.49.

CARNIVAL TO-NIGHT.—The carnival to be held on the rink this evening will, judging from the number who have signified their intention of going, and from the excellent condition of the ice, be a greater success than any previous affair of this kind ever held here. Mr. Gildersleeve, of Toronto, arrived at the Royal Hotel on Monday with a large variety of costumes, which are being let rapidly. The band which has been engaged for the occasion will enliven the proceedings with music at intervals, and no doubt prove a pleasing feature throughout the evening. Doors open at seven o'clock, and the ice will be used only by those who are masked for the entire night. Admission for spectators fifteen cents, maskers who hold season tickets fifteen cents, and to others in costume, twenty-five cents.

SUFFOCATED.—Thomas Mills, employed as night engineer at Waterman Bros' refinery, London, was on Saturday night suffocated while engaged in his work. One of the duties of the unfortunate man was to pump oil into the agitator from the distilled tanks, and it is supposed that he had, about nine o'clock, looked into the agitator, when a gust of wind, through the window on the north side, blew the gas from the oil into his face, rendering him insensible for the time, and resulting in his death. He was found about one hour thereafter by some of his fellow-workmen.

THAT BABY.—Mrs. Heffernan, of Ennotville, mother of the ten months' old baby, which has already been referred to, called at the sanctum of the MERCURY Office this (Tuesday) morning, so that the interesting little fellow might be seen. A reporter interviewed the child, talked the "pittie ittle chickie biddie" business, took particular notice of the fleshy limbs, &c., and was satisfied that the most wonderful child ever born in this section of the country is the one in question. Just think of a forty-two pounder, only ten months old, stands two feet five inches in its stockings, twenty-five inches round the chest, and can walk and talk. All this is claimed for John Patrick Heffernan.

"PROHIBITION."—At least some of the audience did not see through nor understand the thousands and millions mentioned at the lecture in the Town Hall last evening. Mr. Griffin was advocating the prohibition of all shoddy goods being imported into Canada, when Mr. Thomas Miller rose to his feet at the back end of the hall and wanted to know why the lecturer should advocate the claims of prohibition, when the posters calling the meeting stated that the lecture would be non-political. At least one in the audience looked on liquor and shoddy goods as being equal.

IT STANDS UNEQUALLED.—Those who have used Wilson's Compound Syrup Wild Cherry, know it to be unequalled for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Loss of Voice, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all kindred diseases. A 25c. bottle will cure any ordinary case. A 50c. bottle has frequently cured chronic cases of from one month to two years' standing, and that after having spent many dollars in vain attempts to get relief. A dollar bottle holds more in proportion, and should be kept in every house. It will save many a doctor's bill.

"Cheap Money."

Lecture by Mr. George D. Griffin.

A small audience assembled in the Town Hall on Monday evening, to hear Mr. Geo. D. Griffin, editor of the Dominion Watchman, deliver a lecture on "Cheap money, and how to make better times." On motion Mr. J. B. Armstrong took the chair, who at once introduced the lecturer.

Mr. Griffin at once entered upon his subject in a manner which showed conclusively that his heart was in it, and although his delivery was not by any means easy, he spoke so carefully that it was not difficult for the audience to follow what he said, although it is certain that very few would understand how his theories could be practically carried out. If he was right there would be nothing in the world easier to accomplish than make Canada, and in fact every other country prosperous, every person to have lots of money, and every business to be driven at a two-forty pace. All this would be accomplished by the Government issuing an irredeemable currency for the development of the national resources. The lecturer held that the money would cost the country nothing—entirely different from the issue of specie. If the Intercolonial Railway had been paid for with paper issued by the Government, the cost would have literally been nothing, and it would not have mattered then if the road never did any more than pay running expenses. All business transacted in the country could be carried on by paper, and gold would only be needed when dealing with foreign countries. The speaker held that the premium that would have to be paid by the merchant for gold would tend largely, if not altogether, to prevent over importations. At the present time in reality the premium is quite as much, as the losses sustained are an indirect premium paid. Temporary relief could be afforded by making all bank notes legal tender, and foreign merchants would be obliged to take notes for gold. It was argued that the cost of the government of the country, including municipal, provincial, and federal, was $50 per family, while the whole amount earned over and above expenses for food and clothing was $36 per family, thus the cost was really $14 per family more than the country had money to pay. This was held to be one of the causes of the present depression. The first depression Canada had was in 1837—the ten millions borrowed to built the Rideau canal was the cause of over importation. The next depression was in 1847, after Sir Francis Hincks had borrowed money from England. The high prices during the Crimean war brought on the extravagance which caused the crash in 1857. People talk about reaching bottom, but he held there was no bottom when the Government expenses exceeded the earnings of the people. Since 1861 the cost of the Government had kept increasing, and we were now getting behind at the rate of twenty-five millions a year. No more money should be borrowed by the Government. The Pacific Railway could be built by paper currency; all municipal indebtedness could be paid off; money could be lent to farmers at three per cent. for draining their lands, and manufactures could be fostered by lending money at the same rate for the purpose of building them up. The speaker dwelt largely on the importation of fraudulent or shoddy goods. Some measure should be enacted to deal with shoddy as England had done with tea, when all adulterated packages were destroyed. Boards of Trade were censured as being a party to the importation of fraudulent goods, the individual members thereby enriching themselves and impoverishing the country. If the twenty millions a year spent in importing shoddy goods was stopped, the manufacture of goods to take their place would give employment to 60,000 workmen. Other statements were made which proved conclusively that the speaker believed the country would eventually go to the dogs, the banks would all break one after the other, unless his scheme was followed out, which in short is: a cheaper government, by doing away with municipal institutions and local legislatures, and having magistrates and constables to transact all the business; cheaper money, by issuing an irredeemable paper currency; and the prohibition of shoddy goods.

In reply to a question asked by Mr. Roche, the lecturer stated that he did not believe a readjustment of the tariff would prevent the importation of shoddy goods.

Mr. Griffin wanted a resolution moved supporting the views advocated by himself. After a considerable wait, no resolution was forthcoming, and after a vote of thanks to Mr. Griffin, moved by Messrs. Charles Davidson and John Roche, the meeting broke up.

Mr. John Hoffman, of Berlin, died at his residence on Friday, after one week's sickness. The deceased was one of the oldest business men of the town, having come from Pennsylvania some fifty years ago. He at one time kept a large cabinet factory in that place, and was for ten or twelve years in the mercantile and milling business. He had been reeve a number of years in Waterloo, and mayor two years in Berlin.

On Wednesday, the 13th, a delegation from north of Listowel went to Stratford to consult with directors of Stratford and Huron line, as to the advisability of extending the road northwards from Listowel. The delegation was met by the board of directors, who after the question had been discussed, agreed to send a committee to visit the several municipalities interested, and ascertain the feeling of the people with respect to the scheme.

Board of Education.

Recommendations in Regard to New High School Building.

A meeting was held on Monday evening. Present—Judge Macdonald in the chair; Messrs. Peterson, Inglis, McKenzie, Newton, Leonard, Murton, Innes, Wilkie, Dr. Keating.

A communication was received from the Principal of the Schools, asking for certain Greek, Latin, and French lexicons for the use of the schools; also, that further room be allowed for a girls' lunch room. Referred.

SCHOOL MANAGEMENT COMMITTEE.

Mr. Peterson, chairman, presented the following report:

They have considered the communication of Major Macdonald in regard to the formation of a School Drill Association, and would observe that if it is suggested that such Association be sanctioned, the pupils would not be interferred with during school hours, nor would any expense be incurred save of a trifling character, whilst the consent of the parents and guardians in each case would be necessary to permit any pupil to be enrolled. The Committee considers the matter of sufficient importance to recommend that Major Macdonald be requested to meet the Board at a future meeting so as to furnish full information on the whole subject to enable the Board to determine on the feasibility of forming an Association. This is proposed to cover both High and Public School pupils.

On motion of Mr. Peterson, seconded by Mr. Innes, the report was adopted.

FINANCE REPORT.

Mr. Newton, chairman, reported that payment of the following accounts be made: Secretary, $16 35; Globe, $5 50; Mail, $4 20; J. Anderson, $10.60; F. T. Chapman, $4.80; W. H. Mills, $5.20; Geo. Howard, $36.48; Wm. Day, $16.93; Wm. Sunley, $8.17.

The report was adopted.

SPECIAL COMMITTEE ON GRAMMAR SCHOOL.

Mr. Wilkie, chairman, presented the following report:

The committee appointed at last meeting to consider the whole matter of the grammar school and grounds, as to whether they would recommend an entirely new building, or remodel the old one, and the probable cost and what amount, if any, should be expended this year, also as to the propriety of selling part of the ground, and the amount likely to be realized from the same, beg leave to report that from the present rate of increase the attendance at the high school and the proportion of high school pupils to population in other towns, accommodation for at least 300 pupils will be required in a few years here. That the accommodation at present afforded the high school in one of the public school buildings and one room of the Central School is far from sufficient or satisfactory, impeding the progress of the school, and causing a great deal of unnecessary trouble and inconvenience to all concerned.

That the committee have examined the old grammar school, and it would appear that in the construction of a suitable building for the high school there might be a saving affected of ——per cent of the total by using the stone walls of grammar school in the formation of class rooms in connection with a main hall, which would necessarily be built on the south-west side of the old building, giving the latter a new front, to correspond with the new front of the main hall. The whole surface of the high ground might with advantage be sloped off gradually towards Paisley street, the material being used to raise the lower ground towards the creek, the same being first drained towards the lowest point.

The ground east of the creek and fronting on Yorkshire street is of no service as a play ground, and might be disposed of without injuring the position for a high school, care being taken to preserve a strip on the east side of the creek, say ten feet wide, to be closely planted with trees, which would be an advantage to the purchasers of the lots as well. At the north-east corner an entrance fifteen feet wide should be reserved to the grounds from Yorkshire street. The piece of ground proposed to be sold to bring about $——, as the frontage on Yorkshire street is very good for building lots.

A suitable building, properly ventilated and warmed, built in a plain and substantial manner, would not cost less than $——. The committee could not recommend the board to make a requisition upon the town for the money required for the building, although they feel pressed by the disadvantages position in which the High School is placed for want of suitable accommodation. While on the one hand it might be a very handsome thing to hand down to posterity the unbroken square of four acres, it does not appear to be good economy to leave a portion of the ground, which is really not wanted for school purposes, lying idle, as the disposal of it, would reduce the amount of money required to such a reasonable figure that the Council of the Town of Guelph, when asked to contribute to the expense, might at once give the matter their favorable consideration. On having plans and specifications prepared, utilizing, as far as possible, the old building, the stone work of which seems substantial and sound, it might be found that the total sum required, with the proceeds of the sale of the land and grants from the County Council, might not exceed what the Town Council would readily vote by dividing the payments over three or four years—for your dCommittee are not without hope that the County Council may be induced to supplement the grant already made when the advantages of the school are more fully understood. There are other matters which might be referred to in support of what the Committee would recommend, but they are, perhaps, beyond the scope of this report.

The Committee would, therefore, recommend that steps be taken to place the piece of ground at once in the market for sale under the Committee on Sites and Buildings, and that authority be given to the Standing Committee on Sites and Buildings to prepare, with the assistance of the Principal of the High School, a sketch of the ground plan of the building required, and that a practised architect and builder be employed to prepare the necessary plans and specifications for the purpose of having an estimate made of the probable cost of the same, to be reported for the further consideration of this Board.

On motion the report was left over for consideration till next meeting.

The chairman then left the chair.

James Gordon Bennett is asking aid from Congress to organize a new Artic expedition, with which object he some time ago purchased the Pandora.

The "Abandoned Man" On His Defence.

Since Mr. Wm. McDougall went into the Local Legislature he has tried several roles, but he seems to have been unsuccessful in them all. He has posed as a patriot; he has tried to appear as martyr in his attempt to grasp the Lieutenant-Governorship of Manitoba; he has tried, but unsuccessfully, the role of an injured and innocent statesman; he has come to the front as a speculator in mining and other stocks; he has been detected in more than one scaley transaction, and yet with an injured innocence which does not sit comfortably on the wearer, he now seeks to prove that he is more sinned against than sinning, and asks the public to whitewash him of all his offences.

Before we can think of such a thing, let us look into this latest business of Mr. MDcougall's, which, through the Hamilton Times, was last week made known to the public, and which he, wincing under the charge, sought to clear away in an explanation under a question of privilege.

The case in brief is as follows:—The plaintiff in the suit, which was tried last December, in the Court of Chancery, was John M. Grant, of the firm of Grieveson & Grant, stock brokers, London, and the defendant the Hon. Wm. McDougall. The proceedings were taken upon a bill tyled by the plaintiff to compel the defendant to pay the sum of £633 15s. 9d. sterling and interest thereon due to the plaintiff upon a mortgage given by the defendant on certain house property in the city of Toronto, or in default to enable the plaintiff to foreclose. The debt above referred to was the amount alleged by the plaintiff to be due to him for advances made on defendant's behalf to cover "differences" on Stock Exchange transactions in which plaintiff and his partner had acted as brokers for defendant in selling Hudson Bay Company's shares. The case was heard before Vice Chancellor Blake in December last, who, in his judgment, briefly and concisely stated the case as follows:—

In October, 1874—the defendant not being in a position to make good the balance at that date actually due to his stock-brokers, and they—not being able to make any better settlement—accepted a mortgage; that from October to February, 1875, they carried this stock for him, and then they wrote and telegraphed, and Mr. George Stephen was seen, and the answer was that they agreed in the views taken by the plaintiff that the stock was going up, and upon that he, on instructions, sold that stock, and he at once informed the defendant of the sale, and that terminated all the transaction in existence between the plaintiff and defendant. No other transactions was ever entered into between the plaintiff and defendant, and no further account rendered; and in May, 1875, the plaintiff, not being able to get any settlement, came to this country, and the transactions which had ended three months previously were then gone into with Mr. Bell and £300 thrown off, a note for $1,530 was given, in addition to the sum covered by the mortgage, and so that there might be no room for difficulty between the parties, a memorandum was prepared by Mr. Bell. So that there was made a settlement between the plaintiff and defendant, and from that period onwards there was no transactions between the defendant and plaintiff, and there is now consequently no defence whatever to the demand the plaintiff makes of payment of this mortgage which he took for the payment of £633 15s. 9d. actually due since October, 1874. On the plea urged by the defendant that it was a stock-jobbing transaction, and that the defendant was not liable for any losses that might be incurred, the Judge said:—

This is a case in which the very plain language of Sir William Jones, in Haigh vs. Kaye, B.R. 7 Chy. Appeals, 469, 473, which has been referred to, might be applied—"If a defendant means to say that he claims to hold property given to him for an immoral purpose and in violation of all honor and honesty he must say so in plain terms, and must clearly put forward his own scoundrelism if he means to reap the benefit of it." This is a case in which the rule peculiarly applies, and in which, if a defendant chooses to raise such a defence he must be distinctly placed on the record and his oath pledged to it. The Court is not bound to aid in defeating seemingly just claims by such defences. If an application had been earlier made to put in a supplemental answer, and it would not have caused further delay, it might perhaps have been granted, although one element in refusing to consider this defence is, that I do not think it is a case that comes within the authorities that have been cited. Here, there was an actual agreement for the purchase and for the sale. As it turns out there has been an actual transaction. As it turns out there has been an actual dealing with the stock—an actual indebtedness between the principal and the agent, and not a case touched by these decisions which have been a mere wagering between the parties. There has been no wagering. In this instance it is a case of a principal instructing an agent to make a purchase, and of the agent making that purchase in the ordinary course of dealing on the Stock Exchange. I do not think it a case in which the answer should be at this late stage allowed, and, even if allowed, and the case were argued on such an answer, I am not aware of any authority which would go so far as to say where the agent has carried out the instructions of the principal, and where there has been an actual indebtedness carried on day after day, that the mortgage can be defeated. The plaintiff is entitled to the usual decree—possession and foreclosure in default of payment.

After such a decision Mr. Macdougall stands before the public in anything but a favorable light, and we think the less he ventilates this subject, the less he will have to answer for to the people. He has unsparingly attacked the private characters of public men, but when it comes to his own, he is more vulnerable than them all, because he is open to so many points of attack, and has so often shifted his ground that he can be assailed and condemned at every point.

Ontario Legislature.

TORONTO, Feb. 25.

After some unimportant business, Mr. Creighton moved for returns showing the number of persons who, as Crown witnesses, received payment during 1877, and the number of persons who attended the various Courts for the purpose of giving evidence, but who received no pay. The Attorney-General suggested that, to save much labour, the returns should be confined to a few counties, and yet serve the purposes aimed at. This modification was accepted by the member for North Grey.

Mr. Meredith moved his resolution.

"That it is not expedient that any member of the House of Commons or of the Senate of Canada should be appointed to any office or employment in the service of the Government of Ontario, at the nomination of the Crown or of the Lieutenant-Governor, to which any salary or any fee, allowance, or emolument in lieu of any salary from the Crown or from the Province is attached?"

Mr. Mowat moved in amendment.

"That it is not expedient that hereafter any person, whilst a member of the House of Commons or the Senate of Canada, should be appointed to any permanent or annual office or employment in the service of the Government of the Province of Ontario at the nomination of the Crown or of the Lieut.-Governor, to which any salary, or any fee, allowance, or endowment in lieu of salary, is attached other than in such an office as coroner, justice of the peace, or notary public."

In amendment to this amendment Mr. Macdougall moved that the word "annual" in the Attorney-General's motion should be struck out and the word "temporary" substituted for it.

A lively debate ensued, and on the House dividing upon the amendment to the amendment, it was negatived by 47 nays to 27 yeas. Mr. Fraser then moved another amendment to the amendment by way of expressing the meaning of the original amendment more clearly. This was carried on a division.

Mr. Merrick moved for leave to introduce a Bill to incorporate the Orange Association of Eastern and Western Ontario, and asked for the suspension of the rules for that purpose. He claimed that the Orange Society was specially situated and required special provisions, such as the general Act did not provide for.

Mr. Fraser thought the position of the Opposition in regard to this matter was like the man who was between the devil and the deep sea; they were afraid to parade this Orange question too much, lest it should impair their chances of the "Catholic vote," and they were equally afraid to give umbrage to the spirit they called up. The gentleman who made the motion had taken the precaution to violate every rule regulating the introduction of Private Bills, and he had also taken other precautions which showed he could not seriously have intended that this Bill should pass this session. He went on to quote from various Orange publications and records of Orange meetings in order to show that the organization was, as he had always characterized it, a politico-religious one. He embodied, in an amendment to the original motion, and for the purpose of placing the matter on record the various irregularities and delays which had occurred in bringing in this Bill.

A protracted debate ensued, and at one a.m. the adjournment of the debate was moved. The House divided on the motion—for the adjournment 40, against 30. The debate was adjourned accordingly, and the House adjourned at 1:10 a.m.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 25.

After introduction of several bills, and some routine business,

Mr. Langevin moved for correspondence relating to mail communication with the British West Indies. He spoke in favor of fostering trade between the Dominion and the West Indies.

