FATE OF 25 N. S. FISHERMEN UNKNOWN

WESSEL FOUND WRECKED ON BAR AND CREW GONE

Life-Saving Superintendent Says Craft May Have Capsized in Tempest

Canadian Press
HALIFAX, Aug. 11.—Wireless messages from Sable Island this morning brought no news of a comforting nature regarding the fate of the 25 south shore fishermen who were members of the Lunenburg hand-liner Sylvia Mosher, found lying on her side Tuesday morning, a total wreck on North Bar, Sable Island.

WRECKED TO BLAME

According to the island official, the southeast storm of Saturday night was followed by high seas Sunday. Monday the seas moderated but fog set in. Tuesday morning when the vessel was discovered, there was a light northwest wind.

OPINIONS DIFFER

Opinions among shipping authorities differ regarding the fate of the 25-year-old skipper of the Sylvia Mosher, Captain John Mosher, and his 24 companions. By some it is believed that the vessel capsized and partly righted itself again, while others believe that the members of the crew launched enough dories to take them away from the Sylvia Mosher when it seemed certain she would founder, and that they will turn up safely on another vessel that has been unable so far to communicate with shore. The fact that only six dories drifted ashore on Sable Island has been taken as an indication that the other dories were used by the crew in making their escape.

FINISH FIGHT SEEN IN GOAL DISPUTE

British Leaders Depressed by Result of Vote on Peace Proposal

LONDON, Aug. 11.—With the exception of "Emperor" Cook, who outwardly rejoices at the solidarity of the miners and the fact that they are unwilling to recede a single inch, the men's leaders are this morning depressed at the result of the vote turning down what are known as the Bishop's proposals. They declare it means a fight to a finish, and they fear that the only result of such a struggle will be that the miners will lose and the position of the owners will be improved, and government intervention will be farther off than ever because the refusal shows that the miners are unwilling to accept the slightest compromise.

Saint John People Named as Incorporators in Fredericton Report

Special to The Times-Star
FREDERICTON, N. B., Aug. 11.—George Magnus Breyer and A. Sturges W. White, of City of Saint John, have formed a co-partnership under the name of the Saint John Baker Flakes Company to carry on business in the manufacture and sale of chipped potatoes.

Growing Rivalry Between Italy and France Worries Great Britain

Mayor White Discusses Tax Exemptions in Second Bulletin

MAYOR WHITE today released the second of a series of bulletins dealing with financial matters affecting the city. In this he deals with the proposed installment payment of taxes and the effect it would have on the rate and collections. He also gives some pertinent information on the way installment payments are worked in Toronto and Vancouver. His statement follows:

The City of Saint John is unique in that it is the only city in Canada in which a tax exemption is not general. In Toronto exemption is $2,000 for a married man, with a further allowance when there are children. In Calgary the amount is $1,500, while in Vancouver there is neither personal nor income tax.

Saint John's tax rate has increased very materially in the last twenty years owing to the demands for better streets, a more fully equipped fire department, better ferry service, playgrounds, etc., all of these costing large sums of money.

In 1905, the assessment, in round numbers was $497,000, in 1925 it had increased to $5,756,900. These amounts were apportioned as follows:

1905—Schools	$307,000
1925—Schools	600,000
1905—County	83,000
1925—County	236,000
1905—City	207,000
1925—City	749,900

In the present year, for every $338 paid the city, the county received $304, the schools $124, the city $128.

Partial payments on account of taxes have always been accepted by the receiver of taxes. During 1925, the amount received from that source was $183,206.76 in 1925 payments. If the suggested plan of payments, May, July and September, is carried out, it will cause a loss of $4,000 in bank interest and an expenditure of $1,350 for additional clerical labor, also about $6,000 in interest charges, making a total of $11,350.

With regard to tax payments in Toronto—Taxes are paid in three installments, the date being May 4th, July 5th and Sept. 4th. A discount of 1/2 per cent. is allowed on the amount of the second and third installments. If the first installment is paid on May 4th, is not paid on or before June 4, 1/2 per cent. is added, after June 4th, 5 per cent. is added. If the second installment, payable on July 5th, is not paid on or before August 5th, 2 per cent. is added, after August 5th 5 per cent. is added. If the third installment is not paid on or before Sept. 4th, 5 per cent. is added after that date.

Business and income taxes must be paid with the first installment. In Vancouver, income and personal property are not assessed, but business licenses, covering nearly all occupations, are in force. Land is assessed at its full value, improvements at 50 per cent.

Taxes are payable on August 3rd, Sept. 3rd and Oct. 3rd, a discount of 10 per cent. being allowed for payment of full amount on first date. If full amount is paid on Sept. 3rd, 7 1/2 per cent. is allowed, and if on Oct. 3rd, 5 per cent. is allowed.

Total receipts from licenses are $356,775. In addition, Vancouver receives in fees, the following amounts—Savengers, $56,774; police court, $212,656, and B. C. Electric Railway, $131,000. These, with other smaller amounts and receipts from licenses and rentals make a total amount of $520,431.

If the Vancouver plan was adopted, the city would have to allow about $45,000 in increased discount. The quarterly payment plan would result in loss of interest and also in receipts owing to the lateness of the season in collecting from those who are forced to pay, the falling off in receipts would be considerable.

WALTER W. WHITE, Mayor.

Commission Named to Prepare Report When Chamber Sits in October

Canadian Press

PARIS, Aug. 11.—The Senate and Chamber of Deputies today began a long vacation. During this vacation a sub-committee appointed by the Chamber's finance committee will study the debt agreements with Great Britain and the United States.

M. Darlac has been made president of the sub-committee. He will request Premier Poincare to supply him with all documents relating to the debt so that the body can accomplish its task as rapidly as possible, and have everything in readiness for debate on the debt question, when parliament resumes work in October.

BIG MAJORITY

The National Assembly in session at Versailles yesterday by vote of 671 to 144 passed the bill fixing the provision for a sinking fund for the purpose of amortizing the country's foreign debt and generally relieving the tangled financial situation.

THREE SUSPENSIONS

The triumph of the Poincare Government came after three suspensions of the bill because of the obstinate tactics of the Communists. At one time there were fist fights between the Communist and the other members. The one-armed General Pelletier, acting as sergeant-at-arms, mounted the tribune to drag down the Communist deputy Doriot, while other Communists sang "The Internationale."

REMOVE POLITICS

After the obstruction of the Communist was quelled, one fact stood out—that France's supreme legislative body had decided that the commission which will have at its disposal the income from the tobacco monopoly and part of the proceeds of the inheritance tax shall be removed from all political conflict.

