A MYSTERIOUS QUEST.

CHAPTER XXIX.

THE VALET.

(Concluded.)

"He? What do you say? Have they found out that?"

"Yes, through Mr. Degraw's explanation. He has been very frank and— But I must not trench upon his prerogative. He will tell you all you wish to know to-morrow; and though it is hard for me to acknowledge my error—he crushed down his jealousy, consulted his honor, and continued bravely—"I must say that this valet of his has blinded more than one of us, and that you are exceedingly fortunate to be under the care of so vigilant a police. We both owe our lives to Mr. Byrd, and you—"

But here he found it impossible to talk further. Though by this time the various inmates of the house had vanished again into their rooms, to dress and re-appear again for endless gossip, Miss Aspinwall and the servants were drawing near, and he felt that it was no time for him to express the hundred anxious thoughts which the signorina's deliverance from danger had called forth. Besides, in honor, he should wait till Mr. Degraw had revealed to her the position she was destined to occupy. Signorina Valdi, poor and friendless, might feel very differently from the wealthy Miss Rogers with the world at her feet. How could he tell but that his sympathy even would seem superfluous to her then, much more his love. No, whatever it cost him, he would wait till the morrow had come and gone. No one should accuse him of taking advantage of her weakness. She knew he loved her; and that was enough. But ah! that dreadful to-morrow!

Mr. Gryce, who had accompanied them to the upper hall, now advanced. "I consider the danger over," said he, "and yet I shall watch beside Miss Rogers' door till eleven o'clock to-

A BROKEN-DOWN SYSTEM.
This is a condition (or disease) to which doctors give many names, but which few of them really understand. It is simply weakness—a break-down, a failure of the vital forces that sustain the system. No matter what may be its causes (for they are almost innumerable), its symptoms are the same: the more prominent being, sleeplessness, sense of prostration or weariness, depression of spirits and want of energy for all the ordinary duties of life. Now, what alone is absolutely essential in all such cases is increased vitality—vigour.

VITAL STRENGTH & ENERGY
to throw off these morbid feelings, and experience proves that as night succeeds the day, it may be more certainly secured by a course of the celebrated life-reviving tonic—and a new existence imparted in place of what had so lately seemed worn-out, "used up," and valueless. This wonderful, medicinal is purely vegetable and innocuous, is agreeable to the taste, suitable for all constitutions and conditions, no matter what the cause of the ailment, whether it be either sex; and it is difficult to imagine a case of disease or derangement, whose main features are those of debility, that will not be speedily and permanently benefited by this never-failing restorative essence, which is destined to cast into oblivion—everything that had preceded it. For this end—expressed and unexpressed—of human existence.

THERAPION is sold by Chemists throughout the world. Price in England, 1/3 and 4/6. Purchasers should see that the word "THERAPION" appears on British Government Stamp in white letters on a red ground affixed to every package by order of His Majesty's Home Office, and without which it is a forgery.

Therapion may now also be obtained in Dragee (Tasteless) form.

CHAPTER XXX.

A GREAT HEIRESS.

It was the hour at which lawn-tennis or croquet was usually in progress in Miss Aspinwall's grounds. But no games occupied the guests this morning.

The great excitement and broken rest of the night before had prevented early rising on their part, and not one of the doors opening on the wide hall had yet swung back under the watchful eye of Mr. Gryce, who sat like a statue in front of the room occupied by the signorina. Ten o'clock and even Miss Aspinwall was not to be seen!

But before another half hour had passed, more than one bright figure had stepped into the hall, and in this recess of the great house, small groups were gathering, ready to resume the talk which had not been exhausted by hours of secret whispering from pillow to pillow. At a quarter to eleven, one door only remained shut, the door upon which all eyes rested, for through it they expected presently to appear the heroine of the preceding eve, a heroine around whom this frustrated attempt at murder had woven such an atmosphere of romance and mystery that the coming of a girl with a tray of breakfast caused quite a shock of disappointment to pass through the throng, heroines supposed to be above such mundane wants, or at least to ignore them at certain periods of peculiar interest or excitement.

But this touch of sentiment feeling in the young men and women of the house was soon lost in the surprise they felt at seeing Mr. Gryce suddenly rouse from his apathy, take the tray from the girl's hand, and after surveying its contents with care, carry it in himself to the signorina. Nor was this astonishment in any wise diminished when, in a minute later, he re-appeared with the tray, and handing it back to the girl, remarked:—

"Miss Rogers cares for nothing but eggs this morning. A couple of boiled eggs, if you please."

An interference so minute must mean something. What? Curiosity grew rampant and it was a sorry disappointment to the eager watchers when the breakfast-bell rang, summoning them all to the dining-room.

Another bell rang about this time; it was the one connected with the front door. As it echoed ceased one or two of the young men who still lingered in the hall beheld the door of her room open and the signorina appear. Ah, how fresh she looked, notwithstanding her night's adventures! Or were her blushes the signal of some coming event not disconnected with the summons they had just heard? They would wait a minute; and they did, noting with a certain sort of stupefaction how the aged detective bowed as she passed him, and with what a look he followed her down the hall to the top of the staircase. Was the old fellow smitten? No, but he was impressed by the sight of this young girl going to an interview from which she would return the mistress of a fortune large enough to make her a queen among her fellows.

At the head of the stairs she met Hilary.