Mr. Forbes said that while population had increased in the islands our trade had fallen off from $7,000,000 in 1871 to $5,160,000 last year. He believed we could greatly increase this trade by readjusting our sugar duties and developing the coal trade. He believed the Government had seriously considered the matter, but had not completed it, owing to what they considered exorbitant sums asked by those who tendered for the service.

Mr. DeCosmos moved for all reports of all engineers on the route of the Pacific Railway between Barrard Inlet and Yellow Head Pass.

Mr. Pouliot moved for a statement of claims against the Government still unsettled for damages caused by the Intercolonial Railway.

Mr. Mitchell moved for a return in detail of the expenditure incurred from the Treasury of Canada for the expenses of the journey of His Excellency the Governor General and suite to British Columbia and back in the year 1876

Mr. Mackenzie said he must ask that the motion be withdrawn. He thought it was a very poor return for the services rendered to the country by His Excellency to put this motion on the paper. The accounts referred to were given in sufficient detail in the Public Accounts, unless some hon. gentleman was prepared to take the position of accusing the Governor-General or those who acted under him of falsifying their accounts. He thought the motion was an insult to the head of the Government, and if it was pressed he would call upon his friends to vote it down.

Mr. Pope (Compton) moved an amendment to bring down the accounts of the Manitoba trip.

Mr. Holton moved an amendment to the amendment, that the Manitoba accounts be brought down in the same manner as the British Columbia expenses appear in the Public Accounts.

Mr. Pope withdrew his amendment.

Mr. Mitchell accepted Mr. Holton's amendment, which was carried.

It is rumoured that Sir Francis Hincks will be the Conservative candidate in Montreal West at the next general election for the House of Commons.

Colonel Forney writes home in a fervid glow of patriotism concerning the position which American manufactures already hold in Europe and the triumphant achievements expected of them at the coming Exposition.

It is stated that Mr. Langevin despairs of again being successful in Charlevoix, and will not contest it, but try Dorchester, his old county, from which he retired so precipitately after the Pacific Scandal. Mr. Rouleau, the present member, it is said, will either run for the Local Parliament or be given a Provincial office.

The report on the adulteration of food, forming a supplement to the report of the Department of Inland Revenue, is one of the most interesting Blue Books published. Besides the report of analysis of various articles of food, there are sixty engraved figures of microscopic views of cereals, starches, linseed, mustard, pepper, chicory, tobacco and various other articles, illustrating the adulterations used. The summary of results by Mr. Brunel, Commissioner of Inland Revenue, contain the assertion that more than half of the whole number of samples analyzed were adulterated. Of 44 samples of coffee only 10 were found pure; of 49 samples of butter examined 23 were adulterated. The Commissioners advise that the whole Dominion be placed under the operation of the laws.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

A Better Feeling Prevails.

The House of Lords and the Russian Terms.

The Meeting of the Conference.

Feb. 25.

In the House of Lords to-day Lord Derby said the Russian demands for the Turkish men-of-war had been refused by the Porte, but he hoped it would not be persisted in. If the Egyptian tribute was demanded by Russia, the matter would require serious consideration.

Lord Derby spoke in decided terms concerning Russia's demand that the Egyptian tribute shall be pledged for payment of the indemnity bonds. It might turn out that British interests would be very much involved in such a claim. The occupation of Armenia would bring the Russians no nearer to India. Her Majesty's Government, when they adopted a policy of neutrality, were aware that Russia must eventually triumph and very great changes ensue. It was unfair to blame the Government now for the necessary result of the attitude of neutrality. Lord Derby concluded by moving the previous question, which was agreed to without a division.

The London Times in its second edition has the following despatch from its St. Petersburg correspondent:—A much better feelings prevails here to-day. The modus vivendi with England as to using the Straits and the presence of the British fleet in the Sea of Marmora is regarded as satisfactory in official quarters. I have reason to believe that there is no present intention to occupy Constantinople.

A Pera despatch says:—As a reward for the Porte's ineffectual efforts to keep the British fleet out of the Dardanelles the Czar has consented that the Russians shall not come nearer Constantinople than San Stefano, but has informed the Porte that he had great difficulty in preventing the Grand Duke Nicholas from marching into Constantinople as a conqueror. The Russians are coming to San Stefano as friends, with the Sultan's consent. The Grand Duke Nicholas will probably be invited by the Sultan to enter Stamboul with a military escort. The Turks have accepted all the conditions of peace except the two about the immediate surrender of the iron-clads and the payment to Russia of ten million of roubles cash and forty millions sterling in bonds. The Turks have received no invitation to be represented at the Congress.

A Gallipoli despatch says:—Intelligence has been received here that a large force of Russians has withdrawn from Charkoi for Rodosto, and from Silivri towards Constantinople.

A Vienna correspondent states that the differences between Russia and Turkey appear nearly settled by Russia consenting to a reduction of the indemnity by a fifth, and the extension of the period for the emigration of the Mohammedans from Bulgaria to three years.

A Berlin special says:—The Conference will probably not assemble before April the 1st, as Gortschakoff alleges that he will not be prepared sooner.

A Bucharest despatch says:—Prince Charles threatens to abdicate if Russia persists in claiming Bessarabia.

A Vienna despatch says:—The Hungarian Ministry and delegations will readily grant the vote of credit asked for by Andrassy, but the Austrians will probably offer some opposition. A strong party favour peace at any price.

An Athens despatch says:—It is officially announced that the Cretans have commenced hostilities in Cydronia, Upper Corona, and Mataras, near Canea. Details are wanting.

The Agence says the statement is premature that the Grand Duke Nicholas has withdrawn his claim to the Turkish iron-clads, but that it is certain the question will not create difficulties.

The Minister of Militia received shortly after his arrival at Ottawa an address from leading residents of the county of Cumberland, N. S., congratulating him on his entering the Cabinet, and his re-election for Halifax. It is signed by seventeen justices of the peace, five barristers, the Custos, twenty merchants, and about sixty others. To this address Mr. Jones made a long and eloquent reply. Dr. Tupper, who represents the county, is not at all pleased with this indication of reaction in his own constituency.

The Reformers of South Wentworth met in Convention at Hamilton on Saturday, when Mr. Joseph Rymal, M.P., was unanimously re-nominated as Liberal candidate for the Commons. The nomination was made amid great enthusiasm, and the feeling of every one present was that Mr. Rymal could easily beat any opponent. Mr. Somerville, of the Dundas Banner, was present and made one of his most stirring speeches.

Listowel.—A Reform club is to be started in the village for the purpose of getting thoroughly posted in the constitutional history of Great Britain, Canada and the United States as well as general intellectual improvement.

DEATHS.

FENNELL—In Guelph, on the 24th instant, Mr. Charles Fennel, aged 52 years and 7 months.

The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon, at two o'clock, from his late residence, Elora Road. Friends and acquaintances will please attend without further notice.

In Memoriam.

The bells that rang a wedding peal in early morning hours,
And told of hope, and faith, and love, and blushing bridal flowers,
Sound mournfully this eventide, and speak in solemn toll
Of anguish, death's eternal seal, the parting of a soul.

The mountain shadows deepen, the valley lies in shade;
Fast in the darkening western sky the sunset glories fade;
A few faint stars look dimly down, and, moaning through the trees,
We hear the fitful murmur of the misty evening breeze.

The homestead by the river, in sad, unwonted gloom,
Lies stricken in the shadow of the portals of the tomb.
An angel passed the threshold—a message from the skies;
The dear, pale mother heard the call: "Rise, sister spirit, rise!"

A parting smile, a look of love, her spirit passed away
So silently it seemed that life still lingered in the clay.
Sad moment of despairing, full of unavailing tears,
Of pleading calls, of children's love and infant's dawning fears!

Death in the household. "Mother gone!" the stricken creatures moan—
The first stern sorrow of the world their fresh young souls have known.
Time brings relief; the future comes with healing in its wings:
A mother's memory and faith are consecrated things.

Though nevermore her hands may press the children's shining hair,
They have her earnest bond of love, her shield of daily prayer.
True heart, so still and silent now, thy life was not it vain—
In those fair girls and sturdy sons the mother lives again.

The minds thy careful guidance trained—the souls thy soul did form—
Will tread the path thy wisdom taught, in sunshine and in storm.

CHAPTER XXIII.

WALTER ADAMSON IN GLENROY.

"I suppose you are well acquainted with this neighborhood," said the lawyer, after the silence had lasted some time.

"Some weel," replied Daddy, as he deliberately gave his right nostril its due modicum of snuff from the spoon, and directed a questioning glance at the speaker with the tail of his eye.

"Then I hope you will be able to direct me to the place I want to go to, or guide me to a house where I can lodge for the night."

"A hoose," repeated Daddy. "Faith, sir, but there's nae routh o' hooses in this pairt o' Glenroy. Gang sax mile doon the glen, and you wul come tae Duncan McPhail's."

"That's just where I have come from. I slept there last night."

"Oh, then ye are gaen wast. Aweel, ye'll find nae hoose that airt for ten mile at least."

"Ten miles!" cried the lawyer. Good gracious! I can't walk ten miles further to-day. Besides, it would be dark long ere I got so far."

"There's nae doot o' that," responded Daddy, with great composure.

"Then, what am I to do?"

"Aha! neeber, but that's mair than I can tell ye."

"Well, then, what are you going to do? You are as fat from a place of shelter as I am."

"Muckle aboot it; but aiblins I'm no sae ill tae please. I can fend for the nicht in mony a place that wadna suit your notions o' comfort."

"Under a bank, or among the heather, perhaps?"

Daddy nodded, and observed—

"Ye wadna like that, I fancy!"

"Like it—it would be the death of me. But are you sure that Thomas Morven's cottage is ten miles from here?"

"Thomas Morven's cottage!" repeated Daddy, in undisguised astonishment.

"Yes; that is the place to which I am bound, but I can't find the opening which leads to it."

"Now, guid keep us a', what can he be gaun there for?" was Daddy's mental inquiry.

"Ahem. Are ye acquaint wi' Thomas?" he cautiously asked.

"A little—a very little," was the lawyer's equally cautious reply, for he had the same reason to be prudent. "I spent a night with him many years ago, and found him a very pleasant and most sociable person. If you will direct me to his residence you be rendering me a very great service, and I shall willing pay you for so doing."

"There's nae need for that, sir, for tae tell you the real truth, I am gaun there mysel'."

"Indeed. That is fortunate. Are we far from the house now!" Ha! if I am not mistaken, yonder it is in the valley below."

They had just then come to the brow of an eminence, where a deep hollow was seen branching out of the glen, at the top of which, about a mile off stood a little cottage between two green knowls.

Daddy was forced reluctantly to admit that it was the cottage in question, and with quickened steps they descended the declivity, at the foot of which they came upon a path well marked with horse hoofs, most of which were fresh as if recently imprinted on the soft ground.

Mr. Adamson understood well enough what that meant, and cast a side glance towards his companion, to note if he also observed the marks, and wondered at beholding them. To his surprise he found that Daddy was watching him with similar interest, though he instantly averted his gaze when the lawyer's eyes encountered his own.

There was something strange in this. He felt they were mutually distrustful, and a little further reflection convinced him that for some purpose or other the wanderer had tried to keep him from going to Morven's cottage, as well as to conceal the fact that he was going there himself. He had represented that the nearest house was ten miles away, and that he would require to lodge in the open air—although all the while Morven's house was close at hand, and he on his way to it.

"I suppose it is just his eccentric way," thought the lawyer. "He is evidently a peculiar fellow, and not to be understood in an hour's acquaintance. I should not wonder but he is a frequent visitor at the cottage?"

"Are you often in these parts?" he asked, as they trudged forward.

"Nae very often," answered Daddy, drily, and in a tone unmistakeably discouraging to further interrogation. "Glenroy," he added, "is a dreich place for the like o' me. The houses are sae few and far sindered. It's just at an orra time I find my way into it."

"Ah—you prefer places more thickly populated I daresay."

"Exactly. I like when there's a place o' ca', within easy walkin', and no sax and seevin miles apairt. That may dee no that ill in summer when the days are lang and the wather's gweed, but at this time o' year it's unpleasant."

"So it is, and I wonder you came into such a desolate district at such an uncertain season."

"Ay, neebor," responded Daddy, "but I ken a greater wonder than that. If ye think it odd tae see me here in the tail o' winter, what am I tae think at findin' a toon's gentleman stravagin' the glen atween snaw shoor's, as ane may say."

Mr. Adamson bit his lip, and half smiled at the other's shrewdness. He felt that the old man had cunningly turned the tables on him, and this was not soothing to his feelings as a lawyer.

"Not quite so bad as that," he rejoined, with rather a forced laugh. "The weather is exceptionally fine at present, and I hope to be out of the glen before a change come."

"Sae dee I," was the laconic response, and at this moment they turned the corner of a verdant knoll, and came in front of the cottage, at the open door of which sat an old woman, with her face buried in her hands, her elbows resting on her knees, and rocking her body to and fro like one overwhelmed with grief.

"What's wrang wi' auld Mysie," said the beggar, in a tone of deep concern, and evidently unconscious of having given audible utterance to the question.

"Something is evidently amiss," remarked the lawyer, a vague feeling of alarm coming upon him likewise.

As they went forward their steps made no sound on the thick grass, and the woman remained unconscious of their approach. They heard her moaning and wailing to a degree which indicated the occurrence of some heavy calamity.

With a view to attract her attention Daddy gave a cud cough which had the effect of causing her to look quickly up. The moment she saw the travellers she sprang to her feet with an agility hardly to be expected in one of her years, and rushed to meet them.

"Oh, Daddy Duff," she cried, "dee ye bring news o' Lizzie and the wean. Where are they? safe and weel, I hope."

"What mean ye, mistress?" exclaimed Daddy, greatly excited.

"Dae ye no ken?" she wildly rejoined, "Waes me, dae ye no ken? Lizzie has disappeared—her and the infant—naebody kens hoo. Gone naebody kens where."

"Disappeared—gone?" echoed Daddy. "My gracious, when or hoo was that?"

"Four days syne. When Mr. Harold left she went a bit through the glen wi'm, as she aye does, and she ne'er cam' back. Thomas has been seeking for them everywhere, but wi'out finding them. Oh, they are lost, baith lost if Maister Harold hasna ta'en them wi' him up tae—"

"Whist," interrupted Daddy, with a quick look towards the lawyer. "Come this way, Mistress," he added, drawing her hastily aside.

"Stay," cried Mr. Adamson, also much excited. "This is a matter which concerns me too. I did not know till this moment that you are Daddy Duff, or we need not have fought so shy of each other. am Walter Adamson, the advocate. You must have heard Harold Logan mention my name."

"Maister Adamson!" exclaimed Daddy, eagerly. "Tae be sure, I hae heard o' ye fae Maister Harold; and nae far'er than yesterday."

DRIVING OVER A ROUGH ROAD last winter, one of my horses became suddenly very lame—a bad sprain of the right ankle. Applied all the remedies I knew of and those suggested by horsemen, without any benefit. The horse was entirely useless for two months, and thought him permanently disabled. GILES' LINIMENT IODIDE OF AMMONIA took away the lameness and restored him.

WEDNESDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 27, 1878

Rumored Resignation of Lord Derby.

London, Feb. 27. — It is rumored that Lord Derby has resigned.

A member of the Cabinet says that half an hour ago Lord Derby was with me at the Cabinet Council, and nothing was said about his resignation.

London, Feb. 27.—Later.—The treaty of peace is not yet signed owing to the Porte's refusal to submit to Russia's ultimatum. Though not generally credited, the causes of this refusal create considerable discussion, and authentic advices from Constantinople are anxiously awaited. Nearly all the papers here assert so far as England is concerned that the situation has not improved.

LONDON, Feb. 27.—Musurus Pasha, the Turkish Ambassador in this city, had a long interview with Lord Derby to-day regarding the Eastern Question. The Russian and Turkish Ambassadors of this city are still ignorant whether the peace terms are signed or not.

It is officially stated that the Government has decided, in case of war, to give Lord Napier the command of any expeditionary force.

The rumour of Lord Derby's resignation have not been confirmed.

The Poultry Show is now being held in London, and is quite a success.

A young woman named Emma Allen, of Brome, Que. on Monday shot at her seducer, and lodged a ball in one of his lungs.

Hon. Mr. Vail is lying very ill at Halifax.

Father Secchi, the celebrated Italian astronomer, is dead.

Nearly three thousand human beings were recently burnt to death during a fire in a refuge-house at Tien-Foin, China.

The Montreal City Council has decided to request the Lieut.-Governor of the Province to withhold his sanction from the new Government Railway Bill.

The coronation of Pope Leo XIII. will take place on Sunday, and all the Pontifical Court appointments will be made by the end of the week. Cardinal Simeoni has been reappointed and confirmed as Pontifical Secretary of State.

Alex. Shields, a grocer of Toronto, has been sentenced to three months' imprisonment, for endeavoring to compromise with a detective who had caught him violating the liquor law.

Marvin Knowlton, of London, has been invited by a large number of the citizens of Ottawa to open a series of temperance meetings, and has consented to do so.

A syndicate is being formed for the working of the new railroad from Quebec to Montreal, and thence to Hull, known as the Quebec, Montreal, Ottawa & Occidental Railway. The scheme involves, not only the working of the railway, but the construction of a bridge across the Ottawa, above the Falls.

A young lad named Wm. Floyd, aged thirteen, was killed on Monday while assisting in threshing opperations on the farm of Wesley Warner, 6th concession of London township. He was passing out of the barn where the threshing machine was at work, and slipped upon the tumbling rod, being whirled round and round and horribly torn and mangled. He was taken up insensible, and lingered in that condition all night, death taking place next morning.

SOUTH BRUCE REFORM CONVENTION.—A large Convention of delegates from the different municipalities of South Bruce met at Riversdale on Friday last to nominate Reform candidates for the House of Commons and Local Legislature at the next election. The only names proposed were those of the present members, the Hon. Edward Blake, and the Hon. R. M. Wells, both of whom were unanimously nominated. A reply from each of these gentleman has been received, accepting the nomination—a circumstance which, in the case of the former especially, will be learned with pleasure not only in South Bruce but throughout the entire country. The election of officers of the Riding Reform Association for the current year resulted as follows:—President, Malcolm Campbell, Lucknow; 1st Vice-President, W. Carpenter, Kincardine; 2nd Vice., H. P. O'Connor, Barrister, Walkerton; Secretary, John Miller, Riversdale, re-elected. A complete reorganization of the Branch Association is being effected throughout the Riding.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provide our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage wich may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. IT STANDS UNEQUALLED.—Those who have used Wilson's Compound Syrup Wild Cherry, know it to be unequalled for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Loss of Voice, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all kindred diseases. A 25c. bottle will cure any ordinary case. A 50c. bottle has frequently cured chronic cases of from one month to two years' standing, and that after having spent many dollars in vain attempts to get relief. A dollar bottle holds more in proportion, and should be kept in every house. It will save many a doctor's bill.

CHEAP SILKS.—J. D. Williamson & Co. have just received a new lot of those chesp striped grey silks—so much sought after. Patterns choice. Price lower than ever. Ladies will do well to call at the Lion.

GUELPH Catholic Literary and Debating Society meets this evening.