Rum Runner Taken By Customs Cutter

Canadian Press
CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., Aug. 11.—The customs cutter Gribb, Captain Coffin, yesterday towed into Charlottetown harbor the large motor boat Nancy Lee, loaded with between 600 and 700 cases of liquor. The Nancy Lee was captured off the Pughwash shore. She is now tied up at the Marine wharf under guard, waiting instructions from Ottawa.

Promises $250,000 To Build Church

PEORIA, Ill., Aug. 11.—John Cooper, Kewanee Iron Worker, says he expects to take over $250,000 in cash and 16,000 acres of Virginia land, left to him by his grandmother, when he becomes 35 years old next September, 18. In the face of rumors that the legacy is a hoax, Cooper has made a pledge of cash for the construction of a nurses' home at the Kewanee Hospital and has promised fellow church members a $250,000 church for which they are already laying plans.

Studies 3,000 Family Scheme

THE Earl of Clarendon, Under-Secretary of State for the Dominions in Great Britain, with the Countess of Clarendon and their three children, are touring Canada at the present time. His Lordship is investigating the conditions under which the 3,000-family immigration scheme from Great Britain is working out in this country. In 1925 some five hundred families were brought over; in 1926 about 1,200; and next year the balance will have arrived here. The photograph shows from left to right: Lady Joan Villiers, Lord Hyde, the Countess of Clarendon, the Earl of Clarendon and Hon. Nicholas Villiers.

EDMONTON, Alta., Aug. 11.—Hon. Charles Stewart, attacked the Conservative Senators for having rejected the old age pensions bill, which would have been a great relief to municipalities of western Canada during winter months, at right Hon. Mackenzie King's meeting here last night.

Mr. Stewart, former Minister of the Interior, assured the audience that with the return to power of the Liberal government, the Jasper Park section of the highway from Edmonton to the coast, would be completed.

TARIFF PRINCIPLE

"It is not the height of the tariff that is of importance, it is the principle which underlies it—the permanency of its stability of it. We will give every industry in Canada, a chance. Give it an opportunity in our own market, which every Canadian industry has the right to have."

EXPRESS SYMPATHY

GLENBORO, Man., Aug. 11.—Premier Meighen has telegraphed to Mrs. G. H. Bolvin, widow of the former Minister of Customs, expressing the sincere sympathy of Mrs. Meighen and himself "in your sad loss and present grief."

Hi-Jackers' Boarding Party On Nova Scotia Rum Runner Repulsed With 2 Men Dead

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 11.—Three known dead, two reported killed, two men critically wounded, and one man reported missing, was the toll from two encounters between rum-runners, hi-jackers, bootleggers, coastguardsmen and federal agents in Florida, in the past five days.

Three alleged violators of the liquor laws were killed in a pitched battle with several Federal prohibition agents on a lonely everglades road near Homestead, when they pursued and opened fire on the government agents, who were returning to Miami, after a series of raids on hidden stills in the everglades.

Two of the men killed were former police officers of Homestead, recently removed from office.

LONDON FEARS BALKAN PACT DEVELOPMENTS

Sees Mussolini Usurping French Power in Europe

TENSE SITUATION

Observers Concerned Over France's Reaction to Italy's Latest Move

By HERBERT BAILEY
British United Press

LONDON, Aug. 11.—Mussolini's determination that Italy shall oust France as the greatest power on the continent of Europe and the conflict between Italian and French policies to which attention was called after the signing of the Abyssinian treaties, is causing much anxiety.

In spite of King Alfonso's visit to London and the intimate relations between London and Rome the British government know nothing about the negotiations and were very uncomfortable when the news of the completion of the treaties reached here.

CHALLENGE TO FRANCE

By understanding between Italy and Greece and Rumania under which war material is furnished to both the latter countries, and by negotiations for a Rumanian-Russian-Italian pact Italy secures a commanding influence in the Balkans and every point of the French-Balkan policy is challenged.

TEN SENTENCED TO DIE

TYUMEN, Siberia, Aug. 11.—Ten desperadoes were sentenced to death here today for the murder of more than 100 victims. Chief among the condemned was the notorious woman, Ekaterina Pishchikova, wife of the leader of the gang, who himself was known as the "intimidated peasant" as the "Jack-the-Ripper" of the Ural Mountains. The woman was accused of killing her victims with an axe.

ROCKWOOD BIRD SANCTUARY PLAN WORKS OUT WELL

Start Here May Develop Into Rival of Jack Miner's

R. Hugh Bruce, one of the chief movers in instituting the third sanctuary in Rockwood Park, says the scheme is being carried out according to the original plan, and "nearly the young ducks born in captivity are vigorous youngsters flying about the enclosure and giving hope to the promoters that their wandering instincts will carry out a well-laid plan for their flight when the great migration takes place later on.

The parent birds at Rockwood Park are hindered from escaping by having had their wings clipped. So the Rockwood site will always be home-sweet-home to the young birds whilst the parents are there. However, the younger ducks are at liberty to fly round about. When the season comes for the great flight to the south, millions of birds now enjoying the summer climate here, the Rockwood youngsters are expected to join the party.

IDEA IN MIND

When the return from the south takes place in the spring these same Rockwood ducks are expected, according to the instincts of the game, to alight again at the "old home-land." The example is supposed to be followed by scores of other birds, probably in hundreds and in time thousands. It is this exploitation of Rockwood Park as a safety spot on route, the sanctuary promoters hope the young birds to carry out successfully. After a few transatlantic journeys of the migratory host, Saint John, it is hoped, will become another place like the famous Jack Miner bird resort on the shores of Lake Erie.

STILL DEADLOCKED

Religious Controversy in Mexico Shows No Signs of Lessening

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 11.—The controversy between the Mexican Government and the Roman Catholic church over the putting into effect of the Government's religious regulations, showed no signs of lessening today. The "pathe of words," as it is being characterized here, owing to the statements of the Roman Catholic Episcopate regarding its stand and the Government's retention of its policy, was still in progress, seemingly with no prospects at present of anything more dangerous than words being exchanged.

THREE-CORNERED BATTLE

WINNIPEG, Man., Aug. 11.—Unless there are outstanding changes before September 7, official nomination day, three-cornered contests in the rural constituencies of Western Canada, will be few in the forthcoming Federal election. Three-cornered contests in all three prairie provinces feature the 1926 elections, but this year throughout the west many candidates in the nominations to date, have been accepted as "Piston candidates"—Liberals with Progressive acceptance, or Progressives whose nomination proved acceptable to the Liberals of the constituency.