"Mr. Degraw, of Cleveland, is waiting for you in the library," that lady announced. "He is not alone; did you expect to see him alone?"

The signorina drew back.

Recognizing the valet, and realizing all that his presence in that place meant, he rushed after him and climbed into the same window. He found himself in a narrow hall, and next minute came upon a staircase yet creaking with the assassin's stealthy tread. Mounting it more quietly than the other had done, he came upon the scent which already described, and thus, as far as man could see, became the means of deliverance to an otherwise doomed human being.

Mr. Degraw, of Cleveland, had not moved from the place which he had been set to watch.

"Who is with him?" she asked. "I leave you to find out," returned the other, mischievously. "Only I thought I would warn you to expect more than one caller. Ah, how lovely you look in white!" pursued Hilary, with a short sigh. No one would think you had not slept a wink all night.

The signorina smiled and took the other's arm.

"How kind you are!" said she, and looked so child-like with her quivering lips half parted that the stronger woman's heart warmed with a sweet compassion as she drew her down to the library door.

"I must go now to my guests," remarked Hilary, "but my heart will remain with you."

And though she could not know and could not guess what this visit portended, she went with evidently reluctant feet toward the dining-room, looking back more than once upon the slight, white-clad figure standing doubtfully before the library door, as if in dread of an interview which might have a determining influence upon the future fate of more than one in this great house.

The Kidneys Wear Out

But in advanced years you can keep these organs healthy by using Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

As old age comes on most people suffer more or less from derangements of the kidneys. With some there are years of pains and aches, with others Bright's disease sets in and the end comes quickly. Fortunately many have learned about Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and are enabled by their use to keep the kidneys healthy and active.

Mr. Richard Freston, Osborne, Lambton County, Ont., says: "Seven years ago I began the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills when my back was so bad that to stoop or rise was torture to me. The kidneys were in bad condition, but these pills entirely freed me of back pains. I have used them ever since, whenever the kidneys would get out of order, and now, at eighty years, am well and hearty, thanks to this grand medicine."

The Evening Chit-Chat
By MARY CARRISON

Her finely touched spirit had still its fine issues, although they were not widely visible. Her full nature, like that river of which Alexander broke the strength, spent itself in channels which had no great name on the earth. But the effect of her being on those around her was incalculably diffusive, for the growing good of the world is partly dependent on unhistoric acts, and that things are not so ill with you and me as they might have been, is half owing to the number who faithfully lived a hidden life and rest in unvisited tombs.—George Eliott.

How often we are all in danger of forgetting that just living is a fine art and that success in it brings results as great and wonderful as success in any fine art.

One man writes a book and another "makes a family happier by his presence." Who shall say which has done the greater thing, which could have less easily been spared by the world?

I heard one woman admiring and envying another, because she is able to write beautiful poetry, and thus help and inspire many people.

The first woman is a successful wife and mother. Many people love her and she is necessary to many peoples' happiness. How can she possibly dare to belittle her part in the world's work?

We carry on our worship of popularity with a strange, unjustifiable, sense of shame, while we think it a matter of course to praise brains. And yet, to have a personality which inspires love wherever it is known, is surely as great a thing as to have a clever mind.

But, you say, the writer of the beautiful poem; the artist who paints a fine picture; the great teacher, touch so many more lives than those whose only sphere of influence is the home and the small home circle. Granted. But do not forget to compare also the depth of this influence. How often does a picture, however wonderful; a poem, however inspired; a teaching, however splendid, really affect a life as deeply and powerfully as some other life intimately connected with it does?

Surely it is logical that the value of any influence is equal to the product of its depth and breadth. And if the breadth of the conspicuous kind of influence is vastly greater, its depth is vastly less. If the breadth of the humble kind of influence is infinitely less, its depth is infinitely greater so that the product in either case is much the same.

To be lovable, is as great a gift as the power to write.

To master the fine art of living, is as great a triumph as to paint a wonderful picture.

To be necessary to the happiness of those about you, is as great an accomplishment as to be necessary to some great undertaking.

If there is power in you—if you have "a finely touched" spirit—never fear lest a repressive situation shall prevent it from great results.

That's no more possible than for a river to stop flowing. It may flow "like that river of which Alexander broke the strength, in channels which have no great name on earth," but it must and will flow, and since such energy is undying, flow on forever.

What Ails You?

Do you feel weak, tired, despondent, have frequent headaches, coated tongue, bitter or bad taste in morning, "heart-burn," belching of gas, acid risings in throat after eating, stomach gas or burps, foul breath, constipation, poor or variable appetite, nausea at times and kindred symptoms?

If you have any considerable number of the above symptoms you are suffering from biliousness, torpid liver with indigestion, or dyspepsia. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is made up of the most valuable medicinal principles known to medical science for the permanent cure of such abnormal conditions. It is a most efficient liver invigorator, stomach tonic, bowel regulator and nerve strengthener.

"Golden Medical Discovery" is not a patent medicine or secret nostrum, a full list of its ingredients being printed on its bottle-wrapper and attached under each. A glance at these will show that it contains no alcohol, or harmful habit-forming drugs. It is a fluid extract made with pure, triple-refined glycerine, of proper strength, from the roots of native American medicinal forest plants. MY FOE
THE DOCTOR.

