NOTE AND COMMENT

The Manchester Guardian says that there will be no war in Ireland because it would cost too much. Considerations of economy did not prevent the Great War.

Do not worry; eat three meals a day; say your prayers; be courteous; keep your digestion good; exercise; go slow and easy. Maybe there are other things that your special case requires to make you happy, but, my friend, these I reckon will give you a good life.—Abraham Lincoln.

San Francisco Chronicle.—A Berkeley man caused the arrest of a neighbor woman, asserting that she scolded him 13 1/2 hours at one stretch and at the end of that time he didn't know what she was peevish about. The man must have exaggerated. No woman could talk that long without saying something.

A South Carolina court has established a precedent by awarding $2,000 damages to the widow of a negro who was lynched. The damages are assessed against the county authorities for failure to protect their prisoner, and may do more than persuasion to bring about a reform in the South.

Toronto Telegram police court scribe, in reporting the arrest of several visiting Americans in Toronto for B.O.T.A. appends the following verse:

Sing a song of sixpence,
Four bottles full of rye,
Four and twenty Yankees,
Feeling good and dry.
When the rye was opened,
They all began to sing
"To blazes with the U.S.A.
God Save the King."

Paris decrees that short skirts are to be worn no longer. Ambiguous this. Obviously, if short skirts are to be worn no longer, then they will remain short. On the other hand, if they are to be no longer worn, then there'll be short skirts no longer, and if they are no longer then, of course, short skirts will remain at their present length, if they don't become shorter—in other words, short skirts will be worn no longer, just as the news item states. We thought at first it was ambiguous, but it isn't.—Boston Transcript.

Albert Miller, the Canadian war veteran who was chosen to carry the "cease fire" order from the British headquarters to the Canadian forces at Mons, and who died in Buffalo on Armistice Day, last week, will be buried with full military honors in the military section of Prospect Cemetery in Toronto, according to a telegram received by Major General V. A. S. Williams from Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of militia. The expense of the ceremony and interment will be borne by the Dominion Government.

Every elector should make certain that he or she is on the list for voting on December 6th. The law in brief is that every person, male or female, of the age of 21 years, a British subject, and who has resided in the polling sub-division for two months previous to the day of polling and has resided in Canada for one year, and not otherwise disqualified will have a vote. The one sure way to be on the list is to get on, and the surest way to get on is to be positive that you are either on now or put on at the time of registration. Don't take it for granted. Be sure about it.

Woodstock Sentinel-Review.—We learn from the Ottawa Journal that some of the candidates in the field at present have the political comprehension of a flea. It is to be hoped that no reflection on the flea is intended. The quality of comprehension displayed by the flea is not to be despised. The flea knows a thing or two. It knows how to live in comfort at the expense of somebody else, and it knows how to change position without fuss or delay. The comprehension of a flea might therefore be very useful in a candidate.

Jokingly or otherwise, much has been said as to the inability of womankind to keep a secret. To those who were doubters along this line comes the news that an attempt is being made to open the doors of the Masonic Order for their admittance. Free Masons are credited with possessing "shut mouths" so if the dear sisters are to be initiated they must make up their minds that not "even a whisper" must be uttered about the proverbial "goat", "branding" or any thing else that is guessed at by the outsider. Surely this old world is in a whirl of innovation and change.

It is a bigger thing to be a good farmer than some of us think. There are those who seem to think that if we draw on a pair of overalls, follow the plough all day and worry a whole lot about the weather and things, therefore we are fine farmers. Land sakes, a stove pipe hat and a book under your arm don't make you a preacher. The thought you put into your work, the smiles you get from the earth when you tickle it in the ribs, the real good you do—these are the things that make you a farmer. Size yourself up once in a while. It will do you—and the rest of us—lots of good.—St. Marys Journal.

A Detroit lady, a child welfare worker in New York had her home recently robbed of some $25,000 in jewels. She had taken some $8,000 worth of jewels out of her collection to wear the following day and placed the balance back in a wall safe. The next day her stock was missing. In the first place, any woman who keeps $30,000 worth of jewelry in her home isn't right in the head, secondly, $30,000 stored in a little safe is too much of a temptation to put in the way of a New York sinner, and thirdly, any child welfare worker should have no more use for that much jewelry than a monkey has for an eyeglass; so, perhaps this lady is better off without a load of gew gaws to carry around on her welfare trips.

Prices current for whiskey, or alleged whiskey, in Toronto, are pretty high. Here are the city rates, according to a writer in the Star Weekly. The better class bootlegger is selling whiskey at $7 and $8 a quart, for which he paid from $2 to $3.50. The lower-grade blind pig operators charge 75 cents a glass. The glass they sell almost invariably holds one ounce. Out of a 24 ounce bottle they get $18, or a profit of from $15 to $16. On the lower grade stuff, quantities of which are said by clients of this class to be increasing, the profits are larger. The average quality of the liquor sold is getting fouler and fouler, and ultimately it will no doubt become so deadly that the traffic will kill itself.

Pets may be a source of danger in a house unless they are looked after very carefully. Frequently children are allowed to play with unhealthy or unclean dogs and cats, and their parents wonder why they suffer from colds or other ailments so often. Dogs and cats suffer from colds and influenza which can be communicated to human beings. Their long coats provide an ideal resting place for the germs of various diseases unless they are kept scrupulously clean. Never allow a dog to lick you or your child for a dog is one of the dirtiest feeders in the world. Birds are usually infested with parasites, by means of which diseases may be passed to other creatures, or even to human beings. Never keep a pet that is not perfectly healthy, and see that it is always absolutely clean.