LURE OF THE OLD HOME CAUSES VISIT TO CITY

M. Whitebone, Now in Business in New York, Meets Old Friends

An interesting visitor in Saint John is Moe Whitebone of the firm of Whitebone & Johnston, New York, importer of beauty preparations. Mr. Whitebone and his wife are at the Admiral Beatty Hotel. He said to a Times-Star reporter that he could not longer resist the "hankering" he had to come to the scenes of his boyhood just to revel in sentimental bygone and look up old friends and acquaintances. Although only here a day or two Mr. Whitebone has already had a wonderful time satisfying his desires in this direction.

He is a grandson of Abraham Whitebone, who came to Saint John from Boston 87 years ago and started business on the north side of King Square. It was this firm that introduced to Saint John German or Dutch mustard and of which they were the only dealers for years. The mustard was made from a recipe handed down through the Whitebone family whose home was originally in Holland. Moe Whitebone is the son of Samuel who was one of the younger members of the family who was a prominent figure in business circles and at one time conducted a cigar store here.

WOMAN HELD IN SHOOTING OF HOST AT CAMP

Trained and Seized After Phoning Hospital About Wounded Man

MORRISTOWN, N. J., Aug. 11.—A telephone call to Memorial Hospital here, inquiring as to the condition of Moses Bird, brought in at night in a critical condition from a .32 calibre bullet wound, resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Hazel McMullen, of New York.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT Whether the shooting was the climax of the quarrel authorities were unable to learn. Mrs. McMullen emphatically denied the shooting and said that Bird had been firing at chickens when he was wounded.

BIRD ACCUSES WOMAN Later, according to police, Bird indicated Mrs. McMullen as his assailant, although she persistently denied that she had fired the bullet. It was after Bird's identification of the New York woman, who gave her home address as 1886 Bally avenue, the Bronx, that the normal charge of felonious assault and battery was lodged against her.

After the shooting, according to troopers, Mrs. McMullen got into Bird's car and drove away.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., AUGUST 11, 1935.

CANON SHATTFORD AND SECESSION.

The strange thing is that a number of people who proclaim strong no-secessionist opinions under any circumstances are perpetually dragging forward the word. A contributor to Williams did so the other day, and by the tenor of his article seemed deliberately to invite retort from not only those few who are definitely out for secession but from those who hope any rupture will be avoided, yet consider that if our Maritime appeal for justice be swept aside that secession will be the only remedy for our disabilities in the Maritimes.

Labor has for some time had things all its own way.

Good natured as was the General Strike in its course, the fact remains that it was a gross and entirely unjustified breach of agreements between masters and men who had no dispute between them, but were dragged willy nilly into an illegal conflict by Labor leaders who imagined that they could, by tying up the industrial life of the nation, usurp the functions of the government and compel one side in a legally conducted strike to capitulate.

A GREEN OSTRICH.

It is not enough to effect a "miraculous" return to nature among this half-bred cosmopolitan collection of exotic hot-house humanity, long accustomed to a moribund and artificial existence—that is how the Montreal Gazette describes Desauville society. We have heard of the "Yuman Horridity" and may have even watched him cram his mouth full of nails in the centre of the stage—subsequently and with indifference. Few mothers, however, would care to see their children associating so closely with such a formidable reptile as this young lady is peddling.

NOT DANGEROUS

The supposed danger to human beings is exaggerated, since the people who live and work in its haunts usually regard it with indifference. Few mothers, however, would care to see their children associating so closely with such a formidable reptile as this young lady is peddling.

The Next Task

Queer Quirks of Nature

Dangerous? Not at all, but they are rather lazy playmates. Alligators lay a nestful of white eggs three inches long by an inch and a half in width, white and unmarked, and with a shell much like that of the egg of a duck or goose. These eggs are hidden in a sort of pocket in the bank sometimes covered with the water-way by a submerged entrance. It is believed that the mother remains near the nest to guard it.

 MEGHEN'S WAR POLICY
 (Halifax Chronicle).
 Now, the leader of the Conservative party is the Right Hon. Arthur Meighen. As that, and his statements in the past supported the King Government, he made a speech at Hamilton on November 16th, last year, a few weeks after the general election. It was made on the eve of an important by-election, necessitated by the death of the elected member in Bagot, Quebec. In that speech, Mr. Meighen declared that, in the event of Great Britain being at war, Canada would not contribute a dollar or a man to the support of the Mother Country until a general election were held to determine whether Canada should send troops to the aid of Britain at the time of such a war.

LABOR LEADERSHIP. Wickham Steed, in Review of Reviews British Labor leadership has broken down. Alike in the trade union and in the political spheres, its inadequacy is obvious. DINNER STORIES

PADEREWSKI, prince of pianists, tells an amusing story of a lady who fancied herself as a vocalist. One day while playing the accompaniment to one of her songs, she was in a conclusion that the piano did not sound right somehow, and telephoned for a tuner. The tuner came and found the instrument in perfect order. However, he pointed out for a while, pocketed his fee and departed. A few days later his employer received another telephone message from the lady. Her pianist, she claimed, had not been properly tuned. It was no better than before and she was very disappointed. After receiving a reprint from his employer, the hapless tuner made another trip and again tested every note only to find, as previously, no fault with the instrument. This time he told the lady so. "Yes," she said, "it does sound all right, doesn't it, when you play on it, but as soon as I begin to sing it gets all out of tune."

AN ECHO OF THE GENERAL STRIKE
 According to the Westminster Gazette, the lessons of the General Strike are about to be translated into legislation by the British Parliament. Benefit and strike funds of trade unions are to be separated and the latter to be made liable for action for breach of contract. That is only fair all round. Public sentiment would be entirely against making genuine benefit funds liable, but it is only fair that the fighting sinews should be made available as legal recompense for employers who have been the victims of breach of contract.

And it is an inescapable fact also that if the Conservatives are returned to power the chances of further taxation reductions will be less than if the Liberals are returned. The Vancouver Province wants to know what plans the Liberals have for bettering the condition of the people of Canada if they are elected in the majority. The answer is that they will prepare another Robb budget. Mr. King has said this. And, in turn, may this newspaper ask what plans the Conservatives have for bettering the condition of the people of Canada if they are returned next September—except to raise the tariff duties?

Message of Goodwill From Maine Given by State Attorney-General and Manion Declares Ontario's Sympathy With Project

BAXTER STRESSES TWO VITAL POINTS

Premier Points Out Province Assumes No Financial Risk and People Must Provide Forests; Graustein Declares International Paper Company's Pro-Canadian Policy

GRAND FALLS, N. B., Aug. 10.—The muffled roar of a mighty cataract that has poured its tide through a rocky gorge and over a steep precipice for many centuries at this quaint New Brunswick town was split by the sharp detonation of an explosion this afternoon as Premier J. B. M. Baxter, of New Brunswick, pressed a button, signaling the formal commencement of a Hydro-Electric development entailing the construction of two or possibly three pulp and paper mills, and estimated to cost in the vicinity of from $25,000,000 to $40,000,000.

