Clarence sprang forward, caught the beautiful, blushing girl to his heart, and, speechless for a moment, poured a hot storm of kisses on her head.

"Look up, my darling," he said, "and make my joy complete. Oh, Lillian, my love, my love! This happiness is almost too great for one man."

CHAPTER XXIX.

So it came to pass that a few weeks after and on a gloriously bright morning strings of villagers on foot and lines of more aristocratic visitors in carriages were making their way to the little church in the hollow, whose bells were carolling to the summer air with mad delight.

Will Urge 8 Hour Day

OTTAWA, Ont., Aug. 21.—(Canadian Press)—An eight-hour day, enacted by legislation, will be urged at the 41st annual convention of the Trades and Labor Congress in Ottawa during the first week of next month.

The eight-hour day is at present extensively in force in Canadian industries, but by agreement rather than as a result of law.

Question Up To Provinces. Dominion law officers held that the eight-hour day was a question for provincial and not Dominion legislative action and the convention went over to the nine different provincial governments.

LABOR MEN THEN pressed for a reference to the Supreme Court of Canada to determine whether the ruling of the Federal law officers was sound.

Paralysis of British Trade Caused by Chinese Boycott.

Wheatley Seeks an Army to Defend Workers' Living Standard.--Governor of French Colony Shot by an Assassin --Captain Amundsen Heard from in the Far North.

CANADIAN TRADE SUFFERING.
VANCOUVER, B.C., Aug. 21. The Chinese boycott of British goods and British ships continues a menace to Canadian trade with the Orient, business men declare. Chinese business houses are demanding that Canadian labels be erased and that products be moved on United States ships to escape the boycott.

RED EFFORT TO PARALYZE TRADE.
LONDON, Aug. 21. Owing to the paralysis of trade in Hong Kong the daily losses are estimated at several hundred thousand pounds. This is due to the Chinese coastal regulations against the British and Japanese. The situation continues to agitate the press and engross the attention of the Foreign Office, and Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, has found it necessary to interrupt his vacation. The Times describes conditions at Hong Kong as "only too distressing," and says "the effrontery of the Red Government in Canton is hardly to be borne," but contends "this typically Bolshevik challenge must be countered warily."

WHEATLEY'S APPEAL.
LONDON, Aug. 21. A call issued by John Wheatley, Minister of Health in the Ramsay MacDonald Government, for the enrollment of ten million workers as a "workers' defence corps ready to fight against attacks on the workers' standard of living, is attracting attention. The appeal says nothing about the use of weapons.

BRITISH JOURNALISTS TOUR CANADA.
QUEBEC, Aug. 21. A party of ten journalists, representing the leading publications of the British Isles arrived in Canada to-day and will tour the Dominion on the invitation of E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, seeking first hand knowledge of the opportunities the country offers for Old Country settlers.

AUSTRALIAN SEAMEN ON STRIKE.
SYDNEY, N.S.W., Aug. 21. A mass meeting of 1500 seamen here to-day unanimously decided that there would be no resumption of work until shipowners agreed to the men's demands for July rates of pay to all British seamen in all waters. The meeting adjourned until Monday next pending the calling of meetings of seamen in all Australian states. Over fifty ships now in Australian waters and as many more on their way to Australian ports are affected.

SOVIET PLANES FOR CANTON.
TORONTO, Aug. 21. Cables received by the Globe from Shanghai report two Soviet airplanes landed at that point this morning en route from Moscow to Canton, where, it is said, they expect to help Canton if it is attacked by the British. The planes left Moscow on June 10th, arriving July 13th. They have been hovering around Peking until recently, when they suddenly received flying orders from Moscow.

NEW LIGHTHOUSE FOR BELLE ISLE.
QUEBEC, Aug. 21. The C.G.S. Montcalm sails from Quebec next week with the necessary equipment to instal a new lighthouse at Belle Isle, in the Straits. It will also be a wireless telegraphic station and of great value to shipping.

AMUNDSEN HEARD FROM.
NOME, Aug. 21. Captain Roald Amundsen's auxiliary exploration schr. Maud, drifting in the Arctic ice since 1922, and now lying at East Cape, Siberia, awaiting oil, will reach here about August 25th en route to San Francisco to be sold. The crew have been living on tinned food since 1922.

SHOT THE GOVERNOR.
PORT DE FRANCE, Martinique, Aug. 21.—Four shots were fired by a would be assassin at Governor Richard as he boarded a steamer here to-day. The Governor was taken to hospital in a critical condition.

QUEBEC LIEUT.-GOVERNOR VISITING NEWFOUNDLAND.
MURRAY BAY, Quebec, Aug. 21. Lieut.-Governor Narcisse Pérodeau, of the Province of Quebec, with a party of guests left to-day on the steamer Narvik for Newfoundland.

Stranraer "Heiress"

SENSATIONAL HOAX RECALLED.

The sequel to a "shattered romance" as the novelists would say, was heard in Glasgow Sheriff Court recently when a hammerman named Albert Turner (28) was charged with having in April last failed to maintain his wife, Janet Alexander or Turner, whereby she became chargeable to the Parish of Glasgow in July.

Behind the Court case lies one of the most remarkable stories heard in Scotland for many years.

In 1922 the woman Alexander occupied the spotlight of publicity for some time as the result of the romantic story that she had fallen heir to a fortune of £25,000 through the death of her late husband's father, a Canadian baronet. While working at Gettina during the war she became acquainted with a Canadian soldier and was married to him shortly after the war. Her husband died some time later and the woman returned to Stranraer. She saw an advertisement in the Glasgow newspapers, she stated, to the effect that Andrew Nichol, Trinity Gardens, Toronto, Canada, sought his sister-in-law, Jane Alexander or Nichol widow of David Nichol of the Canadian Forestry Corps, and son of Sir Thomas Nichol, of Wareholme Farm, Toronto.

She communicated with the advertiser, and was told that Sir Thomas had died, and that she was entitled to her husband's share in the estate which amounted to something like £25,000, £12,000 of which was to be settled on her little son.

Such was the story which gained wide circulation, and set many newspapers searching for the lady with the intention of obtaining the fullest details to present to their interested readers.

Scarcely had the first surprise evaporated when the woman sprung another one upon the public. It became known that she intended entering again into the bonds of matrimony. The lucky man was a hammerman in Glasgow, and who has now appeared before the Sheriff for failing to support his wife. The marriage ceremony took place in Glasgow Sheriff Court and many were the congratulations heaped upon the happy pair.

The Final Thrill.
A few days after the ceremony, however, another and final thrill was provided by the woman. It "came out" to the public that the story of the fortune was a myth, and when confronted and asked for details the woman admitted that the story was an invention.

In Glasgow Sheriff Court, Mr. Matthew Bernard, Inspector of Poor for the Parish of Glasgow, stated that the accused married his wife under the misapprehension that she had fallen heir to £25,000, and when he found that the money did not exist friction arose between the couple and they parted. He had not supported her for six months, and lately she was brought from Stranraer to Stobhill Hospital where she was at present a patient. Turner pleaded for a chance, adding that he was prepared to pay his per week towards the support of his wife. The case was continued by Sheriff Thomson until November.