A RUNAWAY on Cork street last evening was the cause of a buggy being upset, and the driver slightly injured.

THE person who took that black and tan dog from Macdonnell street, had better return it at once, as he is known.

ACCIDENT.—This morning a little girl got her foot into a broken grating on Macdonnell street, and the iron bars lacerated the flesh considerably.

WEATHER PROBABILITIES, for the next twenty-four hours are, moderate westerly to southerly winds, and clear warmer weather.

THE contract for supplying the General Hospital during the present year, with groceries, has been awarded Messrs. G. & A. Hadden. Mr. G. H. McIntyre will supply drugs during the same period.

THE Rev. D. J. Macdonnell, of Toronto, will preach in Chalmers' Church, to-morrow (Thursday) evening, at half-past seven. A collection in aid of the Sunday School will be taken up at the close of the services.

NOTHING of public importance was transacted at the meeting of the Directors of the Worswick Engine Company, held on Tuesday evening. A settlement with the Insurance Companies will be effected before any action in regard to rebuilding the works will be taken.

HARRISTON.—Great complaints are made by the Tribune for the neglected state of the cemetery. The village and township are urged to join together in purchasing twenty or twenty-five acres and fit it up respectably for a cemetery.——Mr. M. P. Empey has been appointed assessor at a salary of $50.

CONCERT AT ROCKWOOD.—The managing committee of the Presbyterian Church, Rockwood, intend holding a grand concert on the evening of Friday, 1st March, for benefit of the manse fund. Prof. Jones, of Toronto, and a number of talented amateur vocalists, have consented to appear on the occasion.

CHECKER CLUB.—A meeting was held in the American Hotel on Tuesday evening by those interested in the game of checkers, with the object of forming a checker club. After a number of signatures had been secured it was decided to meet in the above hotel every Tuesday evening commencing on Tuesday, the 5th of March.

SOCIAL ENTERTAINMENT. — An evening social, at which tea will be prepared, will be held in the Primitive Methodist church, Paisley st., to morrow (Thursday) evening, the proceeds of the sale of tickets going to help the church improvement fund, at which a balance remains to be cleared off. The friends having turned out in such large numbers at the last social, the committee have spared no pains in getting up a programme, which will be both interesting and pleasing. Tickets can be procured from the members.

LEG FRACTURED.—On Tuesday afternoon a young lad, eight years old, son of Mr. Frederick Sturdy, while climbing into a light waggon that was being driven down Gordon street by a Mr. Hart; got his leg caught in the wheel and before the horse could be stopped the bone of the leg was badly fractured a short distance above the ankle. The little fellow bore bravely up under his injuries. Mr. H. Murton carried the young lad home, and Dr. Harkin set the limb.

THE DUNKIN ACT IN BRANT.—The fourth and last day's voting on the repeal of the Dunkin Act gives a majority of 817 for repeal. The Dunkin Act was carried in Brant County last year by 260 majority. At a meeting of the Brantford council a by-law was passed fixing the license fees at $110 for tavern, and $120 for shop licenses. It was also moved and carried that the Ontario Government be requested to issue shop and hotel licenses from the 1st of March to the 1st of May.

SUDDEN DEATH.—While Mrs. Rebecca Hamilton, of the 8th line, East Flamton, was on a visit to her son-in-law, Mr. S. B. Wilson, merchant, Bentinck, Grey county, she became ill and died on Sunday last. She had been ailing only a few days before she passed away. The body was brought to Guelph this (Wednesday) morning by the Wellington, Grey & Bruce Railway, accompanied by a number of friends of the deceased, and will be taken to Carlisle this afternoon for burial.

CURLING ITEMS.—The Brampton curlers disappointed Guelph yesterday. The first afternoon train on the Grand Trunk was about three hours late and that was the cause of it.——The School Board—two rinks—will meet an equal number of players, members of the Town Council, on Friday afternoon next, providing the ice is in fit condition.——The game between the butchers and grain buyers excited a good deal of attention. A bag of flour to be donated to the poor was in the balance. Some of the players tried pushing the stones for the first time, and they were about as graceful in their exertions as any greenhorn might expect to be. The butchers proved the winners, with the following score:—

BUTCHERS.	GRAIN BUYERS.
T. Simpson,	Geo. Balkwill,
J. Millar,	J. Penelton,
J. W. Smart,	A. R. Davies,
W. Hales,	J. Henderson,
J. R. Hood,	Jas. Hewer, jr.,

A DANGEROUS APPROACH.—It has not been very uncommon to have an accident at the embankment approaching the railway crossing at Mossboro station on the Grand Trunk. The approach consists of an embankment of considerable height, plenty wide enough for teams to pass without danger in day light, but exceedingly dangerous for fractious horses from the fact of its close proximity to the railway station. On Friday last John Wallack was riding a spirited horse and when near the crossing a passing train frightened the animal to such an extent as to cause it to leap down the embankment. There was considerable water at the bottom of the embankment and it was only through prompt exertions on the part of Mr. Wallack that the animal was prevented from drowning, it having got its head under water in such a way that it could not get it out unaided. A railing is badly needed along the top of the embankment.

JAS. GERRIE, of Selem, was arrested on Monday by officer Hart and lodged in gaol on a capais issued at the instance of James Woolner, for a debt of $100 and interest.

FARM SOLD.—Mr. Moses Whitehead, of Dunkeld, Co. Bruce, recently sold his farm in the township of Brant, for $5,000 cash. He purchased the same farm some five years ago for $1,400.

THE members of the Caledonian Society who intend to go out to Erin to-morrow night, will meet this evening at Mr. Johnston's office to make the necessary arrangements.

THE arrangements for St. Patrick's Society ball and supper to be held in the town hall on Monday evening, 4th March, are about completed. A large number of tickets have already been sold. The Berlin quadrille band will furnish the music.

OBITUARY. — We have to chronicle this week the death of an old settler in Puslinch, Mr. Robert Clark, the second eldest son of Mr. John Clark, sr., of the Badenoch settlement. Deceased had for many years been identified with Puslinch, and passed away amid the regrets of all with whom he was acquainted.

BURNED TO DEATH.—About ten days ago an accident occurred at Rock Chapel, West Flamboro', by which a little girl named Waters, grand-daughter of Mr. Mr. William Carey, came to a sad and untimely death. It appears that the child, who resided with her grand-parents, was left in the house alone for a short time, and while playing round the stove her clothes took fire. Her screams brought assistance in a very short space, but before the flames could be extinguished the poor little thing had been shockingly burned about the neck, arms and body.

OF INTEREST TO DEALERS.—At the Division Court, Clandeboye, James Hodgins, butcher, sued several customers for amounts, none exceeding 75 cts., without ever rendering accounts or asking for the amounts. The first and largest, for 75 cents, was brought up. Judge Elliott, on hearing the facts of the case, gave judgment for the claim, but made complainant pay his own costs, and two dollars of defendant's cost, for not either asking for the amount or presenting a bill.

BOLD THEFT.—During these hard times it is no unusual thing to hear of robberies throughout the country, but it is not of a frequent occurrence to hear of day light thieving here. On Tuesday Mr. N. Croft, clothier, on Upper Wyndham street, as is his custom hung out some goods at the door opening from the entrance of his tailor shop. They remained there until twelve o'clock, but sometime between then and three o'clock were taken away. The goods were valued at $5 50. When Mr. Croft missed the goods he at once informed Chief Kelly what had happened. Whoever the thief may be he must have been bold at the business, as none but an adept would attempt such an act in broad daylight, in the busiest portion of the town.

Five attempts have been made within a month to burn the Spectator Buildings in Hamilton. The fire bugs are at work in that city, and the fines have averaged about three a week.

The Agricultural College.

From the London Advertiser.

The long debate on the Agricultural College on Friday night in the Ontario Legislature showed conclusively that the tide has turned in favor of the institution. Affairs at the College have improved so much during the past year, and it has become so manifest that the farmers are now commencing to take a deep and general interest in its welfare, that a marked change has come over the utterances of the Opposition. Last year predictions of inevitable failure were abundant; this year they were confined to a very few members who followed the lead of Mr. Dundreary Lauder. The practical and sensible men on both sides of the House agreed in the admission that great progress had been made and that the experiment must have a fair trial. And a fair trial it will get, or we much mistake the temper of the farmers of Ontario. In view of the hundreds and thousands of dollars of public money expended on institutions for imparting general and professional culture, the farmers will soon learn to ask why enough of money cannot be spared from the surplus to aid in the diffusion of that special training so necessary for the improvement of agriculture. We have no hesitation in predicting that by the time the general election comes round Mr. Lauder will have ceased to predict inevitable failure and will be found endeavoring to convince the farmers of East Grey that he has always been the institution's warmest and most devoted friend. The small-witted cattle-buyer from East Middlesex and the equally small-witted farmer from South Essex will also change their tone within the next few months. The present Ministry is frequently twitted by members on both sides of the House with being a "lawyer's" Cabinet, but we venture to say it has shown such an appreciation of the farming class that the response from the rural districts will be quite satisfactory when the appeal for support and confidence is made. We challenge any member of the Opposition to go to the farmers for election and use as his war-cry the iniquity of the Farmers's Sons' Franchise Act, the Tile Drainage Act, and the liberal and steadfast support accorded by the present Administration to the Agricultural College.

Skating Carnival.

A Brilliant Scene on Ice and a Merry Night.

The skating carnivals held this winter have had the effect of enlivening the dry bones that hardly ever go out for an evening's enjoyment. Many who have always looked upon skating as a foolish exercise, and only appropriate for little children, have, during the past few weeks, changed their minds, and now believe it is amusement in which the grey heads as well as the young, can participate in and be benefited thereby. Each carnival has been a success, so far, and the last of the season, announced for Tuesday evening, 12th of March, should the weather prove favorable, will, in all probability be the crowning effort of those who delight to assume characters and dress in gay or fantastic costumes.

With fat dividends looming up before the minds of the stockholders of the Guelph Curling and Skating Rink, it is expected that before another season opens up ample accommodation will be made for the comfort and convenience of spectators. As it is now the accommodation is only middling.

The ice last evening was soft, and kept changing into a liquid condition until before eleven o'clock there was water enough to thoroughly soak any person who might be unfortunate enough to have a tumble. The costumes were an improvement in many respects over those worn on a previous occasion, but were fewer in number.

As a matter of course there were Sandies, Paddies, Negroes, Indians, little men and big men, little women and big women, all smirking and ogling with one another, which would be wearisome to particularize, but when taken as a whole were really necessary to make the scene complete.

The character of a squaw, with a little papoose on her back, assumed by Miss Minnie Clark, was perhaps truer to life than anything else on the ice. She attracted much attention. The Lilian Sisters—noted ballet dancers—were impersonated by Miss A. Cossitt and Geo. Cormack. Their costumes were good, and the make up rendered it difficult, if not impossible, for any person to tell "which was tother." Several amusing incidents in connection with the Lilian Sisters occurred during the evening which would form subject for a first-class tale. Miss Carrie Stevenson was Pocahontas for the evening. Although the costume was very neat and well fitting, it was richer in texture, and more of it, than the dress the original wore when she fell in love with John Smith. There was a Wooden law student, who's robes were becoming to his figure. E. O'Donnell & Co., were well advertised by Donnybrook Fair wheeling their cart around the rink with an inebriated Pat taking a ride. Joseph Bruce as a Negro preacher and distributor of tracts had a very good idea of the character assumed. Henry VIII. swayed fearfully as he rollicked around on a pair of steel blades eleven and a half inches in length and still three inches too short for his feet. The costume was one of the richest on the ice and was worn by Mr. J. R. Cameron. Quadrilles were danced by a Negro preacher, Robin Hood, Bro. Jonathan, and a little old man—the latter Mr. George Lemmond—which caused much amusement. The suits of Messrs C. N. Pirie, of Toronto, as an old courtier, H. A. Taylor and A. Patterson, as twin officers, Geo. Bruce, as Dick Turpin, Albert Stewart, Greek Slave—a long way after Hiram Powers' masterpiece however, Jas. McIntosh, as a Highlander, were among the best on the ice not already mentioned.

The last carnival of the season will be held on Tuesday evening, 12th March. Mr. Gildersleeve, who furnished many of the costumes on Tuesday evening, will also be on hand on the Monday preceding with a larger stock of costumes. He will also offer a silver medal as a prize to be awarded the best lady skater. Mr. John Kennedy, jeweller, Upper Wyndham street, will give a medal for the best gentleman skater.

The list of those in costumes is subjoined:

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Russia wants the Sultan to Sign the Treaty.

Turkey to Retain Her Fleet.

More about the Conference.

February 26.

Orders have been received at the Government works at Bull Point for an increased output of cartridges and small-arms ammunition.

The reason that Russia's demand for the Egyptian tribute concerns England is, that the tribute is already pledged as security for the interest on the Turkish loans of 1854-55 and 1871.

The Times approves in principle of Earl Derby's statement in the House of Lords, but concludes:—

"The Government must review the final terms of peace very carefully, and if some of the rumored conditions prove to be really demanded they ought to be met by the strongest protest. The time to resist such demands, however, when we know they are really made. If the treaty of peace, as is hoped, is signed, within the next day or two we shall be able to review its terms with calmness, and then will be the time for the Ministry and Parliament to decide how far they may demand a protest or resistance on the part of this country."

In the House of Lords to-day Earl Derby confirmed the statement that the signature of the treaty of peace was expected yesterday, but said when he left the Foreign Office no information relating thereto had been received.

In the House of Commons this afternoon the Secretary of State for War said that transport carriages, ambulances, and ammunition trains for the first army corps have been completed, and those for the second corps are in a fair way of getting ready.

The Government has ordered 50,000 sand bags at Dundee, to be ready in three weeks.

A Pera despatch this morning says the terms of peace are not yet signed. General Gourko with 30,000 men is marching to San Stefano, and eight additional batteries of artillery have arrived there.

A Pera despatch says:—The Russians are still endeavoring to prevail on the Porte to permit their troops to enter the city, but the Porte refuses. The terms of peace still includes a demand for Turkish vessels.

A Constantinople despatch says:—The reported surrender of the Turkish fleet as a portion of the indemnity still forms the object of negotiations. It is said that a Russian ultimatum insists that the conditions of peace be signed, but the report lacks official information.

A Paris correspondent says he has been informed on reliable authority that Russia is resolved to fight rather than abate her pretentions.

A St. Petersburg special says:—Although the treaty of peace is on the eve of signature, the Government up to noon to-day had received no official notification that it was signed. The Sultan is to retain the fleet. The question of the Straits is to be submitted to the Conference, when, if England, as is probable, proposes the preservation of the status quo, Russia, I am assured, will not seriously oppose her.

A Bucharest despatch says:—In the Senate yesterday M. Sturdza denounced Russia's treatment of Roumania, and introduced a motion demanding that the Government ask the guaranteeing Powers to recognize the independence of Roumania, and the admission of a Roumanian representative at the Conference.

A Berlin despatch says:—It appears that the Austrian Cabinet are once more encouraged by the Berlin friends to aspire to the acquisition of Bosnia, Herzegovina, Albania, and part of Macedonia, but there is little hope that Austria will know how to vindicate its position in the South-east.

A Paris correspondent says:—Preliminary declarations are expected from Austria which will either prevent the meeting of the Conference or render its programme acceptable to the Powers.

A Vienna despatch says:—The Russian conditions have produced a deep impression here. The party in favor of peace at any price still continues the agitation, but there seems to be little probability that it will get get the upper hand either in the delegations or the Reichsrath.

Hespeler.

S. S. CONVENTION.—The Waterloo County Sabbath School Convention was held in this village on Tuesday and Wednesday last. A very large number of people was present at each session, and a most interesting and profitable time was spent in discussing and listening to the various discussions which took place on topics relating to Sabbath School work. The principal acting participators were Rev. Messrs. McEwen, of Ingersoll, Millard, of Toronto, J. V. Smith and Andrews of Galt, McAllister and Moir, of Hespeler; also Mr. Wood, of Galt, and Mr. Peter Marshall, of Ayr, who gave an excellent elucidation on the teaching of infant classes.

P. S.—As it was not convenient for me to be present during the proceedings of the above mentioned Convention (except at one meeting) I can give you nothing definite regarding it. I think the Galt Reporter or Reformer will have it in detail, which of course you can see.

STABBING AFFRAY IN PRESTON.—On the evening of Saturday, the 23rd inst., a young man named Chas. Stark got into a scuffle with one named Gimbel, whilst attending a dancing school, when the latter drew a knife and stabbed Stark in the abdomen, inflicting a dangerous wound. The injured young man was at once attended to, but as yet it is not known whether the injuries will prove fatal or not. Gimbel was at once arrested and is now in Berlin gaol.

The Guelph Burying Ground Bill.

We understand that this Bill will not become law this session on account of a technical error in the preamble, which did not correctly set forth the title of the Town, and it is now too late in the session to substitute a new and correct preamble.

Toronto Correspondence.

TORONTO, Feb. 26, 1878.

In the Ontario Assembly, every day now produces a lengthy and important debate. During the past week the Tile Drainage Scheme, the vote for the Model Farm, the Independence of Parliament, and the Orange Bills have led to long and interesting discussions. The close of the session is evidently not far off, and the House goes into business at each sitting with an earnestness which is in marked contrast to the go-easy style with which matters were conducted in January. Already every day but Monday has been appropriated by the Government, and a motion is on the paper for the commencement of double sittings from Thursday, and a sitting on Saturday. With the estimates through, concurrence will come, and the Opposition will undoubtedly show fight upon some important items.

The Supplementary Estimates, of a not very formidable character, will be brought down some day this week, and it is whispered that additional Railway Subsidies will be asked for, contrary to the expectation raised by the Speech from the Throne, which induced many to believe that additional help to struggling or unfortunate schemes would receive the go by for this year at least.

The demand upon the Treasury will not be large, probably, but the smallest possible amount will be sure to arouse the ire of the gentlemen on the left of the Speaker. And there is some ground for their opposition. There is a general and probably well-founded belief, that we have about as many railways as the actual requirements of the country call for. When the projected schemes are completed we shall, in some instances, have more than we want. Is it sound policy to multiply them? It may be that the Government scheme will not encourage new undertakings, but be confined altogether to the assistance of some few old ones, and this is earnestly to be hoped.

The debate on Friday evening last on the annual appropriation for the maintenance of the Agricultural College, was amusing, if lengthy, and satisfactory, if noisy. It was apparent from the tone of the Opposition that the Model Farm has at last reached the successful stage, and that further wholesale denunciation of it is likely to be unpopular. The excellent Reports—from the President and Professor of Agriculture—and of which, by the way, some five thousand extra copies have been ordered to be printed,—have done good work, and satisfied the most captious and critical of the opponents of the Institution, that it is worthy of public support, and entitled to liberal consideration. It was pleasant to observe how the professionals who lead the Opposition were forced to acknowledge that education for the farmer is just as desirable as for the lawyer and doctor, and that the sons of the soil have the same right to public recognition as the most blue-blooded of the 'gentry, who have long considered our principal educational centres as their exclusive preserves. The chief attack was directed against Mr. Johnston, and his speech of last year and explanatory letter received the strongest possible animadversion. A good point was made in defence by Mr. Sinclair, of North Bruce, who quietly pointed out how the late Superintendent of Education persistently and periodically attacked the then Opposition, and not only did this with the permission and encouragement of the then Government, but sent his venom broadcast over the land in publications printed at the expense of the country. This gentle reminder pricked the bubble, and the item passed without another word.

