The Thanksgiving services of Erie United church were quite suc ful. Good congregations, inspiring singing, and eloquent and helpful sermons, created an atmosphere of sermons, created an atmosphere of profound thankfulness in the hearts of the people and a liberal thankflering was laid on the altar. Rev. B. H. Robinson of London has secured a warm place in the estaem of those who heard him on Sunday.

Miss Blanche Mitchell gave an interesting address in the Erie St. Y. P. L. on Monday night last. Her subject was "The Life and Works of H. W. Davies". a Canadian writer whose writings have called forth praise from such discriminating critics as G. Bernard Shaw and others. There were over forty present. Next Monday the meeting being the fifth in the month will be what is called "Stont Night." is will be in charge of the President.

Children Like Baby's Own Tablets

Because They Are Tasteless and Are Easy to Take

One of the strongest points in favor of any medicine for children is that it is so agreeable that the mother does not have to force it down the little one's throat.

Baby's Own Tablets have no drug taste, may be crushed to a powder if desired, and babies like them. They are perfectly safe for they contain no opiate or narcotic. They sweeten the stomach and remove the cause of fretfulness.

that of their wedding.

For the comparatively brief interval of barely ten years—1901-1910—Queen Alexandra adorned the position of Queen Consort at Buckingham Palace, a period full of anxious care regarding King Edward's health, after his nearly fatal illness on the eye of the Coronation in 1901. At that time, it will be remembered, the Coronation had to be postponed.

This attitude of the labor men toward Mussolini is no doubt the result of his outburst against the representative of a labor paper at Locarno, which resulted in the decision of all the pressmen there to boycott the Italian Premier.

Viceroy Eccaped Snake's Fangs
The Earl of Reading, Viceroy of India, is reported to have had a narrow escape from death while goffing at Calcutta and to owe his life to the prompt action of his secretary. A deadly hooded cobra raised itself behind the Viceroy, ready to strike, when the secertary rushed forward and killed the snake with a golf club.

When Prince Albert Edward, son and heir of Queen Victoria, was but nineteen, a friend drew from his pocket a photograph, intending to show the face of his betrothed. Instead he drew out a portrait of the Princess Alexandra of Denmark, one which greatly interested the young

New Wheat Beats Marquis

A new impetus to wheat cultivation on the Western prairies is likely to be given through the perfection of a new variety known as Garnet, which, it is estimated, will reduce the period of time between sowing and reaping to 100 days. A few years ago the usual period was 120 days, but the Marquis wheat now grown reduced it to 100 days. The Ottawa Experimental Farm has been studying the new variety for several seasons, and this year small quantities of seed were sent to about 100 selected farms in Western Canada and its record augurs well for the future of the prairies.

In Southern Alberta, Garnet wheat ripened and was threshed long before the snow and rain storms came, and in several cases Marquis wheat grown in the same fields is still unthreshed.

Very exacting tests carried out over a period of years establish the fact that Garnet is among the high-class milling and baking wheats. Two lots of 100 bushels each—one of Garnet and one of Marquis—are to se shipped to Minneapolis for further milling tests, and provided these are satisfactory the Federal Government

A hen will not lay if not in good condition. She should be healthy, free from any disease, and show plenty of vigor and activity. The first pullet to lay in the fall is the early maturing one. The hen which is a slow growers, is slow in feathering out, is also a slow layer. The Moult Is Important.

The Moult Is Important.

As soon as a hen goes into a moult she uses her feed to manufacture feathers, and her egg production falls generally to a minimum of nothing. It is easily noticed that some hens go into a moult much earlier than others. If a hen starts to moult in July her laying for the summer is about over. So we say that late moulting and heavy egg production go together, because it gives the hen a longer summer period and still she is back in form in time for winter production. So says Prof. W. R. Graham, Ontario Agricultural College.

The vent becomes large and moist, and after two or three eggs have been laid the ring of yellow pigment has disappeared and the vent is bleached. How to Obtain High Egg Production.

How to Obtain High Egg Production.

The requirements for high egg production, says Prof. W. R. Graham, of the Ontario Agricultural College, are clean, dry, comfortable houses. that are free from direct draughts over the birds, and that are well-lighted. The feeding consists of a variety of grains, green feed, animal feed, grit and shell, which is clean, sweet and wholesome, and is given to the birds regularly and in such quantities that they have all they want to eat before going to roost at night; that the supply of drinking material is clean and abundant; that the attendant is regular in his or her work and is interested in the same; that the birds are bred from good laying ancestors, and that they are hatched at the proper season and well rearred, and are free from disease.

When Eggs Are Worth Most.

When Eggs Are Worth Most.