I do not love my doctor. No doubt I ought, but I simply can't. The man himself is all right; what I object to is the way he gets his living. It seems to me that he has inherited more than his share of original sin, and has added to it a discreditable amount of actual transgression.

My other foes—who are few—attack me when I am well and strong; but he, like a coward, goes for me when I am ill and unable to defend myself. His manners, too, are most offensive. He asks impertinent questions about the number of pipes I smoke, and makes uncalculated remarks about the evil of whiskey, taken in what I consider strict moderation.

But he is not content with hurting my feelings in this way; he causes me physical pain as well. To ask a man to say "ninety-nine," and then catch him an unexpected blow under the fifth rib may be correct medical practice, but to me it seems very much like assault and battery.

That Night Bell.
I do not know if his conscience troubles him, but his practice certainly does. He never has a moment's peace. At all hours of the day he is called away from the bosom of his family and he cannot even dine or visit the theatre without making arrangements with a neighbouring doctor to attend to his calls. He cannot be sure of even passing the night in quietness. Just as he is dreaming sweetly of a blissful land where sickness never ceases and ailments have no end, a ring comes at the night bell and he descends in his pyjamas to find a young and inexperienced husband executing a frantic dance on the doorstep. He dresses in haste and trudges through the deserted streets only to find that it was a false alarm after all!

Often he is called to a distance; filthy weather to see a patient who proves to have nothing the matter with him, and is too poor to pay the fee that the doctor in his wrath would like to charge. Talking of charges I always let his bill wait six months, and in this I set an example of virtue to many of his patients who never pay at all. Nobody that I know has to wait so long for his "little account," and so often falls to get it in the long run, as my foe the doctor.

Then for his sins he is condemned to a life of hypocrisy and perjury that must make him quake if he ever thinks of his latter end. The very amenities of civilized society are not for him. If he tells a patient that he is glad to see him getting better, how can he expect to be believed? It stands to reason that a man cannot really be glad to see his means of livelihood taken away from him.

A Compulsory Hypocrite.
If he only says, "How do you do?" it seems as if he was tooting for a job. If he is a truthful man, he must be longing to be honest and say, "I hope you are ill," or "I am sorry to see you looking so well." But he dares not be honest. He must play the hypocrite, however much his conscience—

—if he has one—may torture him.

Fortune is ever against him. He is always between the devil and the deep sea. If the public health is good, he starves. If sickness abounds, he hourly runs the risk of catching some un-

Holy Name Society.

CATHEDRAL PARISH.

The members of the Holy Name Society and their friends continued their annual Triumphant on the evenings of Thursday and Friday last in the Cathedral Square. Although the storm continued in its fury, large gatherings attended each evening. It was thought that the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Roche would lecture on Thursday evening, but we have learned since that the rev. gentleman was suffering from a cold, which was the cause of his absence. But we are glad to say he is much better. The lecturer then on Thursday evening was Rev. Dr. Greene. His discourse was very instructive and was listened to with the strictest attention. His coming amongst us only goes to prove he is one of the many admirers of the Holy Name Society, and is always ready when called upon to do all in his power to further the interests of our institution. On Friday evening we were delighted to hear another good, powerful and very instructive lecture from the Rev. Fr. McDermott on "The wisdom of King Solomon." No doubt his kindness in coming amongst us will be long remembered by the members, and they feel very grateful to him and wish him many happy years to labor in the vineyard of his Divine Master. On Saturday evening the members attended confession, and on Sunday morning (the Feast of the Holy Name) approached Holy Communion in procession order, numbering about 300. Oh, what a grand sight to witness! This large procession headed by its grand banner, followed by scores of men, some of whom advanced in years, also boys of tender ages, all paying homage, respect and veneration to their Creator in the holy and adorable Sacrament of the Altar. May we not hope that during the present year our ranks will swell, so that our Society will be one of the grandest Catholic societies in our little island home.

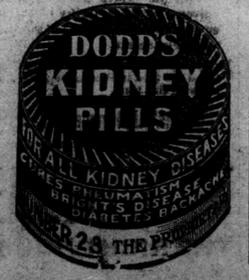

On Sunday a joint meeting was held in the Cathedral. About 400 were present, including the members of St. Patrick's branch, who were invited down for the occasion. At 2.30 His Grace the Archbishop ascended the pulpit and delivered a very eloquent and instructive sermon on the "Holy Name of Jesus." In the course of his sermon he made special mention of how the Holy Name is blasphemed by people throughout the world, and to some extent in our own little city; and he warned parents and guardians of children to teach them to love, respect and venerate that sacred name. He also said that it was the duty of the Holy Name Society, as far as was in their power, to admonish any one guilty of disrespect to this great name. After the sermon was over, His Grace, vested in cope, mitre and crozier, assisted by Revs. Frs. Sheehan and Pippy, preceded by thurifer, acolytes and torch-bearers, wended their way to the High Altar, where he imparted Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The singing of the Holy Name choir, led by Mr. John Slattery, was remarkably good, and great credit is due him for the great success it has attained. After Benediction was over, all joined in the singing of the Holy Name hymn, bringing to a close one of the grandest meetings ever held in the history of the Holy Name Society.

The members will bear in mind that their regular monthly meeting takes place next Sunday, at 2.30 p.m. All are requested to attend. J.J.W.

pleasant complaint. It is often supposed that doctors are immune from disease, but the reverse is the truth. No class of the community is so often the subject of infection as the medical profession.