On Friday the House was treated to one of those personal explanations which occur now and again, and give so much satisfaction, as an agreeable variety, to the listeners. Mr. William McDougall had been mixed up in a chancery suit, reported in the Hamilton Times, in which his position was certainly not enviable. A letter had been therein published, written by him, some time ago, in which he stated that he would use his public position here for the purpose of "bearing" Hudson Bay stocks in England. As a member of the Local House he stated that he would deliver a speech which would have the desired effect, and produce a fall in the value of these securities, and advised a friend then, with whom he was interested, to make "a big push" for the purpose of benefiting by this. He endeavored to show that he wasn't so bad as he seemed, but his speech was a blank failure, for not a single supporter of the gentleman gave even a solitary cheer when he resumed his seat.

The Orange Bills were before the House last evening on a motion made by Mr. Merrick for the suspension of rules, so that they could be introduced. Through error or design the rules of the House had not deen complied with, and the member for Leeds asked the Assembly to overlook the missing links, and place the Bills on the orders of the day.

Mr. Fraser, as was expected, resisted the motion, and the debate continued until about one o'clock this morning. A motion to adjourn the debate was made, and resisted by the friends of the measure, as they deem it unlikely that a vote can be reached at a later stage of the session. The adjournment was carried by a vote of 40 to 30—two or three supporters of the Bill voting for the adjournment. An effort will be made to resume the debate before the House is prorogued, and it is probable that a vote will be reached. If so, the bill will be found to have gained friends since it was last before the Legislature. There is a growing conviction that putting aside Orangeism per se Orangemen have as much right to an Act of Incorporation as the members of the United Empire or National Clubs, both of which bodies have recently been chartered by the Legislature, and it is becoming pretty certain that sooner or later the measure must be granted.

The close of the session will probably be reached next week.

Clifford wants a town hall and lock-up. $200 has been granted by the County Council to be applied in building a lock-up.

Ontario Legislature.

TORONTO, Feb. 26.

Mr. Hardy moved the House into Committee on a resolution relating to the Public Service, and which was to the effect that, when the services of any clerk or officer connected with the Public Service were dispensed with through no fault of his own, nor in consequence of age, infirmity, or ill health, an Order in Council might confer upon him a gratuity equal to one month's pay for each year of service, and that the same gratuity might be bestowed upon the family of such a clerk or officer who died while in the service of the Crown.

The House then went into Committee on the Government measure giving finality to voters' lists. It passed through Committee without any material amendments.

Mr. Mowat's Bill respecting the Magistracy and Mr. Hardy's Bill respecting the Public Service of Ontario were passed through Committee. Mr. Crooks' Bill respecting Union School Sections was read a second time.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 26.

After routine business, Mr. McCarthy resumed the debate on the budget. He drew a comparison between the expenditure of 1873 4 and 1876-7, going over the various items to show that while the Government was cutting down all possible expenses during the last year, they had not reduced the expenses of the country to what they were when they came into power. He said the Government should shoulder their share of responsibility for public works, as these were undertaken with their approbation while in Opposition.

Mr. Patterson replied. He pointed out how all the efforts of the Opposition were directed to show that this country was in a state of destitution and poverty under a moderate protective policy, while the United States were a perfect paradise under a high protective tariff. He referred to Sir John's assertion that Mr. McCarthy was sent to Parliament to supply brains to the Opposition, but after the speech that hon. gentleman made, all would agree he had strangely misused the brains which his friends attributed to him in such abundance. He alluded to the figures quoted by the member for Cardwell, showing how fallacious they were by that gentleman adopting the extraordinary plan of striking out by wholesale figures of the expenditures of the years when his party were in power, and adding to the full expenditure of the present Ministry items that had no right to appear. The hon gentleman only used figures to suit his own purposes. Concerning the Weights and Measures Act he (Mr. Patterson) showed that it was the late Government that passed that Act, and had spent $100,000 in England for standards. He reviewed Senator Macpherson's pamphlet, showing how the Senator and the Commoner who had lately spoken agreed, even to adding cents in some items. The grand object of the Opposition was, apparently, to show that the present Government had not effected a saving; but force figures as they will, the Public Accounts were there to show that a saving had been effected by the Mackenzie Government of $6,488,977, compared with the sums expended by the late Government. The Macdonald Administration increased public expenditure ten millions in six years, while the increase under the Mackenzie Administration in three years was only $200,000. The ordinary or controllable expenditure under Sir John was increased during the same period three millions. The present Government had reduced that controllable expenditure by one million and a half. If there was one thing more than another that the present Government could appeal to the people on, it was their financial record. He caused great applause and laughter by the allusion to the source of Mr. McCarthy's inspiration as "Tupper's proverbial nonsense." He went on to allude to the many points in the arguments advanced by the Opposition, and held the House in the closest attention for two hours.

AT the meeting of the Dominion Rifle Association, at Ottawa, on Thursday, it was announced that the Government had decided to pay the expenses of the Dominion team to Wimbledon next year.

THERE was quite a sharp debate in the Senate on Tuesday on Senator Macpherson's motion for a Committee to enquire into the expenses connected with the Fort Frances locks. Speeches were made by several hon. members. Senators Brown and Scott defended the Government. The debate was adjourned.

IT is rumored in Ottawa that the vacant "River Counties" Senatorship will be conferred on Mr. B. M. Britton, barrister, of Kingston. Mr. Britton occupies a leading position in the legal profession, and would prove a valuable addition to the debating talent on the Ministerial side of the Senate.

SOUTH BRUCE.—We are glad to learn that at the meeting of the South Bruce Reform Convention on Tuesday, the Hon Mr Blake was unanimously nominated for the House of Commons and being telegraphed to accepted the nomination, which we are sure will be received with pleasure and gratification by his friends and Reformers throughout the Dominion.

THE appearance of O'Donovan Rossa in Toronto, on the 18th March, continues to be discussed by all classes of the people in Toronto, the general opinion being that it was very injudicious for the Young Irishmen's Society to invite him to lecture. Archbishop Lynch states he was not approached or in any way consulted by the Irish Societies who invited the agitator, and the ecclesiastical authorities emphatically disavow the least connection with or sanction of the movement. The Hibernians, on the other hand contend, that the Societies are independent and not under the jurisdiction of the clergy in these matters. Prominent members of the Orange body are divided in opinion on the matter. The Master of the County Orange Lodge, Ald. Adamson, believes there is no law to prevent Rossa's coming, and asks that no notice be taken of him, while the Deputy Grand Master regards the lecturer as an out-and-out Fenian who comes to talk treason, and thinks the Government and city authorities should take steps to prevent him being allowed to speak. One or two others have expressed the same opinion; others again hold the same view as the Master. A number of circulars issued by the Irish National Societies, and containing extracts in support of the justness of the claims of the Irish people for liberty and, if necessary, absolute independence, were distributed at the St. Michael's Cathedral gates at the first mass on Sunday morning, but it was stopped by the clergy before the late masses commenced.

Mr. John Hoffman, of Berlin, died at his residence on Friday, after one week's sickness. The deceased was one of the oldest business men of the town, having come from Pennsylvania some fifty years ago. He at one time kept a large cabinet factory in that place, and was for ten or twelve years in the mercantile and milling business. He had been reeve a number of years in Waterloo, and mayor two years in Berlin.

Harriston Correspondence.

A meeting of the Harriston Brown base ball club was held at the Royal Hotel on Thursday evening of last week, for the purpose of organising for the coming season. The attendance present went to show that the base ball fraternity meant business this season. The following officers were duly elected for the ensuing year:—A. Campbell President; D. H. Clegg, vice do.; John Livingston, Treasurer; R. T. Haight, Secretary; P. Lavin, captain; M. P. Empey, scorer. Directors—W. Millar, Elliot Fulton, R. T. Haight, C. Johnston, W. Clapp, Thos. Cunningham, Wm. Holman. After which the meeting adjourned to meet again at the call of the president.

Benjamin Gray and family left here on Tuesday of last week by the afternoon train, for their new home in Ingersoll, amid the well wishes of his friends, whose names are legion. There is no doubt but the same honorable course which marked his career during his residence of over twenty years here, will render him a desirable citizen of Ingersoll.

It is rumored that Stewart & Wilson, saw millers, of this place, will erect a large flour mill during the coming summer. The enterprise is a commendable one, and if gone on with will prove a good acquisition to the place.

The next holding of the Division Court, under Judge Chadwick, will be held in the town hall, here, on the 20th of March.

Messrs. Wait & Johnston have opened a Loan Insurance and General Agency office on Elora street, adjoining Bailey's harness shop, where they are prepared to loan money and take risks on satisfactory terms.

The Guelph curlers were anxiously looked for here on Thursday last, but to the disappointment of their Harriston friends, failed to put in an appearance. But the Harriston curlers being determined to have a turn at the blocks, arranged a match with the following result:

James Moore,	Dewar,
Walter Moore,	Patmore,
George Moore,	Leitch,
Arbuckle, skip—15.	Robertson, skip—6

Quite a number from Harriston attended the Masonic Lodge of instruction at Guelph last week, and returned well pleased at the manner in which they were treated by their Guelph friends.

The Herald's Harriston correspondent states Mr. Meiklejohn is to be succeeded in the mercantile business here by a city gentleman, which is a mistake. His successor is John Hall, of Paris, a gentleman who comes highly recommended.

The weather of last week was rather unpropitious for out door work, and the drawing of timber and saw logs was considerably retarded. The grain market also was rather dull.

Donaldson Brothers, late of Hamilton, have taken possession of the grist mill, lately purchased by them from Geo. and J. B. Preston. They are highly spoken of, and are likely to succeed. The Messrs. Preston will devote themselves to the saw mill business.

MANHOOD:
HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.
Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.
The celebrated author in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured, without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.
This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

CHAPTER XXIII.

WALTER ADAMSON IN GLENROY.

"Then we understand each other, and may speak freely on the one subject which is interesting us. What dreadful affair is this Mrs. Morven? Mrs. Logan has disappeared you say?"

"Alack, yes, sir; left us like a knotless thread. Neither Thomas nor me knew nothing about her. We hae baith socht the glen for miles roond, thinking maybe she had fa'en our a crag; but naething could we see, and naething hear. Thomas was oot this mornin' again by the screigh o' day, but my strength is clean gane, and I had tae stay at hame. We baith hoped that Maister Harold had ta'en her awa up the mountains."

"He nae did that, any how," exclaimed Daddy.

"The God only knows what has come ower them!" wailed the old woman, as she piteously wrung her hands. "But haste ye back, Daddy—haste ye back, and tell him that her and the bairn are mistin'—that they ne'er cam' back after seein' him awa'. For heaven's sake, gang and tell him! If Thomas had kenned the road he wad hae been here."

"But, mistress, it's clean impossible that I can set oot on my way back this nicht," said Daddy. "I hae come frae the cave wi' a message for Mrs. Logan, and it's a sair twa day's tramp. I canna set oot this nicht at any rate, but I wull in the mornin', though, atweel, the tidings I'm tae carry are heavy anes for him that's tee get them."

"Oh, it will break his heart, as it has broken ours!" moaned Mysie. "Puir lad! he lived but for them; they were the licht o' his e'e and the joy o' his heart. I hae heard him say he could bear a' that has happened him sae lang as he had them tee love."

"But what can hae happened them!" put in Daddy. "It's no possible that Mrs. Logan could lose herself—her that knows every turn and crook o' the glen sae weel? Was there ony mist on that day, mistress?"

"Nae a thread o' mist, Daddy. The hills were as clear as they are the day. Had there been mist we might hae thocht she had wandered into a moss hag; but atweel, we kenna what tae think. But, loah keep me, I'm clean forgettin' tae ask this gentleman in. Ye maun excuse me, sir. This waefu' misfortune has dung me clean donnert. But step into the hoose. I'm sorry there's nae fire in the room; ye see it was Lizzie's room, and I havena had the heart to enter it. But I'll kindle a fire belyve."

"Don't put yourself about on that score, Mrs. Morven," replied the lawyer, as he and Daddy followed her into the cottage. "This serious occurrence presents an unexpected hindrance to the business on which I came, and I suspect my journey will prove in vain."

"Oh aye," sobbed Mysie. "The puir things are deid by this time. Wae's me, we'll never get ower't. Sit ye doon, sir, and I'll licht a fire ben the hoose without the loss o' a moment."

Saying which, Mysie, with feelings struggling between grief and hospitality, left Daddy Dod and the lawyer in the kitchen.

"Can you make anything of this, Daddy's asked Mr. Adamson, with firm, compressed lips.

"No me, sir. Its hard to see how the lassie could lose hersel' comin' back. In fact, I canna think it possible, and gin she had fa'in owre a rock, Thomas wad hae gotten her or this. The thing's a mystery—an oot and oot mystery."

"I know what it means," said the lawyer, with startling abruptness.

"Dee ye, sir," returned Daddy, with a start and a stare.

"Mrs. Logan has neither lost herself nor met with an accident. She has been carried off."

"Carried off—save us a', sir, hoo dee ye think that? and wha has carried her?"

"The tools—the hirelings of Gilmour Logan."

"Mercy me. Can it be possible that he has fun' oot aboot her?"

"I am convinced of it. This explains why they received my intimation so cooly yesterday. They had made themselves secure by removing Harold's wife and child."

"The deevil—the blackguard," vociferated Daddy, dashing the end of his cudgel with vehemence on thee arthen floor. "But hoo was it possible that he could ken aboot Maister Harold's marriage, and that his wife lived here?"

"Through spies, no doubt. But 'tis useless to conjecture that. Clearly he has made the discovery, and taken this daring method of securing himself against the consequence. But this makes it all the more necessary, Daddy, that you should return immediately to Harold with the intelligence that his wife and child have disappeared. Tell also that you saw me and what is my strong suspicion."

"It will drive the puir ohield mad," returned Daddy, with a rueful look.

"I am afraid it will make him do something rash and desperate. But warn him from me against that. If they have mined we must countermine. Let him employ every means to discover where the lady and child have been taken and rescue her. He cannot fail in this, for he must have many people in his service who can ferret out the place where the prisoners are kept."

"Ay, sir, but what gin they hae murdered them?"

"No fear of that. Gilmour Logan is too cautious for his own safety to run his neck into a halter. He'll go a far length in scheming and knavery, but depend upon it, Daddy, nothihg will tempt him to risk the gallows."

"Then if they have only puttin' the lassie and the infant in hidin' Maister Harold will find them," answered Daddy, very decidedly. "There's no a place atween the four seas that they can keep her lang oot o' his kennin'."

"My own conviction, and I think we may give some comfort to Mrs Morven by telling her what we believe."

Daddy assented, and when in a minute or two after Mysie appeared to say that she had spread a meal for Mr. Adamson in the other apartment, they communicated to her the suspicions they had formed.

"Then the villians maun hae been watchin' for this," she exclaimed, after a few gasps of amazement.

"Ye may swear that, mistress," observed Daddy. "It was a chance for them that they werena likely to miss."

At a late hour Thomas Morven returned from his day's search, weary, unsuccessful, and hopeless. The sight of Daddy seated in the kitchen was welcome to his troubled eyes, and eagerly he grasped at the solution of the mystery which the latter offered. The agency of the four previous days had been intensified by his inability to communicate with Harold, or to seek the aid of any one in his search. But, now that the intelligence could be conveyed to the youth, the weight of the old man's responsibility was lessened, and for the first time since Lizzie's disappearance he was able to take the rest he had much needed.

In truth, the whole four who were the inmates of the cottage that night were thoroughly tired with the fatigues of the day, and at an early hour they sought their several couches for repose. Daddy was offered a comfortable bed in the kitchen, but he preferred to sleep among straw in the byre, and to that lair he betook himself, where, according to his wont, he was no sooner curled up than he went off into a sound dreamless sleep.

The lawyer, though even more tired in body than the mendicant, did not fall into the embrace of Morpheus so soon or so easily. The strange bed, the cold atmosphere of the glen, and his many varied thoughs kept him awake for a full hour after he lay down in the parlour bed; but about the end of that time he, too, became oblivious of all worldly things, and for the rest of the night beneficent sleep swayed his sceptre with undisturbed power over the cottage in the valley.

Foreign Literature.

DEAR SIR,—I am pleased to observe that in a late issue of your journal, you have adopted my suggestion of devoting a column to the encouragement of Foreign Literature. You have doubtless by this time become thoroughly convinced, that your Colonial Empire must for many decades to come, be largely dependent for its higher literary life, on the efforts of other and older lands; and in accordance with this conviction, you have entered upon a course which I trust will prove advantageous to yourself and satisfactory to your readers. With a view of encouraging so laudable and patriotis an enterprise, I invoice you by the last European mail the accompanying translation from the sublime PHANTASIA the SOMNAMBULIST, from the German, of Baron Von Guerrinstein. I confess to you that it is with much fear and hesitation, that I venture to submit to the public so humble an attempt at so exalted a subject, more especially as I know that there resides in your city the very great and learned critic,—the original McSneeshin. But as I am lead to conclude from late symptoms, that he may be about this time passing through the interesting process of cutting his literary milkteeth, I have decided, solely with the object of encouraging you in your new sphere, to place at your disposal, the subjoined very imperfect representation of the original. T. C,

Chelsea, Jan. 15th, 1878.

The Somnambulist.

Translated from the German of Baron Von Guerrinstein.

At Christmas-tide, when merry wights,
Mistake the moon for lesser lights;
When Bacchus revels round in lights,
And each on his escutcheon writes,
Excelsior!

A burgher skilled with pen and sword,
Who late his country's rights did guard,
From Goth and Vandal, Frank and Pard,
For out the Patriot's meek reward;
Excelsior!

He joined the watch upon the Rinc,
The battle o'er he called to dine
His friends who fought along the line,—
And hold the fort,—their meed divine,
Excelsior!

They feasted late, they feasted long,
The viands were rich, the relish strong;
Time flew on wings of jest and song
Till heard from voice of midnight gong,
Excelsior!

Von Wreighter, brain and stomach mix'd
From geese and buzzards, wine betwixt,
And other solvents strongly spiced;
Got one idea firmly fixed,
Excelsior!

The revel o'er, Von found his lair,
His spouse beside him said a prayer,
While he was drifting towards nightmare,
Till shone or glimmer'd anywhere,
Excelsior!

The Alps and Atlas on his breast;
With terrible crushing pond'rance press'd,
One thought absorbing all the rest,
All feeling by that thought express'd,
Excelsior!

His hair was growing cold and damp,
Dark circles gathered round the lamp,
While clanking chain and demon tramp,
Made grating lock and clicking clamp,
Blue Beelzebour.

Close gather'd round the fiendish crew,
In glittering scales and slimy dew;
Phosphoric lights shone green and blue,
And demon eyes kept glaring through,
The Sulphorous air!