A study of the distribution of the egg production is interesting and important from the point of the annual returns from the birds. Egg prices rise and fall with the seasons and usually the greatest profit is made where eggs are produced at a season or seasons of the year when prices are high. Pullets are the chief source of egg supply. They require usually from six to seven months in which to mature. It is, therefore, possible to regulate their production in the fall months at least to some extent by regulating the time they will fall months at least to some extent by regulating the time they will hatch in the spring. The main source of eggs produced during Oc-tober and November is the March hatched pullet. By December the May hatched pullets are out for a reputation.

Green Feed for Poultry.

Now that the poultry are off the range and no longer benefit the picking of fresh green feed at liberty, a substitute should be provided. Mangals, labels on the range of the substitute should be provided. Mangels, kale, cabbage and sprouted oats do very well to supply in part the very necessary vitamines A and D, so essential to proper nutrition. A little attention to a seemingly unimportant point frequently means the difference between success and failure with breeding stock. At the Ontario Agriculty I College Poultry Department a liberal allowance of green feed or roughage containing the vital elements is always available to the stock.—L. Stevenson, Dept. of Extension. Sosses From Feeding Carcases to Live Stock.

Failure to destroy by burning or burying deeply the carcases of animals that die from various causes frequently results in considerable loss to the neglectful party or other people of the district. Pigs, dogs, cats and carrion birds will carry infection from a carcase over the neighfection from a carcase over the neighborhood, may become infected them-selves and thereby widen the circle of infestation.

In a recent investigation it was brought to light that a man lost eighty chickens from disease. He admitted throwing the dead chickens into the pens where the brood sows: were enclosed, and having dumped the cleanings from the chicken house in the hog yard. The sows and their progeny developed tuberculosis, which proved to be the avian type. A test for avian tuberculosis was applied to the poultry flock, and it, too. plied to the poultry flock, and it, too, was found to be infested.

If anything dies, don't use it for pig feed. Bury or burn. Keep the dog and cat away from all carcases and offal, as bacteria which may be virulent and parasite eggs or larvae are almost sure to be present. The application of fire is the best means of destroying animals and birds that may die from any cause.

Letter from Mrs. Ayars Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Spring Valley, Sask.—"I took the Vegetable Compound before my last confinement, when I got to feeling so badly that I could not sleep nights, my back ached so across my hips, and I could hardly do my work during the day. I never had such an easy confinement and this is my sixth baby. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the 'Farmer's Telegram' and wrote you for one of your books. We have no druggist in our town, but I saw your medicine in T. Eaton's catalogue. I am a farmer's wife, so have all kinds of work to do inside and outside the house. My baby is a nice healthy girl, who weighed 'nine pounds at birth. I am feeling fine after putting in a large garden since baby came. (She is as good as she can be.) Yours is the best medicine for women, and I have told about it and even written to my friends about it."—Mrs. Annie E. Ayars, Spring Valley, Sask.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is an excellent medicine for expectant mothers, and should be taken during the entire period. It has a general effect to strengthen and tone up the entire system so that it may work in every respect as nature intends. All druggists sell this dependable medicine. Give it a trial.

Rheumatic People Now Find Relief

By Driving the Poisonous Acid From the System

Rheumatism attacks people when the blood is thin and watery or charged up with impunities, thus setting up inflammation of the muscles and joints. Cold, wet weather or sharp winds may start the pains, but the cause is rooted in the blood, and to get relief it must be treated through the blood. As a blood builder and nerve tonic Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are unsurpassed, and for that reason do not fail to give relief to rheumatic suffers when given that reason do not fall to give re-lief to rheumatic suffers when given a fair triel. Among the rheumatic sufferers who have proved the great value of this medicine is Mr. N. M. Foley, Windsor, N.S., who says:
"My trouble started with a bad cold,
the result of working in a heavy rain storm. From that it developed into and kept me confined to bed for up-wards of six months. The doctor who treated me did not help me, and every friend who called to see me had every friend who called to see me had something different to advise. Some of these remedies I tried, but with no better results. My legs were stiff from the hips down, and every moye I made caused intense pain, and constantly I was growing weaker. Then a friend from Falmouth, who came to see me, asked if I had tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had taken so much medicine without benefit that I was skeptical and said so. My friend, nowever, had so much faith in the pills that he got me a supply and to lease him I began taking them. I may not been taking them long when I was a least of the least of and I gladly got a furtner supply I was able to get out of bed walk around on crutchea Still ing the pills I used in all sevenboxes, by which time I was a man and at work every day. Now ways keep a box of Dr. Williams' Pills in the house and if I feel che or pain I take them, and s with good results. PROTECT FRUIT TREES

HOW TO RESIST ATTACKS OF MICE AND RABBITS IN WINTER.

Building Paper, Galvanized Mesh Wire and Poison Recommended-Potato Harvest - Marketing the Potato Crop.