From Golf to Tennis

LONDON, Eng., Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press)—The announcement made recently that Cyril Tolley and Miss Joyce Wethered, British star golfers, (Miss Wethered is the leading lady player) intend to take up lawn tennis "seriously," is discussed by the Sporting Life, which intimates that it is not possible for a golf player of some years standing to become a "star" tennis player.

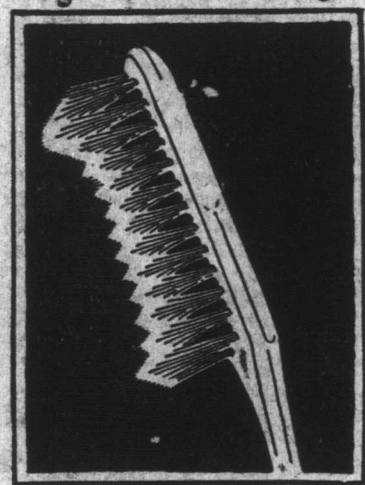

"In the absence of any confirmation the news must be taken with reserve," the article is prefaced. "The mere fact that both Tolley and Miss Wethered have been playing a stationary ball on the links for some years will render it impossible for them to attain high honors at lawn tennis; on the court a moving ball will present difficulties to which the golfer is not accustomed."

"To play a game free from disturbance is one thing, but to match skill with skill and brain with brain is an entirely different matter. The golfer plays his own ball, and the superior mechanic must triumph. Provided that two golfers possess normal intelligence, the question of brain power hardly concerns the result. On the other hand, the superior stroke player does always win at lawn tennis, at which court-craft weighs heavily."

"Tolley already happens to be a fair lawn tennis player. That he will succeed as a tennis player is quite feasible, but the idea that he will develop into an international is absurd. In the first place he is not young enough to mould himself into a perfect player. That requires a certain natural instinct, which Tolley had for golf."

"Several lawn tennis players have found golf a comparatively simple game; but no golfer has yet become a leading lawn tennis player, and that is not at all surprising. Golf is a peaceful game, apart from the amount of walking, which it necessitates, and it imposes no real demand on one's physique. It is admitted that there is a nerve strain in championship contests in golf, but even that is not nearly so severe as the tension caused by 14 days' play at Wimbledon."

"A long base line lawn tennis singles may mean that a man has to run a good many miles, but at golf the player walks. It is far less exhausting to walk ten miles than to run a mile, and in the matter of mobility Tolley will find the pinch."

Five things you should know about your tooth brush

- 1 Is it made of the best bristles the world produces?
- 2 Are the bristles serrated (saw-toothed), and set in a curve to fit against all your teeth, and to reach the crevices between?
- 3 Does it have a large end tuft, and a properly curved handle so that the end tuft can reach and clean back teeth?
- 4 Will it keep germs, tartar, food debris, and other unclean substances off your teeth?
- 5 Is it fully guaranteed?

When your tooth brush is a Prophy-lactic, you can answer all of those five questions correctly. The Prophy-lactic Tooth Brush has for more than forty years been the standard, correctly designed tooth brush for keeping teeth clean, white, and beautiful.

Yesterday's Baby Show at Bannerman Park

"As helpless as a babe" takes on new meaning when they are seen "en masse" as they were yesterday afternoon at Bannerman Park. In spite of the threatening clouds early in the afternoon, one hundred and fifty mothers brought their babies, all under one year old, to the Baby Show held under the auspices of the Playground Association and the Child Welfare Association. The weatherman was kind and rolled the clouds away so that by the time set for the show to begin the sun was shining brightly and a successful afternoon was assured. There were the babies, some in strollers, some apparently bored by the occasion, and some making good use of the open air to freely exercise their lungs; some observed calmly all those who passed by and some treated at this or that, helpless, struggling little animals trying their best to free themselves from such substances as blankets, dresses and frills which a baby, no doubt, regards as the greatest curse of civilization. But say and, there they were kicking their legs and waving their arms, instinctively doing those things which will produce growth and strength in their arms and legs and little bodies, and as one gazed into their fresh, round, wondering, beautifully coloured eyes, and marveled at these precious innocent little-bits of Heaven set down in a sordid world, one could not but ask, "Are we doing the very best that we can for these little babies? What can we do that we are not already doing to give these babies the right start on happier, healthier, more useful lives than our own have been?"

More and more, psychologists and medical men are agreeing that the early infancy of a child has a profound effect upon its physical and mental health in later years. Why is it that some babies and some older children are habitually good natured and happy while others are habitually the reverse? Environment, health and training would be important factors to consider if an answer were attempted. Nothing but the best is good enough for these babies. Do they get plenty of fresh air and sunshine? Are the clothes suitable and loose enough for the baby to exercise its little body? Is the food just the best kind for this particular baby? Does it contain all the ingredients necessary to the building of bones and muscles? Is the baby protected from flies and other germ carriers, etc.? The death rate among babies has been almost unbelievably decreased in the last fifty years, but let us do more than keep them alive, let us aim at perfection. The strong, healthy babies shown at the Park yesterday show that many of the mothers of St. John's have already accepted that principle. Both the Child Welfare Association and the Playground Association strive to be of service to the children of St. John's, the Child Welfare Association giving valuable service to the mothers and infants and the Playground Association being of service to children who are passed the toddling age. Both of these associations need the support of the citizens and if you are not a member or helping out in some small way in one of these organizations, either association would be delighted to have you join with them and thus help along the work which they are doing.

At the Baby Show the babies were placed in four groups according to age and the doctors had a hard time trying to decide who was the prize baby for each section. In some cases a large number of babies scored the same number of points. The judges were Dr. Grievs and Dr. Brehm assisted by four nurses, Miss Janet Anderson, Superintendent of Child Welfare, Mrs. C. E. Hunt, Mrs. F. W. Halley and Nurse Palmer. Mrs. Tasker Cook, Lady Crobie, and Mrs. Leonard Outerbridge kindly awarded the prize ribbons and the prizes. Other guests who were present were Dr. Fallon, Medical Advisor to the Child Welfare Association and Mrs. Fallon, Dr. James, Dental Advisor to the Association, and Dr. Vincent P. Burke, President of the Playground Association. The prizes were given by the Playground Association and individuals. A special prize of a baby's Japanese silk underdown quilt was given by the Hon. S. Milley. The prizes were awarded as follows:

FIRST GROUP.
(Babies up to three months old)
First Prize—Charles Truscott.
Second Prize—Bruce Neal and Katherine Smyth, tied.

On next Friday afternoon a second Baby Show will be held in Bannerman Park for babies from twelve months old up to, but not including, those two years old. Mothers entering their babies will please secure entry cards from the Community Nurse Headquarters, 268 Duckworth Street, or from the Playground Instructors at either Bannerman or Victoria Parks.

Many Different Reasons WHY WOMEN BOB THEIR HAIR SAYS EXPERT.

Many reasons have been given for the bobbing of women's hair and these will stand the test a bit better than the "Oh, I just wanted it cut" explanation. Pierre Victor Senegas, a New York hairdresser, has given an interview to a magazine writer in which he recites that in 1889, the noted French actress Eve de Lavalliere, appeared on the stage with short hair, as she was playing the part of a boy. But it was some job to popularize the short hair.

