MABEL HOWARD,
OF THE LYRIC.

CHAPTER II.

"If I have been it was years ago, when I was a youngster. Knighton, it is called, is it not?"

"Knighton and Beverley. It is all one," she said.

"And which is the 'Revels'?" he asked.

Carefully suppressing every sign of interest from her face, Iris pointed with her whip to her father's house.

"Oh, that is it! It is a big place! The grandest in the country, I suppose?"

"I suppose it is," she replied, carelessly.

He looked up at her curiously.

"Perhaps you know the people who live there—a Mr. Knighton and his daughter?"

Still more carefully she controlled her face, so that it wore a blank indifferent expression.

"Yes, that is slightly."

"Ah!" he said thoughtfully. "What do he like?"

Iris raised her brows with an admirable simulation of indifference.

"What are most men like?" she said, flicking her habit.

"I see; you only know them very slightly," he said. "Are they friends of yours, may I ask?"

She shrugged her shoulders.

"I have few friends," she replied.

He looked at her downcast face attentively.

"I was going to ask you about them," he said. "I suppose I ought to know Mr. Knighton! But if I did, at any time, it was years ago, when I was a youngster, and I've quite forgotten him! The daughter—there is a daughter, I know!"

"Oh, yes," carelessly, as if the subject had little interest for her.

"Do you know her? What is she like?"

Iris raised her eyes and looked at him.

"How do you mean?" she said. And as she spoke, the impulse to remain unknown, to confuse and mislead him, became irresistible.

He laughed shortly.

"Well, I don't expect an exhaustive catalogue of her physical and mental gifts," he said. "But what is she like?"

"I am simply curious because I have known her father—or think I have—when I was a boy. So she is short?"

"Yes," said Iris, concealing most carefully the smile that longed to visit her lips. "Is a woman any the worse for being short?"

"All women are angels, short or tall," he said gravely.

The smile curved Iris's lips now.

"Am I to go on?" she said gravely.

"Please!" he said. "Would you describe Miss Knighton as good-looking?"

She hesitated and he laughed.

"Your hesitation is answer enough," he said. "Out of womanly charity you are reluctant to go on. Shall I reply for you?"

"If you like," she said.

"Well, then—but please remember that I base my mental picture upon your manner and your reluctance!"

Miss Knighton is short and plain!"

"I am afraid she is," said Iris.

He smiled triumphantly.

"With—shall we say red hair?"

"It certainly is not yellow," said Iris, keeping her face well under control.

"She has freckles—freckles always go with that colored hair!—and, oh, she is altogether plain! Am I right?"

"You are as right as most people who guess are," she replied.

"And in addition to her plainness," he said carelessly, but still with a touch of curiosity in his voice, "she has—what shall I say?—a spice of temper?"

Iris paused, as if reluctant to make the admission; then she said:

"She is not the best-tempered girl I have met."

"I know," he said. "I have always heard that her father, Godfrey Knighton, was the proudest man in England—or out of it!—and I suppose she takes after him! Plain and proud. And you are no friend of hers! I can understand that!"

"Is that a compliment?" said Iris, her grave eyes resting on his face.

He colored faintly, then laughed.

"No; it is truth. And the people here; do they like her? Is she popular?"

Iris hesitated a moment.

"She might be better liked," she said.

"We shall meet as strangers still."

"At least," he said, reverentially and eagerly, "you—you will let me shake hands!"

She slipped the gauntlet from her right hand, and he took it; took it and held it so near his lips that they almost touched it—but not quite. Then she drew it from him, looked down into his handsome face, and rode off.

He stood and gazed after her for a minute or two, then, avoiding the farm, leapt the stile and gained the highroad to Glossop.

Iris rode on for half a mile, perhaps, her head bent, her eyes fixed on Snow's neck.

Then, suddenly, she pulled up, sat motionless, thinking a moment; then turned her horse and galloped back to the brook. Then, stopping, she bent down from her saddle, and with the hooked end of her whip caught up a bright blue object.

It was the scarf which the young fellow had worn round his neck, and which he had taken off when he had bathed his face in the stream.

She held it for a moment, looking at it, then thrust it carefully out of sight in the bosom of her habit, and rode away without stopping again, and with a dash of red in her face, toward Knighton Revels.

CHAPTER III.

Iris rode back slowly to the Revels, thinking over the adventure that had befallen her, the still stranger words the young man had spoken of her father.

Why had she refused to tell him her name, and let him tell her his? She wished now that she knew it. They had parted as strangers; if they met again—but perhaps they never would meet again. The world was wide, and her life would be spent within the circle of Knighton and Beverley, and it was very probable that she should see him no more!

Meanwhile, Lord Montacute had reached the Revels. He had said on the spur of the moment that he was going to see Mr. Knighton; but now that he stood in the library he had come to. And when the door opened and the squire came in, and extending his hand, said, "Good-morning, Montacute," the young earl stammered, and blushed, and fingered his eyeglasses helplessly.

"The fact was, Clarence was not only madly in love with Iris, but he was very much afraid of her father; most people were, without exactly knowing why. Godfrey Knighton's manner was stern, and the dark eyes under their heavy brows seemed to go through the ordinary individual like gimlets; the air of reserved melancholy and pre-occupation also added to the general sense of awe and mystery."

As he sat down in his chair, and looked across at the young man with the frown, but was awkwardly like one poor Clarence's small stock of self-possession melted into this air.

"Have you ridden over?" asked the squire, opening the conversation.

"Yes—yes; I rode over. Beautiful morning for a ride, Mr. Knighton."

"Yes," said the squire. "Iris has taken advantage of it and gone over to the Holt."

A sudden inspiration seized the young earl. He would take the hedge at a rush. Why shouldn't he?

"Mr. Knighton," he commenced, turning pale and then red again, "I came over to speak to you about Iris—that is, Miss Knighton."

"About Iris—my daughter?" said the squire in a tone of surprise which discomposed Clarence terribly.

"Yes—yes. The fact is, sir, I—love Miss Knighton."

There was a moment's silence; then the squire's face grew darker, the frown heavier.

"Have you spoken to her?" he asked, and his voice was troubled and stern, almost like that of a judge questioning a prisoner.

A Liner's Doctor.

By ONE OF THEM.

One of the busiest men on board a big Atlantic liner is undoubtedly the ship's doctor. The hospital in a modern liner is a most up-to-date affair, comprising dispensary, operating theatre, infectious ward, medical and surgical wards, and so forth.

In port, the ship's doctor is kept busy examining the new crew before signing them on. A new crew is signed on each trip, and the doctor must take care to see that all men signed on are capable of performing their job, as well as examining every man to see that no infectious disease comes aboard.

As a big liner often carries as many as 800 crew, it will be realized that this in itself is a very difficult task.

The ship is required under the Board of Trade Regulations to carry certain drugs and appliances, and the doctor must see that he has these on board.

Before the ship sails a Board of Trade inspector will come on board, and unless the doctor can pick out any particular drug or appliance the inspector may ask for, the ship will not be given a "clearance" from the port.

From the time the ship sails the ship's doctor will be in complete medical charge of generally from 4,000 to 5,000 people. A liner's doctor must be instantly prepared to deal with any emergency and to treat all kinds of cases, from extracting teeth to performing an immediate operation for acute appendicitis.