The doctor who has to feel the pulse and listen at the chest of a small-pox patient, or examine the throat of a coughing child with diphtheria, stands an uncommonly good chance of catching it himself; and statistics show that he very often succeeds. During one period of twenty-five years, out of a thousand doctors attached to fever hospitals, over five hundred died. The death rate from influenza is higher among doctors than among any other class of the community.

Yes, my foe the doctor dies! He pays the penalty of his sins. He dies; and I feel that I am revenged—The Watch Dog.

Time to Clear the Broad Cove Line.

Indignant complaints reach us about the snow blockade on the Broad Cove line, which has been closed for nearly a fortnight or since the first heavy snow storm.

A correspondent informs us that no attempt has been made to open the line via Broad Cove, and that there has been no train over this line for about a fortnight. The whole of the Southside of Trinity Bay is served by that line and has been cut off for that time from the city. Mails are being despatched from Whitbourne by dog teams. There are also strong complaints of the irregular way the service is being run from Placentia. Yesterday's train from Placentia passed through Whitbourne at three o'clock in the morning, and another this morning at four o'clock. The regular evening service appears to be disorganized.

As the road between Placentia and the city has been cleared of snow, it is not an unreasonable request that the train should be kept running at some where near schedule time and not be sent through settlements at such times as midnight and after when passengers cannot connect without extreme inconvenience.

We have no wish to be unreasonable. The storms of the past fortnight have been frequent and severe, and there have been heavy falls and drifts of snow. But it is high time that the Broad Cove line be cleared, and that an attempt be made to run trains on that service, and to run them on regular schedule time.

Last year, the leader of the Opposition, Sir Robert Bond found it necessary to direct attention to this matter in the House of Assembly, and attention was paid to the representations he made and the line opened. We are now making a representation on the same lines. It is to be hoped that the Government will back it up, and that the Reid Nfld. Company will pay prompt attention to the complaint, and open the Broad Cove line immediately and run the regular service over it.

Mailman's Rough Experience.

Mr. James Stamp, mailman, returned from Big Pond last night after a terrible experience in getting along with the mails for the Southern Shore. He and mailman Dunphy left here yesterday at 5.30 a.m. with their horse and sleigh to bring the mails to Toad's Cove. When they left here there was quite a blizzard raging and the men had to get out ahead of the horse and beat a way through the immense drifts on the road for it. After a very tough time of it in battling with the storm and drifts they reached Mr. Chafe's house at 9 o'clock, and it took them three hours to get from Bowe's Bridge to Big Pond. The men had to continue travelling ahead of the animal, which time and again sank to its neck in the snow, and fearing that the beast in its struggles would tear itself badly with the cocks of its shoes, the men were compelled to take the latter off the hoofs while on the road. As it was the animal was badly cut about the legs. The men then tried to hire ponies from people on the road, but none would part with their animals, thinking that to do so was too great a risk. The drifts they had to encounter were now from 10 to 15 feet high, and to proceed further with the horse was impossible. They now resorted to the expedient of hiring dog teams and three men, including one of the famous Fitzells, with a team of three dogs each undertook to go forward with the mails to their destination, and they started off yesterday afternoon, accompanied by Dunphy, to get the mails 23 miles further on to LaManche. The oldest people along the road say they never saw such deep drifts before. On Tuesday last Dunphy had to carry the letter bags to Toad's Cove on his back and return to St. John's with the return mail, carrying it in a similar fashion. He never had such a rough experience as on this day, as a terrible snow storm raged and he feared that on some occasions he would be smothered in the blizzard.

The First Hockey Match.

The Feildian and Victoria Hockey teams will meet in the Prince's Rink this evening for the first League Hockey match of the season. The teams will line up:—

A most interesting game is expected. N. Hunt will be goal tender for the Feildians while he makes his first appearance in the senior class and T. Winter will also make his debut with the seniors. The Victorians goal tender will be Nix Vincombe, and the teams all round contain good players and a closely contested game must result. The official referee has not yet been appointed to replace Mr. W. J. Higgins.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED.—A well known and popular commission agent of the East End, rumor hath it, will be married next August to a handsome young lady residing on Water Street.

Stop Steamer in Gale to Bury a Seaman

New York, Jan. 2.—Forced to land in mid-ocean during a snow blizzard and fearful gale to bury one of crew was the dramatic story told yesterday when the Arabic, of the White Star Line, reached here. So rough was the high mounting seas that an officer reading the burial service swept from his feet, and later it was found impossible to bury the seaman in the usual manner.

On Christmas morning Richard Ashcroft, a fireman, was taken ill with pneumonia. On the afternoon of the third day afterward he died, while the steamer was pitching in a gale blowing from the northwest. Captain Finch ordered the body hurriedly to the rail at midnight, as is the custom when all the passengers are in the cabins.

At the appointed hour several of the crew joined the captain and J. Cummins, the purser, to participate in the services and assist in the burial. The body was placed on a canvas with several fire bars and wrapped in a British flag for the last rites. At that time the storm, which had been blowing all day, grew violent and a heavy gale from the northwest carried with it a severe snow blizzard.

