"A Terrible Experience"

"I Recall My Experiences with the Burglar with Feelings of Horror!"

"How would you feel if you wakened in the middle of the night with a flashlight shining in your eyes and the gruff voice of a man threatening that 'if you make the slightest noise I'll shoot?' That was my experience the end of last March when my husband was away in the woods and I was alone with my three children. Everytime I think of this experience a shudder passes over me and as long as I live I shall remember it. At the time I really thought I would die. It's a wonder my heart did not stop beating. I was so weak that even if I had any desire to move, I could not. I was bathed in a cold, clammy perspiration. Even to recall the shocking details now makes me shudder. It was a result of this shock that I contracted a high fever and for hours at a time I was delirious. I got so bad that the doctor finally gave up hope of my ever recovering, but by careful nursing, I was finally pronounced out of danger. The shock had left me so weak, that, for no reason whatever, I would suddenly burst into tears. All the while I kept to have been taken out of me. I kept getting weaker and weaker, so much so that my husband and children were constantly worrying about me. Doctors prescribed for me and while I willingly tried their medicines, only very few of them did me any good, but unfortunately the good was not lasting. My family asked me if I would try Carnol and I said, 'I was willing to try anything,' but felt that it would not do me any good. Four bottles of Carnol taken regularly, has completely restored my former health and strength and, while I occasionally recall my experience with the burglar with feelings of horror, I am otherwise as well and strong as I have ever been. Carnol is the most wonderful preparation I have ever used for building and restoring health and strength. It has done wonders for several of my friends to whom I have recommended it." Mrs. McC. of...

Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have tried it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund $5.00 money.

The Heir of Bayneham

—AND—
Lady Hutton's Ward.

CHAPTER XXXVI

She had learned to love him dearly and well, though not as, in early youth, she had loved her cousin, for she was a woman now; and it was a woman's love she gave to Bertie Carlyon. He was dearer to her than her cousin had ever been. She did not like that reserved, sorrowful expression on his face. Her first duty she felt was to him, yet it was utterly impossible that she should leave her aunt.

Barbara Earle sat in her room, thinking deeply. Thought became action; she went to her writing-table and wrote a letter to Lord Bayneham. It was a sweet, womanly letter, and in it she told him of Bertie Carlyon's love—of her engagement to him, and of her inability to fulfil it until he returned home and once more took his place in the world.

"There was a time," wrote Barbara—"I pray you to pardon me if I remind you of it—when, for your happiness, I sacrificed all the hope of happiness I had in life; I ask but little in return, and that little is the sacrifice of some morbid feeling. I ask you to return home; your mother wants her son, your tenants and servants want their master, your country wants one of her ablest and truest sons; and, Claude, Bertie wants me."

"That will be irresistible," said Barbara Earle to herself, with a smile. "He will never tolerate the thought that he is keeping us apart, and my aunt will have her son."

Barbara judged rightly—Lord Bayneham could not withstand that appeal. He remembered the time when Barbara had generously given him his freedom, trampling under foot her own love and regret. Now one who loved her, and was worthy of her, had won her, and he, in his turn must sacrifice himself as she had done. The appeal was successful—Lady Bayneham was beside herself with delight when she received a letter from her son saying that he intended soon to return and resume the duties he had so long neglected. Barbara said nothing of her letter, and the countess congratulated herself that her wishes had guided her son.

There was but little said when he arrived, for both mother and cousin were startled at his appearance. He no longer looked ill, but there was an air of settled melancholy on his face that told of his sorrow more expressively than any words could have done. He wore deep mourning—a fact which startled Lady Bayneham. Before separating on the evening of his arrival, she went up to him, and laying her hand gently upon him, asked him why it was.

"Hush, mother," he replied, in a broken voice—"do not talk about it. I wear black for my wife; if she had been living I should have found her here this. I believe her to be dead; but do not speak of her—I cannot bear it yet."

Lady Bayneham quitted the room, leaving her son alone with his cousin.

"Barbara," said Lord Bayneham, "why did you not tell me this before? I have returned in obedience to your wish. Why have you kept this secret from me?"

"We could not think of love or happiness while you are in sorrow," she replied, "I saw my aunt wasting away. Bertie said nothing, but his look touched my heart. Everything was going wrong—so I wrote for you."

"I am glad of it," replied her cousin; "and now that the first shock of seeing the old place is over, I am glad to be at home."

"As we are alone," said Barbara, "I have something that I wish to say to you. Claude, you must rouse yourself—you have sunk in a sea of sorrow; this must not be. Trouble makes heroes of some men, and cowards of others. You know best where a Bayneham should stand. Remember, ber, even should Hilda be dead your life does not end in her grave."

"My happiness and love lie there," said Lord Bayneham.

"That may be," continued Miss Earle, "but we must not live for ourselves. There are many men who have never known happiness at all. Your fate is hard enough, but it is not the hardest in the world. Learn to bear it, and you will learn to live."

"I will try," said Lord Bayneham; and he kept his word.

They saw plainly enough how great the effort was. He gave himself up to the strict performance of his duty—he omitted nothing. His mother sighed, when on passing the room door, she saw the lamp, burning long after midnight; she sighed again when, in the early hours of the morning, she heard him pacing wearily up and down his chamber.

Before he had been at Bayneham long, the countess, believing the effort too great for him, proposed that they should leave home for a time, and go to London. He consented, for all places were alike to the unhappy young husband, whose love and thoughts were with his lost wife.

In London he once more redoubled his efforts, but all were in vain; he went to Brynmar, but nothing had been seen or heard there of Lady Hilda. He had also several interviews with the detective and with Dr. Greyson, but it was all in vain. His wife seemed to have vanished from the face of the earth.

CHAPTER XXXVII

The change to London was a pleasant one; every part of the castle at Bayneham was full of associations and memories; here in London it was different. Lord Bayneham could enter a room without remembering the last time he saw his wife there. It was pleasant to see Bertie every day; his society was bracing. Active, energetic, persevering, Bertie did more toward the young earl's recovery than any one else.

"Cheer up, Claude!" he would say; "all mysteries are cleared in the end. Take my word for it, the time will come when you will discover Hilda, and understand all about her flight. Be patient and brave."

Neither Bertie or Barbara would comply with Lord Bayneham's wish and arrange anything for their marriage.

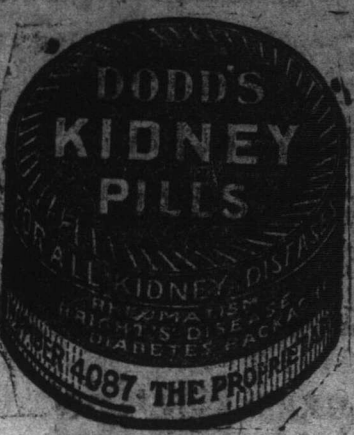

"We will wait until you are happier," said Barbara, in answer to her cousin's arguments; and he knew his two faithful friends would not rejoice while he was in sorrow.

One morning—it was the end of May, a morning when even to live and to breathe is a luxury—Lord Bayneham went out early. He strolled on toward Kensington Gardens, and attracted by the beauty and fragrance of the spring blossoms, he entered the gardens and walked leisurely up and down the paths. There was no fashionable crowd, it was too early for that; but there were many pretty, happy children with their attendants and nurses. Light footsteps tripped to and fro; musical voices filled the clear spring air; silvery laughter rippled on the breeze. It was pleasant to watch the little ones at their play.

Lord Bayneham sat down upon one of the garden benches; there was a sad, wistful smile upon his face as he gazed upon the children. There was a sharp pain in his heart. No child climbed his knee and called him father; no little hands clasped his, no tender little lips touched his face. He would never hear the music of children's voices in his lonely home. Sad, solitary and desolate he sat in the spring sunshine, wondering why Providence had dealt so hardly by him. The spring blossoms, the blue sky, the clear sweet air, the rich perfume, the music of the birds, the glory that reigned around him, smote him with pain. Life and love, beauty and happiness seemed to fall to every one's lot; he alone had no hope. Why, it was just such a morning as this when he had met his lost, loved wife in Brynmar woods.

Just then Lord Bayneham's attention was drawn to a most beautiful boy. He was seemingly three or four years old, with the charming face that the old masters used to give to angels—sweet, red, smiling lips, eyes of the darkest, deepest blue. The little head was covered with curling, beautiful golden tendrils—gleaming in the sunshine. He was a noble, princely boy, and the earl watched him with great admiration.

Fads and Fashions.

Striped challis is used for some very attractive sports frocks for spring. A great many novelty braids and must pin tucking is used on spring tullest.

Printed fabrics will undoubtedly have a tremendous vogue for spring costumes.

Flannel is a new cloth in vogue and is being used for cloth coats and suits.

Fashion Plates.