Although the liner's doctor generally tries to make himself some sort of a regular routine, he has very little chance of sticking to it, as naturally the great majority of people are ill for the first two or three days on board ship, and the doctor is kept busy from early morning till late at night attending to all kinds of queries and complaints. He must possess an infinite patience and a ready face.

Even when he retires at night for his well-earned rest he rarely gets a whole night in his bunk. In a big ship minor accidents are constantly happening to the crew, and very often he has to turn out in the middle of the night and wend his way down into the bowels of the ship to attend one of the crew who through some cause or other has become temporarily "laid out."

When the liner arrives at the port of destination he has to be prepared with a detailed list of all illnesses, accidents, and the like that have occurred during the voyage, for the information of the immigration officers at the quarantine station.

The routine of getting the passengers off to the ship and the work in connection with the filling up of the seemingly endless documents connected with a journey across the Atlantic Ocean would require an article in itself.

Truly he earns his pay.—Daily Mail.

Nut Cracking
by Machines.

In California a patent device is now being used for breaking walnuts. It consists of a "hopper" which feeds twenty-four channels with walnuts. They pass along to steel fingers, which gradually decrease in dimension, so that all sizes of nuts can fit in them.

Revolving projections act in such a way that the fingers close up slightly, just enough to crack the shells. Thus human teeth and hammers are no longer in requisition for this purpose. The untouched kernels are passed on to sorting tables and packed for consumption. The shells are not wasted, as they can be made into a splendid form of charcoal.

As the nuts are then without their shells the tins in which they are packed are necessarily air-tight, so as to preserve them. In time most nuts will be sent abroad shell-less, as the expense of cracking and packing them is less than the extra cost of freightage when the shells are not removed.

Walnut growing is now an immense industry in Mediterranean regions and in India. California grows its own, and despatched nearly 20,000 tons of nuts abroad last year.

A Stubborn Cough Eossons Right Up

This home-made remedy is a wonder for quick results. Ready and cheap.

Here is a home-made syrup which millions of people have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up stubborn coughs. It is cheap and simple, but very prompt in action. Under its soothing, soothing influence, chest soreness goes, phlegm loosens, breathing becomes easier, tickling in throat stops and you get a good night's restful sleep. The usual throat and chest colds are conquered by it in 24 hours or less. Nothing better for bronchitis, whooping cough, throat tickle, asthma or winter coughs.

To make this splendid cough syrup, pour 2 1/2 ounces of Finex into a 16-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup and shake thoroughly. If you prefer, use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you get 16 ounces—a family supply—of much better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.

Finex is a special and highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, known the world over for its prompt healing effect upon the membranes.

All the Brigade's veterans were on duty last night—only the feather bed squad being home on account of the rain. There was a great parade, one of the best for months! Eighteen recruits volunteered to join the colors last night and everyone was glad to welcome them. Lt. Colonel Goodridge was in Command and put the Battalion through some marching exercises, and the Colonel's voice made the Armoury vibrate. Major Tait, M.C., was also present, but had to leave early for duty with his old pals—"Newfoundland's real heroes"—the famous Blue Puttees of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment whose glory shall never fade!

Sergt. Major Harold Rendell reports his "Bathing Beauties" are making great progress in the art of swimming besides getting the benefit of a weekly bath. The class has now about fifty recruits. The class meets at the King George Institute Pool on Wednesdays and Fridays at 8 p.m. The fee is only fifteen cents weekly and he has only a few vacancies, so that any lads who aspire to be a "Bathing Beauty" had better join at once for training. One has already shown his proficiency in swimming that he is known as the "aperm whale" because he only comes up to blow!

The Sergt. Major is also busy with his cracker-jack Pyramid Squad and this team is practicing some new surprise stunts for Anniversary Week. His work has been greatly helped recently by the addition of a very experienced recruit, who is a real "Samson" in strength to the squad. The "man of Mystery" promises to introduce juggling, clownish tricks and fun, wit and humour which will be a leading feature for future exhibitions.

The Warrant and N.C.O.'s Mess are having an "At Home" in the C.C.C. Hall, Mechanics Building, on next Monday at 8.30 p.m. when the lads in blue will trip the light fantastic with the ladies fair to the strains of the full Battalion Brass Band, under Captain Landy.

C. Co. has a "new baby" in the addition of Lieut. Gardner who has secured his commission as a Lieutenant in that Company. Lieut. Arch Gardner was formerly in the Newfoundland Regiment and is quite an addition to the Company. We extend to him a hearty welcome as a member of the Mess.

The Colonel has ordered all "White Cap Covers" off on September 30th—so the summer is over—and the winter kit is in evidence.

Next Sunday, at 2.15 p.m., the Battalion parades at the Armoury for a Church Service to the Cathedral. The Battalion will include a detachment of the Girl Guides under Miss Richards, B.A., Commander of Spencer College Corps of Guides. The "Big Chief" of the Old Comrades, President Ern Chate, will also have a great turn out of his "Old Boys" and the parade promises to be an extra large one.

All ranks are sorry to have to say "au revoir" to Captain Norman Henry, Adjutant of the Battalion and formerly Lieut. of the Royal Irish Rifles. Captain Henry has done yeoman work as an officer in the C.L.B.—and all the boys are sorry at his going. He has joined the staff of the Hudson Bay Company, and seeks adventure in the far north—where the Polar Bear and the Arctic fox are in their glory. His first stop will be at Cartwright and we have no doubt but he will plant the colours of the Brigade there in the schools of Cartwright Gordon! The Brigade wishes him bon voyage when he sails on the next trip of the Meigle to the land of the ice and snow.

The repairs to the Armoury are going on in good shape under Sergt. Pottles as clerk of the works, and foreman James King. The roof has been partly done, clapboard replaced, windows putted, and a general overhaul is underway. Funds are badly needed and a big effort is being made to raise it by a Brigade Week in the middle of November when the Brigade the world over celebrates its thirtieth birthday.

We are sorry to note the C.L.B. detachment at the Shannon Munn Memorial Farm has about faded out. Captain Jeffrey, C.L.B. Acting Superintendent advises Headquarters that he is returning his rifles and equipment as this detachment is not working. We hope to see it revived as the drill and discipline must be beneficial to the growing youths and tends to promote a feeling of comradeship between the lads of the Orphanage and of the Battalion, when they march shoulder to shoulder on Church Parade.

St. Thomas's

Pastor-Elect.

Presentation to Rev. E. C. Earp, B.A. (Hull Daily Mail, Sept. 12th.)

The Rev. E. C. Earp, B.A. preached his farewell sermon on Sunday evening at Holy Trinity Church. Mr. Earp has been appointed to the important church of St. Thomas, Newfoundland. During the war he was a Chaplain to the Forces, having previously held a vicariate in the colonies. It was recently announced that Mr. Earp had accepted the living of St. Barnabas, York, but a subsequent cable from Newfoundland was so urgent that he was released from the York appointment.

Preaching from the text "Strengthen the things which remain," Rev. Mr. Earp referred to the unchanging character of Holy Trinity Church, which was a symbol of the things which remained. In his fifteen years' ministry there had not been any privilege comparable to his work in connection with that ancient and venerable church. When it was remembered that John Wesley and the cloister father of Andrew Marvell and the Archbishop of the See of York, from generation to generation, had preached there they might realize the inestimable privilege it was to come home and have the opportunity of being there, if only for a while. Countless souls who had crossed the front had worshipped within those walls through the vicissitudes of the centuries, and amidst the events of the war and catastrophes the old church remained a monument of God in the city of Hull. Holy Trinity was a great cross in stone on the heart of this commercial city of Hull. He appealed to them to strengthen their affiliation with the old church which many of them loved with a reverence and affection deep down in their hearts.