Actresses got a few others cut their hair short and then curled it to give the so-called cherub effect. The great objection to bobbed hair, however, in France, where modes are born, was that all convicts had short hair and prostitutes who had been arrested had their hair cut short by the authorities. Then again, a great number of the women camp-followers during the recent World War had bobbed their hair. Dire necessity forced nursing sisters and munition factory workers to follow suit as an expedient measure for the former, against the terrible vermin plague and the latter because of the dangers attending powder accumulations on their hair. Eventually, socially prominent and well-known war workers fell in line with the rest of their sex.

Originated Style.
Another strong impetus to the mode was the stage appearance of Irene Castle after a severe illness during which fever necessitated the cutting of her hair Miss Castle, who is styled the originator of the bobbed hair, looked so charming with her short wavy locks, that it was not long before her admirers soon followed suit.

Auto Is One Reason.
The automobile is given as another reason for the adoption of short hair, while the slow-moving horse-drawn vehicles of years ago allowed for elaborate coiffures set off by the well-known picture hat, a trip in one of our modern fast-moving taxis would soon put an end to the most carefully-planned hair-dressing arrangement. Senegas further commented on the fact that the milliners with their small-close-to-the-head models compel the woman to have her hair bobbed if she wishes to wear a hat that is really chic and in the fashion.

There was also no need to worry about women losing their hair, sooner or later, because of their short cut. On the other hand, short hair encouraged the growth—and its real enemy was the close fitting hat.

Recommended Diets.
The life of hair depended on one's physical condition, auto-intoxication being blamed for the cause of poor hair, bad skin and dull eyes. Diets to overcome this are recommended and it is also pointed out that the women who are trying to get this are doing themselves a great harm if they carry it out to a degree of undernourishment. This is part of his theory of hair culture which he ends up with the warning that tight hats prevent circulation in the scalp and keep the head hot.

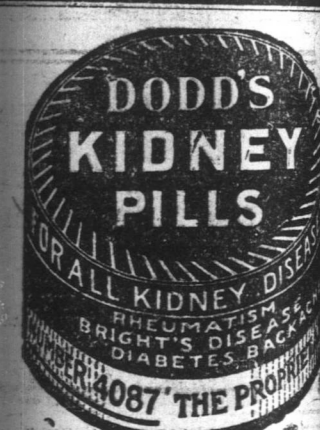

All said and done, short hair is great for the street, for sport, for business but when it comes to evening wear, the hour when the charm of every woman is at its peak, somehow or other it does not fit in and "will not be long ere the long hair will come back to its own."

Developing Airways

Frankfurter Zeitung (Germany): An important step forward has been taken by the opening of the new aerodrome at Giessen, in Upper Hesse. The Government's plan is to establish a number of stations in suitable geographical centres as junctions for the main international routes, and then to link up these junctions with a periphery of other stations on branch lines. In this way a co-ordinate service will be secured spreading out to all parts of the country. An aerodrome was recently opened at Darmstadt (Hesse) and this, in conjunction with the new aerodrome at Giessen, represents a great advance towards the completion of the Government's air program. The Ludwig University at Giessen is actively co-operating in the realization of this program by an energetic encouragement of the study of aeronautics. On account of its most suitable geographical situation it is considered that the new station at Giessen will become one of the most important in Germany.

Engineers Move a 280-Foot Bridge in London

In the rebuilding of the famous Waterloo Bridge in London, a remarkable engineering feat was accomplished recently, when a 280-foot span of the temporary steel bridge was moved bodily for a distance of 93 feet. The span was moved along 85-foot girders by eight men turning winches that slid the giant framework and its 50 tons of weight at the rate of four feet an hour. The historic Waterloo Bridge, which has been weakened by the sinking of its central pier may be destroyed.

Useless Ships' Funnel

Many people think that the funnels a ship has, the faster she steams. This is not the case, however. Two liners have recently been fitted with three funnels each—to give a more imposing effect. There are many giant vessels at sea today carrying extra funnels that do nothing more or less than damage modern engineering has proved advantageous to bring all the "funnels" from the boiler-rooms to the funnel only.

It is curious that motor-ships at least one funnel. This is because the vessels contain boilers, but they are not used for creating steam to propel the ship. They are for hot-water systems and central heating. Some means have to be found for carrying away the fumes—the motor-ships are fitted with funnels.

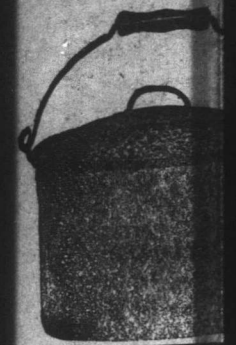

The velours hat matching the tulle is quite smart.

Sun Life Finds Business Good; New Policies Are Selling Well

The Sun Life Assurance Company reports to The Financial Post very satisfactory gains for the first six months of 1921, confirming the testimony of other companies as to conditions published a week ago.

The Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada is an international company, operating on four continents, and in some fifty countries and states.

A broad survey of its activities for the first half-year of 1921 discloses very gratifying features. Substantial gains are to be noted in written and paid-for business; these advances are not confined to one section of the field, but are shared generally. While the increases recorded are attributable in some measure to the expansion of our organization, to intensified effort, and the improved capacity of our individual field-men through educational facilities, it must be ascribed in great measure to the fact that people generally are more prosperous, and are becoming more keenly appreciative of the services which life assurance can render to them in the arranging and ordering of their affairs. This is particularly observable in Canada. There not only is further considerable augmentation in the writing of ordinary life and endowment plans, but the business secured in such divergent contracts as group assurance and annuities (both immediate and deferred) show substantial advances over the figures established in 1920.

More Annuities Bought.
The quickened interest of the public in income values is attested not only by the large number of applications for annuities, but also by requests for ordinary assurance to be paid to beneficiaries under income options.

A concession recently granted by the company which has been widely appreciated, is the increase in the limit of risk accepted under the non-medical plan, which has been advanced to $5,000; this has resulted in a large accession of business in small amounts.

Much interest is to be observed in the salary saving plan of assurance recently announced by the company, and it is confidently anticipated that when its features have become familiar to employers and employees, a large amount of business on the lives of wage-earners eligible for its benefits will accrue.

A very gratifying feature indicative of sound and widespread prosperity, is the substantial increase to be noted in the number of policies revived after having been allowed to lapse before the non-forfeiture feature incorporated in all the company's policies had an opportunity to operate. Arrears of premiums as represented by advances made under this non-forfeiture provision show a considerable decrease, while substantial payments on account of loans made on policies are recorded.

Interview With British Trade Commissioner

"I have been greatly impressed with my visit to Newfoundland," said P. W. Field, British Government Senior Trade Commissioner in Canada and Newfoundland, with offices at Montreal. In an interview with a representative of the press, Mr. Field has just completed a brief official visit to the Colony and during his stay at St. John's was entertained at Hon. St. S. Morrice. He left Port aux Basques on the 12th inst., after paying a visit to Corner Brook.

"I realize that Newfoundlanders are purchasing a fair share of their requirements in Great Britain and I hope buying and selling conditions will be such that in the near future a still larger share may be purchased from the Motherland. I believe a much bigger business can be built up within the Empire as we learn in one section what the others can supply. This expansion will not solve all our problems but it will ease the commercial and industrial situation materially.