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Scrap Book of our Fashion Plates. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

A SMART STYLE FOR THE GROWING GIRL.

4205. The girl who likes something different will be pleased with the style lines of this model. The long waist and side closing are youthful and becoming. Plain suiting in brown tones, with hands of red broad cloth developed this style.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. A 12 year size requires 3 1/2 yards of 44 inch material. One could have this in blue homespun with pipings in henna or orange. Or in black panne velvet with pass stitching in green or white.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

A SIMPLE COMFORTABLE SCHOOL DRESS.

4205. This style has a very new and desirable sleeve, with extensions that form yoke sections over the shoulders. This is a good model for homespun, tricotine and serge. It is nice also for wash fabrics.

The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. A 10 year size requires 2 3/4 yards of 40 inch material. Collar of contrasting material requires 1/4 yard 32 inches wide.

Pattern mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

Dried Fish.

The situation has not improved in any way during the past fortnight. Lunenburg holders are becoming anxious to sell, and it is thought today that $6.00 delivered Halifax would be accepted. It is doubtful, however, if exporters would buy any considerable quantity at this figure, as the demand in the West Indies and elsewhere is very disappointing. The only bright spot in the outlook is the fact that the stocks of fish held at Halifax and Lunenburg are if anything lower than usual at this time of the year.

One of the chief difficulties in marketing a large quantity of Lunenburg fish is the fact that it has not been possible to sell with any profit in Havana, which market during the past two years has taken a considerable portion of the Lunenburg catch. Unfortunately Norwegian exporters have this year been cutting prices and selling on a basis with which Nova Scotia exporters could not compete. If the Lunenburg fishermen accept lower prices, there is a possibility of again shipping considerable quantities of their fish to the Havana market, but until they do, it is hard to see how that market can be opened up again. The total quantity of Lunenburg fish in sight is very much in excess of the requirements of the other West India markets, which are still more or less demoralized, owing to the continued consignments from Newfoundland.

The stocks on hand in Newfoundland on the first of January were estimated at four hundred thousand quintals, which would be considered a full supply under normal conditions. This quantity remains, notwithstanding very heavy shipments during the last three months of 1922. No definite figures have been received respecting the 1922 catch in Newfoundland, but it is thought that the amount will be fully one million three hundred thousand (1,300,000) quintals, or about 100,000 tons average.

The conditions in Europe have not improved. If anything they have grown worse. Therefore, so far as exporters at present are concerned, all are marking time.—Maritime Merchant.

QUIT TOBACCO

So easy to drop. Cigarette, Cigar, or Chewing habit.

No-To-Bac has helped thousands to break the costly, nerve-shattering tobacco habit. Whenever you have a longing for a smoke or chew, just place a harmless No-To-Bac tablet in your mouth instead. All desire stops. Shortly the habit is completely broken, and you are better off mentally, physically, financially. It's so easy, so simple. Get a box of No-To-Bac and if it doesn't release you from all craving for tobacco in any form, your druggist will refund your money without question.

HYMN OF HATE.

In my youth I used to hate with the fervor of a Hun; for revenge I'd grimly wait on the luckless hatered one; any man who wrought me harm I declared a false alarm and I'd rather lose an arm than forget the ill he'd done.

Now I bend beneath the weight of some sixty-seven years; all such bitter words as hate rudely jar upon my ears; age has many penalties, falling hair and aching knees, but the truth an old man sees, it is written down in tears. If a voter does me wrong I forget it in a day; though the memory be strong, I must shoe the thing away; for I'd rather think of pies, or of something else I prize, than to sit and hate the guys who have robbed me of my hay. When my soul is full of peace life's the thing of my desire; I can sit with aunt and niece, happy as a house afire; all the world seems good and fair, harmony is in the air, there's no baseness anywhere, and I gaily whang my lyre. But if hatred's in my heart, balmy peace must pull its freight, for these two must dwell apart, precious peace and horrid hate; and my life, so bright before, suddenly becomes a bore; nothing pleases any more till my evil thoughts abate. Anything opposed to peace is a thing we should avoid; when we've that our troubles cease, it's a blessing unalloyed; peace, which soothes our little lives, goes away when hate arrives; peace is dead if hate survives; therefore hate should be destroyed.

Fads and Fashions.

Two rows of puffings are used on the skirt of a black taffeta frock for a young girl.

Imported cashmeres are being shown for skirts to be worn at Southern resorts.

Touchees of almond green or vivid red lighten the somber effect of the black frock.

The designs on printed silks and in embroideries show a decidedly Oriental influence.

Board of Trade Report.

The Council of the Newfoundland Board of Trade in making its fourteenth Annual Report to the general organization, has embodied in that report a comprehensive and accurate review of conditions as they are. And these conditions are discussed broadly and without any of the parochial querulousness, usually observable in similar circumstances. That's as it should be. The personnel of the Newfoundland Board of Trade comprises representatives of all professions, ranks and callings, in city and outport, and its pronouncements on local matters of trade and commerce should be made with due regard to the importance of such subjects no less than to the position which the organization occupies in the community. Dealing with general financial conditions at home and abroad the opening paragraphs of the Report, under review, bases the cause of depression in Europe upon the non-settlement of the German indemnity question. Numerous conferences have discussed this, but so far no remedy has been found to be worthy of application, nor one which all the Allied countries can agree to adopt. At the moment with France in occupation of German coal mines, which she has seized by armed force; with the Lausanne Conference on Near East questions broken up in confusion, and the Turk swagging around with a chip on his shoulder, and defying the powers to knock it off, there appears to be little hope of finding a solution of the difficulties besetting the whole world, and therefore the financial condition of Europe is liable to show less and less sign of improvement, with war looming once more on the horizon. United States, the introduction to the Report blames for a great deal, if not all, this confusion of counsel, and abortive discussions, because the Great Republic, acted the part of an international Shylock and refused to accept settlement of war debts due from other countries at any rate less than one hundred cents to the dollar. Neither did United States share in the deliberations of the Allies at the various conferences in which they engaged in an endeavour to effect an adjustment of liabilities, which would bear equally on all. All U.S. did was to detail an Observer for each of these conferences, who each reported the proceedings and transactions to his departmental head. Thus with European affairs in such a chaotic state, the breakdown of the Lausanne Conference becomes a tragedy, for the grim spectre of war again erects its grisly head, and it may take the combined diplomacy of all the nations seeking peace to down it. Notwithstanding all that has been said in certain quarters to the contrary, and by way of ridicule, the Board of Trade Report for 1922 is most interesting and illuminating, and from day to day, as occasion warrants, it will be referred to in this column.

U. F. Movement.

GAINING GROUND IN DISTRICTS. The following messages were received to-day by Capt. Jesse Winsor, Chairman. They show that the object of the movement is being freely endorsed by the people of every district visited. That this sentiment will spread until an united public is prepared to take specific action for acquiescence to its demands is foreshadowed by the events now occurring.

FRESHWATER, B.D.V., To-day. Capt. Jesse Winsor. St. John's. Held meeting last night. Resolutions passed unanimously and carried, everybody signing the petitions. ROBERTS and BRAGG.

SALVAGE, To-day. Capt. Jesse Winsor. Chairman United Fishermen. Delegates of United Fishermen held a very enthusiastic meeting last night. Resolutions adopted and unanimously signed. On behalf of the Committee. JAMES MOSS, Chairman.

Supreme Court.

(Before Chief Justice.) King vs. Nelson Daley. When the hearing of the manslaughter charge preferred against Nelson Daley was resumed yesterday afternoon, Mr. Barnes was cross-examined by Higgins, K.C., in reference to the position of the victims as he saw them after the accident. He admitted that he was in error. When in his examination by Mr. Emerson for the Crown, he stated the horse was on the south side of the road. He meant to have said on the North side of the road. Thomas Hughes was called to the stand and examined. Charles Collett, the next witness, deposed to passing Neville's horse going along Cornwall Avenue as he was coming citywards. He said the truck passed fairly close to him.

Chief Justice Addresses Jury.—At 12.30 his Lordship the Chief Justice began his summing up. Describing first the different classes of manslaughter, he pointed out the common law duty and the statutory duty. In the case of the latter there were regulations that governed the speed of motor cars. His Lordship drew the attention of the jury to the contrary as to the rule of the road and he did not think they could determine the case by a consideration of the question. Referring again to the proof of negligence, he said the jury was not to trouble about evidence of negligence on the part of Neville. "There was no question of that before the jury." The question before them was if there was negligence on the part of the accused. His Lordship said at some length reviewed the evidence of the witnesses dealing principally with Redmond, Nugent, House and the accused. At one o'clock his Lordship intimated that when the hearing was resumed after recess he would read the evidence as given by Daley, after which the jury would retire to consider the verdict.