Following the service a presentation was made to Mr. Earp. This took place in the south aisle of the church and was attended by a large number of the congregation. Canon Buchanan handed Mr. Earp a cheque to be supplemented by a further amount towards defraying the heavy expenses of the family going to Newfoundland. In a few farewell remarks, the Vicar said Mr. Earp had been a sound preacher and able preacher, and a loyal colleague. He had also shown himself to be a Christian gentleman. Dr. Pigeon (people's warden) augmented these remarks and Mr. Earp suitably returned thanks.

Transferring Activities.

Burglars at Work on Higher Levels. The activities of those who have made housebreaking a hobby during the past few weeks, have been transferred from Water Street to the Higher Levels, where several burglaries have recently occurred. On Saturday night an attempt was made on a grocery store on Cookstown Road. A pane of glass was removed, but the burglars were unable to get past the iron bars, which were securely fastened from the inside. This store has been burglarized on several previous occasions. On Monday night Mullock Street was visited, and a lady of this thoroughfare received quite a scare when shortly after midnight she found a man endeavoring to gain admittance through her bedroom window. Her screams for help brought neighbours to her assistance and a search for the marauder was made, but he was lost sight of on Monkstown Road, where he scaled several fences and made good his escape. On the same night an attempt at burglary was made on Military Road. Glass was broken, but the thieves were evidently disturbed in their nefarious work and did not get away with any goods. These burglaries are interfering with the peace of mind of many householders, and the sooner the thieves are laid by the heels the better.

HE—Where are you going, my pretty maid?
SHE—I'm going to BOWRING'S, sir, she said.
For why do you ask? Are you taking notes
On BOWRING'S Sales for WINTER COATS?
HE—Not altogether taking notes—
On BOWRING'S Sales for Winter Coats?
But when I hear the ladies talk of bargains as they daily walk, I lend an ear, and then I hear, And learn to know the place to steer
For goods beside the ladies' wear.

Ping-Pong Tournament.

A PLAY OFF NECESSARY.

As a result of the Ping Pong tournament held last night between teams from the C.E.I. and the Officers' Mess of the C.L.B., another match will be necessary to decide the championship. In the first tournament of the series the C.L.B. won by 4 points, but last night the C.E.I. made up for their first defeat winning by a margin of 40 points. The return tournament will be held shortly. The loss of Major Kaley made a great difference to the C.L.B. team which was as follows: Lieut.-Col. Goodridge, Capt. Henry, Lieuts. H. Hayward, Moty, Perlin and Reid. The C.E.I. team consisted of Messrs. E. J. Godden, J. Edwards, H. Foster, Farndale, Hooker and G. Wills. The play-off should provide plenty of thrills and will undoubtedly be closely contested.

SPORT IN NEWFOUNDLAND.

Red Letter Day in S. U. F. Annals.
"Maple Leaf" Lodge, No. 77, instituted at Sydney, Nova Scotia.
Flags are flying over every hall of the Society of United Fishermen in Newfoundland to-day in honor of an event unique in the annals of the Order. For the first time in its half-century history, a Lodge has been established outside Newfoundland, under the most favorable auspices. A Grand Lodge deputation consisting of the R. W. Grand Master, Bro. J. Curlew, the Deputy Grand Master, Bro. C. T. James, the Grand Chief Officer, Bro. James Rendell, the Grand Secretary, Bro. A. E. Widycombe and Past District Master, Bro. W. Legg, left Sydney yesterday, the now Lodge being instituted in due and constitutional form last night. An enthusiastic reception was given the visiting Grand Officers by the Sydney brethren, a delegation meeting them at the Kyle pier and taking them across to Sydney. The charter members of the first Lodge of the S.U.F. in Canada, "Maple Leaf," No. 77, are as follows: John Kingsbury, Joseph Miffen, Theodore Peora, James Warren, Lewis Warren, Albert Kingsbury, Alfred Ryan, Abel Dean, Cecil Rideout, George Collins. A more complete description of the ceremonies will be published later, giving the names of the Master and officers, together with many other details of the inauguration and notes on the official visitation.

Quarterly Meeting Held.
St. Andrew's Society held their quarterly meeting last night when many important matters were discussed. Vice-President A. K. Lumsden presided and a large number of members attended. Several applications for membership were received and accepted. A vote of thanks was passed to the Ladies' Auxiliary for their recent munificent gift to the Society. A committee was formed for the purpose of celebrating St. Andrew's Night, Nov. 30th, and it was decided that the usual concert and dance be held. During the winter months, debates and lectures will be held and a committee will be appointed to look after them. The St. Andrew's Dinner will also be held shortly.

Woman Commits Suicide.
According to a message received yesterday by the Justice Department, a woman named Cochnell committed suicide early yesterday morning by jumping from the deck of a s.s. Fortia. The message was from Capt. Connors, and read as follows: "Mrs. Cochnell from St. John's, N.F., through, committed suicide at 3.30 a.m. in Fortune Bay, by jumping overboard. Searched for body. Could not find it. At time ship going full speed in fog."

Unfortunately, owing to the lack of grounds and means, there are a great number of the youth of the city who are unable to partake in games, and this the N.S.C., so we understand, hope to remedy before long. Running is not a sport which has very many followers, chiefly because there has never before been any incentive towards its encouragement. Now, however, those who take up running have a goal in view and that is a trip to Halifax, whilst furthermore, the Telegram Cup should be an incentive to more of our athletes to take up long distance running. But it does not matter what form of sport is taken up provided the youth of the city see that a regular amount of exercise whether it be football, running or swimming, should be obtained, for through sport they will have to live clean and always play the game, and there, we have the ideals of good citizenship.

Manager Returning.

Mr. R. C. Morgan, who recently resigned the position of General Manager of the Reid N.R. Co.'s railway, is returning to the city by Monday's express. It is unlikely that he should come here for any purpose other than that of resuming his former position. At the same time, it is rather strange that he should do so when the language in which his resignation was couched, is taken into consideration.

Vacancy Filled.

Mr. P. F. Collins, who was recently appointed to the vacancy at the Custom House, caused by the death of the late John McNamara, took up his new duties on Saturday last. The friction which arose when the appointment was announced, has been amicably settled, and Mr. James Bunkley, who was the assistant broker for a number of years, is now moved to the senior position.

GIVEN A HOLIDAY.—The pupils of Bishop Field College were given a whole holiday to-day in honor of Mr. C. J. Parsons, the new Rhodes Scholar, who received his admission at the College.