"I have secured a great deal of valuable information from various Ministers and officials of the Government and from the business men of St. John's, to assist with the compilation of my official report on the resources and trade of Newfoundland. I should like to take this opportunity of thanking the many people I have met for their great assistance and kindly hospitality.

"I visited Corner Brook where I met the officers of the Newfoundland Power and Paper Company, and went over the mill. It is a wonderful enterprise. The building of a 400 ton paper mill and a model town in two years is an achievement of which the people of the United Kingdom and Newfoundland may well feel proud. Such enterprises as those at Grand Falls and Corner Brook must necessarily stimulate to a high degree the growth and development of the Colony.

"I believe very valuable tourist trade can be secured. During recent years Canada has cultivated the tourist business with the result that it is now worth many millions of dollars annually. Newfoundland has wonderful scenery, many historical spots, its interesting fishing communities, and so on. I feel sure that as efforts to provide for this traffic are increased, the tourist trade will expand surprisingly."

Mrs. Dennistoun

NOW RUNS SMART SHOP IN LONDON.
London, Aug. 14.—Mrs. Katherine Muriel Dennistoun, who achieved so much notoriety through her sensational and unsuccessful suit against her divorced husband, Lieut. Col. Ian Onslow Dennistoun, now married to the Dowager Duchess of Carnarvon, has gone into a business enterprise which is opening an antique shop in a smart street in Mayfair.

The establishment is not 50 yards from the Guards club, of which her former husband was once a member. Major Nicholas Woevodsky, Russian painter, whose name was mentioned in court in the course of the trial, will be business manager of the antique shop. It was recently revealed to the public that after her divorce Mrs. Dennistoun interested herself in making trips to the continent to buy old furniture and other antiques, which she brought back to her London flat to sell.

Hope Hampton is Featured in Belasco Film

DEAN OF DRAMA PRAISES SCREEN VERSION OF STAGE SENSATION.

Another Warner Brothers classic of the screen is scheduled to appear at the Nickel Theatre Monday. This is "The Gold Diggers," featuring Hope Hampton, an adaptation of the David Belasco stage play of the same name. Contrary to its literal meaning, "gold diggers" are not people engaged in searching the depths of the earth for the precious metal, but as shown in this picture, they are beautiful young women, whose profession is dancing and acting, but who spend their spare time "digging" for gold in the form of entertainment, jewels, clothing and money; and these incidents they get from business men who seek diversion from the worry and stress of business.

Thus a troupe of gold diggers, led by one Jerry Lamar, the wildest and gayest of the party, live merrily in a large apartment while their expenses are being paid for by a number of wealthy men.

How true love enters into their lives and complicates the entire affair and how Jerry plots and plans to bring things to a successful termination is brought out in this film in a highly interesting and thoroughly amusing way.

The large and expensive cast is composed of Hope Hampton, Louise Fazenda, Windham Standing, Gertrude Short, Alec Francis, Jed Prouty, Arnie Gillman, Peggy Brown, Margaret Seddon, Johnny Harron, Ann Cornwall, Edna Tichenor, Frances Ross, Marie Prade, and Louise Beaudet.

The Madonna of the Streets

AT THE STAR MOVIE MONDAY.

The story of a woman's soul and a man's. A story that will search your soul with its truthful drama. Edwin Carewe who gave you "Mighty Lak a Rose" and "The Girl of the Golden West" gives you this masterpiece.

The story of women who pass in the night and men who light their way for them. W. B. Maxwell's most stirring novel, "The Ragged Messenger" comes to the screen as "Madonna of the Streets," a masterpiece.

If you want to be caught in a maelstrom of emotion and swung to the highest peaks of drama don't miss this revelation. Many men knew her—many men loved her—and yet the man she hated won her. The story of a fool who kissed a woman's lips and a woman who was fool enough to let him. You've never known what drama really is until you've lived through Edwin Carewe's Niagara of emotion, "Madonna of the Streets."

Our Dumb Animals

Reports of Chief Agent for Week Ending Friday, Aug. 21st.

Shot a dog on Victoria Street. The dog had bitten a boy and the owner decided to have it put to death. Another setter dog which was run over by a motor car on LeMarchant Road was dead before I got there. At present four horses are kept off the street, 3 being lame and another with a sore back. Received complaint of boys taking horses to pasture at Quidi Vidi Road. Those boys drive the horses furiously up and down the road. I have told the owners if the boys are found doing this again, they will be summoned. I also attended the landing of 143 head of cattle, 5 horses, 13 calves, 14 boxes pigs and 8 sheep from the Canadian Sapper. Cattle were all carefully handled, 20 head of cattle and 24 pigs were for Mr. Wm. Brennan and had been carefully selected by his son who was on a visit to Charlottetown. 42 head of Toronto cattle were for the Harris Abbots-Co. Mr. Bunting one of the shippers of the cattle came with them. He told me he issued orders to give all pigs which come in crates plenty of room; for which on behalf of the Society I am very thankful. The steamer had a very rough passage but the cattle were well cared for and came through alright for which I thank the Capt. and officers. People who have been out of Nfld. for some time and have returned say they can see a marked improvement particularly in our truck horses. 27 different reports have been attended to. Thanking all who take an interest in the Society.

I remain,
J. BARTER,
Chief Agent.

The King's Car

MOTORIST WHO ALMOST CAUSED COLLISION FINED.
How the King's motor-car narrowly escaped collision with another motor-car as the King was being driven to Goodwood, was described at Kingston-on-Thames, when Lewis James Salter, of Church-road, Caversham, was summoned for failing to stop his car when called upon to do so by a police officer on July 27 on the Portsmouth Road at Cobham. Police-Sergeant Hatcher said that at White Lion corner he saw the King's car approaching from the direction of London and signalled to four oncoming cars, the third of which was driven by Salter, to stop until the King's car had rounded the corner. Salter drove on, and pulled out of the line of traffic, so that the chauffeur of the royal car had to slow down and swerve to avoid a collision, there being just enough room to get through.

Saturday, August 22, 1925. The New Tram Lines

In connection with the relaying of the new tram lines the suggestions have been made, somewhat late, it is true, that the rails should be laid on one side or the other of such streets as Military Road, and that the roadbed would be considerably improved if the track were paved.

It is the intention of the Company, we understand, to use one line instead of two on Water Street. As this will necessitate tearing up and relaying most of the paving, the time would seem most opportune to give consideration to the question of improving the whole of the road surface, and if it is economically possible to cover the street with tarvia or some similar substance, which would help to deaden the noise and fill up the numerous cracks, the appearance of the thoroughfare would be improved and the comfort of those working in the stores and offices greatly increased.

The Fisheries and Resources of Newfoundland

If there is one person more than another who deserves credit for his persistence and enthusiasm in emphasizing the claims of our fishing industry for fuller recognition as our chief source of wealth it is Michael E. Condon. For years his articles have appeared in the press urging increased development, more up-to-date methods of prosecution, and greater enterprise in marketing, and there are few of the suggestions that he has made that are not eminently practicable or that do not give promise of being abundantly profitable.

To-day we have much pleasure in introducing Mr. Condon as the author of a book entitled "The Fisheries and Resources of Newfoundland," which is, as the writer himself says, "published in the interest of Newfoundland."