The Provincial Department of Highways intends to control all road signs erected in the Province, and in line with this decision the signs erected by merchants and others, giving directions to motorists and at the same time acting as advertising mediums, must come down. That decision has been communicated by the department to the Retail Merchants' Association of Toronto. Signs erected by motor clubs and motor leagues must also be removed, the department deciding to exercise its control over the highway between the line fences and for 440 yards on either side as well. In order to avoid embarrassment to persons or organizations recently placing signs it has been decided that the new regulations will not be enforced for some months. The department will also ask the motor league to remove the "danger" or direction signs installed by them, and in their place the department will erect a sign which will be uniform all through the province. The motive behind the department's decision is the elimination of objectionable signs as well as regulation which will prevent the placing of signs in positions where the natural beauty of the scenery will be marred. This is a reform which the department has had many requests to effect.

Children Cry for Fletcher's

CASTORIA

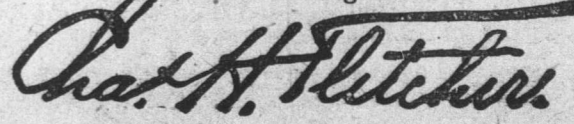

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. Unloyalty to the Home Town is Expensive

A farmer of Iowa has discovered that the benefits which appear on the surface as attached to the mail order plans sometimes spell disaster, and has written a very interesting story of his views in a farm paper. Here is a part of his story:—

"We farmers have been awakened to the fact that we have unmistakably reached the period where we must think and plan. I am one of the slow farmers who had to be shown, and I am now giving my experience that others may profit, for knowledge is more expensive now than it was ten years ago. Twenty-nine years ago I began my career; I had an old team and $50.00. Our furniture was mostly homemade chairs, cupboard and lounge made from dry goods boxes, neatly covered with ten-cent cretonne by my girl wife. We entered eighty acres. Being a boy of good habits, I got all needed machinery and groceries of our home merchants on credit until fall crops were sold. The first year was a wet season and I did not make enough to pay creditors. I went to each on dates of promise and explained conditions, paying as much as possible, and they all carried the balance over another year. They continued to accommodate us until I was able to buy a forty-acre piece of my own.

As soon as I owned these forty acres the mail order houses began sending me catalogues, and gradually I began sending my loose change to them, letting my accounts stand in my home town, where I had gotten my accommodation when I needed it. We then had one of the thriftiest little villages in the state—a good line of businesses and a town full of people in all branches; merchants who were willing to help an honest fellow over who came twice a week to trade. Our little country town supported a library, high school, band, ball team and we had big celebrations every year.

A farm near a live town soon doubles in value. I sold my forty acres at a big advance and bought eighty acres, gradually adding to it until I had two hundred acres of the best land in Iowa. I then felt no need of asking favors and found it easy to patronize the mail order agents that came almost weekly to our door. I regret to say that I was the first in the county to make up a neighborhood bill and send it to a mail order house. Though we got bitten every once in a while we got in the habit of sending for stuff. Gradually our merchants lessened their stock of goods—for lack of patronage, finally we began to realize that when we needed a bolt quickly for machinery, or clothing for sickness or death, we had to wait or send away for it, which wasn't so pleasant. One by one our merchants moved to places where they were appreciated, and men of less energy moved in. Gradually our town has gone down; we have no band, no library or ball team. There is no business done in town and therefore no taxes to keep things up. Hotel is closed for lack of travel. Go down to the depot when the freight comes in and you will see the sequel in mail order packages.

Nine years ago my farm was worth $197 per acre; to-day I'd have a hard time to sell it at $167 an acre. It is too far from a live town, so every farmer has said who wants to buy. He wants a place near schools and churches, where his children can have advantages. I have awakened to the fact that in helping to pull the town down I dropped $5,600 in nine years."

ADVERTISING IS CAPITAL

"Twenty years ago one of the best known names in national advertising was James Pyle's Pearline. The advertising had run continuously since 1873. In 1904 the appropriation for that year amounted to $500,000.00, which was a great deal of money in those days. In 1907, the concern having passed into the hands of an estate, the trustees saw an opportunity by which they could save (?) many dollars by cutting out the advertising. Pearline lost favor rapidly, and in 1914 tried to come back. Several hundred thousand dollars were spent, which amount would have made a considerable dent on the market for a new product, but Pearline was not a new product. It was trying to come back, which was infinitely more difficult.

"In 1915, according to our information, Pearline was sold to a competitor for just the cost of the machinery as junk and the stock on hand as raw material.

"A merchant can build up a splendid business in his town if he will advertise constantly, and it will continue to grow as long as he advertises.

"Advertising is the modern miracle worker, but it must be done consistently and constantly. You cannot stop in the middle of the stream and expect to get across."

HUMOR IN POLITICS

The Calgary Herald complains that not one of the three leaders ever lightens up his addresses with a glimpse of sunshine—meaning that they lack humor, and this leads the Globe to remark that Sir John A. Macdonald and Sir Wilfrid Laurier were both humorists and occasionally could turn away wrath with a joke. Tupper was heavily serious and Sir John Thompson carried from the Bench the manner of a judge sentencing a prisoner to be hanged.

The Globe advises: "Humor is a good thing, which we advise all public men to cultivate. It oils the creaking machinery of politics. It is best when it is good natured and not intended to wound."

Cartwright was another heavily serious man. His playfulness was elephantine, but he did at times rid himself of a phrase that was light and sprightly.