Clean Sports.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—The success attendant upon the efforts of "Our Boys," who recently visited Halifax, assures well for the future of The Newfoundland Amateur Athletic Association, and it is the general opinion of all lovers of clean and manly sports that Mr. Ayre has conferred a boon of no mean value upon the community by the establishment of this association.
Clean indoor and outdoor sports have a natural tendency to improve not only the physical, but also the moral fibre of a nation; in token of which one has only to consider the whose accomplishments have been due in no small measure to the training received on the playgrounds of Yale, Oxford, etc.
In the summer season the sports which naturally attract attention are Rowing, Swimming, Football, Baseball, Cricket, Golf, Tennis, etc., and I presume that a goodly portion of these games will receive the official sanction of the N.F. Athletic Association. But my object in writing this letter is to draw the attention of the Association to the advisability of placing the great game of Billiards upon its annual programme. An effort to revive interest in the grand old game was made some years ago by starting Inter-Club Championships Tournaments, but notwithstanding the fact that the public showed great appreciation of the game, for some inexplicable reason the contests were discontinued.
Last winter one of our city Clubs held a championship Billiard Tournament, which was eminently successful in every respect, having been conducted in the same manner as the Championships games are played in Great Britain and the U.S.A., viz: Each player having to meet all the other players, points being awarded for each game, and the player having the greatest number of points to his credit is awarded the Championship for the season.
It would be interesting to see Ryan, MacFarlane, Larkin, McLoughlin and many other old-time billiard players getting into harness again, in an effort to win the Billiard Championship of Newfoundland under the official acknowledgment of The Newfoundland Athletic Association.
Yours truly, W. M. B.

Supreme Court.

(Before Chief Justice.)
The King vs. Albert Ryall.—Mr. Barron appears for the Crown and asks that the case be postponed until Wednesday, 19th October. Ordered accordingly.

Breaking the Game Laws.

Word reaches us from Burat Point, Conception Bay, that it would be desirable for the Game Board to give this place particular attention, as before the season opened partridges were abundant and shot abundantly, but the present method is still continuing. It is most unfortunate that the Game Board were taken off their guard this year, and while it is known that the Game and Inland Fisheries Board is doing everything possible to see that the laws are observed, still the adequate protection necessary cannot be given unless there is sufficient men employed to cover the various sporting centres.

Coastal Boats.

S.S. Fortia left St. Jacques at 5 p.m. yesterday, going west.
Argyle leaving Placentia to-day for west.
Clyde left Pilley's Island yesterday morning, en route for the coast.

McMurdo's Store News.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 5, '21.
We have just received a consignment of our well known Menthall Shaving Lotion, an application of which soothes and stimulates, which is preferred by some men to any similar preparation. Price 45c. a bottle.
Among other arrivals we note a new lot of Analgesic Balm which has pain relieving and counter-irritant properties, and contains menthol, camphor and other remedies. As an outward application for rheumatism, neuralgia, neuralgic pains, etc., it is justly celebrated. Price 40c. a tube.

Express Passengers.

The following passengers reached Port aux Basques at Kyle this morning, and are now on the incoming express due on time to-morrow: Mrs. W. C. French, H. J. Wyatt, Mrs. Thos. Lundy, Miss M. Sullivan, H. Hamilton, Miss M. A. Smart, A. W. Norris, E. W. and Mrs. Collishaw, W. Walsh, B. Walsh, Miss L. Cornelly, W. J. and Mrs. Chafe, Mrs. A. Weeks, Mr. J. O'Brien, W. H. Cave, E. Bradley.

Promenade Concert.

The promenade concert held by the C.C.C. Band last night was one of the most successful for the season. "The Hunting Chorus" was exceedingly well received, and the other concert numbers were greatly appreciated. The lucky selection were new and many of those present ventured on the floor. The promenade concerts have undoubtedly caught on, and Capt. Bailey deserves to be congratulated on their success.

Susu Outward.

S.S. Susu, Capt. Roberts, sailed on the Foggy mad service at 4 p.m. yesterday. The ship took a full outward freight and the following passengers: E. Davis, Mrs. A. Wicks, Miss N. Mercer, J. Carter, Mrs. J. Carter, A. Stone, E. J. Ryan and M. Ryan.

Herring Package Regulations.

Continuing the good work already done, the Fisheries Inspectors have now formulated regulations governing the packages in which herring are to be put up. Regarding the making of the barrels the rules say: "Reliable wooden hoops must be under a bilge hoop 10 inches from the end when driven, and where hoops are slight packages will require four on each bilge instead of three, with a 2-inch 16th wire gauge iron hoop on each end. Iron hoops, 1 1/2 inch Bilge hoop must be 10 inches from the end when driven. Quarter hoop, 1 1/2 inches, must be three inches from the end when driven; 2 inch 16th wire gauge, 17 inches cut head and 3/4 bilge.
That there is need of better packages in which to put up pickled fish goes without saying, and it is a pity that inspection of the packages is not made compulsory, as whilst some turn out good tight work, others either inferior or incompetent, make up stock without any other thought but its immediate sale.

A Small Average.

The total catch of fish to date from Upper Amherst Cove to Cape L'Argent in the District of Bonaville, as compiled in a statement forwarded to the Marine and Fisheries Department, is as follows: Taken in traps, 10,250 qts.; caught by trappers since traps taken in, 3,210 qts.; taken by hook and line men, 11,850 qts.; giving a total of 25,310. There were 152 traps, 474 traps and 460 line engaged, so that the average catch does not amount to over 25 qts. per man. We have been informed that the "Privateer" in the Trinity Bay does not exceed this amount.

Successfully Removed.

The little boy Cronan, of New Gower Street, who swallowed a cent on Saturday evening and had to be taken to hospital for treatment, was sent home last night, the doctors being successful in removing the obstruction from his throat without the necessity of an operation.

Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Collishaw are passengers by the express.
Mr. W. H. Cave, Minister of Shipping, is on his way to St. John's here to-morrow; he is returning from a short holiday in Canada.
Sir John Creble was able to take a walk yesterday, the first since his operation. He will probably return home by the end of the month.
H. W. Lockwood, Esq., M.C., had a cable yesterday announcing the arrival at Mombassa, British East Africa, of Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn Field-Jones.

What She Must Know.

In a women's magazine has been set down a list of twenty-five accomplishments necessary before a young woman can be said to be educated. And this in these days! If this test is accepted as a whole it is as hard as ever to be a woman. According to this standard a woman must know how to sew, to cook, to mend, to be gentle, to value time, to dress neatly, to keep a secret, to avoid idleness, to be self-reliant, to respect old age, to darn stockings, to make good bread, to keep a home tidy, to control her temper, to make home happy, to be above gossiping, to take care of the sick, to take care of the baby, to sweep down the cobwebs, to marry a man for his worth, to read the very best of books, to be a helpmate to her husband, to take plenty of active exercise, to keep clear of trashy literature, to be a womanly woman under all circumstances.

BLACKED SON-IN-LAW'S EYE.

A man was charged in the Police Court to-day with disorderly conduct in his father-in-law's house. The defendant, however, ordered, and the eye which would do credit to a Rubens or a Millais. This he had received from his father-in-law in a scuffle. The defendant was ordered to leave the plaintiff's house and was fined $5 or 14 days.

Whose fault is it when your husband is cross at breakfast?

If you hit your thumb with a hammer you wouldn't blame your thumb for hurting.
Then why blame your husband whose nerves may have been pounded by rest or coffee, and whose rest probably has been broken by the irritation of the tannin or caffeine in coffee?
If you stay awake half the night you don't feel any too cheerful.
The tannin of tea and the caffeine of coffee are known drugs. If their use is persisted in, sooner or later the nervous system may give way.
Then you may have insomnia, or disturbed sleep. Your nerves and tissues will be robbed of that stability essential for normal and happy living.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

A PERNICIOUS TENDENCY.
LONDON, Oct. 5.
The London Times this morning discusses a despatch from its Paris correspondent which asserts that French publicists have proposed that France should in the Washington conference tender her support to the United States over pacific problems in return for United States support in European problems. The Times thinks the proposal is perhaps an even more pernicious tendency than that which it says is shown in some quarters of France to "read the conference as of little consequence to Frenchmen."

