Shortly past three o'clock the farm bell was rung to intimate to the visitors that speaking was about to commence on the lawn. Among those present from the town and neighborhood were D. Guthrie, M. P., Col. Higinbotham, M. P., Jas. Massie, M. P. P., Mayor Howard, Wm. Whitelaw President of the South Wellington Agricultural Society, Geo. Murton, Sec. S.W. Ag. So., Rev. W. F. Clarke, Geo. Elliott, Reeve of Guelph, Jas. Laidlaw, ex-manager of the Farm, John Hobson, Sheriff Gow, Postmaster Stirton, ex-Mayor Chadwick, F. W. Stone, and a number of others, including a good representation of the directors of the South Wellington Agricultural Society.

Among the prominent visitors present were Messrs. B. F. Hathaway, Jabel Robinson, Dougald Ferguson, J. P. Martyn, Angus McLarty, and Thos. Green.

The chair was taken by Mr. President Johnston, and he addressed the visitors in a brilliant speech of about three quarters of an hour's duration, sketching the history of the School of Agriculture from its inception to the present time. He stated that in the name of the officers of the institution a hearty welcome was extended to each and every lady and gentleman present. The only regret he had was that a greater number of the farmers of Elgin and other counties had not found it convenient to be present. He, however, hoped it was only an augury of a succession of visits from the farmers of the Province that would be received by this their own institution. This he could say, because he and every officer in connection with the College had not only the interests of the School at heart, but also the interests of the entire farming industries of the country. In speaking of the Agricultural College, he first of all held that it was a proper thing for the Government of the country to establish such an institution. (Hear, hear.) It was not only proper, but it was a bounden duty—in fact constitutionally right that they should do so. (Hear, hear.) It is the duty of the State to educate the people as well as the duty of parents to educate their children. When the State steps in for the purpose of educating the people, it is only when the parents have neglected that which they should perform. In public and high schools and universities, children are trained up generally—an intelligent training places in their hands the tools with which to work out their course in after life. In technical education their must be a special training. When, therefore, the State steps in and supports an Agricultural College which affords a technical education, there must be a reason for it. It is true that in theory the common and high schools and universities are open to farmers' sons, for the purpose of getting an education. The practical result, however, is that in nine cases out of ten, those schools educate them out of the farming profession altogether. Not one in twenty of farmers' sons who were educated in a college ever go back to the plow, or desire to follow the occupation of farming. In matters of this kind, therefore, the Government deals only with expediencies, and the greatest expediency is a right. It is right therefore that an agricultural institution should be established—an institution which would have a tendency to keep the students on the farm. In establishing the Agricultural College this country only was doing what older countries had done, and had carried them on with the greatest success. Germany stands first among nations in agricultural schools. The speaker then went on to explain how the schools were divided. There was a very large number devoted to the vine and fruit culture, and then nearly as many more were devoted to the teaching of other branches of farming. Then there was another grade in six great Agricultural Colleges, where the course was very extensive. France also had schools of this kind, and even Spain and Portugal, while during the last few years a number had been established in Russia. In the United States there were thirty-nine such schools. In a number of them they have in a large measure become mere literary institutions, taking the place of the High Schools. In consequence of this they have proven a failure. Those that had taught agriculture alone had on the other hand proven in every respect remarkably successful, and had been a great benefit to the different States in which they were situated. Thus it will be seen that the Canadian Government in establishing this institution had only been acting on what had been successfully followed out by other countries. The speaker next gave a brief sketch of the inception of the institution; the appointment of the Rev. W. F. Clarke to report on the working of the American institutions; the purchase of a farm at Mimico, and the subsequent change to Guelph—the Government acting on the report of a commission of farmers. The early history of the unsuccessful management of the Farm, which seriously damaged its reputation, was mentioned. The object of the institution as at first laid down was explained. It had to be made a model farm, then an experimental farm, and then a school had to be established. The present farm had been used exclusively for stock raising by its previous proprietor, and therefore after it was secured very much work had to be done to put it in a proper shape for mixed husbandry. The draining of the farm that was required and which even now was not completed was spoken of; as well as the dividing of the farm with fences, the addition to buildings and erection of new ones, such as the veterinary college, cheese factory, carpenter shop, &c. Still there was much to perform yet before the farm would be a model one. If the same visitors who were now present would return in a few years they in all probability would find in earnest what it now was in a measure only in name. The outside departments comprised the farm, garden, stock, and mechanical. The School also comprises four departments, and are: agriculture; science—embracing botany, chemistry, geology, and zoology; veterinary, which is very complete; and English and mathematics. The various departments were thoroughly explained by the speaker, and the special benefit of each particular branch pointed out. He said some made objections to English and mathematics being taught as they could very well be taught in the High Schools. The reason why they were taken up—and on examination it will be found a sound logical one, was that many farmers' sons, after reaching the age of twelve years, attended school only in winter, and worked on the farm during the summer. Attending school in such a manner no progress could be made, as the boy would only be able to get up during the winter what he had forgotten while away from school the previous summer. This is the grand reason why English and mathematics should be kept up along with the other branches, and he had every reason to hope it would always be in the curriculum of the institution. (Hear, hear.) The speaker next proceeded to point out what he hoped would be the future of the Agricultural College. During the past three years he had strongly advocated that an endowment should be made by the Government. He pointed out the great advantages that had been derived by the American Agricultural Colleges by the passage of the Land Scrip Act. No reason could be advanced why an endowment should not be made to carry on the experiments and the boarding-house connected with the institution. There was no doubt but that in time the students would pay for their board, instead of their work being paid for as an offset. He was sure that there was no farmer but what was willing that such should be the case. (Hear, hear.) Other colleges had been largely endowed by the Government, which had been paid by the yeomanry of this country. Why, then, cannot the farmers say, give us a small portion for our particular benefit. (Hear, hear.) The speaker referred to the fact that large numbers of the sons of farmers were continually leaving their homes and helping to build up the manufacturing industries in the cities, towns and villages of the country. This being the case, of a necessity the farmers must draw workmen from these places, and where are these lads to be educated if not at such institutions as the Agricultural College? It will readily be admitted that the more education young men have, the better it will be for them, no matter in what business they enter. So it is with farming. Education for the farm is what is wanted. Farming is not now what it was thirty years ago. It was then a question of labor, while now it is capital, and with that education. The only thing that can counterbalance the depreciation in the productiveness of the soil, is by farmers reading, thinking and educating themselves by obtaining such knowledge as the Agricultural College is giving and still intends to carry out. (Hear, hear.) If we are to compete in the great markets of the world it will be necessary for farmers to so understand the proper manner of enriching the soil as to secure from it a greater amount of produce than has been done heretofore. This institution is for the accomplishment of such an end, and it therefore must be carried on as one thing that the country demands. (Hear, hear.) Explanations were made by the speaker in regard to the experimental portion of the farm, and the great number of different kinds of seeds that were planted for the purpose of determining on the best. These were conducted in a manner that no farmer of himself could possibly carry out. The speaker considered that even if one kind of grain was found more particularly adapted to the soil and climate than any that has heretofore been cultivated, the institution would have done a great work. (Hear, hear.) If history teaches us anything, there are but two results for the farming profession. Either the farms of this country will become absorbed, as they have been in England, and with this the disappearance of the yeomanry; or the sons of farmers will be so educated in their profession that their brain power will be expended in such a manner as will tend to the advancement of the agricultural industries, instead of their leaving the farm for other pursuits. In concluding, the speaker hoped that the farmers of this country would extend their moral sympathy in such a manner as would largely tend to further the success of the institution. (Loud applause.)

Mr. Jabel Robinson, Master of Elgin Division Grange was called upon. He remarked that he considered the Government had been very fortunate in securing such a Principal for the College. He had no doubt but that the School would be a success so long as such efficient officers as were now at its head were kept there. He had great pleasure in submitting the following for the approval of those present:—

"We, the Committee on behalf of the Grange excursionists beg to express our satisfaction with the manner in which the Ontario School of Agriculture and Model Farm is conducted. We have had much pleasure in examining the experimental field, stock and buildings, and were delighted to find everything in such perfect order, and we hereby tender our sincere thanks to Principal Johnston and his staff for the courteousness and kindness extended to us on this occasion.

JABEL ROBINSON, Master of Elgin Div. Grange.
R. WILKIE, Master of Kent Division.
W. L. BROWN, Sec. of London Division.

The above was put as a resolution and was received with great applause.

The speaker continued. He stated that he had taken a great interest in the school since its commencement, and was proud of its advancement. As a farmer he knew full well that practical knowledge was not all that was required, but that theoretical instruction was also needed by those who would make farming a success. Much of the farming in this country had been done in a sort of blind way. There had been too much guess work altogether. The Agricultural College would remedy this defect in the education of farmers.

Rev. W. F. Clarke was introduced to the audience. He greeted those present not only as a brother farmer but as a brother Granger. He referred to the isolation of farmers, and of the remedy to be found from that in the meeting of the Grange. He could candidly tell them, however, that he did not believe the soil of Wellington particularly adapted for the Grange. Farmers as a whole did not look upon it with a favorable eye. In speaking of the College he held that it was particularly a farmers' institution, and one that should receive their support and warmest sympathy. Some say it does not pay for itself. It is true there are people who think nothing is profitable unless there is a quick return of dollars and cents. The College will pay in an infinitely greater manner by the education imparted that will tend to the future elevation of the farmers of this country. He hoped to live to see the day when Canada would not only have one successful School of Agriculture but many of them. He believed the suggestion that he had heard, that a tent should be provided and pitched on the farm for the accommodation of farmers who wished to visit the place and pic-nic here was a good one. It would be a benefit to farmers to have a monster agricultural camp meeting.

Mr. Robert Wilkie, Master of Kent Division Grange, expressed the great satisfaction he had experienced by a visit to the Model Farm. He wished it that great success it deserved.

Mr. Wm. Whitelaw, as President of South Wellington Agricultural Society, welcomed the farmers of the western portion of the Province. He had no doubt of the success that would attend the Agricultural College.

Mr. Lethbridge, of West Middlesex Division Grange, expressed his gratification at the visit made by his brother farmers and himself. He had no doubt but what the College, an institution carried on for the benefit of farmers, was what the country required.

Mr. Guthrie, M. P., was introduced. He was pleased to be able to welcome the farmers of Elgin, Middlesex and Oxford to Guelph, and it was gratifying to know that the farming community took such an interest in the success of the College of Agriculture. He had no doubt but what the Government would deal liberally with the institution—either by endowment or otherwise. He hoped their example in visiting the Model Farm would be followed by many other Granges as well as farmers generally. Before resuming his seat he would take occasion to invite the visitors on behalf of Mayor Howard to visit the public buildings of the town on their way to the station.

Mr. Hathaway, of Elgin Division Grange, spoke highly favorable to the Agricultural College. He thought farmers required special training quite as much as though preparation was made for entering any other business, and the Agricultural College was what was required to further the farming interests of the country.

Mr. Brown, editor of the Canadian Granger, stated that the Grangers of this country were in hearty sympathy with the Agricultural College. The fundamental principles of their institution was education of the farmer. If scientific farming was only called by some term which meant the same thing, such as common-sense farming or money-making farming, it would be more popular among a certain class. In his opinion there had been in the past too much luck farming, or farming carried on by consulting the almanac. He hoped the day was about passed when farmers would rely upon anything short of a thorough education in their profession. He thought the present visit would be productive of much good to the farmers of Elgin, and that that County hereafter would furnish a large number of students.

Mr. James Laidlaw, ex-manager of the Farm, expressed his great pleasure in meeting his brother farmers of the western portion of the Province. He was satisfied that the visit would be productive of much good, and it was only one of the many that would follow from different parts of the country. Farmers had a grave responsibility resting upon them, and it was only through the instruction received at such institutions as the Agricultural College that our lands could be handed down to posterity undeteriorated in value.

Mr. John Cameron, of the London Advertiser, was called upon. He briefly referred to the great good that would undoubtedly arise out of such an institution as the Agricultural College, which had for its sole object the advancement of the agricultural interests of the country.

A vote of thanks was moved by the visitors for the kindness received from the officials of the College.

Cheers were given for the Queen, for the visitors, and for the farmers of Wellington, when the gathering broke up.

Before proceeding to the Great Western station, many took advantage of the invitation of the Mayor, and visited the Town Hall and Central School buildings.

The Pope has sent a letter of greeting to Hon. Mr. Laflamme and the Catholic members of the House of Commons in reply to a congratulatory address sent to him by those gentlemen on the occasion of his accession to the Pontificate.

TUESDAY EVE'G, JUNE 18, 1878

The Grangers and the Model Farm.

The County of Wellington has just reason to be proud of the Model Farm. Setting aside the more immediate and pecuniary benefits which must necessarily result to the neighborhood of such an institution, a wider and more beneficial effect is becoming every day more apparent. We believe that an impetus has been given to our agriculturists, and by frequent meeting and intercourse at different times, when something of more than ordinary moment has taken place at the College, friendly interchange of thought has been, we are sure, not only pleasant but instructive. And when we take into consideration the fact, that agriculture and its incidental sciences are made a specialty by able and competent professors, and that the students have the advantage of the proper scientific theory as well as the practice of their calling, there can be no doubt in our mind as to the general and permanent benefit to the country at large. However hackneyed the expression may be, that the farmers are the bone and sinew of our country, it is nevertheless true, and it is for the express purpose of elevating the character of this important calling, and of improving the mind, the condition, and the work of the coming farmer of Ontario, that the Agricultural College exists. On this account, therefore, our farmers, and in fact all classes in our midst, ought to take a deep and sincere interest in the success and welfare of the College, and by their good wishes and patronage lend an assisting hand in the intellectual development and progress of their country.

The visit of the Grangers from the West shows that whatever we may think of the Farm, or however much we may appreciate it, such appreciation is not confined to the limits of our own County. The feeling that an institution where young men can learn the intricacies and laws of farming is just as strong as the well-grounded idea that we must have colleges and schools for our professional and business men, and if we have medical and divinity halls for our doctors and clergy, we can see no valid objection in having a farm school for farmers. And we require no greater evidence of this than the interest and careful examination evinced yesterday by our Western friends. This visit will doubtless be followed by others of a similar nature, and if so, the country will be amply repaid for its outlay by the general interest manifested in the College, by the impetus thus given to the farming interest of our Province, and by the extension of that knowledge and practical observation which add so largely to any experience however comprehensive.

But more particularly has Wellington a reason to be grateful for the existence of the School of Agriculture in her midst. Formerly the banner county of agriculture in Western Ontario, she has now the pre-eminent satisfaction of being the very centre and capital, as it were, of the farming interest of the Province, and she occupies a position of honorable prominence in this respect amongst her sister counties, which we trust will be sustained and increased in future by the assistance, the unity and the sympathy of our farmers in regard to the Ontario School of Agriculture.

It is altogether probable that the general elections will take place about the middle of September next.

Some idea of the cost which would attend the movement of a large army in ships may be gathered from a supplementary estimate just laid before the British Parliament. By this statement it appears that the Indian contingent removed from India to the Mediterranean numbers about seven thousand men including the regulation proportion of cavalry and artillery.

It is a significant fact that although Mr. Dalton McCarthy is an ostensible candidate for North Simcoe, he has again been nominated in Cardwell, and has not refused the nomination. He is evidently repenting of his valiant declaration that he would "stake his political future on North Simcoe," where, if he runs, he will he handsomely beaten by his old antagonist, Mr. Cox.

It will be remembered that Mr. Domville, M.P., last session, emphatically denied the truth of Mr. Mackenzie's statement that he had ever been a government contractor. A return asked for at the time and just brought down, shows that in 1872 Domville did apply for a contract for supplying spikes to the Intercolonial, and that it was given to him for 250 tons at $94 per ton, making $23,500 that he obtained, and his tender was by no means the lowest. How will the pompous Domville get out of this little corner after his indignant denial that he had dirted his fingers with a contract?

While some politicians are raving about protection to Canadian industries, the Government is exerting itself to make the most effective exhibit possible of Canadian products and manufactures at the world's exhibition in Paris. So well have they succeeded in this laudable and patriotic object that the United States papers are speaking in terms of wondering praise of Canada's enterprise and the show it makes. In this way the Government shows a real and rational desire to help our industries and open up new markets. The acts of the Government are in strong contrast to the professions of the Opposition, and they show who are the real friends of Canada.

Speaking in its usual reckless style, the Gazette declared some days ago that tons upon tons of Government steel rails were lying at Quebec Gate Barracks, Montreal. As a matter of fact there has not been a steel rail there for two years. This is like the assertion made by the Mail, and echoed by the F. P. with the gravity of a well trained parrot, that the steel rails are lying rusting from one end of the continent to the other, when the fact is that the great bulk of them have been long since laid on the Intercolonial and Pacific, and the small remaining balance will be absorbed before the season closes.

At the London Medical and Surgical Institute, London, Ont., cancers are cured by a new, scientific, speedy, and effectual process, and a cure is warranted in every case when undertaken. Tumours, ulcers, and fever sores also cured. White swellings, and other diseases of the joints, spinal diseases, deformities, crooked limbs, club foot, treated by an entirely new, and the only successful method in the world. All diseases of the eye and ear, all operations in connection therewith for restoring the sight or hearing. Cross eyes straightened in five minutes without pain. One or two of the Physicians of the Institute will be at the City Hotel, Guelph, Thursday, June 20th, 1878, and will remain till July 1st, where they can be consulted on any form of disease. Consultation free. Cures of cancer and other diseases will be effected during their stay. All chronic diseases treated by a very superior system. Special attention will be given to all diseases incident to females by the Principal of the Institute. This will afford an opportunity for patients living at a distance from the London Medical and Surgical Institute to reap the advantage of the many improvements and scientific modes of treatment that have made this Institution so famous throughout Canada. This being a holiday at the Institute, such an offer cannot be promised again. Ministers will be treated cheerfully and gratuitously. Patients should make no delay in calling upon the Doctors. d1w1.

The Gauger of Skene.

"That was very noble of you, landlord—very noble indeed. To save life is the highest achievement. Neither of them were injured, you say—neither the girl nor the child?"

"Nae a hair o' them was singed, sir. They were sair frightened, of course, at bein' roused frae their sleep and seein' the flames, but I brocht them doon here, and afore an hour was past the bairn was sleepin' as sound as ever."

Myra clasped Lizzie's hand in convulsive thankfulness, and a look of speechless joy passed between them.

"How did the fire originate?" asked Harold.

"Ay, sir, but there's nacbody can understand that. Ned Skeat thinks ae thing; Jess Greig anither; and Lexy Campbell something else; but nane o' them can tell for certain. Some say it began in the cellar; ithers in the kitchen; and ithers in the parlour; but it seems as if it began in a' three at ance; for the haill hoose was in a bleeze frae end tee end, and in a very few minutes. The gauger maun hae had a gey curn powther about him, for there were some explosions, and forby a strong smell o' roset and turpentine."

"Of course Gillespie would try to save what he could."

"He wasna there to save anything—he wasna at hame, he was at Edinburgh."

"At Edinburgh!" repeated Harold.

"Awa' tae the heid office o' Excese—there tae gie a fine report, some say o' his great achievement last week in destroying the cave o' Black Dick and his smugglers. It's thocht he expects promotion for the great deed; and it's like wull, for Black Dick and his gang were the greatest smugglers atwee the Don and the Dee. There's been a young gentleman at the heid o' them for a while—a baronet's son nae less—a wild, fearless lad that was outlawed for——"

"Oh, yes—I have heard of that," interrupted Harold, hastily. "Gillespie is in Edinburgh then?"

Na, he's nae that, for he cam' hame the day afore yesterday, and black hame-comith' it was for him."

"Oh, he's home. I am glad of that, for we have business with him. Where is he to be found?—where have he and his family found shelter?"

"Nae far awa', sir. They are leevin' in his ain barn. It was on fire tae, but being some yards fae the hoose they managed to put oot the lowe, and that's a' the roof they have abune their heids. As for the girlie and the bairn, they are stayin' wi' us yet. There they are comin, roond the end o' the hoose."

To sit still on hearing this was beyond Myra's power of endurance. A sharp exclamation escaped her, and once more she started up.

"Where — where?" she gasped, and would have further given vent to her feelings, when the warning glance of Harold's eye caught hers, and the recollection of what he had said rushed on her mind with a shock of terror. She sank back in her seat without uttering another word, but her look was so pitiful and imploring that Harold could not resist giving way to the passionate yearning of the mother's heart.

"Call the girl forward, landlord," he observed. "They, the ladies, I mean, would like to see the child that has had such a marvellous escape."

"Hoot, sir, the little thing is owre dirty for leddies to look at. The bairn is nae that unbonny when its face is clean, but neither it nor the girlie is redd-up now."

"Never mind; that doesn't matter at all. Here, girl."

The girl, whose age might be fourteen or fifteen, was standing close to one of the windows of the inn with the child in her arms, gazing with a curiosity partaken in by the other domestics of the establishment, who from various points of vantage, such as the passages and the stable doors, were viewing the carriage and its occupants. On hearing the gentleman's loud summons, and observing by the wave of his hand that it was addressed to her, she started into the rigidity of astonishment, nevertheless would not have been able to believe that she was the individual addressed had not the innkeeper repeated the beckoning of the strange gentleman, and added, in a dialect to which she was more accustomed—

"Come awa' here, Nelly, and let the leddies see the bairn."

Thus requested, Nelly advanced with slow and indifferent step, utterly unconscious of the intense emotion and mental excitement with which her approach was regarded — profoundly ignorant of the mighty meaning of the notice taken of her and her charge.

Myra pressed her hand to her bosom, and a choking sensation was in her throat.

General Assembly Presbyterian Church.

June 14.

At the afternoon meeting Rev. Mr. Torrance read the report on Probationers. Fifty-nine settlements have taken place during the year, of which only eleven were men from the roll of probationers. Forty-nine probationers placed their services at the disposal of the Committee, and at the time of preparing the report thirty-two were still in the public active service of the church. Considerable discussion took place on the report, and while the diligence of the Committee was commended it was the general opinion the present plan did not work very well. A motion with a view to remedying the evils complained of was carried.

In the evening Dr. Cochrane read the Home Mission report, giving details of the work done in Manitoba, the Lake Superior region, Algoma, Muskoka, and other new settlements. The amounts raised from presbyteries, foreign churches, and other donations and Sabbath Schools during the year was $30,434.74, making, with the donations from the College societies, a total of $33,175.39. The balance against the Committee was $5,867.46. Of that sum $3,680,99 was paid on account of the preceding year; $2,000 were given to the Manitoba College, and $680 had been paid on account of the present year. The Home Mission comprised 120 mission fields, 355 preaching stations, 89 supplemented congregations under the Western section of the Church; a Sabbath attendance of 25,400.

Dr. McGregor then read his report of the Maritime mission. Last year they had ten ordained ministers and five probationers in the eastern section. This year reported fourteen preachers and a number of young men who supplied the smaller congregations. They had three special fields—two of which were in Newfoundland—that important and growing island.

The reading of the report was followed by several able addresses on the subject.

Saturday, June 15.

Rev. Dr. Reid read overtures on Hymnology from the Presbyterics of Hamilton, Miramichi, Paris, Whitby, and the Synods of Montreal and Ottawa, Hamilton and London, in favor of the Assembly taking some action to secure uniformity of hymnology. A long discussion followed, which was adjourned.

The Rev. Mr. Chiniquy then addressed the Assembly on French Evangelization.

Additional correspondence relative to the appointment of M. Delfosse as third Fishery Commissioner was laid before the United States Senate yesterday. It contains, among other documents, a letter from Delfosse, stating that he accepted the office at the express request of the British and United States Governments, and that the objections to his appointment raised by the United States some years ago were absolutely unknown to him previous to their publication two months ago.

As to the claim of J. E. McElderry for damages to property on Tiffany street, the Committee come to the conclusion that the Corporation is not responsible. The Committee cannot recommend that any damages be allowed to Wm. Johnston in reference to his property on Northumberland street, as they have already dealt with the matter. In reference to the petition of John Horsman and others asking the Council to appoint Thos. W. Cooper Town Engineer, they cannot at the present time appoint any person to that office, but would recommend that Mr. Cooper be employed when they require an Engineer, if they see fit to do so. They recommend the payment of A McBean & Co's. account, $33.58; Alex. Birge $276, with $9.86, interest on last year's account. The Committee have spent for the month of May, in all, $87.96.

The Committee recommended a more rigorous enforcement of By-law No. 16, for preventing cows, horses, &c., going on the streets.

Fifth Night in the Tent.

A Beautiful Evening and a Large Audience.

The interest in the great reformation is rapidly increasing, as one after another of the recruits from the ranks of intemperance come to the platform in behalf of sobriety. The interest and enthusiasm last night exceeded any previous evening. The usual devotional exercises preceded the speaking. An interesting feature in all the meetings is the excellent singing furnished by the volunteer choir.

Mr. Plant was the first speaker from the reformed men. He said he felt it to be the duty of those who had signed the pledge to be always ready to speak a word for the good of the cause. He had lent his influence on the wrong side long enough, and now he deemed it his duty to do all he could by precept and example to counteract the evil. He hoped no man would decline when called upon to speak. No merchant would refuse an opportunity to make a good trade. In this cause we can do more good than the making of money, we may save a soul.

Robert Allen was the next speaker. He said it was now four days since he had signed the pledge; he had not gone so long without liquor for ten years before. He referred to the fact that at one time he was a Son of Temperance, but the organization wound up, and he wound up with it, After that, through company, he commenced to drink, and one glass led to another. He had made up his mind a thousand times to quit it, but as often had he broken his resolves. Tavern keepers said, "You was not a hard drinker;" but he replied his wife could tell better. She knew what it was for him to come home full many a time. He had made up his mind there was but one course for him. He must take the most public stand against the habit, and let every one know his purpose. He was asked why he did this, he would answer, last week he was called on the jury of an inquest of a man who committed suicide, a fine young man whom he had known for many years; when he looked upon the bleeding and mangled form, he said to himself, that is whiskey, he never would have done it but for that. This recalled the case of another young man a few years before, who, when walking with him one night said, if he ever thought there was any danger of whiskey getting such a hold of him as that he could not stop it, he would put an end to his existence. No less than a week this same man blew his brains out. He said to himself, I may come to the same end unless I stop. This had led him to the decision he proposed now to lead—a new life—and live and die a temperance man. He already began to feel himself a new man. The first day after he signed the pledge the struggle was a hard one, he felt he had got the heaviest job on his hands he ever undertook, but it was already getting easier. He counselled all who had drank with him now to follow him in his new course. This was his first address, but he proposed to do good service in the cause.

The address was listened to with great interest, and elicited great applause.

Richard Clark was next called, but being absent, failed to respond. He may be expected to-night.

Dr. McGregor said he was a reformed man in that he had been a moderate drinker. He never drank to excess, as some called it; but any man who drank at all drank too much. He now belonged to the army of total abstainers.

Rev. Mr. Durkee said it was encouraging to see how this great temperance question was coming to the front among all the denominations. He noticed the General Assembly of Presbyterians had a temperance resolution offered. The conferences of the Methodist church had fully endorsed this movement, and the Church of England was forming temperance societies. There might be here and there a a church or minister who took no interest in this blessed reformation, or never had a word to say, or put in an appearance at all these great meetings till it was taking a deep hold of the public and revolutionizing society rapidly. The very interesting meeting was closed by singing "Pull for the shore," when large numbers came forward and signed the pledge.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.—A violent rain storm accompanied by thunder and lightning, passed over Port Elgin at one o'clock on Sunday morning. Homer Neeland's residence, situated about four miles from that place, was struck by lightning, and his son, aged six, while in bed was instantly killed. Mr. Neelands, who occupied the same bed, was also injured, but from the latest reports he was doing well, and is expected to recover. The house was only slightly damaged.

ORANGEVILLE.—A meeting of the Provisional Council of the County of Dufferin, will be held in the Council Chamber on Tuesday, the 9th of July.——A successful tempearnce meeting was held in the town hall. on Tuesday week, when about thirty persons signed the pledge of the Blue Ribbon Order.——Wm. Chamberlain, a butcher, vamoozed recently for parts unknown. ——Mr. R. Jones, late auditor and chief accountant of the Toronto, Grey & Bruce Railway, was on Monday week presented with a purse containing $260, as a slight token of the regard the employees of the road entertained for him.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. FERGUS.—A box of tobacco was recently stolen from the Fergus railway station. ——Attempts were made to enter a number of shops in Fergus on Monday night of last week. The stores of Mr. R. Steel, Mrs. Kemp, Mrs. Skerritt, and Mr. Cope were tried, and some of them partially broken into, but nothing was taken away. ——A Court was held by Judge Chadwick last week for the revision of the Voter's List for 1877. The name of Charles Verness was struck off the list, and the names of John McEwen and Patrick Kelleher, were allowed to remain on. James Richardson's name was inserted as owner of a lot he had purchased in 1877.——J. Jeff. Dobbin lately sold four head of three year old cattle to Mr. Hawes, of Guelph, for $304. Two of them weighed over 1,700 each.

Bond & Co to-day advertise lawn mowers, refrigerators, and other seasonable goods at prices that defy competition. They have a number of remnants of floor oil cloth which they will sell at great reduction (almost anything) to get rid of them.

NO HARD TIMES THERE.—One hears very little now-a-days but the cry hard times. Judging from the constant rush in business at the Lion, Messrs. J.D. Williamson & Co. never feel them. Their ruling principle is, make goods cheaper than any other store, and there is no trouble about selling them.

Arctic refrigerators for keeping meat, &c., during the hot weather, wire covers to keep flies off food; croquet sets, lawn mowers, hedge shears and trimmers at JOHN HORSMAN'S, corner Wyndham and Quebec streets, St. George's Square.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. The great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D. Bible House, New York City. Sept. 18, deodwly

He wrathfully inquired, "Boy, do you know where children go to who play marbles on Sunday?" An Impudent Lie.

Messrs. S. M. Pettengill & Co., of New York, have just issued a new edition of their Newspaper Directory for 1878. The list includes the newspapers published in Canada. As regards the circulation of papers the Publishers say:—"The circulations reported are, in all cases, those given by the publishers themselves. The circulations which appear in full-face figures have been sworn to, and the affidavits are on file in the office of the Directory. Turning to the papers published in Guelph we find the Herald's circulation given in full-face figures—being sworn to on affidavit as follows:—Daily 986; weekly 3,560.

Now, we pronounce the above statement an impudent, unblushing and premeditated lie, and yet the returns according to Pettingill & Co,, are sworn to on affidavit.

We beg further to state that the Herald's bona fide circulation is far, far below those returns given to the Directory, and we know whereof we speak; but even such barefaced lying shall not tempt us to betray confidence and give particulars or state what we know when doing thankless favors for that office.

We challenge the Herald to make good its statement and affidavit or confess itself guilty of a gross deception. Even admitting for a moment that it was true, what a vast difference must there be between the circulations of the MERCURY and the Herald, as is proven by our own authentic post office returns. On the 11th April we published a return, which can be sworn to if necessary, that the postage paid by all the papers published in this County from the 1st of January, 1877, to 30th September, of the same year was $413.38. Of this sum the MERCURY paid for that period for postage $194.41, being within $24.56 of THE HALF OF THE ENTIRE POSTAGE PAID BY THE WHOLE OF THE NEWSPAPERS PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF WELLINGTON—and there are ten of these including the Herald—besides the MERCURY. The postage is fixed by the weight of the papers taken to the post office, so that there is no chance of deception or erroneous returns. And we have no hesitation in saying that since that time—September 30th, 1877—the postage paid by the MERCURY has proportionately advanced, which is a sure test of the growing increase of its circulation. The Herald has a peculiar weakness for blowing its own trumpet, but this last stretcher throws Dr. Tupper's efforts completely in the shade.

EXPLOSION OF "HERALD" GAS.

The Herald, with its characteristic low cunning, dodges the question about its circulation. We want to nail it to the one point, on which we challenged it, and on which we are ready to stake $100, that the returns it gives of its circulation to S. M. Pettengill & Co., for their Directory, on affidavit, are untrue, and a gross fabrication. When it has disposed of this challenge, then we will deal with its buncombe wager. We were first in the field with our challenge, and we want to nail this lie to the counter.

FERGUS.—Rev. J. B. Mullan has been presented by the members of his Bible class with a handsome dressing gown and a pair of slippers.——The contract has been let for a new High School, the total cost of the work according to the tenders accepted being $2,199. The building is to be stone, and when completed will prove a handsome addition to the public buildings of the village.

HILLSBURG.—The village is looking up, notwithstanding the depression of the times. Mr. P. Worden, saddler, has erected a beautiful brick store and dwelling, two stories high, this season, which will be an ornament to the place, as well as a credit to Mr. Worden. The above building will be completed in a short time, which will be occupied as a harness store and dwelling.

BEVERLY AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—A special meeting of the Directors of this Society was held in the Town Hall, Rockton, on Saturday, June 15th, for the purpose of making an effort to have a trial of reapers in connection with the Society. The meeting was well attended. The following were present:—President, Robert Young; Vice-President, Henry Bugner; Secretary-Treasurer, David Bell; Directors, David Patterson, Christopher Ricker, C. Patterson, Jeremiah Cornell, R. Bannen, John A. Cornell, A. McKellar, Robt. Henderson, Edwin Gray, B. Cornell, Wm. Baird, Wallace McDonald, and Henry Chambers. It was unanimously agreed upon to have a reaping match, said trial to take place at an early date. The prize awarded to the machine winning will be a silver medal. A Committee has been appointed to make regulations for the coming match. As this trial is to take place under the auspices of a society, it may be expected the utmost care will be taken that every manufacturer will be treated fairly.

MOUNT FOREST.—Mr. James McKenzie is now engaged in taking the census of the village with the view of obtaining incorporation as a town.—At the recent meeting of the village council a committee was appointed to make enquiries concerning a suitable site for a new cemetery.—The following totals are taken from the Mount Forest assessment roll for 1878:—Real estate, $304,290; personal, $53,000; taxable income, $4,750—total, $362,040, being an increase of $37,070 over last year. The population is placed at 1,903.—The Examiner says the Board of Public School Trustees have decided to heat the central school by steam, which will cost $887. The brick work and other incidentals will bring the cost up to about $1,000. The new additions to the school accommodation of the place will therefore cost something in the neighborhood of $5,000.

IN the report of Monday evenings' meeting at the tent, one of the speakers was made to say that the Presbyterian Assembly had offered a resolution endorsing the Gospel Temperance movement. What he said was, that the movement had found favorable mention in the Assembly. It was not the same speaker who alluded to the stand taken by particular churches and ministers.

A YOUNG MAN had the midnight express stopped at Rockwood on Tuesday night after intimating that there were some twenty passengers who wished to reach Guelph. ST. JOSEPH'S HOSPITAL PIC-NIC.—This grand charity affair will take place tomorrow (Thursday). From all appearance this pic-nic will outstrip any previous ones in interest. The efforts of the management to carry out everything satisfactorily for the convenience and comfort of all parties who may be present, is an assurance that the pic-nic will please all. The various games and amusements are an attractive feature. A grand bazaar and promenade concert will be held in the afternoon. During the day a handsome carriage will be voted on—the candidates being Mr. D. Guthrie, M. P., and Mr. Jas. Goldie.

WINDOW HINGE.—An agent is now canvassing the town for the sale of Jones' window blind hinge, which opens and shuts the shutter from the inside. It is certainly a useful invention, and one which will be appreciated by everybody. By simply turning a handle inside the window the shutter can be closed or opened, or placed at any desired point, and there securely fastened by a thumb screw on the handle. No doubt it will find a ready sale.

"THE QUEER."—The Dundas Banner says: "The other day one of our most respectable merchants received a confidential circular signed George Miller, 100 Brome street, N.Y., offering certain brands of "cigars," in imitation of the real Havanas, at extraordinary bargains. The "cigars" meant counterfeit money as was explained by a printed slip which was enclosed, and the party who received the circular was informed that the brands were Nos. ones, twos, fives and tens."

SCHOOL BOARD.—A special meeting of the School Board was held on Thursday evening for the final acceptance of tenders for the new High School building. Present—Judge Macdonald, chairman; Dr. Keating, Messrs. Knowles, Murton, Inglis, Robertson, Wilkie, Leonard, Peterson and Mackenzie. Moved by Mr. Murton, seconded by Mr. Inglis, that the tenders for the erection of a High School, laid before this Board at its last meeting, be finally accepted and confirmed, and that sufficient bonds be required from the contractors as a security for the due fulfilment of their contracts and completion of the work, at the time to be arranged with the building committee. Carried. Moved by Mr. Leonard, seconded by Mr. Inglis, that the chairman of the Board and the chairman of the building committee make arrangements with the architect respecting his charge for plans, and to arrange for the superintendence of the work. Carried. The following are the contractors:—Bell & Co., mason work, $2,156; Steven & Son, carpentering, $2,949; Daniel Day, plastering, $549; J. Sturdy, painting, $225; Geo. Howard, tinsmithing and slating, $887. Total, $7,760.

CHALMERS' CHURCH FESTIVAL.—The strawberry festival given by the above Church last evening in the Drill Shed was a great success. Throughout the whole evening W.T. Vale's string band discoursed sweet music to the delight of those present. Long tables were arranged nearly the whole length of the building, and they literally creaked under the many good things with which they were loaded. A fountain supplying the thirsty with a cool beverage was in full blast, and, owing to the warm night, was well patronized. The Drill Shed is peculiarly well adapted for such entertainments as this, and those who took part in the getting up of the festival deserve credit for their judgment preferring this building to the Town Hall. The ventilation is much better, and the opportunity afforded those who prefer promenading to eating strawberries is very much more serviceable. There is greater room also for those who undertake the arduous duties of waiters, and the benefit of this was shown last night. Nothing went wrong; there was no confusion, and everybody enjoyed themselves while there, and went away happy and satisfied. The attendance was large, and the amount realized must have been something handsome.

The G.W.R. will issue return tickets at a single fare from Galt, Fergus, and intermediate stations for those wishing to attend St. Joseph's Hospital pic-nic to-morrow. d1.

IN LUCK.—Joseph Grisenthwaite, a cooper by trade, residing in Lockport, N. Y., has fallen heir to $50,000, and is now on his way to the old country to receive the money.

MR. SACHE, a very efficient ball player of the bankers' team, while playing ball yesterday had a little finger unhinged at the first joint.

EXCURSION TO THE FALLS.—The Great Western Railway will run an excursion train from Palmerston to Niagara Falls on Tuesday, the 25th June. The train will leave Guelph at 7:40 a.m. One dollar from Guelph and return.

RAILWAY TRAMPS.—On Tuesday evening Mr. Jas. Kelly, night watchman at the Grand Trunk passenger station had some trouble with tramps who wanted to remain in the station all night. He walked them off with a revolver as an inducement. He also had the trouble of emptying some grain cars of tramps on the same evening.

COMMITTED.—James Raymond, a notorious character, who is said to have committed various depredations throughout Ontario, and particularly in the neighborhood of Mount Forest, has been wanted by the police in the northern sections. A few days ago he was arrested and committed by a bench of Magistrates of Mount Forest to the County gaol here.

The Great Shoshonees Remedy

Is an Indian vegetable compound, composed of the juices of a variety of remarkable medicinal plants and herbs; the various properties of these different ingredients, when combined, is so constituted as to act simultaneously upon the Blood, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Digestive Organs, Nervous System, &c., restoring their functions to healthy action, and, being purely vegetable, is as harmless as nature's own beverage. This medicine is a decided benefit in all, and a permanent cure in a large majority of diseases of the blood, such as Scrofula, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Canker, Pimples, &c. In prescribing this medicine we do not claim that it always performs cures; but this we do say, that it purifies and enriches the blood, permanently curing a large majority of diseases arising from its impurities. It stands far ahead and unequalled among the hundreds of competing medicines of the day. It has stood the test for ten years, and is to-day more popular than ever. As a summer restorative it stands unrivalled; it enables the system to bear up against the constant drain to which it is subjected by a high temperature. Persons who are subject to bilious Colic, Dysentery, Indigestion, &c., should take Shoshonees Remedy. Price of the Remedy in pint bottles, $1; Pills, 25cts. a box. Sold by all medicine dealers.

Never be ashamed of confessing your ignorance, for the wisest man upon earth is ignorant of many things, insomuch that what he knows is a mere nothing in comparison to what he does not know. But we apprehend very few are ignorant of the wonderful effects of the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," its a most sure and rapid cure for colds, rheumatism, pleurisy, colic, cholera morbus, and all summer complaints. Sold by all medicine dealers.

Sixth Night in the Tent.

The audience was not quite so large as the night before on account of several other attractions, but was deeply interesting and protracted to a late hour.

Rev. Mr. Haskell, in opening, said the amount of good accomplished by this movement was not be measured alone by the signing of the pledge, though he esteemed that the manly course for all to do, yet he knew then even a great many who felt too proud to come to a tent meeting, and would not openly recognize this movement, who are yet held in check, and made ashamed to drink. The atmosphere of temperance is abroad in the community. Every one feels it more or less. There are those who feel they are of the first cut in society, and they stand aloof from all these great efforts to benefit mankind, but we must recollect the first cut is a slab. After you get in two or three cuts you come to the solid timber. This reformation is destined to permeate the whole body politic till the monster vice is removed. It was impossible to hinder its progress. Men might take the attitude of indifference, but such persons were of small account in the world's progress, they are only decaying driftwood on stagnant waters. One earnest, devoted man, is worth more than a regiment of such drones.

Rev. Mr. Howie said this was the first time he had the opportunity to speak on the platform of this tent since its erection this year. Last year the temperance workers suffered an ignoble defeat, but they were at it again. He had been caricatured by the whiskey settlers as praying to the devil. He knew the devil was on the side of whiskey. He was glad the campaign of the summer had opened so auspiciously. We must keep pouring in light on this question; it was a cause that needed no argument to show it was right. Mr. Howie spoke at some length, and was listened to with marked attention.

Another song and Mr. Plurd took the platform. He said he felt a much younger man for having signed the pledge. It was now one year since he became a total abstinence man, he wished it had been twenty years, he would then be in a very different position than now, drink had been his ruin and made him prematurely old, while he was in reality but young. Great benefits had come to him since he signed the pledge and by God's help he meant to continue on in the good way.

Mr. Haskell then announced that Mr. Clark who was called the night before was unavoidably absent but would speak the first time he was present.

Mr. John Wilkie was introduced as a bright and shining light in the temperance cause, and invited to let his light shine on the meeting for a few moments. He said he was deeply interested in this work, and had always been, the temperance cause had suffered in past times by being divorced from religion, but this gospel temperance movement placed it on the right basis. Intemperance was the greatest evil of the day and demanded earnest and self-denying work. The power of drink was fearful. He mentioned cases of men working efforts to break from its power while yet dabbling with it and every time they failed. If a man would succeed he must let it entirely alone, as it was useless to pray against the evil and then run into temptation. He counselled all to join this reform, sign the pledge and help drive this evil out. The usual pledge signing followed and the meeting closed, Next meet-Thursday evening.

The Ball and Bat.

The Tecumsehs Defeat the Maple Leafs by a Score of 9 to 8.

There was a crowd of between four and five hundred on the Maple Leaf grounds yesterday to witness the game between the Tecumsehs and Leafs. It was never expected that the amateur team would be enough to defeat the professionals that stand second for the international championship, and few even suspected that the match would be a close one. The result, however, stands nine to eight against Guelph. At the commencement of the game the home team was nervous and did not play well on the field. After the fourth innings, however, they played both carefullly and with nerve, blanking their opponents in each succeeding innings. In the second innings Smith pounded Goldsmith for a three bagger and brought three men in. Goldsmith returned the compliment by afterwards gettting in two three basers. Hall of the Tecumsehs also got three bags on a hit. Hunter played a good game behind the bat, but Smith did not pitch as well as he has done. This is altogether owing to the little practice he has had, and his arm being weak in consequence. The Tecumseh Manager expressed great satisfaction with Mr. Hewer's umpiring of the game. Full particulars of the game can be found in the appended score:—

THE BUTTER QUESTION.—The merchants of Mildmay, Clifford, Neustadt, and Ayton, says the Walkerton Telescope, have formed an association agreeing to buy butter only at its value, paying from two to five cents more for good butter, than for inferior grades. This is undoubtedly a step in the right direction. There is no reason whatever, why all classes of butter should be bought at the same price.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

THE CONGRESS.

A PEACEABLE APPEARANCE.

LONDON, June 18.

In the Congress on Tuesday, Schouvaloff briefly explained Russia's policy which led to the Treaty of San Stefano, and was followed by Bismarck, who sketched the scheme suggested by him for an arrangement of the pending questions, and opened the debate on the Bulgarian question. An animated discussion followed, during which Andrassy made an earnest speech urging the division of European Turkey into districts, thus facilitating reforms without splitting up the country. No result was reached, and upon the suggestion of Prince Bismarck an adjournment was made until to-day to allow the plenipotentiaries an opportunity of privately exchanging their views. Such private conferences are expected to play a far more important part in the settlement of existing difficulties than was at first supposed, owing to the fact that the agreement between England and Russia disturbed certain other arrangements—notably in the case of Austria, inasmuch as England and Austria had come to an understanding to support one another at the Congress, in consequence of which the publication of the agreement with Russia occasioned no little surprise at Vienna. This contretemps, however, has apparently been tided over, as Andrassy and Lord Beaconsfield are now said to entertain identical views. They held a conference with Schouvaloff yesterday, to which great importance is attached, and when it is supposed the Bulgarian question was discussed. The conditional admission of Greece to the Congress is now considered certain.