Von, hoping all might take to route,
In dishabille from bed turned out,
His night shroud only him about,
Whence front and rear like banners flout,
Excelsior!

T'was fashion'd like a seamless bag,
And hung about him by a tag;
T'was somewhat old, and partly rag,
And might have been the captured flag;
Excelsior!

Two corners slit for armlets knew,—
Between,—a hole where he looked through;
The tail was drab the top was blue,
Whereon some clouded Cyprus threw,
Excelsior!

Out pass'd he to the night air cold,
Ten thousand Heralds new and old,
One half sent cash the rest unsold,
About him hung in toga fold,
Excelsior!

One arm was flung across his breast,
His feet in nature's sandals dress'd,
Sans hose, the icy pavement press'd,
Still, like Apollo, looked his best,
Excelsior!

Belated geese came up speed-ward,
Along the Herald Boulevard,
And half by flight, half running hard,
They kept in view a flaming card,—
Excelsior!

"The season's joys" was Wreighter's call,
"Birds of a feather" answer'd all;
In single file at once they fall,
And stride behind the spectre tall,
Excelsior!

A Celtihternian on parade,
With blunted pick and battered spade,
"Ye're tight mi boy" go home he said,
But out in thundering torrents staggered
Excelsior!

A Scot frae his ain heathery hill,
Who wasna fou, but might be fill,
Just out fra Maggie and a gill,
Saw nought, but caught the echoes shrill,
Excelsior!

Up to the Herald hill Von bore,
With night-key often used before
For raping looks, he one'd the door,
In pass'd Von Wreighter, out a roar,
Excelsior!

A double flight of stairs he pass'd,
With echoing footsteps loud and fast,
Pale straggling moonbeams o'er him cast,
Till on the balcony stood at last,
Excelsior!

"This is the house that I have built,
And I have built a baloony tilt,
And I will have the windows gilt,
And then MERCUTIO, hilt to hilt,"
Excelsior!

"If brick and mortar pass for brains,
And birth or blood its place maintains,
Sir MERCURY I'll divide your gains,
And give you scissors for your pains,
Excelsior!

Thus having said he slapp'd his thigh,
In triumph upward turned his eye,
And gazing o'er the vaulted sky,
Saw written everywhere on high;
Excelsior!

'Twas east and west, 'twas near and far,
In queen of love and god of war,
In Vulcan's shield and Neptune's car,
In every ray from every star,
Excelsior!

'Twas grandly o'er the blue vault flung,
In every sign a letter hung;
In Taurus old and Thetis young;
While each revolving planet sung,
Excelsior!

It had its source in Cygnus pale,
And in the middle swam the whale,
It lightly touched on Argo's sail,
And finished off in Brain's tail!
Excelsior!

Von gazed unraptured, but at once,
Mars poised his shield and raised his lance,
The Coursers war-arrayed advance,
Some seemed to charge and some to dance,
Excelsior!

Von gazing still, beheld a flash,
Bright fragments darted right and left
As flung from hand of wizard deft,
Some seeming woof and others weft,
Excelsior!

The clash and clangour broke the spell,
Bright showers like autumn meteors fell,
The spheres sang like a broken bell;
Nor echoed once in note or swell,
Excelsior!

'Twas o'er, the garish vision flew,
Von gazing down St. Wyndham Road,
The night felt cold, the lights look'd blue,
And very faintly glimmered through,
Excelsior!

But now he only scratched his thigh,
Pale dimness gathered o'er his eye,
Three fonts of I's went all to "pie,"
With just the faintest broken cry,
Excelsior!

Awayward canine who had hung,
His faith that night on Brigham Young,
On passions' bells the changes rang,
Esteeming Miss Schoo, or Miss Schoo-fung,
Excelsior!

Found Wreighter standing at his door,
Pose Statesque, but pedals sure,
With matters muchly mixed or more;
The Canine whispered Au revoir,
But never heard Excelsior!

THURSDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 28, 1878

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

The War Feeling Still Strong.

No Improvement in the Situation

Britain Going on with Preparations for War.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—A despatch from Belgrade says Servia appealed to the Powers against Russian treatment of her in final negotions for peace.

LONDON, Feb. 28.—The situation is not improved to day. Warlike preparations create great excitement throughout Great Britain. The newspapers assert war is inevitable unless Russia very materially modifies her demands and the spirit which she has shown where English interests are in question. The preparations of the Government have had the effect to depress consols about one-half per cent.

BIRTHS, MARRIAGES AND DEATHS.—The following statistics for Guelph, from the Registrar-General's report, for the year 1876, compared with the preceding year, is not devoid of interest:—Total number of births, 311, an increase of 84; marriages, 132, an increase of 33; deaths, 118, an increase of 25. For the County of Wellington:—Total number of births, 1,693, 825 males and 868 females, an increase of 465; marriages, 530, an increase of 114; deaths, 680, 307 males and 373 females, an increase of 242. The largest number of births in the County in one month was 166, in March; largest number of marriages, in February, 58; largest number of deaths, in August, 78. In the County 7 males and 8 females died at over 90 years of age. Millners, dressmakers and cooks, itaking the Province as a whole, are the shortest lived. Plasterers are put down as the long-st lived, only five having died during the year, and gentlemen follow next.

CHESS.—On Wednesday evening Messrs. R. R. Baldwin, R. Patterson, and J. B. Clyne went to Galt to defeat an equal number of players of that town. The defeat was won by Guelph, the Galt players proving themselves vastly superior at the chess board. For Guelph, the playing of Messrs. Clyne and Patterson was admired.

INSOLVENCY.—The number of cases of insolvency in the County of Halton during 1876 was 9, the total liabilities as furnished by insolvents were $59,424; claims proved $71,001.

THE WORST MEN.—"Rely on it," said an experienced English judge, "the worst men, as men, who come before me, the most cruel, the most base, the most hopeless of improvement, are the professional swindlers, the men who make such good defences and look so neat and clean. They are worse than professional gamblers, who are more cruel than almost any other men."

IT STANDS UNEQUALLED.—Those who have used Wilson's Compound Syrup Wild Cherry, know it to be unequalled for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Loss of Voice, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all kindred diseases. A 25c. bottle will cure any ordinary case. A 50c. bottle has frequently cured chronic cases of from one month to two years' standing, and that after having spent many dollars in vain attempts to get relief. A dollar bottle holds more in proportion, and should be kept in every house. It will save many a doctor's bill.

FANCY DRESS CARNIVAL.—A large assortment of Acme and latest style skates at Bond's & Co's. Prices extremely low.

WM. ANDERSON, Central Emporium, has just received another case of damaged white cotton which is selling fast at 11c. (yard wide) worth 16c. d6.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provide our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage wich may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. SKATING.—Rev. Mr Hobbs, of Acton, refers to skating rinks as a place where Satan holds protracted meetings. If such be the case theologians of the same mind cannot associate the abode of those who are not blessed after death, with material fire. If Satan held protracted meetings he would surely not choose a place where ice doth most prevail.

THE sanitary condition of the town will soon be a matter which the Board of Health will have to deal with. Parties who have back yards partly filled with garbage should be setting things in order for its prompt removal as soon as the icy grip of winter relaxes sufficiently to allow of it being done. Thorough drainage, and prompt removal of all malaria-causing filth and rubbish, may be the means of saving life and health during the warm season.

TABLEAUX VIVANTS.—The entertainment to be given in the Town Hall this evening for the benefit of the St. George's Church Rectory Fund, promises to be extremely interesting, and doubtless will be largely patronized. A full dress rehearsal was held last evening, and from the manner in which all carried out their parts, the public may be assured that it will be a highly successful affair. Between the living pictures pourtrayed choice selections of music will be given. Reserved seat tickets may be procured at Pringle's.

RAILWAY MEETING.—A railway meeting was held at St. Jacobs, on the 15th inst. Three projects were discussed, the Credit Valley extension from Elora, westward through Woolwich and Wellesley, the extension of the G. T. R., northward from Waterloo, and a line proposed by Mr. Fennell, connecting Berlin with the Great Western at Elora. A committee was appointed to communicate with Mr. Broughton of the Great Western in reference to the latter scheme.

CONSIDERABLE talk on the streets to-day in regard to the session of the Police Committee last evening, when the petition expressing want of confidence in Chief Kelly and asking for his dismissal was taken up. A number of the petitioners were examined. Committee meetings are conducted privately and therefore nothing in regard to the matter will be made public until the regular meeting of Council on Monday evening next. The Committee will meet again this evening.

G.C.L. & D.S.—The semi-monthly meeting of the Guelph Catholic Literary and Debating Society was held on Wednesday evening, in St. Ignatius College. There was a very large attendance, and an excellent programme of literary exercises was presented. The subject for debate was—"Which is the most desirable for a young man to engage in, mercantile or professional life." Mr. T. J. Howard argued in favor of commerce, and delivered an interesting and able speech. Mr. T. P. Coffee took the opposite side, and explained in eloquent terms the advantages a young man had in the pursuit of a profession. The ballot being taken, resulted in favor of Mr. Howard's arguments. Mr. P. Mahon gave a recitation entitled "A Hymn of St. Patrick," which was rendered in an excellent manner. Mr. J. Kelleher recited a pretty little poem entitled "The Watermill," which was well received. Mr. J. O. Coffee recited from Shakespeare's "Julius Cæsar" Mark Antony's oration over the body of Cæsar, which was received with well merited applause. Mr. S. Howard recited in good style one of McGee's poems entitled "The Rappree." Mr. A. D. Green, editor of the Literary Review, No. 11, presented his number, which contained some very able and instructive articles. Mr. Jas. Wiley was appointed editor of the next number. The next meeting takes place on the 13th March, for which a good programme has been arranged.

WEATHER PROBS.—The weather probabilities for to-day are moderate to fresh winds, increasing cloudiness, and possibly light rain towards morning.

Insolvency Matters.

Interesting Facts in Regard to Local Failures.

There have been few years more trying to this country than that of 1877, and the many failures not only in Canada, but throughout the commercial world, show that there must be something very wrong in the mode of carrying on business and manufactures. Our own good town and county have participated in the general depression, though to nothing like the extent of many other parts, and the downfall of more than one leading man in our midst is much to be deplored, but was apparently inevitable. The returns of the Insolvent Courts are from October, in each year, and those of our local official assignee show that he has had for the twelve months ending the date referred to, twenty-nine writs of attachment or estates assigned to him. Of these nine were confided by the vote of the creditors to other hands, two writs were annulled, and of the remaining eighteen, the liabilities were sworn to be upwards of $600,000. On this amount there were compositions or dividends paid of $127,181 47, whilst about $15,000 is now in course of division. The general expenses of these estates on which dividends have been made and business closed are $4,691 08, which includes rent, taxes, wages, etc., etc.; the law expenses were $595.14, and the assignee's fees $856.60, including allowance in each case for his discharge. The forms sent out by the Government require a report of the state of the insolvent's books in each case, and the statute denies a discharge to any one who has not kept a correct cash book, and as far as the papers show few of the unfortunates can claim their discharge, if opposed, and that bad bookkeeping is one great cause of the misfortunes that befall such men. As far as we can judge the conclusion is inevitable, that better book-keeping and more careful business education are requisite to enable a man now-a-days to make his fortune in commercial or manufacturing ventures.

A Primitive Mill---A Relic of Sixty Years Ago.

From the Hamilton Times.

Those who have had business at the county buildings during the past day or two may have noticed two queer-looking half-spherical stones lying in the entrance thereof; and further, they probably were unable to guess what the boulders were used for. Some, no doubt, took them for large-sized curling stones, which they somewhat resemble, and others mayhaps, thought nothing of them. At all events they were objects of conjecture to all visitors. Through the kindness of Mr. McKellar we are enabled to give a sketch of the history of these mill stones, for such they are.

In the year 1817—about sixty years ago—Peter McKellar (father of the Sheriff of Wentworth) and a few more Highland Scotch familes settled in that part of the country now known as the township of Aldboro', in the county of Elgin. It was then a dense wilderness, and those daring people settled away in the very heart of the forest, through which it was impossible to drive a waggon, without first cutting out a road. Among the many privations which the settlers had to undure was the want of a mill for grinding grain, the nearest being about fifty miles away on Kettle Creek, east of St. Thomas. Owing to the total absence of roads it of course did not pay to take a grist all that distance, so Peter McKellar, with the assistance of Mr. Minzie, an old stonemason, set to work and contructed a hand mill. They took two hard-heads (i. e. granite boulders) and with great difficulty, for they had but a few inefficient tools, managed to hew these stones into the desired shape. Having accomplished this they took a section of a hollow tree and fastened the nether mill stone securely in it. Then the upper one was placed upon this and held in place by an iron axle running up from below, and which had a cross-piece to allow the upper stone being lifted. A beam was then made fast across the house walls, and into it a long piece of wood was fastened with a swivel joint. The bottom end of this stick fitted into a hole in the top of the stone near the side, and completed the primitive machine. It was operated by two men who took hold of the bottom of the crank or lever and whirled the stone around, while a third person fed in the grain. The Sheriff can just remember the men coming in, after an arduous day's logging or chopping and seeing them working away at the mill which stood about breast high on the floor of the log house, while the huge log fire blazed and crackled cheerily in the large square fire-place. The settlers would come in night after night, and grind enough grain to last them a day or two.

The settlement rapidly prospered, roads were built, and Peter McKellar erected a water mill on the Sixteen-mile Creek. This threw the old hand mill out of work, so it was again transported, this time into the heart of Middlesex, where it was used for some years longer, when it once more fell into disuse and was laid aside, and has remained quiescent ever since. The Sheriff received them from a namesake of his, not long ago, in the township of Moss, county of Middlesex, and beheld the stones again for the first time in fifty years. They are very interesting relics of the past of our country, and afford enduring evidence of the indomitable energy and perseverance of the men who, in encountering and overcoming the hardships and trials incidental to the time, laid the foundation of the prosperity of this Canada of ours.

Dominion Rifle Association.

This Association met at Ottawa on Wednesday, when Col. Gzowski was re-elected President. A vote of thanks was passed to the Government for its recognition of the Association, and in so cheerfully enabling them to continue the sending of a team to Wimbledon. The Hon. Mr. Jones, Minister of Militia, was present, and it was remarked by more than one speaker that he was the first Minister who had ever attended their meetings, or who had recognized their rights to the grant for Wimbledon.

On a vote of thanks being passed to Mr. Jones, he expressed the pleasure he had experienced in being present and listening to the discussions. He felt it to be the duty of the Government to encourage Associations such as the present. He himself had been connected with the militia in times past, and knew that nothing kept up the esprit du corps and the military feeling among the people as the opportunity afforded them of meeting in competition, either at home or abroad. In taking the position of head of the Department he had determined to use his influence to carry out the ideas he had always expressed when merely a member of the House of Commons. His hon. friend would remember that on a previous occasion, as a member of the House he had endeavored to use all the influence he possessed with the Government in order to remove some objections existing in certain quarters with respect to the continuance of the grant, and when he came to occupy the more prominent position, he of course felt it his duty to carry out the plan he had marked out for himself when in another position in the House. He looked with great interest on the development of military organizations throughout the country, and believed it would be largely assisted by organizations such as were now discussing. (Cheers) They could not expect persons to give up their time, and at great personal inconvenience and expense to take an interest in military matters, without receiving proper recognition and assistance at the hands of the Government of the day. (Cheers.) He would speak for himself, and speaking the sentiments of the Government, so long as he occupied his present position he would do all he could to forward the interests of the Service generally, and of such branches as they were discussing, and which he believed were more important than generally understood. (Applause.) He closed by stating that the interest of the Service would always have consideration.

The team for 1878 has been selected as follows: One from Ontario, five from Quebec, twelve from New Brunswick, two from Nova Scotia. It is believed that the selection should be made from a definite number of competitors nominated by the respective Provincial Associations, and whose necessary expenses to and from Ottawa should be paid by this Association, and from such other qualified competitors as may desire to enter the competition at their own expense. The competition at the ranges should extend over a greater number of days, so that the changes in light and weather on each competitor might be fully known.

Education in Nassagaweya.

For some time it has been the desire of some of the teachers in Nassagaweya to organize an Association for mutual improvement, and for the purpose of securing the co-operation of the parents in the great work of education. Accordingly a mass meeting was held in the Town Hall, Brookville, on Saturday, 23rd inst. Mr. Jas. Collins was called to the chair, and Mr. W. S. McTavish was appointed Secretary.

The following resolution was moved by Wm. S. McTavish and seconded by Mr. A. McPhee:—Resolved that we organize ourselves into an Association for mutual improvement and that said Association be called the "Nassagaweya Teachers' Association." Carried.

The following officers were elected:—President, A. McPhee; Vice President, C. Cameron; Secretary-Treasurer, Jas. Collins. Board of Directors—President, Vice-President and Secretary-Treasurer ex officio, Misses Donaldson, Day and Bosfield, and Messrs. J. Ramsay, G. Norris, and D. Hutcheon.

The Association will meet once a quarter. Mr. R. Little, P.S.I., than addressed the meeting giving his views of education and on some clauses of the present school law, concluding with some remarks upon the irregularity of the division of the assessed school property in the Township. Addresses were also delivered by Messrs. J. Ramsay, G. Norrish, R. Akins, Jas. Menzies, A. Ramsay, and H. Akins, in where they referred to some of the suggestions proposed by Mr. Little.

The matter presented to the meeting by Mr. Little was referred to the Township Council for consideration. Mr. Wm. H. McDonald, teacher in Esquesing, read an excellent paper upon the best method of teaching spelling in Public Schools.

INCOMBUSTIBLE WRITING PAPER.—This has been invented by two Salamanta savants which is warranted to resist the most intense heat. A single sheet will carbonize but will not burn; while if a roll of prepared paper be placed in the fiercest fire, although the outside leaves and the extreme edges may carbonize the interior will remain unaltered, and the writing or printing will remain unaltered, and the writing or printing will remain perfectly legible. Papers already written or printed upon may undergo the process of preparation without injury.

Base Ball Matters.

Individual Scores of the Maple Leaf Nine.

The Guelph club although extremely unfortunate in many of their games last season in competing for the International championship pennant, nevertheless their record is not one that there is any reason to be ashamed of. The batting record of the club places them fifth on the list and ahead of the Alleghenys and Live Oaks. In fielding the Leafs stand sixth. The individual batting record is as follows, with W. Smith leading the list:—

Chatham contains a negro 107 years old. His name is Smith, and he was born in Culpepper County, Virginia, in 1770. He looks to be about seventy or eighty years of age, and chews, smokes and drinks. He once saw George Washington. He had twelve children by his first wife, and during his widowerhood of four years he became the father of fourteen illegitimate children. On returning from Arkansas to Kentucky he married a second time, and by the second wife had fourteen children, making a total of twenty-six legitimate children, twenty-four of whom, as far as he knows, are still living. He saw the first steamboat that floated on the Ohio River, and was a slave, but bought his freedom for the sum of $1,400.