ULSTER PARLIAMENT ADJOURNS.
BELFAST, Oct. 5.
In moving the adjournment of the Ulster Parliament until December 13, and giving speaker power to summon it again in case of emergency, Sir James Carig, Premier, said yesterday "this course is somewhat unusual but the prospect before us is equally unusual and no one can tell what the next few months may bring forth."
Referring to the London conference on October 11, Sir James said, "if there is no one there to say a word for Ulster, Ulster may come out of this very badly indeed."

NO EXCITEMENT.
LONDON, Oct. 5.
A reuter cable from Bombay says arrest of All Brothers and other agitators has aroused little excitement outwardly.
POLICY ABANDONED.
LONDON, Oct. 5.
Right Hon Sir Arthur Griffith Boscawen, Minister of Agriculture, announces that although the Government has abandoned their policy of guaranteed prices and control of cultivation they are determined to pursue the policy of education and research as the most permanent method of improving agriculture.

Large sums of money are to be placed at the disposal of the German Government for use in the payment of reparations by the German Industrial federation says a Berlin despatch to exchange telegraph.

PREMIER DEAD.
SYDNEY AUSTRALIA, Oct. 5.
John Storey who became Premier of New South Wales in April 1920 died to-day. He was for many years a prominent labor leader.

H. M. S. President.

NAMED FOR A PRIZE IN WAR OF 1812, TO BE BROKEN UP.
LONDON, Sept. 23.—H.M.S. President, which was named after the American warship captured by the British in the war of 1812, has left her mooring in the Thames opposite Victoria Embankment, where she lay for many years, and was towed down the river en route to Holland, where she will be broken up.
Sixteen years ago this vessel took the place in the British Navy, of the original drill ship President, which was then in East India docks.
The first President was a frigate, and she passed through many vicissitudes after her capture by the British. She was practically rebuilt with a new bow and a new stern, and ultimately became the steamship H.M.S. President. She was always regarded with much pride by British sailors.
The President 2nd was a vessel on whose books were entered all the naval officers stationed at the Admiralty, and during the world war even officers in duty in distant parts of the far seas in order to keep the Germans in ignorance of British naval plans.
The President 3rd will be succeeded by the "Q" or mystery ship Sacrilege, which will be named the President, thus perpetuating British naval tradition.
Under new conditions all naval volunteers will be trained aboard her.

ARREST MADE.

Lloyd George Discusses The Irish Problem.

Unemployment at Inverness--The Local Unions Withdraw From Longshoremen's Association--American Mine-workers Refuse Arbitration.

CANADIAN PARLIAMENT DISSOLVED.
Parliament is dissolved as from today, it was officially announced at 5.45 this afternoon. No election date has been officially set, but December 5th is the most talked of date with nominations on November 21st.

THE MEIGHEN MANIFESTO.

OTTAWA, Oct. 4.
Containing the statement that the introduction of the tariff policies of either the Liberals or Progressives would result in the closing down of thousands of industries, and that the propaganda of these parties was responsible to a considerable extent for the industrial unrest and uncertainty of the present time, the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen's election manifesto was issued here late this afternoon, following the official announcement of dissolution of Parliament. Mr. Meighen emphatically urges that the best interests of the Dominion could only be served through continuing in effect the present tariff policy, and that the fight in the present election is wholly a fight against free trade. Pointing out that 42 years ago the people of Canada realized the need of a protective tariff to prevent the massive relationship towards the United States, and that the study of the past forty years would conclusively show the advance made under protection. The Prime Minister sets forth that any downward revision of the tariff schedules would mean surrender of the advances made as a self-contained aggressive industrial nation. The tariff proposals of Liberals and Progressives are held up as practically the same, both tending towards downward revision and free trade, with consequent greater buying from and less selling to the United States.

FIFTEEN LOCALS WITHDRAW.

NEW YORK, Oct. 4.
Fifteen of the twenty-nine locals of the International Longshoremen's Association to-day voted to withdraw from the organization. The spokesmen for the seceders announced their appeal to Mayor Hylan this afternoon, and ask him to open negotiations with steamship interests for them with a view of ending the strike at this port.

LLOYD GEORGE AT INVERNESS.

LONDON, Oct. 4.
Mr. Lloyd George speaking here to-day on unemployment, touched on the Irish Question, declaring that the London Conference beginning on October 11th, between representatives of the British Government and Sinn Fein can only succeed if those who enter it make up their minds definitely and resolutely to trust to the common sense of their own people and do not try to reconcile extremists. Mr. Lloyd George referred optimistically to the coming Disarmament Conference in Washington. "It will constitute one of the outstanding events which will affect human history for centuries," he said. He had hoped to further the Irish question while in the Highlands, but through no fault of his own, or of his colleagues, he did not succeed. "At any rate when we enter the Conference in London," he said, "we shall do so with what is known as the Inverness Formula," which was signed in this very chamber and dispatched to the representatives of the Irish people." Dealing with unemployment the Prime Minister emphasized that it was not an ordinary trade depression, but a world condition due to the shattering effects upon the world's credit and competition. Nations have had to mortgage their resources and pledge their future, he said. The result is that it has led to impoverishment. Traders, inventors and working men, and everybody dependent upon them, must be impoverished for years to come. Meantime, he said, it was necessary to look after the needy.

ARBITRATION REFUSED.

INDIANAPOLIS, Oct. 4.
"No agreement can now be made binding the United Mine Workers of America to arbitrate any disputes that may arise next spring in wage negotiations with the operators," President J. I. Lewis, to-day, told the Union's Convention in session here. "Such an answer," he said, "had been given to Government officials who in connection with the Unemployment Conference at Washington are seeking advanced assurances from union leaders and operators with a view of averting the possibility of a nationwide coal strike."

A GENEROUS DECISION.

GENEVA, Oct. 4.
Four non-permanent members of the Council of the League of Nations, Spain, Belgium, China and Brazil will be re-elected to the Committee of International organization, it was so decided unanimously to-day.

HULL TRAGEDY VERDICT.

HULL, Oct. 4.
The catastrophe to the giant vessel SS-2 over the Humber River, in which more than forty persons lost their lives on August 24th last, was due to an accident, according to the verdict rendered by the Coroner's Jury here to-day. There is no evidence as to the actual cause of the disaster, the verdict says.

UNEMPLOYED DEMONSTRATION.

LONDON, Oct. 4.
What the police characterize as the biggest demonstration of unemployed ever known in London, occurred to-day when about 19,000 workless, including hundreds of women, some of them carrying babies, assembled on Thames Embankment and marched to Trafalgar Square. Finding that closed to them they were marched to Hyde Park where speeches were made demanding work or maintenance. Harry Gosling, one of the foremost leaders, speaking before the London County Council to-day, said "Labor leaders are on the brink of losing control over the unemployed. Unless the unemployment question is settled immediately, there is bound to be a row not only in London but all over the country."

One of the best known guides in Nova Scotia gives this testimonial of MINARD'S LINIMENT:

"I have used Minard's Liniment in my home, hunting and lumber camps for years, and consider it the best white liniment on the market. I find that it gives quick relief to minor ailments, such as sprains, bruises and all kinds of wounds. Also it is a great remedy for coughs, colds, etc., which one is liable to catch when log driving and cruising during the winter and spring months. I would not be without MINARD'S LINIMENT and cannot recommend it too highly."