A Bucharest despatch says:—When the Black Sea navigation was opened Russia gave large orders for coal, deliverable at Odessa and Galatz. They are now endeavoring to annul many of these contracts. This is interpreted as a peaceful indication.

A Constantinople despatch says:—Within the last few days there has been imminent danger of a conflict between the Russians and Turks, Baker Pasha or Fuad Pasha having on Saturday given the Russians a few hours' notice to remove an observatory overlooking the Turkish lines. The Porte, on being informed of the affair, ordered the military authorities to maintain peace. The danger is now averted. The movement of the Russians to resist an apprehended attack gave rise to an unfounded report that the Russian headquarters were about to remove from San Stefano.

FIRE AT BRUSSELS.—A fire broke out at this place on Tuesday morning about half-past one, completely destroying the block of stores and offices from Harrison's bank north to Mill street. The flames were first seen issuing from the rear of the store of D. Scott & Son, general dealers. Among the sufferers are D. Scott & Son, Montreal Telegraph and Post Offices, and four other unoccupied dwellings. There is very little doubt but that the property had been set on fire. An investigation is to be held as to the cause of the disaster. The losses are Scott & Son, $2,500, insured in the Canada Fire and Marine Company for $1,000, and the Union and Ottawa $500; J. R. Grant, loss covered by insurance in the Reliance Company, Toronto. The entire mail matter in the post office was saved. The safe in the midst of the flames came open, and a large amount of postage and bill stamps were consumed, with some valuable private papers.

THE 12TH IN OTTAWA.—At a meeting of the members of the various Orange orders it was decided to make the anniversary celebration this year an unusually attractive one. There will be a procession of the Orangeman, Young Britons, 'Prentice Boys, and True Blues in the forenoon, and a pic-nic on the Show Grounds in the afternoon. A large number of members of the Order in Carleton, Russell, and Ottawa counties have signified their intention of joining in the celebration.

THE FISHERIES.—The Marine and Fisheries Department have received most encouraging reports from the salmon and lobster packing districts. Thirty two thousand pounds of salmon were canned this season at Maria by the end of May, where no more than two thousand pounds had been packed during the same period last year. At a single salmon canning and freezing establishment in Dalhousie no less than seven hundred salmon were received in one day, the owner being compelled to refuse a great many more for want of room.

A gentleman in Ancaster who has been experimenting informs us that the caterpillar pest may be overcome by taking a swab saturated with soft soap and rubbing it over the nests on the limbs of the trees. The caterpillars are at once killed with the soap and drop off lifeless. He also informs us that he destroys the potato bugs in his potato patch by cutting up potatoes and covering them with Paris green, which he places in pans throughout the field, and that the bugs gather at these feeding places and are thus disposed of. By adopting this plan he saves much trouble as well as Paris green, and the remedy is said to be even more effectual than the usual method adopted of sowing the poison over the field.

THE power of cash, says an American paper was never greater in mercantile communities than at the present time. Cash trade is sedulously sought after, and cash customers are at a premium in every branch of business. All the various Commercial interests are seeking as far as possible to discard as a fallacy the old theory which has seemed to recognize credit as the inherent right of a buyer; and the opinion is becoming very prevalent that it should only be granted upon compliance by the buyers with better provisions than heretofore for the protection of creditors.

The United States Senate has agreed to an amendment to the Sundry Civil Appropriation Bill, appropriating five and a half millions to pay the award of the Halifax Fishery Commission.

Reform Meeting at Rockwood.

Large Gathering of Electors.

On Tuesday evening a meeting of the electors of Eramosa was held in the Town Hall, Rockwood. The hall was completely filled—some three hundred being present. The meeting commenced shortly after eight o'clock and continued until one o'clock this (Wednesday) morning. During the speaking there were many acts of rowdyism committed, evidently by a crowd of men instructed for the purpose, and their object was to prevent the speeches on the Reform side being heard. During Mr. Guthrie's speech there was whistling, yelling, and shouting of obscene language, at short intervals, just outside the door of the hall, which would have done infinite credit to a lot of wild Indians. During the speaking of Messrs. Brooks and Wright—the opponents of the Reform candidate—the noise ceased entirely, but as soon as Mr. Dunbar began to reply the noise outside was renewed. Altogether the attempt to prevent free discussion was disgraceful and will not further the claims of the so called National Policyists.

Mr. Wm. Hodgskinson, the chairman, announced that the meeting had been called by Mr. Guthrie, the respected member for South Wellington, for the purpose of discussing the political questions now before the country. Arrangements had been made so that any gentleman who wished to speak in opposition would be allowed one hour. He was sure that the utmost order and good feeling would prevail, and that a patient hearing would be accorded to all who might address them. He the called upon Mr. Guthrie to address the meeting.

Mr. Guthrie, on taking the floor, was loudly applauded. After pointing out the difference between such an election as was held in Wellington two years ago and the general election now approaching, he proceeded to give a resume of the work accomplished by the present Government since they had assumed office. He informed them that since his election he had accorded the Government a most hearty and cordial support. Having done so he defied his opponents to point out where in one particular instance he had failed to do his duty as their representative. The financial position of the country under the regime of Sir John Macdonald was compared with that of the present Administration, showing that the affairs of the country had been more economically managed by many thousand dollars per annum. The reason the duty was increased on tea was explained—to make up a deficiency which existed, amounting to some $400,000. The tax was also increased on malt. These articles were chosen from the fact than an increase of duty on them would not perceptibly affect the trade of the country. The coal oil question was dealt with, and the speaker explained the position the people of this country was placed in when a ring of speculators were able to charge what they pleased for their oil. The audience could easily remember the price of coal oil a couple of years ago, and now it was not more than half the price they paid then. When the duty was taken off it had the effect of completely smashing the ring that was fleecing the public. Sir John Macdonald's past career as a protectionist was narrated. It was shown how Sir John had raised the duty on grain and flour, and that after a short trial it had been repealed. And why? Simply because it proved injurious to the country. It was nothing but a political cry got up during the present depression for the purpose of allowing Sir John Macdonald and the Conservative party riding back to power. (Hear, hear.) The resolution brought forward by Sir John was dealt with, and the speaker showed how it was received in the House. In fact the resolution meant anything. The Free Traders of the Maritime Provinces voted for it because they considered a readjustment of the tariff a lowering of the tariff, while the Protectionists say it means a raising of the tariff, and they therefore support it. When it came down to details, such as proposing a tax on coal and flour, the vote will show how it was received in the House. The question of protection to agricultural products was dealt with at length. He held that it was nonsense for any person to say that a high duty on wheat would increase the price received by farmers. It was only a week or two ago that the price of wheat fell in Liverpool, and it immediately fell here and in American markets as well, thus showing that it was really those who consumed the grain that had to regulate the price. It has also been said by our opponents that Canada was paying the debt of the United States. Well, if such was the case would we not be very foolish not to raise our tariff so high that we would not have to pay for the government of this country at all,—as it would then be paid by those who send goods to this country. The speaker stated that the prices paid for grain under reciprocity treaty were no higher, and in some cases not as high, as they were now. On this point no contradiction had ever been made. If the amount of goods imported into Canada during a year, which might be manufactured in this country, were made here by skilled artizans it would not employ with improved machinery of the present day more than from between twenty-five and forty thousand men—a number that could be kept by the surplus produce even of the County of Wellington. How then could that addition to our population be the effect of producing a home market? The speaker concluded his speech of over two hour's duration by quoting the opinion of the Governor of New York on the evils that had been brought about by the protection that was existing at the present time, as well as historical facts connected with the suffering of people in England while protection was a part of the policy of the Government. Reference was also made to the various measures passed by the Government during the past two years and the perfecting, by amendments, of old measures.

Mr. Guthrie was frequently applauded during the delivery of his speech. There were occasional interruptions outside the hall, who would not cease hooting and yelling even after the chairman had remonstrated, and Mr. Wright threatened not to speak at all if the annoyance did not cease. The rowdyism outside increased at times instead of diminishing. It evidently was an organized attempt by some of the opposition to prevent Mr. Guthrie having a hearing.

Mr. G. B. Brooks was next introduced to reply. He considered that Mr. Guthrie either did not know what he was talking about, or he wished to mislead the electors, when he stated that the United States was the most highly protected country in the world. He proceeded to show that in his opinion Canada was nothing but an ash-box, or a dust-bin for the refuse of the United States—a veritable slaughter market. A cheap country to live in means low wages, and low wages means ruination. Mackenzie & Co., are attempting to delude you by tapping the workingmen on the shoulder and telling them that their interests are best looked after by the present Government. The Reform Government had cursed the country for the past five years, and he hoped the electors at the polls would show those corrupt men whose whole course had been the fostering of rings and combinations, and leave them at home to reform themselves. The Reform party was a fraud, and as such he hoped the electors would treat it when the time arrived for giving a decision at the polls. Before sitting down, he expressed sympathy for the Quebec Conservatives, claiming that they had been turned out of office in a high-handed and unconstitutional manner.

Mr. Wright was next introduced. He at once launched into the question of a "National Policy." He said even if Protection was a party cry—admitting for argument that it is true—what effect has that on the right or wrong of the question? If the National Policy was a humbug, as Mr. Guthrie stated it was in Paslinch, he must have been a humbug two years ago when he advocated a readjustment of the tariff. He asks us what change we propose in the tariff, and because we do not specify exactly what is wanted—only state a readjustment, we are called humbugs. The speaker said that Mr. Guthrie had himself stated in his address in effect that he was in favor of a readjustment of the tariff, and that the MERCURY had stated that Mr. Guthrie could not frame a tariff. He read the following extract from the address of Mr. Guthrie:

"The subject of the tariff on importations shall receive my best attention with the view of promoting and procuring such changes as may appear to be necessary to make the tariff equal and fair to the mercantile, manufacturing and agricultural interests. I am in favor of a Treaty for reciprocal trade between Canada and the United States, on terms which shall be just to both countries, and I will support any measure calculated to bring about the negotiation of such a Treaty."

The speaker also read from an editorial in the MERCURY:

"On the vexed question of protection as applied to the manufacturing and agricultural industries, Mr. Guthrie says no more—no less—than he said at the Convention. He expresses himself favorable to such a readjustment of the tariff as shall be best for those interests, and for those of the people at large. What more promise or pledge does any reasonable man want? It is not Mr. Guthrie's place to frame a tariff, but we are satisfied that when he goes to Parliament, and when the discussion of this question comes up, he will be found to be a truer friend to the farmer and manufacturer than those who for purely political purposes have taken up the cry in their behalf, and who are seeking to use them in order that they may carry out their own fictitious purposes."

When the speaker read that Mr. Guthrie would "be a truer friend to the farmer and manufacturer than those who for purely political purposes have taken up the cry in their behalf," there was loud cheering and "Here, here" was heard on every side. The speaker said that therefore was no necessity for the farmer, or manufacturer to wonder as to where the choice should be made. What the National Policy was for a re-adjustment of the tariff—a tariff that would put Canada on a more equal footing with the United States. What was the meaning of Randal, Farr and Co., Wanzer & Co., the Dominion Type Foundry and other industries moving to the United States. If it was not from the fact that by moving across the lines they would secure a market of forty millions of people besides the consumers of this country as well? Farmers wanted to buy in the best markets as well as sell in the best markets. Mr. Guthrie stated that a duty on wheat would not raise its price, while Mr. Mackenzie stated to the workingmen of Toronto that the duty on wheat meant an increase in the price of flour. He would leave the audience to judge between them. Every bushel of grain, or every head of cattle or horse that comes into Canada from the States just displaces so much of the produce or stock of this country. If this produce did not come into this country there would be a much better home market. The speaker quoted figures to show that the prices of points had been decreased by protection instead of increased. It was therefore nonsense to say that the prices of staple goods would be increased. The only parties who were in favor of free trade in the States were the Southerners, who would like to go back to cheap slave labor. In speaking of the wool question, he held that the Canadian farmer only received 23c. a lb. for wool now while the Americans received 38c. This he held that the 15c. per lb. duty charged by the American, came out of the Canadian producer's pocket instead of having been paid by the consumer. The balance of trade in favor of England while she had protection, and a balance of trade against her under free trade, was given as a mark of the decay of the commerce of that country. The speaker dwelt generally with a number of other points before closing his speech.

On resuming his seat Mr. Wright was loudly applauded. At this juncture a number left the hall—perhaps fifty all told.

Mr. A. Dunbar was next called upon. He was received with applause from those inside the building, hooting and yelling by the engaged parties outside. He remarked that he would not at such a very late hour make a speech at any length, but would deal with a few points which had been very ingeniously but still very erroniously put by the opposition speakers. The question of the wool trade and the effect the high American duty has on the price of wool, the speaker held was very simple when rightly considered. The question here comes up, who pays the American duty on wool going into that country? Mr. Wright says that if a farmer sells his wool in Guelph at 23c. per lb., and the Americans receive 38c., the Canadian just looses the 15c. difference in the price when he sells his wool. A few moments consideration would show who ultimately pays the extra price of the wool. England requires large quantities of wool for manufacturing purposes, and almost the whole surplus of the world is disposed of on the Liverpool market. In sending our wool there we have to compete with Australia, Russia, Cape of Good Hope, and other wool-growing countries. If wool is only worth 23c per lb. in Guelph, the price in Liverpool would be just 24c. One cent per lb. pays the costs connected with the exportation. It will therefore be seen that the Liverpool market is really what controls the price. Wool could be shipped from Liverpool to New York harbour for a quarter of a cent per lb., and therefore if the duty was removed the surplus clip of the whole world could be disposed of at 24¼c per lb. At the present time 38c are now paid by American manufacturers for wool. What is the result? This wool is manufactured in the States, and in order that there should be no foreign competition in cloths a prohibitory duty is placed on such goods, and the ultimate result is that the American farmer and mechanic has in turn to pay back the extra amount originally received, for the goods it is necessary for them to purchase. The result is that the American woollen manufacturer has been driven out of the markets of the world, and the Government keeps out foreign goods by an excessive duty. The farmers of the United States have in reality to pay back the extra price received for their wool. It is foolish to say that it operates detrimentally to Canadian interests. Mr. Wright sought to make some capital by stating that whereas Mr. Guthrie held that a duty on wheat would not increase the price of that article, Mr. McKenzie told the workingmen of Toronto that an increase of duty meant an increase of price of flour. The speaker held that Mr. Mackenzie did not say a duty on wheat would increase the price of flour, but he did say that a duty on flour would have the effect. We will, at all times, get for our wheat just what is paid in Liverpool markets, less the cost of shipment. The only time that the farmers would be benefited by a duty on wheat was in a year of scarcity, and then the benefit would not be general among farmers. In a year of scarcity the great bulk of the farmers would sell their wheat early in the season. A few of the wealthy farmers and millers would hold their grain over, and later in the season would sell it back to farmers, who had been obliged to sell, at a great increase of price. Even in a year of scarcity a duty on wheat would benefit the few and not the many. Mr. Wright, at one moment, stated that protection would benefit the country by increasing the price of our products, and shortly after he states that it will lower the price, and instances prints and a few other goods as an example. If such is really the case wherein will the benefits lie. The fact of the great decrease in the price of some goods in the States could be explained. With high protection, capital is invested to such an extent that over production follows, and bankruptcy is the ultimate result. Mr. Wright advocates a duty on soft coal, and states that it could be brought from Nova Scotia for $4.20 per ton. The incorrectness of the statement is at once palpable when it is known that if such was the case there would be no need of protection, for the simple reason that Pennsylvania coal could not be brought here for the same money. To protect the iron and coal mines here would be to build up monopolies for the benefit of only a few mine owners. The great hope of this country was the settlement of the north-west territories. As that country opens up the manufactories here would supply them, and he ventured a prediction that within ten years our manufactures, without additional duties, would be more prosperous than any in the world. At the present time every tax on goods going into Manitoba would retard the growth of that country and prevent its settlement and growth in a marked degree. The speaker in concluding a speech, which, judging from the manner in which it was received, carried much weight, dealt with the question of protection generally as laid down by the Conservatives. He had no doubt but what the verdict of the people would be in support of the present Government, as its policy was one that would be to improve the condition of the country and further its interests. (Loud applause.)

Mr. John Ramsay stated in asking some questions from Mr. Wright about the Grange petition presented to Parliament, that although some Grangers had petitioned the Government for a readjustment of the tariff, it had not come officially from the Grangers. He was satisfied that the Grangers, as a body, were not in favor of this so-called National Policy.

The following resolution was then submitted:—

Moved by Mr. John Stewart, seconded Mr. L. Kemp, that the electors here assembled desire to give some sign of their approbation of the general policy of the present Government; and considering the commercial crisis through which the country is passing, we deem the course pursued on the tariff question, and our financial affairs, generally, well deserves our highest appropriation. We wish to express our full confidence in our respective member, Mr. Donald Guthrie; his consistent course as a supporter of Mr. Mackenzie's Government, deserves our hearty approval, and we pledge ourselves to use every just measure to secure his return at the coming election.

Scarcely a dozen stood up against the resolution. A few did not vote either one way or the other.

The meeting broke up after cheers were given for the Queen, the chairman, the Mackenzie Government and the speakers.

The School By-laws.

Our readers will have seen by the proceedings of the Town Council on Monday night that two By-laws were passed for raising money by debentures, ostensibly for school purposes. We think it well that the ratepayers should understand why these By-laws had to be sanctioned by the Council, and what the object was in passing them.

The By-law for raising $7,000 for the enlargement of the High School was absolutely necessary in view of the present limited accommodation for the pupils attending that school. This accommodation is altogether insufficient for the purpose, the Inspectors have time and again complained on this score, and they have only allowed things to go on as they are in the expectation and belief that the School Board as soon as they could would provide the accommodation required by the law, and which is required for the well being and continued success of the School. The Board was, therefore, obliged either to enlarge the old High School building or put up a new one, and acting in the interests of the ratepayers, and with every regard to economy, they decided to make such additions to the old building as were necessary. Their aim was to utilize the old building as far as possible, and make such additions as would secure all the accommodation required for the High school, or for what will soon, we hope, be a Collegiate Institute, and at the same time be an ornament to the town, and in keeping with our other public buildings. This has been, so far, accomplished, and before many months we expect to have a High School in every respect worthy of the Town and County, and one that the ratepayers can point to with pardonable pride. For the work done the cost is small, and the advantages will be far more than counterbalance the outlay.

As regards the other By-law for raising $18,000 for Public School purposes, a word of explanation is necessary. This may be called a By-law of convenience. In levying the assessment the Council could have included this sum in their estimates as they have done in previous years. But had they done so they would not have been able to make any provision for the payment of the floating debt of about $17,000 handed over to them by the Council of last year without levying such a rate as would have been intolerable to the ratepayers. At the same time they did not feel warranted in submitting another By-law to the ratepayers, and, therefore, taking advantage of the the statute which gives Councils power to pass By-laws for raising money for school purposes without going to the property owners for their sanction, they passed the one in question the other night. By this means the Council will be enabled to pay off the floating debt, and finish up the year with a clean sheet. At the same time it must be remembered that, with the exception of the $7,000 for the enlargement of the High Schools, the cost of maintenance of the Public Schools is no more than in former years, and the issue of debentures for the payment of their expenses is simply a politic contrivance on the part of the Council to pay off the floating debt of the Town by charging the School Board with a debt which is not theirs, which is only the ordinary expenditure for the year, but which, to accomplish the object the Council has in view, has been made a special liability for the purpose of wiping out our floating debt.

THE Quebec Legislature will present an address to Lord Dufferin on Saturday.

IN consequence of the failure to pass the Fisheries Award Bill in the House, the Senate will insert an amendment that the payment of the award in the Sundry Civil Appropriations Bill, if after correspondence with the British Government on the subject of the conformity of the award to the requirements of the Treaty and to the terms of the question thereby submitted to the Commission, the President shall deem it his duty to make the payment without further communication with Congress.

THE District Magistrates Court in Quebec is to be abolished. This is one of the reforms of the Joly Government.

THE Provincial Treasurer of Quebec made his financial statement on Tuesday. It was an able exposition of the financial condition of Province, and suggests the only practical and common sense method of dealing with the yearly increasing deficit in the finances, namely, by a policy of strict economy and retrenchment, which will equalize receipts and expenditure without endangering efficiency of the public service.

Harold the Outlaw
—OR—
The Gangers Sheue.

"Oh, my heart will burst," she moaned, in a murmuring tone, which Lizzie alone could hear. Harold felt he had done wrong in precipitating this ordeal in the open air, but it was now too late to prevent it. He strove to take the attention of the landlord and others from the scene by intimating that they would alight for a little and obtain refreshment for themselves and the horses. This welcome information set the landlord and his assistants into active exertion, and she diversion just came in time to cover a demonstration which must have struck them as singular and extraordinary—probably excited more widely-wondering thoughts and puzzling conjectures.

As the girl drew near the carriage, the child—a pretty blue-eyed creature, over two years of age—gazed wonderingly up at the strange faces bent over the side. Her little face was somewhat dirty, as the innkeeper had said, and her clothes were not particularly nice. The girl, being sensible of this, had no thought of her charge being taken from her arms and lifted into the carriage beside the grand folks, but Harold stooped down and held his open arms towards her, as if he wanted to have her.

The child looked at him without any shyness, and smiled her readiness to go to the outstretched arms. She had already been attracted by the bright little countenance of Alfred, who, having for the first time got his eyes on a being of his own age, was hugely delighted, and desirous to get near her. To the strong but tender arms of Harold was the little thing confided, who lifted her into the carriage and consigned her to arms more tender—oh, infinitely more tender still, those of her mother—arms of love she had never known before, and an embrace so fervent and passionate that the little thing was startled into wonder by experiencing it.

"She is mine—oh, Lizzie, she is mine! I know it, I feel it, I see it," murmured Myra, pressing the infant to her bosom, and enfolding her there with a guardian care which she seemed resolved never to relinquish. "My darling—my Clara—my own, own child," she said again and again, raining fondest kisses on her lips, her cheeks, her hair.

The rest of those in the carriage were greatly moved at the spectacle; but they felt the importance of concealing it, and formed such a circle round Myra, who sat on a low seat, that the treatment she gave the child was witnessed by none else—not even by the girl who stood waiting to get her charge back again.

Harold saw that a crisis had come. Nothing, he perceived, would induce the mother to relinquish her recovered babe, now that she had her fairly in her arms. Yet to keep the child thus was to precipitate a scene which had better be deferred. He solved the difficulty so far by getting the whole company to alight and enter the inn.

His design was assisted by little Alfred, who showed such frantic delight at being near Clara as to suggest an excuse to the girl for "the lady" taking the child with them upstairs. He gave her a shilling, and told her to wait in the kitchen.

Well he knew, however, that the child should never receive the child into her keeping again.

Let us draw a veil over the sacred and holy scene enacted within the private chamber of that wayside inn. There are some spectacles which the imagination alone can realize in the pureness of their spirit and essence, and this is one of them. It was too touching even for the gentlemen to witness, and they gladly left Lizzie and Myra with the two children in the inner room, while they retired to another to consult as to their mode of further procedure.

In less than half an hour they emerged from their conference, and went forth to seek an interview with Malcolm Gillespie.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. MISS HOSKIN, Eramosa Township Council.

This Council met at the Centre Inn on the 17th inst. All the members present, the Reeve in the chair. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. $6 were ordered to be paid to Wm. Meade, and $3 to Robt. Dredge, for gravel taken from their pits; $10 to John Edwards for a culvert at lot 16,4th line; $12.60 Samuel Ridgeway, road-overseer, to be expended on his road division and $3 to John Mutrie for a tape line provided by him for township uses. Five dollars were ordered to be paid to Terence O'Boyle for conveying Wm. Duncan to Guelph General Hospital and for medicine for him from Dr. McCullough.

It was moved by Mr. Duffield, seconded by Mr. Horton, and carried, that this Council take no action in opening out the new road lying on the 3rd line referred to in a petition by Mr. McCarthy and others this year.

The Clerk was directed to notify Wm. Scarrow to give up possession of the side road lying between the west halves of lots 15 and 16 third concession on or before the first day of October next.

The Clerk was likewise directed to notify Hugh Nisbet to remove forthwith his cordwood off the road allowance lying between lot 26,3rd line; and John and David Barclay to remove their rails off the same road allowance between lots 27.

The Council was then constituted a Court of Revision. The assessment rolls were examined and the North division roll amended by charging to James McCullough and Stewart McCullough twenty-five acres each in place of 17 acres on the south half of the east half of lot 15 third concession, and James McCullough's assessment fixed at $2,840, and Stewart McCullough's assessment at $2,100. The rolls were confirmed and the Court adjourned.

The Council resumed and then adjourned to meet again at the Centre Inn on Monday, the 12th day of August next, at ten o'clock a.m.

J. A. DAVIDSON, T'p. Clerk.

Bond & Co to-day advertise lawn mowers, refrigerators, and other seasonable goods at prices that defy competition. They have a number of remnants of floor oil cloth which they will sell at great reduction (almost anything) to get rid of them.

NO HARD TIMES THERE.—One hears very little now-a-days but the cry hard times. Judging from the constant rush in business at the Lion, Messrs. J. D. Williamson & Co. never feel them. Their ruling principle is, make goods cheaper than any other store, and there is no trouble about selling them.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. Guelph, May 2nd, 1878. dwtf

An Impudent Lie.

Messrs. S. M. Pettengill & Co., of New York, have just issued a new edition of their Newspaper Directory for 1878. The list includes the newspapers published in Canada. As regards the circulation of papers the Publishers say—"The circulations reported are, in all cases, those given by the publishers themselves. The circulations which appear in full-face figures have been sworn to, and the affidavits are on file in the office of the Directory. Turning to the papers published in Guelph we find the Herald's circulation given in full-face figures—being sworn to on affidavit as follows:—Daily 986; weekly 3,560.

Now, we pronounce the above statement an impudent, unblushing and premeditated lie, and yet the returns according to Pettingill & Co,, are sworn to on affidavit.

We beg further to state that the Herald's bona fide circulation is far, far below those returns given to the Directory, and we know whereof we speak; but even such barefaced lying shall not tempt us to betray confidence and give particulars or state what we know when doing thankless favors for that office.

We challenge the Herald to make good its statement and affidavit or confess itself guilty of a gross deception. Even admitting for a moment that it was true, what a vast difference must there be between the circulations of the MERCURY and the Herald, as is proven by our own authentic post office returns. On the 11th April we published a return, which can be swcrn to if necessary, that the postage paid by all the papers published in this County from the 1st of January, 1877, to 30th September, of the same year was $413.38. Of this sum the MERCURY paid for that period for postage $194.41, being within $24.56 of THE HALF OF THE ENTIRE POSTAGE PAID BY THE WHOLE OF THE NEWSPAPERS PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF WELLINGTON—and there are ten of these including the Herald—besides the MERCURY. The postage is fixed by the weight of the papers taken to the post office, so that there is no chance of deception or erroneous returns. And we have no hesitation in saying that since that time—September 30th, 1877—the postage paid by the MERCURY has proportionately advanced, which is a sure test of the growing increase of its circulation. The Herald has a peculiar weakness for blowing its own trumpet, but this last stretcher throws Dr. Tupper's efforts completely in the shade.

EXPLOSION OF "HERALD" GAS.

The Herald, with its characteristic low cunning, dodges the question about its circulation. We want to nail it to the one point, on which we challenged it, and on which we are ready to stake $100, that the returns it gives of its circulation to S. M. Pettengill & Co., for their Directory, on affidavit, are untrue, and a gross fabrication. When it has disposed of this challenge, then we will deal with its buncombe wager. We were first in the field with our challenge, and we want to nail this lie to the counter.

STORMY SESSION OF CONGRESS.

The Withdrawal of Troops Discussed.

The Roumanian Minister Disgusted.

BERLIN, June 20.—The question of the withdrawal of the troops from Constantinople was discussed in Congress yesterday, but indefinitely postponed, owing to the want of unanimity among the representatives. Russia opposed the withdrawal of her troops unless Varna surrendered. The session was reported very stormy. Congress assembles on Friday. Brotaind, the Roumanian representative, shortly returns to Bucharest, disgusted.

LONDON, June 20.—The Russians have forcibly prevented Roumania from exchanging the remainder of Turkish prisoners.

Count Von Munster, the German Ambassador to England, has been recalled back to Berlin.

The St. Thomas Journal says:—The firm of Haggert & Cochrane in this town shipped on Friday fifty of their new reapers and mowers, and they are turning from the hands of the workmen at the rate of ten a day. Haggert & Cochrane don't complain of hard times.

One of those things which no fellow can understand is this: That when flour starts to go up, bakers' bread gives it twenty-four hours' start, and beats it easily next day; but when flour begins to go down, bread never learns of the fact until after the race is over. Moral: It is a wise oven that bakes its own bread.

Information from all parts of Nova Scotia tends to show that the crops of all kinds promise well. The hay crop particularly, it is anticipated, will be very heavy.

These commence to-morrow, when the annual sermon will be preached by Rev. Charles Walker, of Stratford, at 11 o'clock. There will be a public missionary meeting in the evening. A large number of ministerial and lay delegates are expected.

ERIN CHEESE FACTORY.—Mr. Thomas Blanchfield and his brother are making preparations for carrying on their proposed cheese factory on their property, lot 21, con. 7, Eramosa, and expect to have the building erected this fall and everything in readiness for next summer's business. They have received such encouragement and promise of support from the leading farmers of the vicinity that they are confident of success.

THE NEW BARBER'S SHOP.—Mr. Mimmack has fitted out his hair-cutting and shaving saloon, with all the appurtenances which are required in that line of business, and has already commenced operations. He will be glad to have a call from all his old friends, and as many new customers as may favor him with a visit. His stand is situated in the new Wellington Hotel Block, and is quite as convenient and comfortable as any shop in town. The services of a first-class barber have been secured from Chicago.

It is expected the hall will be ready by the end of July. The tenders for the alterations of the stores have been let to Steven & Son, carpentering; Peter Martin, plastering; James Hicks, bricklaying; John Moffat, painting and glazing; Geo. Feek, gasfitting.

H. Myers; Liberal and Whigs, by Hon. CORPUS CHRISTI.—To-day (Thursday) is the Corpus Christi festival—the most splendid of those celebrated by the Roman Catholic Church—and was duly solemnized in Montreal and elsewhere in eastern Canada as the Fete Dieu. There was a grand procession, and the other impressive features characteristic of the day, which was instituted in 1264 by Pope Urban IV., in honor of the consecrated Host, and with a view to its adoration. The festival will be specially observed in Guelph next Sunday.

Meeting of East Grey Tories.

A Complete Fizzle.

(By Telegraph by Dominion Line from our Correspondent.)

SHELBURNE, June 18th.—A Conservative mass meeting was held at Shelburne today. Dr. Norton acted as chairman. The speakers were D. Barr, M.P.P., W. H. Hunter, of Orangeville; Mr. Lauder, M.P.P., and Mr. Drew, of Elora; Dr. Spoule, of Markdale; and James Allan, of Orangeville. It was expected that there would have been at least 2,000 people present, but only two hundred, including ladies and boys, put in an appearance.

The band went to the station to meet the expected crowd, but only five "all told" got off at Shelburne, and the band was so disgusted that they left the station with instruments muffled up under their left arms.

The supper which should have taken place at eight o'clock, was delayed until 9:30 o'clock, and the boys were sent around town to drum up a respectable crowd to make an appearance. Tickets were advertised at one dollar each, but came down to fifty cents, and when they could not be sold at that they were given away. About seventy sat down all told.

United States Fishermen.

The Fort William Day Book says that an American citizen has arrived at Black Bay, Lake Superior, with his fishing vessel and a fleet of nets to carry on operations there, after having visited Washington and made arrangements to get his fish into the United States markets free of Customs duties. If this be so, the Government ought to look after him. We saw a few days ago complaints in a Nova Scotia paper that the Americans are ruining the lobster fisheries there. These things are contrary to the Washington Treaty, and should be stopped without hesitation. Had the United States Government behaved with common decency about the Halifax Commission, we are sure that Canadians would have felt disposed to deal liberally with their fishermen in every respect, even beyond treaty stipulations. But the disgraceful course pursued, while it merits the contempt of every honest nation, justifies us in rigidly enforcing our fishery laws and refusing United States citizens any indulgence whatever. Let the public officials be instructed to seize and confiscate every American fishing vessel, boats and nets illegally employed in Canadian waters. We hear that a steam tug from Ogdensburg makes regular trips, equipped with gangs of gill net, which are usually set during the night, to the Canadian fishing grounds among the Thousand Islands. Several seines have been already seized by Fishery Overseer Mooney, and with a little increased vigilance no doubt the steamers, boats and other nets could be captured.—Ottawa Free Press.

The Ball and Bat.

Items of Interest on the Diamond.

The Actives of Woodstock have entered for the Canadian championship.

On Wednesday the Tecumsehs defeated the Atlantics by a score of 11 to 3.

The following games were played on Wednesday: Lowells 5, Cincinnatis 4; Manchesters 3, Sprinfields 0; Hartford 4, Yale 3; Haymakers 16, Slottsville 1; Hornells 4, Pittsfield 1; Indianapolis 3, Providence 9.

THE annual pic-nic given for the benefit of St. Joseph's Hospital is being held in the Agricultural Park to day. There is a large attendance, including quite a number of visitors from the neighboring towns and villages.

POLICE COURT.—John Gore owns nineteen geese, and it is alleged he pastures them on the highway. There was no witnesses to prove such was the case, and the case was dismissed. A like charge was laid against Felix Devlin, but the case was dismissed for want of evidence.

THE attention of manufacturers and shippers is directed to the necessity of marking their products, not only with the name of the maker and the Provincial abbreviation, "Ont.," but also with the word Canada. Very few people in foreign countries know what "Ont." stands for, while all the world recognize the word "Canada." Complaints have been made of difficulties experienced at Paris in consequence of the neglect of exhibitors to add the name of the country, as well as the province, to articles on exhibition.

PREPARING FOR CAMP.—The citizen soldiers are now ready to put in their annual drill. The Battery will muster this evening for inspection, and to-morrow will put in their first day's drill in Guelph. The Left Division from Morriston will reach Guelph to-morrow, and will drill with the Right Division. To-morrow evening the Rifles, Lieut. Spiers commanding, will muster in heavy marching order with kits complete. Every man is to be in his place. On Saturday morning the Battery and Rifles will commence their march to Kinnettles as early as possible. It is thought about four o'clock. Gun-fire is to take place at three o'clock. On Wednesday evening there was a muster of the Ontario Field Battery—College students—Capt. McCrae commanding. If the Saturday's march commences as early as four o'clock, it is possible that Lieut. Speirs will provide shake-downs in the drill shed for his company.

F. G. WIDDOWS, ex-Monk, proposes shaking the dust of this country off his his feet. He intends trying his luck in Europe.

A Canadian furniture manufacturer at the Paris Exhibition, set out a lot of windsor chairs and rockers in his section, and they were constantly filled with visitors admiring the Dominion show while they rested. The manufacturer has already sold every one of them to European purchasers.

News Items.

ROBBER SHOT.—Detectives Phair, Crawford, and Heenan, of London, in attempting to arrest the toll gate robbers, Wright and Ley, at Harmony, a few days ago, had a desperate encounter, both the officers and robbers being armed. For self-preservation Detective Crawford shot Ley dead. At the inquest held the jury absolved the officers from all blame.

DOMINION DAY IN ERIN VILLAGE.—The inhabitants of this important section of the county will celebrate the day by games and horse races. A splendid programme has been prepared, and one of the chief features of the day's proceedings will be an interesting lacrosse match between the Guelph and Orangeville teams. The Committee under whose exertions subscriptions have been raised for the purpose of celebrating the day in a befitting manner, will, we have no doubt make the day enjoyable to all classes who may visit the village on this occasion.

LABOUR TROUBLES IN MONTREAL.—On Wednesday morning the discharged labourers re-assembled on the Champ de Mars. Two well known men, Solomon Masurette, tailor, and George Dumesnil, notary public, began to indulge in some spirited conversation, and were soon surrounded by an applauding crowd. After they had harangued for some minutes, hurling opprobrious epithets on the Corporation officials in general and the assessors in particular, Detective Lafon, accompanied by Sergeant Richardson and a posse of police, arrested them, and marched them off to the Central Station. The police then returned and dispersed the crowd which had by this time greatly increased.

TERRIBLE ENCOUNTER WITH A RAM.—On the 14th inst. a lady who is visiting at Mr. T. S. Henderson's residence in Rockton, took a stroll in the fields near the house. In her walk she encountered an enraged ram, the angry animal rushing at her with terrible force, hurling her to the ground and breaking her shoulder. While crawling along the ground towards home the ram repeatedly dashed at her, knocking her over and over again, breaking several of her ribs. She was too weak to cry out, and was obliged to lie on the ground. MRS. Henderson, thinking she was a long time away, went out to look for her, and found her in the state mentioned above. Help was called and the unfortunate woman carried into the house. Medical assistance was promptly called in, and we are glad to state that the lady is now doing well.

THE HANLAN-MORRIS RACE.—The excitement in Pittsburg over the boat race which will be rowed to-day is intense. The pool rooms are thronged with buyers and spectators, the crowd in many instances extending out across the sidewalk and seriously incommodating passersby. Mr. Reeves, of Toronto, was doing a pretty heavy business yesterday, but the odds are still much too strong on Hanlan to suit the majority of the Canadians present, and many are holding back in the hope of getting better terms to-day. Mr. Malony, of Toronto, put up $1,000 against $800 last night, privately, but he happened to be exceptionally fortunate. Mr. Reeves laid $1,000 against $750 four time, privately, last night. Mr. Winsfield, of Toronto, also put up $1,000 against $750 once last night. Besides these there were numerous smaller private bets made at the same odds. Mr. Reeves sold about $5,000 worth of pools last night at $100 to $70 and $100 to $75.

DEDICATION OF THE R. C. CHURCH AT MACTON.—On Sunday last the corner stone of this church was blessed, and laid by Bishop Crinnon, of Hamilton, in the presence of a large attendance of people, including the officiating priest, and several of the parishoners. Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Father Owens in the morning, and in the evening vespers was sung by the Bishop. The rev. prelate confirmed about forty young people, at the same time giving them instructions before and after the ceremony. After the services of the church were over a subscription list was opened and a handsome sum realized. The church will be of brick 80 by 40 feet, gothic architecture, with tower and spire, about 150 feet high. The total cost will be about $9,000, and the work is expected to be completed by October 15th. Mr. Jas. Conolly, of Toronto is the architect.

LITTLE TORONTO.—A correspondent says that the crops in East Luther are very promising; that a large breadth has been sown this spring, and that should nothing of an unusual character occur the yield of all sorts of cereals will be large. The hay crop is an assured one. Farmers are beginning to pay considerable attention to stock-raising and grazing. No better section can be found anywhere for such profitable pursuits.——The new grist mill in the village will be in full operation shortly, and prove of immense advantage to the farming community of the locality. The Messrs. Marshall are practical men, possess abundance of means; the entire machinery is first-class, of the most approved pattern, and will doubtless turn out a superior article of flour.——The village is destined to become one of considerable importance, and already many important enterprises are represented amongst its manufacturies.——Large choppings were made in the neighborhood last winter. Extensive clearances, large bank barns, and comfortable homes now greets the eye, where, but a few years since, nothing was to be seen but a dense swamp—the rendezvous of the wolf and the bear. Farming land is in great demand at a high figure by settlers coming in from the older portions of the Province. In a few years Luther will be the banner township in the banner County of Wellington.——Messrs. Higinbotham & McLagan have improved their farms by erecting on one a fine new frame barn, which is now being completed. On another they have erected a comfortable dwelling—the best on the line. Others are also making improvements.

General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church.

June 17.

The discussion on the overtures on hymnology was resumed by Dr. Robb, who is opposed to the use of hymns. Rev. Mr. McDonnell spoke well in favor of their use. At the afternoon meeting the debate was resumed, when the motion of the Rev, Mr. Laing in favor of taking immediate action in the matter was passed by a very large majority.

Rev. Dr. Robb, in the name of himself and all who should adhere to him, entered a dissent from the vote, on the ground "That it is unconstitutional to act upon a principal that had not been adopted by the Church."

The Rev. Mr. Ross, of Rothsay, Scotland, the delegate from the Colonial Committee of the Free Church of Scotland, then addressed the Assembly, and a resolution of welcome was passed.

The Foreign Mission report was then read, giving details of the work in the different mission fields in New Hebrides, in the North-west Territory, in China and Central India. In the part of the report relating to the finances of the Committee, it is stated that the balance on hand from last year was $474.66. The amount received during the year was $21,646, the total expenditure $22,654, leaving a debt of $1,008.

June 17.

At the afternoon sitting Rev. Dr. Cochrane, President of the Brantford Young Ladies' College, gave in the annual report of the progress of that institution for the year ending June 25th, 1878. It was very favourable.

Rev. Mr. Torrance spoke in high terms of the manner in which the institution was conducted, and of its usefulness to the Church, and moved the reception of the report, which was carried.

An application was read from certain members of the Presbyteries of Huron and Bruce respectively for the erection of a new Presbytery along the Wellington, Grey and Bruce Railway, (Southern Extension) to be called the Presbytery of Maitland.

Rev. Dr. Reid moved that the application lie on the table until the next Assembly; and that the Presbyteries interested be requested to send extracts from their minutes, and representatives.—Carried.

An overture was read from the Presbytery of Manitoba, asking that the missionaries of the North-west be instructed to select young Indians who might be trained as catechists and otherwise in order to aid in the mission work among the Indians. It was adopted.

The debate on the Foreign Mission report was resumed.

At the evening sitting Rev. Principal McVicar read the report of the Board of French Evangelization, which gave gratifying evidence of the work in Quebec.

June 18.

The discussion on the Foreign Mission report was resumed.

Rev. Mr. Moodie moved the amendment of which he gave notice, remarking that his objection was to have justice done to Dr. Fraser. There seemed to be a singular, and to him most unaccountable, silence with regard to his labors in both the foreign and home mission fields. It was simply stated that owing to the death of his wife he was obliged to come home from Formosa. After some discussion it was carried.

Rev. John McEwen, (Ingersoll) presented the report of the Committee on Sabbath Schools.

June 18.

Dr. Topp read the report of the Board of Management of Knox College; Principal Grant read the report of Queen's College, and Mr. Morris read the report of the Montreal College. The reports of the College in Halifax and the College in Manitoba were also read.

QUEEN'S COLLEGE ENDOWMENT.—A large and enthusiastic meeting of the graduates and friends of Queen's University was held in the Central Church, Hamilton, on Tuesday morning. Principal Grant, who occupied the chair, reported the very gratifying and encouraging fact that one-half of the total proposed endowment had already been secured, the city of Kingston having subscribed $40,000 for the erection of new buildings, and ten or eleven gentlemen outside of Kingston having contributed $35,000 towards the more efficient equipment of the Faculty of Arts. A motion was passed pledging those present to co-operate with Principal Grant in raising as much as they could for the fund of $100,000 which it is proposed shall form the endowment.

REBUILDING OF ST. JOHN.—The St. John, N. B. Globe publishes a list of buildings erected or being erected in the burnt district since the great fire of June 20, 1877, showing a total of 325 brick and stone buildings, valued at $3,456,200, and 536 wooden buildings, valued at $739,932. The Relief Society received during the year $372,402, of which $204,804 has been expended on the destitute. Besides this, $50,000 sent from England has been distributed, and it is computed that other contributions of money and goods increase the amount of the expenditure for relief to half a million dollars. There is still much destitution, however, and the balance on hand is being husbanded for the coming winter.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. A tramp recently received a severe castigation from Mr. J. R. Wissler, for having frightened Mrs. Wissler by threats while alone in her house.

Rev. Dr. John Hall says four perils threaten our young men now-a-days:—shallowness, a mistaken conception of what constitutes success, a certain unsettledness in life, and the danger that comes from being surrounded by enervating influences. He also says there are four perils threatening the community,—a defective public spirit, a weak commercial science, an aggerated idea of personal freedon, and the feebleness of religious life among us.

The Grangers' Excursion to Guelph.

(From the London Advertiser.)

Probably there never was a more agreeable "outing" in Ontario than Monday's excursion of Elgin and Middlesex Grangers to the Model Farm and Agricultural College at Guelph. The weather was fine and cool; the trip safely made and in good time; the excursionists intelligent and respectable; nothing could have been more cordial and off-hand than the reception tendered the visitors by the authorities of the Farm and College; while all returned home pleased with what they had seen and heard. The farmers having listened to a great deal of talk about the College and Farm—often from persons who did not know barley from wheat, or a Devon from a Galloway—determined to see and judge for themselves. The result is that the institution has risen one hundred per cent at a bound in public estimation from Monday's visit. The Principal, Mr. Johnston, made a favorable impression. His speech was able and thoughtful, and worthy of reproduction in full in sheet or pamphlet form. The College, the Farm, the Experimental Field, the stable and buildings, the live stock—everything was found in apple-pie order and good condition. It is true, as Mr. Johnston said, it will necessarily take two or three years yet to make the term, a "Model Farm" fully appropriate; but even as it stands to-day it is a magnificent place—showing evidences of skill and taste beautiful with verdure, and affording glorious views of hill and dale in every direction. A better place than the neighborhood of Guelph could not have been selected as a site for the institution.