McMurdo's Store News. FRIDAY, Jan. 26. McMurdo's Candymen's Store has been struck on the Newfoundland coast for a number of years now, and its merit is pretty well known as a stimulating application for the growth of the hair; but perhaps it is not so well known that Candymen's is also an excellent dressing and preservative to the hair; but many people have found it so by actual proof. Two sizes 50 and 60c. a bottle. Just arrived by S.S. Rosalind a fine lot of fresh Candy (Moir's) for your Candy Counter. Drop in and see for yourself.

Nail Factory Declares Dividend. BOARD OF DIRECTORS ELECTED. The annual meeting of the shareholders of the St. John's Nail Manufacturing Company, Ltd., was held at the Company's office yesterday afternoon. The report of the past year was read and adopted, and the same showed that 1922 had been a most successful year, a dividend of 10 per cent. having been declared. The following Board of Directors was elected for 1923:— President—Hon. R. K. Bishop. Vice-Pres.—F. W. Angel, Esq. Secretary—Geo. Knowling, Jr., Esq. Messrs. C. P. Ayre, A. W. O'Reilly, Hon. S. J. Foote.

The Mission. AT ST. THOMAS'S CHURCH TO-NIGHT. At 7.30 the Rector will conduct the Service of Preparation and speak on the third of the series of Mission topics: "What does Jesus Christ mean to me?" As it is doubtful if Bishop Mowll will be here on Sunday it is expected that the first of his Mission Services will be on Monday evening next.

Coastal Boats. REID'S. Kyle left Port aux Basques for North Sydney 8.45 a.m. to-day. Glouce is awaiting arrival of morning train at Argenta. Argyle will be leaving Argenta for Bay route to-morrow. GOVERNMENT. S.S. Portia arrived at Burn 6.45 a.m. to-day. ACKNOWLEDGMENT.—Mrs. Goring begs to acknowledge with many thanks the following contributions to the C. of E. Orphanage Christmas Fund:—Botwood, per Rev. M. K. Gardner, $10.00; Bishop Falls, per Rev. M. K. Gardner, $5.00.

"The Deacon."

LARGE ATTENDANCE DELIGHTED WITH LOCAL PRODUCTION. The attendance last evening at the second performance of "The Deacon" surpassed all records in the history of theatricals at Holy Cross. The players were, if possible, more at ease than on the previous night, and their portrayal of the different parts well merited the appreciation expressed by the audience in continued applause. The play is one of those delightful southern comedy-dramas somewhat similar to the "Old Homestead." The scenery (the handiwork of Mr. Dan Carroll) is particularly attractive. One of the features of the entertainment is the numerous and lightning-like changes of scene during the acts, which under the expert management of Mr. Wm. Cousins, are carried out perfectly. The play will be repeated to-night, and on to-morrow afternoon there will be a matinee for the children. We take this opportunity to extend to Mr. Percie Jardine and his talented troupe our congratulations on their splendid showing.

"The Guardian."

AGAIN TO THE FORE. The "Guardian," Bay Roberts, again resumes its position in local newspapers, and this bright little weekly published at the cable city of Conception Bay, will help in many ways to improve conditions as they are and as they may be. We extend a hearty welcome to The Guardian, and trust that Brother Russell will be able to long maintain the journalistic excellence of the first issue of Volume XII. This is what the publisher says in his announcement: "With this issue, The Guardian makes its bow to its old and new readers for the first time since its suspension in 1920. We need not refer to its past history; it speaks for itself. In the future we hope to send out from week to week a journal that The Guardian of every age.

The printing will be better because we have installed an up-to-date printing press and a typesetting machine. Its columns will be full of local and foreign items of news and articles of current interest, and other special features. "It will be independent in action and will endeavor to treat every public question on its merits and in an unprejudiced manner, having as its aim and object the interests of this section of Newfoundland in particular as well as the country at large. "We will welcome any items of news from our readers anywhere in Newfoundland, the United States, Canada or elsewhere."

The Mission. AT ST. THOMAS'S CHURCH TO-NIGHT. At 7.30 the Rector will conduct the Service of Preparation and speak on the third of the series of Mission topics: "What does Jesus Christ mean to me?" Llewellyn Club. ENJOYABLE CONCERT AND SMOKE. At last night's concert and smoker which began at 8.30 in the rooms of the above club, a very enjoyable evening was experienced. The Rector with suitable language opened the concert, and a couple of rousing songs were sung by all present from the sheets provided.

Mr. H. W. Stirling, LL.M., sang to his own accompaniment—"Come to the Fair" and "Friend of Mine" to the great delight of the audience. Rev. E. C. Barr further delighted the audience by singing "Absent" and "The Little Midship-mite." Mr. Llewellyn Cooley in his inimitable manner recited "Keep a going" and "Hello." Mr. Hammond sang "Glorious Devon" and "The Veteran's Song." Mr. Hammond's voice is strong and clear, and it is always a pleasure to listen to him.

At 9 o'clock the feature of the evening began. Mr. C. E. Hunt addressed the gathering upon his "Impressions Abroad," tracing his trip from the 18th of May 1922, when he left this city on the Rosalind until his return home again. Mr. Hunt is an interesting and fluent speaker, with a descriptive power that almost anyone might envy. He gave an educative resume of the history of the cities along his line of travel, and a very descriptive and comprehensive outline of the beautiful scenery, and also of their shortcomings.

So clear was Mr. Hunt's description that it required but little imagination to see the various places in our mind's eye, as he took us through them—Halifax, St. John, Boston, Chicago, Kansas City, Emporia, Colorado Springs, through the great desert on the Santa Fe Railway to Los Angeles, California, Santiago and Toxiana in Mexico. Returning by way of San Francisco which he reached just at the time 200,000 shriners were visiting there. What a sight that was to see these thousands of men in regalia marching through the city. Continuing the journey to Victoria in British Columbia crossing to Vancouver, crossing the Rockies visiting Lake Louise on the way, then on to Banff, Calgary, Moosejaw, Winnipeg, Toronto, Montreal, Sydney and home.

For nearly an hour Mr. Hunt held the close attention of his audience, and he could have held it for another hour. In summing up the points in favour of the various cities Mr. Hunt said he had come to the conclusion that "no city and no one place had a mortgage on happiness," but one of the happiest days of his life was when he returned to his native city.

Rev. G. D. Lightbourn proposed a hearty vote of thanks to the speaker, and was seconded by Mr. L. Colley. The vote was carried with very hearty applause. Light refreshments were then served by lady friends of the club, and thoroughly enjoyed by all. The thanks of the members are hereby tendered the caterers for their welcome contribution to a very pleasant evening.

Stormy on West Coast. KYLE DUE AT NORTH SYDNEY THIS EVENING. S. S. Kyle arrived at Port aux Basques at 7.10 last night, and was detained there owing to a southeast gale which was raging all over the West Coast. The storm did not abate until this morning, when the ship left for North Sydney at 8.45 o'clock. The Kyle will come direct to St. John's via Port aux Basques on her next trip.

Spencer College Staff. ENTERTAIN LADIES OF SPENCER CLUB. The staff, prefects and senior pupils of Spencer College entertained the ladies of Spencer Club last Tuesday evening in the auditorium of Spencer College. This was done as an appreciation and esteem of the work done for the institution by the ladies of the Spencer Club whose latest gift to the school is 250 chairs for the main hall, their previous gifts being gymnastic apparatus and desks. Amongst those present were Rev. Canon Bolt, Revs. H. Leslie Pike and J. Brinton, Miss Mary Cherrington and P. G. Butler, Esq., Principal of Springdale Street School, Miss Cherrington Principal of the School, received the guests. Miss Annand of the staff, was in charge of the catering committee. The evening was pleasantly spent in various competitions for which prizes were awarded: (1) Advertising; (2) Candle Lighting; (3) Drug Judging and (5) Musical. The guests all filled in their papers and the winners were Miss Sybil Earle, Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Dowden, Mrs. Herbert Sterling, Miss Joyner, Misses White and Missa Worcester, and P. G. Butler, Esq. Refreshments were daintily served. The outstanding feature of the evening was that of the Musical Competition—"A Musical Tale" composed by Miss Cherrington's mother who was present, and presided at the piano. The tale was read by the College Principal with missing words, these blanks in the story being supplied by songs, marches, etc., played on the piano, and the guests filled in on their papers the words or names of the music as played by the author, Mrs. Mary Cherrington. The entertainment was quite novel and unique, being an intellectual and social form of spending a pleasant evening. The affair closed at 11 p.m. Rev. Canon Bolt conveyed a vote of thanks to the hosts on behalf of Spencer Club and the guests present, who were very pleased at having spent a jolly evening with the "Spectaculars at Home."