In this brochure Mr. Condon has presented a review of events in the history of the fisheries of the Island, and has again emphasized the necessity for applying ourselves to the industry with greater energy, greater enterprise and a larger vision. In addition the writer has included in his work most interesting accounts of men of prominence in the past, who by their lives and by their works richly deserve a place of honour in the annals of this country, and many of those who to-day are following in their footsteps are also given special mention. Altogether the information contained in its pages makes the book valuable for purposes of reference; in particular it enables us to know our country better, and should help to inspire us to greater efforts in her behalf. Mr. Condon in his first venture as an author has given considerable time and labour to his compilation, and we feel certain that the enthusiasm which he shows in his subject will receive full recognition at the hands of the public.

Have No Jobs for Canadians in Nfld.

Discrimination Shown by Petty Bosses in Humber. (From the Sydney Post) Since the opening up of development work at Corner Brook, Newfoundland, stories of discrimination against Canadians, particularly men from Cape Breton, by the native Newfoundland officials of the Newfoundland Power, Paper and Utilities Corporation, have been all too common.

Several local young men, just returned from the ancient colony, in discussing conditions at Corner Brook with a Post reporter last evening, stated that while they found the English or Old Country officials excellent men to work under, they could not say the same for the native foremen and superintendents, who persisted in looking on all Canadians as interlopers and never missed an opportunity to make things uncomfortable for them.

It is the intention of the Company, we understand, to use one line instead of two on Water Street. As this will necessitate tearing up and relaying most of the paving, the time would seem most opportune to give consideration to the question of improving the whole of the road surface, and if it is economically possible to cover the street with tarvia or some similar substance, which would help to deaden the noise and fill up the numerous cracks, the appearance of the thoroughfare would be improved and the comfort of those working in the stores and offices greatly increased.

Slandering the Dead

LIVERPOOL'S GREATEST SON--THE STATESMAN AND AUTHOR.

Lord Gladstone's Strong Protest. This week there has been a great controversy throughout the country arising out of certain statements about one of England's greatest Prime Ministers, the late W. E. Gladstone. His private life has been questioned by a certain Peter Wright in a book "Portraits and Criticisms," which contains a grave reflection.

Second portion of the paragraph provoked the following communication to the author: 4, Cleveland Square, St. James, S.W., June 22nd, 1925.

Mr. Peter Wright--Your garbage about Mr. Gladstone in "Portraits and Criticisms" has come to our knowledge. You are a liar. Because you slander a dead man you are a coward.

Clearly Actionable. Messrs. Charles Russell and Co., solicitors for Lord Gladstone, and Mr. H. N. Gladstone, issued a copy of the opinion of Mr. Harold Mosses, K.C., and Mr. Theobald Mathew, with a request that it shall be published. It is as follows:--

(1) We are informed that when Lord Gladstone and Mr. H. N. Gladstone wrote the letter of July 22nd, 1925, a copy was sent by them to the publishers of "Portraits and Criticisms," and to the Editor of "The Nation." We are of opinion that there was a clear publication upon which Captain Peter Wright may bring proceedings for libel.

(2) The statement that Captain Peter Wright is a liar and a coward, and has published inventions on only mean that he, as an author, has published libellous statements well known that he could not be contradicted by the person attacked, or sued by those whose feelings he has outraged.

(3) Further, we are of opinion that criminal proceedings might have been taken on the letter of July 22nd, 1925. Bishop Talbot's Tribute.

Dr. E. S. Talbot, late Bishop of Winchester, has addressed a letter to the editor of the "Weekly Post," in which he says:--

Str--Being in Liverpool, by a coincidence, for the purpose of the Cathedral anniversary on the day when the correspondence about "Mr. Gladstone's character" between Mr. Peter Wright and Mr. Gladstone's surviving sons appeared in the Liverpool and London papers, I should feel something of a traitor if I did not say my word in vindication and honour of Liverpool's greatest son.

I know that a bishop's word on such a matter will count for little with many. It is not, however, as a bishop that I write, but simply as one who from eight years old to the end of Mr. Gladstone's life was brought up in the full intimacy of his personal and family life, and is able, therefore to pass on to younger men some witness to his noble character and uplifting example.

Opening of Paper Mills at Corner Brook

GUESTS FROM ST. JOHN'S ATTENDING CEREMONY.

Upwards of 120 invited guests, including Prime Minister, Hon. W. S. Monroe, and members of the Legislative Council, will leave the city by train to-morrow morning for Corner Brook to be present at the official opening of the Newfoundland Power and Paper Co.'s mills. The first train, known as the sleeper special, will leave town at 10 a.m., and will arrive at Corner Brook 6.30 a.m. Monday.

It is often said, alas, that if enough mud is thrown some of it will stick. I prefer to hope that in this case the mud will be blown away by the breeze of the mass and density of the mud thrown out beyond Mr. Gladstone to whole bodies of men--and distinguished men--whom it involves in the most odious charges. It is as foolish as it is filthy.

His abuse of me was sent to the Press by me. With electioneering phrases about 'coming into the open,' he persists in urging me to complain in a court of law of what I myself told the world. I welcomed his abuse as an opportunity of telling the world the grounds I had for the imputation I made against the late Mr. Gladstone.

Asked if he intended to do anything further, Captain Wright said he would send Lord Gladstone a gold cigarette case in return for all the publicity Lord Gladstone had given his book--Liverpool Post, Aug. 7th.

Agreement Not Reached. We learn that no agreement was reached in connection with the negotiations between the British Empire Steel Corporation representatives and the Executive Government in connection with the future operations at Wabana. The matter is still under the consideration of the Executive and before definite decision is reached the party will be consulted. It is understood that the Besco interests are seeking a reduction in the ore export tax.

Seamen's Strike Spreading

LONDON, B.C., Aug. 22.

An unofficial strike has broken out in London and elsewhere and threatens to spread and affect the British ships in foreign ports, as already it has done in Australia. According to newspaper reports the strike agitators are in progress in Canadian ports. The trouble has arisen through a recent agreement between the two Seamen's Unions and employers for the reduction of wages by one pound sterling monthly. The strike committee says 6,000 men are involved, and 35 ships are held up in London. The Daily Mail says the plot is due to a plot engineered by Communist leaders, who are trying to bring British shipping abroad to a standstill.

LAST NIGHT'S FOOTBALL
Guards Defeat Saints.

The Saints football team suffered a severe jolt at St. George's Field last night, when the Guards, to the surprise of many, turned in their best game of the season and beat the St. Andrew's team, by 2 goals to 1. The Saints, previous to last night's game, were considered strong contenders for the championship, but due to the defeat to which they have suffered, their hopes are now very slim, and gives the B.I.S. and Cadets an even firmer grip on the honors. The game attracted a large gathering of spectators to the field, and throughout the entire sixty-minutes there was no noticeable let up in the play.

The teams appeared on the field at 7.15 sharp, with the Guards defending the western goal, and on the face-off the game grew fast and interesting. The opposing forwards got in some good work, and saw the ball being quickly transferred from end to end with narrow escapes on goal. About ten minutes from the opening of play the Saints confined the leather to Guards territory, and saw one of the players beat Joyce for the first goal, on a slow rolling shot. Scarcely had the cheers of the Saints supporters died away when the Guards staged a determined attack, and beat Noseworthy for the equalizer. During the balance of the half play was a give and take nature, a feature of which was the splendid playing of the opposing back divisions.