One advantage of the Model Farm, apart from Educational considerations, seems to strike the practical farmer, namely, the opportunity of obtaining good strains of stock at reasonable prices—the Government of a Province having no interest in going into stock gambling or fancy speculations.

We were disappointed on Monday in one thing. There should have been an Ontario Minister of the Crown present to meet the visitors and show an official interest in so important an occasion and institution. We hope the neglect of the past in this respect will be more than made up by the interest shown in the future.

Other excursions to the Model Farm and Agricultural College during the present season have been mooted; and it has been suggested that a mammoth excursion of Ontario Grangers from all directions might be organized for June of next year. These ideas lead the right way. Monday's example is a wise one to follow. There is nothing like seeing and judging for one's self.

Mr. Mowat, of the Galt Reformer, paid a visit to the College one day last week, and thus writes of it:—

In regard to the management of the Farm we can only say that it is most excellent. Evidences of economy and enterprise abound on every hand, and the effect of this can only be wholesome on the student. Boys here are not trained up in idleness or luxury; the aim is apparently steadily pursued, as we took the pains to quietly ascertain, of imparting a special education such as will elevate our farming population and improve the methods of agriculture, and at the same time give the students habits of industry and economy. Here university graduates and sons of our wealthiest citizens, as well as boys trained all their lives to hard-handed toil, are dressed as farm laborers, and spend many hours of the day in the various labors of ordinary farm work. Our farmers need not fear that a training at the Ontario School of Agriculture will render their sons less fitted and less inclined to the hard labor and economy necessary to the highest success in practical farming. On the contrary, they have good ground to hope that their sons will enter into farming with a zeal which otherwise would not be exhibited. At present about 75 students attend the College, 60 per cent. of them farmers' sons, and the remainder intending farmers. Of the operations of the school, we did not see anything; but from many little indications observable, as well as from the acknowledged ability and character of Dr. Johnston and his assistants, we are satisfied that the mental and moral interests of the students receive careful and judicious attention. The farmers of Ontario have reason to feel proud of this institution, which they may claim as peculiarly their own.

The Emperor of Germany is progressing favourably.

The schooner Eothen, for the Arctic Ocean, in search of Sir John Franklin's relics, has sailed.

The cotton mills throughout Lancashire re-opened on Wednesday. The majority of the weavers resumed work, but the spinners refused.

Le Moniteur asserts that the Khedive of Egypt recently proposed to abdicate, leaving the management of his affairs to England if the civil list and his son's succession were assured. The offer was declined and the Khedive repeated it.

Australian advices state that a large number of unemployed workingmen at Melbourne have been promised temporary employment on public works.

According to the statement prepared for presentation to the Governor-in-Council of Ontario, in response to the appeal for a Royal Commission to investigate the affairs of the city, the debenture debt of Ottawa is shown to be $3,187,309, about $90 per head of the population.

It is stated that the Local Government has already taken away from Messrs. Cimon & Pilon the contract for the construction of the Parliamentary buildings, and that new tenders for the completion of the work are to be advertised for. The news is received with gratification by the working classes, who before the strike were paid but fifty cents a day by Mr. Cimon.

A London correspondent writes that fancy dress balls have become a popular institution in England now, and that women of all ages have been clamoring for invitations to these gatherings. The concoction of the fancy dress has become a welcome phase of excitement in many homes; but the last craze in the matter of fancy dress costume has brought about many hot words and quarrels in hitherto peaceful households. The most fashionable covering that a lady can now wear on these occasions is that patronized by the Highlanders. The Highlander kilt has been worn with great success, it is said, by several ladies of distinction. One of these ladies appealed to a friend whether he thought it wrong to put on the Highland costume, and the friend answered that the importance was not in what she put on, but in what she took off.

Canadian Railways.

From the Railway statistics of Canada recently submitted by Mr. C. J. Brydges, Superintendent of Government Railways, we learn that the total mileage in the Dominion in 1876-77 was 5,846, a net increase over the year previous of 418 miles. The total capital raised by the railways in operation up to June 30, 1877, was $326,328,976.18, of which $65,848,599.61 was in the shape of Government and local bonuses, the balance being ordinary and preference share capital and bonded debt. The number of miles laid with steel rails was 2,765¼; iron rails, 27,818¼, and wooden rails, 25¼. The number of engines was 995; 497 first-class, 294 second-class, 241 baggage, and 21,689 freight cars of all kinds. The number of passengers carried was 6,073,233, an increase of 528,419 over last year; and of freight, 6,331,757 tons, an increase of 528,089 tons. The Grand Trunk carried nearly half of all the passengers and freight. The traffic earnings of all the roads amounted to $18,742,053.48, a decrease from the previous year of $616,080.68. The expense of working was $15,290,091.48, leaving a profit of $3,451,962. The percentage of expenses to earnings was 81.59 per cent. in 1876-77 against 81.63 per cent. in 1875-6. The total number of passengers killed was 5, injured 15, the killed being 1 in every 1,214,646 carried, and the injured 1 in every 337,402. Railway travelling may thus be considered a very safe method of locomotion.

THE Conference Committee of the U. S. Senate on the Sunday Civil Bill, reached a complete agreement at eight o'clock this evening. The Bill as agreed upon contains a provision for the payment of the Fishery Award.

IT is now becoming apparent that the game of the Opposition leader in the Quebec Legislature is to obstruct and delay the business of that country, and to make of a preconceived fifteen days' session a full thirty days' meeting, which will entitle members, and his followers in particular, to their complete sessional indemnity of $500 or $600, as the case may be.

ADVICES from all parts of the Dominion show that this season's fishing will be an extraordinary one. The salmon and lobster packers are doing a big business. At a single salmon canning and freezing establishment in Dalhousie, no less than seven hundred salmon were received in one day; the owner being compelled to refuse a great many more for want of room.

SENATOR MACPHERSON will soon be on the war path in Bruce. He is ostensibly to visit his old constituents in the Saugeen District but in reality he has a little job of political work to do in the way of assisting the Tory candidates in the County of Bruce. He intends to speak at Walkerton, Port Elgin, Tiverton, Paisley, and other places. His hearers will no doubt get a rehash of his pamphlet, and he will also attempt to reply to Mr. Brown's masterly speech delivered in the Senate last session.

MAYOR BEAUDRY told a Gazette reporter proper steps would be taken to preserve peace on July 12th next in Montreal, and it was expected that the Party Procession Act would soon be passed. In any event he, backed by the City Council, will take the necessary precautions. A deputation of Orangeman endeavored to interview His Worship on Tuesday, but he could not be found. They accordingly sent an application for protection to the City Council, with the request that it should be immediately considered.

THE Stratford Herald, edited by Mr. James Fahey, thus speaks about the denunciation of the Irish Canadian by the Rev. Mr. Hamel in the Catholic Church here, last Sunday:—"The Guelph Catholic clergy have denounced the Irish Canadian for its criticisms of the Toronto Separate Schools, and goodness knows they needed criticism badly. The Separate School system of Toronto as at present administered is a broad farce—a burlesque upon educational institutions, and yet because a paper has the independence to intimate something of this sort, it is anathematised! The Globe is fond of painting Archbishop Lynch as "Liberal," in pleasing contrast to the "Tory" Bishop of Quebec, but anything more high-handed than this we have never heard of, even from Quebec, where newspapers are seldom banned upon so little provocation. Will the Globe now come to the rescue of the press? No; the I. C. is not Gritty and the Archbishop is; but there are thousands of Catholics who regard the Archbishop's secular policy with anything but respect, and a few who are not afraid to tell him so, when occasion offers. We do not endorse Mr. Boyle's whole course, but we do say that he has a right to his opinions, and that those united assaults upon him by the Government and the Archbishop smacks strongly of conspiracy to persecute.

Mr. and Mrs. Mackenzie celebrated the first quarter of a century of their married life on Tuesday, with a dinner to a few of their intimate friends, who congratulated them very cordially on their wedding of silver, and hoped they might live, with the same good wishes which now attended them from all, to pass equally the happy day of their golden wedding.

Never be ashamed of confessing your ignorance, for the wisest man upon earth is ignorant of many things, insomuch that what he knows is a mere nothing in comparison to what he does not know. But we apprehend very few are ignorant of the wonderful effects of the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," its a most sure and rapid cure for colds, rheumatism, pleurisy, colic, cholera morbus, and all summer complaints. THE EASTERN QUESTION.

THE CONGRESS AT WORK.

LONDON, June 19.

A London despatch says the Berlin Congress will last many weeks. It is expected Bulgaria will be the subject of consideration to-day.

The North German Gazette says:—When the Bulgarian question is settled the proposed retrocession of Bessarabia will probably form the subject of a searching consideration. Russia will not recognize Roumania's right to appeal to the Treaty of Paris, as Roumania was not a party thereto. Roumania must consider whether she had better yield to the wishes of Russia, or retain Bessarabia and be constantly opposed to the claims of her powerful neighbors, from which Bessarabia was certainly once wrested.

The accounts of yesterday's sitting of the Congress are exceedingly conflicting. Private negotiations on the Bulgarian question continue. There seems to be considerable difference thereon.

A Constantinople despatch says:—The British fleet has arrived at Prinkipos, one of the Prince's Island's.

The Fremdenblatt says that Andrassy still insists that the Russian occupation of Bulgaria shall cease on the conclusion of a definite peace.

A Berlin despatch to Vienna says the continuance of the understanding between England and Austria may be regarded as certain.

A Berlin correspondent of the Manchester Guardian telegraphs that he is authorised to contradict the report that the Turkish plenipotentiaries were instructed to withdraw from the Congress, and declare Turkey preferred to abide by the Treaty of San Stefano, if the Congress voted to grant anatomy to Epirus, Thessaly, Bosnia, and the Hezegovina.

Klernar's cable despatch state there is much excitement at Constantinople owing to the suspicious movements of the Russians.

Two correspondents at Berlin state that the admission of Greece, though not seriously opposed, is not yet decided upon. A decision is probable at the next meeting of Congress.

Hespeler Items.

LECTURE BY A LADY.—On the evening of Monday the 16th inst., a lecture was delivered in the Evangelist Church, of this village, by Mrs. Skelton, already notorious as an authoress and lecturer. The subject of her discourse was "Our boys and girls," and was handled in a most effective style, showing forth the frivolities and vanities that many boys and girls "of the period" are unfortunately addicted to, and the consequent evils which eventually follow. The church was crowded to its utmost capacity, and the lecture of this accomplished lady has left an impression on the people of Hespeler that we hope will not soon be forgotten.

THE HESPELER BRASS BAND.—The members of the Hespeler brass band have recently equipped themselves with a handsome uniform. The leader, Mr. Limpert, is a No. 1 musician, and we have much pleasure in stating that the citizens of Hespeler congratulate themselves on having in their midst a musical staff of such a high order. We believe that the services of those gentlemen have just been secured by the people of Guelph for the celebration of Dominion Day, and we feel assured that in going there they will give a good account of themselves.

STATE OF BUSINESS IN THE VILLAGE.—Notwithstanding the dullness, which, in commercial circles, has, and is still pervading the country, our village here seems to hold its own, and fortunately, the gloom of bankruptcy has fallen on none of our establishments as yet, nor is it likely to, so far as we are aware.

CROPS IN THE VICINITY.—The hay crop is for the most part likely to be very good. The fall wheat crop has at present a most promising aspect; the spring crops, though still looking well, begin to show the want of rain.

Harriston Correspondence.

The excursion to Toronto from this place last week was well patronized. We believe it is the intention of the directors of the T. G. and Bruce road to continue these trips monthly during the season. It is a long ride for the astonishing low fare of $1, but if they want to make them a success they will have to keep better time, landing people home at two o'clock in the morning is no joke.

Mr. S. A. Heffernan, late of Guelph, has opened out a large stock of dry goods in one of the stores of Kent's block, opposite the market, and if printer's ink or bill sticker's paste will do business, Heffernan has it, and no doubt will receive a fair share of the patronage of the people.

A number of the members of Harriston Lodge A. F. and A. M. paid a visit last Thursday evening to the brethern of Fordwich Lodge, on the occasion of their election of officers. A pleasant evening was spent, and before leaving the Fordwich brethren entertained their visitors to refreshments in the way of good coffee and lots of eatables of A 1 quality.

A disease better known as the epizootic is very prevalent among horses in this section at present, in some cases proving fatal.

The spire of Knox Church has just been put up, and it gives the building quite a handsome appearance, and can be seen almost at every point of the village.

The Orangemen of this district have decided to celebrated the Battle of the Boyne in Harriston this year on the 12th of July, and already preparations are going on for the reception of the visiting lodges.

Two petition, have been fyled with the Clerk of the Municipality of Minto, asking the Council to submit by-laws for $15,000 and $30,000 respectively, which they will consider at their first meeting. Railway matters have cooled down considerably, but if you want to see a Minto farmer get right up on his ear, just say $30,000, then take warning and run. So strong is the opposition to the bonus in certain sections of the township.

Harold the Outlaw
—OR—
The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

SCENES IN A BARN.

When a fire breaks out, and a man is burned out of house and home, he at once becomes an object of general sympathy. The gauger's case would have been no exception to the outflow of this social feeling had not a vague, undefined, but positive idea arisen that the fire by which he was now suffering was no ordinary or accidental fire. There were certain features about it which engendered in the minds of the neighbors a suspicion that its cause had not been unintentional. The landlord of Broadcastle Inn had in his conversation with the occupants of the carriage mentioned the facts on which the suspicion was based, but he had been careful not to go further. The crime of fire-raising is so serious that people shrink from insinuating it. Nevertheless, it was true that the neighbors were giving expression to ominous whispers among themselves, and there were significant looks and dubious headshakings, which went further than words to indicate their thoughts. But as there was no known object for which such a deed could have been committed, they were slow to a definite conclusion, and as it was just possible that the thing had been a revengeful act perpetrated by smugglers whom the gauger had brought to punishment, they were the more inclined to give no open expression to the ugly notion which they had begun to entertain. Still further, Gillespie was from home when the fire occurred, and it was thus certain that he could not have been the actual incendiary. If incendiarism had been practised, the culprits might have been the wild, free-living persons which, rumor said, the gauger had of late introduced into his household.

Harold and his companions were, of course, entirely ignorant that any suspicion of foul work was entertained, and when they left the inn to see an interview with Gillespie it was in the belief that he had met with a misfortune so great as to excite their sympathy and commiseration.

With these feelings in their bosom they approached the blackened fragments of his late residence, and mournfully surveyed the havoc the fire had caused. Nothing remained but the bare walls, and even these were in several places broken down. The doors, the windows, and the roof were gone; the fittings and furnishings of the interior were reduced to a heap of ashes, which lay on what had been the floors of the lower rooms.

The place where the gauger had found refuge for his houseless people was a barn at the west end of his now reduced habitation. By great exertion this outhouse had been saved from the general wreck, and though, from the nature of its construction, it formed but a comfortless abode, it afforded a welcome shelter in the untoward circumstances.

To this building Harold Logan and Walter Adamson now made their way, and they went alone—the others remaining at a little distance outside in the meantime. This was according to the arrangement they had previously made. Myra having got the child into her possession, it was settled among them that under no circumstances would she relinquish it. Indeed, they well knew that any proposal made to her to part with it even for an hour would be resisted with all the desperation of a mother's love. She would sooner part with her own life than allow her recovered babe to pass out of her hands. This being so, there was less necessity for Dixon and Nip to appear immediately in Gillespie's presence, and as Harold had his own important matters to discuss with the gauger, it was agreed that he and the lawyer should visit him first, and that when these matters had received due consideration, a signal should be made to Dixon and Nip to come upon the scene.

At the low but distinct knock which Harold gave on the rough and partially charred door of the barn, a bold-faced, though rather handsome featured woman made her appearance, and eyed them with a keen, startled, suspicious look, which had more alarm in it than they could understand.

Bond & Co to-day advertise lawn mowers, refrigerators, and other seasonable goods at prices that defy competition. They have a number of remnants of floor oil cloth which they will sell at great reduction (almost anything) to get rid of them.

NO HARD TIMES THERE.—One hears very little now-a-days but the cry hard times. Judging from the constant rush in business at the Lion, Messrs. J.D. Williamson & Co. never feel them. Their ruling principle is, make goods cheaper than any other store, and there is no trouble about selling them.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. A LECTURE TO YOUNG MEN

Just published, in a sealed Envelope. Price six cents.

A lecture on the Nature, Treatment, and Radical cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, induced by Self-Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-Abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

☞ This lecture will prove a boon to thousands and thousands.

Sent, under seal, in a plain envelope, to any address, on receipt of six cents, or two postage stamps.

BOOTS & SHOES

A pious elder of the Scottish Kirk, on his way to service on a Sunday morning, saw a little girl and boy playing marbles. He wrathfully inquired, "Boy, do you know where children go to who play marbles on Sunday?" "Ay, ay," answered the boy, "they gang doun to the field by the brig" (bridge) "No," roared the elder, "go to hell and are burned." An Impudent Lie.

Messrs. S. M. Pettengill & Co., of New York, have just issued a new edition of their Newspaper Directory for 1878. The list includes the newspapers published in Canada. As regards the circulation of papers the Publishers say:—"The circulations reported are, in all cases, those given by the publishers themselves. The circulations which appear in full-face figures have been sworn to, and the affidavits are on file in the office of the Directory. Turning to the papers published in Guelph we find the Herald's circulation given in full-face figures—being sworn to on affidavit as follows:—Daily 986; weekly 3,560.

Now, we pronounce the above statement an impudent, unblushing and premeditated lie, and yet the returns according to Pettingill & Co., are sworn to on affidavit.

We beg further to state that the Herald's bona fide circulation is far, far below those returns given to the Directory, and we know whereof we speak; but even such barefaced lying shall not tempt us to betray confidence and give particulars or state what we know when doing thankless favors for that office.

We challenge the Herald to make good its statement and affidavit or confess itself guilty of a gross deception. Even admitting for a moment that it was true, what a vast difference must there be between the circulations of the MERCURY and the Herald, as is proven by our own authentic post office returns. On the 11th April we published a return, which can be sworn to if necessary, that the postage paid by all the papers published in this County from the 1st of January, 1877, to 30th September, of the same year was $413.38. Of this sum the MERCURY paid for that period for postage $194.41, being within $24.56 of THE HALF OF THE ENTIRE POSTAGE PAID BY THE WHOLE OF THE NEWSPAPERS PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF WELLINGTON—and there are ten of these including the Herald—besides the MERCURY. The postage is fixed by the weight of the papers taken to the post office, so that there is no chance of deception or erroneous returns. And we have no hesitation in saying that since that time—September 30th, 1877—the postage paid by the MERCURY has proportionately advanced, which is a sure test of the growing increase of its circulation. The Herald has a peculiar weakness for blowing its own trumpet, but this last stretcher throws Dr. Tupper's efforts completely in the shade.

EXPLOSION OF "HERALD" GAS.

The Herald, with its characteristic low cunning, dodges the question about its circulation. We want to nail it to the one point, on which we challenged it, and on which we are ready to stake $100, that the returns it gives of its circulation to S. M. Pettengill & Co., for their Directory, on affidavit, are untrue, and a gross fabrication. When it has disposed of this challenge, then we will deal with its buncombe wager. We were first in the field with our challenge, and we want to nail this lie to the counter.

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

RUSSIANS CONCENTRATING AT SAN STEFANO, SHUMLA, AND VARNA.

An Uneasy Feeling in Berlin About the Congress.

LONDON, June 21.—Despatch from Constantinople says 15,000 Russians arrived at San Stefano from Odessa. The Russians are also concentrating around the fortresses of Shumla and Varna.

A despatch from Berlin says much uneasiness is felt there over the probable result of the Congress.

Russia Takes a Decided Stand.

LONDON, June 21.

A despatch from Berlin says that Count Schouvaloff has informed the Congress that Russia is determined to take a stand on the Anglo-Russian agreement, and will not treat on any other basis or make further concessions.

East Ward Election.

The nomination of candidates for the East Ward, in room of Mr. F. J. Chubb, resigned, took place to-day, in the Town Hall, Mr. Thomas Sayers acting as Returning Officer.

Mr. M. J. Doran, seconded by Mr. Wm. Hart, proposed Mr. Alexander Dunbar.

Mr. John Horsman proposed Mr. Edward O'Connor, but there was no seconder.

Mr. Robert Mitchell, seconded by Mr. C. Woodburn, proposed Mr. Denis Coffee.

These were all the nominations, and at one o'clock the Returning Officer read them over, and intimated that a poll would be opened in the Ward on Friday, the 28th, to open at 9 a.m., and close at 5 p.m.

Mr. O'Connor desires us to state that his nomination was made without his knowledge or consent, and that he would, under no consideration, be a candidate.

Liver is King.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want.

Australian advices state that a large number of unemployed workingmen at Melbourne have been promised temporary employment on public works.

Local News.

G. GOULDING announces to-day (Friday) a slaughtering sale of dry goods. See the adv't.

MR. THOS. WOODYATT, Master of the Oddfellow's Grand Lodge of Canada was in town yesterday.

THROWN.—Staff Sergt. Grenside mounted a frisky horse at the gun shed this morning and was beautifully relieved of his seat. He was not injured by being thrown.

REV. MR. DOUDIET was escorted from the Grand Trunk Station on his arrival last evening by members of the Guelph Lodges of Orangemen, Orange Young Britons, True Blues and 'Prentice Boys, headed by a fife and drum band.

FURNITURE BUSINESS.—Messrs. Burr & Skinner have greatly increased their already large furniture business by purchasing the stock and trade of Mr. Jas. Hazelton. The firm will keep both stores open, and are prepared to offer special inducements to purchasers.

SUICIDE IN MOUNT FOREST.—Wm Lovelock, an old man about sixty-five years of age, committed suicide on Wednesday night by hanging himself by a rope attached to a joist in the house. An inquest was held, and a verdict returned of "Suicide by hanging while laboring under a fit of melancholy or temporary insanity."

THE SOCIAL given in the Norfolk Street Methodist Church last evening was well attended and a really excellent programme was gone through with. Refreshments were served during the evening. Few more enjoyable entertainments have been held in connection with the Ladies, Aid Society.

THEFT OF A MONEY LETTER.—Inspector Spry, who has been in the vicinity of Mt. Forest for the past few days, on Wednesday laid an information before H. H. Stovel, J.P., for the arrest of a lad named James Queen, on a charge of stealing a money letter from the post-office at Orchardville. An investigation will be held in the course of a day or two.

WILL GUELPH HAVE A BAND?—At a meeting of a few gentlemen in favor of organizing a brass band in Guelph, two committees were appointed, one to circulate a requisition to the Mayor asking him to call a public meeting on the question, and another to prepare resolutions for consideration. The matter is now in the proper hands, and it is to be hoped that the scheme will receive such encouragement from the citizens as will make its success a certainty.

SEVENTH NIGHT IN THE TENT.—Notwithstanding the shower and the many other attractions in town there was a good audience at the meeting. The exercises were opened, as is the invariable custom, by singing, reading the Scriptures, and prayer by the chaplain, Rev. Mr. Howie. Rev. Mr. Haskell delivered a stirring speech and was followed by Mr. Ryan in an able address. Mr. Patterson, the Treasurer, also addressed the meeting, urging everybody to join the movement. A closing song and the signing of the pledge closed a very successful meeting.

AN UPSET.—On Thursday evening John Murphy and Samuel Hogg were driving at a lively rate down Wyndham street. One of the parties wishing to assist in driving the horse grabbed one line which had the effect of making it take a sudden turn and upset the rig, Murphy alighted on his feet and grabbed the horse while Hogg alighted on his head and was stunned. He recovered in a few minutes apparently little the worse for the mishap, and afterwards drove up street shouting at a lively rate. The two young men will be interviewed by the Police Magistrate in regard to disorderly conduct, and also on a charge of ill using a horse.

A BULL ATTACKS A HORSE.—A correspondent from Harriston writes as follows A bull owned by Ira Burris, 12th concession Maryboro, on Thursday attacked a stud horse called French Exhibition who was being led by his groom with pony. The enraged brute badly gored the horse and sent the frightened groom into a neighboring swamp for protection. At the time of the attack the bull was being led from pasture to the barn. The horse was taken to Mr. Dyce's stable at Rothsay, and on examination was found to be badly used up. He is now under the care of Mr. Hamilton, V. S., Surgeon of Harriston. The groom had a narrow escape, and would have been gored too had he not fled, The brute evidently enjoyed the attack, and after putting the horse hors de combat bade defiance to all and sundry in the most approved style. The horse is owned by Mr. Thos. Rolph, of Howick.

CITIZEN SOLDIERS.—The Right Division of the Field Battery was early astir this morning. Veterinary Sergeant Grange examined some thirty-five horses, which the owners wished to enlist, and selected the number required. Among the animals chosen there are a few possessed of considerable life and adapted for their work. The Right Division are on duty to-day, and had a maech out this morning. They will be joined by the Left Division, from Morriston this afternoon. The Rifles will be inspected this evening, and will be ready to march to Kinnettles with the Battery Saturday morning. Privates Atkinson, King, and Williams have been promoted to the rank of Corporals during the annual drill.

THE Beavers will play the Elora Atlantic base ball club at Elora to-morrow.

Fatal Accident.

Mr. John Greene is thrown out of his Buggy and Killed.

Again the reaper Death has suddenly appeared, and violently snatched from family and friends a respected citizen of Guelph.

This (Friday) morning, at three o'clock, Mr. John Greene died from the effects of injuries received in being thrown out of his buggy on Thursday afternoon about four o'clock. On the morning of that day the deceased drove to Fergus for the purpose of selling a team of horses at the monthly fair, intending to return in the afternoon by train, to attend St. Joseph's Hospital pic-nic. He did not succeed in selling his animals. In driving home he collided on Mickle's bridge, a short distance above the Union Cemetery, with a buggy, in which were riding Mr. John Norris and his son. The wheels became locked and all the parties were pitched out. Mr. Greene alighted on the top of his head and was stunned, the other parties were not much injured but slightly affected for a short time. The horses succeeded in wrecking both vehicles and freeing themselves. Mr. Norris went to the assistance of Mr. Greene, and found him unconscious. One of them went to the creek and conveyed water in his hat to Mr. Greene, and washed the blood off his head and face, which had gushed out of his ears. It was nearly an hour before any assistance could be procured to move the injured man. A gentleman on his way to Mount Forest hurried back and conveyed him to the St. Joseph's Hospital. All that medical aid could do could not save his life, and he kept sinking until death ensued this morning about 3 oclock.

The only marks on the deceased are the dints made on the top of his head by the gravel on the road.

In connection with this accident it might be said that the horse the deceased was driving is in the habit of shying, and it is thought that it might have shied in crossing the bridge, thus causing the collision. He was driving in a single buggy, with one horse led by a halter.

This is the third accident that has happened to the deceased in almost the same place. About six years ago he was run over by a team of horses, his shoulder and several ribs broken and his head badly bruised. Another time he was thrown out of his buggy and severely injured.

The deceased was an old settler in this County in the neighborhood of thirty years. He lived for many years in West Garafraxa, and there is a settlement there which has taken his name, and is called the Greene settlement. He afterwards removed to Pilkington and kept a store at Thorpville. It is about three years ago since he moved to Guelph. His death is the first in the family circle. He leaves a wife, seven sons and three daughters to mourn their loss. One of the daughters is a Sister in the Convent in London, two of the sons are in the States and the others are living in this neighborhood.

The family has the sympathy of the community in their bereavement.

Baptist Association.

The Midland Counties' Baptist Association met in the Baptist Church this (Friday) morning, at eleven o'clock. Quite a large number of delegates were present. Rev. Chas. Walker, of Stratford, preached the Associational sermon, a clear and instructive discourse, from 2 Cor. 5, 21.

The Association was then organized by the choice of Rev. J. A. Durkee, of Guelph, as Moderator, and the Rev. T. G. Denchfield, of Brampton, and Rev. J. Anderson, of Hillsburg, as Clerks. This afternoon the reports of the Churches are being read and Rev. Prof. Torrance, of Woodstock, delivers an educational sermon.

This evening there will be a public mass missionary meeting, to be addressed by Revs. J. Gilchrist, of St. George; Malcolm McGregor, of Georgetown; and Rev. J. Torrance, of Woodstock. The sessions of the body continue to-morrow, and on Sabbath the pulpits of the Baptist and other churches will be filled by ministerial delegates present.

FRATERNAL VISIT.—On Thursday evening Fergus Lodge of Oddfellows visited Progress Lodge in Guelph. Some fourteen were present. After the closing of the lodge, the visitors were entertained at a banquet, at Bro. John Fielding's Western Hotel. The spread was a magnificent one and reflected great credit on the caterer for the occasion. After all had partaken heartily, toasts, speeches and songs followed each other in rapid succession for several hours. P. Grand Chas. Cottis occupied the chair, and V. Grand John Day the vice-chair. After the usual loyal toasts had been honored, "The Grand Lodge" was proposed. Responses were elicited from Grand Representatives Craig, of Fergus, Parker, Jessop and Sunley. The toast, "Sister Lodges," was responded by the brethren from Fergus, Harriston, Toronto, Hamilton and Waterloo, and representatives of Reliance Lodge, Guelph. Bro. Craig neatly proposed the toast, "Health and prosperity to Progress Lodge," to which the officers replied. The toasts of "Prosperity to Guelph," "Press" and "Ladies" were all honored and responded to. Altogether it was one of the most enjoyable gatherings that the Oddfellows of Guelph have been interested in.

Never be ashamed of confessing your ignorance, for the wisest man upon earth is ignorant of many things, insomuch that what he knows is a mere nothing in comparison to what he does not know. But we apprehend very few are ignorant of the wonderful effects of the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," its a most sure and rapid cure for colds, rheumatism, pleurisy, colic, cholera morbus, and all summer complaints. Sold by all medicine dealers.

St. Joseph's Hospital.

The Annual Pic-nic—A Very Pleasing Gathering.

The annual demonstration in connection with the Hospital of St. Joseph is an institution established some years ago by the congregation of St. Bartholomew's church, and without a single exception the gatherings have always been largely attended, and the treasury of the Hospital has been greatly benefited. The Hospital is under the care of the Sisters of Charity, and they have, by their unwearied exertions in relieving suffering humanity satisfied the public that such charitable institutions are deserving of liberal donations.

The pic-nic held on Thursday in the Agricultural Park was not nearly so well attended as was expected; nevertheless, the amount cleared will foot up to over $300. The games and amusements commenced at one o'clock, and continued until after six. The contests in the racing and jumping was keen, and the spectators manifested much interest in the proceedings.

The foot-ball match between Centre Wellington, represented by a team of fifteen from Fergus, and the same number from South Wellington, was keenly contested. The sides were captained by Mr. Peter Mahon for the South, and Mr. James Dalziel for the Centre. For an hour and a half the ball was kicked about the field with varying signs of success. A grand scrimmage would take place in dangerous proximity to the goal of one side, and in a few minutes after the position of affairs would be entirely reversed. The game was finally declared drawn, both sides being pretty well exhausted. The playing throughout was of the most harmonious character. The following are the names of the players:—South Wellington—Peter Mahon, John L. Murphy, J. C. Coffee, Wm. Hunter, R. McLean, Thos. Ede, J. R. Hood, E. D. Tuttle, J. Mooney, Jas. Quirk, Robt. Cassin, Jas. Hewer, Thos. Brown, Jas. Brown, Thos. Griffin.—Centre Wellington—James Dalziel, Geo. Allen, Tim. Reidy, D. McNamara, A. Fleming, W. Dalziel, Geo. Thomson, W. Griffiths, W. Cardy, D. Cardy, D. Anderson, D. McLean, R. McEwen, Jas. McCulloch, Wm. Fitzpatrick.

Inside the palace was a scene of great animation. Tables laden with dainty refreshments extended down either side of the east and north wings. They were liberally patronized. In the rotunda a bazaar for the sale of fancy and useful articles was held. Drawing of prizes also took place, and many were lucky enough to be the winners of really valuable articles. A child's carriage, valued at $25, was voted on at ten cents a vote. Little interest was manifested in the election, and at the close of the poll the perambulator was awarded to Mr. Goldie. Two bowling alleys in the south wing were the centre of attraction, and the balls were kept rolling constantly.

Mr. R. B. Wood organized a brass band of eight instruments for the occasion, and the music furnished was very good indeed. Their presence greatly enlivened the proceedings.

The pic-nic was a very enjoyable one in every respect, many that were present remaining to keep the amusement up until the shades of evening settled over the scene.

In the drawing of prizes Mr. Timothy Coguhlin received a large family Bible; Mr. J. L. Murphy a silver ice pitcher; Miss Caraher a silver cruet; Mr. J. Hurley a tea set.

St. Joseph's Hospital pic-nic will always be looked forward to as an annual event of much interest.

The Great Shoshonees Remedy

Is an Indian vegetable compound, composed of the juices of a variety of remarkable medicinal plants and herbs; the various properties of these different ingredients, when combined, is so constituted as to act simultaneously upon the Blood, Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Digestive Organs, Nervous System, &c., restoring their functions to healthy action, and, being purely vegetable, is as harmless as nature's own beverage. This medicine is a decided benefit in all, and a permanent cure in a large majority of diseases of the blood, such as Scrofula, Erysipelas, Salt Rheum, Canker, Pimples, &c. In prescribing this medicine we do not claim that it always performs cures; but this we do say, that it purifies and enriches the blood, permanently curing a large majority of diseases arising from its impurities. It stands far ahead and unequalled among the hundreds of competing medicines of the day. It has stood the test for ten years, and is to-day more popular than ever. As a summer restorative it stands unrivalled; it enables the system to bear up against the constant drain to which it is subjected by a high temperature. Persons who are subject to bilious Colic, Dysentery, Indigestion, &c., should take Shoshonees Remedy. Price of the Remedy in pint bottles, $1; Pills, 25cts. a box. Sold by all medicine dealers.

A common cough or cold should never be trifled with: often when neglected it is converted into a serious and generally fatal pulmonary disease. The more prudent, aware of this, promptly use "Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers," a curative which has sustained its reputation for over twenty years. They are always efficacious and exert a most beneficial influence on all the bronchial and pulmonary organs. Sold by all druggists and country dealers at 25 cents a bottle.

The Hackett Murder.

Lecture by Rev. C. A. Doudiet, Orange Grand Lodge Chaplain.

An audience of over two hundred assembled in the Town Hall on Thursday evento hear the Rev. Mr. Doudiet, of Montreal, lecture under the auspices of Prince Arthur Lodge, No. 1331, on the subject of the assassination of Bro. Thomas Lett Hackett. The stage was tastefully decorated with Union Jacks and the handsome banner of the order. A table was placed in the centre of the platform beautifully decorated with flowers. There was also a large Bible, the property of the Lodge, besides other symbols of the Order occupying a prominent position.

On the stage were seated Rev. J. C. Smith, Rev. Thos. Brock, Bros. G. M. Todd, J. W. Colson and C. Acton Burrows. Bro. Wm. Arnott occupied the chair. Previous to the commencement of the lecture G. M. Todd, on behalf of the Guelph Orangemen, read the following address to the Rev. Mr. Doudiet.

ORANGE HALL, GUELPH, 20th June, 1878.

To the Rev. C. A. Doudiet, of Montreal, Grand Chaplain of the Province of Quebec, and Deputy Grand Chaplain of the Supreme Grand Lodge of British North America of the Loyal Orange Association, Greeting.

REV. SIR AND BRO.—It is with feelings of great pleasure we welcome you to our good town of Guelph, named after the Royal family of the British Empire, whose flag may be seen on every sea, fit emblem of civil and religious liberty, and whose ships touch at every port in the wide world over, ready to succour those in distress and right the wrong wherever such may be found. We have never had the opportunity of hearing you address an audience in furtherance of the principles of the Loyal Orange Association, but we have had the pleasure of reading your sermons bearing on the subject, we expect therefore in your lecture this evening to have a complete history, more particularly of our Orange Brotherhood in the Province of Quebec, and a vindication for the rights of Protestantism in this great Dominion of Canada. Do not let it be said there are certain rights Protestants may claim where they are in the majority, and such will not be allowed where they are in the minority, under the British flag. We are aware a great difference of opinion exists amongst Protestants as to the utility of the Orange Association. We hope you will endeavor to show that their very profession allows them that free exercise of that judgment, and as long as the Protestant religion flourishes, they will be allowed to exercise that right of freemen, the glorious privilege of every British subject. A great many of our members here and elsewhere have belonged to the Order for many years, (we have one valued brother of our Prince Arthur L.O.L. No. 1331, who has been a member of the L.O. Association for forty-eight years), verily we may say these men have seen every aspect of the Orange Association, and may be allowed to judge of the utility and of the benefits of our noble institution.

We will not further detain you upon this present occasion, but trust this evening to have your valuable counsel and advice. Hoping you may long be spared to advocate fearlessly the cause of civil and religious liberty, and that your labors in this great work may be blessed in the conversion of numbers in the Lower Province from the dark paths of Romanism to the clear light of the Gospel truth is the earnest prayer of

Yours in the bond of Brotherhood,
W. ARNOTT,
W.M. of Prince Arthur Loyal Orange Lodge No. 1331, Guelph, and Master of Victoria District.
J. W. COLSON, D.M.,
J. ROCHE, Sec.,
G. M. TODD, Sen. of Com.

The reverend gentleman read the following reply:—

To the W. M. of Prince Arthur L. O. L., No. 1331, Guelph, and Master of Victoria District, and to all true Orange brethren here.

Greeting.

DEAR BRETHREN,—It is very gratifying to me, on this present occasion, to find myself surrounded and welcomed by loyal and true friends, members of an Institution and Order, which, in spite of the most persistent abuse and persecution from Protestant and Catholic foes, is steadily increasing the number of its adherents in every land, and is becoming better known to the people around us, as the sworn defenders of religious and civil liberty. I am glad to be in a position to inform you that the membership of the Orange Order in Montreal has nearly doubled since last July. It was said in olden times that "the blood of martyrs was the seed of the church," thus for every drop of brother Hackett's blood, a defender of the principles for which he fell has arisen, and in many places in this Dominion "Hackett Lodges" will long perpetuate the lesson taught by the brutal assassination of this young man by Irish Catholic unionists. The protection of Almighty God over the Order to which we belong has been strikingly illustrated by the events of the 20th of April, in Montreal. On that day, one or more Irish Catholic union lodges had concerted to waylay and murder a party of about twenty Orange Young Britons, who had been attending a concert in the city, and had to cross a bridge over the Lachine Canal on their way home. So whilst these young men, joyous and unconscious of danger, were enjoying themselves innocently with their sisters and sweethearts, another band, with murder in their hearts, and murderous weapons in their hands, were stealing with the stealthy step of the assassin towards the scene of their intended crime, without remorse or sense of the guilt they were thus incurring, for they were well assured that whatever would happen, they would never want for friendly juries to acquit or priests to absolve them. The Providence of the Almighty God, however, overruled the dark designs of these misguided men. "Their eyes were blinded, so that they could not see," and God delivered them into each others hands. A repetition on a small scale of the mutual slaughter of the Midianites in the valley, whilst Gideon and his chosen few stood unharmed on the hills above. If impartial men had needed any positive proof of the murderous purposes for which Irish Catholic union lodges were instituted, they would find it in the fact proved at the inquest over Colligans' body, that the "would-be murderers" walked in orderly divisions from their lodge to the scene of their intended crime. Under a vigorous Protestant government, every member of the lodges implicated would have been arrested, as accessories if not principals in the crime committed. As it is, although many are known to have been present in arms at the scene of the tragedy, there have been no more molested than Sheehan and others were for Hackett's assassination. With such a state of things in Montreal, with a Mayor who abhors Orangemen, with numbers of weak-kneed Protestants, who for the sake of gain or influence, would yield every blood-bought right of free Christian men, you may, dear brethren, rightly appreciate the position of those who will not be frightened into silence or inaction by threats, nor coaxed into inactivity by timid friends. Their life is constantly exposed to the dagger or bullet of the assassin. The vile threatening letters, occasionally sent to me, form a fruitful commentary on the practical effects of the system of Romish imposture from which they emanate.

I am fully aware of the fact mentioned in your address as to the "difference of opinion among Protestants, as to the utility of the Orange Order." This difference would very soon change to unanimous approval, where it not for the persistent slanders of those who know little or nothing of our great Association, and yet will abuse it on every occasion. It is well known, for instance, to every Protestant in Montreal, that it is due to the energetic action of the Orange Lodges that the battle of "Free Speech" was won in that city at the time of the Chiniquy riots, three years ago, yet I heard to my intense astonishment, a respected member of the Presbyterian Assembly in Hamilton, ascribing all the credit of that victory to Rev. Mr. Chiniquy's courage, whilst he chose to ignore the fact, well known to him, that it was the presence of three hundred Orangemen that insured peace and quietness. Rev. Mr. Chiniquy, however, understood the matter, and out of gratitude joined our Order since, against the wishes and representations of many ministers and other friends.

In conclusion, dear brethren, I would say that if my visit to Guelph had no other result than to draw closer the bonds of Union, Love and Truth, that should bring every Orangemen shoulder to shoulder with his brethren in the hour of danger, much good will have been accomplished. That hour draws nigh, and when the "Battle of the Boyne" has to be fought over again, all doubts as to the propriety or necessity of Orangeism in the Dominion will cease.

In all matters relating to the rights of liberty

...Globe, Rev. ... Doudiet were ... in this country would ... only. Thus it was that Cap... editor of the True Witness wished to have free discussion suppressed. The subject proper of the lecture—the murder of Hackett, was then taken up. He described the character of the deceased, whom he knew quite well. The young man—not much more than a mere lad when cruelly assassinated—was quietly returning from church when set upon by a number of bloodthirsty murderers. He believed that many Roman Catholics would dislike to associate with the assassin, but still at the same time they have done nothing whereby the murderer might be brought to justice. Still it could not be forgotten that in the sixteenth century Pope Gregory caused medals to be struck to commemorate the slaughter of the Hugenots in fair France, and the motto of the church was "Semper idem"—always the same. In July, 1876, the first service preached to Orangemen in Montreal caused little disturbance. The number present walked back to their hall together for mutual protection. There was nothing like a procession, as there was no band nor banners. During the past few years there appears to have been a perfect mania for processions in connection with the Roman Catholic church. Some Orangemen, so impressed by these displays, resolved to test whether or not they were to be allowed that liberty which was granted to others. The press in Montreal condemned the proposed procession and the churches were refused them if they persisted in their procession. At a mass meeting of Orangemen it had been decided by the small majority of eleven not to have a procession but to proceed to church quietly and afterwards quietly disperse to their homes. For this action the Orangemen were loudly applauded by the national societies in the city. Knowing nothing to the contrary, the assertion of the heads of various Catholic Societies that they would use their influence for peace, should be believed. The morning of the 12th of July, 1877, dawned brightly, and many citizens believed that there would be no disturbance. Quite early a mob had congregated on the Victoria Square, while the absence of police was noticeable. Young Hackett, along with other Orangemen, knowing that there were dangerous mobs congregating in the city did that which every man should do, if he has reason to believe he would be molested. They armed themselves for the purpose of defence. The sermon preached in Knox Church to the Orangemen was spoken of and the statement made that not anything that could have been offensive to Roman Catholics had been said. The events that transpired after the service and the murder of Thomas Lett Hackett were narrated. The meeting of the Orangemen on the evening of the 12th, and the resolutions adopted at that meeting were read by the lecturer amidst loud applause. The funeral of Hackett on the 16th and incidents connected therewith were graphically detailed. The speaker said that although there were five thousand Orangemen present in Montreal during the day of the funeral, there was not one single instance of rowdyism or drunkenness. He asked a comparison of this fact with the fact that when a number of Irish Catholics visited Buffalo last year, some five or six were left in that city to be cared for for six months by the police authorities. In regard to public opinion, the speaker said that although the press condemned the murder of Hackett, and there was one priest, Father Stafford, of Lindsay, had denounced the act from his pulpit, there were priests in Montreal who thought that no crime had been committed, but that Hackett had come to his death through imprudence on the one hand and blind fury on the other. The inquest held on the body of the deceased was referred to, and the verdict rendered was characterized by the speaker as one which would lead any person to suppose justice could not be received from a jury. Men had before to-day been hanged on less evidence than on that which John Sheehan was acquitted. The flagrant act of injustice perpetrated by the Grand Jury in the case, was detailed. To show how justice was meted out in Montreal the speaker instanced one occasion when an Orangeman was fined $80 and costs for presenting a pipe case as one would do a revolver in defence, and a Catholic who had fired point blank at a young man's head who was liberated by the Grand Jury. The speaker held that processions were legal, and for that reason the Orangemen were determined to walk. Every honest man in Canada should feel that the blood of Hackett cried for vengeance. The murderers now walk the streets of Montreal with brazen effrontery and among their chosen companions boast of the blows and kicks they had bestowed on the body of Bro. Hackett. Many Protestants in the events of last summer profess to see nothing in it but a party question. It could not be when the action of Mayor Beaudry and other Frenchmen and French priests was considered. It was simply the intolerant spirit of the Roman Catholic church. The aggressiveness of the Roman Catholic church had now reached a certain point and it was time a line was drawn. The speaker had determined to act independently of the orders of Roman Catholics, notwithstanding the risk might be great—even to the loss of limb, or life, as it had been done on several occasions. The speaker contradicted the rumor that he had been at one time a priest. Instead of such he was a descendant from one of the oldest Huguenot families in France. His forefathers had suffered great persecution from the Roman Church.