Personal. Mr. N. Andrews, Superintendent Street Railway, who has been confined to his room, suffering from a heavy cold, for the past few days, is rapidly improving, and will be out shortly. Mr. J. R. Bennett, M.H.A., who has been on a short visit to New York, returned by the Rosalind yesterday. Mr. Edgar Bowring who was on a business trip to New York, returned by the Rosalind.

TEMPERATURE.—The thermometer at the Valley Nurseries last night registered 3 below zero, while this morning there was a big rise, the mercury only recording six degrees of frost.

Obituary. CAPT. RICHARD DRAKE. To-day we regret to record the passing of Capt. Richard Drake, who for many years was so well and favorably known to a large number of people along the East and South Coasts in connection with the public coastal service of the country. Capt. Drake was born near Trinity in May, 1845, and spent most of his boyhood days at Catalina, where for several years he was successfully engaged in the fisheries. While still a young man he entered the Bowring coastal service, as mate with his brother-in-law, Capt. George Manuel, on the S. S. Plover. When the Harvey Coastal Co. took over the work Capt. Drake was appointed chief officer of S. S. Conscript, afterwards re-named Virginia Lake, and was subsequently promoted master of S. S. Windsor Lake and Grand Lakes, respectively. Just previous to the expiration of the Harvey coastal contract he transferred his services to the Reid Nfd. Co. and was placed in charge of S. S. Gloucester, plying between Placentia and Port aux Basques. It was on this route especially that Capt. Drake established a record for regularity of service, which has scarcely, if ever, been equalled on our coasts. The manner in which the good ship Gloucester made her ports of call, despite fog and adverse weather, with almost schedule regularity week after week, was a marvel both to the business men along the coast and to the travelling public generally. From the Gloucester he was again promoted to S. S. Bruce, running between Port aux Basques and North Sydney and after the loss of this ship on the Cape Breton coast he succeeded Capt. Delaney as ships' husband for the Reid Nfd. Co. Shortly after receiving this appointment, however, he had the misfortune to break his leg, which resulted in an amputation. Being a man of robust constitution, strong will and iron nerve he was enabled to endure patiently and resolutely the intense suffering and terrible inconvenience this entailed. He leaves one son, John Drake, residing at Grate City, Vermont, and a daughter, Miss Maria Drake, who has so faithfully and lovingly cared for her beloved father since the death of Mrs. Drake several years ago. To them the sympathy of their many friends is extended in their sorrow and bereavement. The late Capt. Drake was one of the oldest Master Mariners in the country, being a member of Lodge Tasker for over 50 years. As a seaman he was a master mariner of the best type, always genial and kind, and while faithful in the discharge of his duties he was ever ready to oblige and help those needing his assistance. As some have already remarked, for him "there was no moaning of the bar when he put out to sea."

Floral Tributes to the Departed. Nothing so nice as Flowers in time of sorrow. We can supply wreaths and crosses on short notice, and guarantee satisfaction. We will endeavour to meet the humblest purse. "Say it with Flowers." VALLEY NURSERIES. Taster Brothers.

BOEN. On Jan. 24th, a daughter, to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lush, 104 Duckworth St. On the 19th inst., a son to Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Walsh, Allendale Road.

DIED. Passed peacefully away on the 25th inst., at 3.30 p.m., Captain Richard Drake, aged 78 years. The funeral will take place from his late residence, 58 LeMarchant Road, on Sunday afternoon at 2.30. Friends and acquaintances will please attend without further notice. No flowers.

NOTE OF THANKS.—Mr. Frank Wheeler begs to thank Drs. Keegan and Fox, Orderly O'Reilly, Sister O'Brien and Nurses for their kindness and good attention while at the General Hospital; and also all kind friends who visited him during his stay there.—adv.

IN LOVING MEMORY of Allan, darling son of Albert and Ella Bailey. "Just a year ago, my darling, there are none who can believe How your father and your mother Miss you in all your little ways; But your Heavenly Father called you To meet Him in heaven above, There to join the happy angels In the home where all is love."

Richard Drake, who for many years was so well and favorably known to a large number of people along the East and South Coasts in connection with the public coastal service of the country. Capt. Drake was born near Trinity in May, 1845, and spent most of his boyhood days at Catalina, where for several years he was successfully engaged in the fisheries. While still a young man he entered the Bowring coastal service, as mate with his brother-in-law, Capt. George Manuel, on the S. S. Plover. When the Harvey Coastal Co. took over the work Capt. Drake was appointed chief officer of S. S. Conscript, afterwards re-named Virginia Lake, and was subsequently promoted master of S. S. Windsor Lake and Grand Lakes, respectively. Just previous to the expiration of the Harvey coastal contract he transferred his services to the Reid Nfd. Co. and was placed in charge of S. S. Gloucester, plying between Placentia and Port aux Basques. It was on this route especially that Capt. Drake established a record for regularity of service, which has scarcely, if ever, been equalled on our coasts. The manner in which the good ship Gloucester made her ports of call, despite fog and adverse weather, with almost schedule regularity week after week, was a marvel both to the business men along the coast and to the travelling public generally. From the Gloucester he was again promoted to S. S. Bruce, running between Port aux Basques and North Sydney and after the loss of this ship on the Cape Breton coast he succeeded Capt. Delaney as ships' husband for the Reid Nfd. Co. Shortly after receiving this appointment, however, he had the misfortune to break his leg, which resulted in an amputation. Being a man of robust constitution, strong will and iron nerve he was enabled to endure patiently and resolutely the intense suffering and terrible inconvenience this entailed. He leaves one son, John Drake, residing at Grate City, Vermont, and a daughter, Miss Maria Drake, who has so faithfully and lovingly cared for her beloved father since the death of Mrs. Drake several years ago. To them the sympathy of their many friends is extended in their sorrow and bereavement. The late Capt. Drake was one of the oldest Master Mariners in the country, being a member of Lodge Tasker for over 50 years. As a seaman he was a master mariner of the best type, always genial and kind, and while faithful in the discharge of his duties he was ever ready to oblige and help those needing his assistance. As some have already remarked, for him "there was no moaning of the bar when he put out to sea."

McMurdo's Store News. FRIDAY, Jan. 26. McMurdo's Candymen's Store has been struck on the Newfoundland coast for a number of years now, and its merit is pretty well known as a stimulating application for the growth of the hair; but perhaps it is not so well known that Candymen's is also an excellent dressing and preservative to the hair; but many people have found it so by actual proof. Two sizes 50 and 60c. a bottle. Just arrived by S.S. Rosalind a fine lot of fresh Candy (Moir's) for your Candy Counter. Drop in and see for yourself.

WEEKLY DEBATE.

Last night's meeting of the M.C.L.I. following resolution was demanded by the Government by the Council. The set speakers were: Messrs. Wm. White, Chas. Moore for the affirmative, and Messrs. A. Soper, G. and R. Headler (a substitute) for the negative.
 The affirmative contended that the form of Government is the best men available work—Financial experts, Sanitary experts, Police and Fire experts, would give their time to the of the city instead of a way of referendum. The reof the Commission did wrong would recall him. In short Commission system would bring the best men and therefore the to run the city.

 The negative contended that the an appointed Commission was to British ideas. It was a since this position was reversed, many of our people going to the in the knowledge of the former ruling, say they have a position waiting them. This happened in the case of men bound to Ford City, the ma-

Harbor Grace Notes.

Mr. R. K. Kennedy, Jr., formerly of the Western Union Cable Co., Heart's Content, left town on Thursday last, en route for New York, where he will in future be stationed. His many friends wish him success in his new surroundings.

The first Harbor Grace Troop of Boy Scouts are holding a Social in the S.O.E. Hall on Wednesday next, their third anniversary. This movement has proven of great worth to the boys since its organization. It is still going strong, and the Scouts have taken over as a drill hall the building on Bannerman Street, which was formerly the High School, but more recently used as a garage. This building will be put in order and the Scouts will take possession of it then.

Mr. G. H. Badcock of the Marine and Fisheries Department, St. John's, was in town last week in connection with the Harbor Grace Boat and Shoe Mfg. Co., and returned to the city Friday morning.

Mr. C. Clayton of McCarter and Clayton, St. John's, is in town on a visit in connection with the refrigerating plant at the Munn Oil Factory.

The death of Mrs. E. J. Cole, daughter of the late Mrs. Levi Simmons, of this town, occurred at St. John's on Friday last. Mrs. Cole had been in poor health for some time, but that the end would come so soon was very much unexpected by her family, and friends. She was taken ill suddenly during dinner hour on Friday, and passed peacefully away a few hours afterwards. She is survived by a husband, one sister, Mrs. L. Poley, Lisbon, Falls, U.S.A., a brother, Mr. Ernest Simmons, of this town; two sons, Wm. A. Pike, Ford City, Penn., U.S.A.; Ernie Cole at home; one daughter, Beatrice Pike, at home; also one step-son Nimshi Cole, Port Union, and one step-daughter, Susie Cole at home. Funeral took place on Monday at St. John's from 46 Gilbert Street, interment being made in the General Protestant Cemetery. To the sorrowing family we offer condolence.