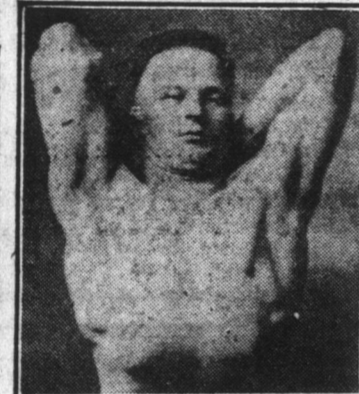

The second half was a repetition of the first, the players being in fine form and playing with all that was in them. The spectators were kept interested and every moment of the game was followed closely. Both teams in turn brought the ball to their opponents' territory, only to have it returned again. In this manner the time advanced, and as watches were eagerly scanned the game was decided by many to be a draw, and it looked like this up to about five minutes before full time. Parsons, who was playing up well for the Guards at this juncture, got in some very good work in mid-field, and upon passing the ball to Meadus on the right, the latter player made a splendid dash up field, and landed the ball from underneath the crossbar into the net, which proved to be the winning goal. The Saints came back strong from then until the end, but the Guards set up a solid defence, and frustrated every attack. The final whistle then sounded, leaving the Guards victors by 2 goals to their opponents' 1.

ports, and the winding up of all affairs in connection with the recent Regatta. Treasurer Jeans presented his financial statement which showed that the total receipts from all sources this season were $3,006.49, and expenditure $1,937.62. The committee already had a balance on hand of $1,688.58 and with this and the surplus, after carrying on the Regatta, had paid out approximately $2,000 for the lakeside work, leaving a credit balance of about $600. A vote of thanks was unanimously accorded Treasurer Jeans for his excellent report. Secretary Ellis also tabled a detailed report of the work accomplished at the lakeside.

President Hiscock, in tendering votes of thanks, paid a well merited tribute to Secretary Ellis for his untiring efforts, and also thanked the Committee for their hearty co-operation in helping to make the Regatta the success that it was.

Dealing with the matter of further improvements at the lakeside, Secretary Ellis stated the Municipal Council had courteously sought suggestions from the committee. The matter was discussed at length, Hon. W. J. Ellis, Messrs. C. W. Ryan, P. F. Collins, J. P. Crotty, E. A. Smith, J. J. Lacey, C. J. Ellis and R. W. Jeans taking part, after which it was decided to leave it in the hands of the Pond Committee, who will report shortly, when further action can be decided on. The location of a site for the Star of the Sea Boathouse was also left to the Pond Committee. On the suggestion of E. J. Brophy, the amendment of the rules governing the Tradesmen's Race will be dealt with later.

Votes of thanks to the City Engineer for his splendid work at the lakeside, and to Messrs. Collins, Smith, and Lacey of the Publicity Committee, were passed, after which the meeting was adjourned.

PROFESSOR SEELEY, THE STRONG MAN, IN TOWN.

Next week sporting fans and the public in general will be given an opportunity of seeing Professor Seeley, a world renowned strong man, in action. The Professor arrived in the city only on Thursday, after completing a successful tour both in the United States and Canada. Judging by his credentials he comes to St. John's well recommended, his feats of skill and strength are most amazing, all of which he has carried out before spellbound audiences. Not since the days of Al. Marks, have we had such a man as Prof. Seeley in our midst, and all that the sporting fraternity is asked to do for the present is to watch the advertising columns for the announcement of his first show: Driving spikes through a 3 1/2 inch plank with his hands and draws them out with his teeth; makes staples out of heavy spikes or steel bars with his hands only. He can hold 5 spans of horses or two cars. Bonds new steel bars 1 inch thick; Holds 30 men on the stage. Lifts 2800 lbs. with his back; 1000 lbs. with his neck. Supports 2000 lbs. across his neck. Allows any kind of a heavy rock (weight up to 800 lbs.) to be broken on his chest with a 15 lb. sledge hammer.

Professor Seeley has the largest chest expansion in the world (18 in.), while he can expand his neck 7 inches. He is also an adept of boxing and wrestling, and is always ready to meet any man in the world at his own weight. It is his intention to remain in this city for about ten days, following which he will make a tour of the Island.

THE THROW-IN RULE.
(By OLYMPIC)
Although the senior clubs have yet to throw open the gates for the entrance of seasons 1925-26, we are already in the middle of more than a merely mild controversy. During the course of some junior games last week-end certain referees formed their own interpretation of the new throw-in rule, and penalized players who, although delivering the ball from a stance outside the touch-line, raised themselves on their toes while making the throw. Other referees permitted this additional means of propulsion, and contented themselves with being satisfied that the thrower did not encroach on the lines. Determined to prevent any friction occurring at the coming senior games on this point, the Scottish Football Referees' Association approached the S.F.A. in an endeavour to procure a clear and concise reading of the new rule, the only doubtful part of which is, of course, "Must the player taking the throw-in do so while standing with heels and toes on the ground, or is he permitted to raise the heels from the ground?" No satisfaction was received on the ruling as revised and passed by the International Board last June. Mr. Arthur Graham, the secretary of the Referees' Association, has forwarded to me the official finding of his committee on the rule, which instructs members of the Association to grant a free kick against players taking the throw-in who should raise their heels from the ground; a goal not to be scored direct from the kick. Unless, therefore, in the interim, the S.F.A. should direct otherwise, we shall have perfect unanimity on the throw-in rule when the games commence on August 15. Personally, my desire is that players throwing-in should be allowed to raise the heels. It would obviate much needless discussion on a mere triviality.

Changed Living Conditions in the Wheat Lands

(By C. F. BANNERMAN)

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 14.—(Canadian Press)—Straight grain farming or wheat raising as it is called in Western Canada is gradually but surely becoming a thing of the past on the three prairie provinces. No longer is it possible to find the traditional mound of tin cans in the backyard of each farm home for the time when such a state of affairs signified that the farmer was dependent upon the returns from his wheat crop for his daily food is nearly gone.

Almost every farmer in Western Canada today has at least a few pigs, cows or poultry and some sort of a vegetable garden from which he secures food not only for himself and family but also sufficient returns to look after his current expenses on a cash basis. Manitoba and Alberta undoubtedly lead in this development but even Saskatchewan, the great wheat raising province of the west, has an ever-increasing number of farmers who are followers of the mixed farming plan to the extent that they are living upon the products of their farms.

There are of course some exceptional areas and some farmers who still cling to the belief that straight grain farming is the only profitable method of farming in Saskatchewan and so far as they have their minds as an alternative system of extensive mixed farming there is some justification for their attitude, because of the fact that carrying charges and distances from a suitable market greatly reduce their chances of marketing any other product than wheat with profit to themselves.

From observations made there appears, however, to be no excuse for any wheat farmer not having sufficient live stock and a large enough vegetable garden to enable him to exist even in the face of repeated crop failures. The fact that this is recognized by most of the western farmers has produced a change which is exceedingly beneficial to Western Canada.