In concluding, the speaker stated that the Orangemen of Montreal had determined to walk. That the determination was not done in a spirit of vain glory, because every Orangeman knows that the best thing he can do on that morning would be to make his will. The speaker had received a threatening letter which said that if he dare show himself on the street on the 12th of July his life would be taken and his property burned. If they approach his house they will find Remington rifles ready to give them a reception. The Orangemen would not only march on the 12th of July, but they would march armed, notwithstanding the provisions in Blake's Act—a Bill ostensibly passed for the purpose of disarming mobs but in reality to prevent Orangemen from carrying weapons to defend themselves. It might be that the experiment of walking in procession will cost much precious blood of the Order. He himself might be the first victim. Should such be the worst, such a feeling will be raised among the Protestants of this country as there would be woe to the city of Montreal. There were concessions which he was willing to make. He did not refer to Catholics as Papists, neither did he use the word Popery, because they considered it offensive. But there were concessions which Orangemen were not prepared to make, and would rather suffer martyrdom, as had been done in years gone by, than renounce the faith of the Protestant Church. The speaker stated that in returning to Montreal he was greatly cheered, knowing

"God Save the Queen" was sung, and the meeting dispersed.

FRIDAY EVE'G, JUNE 21, 1878.

The Fisheries Award.

We are surprised that the House of Representatives of the United States sought to repudiate the payment of the five and a half millions of dollars which the Halifax Fishery Commission decided was payable by the Republic to Canada. No good reason could be adduced for this dishonorable repudiation of an obligation which the Commission decided the United States was fairly and honorably bound to carry out in good faith. The refusal of the House of Representatives to accede to the terms laid down by the Commissioners is all the more discreditable when compared with the action of the British Government in the Albama Award—which was carried out to the letter by the Imperial Government. Of the fifteen millions which constituted that award, a large proportion of the amount is still unpaid, after all the claims brought forward have been satisfied. And yet in the face of this the House of Representatives refuse to provide for the payment of a paltry five and a half millions, which the Halifax Commission decided should be handed over to Canada.

The conduct of the Representatives while the question was under discussion, is far from creditable. As soon as the bill for payment of the money, was brought up it was objected to on technical grounds, and points of order were made by Butler, of Massachusetts; Cox, of New York; Springer, of Illinois, and others, but were over-ruled by the Speaker, who declared that the Bill was an international one and that it was his duty to promote its passage, as he had been applied to by the State Department on the subject. The scene then got exciting. Butler, the hero of the New Orleans silver spoon robbery, was the loudest and most unruly, and the Speaker had twice to commit him to the care of the Sergeant-at-Arms. After a scene of commotion and rowdyism seldom witnessed in Congress, the Speaker put a motion to adjourn, which was lost, and then the vote was taken on suspending the rules and passing the Bill. The motion was rejected, 155 voting aginst it, and only 87 for it, which which was not the necessary two-thirds in the affirmative.

Thus the measure was defeated in the House, and had it not been that the Senate had some spark of honor left, it would have been altogether thrown out.

But that body, anxious to save the country from the lasting disgrace that would have attached to the rejection of the Bill, placed an appropriation for the payment of the Award on the Sundry Civil Bill, and the Lower House will now have an opportunity of retracing their false and disgraceful step of Monday. We cannot believe that it will throw out this Bill. If it does it will fasten on the United States the responsibility of having dishonored the country by repudiating the award of an impartial Commission, and violating a most solemn treaty obligation. Canada, though a poor country compared with the States, can well afford to stand by, and see whether her rich and powerful neighbour will honourably and honestly fulfil her obligations, or whether she will in a mean and cowardly manner shrink out of them. But we have faith in the Union, and believe that she will yet pay every cent that she is required to do by the terms of the Award.

Pettit's Eye-Salve.

THE AMERICAN EYE-SALVE is presented to the public with the assurance of its efficiency as a curative of most diseases of the eye, acute or chronic inflammation, whether induced by scrofulous origin or otherwise, weakness or defect of vision, diminished tone of the optic nerve, or a diseased state of the tissues constituting that organ. Also, for all persons whose vocation requires an incessant action of the eyes, the Salve will act as a charm in restoring a uniform healthy action, where weakness, pain, and misery may have long threatened a fatal termination. It is the most simple, safe, and effectual remedy ever discovered. The materials of which it is made are pure, perfect, and costly, compounded with elaborate care and exactness, safe in its application, being used externally, and, of course, avoiding the pain and danger which necessarily attends the introduction of caustic minerals and eye-washes. RINGWORM and OLD CHRONIC SORES, of scrofulous origin, or resulting from whatever cause, yield to the AMERICAN EYE-SALVE. IT IS USED SUCCESSFULLY FOR PILES. Its soothing effect is immediate, and a permanent cure requires but a few applications. The proprietors of "DR. J. PETTIT'S AMERICAN EYE-SALVE," while making new and improved machinery for making a more perfect box for the Eye-Salve, have changed the Trade Mark on the cover so as to correspond with the Cut on the Wrapper, Circulars, Advertisements, etc. We call attention to this, as it might otherwise be regarded as counterfeiting.

A London correspondent writes that fancy dress balls have become a popular institution in England now, and that women of all ages have been clamering for invitations to these gatherings. The concoction of the fancy dress has become a welcome phase of excitement in many homes; but the last craze in the matter of fancy dress costume has brought about many hot words and quarrels in hitherto peaceful households. The most fashionable covering that a lady can now wear on these occasions is that patronized by the Highlanders. The Highlander kilt has been worn with great success, it is said, by several ladies of distinction. One of these ladies appealed to a friend whether he thought it wrong to put on the Highland costume, and the friend answered that the importance was not in what she put on, but in what she took off.

Harold the Outlaw

—OR—

The Gauger of Skene.

"Is Mr. Gillespie within?" asked Harold, quietly.

The question seemed to flurry the woman, and she responded to it in rather a defiant manner by demanding—

"What want ye with him?"

"I shall inform himself of that," answered Harold in a haughty tone, for the woman's manner nettled him. "I asked if he is within; but the question was merely formal, for I know he is. Would you tell him that two gentlemen wish to see him?"

"I—I don't know," returned the woman, still hesitating. "He can't see any one at present. This—this misfortune is occupying all his attention. Could you call again?"

"No; our time is brief, and our business is of the greatest importance. And distressed though he must be, he will not decline to see us. I ask you again, therefore, to be good enough to——"

Harold was spared the necessity of finishing the sentence. While the colloquy was going forward, the two visitors had been casting glances into the barn, and noticed that a curtain was suspended in the centre, separating the place into two divisions. At this moment the curtain was hastily lifted at one corner, and the gauger's face appeared at the opening, wearing a very startled look.

"What is it, Lexey?" he sharply asked; but catching sight of Harold in the doorway, he at once issued forth, ejaculating—

"Bless my soul, Mr. Logan?"

"I am sorry to find you in this evil case, Gillespie—very sorry, indeed," said Harold.

"Ah, yes. Terrible business! shocking misfortune; and, what makes it worse, I was from home—hundreds of miles away—when it occurred. It might have happened, of course, though I had been in the house, but—well, it can't be helped; the thing is done, and I must try and make the best of it."

"I am glad to see you take it so philosophically."

"What can I do? Grieving or complaining won't restore the house. No use crying over spilt milk, as I have sometimes told the owners of a sma' still when I have broken it up—only it wasn't spilt milk, you know, it was spilt whiskey. He, he! Ha, I forget though. I am treading on a bruised corn, I doubt. Our affair among the hills eight or ten days ago will have made you very bitter."

"Indeed, no, Gillespie; it has made me the happiest fellow in the world—it has done me the most essential service."

"How? what mean you?"

"It was the means of restoring me my wife and child."

"You have found them at last, have you!" exclaimed the gauger, with genuine satisfaction. "Where were they? Not in this district of the country, I'll guarantee."

"No; in the wilds of Inverness-shire."

"I was sure of it. I knew if they had been confined within the bounds of East Aberdeenshire I would have got word of them. But of course you are joking when you say that my doings at the cave led to their discovery?"

"I am perfectly serious, Gillespie. The letters I received from my wife were in a small iron box in the cave. They contained words which I had never seen—words written with the colorless juice of a berry, which turns to a very dark purple when exposed to heat. The fire in the cave brought these words to light."

"Oh!" ejaculated the gauger, on whom the strange and wonderful truth now dawned.

"Of course," went on Harold, "the first thing I did on learning of your visit and its consequences was to seek for the iron box. I thought it and its precious contents must be destroyed; but the box was intact, and the heat had brought out the writing which told me where my wife was kept prisoner. I, along with some friends, journeyed to the place and rescued her."

"Wonderful—wonderful," cried the gauger. "So I have been the means of your finding her after all. I'm deucedly glad of it, Logan—believe me. I suppose you will even forgive my visit to the cave, and all that happened, for the good it led to. Gad, it makes me forgive the scurvy trick of setting fire to the stuff, though it lost me a splendid seizure."

"The stuff was not set fire to," returned Harold. "It ignited accidentally, and one man was severely burned—fatally, indeed, for he has since died."

"Ah, is it so?" Serve him right, the rascal. Hope it will be a warning to all his associates."

"That man," went on Harold, taking no notice of the gauger's professional spleen, "that man was Black Dick."

"Black Dick?" echoed Gillespie, in a changed tone, and with a visible start. "Black Dick—dead?"

"Yes, he is dead."

There was utter silence, during which the gauger fixed a steady look of fearful inquiry at Harold. Then he transferred it to the lawyer, on whom hitherto he had not bestowed any attention. His eye had not rested on the latter more than a moment when he started again and looked more narrowly.

"I—I should surely know you, sir," he hastily said. "Why, yes, so you should, Mr. Gillespie. We have seen each other occasionally."

"Mr. Adamson, the advocate?"

"The same."

Gillespie drew back, and his gaze now was penetratingly anxious. Divining that their visit was connected with the death of Black Dick, and seeing also that Harold was without his usual disguise, a dire foreboding seized him.

"You—you have some communication to make to me," he faltered.

"We have," answered Adamson, with marked emphasis.

"Come inside. Lexey, you can go out while the gentlemen remain, their business is quite private; and keep Brownie and all the others out likewise—you understand."

The woman replied with a nod of intelligence, and went out past them into the open air.

"Now, this way, gentlemen."

He held the sheet aside, and they stepped in behind it. This end of the barn was lighted by a small window, and by the window stood Edward Skeat. He was not taken by surprise. He knew who they were; he had been listening to the conversation at the door, as, indeed he could not avoid doing, since the canvas screen was the only barrier to intercept the sound.

This is Ned Skeat. You know him, Mr. Logan?"

Harold nodded.

"This concerns you, Ned, as much as myself, so you can remain. Now, gentlemen, say in a word what you have come to tell us."

The gauger tried to show himself calm, but it was beyond his power to hide the intense anxiety he felt. There was a dreadful sinking at his heart, caused by the apprehension of coming evil. Possibly some strange, mysterious influence taught him that the cloud so long hovering and threatening was about to fall at last and darken down on him for ever. Harold's first words were the confirmation of his fears.

"Black Dick emitted a dying declaration before the Sheriff."

"Before the Sheriff?" gasped the other, whitening visibly. Skeat also grew pale, and shared to the full in the consternation of his chief—his chief in official position and responsibility, but his subordinate in the various crimes they had committed together.

Harold looked to Adamson to tell the rest, which the lawyer promptly did. He related in brief but luminous words the steps taken to lead the Sheriff to the bedside of the dying smuggler, and told all that had taken place there.

"Then my ruin is sealed at last," said Gillespie, with a groan. "Be it so. I have long feared it, and I know I deserve it."

"Our object in visiting you now is to avert that," said Harold. "There is nothing in Black Dick's confession to directly criminate you. The circumstances of the murder were such as made it possible for you to believe that I was the man who fired the pistol. Let this, then, be the cue for you to follow. Admit—you and Ned—that you might have been mistaken. It will be considered wholly unintentional on your part; this will keep the foul plot hatched by my brother, and shared in by you, from being exposed, and the consequences you fear will be averted."

The gauger's troubled face brightened, surprise and amazement struggled in his features.

A Berlin despatch says:—The …sion of the Bulgarian question in Congress was again postponed yesterday, because the plenipotentiary who was to open the discussion was not ready with his proposals.

A Berlin despatch says:—M. D'Oubril, the Russian ambassador to this city, has gone to St. Petersburg, to induce, if possible, the Czar to sanction the withdrawal of the Russian forces from the vicinity of Constantinople.

The Vienna Political Correspondence says: The Powers continue to act in groups at Berlin, but not necessarily in a hostile sense. Austria and England from one point of view, and Turkey from another, oppose Russia's claims. Germany, France and Italy have adopted the mediatory attitude, but this will not hinder any from voting in favor of one or other group, when the questions become clearly defined. There can be little doubt of a thorough understanding between England and Austria or of a likelihood of its continuance during the entire deliberations.

A private conference of the Russian, Austrian, and English plenipotentiaries on Thursday lasted two hours without arriving at any serious result relative to the Bulgarian question, though an accord was effected on several minor points. It is probable that in order not to alarm the public by continual abortive sittings of the Congress, the next sitting will be postponed until Monday or Tuesday, so that the above-mentioned three Powers may come before the Congress with an agreement. Turkey will accept whatever England decides on relative to Bulgaria. The correspondent says it is believed Russia will ultimately give way. Bismarck continues his system of preventing all animated discussion at the public sittings. Thus, after Congress had accepted the principle of admitting Greece, further discussion was adjourned on Schouvaloff's proposing some important restrictions likely to be unpalatable to Lord Salisbury. It will be settled at the next sitting what particular subjects Greece is to be permitted to discuss. The organization of Southern Bulgaria is probably one. Other accounts state that Bismarck has been authorized to select the questions on which the Greeks are to be consulted.

A Vienna despatch says:—Gen. Skobeloff goes to Adrianople to organize a vast camp there. Other accounts show that the Russians are doing all possible to strengthen their hold on Bulgaria.

A few of the discharged Montreal Corporation labourers have been furnished with work by the city.

The German Emperor has so far recovered from the effect of his wounds as to be able to leave his bed and take exercise in his room.

His Excellency the Governor-General has presented two medals for the encouragement of farming in the Icelandic settlement in Manitoba.

James Morrow, from the county of Bruce who arrived with his family last Saturday in Manitoba, was robbed of over $800 on Tuesday.

The 13th Battalion Band of Hamilton, the Kingston band, the 7th Battalion band, of London, the Orange band, of Hamilton, besides other bands are in Montreal, waiting to compete for the prizes.

On Wednesday night detectives Murphy and Phair arrested a man named Thomas Dynan on suspicion of being an accomplice of Lee and Wright in the recent toll house robberies.

Arctic refrigerators for keeping meat, &c., during the hot weather, wire covers to keep flies off food; croquet sets, lawn mowers, hedge shears and trimmers at JOHN HORSMAN'S, corner Wyndham and Quebec streets, St. George's Square.

Everyone speaks well of it, and those who have been there once patronize the place ever afterwards. Is it necessary to add that we refer to the Colonnade Hotel, on Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa?

Bond & Co to-day advertise lawn mowers, refrigerators, and other seasonable goods at prices that defy competition. They have a number of remnants of floor oil cloth which they will sell at great reduction (almost anything) to get rid of them.

Count Von Munster, German Ambassador to England, has been recalled.

A CARD.

To all who are suffering from the errors and indiscretions of youth, nervous weakness, early decay, loss of manhood, &c., I will send a receipt that will cure you, FREE OF CHARGE. The great remedy was discovered by a missionary in South America. Send a self-addressed envelope to the REV. JOSEPH T. INMAN, Station D. Bible House, New York City. Sept. 18, deodwly

It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. GEORGE MURTON, do Proprietor

An Impudent Lie.

Messrs. S. M. Pettengill & Co., of New York, have just issued a new edition of their Newspaper Directory for 1878. The list includes the newspapers published in Canada. As regards the circulation of papers the Publishers say:—"The circulations reported are, in all cases, those given by the publishers themselves. The circulations which appear in full-face figures have been sworn to, and the affidavits are on file in the office of the Directory. Turning to the papers published in Guelph we find the Herald's circulation given in full-face figures—being sworn to on affidavit as follows:—Daily 986; weekly 3,560.

Now, we pronounce the above statement an impudent, unblushing and premeditated lie, and yet the returns according to Pettingill & Co., are sworn to on affidavit.

We beg further to state that the Herald's bona fide circulation is far, far below those returns given to the Directory, and we know whereof we speak; but even such barefaced lying shall not tempt us to betray confidence and give particulars or state what we know when doing thankless favors for that office.

We challenge the Herald to make good its statement and affidavit or confess itself guilty of a gross deception. Even admitting for a moment that it was true, what a vast difference must there be between the circulations of the MERCURY and the Herald, as is proven by our own authentic post office returns. On the 11th April we published a return, which can be sworn to if necessary, that the postage paid by all the papers published in this County from the 1st of January, 1877, to 30th September, of the same year was $413.38. Of this sum the MERCURY paid for that period for postage $194.41, being within $24.56 of THE HALF OF THE ENTIRE POSTAGE PAID BY THE WHOLE OF THE NEWSPAPERS PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF WELLINGTON—and there are ten of these including the Herald—besides the MERCURY. The postage is fixed by the weight of the papers taken to the post office, so that there is no chance of deception or erroneous returns. And we have no hesitation in saying that since that time—September 30th, 1877—the postage paid by the MERCURY has proportionately advanced, which is a sure test of the growing increase of its circulation. The Herald has a peculiar weakness for blowing its own trumpet, but this last stretcher throws Dr. Tupper's efforts completely in the shade.

EXPLOSION OF "HERALD" GAS.

The Herald, with its characteristic low cunning, dodges the question about its circulation. We want to nail it to the one point, on which we challenged it, and on which we are ready to stake $100, that the returns it gives of its circulation to S. M. Pettengill & Co., for their Directory, on affidavit, are untrue, and a gross fabrication. When it has disposed of this challenge, then we will deal with its buncombe wager. We were first in the field with our challenge, and we want to nail this lie to the counter.

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

Russia Accepts England's Terms.

Turkish Prisoners Sent to Siberia.

LONDON, June 24.—Despatch from Berlin says that it is fully confirmed that Russia accepts the British programme regarding Bulgaria. There is also an increased probability of Austria's acquisition of Bosnia and Herzegovina. A despatch from Constantinople says that Gen. Todleben has ordered heavy reinforcements from Adrianople and other points to San Stefano.

The Russians are sending all their Turkish prisoners to Siberia.

DEATH OF A WELL-KNOWN CURLER.—The Scottish American has the following:—"It is with much regret that we announce the death, at Ogdensburg, New York, on the 11th inst., of Mr. Wm. Congalton, one of the keenest of curlers and most enthusiastic of Scots. To those who knew Mr. Congalton during the past year or two this announcement may not be altogether a surprise, for it was evident that his system was surely breaking up under the operation of a slow consumption. To those, however, who were associated with him in years gone by, when his hearty laugh rang across the ice, or his kindly heart beat in sympathy with a tale of distress, and his hand generally rendered the aid a needy applicant required, it will be difficult to realize that his voice is forever hushed, and his heart and hand forever stilled. Mr. Congalton was born at Deanston, Perthshire, on the 15th of April, 1826. One of his records in connection with curling he was fond of boasting of—he was the first to take a 'Yankee' curling club to play a match in Montreal and Ottawa. Mr. Congalton leaves a widow and a family of six children to mourn his loss, and much sympathy is expressed for them by the communities among whom he lived. He was a staunch member of the Presbyterian Church, and a good member of the Order of Oddfellows. His funeral was largely attended by his fellow-citizens, and by a representation of the Oddfellows' Lodges of Ogdensburg and Prescott, with whose rites the body was reverently laid in its last resting-place." Deceased was a brother of Alexander and Robert Congalton, of Guelph.

FUNERAL SERMON.—On Sunday Rev. Canon Dixon preached an eloquent discourse in the Episcopal church, at Arkell, making special reference to the late James Hewer. There was a large attendance. The deceased had been for many years an earnest and consistent member of the Episcopal church.

THE General Sessions of Wellington resumed to-day in the Court House before His Honor Judge Macdonald, for the trial of cases without a jury. There are only a few cases to be heard.

THE GREAT WESTERN dollar excursion to Niagara Falls will take place to-morrow. Parties can procure tickets, up till eight o'clock this evening, at F. Gauhan's down town office of the Railway Company.

DIVORCED.—Mrs. Kent Mason-Clayton, the well-known temperance lecturess, who visited Guelph last fall and spoke at various meetings, has been divorced from her husband in Chicago recently. The Ottawa Free Press says:—"No wonder; the only redeeming feature about the man was his moderately good looks. She would undoubtedly wear the pantaloons, no matter what sort of a husband she has."

DOMINION DAY.—One of the great events of the day in Guelph will be the Foresters' demonstration from Toronto. The agricultural Park has been secured for the purpose. The programme of sports, archery, and dancing, and the baby show is large, and large money prizes will be offered for competition. The programme will be published to-morrow.

THISTLES.—"Canada thistles never looked better," is the report from several localities, and very unwelcome news it is. Strict attention should be paid by municipalities to enforce the statute in regard to destroying those noxious weeds. In Guelph there are acres of Canada thistles, and on some streets in the suburbs of the town they could not grow thicker than they are at present. The Council should see that they are cut down before going to seed.

HORSE THIEF CAPTURED.—On Tuesday evening a young man named Fisher hired a horse and buggy from Bricker's livery stable in New Hamburg. He stated that he would return in a couple of hours. At noon on Wednesday Bricker was satisfied that the horse was stolen, and started in pursuit. He found that Fisher had been in Guelph, and had been sporting around with some woman of reputation. He afterwards went to Hamilton, and Bricker following, had him arrested on Friday afternoon.

A LETTER has been received from Manitoba which states that Wm. McAllister, formerly of Guelph, has purchased a four-hundred acre farm, within thirteen miles from Winnipeg, from James Barclay William McDonald will work the farm with him; George Wardrope intends securing a farm in the neighborhood, and Winer Wardrope will accompany a surveying expedition during the summer months. They all think there is no country like Manitoba.

LARGE SALE OF STRAWBERRIES ON SATURDAY.—The Strawberry King, F. J. Drew as he was known in Oshawa, Ontario Co., has truly become the Strawberry King of Wellington, having sold on Saturday the large amount of 21 cases of 54 baskets each, and then run out at half past eight o'clock in the evening. He received nine cases this a.m., from his Acton patches, and were nearly all sold in two hours. He expects 25 cases in this evening.

LARGE FUNERAL.—On Sunday afternoon the late John Greene, who met his death on Thursday evening, was followed to the Roman Catholic cemetery by a very large procession. Altogether there were nearly one hundred carriages containing relatives and friends of the deceased. The body was first taken to St. Bartholomew's church, where the very impressive service of the church was conducted, and afterwards to the cemetery.

MODERATE to fresh southwesterly to northwesterly winds and fair weather are the weather probabilities received to-day.

On Saturday the Beavers—a junior club, played a match with the Athletics at Elora. On account of rain coming on only seven innings were played. The Beavers scored seven while their opponents only scored one on the last innings. The game was a very good one throughout and was much better played in many respects than clubs years their senior. The St. Mary's Poisoning Case.

ST. MARY'S, June 22.—The inquest was resumed at nine o'clock. The coroner announced that at a private meeting last night it was decided not to hear counsel. Mr. Jones took exception to deceased's ante-mortem evidence, as he had hopes of recovering, as shown by his asking for a doctor. County Attorney Hayes maintained the admissability of deceased's evidence, as exclusive of all hopes of dying was impossible. A reasonable expectancy of death is sufficient. The coroner then pointed out the law of evidence and gave a resume of the evidence. Dr. Ford declined to make any statement other than his entire innocence of Guest's death. At 1:15 to-day the jury were locked up.

The jury, after twelve hours' deliberation, brought in the following verdict:

This jury is of the opinion, from the evidence, that the deceased, Robert Guest, came to his death at St. Mary's on the 5th day of June inst., by having taken some irritant poison into his stomach. And this jury find that the said poison was given to him by Adam Enoch Ford, M.D. They are unable to discover from what motive, or whether the said Adam Enoch Ford premeditated or intended bodily injury.

Preparing for the 12th in Montreal.

On Friday afternoon several magistrates were in consultation with the Mayor of Montreal in reference to the preservation of peace on the 12th of July, and his expressed intentions were satisfactory to them. Their views are expressed in the following sentence communicated to the Witness:—

We are pleased to be able to state that our Mayor and other civic authorities, fully alive to the gravity of the occasion, are making all possible arrangements to prevent any breach of the peace. It is not the intention to make the arrangements known until after July the 1st at least, notwithstanding the clamour of some individual Orangemen, who have stated that the body here would issue a proclamation to invite outside Orangemen to the city if they did not know within a few days that they were to be protected in procession. The attention of the Mayor appears to be immediately directed to the passage of the Act for the Suppression of Party Processions, and he will go down to Quebec on Monday with the object of getting this Bill through. He has entrusted it to the charge of Hon. James Ferrier. The magistrates who are in the confidence of his Worship in this matter state that there need not be the slightest anxiety on the part of our citizens, who may rest assured that the peace will be preserved and that rioting will be kept down with a strong arm.

Solicitor-General Chauveau left Quebec on Saturday for Montreal to ascertain what police or military arrangements it will be necessary to make in order to prevent a violation of the peace in that city on the 12th of July.

Reception to Hanlan.

Late on Friday evening the members of the Hanlan Club, Toronto, determined to deviate from the original programme laid down for the champion, whom it was at first intended should go direct from Pittsburgh to Brockville to prepare for the race on Dominion day; but so great was the desire of the Toronto public to tender their congratulations to their townsman that it was decided to get a party together and charter the Chicora for a special trip to Niagara, where Hanlan had been directed by telegraph to go. Accordingly at two o'clock on Saturday afternoon the steamer left her wharf with about three hundred ladies and gentlemen on board, including a number of the members of the Hanlan Club, and several of the leading residents of Toronto.

Shortly after arriving at Niagara the train bearing Hanlan and party came in. The appearance of Hanlan on the platform, accompanied by Col. Shaw, Messrs. T. and J. Louden, his referee and trainer, Mr. David Ward, and Mr. Douglas, was the signal for a loud and prolonged burst of plandits, which the champion acknowledged. As he alighted a general rush was made to shake hands with him, and hearty congratulations were showered on him from every side. Soon he was taken possession of by half a dozen fishermen, who escorted him to a skiff decorated by flowers, placed him in it, and hoisted it on the shoulders of J. Bolton, C. Bolton, C. Ball, A. Ball, R. Reid and J. Masters, he was carried to two trestles covered with union jacks placed opposite a large table, the crowd pressing around him and cheering in the most enthusiastic manner.

On arriving at Toronto thousands upon thousands welcomed Hanlan—the whole sporting fraternity of the city being wild in their delight. The streets were so completely blocked that a procession was out of the question. Luncheon was served at the Queen's Hotel, when Col. Shaw, Mayor Morrison and other influential men of the city were present, and made happy and appropriate speeches.

It has been decided to purchase a homestead in Toronto for Hanlan, and present it to him.

The stories of the famine in Brazil appear to be almost as bad as those which we used to receive from India. The crops have all failed owing to drought and, unless help arrives, some thousands must perish. The people are little short of animated skeletons—a condition produced by starvation and attendant disease.

The Temperance Tent.

Sabbath Meeting in the Tent.

The rain yesterday produced small congregations in the churches, but to the surprise of everyone a large audience assembled at four o'clock in the tent. The choir and workers were there in good numbers, and everything passed off in keeping with the day. Rev. E. Haskell read a part of the tenth Psalm; Brother Ryan opened with prayer; two songs from the Gospel hymns constituted the opening exercises.

Rev. Mr. Manchee made an opening address. He referred with great pleasure to Canon Farrar's temperance sermon, delivered recently in Westminster Abbey, and to the noble position then taken in the temperance cause. He commended it to the perusal of every one. It is published in last week's Montreal Witness.

He also stated the case of a young man, the son of a clergyman, a graduate of the university with the highest honors, who, through the habit of drink formed while in the university, had sunk so low as now to be going about the streets of London reciting chapters from the Scriptures at a penny a chapter, to get money to satisfy the demands of his insatiate appetite. This is but one instance of many thousands of the fearful bondage of the cup, and of its utter disregard of talents, rank or station. It should be enough to warn everyone to leave the cup before it gets such an unrelenting hold. Rev. Mr. Haskell spoke also in further illustration of the fatal power of drink. He said a young man, a clerk in a dry goods store in Hamilton, last winter lost his wife under the most painful circumstances, greatly aggravated through drink, and it was not three days from her burial before that husband, driven to desperation through drink, offered the wedding ring token from the finger of his dead wife for drink, and but for a kind friend of temperance this last token of wedded life would have gone over the bar to the drink seller, to add another victim to its relentless cruelty. No tongue can tell the fearful power of drink to blunt and destroy every fine sentiment of our being, and tear or render every holy bond. Beware before it be too late and shun the intoxicating cup. In total abstinence is safety from these tragic scenes.

AN OLD RESIDENT GONE TO HIS REST.—We have to-day to chronicle the death of Mr. David McCrae, senr., who for the last eight or ten years has been an honored and respected resident of Guelph, and who at the ripe old age of 78 has passed away full of years and honors. The deceased belonged to Kirkcudbrightshire, Scotland, from which place he came to Canada in 1849, and lived for some six or seven years on the old Davis farm on the Guelph Township and Nichol line. From thence he removed to the Township of Stanley, in the County of Huron, where he followed farming till about eight or ten years ago, when advancing age warned him that it was time to give up active work. He accordingly removed to Guelph, near to his son, Mr. Thomas McCrae, and his grandson, Mr. David McCrae, and during these years he preserved a wonderfully hale and hearty appearance. About six months ago, however, he began to suffer from heart disease, and since that time was confined to the house, though he remained cheerful and conscious to the last. He was fully conscious, and well prepared for death, and calmly fell asleep on Saturday afternoon, after a manful and successful battle with the world. He leaves behind him a widow, seven years his elder, and three sons and two daughters, besides a number of grand-children.

LISTOWEL.—A gentleman from Dundas has been in town for a few days, prospecting for a suitable place to start a large pork-packing establisement.——Arrangements are being made to have the Hon. Alexander Mackenzie and several of his colleagues speak in Listowel.

A NUMBER of gentlemen who were talking about agriculture, dwelt a good deal on the bad husbandry of the farming regions, when a lady present gave spice to the discussion by saying, "Gentlemen, the worst husbandry seen in this country is when you harrow up the feelings of your wives."

The Dominion Immigration agent at Duluth is doing much effective work in looking after the interests of Manitoba emigrants landed there. He has issued a circular warning emigrants against Minnesota land sharpers, and they are being freely distributed throughout the Provinces.

Never be ashamed of confessing your ignorance, for the wisest man upon earth is ignorant of many things, insomuch that what he knows is a mere nothing in comparison to what he does not know. But we apprehend very few are ignorant of the wonderful effects of the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," its a most sure and rapid cure for colds, rheumatism, pleurisy, colic, cholera morbus, and all summer complaints. Sold by all medicine dealers.

A common cough or cold should never be trifled with: often when neglected it is converted into a serious and generally fatal pulmonary disease. The more prudent, aware of this, promptly use "Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers," a curative which has sustained its reputation for over twenty years. They are always efficacious and exert a most beneficial influence on all the bronchial and pulmonary organs. Sold by all druggists and country dealers at 25 cents a bottle.

Our Citizen Soldiers.

The Battery and 30th Battalion Under Canvas.

(From a Mercury Correspondent.)

The Field Battery arrived at Kinnettles at half-past ten o'clock, and were escorted to the grounds, which they have taken up, by the 30th Battalion Band. The Battery camp is about half a mile distant from where the Battalion is encamped.

After the nine-pounders had been placed in the Gun Park, the Gunners and Drivers fell into fatigue parties—four in each—and pitched tents. After dinner the Battery fell in for orders. At this parade two of the men dropped in the ranks, owing to being completely used up by their long tramp from Guelph. They were attended to in the Hospital by Staff Sergeant Hall. They soon recovered and were none the worse for their faint. The first guard was mounted at five o'clock, Corporal Andrews in charge, with the rain falling fast. Notwithstanding this the men were in the best of spirits. Gun-fire and roll-call at 9:30 o'clock and the whole camp was ready to adjourn to the blankets. Some of the youngsters now think that going to camp is not all play, and that there is much more to be done than to sport fine uniforms.

The men are not allowed to go a greater distance than one mile from camp without a pass. Every man is to wear his belt and gloves when away from camp. Gunners are allowed to carry walking sticks—no clubs; while non-coms. and drivers can carry whips.

On Sunday morning the five o'clock gun startled many who could have comfortably slept till noon. Shortly afterwards the 30th Band serenaded the Battery—an unexpected pleasure. Every man was in his place at half past five parade.

The following are the Battery orders issued:—

1. The officer commanding has been pleased to make the following appointment, to date from the 20th inst.:—To be Farrier, with the rank of Staff Sergeant, No. 253, Gunner Frederick C. Grenside.

2. Nos. 1 are to see that all blankets are neatly folded and piled in the tents of their sub-divisions, and for that purpose they will have charge of the lines of tents on the flanks of those of their sub-divisions proper—Nos. 1, those of the right and Nos. 2, those of the left.

3. All tent and pin bags are to be kept in the tents they belong to, the N. C. O. in charge will be responsible for their safe keeping.

4. Each No. 1 will name to the Commanding Officer, for approval, a Gunner of their sub-division as No. 2, who, if approved, will be No. 2 of such sub-divisions, and will be at all times responsible for the gun and carriage of his sub-division.

At a quarter to ten the entire camp—Battery and Battalion—paraded to Melville church, presenting a very fine appearance.

Rev. Mr. Smellie gave a short address of welcome to the military, and Rev. Mr. Ball, Battalion Chaplain, preached a very eloquent sermon from the 4th verse of the 2nd chapter of II Timothy. His words were particularly applicable to the military. He urged upon them their duty to God as well as to their country, and spoke of the great benefits to be derived from Bible reading in camp. The great curse of intemperance was referred to and the soldiers warned against the pernicious effect of indulging in liquor. He hoped the young men would not forget the example that had been shown them at home by the holding of morning and evening prayers.

Rev. Mr. Smellie extended an invitation to the military to attend the Wednesday evening prayer meeting.

The soldiers joined heartily in the choral portion of the service.

After returning to the camp the soldiers were allowed to take it easy. During the afternoon the camps were visited by a large number of civilians, notwithstanding a disagreeable rain coming down.

The Fergus Company was first to march in and mount guard, followed by the Elora Company, which was detailed also for fatigue duty in erecting tents, &c. EXECUTION OF A ST. JOHN MURDERER.—William Vaughan, the murderer of Mary Quinn, was hanged in the yard of the St. John, N. B., County Jail, on Saturday morning. The crime was committed on the 13th of February last. The victim was an old woman of seventy years, weak and defenceless, and living in a hut on the Loch Lomond Road, near Little River. Vaughan, a drunken, worthless fellow, wandering out on the road the day mentioned, assailed the woman and was repulsed, when he killed her and fled. He denies that he outraged the woman, but the medical testimony, at the trial showed that he even violated her person after death had taken place. He was arrested within twenty-four hours after the deed had been committed, and when tried, was convicted entirely on circumstantial evidence. He maintained for a long time that he was innocent, but finally, as the day of execution approached he made a confession. The execution was strictly private, there being few present, except the officials and press representatives.

If you want to catch all the flies in the room, call at Mr. Horsman's and purchase a patent fly trap; he has also a large variety of wire dish covers, preserving kettles, scythes, grass hooks, scissors, pocket knives, and a choice assortment of all descriptions of hardware, which he is selling at prices which command attention.

...ess of the first ... will more than ... of the corresponding months ... previous year. Although the returns from the outlying land districts have been received at the Winnipeg office only up to the middle of May, 1878, we find that from the first of January to that date, 101,800 acres have been homesteaded, against 32,187 acres from January to June of the previous year, 1877; pre-emptions 94,560 acres against 21,996 acres; forest-tree claims, 2,240 acres against 640 acres during same period. Actual settlers have taken up this season to the middle of May, 198,100 acres against 54,828 acres taken up from January to June of last year, or an increase in homesteads of 69,113 acres; in pre-emptions of 72,564 acres; in forest-tree claims of 1,600 acres. When it is considered that the returns, although covering the period from the first of January to the middle of May, represent the business in homestead locations practically only since the opening of navigation, a period of six weeks, the exhibit must be regarded as a most flattering one.

An analysis of the immigration shows that it has spread in every direction in the North West. To prove that the transactions in Dominion lands have been almost made exclusively for actual settlement, thus far this season it may be stated that whereas the sales for the first half of the year 1877 were 78,660 acres the sales this year purchased with cash scrip and M. B. warrant have amounted to only 52,000 acres, thus affording gratifying evidence that the lands of the Province are being taken up for actual settlement and not for speculative purposes to any extent.

This gratifying result is largely owing to the greater encouragement afforded the actual settler by the present Government. The Minister of the Interior has set his face against the practice of giving reservations of the choicest townships to influential companies, societies or individuals. He declines to make further reservations of this kind, and seems determined to cancel those already made just as soon and as rapidly as the period of their expiring arrives and the conditions remain unfulfilled. He is willing to set apart, and has actually set apart, the choicest lands in the Province for actual settlement only, refusing to sell it for cash or scrip, but freely giving it upon the one condition of actual settlement and cultivation upon it.

MR. FRANCIS JONES refuses to abide by the decision of the North Leeds Conservative Convention, which nominated Dr. Ferguson, and there is, in consequence, great trouble in the Tory camp.

THE London Times in an editorial on the Fishery Award says:—The English Government have no course open to them except to take the money without enquiry and without qualms of conscience. England is aware of no circumstance which affects the integrity of the tribunal. Had she been she would not have waited for the award to repudiate its authority.

THE Colonial Secretary has acknowledged the receipt of a despatch enclosing the address presented to Lord Dufferin by the Senate and House of Commons, and adds:—"I have received with pleasure and have communicated to the Queen this well deserved tribute to the value of the services which you have rendered during your administration of the Government of the Dominion."

MR. SPEAKER TURCOTTE arrived at Three Rivers on Saturday night, and was warmly greeted by his constituents, who presented him with an address, which was influentially signed, congratulating him on his election as Speaker, and approving of his course in Parliament. This is specially noteworthy considering the howl raised by the Programmist press over Mr. Turcotte's action in supporting the Joly Government.

THE Montreal Gazette (Tory Protectionist) says:—"We have learned on good authority that a single firm, which will shortly return to Canada from England, will bring back, for cattle exported to the latter country, a million and a half pounds sterling. The results of other like operations in cattle, horses, sheep and pigs, will add materially to this sum. This news, with the promise of an abundant crop, is very encouraging. Canada is evidently determined to be satisfied with nothing but a front rank in whatever she undertakes."

IN case the members of the Quebec Legislative Council carry out their threats of rejecting the Assembly's vote of the Estimates, the majority of the Assembly will pass a vote authorizing the Government to spend money without the consent of the Council, and an appeal will probably be made by the Government to England. The following is Mr. Chapleau's amendment in reference to the motion for the adoption of the report of the Committee of Supply:—That this House, reaffirming its desire to practice the strictest economy in all the branches of the public service, regrets that, contrary to these principles of economy, His Honor had been advised to dissolve the Legislature against the wish of the latter, necessitating the enormous expense of a general election, of an extraordinary session retarding the completion of our great enterprises, and thus prejudicially affecting the credit of the Province.

FIRE NEAR ELMIRA.—About noon on the 14th inst., the fine stone residence of Mr. John Railey, some two miles west of Elmira, together with a large portion of its contents, was destroyed by fire. The old gentleman was from home at the time. The building was comparatively new. Insured in the Economical for $600, but this will not nearly cover the loss.

SERIOUS ACCIDENT.—On Thursday last as Mr. George Mason and family, of East Garafraxa, were driving in a democrat waggon the horses gave a little start, causing the hind seat to dip backwards and throwing the occupants out. Mrs. Mason fell violently to the ground, and injured her spine, but the others escaped without injury.

FERGUS.—The following are the officers of the lacrosse club: Colin Grindly, Capt.; Frank Sheppard, Secretary; Harry Vincent, Treasurer.——A. D. Ferrier has purchased the property formerly owned by him on south side of Union street, immediately opposite his old residence.——The News Record says that in spite of the so-called hard times, Fergus, like a good many other villages in Ontario, bids fair soon to be numbered with the towns of this flourishing province. A number of buildings are in course of erection.

ADDRESS TO LORD DUFFERIN.—The Quebec Legislature on Saturday presented an address to the Governor-General. The Lieutenant-Governor and Ministers of the Local Government attended His Excellency, who wore the star and ribbon of the Order of St. Patrick. His Excellency stood in front of the throne, and was surrounded by a brilliant assemblage of thirty officers of the different local staff and militia corps. The members of the Council and Assembly occupied the vacant space in the centre of the Chamber, and on either stood the ladies and invited guests. His Excellency made a very happy reply to the address.

LITTELL'S LIVING AGE.—The numbers of The Living Age for the weeks ending June 15th and 22nd respectively, have the following noteworthy contents:—Skepticism in Geology; The Political Adventures of Lord Beaconsfield, part II.; The death of the Duke de M——, translated from the French of E. Daudet; The Azores; The Greatness of the Romans, by Prof. Goldwin Smith; Illustrations of the Acts from Recent Discoveries, by Canon Lightfoot; MacLeod of Dare, by William Black, from advance sheets; Within the Precincts, by Mrs. Oliphant, from advance sheets; Diderot at St. Petersburg; How to Live on a Reduced Income; The House across the Street, a story; Turkish wives; Basque Customs; Pictures and Dress; The Microphone; The Feast of Lanterns at Canton; Tibet; The Letter "H," a Historical Conjecture, with choice poetry, etc. For fifty-two such numbers, of sixty-four large pages each (or more than 3,000 pages a year), the subscription price ($8) is low; or for $10.50 any one of the American $4 monthlies or weeklies is sent with The Living Age for a year, both post paid. Littell & Gay, Boston, are the publishers.

AMERICAN DIVORCES NOT GOOD IN CANADA.—A decision was given in Montreal a few days ago by Mr. Justice MacKay, which is causing no small sensation in the matrimonial world. It appears that Mrs. Haynes, a woman who had been married in Canada, went to the States some time ago and procured a divorce, subsequent to which she again married in Canada. Her second matrimonial adventure did not prove much more of a success than the first one, as she was obliged to sue her second husband for maintenance. It was in adjudicating on this case that the decision was given which has had the effect of directing public attention in a marked degree to the state of our marriage laws. Justice Mackay ruled that the action could not be sustained, on the ground that a divorce granted in the United States was not legal in the Dominion, and that, consequently Mrs. Haynes was not legally married to the man she called her second husband. This judgment is likely to prove a very unpleasant revelation to many living in Canada, for there are no doubt, many cases in Canada similar to that of the unfortunate Mrs. Haynes.

We have received the reprint of the June number of Blackwood from the Leonard Scott Publishing Co., 41 Barclay St., N. Y. Of the serials, Laurence Lockhart's story, "Mine is Thine," which has been running through the magazine for the past year, is concluded; and "John Caldigate, Part III.," introduces us to gold-mining adventures in New South Wales. The article "New Books" takes up some half-dozen recently published works—biographies, travels, poems, and Anglo-Indian life—and aided by liberal extracts, gives quite an interesting account of them. For poetry we have "The Epic of the Lion," a translation from Victor Hugo; and two short poems, "Companions of the Road" and "Tantalus," by W. W. Story. The article entitled "Foreign Opinion on England in the East" contains some striking extracts from a forthcoming work—Mr. Nassau Senior's conversations during the years 1852 to 1858, with eminent Continental statesmen on the subject of Russian objects and English interests. With the aid of this paper, and articles in former numbers, and two other articles, "Have Ministers been Consistent?" and "Political Suspense," in the present number, readers will be well prepared to understand the points in dispute in connection with the Treaty of San Stefano. The periodicals reprinted by the Leonard Scott Publishing Co. (41 Barclay Street, N. Y.) are as follows:—The London Quarterly, Edinburgh, Westminster, and British Quarterly Reviews, and Blackwood's Magazine. Price, $4 a year for any one, or only $15 for all, and the postage is prepaid by the Publishers.

Harold the Outlaw

—OR—

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XLVIII.

SCENES IN A BARN.

"I can't do more than this," he said, as his ruddy face flushed still redder with shame. "I can't return you any of the money I received for——"

"Say no more about that," interrupted Dixon. "The money was freely given, and the service you have rendered is fully worth it."

"Say you so? Then, I am relieved."

"And so are we all," exclaimed Harold. "Will you go around to the inn with us, Gillespie, and see my wife and Mrs. M'Pherson?"

The gauger hesitated. "The last I should much like to see, and Mrs. Logan also, but I dare not appear in her presence. You forget what cause she has to hate—to abhor me."

"Tush, man, Lizzie is too happy to bear malice, even if her nature prompted her. Come."

"On that assurance I will, for I own I have a strong curiosity to see the heroines who have suffered so much and so bravely. Wait here, Ned; I'll soon be back."

The gauger's hat lay on the floor near the canvass screen. He was advancing to lift it up, when a corner of the screen was drawn aside, and a man appeared, the sight of whom made Gillespie stagger back, with an aspect of terrible consternation.