Mr. and Mrs. John LeDrew spent an enjoyable three weeks visit at St. John's and returned home again last week.

The Thomson Leather Company's Tannery which had been closed down, will now resume operations in full swing again. This is indeed very gratifying for our townspeople to note, and we trust that the company will meet with success in abundance. Local industries, such as this, tend to keep the "pot boiling," and we look into 1923 with the confidence that conditions in the old town will be on the upward trend.

The annual meeting of shareholders of the Marine Railway Docks Co., Ltd., was held in the registered office (premises of Mr. E. Simmons) this afternoon.

Miss Elizabeth Sheppard, who had been home on a month's vacation, returned to St. John's on Wednesday to resume her duties as nurse at the General Hospital.

The death of Mrs. Eliza Hunt occurred on Monday after a long illness. Funeral takes place from the residence of Mr. T. J. Dunne (with whom she had lived) LeMarchant Street, tomorrow, Wednesday. Interment being at the R. C. Cemetery. To the bereaved we tender sympathy.—R.I.P.

At the present moment of writing we have a bit of a snow storm with it. It is good to see that this month has brought so few of them. COR.

HR. Grace, Jan. 23rd. 1923.

Dye Skirt, Coat Draperies with Diamond Dyes

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple that any woman can dye or tint faded, shabby skirts, dresses, waists, coats, sweaters, stockings, hangings, draperies, everything like new. Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—then perfect home dyeing is guaranteed, even if you have never dyed before. Tell your druggist whether the material you wish to dye is wool or silk, or whatever it is, linen, cotton, or mixed goods. Diamond Dyes never streak, spot, fade, or run.

Fads and Fashions.

The latest corset novelty is of sheer white organdie embroidered with pink roses.
 A smart helmet-shaped hat of Bangkok straw is worn with Georgette in varied hues.
 Among the newest pajamas and two piece sets are those of silk beautifully hand painted.
 The momentary fad in car drops is the tassel of small stones topped with one large jewel.

Burns' Night.

164th ANNIVERSARY OF THE POET'S BIRTH CELEBRATED BY ST. ANDREW'S CLUB.

St. John's Scotsmen, by birth and hereditarily, have ever rejoiced in honoring the immortal memory of Old Scotland's poet. Last night's celebration was admittedly the most successful of the long series. The presence of his Excellency Sir William Allardice, Lady and Miss Allardice lent grace and added pleasure to an occasion always pleasurable. The Governor's eulogy was preceded by a characteristically Scots greeting which was rapturously received by the "brithers at" whilst the absence of the President of St. Andrew's Society, Mr. H. D. Reid was much regretted. Mr. R. G. Ross the Vice-President performed the official duties to the entire satisfaction of the two hundred guests. Previous to the gathering a greeting had been sent to many lands, and many brithers Scots awa'.

On Robb's Night, in morn' a toon, Our brithers Scots are gatherin' An' ilka clan, an' ilka clan Their messages are sendin' And sae from Terra Nova's lae, Its snaw-clad hills an' cairns, Our greetin's gang frae loyal hearts, For "We're a' John Tamson's bairns."

Some responses already received were read, amongst them one from Dr. Anderson of Heart's Content:—"Regret unable to present. Trust you will have an enjoyable re-union." Mr. A. K. Lumsden, veteran of many a Burns' Night and Mr. McLeod wireless from the Digby:—"Greetings Brother Scots."

President Reid from Montreal sent the following message:—"Deeply regret not being present at our Burns celebration. Understand his Excellency delivering the address which will be a great and lasting honour to our Society. You will hear the most eloquent oration on Burns ever delivered before our Society, therefore be sure and give Sir Wm. Allardice a right royal Scottish reception on this rare occasion. Wishing the celebration great success."

From St. John, N.B., came a reply in kind

"Jock Tamson's bairns the world o'er Are no forgettin' Robin, Frae snaw clad hills frae sunny braes Ilk-true Scot heart is throbbin', Lang Syne the gossip had a keek Intae his loof, and noddin', Said "This why chief will be no cuf They'll a' be brood o' Robin." A poem "written for Burns' Night by Terra Nova was read, though the author shrouded his name in anonymity. It will be found in another column.

Bell Island telephoned greetings, and the Scotsmen there sang "Auld Lang Syne," whose ever timely and inspiring notes were heard distinctly in the Club. In his opening remarks the chairman (R. G. Ross, Vice-President) in welcoming his Excellency to Newfoundland and to the rooms of St. Andrew's Society as a "brither Scot," referred to the prominent part taken by Scotsmen in the administrative and commercial life of Newfoundland in the past. Incidentally he mentioned that the first Governor of the colony was Sir David Kirk, a guid Scot, who was appointed in 1628. The first Collector of Customs, Alexander Dunn was also a Scotchman (1765) and he and the Earl of Galway started the first copper mine at Petty Hr. The first record of the formation of a Scottish Society was in 1806, when the late Dr. Wm. Carson founded the Sons of St. Andrew. This was the same year our sister society, the one formed by James McBairne, in 1837 B.E.S. was formed. In 1837 St. Andrew's Society was re-organized by Jas. Ferguson, who was appointed President. In 1838 we have the record of the first Burns' Night celebration, held on 25th January. The dinner started at 6 o'clock in the evening, but there is no record as to when it ended. The principal toast of the evening was "The Never Dying Memory of Robert Burns." Before concluding his remarks, the chairman said he had a most pleasing duty to perform. To-night, he said, the Society was the recipient of a valuable presentation in the shape of one of the three sets of bagpipes which had been used to the relief of Lucknow. These historical relics of one of the most dramatic events in the history of the British Army would ever occupy a prominent place in the Society's rooms, and to the donor, Hon. Dr. Campbell, the warmest thanks of the Society were hereby tendered. (The history of these valuable pipes has already been published in the Evening Telegram. Then followed the Address—Eulogy on Burns—H.E. the Governor. Introduction o' th' Haggis an' Heid to the Skirlin' o' the Bagpipes. The main feature of the programme was his Excellency's panegyric of Scotland's darling son. He spoke in part as follows:—

ADDRESS BY HIS EXCELLENCY, SIR W. L. ALLARDICE. To-night we celebrate the 164th anniversary of the birth in an 'auld clay biggin' of Scotia's greatest bard 'Bobbie Burns.' You will doubtless recollect having read that a few days after his birth the gable of the cottage was blown in and the mother and her bairn were removed to a neighbour's cottage until their own was repaired. "Bobbie" himself remarked afterwards that it was not perhaps surprising that with such an introduction to life he should be the victim of stormy passions.

At the time that Burns was born his father cultivated some seven acres of ground as a nursery garden near the Brig o' Doon. His appreciation of his father is clearly evident in this charming piece "The Cotter's Saturday Night" from which I take the following:—

"At length his lonely cot appears in view, Beneath the shelter of an aged tree; Th' expectation was things, toddlin' stacher through, To meet their dad, wi' fichterin' noise an' glee. His wee bit ingle blinkin' bonnily, His clean heart-stane, his thriftie wife's smile, The hiping infant prattling on his knee, Does a' his weary carking cares beguile. An' makes him quite forget his labour an' his toil."

As "Bobbie" grew up it was evident that he had an untamable voice, while his ear was so dull he could barely tell one tune from the other. At fifteen, following the old Scottish custom, he was coupled with a young woman as partner in the labour of the harvest. She is responsible for having started him on love and poetry. Here is one verse:—

"She dresses aye sae clean and neat Bath decent and genteel And then there's something in her gait Gars you dress look weel."

Burns admits that he composed this in a wild enthusiasm of passion. Looking back now one may perhaps be permitted to say that "Bobbie" had more than the usual share of love affairs, and it is difficult to say whether it was his chief amusement of his most serious business. Be that as it may, it produced that beautiful ode to "Mary Morison" from which I will quote two verses:—

"Yestreen, when to the trembling string, The dance gae thro' the lighted ho', To thee I sang, my heart it knew the sound, I sat, but neither heard nor saw; Tho' 'tis this fair, and that was brow, And you the toast of all the town, I sigh'd, and said, among them a', 'Ye are na Mary Morison.'"

"O Mary canst thou wreck thy peace Who for thy sake wad gladly die? Or canst thou break that heart of his Whose only fault is loving thee? If love for love thou wilt no give, At least be pity to me shown; A thought ungentle canna be, The thought o' Mary Morison."