A girl named Maggie Lutz, aged eighteen, living in Philadelphia, Pa., left home on Christmas Day and was not seen until the 15th inst., when, as two young men were strolling on a walk, skirting the reservoir, they saw what appeared to be some kind of an animal floating in the water. They informed the superintendent who secured a scoop net and made several lunges at the object until with a more vigorous effort it sank and returned with a bound to the surface disclosing the upturned face of a young girl, whose form was neatly attired. The body was taken to a station in the city and recognized as Maggie Lutz.

PROFITS OF A HOMESTEAD IN MANITOBA. The Winnipeg Free Press says:—Mr. Yule, a homesteader on section 33 in the township 12, range 6 West, exhibited a magnificent sample of grain recently, which was quite equal to the first prize seed. He and four neighbors brought in 400 bushels of prime oats, which they sold at thirty-five cents a bushel. Mr. Yule's case is an example of what can be done by energy with only a small capital. He settled on his homestead three years ago and purchased the adjoining quarter section from the Government, which nearly cleared him out. He had, however, a span of ponies and plough with which he went to work farming, cultivating ten acres of land the first year. As a result of three years' settlement on rich land in Manitoba with practically no capital he has this year 1,500 bushels of grain to sell, a well stocked farm, two teams, fifteen head of cattle, etc., and fifty acres ready for crop next season.

THURSDAY EVEN'G, FEB. 28, 1878

The Drainage Act.

If any additional proof was needed to show how solicitous the Ontario Government is for the benefit of the farmers, it is furnished in the bill for encouraging farmers to put tile drains in their lands. For this object it is proposed to set apart a fund of $200,000, from which township councils may borrow in sums not less than $5,000 nor more than $15,000 on the security of municipal debentures, in amounts of $100, payable in twenty years, and bearing five per cent. interest. Any person wishing to obtain money to tile-drain his farm may borrow from this fund, giving particulars as to his lot and the extent of draining he proposes to construct,—the loan to be repaid annually at the rate of $8 on each $100 for twenty years, as in the case of ordinary drainage debentures. On these favorable terms it is thought that many farmers will be induced to adopt the underdrain system, and that much land in the older settlements will be brought into a state of cultivation which hitherto has been waste or comparatively unproductive. Some farms of course are so situated as to require no tile-draining; but to the greater majority it would be an undoubted improvement, and usually it is the richest soil that requires it. And once the system is introduced in any locality, and the fruit of it is seen in better crops and the improved appearance of farms, our farmers will learn to prize its worth.

The only fear we have is that the und proposed to be raised is not large enough. As an experiment, however, it is a good beginning, and cannot fail to be followed by the best results in inducing farmers to enter on a more skilled and systematic mode of farming.

An act of a somewhat similar character, with the same object in view, was passed by the British House of Commons some twenty-five or thirty years ago, the object mainly being for the improvement of worn out farms in Scotland. The tenant could borrow money through his landlord, who in a sense was responsible for its repayment, but he was sufficiently secured by enforcing on the tenant the yearly payment of the interest and sinking fund for the loan at the time he paid his rent. In this way the repayment of the loan became easy, and we know that in almost every case where the Government was asked for a loan, the thorough drainage of the farms more than four times paid for the outlay in the enhanced yield and improvement of the property.

We believe that the same results will follow the adoption of the provisions of this Act in Ontario, and we think the Government is entitled to every credit for introducing such a Bill, which is soley designed for the benefit of the farmers in the older settled portions of the Province.

THE Herald said yesterday that the Guelph Burying Ground Bill was withdrawn owing to the opposition of the Government. The fact is that it was withdrawn owing to the opposition of the Opposition.

SAYS the Hamilton Times: "The general report of the work done at the Guelph Agricultural College shows that it is proving of great use to the farming class, for whose special advantage it was established, and is rapidly fulfilling all the anticipations formed of it."

THE Brockville Recorder reports that among coming changes at Ottawa, it is rumoured that the Receiver-Generalship will be abolished, a Deputy-Minister of Finance appointed, exclusive of the Auditor-General. The Department of Public Works is to be divided, giving to one Minister the control and management of Public Railways, also, that part of the duties of the Minister of Marine and Fisheries will be turned over to the Minister of Commerce. These changes would not increase the number of Cabinet Ministers, but would facilitate the prompt transaction of public business. At the present time the Auditor of Dominion Accounts acts also as the Deputy-Minister of Finance. It is rumored that the Government has decided to appoint an Auditor-General, who will hold his position independent of any Ministry, and who can only be removed by the vote of the House. Under such a system the Auditor-General would be removed from the control of the Government, being practically as free as a judge, and therefore placed in a position to jealously guard the public interest of the country.

Alleged Case of Cattle Running at Large in Guelph Tp.

To the Editor of the MERCURY.

SIR,—Please allow me to correct an injustice done me by the Township Council, which in their report last week states that they paid Mr. Chipchase $17 90 for a law suit brought by him against me for allowing cattle to run at large. In answer, I have to say that I did not allow my cattle to run at large. They broke out last July from my farm, and while we were looking for them Chipchase saw them. He then summoned me before the Police Magistrate in Guelph, for allowing them to run at large, but he failed to prove. It would have been more honorable if he had taken them to the pound. The next day he went to Mr. John Card. He summoned me and subpœnaed thirteen witnesses, but again failed to prove his case He tried to get the costs from me—amounting to $15—but I refused to pay this, and then the case was taken to Judge Macdonald, and was again dismissed. Then the Council paid him $17.90 out of the Township funds for his expenses.

From the above it will be seen that no proof was led that I allowed my cattle to run at large, and that I should not have been charged with the offence, when there was no evidence that I was guilty of it.

Yours, &c.,
SOLOMON DAWSON.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

Lord Derby Has Not Resigned.

Lord Napier to be Made Commander in Chief.

Wolesley to be Major General.

No Improvement in the Aspect of Affairs.

Feb. 27.

The Standard says:—

We are enabled to state that the rumours of Earl Derby's resignation are utterly unfounded. All that is really implied by the selection of Lord Napier as Commander in Chief and Sir Garnet Wolseley as Chief of the Staff is that the terms of peace, if unmodified, cannot be sanctioned by England. We have been brought face to face with war by the arrogant and agressive conduct of Russia.

Lord Napier of Magdala, Governor and Commander in-Chief of Gibraltar, has just arrived. The afternoon papers announce very prominently that it has been decided to employ Lord Napier as Commander-in-Chief of any expeditionary force sent out in case of war, with Major General Sir Garnet Wolseley as chief of staff. The Government is still unadvised of the signature of the treaty of peace. Lord Napier had a long conference with the Duke of Cambridge, the Commander-in Chief of the Forces, to-day.

The Channel Squadron has arrived at Malta from Gibraltar.

The Standard published another article discussing the probable landing place of the British forces near the Sea of Marmora. The writer thinks Besika Bay the most probable place. He says:—

The first army corps would probably proceed to the seat of war without waiting for the second, which is now strenuously preparing. It is possible, of course, even now that we may not have to go to war. Russia may pause in time before she provokes it.

The Post says:—The brigade of Guards has been raised to war strength. There is great activity in the brigade, which is completing arrangements necessary for active service. All the manufacturing centres report great activity. Thus 600 sets of field ambulance fittings and 300 tons of bayonet steel have been ordered in Sheffield. The Woolwich authorities have purchased 500 miles of telegraph wire for use, with torpedoes, and materials necessary to construct temporary railways for the conveyance of stores and the mounting of heavy guns in seige works. The War Office has ordered that no soldiers shall be transferred to the reserve until further instructions. The Duke of Cambridge will specially inspect recruits at Aldershot on Friday.

Intelligence from Constantinople, February 25th, says—It is expected the treaty of peace will be signed this week. Some minor points are still under discussion. The Grand Duke Nicholas will have an interview with the Sultan here, and leave for Russia after the treaty is signed.

Another despatch states that the peace negotiations will consume another week unless Russia insists upon their being brought to a close.

A Constantinople despatch to Vienna maintains that the pause in the negotiations is owing to Russia insisting on the cession of Turkish ironclads and the occupation of Constantinople. A Vienna correspondent says:—According to Constantinople advices England is prepared to respond to such measures by entering the Black Sea. Germany is endeavoring to mediate between England and Russia. The task has not been much facilitated by the publication of the peace conditions.

There is a marked contrast between the opinions of the situation at Vienna expressed by various correspondents. The Manchester Guardian's special says:—War with Russia is not believed possible, and the opinion prevails that the mobilization, if decreed, will be for the purpose of occupying Bosnia and Herzegovina, as Russia desires. The Times' correspondent says:—The peace at any price agitators cannot prevent the Government from carrying the credit through the Delegations and the Reichsrath, but if they should succeed in baulking the Government's policy the Government will resign.

A Berlin despatch reports that Germany is preparing to send eight ironclads to the Mediterranean in the event of war.

An Athens special says:—Official intelligence has been received that the insurgents defeated 2,000 Turks at Kuhulis, in Epirus, on Monday, killing 200. The Minister of Foreign Affairs will leave shortly on a special mission to the Courts of all the Powers.

HAROLD THE OUTLAW

—OR—

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XXIV.

THE RETURN JOURNEY.

At an early hour all were astir, for it had been arranged that the two visitors should depart by sunrise—Daddy Duff to proceed to the Smugglers' Cave, where Harold was, and Mr. Adamson to return to Aberdeen.

The lawyer considered it would be no use in present circumstances to proceed further in the business on which he had come. The disappearance of Mrs. Logan and the child changed the aspect of everything. It laid an arrestment, as it were, on all proceedings towards lodging a claim for the child to the title and estate of Mount Cairn. He knew very well that the first thing required of him in presenting such a claim would be to produce the child, and, as he could not do so, it would be the deepest folly to go forward with a premature intimation. Doubtless Gilmour Logan and his adviser, McGarray, had seen that the case hinged on the production of the wife and child of Harold Logan, hence the audacious scheme they had devised and executed. So long as they could keep the mother and the infant out of the way they had a guarantee that no opposition could be successfully made to Gilmour's succession. No mere verbal statement made by Adamson of the existance of a legitimate heir could operate to the prejudice of Gilmour's interests. Were he to make it and accompany the statement that the child and its mother had disappeared or been spirited away, he would be laughed at, or, worse still, he would run the risk of being suspected as a party to an attempted fraud. Adamson knew this, and resolved to stand still—to do nothing further till Harold had been apprised of the extraordinary event, and set all possible agency to work to recover the missing ones.

As to the result of his search, Adamson had his hopes and fears. He had spoken of it in a very sanguine manner to Daddy Duff on the previous evening, but further reflection had made him less confident. The daring step would not have been taken unless they had the means of making it, as they believed, perfectly successful. Gilmour and McGarray could not fail to understand that Harold Logan in his rage and fury, would leave no stone unturned to discover where his wife and child were, and if they had not the means of concealing them pretty effectually, they would not have gone the length of having them carried off.

Or might they not be prepared to go further than simple abduction? He had incredulously received the suggestion of a deeper crime being committed, but he could no conceal from himself that grave fears were to be entertained in this direction. If the plotters were to find that nothing else would secure their object, desperation might have driven them on to dark and bloody deeds too horrible to contemplate.

On the whole, as we have said, Walter Adamson did not take such a hopeful view of matters in the morning, as he had done the ever night, and finally concluded that his best course was to return to Aberdeen, and await there a communication from Harold.

Professionally, too, he was vexed and mortified, because Gilmour and McGarray had outwitted and stolen a march upon him. How they should have received their knowledge was a mystery inscrutable, but that they had shown prompt and superior generalship was unquestionable, and nothing is more annoying to a lawyer than to find himself foiled and baffled by his antagonists. In the new light which had come upon him he saw how inferior a part he had been playing in the scene at the late funeral, and the very thought of it made him full of feelings of professional bitterness.

But the dilemma into which they were brought had sent his thoughts towards another object—viz., the proof of Harold's innocence of the crime charged against him. It was monstrous for the youth to lie under this charge when no particle of guilt attached to him. He fully believed there was a possibility of establishing his innocence; and, if this were accomplished, it would be a far more effectual way of baffling Gilmour's designs than seeking to obtain the rights of the child. Only let him find out who the guilty man was, and he did not despair of having the truth brought to light.

The only one who could enlighten him on this point was Daddy Duff. Harold had told him that Daddy knew—that he had received the truth from the lips of the murdered man. Adamson feared it might be difficult to get Daddy to divulge the secret to him, but he hoped during their talk together down the glen that morning, to be able to show him that it was his duty to do so. He thought he had penetrated sufficiently far into Daddy's character to take the proper way for the gaining of this end. We shall see how far he was right in his idea.

While Mysie was preparing the sumptuous breakfast with which she intended to regale the great Aberdeen lawyer, the latter went outside the cottage to breate the fresh morning air. How deliciously pure and fragrant it felt—the very inhaling of it was a breakfast in itself. How solemn and impressive, too, to stand on the green knoll in the deep morning silence and see the tops of the mountains smitten into glory by the first rays of the sun, while all other objects lay distinct in a clear but subdued light, in which they appeared to be brought nearer and magnified. The dark pine wood upon the distant slopes seemed but a little way off, and the trees stood out in individual outline, the lesser and nearer hills ranged themselves in separate clusters, each vividly alone in slope and shade; yet mingling with each other in admired confusion. The very bushes and clumps of whins and broom, the patches of braken and bent, the wide stretches of heather, were all strongly individulized to the view, and the full watercourses were not only heard, but seen whitely gleaming as they dashed down the steep into the hollow of the glen.

The scene brought to Mr. Adamson's mind recollections of long ago, when, in the strength and ardour of youth, he had roamed over mountain and moor, drinking in health and pleasure from the exercise. His thoughts wandered back to that happy, hopeful time, and he felt younger in soul than he had done for many years. He had stood for a short time, lost in a deep reverie, when he was recalled to the present by the quiet observation uttered at his side—

"That's a bonny looking mornin', sir?"

On turning round he found the speaker to be Daddy Duff, with his wallet on his back, his staff in his hand, and a few particles of the straw among which he had slept clinging to his tattered and patched garments.

Daddy turned a silent gaze round on the mountains and up to the sky, then shook his head dubiously.

"Beautiful, but no settled," he remarked. "We'll hae a storm or lang."

"A storm! Nonsence. Nothing could be finer than this."

"Ay, sir, that's just it. Its ower fine—ower clear in the sooth—distant objects are ower weel seen. Oh, sir, I'm weel acquaint wi' weather signs in the Hieiands, and ken brawly that for as bonny as it looks a bit blast is comin'."

"Do you really think so," said Mr. Adamson, uneasily. "I shall not like to be storm stayed here."

"Hoots. I hope it winna be nae bad as that; aiblins a wheen wild whirling snaw shoors and dune wi't; but may be no the day nor even the morn."

"Oh, then we are all right still, for by to-morrow night I expect to be safe in the city. Meauwhile the scene is intensely enjoyable—it makes one feel quite young and buoyant."

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb. 27.

Hon. Mr. Mills introduced a Bill to facilitate the colonization of Dominion lands by providing for the incorporation of railway companies, and by aiding the construction of railways traversing such lands. He explained that the Bill provided that any number of persons not exceeding fifteen might form an association for the construction of railways between points designated, and that on payment of certain sums of money and the filing of letters of association in the Department of the Interior such an association might become an incorporated company. It provided that at least fifty per cent. of the capital required for the construction should be subscribed, and that ten per cent. should be paid up. The Bill also provided for a Board of Directors who might pass by laws and manage the affairs of the railway; that the persons appointed directors should be shareholders to the extent of at least $5,000; that certain officers of the company should not be members of the Board; that the Government should have power to appoint directors in the company to look after the public interests; that in the construction of such railways the companies might receive a portion of the lands along the line of road, or that the Governor-in-Council, instead of granting such lands, might pay over the proceeds of their sale, the amount not to exceed $10,000 per mile; that any arrangement to aid a road should previously be laid before the House of Commons in the usual manner, and that no railway running within forty miles of the Canada Pacific Railway in the same direction should come within the provisions of the Act.

A number of questions about railways, wharves, &c. in the Lower Provinces were put and answered.

Mr. Kilpatrick moved for reports of engineers, memorials, &c., relating to the survey and location of the line of the Pacific Railway between Red River and Battleford, &c. He said he had recently paid a visit to the North-West, and he was of opinion that there had been no exaggeration as to the resources of that section, but rather that the half about its fertility of soil had not yet been told. The proper settlement of this country was of the utmost importance, and he hoped that the Government would not decide upon the location of the road from any party point of view, but would pay a proper regard to the general interests of the country. He urged that the route should be changed from its present location to the south of Manitoba.

Mr. Ryan advocated the southern route, saying that the farmers of West Marquette last year raised 250,000 bushels of grain and were unable to raise $50 in cash for want of a market. He read from evidence given before the Senate Committee to prove the unfitness of the northern route for railway purposes.

Mr. Mackenzie said that questions of the policy were as necessary as questions of engineering in locating the line; the questions of length of line and the effect of location on settlement were of great importance in determining the location. The southern route contained considerable engineering difficulties, and the reports read by Mr. Ryan were from parties interested. His sole object was the public interest and the general interests of the country. He would not he itate to correct the errors of the engineers if it were shown that they had made errors. He was not, however, convinced that there was better land south of Lake Manitoba than there was to the north.

Dr. Tupper asked if the route between Selkirk and Fort Pelly was definitely settled.

Mr. Mackenzie replied that the line had been located north of Lake Manitoba, but as the construction had not been commenced the Government held themselves free to deviate from that route if it was found that the general interests of the country would be better served thereby.

Mr. Smith (Selkirk) said he would prefer to see the southern route taken, but he felt that the route chosen was a better one.

Mr. Trow said he had had several months' experience in Manitoba. He was satisfied that an excellent route lay to the south, but by deviating the line north of the Riding Mountains the engineering difficulties spoken of would be avoided. He doubted the value of the hearsay evidence produced.

The debate was adjourned.

Ontario Legislature.

TORONTO, Feb. 27.

Among the Bills read a third time was that to incorporate the Arthur Junction Railway Company.

Mr. Mowat moved that for the rest of the session there should be two distinct sittings of the House, the first sitting to continue from 11 a.m., until 1 p.m., and the second to commence at 3 p.m.; and also that there should be a sitting on Saturday, beginning at 11 a.m.

The Government Bill respecting Union School sections passed through Committee.

On the Government Bill respecting landlords and tenants coming up for its second reading, the Attorney-General stated that he had made up his mind to withdraw this Bill for the present session, with a view to giving the country an opportunity of expressing its opinion in regard to the measure.

The Government Bill making a number of amendments in the Revised Statutes then came on for its second reading. The Attorney-General briefly explained the changes in the law contemplated by this measure. The Bill was of an omnibus character, and, in consequence, a great deal of desultory discussion took place, which continued up to, and was resumed after recess. The Bill finally passed its second reading.

Yesterday a ragged, shivering, middle-aged man called at a house and asked for food, but the lady of the house called out, "Why don't you work for your food?" "I would if I knew where I could find work," he promptly replied. "There's a place down town where you can saw wood and earn your dinner," she continued. That seemed to stick him for half a minute, but he finally said, with great solemnity:—"Madam, let me state a parallel case. There is a place in heaven for you, but you don't want to die till you are driven right to it." She pondered over his philosophy for a few seconds, and then called to the cook to pass out half a loaf of bread and some meat.