In the late eighties one John Collins published a life of Sir John A. It was more remarkable for its fulsome flattery of the Premier than for any literary graces. Cartwright was speaking in the House a few days after the book appeared. "I have observed," he said, as he looked at the Premier, "that John Collins has done full justice to the Leader of this House, which is but right, seeing that the Leader has himself done justice to so many John Collinses."

KEEP HEALTHY

DURING WINTER

Colds and Diseases May be Avoided if the Blood is Kept Pure.

Do not let your blood get thin this winter. For people who have a tendency towards anaemia, or bloodlessness, winter is a trying season. Lack of exercise and fresh air, and the more restricted diet; are among the many things that combine to lower the tone of the body and deplete the blood.

As soon as you notice the tired feeling, lack of appetite and shortness of breath that are warning symptoms of thin blood, take a short course of treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Do not wait until the color has entirely left your cheeks, until your lips are white and your eyes dull. It is so much easier to correct thinning of the blood in the earlier stages than later. This is well illustrated in the case of Mrs. E. Williams, Elk Lake, Ont., who says:—"I take great pleasure in letting you know the benefit I have found in the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I was in an anaemic condition, and was very weak and run down. The least exertion would leave me breathless and it was with difficulty that I did household work. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after the use of four boxes I felt like a new person. In fact my system seemed filled with new energy and new life. I strongly recommend this medicine to all who feel weak and run down."

The purpose of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is to build up the blood. They do this one thing and they do it well. They are for this reason an invaluable remedy in diseases arising from bad or deficient blood, as rheumatism, neuralgia, after-effects of the grip or fevers. The pills are guaranteed to be free from opiates or any harmful drug and cannot injure the most delicate system.

You can procure Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or they will be sent you by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, by writing direct to The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Which?

Crerar

The head of a great trading organization which unites its trading with its politics—a political theorist—has lost control of the political movement he started and is being driven into impossible positions by class rule extremists. He is under the domination of Wood, the political boss of Alberta. He would give effect to Free Trade, thus destroying Canada's industrial and economic structure.

A Vote for Crerar is a Vote for Chaos

King

So evasive that nobody knows where he actually stands on the great issues of the day. Fits his policy to suit his audiences. Talks Free Trade to the West and Protection to the East. Specializes in high-sounding phraseology. His party is pledged to a large measure of Free Trade, but fails to suggest new methods of obtaining necessary National Revenues.

A Vote for King is a Plunge in the Dark

Meighen

Easily the outstanding figure in Canadian public life to-day, and the only real Leader in sight. Able, forceful, courageous, and upright in character. A statesman of demonstrated ability with broad National and Imperial vision and an unassailable record. Stands firm for the maintenance of a reasonable Protective Tariff, and aims to provide the maximum amount of profitable labour for all.

U. S. NAVAL DISARMAMENT PLAN

Washington, Nov. 13.—A step characterized by one of Britain's delegates as "pregnant with infinite possibilities for good," was proposed by the United States Government yesterday when Secretary of State Hughes, head of the United States delegation, addressing the opening session of the disarmament conference, put forward the following sweeping programme.

That there should be a naval holiday for not less than ten years.

That the United States scrap thirty capital ships, built and building with a total tonnage of $45,740.

That Great Britain scrap nineteen capital ships, making a total tonnage of 411,375; also certain second line ships, making a total tonnage of 583,375 tons.

That Japan scrap seven capital and other ships for a total tonnage reduction of 448,928.

In other words, that the powers take their first step from the race in naval armaments, by wiping out at one full swoop sixty-six of their monster ships, with a total of 1,878,043 tons.

N. H. L. GOVERNORS FIX NEW PENALTY RULINGS

Toronto, Nov. 15.—The new penalty rule adopted by the governors of the National Hockey League at their meeting yesterday is the same as that in effect in the O. H. A., with the exception that fouls are catalogued and a definite penalty for each provided.

This year in the N. H. L. circuit each player who is penalized for a foul of any description will serve his term on the fence and his team will play shorthanded. It does not make any difference how many players are fenced, all will have to serve their penalties as they are inflicted, and the team will suffer. There will be no deferring of penalties.

For minor offences players will be ruled off for three minutes, for major fouls five minutes and for match fouls which are imposed for fighting or deliberately striking a player or an official with the stick, the penalty is 20 minutes at least, and may be banishment for the remainder of the game. The system of fining players for certain offences also remains in force.

The rules were also changed so that a pass from a goalkeeper to a player within the nearest red line will be considered an outside.

CHOP STUFF

John S. Clark, a well-known resident of Sarnia, for fifty years, is dead.

W. J. Coulter, license inspector for West Lambton, has been advised by the Board of License Commissioners for Ontario that his inspectorate has been extended to include the entire county in view of the fact that Wm. Culbert, of Wyoming, assistant inspector in charge of East Lambton district has tendered his resignation. Inspector Coulter was appointed to succeed the late George Lucas in February of this year.

A telephone conversation between a Sarnia man and another at Portmouth, Ore., approximately 3,000 miles distant, was recorded on Sunday evening, when the Rev. H. C. Dunsmore of Independence, Ore., conversed with his daughter, Mrs. O. A. Macey, and with his little granddaughter. Mr. Dunsmore said that the conversation was carried on with perfect ease and the voices were so distinct that it was scarcely conceivable that they were being carried that distance on wires.