Burns being a Scot was naturally a theologian and as it happened quarrelled with the Kirk. The methods of the Kirk 150 years ago were possibly just a wee bit severe. I remember when I was a boy to have been told by my granduncle who was a "Meenster" "Ye meaner whate'er on the Sabbath." He likewise forbade us from walking outside the garden gates on the Lord's Day, except to Kirk. Since then we may perhaps have gone to the other extreme as Burns so cleverly depicts in the himitable "Tam o' Shanter":—

"But pleasures are like poppies spread, You seize the flower, its bloom is shed; Or like the snowfall in the river, A moment white—then melts for ever."

In 1788 at the age of 29 he married and in the following year he wrote one of his finest ballads, entitled "To Mary in Heaven," from which the following is taken:—

"That sacred hour can I forget? Can I forget the hallow'd grove Where by the winding Ayr we met, To live one day of parting love? Eternity will not efface Those records dear of transports past; Thy image at our last embrace, Ah! little thought we 'twas our last."

Chairman's Remarks. Song—"The Thistle"—Mr. A. Stansfield. Duet—"When ye sang awa' Jamie"—Mrs. C. F. Garland and Mr. A. Lawrence. Song—Selected—Miss Mitchell. Double Quartette—"There was a lad"—St. Andrew's Mixed Octette. Comic Song—Mister John McKay—W. Mawer, Jr. Song—"Star o' Rabble Burns"—Miss Glendinning. Scotch Reading—Tam McPhee's Haggis—Mr. A. E. Holmes. Song—"Hame o' Mine"—Miss Calvert.

During his all too brief life of 37 years he composed some 300 songs, of which 40 represent him at his best. Our deepest sympathy goes out to him when we remember that in addition to his ill-health he was never free from what he himself termed "the crushing grip of poverty," which is frequently fatal to the worth and purity of the noblest souls. Thus handicapped is it not astonishing that he should have left us such a heritage of varied verse, beauty, and wisdom? I feel confident I understand your feelings when I say that every son, descendant, and connection of that "Land o' bryen heath an' sluggy wood" and every one with a drop of Scotch blood in his veins, in whatsoever land he lives, whether he is rich or whether he is poor, whether he has a pun or a bawbee in his pouch, is proud, and rightly so, of our incomparable National Poet, Bobbie Burns.

W.V.A. Annual Meeting

President's Address and Report of Secretary.

The W.V.A. annual meeting was held on Tuesday night in the Grand Hall. The attendance was very large in spite of the prevailing fog. At 8.30 p.m. the President, Mr. A. B. Baird called the meeting to order and after the silence in which departed comrades had been remembered, the business of the evening was proceeded with. Cable greetings were read from friends, also letters of appreciation for work done by the Association. The question of combining membership fees and the magnum was eventually decided. It was eventually decided that the membership fee and subscription cost of same to be $1.50. The payment of membership fees was separately to remain as before. A resume of the work done by the W.V.A. during the year was given by the Secretary, Mr. N. A. MacLeod. The Association and follow-up work was mentioned and it was shown that there was in force that would entitle only bona fide cases would be considered by the Committee. The following were read from the representative on the Committee of the B.E.S.L.L. with regard to sending a telegram to the Convention which is held in London on July 14th. The telegram and letter was also sent. Earl Haig with reference to the sending of a track team for the English Stadium during July. No news was reached on these matters as they were left for the executive to deal with. The announcement of Captain Simpson, Hon. Orator Secretary of the B.E.S.L.L. at the meeting of this organization was one of the best of its kind published in the paper was received with much interest. The election of officers for the year took place. President referred to the pending resignation of Vice-President Kearley. A fitting tribute to his activities on behalf of the Association. The Higgin, Mitchell & Co. The greater part of the activities of the Association during the past year are dealt with in the report of the Dominion Secretary. I, however, will services so generously rendered. Comrade Higgin, Past President, was then called upon to conduct the election of officers which resulted as follows:—

 Dominion President—Capt. A. B. Baird, re-elected.
 Dominion Vice-President—Herbert Crocker, R.N.R., elected.
 Dominion 2nd Vice-President—Capt. W. J. Long, elected.
 Dominion Secy-Treas.—Harold Mitchell, re-elected.
 Dominion Executive Officers—Comrades C. F. Garland, N. A. MacLeod, H. R. Raynes, Capt. D. R. Thistle, W. Dawe, R.N.R., J. Taylor, S. Dewling, Capt. J. H. Snow, W. A. Grace, J. A. Burrige, R. Volsey, Eric Robertson, Ernest Noseworthy, V. Walsh and J. Deoley.

The newly elected officers were then called to assume their respective offices and reaffirmed their intention of doing the best possible in the interests of the Association during their term of office.
 Votes of thanks were passed to the following for gratuitous help given during the past year:—Lieut. Colonel T. Nangle, (C.F.) D. G. R. & E., High Commissioner, London; Mrs. W. B. Fraser and Poppy Day Aldes, Ladies' Auxiliary and the Press. The work of the Dominion Secretary was also eulogized and a hearty ovation was given him.

PRESIDENTIAL ADDRESS.

St. John's, Nfld.,
 January 15, 1923.
 You did me a great honour in February last when you elected me to be your President, and I fully appreciated the trust you placed in me by honouring me thus. During my term of office I have always tried as best I could to justify your confidence in some degree by forwarding the aims of the Association, firmly believing that it was a factor of great good for the ex-service men and their dependants. During the past year crises have arisen on many occasions, upon which I, in conjunction with my Executive Officers, have been called upon to make decisions. I took the action which I thought best and must be judged by the result.
 The greater part of the activities of the Association during the past year are dealt with in the report of the Dominion Secretary. I, however, will deal with certain phases of work not contained therein.

PENSIONS.

The scale of Newfoundland pensions equivalent to that in force in Canada which came into existence in January last has been in force throughout the year. However, on Dec. 31st, as stated in the Pensions Act, the bonus was discontinued. Upon representations being made to the Government it was decided that the scale, as paid during the past year, be continued until June 30th, 1923, thus obviating any reduction in the pension scale. I desire to say in this connection—and it is the only direct reference I am going to make to any political situation which may arise in the future—that this Association will strenuously oppose any system or scheme of retrenchment advocated by any party seeking election at any time until such parties give a solemn pledge that they will not retrench on pensions for the benefit of those who have suffered.

"They ventured all, they risked their lives that Britain's Empire still might be. Poor battered fragments from the strife; their Care belongs to you and me."

EMPLOYMENT.

Much can be said on this point, the grim spectre being still in our midst. The government has inaugurated a scheme of Relief Work which should ensure that at least the unemployed ex-service men will not be without the wherewithal—however scant—to support their families. Conditions during the coming year will undoubtedly improve. It cannot, however, be forgotten that the man who served is suffering most, due to his disability caused by the years he was in service.

MEMBERSHIP.

It is gratifying to note that our membership has increased by more than 5 per cent. during the past year. This in itself is a great inducement for any Executive to go forward, as it shows that their work is being appreciated; it also shows in no uncertain way that the majority of the ex-service men are behind the G.W.V.A. It exemplifies that spirit which is so very much needed, the spirit of usefulness. By this I mean that many of our members never require any assistance from the G.W.V.A., whatsoever, but they recognize that there are others less fortunate and that it is imperative for the welfare of the ex-service men that such an Organization is kept in existence.
 Some 500 members enrolled during the months of November and December. More members are however required and it is the bounden duty of every ex-service man who feels part of the Empire to join up with this organization and ensure that it has the strength that is necessary to accomplish its legitimate ambitions.

FINANCE.

On your Executive assuming office they were faced with the prospect of depleted finances due to the strenuous work done in the preceding year. To secure an income sufficient to warrant the retention of the building now occupied by us it was found necessary to rent out the extra ground and second flats. The offices have been retained on the third flat for general offices. Although our expenditure during the past year has been exceptionally heavy, and we are glad to be able to say that all of our outstanding accounts have been liquidated.

Negotiations have taken place with the Government and the authorities in London with regard to obtaining equipment sufficient to equip a platform for purposes of ceremonial. This is very desirable as occasionally it is necessary to have equipment so as to be able to turn out a guard or firing party.

In concluding I would appeal to all ex-service men to join their Association forthwith. The work that has already been accomplished could have been far greater but for the fact that financial conditions did not warrant large expenditures and it was also necessary to devote much time to raising finances from outside sources. At the expiration of my term in office let me say that my only regret is that I have not had the opportunity of accomplishing more. To the Executive officers who so ably and successfully assisted me in maintaining the G.W.V.A. during 1922, I would extend my personal thanks. They have devoted much time and as ex-service men—Comrades—they find their reward in their work nobly done.

 With best wishes for the prosperity and welfare of all Comrades during the coming year.

(Sgd.) A. B. BAIRD,
 Dominion President,
 G.W.V.A. of Nfld.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY-TREASURER.