PRESTON REFORM ASSOCIATION.—A meeting was recently held at C. Kress's Hotel, Preston, for the purpose of re-organizing the Preston Reform Association. After the meeting had been called to order, the following officers were elected:—M. A. Abbey, President; Ambrose Winters, Vice-President; Chas. A. Ahrens, Secretary-Treasurer. The following gentlemen were elected members of the Executive Committee:—J. T. Harcourt, Isaac Hagey, Frank Cornell, Henry Roat, Peter Schantz and Henry Hamacher. On motion of Mr. W. D. Hepburn, seconded by Mr. Ambrose Winters, Messrs. Abbey, Erb, Detweiler and Clemens were appointed a committee to examine the assessment roll and report to the Association. On motion of Mr. W. D. Hepburn, seconded by Mr. Henry Roat, it was decided that a meeting of the Association be held at Kress's Hotel on the second Monday of every month.

Guelph Markets.

GUELPH, Feb. 28, 1878.

Dullness and light receipts are the prevailing features of our market for the past week, which can be only attributed to the bad condition of the roads leading to town.

Prices are somewhat higher than we quoted last week, as can be seen by the prices we give below.

Operators, both here and outside, seem rather afraid to invest to any extent, although the rumors of war appear not yet quite settled; a few days, however, it is believed, will result in either trouble or amicable settlement.

Dressed hogs are freely bought up at from about $5.00 to $5.20. In a few instances, for the past few days, as high as $5.50 were paid.

No alteration, of any consequence, in prices of other articles.

MANHOOD:

HOW LOST, HOW RESTORED!

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. Culverwell's Celebrated Essay on the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc., resulting from excesses.

☞ Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years' successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured, without the dangerous use of internal medicine or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically

☞ This lecture should be in the hands of every youth and every man in the land.

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

THE WAR CLOUD THICKENING

Tnreatened Withdrawal of the British Ambassador.

The Peace Treaty Still Unsigned

LONDON, March 1.

A St. Petersburg despatch says there is great warlike excitement there in consequence of the British Government threatening to withdraw the British Ambassador at St. Petersburg if the Russians enter Constantinople. The situation is regarded as menacing.

CONSTANTINOPLE, March 1.

A despatch says that after aConference of six hours the Russian and Turkish plenipotentiaries were unable to agree to terms. Peace negotiations are still progressing. It is stated that the Russians won't consent to a European Congress being held until the Treaty is signed. 40,000 Russians are concentrated by Schekmije and Sanstefano.

THE LATEST.

Spain Wants Gibralter.

Russia's Demand for Turkish Fleet Withdrawn.

MADRID, March 1.

In a speech in the Spanish Cortez, Castellor declared that Spain ought to have Gibralter.

LONDON, March 1.—In the House of Lords this afternoon Lord Derby announced that the Treaty of Peace would probably be signed to-morrow. He believed Russia's demand for the surrender of the Turkish fleet had been withdrawn.

Gortschakoff said he had recognized the necessity of submitting the terms of peace to the European Powers. He believed the Conference would be held shortly.

IF 1878 were leap year, to-day would be the 29th of February, and Mr. Thomas Lynch, the first male child born in Guelph, would be able to celebrate his fiftieth anniversary. He was born February 29th, 1828.

The voting on the Dunkin Act in Peterboro' will take place on the 6th prox.

The Provincial accounts of Nova Scotia show a balance of nearly $148,000 against the Province for the year.

Judge Dorion has decided that the levying of taxes by the Corporation of Montreal on the City Passenger Railway Company is illegal.

Cuban advices persist in regarding the restoration of peace as an accomplished fact, and state that peace would be officially proclaimed.

At a Reform meeting held at Cainville, Mr. Gavin Fleming was unanimously chosen, on the first ballot, the Reform candidate for North Brant at the general election.

The Lincoln election case was up before the Election Court on Thursday at Osgoode Hall. The decision of the Registrar in striking off thirty-one votes cast for Mr. Rykert was confirmed, and judgment on other appeals was resumed.

"We had a little episode at our home," is now the fashionable way of intimating a birth in the family.

Mr. Donald Frazier, who resides near Galt, celebrated the 60th anniversary of his wedding last week. He and his wife are still hale and hearty.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company has decided to bring buyers from any point on the line to Montreal and return at single fare for the double journey during the month of March. The same offer is open to visit Toronto.

A photographer of Montreal a few days ago took the photograph of a man which shows, besides his natural hands, four small hands on his breast. He was born in 1832 in the County of Rouville, P.Q., but lives in the United States, and the place he now resides in is called after him. He says the extra hands began to grow upon him in 1860, and that he feels that two more hands are about to make their appearance. This individual has twice been confined in a lunatic asylum.

On Wednesday evening a most interesting ceremony took place in St. Andrew's Church, London, in the presence of a large congregation. It was the designation of the Rev. K. F. Junor to the position of missionary in the island of Formosa, China.

WM. ANDERSON, Central Emporium, has just received another case of damaged white cotton which is selling fast at 11c. (yard wide) worth 16c. d6t.

CHEAP SILKS.—J. D. Williamson & Co. have just received a new lot of those cheap striped grey silks—so much sought after. Patterns choice. Price lower than ever. Ladies will do well to call at the Lion.

The Ontario poultry show is being held in London this week. The display is said to be greater than anything of the kind ever held in Canada.

Lamps and lamp goods will for two weeks be rushed off regardless of price at Bond & Co's. Their stock is large, and they are determined to considerably reduce it before stock taking.

SOME boys who are remarkably fond of early exercise amused themselves by skating on Allan's dam this morning before six o'clock.

MAPLE SUGAR.—Owing to the mildness of this winter there will probably be a very small amount of maple sugar made this coming season.

A BUFFALO robe was removed from a buggy on Macdonnell street the other day by some party who could not claim a right of ownership.

CURLING.—On Wednesday two rinks from Thamesvile played the same number belonging to London, the object being the Caledonian medal. The former were defeated by a score of 34 to 31.

WEATHER.—The weather probs. received at ten o'clock this a.m., by the Dominion telegraph, for the next twenty-four hours are, fresh to brisk, northerly to southerly winds cloudy to fair cold weather.

REPREHENSIBLE. — Last evening some young scamp placed a shutter across the sidewalk in front of the Dominion Telegraph office in such a manner as would be certain of tripping up any person who was not carefully looking at the sidewalk in walking along. One lady at least had a serious fall before the obstruction was removed.

STUCK.—On Thursday evening a person who was drawing a load of bricks to town unhitched at the side of the road just beyond the Dundas bridge. On trying to remove the load this morning he found that during the night the mud had been frozen so solidly around the wheels as to render it necessary to loosen the earth around them.

JOURNALISTIC.—The last number of the Port Hope Times has the following in regard to Mr. W. J. Watson, formerly of Guelph, but now editor of the Lakefield News:—"We welcome Mr. Watson to this section of the country, and trust he will be able to so increase the patronage to the News as to make it worth his while to remain in connection with it. The last issue of the News would do credit to a much larger place, and we hope the people of Lakefield will make a special effort to keep in their midst so able and experienced a journalist as Mr. Watson."

THE POLICE COMMITTEE.—The Herald falls foul of Mayor Howard in connection with the investigation of the Police Committee on the petition concerning Chief Kelly. It forgets that he is ex officio a member of that committee, and as Mayor of the Town has a right to be there, to take a part in the proceedings, and to object to the admission of any evidence which does not bear directly on the case. We understand that that was all the Mayor did, and we have yet to learn that in doing so he exceeded his functions or duties. More than that, we question very much whether the committee had any warrant for taking evidence without the sanction, by resolution, of the Council. We are, however, willing to leave the case in their hands, as we are satisfied that they will deal thoroughly with the case, and present a report to the Council on its merits, independent of any prejudice or feeling for or against the person who has been the subject of this inquiry.

'PRENTICE BOYS.—District Grand Master Wilson, W. Brown, W. M., of Walker Murray Lodge, R. R. Huffman, A. Scott, R. Ewing, W. Brown, of Martin Luther Lodge, and all of Toronto, visited Guelph on Thursday evening for the purpose of installing the officers of the newly constituted lodge in Guelph. The visitors were escorted from the Mitchell House to the lodge room by the fife and drum band. The visitors installed the following officers:

Bro. Harry Pearson, W. M.
" W. C. Dollery, D. M.
" W. Blacham, Chap.
" G. Hewer, Sec.
" R. Cowan, Treas.
" G. Fenwick, 1st Com.
" G. Armstrong, 2nd Com.
" A. Cowan, 3rd Com.
" W. Cowan, 4th Com.
" W. Walker, 5th Com.
" Wm. Steele, D. of C.
" J. Hunt, } Tylers.
" E. Purdy, }

At the conclusion of the business of the Lodge, the company adjourned to the Mitchell House, where an excellent supper was served up, and a very agreeable time was spent.

EPPS'S JOCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well-selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provide our breakfast tables with a delicately flavoured beverage wich may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. The congregational church entertainment held at Mr. D. Smith's, Erin, last week, realized $25.

WORKMEN are hammering away at the stones on the Market Square belonging to the corporation. It is a good act to provide work for those who are willing and anxious to help themselves.

POLICE COURT.—JAS. Jeffrey, charged with assaulting the wife of Markus Freund, was brought up on remand this morning. After hearing the evidence the Police Magistrate dismissed the case with costs.

HOME FROM ENGLAND.—Mr. David Hogg, of the firm of John Hogg & Son, arrived in Guelph by the two o'clock a. m. train. He had an extremely rough passage. Mr. Hogg reports having made large purchases, and that goods are very cheap.

THE entertainment to be given in the Town Hall this evening by the ladies of St. George's Church, on behalf of the Rectory Fund, promises to be even a greater success than the one given last evening. Already many reserved seat tickets have been sold. An entire change of programme from last evening.

REV. D. J. MACDONNELL preached in Chalmers' church on Thursday evening, and in St. Andrew's this morning, to large congregations, who listened with the utmost attention to his clear and eloquent discourses, which showed him to be a man of the ability with which he has been credited.

P. M. SOCIAL.—The social in the Primitive Methodist church last evening was a very successful affair, both in point of programme and attendance, the large basement being crowded, so much so that at one time it was thought advisable to move into the church. After tea was served to all Rev. Mr. Harris presided, and called out the programme. Violin and piano duets, songs, songs, readings and choruses were well rendered, and the company separated at a reasonable hour. The next social will be held in the church if as large a company should be present as at the one last evening.

BUTCHERS' ASSOCIATION.—On Thursday evening the Guelph Butchers' Association held there annual meeting at the Mitchell House. There was a good attendance. The Secretary's report, which was read showed that the work of the Society during the past year had been accomplished in a very satisfactory manner. The Association had now twenty members on the roll. The Treasurer's report showed that the Society was in an excellent financial condition, and that there was a balance on hand. It was resolved that the membership fee be reduced from $2 to $1. The following officers for 1878 were then re-elected:—

President, John Tyson.
Vice-President, Jas. Millar.
Secretary, J. W. Tyson.
Treasurer, Wm. Hales.

It was resolved that the Association present a petition to the Council at its next session asking that the By-law regulating the sale of meats be revised, so that there may be no misinterpretation of its wording; and also that an Inspector be appointed. An oyster supper was partaken of at the close of the meeting served in excellent style by the hostess of the Mitchell House.

CALEDONIANS AT ERIN VILLAGE.—On Thursday afternoon about twenty members of the Guelph Caledonian Society proceeded to Erin Village to attend the entertainment to be given in Clarke's Hall in the evening. The attendance was large, every portion of the hall being jammed. In the absence of Mr. Innes, Chief of the Society, Mr. E. F. B. Johnston delivered an opening address, referring in eloquent terms to the benefits to be derived from Caledonian Societies in general, and the great social pleasure there was in meeting on such occasions as the present. A sketch of the history of the Guelph Society was also given by the speaker. In resuming his seat Mr. Johnston was given a perfect ovation. Mr. R. Fyfe, in the songs "Hame cam oo'r guid man at e'en," "Duncan Gray," and "Jennie's Bawbee," were loudly encored. All his songs were received with unbounded enthusiasm. Messrs. Wm. Guthrie and Alex. Gray were well received in their songs, and they made a decided hit. Mr. Thompson in a violin solo, brought down great applause on his efforts. Mr. George Smith, piper for the Society, favored the audience with several selections on the pipes. Those present were greatly pleased with that portion of the programme, but not more so than when Messrs. Wm. Guthrie, D. Massie, Wm. Johnston, and Alex. Grey danced a Scotch reel in full Highland costume. A three-some reel was danced by the first three named of the party, and the Highland fling was danced by Messrs. Massie and Johnston. At the conclusion of the entertainment, which was one of the most interesting ever given in the village, the hall was cleared, and a dance was kept up till near morning. Some of the Guelph party did not arrive home till six o'clock this (Friday) morning.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.—The number of The Living Age for the weeks ending February 23rd and March 2nd have the following noteworthy contents: A French Critic on Goethe, by Matthew Arnold; Natural Religion, part IX; An Oxford Lecture, by John Ruskin; March of an English Generation through Life; French Home Life; Macleod of Dare, by William Black, and Within the Precincts, by Mrs. Oliphant, both from advance sheets; the Great Fourfold Waterfall; Doctor Lavardin, a sketch; Shakespeare in France; Erica, translated from the German of Frau von Ingersleben; Pleasant People; Antoine Cæsar Becquerel; The Cruelty of Pecuniary Crime; Walking in Winter; the Emotions due to Christmas Bills, and the usual select poetry and miscellany. The back numbers containing the first instalments of "Erica," and a story by Miss Thackeray, are still sent gratis to new subscribers for 1878. The fifty-two numbers of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3000 pages a year), the subscription price ($8) is low; or for $10.50 any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies is sent with The Living Age for a year, both postpaid. Littell & Gay, Boston, are the publishers.

Living Pictures.

Successful Entertainment—Large Audience.

For some time past the ladies in connection with St. George's Church have had under preparation one of those highly pleasing entertainments—pleasing not only for beauty and art displayed thereat, but also on account of their novelty—termed tableaux vivants. As in all cases of this kind it is necessary to have some one or two leading spirits who have the posing of the animated objects that go to form the picture. Those who had charge last evening could hardly have attained a greater success, and are to be congratulated on the issue of their efforts.

The stage was carpeted and nicely festooned with British flags. Inside the drop curtain was stretched a fine green gauze, which had the effect of toning everything behind it to a mellowness. The background and sides were of rich scarlet drapery. To the reader unacquainted with the manner in which tableaux vivants are conducted, it might be well here to state that within this hugh frame the pictures are represented, by those who take part posing themselves in such a manner as to convey to the mind of the beholder the representation of some painting, engraving or statuary. The effect of rich costumes, fine figures, and beautiful faces in such conjunction can only be thoroughly appreciated when looked upon.

The instrumental part of the programme was managed by Miss Geddes and Mr. W. T. Vale, on the piano and violin. One selection was played with little Miss Vale at the piano. The music throughout was excellent. There however was too little of it, considering the length of time that elapsed between some of the scenes. It would have been much better had a few vocal pieces been interspersed. It was intended that more music would have been furnished, but the arrangements made could not all be carried out.

"King Solomon's reception of the Queen of Sheba," was the first picture presented. Mr. Theon Vale made a very good King—his costume being very rich. There was a good deal of barbaric splendor in his make up, which if Solomon indulged in would lead some to believe that even in his day he would not have far to go to prove that "all was vanity." Miss A. Stewart looked a beautiful Queen, and was dressed very richly. Her position was easy. Little James and Merner Morris, as Ethiopian pages, understood their parts, although one of the lads rolled his eyes in such a way that was mirth provoking. Of course the Queen had attendants, and their costumes were appropriate.

"The flower of the family," was made up of comic scenes which must be seen to be thoroughly appreciated. The first was three barrels of flour and a large diamond shaped card setting forth the particular brand hiding the centre. The curtain is dropped and on raising it again the card is adroitly thrown down, and little Helen Leonard is comfortably encased in a half section of a barrel. Again the scene changes and Master Morris as an Ethiopian is the "flour" of the family.

"Coronation of Henry VI," was a beautiful picture. On a dais is seated the Cardinal impersonated by Mr. Young, Mr. Lionel Clarke stands gravely in the background holding a Bible, little Minnie Morris, as Henry VI, only nine years of age at his coronation, kneels before the Cardinal who is in the act of placing the crown on his head. Dr. Macdonald, a courtier, is in waiting upon the young king, and little Beverly Dixon plays the part of page. The rich costumes of all, coupled with the beauty and innocence of the young king, were all so nicely arranged that a true artist would be pleased at the living picture.

A piece of statuary, "Nydia, the blind girl of Pompeii," a creation of the master mind of Bulwer Lytton, was the gem of the evening, and the curtain had to be raised again and again to please the audience. Miss Annie Taylor was "Nydia," and her posing on the pedestal on which she stood combined elegance and grace. The figure, with the red light thrown on it, looked as though cut in the purest marble. The drapery of the figure was appropriate. The young lady is to be congratulated on her effort. The beautiful picture should be repeated this evening.

"Beauty and the Beast" from the fairy tale which every person has read, was a happy effort. Lionel Clarke, the "Beast," was not very good as such, the animal not being placed in a good position for the audience to view. Miss Fanny Dixon as "Beauty" was well posed, and her dress looked well. Mr. Clarke appeared to good advantage and dressed in avery handsome costume after the Princess promises to marry him, and he is liberated from the curse that turned his form into that of a beast.

"Columbus at the Court of Ferdinand and Isabella," represents the navigator's return from America, bearing with him two captives to prove that he had discovered a new country. The costumes in this scene were very rich indeed. Mr. E. A. A. Grange looked a king as he sat on the throne. His wife Queen Isabella supported him on the right, and at an appropriate distance were the Queen's attendants. Mr. T. Vale took the part of Columbus and the Morris boys the captive aborigines.

A piece of statuary, "Captives of Israel by the Waters of Babylon," should have been a good picture. It was not the fault of those who formed the group, but rather of the person who could not be made to understand that he was spoiling the effect by holding a red light at the right side of the stage. The posing was good, and the audience had an excellent view for a few seconds when the light referred to was kind enough to sputter out. The group was made up of Misses. Harrison, Taylor, May Horsman, Mabel Vale, and Mr. Young.

"Macbeth's Witches," in three scenes, brewing "hell broth," was very interesting, and fantastic in the extreme.

Mr. T. W. Saunders introduced each scene very appropriately, and made the pictures more interesting than they otherwise would have been. His casual remark that he did not know whether the subject of the Israelitish captives was taken from the Scripture or not, caused a broad smile to illumine many faces in the audience.

Mrs. Morris and Mrs. Saunders took an active part in the preparations, and they certainly should be congratulated on the success attending their efforts.

"God Save the Queen," by Miss Geddes and Mr. Vale, concluded what was a very interesting programme.

An entire change of programme this evening will doubtless draw a bumper house.

Dominion Parliament.

OTTAWA, Feb, 28.