At the stranger's back was another man, who stood holding up the screen after the first passed through, and behind him could be seen others more in the doorway of the barn.

The person whose appearance had struck the gauger with such dismay was an Aberdeen Sheriff's officer. Gillespie knew him well, as also did Walter Adamson.

"Good God, Fyfe! what want you?" gasped Gillespie, who had turned white as ashes.

The messenger, before making reply, cast his eye rapidly over the group, the presence of some of whom caused him evident surprise. But he was not a man to give outward demonstration to his inward feeling; and, after his survey was completed by a keener glance direct to Skeat than to the rest, he turned gravely to the gauger and said—

"I have come on a very painful and disagreeable business, Mr. Gillespie. I have a warrant from the Sheriff for your apprehension."

"Me! my apprehension! What suspicion can attach to me? I was from home when the house was burnt. Ask my servants—ask the neighbors—and they will tell you so. Besides, the fire was accidental; there is no proof that it was otherwise. Who says there is? who has lodged infor——"

"Stay, Mr. Gillespie," interrupted the officer, with a warning gesture, "Do not utter words which raise suspicion of another crime from that charged against you. The warrant has not been granted on a charge of fire-raising."

"What else?"

"FORGERY."

Gillespie reeled against the wall and gazed at the messenger in stupified horror. Had all eyes been fixed on him it would have been noticed that Edward Skeat had suddenly become equally pale and agitated. Fyfe's eagle glance did take in the circumstance, and so did the eye of his concurrent, but by all else the clerk's consternation was unobserved.

"For—ger—y," uttered Gillespie, with the faltering accents of a paralyzed tongue.

This was the bursting of an unlooked for thunderbolt. The precautions he had taken against discovery had so long proved successful that he had ceased to fear it, hence the overwhelming effect produced on him now.

"Here is the warrant; you had better read it," said the officer, in a calm yet pitying tone, for the gauger's terrible position was one he sincerely regretted.

Gillespie mechanically took the paper from Fyfe's hand, and his own shook violently as he grasped it. His bloodshot eyes ran over the words of the fatal document, whose phraseology he so well knew, and there he had full confirmation of the officer's words. It gave the messenger authority, and charged him imperatively to seize and convey to the Aberdeen Tolbooth the person of Malcolm Gillespie, Excise Officer, Skene, on a charge of forgery preferred against him by the Procurator-Fiscal for the County.

The paper fell from Gillespie's nerveless fingers, he uttered a loud groan, covered his face with his hands, and ejaculated—

"Good God, I'm a gone man!"

Those who heard him knew then that the charge was true, and Harold and Adamson were transfixed with horror.

In a moment or two the gauger started up and wildly exclaimed, addressing the officer—

"Let me get out of the way for a short time. I will put all right."

The messenger shook his head very decidedly.

"That is impossible—utterly impossible—I must do my duty. None know that better than you."

The gauger threw up his hands with a gesture of despair. Ruin had come like an avalanche—the vision of the scaffold rose up before him. He felt that he was, as he had expressed it, "A gone man."

The officer took from his pocket a second paper, saying as he did so—

"I have another warrant for the apprehension of Edward Skeat, on the same charge."

Skeat trembled violently, but said nothing. His guilty heart quaked as fearfully as that of his master, but he knew it was wiser not to speak.

"If you would like a little time for arrangements I can wait a little," observed Fyfe, in the same tone of kind commiseration.

"How are you to convey us? asked the gauger, who had somewhat recovered calmness.

"We have brought a carriage. It is standing outside.",

"Then take us away at once, we have no arrangements to make, and I want to be gone before the neighbors know of it."

"Your wishes shall be complied with."

He motioned to his concurrent, who went forward and tapped Skeat on the shoulder with his baton, taking him at the same time by the arm. Fyfe did the same to Gillespie.

The gauger then turned to Harold with a somewhat mournful look and held out his hand.

"Farewell," he murmured.

"Gillespie," returned Harold, huskily, this is a dreadful business; but you will be able to clear yourself."

A ghastly smile was all the answer the other vouchsafed.

When he held out his hand to Adamson, he said—

"Will you do what you can for me?"

"I will," answered the advocate, promptly. "I will see you to-morrow."

"Thank you. Now, Fyfe, we are ready."

The two prisoners were led out carefully guarded to the carriage which waited close by the barn door. Round the door, and kept back by two other concurrents, an excited group was collected, composed of the members of the gauger's household.

When the officer appeared with the prisoners one of the woman named Jenny Greig burst forward with distracted air, and exclaimed—

"Don't take Malcolm away. It wasn't him that set fire to the house. It was George Brownie and Lexey Campbell."

"Hush!—silence!" said Gillespie to her with stern emphasis; but the words were spoken, and their effect was to come.

Gillespie entered the carriage in haste, as if anxious to pass beyond the observation of the onlookers. Skeat followed, and Fyfe was about to enter last, when he paused, and turned to Adamson and Harold, who stood close by.

"I believe I ought to make another arrest," he said, as he looked at the latter.

Quite unnecessary, Fyfe—quite unnecessary," returned the lawyer, "Sir Harold Logan is on his way to Aberdeen, to put himself at the disposal of the authorities. I give you my word for it."

"Ah, well, if that is so——"

He finished the sentence with a nod of approval, vaulted into the carriage, and shut the door. The two concurrents being seated in front, the word was given to start, and the vehicle moved away past the ruins of the burned house on the road to Aberdeen.

Gillespie neither spoke nor moved, but sat with bowed head till he came to a part of the road which he knew commanded the last look of Skene. Here he asked permission to alight that he might gaze for a few moments on the familiar scene. Fyfe consented, the carriage was stopped, and the gauger got out, the officer holding him firmly by the arm.

He stepped to the side of the road and gazed long and wistfully at the village, at the ruins of what had been his home, and at the wide prospect around, on which the splendid light of the afternoon sun lay like a flood of glory. What his thoughts were at that moment who can tell? They were, no doubt, very bitter, but the act, while it showed him to be possessed of natural sensibility, indicated a foreboding in his mind that he should never return.

He did not speak; he only stood for a minute or two with a wistful, mournful expression on his face, and when he turned to re-enter the carriage his eyes were diffused with tears.

* * * * *

An hour later Harold and his party left Broadcastle Inn, and journeyed along the same road. They were all saddened in spirit by the gauger's arrest; but nothing could cloud the thrilling happiness of Myra, who had her recovered child in her arms.

An Impudent Lie.

Messrs. S. M. Pettengill & Co., of New York, have just issued a new edition of their Newspaper Directory for 1878. The list includes the newspapers published in Canada. As regards the circulation of papers, the Publishers say:—"The circulations reported are, in all cases, those given by the publishers themselves. The circulations which appear in full-face figures have been sworn to, and the affidavits are on file in the office of the Directory. Turning to the papers published in Guelph we find the Herald's circulation given in full-face figures—being sworn to on affidavit as follows:—Daily 986; weekly 3,560.

Now, we pronounce the above statement an impudent, unblushing and premeditated lie, and yet the returns according to Pettingill & Co., are sworn to on affidavit. We beg further to state that the Herald's bona fide circulation is far, far below those returns given to the Directory, and we know whereof we speak; but even such barefaced lying shall not tempt us to betray confidence and give particulars or state what we know when doing thankless favors for that office.

We challenge the Herald to make good its statement and affidavit or confess itself guilty of a gross deception. Even admitting for a moment that it was true, what a vast difference must there be between the circulations of the MERCURY and the Herald, as is proven by our own authentic post office returns. On the 11th April we published a return, which can be sworn to if necessary, that the postage paid by all the papers published in this County from the 1st of January, 1877, to 30th September, of the same year was $413.38. Of this sum the MERCURY paid for that period for postage $194.41, being within $24.56 of THE HALF OF THE ENTIRE POSTAGE PAID BY THE WHOLE OF THE NEWSPAPERS PUBLISHED IN THE COUNTY OF WELLINGTON—and there are ten of these including the Herald—besides the MERCURY. The postage is fixed by the weight of the papers taken to the post office, so that there is no chance of deception or erroneous returns. And we have no hesitation in saying that since that time—September 30th, 1877—the postage paid by the MERCURY has proportionately advanced, which is a sure test of the growing increase of its circulation. The Herald has a peculiar weakness for blowing its own trumpet, but this last stretcher throws Dr. Tupper's efforts completely in the shade.

EXPLOSION OF "HERALD" GAS.

The Herald, with its characteristic low cunning, dodges the question about its circulation. We want to nail it to the one point, on which we challenged it, and on which we are ready to stake $100, that the returns it gives of its circulation to S. M. Pettengill & Co., for their Directory, on affidavit, are untrue, and a gross fabrication. When it has disposed of this challenge, then we will deal with its buncombe wager. We were first in the field with our challenge, and we want to nail this lie to the counter.

LATEST FROM THE EAST.

THE CONGRESS.

BERLIN, 25.—The sitting of Congress lasted three hours, and was very animated during the discussion on the condition for the appointment of a commission to regulate the Balkan frontier. Schouvaloff intimated that Russia would insist upon a prolonged occupation of Southern Bulgaria. It was vigorously opposed by the British and Austrian representatives. Subsequently Schouvaloff proposed several amendments to the terms agreed upon on Saturday regarding the limitation of Bulgaria. Beaconsfield strenuously objected and threatened to withdraw if England's demands were unsatisfied. It finally decided to allow Russia nine months from the signature of a definite treaty to withdraw from Eastern Roumania and Bulgaria.

The Congress meets again to-day.

CATHOLIC PIC-NIC AT KINNETTLES.—The union pic-nic held at Kinnettles on the 13th in aid of the Catholic churches of Fergus and Elora was well attended, although, considering the delightful weather and the object, it was expected that even more people would be present. The News Record says:—An interesting event was the voting upon who should receive a silver headed cane, Dr. Orton and Mr. Robinson being nominated. Upon the votes being counted after the close of the poll at the time fixed, it was found that Mr. Robinson was six votes ahead; but upon the announcement being made public the Dr.'s friends declared that they were not yet bankrupt, and as the sole object of the voting was to raise money no objection was offered to the proposition that voting be renewed. After a time the poll was again closed and the votes counted, when Mr. Robinson was found to be four ahead. Still another chance was asked for and granted, when a few of the Dr.'s warm personal friends made a big push deep down into their own pockets, and as a reward for their self-sacrifice they had the satisfaction of seeing their man considerably ahead when next the ballots were counted. Some $80 were realized from the voting upon the cane, and the total receipts from all sources will foot up to about $300. A very enjoyable time was spent, and everything passed off pleasantly.

If you want to catch all the flies in the room, call at Mr. Horsman's and purchase a patent fly trap; he has also a large variety of wire dish covers, preserving kettles, scythes, grass hooks, scissors, pocket knives, and a choice assortment of all descriptions of hardware, which he is selling at prices which command attention.

BOND & Co., have received American and Canadian brass and enamelled preserving kettles which they are selling extremely low. They have also pure Paris green—warranted to do its work—price as low as most of the adulterated stuff sold.

The Colonnade Hotel, Philadelphia, Pa., exhibits the secret of its great popularity and success by wisely maintaining its old standard of excellence since its reduction of rates. eod

A social dance will afterwards take place.

THE EXCURSION THIS MORNING.—About 150 townspeople went on the excursion train this morning to Hamilton and the Falls. About the same number of persons were on the train when it arrived here, having got on at stations above. A number also joined the party at Galt. A fine day has been selected for the trip, and it is hoped that all will enjoy themselves and return safely home this evening. No doubt the G. W. R. Co. will organize other cheap excursions over their lines from this section during the summer months.

WE have received the advance sheets of the NEW DOMINION MONTHLY for July, containing the WITNESS fifty dollar Prize Poem, and the five other poems which received honorable mention. CORNET BAND. — A number of Guelph citizens have determined that the town is to have a first-class band, and they have kept agitating the matter, until now affairs are assuming something of a shape that look as though the matter would be brought about all right. A number of the ratepayers have petitioned the Mayor to call a public meeting to consider the question of providing the ways and means to successfully keep up a cornet band, and that meeting is set down for Thursday evening.

THERE is a vacancy for a mathematical teacher in the Guelph High School, owing to the resignation of Mr. George Somerville, who has been appointed School Inspector.

The Kinnettles Camp.

Wellington Field Battery Notes.

(From a Mercury Correspondent).

MONDAY, June 24.

The two Divisions of the Battery are now settling down to work, and the only satisfaction the privates have is that the officers are kept nearly as busy as they are. This morning there was a considerable dose of field drill and driving administered. Squad drill was performed in the afternoon.

The Trumpeter met with an accident this morning. As he was returning to the camp after the regular parade, on account of the breaking of a strap the saddle turned over and threw him heavily to the ground. He was little injured. The horse was speedily captured, little the worse for a gallop on its own account.

The Battery boys are fond of butter. There was a small supply this morning, and many had to do without the slippery substance. The tea was not very plentiful. Considerable grumbling was the result of this state of affairs.

The high boots arrived to-day. The wearing of them improves the appearance of the Battery.

Gunner E. Evatt, of the Right Division, and Gunners McNaughton and Cameron, of the Left Division, have been appointed Bombardiers.

During the day a large number of visitors inspected the camp grounds. Already Cupid has been playing havoc with a number of the Battery boys. Sweet smiles and fine eyes have been more than their susceptible natures could stand. The strawberry festival held this evening has other attractions than luscious fruits.

MODERATE to fresh winds, mostly between west and south, and clear to fair weather, are the probabilities received to-day.

TOWN COUNCIL meets this evening for the purpose of receiving report of Special Committee appointed to consider the question of reception of the Press Association at its annual session in Guelph on the 9th of July.

READ W. T. Vale & Co's advertisement in another column about violin strings of steel wire. They are likely to almost entirely supplant the old string in course of time, as the atmosphere does not effect them.

POLICE COURT.—This (Tuesday) morning Thomas Edgar, of Rockwood, was charged by John Elliott, of Puslinch, with threatening to shoot him. The magistrate dismissed the case with costs, $6.15, to be paid by the plaintiff.

HANDSOME HARNESS.—Mr. Jos. Tovell harness maker, has just turned out of his shop a magnificent set of gold mounted harness for Mr. James Palmer's hack team of dappled bays. Every portion of the work connected with the harness is complete, and makes the turn-out with which it is connected very nobby in appearance.

INSTALLATION—At the meeting of Guelph Lodge A. F. and A. M., held in the Masonic Chamber, on Monday evening, the following officers were installed by Bro. P. M. Pettiford, assisted by Bro. P.M. Moore:—H. Walker, W.M.; J. Logan, S.W.; W. McElroy, J.W.; S. S. Walsh, Chap.; C. Davidson, Treas.; W. T. Vale, Secretary; J. Sutton, S. D.; J. Mitchell, J.D.; G. S. Grange, D. of C.; A. Hill, McIntosh & Innes, as to the Society renting the two rooms over their store, on Upper Wyndham street, was taken into consideration, when the committee decided to accept their offer on the terms proposed in their letter, subject to the plan of alteration being approved of by the committee. Meeting adjourned until Saturday next at 8 o'clock, when all sub-committees are to meet at Mr. Vale's store and report.

MOUNT FOREST.—At a social given last week under the auspices of the ladies of Knox church, the Rev. James McMillan was presented with an address and a purse containing $100.——The Mount Forest Orangemen have decided to celebrate the 12th at Harriston.——The June cattle fair was not a success so far as the sale of cattle was concerned. The prices continued about last month's quotations, and the transactions were not as numerous as usual.——A lad named James Queen, has been arrested on a charge of stealing a registered letter containing $10 out of the post office.——The verdict found in the suicide of Wm. Lovelock was that the deceased came to his death by hanging himself while in a state of melancholy or temporary insanity.

ARTHUR.—The bankrupt stock of Mrs. Catherine Drake has been purchased by H. McKinnon.——On the 15th inst., a son of John Bushlen miraculously escaped being fatally injured. He was driving a team of horses attached to a land roller, and was riding on the platform built over the roller. When opposite the Dominion Hotel the roller struck the plank crossing with such a force as to throw Master George over on the horses heels. The horses took fright and the roller passed square over the unfortunate boy. He only received some slight bruises.

CHURCH ANNIVERSARY.—The anniversary of the dedication of the Alton Congregational Church, was held on Sabbath, 16th of June. Two sermons were preached by Rev. W. Manchee, of Guelph, to large congregations. On Monday the annual soiree was held, which was attended by a very good congregations. A large sum was realized.

Board of Education.

The Board met on Monday night. Present—Judge Macdonald, Messrs. Knowles, Newton, Mackenzie, Leonard, Robertson, Inglis, Murton, Peterson, Wilkie, and Innes.

The Chairman read a communication from Mr. Graham in reference to the sale of the lot by him on Cambridge street to Board for $1,600.

The Finance Committee recommended the payment of G. J. Tovell's account, amounting to $120.05.

The report was adopted.

Mr. Murton presented the report of the Committee on Sites and Buildings, when the Board went into Committee of the Whole, Mr. Leonard in the chair. The report is as follows:—That having considered the motion referred to them in reference to the premium for plans and specifications for the new High School, they report that although Mr. Hall's plans were approved by the Board, the cost has exceeded the limit given, therefore, he is not entitled to the premium. That Mr. Day's plans, although highly commended, did not come within the conditions, as being plans and specifications best suited for this purpose, and therefore not approved of.

The report was carried in Committee of the Whole.

When the Board resumed

Mr. Murton moved, seconded by Mr. Robertson, that the report of the Sites and Buildings' Committee be amended by inserting that Mr. Day be paid the sum of $50 for his plans and specifications.—Lost.

The motion for the adoption of the report was carried.

The Board went into Committee of the whole on the offer that Mr. Graham made for the purchase of his lot on Cambridge street.

Mr. Peterson moved, that the offer be referred to the Committee of Sites and Buildings.

When the Board resumed, it was moved by Mr. Peterson, seconded by Mr. Leonard, that the motion passed in Committee be adopted.

Mr. Peterson moved, seconded by Mr. Mackenzie, that the Special Committee appointed to consider the tenure of the High School report, be allowed further time in which to make their report.—Carried.

Mr. G. A. Somerville resigned his position as mathematical master of the High School, having been appointed County School Inspector.

Moved by Mr. Peterson, seconded by Mr. Knowles, that Mr. Somerville's resignation be accepted, and in so doing, whilst expressing their regret at losing so efficient a teacher, at the same time cordially congratulate him on his appointment to so prominent and important a position as the one referred to.—Carried.

Moved by Mr. Wilkie, seconded by Mr. Mackenzie, that the School Management Committee be instructed to take steps for the appointment of a competent mathematical teacher in room of Mr. Somerville, the Committee to report at the meeting of the Board to be held on the fourth Monday of July.—Carried.

On motion of Mr. Murton the request of the Principal to have the High School closed on the 8th instead of the 12th, to suit the entrance examinations, was agreed to.

The Board then adjourned.

Temperance Tent.

The Meeting Last Night.

The twelfth meeting in the tent last night was well attended. The proceedings were opened by singing, reading of the Scriptures, and Rev. Thomas Brock led in prayer. The Rev. E. Haskell opened his remarks by speaking about a letter he held in his hand, headed the last of ten young men that took their first glass of wine when they were Students at the College, studying for the ministry. The writer himself was only a mere wreck through the use of liquor, and there was a class of men that studied with him about the same time that were total abstainers, and were filling stations of usefulness in different parts of the world. The nine Students met, and took their wine, and are now filling premature graves without any hope. It was sad and lamentable to hear that so many doctors recommend intoxicating liquors to their patients, when they know that there is so much misery and want brought about by its use. A case of one man who signed the pledge last summer and had kept his obligation until he was taken sick, was mentioned. The speaker said the patient was attended to by his own doctor, when another of the profession was called in, and against the sick man's wish, prescribed brandy for him, and the result is that the man drinks to excess, and is now unable to give up drinking the intoxicating liquor.

Mr. Chubb said he had been told by parties that he would not keep his pledge over a week or two, but he has kept it, and intended to do so.

Mr. Feast, a convert, stated that he was going to endeavour to keep his pledge that he took on Thursday night. He had belonged to a temperance organization in town before, but broke through. He hoped he would be able to keep it to the end of his life, and urged others to come forward and sign the pledge.

Rev. T. Brock intimated he was pleased to be present, and said he was in full sympathy with the movement, and would give his influence and all the assistance he possibly could. The various Church Conferences of the religious denominations that have been held recently were favorable to the temperance work.

Dr. McGregor said he had been informed by a person in town that he (the Dr.) was in partnership with Haskell & Co. He was pleased to be connected with this temperance work, notwithstanding the slurs that outsiders were throwing at him.

Messrs. J. Higham and R. Clark next addressed the meeting, both of whom advised all young men to come and sign the pledge, and spoke of the benefits they had derived thereby.

The choir rendered excellent service, and thus closed a most successful gathering. A meeting again to-night, at eight o'clock.

The Ball and Bat.

Items of Interest on the Diamond.

William Smith, for many years pitcher for the Maple Leafs, has decided to withdraw from that position in the field. This step he has been obliged to take on account of an injury he received to his arm, which always renders the limb very painful after such violent exercise as pitching a game through. The many admirers of Mr. Smith's effective style of pitching will regret to hear of his decision.

The return match between the Maple Leafs and Tecumsehs was played at London on Monday afternoon. The result was 20 to 2 in favor of London. For several days previous to the match Smith did not think he could stand the strain of pitching, but nevertheless he pluckily resolved to pitch this one game before retiring from that position altogether. His health has demanded that such a step should be taken. After he had pitched to the first man he retired, giving place to Hewer, who is comparatively inexperienced in the position while playing against a strong team. Although his nervousness was apparent he did remarkably well, considering everything. This change tended greatly to increase the Tecumsehs' score, and after all the Leafs did what many first-class professional teams have been unable to do on several occasions this year—they scored two runs. The Tecumsehs played a good game almost on every point, both at the bat and in the field. The Leafs played a magnificent in-field game, but were weak in the out-field, and did not succeed as well as they usually do at the bat. The ninth innings was not at the bat. The ninth innings was not played by either club, the Leafs being obliged to leave to catch the train. The details of the game will be found in the appended score.

Murder at Hagersville.

HAGERSVILLE, June 24.

During a drunken fight between two men named Joe Calver and Alfred Herd to-night the latter drew a knife and stabbed Calver in the abdomen, causing death in a few minutes. The murderer escaped capture.

From what can be gathered the circumstances attending the murder were as follows:—Calver, the murdered man, with a man named James Eddie, wearing false faces, went into Alma's Hotel, to "have some fun." Herd, the murderer, with a man named Nicol, made an unprovoked attack them. Calver then went out and collected a crowd, and returned to Alma's to have a drink and obtain an explanation from Herd, who again attacked them. Herd and his friend then went out, followed by Calver and Eddie, who overtook Herd opposite Dr. Jones' office, when Eddie knocked Herd down. Herd jumped up, drew a knife, and stabbed Calver in the abdomen, causing death in a few minutes. The murdered man is a respectable farmer living near Jarvis, and has been travelling with a stallion this season. He leaves a wife and five children. Herd is unmarried, of respectable family who reside at Dufferin, Oneida township. Hitherto he has borne a good character. He is about five ten inches high, florid complexion, and wore dark clothing. He is about 26 years of age, and weighs about 170 pounds.

THE HANLAN-MORRIS BOAT RACE.—The Pittsburg Chronicle in speaking of the late race on the Hulton course pronounces Hanlan the greatest oarsman of the day, and says nothing like his scientific rowing has ever been seen on these waters. It claims the official time taken by Mr. Elliott is incorrect, and states a jeweller having one of the most improved stop watches and understands thoroughly its manipulations, made the following record which he says is absolutely correct:—Hanlan's time, 36 minutes-33½ seconds; Morris', 36 minutes-42½ seconds. It is significant that Morris' time is the fastest on record, except Hanlan's in this race. The Chronicle also publishes an interview with Col. Shaw in which the Colonel says Morris rowed a grand race and is a fine oarsman. He says if Morris was taken up by good citizens and the same influence thrown around him that the Toronto club places around Hanlan, he would make a record that Pittsburg would be proud of. The friends of Morris counted on Hanlan's not being able to make quick time in the swift current of the Hulton course, but the Chronicle thinks that Hanlan would win on any water, high or low, rough or smooth. His science would carry him through and bring him out the winner.

Mrs. Robt. Agnew, of Acton, Mr. Duncan Ross, near Acton, and Mr. Alex. Burns, of Eramosa, leave this week for a trip to the old country.

A by-law to grant a bonus of $7,500 to the Hamilton and North Western Railway was rejected by the electors of the township of Collingwood.

Prof. Charles Hodge, D.D., LL.D., for fifty-six years a professor in the Theological Seminary at Princeton, New Jersey, died on Wednesday. He had been suffering for some time, and since April has been failing. His theological works are highly valued.

The Liverpool Telegraph of the 7th June says:—The Dominion Line steamer Quebec with 262, and the Beaver Line steamer Champlain, with 260 head of cattle, arrived in the Mersey on Wednesday, all of which were landed in splendid condition. The whole of the space of these favorite lines have been taken up until August. Experiments are consequently being made to carry Canadian cattle on sailing vessels. A large number of cattle, sheep and pigs are expected to arrive in a few days at Glasgow, on one of Messrs. Allan's fast clipper ships. Contracts have been entered into by dealers in Ontario to ship 1,000 head of store cattle, which will be fattened in Norfolk and Suffolk.

Make it a point to ask every tramp you meet with where he came from, and you will find nine-tenths of them come from the States. Their "national policy" don't seem to help the working classes.

Lawrence Kreel, of East Flamboro', who on complaint of Mr. Inspector Parker, was fined $25 and costs for selling liquor without a license, was taken to gaol on Tuesday in default of payment of fine, there to remain for thirty days.

The East Ward Election.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—At the nomination the other day I noticed that Mr. Horsman, the President of the Conservative Association, nominated Mr. Edward O'Connor. What I want to know is, did Mr. O'Connor wish his name to be used in connection with this election? As far as I learn he did not, and, therefore, it was an insult for any one to use it. But another question occurs. Did the worthy President of the Conservative Association intend this nomination as a burlesque? If so, then he has made a most grievous mistake, for Mr. O'Connor is not likely to pass over the insult that he has been subjected to, in nominating him to an office that he did not aspire to, that he did not want, and that he would not have accepted if offered to him.

Mr. Horsman's conduct requires explanation. He nominated Mr. O'Connor without ever asking for a seconder, or without ever asking Mr. O'Connor. As soon as he had made the nomination he slunk away without waiting to support his nominee. It seemed as though he had been sent there to play his little game, and he did it very clumsily, and in such a way as, we should think, would lead Mr. O'Connor to reflect on the question, who are his real friends, and who are those that want to put him in a false position, and to make it appear that he is a candidate for municipal honors when he is not, has never expressed himself in this way, and has no desire for the office.

Yours, etc.,
EAST WARD.

June 24th, 1878.

CENTRE WELLINGTON.—Several political meetings have been held by Mr. Robinson, the Reform candidate, and Dr. Orton, his opponent, during the past fortnight. The prospects of the success of Mr. Robinson are very gratifying, as at every meeting he atttends his manly, straightforward utterances have a ring of sincerity about them that indicate honesty of purpose on his own part, while good reasons are given why the present Government should be sustained.

...Coffee ...regards Mr. Dun... ...only candidate present, ... appearance there was only in deference to the wishes of many leading electors in the Ward. He had no desire for the office. He would gladly have remained out of public life, but he acceded to the wishes of his friends and allowed himself to be nominated.

Mr. Coffee was nominated, but he was not there. He had no desire and no intention of running. He expressed himself in such terms to the Returning Officer on the day of nomination, and on the day following he positively declared he would not run. Under the circumstances, therefore, we may consider Mr. Coffee is not in the the field, and that he has no intention to run a contest with Mr. Dunbar.

Mr. Dunbar in coming before the electors, is well-known to the great majority of them. He has a large interest in the Ward, he has given much time and attention to its interests, and the fact that he is willing to do so again, is one of the strongest arguments in favor of his election. Mr. Dunbar is an unselfish man. He has never worked for his own interests, or for any particular streets that were supposed to directly benefit him. When represeating the East Ward in the Council he was impartial, independent and consistent, and this character he has earned for himself will, we are satisfied, secure him such confidence and support in the East Ward, at the forthcoming election, as will ensure his return by a very large majority, should Mr. Coffee's friends persist, in spite of his determination, to carry his name to the polls.

Socialism in Germany.

In a late letter from Berlin to the London Times, the writer assigns the following reasons for the growth of Socialism in Germany. According to the Socialists all the evils of which they complain spring from the sacrifice of industry and agriculture to an exaggerated military system. The late wars have created a class of men of no fixed occupation, who do not like to earn their bread by labor as formerly, and who by precept and example spread bad habits among the laboring classes of the nation. Since the last victories of Germany, industry and agriculture have been neglected and have suffered. Agriculture has become less productive, and industry can no longer make head against foreign competition. This state of things, they maintain, is to be reformed by collective labor, by co-operation, by the creation of National factories, and the employment in them of all the valued and available arms of Germany. Another writer in dealing with the same subject thinks that the two attempts on the life of the Emperor are, indirectly, the outcome of a great deal of dissatisfaction reigning throughout the Empire. German unity has been brought about. France has been subdued, and two of the long-lost provinces have been regained. Germany occupies the position of the first military Power in Europe, and yet, with all this, material prosperity does not come. Four years ago the newly-proclaimed Empire squeezed what was thought to be all the juice out of the neighboring orange. The enormous war indemnity was poured into the German coffers at a rate at which Prince Bismarck did not dream it would come, and yet the country was no better. Indeed, there are not a few who assert that Germany was a good deal the worse for this money. Be this as it may, the German middle classes are no better off now than before they had tasted the joys of either unity or conquest. The war brought National glory, but it left on all hands domestic woe. There were few families who were not affected by it in the loss of friends or those nearer, and those who were not affected in that way felt the pressure of the military system by which its victories had been obtained. That great system still exists, paralyzing all commercial enterprise, and keeping the country under tremendous depression.

Mr. Mackenzie's fishing expedition has knocked the bottom out of the Tory stories, that he was summoned to Quebec by Lord Dufferin to assist his Lordship in ejecting Mr. Letellier from the Lieutenant-Governorship, throwing Mr. Joly out of the Premiership, and handing over the Government of Quebec to the minority in the Legislature.

According to the Brantford Expositor, some of the farmers thereabouts do want protection. At Mr. Fleming's meeting at Cainsville, an old farmer declared that he "wanted protection, and would vote for any man who would pledge himself to give it." In answer to an enquiry as to what he really wanted, the reply was: "I want protection from Sir John and his horde of hungry office-seekers, for therein I think lies our greatest danger."

The Macpherson is on the war-path. He left Toronto on Monday, and on reaching Palmerston about a dozen Conservatives presented him with an address. Here he was met by Mr. Shaw, the Opposition candidate for South Bruce. At Listowel another address was presented, and on reaching Kincardine the same pleasing formality was gone through. The Reformers in Bruce are contemplating a counter demonstration, when they expect Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. George Brown to be present.

The Reporter says that the water in the Grand River is falling very rapidly, and at the time of writing it is barely running over the dam. Should the present dry weather continue, our manufacturers will be short of water at an early date this season.

...e prizes.

...wing is the prize list :—

...rass independent bands :—

1st prize, $600 and a Banner, Montreal City Band.

2nd prize, $400 and a banner, 13th Battalion, Hamilton.

1st prize, $600 and banner, the Victoria Rifles.

1st honourable mention, silver pitcher with cup, 13th Battalion, Hamilton.

2nd prize, $100 and banner, Hardy's band Montreal.

During the announcement and presentation of the prizes the greatest disapprobation was exhibited by a large part of the audience. Hisses and disapproving shouts resounded from all parts of the building. The President, Judge Coursol, then rose and stated that the decisions in regard to the prizes were unanimous on the part of the judges. This was received with shouts and hisses by three-fourths of the audience. The 13th Battalion band of Hamilton, the Governor-General's Foot Guards, the 7th Battalion band of London, and B. Battery band of Quebec then returned their prizes and flags in the presence of the audience, protesting against the decision of the judges. The meeting then broke up in great confusion.

The Butter Market.

Although the make of butter so far this season has been heavier than ever before remembered in Canada, combined with exceptionally low prices, the amount that has gone into consumption is comparatively small. We learn that our dairymen in the Eastern Townships, Morrisburg and Brockville sections, are using a little extra salt, and storing their finest grades of butter in the cellar, for "It was their fathers' custom and so it shall be theirs," but we question if there will ever again be money in the keeping system as there has been. Of late New York has been exporting from 300 to 400 tons of butter weekly, most of which has gone to England, and has been purchased at from 9c to 13c per lb. for dairy, and 18c for creamery. The production of both creamery and dairy butter in the Western and Northwestern States, is simply enormous, being so much in excess of export and home requirements, that ice-houses are being crammed wherever they exist, and for this purpose the butter is being manufactured with an extra portion of salt in it, precisely as is being done here. The probable result will be that in the fall the United States, as well as Canada, will have a glut of old stocks in pickle, to bear down the market as was the case last year, except some unforseen calamity should occur in the shape of drought, &c. Very low prices are being obtained for the best kinds of dairy butter. In Toronto fine grades only command 12c to 14c, and in Quebec the best prints bring only 10c per lb. Sales of medium Western have transpired here at 9c per lb, and choice Townships in round lots at 16c; creamery, 18c to 20c.—Montreal Witness.

The Wool Trade and the Protectionists.

Yesterday's Globe had the following, which we commend to the thoughtful attention of the "national policyists" hereabout who fancied the remarks of our Toronto contemporary helped their theory:—

Some of the Opposition organs profess to have found in the following statement taken from our commercial columns a contradiction of the dictum that the importer of an article pays the Customs duty upon it:—

"Based on sales in Boston it would appear that 23c is rather high. Sales of Canadian combing are reported from that market at 38c per pound through a commission house. To get at the value here, it is necessary to subtract from this sum the duty of ten cents, the difference in currency one cent, the ad valorem of about two and a half cents, and freight and insurance one cent—or say fourteen cents in all. This would regulate the price here to a shade under 24 cents."

This is not an assertion, even by implication, that the exporter pays the duty on Canadian wool. It would be so if Boston were our only wool market, and if, therefore, the price at Boston, regulated the selling price here. As a matter of fact, however, the price is regulated by the demand in Europe as well as America, and as the people of the United States want our wool, they must perforce pay for it what we could get by selling to others, and the duty besides. This is conclusively shown by a comparison of the prices current in England, the United States, and Canada. When combing wool was 38c per pound in Boston it was 23c in Toronto, and 24c to 26c in England. Nothing more is required to show that the Boston importer pays the duty in question, and not the Canadian exporter.—Stratford Beacon, June 20th.

Fatal Accident.—On Saturday evening, a fatal accident occurred at Carlisle by which a young lad named Wm. Donnelly lost his life. He was driving a span of horses hitched to a lumber waggon when they ran away, and he was thrown out, one of the wheels passing over him and killing him instantly.

At a meeting of the Ottawa St. Andrew's Society it was decided to have a band competition there in August next. Prizes of $1,000 and $5,000 will be offered. Competition open to the world.

CHAPTER XLIX.

WALTER ADAMSON ENJOYS TRIUMPH AND SATISFACTION—HAROLD LOGAN CEASES TO BE AN OUTLAW.

Thus the meshes of crime which Malcolm Gillespie had with such blind infatuation woven around him closed in at last suddenly, unexpectedly, but with such dire completeness, that he was held inextricably in their grasp. Discovery was due to his own forgetfulness. Absorbed and excited by the search for and demolition of Black Dick's Cave, and by the desperate deed of fire-raising which he had resolved on with a view to relieving his financial embarrassments, he failed to remember that one of his now many forged bills had come to maturity. Hitherto he had carefully provided that each should be retired by forging another to meet it, and had given instructions to the bank that intimation should always be sent to him and not to the party on whom the bill was drawn. The bank officials, profoundly unsuspicious of anything being wrong, had complied with these instructions till now; but through the inadvertence of a clerk, the intimation respecting one of the bills was sent to the person whose name it bore.

This was a douce, honest old farmer in the district who had never granted or accepted a bill in his life, and no sooner did he come to know the nature of the communication that had reached him than he proceeded to the city, went to the bank, and in great, though natural pertubation, declared that he had no bill to pay—never signed such a thing—knew nothing about it.

This startled the bank people, the bill was shown him, and he angrily asseverated that, though it bore his name, it was not his signature.

Suspicion was painfully excited. The bank held many more of Gillespie's bills, and in great haste they had them examined and tested. The persons whose names were attached to them denied their genuineness one after another, each repudiation adding to the blank amazement and dismay of the officials, till the frightful truth was forced on them, beyond all doubt, that the gauger had been carrying on a system of forging bills to an appalling extent. Further examination of the bills disclosed the fact that they seemed all written out by one hand, and the writing proved to be that of Edward Skeat, the gauger's clerk.

The facts were at once laid before the Fiscal, and he very promptly obtained from the Sheriff warrants for the apprehension of Gillespie and Skeat, which warrants were executed in the manner described in last chapter.

Up till this time no suspicion had been entertained by the authorities regarding the burning of the house, but Fyfe, the messenger did not fail to report the words uttered by Gillespie before he knew on what charge he was being arrested; also the wild utterings of Jessie Greig when he was brought forth from the barn to be taken away. These things caused inquiries to be made in this other direction, when it came out that the gauger had recently insured the cottage for large sums in two offices. The inference was irresistible; but inasmuch as it was shown that Gillespie was from home on the night of the fire it was clear that he could not have personally shared in the crime, though it might have been committed at his instigation. When all the facts were considered, warrants were issued for the apprehension of the chief members of his household; and shortly after the gauger's own arrest they were also brought to Aberdeen, examined by the Sheriff, and committed to prison.

These astounding events produced an extraordinary sensation at Skene and throughout the whole district where Gillespie was well known. At first many people were incredulous—refused to believe that he could be guilty of such enormous offences; but when so many respectable people in the neighborhood—farmers and others, declared that their names had been forged in the bills he had uttered, doubt and incredulity had to give way, and friends and enemies alike were forced to believe in his guilt.

As a matter of course his enemies were many. His activity and enterprise as an Excise officer had made for him many and bitter foes, who now rejoiced in his downfall. But his frank, generous, and hospitable nature had also gained for him a host of warm friends, who sincerely pitied his position. Still neither the hate of the one nor the sympathy of the other could make that position other than it was. He was in the hands of that stern, impartial power—the Law, which affixed its last penalty to the crime with which he was charged, and was not to be influenced either by enmity or sympathy. A fair, unbiassed trial would be given him, when, if he were proved innocent, he would be acquitted, if guilty—there was but one sentence to pronounce against him. The issue would quickly be determined, for the Autumn Circuit Court would soon be held, and it was resolved that his trial would then take place, as also the trials of Skeat, charged with the same crime, and of Geo. Brownie and Lexey Campbell, members of his household, whom it had been determined to prosecute for fire-raising.

Leaving the gauger and those implicated with him to lie in the Tolbooth awaiting the day of trial, let us revert to the doings of the other personages of our story. They had been excessively shocked by Gillespie's arrest and the crimes charged against him; but the immense importance of their own affairs pressed on their minds and occupied them to the fullest extent.

On the day after their arrival in Aberdeen, Walter Adamson could not resist the temptation to do what he was quite aware was a very unlawyer-like act—viz., to pay a visit to Jabez M'Garray, and have the exquisite satisfaction of triumphing over him in a private interview. He knew that M'Garray could not as yet have received information of the collapse of the murderous scheme of Gilmour Logan and Allan M'Pherson, and he wished to be the first to give him the crushing intelligence, to witness his dismay, enjoy his mortification, and pay him off for the affronts and defeats he had endured at his hand. There was perhaps a little weakness in this, but the worthy lawyer was human and possessed of strong feelings—in, short, he was so elated that he could not forego the pleasure of such revenge. Could Harold's case have suffered by his doing so, the interests of his client would have come before the gratification of such personal feeling; but the position of matters was now such that nothing which either Gilmour or his factor could do would prevent Harold from succeeding to his inheritance, and no harm could be done by showing their opponents the advantage obtained. So, about the middle of the afternoon, he left his office in Huxter's Row and trod with brisk step the granite pavement towards the chambers of his rival.

McGarray was, as usual, in his private room, with his nose buried among the musty leaves of a yellow parchment. What he might be trying to ferret out it is no part of this history to inquire; but, inasmuch as he folded the parchment hastily and thrust it out of sight when he saw who was his visitor, we—who know him pretty well by this time—may, without a breach of charity, suppose that some nefarious scheme was working in his brain. The same idea occurred to Walter Adamson, but of course he gave it no expression.

Shutting with a bang the drawer into which he tossed the parchment, McGarray received his visitor with his usual bland, oily politeness.

...are ap... evacuation ...by the Turks.

...correspondents agree in ...aring that the settlement of the Bul...ian question is entirely due to the firm...ess of the British representatives in the Congress, but Reuter's telegram says the Russian concessions are entirely dependent on the conditions for the organization and administration of Roumelia, the details of which have yet to be arranged. One condition is that the Russion troops, when they evacuate Roumelia, are to be replaced by native militia, composed of Christians or Mussulmans, according to the prevailing religion of the district.

The Vienna Political Correspondence says:—The Bulgarian question once solved, the discussion on the other points is likely to be accelerated in deference to the wishes of Germany for a speedy close of the Congress. In this case the details, including the arrangement of autonomy for Roumelia, are likely to be submitted at a supplementary Conference.

All the correspondents continue to describe the attitude of Earl Beaconsfield as very decided. One correspondent reports that Lord Beaconsfield, in conversation on Friday with Bismarck, who urged him to make concessions, said, "I do not come here to yield."

The London Post says:—Russia is now authoritatively told that she is as far from Constantinople, if not indeed further, than she was when the war began. Herein lies the bitterness of the mortification to which she must now submit.

A despatch from Berlin to Vienna reports that to-day's sitting of the Congress caused a satisfactory impression. The essential features of the question discussed in the preliminary pourparlers were agreed to in principle.

A by-law granting an additional $20,000 to the H. & N. W. Railway was carried in Nottawasaga, last week, by a majority of 18 votes. A similar by-law in Osprey for a bonus of $7,500 was lost by 185.

EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. NO HARD TIMES THERE.—One hears very little now-a-days but the cry hard times. Judging from the constant rush in business at the Lion, Messrs. J. D. Williamson & Co. never feel them. Their ruling principle is, make goods cheaper than any other store, and there is no trouble about selling them.

Everyone speaks well of it, and those who have been there once patronize the place ever afterwards. Is it necessary to add that we refer to the Colonnade Hotel, on Chestnut street, Philadelphia, Pa?

Bond & Co to-day advertise lawn mowers, refrigerators, and other seasonable goods at prices that defy competition. They have a number of remnants of floor oil cloth which they will sell at great reduction (almost anything) to get rid of them.

Raymond's Employees' Mutual Benefit Society.

Directors Half Yearly Report.

The directors of the above Society in presenting their report for the past six months are happy to state that the Society has been able to meet all demands made upon it, although the amount of sickness has been unusually large, the sum of $173.75 having been paid out in benefits, some $40 more than during the same period of last year.

It is with deep regret that we have to report the death of two of our members, after a long and painful illness.

Our membership is somewhat smaller than at the commencement of the year when we numbered 86, since then 2 new members have been accepted making a total of 88, of these 2 have died, 4 have withdrawn and 1 has been struck off for non-payment of dues, leaving 81 good on the books at the present time.

It will be seen by the Treasurer's report that the total receipts for the half year have been $236.63 while the expenditure amounts to $195.50 of which $80 has been paid for funeral benefits, and $93.75 for sick benefits, leaving $42.13 in the hands of the Treasurer. Signed on behalf of directors,
CHAS. COTTIS.

YOUNG LADIES' COLLEGE, BRANTFORD.—On Tuesday evening the closing exercises of this Institution were held in Zion Church, and were presided over by the Rev. Dr. Cochrane, whose name has been associated with the College from its very beginning, and whose zeal and interest in its behalf have served so much to raise it to its present position. On the previous evening the Concert had been held in Wycliffe Hall, which was crowded to overflowing. On Tuesday evening the services consisted principally of reading essays by the young ladies in the Graduating Class, addresses by Dr. Topp, of Toronto, Dr. McKnight, of Halifax, Dr. Waters, of St. John, New Brunswick, Rev. R. N. Grant, of Ingersol, and others. The students who had completed their course, twenty-three in number, were presented with their Diplomas and prizes, were distributed to whom they had been awarded. On the platform were several ministers, some of whom were from a considerable distance. At the close a beautiful present of a silver ice pitcher and goblet was given to the Rev. Dr. Kemp, the Principal of the College, who now goes to Ottawa, having accepted the Principalship of the Ladies' College there. The present was accompanied with a suitable address, after which Dr. Kemp replied in suitable terms. Among the prizes given we find the following were awarded to Miss E. S. D. Torrance, of Guelph, daughter of the Rev. Mr. Torrance:—For general proficiency; for mental philosophy; for geometry and Algebra; for French in Senior First Division.

The Ball and Bat.

Items of Interest on the Diamond.

Mr. Bailey, who has acted as pitcher in the Cornell University nine during the present season, will play in that position with the Leafs during the University vacation. He will play here on Monday next, against the Syracuse Stars.