The ceremony today was attended by practically the entire population of the town in addition to hundreds of visitors from all parts of Maine and New Brunswick, the special train from Saint John to Grand Falls chartered by the developing company the Saint John River Power Co., Ltd., alone carrying nearly 500 persons.

The international character of this large development, requiring as it does storage in the state of Maine, was shown by the presence on the platform of Hon. Raymond Fellows, attorney-general of Maine, who made a deep impression in a brief but forceful speech. Mayor D. J. Collins was chairman for the day and the other distinguished speakers were, His Honor Lieutenant-Governor William F. Todd, Premier J. B. M. Baxter, A. R. Graustein, president of the International Paper Company, Hon. R. J. Manion, postmaster-general of Canada, and Hon. George B. Hazen, Chief Justice of New Brunswick. George McAvity, Hon. L. P. D. Tilley, K. C., Hon. J. Leonard O'Brien, M. P., Col. George Keefe, Howard P. Robinson, Hon. E. A. Reilly, K. C., Lieut.-Col. Alex. MacMillan, D. S. O., W. E. Scully, E. A. Schofield, F. B. Edgcombe, Judge George A. Henderson, Mrs. L. P. D. Tilley, F. J. Robidoux and Dr. F. E. Fraser.

A striking feature of the speeches was the message of goodwill and cooperation eloquently delivered by the representative of Governor Brewster and the people of Maine, who was frequently and heartily applauded during his brief address. When Dr. Manion, in behalf of Ontario, declared that the people of this province were in full sympathy with those of the Maritimes, and desired their progress and prosperity, Premier Graustein, of the International Paper Company, gave a clear and practical address in which he assured the people that his company desired to cooperate most fully in a get-together spirit for the development of this enterprise.

TWO POINTS STRESSED. Two points were especially emphasized by Premier Baxter. One was that the Province assumed no financial risk in the development, and the other was that in their own interest and that of their children the people must provide the forests which make the pulp and paper industry possible. When the various speeches were concluded Premier Baxter touched a button and amid loud cheers a great blast which sent earth and water high in the air on the farther side of the river began the real work of converting Grand Falls into a source of profitable energy. After the Saint John special train arrived Mayor Collins announced the presence of visitors, townfolks and automobiles, headed by the Artillery band of Saint John proceeded to the scene of festivity and historic inauguration. In a short time the upper section was deserted and everybody took a position on the hillside.

The first thing was something to eat, and how well the Grand Falls ladies did supply it. In an improvised dining hall especially erected and seating 600 persons the vast throng was served. At the raised table at the end of the hall sat Governor Todd, the State Attorney-General of Maine, Premier Baxter, President Graustein of the International Paper Co., and other notables. Down the long line of tables many from N. B.'s most representative families sat and partook of the delicious repast served by the ladies of the United Church, assisted by the Women's Association of the Church of England. The menu consisted of salmon and potato salads, biscuits, sandwiches, feed and hot tea and coffee, lemonade and several kinds of cake. The Artillery Band played during the meal. At 8:30 the speaking program began and visitors and townfolks alike crowded the great natural hillside stadium to the number of thousands. Moving picture machines ground out hundreds of feet of film as the speakers addressed the multitude and applause of the heartiest kind greeted every speaker. Mayor David Collins, a former Indian town, North End resident, was chairman. He was dressed in a slick tuxedo and presided over the proceedings with a dignified and dignified air. He mentioned his fourteen years' occupancy of the town's chief magistracy, which elicited loud acclaim from the people who knew him well. It was a fitting climax to a useful career for the mayor, though his tenure of office is still probably long to continue.

AFLUENT WITH BUNTING. Grand Falls never saw a day like this. From the depot through the town to the scene of the big power project the scene was abuzz with bunting, welcoming legends and people in holiday attire. The streets were choked with automobiles, horse drawn vehicles, bicycles

Power Future For Province Made Nearer

(By Staff Correspondent.)

GRAND FALLS, Aug. 10.—The time when New Brunswick will be gridironed with electric power, and when the province will be able to produce its own power, is made nearer by the event of today at Grand Falls. Eventually other sources of power than those at Grand Falls, Nepisiguit and Musquash will add their quota, until the power for small industries as well as larger ones, and for the numerous uses to which electricity is put to lighten labor and add to the conveniences of modern life, is made available to the dwellers who are now remote from such sources of supply.

First will come as a result of Grand Falls development the great paper mills, essential to the almost complete transformation of the lumber industry, which has been forced upon us by competition from British Columbia and cheap European sources of supply. It is fortunate indeed that we have the finest of raw material for paper making and that there is an ever expanding market for it. The hydro-electric energy, which is inexhaustible, to drive the mills. Fortunately also, it is nowhere in the world so spruce and fir trees have a more rapid growth than here. The abundant care of our resources, can the supply of raw material be replenished without great cost, and without fear of extinction.

But, apart from the greater industries which smaller ones will rise within the next quarter of a century, as power is made available over an ever-widening area? With enlarged markets, which are rapidly being developed as a result of the work of the Royal Commission and the recognition by the provinces must get their fair share of the benefits of Confederation, there will arise a new era of enterprise, calling for more and more power to drive the wheels of industry. What may be the result of the projected development at Passanauquoddy or on the Pettingloeac? It is not possible to say, but it suggests tremendous possibilities.

The centre of today's interest is Grand Falls. There may be found among the records of the province a report on the development of a possible canal beside Grand Falls to float down a great quantity of logs, which could not safely be trusted to the mercies of the cataract. Years ago a photograph was taken showing the gorge below the falls so jammed with logs, that they piled up and were stranded there, that the falls themselves were scarcely visible. Year by year the log-cutting was done faster and faster, the mills began to go closer to the stump, and the railway to reach in time the products and the glory of the old days departed. Now the rushing waters that have tossed millions of feet of logs about as if they were but splinters will turn the wheels of industry and bring to the province, even to the mills at Saint John, who by marketing as pulp or paper, the transformation will be complete. There will be work for axemen and river-rafters and mill-operators, and the conversion of the trees into a finished product will keep far more money in the province, than was the case when the sawmill alone held sway.

The development of the power of Grand Falls has been a topic of discussion, and of spasmodic agitation, that the beginning of a new era of naturally a matter of province-wide interest. To the politicians may be left the discussion of terms and agreements; to the man in the street the essential fact is that at last the wheels will turn, and the energy unharmed from time immemorial will be put to man's use.

which at times seemed almost insurmountable.