Mr. Higinbotham said that before the orders of the day were called he wished to ask the Government, in view of the Act that was now before the House of Lords restricting the importation of cattle from foreign countries, and which was one that would seriously affect the cattle trade of this country, if any representations had been made to the Imperial Government to exempt cattle imported from Canada from the effect of that measure. He referred to the Duke of Richmond's Bill.

Hon. Mr. Mackenzie said that the Government had made representations as to the importation of Canadian cattle, as it was quite clear that there was no disease among the cattle imported from this country, and also representations respecting their treatment in another respect. Complaints had been made that after Canadian cattle were landed they were kept standing in a hard stony yard for twenty-four hours until they could be formally inspected. The Committee of the Privy Council had recently given orders that cattle should be taken to places where they could be properly cared for, and not subjected to treatment which was not only cruel but which injured the cattle for sale. He did not know absolutely that the Committee of the Privy Council, acting under the Imperial Act, would exempt the cattle from being slaughtered immediately after their disembarkation, as was done with cattle from the Continent, but he thought there was a likelihood, of such an exemption being made.

Mr. Kirkpatrick resumed the debate on the Pacific Railway route. He expressed his pleasure that the Government was still open to conviction, and might possibly change the route now fixed upon.

Mr. Masson asked if an instrumental survey had been made of the southern route. Mr. Mackenzie replied that such a survey had been made. The motion was carried.

Mr. Dymond moved the second reading of the Bill to provide that persons charged with common assault shall be competent to give evidence in their own behalf.

Mr. De Cosmos moved for a return of every special and general report of the Chief Engineer and acting Chief Engineer of the Canada Pacific Railway respecting the cost of constructing the line of the said railway.

Mr. Langevin moved for a return respecting the six lowest tenders in September or October, 1873, for Sections 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 12, 13, and 14 of the New Welland Canal. He accused the Government of favouritism in giving out contracts.

Mr. Mackenzie replied that the Government had not granted contracts in any instance to political friends in preference to their opponents.

Mr. Langevin read an extract from a speech of Sir John Macdonald, in which that gentleman stated that the first question asked by the present Government relative to a contractor was which side of politics he was on.

Mr. Mackenzie said he characterized that statement as a base slander. If gentlemen opposite advanced this charge it was their duty to the country to formulate it and bring it fairly before the proper tribunal. He had challenged them to do this before, he challenged them now to establish their charge. The best proof of the impartiality of the Government in awarding contracts was to be found in the fact that while the late Government gave no less than sixteen out of nineteen millions of dollars to parties who were not the lowest tenderers, the present Government only gave six million out of twenty to parties who were not the lowest tenderers. The broad fact remains that more political opponents had obtained contracts from the present Government than its friends.

Dr. Tupper condemned the new system adopted by the Government as giving into the hands of the Administration too much power in giving out contracts. Concerning the challenge to formulate charges, he said a Committee had been asked for on the Northern Railway, and the Government had taken advantage of their majority to pack that Committee.

Mr. Mackenzie replied that the Northern Railway was the very last subject the hon. gentleman should allude to. The House would not forget that $27,000 had been ordered unanimously by the House to be paid by the Northern Railway Company, which sum had been corruptly abstracted by gentlemen opposite.

Mr. Pope complained that six to three on the Northern Railway Committee was not fair.

Mr. Blake followed, severely criticising the remarks of gentlemen opposite for their assumption of all virtue and patriotism, while stigmatizing the vast majority of the House as partizans. The principle of electing Parliamentary Committees was calculated to obtain as fair representation as possible of parties in the House. When gentlemen opposite were in power they put on such Committees all the members their number entitled them to in order to have a majority of their own friends.

Mr. Young in defending the Government said he wondered at gentlemen opposite talking about corruption with the record of the Pacific Scandal clinging to them still. The House could easily perceive, and the country would understand, why the hon. gentlemen did not bring their slanders to a parliamentary test was because they could not prove them, and would have to go to the country robbed of their election thunder. (Cheers.)

Several other speakers followed, and the debate was adjourned.

RESERVED SEATS.—Since Mr. G. D. Pringle has had control of the plans of the reserved seats in the Town Hall, there has been a decided improvement in matters relating thereto, and those who now purchase reserved tickets and secure certain seats, may rely on getting the seat selected. At the Tableaux Vivants last evening the arrangement of seats was very good and the ushers were remarkably prompt in their duties.

THERE is a portion of the sidewalk directly on this side of the Eramosa bridge which is badly in want of repair, it being lower than the rest of the walk the water and slush pours over it to such an extent as to make it scarcely passable.

IT STANDS UNEQUALLED.—Those who have used Wilson's Compound Syrup Wild Cherry, know it to be unequalled for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Bronchitis, Loss of Voice, Croup, Whooping Cough, and all kindred diseases. A 25c. bottle will cure any ordinary case. A 50c. bottle has frequently cured chronic cases of from one month to two years' standing, and that after having spent many dollars in vain attempts to get relief. A dollar bottle holds more in proportion, and should be kept in every house. It will save many a doctor's bill.

The Evening Mercury

FRIDAY EVEN'G, MARCH. 1, 1878.

The Guelph Burying Ground.

The Herald, in dealing with this matter, does not state the facts. It states that as regards the expression in the preamble "that the town is seized and possessed of a parcel of land"—referring of course to the burying ground — the Judges reported against the Bill because these words were used. This is not correct. The fact is that the Judges passed the Bill as submitted to them; that after it had received their sanction it passed the Private Bills Committee; and it was not till the Bill came before the House that Mr. M. C. Cameron, the leader of the Opposition, took objection to the preamble of the Bill that the town had not been "seized or possessed" of the land in question. Mr. Cameron and his friends of the Opposition are therefore responsible for delaying the passage of the Bill, for after all the objection is a mere technical one, and does not in the remotest degree affect the merits of the Bill, against which, as far as we can learn, no objection is made.

The Member for Cardwell.

Mr. McCarthy, the member for Cardwell, was on his election hailed as a most important acquisition to the Conservatives. He was to supply brains to the party, he was to divide the honors of debate with the noisy Tupper, and it was even whispered about among the faithful that he was to be Sir John's right hand man, vice Dr. Tupper, who was supposed not to have the confidence of the Conservatives in the West. His utterances last session seemed to realize the expectations of his friends. Gifted with considerable fluency and force, and not without cleverness and experience in speech making, it was hoped that he would at once take a foremost position on the Opposition side of the House, and prove a most valuable lieutenant to Sir John.

But alas! his first effort this session has rudely dispelled this hope. He had carefully prepared himself for his onslaught on the Government, and on Tuesday night he renewed the debate on the budget, and opened his attack with a great flourish of trumpets. But it was soon found that he was unequal to the work. He did not content himself with impugning in general terms the fiscal policy of the Government, and making the air resound with a pourtrayal of the benefits that are to be derived from a return to power of the Pacific Scandal perpretators, he rashly entered into the domain of figures, where an error is pilloried by unmistakeable proof, and where ignorance and presumption can no longer be covered up under a torrent of language, or a simulated earnestness of manner. Had Mr. McCarthy been his own worst enemy, he could not have made a more effectual assault upon his reputation as a Parliamentarian, and his ambition to become a financier. His pretended quotations from figures which have appeared in the Public Accounts, and with regard to which, had he made any effort whatever to familiarize himself with his subject, he could not have erred, were so utterly astray, and evinced such gross ignorance of the subject, as to be received with a derisive merriment which could scarcely be said to be undeserved. Several times he was brought to book by Mr. Cartwright, and finally, Dr. Tupper seeing the way in which he was floundering, at twenty minutes to six asked the Premier to call it six o'clock, in order to give Mr. McCarthy the benefit of the recess to get his speech into coherent shape. But even after recess he did not improve, and after an hour's effort subsided.

He was followed by Mr. Patterson, of Brant, who completely demolished the young hopeful of the Conservatives. He fully met and answered one argument after another, and amid the greatest enthusiam and cheers showed up the false and imperfect statements made by Mr. McCarthy. His defence of Mr. Cartwright for the scathing attack he made on Sir John at Napanee last September was really eloquent, Mr. McCarthy, it is said, feels worse cut at being replied to by Mr. Patterson than over the additional fact that he was badly defeated in argument. His vanity led him to expect that he would have been answered by a Cabinet Minister, probably by the Finance Minister himself, whom he endeavored to arouse by his waspish allusions to that gentleman's remarks on the Northern railway plunder. Mr. McCarthy may hold a very respectable position as a lawyer, but he will be a long time making his mark as a politician, judging from his efforts so far. As soon as Mr. Patterson got up to reply he left the House in disgust, and never showed face during all the time the member for Brant was speaking. It is said that Dr. Tupper is secretly enjoying Mr. McCarthy's discomfiture, as he had begun to regard him as a rival. It may be taken for granted that the last of his financial critiques has been heard, for he knows that Mr. Patterson will surely follow him. Mr. Cook wished to reply to him, and would have done so, but that Mr. Patterson first caught the Speakers eye. Mr. Cook, however, will not let him rest. A few more such lessons as he received on Tuesday evening, will probably open Mr. McCarthy's eyes to the fact that in the House of Commons every member is sure to find his level, if he courts the trial.

The term of "sick man" was originally used with reference to Turkey by the Emperor Nicholas, the predecessor of Alexander, the present monarch of Russia In a conversation of Nicholas with the British Minister, Sir George Seymour, in 1854, the Emperor said, "We have on our hands a sick man. It will be a great misfortune, I tell you frankly, if one of those days he should happen to die before the necessary arrangements are all made. But this is not the time to speak to you of that"

The President has reported that the last Sioux war cost the United States $2,312,500, besides 16 officers and 267 men killed. It is almost time they commenced treating the savages like human beings.

PALMERSTON.—Mr. Hotel, of Clifford, has received the contract to build the addition to the Methodist Church, for $620.——The market scales have been leased to Mr. H. Streets up to the first of February of 1879 for $20.

Ottawa Gossip.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Hamilton Times sends the following:—

It is understood that Sir John and Dr. Tupper will run for their old constituencies again. This will be done more for shame's sake than anything else, for neither of them are over sanguine of being returned.

There is no doubt as to Dr. Brouse being appointed to fill the vacant Senatorship.

From Dr. Tupper's friendly allusion the other day to Sir A. T. Galt, it is suspected there is some understanding between them. It is now stated that Mr. Galt will accept a candidature in Quebec for the Commons. It is understood that Mr. Tilley will run for some county in New Brunswick. It is more than probable that Lieutenant Governor Archibald will be created a judge and that the vacancy will be offered to Mr. Vail.

It is stated that the other day Hon. Mr. Gibbs told Dr. Orton that most of the views with regard to agricultural protection were the purest nonsense. Mr. Gibbs is, however, a miller, and looks at the matter through different spectacles than are used by some of his friends. The kind of spectacles Dr. Orton uses are of the conundrum species, seeing he is a doctor and brewer and does not own a foot of farm land.

The Government has asked for an extra day for Government business, which renders it probable that they are determined to get through the session with all possible despatch. The duration of the session is not expected to go beyond six weeks hence.

A circular, issued by the U. E. Club, Toronto, is being privately circulated in the House. It bears on the results of the approaching elections and purports to show that the Conservatives will have a majority of twenty from Ontario, or that, at worst, both parties will be even; that Quebec will return thirty-five Tories out of sixty members, and that Nova Scotia and New Brunswick will be evenly divided. It is expected that Prince Edward Island will return four Tories, Manitoba four, and British Columbia four. So that, when the next House meets, Dr. Tupper will have forty three of a majority. In view of what is known of the state of parties, these figures appear so ridiculous that they are laughed at on all sides, while, on the other hand, reliable returns anent the state of parties show that Mr. Mackenzie will hold his own in Ontario and come back with very nearly the same majority he now has.

The Tories are offering as an explanation for the absence of Sir John that it became necessary for him to visit a county where there were three Conservative candidates for one seat. This may be taken with a pinch of salt. It is said that Lady Macdonald was telegraphed for on Tuesday.

There is a good deal of speculation among the officers, who are members of the House, in reference to the grant this year to the general Volunteer service. It is supposed it will be increased so that the recommendation of Gen. Smyth as to lengthier annual drills may be carried out, but nothing definite on this point is known. Should England become involved in war the subject may undergo a phase different from that it now presents.

THE SILVER BILL CARRIED OVER THE PRESIDENT'S VETO. — President Hayes vetoed Bland's Silver Bill, but it was carried over his veto in the House by a vote of 196 to 73, and in the Senate by 46 to 19. There was great excitement when the vote was taken. There is a feeling in the minds of many that the bill will have a most serious effect on business. One Congressman says it will work the certain ruin of the business of the country. Its repeal will be demanded within a year by the indignant voice of a deceived and outraged people. On the 1st of February the Treasury held in gold $84,149,189, in legal tenders $3,170,490. This about suffices, and must be used to pay interest on the public debt for the year. Duties will be paid in silver as soon as there is sufficient coinage, which will be three or four months. Then gold will not be used, and will leave the country. Internal taxes will be collected in legal tenders. As current receipts and expenditures are about equal, the fund now in the Treasury will a year hence consist of silver and legal tenders.

What will Sir John and Dr. Tupper now say about Mr. Jones' disloyalty when the Dominion Rifle Association tendered him a special vote of thanks, and by resolution recognized the fact that he was the first Minister of Militia who came forward voluntarily to tender the support and encouragement of the Government to the Association.

THE Tories of South Bruce have nominated Mr. Alex. Shaw, Barrister, of Walkerton, to contest the Riding with Mr. Edward Blake, and they also nominated Mr. Robert Baird, Warden of the County, to run against Mr. Wells for the Local House. Both gentlemen accepted.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—As Mr. Daniel Bowman and his brother, of Saliflest, were riding on horseback in Barton, Mr. Bowman's horse broke through some ice on the road, throwing Mr. Bowman, and as the horse got up he struck Mr. Bowman on the head with his foot. Mr. Bowman got up apparently little hurt, and rode seven miles, but six hours after the accident he was a corpse.

HAROLD THE OUTLAW
—OR—
The Gauger of Skeue.

"Ye are richt there, sir. Naething raises my speerits like a fine day among the hills. A perfect joy comes ower my speerits, and though I may be a' my lane I maun gae vent tee my teelin's by shoutin' or singin'."

"Just as you were doing yesterday when you and I foregathered," said the lawyer, with a smile.

"Exactly. Comin' through the pass, wi' a gowden sunset brichtenin' a' the west, and a saft pure licht lyin' on the eastern hills, wi' the green valleys and the purple braes showin' themsel's on every side, there was sic a stoon' o' pleasure at my heart, and sic a dancin' gladness in my being, that for the life o' me I couldna contain mysel' in silence."

"And so you burst forth with snatches of fine old Jacobite songs, the echoes of your voice sounding far down the glen, till a solitary traveller like myself was first attracted, and then alarmed by the phenomenon."

"I had nae thoucht o' onybody bein' within hearin'," replied Daddy. "I fancied I had the hale glen to mysel', and was nae little surprised, I tell ye, when my een lichted on a douce, weel-dressed toon's body—wanderin' through the solitude. It's lauchable though tee think hoo ye skelled at ane anither, baith wi' e'e and mind—I had my suspicions o' you, and ye had your suspicions o' me. It's the same a' the warld over, sir. Men are foes when they micht be friends if they only kenned ane anither."

"Very true, Daddy—very true, indeed," responded the lawyer, both amazed and highly pleased at the moralising of the mendicant.

"As for my sangs bein' Jacobite," went on Daddy, "dinna fancy sae that I hae a likin' for the men or the times o' the fifteen and the Forty-five."

"What?" cried Mr. Adamson, jocularly, "Would you not have been a follower of Bonnie Prince Charlie?"

"I'm no very shure that I wad. I am a Lowlander, sir; and sae far as I hae leanin's that way, I'm a Presbyterian tee boot. But for a' that, the Jacobites were brave, heroic men, and mony o' the ballants are without equal in the braid Scotch tongue. I can ne'er sing the 'The Wee Bird' without burstin' oot a greetin'. But, losh, we manna stand crackin' here, for I'm just noo thinkin' it's time that baith o's were started on oor journey. Yonder is Mystie wavin' on us, tae come tae oor breakfast, nae doo't."

It was just as Daddy had imagined. Mystie, having got the table set and all things prepared, was standing on the threshold beckoning on them. The lawyer stared at the amplitude of cakes and cheese, scones, butter, and eggs under which the table groaned—so different from the tea and bread, flanked by the ruddy Aberdeen haddock, which usually formed his morning meal. But presently he became aware that his usual breakfest would not have been sufficiently satisfying on this occasion. Such an appetite at such an early hour he had not experienced for many years, and the quantity he devoured with zest and eagerness would at home have given him indigestion for a week.

Daddy did very fair work in his same line of operations, but the object of his attack was a huge bicker of pottage, which he silently devoured on a low seat in the corner, washing the whole down with a basin of new milk, which the cow had yielded not an hour before.

The meal was partaken of in comparative silence. The loss of Lizzie and her child lay like a chill shadow on the hearts of Mysie and Thomas. They felt the difference in a way the others could not, for the sounds of infantile glee to which they were accustomed were absent, and the deep stillness constantly reminded them of the absent ones and their unknown fate. The shepherd expressed his deep grief in long and frequent sighs, while his wife's sorrow found vent in more audible groans and lamentations, in the midst of which, however, she did not forget the duties of hospitality, nor cease to press the wholesome food on her guests.

Ontario Legislature.

TORONTO, Feb. 28.

Mr. Hardy moved a resolution relating to brewers and distillers. He said the object of the resolution was to provide a fund from which to repay the license fees, interest, fines, &c., paid by brewers under the License Act in the years 1874, 5, 6 and 7.

The House went into Committee, Mr. Clarke (Wellington) in the chair, on Mr. Wood's Bill respecting the investment of public money in debentures issued for the construction of the drains in township municipalities.

On the consideration of the second clause, which provided that Township Councils might pass a by law to borrow a sum not less than five thousand dollars, nor exceeding fifteen thousand dollars, "and it shall not be necessary to submit such by-law to a vote of the electors."

Mr. Scott opposed the clause, and moved in amendment "that it shall be necessary to submit such a by-law to a vote of the electors."

After some remarks from Mr. Wood and other speakers,

Mr. Scott made some additional remarks in support of his amendment. He believed it would not cost more than $20 or $25 to submit a by-law to the people. If the Treasurer would adopt the proposal contained in his amendment he would consent to withdraw it.

Mr. Wood said he would be glad to consider the suggestion, and afterwards stated that he had embodied it in the bill.

Several other amendments were made and lost, and the bill verbally passed the Committee.

After a long discussion, the bill founded on the resolutions introduced by Mr. Hardy respecting brewers and distillers, was read a second time.

Mr. Creighton introduced a bill to prevent the spread of black knot in plum trees. He said it was found that this evil could be prevented by watching the trees and cutting out the knot whenever it appeared. This bill was somewhat analogous to the Canada Thistle Act. He could hardly expect to have it passed this session, but he hoped to have it brought before hon. members, horticulturists, and others interested in the subject.

The following is the division on the motion for the adjournment of the debate on the Orange Incorporation Bill on Monday night:—