The London Advertiser, in copying the announcement from the MERCURY that Wm. Smith had retired from the pitcher's position on the diamond, remarks:—Old time Canadian ball players will regret to hear of Billy's retirement. He was without exception the best pitcher Canada has up to the present produced, and if he had been as ably supported behind the bat and in the field as he deserved he would have ranked still higher in the profession. He has done his duty well for Guelph, and he is entitled to an honorable rest.

The Indianapolis manager has suspended the "only Nolan" for one week, without pay, pending an investigation into a charge of crooked play made against him.

A FULL CONFESSION.—James Wright, at present awaiting trial for the toll-gate and other robberies in the vicinity of London, has made a full confession to Squire Peters, connecting himself, and also the notorious Tom Ley, who was shot dead by Sergeant Crawford, in self-defence, whilst being arrested.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

LONDON, June 25.

A despatch from Berlin reports that at Monday's sitting of the Congress it was decided that the Russians should withdraw from Roumelia in six and from Bulgaria in nine months. After their withdrawal mixed European troops will temporarily occupy the provinces. Russia has ordered Montenegro and Servia to arrange a compromise with Austria relative to her claims.

A Berlin despatch reports that France, Italy, and Germany warmly support the Greek claims for an extension of territory.

It is said the Greeks have secured the support of France for a frontier line from Olympia to Avilona. As the Turks, however, will not cede Batoum, they are still less inclined to make such a concession.

A Berlin despatch says the Turkish delegates at Tuesday's sitting consented to the evacuation of Varna.

A Berlin despatch says:—To-day's sitting of the Congress began at two and closed at five. Gortschakoff was not present, but received reports every quarter of an hour, and sent written remarks to the Russian plenipotentiaries. Bismarck will immediately communicate with the Greek plenipotentiary concerning participation in the Congress. Greece will be admitted to represent the Greek element in Bulgaria, when the organization of Bulgaria is discussed. In private conversation the Turks strenuously oppose the granting of autonomy to Epirus, especially as regards Janina. The Greeks lay particular stress on the Greek nationality.

The East Ward Election.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

DEAR SIR,—My attention was directed to a letter in your issue of yesterday, signed "East Ward," having reference to my nomination by Mr. Horsman. If I have reason to thank the latter gentleman for advertising my name gratuitously, I certainly have moral reason to feel grateful to your correspondent for becoming my champion and to have simply to state that I did not [illegible] information for the East Ward, neither do I feel at all insulted on account of the [illegible] Horsman made of my name. I am quite sure it was far from his intention to insult, or even slight me; on the contrary, I believe he was actuated by a friendly motive. While thanking my "East Ward" friend, whoever he may be, for the interest he has taken in my behalf, I can assure him that I do not feel at all injured. I am glad that Mr. Horsman did not get a seconder, as I was spared the trouble of puting a notice in the papers stating that I was not a candidate, as I was obliged to do on a previous occasion.
EDWD. O'CONNOR.

FRESH to brisk south-easterly to south-westerly winds; fair to cloudy weather with rain areas.

MR. W. J. FAIRBANK, of the North End meat mart, has purchased from Mr. T. Shortreed six extra fine heifers for which he paid $270.

THE Great Western will issue return tickets at one fare to Guelph on Dominion Day. The town will prove a centre of attraction for the whole western portion of the Province. The Grand Trunk will in all probability make a similar reduction.

A GRAND rally of the Kalithumpians will take place at the Mitchell House this evening. The procession on the 1st of July—Monday—will eclipse anything of the kind ever before attempted in this part of the country.

MR. C. H. EVANS will sail for England next week by the steamer Dominion of the Dominion line. He purchased his ticket from Mr. Alf. Burrows, the Company's agent here.

THERE is talk of an Oddfellows' band being organized in Guelph. Waterloo Lodge, of Galt, has an excellent band, and there is no doubt but what Reliance and Progress Lodges could form such a band as the town would be proud of. The citizens will wish the Oddfellows success in their undertaking.

POLICE COURT.—This morning Herbert Newton, a mere child, was charged by Emily Helmore with throwing an egg in her face on Sunday last. The child did not appear when called on, mistaking the hour at which the Court opened. As a rule the Court is erratic as to the time of opening. Fined $1 and costs.

ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday, as Mrs. Joseph Bretz with an infant in her arms and accompanied by her sister-in-law, was driving in the vicinity of Hespeler station, a passing train frightened the horse, and it turning round suddenly upset the buggy and pitched the parties out. Although all the parties were more or less injured none of them were seriously so. The buggy was badly wrecked.

LIBERALITY.—It is rumored that one of our most popular fruit dealers intends to denote ten crates of strawberries to an immense strawberry festival to be held in the drill shed, for the benefit of the Guelph General Hospital, and it is hoped there is grounds for this report. In the past the fruit men have been most liberal. Others might follow their example.

AT the regular meeting of the Hamilton City Council on Monday, a communication was read from Mr. J. P. McMillan, asking the co-operation of the Council in sending a deputation to visit Quebec for the purpose of presenting the Governor-General with addresses on behalf of the respective municipalities before taking his final departure for the Old Country. It was laid over for consideration.

PRINTERS' FESTIVAL.—On Tuesday morning F. J. Drew served up strawberries and ice cream in the MERCURY office in a manner much appreciated by the printers. The refreshments were thoroughly enjoyed, as the devil, and those who had only of late by virtue of promotion cast off that title, like Oliver Twist, clamored for more, it was clearly demonstrated that there was very little in a name, or the impersonation of the "old boy" would not revel in ices. Drew is steadily extending his fruit and ice cream business.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.—The festival given by the Ladies' Association of Dublin street church, in the Drill Shed, on Tuesday evening, was well patronized, and those present enjoyed themselves very much. The tables, which presented a fine appearance, were erected in the centre, thus leaving a large space for a promenade, which was well occupied during the evening. The supply of berries, ice cream, cake, &c., was abundant, and the lady waiters did their part with their wonted good taste. Lawrence's quadrille band, assisted by Mr. Philp, supplied excellent music during the evening.

GOLD MEDALS.—The Directors of the Agricultural Societies have recommended Professor Brown, of the Model Farm, to postpone his offer of a gold medal for the best kept farm, till another year, as the season is so far advanced and the notice would consequently be very short, not giving farmers an opportunity to successfully compete. In order to encourage the breeding and fattening of stock, Professor Brown has liberally offered a gold medal for the three best fat steers under four years old, bred and fed by the exhibitor, to be shown in Guelph at the annual Christmas Fat Cattle Show in Dec., 1878—open to the Province.

PLAITING.—O. H. Root, manager of the Toronto Plaiter Company, writes to the MERCURY in explanation of the paragraph published on Saturday last regarding the infringement of a patent on a plaiter by tinsmiths in town. He says that "the Company are owners of patent 6090 for improvement in plating which covers the use of the bars and knife. Our general agent found in most every tin shop in your town an infringement, and had he went according to instructions no such settlement would have been effected. We intend to prosecute all infringers, and have already retained Messrs. Edgar, Ritchie & Howell, who will attend to our business. If any one has any doubt as to our patent they can, by sending $1 to Ottawa, get the specification or see them here at our office. We don't propose to take advantage of any one, nor do we propose to have any one steal our property."

Town Council.

The Council and the Press Association.

An adjourned meeting of the Council was held on Tuesday evening, for the purpose of receiving and considering the report of a special meeting appointed to take into consideration the reception of the Canadian Press Association, on the 9th of July. There were present, His Worship the Mayor in the chair, Messrs. Elliott, Sleeman, Chase, Doran, Melvin, Biscoe, Bruce, Robert Mitchell, Day, and Roche.

Mr. Melvin chairman of the committee, reported as follows:

The Committee recommended that as the time of the Press Association will be occupied at their annual meeting, visiting the Agricultural College and the various places of interest in the town, that the reception should consist of a concert and supper—concert at half past eight and supper at ten o'clock. The committee reported that Messrs. Philp and Maitland and others have promised their assistance at the concert.

Moved by Messrs. Melvin and Sleeman, that the special committee be authorized to carry out the recommendations contained in the report.

Mr. Robt. Mitchell asked what expense would be connected with carrying out the report.

Mr. Melvin detailed the programme of the day. After the party had visited the Model Farm, the town and the public buildings, a concert would be given in the Town Hall. There would be no expense connected with this, as Messrs. Philp and Maitland had kindly consented to take the matter in hand. After the concert, which would last about an hour and a half, a luncheon would be served, to which the public could attend. The expense would be very little. In reply to Mr. Roche, Mr. Melvin stated that it would be impossible to receive the Association, as they would gather in Guelph from all quarters.

The Council adjourned.

ON Thursday the Battalion and Battery will remove from the present encampment at Kinnettles to Irvine Park, Elora.

ON Tuesday night some party took the trouble of removing a "Bath" sign from the front of Mr. Mimmack's barber shop, to the roof of a carriage shop in the neighborhood.

POGANUC PEOPLE.—This is the title of the latest work of Harriet Beecher Stowe, which has just been issued from the press of the Rose-Belford Publishing Company. It is a novel, giving an insight into the history of early New England life, which present so many attractions to the author, and which she describes so truthfully and minutely in this work. We are satisfied it will be a very popular work, and will sustain the reputation of the author. Copies are for sale at Day's bookstore.

REFORM MEETINGS.—A meeting of Reformers will be held at Reddick's hall, Melancthon, on Wednesday afternoon, July 3, and at the town hall, Melancthon, on the following day for the purpose of forming an association for the township. Every supporter of the present Government is requested to be present.

SAFELY ARRIVED.—Word has been received from Messrs. Munderloh & Co., of Montreal, agents of the White Cross Line, that the steamer Herman Ludmig, which sailed from that port on the 10th, arrived safely on the 24th. Messrs. Hawes & Porter, and Messrs. Patterson & Smart had a number of cattle on board for the London market.

HOUSE BURNED.—At noon on the 17th inst., Mr. Patrick Owen's house on LOT 10, concession 10, Peel, caught fire and was burned to the ground. The greater part of the furniture was saved, but all the provisions in the shape of flour, meat, &c., was consumed. The building was a new frame worth $500 or 600. The house and contents were insured for $400.

ARRIVALS OF MEAT IN LIVERPOOL.—The Liverpool Express of the 13th says:—The quantity of fresh meat landed at Liverpool during last week amounted to 4,210 qrs of beef, 75 carcases of mutton, and 285 tubs of fresh butter. This quantity is much below the previous week, as well as under the average. The deficiency in dead meat was more than counterbalanced by the great excess in the number of live stock landed during the same period. Eight steamers reached the Mersey, bringing the large totals of 2,119 head of oxen, 2,300 pigs, 56 horses, and a number of sheep, these arrivals far exceeding any former period.

MASONIC PIC-NIC.—A grand Masonic pic-nic was held at Blyth on Monday, twelve lodges being present. On the arrival of the trains from the north and south the fraternity were met by the brethren and escorted to the masonic hall, and at twelve proceeded to lay the corner stone of Trinity Church. The ceremony was performed by Mr. J. H. Benson, Past D. D. G. M. The brethren then marched to the pic-nic grounds, where not less than 5,000 people were present. After lunch speeches were made by several ministers and by prominent men belonging to the Order. The Exeter, Wingham, and Blyth brass bands supplied music during the day.

CANADIAN CATTLE FOR EUROPE.—A Toronto despatch says:—The arrivals of cattle during the week reached 2,800 head, the choicest of which were purchased for shipment. It is stated that efforts are being made to arrange with the ocean steamship lines for the shipment of cattle by the hundred pounds, instead of by the head as at present. This change would afford an advantage to shippers and especially to farmers, who would then be enabled to sell cattle weighing less than 1,200 lbs., for exportation.

DOMINION DAY AT ROCKWOOD.—A grand musical, literary and dramatic entertainment will be given in the Town Hall, Rockwood, on the evening of Dominion Day. Amateurs from Toronto, Georgetown, Guelph and Acton, have promised their assistance in carrying out a very attractive programme of vocal and instrumental music, readings and recitations, which are likely to make up one of the most enjoyable entertainments ever given at Rockwood. In order that all may be present and enjoy themselves the tickets have been placed at the low figure of 15c. For further particulars see hand bills which will be distributed on Dominion Day.

GENEROSITY.—The Fergus News Record says that Mr. W. Hunter, of East Garafraxa, recently received another pleasant surprise, this being the fourth of the kind that he has been honoured with since the calamitous burning of his extensive outbuildings, together with his stock, implements, etc. His neighbors to the number of about 250 turned out and raised him a frame barn 110 feet long by 40 wide, hauled about 70,000 bricks from Orangeville for another barn, and all the sand required, also hauled about 70,000 ft. of lumber from the Junction and clipped his sheep. This was all finished about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, and there being nothing more to do the company went out to the field and played ball, pitched quoits, threw the hammer and indulged in regular holiday sport until dark. Mr. Hunter entained the large assemblage with his usual well-known generous hospitality.

Pursuant to adjournment the municipal Council of the Township of Erin met at the town hall, Erin Village, on Thursday, the 20th day of June, 1878, at ten o'clock. The Reeve in the chair. Members all present except Mr Pearen, who is from home. Minutes of last meeting was read and approved.

The Court in Session. The three appeals laid over from last session were taken up in order and disposed of as follows:—1st. E. Price appealed against the assessment of R. Bingham as being too low compared with their neighbor's assessment. The Court considered the matter and reduced Mr. Price's assessment $50, and confirmed Mr. Bingham's. 2nd. Samuel Gould appealed against his assessment as being too high. The Court looked into the matter carefully and decided to confirm the assessment of Mr. Gould on his land, and reduce assessment on chattels $25. In the case of Mr. Nurse, after due consideration, the Court came to the decision that his assessment was about right, and confirmed it. The Court thus adjourned until the next meeting of Council, and arose.

The Council then proceeded to attend to the general business of the Township, and on motion by Mr. Reid, seconded by Dr. McNaughton, leave was granted to introduce a by-law authorizing the division of the Township into six electoral divisions. WM. TYLER, Clerk.

General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church.

HAMILTON, June 21.

Rev. Mr. Torrance read the report of the Committee on Statistics:—

Summoning up the returns sent in, it is found that the number of pastoral charges settled and not settled is 740; the number of ministers and ordained missionaries—with the professors of Queen's College Kingston—and the Kingston Presbytery is the only one that reports professors in colleges—is 613; the number of vacancies 123, of which 37 are in the Eastern Provinces, 25 in Manitoba, leaving 81 in the Provinces of Quebec and Ontario, with 92 mission stations; 728 congregations (not pastoral charges, let it be observed) have reported, and 183 have not done so. The total number of churches and stations is 1,389, or 347 more than the previous year. The total number of families is 60,466, as against 56,163 the former year. The number of communicants is 98,371, an increase of 4,583; and the additions during the year were 7,272, or 3,923 fewer than for the former one. The number of baptisms was 9,261—some of these being adults; last year it was 9,244. The number of elders was 3,684, or 88 more than appears in the last report submitted to the General Assembly. The number attending prayer meetings is given at 31,095. The amount promised as stipend from all sources was $492,732.34, being an increase of $25,456.89. This gives an average of more than $800 to each minister, but not quite $700 to each pastoral charge. The arrears due by congregations when collected are $10,092.64; last year they were $8,537.50. The Committee are under the impression that these arrears are for stipend alone, and not for other matters connected with the working of congregations. The total amount that has been raised for strictly congregational purposes was $1,027.359.59, and of this sum, besides the expenditure for congregational purposes, $17,997.79 were raised for College (ordinary) Fund; $28,296.14 for Home Missions; $19,092.87 for Foreign Missions; $6,507.11 for the Aged and Infirm Ministers' and Widows' and Orphans' Fund; $8,302.68 for Assembly, Synod, and Presbytery expenses; $13,084.08 for French evangelization—at least so the returns show; $5,906,-50 for other religious and benevolent objects; while Sabbath School contributions for missions make $11,586.12. The total increase in all contributions for all purposes in 1877-78, as compared with 1876-77, is $41,244.26. Were the Committee to allow for congregations not reporting, the number of families claiming connection with the Presbyterian Church in Canada would be upwards of 75,000, and the number of communicants nearly 125,000. More than $615,915 would be the amount promised as stipend; more than one million dollars have been expended for congregational purposes; and nearly $1,300,000 for all objects.

Saturday, June 22.

All the Committees that had not previously reported did so to-day, and after a short address from the Moderator, the Assembly closed with devotional exercises. It will meet again in St. Andrew's Church, Ottawa, on the second Wednesday in June 1879.

Mornington Correspondence.

The most noticeable event that has occurred within the last few weeks is connected with church matters and must therefore be interesting to many. This was the choosing of one from the many probationers who have from time to time during the past year spun out their eloquence in the Union churches of N. Mornington and Milverton to be their future pastor. The Rev. John Kay was almost unanimously chosen.

This, along with an almost incredible story of fast running on the Stratford and Huron R. R. and the echo of that wail of "Protection" given vent to at L. C. bunfeeds of the past. The story of fast speed referred to was a trip from Listowel to Stratford, a distance of about twenty-six miles, in twenty minutes.

ACCIDENT.—At a recent raising at Mr. Wm. Campbell's, Mr. John Garth met with rather a serious accident. He was standing on the upper girt handing the rafters up to those above supporting himself by a brace which owing to a warped plate was loose. He reached out too far when the brace gave way and he fell heavily upon the ground.

Great Sale of Short-Horns.

To put up FOR SALE by auction at one time, without any reserve, 195 high-bred Short-horns was in these times a very bold thing to do, but it has been done, and with great success. At Winchester, Kentucky, on Wednesday and Thursday of last week, the entire herd of Mr. B. B. Groom, was sold at the hammer for cash down, and a sum exceeding $80,000 was the realized amount. The herd was of the most mixed character; a good many of very high pedigrees, of great individual merit, and in admirable condition; others, with two of these qualities, but lacking in the third; others, with one of them, but lacking in the other two; and a good sprinkling that had little to recommend them. The company present was gathered from far and wide over the North-American Continent; great interest attached to the sale among intelligent farmers; every animal on the catalogue was sold after a brisk competition; not the slightest suspicion of by-bidding attached to the conductors of the sale; and the whole affair went off with the highest satisfaction to all interested, whether buyers or sellers.

Of the 195 Short-horns sold—126 were females and 69 males.

Of the 126 females, 28 were non-breeders, very aged, or out of health—and these were exceedingly well sold for $2,730, or an average of $97 per head.

The remaining 98 females produced $54,630, or an average of $557 per

...y Mr. Brown, ... at the Ontario ... griculture, on the very important subject of the beef supply of Britain, and what Canada was doing in that direction. We are much pleased with the letter, because it deals with the whole question in a practical manner, and one which can be thoroughly understood by the most illiterate farmer.

In reference to this subject of beef supply Mr. Brown deals with the following questions: What should be done; what can be done; the field for the British farmer. Under these three heads he goes into an exhaustive discussion of the whole question, which will be of special interest to farmers, and which contains a great deal of information which could not be gleaned from any other source.

We are glad to learn that the Commissioner of Agriculture has ordered a large edition of this letter, which, distributed among the farmers of the Province, will convey to them much important information on a question intimately affecting their own rights and prospects.

The cattle trade with England has now become one of paramount importance to the farmers of Canada, and the sooner they realize this the better will it be for them. Three years ago the cost of freights on steamships were £8 sterling per head, and no insurance could be effected; now the freight is £6 per head, and insurance can be obtained at a rate of three per cent. The price realised ranges from 18c. to 20. per lb., dressed weight, which leaves a very good margin of profit to the Canadian shipper. A first-class steer weighing 1,400 lbs. can be bought here at 5½c. per lb., live weight, or say $77; and to this the cost of freight, feed, attendance, insurance, and commission of seller, $40, and we have the total cost of the animal, disposed of on the London market, $118. The 800 lbs. of beef, at 19c. per lb., brings $154—or a profit on the transaction of $36. On a smaller animal the profits will of course be less, because the cost of freight, feed, &c., for a small beast is about the same as for a large; hence the importance to the Canadian farmer of breeding and feeding the best and largest class of beasts, which will yield the largest return in the British markets.

SAYS the St. Thomas Journal:—Talking about Canada thistles at the Model Farm and Tory criticisms thereon, a friend of ours remarks that the Tories have a far worse breed of "thistles" in their own party—"endowed with locomotion and remarkable powers of prehension." We suppose he means Sir John.

THE New York World aptly remarks: "Whoever Lord Dufferin's successor may be, he will have the disadvantage of coming after a Governor General who has won an unexampled popularity by doing exactly the social things which a Viceroy of Canada ought to do, and leaving undone exactly the political things which a representative of the British Crown in Canada ought not to do."

MR. BRASSY, M. P., recently delivered a lecture to the members of the Royal Colonial Institute in which he said the nation had done something to prove the resources of the Empire by transporting 7,000 natives of India to the island fortress in the Mediterranean, but would achieve a far greater thing if a force of 70,000 seamen of Anglo Saxon race and language were enrolled as an Imperial Naval Reserve in the North American dependencies.

SAYS the London Advertiser: Some idea of the desperate condition of Mr. Rufus Stephenson may be gathered from the fact that he was in this city on Saturday searching the records of the Registry Office to ascertain the exact position of Mr. Macmahon's private affairs, with a view to making capital out of his discoveries, if any such were made. It is now accepted throughout Kent as a foregone conclusion that Mr. Rufus Stephenson will be a badly defeated candidate in his contest with Mr. Macmahon.

THE Reform Convention for Cardwell met on Tuesday and nominated Mr. Jos. Pattullo, Mayor of Orangeville, for the Commons, and Dr. Robinson, of Claude, for the Local Legislature. The delegates and other Reformers present expressed themselves highly pleased with the nominations made, believing them to be the best possible, and despite the past history of the constituency, with Messrs. Pattullo and Robinson as standard bearers, they are hopeful of success.

The Grangers Visit to the Agricutural College.

The St. Thomas Journal of the 21st contains a long and interesting account of the visit of the Elgin Grangers to the Agricultural College on the 17th. We copy the most interesting parts of it. After describing the ride to Guelph, and the arrival at the station, the writer goes on to say:—

The town is beautifully situated on the river Speed, and from the centre of it one gets a fine view of the high ground of the Model Farm, a mile away on the opposite side of the river. An equally good view of the town is obtained in making the ascent of the south bank, while east and west—near and far—there are many picturesque landscapes and fields of waving wheat. A turn in the road brings the College into full view, standing back about forty rods from the road, and with a gently sloping lawn of thirty acres spread out at its front—dotted here and there with ornamental trees. A winding gravelled way leads up to the College, and at its door Principal Johnston was in waiting to give everybody a hearty welcome.

A bountiful luncheon was provided in the dining room of the College, and all the excursionists were invited to partake of it—to which invitation it is needless to say they heartily responded. The students acted as waiters, and by their good manners and cheerful service all were made to feel at home. They also showed their guests through the building, every room of which was thrown open on the occasion. It is built of cut stone, two stories and a mansard, and has a frontage of about 140 feet. The Principal's rooms are to the right of the main hall, while to the left is a large reception room, and beyond it the dining room. The sleeping rooms of the students are in the second and third flats, and it is enough to say of them that they are neat, clean, and comfortable. From the roof of the building a view is obtained of the whole farm, as well as the country for miles around. This prospect is of itself an education for a young man.

From the building the visitors started out to survey the farm, the crops, the live stock, the garden, the conservatory, the school building, the barn and the stables. The farm comprises 550 acres of land, of which about 400 are under cultivation. There is a considerable variety of soil, and while the greater part of the farm is moderately good it will require underdraining and a thorough system of tillage to make it very productive. That pest of the eastern farmer, the Canada thistle, has got a strong hold on portions of the low land, and one can readily believe the remark of Mr. Whitelaw at the afternoon meeting—that when the property was purchased by the Government it was probably in the worst condition of any farm in the county of Wellington.

The practical instruction of students is carried on under four heads, or departments: the Field, the Live Stock, the Horticultural and the Mechanical. Mr. William Brown is farm manager, and the Field and Live Stock departments are under his supervision. He took great interest in showing the excursionists over the farm and pointing out to them the method of cultivation, and the merits of the several breeds of animals. Mr. James Stirton is instructor in the Farm department, Mr. John F. Barron in the Horticultural, and Mr. James McIntosh in the Mechanical.

At present about six acres is laid out as an experimental plot, and on it a large variety of grains, seeds and roots are cultivated—an accurate record being kept of each variety, of the manuring, tillage and results. This is one of the most interesting features of the Farm, and the reports from year to year will be looked for with great interest by the agriculturists of the country. The best variety to grow and the conditions under which to grow the largest crop will afford just such information as successful husbandry wants, and such too as would often save the farmers much labor, time and money. At the same time it gives to the student a fine opportunity of putting the instruction of the class room to a practical test. It is intended in the course of another year or two to bring about sixty acres under the experimental plot, and then it is hoped that valuable results will be obtained, the benefits of which may be shared in by every farmer in the country. The field crops embrace the staples, and promise a good harvest.

The cattle are of five distinct breeds—Ayrshire, Hereford, Devon, Durham and Polled Aberdeen. The cows and young cattle get the run of the pasture fields in the day time, but are brought into the stable for night. The males and spring calves are kept in during the day and night, and while none are what may be called fat all are in good condition and look sleek and clean. There are also five breeds of sheep—Southdown, Oxford Southdown, Leicester, Border Leicester and Cotswold; three breeds of hogs—Improved Berks, Windsor Prince Albert and Essex; several strains of poultry, and a few Clyde horses. The stables are in first rate order, and all the surroundings betoken care and taste.

The head gardener, Mr. Barron, is a courteous and intelligent gentleman, and his five acres of garden is not only tastefully laid out, but every foot of it is thoroughly tilled. The conservatory is filled with a choice lot of foliage and flowering plants, and the commencement of a fine flower garden has been made.

In the Mechanical department the boys are taught the use of tools, and a great deal of work in this line—of which every farmer requires more or less—is done by them under Mr. McIntosh's supervision. Rustic seats, flower-pots, &c., are constructed—some with inlaid work of handsome designs—and a fine arbor has been erected on the lawn opposite the main building.

After describing the course of study, the opportunities the students have of examining the stock of the several breeders in the vicinity, and giving a pretty full report of Mr. Johnston's and the other speeches delivered, and an account of the return trip, it says:—

Along the way the farmers spent a good deal of time in comparing notes of observation made at the Model Farm, and with hardly one exception they were loud in praise of its management and of the hearty manner in which they had been received by the Principal and his staff. It was suggested and generally approved, that the next annual pic-nic of the Grange, 4th of June, should be held at the Model Farm, and that all the Granges and farmers of the country should be invited to join in it. The idea is an excellent one, and it will no doubt be carried out. Ten thousand of the yeomanry of Ontario enjoying themselves on the lawn in front of the College building would be just such an advertisement as the Model Farm wants to bring its varied excellencies into notice. It is hoped that when the next body of farmers

Tea Meeting and Concert in Nassagaweya

The members of Prospect Division, Sons of Temperance, held their anniversary tea meeting on Monday, June 17th, in the grove near the Nassagaweya post office. The weather in the morning was chilly, but toward noon it became warmer, and the day was all that could be desired. The members of the above division in getting up their entertainments spare neither trouble or expense to make them a success, it always being their motto to give the people the worth of their money. Very few country organizations in celebrating their anniversaries place themselves under the expense that Prospect Division does, their expenses in getting up those entertainments generally amounting to $100 or more. But the members of neighboring Temperance organizations and the public generally reward them liberally for their trouble by leaving their various occupations and their homes, and attending their entertainments. The members were also well awarded this time by having a good turn out in the afternoon at the tea meeting, and a crowded house at night. One of the chief features of the tea meeting was the Tuscarora cornet band. Their home is in Walpole, a distance of about forty-eight miles from this place. The audience was more than pleased with their music. It was something that they had not been accustomed to hear. Their music was not of that grating sound that we too often hear, but was clear and sweet. A great many came to hear and to see the band, it being a novelty to see an Indian band; and they were also not only well pleased with the music, but with their good behavior, which was an honour to the tribe they represented. We doubt not that if we can secure their services for our anniversary next year that we will have a larger gathering than ever. Mr. Carswell, the celebrated Temperance lecturer, was also present, and added greatly to the success of the tea meeting. He is deservedly popular as a speaker, and although this is the third time we have had him with us, we could do well with him again. The following were also present, viz.: Revs. D. McKenzie, Nassagaweya; — Bristol, of Mountsberg; and — Cooper, of Eramosa; also Drs. Robertson and Freeman, of Milton, who helped to interest the audience. The band also performed at the concert in the evening, and as I have said there was a crowded house. They sung a number of pieces which were well worth hearing. Their voices are uncommon good, and the pieces well selected. Several other singers were also present, viz.: Messrs. E. Chapman, J. Y. Easterbrook, J. Little, and Misses Allison and Miss Christie, who added greatly to the entertainment, their pieces being very suitable for the occasion. Master Lozier, of Acton, was also with us, and gave some instrumental music. Peter Gould related some spicey anecdotes, and Messrs. D. Hutcheon and Alex. Bell gave some recitations which were encored. Taking it altogether it was one of the best, if not the best entertainment that we have had yet. Prospect Division still stands the storm, and is in a prosperous condition, both as regards the numbers and zeal of its members.

A CARD.
To my Friends, the Public.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Having retired from the Furniture Trade, I take this opportunity of thanking you for the very generous support accorded me during the forty years I have been in business.

It gives me infinite pleasure to assure you that my success has been complete, and that I have every confidence in my successors, Messrs. Burr & Skinner, who have made the requisite arrangements for sustaining the famous reputation of the stone house with the chair on the roof.

I would therefore remind you that though I have retired altogether from the business, you will still find the same wonderfully cheap bargains in furniture at my old stand.

I will be thankful if all to whom I am indebted will render their accounts at once.

I have placed my books in the hands of Messrs. Sweetnam & Hazelton, and trust that they will meet with success in the collection of accounts.

Thanking you once again, I am, ladies and gentlemen,

Yours very truly,

CHAPTER XLIX.

WALTER ADAMSON ENJOYS TRIUMPH AND SATISFACTION—HAROLD LOGAN CEASES TO BE AN OUTLAW.

"Good—good," said Adamson to himself, as he marked the other's untroubled countenance. "He knows nothing—fears nothing; my triumph will be all the greater."

Though M'Garray had learned nothing, and had no reason to fear any misfortune, the appearance of Adamson in his office was not a matter to be indifferent about, and he secretly wondered what business he could have come upon. He keenly, though furtively, scanned his face, but gathered nothing from that—so well had the advocate schooled his features to hide his inward elation.

"Oh, Adamson: hope you are well," said M'Garray, with every show of cordiality. "Haven't seen you for some time. Kept close indoors, I suppose, with office work?"

"The cunning devil; he wishes to draw me," thought Adamson. "No doubt Tom Ironby has told him that I have been out of town for some days. I'll play with my fish a little before I land him gasping on the bank."

"Well," he replied, "my office work is generally pretty confining; but I have been from home a few days."

"Oh, in the country. Capital season of the year for a holiday. You'll enjoy it, I daresay?"

"I always enjoy the country; but I don't get so much of it as I used to do—thanks to you, M'Garray."

"To me! Ah, yes; I understand—the Mount Cairn factorship. You allude to the loss of that, I suppose."

Adamson nodded.

"It was a change of luck, that's all. We must do the best we can for ourselves in this world. When the factorship came my way, I was not such a fool as refuse it."

"Ah, did it come your way, or was it drawn?"

"Did I manœuvre to get it, you mean. Why, if I saw what way the wind blew, wasn't I not right to hoist sail to catch it. He's not a good sailor who neglects that."

"A good sailor doesn't hoist sail to catch a foul wind, M'Garray."

"Foul wind, say ye. He! he! he! It was foul for you, no doubt, but fair for me."

"Well, it may change. By the way, is Gilmour Logan at Mount Cairn at present?"

"No; Sir Gilmour is from home just now."

"Ah! He hasn't returned from Benachray then?"

The shot was quietly fired; but its effect was tremendous. M'Garray suddenly became like a man shrivelled up. A spasm shot through his whole frame, contracting and stiffening it. His very eyes, which he turned on the speaker stood rigid in their sockets.

The face on which his horrible gaze was fixed had undergone a mighty transformation. It no longer wore the passive sealed aspect which characterised it on the lawyer's entrance. Its expression was one of triumph—open, undisguised, unmitigated triumph shone in every feature, conveying to M'Garray the scorching revelation that discovery had taken place. How, or to what extent, or with what damaging result he was wretchedly ignorant, and this made him at once dumb and apprehensive—dumb, lest he should say a word admitting anything that had not been found out, and apprehensive least Adamson had got him within the compass of the law.

But though he had sufficient command over himself to be prudently silent, it was beyond his power to conceal his consternation and dismay. Ideas, quickened by fear, flew like lightning through his mind.

"Can Gillespie have revealed anything since his arrest?" he thought. Yet that was impossible. Gillespie knew nothing of Benachray, and not a living soul but himself knew that Gilmour Logan had gone there. Yet it was plain that Adamson was aware of it. The all-important question was—how much did he know? M'Garray felt his cruel disadvantage, but he would not increase it by a word of his lips.

All this occupied but a few moments of time. Adamson, greatly exultant, saw the mental state into which M'Garray was plunged, and intensely enjoyed it, taking no pains to conceal that he did so.

"Any particular business with me to-day, Adamson?" said M'Garray, making a desperate but ludicrous attempt to speak in an indifferent tone.

"Oh, just as you view it. I merely looked in to say that your double game is up. Gilmour Logan will be ejected from Mount Cairn—Allan McPherson will never get Benachray—and you will lose the factorship of both. I might have left you to receive the information through the actions to be raised in Court; but I thought I might have the satisfaction of telling you in person. Well for all three of you if you escape transportation—it will be more than you deserve, and more than will happen if the law has its course."

"Look you, Adamson," said M'Garray, with a ghastly countenance—"Either walk out at that door or tell me exactly what has taken place to cause you to speak in that style. I won't consent to have the interview prolonged while I am in the dark. Now, take your choice."

"Let the choice be yours," returned the advocate. "I am ready either to depart or to explain, and I leave you to say which it shall be."

"Explain!" replied M'Garray, with prompt snappishness, and when he uttered the word Adamson saw his jaws tighten in a determined effort made to bear the anticipated shock,

"I thought you would choose that alternative. Knowledge is always better than suspense, even if the knowledge should be crushing in its character."

"Curse it! let's have no more prosy prefacing, but come to the point and stick to it."

Adamson smiled pleasantly at the little burst of passion, for it showed how great was M'Garray's torture.

"Well, I'll take you off the tentor-hooks, though I warn you it will only be to cast you on the sharper prongs of discertainty. Four nights ago Harold Logan and three assistants rescued his wife and child from the hands of Joe Nickleby and Mother Barnacle. Of course, Conrad M'Pherson's wife was rescued with them. You may want to know how Harold came to know they were confined on the island; but I won't tell you. Enough that he did learn it, and that he and his friends contrived to reach the Old Castle just as your two patrons and confederates were about to murder their prisoners. They would have been justified in throwing the monsters down the well, to the depths of which they were about to consign their victims; but they received more mercy than they deserved, and were left to find their way from the island as best they could. The ladies are in Aberdeen, and you may depend upon it the rights of both will be seen to. As for their wrongs, let them once become known, and Scotland will become too hot a place for those who inflicted them."

The silent, secret avidity with which M'Garray listened as Adamson spoke is not to be described. He took it with lightning swiftness every portion of the damning discovery and lost advantage—weighed them, calculated their power to injure, and estimated the situation accordingly.

All was not yet lost. There were posts to hold, positions to defend, victory still for sharp wits, and resolute fighting. He was the wily, self-possessed, game-playing lawyer again.

The Reason Why!

The question is asked daily, How is it you are always so busy at the Lion, when all the other stores are doing little or nothing? We answer that it is our prices and immense stock having three times more goods than can be found elsewhere. Such a thing as cheap goods was never known in Guelph till our Mr. Williamson made them so. But how can you undersell others so much as you do? We buy 10 to 1, we sell 10 to 1. We do a wholesale trade as well as a retail, consequently we are the only house in Guelph that can buy direct from the manufacturers, thereby giving a profit to our patrons. We sell at prices that others have to pay. We were raised amongst the British manufacturers, and know every place where the best value is to be obtained

Tweeds.

Our stock in Tweeds is unequalled in Canada, having 1,500 pieces to show. Our own make of Clothing in great variety. Every stitch warranted. By leaving your cash at the Lion you will always feel assured you have done the best for your own interest.

It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. EPPS'S COCOA.—GRATEFUL AND COMFORTING.—"By a thorough knowledge of the natural laws which govern the operations of digestion and nutrition, and by a careful application of the fine properties of well selected cocoa, Mr. Epps has provided our breakfast table with a delicately flavoured beverage which may save us many heavy doctor's bills. It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. Hundreds of subtle maladies are floating around us ready to attack wherever there is a weak point. We may escape many a fatal shaft by keeping ourselves well fortified with pure blood and a properly nourished frame."—Civil Service Gazette.—Sold only in packets labelled—"JAMES EPPS & Co., Homœopathic Chemists, London. Sept. 28, d&w 9m.

BOND & Co., have received American and Canadian brass and enamelled preserving kettles which they are selling extremely low. They have also pure Paris green—warranted to do its work—price as low as most of the adulterated stuff sold.

NO HARD TIMES THERE.—One hears very little now-a-days but the cry hard times. Judging from the constant rush in business at the Lion, Messrs. J. D. Williamson & Co. never feel them. Their ruling principle is, make goods cheaper than any other store, and there is no trouble about selling them.

Bond & Co to-day advertise lawn mowers, refrigerators, and other seasonable goods at prices that defy competition. They have a number of remnants of floor oil cloth which they will sell at great reduction (almost anything) to get rid of them.

Hespeler Items.

The members and adherents of the Methodist Church, Hespeler, propose to entertain their Sunday School children with a grand strawberry festival on the afternoon of Dominion Day—although free to the Sabbath School, the public are cordially invited to attend. A grand entertainment, consisting of readings, recitations, and music will be be given in the evening, in the basement of the church.

A MONTHLY FAIR.—At a public meeting held in the Atkinson House on the evening of the 24th instant, an association was formed with a view to establishing a monthly fair in the village of Hespeler. Mr. James Cunningham, merchant, was appointed President of the Association; Mr. James P. Johnston, Treasurer; and Mr. A. J. Brewster, Secretary. A committee, consisting of Messrs. Renwick, Baker, and Atkinson was appointed to proceed to the next monthly fair held in Guelph, to consult the different purchasers of stock there, as to the most convenient time for such to be held in Hespeler without conflicting with monthly fairs held in other vicinities. We feel sure that should such be established the proprietors of hotels, and other business men of the village would not be slow in furnishing all necessary accommodation.

ST. GEORGE'S UNION.—A meeting of officers of the various National Societies in town was held on Wednesday evening, called by the Guelph St. George's Society. The object of the meeting was explained by the officers of the latter, asking co-operation with them in making a grand international turn-out in August next, when the American delegates of St. George's Union of North America will meet here in convention. The officers present agreed to lay the matter before their respective Societies, and to report to St. George's Society at as early a date as possible.

G. C. L. & D. S.—The regular semi-monthly meeting of this Society was held on Wednesday in the study hall of St. Ignatius College. After the routine business had been gone through with, Mr. J. C. Mr. Coffee spoke most feelingly of the loss the Society would sustain by the death of Mr. Greene, who had been one of its most energetic members. He paid a high tribute to the many sterling traits of character that had distinguished Mr. Greene, during his connection with the society. Mr. J. L. Murphy seconded the motion, and in a short speech endorsed all that the previous speaker had said. A copy of the motion will be forwarded to the family of the deceased gentleman. The meeting adjourned until the second Wednesday in September, it having been decided to discontinue the holding of meetings during July and August.

GORED BY A BULL.—On Monday afternoon Mr. John Hales, a farmer living in Guelph township, about three miles from Guelph, was nearly gored to death by a three year old bull. In leading the animal out to water he noticed that it was as docile as usual. He did not pay any particular attention to it as he took it back into the stable to tie it up. He, however, had no sooner got inside the stall than the animal knocked him down and commenced to gore him. He was knocked insensible and remained in the stall with the angry bull nearly an hour, the animal at intervals attempting to gore him. One of the horns was forced through the muscle of an arm, and he received a severe scalp wound. His chest is also severely injured by the animal's head as it was butting at him. How he finally managed to escape from the stable and reach the house he has no idea. On going in the house his mind was wandering, and shortly afterwards he became insensible. Medical assistance was secured and the wounds dressed. Although Mr. Hales is suffering acutely, it is likely he will recover from the effects of the injuries received. When the same animal was one year old it broke the arm of Mr. Wm. Husband, of Nassagaweya.

The cable has informed the world that Prince Bismarck's monstrous Danish dog made on Sunday last a ferocious attack upon Prince Gortschakoff, jumping suddenly at the throat of the old diplomatist. The attack was not an entirely unprovoked one. The Russian Chancellor, when he gets excited, is in the habit of stamping his feet and indulging in other violent gesticulations. The dog which bears the imperial name of Nero, never quits his master's study except when they go out together. On seeing that the visitor was getting excited and noisy, Nero thought it his duty to put a stop to such behavior, so he jumped at the visitor's throat. The strong arm of Bismarck seized him in good time by the collar and threw him aside.

Why Two Furniture Companies Failed.

The Toronto Monetary Times and Trade Review explains how it is that the Drum Furniture Company, of Quebec, and the Moorehead Furniture Company, of London, are in difficulties. As was to have been expected, the tariff does not appear to have had anything to do with the trouble in either case. Of the Quebec Company it says:—

"The cause appears to be that while the original owners of the business, the Drum family, have 100 cents in the dollar of their capital stock paid up, the other shareholders have only fifty per cent. paid up. The family don't see why they should be on a different footing from the rest of the shareholders, and make a demand for fifty per cent. to be paid back to them, or that other shareholders shall pay up their balance of 50 per cent. and wind up the business. Two meetings have been held to try and settle the matter, but the shareholders will not give in to the demand, so that the matter will likely be fought out in the Courts. It is not thought that this company has lost money; but it cannot have more than held its own."

Of the London Company the Trade Review says:—"There is no good reason why such a business as this should not be profitably conducted in London; but this concern, it seems, has been ill conducted, forcing sales at low price and having a large amount of unproductive labor, besides being reckless in selling, and making in consequence large losses, and paying a heavy sum in discount."

It may be diabolical Free Tradeism to say so, yet we venture the assertion that no tariff can save an industry whose shareholders are fighting among themselves and pulling in different directions, nor one that is badly managed. Such industries will be driven to the wall by home competition alone, and it would be unjust to careful, industrious and skilful manufacturers, as well as consumers, if a tariff were framed that would place a premium on laziness, incompetence and shiftlessness.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE.

Inglis & Hunter's Engine Works Destroyed.

Loss $30,000; Insured for $11,000.

Again has Guelph been visited by a very destructive fire, and this time the fiend has levied as toll the large engine works of Messrs. Inglis & Hunter, situated on the corner of Perth and Bridge streets.

The fire was first seen about three o'clock by the night miller running Mr. Goldie's mills. It first looked about the size of a man's hand, and appeared in the top flat of the main building. At first it occurred to him that some men were working in the foundry, as he was aware that the works had large orders on hand and were kept very busy. In a few minutes more he again looked in the direction of the works and saw the flame increasing in size and commencing to curl up over the wood work of the belfry, which was situated nearly in the centre of the main building. He at once gave the alarm, and in a very short time a large crowd had collected. The bell at the Town Hall gave tongue about quarter past three, and hastened half-wakened crowds to the scene of conflagration. Very many of them worked hard to get out valuable stock that could easily be moved, and they succeeded in removing a large number of valuable patterns, &c., to a place of safety.

The steamer reached the bridge quite promptly, considering the distance from the engine house. Ten minutes or a little more time was here consumed. Although the roof of the main building around the belfry was blazing furiously, had it not been for the valuable time lost—when every minute lost was almost a thousand dollars out of the pockets of the firm—by taking the steamer to the bridge, the entire loss would have been very light. Steam was up, the hose was laid, and the branchmen, who had reached a good position for playing on the flames, but instead of water gushing forth, there was a whirl and a rattle of air in the suction pipe—not a drop of water could be drawn from the river. More fuel was piled in the furnace, and steam pressure was rapidly increased. The result, however, was the same; and was still the same after engineer Barber had primed the pumps. People were beginning to get very anxious, as minute after minute passed, and the fire was gaining rapid headway. Nearly every person had a theory which would explain the cause of the delay, and were ready with suggestions. The pumps not being properly packed was one excuse advanced; and the bend in the suction hose as it hung over the side of the bridge, was another. It appears, however, that wherein the mistake laid was in taking the engine on the bridge at all. The engine would not draw water through the length of the suction hose. The engine was finally drawn over the bridge and down to the brink of the river, where it worked admirably. Fully half an hour's time was lost.

After the engine had begun to throw a stream the flames were soon got under control. The buildings are in a T shape. The top of the letter being formed by the pattern warerooom, blacksmith and moulding shops. These were saved with very little damage. The main buildings, composed of finishing and boiler shops and office were completely gutted, and valuable machinery warped and twisted. The engine and boiler which furnished the power for the works are little injured.

After the fire had been subdued the steamer was taken back to the engine house. About half-past eight o'clock the smouldering ruins had a very dangerous appearance, and the steamer was again taken out to thoroughly extinguish the burning mass. Again at noon the service of the steamer was required.