The village of Streetsville is faced with a $2 mill rate the next two years. This is the outcome of a defeated bylaw authorizing an issue of debentures to pay for the new cement roadway which was built first, then submitted to the people. The result is that the money will have to be raised in two years instead of 20. The money to repay the bank will be raised one year and the money to pay the contractor the next. In 1922 the tax rate will be raised eight mills over 1921 rate and seven mills extra imposed in 1923.

The ceremony connected with the unveiling of the memorial tablet in the Methodist church, Petrolia, on Sunday morning was successfully carried out before a large congregation which included the mayor and Council. The following names appear on the tablet: Sidney Brown, James Craig, George Colter, William Coulter, James Douglas, Newell Hastings, Albert Houston, Henry Kerr, John Miller, Clarence Maitland, Reginald Metcalf, Eldon Portsmouth, Clarence Russell, George Fred Stone, Thomas Scott, James Wade, Howard Ward.

A WATFORD BOY IN THE WEST

JOSEPH H. MITCHELL

(From the Prince Albert Herald) Joseph Harley Mitchell, secretary of the board of trade of Prince Albert, was born at Watford, Ontario, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Angus Mitchell, who still reside in that town and five of whose sons, including "Joe," entered the drug business.

After passing through the public and high schools of Watford, where he was active in sport, Mr. Mitchell commenced his apprenticeship as a druggist in London, Ontario, going from there to Montreal, where he was for three years head dispenser in the largest drug store in Montreal, that of John Lewis, at the corner of St. Catherine and University streets, and where he received the thorough training that made his success when he entered business for himself later a certainty. From Montreal he went to Winnipeg, where he managed a store for a time until in 1904 he came to Prince Albert and bought out Woolley's drug store on River street, which he operated for seven years and where his uniform courtesy won for him general popularity. At any time, day or night, he was ready to meet any emergency call for dispensing. "Service" was the essential feature of the business. In 1911, owing to illness, he sold his business, and after that time until he took up the position of secretary of the board of trade, he spent a great deal of his time in the East.

In 1917 he married Edna Clark Ingram, of Sarnia, Ontario, daughter of Henry Ingram, treasurer of Lambton county and Mrs. Ingram. They have one son, Jack.

In addition to his duties at the board of trade, Mr. Mitchell is secretary treasurer of the Prince Albert Golf Club and vestry clerk of St. Alban's pro-cathedral. He is a member of Kinistino No. 1 Masonic Lodge, of the Rotary Club and of the Keewatin Club. His hobbies are golfing and motoring.

The appointment of Mr. Mitchell as secretary of the board of trade may be said to be one of the best moves ever made by that body. With a heavy stake in property here, Mr. Mitchell naturally is interested in every movement that will advance the business interests of the community with the result that the board gets fully twice the amount of conscientious service out of Mr. Mitchell as would be the case if some writer of "boost" literature occupied the job.

KERWOOD

Miss Mae Fonger of Springfield is visiting in the village.

Miss Eva Waddell of London visited friends in the village recently.

The men from Woodstock arrived on Monday and are very busy at the work of the new church which they expect to have finished in a short time.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Vincent, Mrs. Warden, Miss Dorothy Warden, also Mr. Norman Vincent, of Detroit, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Meredith Morgan last week.

The funeral of the late Mrs. David Harris was held from her son's home on Tuesday afternoon. Rev. C. J. Moorshouse having charge of the service. Interment was made in Stratroy cemetery.

The Mission Circle girls and their brothers spent a very pleasant evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Langford, the evening was spent in music, games and songs, and the members served a very dainty luncheon.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist church will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Wright on Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 23rd. The president asks for a full attendance, and to come early as there is much sewing to be done, also business matters to be arranged.

Miss Grace Dowling met with a very painful accident last week when leading a horse behind an auto, when the horse became frightened and the rope twisted around the hand causing part of the thumb to be torn away. Dr. Woods was called in and dressed the wounded member.

Owing to the conditions of the weather the Methodist church services were withdrawn last Sunday afternoon and evening, but will be resumed next Sabbath, all being well. Rev. C. J. Moorshouse will preach both morning and evening in the tabernacle; Sunday school in afternoon at 2.30.

The Opening services of the new Methodist church are arranged for Dec. 4th and 5th. Dr. T. Albert Moore, Sec. of General Conference, has been secured for the opening services and the following Sunday Rev. W. H. Graham, B.A., D.D., of St. Clair Ave Methodist church, Toronto, will have charge of the services.

The wedding took place in St. Thomas on Wednesday, Nov. 2nd, 1921, of Mr. Stanley C. Catt of Arkona, to Miss Mina Brown, only daughter of Mr. J. W. Brown, 68 Fifth ave., St. Thomas. Capt. McGillivray performed the ceremony. The happy couple left for a trip to the east before returning to their home in Arkona.

ARKONA LADY DIES SUDDENLY IN CALIFORNIA

Mrs. Melissa Donley, formerly Miss Melissa Eastman of Theoford and Arkona, Lambton county, died very suddenly at her home on South K. street, Dinuba, California, on October 19. Although Mrs. Donley had not been well for several days it was not until the day of her death that she became alarmed and called her physician, Dr. Seligman. Death came almost immediately.

Going to Dinuba about 28 years ago, Mrs. Donley had made her home there almost constantly since that time. She was born in Arkona, and spent the earliest years of her life there. She was married to Farnk Donley and five children were born in Arkona.

The surviving children are: Mrs. R. F. Dunn of Dinuba, Mrs. Media Hinds of San Francisco, and Claude Donley of Merced. Three children, Leonard, Frank Jr., and Milton, passed away in earlier years. Her husband died in Dinuba a number of years ago. A sister, Mrs. Jaynes, lives in Arkona.