DIFFICULTY IN WORK. Added to its physical characteristics, making the power development not inexpensive and making the necessary storage facilities difficult to provide to the full extent that they are desirable, is the further fact that five sovereignties as well as private interests affected had to cooperate to bring about this use of its largest power. The development of Maine and Quebec should follow their assistance both indirect through stimulation of business with their neighbor and direct to the extent that they receive power. Through the achievement of this cooperation required from us concessions to the point of view of the provincial authorities which we were reluctant to make, it was helpful to find here at we have found elsewhere in Canada an appreciation of the advantage to a community of the development of its natural resources and a very real willingness to cooperate with those who were prepared to invest their capital in the industries of the country.

The International Paper Company well named for this purpose, is the instrumentality by which the power is to be developed. The International Paper Company has long had extensive and valuable properties in Canada, which we have recently largely increased by purchase and construction until now we are not only the largest producer of sulphite pulp in Canada, but will also on the completion of the Gattineau Mill be the largest producer of newsprint in Canada, as in the world. We have consistently endeavored to have our Canadian enterprises promote the prosperity of Canada in every way possible through the employment of Canadian labor and the purchase of Canadian materials and of equipment manufactured in Canada wherever we could do so without a loss. In fact when we recently asked for a quotation for machinery for a Canadian plant for a United States manufacturer, he told us it was not worth his while to submit a bid as he knew we intended to buy the machinery in Canada anyway. This policy is to be carried out where possible in New Brunswick through the employment of New Brunswick labor and the purchase of New Brunswick materials.

Company is a United States corporation, the enterprise is fundamentally New Brunswick and Canadian. It stays here. It gives labor and pays wages, buys materials and creates wealth here. And the Paper Company itself is far from being a foreigner in Canada. Free in the past by the greatest part of the earnings of the International Paper Company were in the United States, and the company was almost wholly owned there. Now, however, that the company has become active in Ontario, Quebec and New Brunswick, the number of Canadian shareholders has greatly increased. These Canadian properties have appeared to the Canadian investors as sound, and these investors have bought very substantially of our bonds and our shares and will have a part in the management of our Canadian enterprises.

Following the playing of "My Own Canadian Home" Premier Baxter spoke. The Premier was warmly received, his speech being frequently punctuated with applause. "My first speech in Grand Falls was made on 14th July, a little over a year ago," said the Premier, "and I think the events of today show that I may be placed in the category of those who perform somewhat more than they promise."

shipbuilding, the closing of many markets to us because the people of other countries desired to develop industries within their own borders, the exodus of our young people in search of employment, all of these have disheartened the people of this province. The future has not been bright. While we have claims upon the great Confederation, of which we form a part, for more assistance than we have yet received, there remains something to be done by ourselves. It is for us to take stock of the natural opportunities of this province, and to create conditions favorable for their development. It is not, in my judgment, best for the province to go into business on its own account. It is better to make it possible for others, especially outside capital, to undertake the work of development without risk of loss to the taxpayer.

Dorothy Dix

"I Never Married," Says One Bachelor, Typical of Many. "Because I Am a Coward. I've Seen Too Many Marriages Go On the Rocks and I'm Afraid to Take the 100-to-1 Shot That Brings Happiness in a Winner."

THE other day I asked a bachelor of 40 why he had never married, to which he replied:

"Because I am a coward. Because I have been afraid to try it. Because I didn't have enough sporting blood in me to take a chance on the greatest gamble on earth. Because I have been best man at too many weddings and called on for advice in too many divorces. Because I have seen so many men and women who thought that they couldn't live with each other. Because I have seen the silken ties of love turn so often into the ball and chain of matrimony that clinked at every step as a husband and wife dragged it along. Because I have seen too many homes that were hells of discord, instead of heavens of peace."

"OF COURSE, I have met a lot of beautiful and attractive women, and more than one has sent my heart pitter-patter and me to dreaming about love in a kitcheneite apartment just built for two."

"But before I could pop the question my Guardian Angel—or my familiar demon—whichever it was, always grabbed me by the neck and yanked me back to safety."

"ONE time it was John's case. John is a great big, husky fellow, strong as a bull and brave as a lion and he won all sorts of medals for valor in the war. But he is married to a little two-by-four woman who has him so cowed that he says 'Please, ma'am when he speaks to her. Why, when I ask him to stay downtown and have dinner with me he actually trembles as he takes down the telephone to ask her permission, and if she says 'No,' as she generally does, he never dreams of disobeying her and playing hooky."

"So when I look at John I say: 'Not for you, old son. You are free and you are going to stay that way. A wife may be mighty nice, but personal liberty is better, and I don't see you letting any woman tell you just when and where you get off.'"

"THEN there is the case of Bob. Bob is cultured and artistic. Used to collect prints and old furniture. You should see the kind of a home his wife makes him. Like a pig pen. Everything at sixes and sevens. Floors unwiped. Beds unmade. Never a meal that wouldn't kill an ostrich, and in the midst of it poor, gentle Bob tries helplessly to deal with a sloven and a fool."

"Ha, I say to myself, as I take a poppin tablet after having been there to dine, 'better is peace and order and a properly served meal in your club than the stringy chops and spotted tablecloths of matrimony.'"

"AND there's the case of Charlie. Charlie was so clever and ambitious, a regular go-getter and the one of all our crowd we had picked out to achieve big things. He was on his way and going strong when he married. But he got for a wife a woman who could spend money faster than any two men could make it. Her idea of a wife's duty was to be the latest hit from Paris. Her conception of home was a place you went to when the jazz bands ceased belting and the night clubs closed and where a woman could sleep until noon, while her husband got up sofly in the morning so as not to awaken her and went off breakfastless to work."

"Well, being dragged around every night to pieces of amusement has ruined Charlie's health and debts have broken his nerves. All the fire and pep have gone out of him. His ambition is dead. He has become morose and downhearted and pessimistic, and every year he sinks deeper and deeper into the pit of failure."

"Not for me! I say as I look at Charlie. I am up tight-wad, but I don't propose to spend my whole life toiling for the benefit of milliners and dressmakers and linen-makers generally. I am not going to have my door of opportunity so blocked up with any pretty lady's unpaid bills that I can't get it open when good luck knocks on it."

"AND there's the case of Phil. Phil is the best old sport that ever lived—kind, easy-going—the sort of a man who would never lift his hand against a woman no matter how much she deserved it. He won a naggar and a whiner in the matrimonial lottery, and in all the twenty years they have been married he has never drawn a peaceful breath in his own home or been permitted to do a single thing he wanted to do. He has never lit a cigar without having to listen to a lecture on the vice of smoking. He has never made a mistake that he has ever heard the last of. He has never done a single thing apparently of which his wife approved."