As to the origin of the fire, the prevailing opinion is that the buildings were fired by an incendiary. There are good grounds on which to base the supposition. The fire originated on a top flat used as a pattern room. There was no fire in that particular portion of the building where the flames were first seen, and it was only on the previous day that the rooms in the top flat had been thoroughly swept. There had been no casting on Wednesday and therefore a spark from the chimney could not have smouldered in the roof. And further there were no oily rags lying in heaps which might have generated enough heat to cause spontaneous combustion.

It certainly looks like incendiarism. In this connection the public can easily count the destruction of six large shops within a year. Cossitt's works, on Nelson Crescent, were destroyed, Riddell's tool works followed next, then Parker's carriage works, then Worswick's, then Scott Elliott's factory, and now Inglis & Hunter's. Every one of these fires—three of them being very large establishments—were generally supposed to be caused by an incendiary torch.

All the books and drawings which were kept in the office were saved. Messrs. W. Noble and S. Saunders were particularly active in this respect. The latter received a very severe squeeze of the fingers of one hand while exerting himself. The books, papers, &c., were removed for safety to Zion chapel, which is close by.

Several of the workmen had their tools saved, and a number had them destroyed. The woodworkers' tools were all destroyed.

The entire lost to Messrs. Inglis & Hunter is roughly estimated at $30,000. There is $11,000 of insurance in the following Companies: Wellington Mutual, $4,000; Queen's, $3,000; Waterloo Mutual, $2,000; Royal Canadian $2,000. The loss to the business will be very great, independent of the above amount. The present season has been a very busy one, and several large orders were about being taken.

The fire will be the means of throwing about forty-five men out of the work for present.

The firm intends rebuilding as soon as possible. The public will be pleased to hear of this. Sympathy for the firm in their loss is expressed on all sides.

If you want to catch all the flies in the room, call at Mr. Horsman's and purchase a patent fly trap; he has also a large variety of wire dish covers, preserving kettles, scythes, grass hooks, scissors, pocket knives, and a choice assortment of all descriptions of hardware, which he is selling at prices which command attention.

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

THE EUROPEAN CONGRESS

LONDON, June 28.

A Vienna despatch says:—As the result of the pourparlers between the plenipotentiaries regarding Greece, it is proposed that the Hellenic question be settled directly between Greece and the Porte within limits designated by the Congress. Austria will also be empowered by the Congress to treat with the Porte respecting the future of Bosnia and the Herzegovina.

A Berlin despatch says:—Gortschakoff was present at the Congress to-day. It is believed the Congress discussed the southern boundary of Roumelia and the appointment of a Governor for the Province, who is to be a Christian appointed by the Porte with the approval of the Powers. England, Austria and Russia being generally agreed concerning the questions of Bessarabia, Servia, Montenegro, Epirus, and Thessaly, no difficulty is expected on those points. The Provincial Correspondence confirms the report that the question of the form of government of the new States, especially of Bulgaria, is now substantially arranged. The Servian question will be discussed on Friday. At to-day's sitting the pacific disposition of the Powers were more marked than ever. It was decided that a consular as well as a military commission should be appointed to fix the frontier of Bulgaria and Roumelia. The Greek plenipotentiary has been officially informed that he will be admitted.

The Vienna Political Correspondence says:—Notwithstanding grave representation, especially on the part of Bismarck, the Turkish delegates in the Congress continue stubborn, and their obstinacy is calculated to lessen the probability of peace. To-day the Turks universally admitted the necessity of Austrian intervention in the border provinces. Action in the matter appears very imminent.

Another correspondent says the Turks refuse to surrender Shumla unless the Russians are withdrawn to Adrianople, and threaten to leave the Congress if a cession of territory to Greece is even discussed. It is possible the Roumanian question will be considered on Friday. The Roumanian delegates have presented a memorandum to the Congress claiming that their territory shall be rendered neutral, left intact, and not subjected to the passage of the Russian troops. Roumania also claims the islands at the mouth of the Danube, a war indemnity, and a definitive recognition of her independence.

A Berlin despatch says:—Gortschakoff announced on Wednesday that he would henceforth take no part in the labours of the Congress, and that the management of the Russian case would devolve on Count Schouvaloff. It is understood that the causes of this step are his ill-health and disapproval of the concessions made to the Congress.

The "Man Eater" Shot.

The Hambletonian stallion, Risingham, one of the finest bred horses in Orange County, has been killed by his owner, Dr. J. A. Schultz, of Middleton, N. Y. This horse was twenty-one years old, and an offer of $7,000 was once refused for him. At two years of age he was considered the successor to old Hambletonian, his sire. Nineteen years ago, however, he began to exhibit signs of viciousness, that increased as he grew older. Finally he became almost entirely unmanageable, and since then he has been known as the "man-eater." He had killed three men, and wounded crippled and disfigured twenty others. For fourteen years no one dared to put him to a waggon until a short time ago, Dr. Schultz, who had owned him but a short time, with the aid of several men got him in harness and to a waggon and tried to drive him. It was a dear experiment. The stallion broke every thing to pieces, and the doctor was himself saved by the merest chance. Several of the leading horse-trainers of the country had tried their skill at subduing him. He conquered them all, and nearly killed one of them. One of his latest exploits was the seizing of a negro groom who had undertaken to keep him, tore off the man's right cheek and destroyed the eye, and stripped the flesh from his right arm. The groom became blind and paralyzed. The three men who preceded the negro as grooms all narrowly escaped with their lives. One lost an ear, another had three fingers and a thumb taken off, and a third left the largest portion of his arm in the jaws of the horse. It became impossible to get a groom for the stallion. No one knew at what moment the brute would attack him. Dr. Schultz at last concluded that Risingham was chronically insane, and made up his mind to shoot him before he claimed another victim. As Risinger stood in his stall, glaring over the manger at the spectators who had entered the stable to see the man-eater die, five large pistol balls were shot into his head, directly between his eyes. They failed to bring him down, and uttering the fiercest of neighs, he made frantic efforts to get over the manger among the spectators. As a man drew the attention of the horse away, Dr. Schultz, by a skilful thrust of a long knife, severed his jugular vein, and the blood spurted out in a large stream. For a long time Risingham stood up under the great flow of blood, relaxing no effort to get at the men. The last movement he made was an attempt to seize Dr. Schultz with his teeth—the doctor having gone into the stall. Horsemen say that but for the temper of this animal he would have been worth $30,000.

WELL-DESERVED PRESENT.—We find by the Liverpool Commercial Gazette of June 13th, that "the Liverpool steamship companies, running between Liverpool and Canada, yesterday presented to Mr. John Dyke, the indefatigable Liverpool agent of the Canadian Government, a very valuable and handsome time-piece, which bears the following inscription:—"Presented to Mr. John Dyke by the Allan, the Dominion and Beaver steamship lines, as a memento of the successful resistance of the Duke of Richmond's cattle bill, April, 1878." Mr. Dyke, it will be remembered, was the first to initiate and bring to a success the trans-Atlantic trade in meat and live stock, and of course offered very valuable assistance and information to those engaged in opposing the passing of the cattle bill." Mr. Dyke has proven himself a most efficient and useful officer in the service of the Dominion Government, and his services are no doubt as well appreciated here as in Liverpool.

...REHOUSE

...ved, and believe still, that ...proper way in which a candidate for Parliament should approach a constituency is by public meetings only." We believe in Mr. Blake's opinion.

THE Iron Age of New York thus speaks of the iron industry in the States: "It is difficult to conceive of a branch of industry being in a more paralyzed condition than the present sante of the pig iron trade. There are constant rumors of sales at prices which are said to net positive loss to the manufacturers." While this is the condition in the States the Londonderry works in Nova Scotia are enlarging their capacity and appear to be on the high road to prosperity. A letter from Philadelphia says that the outlook for the pig iron trade is "gloomy in the extreme." "The whole bar iron trade may be considered demoralized. There is but little prospect of improvement, and dullness may, therefore, be looked for during the next two months." A letter from Pittsburg says: "Matters in manufacturing circles, notably in iron, are in worse shape now hereabouts than at any time since the panic. Failures are still of common occurrence. The mills and furnaces of the embarrassed firms have been stopped and will not likely be started, even if an extension should be granted, until there is more evidence of improvement."

To the Editor of the Mercury.

SIR,—It may be gratifying to you to learn that the DAILY MERCURY find its way to this hyperborean region, and I have great pleasure in reading it, and the collection of local scraps from my acquaintance in Guelph makes me nearly as well posted as a resident.

I read with considerable interest the report of the different meetings held to discuss the question of additional taxation, and the tariff as it is. We have not much time here to devote to political matters, and might be more usefully employed, we like nevertheless to have our say as well as other folks, and if not so ably, is perhaps as fully discussed as in other places.

The Protection theory is not, however, popular here, as the farmers look at it much in the light of lifting a stick to break their own heads. It would no doubt enrich a few at the expense of the many. The cry to tax grain for the benefit of the farmer is looked on with suspicion, merely as a bait to rake them into the net. In fact Tory and Liberal alike know that the whole cry is merely a scramble for office, between the outs and the ins, and if the Protection party were only in power the tariff might go to the dogs, or a little tinkering for appearance sake might be made, but whether for better or worse would be for after experience. This is the general opinion here, and will no doubt be acted on at the coming election. Like the fable of the flies, we fear to let a hungry set on us, as they might bleed us rather too freely.

There is, Mr. Editor, another thing I would note. I saw in a late issue of your paper an article from a Liverpool paper on the cattle trade with Canada. It concludes something like the following:—"Canada has now the ball at her foot, and by the selection of good breeds for feeding purposes, which, thanks to their enterprising neighbors, they are now well supplied with, etc." Now, sir, I am not a native Canadian, but am perhaps as much Canadian as many who are. I feel interested in the honor of my adopted country without by any means endeavoring to disparage our cousins across the line. I maintain that as regards the selecting and perfecting of good breeds of cattle, etc., the United States are more indebted to Canada than Canada is to the States. Many of the old country journalists know much less of Canadians than Canadians know of them. That is my opinion, and if wrong am open for correction.

But as I am getting lengthy I shall note a few of our local matters. The crops in which we are all interested have been looking uncommonly well. Most of the grain was got in early, and it is now far advanced. About the 7th to 10th of this month, however, we had several nights of severe frosts, which did considerable damage to almost all of the crops that were any way advanced—fall wheat, spring wheat, oats and peas—peas perhaps the worst, and any potatoes that were up were cut off. Not many of them however were far advanced, and in consequence suffered less. I note similar effects all the way on new lands as far as Lindsay. The late showery weather has helped the crops that were injured very much, and I am suprised to see peas that were quite bleached coming back to their green color. It must at any rate injure them very much, but it may not do so much damage as was generally feared. Where there was much of that light vegetable soil they were badly cut. On some of the older lands little damage was sustained.

I am, sir, yours truly,
ROBT. HADDEN.

"I Did Not Come Here to Yield."

(From the Liverpool Journal.)

"I did not come here to yield" is the reported reply of Beaconsfield to Bismarck's importunities that he should be lenient in the interests of peace. The reply, whether reported truly or not, is characteristic of the man. The fact is, Disraeli is at heart more anxious for war than for peace. He represents at Berlin the blood and courage and insulted pride of one of the most powerful nations upon the globe. He has peace constituents at home, to be sure, but he is backed by a war majority, and he knows it. He is today, with the people, the most popular man in England. He does not represent the more intelligent, far-seeing, cautious and "respectable" element, but he is the idol of the masses—those out of work, those whose pride is touched by repeated humiliations to England, those who are spoiling for a fight upon general principles. He represents probably and most important of all his Sovereign, Her Majesty, Queen Victoria. War would make Disraeli a central figure in history; peace would still cramp him within the more narrow confines of piping and listless peace. With this state of affairs, therefore, and knowing beyond all others the present immense resources of England, Beaconsfield is not inclined to yield. He wants to fight—that is the essence of the whole business. But will he? that is the question of the hour. The situation at the least warrants one conclusion than can be assumed now; Disraeli is the centre of the Berlin Congress. All others really revolve about him. Truly the ignored Jew of years ago is no longer the despised man to whom the House of Commons will not listen. But he then told them that in time they would hear him. That time came long since. Now they are only too know and obey his slightest wish.

THE great feature about the Hon. Mr. Macpherson's journey through Bruce is that he is accompanied by the well known piper, Mr. G. M. Ross, who is the only one that gives eclat to the trip.

THE London evening papers have the following:—The Colonial Office has offered Earl Dufferin an extension of his appointment as Governor-General of Canada, and His Lordship has consented to remain in Canada.

Harold the Outlaw

—OR—

The Gauger of Skene.

CHAPTER XLIX.

WALTER ADAMSON ENJOYS TRIUMPH AND SATISFACTION—HAROLD LOGAN CEASES TO BE AN OUTLAW.

"A very interesting history that, Adamson," he observed, with a composure which, if forced, was wonderfully well stimulated. "Very interesting indeed—quite dramatic, I may say. The scenes are fit for the stage without any touching up. How far they are due to fancy I am not in a position to determine, having the advantage only of the narration of the partial hearer of the statement of a partial actor in the scenes described. One thing I may venture to challenge—the assumption, namely, that I have anything to do with what is reported to have taken place at Benachray. How do you propose to establish that extraordinary supposition?"

"Well, Mrs. Conrad M'Pherson would be a material witness on that point, so would Dixon and Nip, if they could be got at."

"Oh, absent witnesses are as good as none at all. As for the absurd statements of a mad woman——"

"These will be tested by those who are able to judge of them," interrupted Adamson.

"And should they be believed or admitted to the full, the legal position is not so desperate for us as you have indicated. Neither Allan M'Pherson's succession nor my factorship are in danger, I think."

"Arn't they?"

"No. We don't admit that she ever was the wife of Conrad M'Pherson. But were that even made out she will be entitled only to a widow's aliment. The interests of Allan M'Pherson will suffer nothing."

"You forget the child; that child is the heir, and cuts out the scoundrel you have just named. Pardon the epithet, M'Garray, it's not professional, I know; but there are cases in which the feelings of the man get above those of the lawyer, and this is one of them."

"I never give way to them," rejoined M'Garray. "But we shall let it pass. The child—why, even according to the woman's own showing, it will be found, I suspect, that the child is not forthcoming."

"You mean that it was taken from her by Dixon?"

"I should not be surprised if she said so."

"And should you be surprised if Dixon said so himself?"

"Time enough to answer that when Dixon does say so. He, he, he!"

"Dixon does say so," was the crushing reply.

M'Garray was upset.

"Dixon!" he cried. "Dixon is dead—at least abroad; no one knows where."

"Dixon is at this moment in Aberdeen," replied Adamson with pitiless exactness. "He has never been out of Scotland. He was one of the friends who assisted Harold to rescue the ladies. He has kept the child carefully in view, and has already restored it to its mother. So there goes Allan M'Pherson's chance of Benachray and your retention of the factorship, for of course the Court will appoint a curator bonus, and he will hardly trust you. Now for your other patron and confederate, Gilmour Logan. He is equally dished."

"Wrong again," said M'Garray, showing his teeth as a sign that he was inwardly furious. "You'll have one insurmountable difficulty in showing that the girl and her brat are the wife and child of an outlaw."

"We shan't need. Harold's outlawry is at an end. His innocence is established. Black Dick is dead. His dying declaration was made in presence of the Sheriff, who will represent the case to the Lord Advocate and the charge against him will be withdrawn. The moment he is reponed he becomes Sir Harold Logan, proprietor of Mount Cairn, from which her scheming ladyship and her despicable whelp of a son will have to march, in company with their worthy factor, Jabez M'Garray. Ha! ha! I think I have checkmated you at last. You have crowed over me, and outwitted me on several occasions lately, but the wind has at length become fair for me, and foul for you—with this difference, that the fair wind is on the side of the honest ship. Good morning, M'Garray. You'd rather be alone I see, so I'll leave you to digest your second breakfast. I'll presently send along your tool and spy, Tom Ironby, to condole with you; but you had better have a piece of sticking plaster ready to apply to the spot where my boot reaches him in kicking him out. I daresay you will give Tom a stool in your office, seeing he has lost his seat in mine for serving you. Eh?"

"Go to the devil!" shouted M'Garray, goaded at length to rage and fury.

"Go from the devil, you mean," returned the provoking and jubilant advocate, as, with an intense chuckle of satisfaction and a final gaze at the livid countenance of M'Garray, he made his exit.

"I've cooked his goose famously, the murdering villain," he soliloquised, as he stepped back to Huxter Row with such brisk elastic motion that the acquaintances he made on the way stopped to compliment him on his wonderfully improved appearance.

One of these was our old friend Bailie M'Allister, whose exploits in the Tolbooth on the night of Harold's escape will not have been forgotten by the reader. He was about to cross the street on his way to the Council Chamber when, seeing the advocate approaching, he stopped short to exchange friendly greetings.

The Duplex System Applied to the Cables.

In the practical effect, five new ocean cables have been laid across the Atlantic within the last few days, but it has been done so noiselessly that the newspapers have scarcely noticed it. The New York Graphic explains how it has been accomplished. It says:—

We described, some days ago, how the process of duplex telegraphing had at last been successfully adopted by the cable companies, and explained how, as soon as this was done, the capacity of each cable was at once nearly doubled. It was not only as if five new cables had been laid down; it was better than this, because the expense of the new lines had been saved, and the companies suddenly found themselves in the position of a railway line which had its track doubled without expense, or of a farmer who found his stock all bearing twins, and his fields producing two crops where one only had been expected. The insensibility of the newspapers to this sudden doubling of cable facilities is all the more surprising in view of the fact that the event furnishes an excellent argument for the immediate reduction of cable tolls—a reduction beneficial alike to the press and the public. Twice the business can now be done over the wires as could have been possible when the messages could be sent only one way at a time. This additional business can be obtained, no doubt, by the lowering of the rates, and it would be well for the journals to join in demanding this. In itself, the successful adoption of the duplex system to deep-sea telegraphing is a significant and valuable scientific triumph. Perhaps, ere long, it will be found that even more than this can be done and the capacity of each cable increased four-fold by the use of Edison's quadruplex.

The Reason Why!

The question is asked daily, How is it you are always so busy at the Lion, when all the other stores are doing little or nothing? We answer that it is our prices and immense stock having three times more goods than can be found elsewhere. Such a thing as cheap goods was never known in Guelph till our Mr. Williamson made them so. But how can you undersell others so much as you do? We buy 10 to 1, we sell 10 to 1. We do a wholesale trade as well as a retail, consequently we are the only house in Guelph that can buy direct from the manufacturers, thereby giving a profit to our patrons. We sell at prices that others have to pay. We were raised amongst the British manufacturers, and know every place where the best value is to be obtained

To my Friends, the P...

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Having retired from the Furniture Trade, I take this opportunity of thanking you for the very generous support accorded me during the forty years I have been in business.

It gives me infinite pleasure to assure you that my success has been complete, and that I have every confidence in my successors, Messrs. Burr & Skinner, who have made the requisite arrangements for sustaining the famous reputation of the stone house with the chair on the roof.

I would therefore remind you that though I have retired altogether from the business, you will still find the same wonderfully cheap bargains in furniture at my old stand.

I will be thankful if all to whom I am indebted will render their accounts at once.

I have placed my books in the hands of Messrs. Sweetnam & Hazelton, and trust that they will meet with success in the collection of accounts.

Thanking you once again, I am, ladies and gentlemen,

Yours very truly,

...attempted to ... of the affair by Sir John Macdonald, who ... known to cut in his life, as the most prominent figure in the picture, and putting the Premier and Mr. Gilmor in the far background.

This is nothing new. There is scarcely a week passes that such miserable political dodges are not resorted to. So far as Mr. Mackenzie is concerned, he would treat such conduct with that contempt it so well deserves. Neither he nor his friends are compelled to resort to such small business to keep him before the public. He can well afford to trust to his public acts and irreproachable character, for holding the first place in the affections of the people, as he undoubtedly does at present, without such miserable bolstering as we have here alluded to.—Berlin Telegraph.

East Ward Election.

The election of a Councillor to take the seat vacated by the resignation of Mr. Chubb took place on Thursday. The excitement in the Ward was almost entirely confined to a number of the supporters of Mr. Coffee who displayed great zeal and unlimited perseverance in canvassing for their candidate. Even a self-appointed scrutineer acted on behalf of Mr. Coffee at the town hall, and took occasion to administer the oath in one or two cases to Mr. Dunbar's friends.

At the closing of the poll the vote stood as follows:

	DUNBAR	COFFEE
Town hall - -	34	37
Skating rink - -	24	43

Mr. Charlton at Fergus.

He Pricks the National Policy Bubble.

On Thursday evening a meeting was held in the drill shed, Fergus, for the purpose of hearing Mr. Charlton, M. P. for North Norfolk, speak on the tariff and protection questions. The meeting had been called by the friends of Mr. Robinson, the Reform candidate for Centre Wellington. The drill shed was completely filled with electors of the village and farmers from the neighborhood.

On motion Mr. James Ross was appointed chairman and Mr. Craig Secretary.

The chairman announced why the meeting had been called, and stated that in order to get the meeting concluded at a seasonable hour, it had been decided that Mr. Charlton should speak first, that the time he occupied would be allowed any person who spoke in opposition, and that Mr. Charlton would then have the right of reply.

Mr. Charlton then addressed the audience for an hour. He was received with cheers, and as he dealt with questions relating to the financial affairs of the country in a clear and forcible manner, or showed what disastrous effects the policy of the so-called National party would have on the country, the enthusiasm of the audience was almost unbounded. His dealing with the tariff question was a masterly effort.

Dr. Orton was received with applause. He occupied the floor for forty minutes, and besides dealing with the question of protection to farmers, he also loudly denounced the general policy of the Mackenzie Government.

Hon. Wm. McDougall was next introduced. He took particular pains to inform the chairman that notwithstanding any arrangements made he intended to speak just as long as it suited him. He did not intend allowing his time to be limited by a man that was in a hurry to get home to his potato patch. The speaker then dealt with the general policy of the Government. Taking the speech altogether it fell flat on the audience. He spoke for one hour.

Mr. Charlton, M. P., replied. A few prominent Tories, knowing that the protection question and other arguments advanced by the two previous speakers were being most beautifully picked to pieces, kept up a series of interruptions. The reply was a very able one, and the speaker was frequently loudly applauded throughout its delivery, which occupied an hour.

Before the close of the meeting, Mr. Ross, the chairman, administered such a dressing to Mr. McDougall for his contemptible way of sneering at farmers, by calling a farm nothing but a potato patch, that nearly every person present was willing to admit, was well deserved.

Dr. Orton wanted to speak again, but the meeting would not allow such unfair play.

Mr. Robinson and Dr. Orton moved a vote of thanks to the chairman, and the meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, the Mackenzie Government, and the speakers.

MISSING.—A young minister of the Evangelical Association is reported missing. He left Bismarck station near St. Thomas to go to his appointment in another field of labor sometime early last May, but was never heard of since. The people at the new place were awaiting his arrival, but at the New Hamburg camp meeting these facts came out.

Formation of a Military Band.

The Meeting Last Night.

Acting on a requisition numerously signed, Mayor Howard called a meeting of the ratepayers for Thursday evening to consider the advisability of rendering aid in the establishment of a band in the town, and to discuss the question in all its bearings. The meeting was fairly attended, the old town hall being about half filled. Among the number were many musicians of the town.

Mayor Howard took the chair a little after eight, called the meeting to order, and read the requisition calling the meeting. After a few preliminary remarks stating that he was entirely in sympathy with the movement, he called on any present to speak to the subject.

Mr. W. H. Jones was appointed Secretary.

Captain McCrae said that he regretted the absence of a band of musicians in town. There were several cases lately where parties had to go out of town to get a band of music for their enjoyment. He thought there was material enough in town, and good, too, to form a first-class band. Major Macdonald and himself had talked the matter over several times. It was an expensive affair to form such an institution, but he thought that could be overcome very easily. He thought that a committee of two leading citizens, an equal number of military officers, and members of the Town Council might be formed to look after the matter. After a few words in reference to the paying of the men, the fee to be charged, and the time the band might give to the town occasionally on an evening, he retired.

Mr. C. F. Leonard then moved, seconded by Mr. W. H. Jones,

"That this meeting is of the opinion that it is desirable to take immediate steps for the formation of a brass band in the town of Guelph, and that if it can be satisfactorily arranged, it is more likely to be permanent and efficient if under military organization."

Mr. Leonard spoke to the motion. He said he took great interest in the movement. He thought it was necessary and right for the Council to assist in the matter, and that we should have a band that would be a pride to the town.

The resolution was then carried amid applause, none dissenting.

Capt. McCrae then moved,

"That in order to make a band thoroughly efficient, it will be necessary to give it suitable aid and support, therefore this meeting would recommend that such a grant be made by the Council of the town as will accomplish the object desired, and that Judge Macdonald, with Messrs. C. F. Leonard, G. D. Pringle, W. H. Jones, W. Sunley, C. A. Burrows, and the mover, be a committee to perfect a scheme for band organization, and submit it, with these resolutions, at an early meeting of the Town Council."

Mr. G. D. Pringle second the motion. He thought the town wanted a band, and also said he thought a military band would be the best, and give the most satisfaction.

Mayor Howard then left the chair, and it was taken by Capt. McCrae.

A vote of thanks was then moved by Mr. Leonard, seconded by Mr. Pringle, to His Worship for presiding over the meeting, and the hope expressed that the movement would have the assistance of himself and the Council.

Mr. Howard replied that he was in favor of the movement, and would do what he could to further the object in view.

"God Save the Queen" was then sung, and three cheers given for Her Majesty, and the meeting dispersed.

Wells, and Industrial Reconstruction, by Edward Atkinson, of Boston); two theological articles (Science and Theology, by James Anthony Froude; The Moral Problem, by ex-President Mark Hopkins); two papers on subjects connected with the arts ("The French Exhibition architecturally considered," by Charles Gindriez, of France, architect, and "Photograph Art in Europe," by Philip Gilbert Hamerton); two literary contributions (the Centenary of Rousseau, by Rev. Samuel Osgood, D.D., and The Department of Contemporary Literature, consisting of notes on English, French, and German books recently published); and one article on Army Reorganization, by General James H. Wilson, one of the most brilliant cavalry officers in the army during the Civil War, and now a writer of recognised ability. Each article is prepared with reference to the public demand for reliable information upon the subjects treated, and the writers are masters of their subjects. Each article, whether American or European, is an original contribution to the pages of the Review. The number may be obtained through the mail of the publishers, or by order, at the newsstands. Price, $1.00 a number. $5.00 a year.

BOND & Co., have received American and Canadian brass and enamelled preserving kettles which they are selling extremely low. They have also pure Paris green—warranted to do its work—price as low as most of the adulterated stuff sold.

NO HARD TIMES THERE.—One hears very little now-a-days but the cry hard times. Judging from the constant rush in business at the Lion, Messrs. J. D. Williamson & Co. never feel them. Their ruling principle is, make goods cheaper than any other store, and there is no trouble about selling them.

Bond & Co to-day advertise lawn mowers, refrigerators, and other seasonable goods at prices that defy competition. They have a number of remnants of floor oil cloth which they will sell at great reduction (almost anything) to get rid of them.

Removal of the Encampment to Elora.

(From a Mercury Correspondent).

On Wednesday the Field Battery and 30th Battalion paraded through Fergus, and every man looked every inch a soldier. After the parade a cricket match was played between a picked eleven of the volunteers and the Fergus club. The latter won by a score of 107 to 58. The volunteers were placed at the disadvantage of being tired out.

A young man named Cameron, from Guelph, visited the camp on Wednesday, and judging from the manner in which he partook of Government bread and soup, he evidently relished it. Three meals inside of three hours are not bad for one man to take.

About one o'clock on Thursday the tents were struck, and the Battalion and Battery marched to Elora. The Battery had everything in shape for marching in three-quarters of an hour, while the Battalion struck their tents, made the march to Elora, and had their tents pitched in one hour and a quarter.

As the Battalion and Battery marched into Elora all the bells in the village were rung, and as they passed up the street they were loudly cheered by the spectators that lined the streets.

The citizens of Elora have had water pipes laid down to the camp in Irvine Park, and have on every hand shown great kindness to the volunteers. A platform has been erected for dancing, and after the duties of the day have been performed there is an opportunity for dancing.

At the parade on Thursday morning a horse attached to No. 2 gun was thrown, and Bombardier Bond, who was acting as driver, had a narrow escape from being crushed.

On Thursday evening word came from Lieut.-Col. Strange that he could not be here to inspect the Wellington Field Battery before Monday, and that the gun practice would take place on Tuesday. The Battery will in all probability be inspected on Monday by Col. Taylor.

The Target firing will take place on the farm of Mr. Wilson, at the place known as the "Big bend," on the river.

The coroner's jury sitting on the body of Joseph Calvert, the victim of the Hagersville tragedy, brought in a verdict that Joseph Calvert came to his death "from a wound inflicted upon his body with some keen, sharp-bladed instrument by the hand of one Alfred Herod, of the township of Oneida, with the intent to do grevious bodily injury."

THE EASTERN QUESTION.

June 27.

A Berlin correspondent states that there will be no assembling of Congress in autumn, as it is intended to settle everything definitely now, and merely leave the details to the special commissions. Greece will decline to participate in the Congress in a merely consultative capacity.

It is understood Russia claims no influence even upon the Danube. The pourparlers seem to show that the Bessabarian question is so arranged that Russia only claims territory as far as the Kilia mouth of the Danube.

At Wednesday's sitting Gortshchakoff, who had to be carried to the council room, and who spoke with an effort in a trembling voice, but with an expression of resolution, said the remarks he was about to make were prompted by a love of truth and of his country. His colleagues had granted concessions in the name of Russia far supassing what she had thought of making. He was far too well aware of the feeling which actuated his colleagues to raise an objection to the concessions they deemed it their duty to make. He merely wished to state that Russia had made those sacrifices from a desire for peace, and that she had no narrow or selfish aim. Earl Beaconsfield expressed admiration at Prince Gortschakoff's sentiments. He acknowledged in the name of the Congress that a desire for peace actuated Russia, and hoped the same sentiment would continue? The correspondent adds:—It is thought that this is Gortschakoff's last appearance at the Congress.

A Vienna despatch says it causes some surprise and uneasiness that the representatives of Turkey in the Congress are not showing the resistance expected of them. They have hitherto merely stated their point, and allowed it to be overruled. One opinion is that they are reserving their strength to resist all the more energetically if, in the discussion of the Greek question, and those relating to the Western Provinces, any attempt be made to go beyond what the treaty stipulated. Therefore over both the Greek and Bosnian questions a hard struggle is anticipated.

A Berlin special states that the Queen of England was informed on Wednesday that the Congress would probably end in ten days. At Thursday's sitting Bismarck declared that he should be obliged by fatigue to absent himself for a long time from the Congress unless the delegates were resolved to come to ar agreement privately on the main question so as to permit their prompt settlement in the Congress, minor matters being left to the Commission.

Very Natural.

When a person has proved an article and found it good, and answering the purpose for which it is intended, he will not readily abandon it for one of doubtful reputation, or concerning which he knows nothing. We are led to make these remarks owing to the course always pursued by those who have used that celebrated and valuable horse medicine known as "Darley's Condition Powers and Arabian Heave Remedy." All are so well pleased with it that they will not use any other; many have waited several weeks until the agent could obtain a new supply. There is no thing equal to it as a condition medicine, or any other complaint affecting the wind of horses. Remember the name, and see that the signature of Hurd & Co. is on each package. Northrop & Lyman, Toronto, Ont., proprietors for Canada. Sold by all Medicine dealers.

A common cough or cold should never be trifled with: often when neglected it is converted into a serious and generally fatal pulmonary disease. The more prudent, aware of this, promptly use "Bryan's Pulmonic Wafers," a curative which has sustained its reputation for over twenty years. They are always efficacious and exert a most beneficial influence on all the bronchial and pulmonary organs. Sold by all druggists and country dealers at 25 cents a bottle.

Never be ashamed of confessing your ignorance, for the wisest man upon earth is ignorant of many things, insomuch that what he knows is a mere nothing in comparison to what he does not know. But we apprehend very few are ignorant of the wonderful effects of the "Canadian Pain Destroyer," its a most sure and rapid cure for colds, rheumatism, pleurisy, colic, cholera morbus, and all summer complaints. Sold by all medicine dealers.

Liver is King.

The Liver is the imperial organ of the whole human system, as it controls the life, health and happiness of man. When it is disturbed in its proper action, all kinds of ailments are the natural result. The digestion of food, the movements of the heart and blood, the action of the brain and nervous system, are all immediately connected with the workings of the Liver. It has been successfully proved that Green's August Flower is unequalled in curing all persons afflicted with Dyspepsia or Liver Complaint, and all the numerous symptoms that result from an unhealthy condition of the Liver and Stomach. Sample bottles to try, 10 cents. Positively sold in all towns on the Western Continent. Three doses will prove that it is just what you want.

THE Reformers of West Middlesex had a great demonstration at Strathroy on Thursday, more than 3,000 of the staunch yeomanry assembled to hear Messrs. Cartwright and Laurier, who were accorded a splendid reception on their arrival from London. After the presentation of addresses, able speeches were made by Messrs. Cartwright, Laurier, Pardee, Oliver and others. An interesting episode at the conclusion of the speeches was the unanimous adoption, amid great cheers and laughter, of a resolution in Gaelic, of which the following is a free translation:—"That we, the Highlanders and sons of Highlanders here assembled in the town of Strathroy, having listened to the Sassenach Cartwright's exposition of the financial position of the country, beg to express our full confidence in his ability, wisdom, honesty, and ministry as a Minister of the Crown, and also in that of his colleagues. And we hereby protest against the silly attempts that have been and are being made by the 'predatory' Macpherson, for the purpose of prejudicing the Highlanders against them." A banquet given to the visitors in the evening was well attended and very enthusiastic.

THE election of a Councillor in the East Ward, in place of Mr. F. J. Chubb, took place on Thursday, and resulted in the return of Mr. Coffee by a majority of twenty-two, on a very small vote. ENQUIRIES made in New York do not bear out the assertion that the Montreal Irish Catholic pic-nic, set down for the 11th of July, will be attended by the Hibernians of that State. The American members of the order express their intention of abstaining from any interference in the differences between the Irish Catholics and Orangemen in Canada.

SENATOR MACPHERSON on Thursday held forth at Paisley, but he did not wait for Mr. Gillies' reply, which was a most effective one. He pushed on to Walkerton with Piper Ross, where a dinner was awaiting him.

The Winnipeg Free Press says that Mr. Donald A. Smith will run for Selkirk, even though Governor Morris be the Tory candidate.

THE New Brunswick election returns give 13 Government supporters, 24 Opposition, and 4 independent.

There was a case of child desertion at the Paris station recently. The mother, a good looking young woman, was found and charged with the same. She compromised the matter by taking the child. As she was leaving for the west, a lady, from Wolverton, learning the position the girl occupied, offered to adopt the infant, if the mother would relinquish it entirely. This proposal was accepted, and the necessary papers were signed.

Persons who give a careless glance at a huge circus poster or a theatrical gutter-snipe probably do not think of the extent of the business of bill-posting. Yet in New York city one firm does an annual business of $80,000 a year, while the National Association of Bill Posters includes 2,000 members, representing a capital of over $1,500,000. Bill-posting has grown to its present dimensions chiefly within the past twenty years.

A tremendous rush at the Lion for the great bargains advertised in our paper this week. We hear the ladies say, the value is the most magnificent they ever saw, more especially the Parasols and Dress goods.

The school room was tastefully decorated for the occasion with evergreens, arranged in tasteful festooning, and the judicious placing of flowering plants.

The programme of music and recitations was quite long, and many of the pieces were of a very difficult nature, but notwithstanding this, the interest of the audience was maintained throughout, and the rendering of the several pieces called forth well-merited applause. The instrumental music was particularly pleasing in many instances. While selections from operas were rendered by girls, quite young in years, with charming correctness—the infants of the school—their appearance would almost class them as such, gave an exhibition of correctness in time by three playing at each of the four pianos. This was greatly admired, and as the little fingers, scarcely able to span half an octave, had ceased their task, they were greeted with loud applause. The vocal portion of the programme was also well carried out, and several leading voices were so sweet in tone and so well modulated, that there is no doubt, out of the number, a few of them will yet become very popular vocalists. The recitations were given with ease and expression. "Curfew must not ring to-night," by twelve little girls, was very pleasing.

After the programme had been concluded little Miss Dayton read out the list of prizes awarded. The little girl or young lady whose name was called out stepped forward, and was either crowned or presented with a prize, as the case might be, by Rev. Father Mamel. Miss Davis handed each prize to the Reverend Father, so that there was not a particle of delay in getting through with the long list.

"God Save the Queen" ended what was in every respect an excellent entertainment.

In the parlors of the Convent were on exhibition the work of the pupils during the past term. The work consisted of very fine specimens of oil paintings, drawings, and the almost numberless fancy articles which only young misses possessing deft fingers and competent instructors could hope to satisfactorily accomplish.

The following is the programme of entertainment and the list of prizes awarded:

—OR—

The Gauger of Skene.

"Hey, Watty," he exclaimed, "foo's a' wi' ye, man? It's something rare tee get a sicht o' you noo-a-days on the pavement. Fat hae ye been deein' this week or twa?"

"I've been in the country, Bailie, getting a snuff o' the hill air, and a smell o' the heather."

"And a guid, richt wully-waucht o' mountain dew fae yer friends the smugglers, I'se warrant?"

"Sic a thing is not unlikely, Bailie. A glass o' Highland whisky is very refreshing during a stiff walk through a glen. You'd not despise it yoursel', I'm thinkin', even though you did suspect it to be the product o' a sma' still."

"Maybe no. The temptation, I ken, is strong in such circumstances, and the flesh is but weak to resist it. I'd need, though, to have my chain o' office off my neck before I did sic a thing. It doesna dee for bailies and advocates tee countenance smugglin', ye ken. But foo's yer friend, Harold Logan—the wild slip o' a chield that gied me sic wark that nicht he brak' oot o' the Tolbooth? Ye were payin' him a veesit, nae doot."

"Weel, Bailie, I did chance to see him, and in most excellent spirits."

"Ay, speerits o' his ain makin', I fancy. I houp ye coonselled him weel for his ain safety no tee trust himsel' within the bounds o' the city. It is said that he has been in it mair than ance, but let him tak' tent, or he may be catched; and my faith he'll find it nae easy maiter tee break oot o' the Tolbooth a second time."

He mustn't fear the risk, though; for to let ye into a secret, Bailie, Harold Logan is in Aberdeen at this moment."

"What! That daurin' scoundrel. Does he think because the two chief witnesses against him hae got into trouble themsel's, and are laid fast by the heels, that he has nae longer cause o' fear. Body o' me, let me but cast een on him and I'll grip him mysel'."

"Ye dinna need, Bailie. He is, or at least soon will be, as clear of the causeway as you are. His innocence is broucht to light—the Sheriff has the proofs of it. You can't blame the poor lad for fleeing from prison when he was guiltless, and had nae means of showing it."

"Innocent, say ye? And proved tee the Sheriff's satisfaction."

"To his entire satisfaction. I give you my word for it."

"That's most extraordinary. Is this kent in the toon?"

"Not yet. You and M'Garray are the only two who know. But you can spread the news wherever you like."

"I'll announce it in the Council the moment I gang in, e'en though I should stop Bailie Boss in ane o' his lang-windit speeches. Guid mornin', Watty. This is news that winna keep."

Off went the Bailie in haste, bursting with excitement, and Adamson, not ill pleased at having found this means of spreading the intelligence through the city, returned to his office in Huxter Row.

A grim smile came on his face when on entering he saw Tom Ironby seated at his desk diligently writing.

"Got that draft extended?" he asked, as he sat down in a seat opposite.

"Not quite sir, a few minutes will do it. Are you waiting for it?"

"Yes—I'll wait till you have it done," rejoined his master—a meaning being in the words of which the person to whom they were addressed had no conception.

Tom, dreading no evil, went on with his writing quite composedly. Had he happened to look up he would have seen a queer twitching in his master's face, and a nervous working of his hands, altogether unusual.

"There, sir, I'm done at last," said Tom, pressing the blotting paper over the written sheet.

"Ay, so you are," remarked the lawyer, with a speciality of meaning which his clerk in no wise comprehended.

"When was your last quarter's salary paid?" his master went on.

"Ten weeks past on Friday," answered Tom, briskly, for he deemed the question was a preface to the intimation that his pay was to be increased.

"Ten weeks, is it? Then, in less than three weeks the next quarter is due?"

"Yes, sir."

Tom cocked his ears and looked pleasantly conscious.

"Very good. Suppose I now pay you what I owe you. Have you any objection?"

"None in the world, sir."

"Then take it—so."

A stinging lash over the shoulders with a heavy whip made Tom jump from his stool with a loud yell, and ere he had time to recover from his amazement a perfect shower of blows fell on his shoulders, back, arms, and legs, causing him to emit a succession of roars, and leap hither and thither with amazing agility.

"Oh, oh, dear!—oh, Mr. Adamson. Sir, sir! what the devil do you mean by that? Oh, oh! murder! help! murder!"

He tried more than once to escape by the door, but his master and the whip kept between it and him. At last by a wild flying leap he cleared the high desk, drew it into a corner, and crouched beneath it in such a position that the whip could not reach him. There he lay, rubbing his smarting limbs, and looking forth in terrified astonishment, thinking that his master must suddenly have gone mad.

"Now, you base, double-faced traitor—you spy and hireling of Lady Logan and Jabez M'Garray!—I've paid you a little of what I owe you, and you can go to the employers you have served to receive the rest."

Tom was enlightened now, and his guilty heart quaked with additional terror.

The lawyer opened the door and pointed to it.

"Go, you scoundrel, go!"

But Tom did not dare to move, for the whip in Adamson's hand was shaking violently, and he did not relish the idea of leaving his cover.

"Go, I say," shouted his enraged master, advancing to the corner where he lay.

Tom did not wait for the onslaught. With a slight effort he overturned the desk and made a frantic dash across the room toward the door, bending low, and raising his arms to shield his head. In so doing he exposed another part of his person with such tempting suggestiveness that Adamson's foot was instantly let fly, and caught Tom with such full force as he rushed past. The kick was received with the loudest of yells, and next moment Tom was flying along the street like a man demented.

"Ha! ha!" laughed the lawyer as, red in the face and panting with exertion, he closed the door and raised the overturned desk. "I've longed to do that for months back. By Jove, that's a thrashing he'll not forget in a hurry. M'Garray may advise him to raise an action of assault and battery. Let him. Let him. I should just like to see him do it But no, M'Garray is too prudent to risk the exposure that would follow. Upon my word this forenoon's work has done me a deal of good. Haven't enjoyed such satisfaction of mind for the last twelve months. I'll go now to the hotel and see Sir Harold and the ladies."

The prompt and vigorous action taken by Walter Adamson this forenoon did not stop short at the point now reached. Other action equally prompt and decisive, though of a less exciting character, required to follow. It was necessary that Harold should immediately give himself up to the authorities as the first step to having his sentence of outlawry reversed, and that afternoon he and the lawyer drove out to the residence of the Sheriff, into whose custody the youth offered formally to give himself.

The Sheriff received him with much kindness as the son of his old friend Sir Philip, and as one whom he now knew to have suffered great wrong, and borne it with brave, high-souled generosity. Justice, he said, must be done without delay, and as the speediest means of restoring Harold to his rightful position, he proposed that he and the lawyer should accompany him to Edinburgh, where he would see the Lord Advocate, and put him in possession of all the particulars, when he was quite sure his Lordship would desert the charge. After that, by a formal appearance at the bar of the High Court of Justiciary, the sentence of outlawry would be recalled, and all its consequences removed.

The Sheriff's offer was gladly accepted, and they departed for Edinburgh without delay. There the Sheriff obtained an interview with the Lord Advocate, and made the whole matter so clear to him that the highest officer of the Crown—"His Majesty's Advocate for His Majesty's interest"—decided that the charge against Harold Logan should be withdrawn. The same high official also interested himself in getting the sentence of outlawry reversed, so that at the end of a week Harold returned to Aberdeenshire a free man, with an undoubtable right to the title and estate of his father, Sir Philip Logan.

The next step was to proceed to Mount Cairn and take possession; and the first morning after their return from Edinburgh he set forth from Aberdeen, accompanied by the exultant advocate, to enjoy their crowning triumph.

Notwithstanding the opening of the land office at Belmont, Manitoba, 40,000 acres of Dominion lands have already been recorded at Emerson this month.

The question is asked daily, How is it you are always so busy at the Lion, when all the other stores are doing little or nothing? We answer that it is our prices and immense stock having three times more goods than can be found elsewhere. Such a thing as cheap goods was never known in Guelph till our Mr. Williamson made them so. But how can you undersell others so much as you do? We buy 10 to 1, we sell 10 to 1. We do a wholesale trade as well as a retail, consequently we are the only house in Guelph that can buy direct from the manufacturers, thereby giving a profit to our patrons. We sell at prices that others have to pay. We were raised amongst the British manufacturers, and know every place where the best value is to be obtained

To my Friends, the Pu[illegible]

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Having retired from the Furniture Trade, I take this opportunity of thanking you for the very generous support accorded me during the forty years I have been in business.