The engineer's report for the repair of the Stubbs drain was read and considered and laid over.

Council adjourned to meet on Monday, Dec. 5th, at 9 a.m.
GEO. SUTHERLAND, Clerk.

HOW FOREST GOT ITS NAME

Forest, a little town of 1,500 inhabitants, situated on the main line of the Grand Trunk Railway, about 22 miles east of Sarnia, is well named. In summer it is a veritable "forest" of magnificent trees, principally maple which are a riot of color in autumn. The name of Forest was conferred on the station here by the railway authorities because it was situated in a dense bush. The people were so well pleased with the name that in response to their petition it was conferred upon the post office, which was opened the same year, 1859. Prior to the construction of the Grand Trunk Railway in 1859 the place where Forest now stands had not reached the medium between the untrodden wilderness and the cultivated farm, though there were a few settlers in the vicinity. Today this prosperous little town is in the midst of one of the best agricultural and fruit raising districts in the province.

MEDICAL SCHOOL INSPECTION

The following letter has been sent to all the school trustees in Lambton County by the School Inspectors.

"A survey recently completed in Lambton County indicates that over 85 per cent of the school children have one or more defects. In almost 60 per cent of the cases the defects may be remedied by an accepted mode of treatment. In about 40 per cent of the cases continued neglect will leave a permanent disability. The Inspectors believe that when these facts are duly weighed by boards of trustees, they will appreciate the urgent need of some type of organization which will give the children in the rural districts the benefits of a system which has long been enjoyed by their fellow pupils in many of the towns and cities.

The Womens Institutes are undertaking the task of promoting the formation of a system of Medical Inspection for rural schools. The Inspectors bespeak for them the cooperation and assistance of the trustees."

The cost of maintaining a school nurse would be about $1500 a year, including salary and all expenses. The Department of Education will give a grant of $10 per school or classroom towards defraying this expense. From 30 to 40 classrooms should co-operate to get best results. The nurse would be required to visit the schools quarterly. About one dollar on every 100 acres would furnish the necessary funds. This is surely not too high a price to pay for even a slight improvement in the health of our children. Urge your trustees to name a representative to act on a joint committee to make the arrangements.

FRENCH MARRIAGE MARKETS

A story is going the rounds of the American press that the marriage market is being revived in certain parts of France, particularly in Poitou and Vendee. The war left France with many hundreds of thousands of odd women, who in the ordinary course of events could hardly be expected to become wives, their prospective husbands having been killed or maimed. Moreover, the burden of taxation which the French people have to shoulder has made the males more cautious in venturing into matrimony, for the idea that two can live as cheaply as one is not a French proverb. The marriage market idea is not designed to strike a balance between the sexes. A million eligible men cannot be summoned from their graves. The idea is to encourage every available man to take a wife, and this idea is said to be working out satisfactorily.

The marriage markets are becoming an established feature of the life of hundreds of villages and towns. Usually they are held on the regular weekly market day, but sometimes there are special markets with nothing on exhibition but the girls and their admirers. The idea was promoted, we suppose, partly for the purpose of attracting young men from a distance to the markets. It might be supposed that the young men in any particular neighborhood would have plenty of opportunity of meeting the young ladies in the same parish and forming their own opinions as to their value as wives. The marriage market gives the same opportunity to young men from other parishes. They have also the advantage of knowing that the girls who display themselves at the market are desirous of getting married and are not committed to some unknown rival. It must often happen that for many reasons a girl would not make such a strong appeal to the young men with whom she has grown up as to a stranger who sees her for the first time.

The girls are selected for the market by men who are supposed to be good judges of looks and who understand thoroughly the sort of wife a young Frenchman should have. These experts travel about the country—at whose instance is not explained—and make a list of all the marriageable girls in the neighborhood. These are classified according to age, and looks, and build, and their various qualifications are noted. These items are set down on a card, which is supplied to each girl, and she is invited to present herself at the next market, where a special place is reserved for the contestants. Each girl comes provided with a large red parasol, which advertises her quest, besides offering her protection against sun and rain. It also serves the purpose of a small tent when a prospective husband wishes to make an examination at close quarters, and even, as we are told, help himself to a sample embrace.

For a casual kiss the girl merely lowers her parasol to fend off the eyes of the curious, but when the investigator desires to refresh himself more copiously, she turns her back upon the spectators and holds the parasol in such a way that both are shut off from public view. This gesture with the parasol is usually a signal for applause, because it is supposed that the man and the girl are strongly attracted, and that a marriage is likely to result. At the close of the market there is a general jollification, and many of the girls walk off with their new friends to complete the plans for their marriage. It is usual, we are told, for a girl to receive at least one offer of marriage in the course of a single fair, and the more attractive, as a rule, receive several. When a girl attends several fairs without being appropriated, it is almost certain that she has unusually high standards, rather than that she is singularly barren of attractions.

Those who think that this rough and ready sort of courtship is not likely to lead to happy and permanent marriage ties are refuted by statistics collected in the districts where it is popular, which show that there are fewer divorces and fewer illegitimate children than elsewhere. It is also noted that the birth rates in these districts are greater than elsewhere which is a matter of prime importance to the Government of France. On this account the Government is said to be watching the experiments with keen interest. It is also promoting beauty contests with the hope of increasing the marriage rate, although one would think that a girl pretty enough to win one of these contests, or even make a creditable showing in one of them, would not lack admirers in her own neighborhood. Still, as the philosopher remarked, the way of a man with a maid is past finding out, and ruses that might not seem likely to succeed do, as a matter of fact, succeed in a great number of cases.