"And every night as soon as he comes home he has to listen to a monologue about how hard she has had to work and how the children have been and how her head aches, or her back aches, or her toe aches and how awful it is that she can't have a new car as Mrs. Bullion has or a real pearl necklace like Mrs. Croesus."

"Bachelorhood may be lonesome," say I to myself after I meet Mrs. Phil, "but, thank heaven, there isn't any one who has a legal right to tell me of my shortcomings, and when a woman starts to recount her troubles to me I can get up and leave."

"AND there is the case of Sam. Sam has spent his life slaving for his wife and children. He has given them his very heart's blood and they have never so much as said 'thank you.' He is nothing but an automaton that signs checks for them. They don't even know he is alive except when they want more money."

"Nobody bothers about his happiness or comfort. Nobody tries to interest or amuse him, or to be companionable with him. Mother and the children go off for months at a time and leave him alone to work through summer heats and winter colds. He is nothing but a slave, and they are the slave drivers."

"Humph, I say to myself when I look at Sam, 'if I've got to be robbed I don't want it to be done by the hand I love and trust. When it comes to being cherished you have got nothing on the old bachelor, and he, at least, has his money left him.'"

"BUT," I said, "not all marriages are unhappy marriages. There is also the case of David, whose wife is tender and loving; whose children are appreciative and grateful; whose home is a safe haven where he can drop anchor when the storms of life sweep over him."

"True," replied the bachelor, "but there are so few Davids and so many Johns and Charlies and Phils and Sams, and, as I told you, I am a coward and lack sporting blood, and I get cold feet when I think of playing a hundred-to-one shot. And so do many other men."

Sartorially Speaking, Milady Shines Only at Night

By MIMI LISBETH

MILADY inclines to dark colors for daytime wear this season although she often adds a touch of color just for luck. Her evening gowns are all lighter, however, with spangles, sequins, metal cloths and other brilliants. Above are two of the new evening frocks which sparkle and shimmer and are contrasted with a quiet, walking frock in demure black and white. The costume at the left is fashioned of apricot satin and silver metal cloth with tiny coral beads outlining the deep vest effect.

A slender train finishes the skirt which has a tuxed effect. The fan carried by the model is unique and is made of stiffened chiffon petals.

A softly sinuous gown (right) uses elaborate pearl trimmings which stripe the frock from décolletage to scalloped hem. As the frock is Saxe blue the effect is very charming. A long scarf wound about milady's throat is also scalloped at the end and trimmed with the pearls.

A new fall walking frock (center) uses the very well liked black satin and cuts it in simple lines. White silk-wool forms the effectively bold frock for emphasis. A large capeline hat also in black with a touch of white is worn with the frock.

Evening frocks seen recently at the smartest of resort hotels were fashioned of chiffon or other sheer materials. Some were sequin trimmed and there were many beaded dresses. White was popular as was flesh, pale pink and other pastel shades.

The frocks that attracted the most attention by their chic, however, were fashioned in some shade of red. One was a combination of scarlet chiffon and tulle, and gold brocadeed tulle.

Another was chiffon shaded from pale pink to deeprose. The third was ruby velvet, the skirt dipping at the back and richly embroidered near the border with gold bullion embroidery.

Jack Duffy, sprightly grandpoo

By DAN THOMAS

ONLY 30 years old—and already a grandpa for three years.

Just one man in all Hollywood—perhaps all the world—has been of this singular distinction. He is Jack Duffy. Of course there's a catch in it. Duffy is a grandpoo only in the silver tinted screens of motion picture theaters.

At that, it seems odd that a young man should be one of the best known grandfathers of the celluloid universe. For more than three years Duffy has never played the role of anyone under sixty. And the chances are he never will—at least not for some time, as he recently signed a long-term contract to play "father time" characters in Christie Comedies.

KICKED TO FAME

"When just a boy I was a jockey on eastern race tracks," Jack says. In several years of riding I saved enough to buy my own string of horses. It was while I had my stables at 714 Fern that I lost my teeth. I was examining the injured foot of a colt when he suddenly cut loose and kicked me square in the mouth, knocking out all my front teeth.

"I was in a serious plight for a while but as things have turned out, Fate treated me pretty well after all. I have a perfectly good set of store teeth now. By taking them out, putting on some false whiskers, a pair of eye glasses and a little makeup I can advance my age about 40 years."

HARD LIFE

"There is a certain advantage in a young man playing grandpa parts, too. Films haven't yet reached the stage where the old man doesn't have to take plenty of wallops, especially in comedies. If a man were really as old as he is supposed to be, he would be laid out in about two scenes."

Among other accomplishments, Duffy is a quick change artist. He can walk into his dressing room in his natural state—a young man—and emerge one minute and 50 seconds later a sprightly old man of 70.

He has just completed "Uppercuts," a picture in which he undertakes to back a prize fighter and gets most of the wallops himself.

THE FARMER GETS A TRIMMING IN HIS FIELD DOESN'T

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

In Mother's house the rooms are cool and sweet on sultry summer days. When all along the dusty village street the heat makes golden haze. In Mother's house a perfume lingers yet; it may be from the scent of many blossoms, pink and mignonette, or from old joys, long spent. In Mother's house a quiet reigns always, as though its portage know that men have need to turn from tumult's ways, sometimes, and find peace so. In Mother's house the world seems far away and far all worldly things but ever, through its signs of faint decay, there sounds a stir of wings. In Mother's house, with scent of rose and pink, and peace, and sunlight clear, there comes a stir of wings sometimes. I think, the angels are so near.

SEE-SAWING ON BROADWAY

SNAP-SHOTS of Manhattan "one of those hot nights!"

It is close to midnight. From the sidewalk of a dark street on the edge of the East Side comes a tiny circle of light, as though a lost ball were trying to find its way along the curb. The light comes from a ring of candles on the sidewalk. It reveals the silhouettes of two old men. They have checkerboards and sit there playing, hour on hour, without pausing so much as a word. They have found a way to cheat the restless night.

From the escapees all about come the cries of feverish children. There is no tree-top for rock-a-bye baby. Only the iron grill along the steps and staccato of which slump half-clothed bodies, like limp heaps of washing on Monday.

Soft-voiced lullabies in a dozen dialects, varied by harsh-commands to silence. Throats cannot silence the discomforts of tender flesh. The crying goes on, choked and spasmodic. Turn into a more congested street and it swells, like the wailing chant of sycophants before a pagan idol. And dozens are doing it. In the afternoon this little square is a parking place for babies of the neighborhood. In all New York there is nothing more communal and "small town" than this little square of lawn. Its value probably runs into the millions.