G.W.V.A. Building,
 156 Water Street,
 St. John's, Nfld.,
 Jan. 15th, 1923.

Mr. President and Comrades,—
 In submitting this report covering the activities of the Association during the past year, I have prepared it as briefly as possible touching only on the principal events. The period under review witnessed important developments affecting the welfare and care of ex-service men, which demanded prompt action on the part of your Executive. For this reason, it is the intention to present salient facts with complete candour.

Gandour, in this instance, however, does not mean pessimism or re-orientation. The record of achievement of the G.W.V.A. during the year 1922 requires neither apology nor defence. The difficulties to be met with in an Organization such as ours and the remedies to be applied sometimes call for criticism. This, however, is inevitable and if such criticisms are based on accurate judgment the lessons to be learnt are not forgotten. Our organization is young as yet and every day brings forth new problems the disposition of which is made in a manner as thought best. There is, however, ample evidence that the G.W.V.A. has made progress during the past year as may be cited by the fact that our membership has increased 50% over that of the preceding year. Interest is being re-awakened and it would not be too optimistic to say that the year 1923 will witness a revival of that interest which was in evidence when the Association was first inaugurated. This should go far towards having the G.W.V.A. assume its rightful position in this Dominion.
 For the purpose of this report, the work performed by the Association may be considered in five distinct phases, viz., Organization, Adjustment Service, Assistance to ex-Service men and dependants, Education and Legislation.

ORGANIZATION.

It is to be regretted that the time available at Dominion Headquarters did not allow a more thorough canvass of ex-service men being made with a view to their joining our Association. The apparent inability of the Dominion Command in not devoting more time to propaganda work is explained by the fact that the staff available is limited and further our financial resources did not permit of such an outlay. This, however, will be remedied in some measure during the present year when a determined effort will be made to establish District Commands in the Outports which will, in turn, enroll Branches. Much can be done in this direction by ex-service men who are prepared to live up to the spirit on which the G.W.V.A. was founded, viz., Right and Justice, Service and Sacrifice. The number of local Branches at present is 18. Due to the fact that many ex-service men are away from their homes during the summer months and that their numbers are spread over such a large area, it is difficult indeed to form new branches. The Dominion Command, however, has the majority of those members who cannot join Branches on its roll. A comparatively few Branches have become somewhat inactive, but in all cases a nucleus has been maintained whereby meetings can be convened when required on vital issues.

THAT was years ago when he needed a terrific grock, a mighty irritable stomach and a liver that refused to do the things that all good livers should. No wonder his friends called him an "old pill" and stayed away.

But that was years ago—long before he discovered Beecham's Pills and learned that two at bedtime can bring sunshine into a man's life. Today, he's an optimist, a hero to his wife, and a staunch believer in Beecham's Pills.

The cheer that Beecham's Pills bring into a man's disposition, is the incomparable cheer of sound digestion, active liver, and the regular habits that make good health.

New Branches have been formed at Grand Falls and Clarendville, the former under the Presidency of Mr. M. J. Nugent with Mr. L. R. Cooper as Secretary-Treasurer, the latter having Messrs. A. L. Hynes and W. H. Adey President and Secretary-Treasurer respectively. Both these branches are active and a tower of strength to the Association. Long may they flourish. The returns received at the Dominion Command indicate an increase in paid up membership of approximately 50%, while the percentage of withdrawals is exceedingly low. It is very desirable that a general membership campaign be got under way so that our strength may warrant our Association assuming the position that is its due in this country.

Municipal Council

The weekly meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.
 Mayor Cook presided. Councillors Martin, Outerbridge, Vintcombe, Collier, Ryan and Dowden were present. Minutes being confirmed, the following matters received the attention of the Council.

Communications were read from the Inspector General—(1) Re the installation of fire alarm box at Golf Avenue. This matter has already had his consideration and he informed the Board same will be attended to when the Fire Alarm Circuit in that neighbourhood is being reworked. (2) He recommended a constitution of the arrangement of last year with regard to Cookstown Road Reservoir, whereby a man will be stationed there to keep steam on the engine so that it may be ready for instant use.

In this the Council concurred, and the City Clerk was instructed to communicate with him regarding same.
 (3) The taking of pressure by members of the Fire Department, at the hydrants in various sections of the town was, he contended, within the rights of his department, and further the information was necessary for guidance of his members.

A different opinion was held by the Water Engineer, who claimed that the Water Department were responsible for, and should have sole control over the City hydrants. The matter was discussed, and it was thought that the present misunderstanding could be easily overcome by an employee of the Water Works accompanying members of the Fire Department when taking said pressures.
 Messrs. Duff, Kieley, Condon and O'Neill, proprietors of Moving Picture Theatres, forwarded a petition in which they asked that the Tax on such entertainments be cancelled.

The Council did not see its way clear to grant such a request.
 Communications were read from Messrs. Wood & Kelly, and Baird Johnston & Co., Ltd., regarding the Tax of 16 per cent. imposed on the Ground Landlords, and asked the Council to modify the present taxation in this respect.

The matter was given careful consideration by the Council; but it was unable to accede to the wishes of the petitioners.
 V. J. O'Quinn wrote re the introduction of Waterless (Chemical) Closets in Bowring Park, etc. Same was referred to the City Engineer.

Readers for the supplying of hose for Department of Watering Vessels were left over for the next meeting.

D. J. Fitzgerald, Pres. Truckman's Protective Union, asked for information in reference to the expenditure in connection with the Motor Dumping Truck.
 Particulars may be obtained on application to the City Clerk.

Ask those discriminating people who have bought this Boot in the past. They will tell you that, though the price may appear high, for honest value, shape and comfort you cannot equal DOROTHY DODD.

How The League of Nations Works.

The idea of the League of Nations was born hundreds of years ago. Long before the war the peoples understood the necessity of some organization to facilitate relations between the various states, and their co-operation in matters of common interest, the most important of which is without doubt the preservation of world peace.

This need became more than ever urgent after the war. The makers of the peace treaties could not but realize this, and that is why they called into being the League of Nations.

How is the League organized? How do its departments function? What has it accomplished since its creation? I will answer these questions as briefly as possible.

THE ORIGIN, CONSTRUCTION, AND AIMS OF THE LEAGUE.

The League of Nations has been created by the formal contract consisting of 26 articles, which preceded the Treaty of Peace signed at Versailles, June 28th, 1919. On the 10th of January in the following year the League began its work on the ratification of the Treaty.

The chief aim of the League is to make impossible the outbreak of wars by the establishment of lasting world peace, while its other aim is the acceleration of international co-operation in protecting the common interests of humanity at large. The League of Nations acts chiefly through three important sections, the General Session, the Council, and the General Secretariat. The General Session is the conference of all member states of the League, in which each nation is represented by three delegates; they have, however, only one vote, so that the number of delegates is not important. As a rule all decisions of the session must be by unanimous vote of all members of the League represented in the meeting.

The General Session has power to deal with problems having to do with world peace which fall within the scope of the League, or, by arrangement, in any other place; at the first session it was decided to meet automatically and regularly at least once each year on the first Monday in September.

The Council has ten members: the four Great Powers, Japan, Italy, France, and Great Britain, which are constant members, and six other states, chosen at will by the Session, at present Belgium, Brazil, China, Sweden, Uruguay, and Spain. Each member of the League represented in the Council has one vote and one representative. Every member of the League not represented on the Council will be invited to send a corresponding representative whenever a question is to be discussed in which it is vitally interested. The Council has power to deal with everything within the sphere of action of the League, or that touches world peace. In fact this important department may be considered as an executive of the General Session, dealing with business committed to it by the Session, and acting during the absence of the Session.

The Council has already met fifteen times; the first sittings were in Paris, London, Rome, San Sebastian, and Brussels. Since 1921 it meets generally at Geneva every third month. The General Secretariat is located at Geneva on the shore of the tranquil and beautiful Lake Lemán. To carry out their duties the Council, the Session, and other committees need this constant administrative organization, whose various departments are directed by the General Secretary, Sir Eric Drummond, with the help of three under-secretaries.

The preparation of agendas for various meetings, correspondence with members of the League, the preservation of the archives, the distribution of various documents, and propaganda of the League of Nations is attended to by the General Secretary.

At present the following departments are in existence:—

- 1 Department of administrative commissions (Saar territory and the free city of Danzig) directed by a Norwegian.
- 2 Department of economy and finance, directed by an Englishman.
- 3 Department of Law, directed by a Dutchman.
- 4 Political department, presided over by a Frenchman.
- 5 Disarmament, directed by an Italian.
- 6 Department of mandates, directed by a Swiss.
- 7 Hygiene, directed by a Pole.
- 8 Department of Travel, directed by an Italian.
- 9 Bureau of Information, by a Frenchman.
- 10 Bureau of Social Questions, directed by an Englishwoman.
- 11 Department of International Offices, by a Japanese.
- 12 Registry for all treaties and international agreements which will in future be endorsed by the League.