GOT HIS ANSWER

A bumptious young American farmer went to England to learn business, but where he went he pretended that it was far easier to teach the farmers than to learn anything from them. "I've got an idea," he said one day to a grizzled old Northumbrian agriculturist, "for a new kind of fertilizer which will be ten thousand times as effective as any that has ever been tried. Condensed fertilizer—that's what it is. Enough for an acre of ground would go in one of my waistcoat pockets." "I don't doubt it, young gentlemen," said the veteran of the soil. "What is more, you'll be able to put the crop into the other waistcoat pocket."

WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT BABY'S OWN TABLETS

Mrs. W. Beesley, Mille Roche, Ont. writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for the past eight months and would not be without them. I used them for indigestion and teething and my baby is cutting his teeth without any trouble whatever. I can highly recommend the Tablets to other mothers." What Mrs. Beesley says thousands of other mothers say. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and sweeten the stomach, thus driving out constipation and indigestion and making teething easy. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

THE HABIT OF READING

Mr. Sykes, Librarian of the Carnegie Library at Ottawa, advocates school libraries. The schools should be supplied with collections of their own and should be more closely linked with the public libraries. These are the people's universities, the only institution of the kind which are available to the great masses of the people. Only a small percentage of our boys and girls attend even the Collegiate Institutes, and a still smaller percentage have a university education. It is, therefore, of the highest importance that the habit of reading should be created in those who leave school in their teens.

The teaching of reading in the primary schools should go much farther than the mere deciphering of the printed page. It should mean, guiding young people among books, showing them what to read and how to read, how to find their way among the classics and immortals. Besides this the habit of consulting encyclopedias and works of reference should be cultivated. Anyone who has conducted a department of information in a newspaper has had the experience of being asked questions which could be answered by looking in an encyclopedia, a year book, or one of the newspaper almanacs. Most of us have heard people wrangling and betting over points which could be settled in the same way. The librarians and their assistants are glad to assist in such researches.

In the Toronto Public Library there is a striking picture, or pair of pictures. One shows a line of people eager to grasp the hand of a celebrity and hear from his lips the golden message that he is pleased to meet them. The other shows the celebrities and immortals of the ages offering, not a formal greeting, but all the recorded results of their genius and toil. Men have been heard to express disappointment with an address delivered by someone whose books have made him famous. He has put his best thoughts into his books, which can be bought for the price of a night's entertainment or borrowed or read at leisure in a public library. Books are not valued as they should be, perhaps for the very reason that they are as open to all as the sky or the sea.—Globe.

HOW TIMES HAVE CHANGED

The following which is clipped from the Genave Reaper, shows how railroads were regarded less than a hundred years ago. "Someone has dug up the records of the Lancaster, Ohio, school board back in 1828. In these records is an account of a proposed debate as to whether railroads were practical or not. Permission was asked to hold the debate in the school house and the minutes of the school board ran as follows: 'You are welcome to use the school room to debate all proper questions in, but such things as railroads and telegraphs are impossibilities, and rank infidelity. There is nothing in the Word of God about them. If God had designed that his intelligent creatures should travel at the frightful speed of 15 miles an hour by steam, He would have foretold it through His holy prophets. It is a device of Satan to lead immortal souls down to hell.'—Valdosta, Ga., Times.

SECOND EDITION OF THE QUEEN OF SHEBA

London, Nov. 10.—Mrs. Smith Wilkinson, hailed in Paris and on the Riviera as the world's greatest spender, transformed herself into the world's greatest spender tonight for the famous Victory Ball at Albert Hall.

Mrs. Wilkinson blazed her way into the Prince of Wales' box, a literal walking diamond mine. Attired as the "Queen of Sheba" she absolutely stopped the proceedings at London's most famous armistice celebration.

Members of Royal Family, peers and peeresses, and Europe's most famous fashionables stood aghast at the marvelous display of wealth on the gown of this stout Nottingham matron.

The gown was manufactured by Reville, the famous dress-maker, and was insured this afternoon for five million dollars. It contains more than 75,000 diamonds and pearls. She wore a corsage of fine diamonds over a skirt of silver lace embroidered in pearls.

Her shoes were of silver cloth with high Louis XV heels covered with tiny yellow diamonds.

The most startling feature of the bizarre costume was the headdress, which was thirty-six inches high. It was a loose cap laced with diamonds with three ropes of wonderful pearls of graduated length draped from the ends of the cap at the ears and falling below the chin. From the top of the diamond cap stood three white peacock feathers studded with diamonds. These were guarded on either side by wonderful birds of paradise.

Mrs. Wilkinson also wore long diamond ear-rings and a magnificent chain of diamonds around her neck and dropping to the waist. Wonderful rings, each worth a king's ransom, with diamond, pearl and emerald bracelets and armlets, completed the astounding oriental costume, which, it is safe to assert, that the Queen of Sheba never saw the like in her palmyest days.

"It is the world's most wonderful dress," declared Reville tonight. "The like of it was never seen before. In her presence the most magnificently gowned women were outshone like a queen's robes in a poor house."

Mrs. Wilkinson is staying at the Ritz for the season and wears a different gown every evening. She is planning to go to the United States soon, with her gold bathtub and other conveniences, as announced last summer.

"I am writing to tell you that I owe my life to 'Fruit-a-tives'. This fruit medicine relieved me when I had given up all hope of recovering my health."