The dock of East River. Watchmen shooting off the night-walkers. In the afternoon a hundred men and boys were diving off. Absolutely naked. There is no time for bathing suits along the waterfront.

Humans on doorsteps, in parks and on the street. And millions who sleep restlessly. Manhattan is a chaos of discomfort on "one of those hot nights."

GILBERT SWAN.

LOWER FIFTH AVENUE. Scene of an old aristocracy.

And the comfortable lawn of the old Presbyterian church. Few churches in Manhattan boast lawns. A semi-circle of chairs has been left from an outdoor service. Draw two of them together and you have a bed. And dozens are doing it. In the afternoon this little square is a parking place for babies of the neighborhood. In all New York there is nothing more communal and "small town" than this little square of lawn. Its value probably runs into the millions.

BLACK doors open and shut, open and shut. A sprinkling wagon has been along. From the flushed streets there rises momentarily a suggestion of cool vapor. Black figures hug the curb and absorb the fleeting coolness. A dozen kids have vanished into the darkness in the wake of the sprinkling cart. They are not missed. What of it? They can find their way in the dark, these street-crazed brats. Like cats!

On Fifth Avenue the buses lumber tirelessly. How cool the brownstones look to the searchers for air. Their windows and doors are barred with wooden covers, the rich folk have gone to the country, the seashore, the mount-ain, Europe. Fifth Avenue, aristocrat of highways, suddenly belongs to the poor.

A Thought

Owe no man anything, but to love one another; for he that loveth another hath fulfilled the law.—Rom. 13:8.

I owe Smith ten dollars, and God forgives me, but that doesn't pay Smith.—R. G. Ingersoll.

PLAN A GOOD HOLIDAY

The New Outlook

Money cannot buy a good holiday any more than money can buy many other of the very best things. And given the right mood and attitude the want of money cannot spoil a good holiday very successfully, any more than the want of money can rob a man of some of the other good things of life. A holiday is such a good thing, and may do so much for men and women whose lives are filled with hard work and monotony and care, that it seem too bad to spoil or rob it of its best and truest worth. A few days or a few weeks away from one's regular work, rightly and wisely used, may mean recreation for the body, mind and soul; may mean a broadening sympathy, a lightening of the heart, a stimulating of all good purposes and ideals, and may mean better and richer and happier living for days and weeks and months to come. Truly a holiday is a boon not to be lightly esteemed. We ought to plan to have a good one.

A WOMAN'S AGE

(London Daily Express)

When should a woman cease to hide her age? Never. From the moment of her blossoming into womanhood until the hour of her death she should be a woman—ageless, mysterious, elusive. To strip off the trappings of glamor and peer beneath the veil of mystery is the mark of the cynic. Cynicism is the blight on the rose tree.

A PRACTICAL THREE-PIECE GOLF SUIT.

By Marie Belmont

Here is a stunning golf suit for a cool day. Sweater suits are so smart and combined with the silk jacket, as in the picture, and flannel jacket, a new note is touched.

The turtle-necked sweater worn under the pale blue flannel jacket is of pale blue, white and pink stripes. The skirt is white crepe with interesting side-pleats.

Any number of skirts might be worn with this suit, of blue or pink or contrasting shades. A pretty little white silk or crepe blouse might also be substituted for the sweater on warmer days.

CITY TEACHERS
PASS MUSIC
EXAMS. WELL

Results in Courses Recently
Concluded Show High
Marks Made

Ten city teachers have passed a second year course music examination and 11 have been successful in the first year examination. Both courses were instructed by Prof. J. F. Browne, supervisor of music in the city schools, and the examinations were held by the Washington College of Music in May of this year. The names of the successful candidates have just been announced.

At the local examination in public school methods the successful candidates were ten of the Catholic teaching sisters and one lay teacher. The majority of the lay teachers who were presented themselves for examination last year. The same course was repeated this year by Mr. Browne in regard to the Catholic teachers might be equally well equipped for the work of teaching music. The examination took the form of two papers, one set by Mr. Browne, who is a member of the faculty and holds a bachelor's degree in music education from Washington College and the other set by the college authorities. There was also an examination in practice teaching.

CLASS LEADER

All of the teachers made high standing, but the class was led by Sister M. Augustine with 94 per cent. She was closely followed by Sister M. Amabilia with 93 per cent. Both of these teachers are on the staff of Holy Trinity school. The following are the successful candidates: Sister Augustine, Sister Amabilia, Sister Bernard, Sister Pauline, Sister Ethelreda, Sister Marcellina, Sister Dominica, Sister Consuelo, Sister Benigna and Miss Ruth Hanson. The advanced second year examination was in musical history and appreciation. A large class of teachers attended Mr. Browne's 28 weekly lectures in these subjects, but only a limited number presented themselves for examination. Of these, 10 passed and the highest marks were made by Miss Beatrice Gonnell, of St. Vincent's boys' school with 97 per cent, second by Miss C. C. Robinson, of King Edward school, with 93 per cent. This examination was an extremely searching one and lasted a whole day. As in the case of the first year test, one paper was set by Mr. Browne and one by the college. The teachers who distinguished themselves by passing the second year examination were the Misses Beatrice Gonnell, C. C. Robinson, Hester Steep, Mary E. O'Brien, M. Killora, Catherine Z. Barle, Anna Gonnell, Isabelle Reid, Helen Harrington and Ruth Hanson.

2 BURSARIES HERE

C. C. Jones of Saint John and H. F. Williamson of St. Andrews Winners
Two J. O. D. E. bursaries of the 1926-1927 have been awarded to this province as there was no candidate offering in Prince Edward Island and the Prince Edward Island bursary was given to New Brunswick in addition to the one to which this province is entitled. The winners of the bursaries are Geoffrey Caverhill Jones, of Saint John, and Hason Frederick Williamson, of St. Andrews. Nine of these bursaries are awarded annually, one for each province, and these awards will be made over a period of 18 years. They are for the sons and daughters of deceased or totally disabled service men. The bursaries are for $1,200, usually being tenable for four years at $300 a year.

Both of the young men who have been awarded bursaries in New Brunswick this year show great promise, having been class leaders for several years in their respective schools. Major F. Caverhill Jones, of the 11th Battalion, C. E. F., who was invalided home and died six weeks later in 1917. He is a graduate of Robesay College School and will enter the University of King's College to take the arts course preparatory to studying law. Hason Frederick Williamson is the son of Sgt. F. E. Williamson, of the machine gun section of the 20th Battalion, C. E. F., who was killed in the Battle of Courcelette in 1918. He is a graduate of the St. Andrews High School and will enter the University of New Brunswick to take an engineering course.