The faithful little party formed a sorrowful-looking group as they gazed along the deck with their heads down. When Mr. Cummins began to read the burial service, the pitch and rolling of the big steamship seemed spraying on the deck. More than a dozen times the services were interrupted by the hurricane wind and the heavy seas that swept over the deck.

Several unsuccessful attempts were made to lower the body over the side from an improvised bier resting on the rail. The change of water at the midnight hour added solemnity to the scene, and Captain Finch directed the seamen to lower the body again to the deck. He hurriedly and soon the rumbling sounds of a moving vessel was hushed and the sea was heard save the moaning noises of the elements. He had ordered the Arabic to stand still until the burial might be carried out with dignity.

The body was then taken to the port quarter main deck aft, in a bier from the storm. Mr. Cummins concluded the reading of the burial rites, and Captain Finch gave the word, "We hereby commit this body to the deep," the seamen gently lowered their burden over the rail and was sent to its grave.

Mr. Cummins said it was the trying experience of his life. He said the strong hearted seamen were in tears, although some of them scarcely knew the unfortunate man. For two days and one night afterward he said the seas rose times as if not satisfied with the victim and intended to claim the toll. It was a melancholy scene of officers and seamen on the deck when she put into port, and the mental distress was not diminished until the steamer was made of the pier.

An Original Invitation

The annual West Country Festival was held a few days after the presidency of Sir John Devenon M.P. The letter of invitation began as follows:—
"Didn't you know, then, us Country voke in Lunnon was our trawsey on Zaurday, Oct. 11. Well, us be, then, sure. The in Regent's Hall, an' ther'll be tays, like. Fust won at 4.45, 5.40, third, 6.30; so you better see 'cus ev'rybuddy what you know down long wats' up in Lunnon there fur sure."

We wonder how long the western speech will continue to be spoken. The modern educational system cannot be sure, teach, and write how to write or spell any degree of real proficiency the fish of the books, but it has a great deal to destroy the old comely traditional tongues of the west, north and south.

THE POET PHILOSOPHER.

The grocer chased me up and down, in sunshine and in shade; he knew I always paid my bills and yearned, to get my trade. He hounded me and pestered me by every human means, until at last I sought THE UNTIDY his store to buy some boneless beans. He had some mouldy looking clerks, who loafed around the store, and combed their whiskers with their hands and watched the clock and swore. The floor was littered up with jugs and boxes, crates and kegs, containing uninviting fruit, and prehistoric eggs. The floor itself had not been swept since Noah bossed the ark; the windows of the dreary joint with grime and dirt were dark. I took the grocer by the hand and led him to the street, and said: "Some friend should push you down and pat you with his feet. A man who runs a grimy store that's full of grimy clerks some day will see 'the sheriff come to close the whole blamed works. Go, turn the hose on all those clerks, and clean your dismal joint, and when you ask me for my trade I will not say 'Aroint!'!"

Lodge Empire.

Last night the officers of the above Lodge for 1912 were duly installed by the District Deputy, Bro. S. G. Collier, assisted by Bro. W. H. Goodland, P.P. of Lodge Dudley. During the evening Bro. G. B. Lloyd was the recipient of a very handsome Jewel of Merit from the members in appreciation of his work for the Lodge and the Sons of England in Newfoundland. In making the presentation the D.D. warmly congratulated Bro. Lloyd and referred to the noble work he has done for the Order, and wished him many long years of service. In the good work of the S. O. E. Bro. Lloyd who was greatly taken by surprise, replied in a few well chosen words and the brethren who were present heard one of the best speeches for the evening. After the meeting closed a re-union was held when light refreshments were served and a short toast list gone through under the Chairmanship of Bro. A. G. Williams. Songs and speeches were given by several of the brethren and helped to pass a very pleasant hour. Lodge Empire during the past year has made great progress and greater results are expected in the near future.

Judgment for the Defendant.

The case of F. McNamara vs. N. Walsh, of Catalina, for breach of contract tried in the Central District Court yesterday terminated by judgment being rendered for defendant, steamer Euphrates was chartered to take deft's schooner, Drummers Tax, to Catalina, and as the vessel sailed without the aid of the ship plaintiff claimed $100. Defendant contended that he had waited as long as possible for plaintiff's ship to tow the vessel, but that as she did not do so, and the Drummers' Tax insurance had nearly expired and to wait longer would entail much risk to him, was impelled to send the vessel forward when a good time had offered. Gibbs, K.C., for plaintiff; Mr. James McGrath, for deft.

INSURANCE ASSOCIATION.
ANNUAL REPORT FOR 1911.

To the Members of the St. John's Masonic Life Insurance Association.
Brethren—Your Directors now present to you their thirty-first annual report. We have to record during the past year the demise of five brethren, viz., William N. Bendell, John Martin, Moses Parsons, Robert Wright and James W. Caldwell. The regular assessments have been made and collected, and the beneficiaries paid in accordance with the rules of the Association, with bonus provided by resolution passed at the last annual meeting.

Ten members have joined the Association the past year.
The Treasurer's accounts have been audited by Bros. T. J. Duley and W. N. Gray. They are now submitted for your inspection. After paying death claims and current expenditure, there is a balance on hand and invested of $4,066.67.

The accounts show the Association to be in good financial condition. During his thirty-one years in operation there have been paid one hundred and forty-eight calls, nearly forty-five thousand dollars to the widows and orphans of deceased brethren. It is only those who are in need can appreciate the benefit the amounts paid to them have been.