"I suffered terribly from Kidney Trouble, Dyspepsia and Weakness. I had these troubles for years and all the medicine I took did not do me any good."

"I read about 'Fruit-a-tives' and I tried them. After I had taken a few boxes, I was entirely relieved of the Kidney Trouble, and Dyspepsia, and had gained in strength."

"I hope those who suffer with Kidney Trouble, Dyspepsia and Weakness will take 'Fruit-a-tives' to recover their health."

The statement that each person in Canada receives some twenty-five letters a year was the cause of some trouble to the Postmaster General. An old lady wrote complaining that during the past twelve months she had received only twenty-two and would like him to search for the others at once.

STRENGTH AND HEALTH

Red Blood, Vim, Vigor, Vitality Follow This Advice

Niagara Falls, Ont.—"As my parents have used Dr. Pierce's remedies with such wonderful and quick results I take great pleasure in sending a good word to boost the cause of 'Freedom from Illness.' I have used the Golden Medical Discovery at times for the past three years. Am a pressman by occupation and the labor is quite fatiguing and injurious to the system. But today business has no drawback for me. Three cheers for Dr. Pierce's 'Discovery!'—William H. Dempsey, Jr., 32 Bridge St.

As soon as you begin to take this "Discovery" you begin to feel its bracing, appetizing effect. Buy of your neighborhood drug store in tablets and liquid, or send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory in Bridgeburg, Ont; for trial pkg., tablets and write for free medical advice.

Pleasantville, N. S.—"Four years ago I was a very sick woman. The doctor said it was pneumonia. It kept me in bed for five weeks and left me so weak that I could hardly get about. A dear friend advised me to try Dr. Pierce's remedies and I did so. After taking a bottle of the Golden Medical Discovery and one of the Favorite Prescription I found I was getting so much stronger that I continued using them, together with Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, until I fully recovered my strength."—Mrs. Agnes Brunell.

CANADIAN EGGS AND CHEESE IN GREAT BRITAIN

Interesting information regarding the exhibit of Ontario produce at the recent Dairy Show at London, England, has lately been received by the Colonization and Immigration Branch of the Provincial Department of Agriculture, from Mr. William C. Noxon, agent-general for Ontario in London. The Dairy Show, which is organized by the British Dairy Farmers' Association, is the largest and most important agricultural show of its kind held in England.

As has already been reported, Ontario achieved a signal triumph in the cheese classes. Mr. Noxon says that it was very interesting to see the Ontario cheese on exhibition, and also on the competition bench. The Ontario consignment was badly knocked about in transit; many of the cheese boxes were broken, and the cheese was placed on the competition benches nearly all other Overseas entries had been scraped and cleaned, and even polished with wax, while the Ontario cheese was very rough in comparison. The four Ontario cheeses which gained the first prize were matured to a green tint on the outside, and stood out in contrast to the highly polished cheeses from South Africa and Australia. However, so superior was the quality of the Ontario cheese (and, of course quality is everything in cheese), that the judges had no hesitation in awarding all the prizes to the entries from Ontario.

In addition to the competitions, Ontario had a very fine stand on which was exhibited a representative collection of Ontario farm products. The only other stand to compare with it was the South African stand which is always of a very elaborate and ambitious nature, and had cost some thousands of dollars. However, the Ontario stand did not suffer in the comparisons, because, while South Africa confined its exhibit to bacon, cheese, butter and eggs, Ontario had a very much wider selection of products.

Good Eggs Well Packed
Great interest was taken by provision men in the exhibit of Ontario eggs. An expert stated these eggs were worth 30s, per hundred, which is roughly 86 cents a dozen wholesale. It was also admitted by men in the import business that the Ontario cases and the packing were exactly right. There is no doubt that Ontario could build up a fine trade in eggs in Great Britain if there was a sufficient surplus of eggs to keep up a constant export. This is where the big exporters to the British market, like Australia and South Africa, score, individual shipments from these countries are seldom less than a thousand cases, and they arrive practically every week and are immediately disposed of.

Mr. Noxon would like to point out to Ontario farmers who are interested in the exports of Ontario products that the thousands of cases of eggs which regularly arrive in London and other British ports from Denmark, South Africa, Australia and New Zealand, are all surplus eggs. It often happens that the city consumer in these countries is paying more for his eggs than the Londoner who buys the eggs in England. At first sight the Colonial consumer might consider this a grievance, but with regard to eggs and butter the farmers in Australia and South Africa have long been educated to the fact that they cannot hope to dispose of all their products in their own countries, and that if they attempted to do so their market would be glutted, and great quantities of their perishable products would not find a consumer at all. They know that in the British market a surplus is readily disposed of to wholesalers who compete keenly for supplies. If Ontario wishes to build up a market for eggs in Great Britain it could be done, provided that the quality was maintained at a high standard, until it was possible to buy Ontario eggs on the reputation of the brand alone. However, the big men in the trade in England wish to handle large quantities, and before such a trade could be satisfactorily built up there would have to be a large surplus for export available over at least the greater portion of the year. It is in the winter time that the prices for eggs in England are at their highest.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE

Those who are in a "run down" condition will notice that Catarrh bothers them much more than when they are in good health. This fact proves that while Catarrh is a local disease, it is greatly influenced by constitutional conditions. HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a tonic and Blood Purifier, and acts through the blood upon the mucous surfaces of the body, thus reducing the inflammation and restoring normal conditions.