Mother, Quick! Give California Fig Syrup for Child's Bowels

Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of "California Fig Syrup." If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, feverish, full of cold, or has colic, a teaspoonful will never fail to open the bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation poison, sour bile and waste from the tender, little bowels and gives you a well, playful child again. Millions of mothers keep "California Fig Syrup" handy. They know a teaspoonful to-day saves a sick child to-morrow. Ask your druggist for genuine "California Fig Syrup" which has directions for babies and children of all ages printed on bottle. Mother! You must say "California" or you may get an imitation fig syrup.

English Horseracing.

Next to the Grand National, the St. Leger is the favourite race with the people of the North, and the famous "Yorkshire race" which greets the winner has been heard at a distance of ten miles.

The St. Leger took its name from a Doncaster sportsman, Sir Anthony St. Leger, as far back as 1776. But not until 1828 was Wednesday adopted as St. Leger Day. So keen was public interest in the St. Leger in 1824--when no fewer than thirty horses faced the starter--that the then unprecedented method was adopted of sending the result to London by carrier pigeons, and to Manchester by dogs specially trained for the purpose. These were the "rod old days" before the coming of telephones, wireless, and aeroplanes.

The Town Moor has been very kind to "clock" racehorses, and there some extraordinarily, unlikely animals have been steered to victory. Throstle, who pulled off the big race one year was so unpromising in her early days that her owner, Lord Allington, ordered her to be destroyed. He changed his mind, however, and presented the animal to a friend. But when the friend saw Throstle he was so unfavourably impressed that he declined to take her from the stables.

Birmingham, another winner, was more a fomesdelt pet than a racer. His owner, Mrs. Beardsworth, taught him to follow her round the stable as if he were a cat. In the big race Birmingham was coming in a bad second when his mistress called to him--whereupon he put on a spurt and won by half a length.

Home-Brew--Politics.

(From the London Advertiser.)
At one of the political rallies at Woodstock a woman speaker brought a serious charge against the male element in the organization. It was this, that while the women were in the halls many times discussing politics, the men were sitting outside on the steps swapping recipes for making home-brew.

Now, this is a serious state of affairs. In the good old days, 'twas not thus. The men gathered together and marked out the path for the ship of state, while the women stayed home or sat on the steps outside and swapped recipes for tomato catsup or catchp tea. But still the new order of things may have a beneficial side. It is very important that politics be well and thoroughly understood, and it is surely right and proper that the newest capers in the rearing of home-brew shall be spread along the concessions and the sideline. And so it is not an altogether disturbing picture. Women can surely wax eloquent over matters of public policy, and the most stolid male in the community becomes a babbling fountainhead of words when he begins to speak of his experiences with raisins, potatoes, dandelions and yeast.

Most Perfect Venus.

What is described by archeologists as the most perfect statue of Venus Minerva comes to light, has been unearthed in the ancient baths at Cyrene, where extensive excavations are being carried on under the direction of Professor Ghislausoni. The statue somewhat larger than life size, is in a perfect state of preservation, the head and arms untouched by time, and belongs to the Greco-Roman period, bearing a strong resemblance to the Venus of the Capital. It will be remembered that another magnificent statue of Venus, unfortunately headless, was discovered a few years ago at Cyrene and is now one of the greatest treasures of the Museo delle Terme in Rome. When Professor Ghislausoni saw the work of art emerging from the soil like Venus from the waves he became so excited that he shouted to the Arab workmen to put up their spades, for they might injure the statue in the slightest detail, and with eager hands proceeded to remove the millennial earth reverently, as if unveiling a goddess.

FOUGHT IN BEER SHOP.—Two men who indulged in a free fight in a beer shop were up before court to-day and were discharged. A witness said he picked one of the accused up "dead to the world" and brought him home. Neither of the defendants could remember what had happened.

Cliff Dwellers. The race of Indians formerly living in the cliffs bordering on the valleys of the Rio Grande and Rio Colorado, were called Cliff Dwellers. For the reason that their homes were built in the recesses of the cliffs at a height of ten or several hundred feet from the ground, and at the present time seemingly inaccessible, as the former paths that led to them nearly all have been destroyed by the crumbling away of the rocks. The dwellings sometimes consisted of many rooms, and in some cases were two, or more, stories high, hewn in the rock, with wooden ladders in the doors and windows, which were probably closed with skins or blankets. The walls were finished with a plaster of clay. How the inhabitants subsisted is not known, but probably mainly by hunting and fishing, as the soil about these localities was barren. The Pueblo Indians, who still are found in that section, are thought to be descendants of the cliff dwellers. They possess considerable skill in making articles of pottery and the like.

Did this ever happen to you? Mentholatum. Is a wonderful relief for, Headaches, Colds, Catarrh, Chapped Skin, etc.

Regulations Ignored.

Following our leading article yesterday on the Street Traffic Regulations, we have had several requests to continue the campaign until something is done to protect the lives of pedestrians. From Patrick Street and La Marchant Road, we have had complaints that yesterday horses were using the sidewalks in that neighborhood to the imminent peril of children and others. Boys on horse back, expressmen, teamsters with loads of coal, and even Council employees with their teams used the sidewalks. Protests from residents went unheeded, the teamsters saying that owing to the slippery condition of the middle of the street their horses were unable to get footing. If the Council would sprinkle some coarse sand shortly after oiling the streets all the danger of horses slipping could be avoided.

A MORNING PRAYER.
This I will breathe for my morning prayer:
Give me strength for my round of care;
Let me face what the day may bring,
Of hurt, or heartache, or unwhispering;
Let me use my talents the best I can,
And come to my children at night a man.

This is my prayer for the break of day:
Grant me something of cheer to say,
Let this day glow with some kindly deed
Which has brightened another's hour of need.
Let me come home with the setting sun
With a smiling face and my task well done.

This is my prayer for the morning new:
Grant me strength for what I must do,
Let me rejoice as I go my way
In the precious gift of another day,
And let me come home with a smiling face
Fit for my little ones' fond embrace.

Notice!

The Board of Governors of the St. John's General Hospital beg to announce for the information of the General Public that final arrangements have been made for the collection of fees to be paid by all persons who occupy beds or undergo treatment at the General Hospital.

The scale of fees was advertised in December last as coming into effect on January 1st, 1921, but unforeseen circumstances prevented this from being carried out.

The following regulations, in accord with "An Act respecting the General Hospital," will be strictly enforced.

Under an Act respecting the General Hospital (6 George V., Cap. XIX.), and with the approval of the Governor in Council, the Board of Governors of the St. John's General Hospital give notice that they have fixed and prescribed the following scale of fees to be levied from and paid by all persons who occupy beds or undergo treatment at the Hospital. The scale is to come into operation on the 1st of October, 1921.

SCALE OF FEES.

Every person receiving treatment in the General Hospital shall, after the 30th day of September, 1921, pay fees according to the following scale:—

Persons admitted to the public wards $1.00 per day. Persons occupying private rooms $10.00 per week, in addition to the daily fee of $1.00. Every applicant for admission to the Hospital must bring with him, or forward to the Superintendent of the Hospital, certificate signed by a duly registered physician that such applicant is a proper subject for Hospital treatment.