The Directors are again desirous of bringing this matter before the Masonic brethren, urgently requesting them to unite themselves with this truly Masonic benefit, especially the younger brethren; and to suggest to those who are members of it their helping forward the good work by assisting the Directorate in obtaining members, so that the coming year may be a record one.

In accordance with the Bye-Laws, the following Directors retire this year, viz., Bro. John W. Taylor, Tasker K. Cook, James McIntyre and Geo. W. Gushue. They are eligible for re-election.

Respectfully submitted,
LEVI DIAMOND, President.
JOHN JEANS, Secretary.

It is the prevailing opinion that the adjourned conference will on Friday confirm the agreement for a truce between the cotton mill owners and the operatives along the lines outlined at the conference yesterday. It is expected that the mills will resume work on Monday.

An Appreciation.

Dear Sir,—I wish through the medium of your journal to pay a passing tribute of respect to the memory of the late John Bulley Ayre. This is drawn from me by reading the contents of his will wherein he did not forget his faithful employees. This thoughtful and generous act on the part of the late Mr. Ayre is deserving the admiration of the general public, with the exception of the noble Bowringes whose memory will always live in Newfoundland, have ever given their employees a thought when parting from this world's goods, and I hope this will be an example that will be followed in the future by those of our business people who have accumulated fortunes through the industry of their faithful employees.
Yours, etc.,
C. F. P.

Clearing Streets.

Yesterday afternoon the Municipal Council had 20 teams and about 50 men put to work on Queen's Road and Rawlin's' Cross clearing the snow away from the sides of these thoroughfares. Other streets which the cars traverse will be similarly attended and this work is made possible by the acceptance by the Reid Nfld. Co. of the Council's proposal to clear the streets for $3,000 per year.

Stop Steamer in Gale to Bury a Seaman.
New York, Jan. 2.—Forced to halt in mid-ocean during a snow blizzard and fearful gale to bury one of her crew was the dramatic story told yesterday when the Arabic, of the White Star Line, reached here. So rough was the high mounting seas that the officer reading the burial service was swept from his feet, and later it was found impossible to bury the seaman in the usual manner.
On Christmas morning Richard Ashcroft, a fireman, was taken ill with pneumonia. On the afternoon of the third day afterward he died, while the steamship was pitching in a gale blowing from the northwest. Captain Finch ordered the body buried over the rail at midnight, as is the custom, when all the passengers are in their cabins.
At the appointed hour several of the crew joined the captain and J. R. Cummins, the purser, to participate in the services and assist in the burial. The body was placed on a canvas sack with several fire bars and wrapped in a British flag for the last rites. At that time the storm, which had been brewing all day, grew violent and a heavy gale from the northwest carried with it a severe snow blizzard.
The faithful little party formed a sorrowful-looking group as they staggered along the deck with their burden. When Mr. Cummins began to read the burial service the pitching and rolling of the big steamship sent him sprawling on the deck. More than a dozen times the services were interrupted by the hurricane-like wind and the heavy seas that swept over the deck.
Several unsuccessful attempts were made to lower the body over the railing from an improvised bier resting on the rail. The change of watches at the midnight hour added solemnity to the scene, and Captain Finch instructed the seamen to lower the body again to the deck. He hurried away, and soon the rumbling sounds of the moving vessel was hushed and nothing was heard save the mournful noises of the elements. He had ordered the Arabic to stand still that the burial might be carried out with dignity.
The body was then taken to the port quarter main deck aft, in a shelter from the storm. Mr. Cummins concluded the reading of the burial rites, and Captain Finch gave the last word, "We hereby commit this body to the deep," the seamen gently lifted their burden over the rail and it was sent to its grave.
Mr. Cummins said it was the most trying experience of his life at sea. He said the strong hearted seamen were in tears, although some of them scarcely knew the unfortunate fireman. For two days and one night afterward he said the seas rose up at times as if not satisfied "with the one victim and intended to claim them all for toll." It was a melancholy group of officers and seamen on the Arabic when she put into port, and their mental distress was not diminished until the steamship was made fast at the pier.
An Original Invitation.
The annual West Country (Eng.) Festival was held a few days ago, under the presidency of Sir John Spear, a Devon M.P. The letter of invitation began as follows:—
"Didn't 'ee know, then, us Wes' Country voke in Lunnon was heven our traway on Saturday, Oct. 28th? Well, us be, then, sure. The tay is in Regent's Hall, an' ther'll be dree tays, like. Fust won at 4.45, next 5.40, third, 6.30; so yu better cum tu, 'cus ev'rybuddy what yu knaawed down long wat's up in Lunnon 'll be there fur sure."
We wonder how long the goodly western speech will continue to be spoken. The modern educational system cannot be sure, teach boys and girls how to write or spell with any degree of real proficiency the English of the books, but it has done a great deal to destroy the old and comely traditional tongues of east and west, north and south.

Complaint About Council Employees.

Residents of King's Bridge Road complain that last week the Council's employees in clearing that thoroughfare of snow threw it in on the sidewalk rendering it for a while impassable for pedestrians. They say that now the sanitary men are breaking the law by driving their carts nightly in over the sidewalks, and last night they spilled a lot of filth about the place and especially at Mrs. McNeilly's gate. This is not alone offensive to by-passers, but a danger to the health of the place.