FARMER FINED FOR SHOOTING GRAIN-DESTROYING SQUIRRELS

Milton, Ont.—The sequel to the wholesale slaughter of black and grey squirrels in the bush near Evergreen Cemetery was the summoning of William Main, of Trafalgar Township, to County Police Magistrate Shield's court at Oakville, where he was first fined $50 and costs. When Mr. Main explained that the squirrels had eaten holes into his granary and done a lot of damage to his grain, the magistrate reduced the fine to $30 and costs which totalled $49.

As the result of the game inspector of Chatham granting farmers permission to shoot the squirrels in that district on account of the wholesale destruction done to their grain by them, Mr. Main will likely ask the provincial game warden or the department to refund the fine imposed on him, as he claims he killed the squirrels to save his crop, the same as the farmers of Kent County are doing with the permission of the game inspector.

A Corrector of Pulmonary troubles

Many testimonials could be presented showing the great efficacy of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil in curing disorders of the respiratory processes but the best testimonial is experience and the Oil is recommended to all who suffer from these disorders with the certainty that they will find relief. It will allay inflammation in the bronchial tubes.

PROTECTION OF PLANTS FOR THE WINTER

A little protection will often bring plants safely through the winter, when, if they are left exposed, they may either be killed outright or badly injured and, in the case of fruit, the crop may be much reduced. Plants are also protected from mice in winter. The plants usually protected from the weather are strawberries, raspberries, grapes and roses.

Strawberries
It has been found by experience that although strawberries will often grow safely through the winter without being mulched there are winters when it pays well to have the plants protected by a light mulch as in such winters if the mulch is not there the plants will be killed. In mulching strawberries the plan is to wait until hard frost or just before winter sets in, and then spread a light covering of loose straw over the plants. All that is necessary in most places is enough to prevent sudden thawing and freezing, or just enough to cover the plants. A thick mulch may do more harm than good. The cleaner the straw the less work there will be in eradicating weeds next summer. Marsh hay, where it can be obtained, is good as it is comparatively free of weed seeds and it will not lie too compactly over the plants.

Raspberries
Where raspberries are injured in the winter, they will be much protected and will, taking one year with another, come through much better if the canes are bent over just before winter sets in and the tips held down with soil. The snow will cover them sooner than if they are not bent down. Where there is very little snow and the winters are very cold it has been found desirable entirely to cover the canes with soil.

Grapes
Except in districts where the grape can be grown commercially, it is necessary to protect the vines to insure a crop. A few days before the ground is expected to freeze up, the vines, having been previously pruned are bent down and covered with soil, which is left on until the following May as it is spring frosts which may cause the loss of the crop.

Roses
Roses must be protected in most places in Canada to help ensure their coming through the winter alive, and protection is not always successful. The most reliable method of protection is to cover the plant with soil. Where this is not easy or possible, the base of the plant can be mounded up with soil to a height of twelve inches or more, and the top then bent over and held down with soil. Then if boughs of leaves are thrown over the top to help collect the snow and give greater protection it is desirable. In the case of climbing roses, a good plan is to cover them with a box filled with dry leaves, making the top water tight so the leaves will keep dry.

Keep Mice Away

Each winter many trees are injured beyond recovery in Canada by mice. This can be prevented by wrapping the trunks of the trees with building paper just before winter sets in, having the paper come close to the ground and putting a little earth about the lower end of the paper so they will not get at the tree from below. Mice will not usually eat through the paper and, as in most cases they are close to the ground, the paper need not be more than eighteen inches to two feet high. The paper should be tied after wrapping so that it will not come off.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

This is a Short Letter, But It Proves the Reliability of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Bothwell, Ont.—"I was weak and run down, had no appetite and was nervous. The nurse who took care of me told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now I am getting strong. I recommend your medicine to my friends, and you may use my testimonial."—Mrs. W. J. Brady, R. R. 2, Bothwell, Ont.

The reason why Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is so successful in overcoming woman's ills is because it contains the tonic, strengthening properties of good old-fashioned roots and herbs, which act on the female organism. Women from all parts of the country are continually testifying to its strengthening, beneficial influence, and as it contains no narcotics or harmful drugs it is a safe medicine for women.
If you want special advice write Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read, and answered by women only.

DOES YOUTH PAY FOLLY?
H. B. Warner Starred in "When We Were Twenty-One"

Does youth deserve the fruits of its folly? Is it headed for the racks of disillusionment when it plunges through the breakers of indiscretion? "When We Were Twenty-One," in which H. B. Warner is starring at the Lyceum Theatre, Watford, views that bubblesome, troublesome age from the angle of present and past.

"When We Were Twenty-One" is a photoplay version of H. V. Esmond's stage drama, in which Nat Goodwin, with Maxine Elliott, scored his greatest triumph. It tells the story of the sacrificial love of a man for a youth to whom he has been father, mother and brother.

The youth falls for the wiles of a scheming adventuress. She marries him for his money, but promptly leaves him for another man when she finds him penniless. It is a terrible blow to the boy, who thought his love was a noble, beautiful thing that was willing to shield a misunderstood woman from the slandering tongues of a lying world.

A splendid cast has been assembled by Director Henry King. Mr. Warner plays Nat Goodwin's role—that of the wisest man who tries to shield the boy at the expense of his honor and his love. James W. Morrison is the boy, and Claire Anderson the girl who, though engaged to the boy, loves the older man. Christine Mayo is the adventuress, with smaller parts played by Minna Grey and Claude Payton. Jesse D. Hampton produced the feature for Pathe distribution.