Under the provisions of the General Hospital Act, 1915, all patients who are unable to pay fees shall be required to bring with them a certificate of their inability to pay, which shall be signed by a resident Relieving Officer, or, where there is no such Officer, by a Justice of the Peace, a Clergyman or other responsible person. The fees of such patients thereupon become payable by the Commissioner of Public Charity, by virtue of the said Act.

By order of the Board,
GEORGE SHEA, Chairman.
W. H. RENNIE, Secretary.

Blue Puttees Celebrate.

The Blue Puttee Re-union at Donovan's last night was attended by over sixty survivors of the first five hundred. Lt.-Col. Carty presided. The speeches were all eloquent whilst the songs and recitations were greatly enjoyed by all present. Major R. H. Tait, M.C., provided the music. When the toast was proposed to the absent comrades lying away over in the lands across the sea, all rejoicings ceased and every man present bowed his head in respect for the boys who "went west." Several messages were received from members who were unable to attend, including one from Sergt. Jack Whelan, who was then sailing from Ramsea for Lisbon, wishing the boys the best of luck on anniversary night. Many of the members who last year were unavoidably absent, were able to attend last night. These included some sea-going men now in port. Next year a much better programme has been suggested, and it is possible that the night may be celebrated in the grounds at Pleasantville in similar circumstances to those which existed during the days when the Blue Puttees were a reality in the encampment near Quilt Viaduct. All the boys were pleased with last night's Re-union and if a similar programme is arranged next year there is little doubt that every available member will attend. The committee to which the honor of last night's success is due, deserves the praise of all members, and according to the verbal impression given to the News last night, every man who attended will remember the night and look forward to another.

Up and Doing.

Great credit is due the Commercial School, for its push and success, as evidenced by the number pupils placed last year in good positions in the city.

Famous Novelists

Drowned.

Through the Italian steamer "Darl" being attacked by a German submarine on October 5, 1917, Major Claude Arthur Cary Askew and Mrs. Askew, the popular novelists, met their deaths. In 1915, they accompanied the First British Field Hospital to Serbia, Major Askew being attached to the Serbian Army. Their book, "The Stricken Land," which was published in 1916, contains a vivid account of their adventures and hardships with the Serbian Army in its retreat before the German-Bulgar forces. Major Askew was educated at Eton, and was originally destined for the diplomatic service. He, however, spent several years on the Continent picking up not only an acquaintance with languages and countries, but also a love of wandering, knowledge of which he made great use of in his novels. Mrs. Askew and her husband were on their way home from Serbia when the vessel was torpedoed and sunk. Their best known books are "Not Proven," "Through Folly's Mill," "Anna of the Plains," "The Rod of Justice," and "Eye and the Law." Mrs. Askew's body was washed ashore on the Dalmatian coast, and the remains were interred at a spot near the coast. For years Major and Mrs. Askew had a beautiful cottage at Maldenhead, where they usually spent the summer months.

The Real Sherlock Holmes.

Dr. Joseph Bell, the Scottish surgeon, who died in 1912, enjoyed a fame extending far beyond medical circles, for he was the original of Sherlock Holmes. The gentle art of discovering a murderer by his cigar ash was evolved in Sir Conan Doyle's mind as the result of a minute observation of the inductive methods of Dr. Bell. Sir Arthur in his medical student days at Edinburgh University acted as ward clerk to Dr. Bell, when the latter was a surgeon at the Royal Infirmary, noting down the particulars of the cases. Sir Arthur describes Dr. Bell as a man with sharp, piercing grey eyes, eagle nose, and striking features, who would "sit in his chair with fingers together, and just look at the man or woman before him." With a face like a Red Indian, he would diagnose the patients as they came in. He would tell them their symptoms, and give them details of their lives, and he would hardly ever make a mistake. "Gentlemen," he would say to the students, "this man is a cork-cutter or a slater; he has a hardening on one side of his forefinger and a little thickening on the outside of this thumb, a sure sign that he is one or the other." He would observe of another: "You are a soldier, a non-commissioned officer, and you have served in Bermuda," and turning to the students he would point out that the man came into the room without taking his hat off, as he would go into the orderly room, that his air showed he was a non-commissioned officer, and that he had on his forehead a peculiar rash known only in Dundee. There was something about the insanity in the doctor's perception. His deduction, must have been made with lightning-like rapidity. He pointed to be able to tell a parrot's occupation at a glance, but more wonderful still, he sometimes took upon himself to tell several episodes in the patient's past life. Dr. Bell, who was born on October 5, 1837, was a familiar figure as he drove through the streets of Edinburgh, his gleaming eyes intent on everything.

Moderate oven is best for cooking. Apples are good scalloped with applesauce.

Moved with soda. Molds for jellied salad should be rubbed with salad oil. Shredded coconut is a welcome addition to apple salad. Stewed prunes combine well with apples for brown betty. Bake bananas in their skins and serve with lemon sauce.

Side Talks by Ruth Cameron

WHAT ONE WOMAN FOUND OUT.

RUTH CAMERON

Do you often resent things in your thoughts? A woman surprised me greatly one day by telling me that she had been shocked when she discovered how largely the content of her thoughts was made up of various resentments.

Resentment of the fact that she had to live in an apartment when she hated apartments.

Resentment of the fact that her husband who does a high grade of work as an educator is paid an absurdly small wage.

Because Her Husband Doesn't Understand.

Resentment of her husband's masculine inability to understand the tremendous difficulties of her feminine struggle to make both ends meet and keep up appearances.

Resentment of her sister's life of ease and luxury. ("That's particularly foolish of me for I would never be content to live as she lives, but sometimes when I see her starting out on a trip of a lovely morning when I'm starting to do a washing, resentment seems to just surge up in me.")

Resentment of some things her sister-in-law said.

Things She Thinks Her Mother-in-Law Thinks.

Resentment of certain things she thinks her mother-in-law thinks.

"That's a dev of them," she ended this astonishing self-revelation, "but I guess that's enough to give you an idea of what I mean. The funny thing is that they aren't things I speak about but I hardly realize I thought them until something started me to examining myself. I wonder if other people have thoughts like that. And I wonder if they don't do me a lot of harm. Seems as if they were all pent up in there. I have always tried not to say resentful things but I guess I shall have to go farther and not think them."

What a far way that woman has travelled on the road of self-knowledge which leads to power!

I spoke of it as a startling confession. It was particularly so because she seems a very sweet though not very happy woman.

Doubtless some of the sad lines about her mouth are caused by this inner discontent and rebellion.

The Bitterness in Poisonous.

Resentment is a poison. To manufacture it constantly in the heart is like having some blind abcess discharging into the system.

The habit of resentment is such an easy one to get into! Many people have it who have no idea they are suffering from it. The first step toward cure is the recognition of one's condition. The second is recognition of the faculty of a resentment that simply resents and does nothing to change. The third is the effort to convert the energy into some channel that will change things for the better if only in slight degree, and to try to accept as a matter of course anything that is inevitable though unfortunate.

Whitbourne Notes.

The snow flurry here on St. Matthew's Day, 21st inst., was an unpleasant surprise, but fortunately did not last long, and so the gardens escaped any serious damage.

The Misses Bentham, representatives of "The Barnado Homes," arrived here on the 22nd Sept. One of the ladies visited the G. of E. School and gave the students an interesting address on the subject, but there has been so many demands of late and collections taken for various purposes it was felt to be impossible to give any financial aid to this worthy object at present. The good ladies left for Canada by the express the same day.