(Contributed by Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto.)

Preventive treatment applied in November to the orchard trees, rasp-berry patch and ornamental shrubberies to offset the usually very destructive work of mice and rabbits during the winter months will save you disappointment, some labor and some money.

Building paper costing one cent, placed around the trunk of the tree for which you paid the nurseryman $1.50 will give protection at a cost that seems reasonable. If your tree is ten years old it is worth many times $1.50. The cost of protection is so low that no tree owner can afford to feed mice and rabbits. How to Use Building Paper.

The building paper protector can be easily prepared from a roll of tar paper. With an ordinary saw cut the roll into ten inch lengths, hardy to work with. Wrap once around the tree trunk and tie securely, then mound a little soil up around the lower end to hold it in place over winter. Remove when cultivating in Poison placed for rabbits must be watched, or at least placed, where it is safe from farm animals. During periods of deep snow a close watch should be kept on all trees and shrubs, with the view of checking damage at the initial stage. At the O.A.C. we use the wire protectors, tramp the snow and use the shotgun on rabbits when necessary.—L. Stevenson, Dept. of Extension, O.A.C., Guelph.

Potato Harvest. Late Blight.

Late Blight affects the tuber of the potato as well as the vine, and the disease lives over from year to year in the seed. When harvesting the potato crop cull out all tubers with dark sunken areas on the surface and a brownish discoloration of the flesh.

This fungus develops small black specks on the surface of the tuber. Such should not be stored for seed. Stem End Rot.

This trouble is evidence by a decayed and sunken area at the stem end of the tuber. When a cross section is made near the steam end a rownish ring is usually plainly vis-

Care should be taken to avoid bruising the tubers while harvesting. Roughly handled potatoes usually have a high percentage of dry rot.—
L. Stevenson, Dept. of Extension, O.A.C., Guelph.

Marketing the Potato Crop.

The potato grower should cater to the wishes of the most particular and exacting customers. He should furn ish a choice product in a most attractive form and should careful study the demands of the market his wishes to serve. For the best prices the potatoes should be uniform, the potatoes should be uniform, sound, smooth and of good table quality, whether selected by the pound, the basket, the bushel, the bag, the barrel or the car load. The commercial potato grower should not be confined to the local market, but should be in a position to put his potatoes on the best market avaliable, either through his own efforts or through the medium of a co-operaor through the medium of a co-operative association. It sometimes occurs tive association. It sometimes occurs that of the price paid by the consumer for a bushel of potatoes about two-thirds are required to defray the cost of transportation and of distribution, and one-third is left for the stower. Undoubtedly one of the best reme-dies for such a condition is co-operation on the part of the growers them-selves.—Dept. of Extension, O.A.C.

His exploit must surely have b told in some French cafe, for it has found an imitator in Paris. One day recently a "working plumber" approached a group of men employed by the municipality on a job in the Place de la Republique. He told the foreman that he had been sent by a contractor to take away the great bronze dolphin which was one of the features of the square. The water-pipe inside it was in need of

As the dolphin weighed three hundredweight, several of the workmen were told off to help place it on the barrow the "plumber" had brought with him. Then, thanking his helpers, the stranger disappeared with

Next day the dolphin's absence was noted, and a search was instituted for the man with the barrow.

Still more wonderful, says a writer in the Glasgow Evening Citizen, was the case of a Scottish woman who sustained shocking injuries in a runway accident. Her skull and both legs were fractured, and her left arm and one side of her face badly lacerated. Her son, a young physician, abandoned his practice and set himavandoned his practice and set himself to endeavor to restore his mother's life. Everyone else had given up her case as hopeless. Day and night he devoted his whole time to her, and so inspired not only her nurses, but the poor sufferer herself, that she survived and began slowly to mend. But the mutilation of the face caus-ed terrible disfigurement. The son thereupon insisted upon the atten-dant physicians removing skin enough from his own body to graft upon the scars. One by one, no fewer than forty pieces of skin were cut from his body and grafted upon his mother's face and arm. the tallest trees in the world, says an Australian paper, but they are not in Victoria, huge as are the Gippsland gums and the giant pines of Capt. Ottway. The real super trees are to be found in Western Australia, down in the southwest corner of the con-tinent. They are the giant flowering. eucalyptus, growing on and adjacent to the shores of Lake Alexander; and they were discovered about 1896 by Chief Surveyor F. S. Brockman, of the Lands Department, Perth, when he was exploring the Geographe Peninsula under instructions from John Forrest (then Premier of Western Australia), who wanted to ascertain how much first-class land there was available in the "good rainfall" region. Brockman brought back with him some of the splendid scarlet flowers of these giants, also some seeds. He took accurate measurements also, and found one tree, the ments also, and found one tree, the King of the Forest, going 147 feet up-sheer, without a bough, and 537 feet to the topmost boughs and crown! The diameter of some of the trees exceeded 16 feet; and the chief surveyor, who was also a most careful and conscientious man, reckoned that they could not be less than 3,000 years old. It is said that there are trees older than that in the world; there may be, but there are none; taller than I ever heard of, though; in the valley of the Amazon, Roose-velt said he had seen trees as big as the giant redwoods of California. In making his report to the then Surveyor-General, Brockman said that these trees, from a distance, looked like a scarlet tapestry, spread below the hills.