Enteric Fever Causes Death.

The death occurred at his residence No. 8 Flin's Lane, this morning, of Mr. H. Wakeham, brother of Mr. E. Wakeham of Bowring Bros. Mr. Wakeham was a well-known seaman and came home in the Galatia on the 11th of December. He contracted the fever over at Oporto and has been ill almost ever since his arrival. Henry who was in his 25th year, was well-known and liked here. His mother-in-law, Mrs. Stamp, was one of the first to contract typhus fever here last year and succumbed to the disease.

Serious Outbreak of Diphtheria

By the Prospero we learn that there are 28 cases of diphtheria at present at Cat Harbor, near Newtown, and that the disease is of a virulent character. Eight houses are quarantined and some of the patients when the ship was in that section coming south were dangerously ill. Two more deaths occurred on Monday week, one being a young woman, aged 17 years, and the other a child. Dr. Smith, of Brookfield, is looking after the patients and Const. Bennett, of Wesleyville, is looking after the quarantine.

To-day Messrs. Philip and James Hanley, whose house were so badly gutted in the fire of Thursday last were summoned to Bowring Bros. office and paid the amount of their losses on policies held with the Liverpool London & Globe for $2,000. The Messrs. Hanley, needless to say, were thankful for such prompt and liberal settlement of their claims.

Obituary.

We regret to note the death of Mr. John McGrath, of H. M. Customs, which sad event occurred at his residence, Duckworth Street, this morning. Mr. McGrath had been ill for several weeks past and went to Hospital for treatment, but returned to his home incurable last night. The deceased was well and favorably known in this city, and in years gone by with his father, and later on his own behalf, he carried on an extensive wheelwright and undertaking business in the East End. Before entering the Customs service he was in partnership in the undertaking business with Mr. T. M. White. To his bereaved son and other relatives the Telegram extends its sympathy.

A Roofed Town.

Interesting Housing Experiment is Being Made in London.

Work will soon be commenced at Clapham Junction, London, England, on an immense building, which, when completed, it is expected to house a thousand people. It will be the first of its kind in the world, and should it fulfill the expectations of its designer may be the precursor of many of its class. The building will cover what is to all intents and purposes, a town complete within itself, and its inmates can find all that they require without leaving its precincts. Speaking to a representative of The London Standard, the architect, Mr. J. S. Gibson, said there were two tendencies observable to-day, one leading people to live in garden villages set in large tracts of country, and the other to congregate in immense buildings near their work. The Clapham scheme is intended to meet the latter demand.

Underneath in the sub-basement will be a large market that will serve all South London, thus relieving Covent Garden. Above there will be an arcade extending right around the building, lined with shops on each side, which it is hoped will be taken up by a universal provider, such as Whiteley's. Over the shops will be

HORSE USELESS 2 YEARS

Till Cured by 2 Bottles of Douglas' Egyptian Liniment

A peculiar case and remarkable cure is described by Mr. E. J. Horwood of St. John's, Newfoundland, who writes: "I have a horse which suffered from fractured ribs. Symptoms—a large swelling in the side, very prominent, unfitting the horse for any work. It was treated by a Veterinary. Pus had formed. An incision was made, a continuous running took place, the swelling getting very little less. My attention was attracted by the label attached to a bottle containing Douglas' Egyptian Liniment, which read, 'For Man or Beast.' I was induced to give it a trial. Directions were strictly adhered to, and I have much pleasure in stating that my horse is completely cured, after having used two bottles only of Egyptian Liniment.

The horse referred to was suffering for nearly two years before Douglas' Egyptian Liniment was brought into use.

Those who have never used it before are astonished to see how quickly Egyptian Liniment cleans out festering wounds and running sores, removes the unhealthy conditions, and permanently heals.

France is Profoundly Peaceable.

Special to Evening Telegram. PARIS, To-day. The first duty of the Government, according to the declaration made by the Government, will be the ratifying of the Franco-German accord on the subject of the Morocco negotiations, and a loyal accord with Spain. This will permit France to organize speedily her protectorate over Morocco, which is the logical climax of the African policy of France. The conclusion of the declaration says the strengthening of the army and navy will receive special attention. France is profoundly pacific, but is not master of all eventualities and the army and navy must remain the sacred defenders of the Republic and fatherland.

Attacked by Wolves.

Last summer the "Kelly Kils" were here as they travelled around the world for the Polar Magazine, of New York. Since leaving they have been saying some sharp things of this country. The News of the World prints a story told by them at Halifax, England, in which they say they were attacked by 17 wolves in travelling through the country, killed three and only managed to escape while the fierce survivors were eating the bodies of their comrades. The only species of wolf left in Newfoundland now is a far fiercer and more predatory beast than that now extinct but formerly indigenous to the soil. We refer to the grab-all wolf whose capacity for preying amongst timber limits is insatiable.

Sentenced to Six Months

Yesterday afternoon the woman at whose house, off George's Street, the row occurred which caused such a commotion Monday night, was brought before Judge Knight on a charge of drunkenness and disorderly conduct and sentenced to 6 months. The police had quite a job to get the woman to come out of the cells and when she did so complained that she had some of her ribs broken. A doctor was sent for and upon examination found that nothing was wrong with her. Her house has been the resort of disorderly characters, male and female, for some time past, and one of the latter is a girl who was banished from the city by order of the Magistrate but who secretly returned, but upon whom the police again have had their eyes for sometime past.