Miss Margaret Cooke, of the Postal Telegraph office, is taking a vacation just now, Mr. Snow of Clark's Beach, relieving her in the office.

Miss Roberts Bond, who spent some weeks at "The Grange," returned to St. John's on Sept. 19th.

The L.O.A. bandmen are busy practising up their music in anticipation of Bishop White's visit on November, we hear.

A tragedy for Whitbourne occurred here on Saturday midnight, 24th Sept., when four horses were killed outright by an incoming freight train, and another horse owned by Mr. Albert Barrett, had its legs so badly broken it had to be shot on Sunday when discovered. As the animals were within bounds, it is hoped the owners may be compensated for the loss of their horses, which happened as the train was rounding a curve, a particularly difficult bit of railway, to ascertain objects ahead. This is now six horses slaughtered at this particular spot this summer, alas!

James Mercer and James Dwyer, two deaf mutes of Whitbourne and Blaketown, returned to Halifax by the "Roseland," sailing on the 24th to re-enter the Institution for the Deaf and Dumb there. Both boys appeared to be delighted to be going back to their studies. We hope they may be a credit to their community in the coming years.

The Rev. T. P. and Mrs. Beauchamp, with their little daughter, Jean, late of New Harbour parish, Trinity Bay, arrived here by carriage Sunday afternoon leaving by the afternoon's train for St. Andrew's Parish, Norwich, Conn., U.S.A., their new sphere of work. Mr. Beauchamp, who is an earnest and indefatigable worker, will, no doubt, be much regretted at New Harbour. We wish them both good success in their new parish work and "bon voyage."

P. Douglas Stewart, Esq., of Montreal, who has spent the last couple of weeks at Balsam Thaw, St. John's, was a passenger on Sunday's west bound express on his way home.

Miss Alice M. Jeffrey, who left here on Sept. 24th for Canada, is now at Port Hope, Ontario, on the staff of Trinity College School. The Rev. F. Graham Orchard, D.D., is the Principal of this flourishing school. Miss Jeffrey has previously held a post at St. Alban's School, Brockville, Ont.

tario, where Dr. and Mrs. Orchard formerly resided.

Mrs. Pettipas, who had been visiting her married daughters at St. John's and Horwood, returned home via St. John's, after a pleasant holiday of a couple of weeks duration.

The Rev. E. Hunt, Anglican Priest of Terlinggate, arrived in our village by this morning's express to enjoin for New Harbour, where he succeeds Rev. T. F. Beauchamp. The train for Heart's Content was hung up all day, waiting for another train from the West. A large number of passengers for New Harbour and Heart's Content were unable to get away from here until 7 p.m. and were greatly inconvenienced. Rev. E. Hunt and Mrs. Fred Anderson being among them.—COR.

USELESS KNOWLEDGE.

With many vain and useless things my memory is stored; I know the histories of kings and of the lands they bored; I know of happenings on earth a long centuries ago; if any fact has little worth that fact I'm sure to know. But when my motor car breaks down, and will no longer chug and I am forty miles from town, I don't know what to do. I lift the hood and view the works, and raise my loud lament, and all I know of ancient Turks won't help me worth a cent. And I am versed in all the lore that pleased the ancient Greeks, but that can't make my head less sore—the carburetor leaks. And I can stand on end and quote the poets by the hour, but I can't figure why my boat is short of all its power. My neighbor, Johnson, never reads, no poets does he know; but when he plants his garden seeds the blamed things always grow. And he has muscious prunes and kraut, and squash and sparrow-grass; and all that I can raise is gout, which isn't garden sass. This Johnson's chickens always lay, their output keeps him strong, while my old hens eat corn and hay, and give their lives to song. I know a million useless facts concerning long dead kings, and I have read a million tracts discussing hot air things; but these things do not help, oddsah, when I am in a mess, and there are moments when I wish I knew a whole lot less.

WHY MAKE IT?

GIN PILLS FOR THE COLIC

Napoleon's Opportunity.

The retroitory sessions of Paris in September, 1795, gave no signs of submission, and became more and more menacing. The Convention gave the command of its armed force to Barras, who, anxious to obtain as second in command, an officer in whom he could thoroughly confide, bestowed himself of Napoleon Bonaparte. Napoleon at that time was a general of brigade without employment. Little anticipating the momentous consequences which would result from the step, he entrusted to Bonaparte the direction of the military operations against the insurgent sections. The young general took his measure with rapid and skilful decision; he planted his cannon upon all the approaches to the Tuileries, and occupied strongly with his troops all the neighbouring streets, the bridges, and the Place Louis XV. The expected struggle took place on October 5, 1795. The troops of the Convention, numbering between twenty and thirty thousand, advanced against the Convention in two divisions, from each side of the Seine. A furious combat ensued in the Rue St. Honoré, where, the sections having established themselves in front of the Church of St. Roch, Bonaparte opened a murderous fire of artillery upon the post, and completely routed the assailants, with a loss of some three hundred killed. He then hastened to the Font Neuf, towards which the second column of the rebels was marching from the Quarter of St. Germain; and, having pointed some pieces of artillery so as to command them both in front and flank, met them, as they came within range, with a cannonade which in a moment scattered them in all directions. The fighting, which did not begin till late in the afternoon, was over in less than an hour and a half. The Convention used its victory with moderation and clemency, only one of the conspirators was put to death, and a few others imprisoned. The important services of Bonaparte on the day of the sections were promptly acknowledged and rewarded; he was appointed second in command of the Army of the Interior, and, on the retirement of Barras shortly afterwards, he succeeded to the post of Commander-in-Chief. From then on his power increased until eventually he was elected Emperor.

An Explorer's Sister.

"Several years ago a public spirited man in Stockholm left his fortune for the building and upkeep of model tenements, but designed for homes and not rented rooms," says the Scandinavian Review.

"As a manager there is a woman experienced in housing conditions and sympathetic with the need of family life. Chief among these social workers is Alma Hedén, sister of the great explorer. She is in charge of a big house containing eighty-seven small flats let very cheaply to the poorest people, mostly widows with children.

"To make their small income go as far as possible, Miss Hedén buys supplies at wholesale and sells them to the women at this price provided they pay cash. They have to go out to work, leaving at home the children.

"Therefore," she writes, "I began by trying to arrange suitable occupations for the children. Kindergarten for the small, and the larger ones were taught carpentry, painting, etc."

After the young people have grown up they prefer coming back to the house for entertainment to going elsewhere. They like especially to dance the national dances dressed in folk costume. Sometimes they produce articles of handicraft, and Miss Hedén helps them to find a market.

"Several summers a country place has been at their disposal. In her position as manager Miss Hedén has access to the homes of the people through their physical needs, and a mental intimacy is soon established. After thirteen years of living together they are like a large family of four hundred members. Miss Hedén travelled in the United States in 1920 and wrote a book about conditions for working women.

"Another interesting Swedish woman is Eva Proberg, one of Sweden's foremost woman experts in an especially materialistic subject, viz., agriculture. Born in the country, she spent many years on her native farm, Sjosa, in the beautiful Sormland, and later she farmed her own estate, Husby. She has received many a commission of trust, and has been much interested in the life and progress of her native land. During the war she studied in England and France the various tasks of women in the posts formerly occupied by men, especially the feminine contribution to agriculture. Her background of country life, behind her gracious cosmopolitan manner, may account for the wholesome human sympathy acknowledged by the young men and women who meet in their studies between Sweden and the United States."