This change is shown mainly through the fact that a larger percentage of the small country stores are finding it possible to cut down their extensive credit and secure cash for their products. Further investigation also reveals that almost every branch of trade has felt the good effect of doing a larger cash business while it appears that the number of applications for the usual "tiding over till the crop is cut" loans have been materially reduced.

All of these facts combine to confirm an impression which even an eight weeks' tour, with all its limitations of adequately surveying the three prairie provinces, creates. It is the impression that granted the absence of exotic boom conditions, Western Canada is entering upon an era of economic stability which will in any event prove a sound basis for the future prosperity of agriculture and which may well be the fore-runner of that prosperity.

Swiss Mountaineer Saved by His Dog

Animal Carried Word of Accident Which Brought Sons to Scene.

GENEVA, August 15.—A Swiss named Champod, who was climbing with a fox terrier in the Diablerets Mountain region the other day fell down a steep slope and broke his leg. Unable to move, and knowing he would be frozen to death if he spent the night in the open, Champod decided to communicate with his relations by means of his dog. He wrote in pencil a note describing the accident and the exact spot on the mountainside where he was stranded, and asked his sons to bring a stretcher and hot drinks.

He placed the note in a handkerchief which he tied round the neck of the terrier and ordered it home. The dog at first would not leave the spot, but when his master threw stones at him and pointed to the valley, the animal seemed to understand and ran down.

A few hours later Champod's sons, who found the note, arrived with a stretcher, and the victim was carried to the valley where his dog, barking with joy, was the first to greet him.

Judge Was Making Fifty But King Passed Him Easily

LONDON, August 14.—Lord Dundedin, one of the lords of appeal, is responsible for a story which has been going the rounds lately and which the distinguished jurist takes a great delight in telling.

Meeting one of the princes recently, Lord Dundedin said to him: "Please present my respects to his majesty and congratulate him on having a good motor car. He passed me the other day on the Portsmouth road when I was doing 50 miles an hour."

The King laughed heartily when he got the message, and is said to have replied: "Well, I suppose we both ought to have been fined for speeding."

Little Jack Rabbit by David Cory

While the Luckymobile goes rolling along the little people sing a song. For Uncle Lucky steers the car, and Little Love holds the cracker jar. And Miss Mousie sits by her side, her bonnet strings under her tiny chin.

And Little Jack Rabbit, clean and neat, sits near Uncle Lucky on the front seat.

Yes, there they go, these happy little people for a ride through the Shady Forest this hot August day. Wish you and I little reader, were with them. Think of the fun we'd have.

By and by, after a while, and a bump and smile, and more than a mile, Uncle Lucky said, all of a sudden: "Goodness me, I wonder if the little dwarf shoemaker has finished my slippers."

"Do you think he has made Daddy Louie's eight shoes?" enquired the little rabbit.

"Oh, you mentioned them," laughed the old gentleman rabbit. "Didn't I promise to get Daddy Louie's four more pairs when he threw all his shoes at Danny Fox the day we had our narrow escape? Gracious meebus, but I'm growing forgetful, absent minded and thoughtless," and dear Uncle Lucky tried to frown. But he couldn't. No, sreee, Uncle Lucky never could frown,—only smile, for his heart was full of kindness and his pockets full of money. Wonderful combination. Yes, sreeebus.

"Maybe you two ladies would like slippers," suddenly said Uncle Lucky, turning about to smile at Lady Love and Little Miss Mousie. "Guess we'll call on the dwarf shoemaker," and with that the old gentleman rabbit turned down the road through the Whispering Glen where the fairies lived far from the haunts of men.

"I'd like a new pair of shoes," whispered the bunny boy.

"What's that?" asked Uncle Lucky, smiling into his small nephew's upturned face. "Shoes for you, eh? Well, you shall have them. The dwarf shoemaker shall take your measurements this very afternoon as sure as I'm wearing my precious old wedding stovepipe hat. Hope Billy Breeze doesn't blow it off my head. I forget to tie my blue silk polka-dot handkerchief over the top and under my chin, and nice Uncle Lucky gave a grin.

Pretty soon, not so very far, he stopped right in front of the dwarf shoemaker's tiny hut in the Fairy Bunny Forest.

Lovely place, this fairy bunny forest. Rabbit Sprites, Bunny Fairies and Ragged Rabbit Giant,—only one Giant, but he was larger than all the little people put together.

Right at the open window of his little hut sat the dwarf shoemaker, busily stitching. But on seeing the Luckymobile he rose and walked out. "Good day," he said, politely raising the little leather cap from his bald head. "Good day, Mr. Lucky! Good day, ladies. How do you do, little rabbit." My goodness, he was polite. Well, I should say so. Guess he knew he was talking to the President of the Rabbitville Savings Bank and his friends. He was a diplomat, was that little dwarf shoemaker. And in the next story you shall hear what happened after that.

A Patience Key

KEEPS SPEED TEMPTATION FROM NEW MOTORISTS.

A device to keep new motorists out of temptation is now being adopted by one of the leading firms of car makers. All new cars should be driven slowly for the first 500 miles, but few owners have the necessary patience to follow this rule.

New cars delivered by this firm have a special washer in the inlet pipe limiting its aperture so that the engine cannot develop more power than is required for a speed of 25 miles an hour. The washer can only be removed by a special key.

Some owners have charge of the key, but others leave it with the firm or a local agent and collect it after the car has done its first 500 miles.

Norway Officially Takes Possession of Spitzbergen

OSLO, Norway, Aug. 14. (A.P.)—Norway to-day took official possession of the Svalbard, or Spitzbergen archipelago, which was awarded her by International Treaty signed in Paris, February 9, 1930.

Oslo was decorated with flags to-day, in honor of the occasion and salutes were fired from the Akershus fortress. Premier Mowinkel issued a statement declaring that the incorporation of Svalbard makes August 14, a red letter day in our history.

You can depend upon its powerful service from this "B" Battery.

THE Eveready 22½-volt "B" Battery, No. 766, is especially adapted for use with "soft" detector tubes. On account of its large-size cells, it is by far the most economical 22½-volt "B" Battery made. Six Fahnestock spring clip connectors provide a range of voltage from 16½ to 22½.

There is an Eveready Radio Battery for every radio use.

Train Wrecks in France Terrorize

HOSTS OF TOURISTS FILLED WITH FEAR AS NEWSPAPERS COMMENT.

PARIS, Aug. 15.—(A.P.)—An unusual number of railway accidents have taken place in France of late, filling hosts of vacation travellers with terror and causing much comment in the newspapers. Two more such accidents occurred yesterday, making three within twenty-four hours and six within two weeks.

The most serious of the two accidents yesterday was on the northern road to St. Dennis, where shortly before midnight, the Cologne-Paris express for some reason as yet unexplained, dashed into the rear of the Lille-Paris express, which, behind time, had been held up by the signals. Four third-class cars were telescoped, causing three deaths and injury to twenty-seven persons.

The other accident took place at Pontoise, to the Dieppe express. It is said to have been caused by the throwing of a switch before the train had passed completely over it. Four cars capsized and six persons were slightly hurt.

What Do You Think of That?

There is an aspect of spider and fly relation which fabulists and naturalists alike have overlooked. An observer has brought the microscope to bear on many house flies and finds that the parasite upon that hateful insect is often an immature spider. Too weak yet to spin its web it makes the fly its winged paltry, and courses from place to place at the will of its captive; either until Pegasus perishes naturally or presumably until the richer has grown up and is able to make a meal of his charger.