In the ensuing confusion the Sinal narrowly escaped collision with the vessels. Next morning when the Sinal was leaving the fort fired three shells at her, one bursting within 300 feet of the ship, causing great panic among the passengers. The Sinal, flying the French colors, returned to port, where the captain immediately filed a complaint with the French Consul.

Whether it be peace or a continuation of war in the cotton trade, still hangs in the balance. The disputants have been in conference throughout the day, but were unable to agree to terms, and adjourned until Feb. 19th. The Road Board are making a move to have the snow shovelled off the streets. It is said they commenced at Riverhead-to-day. Why not put a gang of shovellers on Water Street as well and give us the benefit of the roads.

While several ladies were returning from St. Paul's Church, on Sunday evening after the christening of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. McRae's little daughter, the sleigh was overturned near the foot of Cochrane Street and the party was spilled out in the snow. Fortunately no one was hurt, the presence of mind of one of the ladies saving the little one from injury. Shovel the roads and avoid accidents!

A number of geese owned by Mr. J. Walker left the farm house at Lady Pond, and came out to Mr. Walker's town residence a day or so before the stormy weather began. They evidently didn't like the idea of staying in the country with the risk of being by force neglected during the hard spurt.

Even the little English sparrows that are so numerous about our streets now made an effort to get substantial shelter from the fury of the storm, and one lady found no less than eight of these little birds in her hen-house roosting with her hens. They appear to be quite tame just now.

A rather unusual sight in this town at least was witnessed on Sunday afternoon when a young man went out on a ski-ing trip. With these clumsy looking things he made excellent time down the hillside. There is very little connection between the ski and the sky, and several times we noticed the young gentleman was nearer the earth than the sky. However, he was plucky to go forth, and all we say is "more power to him!"

Mr. Collis' Recital takes place about the end of the month, and promises to be a most enjoyable affair. Part I will be mostly taken up by Mr. Collis' singing. Part II. will be a two-act play, and Mr. Collis will be assisted by Miss Coffy, Miss Gretta James, Messrs. J. A. Power, Max Cron, J. Abraham, W. Casey, Ross Ash and Robert Brazill.

Mr. Hedley Wareham, of Haystack, Placentia Bay, one of the Naval Reservists who went to England to the Coronation last year, has just returned from Halifax with a very fine schooner recently purchased there. She is called the Florence B. W., and is considered a splendid craft for the fishery. Mr. Wareham is a brother of Mrs. W. A. McKay, and although quite young is full of pluck and faith in the fishery, at which the Florence, under his command, will be engaged in this season. Leaving Halifax Mr. Wareham went to Sydney and loaded with coal for home. Although stormy weather was met the Florence made good time and arrived home on Christmas Eve. We wish Mr. Wareham much success.

Household Notes.

To make covers to place over food that is cooling take embroidery hoops and squares of hemmed cheesecloth the right size to slip into the hoops. They are fine to put over bowls of food that must stand for some time.

To remove ink stains on white material rub the stained portion gently with sour milk until the stain starts, or place in skimmed milk and let remain until the milk sours. If this fails to act, apply salt and lemon juice and place in sunlight.

A strip of eyelets cut from an old lace shoe will furnish new straps for an otherwise useless pair of gaiters. They are quickly attached with a few stitches of stout thread and the metal eyelets are more convenient to buckle than a punched hole.

S. U. F. MEETING.—The S. U. F. held their regular meeting in the British Hall last night. The arrangements for the soiree on February the 14th were finalized. A large number of members attended and all were determined to make the event a success. The meeting closed at 10.45.

Why "Paisley Flour" marks an advance in home baking.

It eliminates the time and trouble taken when using yeast.
Takes away the uncertainty of ordinary baking powder.
It is always fresh and pure, and retains its raising power very much longer than self-raising flour and cake mixtures.
It gives improved results in lightness, fineness and digestibility.

"Paisley Flour"

—is mixed one part to eight of ordinary flour.

"Paisley Flour" is packed in 22c, 14c, and 5c tins. The 22c tin contains 14 ozs. and will raise half a stone of flour, the 14c tin contains 7 ozs. and will raise 3 1/2 pounds of flour, the 5c tin contains 2 ozs. and will raise 1 pound of flour.

Prescription "A"

Cures Indigestion and Dyspepsia in all its Forms.

It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything. I have no heart to exert myself, and at times I care for nothing. I often have a pain in the pit of the stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion. I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden.

Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription A. A sure cure for persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at

Is your house really lighted from top to bottom or do you still have to take a candle or lamp when you go to the attic or cellar at night?
A great many people who have electricity in the rest of the house have no light in the cellar or attic because it is seldom needed; but, when you do need it, you need it badly.
One Incandescent Lamp set in a Holophane Reflector will give sufficient light for the darkest cellar or attic. Holophane Reflectors are especially adapted to lighting places of this sort as they control the light rays so that every ray is utilized. Wouldn't it be a convenience if you could turn a switch and light your cellar or attic before entering? That means an end to dangerous matches and flames—it means that you no longer need stumble against misplaced boxes and bark your shins in the dark.
We would like to tell you more about electric lighting and more about the wonderful light-saving Holophane Reflectors. May we send a representative to see you?