 "THE APPEARANCE OF A NEW DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS PICTURE IS ALWAYS AN EVENT. 'Don Q, Son of Zorro' is one of the most entertaining films that has ever emerged from the Fairbanks studio. Those who saw and thrilled at 'The Mark of Zorro' some years ago have the same sort of treat in store for them, considerably magnified in proportion. The interest never lags for an instant. Romance, a picturesque hero with ideals of the highest order, a lordly heroine and a wealth of fast and furious action, with the true Fairbanks dash apparent throughout the piece—such is 'Don Q.' The picture shows, beyond the slightest doubt that Fairbanks knows what people want in the way of photoplay entertainment and knows how to give it to them."

The PALACE of PLEASURE
 Never has there been a more colorful personality in history than Lola Montez, at whose bidding political destinies of Europe were moulded, revolutions were fought, kings have abdicated their thrones and royal courts of the Old World thrown into social upheavals. It is not extravagant, therefore, to say that "THE PALACE OF PLEASURE," which is based upon the life story of this woman, written by Adolf Paul, is one of the most colorful pictures to reach the screen in years.

 It's a comedy of thefts and mystery, but mostly of laughs. Marie Prevost, the most charming comedienne of the screen, heads the cast, as Molly Briton, the keen-witted, light-fingered, light-hearted little safe breaker, and she has associated with her Clive Brook, the suave handsome English star, as a modern and merry Jimmy Valentine; John Patrick, as a new sort of Raffles; Heine Conklin, whom we regard as one of the funniest of all comedians, as a thug of a crook who scores finesse; and Claude Gillegwater and Mathilde Brundage, as a pair of sanctimonious confidence people. They'll steal all the laughs you have about you.

This New "Shari" Beauty Cream

One gains an idea of the Art practiced by the creator of Shari Cleansing Cream by the methods of Monsieur Langlois in preparing Perfumes.

The inventor of Cara Nore worked out his Shari fragrance in this manner. Years of untiring effort—in the foothills of the sea faced Alps, protected from mistral winds and warmed by constant sunshine in the quiet little section of Grasse. Here among the highly scented flowers, the Rose, the Jasmine, Violet, Orange Flowers and Lilac. These flower oils, with many others, are intermingled in delicate harmonies—and the result is Shari.

Shari Beauty Cream was contrived as a skin food and complexion tonic. Stimulates the muscular fibres, beautifies, refreshes and rejuvenates the skin. Prevents premature wrinkles. Neither greasy nor sticky, it is an ideal base cream for face powder, guarding against sun and wind burn and freckles, etc. Will not promote hair growth. Before retiring cleanse the skin with Shari Cleansing Cream. Then pat Shari Beauty Cream into the skin. With gentle massage it revives flabby or shrunken tissues, firms and smooths everywhere.

Beauty Cream $1.50. Cleansing Cream, $1.00.

An Eveready Flashlight Means a Safe Vacation

In tent, cottage or boathouse, it relieves your family from the peril of oil lamp or candle. Hung on the tent pole, or on any nail or peg. Rests on its own octagonal lens-ring, shedding its glow over a large circle. The safety lock switch prevents accidental lighting and holds the light "on" as long as required. The focusing device wastes the light from a piercing 300-foot beam to a wide arc near at hand. The ribbed case, in nickel or gunmetal, is wear and weather-proof—and there is

SEE THE FALLS

At high tide the water of the Bay of Fundy reaches a higher level than the center of the Paroisse River and forces its way through the bottom of the Falls. The "falls" running up river.

At low tide the water in the Bay becomes so much lower than that of the Paroisse River that the water is reversed and flows down river into the Bay.

At half tide, when the level in the Paroisse River is about equal, the water at the Falls becomes smooth as the surface of a lake. To fully appreciate this wonder of the world, it should be seen at all three stages.

His Lordship said that the church would serve Catholic people summering in the vicinity. It was not the intention to create a present new parish in Westfield. His Lordship added, but the church was being built to accommodate people from the city and elsewhere who spend their vacation or reside in that locality during the summer months.

Asked if the new church would be attended by a priest from the city, Bishop LeBlanc said that this matter had not yet been gone into. There will be no resident priest for the present at least.

TAKES HOME FINE OPINION OF N. B.

New York Visitor Says Province Can be Made Great Tourist Resort

That New Brunswick has a great opportunity to become a famous tourist destination is the opinion of W. del. Cunningham, of New York, who with his son, Frank, paid a visit to the Tourist Association bureau, Market Square, yesterday.

Mr. Cunningham and party, who have been travelling through New Brunswick for two weeks, expressed themselves as delighted with the natural scenery, the excellent conditions of the roads and the fine fishing they have enjoyed. Mr. Cunningham remarked that the advertising being done by the N. B. Tourist Association in the New York illustrated papers was attracting much favorable attention to this province.

If you will just tell our people in New York about your wonderful fishing lakes and streams, your natural scenery, the courteous hospitality of your people and the very complete detailed information your Tourist Bureau is sending to all inquiries, you will very soon make New Brunswick a famous summer resort for American tourist parties, concluded Mr. Cunningham.

As Hiram Sees It

THE SETTLEMENT—If you go up Long Reach in the daytime you'll see gals an' boys bathin' at the beaches here an' there you'll see tents here an' there along the shore—an' folks sellin' on the veranda an' cottages—an' everybody happy. If you go along at night you kin see bonfires on the beach—an' if you're old you'll know as young again. But what you see ain't nothin' to what you orto see on Long Reach. Some day that there Valley Railroad 'll wake up an' run trains to a regular bus service an' advertise it so people 'll know about it in time to make their plans—an' then you'll see cottages spring up like mushrooms. Some day the 'll be hotels—an' folks from Ontario an' the States 'll be summer homes—an' the river 'll be an hour from Saint John to Brown's Flats—an' miles an' miles 'shore afore you get to it. He is a son of Mr. HIRAM.

MR. LEGER SPEAKS ON AMUSEMENT TAX

Provincial Secretary, Here Today, Referred to Phases Under Change Made

Hon. A. J. Leger, provincial secretary, who passed through the city after the Grand Falls celebration today, told a Times-Star reporter that while it was rather early to determine the volume of increased revenue from the amusement taxes recently readjusted, he felt certain there would be an appreciable change. This would particularly apply to the Saint John situation where higher priced seats were sold and where the largest number of important traveling shows would probably play. However, it would not be until next year that the full benefit of the new law would be felt. As concerning the new taxes on other forms of amusement such as bowling alleys, billiard halls, etc. the plan for collection these was now being organized and it would become effective probably with the opening of the cold weather season.