It gives me infinite pleasure to assure you that my success has been complete, and that I have every confidence in my successors, Messrs. Burr & Skinner, who have made the requisite arrangements for sustaining the famous reputation of the stone house with the chair on the roof.

I would therefore remind you that though I have retired altogether from the business, you will still find the same wonderfully cheap bargains in furniture at my old stand.

I will be thankful if all to whom I am indebted will render their accounts at once.

I have placed my books in the hands of Messrs. Sweetnam & Hazelton, and trust that they will meet with success in the collection of accounts.

Thanking you once again, I am, ladies and gentlemen,

Yours very truly,

Full directions in the pamphlet round each package.

JOB MOSES, New York, Sole Proprietor.

A LECTURE TO YOUNG MEN

Just published, in a sealed Envelope. Price six cents. A lecture on the Nature, Treatment, and Radical cure of Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, induced by Self-Abuse, Involuntary Emissions, Impotency, Nervous Debility, and Impediments to marriage generally; Consumption, Epilepsy, and Fits; Mental and Physical Incapacity, &c.—By ROBERT J. CULVERWELL, M. D., author of the "Green Book," &c.

The world renowned author, in this admirable Lecture, clearly proves from his own experience that the awful consequences of Self-Abuse may be effectually removed without medicine, and without dangerous surgical operations, bougies, instruments, rings, or cordials; pointing out a mode of cure at once certain and effectual, by which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

DOMINION DAY.

How the Eleventh Anniversary of Confederation will be Celebrated.

For some time a committee of citizens have been busily engaged making arrangements for a grand celebration of Dominion Day in Guelph. The programme as published is really an excellent one, and will afford amusement to all that are capable of being amused or interested, from ten o'clock a.m., until midnight. Never before has so much preparation been made for any public celebration in Guelph, and it is altogether probable that thousands of visitors will be brought to town by the very excellent bill of fare.

GAMES.

The games will commence on the Market Square at ten o'clock, and will consist of running races of different distances for men and boys.

FORESTERS' PARADE.

The Ancient Order of Foresters, from Toronto, will reach Guelph in the morning, and will form in procession at 11:30 o'clock, at the Grand Trunk station, and parade by way of the principal streets to the Agricultural Park. The parade is expected to be a very good one, as the Foresters will be dressed in rich costumes and regalias. The programme of sports, games, and acrobatic performances is a very long one. Prizes will be offered for archery, and a baby show on an extended scale will be held in the afternoon, commencing at two o'clock. A very liberal patronage will without a doubt be bestowed on the Foresters' demonstration.

KALITHUMPIANS.

It is now several years since a first-class Kalithumpian Krew paraded the streets of Guelph. The care bestowed in making the preparations, and the large number who have signified their intention of joining the gang is a guarantee that the procession will be fantastic in the extreme, and ridiculous beyond measure. The procession will be formed at one o'clock, and will march through the principal streets of the town. Valuable prizes will be given to the best, the worst, the most ridiculous, and the best group in carriage. The public will do well to be on the lookout for the procession, shortly after one o'clock.

BASE BALL.

At three o'clock the celebrated Stars, of Syracuse—the club that occupies first place for the international championship pennant—will play with the Maple Leafs. Judging from the playing of the Stars this season, it is one of the strongest teams in the world, and those who visit the ball field, will have an opportunity of seeing the best playing that has ever been witnessed in Guelph. Remember the game commences at three o'clock—just after the Kalithumpian parade has been finished.

TORCHLIGHT PROCESSION.

At half past eight o'clock a grand torchlight procession will be formed on the Market Square and march through the principal streets. This will be followed by a very fine display of fire-works on the Square, by Prof. Hand.

BONFIRE.

A suitable wind-up for the day's amusements, which follow each other in such quick succession, will be a very large bonfire on the Market Square.

OTHER OBJECTS OF INTEREST.

Besides the above programme there are other entertainments which will be of a somewhat quieter character, and for that reason more appreciated by many.

HORTICULTURAL SHOW.

In the afternoon and evening the Guelph Horticultural Society will hold their annual exhibition in the drill shed. There is every reason to believe that the exhibit this year will surpass that of any former year. There should be a large turnout of visitors in the evening, as besides there being the beautiful plants, flowers, and early fruits to inspect, music by a band will render the scene more enchanting. Among all the amusements of the day, the public should not forget the flower show.

STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL.

For many years past Knox Church has always held a strawberry festival on Dominion Day, and without a single exception they have always been successful affairs. The festival on Monday will be held in the Town Halls, commencing at one o'clock p.m. Luscious fruits, delicious ices, and in fact all the delicacies of the season will be on the bill of fare.

EXCURSIONS.

The Great Western and Grand Trunk Railway Companies will issue return tickets to Guelph at one fare.

BOATING.

Several parties have arranged for private pic-nics at Paradise, the Rocks, and other sylvan retreats along the river.

THE CELEBRATION ELSEWHERE.

Very many of the towns and villages in this neighborhood will celebrate the day in a beconing manner.

Elora will have a grand review of the military. The 30th Battalion will be inspected by Col. Taylor, D.A.A.G., and the Kattery by Lieut.-Col. Strange. It will be a grand field day.

LARGE TURTLE.—On Thursday P. T. O'Neil and Henry Keleher caught a snapping turtle weighing twelve pounds, in a swamp at Aberfoyle.

LIBEL SUIT.—The proprietors of the Galt Reporter state in their last issue that they intend entering a criminal action against the proprietors of the Reformer for a libel contained in an article in which the latter charged the former with fraud.

THE Dublin street Methodist Young People's Union held their weekly meeting on Friday evening and a very interesting time was spent. The Union purposes giving a literary and musical entertainment next Friday evening, 5th July. Full particulars in advertising columns next week.

OFFICIAL DECLARATION.—At noon, to-day, Mr. Harvey, Returning Officer, had to hunt up a few electors on the street and persuade them to give him an audience for a few minutes in the town hall, while he made the official declaration of the result of the late contest in the East Ward. The member elect, Mr. Coffee, was not present. The declaration was the same, with verbiage additional, as the result published in Friday's MERCURY.

FORESTERS.—The Ancient Order of Foresters is a purely benevolent society. Members by paying a small contribution secure to themselves medical attendance and medicine, with $4 per week in case of sickness, $60 at death, and $30 at the death of a member's wife, besides gifts freely given when members are in distressed circumstances. The profits of the demonstration here on Monday will be applied to the district widows' and orphans fund. The institution therefore has a claim on public patronage.

AT THE "ROCKS."—For a week past a number of young men and lads have been camping at the Rocks, a few miles up the river. They are running the institution in such a manner as dime novel heroes would wish for. Their tent is pitched on a high bluff, and far below the glassy surface of the river—tortuous in its course—can be seen winding in and out the wooded banks until it is lost sight of in the distance; while at night the soughing of the winds through cedar, hemlock and pine is pleasing music in the ears of the dreamy crew. Tom Sawyer and Huck Finn were never more pleased than are the young men of Guelph who now have their habitation situated as above described. While the party is away from the camp in the daytime attending to the arduous duties of earning their daily bread, a youth mounts guard with a rusty musket and fixed bayonet, ready to deal out destruction to all intruders. The musquitoes in the neighborhood father enjoy the arrangement and nightly banquet on jewellers, grocers and other dainty and well kept young men.

CONCERT IN NICHOL.—There was a large attendance at the concert given in the Nichol Roman Catholic Church, Thursday evening. The decorations of the church were very handsome, and were a credit to those who did the work. The programme was very nicely arranged, and was carried out to the satisfaction of all present. Miss Bunyan presided at the piano. The following was the programme:—"Moonlight on the Lake," by Misses M. Hadyn, Bessie Neagle, Maggie Foster, and Messrs. Wm. Kennedy and James Welsh, was encored. Mr. Wm. Kennedy sang, with excellent effect, the following songs, all of which were encored: "I wish I was," "Candidate for Alderman," "Poor Old Jessie's Blind," and "Mother Gum." A quartette, "Hail Smiling Morn," sung by Misses Bunyan, M. Hadyn, Bessie Neagle, and Maggie Foster, was encored; Mr. McCullough in "If I were as Young as I used to be," was also encored; Miss O'Brien gave a recitation with considerable effect; a number of school children took part in recitations; Miss M. Hadyn sang "The Lakes of Killarney; and Misses Maggie Foster and Bessie Neagle were pleasing in a duet, "Whispering Hope." At the conclusion Mr. Kennedy thanked the audience, on behalf of Miss Doherty, the school teacher, for the very liberal patronage. The singers were entertained at supper by Mrs. O'Brien at the conclusion of the concert.

CANADIAN MONTHLY.—The Rose-Belford Publishing Company has issued the first number of the Canadian Monthly and National Review. It is well printed, neatly gotten up, and the table of contents is such as should find favor with the lovers of magazine literature. We trust that this magazine, now that it has made a new departure will be liberally patronized by the reading public of Canada. It is ably edited by Mr. George Stewart, a clever writer and an enthusiast in literature. We heartily wish the Monthly every success. Copies can be had at the bookstores.

IN the report of the fire at Messrs. Inglis & Hunter's foundry, the fact that the Baptist church bell was rung some ten or fifteen minutes before the alarm was given by the town bell was omitted.

THERMOMETER stood at 91° in the shade at Savage's, at noon to-day.

PROF. BRYCE, of Manitoba, will occupy the pulpit of Chalmers' church to-morrow.

MODERATE winds and clear to fair weather are the probabilities received by telegraph this morning.

DURING the ensuing week Rev. E. B. Ryckman and Dr. Howitt will be on duty at the General Hospital.

THE HOLIDAY.—The DAILY MERCURY will not be published on Dominion Day, July 1st.

MR. CRAWFORD, of Clinton, was appointed Precentor of St. Andrew's church, at the congregational meeting on Friday night.

THE Orangeville Sun says that a rumor is going "the rounds" to the effect that a Conservative paper will ere long be started either in Fergus or Elora.

JOHN ANDERSON has sent us Grip for the week, which contains a good cartoon on what Macpherson knows about finance. Copies for sale at Anderson's.

FESTIVAL.—Remember the annual strawberry festival of Knox church on Monday afternoon and evening in the town hall. Doors open at one o'clock, p. m.

RETURNED.—Messrs. S. L. Head and Alex. White, arrived in Guelph on Friday morning from Liverpool. They were very successful in their shipment of cattle.

NIGHT WATCHMAN.—We learn that Mr. L. Cossitt, owing to the numerous fires that have recently occurred in town, has determined to put on a night watchman at his agricultural works. We think this step is commendable and should be followed by other large establishments, as there is no doubt that several of the late fires were the work of incendiaries.

THE GAME LAWS.—Close season for game. Wild turkey, grouse, pheasants, and partridges shall not be hunted, taken or killed between 1st Feb. and 1st Oct.; quail shall not be hunted, taken or killed between 1st Jan. and 1st Oct.; woodcock shall not be hunted, taken or killed between 1st Jan. and 1st Aug.; snipe shall not be hunted, or killed between 1st May and 16th Aug.; water foul, known as mallard, grey duck, black duck, wood or summer duck, shall not be hunted, taken or killed between 1st Jan and 1st Sept.

OUR SOLDIERS.—A correspondent says that the Battery paraded on Friday morning and were put through dismounting and mounting the guns. In nearly all these movements No. 1 gun, under command of Sergt. Thatcher, was first done up, and came into action before the others had mounted. Later in the day the men and horses paraded and were marched to the drill ground, which is nearly a mile from the camp. The drill consisted of marching past at the walk, trot and galop and retiring in alternate divisions, coming into action and firing blank cartridge. The ladies of Elora will give a strawberry festival on Saturday evening to the soldiers. An invitation has been received to visit the museum.

EXPLOSION OF A "FIRE KING."—Mr. John H. Leadley, book-keeper for Messrs. W. Bell & Co., had an almost miraculous escape from being blown to pieces on Friday evening between six and seven o'clock, by the explosion of a Fire King Extinguisher. There are kept in the organ factory two of the Extinguishers, fully charged, so as to be ready for immediate use in case of a fire breaking out in the building. After the works had shut down on Friday evening evening, Mr. Leadley, as was his wont, took a walk through the building to see if all was right. After he had accomplished this, and just before leaving, it struck him that he would test the Extinguishers, to see that they were all right. One of them he found had leaked, and was therefore inoperative. The other appeared all right, and Mr. Leadley carried it to the engine house to sprinkle the place. He placed it inside of the door and stood on the stone sill. He had no sooner turned the tap when a terrific explosion took place, blowing out the side of the Extinguisher farthest away from Mr. Leadley, and hurling the machine against the side of the engine house. Although Mr. Leadley escaped unhurt, he has reason to feel very thankful. His escape was a very narrow one. He now thinks fire extinguisher when applied to the Fire King should be altered to life extinguisher.

ST. MARY'S POISONING CASE.—The writs of habeas corpus and certiorari issued in the case of Dr. Enoch Ford, of St. Mary's, charged with poisoning the late Robert Guest, were made returnable on Friday morning, and accordingly the accused was brought from St. Mary's, and at ten o'clock appeared in the Court of Queen's Bench, Toronto. The Chief Justice presided. Mr. Jones, of St. Mary's, appeared for the prisoner, and Mr. Scott for the Crown. After hearing the argument of his counsel, His Lordship decided to release the prisoner on bail, himself in $2,000, and two sureties of $1,000 each.

A tremendous rush at the Lion for the great bargains advertised in our paper this week. We hear the ladies say, the value is the most magnificent they ever saw, more especially the Parasols and Dress goods.

The crowd going to a certain store on Upper Wyndham St. for the last few days caused considerable attention. Fraser's cheap sale of remnants revolutionized the trade. He is selling short ends of all kinds of goods cheap.

BOLD ROBBERY.

An Expert Thief Secures a Gold Watch, Locket and Writing Desk.

On Friday evening, sometime between nine and half past ten o'clock a gold watch, locket, and a writing desk containing many valuable papers were stolen from the residence of Mrs. Hay, on the corner of Glasgow and Cork streets. This, too, was accomplished while Mrs. Hay and Mrs. Goodfellow, a visitor, were engaged in conversation in a room adjoining the one from which the articles were taken.

After Mrs. Goodfellow and her daughter, who had called for her, had left for home, Mrs. Hay locked the front door and proceeded to retire. On entering her chamber she noticed the window shutter open, but this did not strike her as being anything unusual until she looked for her watch for the purpose of winding it. She had no sooner found that her watch had been taken when she also noticed that a writing desk which was on the dressing table beside it was also gone.

An examination of the window disclosed the fact that the thief had opened the shutter by cutting out the bottom slat. He then could raise himself on the window sill and take the articles off the dressing table without going inside the room.

Mrs. Hay, who was alone in the house was very much alarmed. She hurried out and roused one of her neighbors, who escorted her as far as Mr. Goodfellow's, where she remained all night.

This morning Mr. Monaghan found the writing desk near the Pound Creek, and opening it, found papers that enabled him to identify the owner. Mrs. Hay was very much pleased to receive it back this morning.

The case has been put in the hands of the police, and it is probable some clue may be found whereby the guilty party may be captured. From the manner in which the articles were taken, the natural supposition is that the thief knew the premises very well.

The watch is a hunting-case, and inside of one corner is engraved the name of Mrs Hay. On the locket was engraved the name of her deceased husband, Rev. Mr. Hay, and inside of it was his photograph, and a lock of hair.

Here is a chance for our police force to distinguish itself.

Caledonian Society's Social.

The social of the Caledonian Society in their rooms on Friday night, was a very successful one, considering the heat of the weather. The attendance was very good, and the proceedings were of a most enjoyable character. Misses Stewart and Little opened with a nice duet on the piano. Further on Miss Stewart gave some Scottish airs, which were highly appreciated, and she played several accompaniments with great taste. Miss Little's solo on the piano was well rendered and well appreciated. Mrs. Scoon was excellent in her two songs, especially in her rendering of "Cam ye by Athol," which called forth great applause. Mr. Maitland gave with great power "The Flaunting Flag of Liberty," and "Scotland, I love thee," and the latter was so heartily encored that he had to appear again, and gave with much acceptance a few verses of "Hame cam our guideman." The duets of Mrs. Maitland and Walker were also rendered with spirit. Mr. E. F. B. Johnston gave a favorite reading, and Mr. Thompson two capital recitations. The programme closed with the Highland Fling, in costume, by Mr. David Massie, which was greatly enjoyed. Afterwards there was a social dance, to the stirring music of McLaren's Quadrille Band, and for an hour or so the young folks tripped it gaily, even though the weather was warm. Mr. James Maitland's services in playing several accompaniments, were also appreciated. The social was as pleasant a one as was ever held in the rooms.

Serious Charge Against an Insurance Inspector.

(From the Drayton New Era.)

J. B. Hughes, insurance inspector, was on Wednesday charged before Justices Johnston and Medill, at Moorefield on the information of "John Brodie, gentleman," that he, the said Hughes, did "corruptly incite and sought to procure one John S. Grey and others to unlawfully, wilfully, falsely, fraudulently, deceitfully, maliciously, and corruptly make oath and swear to the effect that John Brodie caused and procured one John Tracy to burn and destroy the Moorefield Mill, on or about the 10th of March last, by threatening in a letter written by him, Hughes, and addressed to the said John S. Gray, dated July 17th, 1878, to follow said Gray to the ends of the earth, and arrest him and one Harrington, if they did not go forward and give testimony against said Brodie and Tracy."

The case was adjourned till the 2nd of July, defendant being liberated on his own bond of $400.

John S. Gray, of Maryborough, the party mentioned in the above suit, was charged before the same magistrates with seeking to "cause or procure one George Butt, of the same place to corruptly make oath and swear that John Brodie had caused and procured one John Tracey to burn and destroy the Moorefield Mill by offering the sum of $250 or thereabouts if the said Burt would give evidence to said effect against said Brodie in any court which he Brodie, might be put on his trial for or upon said charge."

Grey was committed for trial, but was admitted to bail—himself in $800 and two sureties of $400 each.

COMPANY NO. 2.

An Interesting Letter From One of the Soldiers.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

DEAR SIR,—It has been my intention ever since coming into camp to have sent you a few jottings of the camp life of our citizen soldiers, but until now I have not had time to do so. Not being on duty this morning, and it being excessively hot, I can occupy my time no better than send ing you a few lines.

To begin. No. 2 Company left the drill shed forty-two strong at 5:10 a.m., on Saturday last, and had to wait just twenty-three minutes for the Battery boys at the intersection of the London and Elora Roads, we having been detailed as an escort to the Battery. Our officer commanding, by order of Major Macdonald threw out an advance and rear guard. All being ready the bugle sounded the advance and off we started for Kinnettles. We marched with our knapsacks as far as Blythe's hotel, on the Elora Road, when we were allowed to take off our packs, which lightened each of us an average of nearly thirty pounds. We started off quite fresh, and with the exception of one stoppage to water the horses of the Artillery we marched on to Ennotville, when we halted twenty minutes for a little refreshment. Nothing further of any note occurred until when within about a mile from Fergus, we halted and again strapped on our knapsacks. The whole company was then thrown out as an advance guard, which looked much better, as there are so few in a company now. We marched splendidly into Fergus, and, evidently, were much admired, hundreds of people lined the streets to take a look at the boys. We reached camp at about 10:30 o'clock, having done the march in just four-and-a-half hours—nearly six miles of the fourteen with knapsacks. Considering that the long mareh was the first, it was certainly a credit to the Company, and we have been more than once complimented on the achievement.

About an hour after arriving on the camp ground, which certainly was all that could be desired, a beautiful, level patch on the top of a slope—pure air and good water—we had our homes erected, and in about two hours after our arrival we appeared as if we had been permanent residents of Kinnettles for years. Shortly after we were encamped rain began to fall, and it rained almost steadily all Saturday night and all Sunday.

The 30th Battalion mustered for church parade at 10 o'clock on Sunday morning. Owing to the rain, we all had to turn out with overcoats, which being some new and some old, did not show us off to advantage. We marched to Melville church, which had been kindly offered to the volunteers by the Rev. Mr. Smellie and congregation. A most excellent sermon was preached by our much respected Chaplain, the Rev. W. S. Ball, which was listened to with the greatest attention by the very large gathering of volunteers and citizens. I do not suppose the church ever had so many in it at one time before; many stood at the doors, and many had to go away. The Battery boys had no overcoats, and consequently paraded in the bright uniforms, which set them off to a much greater advantage over the Rifles than they otherwise would have done.

I do not think it would be out of place just here to say something about the 30th Battalion, and in a few words I would say that in point of physique and general good conduct, it is unsurpassed in the Dominion of Canada. Our much esteemed Col. may be justly proud to command such a body of men. It is perfectly wonderful the improvement they have made in so short a time, and it is a great pity that the period for each year's drill should not be extended to three or four weeks, instead of twelve days. But even in that short time the men are bound to learn something, and the few days is better than nothing.

Major Hollinger.
Major McBride, acting adjutant.
Surgeons, Orton and Allan.
Chaplain, Rev. W. S. Ball.
Quarter-master, H. H. Swinford.
Co. No. 1. Lieut. Speirs, commanding.
" 2. Capt. Beattie.
" 3. Lieut. Tribe, commanding.
" 4. Capt. Winfield.
" 5. Capt. Mutrie.
" 6. Capt. McDowell.
" 7. Capt. Spence.
" 8. Capt. Thompson.
" 9. Capt. Smith.
" 10. Capt. White.

On Monday morning the sun shone brightly, and with the prospect of fair weather the boys settled down to their work, and since Monday till yesterday forenoon they have made a marked improvement. It is needless to tire your readers with a detail of the three and a half day's work. On Thursday morning we were ordered to strike tents at 12.30, but it was not before one o'clock before all was ready to do so. At the sound of the bugle the 60 tents went down, and in less than fifteen minutes were all packed and ready for the transport from the camp at Kinnettles, near Fergus, to Irvine Park, Elora.

At two o'clock we left our first camp, and and at 3:15 o'clock we had marched three miles, and had our tents pitched in the new camp ground, which is considered good time. The line of march including the Battery and 30th, with the baggage waggons extended upwards of one and half miles. On our entry into Elora all the bells of the village rang out a merry peal of welcome, which was gratifying to the boys.

There are many little incidents connected with camp life that would tire you to read, and myself to write. One incident I may relate, a number of the ladies of Fergus gave a dance to the officers of the 30th and Battery, of which not a few availed themselves.

To-morrow we go to Battalion drill and skirmishing. Col Taylor, D. A. A. G., and Col. Moffatt, Brigade Major, are expected to-morrow afternoon. We expect to be inspected Monday morning. Camp is likely to break up Tuesday or Wednesday at the latest. Should anything of consequence occur between this and then you will be informed.

Accept of the thanks of No. 2 for your kind remembrance of them in sending the dailies, which I assure you are appreciated, and very eagerly looked for every evening.

Yours truly,
MEMBER OF No. 2.

...ed that the Con... ...s labours in ten

...y, the Congress will hear the ...g Greek Plenipotentiaries, who ...erday received the necessary creden... ...tials. The general impression in high Russian circles is that the Congress will result in temporary relief, but not in a real settlement.

A Berlin despatch says:—The sitting of the Congress to-day lasted three hours. Gortschakoff was present. It was decided, in accordance with the proposal of the British plenipotentiaries, to entrust to Austria the task of occupying Bosnia and the Herzegovina in the interests of the peace of Europe. The duration of the occupation was not fixed, and full liberty is left to Austria in regard to the organization of the Provinces. It is believed, however, she will follow the plans drawn up at the Constantinople Conference. The Congress unanimously adopted a proposal of the French plenipotentiaries that Europe should refuse to recognize the independence of Servia unless the Servian Jews were relieved from their present disabilities. The Congress decided to appoint a commission to examine into the question of the aggrandizement of Servia. The aggrandizement of Montenegro will probably also be referred to a commission.

Another correspondent says:—It is known that the Sultan has repeatedly expressed grave doubts as to whether in view of the feeling of the populace of Constantinople, it was not safer to resist than to yield. The Congress has nominated a Commission to draw up a final report of its proceedings. It is declared in favor of the independence of Servia, subject, however, to a proviso for an amelioration of the treatment of the Jews. At Saturday's sitting the Montenegrin question will be discussed. From casual remarks of Andrassy it would seem he intends to resist to the utmost even the reasonable demands of Montenegro.

A despatch from Berlin states that at Wednesday's sitting the plenipotentiaries at the request of Schouvaloff, who considered the matter as touching the national honor of Russia, consented to the withdrawal of the motion on which they had agreed that the Russians should evacuate their positions within tix months.

Another Berlin despatch asserts that the Turkish protest against the occupation of Bosnia and Herzegovina is so forcible that the Congress has left the question in abeyance. The Russians are reported willing to make Batoum a free port of no objection is made to the annexation of Bessarabia.

Humors of House-Renting.

She was very pretty and quite young—nineteen or thereabouts, and when she tripped into the real estate office, and with a smile and a blush began making inquiries regarding a little six room cottage, the agent looked over his spectacles at her, and thought he had not seen such a handsome woman for years. Question and answer followed each other in rapid succession, and at their conclusion the lady seemed as delighted with the house as the agent was with his prospective tenant Then the lady's hand dived into the mysterious depths of her polonaise and drew forth a dainty little purse, from which she began to count out crisp notes with which to pay the first month's rent of her new house. At the sight of money the agent's presence of mind returned to him, and remembering the rule of the office, which applies where unprotected females apply to rent residences, he began questioning his fair customer,

"Ah, yes, madam; that is to say, miss, ah, who is to rent the house? Your father?"

"Why, no."

"Your mother, then?"

"Why, no; what difference does it make to you?"

"Oh, nothing, nothing; but then we always like to know who is going to occupy the premises we let."

"Well, I'm going to live there myself."

"Alone?"

"Certainly not."

"With your parents, I suppose?"

"O-h-no," (with a faint blush.)

"Who with, then?"

"With-a-a gentleman." (A profusion of blushes).

"A gentleman? A relation, I suppose?"

"No, sir; he's not a relation; but—"

"Madam, I must decline to let the premises. No, madam, it's no use, really—"

"But he's the gentleman I'm going to marry!" (Cheeks carmine and eyes full of gentle fire).

And then that real estate agent went and stayed in the back office just long enough to call himself a qualified fool eight or nine times, when he frisked back to his customer, and promised newly-papered walls, freshly whitened ceilings, hot and cold water on each floor, bronze gas fixtures all around, grates in the fire-places, and everything else she might want in the house, and handed her a receipt for the first month's rent with a bow and a smile, that if the grandmother of his grandchildren had happened to see, would have cost him a heap of domestic trouble.

THE commercial distress from which France has been suffering during the past twelvemonth has been attributed by zealous Republicans to the advent of the the Duc de Broglie's reactionary cabinet on the 16th of May, and to the months of political turmoil and uncertainty which followed. A Parliamentary investigation was demanded, and after studying the subject six months the committee drew up a report three weeks ago. The investigators are forced to admit that the depression began long before the dismissal of M. Simon, and that it is more likely to increase than to diminish. The first cause of the crisis is traced to the war of 1870; there was such a demand for goods after the war that England, France, Germany, Belgium and Switzerland, set to work, as if the demand would always remain the same. There could only be one result, from such over production. Besides other countries are producing articles as good as those made in France. A sagacious correspondent of Pall Mall remarks that no one can visit the Exhibition without observing that as regards manufactures, the nations of the world are reaching a common level. The French, who are far ahead of most other nations, have been amazed at the progress made by their rivals since the last Exhibition. They are especially astonished to see such a country as Japan competing with them in bronzes and objets d'art, and Japanese merchants opening shops on the Boulevards and in the new Avenue de Opera, where they must pay enormous rent.

THE Montreal Witness in speaking of the Party Processions Bill, now before the Quebec Legislature, says:—Notwithstanding the care with which Mr. Taillon's net has been knotted it is not perfect. In his desire to make the meshes wide enough for some particularly large sized fish to get through, he has made them so large that all can pass. He specifies that "nothing in the present act shall extend to any procession of the clergy or of the faithful of any church or other communion, or religious belief, which shall take place in the exercise of public worship * * notwithstanding anything to the contrary in the present Act." Through this mesh the Orangemen who walk to church on the Twelfth of July can escape as easily as those forming the Fete Dieu or any other display. We hope that Mr. Taillon will amend his bill so has to take away from it the stigma of class legislation, and if this cannot be done withdraw it, so that it will not simply be a record of servility on the part of a legislator—for surely the Legislature would not stultify itself by passing a bill which can only be entered on the statute book as evidence of an unsuccessful attempt to do an injustice.

AT the meeting of the Montreal Council on Friday, Ald. Mercer brought up the all-absorbing question of the preservation of the peace of the city during the second week in July, and asked His Worship the Mayor what he had done to preserve it. The Mayor then replied as follows:—"It seems to me that I cannot with any justice be expected to enter into negotiations or make promises which could be implied as recognizing in any way such a body as the Orangemen, but I may say that I will keep a vigilant eye over any parties who may attempt to cause a disturbance."

ONE of the beauties of "protection" across the line is shown by a Boston paper, which after quoting the price of wool in Ohio at 30 cents, Michigan at 25 and Indiana at 20 and 22 for unwashed, says:—"The sales for the week are unusually light for the season, and there is the greatest indifference on the part of manufacturers as to purchasing. The number of mills that are shutting down, wholly or in part, is increasing every week, and there is consequently less demand for wool."

THE Montreal Herald now has it that Lord Dufferin will not remain in Canada.

SENATOR MACPHERSON on Friday talked at Teeswater, Formosa and Mildmay.

In England no one thinks of buying a new novel. The circulating libraries take a thousand or two copies at a high price, and the publisher and author make more out of it than they would from an increased edition at low figures. If the work is a popular success it will gradually come down in price until evidently cheap editions are published, but this does not take place until it has been read by everybody who wants to read it in the libraries, and until it has been thoroughly reviewed in all the leading newspapers and periodicals.

It is anticipated that a Fenian fiasco may take place about the coming 12th of July.

Henry M. Stanley was on Friday presented with the gold medal of the French Geographical Society.

It is announced that the Duke of Cumberland, son of the late king of Hanover, has not abandoned his rights to the throne.

The remains of the late Queen of Spain were removed to the Escurial on Friday, immense crowds witnessing the funeral processsion.

A member of the Irish Catholic Union of Montreal positively denies that invitations to the pic-nic of the Order have been issued to Irishmen in the States.

On Friday at noon the roof of the main building of the Canada Screw Company's Works, Dundas, was discovered to be on fire but by vigorious work the fire was subdued.

When Longfellow was presented to Mr. Longworth, the latter remarked, "There is no great difference in our names."—"No," replied Mr. Longfellow, "but worth makes the man, the want of it the fellow."

The Chicago and North-Eastern Railway has been taken possession of, it is reported in the Vanderbilt interest. Traffic is suspended, which cuts off the through connection with Chicago of the Grand Trunk Railway.

A curious book is about to be published in London, entitled "Ye Life of Jemmy Catnach," a balladmonger of the Seven Dials. There will be forty-two wood cuts by Bewick. Only a limited number of copies will be printed.

On Friday night P. Stearne, fur buyer, was robbed of five hundred and fifty dollars while traveling in a Pulman car from Montreal west. The money was taken from a purse in his trousers pocket, and the empty purse returned to its place.

Orders have been issued to reduce the expenditures in the Portsmouth dockyard, and to discharge the new hands recently employed. The autumn manœuvres will also be abandoned this year, retrenchment being the order of the day.

A rising of Comanches in the Indian Territory is anticipated in consequence of an attempt by an Arkansas Deputy-Marshal to arrest two of their number. As it was, they attacked the official's party, and a lively fight ensued, in which two Indians were killed.

In the year 1800 there were but forty-nine libraries in the United States, containing in the aggregate 80,000 volumes. There are now in the country 3,682 liabries. All the liabraries contain 13,000,000 volumes, not including those in common and Sunday schools.

While a young man named William Wilkie, of Owen Sound, was hauling a load of stone on Friday afternoon the end board of the waggon fell out, throwing him between the horses and the waggon, when the wheel passed over his head causing instant death.

The barn and contents belonging to, and adjoining the residence of, Rev. Jas. Smith, Winghan, were destroyed by fire on Friday afternoon. The dwelling had a narrow escape. The place is supposed to have been accidentally set on fire by children. No insurance.

Mr. D. I. K. Rine has left on a visit across the border. During the twelve months he has labored in Canada he claims to have induced 30,000 persons to sign the pledge, and to have directed about $50,000 from the coffers of the liquor dealers. He returns to Canada in September, and will open a series of meetings at Owen Sound.

In a restaurant, a gentleman and a Paris snob are seated at the same table. The snob is just finishing his dinner, the gentleman just beginning his. The snob lights a cigar and blows a cloud of smoke over his coffee. The gentleman rises and says in the politest tone: "Excuse me, sir, will it annoy you if I eat while you are smoking."

Alfred Herod, the supposed murderer of Calvert, of Hagersville, together with three other men who were with him, named respectively John Duncan, Richard Van Buskirk, and Jude Lawson, were arrested at Port Burwell on Friday afternoon. Herod's companions said he was the man who killed Calvert.

During the night of the 29th a valuable horse owned by Wm. Dunbar, who lives two miles west of Picton, was maimed in a brutal manner by a man named Bigg. The horse had two inches of his tongue cut off, his throat cut, and several large gashes on different parts of the body. Bigg has a monomania for seeing blood and witnessing the sufferings of his victims. Several years ago he was sent to penitentiary for life for committing a number of similar offences, but was released for good conduct, and had just returned home.

CHAPTER L.

CHANGES AT MOUNT CAIRN—A TRIUMPHAL RETURN.

As may well well be supposed, Jabez M'Garray was thrown into a dreadful state of consternation by Adamson's visit. If it was true what the advocate had said—and he knew Walter Adamson was too truthful to utter a downright falsehood—Gilmour Logan's fortunes were tottering to their fall, and his likewise. Fraud, deceit, evil machinations of every kind had been resorted to to raise them and prop them up. For a time it seemed as if these were to prove eminently successful. Now, in a moment when they deemed themselves secure, a whirlwind had come to hurl the fair yet false structure to the ground, and crush them amid the ruins.

Turn in what direction he might, M'Garray saw with dismay that all was lost. Had the child's claim been all that they had to meet they might have fought that battle successfully. Gilmour was in possession, though, unfortunately, he had not yet completed his service. Still he was in possession, and that fact gave him an immense, almost an irresistible, advantage in maintaining a contest where strong dubious points could he raised. In fact, M'Garray had come to believe that it would be nearly impossible for Adamson to establish the child's claims, and he had began to regard the putting forth of these with comparative indifference.

But the enfranchisement of Harold from the meshes of the law was another thing altogether, for the moment the sentence of outlawry was reversed, his claim to the title and succession could not possibly be disputed. That cut away every prop with which Gilmour's case was propped up. No skill, no cunning, neither force nor fraud, could keep him and Lady Logan a day longer at Mount Cairn.

And when they quitted it, M'Garray knew he must quit it likewise, and endure the intense mortification of having the tables turned on him by the reinstatement of Adamson.

To lose the factorship of Mount Cairn was to suffer a heavy loss, but this was not all—the factorship of Benachray was also in danger, and the loss of both meant absolute ruin. M'Garray smote his brow in despair, and groaned deeply. His cunning, his fertility of unscrupulous resource had deserted him—helplessness and impotency rendered him distracted.

We pity a man when misfortune overtakes him, even though the misfortunes may have come through his imprudence. Ay, some men are pitied in their distress, even though they have been culpable—Malcolm Gillespie being a notable instance close to our hand. But we look in vain for pity to creep into our bosom for such a mean, unprincipalled trickster as Jabez M'Garray. We feel that such a man as he is deserving of no sympathy, and he obtains none from us. Nay, we rejoice with a feeling near akin to vindictiveness, so thoroughly have his doings earned our indignation, and his character our disgust. Our only feeling is a wish to see him kicked out of our sights. Well, we shall enjoy that pleasure soon, and knowing that, we can endure his presence a little while longer.

Within two hours after Adamson quitted him M'Garray left his office to depart for Mount Cairn. But he did not get clear of the city without being made aware that the news of Harold Logan's innocence had spread—was in everybody's mouth—and producing excitement and pleasant sensations. It was intelligence which most people rejoiced at, and M'Garray literally gnashed his teeth with rage when accosted by acquaintances at every step who expected him to be equally pleased with the news. Few of them suspected that the fact on which they congratulated him was the fiat of his ruin.

In the circumstances Mount Cairn was the place to which he was instinctively impelled to go. There and there only was the reality to be discussed and the crisis met. He wished to know if Gilmour had returned, and to learn from him full particulars of the failure of the murderous enterprise he had taken in connection with Allan M'Pherson.

On his arrival at the lodge gate he was told by the keeper that Sir Gilmour was from home—had departed more than a week ago with a Highland gentleman, and was not yet returned. This was an ominous confirmation of Adamson's report, and on his passage up the avenue M'Garray considered what course he should follow. Lady Logan knew nothing of the bloody mission on which Gilmour had gone with Allan M'Pherson. It had been thought best not to acquaint her with that piece of criminality. They thought she would not be bold enough to sanction it as she had sanctioned Lizzie's abduction, and the factor debated with himself whether he should now tell her. He concluded that he would. He was rendered so bitter and savage by the ruin which was coming on them all that he had no inclination to spare her any of the pain which the prospect produced. Why should he have any consideration for her, who was as deep in the rest of the plot as any of them?

He had scarcely entered the library when her ladyship joined him in haste and anxiety.

"Where is Sir Gilmour?" she asked. "Why is he so long from home?

"From home," he replied, laying peculiar emphasis on the last word. "This will soon be no home for either him or you."

"Why? what mean you?" she demanded, turning as pale as ashes.

His answer was as brief as it was crushing—

"Harold's innocence is discovered."

The miserable woman was stricken to the soul. The blood stood at her heart. She grew rigid as a statute, and M'Garray felt a positive relief in seeing that his dismay was shared by another.

Lady Logan recovered herself by a desperate effort.

"M'Garray," she hissed, "how dare you offer me such an insult by such a jest?"

"A jest!" he echoed.

"A jest it must be," she returned, "else you had never told a truth so basely, with such brutal abruptness."

"What need for shilley-shalleying?" rejoined the factor. "Adamson made as scant preparation in giving it to me, and I pass it on in the same fashion."

"Adamson—he told you? But you don't believe it? Never tell me that you believe it. Speak, man, speak, and say you do not."

"I'd be like the hunted ostrich, thrusting its head into the sand, if I did. The whole of Aberdeen is ringing with the news. Oh, it's true enough, you may depend."

"True enough!" she gasped. "Then all is lost—all is lost!"

She tottered to a chair, and fell into it, bereft of power. But in a few moments a fierce energy returned to her.

"No," she exclaimed, starting again to her feet; all is not lost! Harold dare not press his claim against us. We have his wife and child as a shield between us and him. We have but to threaten injury to them, and he is paralysed,"

"A vain hope," said M'Garray. "His wife and child are out of our keeping now."

"What?"

"'Tis true. Harold and a band of his smuggling friends rescued them from the island four days ago."

She caught her breath and shivered. "Ruin, ruin," she muttered. "Every word makes it more complete. All is lost. The work of my life since I became the wife of Sir Philip is blasted in the hour of its success."

"And you and your son are reduced to beggary," said Mr. M'Garray, with a reckless bluntness amounting to malevolence.

"To beggary!" screamed her ladyship, with a sudden start, and a drawing up of her figure to its full height. "No, not to beggary. I foresaw the possibility of a catastrophe like this, and provided for it so far as gold could. You made the work difficult by your exactions; but, in spite of your greed, I have provided for this calamity."

"That's to say—you have been feathering your nest for ten or twenty years back," sneered the lawyer.

"Fellow, you forget to whom you speak," said her ladyship, turning haughtily upon him. I am Lady Logan. You have had my patronage. You owe me more respect."

"All very well, my lady, if, in return for your patronage, I had not helped you in matters which had best be kept in the dark. But it so happens that we have been sailing in the same boat, and as we are thrown into the water together, our common misfortunes make us pretty equal. But don't let us wrangle over points of pitiful inequality, when we should be sticking together to face the coming evil. Your son, Madam, is in danger."

"Ah—Gilmour in danger," cried his listener, her tone and aspect instantly changing from angry pride to maternal alarm.

"So I judge by the fact that he has not returned."

"Where is he—where did he go? With Allan M'Pherson? Quick—tell me! Hide nothing, but tell me all."

"Just what I mean to do—at least as far as I know it. They went off to murder the prisoners on the island. They were in the act of doing so when Harold and his ferocious friends came upon them, and——"

"Killed them!" shrieked her ladyship, in wildest agony.

"No; they only left them on the island without the means of quitting it."

"They will perish—perish of hunger."

"Not at all likely. Joe and Mother Barnacle are never without a large stock of provisions, more than sufficient to serve them till Ronald can come and deliver them. Then there's the garden stuff, the cows, pigs, and poultry. No fear that they'll suffer for want of food."

"Oh, this was a rash, a deplorable undertaking! It will incense Harold beyond all else. He will proceed against us with implacable animosity."

This was such a likely supposition that M'Garray did not attempt to dispute it, and, full of fear, mortification, and suspense on Gilmour's account, her ladyship left the library and shut herself up in her own room, where she remained for the rest of the day.

A Broken Engagement.

A Thrilling Story.

CHAPTER I.

It was a beautiful evening in the dawn of summer. Two forms were sitting in close proximity to one another by the window of a $12,000 house—heavily mortgaged—in the upper part of the city. The hand of one rested lovingly on that of the other, and the arm of one described a semicircle around the other's waist. It is hardly neccessary to say that they were lovers, and this was as far as the young man could go in geometry. The was no light in the room, but there was no occasion for any, with her taper waist and sparkling eyes and flaming words. This is a sample of their small talk:

Dearest Flora, tell, oh tell me what I can do to make myself more worthy of your love. Bid me undertake any mission you please, and I will obey. Ay, even though it be—to cut my hair short—sacrifice my moustache—wear large boots, or work for my living—speak, any thing you may command me."

"Oh, Cnarles! calm yourself. Do not speak in this terrible strain; you make me shudder. No, Charles, I love you for yourself alone." Then, placing her hand gently upon his brow, she murmured, "Soft, my love, speak soft, my own, and tell me do you love me as much as ever, and will I ever be the same to you as I am now?"

"Hear me swear!" cried the ardent youth, dropping upon his knees for the first time in his life, but suddenly arising with a troubled expression of the countenance, as something put him in mind of the tightness of his nether apparel.

"Oh, Flora, there is not a coat that adorns Wilson's establishment that has so high a place in my affections as yourself! You are to me what slander and gossip are to young church members, or funerals to married women—my life, my ambition, my all! A few days more and we shall be united forever. I can scarcely realize my happiness."

The fair one blushed and nestled closer to the vest pattern of the happy youth. So we leave them.

CHAPTER II.

It was a dark, gloomy night, two days before the time appointed for the nuptial ceremonies of the young pair. Charles bent his way—full of joy, hope and supper—to the mansion of his beloved. He rang the bell and was ushered into the parlor. Flora was not there, and, after waiting a few moments, he resolved to descend the stairs to the dining-room, ostensibly to seek for her, but most probably with visions of spoons dancing through the ever-teeming brain. With stealthy steps he approached the door and suddenly opened it, when there burst upon his astonished gaze a sight which froze the blood within his veins.

Upon the dining room table lay many dishes and other articles of crockery. Before it, with disheveled hair and tucked-up gown, stood Flora, a huge carving knife in her hand, which she was was in the act of plunging—into a pan of hot water.

She had been caught in the act of doing housework! With one loud shriek she fell to the floor, while her distracted and bewildered lover rushed from the house.

It is needless to add that the engagement, along with several brittle cups, was broken the spot. Thus were two fond and doting hearts irrevocably seperated.

If my story, dear reader, will be the means of persuading one young woman never, under any circumstances, to do any work about the house, but always to let her mother and the other servants do it, my object is more than accomplished. Farewell.

The Reason Why!

The question is asked daily, How is it you are always so busy at the Lion, when all the other stores are doing little or nothing? We answer that it is our prices and immense stock having three times more goods than can be found elsewhere. Such a thing as cheap goods was never known in Guelph till our Mr. Williamson made them so. But how can you undersell others so much as you do? We buy 10 to 1, we sell 10 to 1. We do a wholesale trade as well as a retail, consequently we are the only house in Guelph that can buy direct from the manufacturers, thereby giving a profit to our patrons. We sell at prices that others have to pay. We were raised amongst the British manufacturers, and know every place where the best value is to be obtained

Our stock in Tweeds is unequalled in Canada, having 1,500 pieces to show. Our own make of Clothing in great variety. Every stitch warranted. By leaving your cash at the Lion you will always feel assured you have done the best for your own interest.

To my Friends.

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Having retired from the Furniture Trade, I take this opportunity of thanking you for the very generous support accorded me during the forty years I have been in business.

It gives me infinite pleasure to assure you that my success has been complete, and that I have every confidence in my successors, Messrs. Burr & Skinner, who have made the requisite arrangements for sustaining the famous reputation of the stone house with the chair on the roof.

I would therefore remind you that though I have retired altogether from the business, you will still find the same wonderfully cheap bargains in furniture at my old stand.

I will be thankful if all to whom I am indebted will render their accounts at once.

I have placed my books in the hands of Messrs. Sweetnam & Hazelton, and trust that they will meet with success in the collection of accounts.

Thanking you once again, I am, ladies and gentlemen,