Besides these political and administrative sections there is the International Bureau of Labor, and the Standing Court of International Justice. The International Labor Bureau was established by the XIII chapter of the Peace Contract. It functions practically independently.

2. THE STANDING COURT OF INTERNATIONAL LAW.

This was formally established last year by the General Session and the Council. To understand the importance of this fact one must remember that previous attempts have miserably failed on account of international jealousy. Two Peace Conferences at the Hague in 1899 and 1907 indeed led up to the establishment of a standing court of arbitration, but they were unable to carry into effect any power of supreme judgement in international disputes. On September 14th, last year there were chosen 11 judges and 4 substitutes, having consideration and respect to the balance between the large and small states. The Court will have jurisdiction in all international disputes which are submitted to it by the parties concerned. It is a pity the Court did not take to itself compulsory power, as it is, to compel the latter to appear before the Court. This Standing Court, which is located at the Hague, held its first session January 30th, 1922.

3. COMMITTEES AND TECHNICAL DEPARTMENTS.

For the fulfilment of its political duties the General Session and the Council is assisted by several committees. They have the general task of supplying advice and information to the political organizations of the League, and of preparing all kinds of reports required concerning matters within their competence. There are two kinds of commissions, standing advisory commissions, such as that for the study of military questions on land, sea, and in the air, the intellectual commission, and the commissions for the control of opium, etc., temporary commissions like those of Blockade, the mixed commission for Disarmament, and that for changes in the constitution of the League etc. Further, the League has three different technical sections, which have to carry out a whole series of tasks as specified by article 23 of the League constitution; the organization for intercommunication and travel, that of economy and finance, and that of hygiene.

Strong Feature Programme at the Nickel.

GREAT PICTURE—CLEAN AND REFINED VAUDEVILLE.

The great northwest woods are really the central influence in the latest Goldwyn picture, "The Man From Lost River," which was presented at the Nickel Theatre last night. The action of Katharine Newlin Burt's photoplay takes place in a lumber camp where the men lead crude lives close to nature. The softening influence of women is absent, though in the camp dwells an orphan girl, the pride of the men. Into this group comes a sophisticated Easterner who falls in love with the girl and marries her. The dramatic conflict entwines the camp foreman, who has silently adored the girl all the while, and it is the unworthiness of her husband in a time of crisis that both removes him from the scene and shows the girl the worth of a noble man's love.

The vaudeville bill as furnished by Clifton and McNamara is the last word in entertainment; without exaggerating we can honestly say that these people give the finest performance seen in many years, and last night's bill all the entertainment that an amusement-lover could possibly wish for.

OLD FRIENDS AND OLD BOOKS.

I have just been re-reading a book which I have read many times before. A friend who found me poring over the shabby volume asked me if there were not enough new books to read that I must go back and read that over for the some friend has marked.

Reading With A Pencil.

Yes, I freely admit that I have that habit, called reprehensible by some, of reading with a pencil. I love to mark or annotate favorite passages at one period of my life and re-read them at another. And as for being cruel to the book,—what is the book but the author and I don't believe he minds. Indeed I will wager he is pleased to have me take that vital interest in him.

Of course a great many books cannot stand re-reading. They shrink and diminish and cheapen and leave you wondering what you cared so much for. But other books grow more full of meaning with every year you live.

"An old picture," wrote Beecher Stowe once, "a tragedy I know my heart, a hackneyed romance, a talk with a friend, me surprise. Such things have meaning. I knew then what truth is and I saw that sorrow is."

But it is not only some teaches truth. It is all living. And if a book has the clear truth each year of Life gives us to see more of it.

Does This Happen To You?

This is preeminently true. There are certain pages in the Bible that I have read a hundred times. And every now and then one of these very familiar pages leaps out at me with new meaning. Some experience own life has illuminated some of lighting illuminates some bit of landscape. Before I look at it, now I see it.

And the book that I was when my friend rebuked something I have read at least times: Stevenson's "Virginian" "If you haven't read it, chance I wish you would get it off your shelves or from the or from the book shop (if you own) and read it. And take care of it. And then take a read it at least once in five years, an essay on love and marriage, doubtless you know, and it packed with things that tell you as the years go by and fewer theories about life and experience of it.

Ought To Be A Law

Every young man and wife falling-in-love stage ought to and every couple ought to be at the end of a year of married at five years intervals then. Really I think there ought law enforcing such reading chance of reducing the divorce absurd? Not half so much of laws that get passed.

Notes And News of Bonavista District

A SERIES OF OPEN LETTERS TO FRED.

Dear Fred.—Your third appeal for news from this section of the coast leads at last to consideration. Though whether I shall be able to satisfy your desire or not under a non-specified request I am at present unable to say. True your migratory instincts give me an opportunity to relate some changes which have taken place since your departure, but you must always bear in mind the fact that in any season our most interesting happenings are always commonplace, and now in the dead of winter—God help us.

BIRDS.
Now as in times past when it comes to wild game either the abundance or scarcity of this year is not of necessity a standard for next year's quantity. Last year ducks were very plentiful, but this year there is a very marked scarcity. As a result turkeys, always considered the lesser game, are getting a harder time than usual and considerably large bags have been taken.

SEALS.
I have no doubt your experience of bedlamer seals would keep you from asking a single question about them at this early date. I may tell you, however, that quite a few have been seen, but prevailing boisterous weather offers no chance of a kill.

CHANGE.
I often wonder if present scenes under present surroundings give an impetus to impressions that may follow us through life on a permanent shift to some other place. Now you ought to know this, and if this is so I must tell you that the collective interest of this vicinity does not centre altogether around the pivot of seals, birds, fish, guns and nets as in the past. As a result if we take this winter for example, we will find only about 100 boats of various sizes and cuts being built between Salvage and Greenspond—a considerable number of men have gone cutting logs and pulpwood, while many more have gone to the States and Canada with a view of leaving the old sod for good.

This is a great change from the date of your residence among us, is it not? As usual as far as I can gather Flat Island still leads in the number of boats building this year. This fact brings to my mind the remark of a Greenspond man that anyone wanting a boat might go into any of the stages at Flat Island and root up one out of the chips. Speaking of changes, the greatest of all is in the number of fishing vessels built of late years. As far as I can find out we are only building two and repairing one in this District this winter. Morgan brothers at Flat Island are building one and Arthur Samson of that place is repairing the "Ella Maaga," a vessel of approximately 80 tons. Baxter Barry intends building one later. Anyhow you can see that quite a lot of the superfluous interest once centred on fish, seals, boats, birds and berries is being diverted to other channels. The order of the day now is, a few at everything, no one getting anywhere.

JUST A PRELIMINARY.
I want you to note that this is only a preliminary—a sort of preparation to other remarks. News will be thrown in as it happens. The usual Christmas sports have passed, but concerts generally known as "fall-enders" have not yet arrived; and in the interim while Grippe is having its day I shall pass on and tell you that while your geography of the coast-line is perfect, you can have but a faint conception of the changes that have taken place in the interior. Practically the whole thing in the shape of trees have been hewn down. Moss and rocks are all that now show where forests of splendid trees once grew; and all to satisfy a wasteful ignorant excuse for supplying pulpwood and pitprops.

Yours truly,
JET BENSON.

Wireless From Slichem.
MAY REACH PORT TO-MORROW.
A wireless message received from Capt. Furneaux by the Furness Withy Co., intimates that S.S. Slichem and her tow are likely to reach here to-morrow. At noon yesterday the ship's position was 150 miles south east of this port and Capt. Furneaux stated he was coming along in the vicinity of the Virgin Rocks, with the intention of picking up Cape Race, and coming in along shore. The towing hawser which parted on Wednesday morning was not connected until yesterday forenoon at 11.30 o'clock when towing was resumed.

no haste to scroll the fine, gence by genteel cost
its dourishes polite,
practise art to write,
practise, throughout the land:
make up my pen in hand."
I pray, the pen I use,
case other I may choose;
is bad, but it will do
word of love to you, finds you all the same!"
the page the phrases rolled,
and quaint, but never cold,
had that badge of taste:
the errors due to haste!"
the heart had more to tell small page could carry well, the space, and couldn't stop to write from base to top,
the letter wouldn't fall
by the soonest mail,
the writer then forgot
for pardon for a blot,
the last this sentence plain:
"dear servant, I remain."

and brief and terse to-day,
the goddess of success,
gauntlet much loveliness,
dear to waste in phrase,
lost their gentle ways,
I never read a page,
and worn and dimmed by as some kindly face thoughts a touch of grace.