Dodge Brothers Set New Record

Deliveries and Production Exceed Best Previous Week in History.

Although Dodge Brothers Motor Cars are now being built at the rate of 197 per cent.

Dodge Brothers have been establishing new high records continuously for several months, as compared with similar periods for previous years, but the record of the week ending April 11 is the best in the company's history.

With retail deliveries aggregating more than 7,000, an average of more than 1,300 each production day, the best previous week was surpassed by several hundred cars.

New retail orders exceeded the corresponding week of 1924 by 1,000, or approximately 1,100 a day, both deliveries and new orders are some 200 a day in excess of production.

"Had dealers' stocks permitted, the number of deliveries for the record week would have been even greater," said John A. Nichols, Jr., Vice-President in Charge of Sales. "It is not a spur, but a steady, healthful climb."

Summon the Reckless

MR. CAIRNS'S ADVICE TO MOTORISTS.

(By J. A. Cairns, the London Magistrate.)

No more perplexing problems come before magistrates than those associated with motors and motoring, and I confess that those magistrates who do not drive nor experience the incidents of driving, must find some difficulty in assessing either blame or penalty. We live in the petrol age, and, at the moment, neither police, nor cyclists seem to be aware of it. And motorists, at times, seem to be much aware.

In order to find out definite data concerning the whole metropolitan area, I undertook an experiment last Saturday covering some 30 miles, and in order to avoid the bias that is associated with driving I provided myself with a driver of skill and experience and took the other seat.

It was no longer my judgment versus the judgment of other drivers, or cyclists or pedestrians. I could be detached and judicial.

In all I covered from Hammer-smith Bridge to Barkingside and from Wembley to Putney Bridge. I was in Knightsbridge and Piccadilly, Haymarket and Strand, Aldgate, Whitechapel, and Ilford. I was in Oxford-street, Edgware-road, Harrow-road, Wembley and Sudbury, and then due south across the river.

Faith in Motorists.

It was an interesting and revealing experience. It was a study in good manners and bad, skill, adaptability, and, above all, in faith. If ever a definition were accurate, that of St. Paul's is where he describes faith as "the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen."

The faith of pedestrians and cyclists in motorists is the most amazing thing in the world. They attribute to them skill, wisdom, judgment, and maternal concern. No anxious mother ever watched with more anxious care the toddling steps of infancy that that attributed to motorists.

After 90 miles of London street traffic, I am surprised at the smallness of street casualties.

Again and again I was aghest at the blarney of the stupid, and at the audacious recklessness of motorists.

Again and again I was disappointed at the casual control by the police.

Again and again I saw gesticulations by policemen on traffic duty that no motorists could possibly translate into definite guidance.

I saw officers entranced in gay conversation with girls, and the motor call was an intrusion from an un-sentimental world. A mechanical wave of the hand, anyhow, was a sign of something or another or nothing.

The "Bus Drivers."

The behaviour of the omnibus drivers was in nearly every case creditable to the London General Omnibus Company and to the loyalty with which the men respect their instructions. Sometimes a driver drew out too quickly from a stopping place and signalled contemporaneously with the pull out. I must confess that I cannot pay the same tribute to the "buses."

They exhibited neither the skill nor courtesy that was given by the trained drivers of the L.G.O.C. Some taxicab drivers exhibited a reckless disregard of safety that amazed me. They turned round their little vehicles on their own axes, regardless of on-coming traffic. Another prowled on the crown of the road.

The permission of the same stopping-places for tramway-cars and omnibuses undoubtedly intensifies the traffic problem. In many places there was a hold-up due entirely to the fact that the road being occupied by the stationary omnibus and tramway-car.

Lads as Drivers.

I had several narrow escapes from collisions at cross-roads and by-streets, and in every case the drivers were lads of eighteen and nineteen. On at least three occasions a very nasty smash was avoided by the skillful driving of my companion. It would be interesting to discover how many street accidents occur in which the drivers are lads under twenty-one.

The speed and behaviour of motor-cyclists received attention for they buzzed past in all the principal high-ways. I saw few who seemed to appreciate the rules of safety. It would be inhuman to say that some of them get what they deserve, but it is the bare truth to say that most of them are asking for trouble. It is, I think, an obvious commonplace that in the toll of the road motor-cyclists are usually involved.

The "push" cyclist is the super-optimist. Twice, at least, I stopped to admonish those who, in the green-streets blindly. In recent weeks I have been nearly involved in cases that might have led to inquests. And the lamentable thing is that sympathy is with the cyclist, qua cyclist and against the motorist qua motorist.

I have little sympathy with the motorist who, by reason of his car, takes possession of the road. I recently demonstrated that fact by prosecuting a man for obstruction. But grave injustice is done by a prior inference that the motorist is always in the wrong.

The Remedy.

There are drivers on the roads, and particularly at the week-ends who are a danger and a pest.

It is idle to expect the police to find out, and punish these men and women. It would need an army corps of police to patrol the roads. Decent motorists have the remedy in their own hands. It will mean some inconvenience and loss of time, but it is worth it. Summon the reckless driver who puts others in jeopardy and scare the fool who is driving to the common danger.

A cyclist who rides at night without a rear light should take a drive one dark night in a motor car. It is an experience that he is unlikely to forget, because he will be astounded at the risks that he has been accustomed to undertake.

I have formed some definite opinions:

The age for driving licences for cycles and cars should be raised, and there should be a declaration of physical fitness.

A deaf or half-blind man ought not to be permitted on the road.

Cyclists and pedestrians should be taught to understand that while motorists must drive with skill and caution, they are under no obligation to wet-nurse every passer-by on wheels or on foot.

Reckless motorists should have their licenses suspended for a prolonged period, and for a succeeding conviction they should be prohibited from driving.

Considerate drivers, with the cooperation of the Automobile Association and Motoring Union, should of their own initiative prosecute drivers who make the highway unsafe for other users.

It is not the police who are the enemy of the motorists: it is the incompetent.

In the distribution of his estate the venerable Sheriff left several bequests and legacies to religious and philanthropic causes. Amongst these are:

1. To his Executors in trust, the Balsam Place and Annex, the rents, issues and profits derived from which are to be paid to the Trustees and Managers of the Church of England Orphanage, subject to certain conditions, on the fulfilment of which the whole property is to pass absolutely to the Orphanage.

2. To the Methodist Orphanage, $500.

3. To the Belvedere Orphanage, $500.

4. To the St. Vincent de Paul Society, $500.

5. To the Dorcas Society, $500.

6. To the Roman Catholic Priest of Ferryland in trust for the widows and orphans of that town, $500.

7. To the Lord Bishop of Newfoundland, to be applied by him in such a manner as he shall think proper to the fund for the benefit of Clergymen, known as the Red Cross Fund, $6,000.

8. To the Permanent Marine Disaster Fund, $1,000.

9. To the Directors of Bishop Spencer College, $1,000.

10. To the Lord Bishop of Newfoundland and his successors, one thousand shares in the Great Gulf Lake Company, towards the fund for the erection of the Tower of the Church of England Cathedral.

These legacies are not to be payable until at least one year after the testator's decease.
