The customs officials. Oh! no, not at all! But to maintain all the custom houses as they are now, and merely to refrain from levying the cost of them! Moreover, the number of offices and officials is to be largely increased, so that at almost any spot on the frontier those who wish to cross can make recentries of that the may be carrying. Je-rusalem!

The custom Bank? Suspension.

The public and business community will regret the suspension of the Contral Bank.

It is to be hoped that the suspension is only temporary, and that business will be resumed an inext immediately. Whether this will be done or not depends on the other banks.

The Central fine not made many losses—it has, however, made considerable lock-ups, and this is the cause of its present embarrases ment. It has been doing too much business on a hmited capital.

Bill holders are fully protected; depositors may have to wait a little while for their money; the shareholders can be the only losses, and if things go right even they may come out unscashed.

Such things were unusual in the country, and he hoped Toronto would not set a bad example. Then the matter dropped. Mr. Cryderman, in reply to Mr. Nesbitt, said: "I voted for Murchison, Pearen, Miller, Gregory, House and myself. I positively deny that I voted for Harvey, Sanders, N. C. The pering With Anamas.

Woodstock Nov. 14.—The Woodstock Asize Court just closed was the scene of a hothy contested slander suit, Strong v. Gessing. The parties are rival storekeepers and leading citizens of the Town of Princeton. B. B. Osler, Q. C., appeared for the plaintiff. Mr. G. Blackstock of Toronto opened the defence by calling upon the plaintiff. After a protracted cross-examination the witness admitted he had been guilty of tampering with a witness against him in this way. He carefully out from his Bible the story of Anamas in the Acts of the Apostles, and in a disgussed hand addressed it to the witness. Mr. Blackstock in his address to the jury gave him an unmerciful raking. He was followed by Mr. Osler in an eloquent appeal for his client. The jury gave the defendant a verdict.