In the parts of the county where the borers are numerous it will be advisable for a time to grow dent

Conjuring Trick That Is Surely Without Parallel.

In his book, "Borneo: The Stealer of Hearts," Mr. Oscar Cook tells the true story of a conjuring trick that is surely without parallel.

The author was at the time a District Officer in the North Borneo Civil Service, and there was delivered into his custody a deserter from one of the timber camps, a strapping

It happened that Empire Day fell due while the latter was in prison on remand and the Pathan corporal in charge volunteered the information that the fellow was reputed a very clever conjurer, and suggested that he should be let out temporarily for Evening came and the compound, hung with lanterns, was encircled by all the patives in the station and many from the adjoining islands.

Never, says the author, have I seen uch conjuring. The final trick was the most wonderful I have ever seen The conjuror was tied up with rope. His feet and hands were tied and then His feet and hands were tied and then his body wound round and round with cords which we knotted as much as we liked. Where Skill Beats Strength.

There are many examples in natural history of skill overcoming sheer brute strength, and there is one illustration of educated animal instinct which comes very near to human skill. This is the collie dog, which, by hereditary and acquired skill, is capable not only of controlling the movements of flocks of sheep and herds of cattle which, as regards brute strength, are infinitely supertor to itself, but is further able to count the herd or flock and discover if one is missing from it.

Cases are on record in which collies, missing one out of a flock of sheep, have gone back and either hunted it up or found it dead. This is certainly the nearest approach to human skill exhibited in the animal kingdom.

In the jungles of India there are monkers who are able by means of something like human skill to take hold of snakes which could easily kill or crush them, in such a fashion that the reptiles cannot strike with their fangs. The monkeys then hit the snakes' heads against stones er trees until they are dead or stunned. A still more curious fact is that the monkeys only do this when they know they are within reach of a herb which frequently proves an antidote to the bite of the particular snake they attack.

The Greek philosopher, Pythagorns, would have his disciples wear, shoes made of the bark of trees, probably that they might not wear what was made of the skins of animals, as he refrained from the use of everything that had life. WHAT THE DERBY'S WORTH. Winner Is Usually Valued at About 250,000.

When a Derby winner passes the post his proud owner generally hastens to increase the insurance on his horse to about £50,000, that being the average value of a colt or filly that has carried off the Blue Riband of the Turf, says a writer in Answers.

Some are worth a great deal more, and some a great deal less, as events turn out, but this figure may be taken as a fair estimate of the earning capacity of the three-year-old that proves to be the best of its generation at the great festival on Epsom

The stakes themselves are not to be despised. Last year Lord Derby's Sansovino won the biggest sum ever run for. It amounted to £11,755. The previous best was in 1922, when the stakes were £10,625. Curiously enough, we have to go back to 1866, when Lord Lyon credited his owner with £7,350, to find the richest Derby prior to 1922.

If a Derby winner were to carry off all the prizes of the turf open to him during his racing career, might easily amass £50,000 in stakes alone. The "Two Thousand," for example, has been worth as much as 210.625, the Jockey Club Stakes have reached as high a figure as £11,302, and the St. Leger "first past the post" has on one occasion added 10,310 guineas to his owner's banking account.

But it is only once in a generation at most that we see such a horse as Ormonde, who was never defeated on a racecourse. "The mighty Ormonde," one of the greatest horses of all time, won the Derby and St. Leger in 1886. the last year of the life of the famous jockey, Fred Archer, who rode him

Ormonde's story is one of the great romances of racing. In the year 1844 old John Osborne bought a mare with a filly foal at foot for £14. The foal received the name of Agnes, and in due course became the mother of Polly Agnes, who was so small and delicate that Sir Tatton Sykes gave her to his stud groom. That is where the luck came in, for she was the mother of Lily. mother of Lily Agnes, the dam both of Ormonde and Ornament, who later brought another famous horse, Scen tre, into the field.

But few Derby winners perform so brilliantly. It is on record that some of them have never won another race, yet their career has only just begun when they retire into private life, to become parents of man vate life, to become parents of ma colts and fillies. Some of these malso become Derby or Oaks or Leger winners. At any rate, thalways command high prices at tyearling sales, for there is no say truer on the turf than that "biowill tall". will tell."
