THE MILITARY TO RESUME CONTROL

Things Grow Much Worse in Belfast.

Number Killed in Renewal of Riots Has Now Reached Fourteen—Proposed Military Law for Today.

Belfast, Aug. 31.—The military, it was announced at midday, will assume control of Belfast within an hour as a result of representations by the Lord Mayor as to the urgent necessity of affording the city's citizens protection in view of a fierce rioting and fighting in progress. Pierce revolver fighting between Ulster loyalists and Sinn Feiners continued this morning, causing scenes of the wildest excitement in some of the city's thoroughfares. Another man was killed at eight o'clock, making the total dead up to the present nine. The fighting still proceeding in some areas the total death toll since Monday night had reached fourteen. Scores have been wounded, but the exact number is not known. Street fighting of the most savage character continued in this city last night, following a day of disorder. Many streets in the very centre of the city were left in darkness because the lamp lighters refused to enter the bullet-swept thoroughfares, and in the obscurity the opposing snipers were very active. The day's rioting and outburst culminated at nine o'clock in the appearance of a party of men armed with rifles, who entered Stanhope street, took positions on the ground and opened a hot fire. Federations stamped on the rioters, many of whom were near enough to see the men doing the shooting declared the rifles they carried were brand new. It was the most serious incident of the fighting since it broke out on Monday. The exchange of shots between the contending parties began early in the morning and gradually spread over the extensive area with increasing intensity. During the fusillade on North Queen street in the afternoon two persons were killed and a dozen wounded. An armored car was sent to the scene to stop the fighting. Outside of detachments in armored cars, the military forces of the government have not entered in the rioting. Victoria barracks, where the troops are housed, was within the zone of the fighting, and the shells of the buildings were hit frequently by bullets.

BUILDINGS AT HAMPTON BURN

Fire in the Village Destroys Store and Dwellings—Apparatus from City.

A store with dwelling above, and two self-contained houses were destroyed by fire this morning in Hampton Village. At the time of going to press, the fire was reported to be under control. Fire-fighting apparatus was sent out from the city and aided materially in controlling the flames. The store was occupied by Robertson Bros., and the dwelling above by Benjamin Smetnam. Of the other two houses one was owned and occupied by W. Henry Sharpe, and the other owned by Charles N. Fowler and occupied by Patrick Malone. The fire started about ten o'clock this morning and was said to have originated in the upstairs dwelling of Benjamin Smetnam. It was said to be due to the explosion of an oil stove. The flames spread rapidly, and the large rambling structure was quickly reduced to ashes. The residence of W. Henry Sharpe was next to the store on the side nearest the bridge and the fire leaped across to it, quickly spreading to the Fowler house, which was also destroyed. A hurry call for assistance was sent in to the city about eleven o'clock, and Commissioners Public Safety John Thornton ordered the fire engine from No. 3 station in Union street to the scene, accompanied by his son, who was said to have been of great assistance in combating the fire. A hole was burned in the roof of the agricultural hall. The store occupied by Robertson Bros. and the dwelling above were owned by R. J. Edgar, who formerly occupied the dwelling. He purchased the building from G. G. Fawcett, and it was a historic landmark for the whole countryside. Nothing was saved from the store or dwelling, and it was a historic landmark for the whole countryside. One small "frack" nearby also fell a prey to the flames. No information regarding the cause of the fire was available at the time of going to press. Benjamin Smetnam, who occupied the upper story of the Edgar building, is employed in the automobile accessory department of Emerson & Fisher.

CELEBRATION AT ANNAPOLIS ROYAL

Notable Events in History are Commemorated.

Annapolis Royal, N. S., Aug. 31.—At 2:45 this afternoon, three centuries of the history of Annapolis Royal and the province of Nova Scotia under the name given to it by James, the first Stuart King of England, were officially commemorated. All morning auto parades into Annapolis Royal from surrounding districts, while others came from far and near to join in today's celebration. The events recorded in the foundations of the British Empire. Flags, bunting and other decorations appeared in abundance and the platform of this afternoon's speaker was a riot of color. A tablet was presented by the Hon. Geo. H. Murray for the government of Nova Scotia, commemorating the grant to Sir William Alexander and the Scotch foundation of Nova Scotia, and other honoring of the name and the establishment and sitting of the first colonial administration. English common law, by Hon. R. Harris, chief justice of Nova Scotia; Sir James Aikens, president of the Canadian Bar Association, and W. J. O'Hearn, president of the Nova Scotia Bar Association. A third tablet was presented in honor of Thomas Chandler Haliburton, creator of "Sam Slick." Premier Murray. Premier G. H. Murray of Nova Scotia spoke as follows: I wish, on behalf of the government of Nova Scotia, to thank your lordship and members of the Nova Scotia Historical Society for their great interest in these proceedings. I want to thank you, Mr. Murray, and through you, the people of Annapolis for your kind co-operation in the interesting historical programme we are celebrating today. In my judgment, the people of this province are indebted to the intelligent interest he has taken in this celebration. I do feel, your lordship, that government is the fortunate for us as well as for recognition of historical events of great importance to the people, and I cannot but feel that I am justified in expressing the opinion that were it not for the deep interest of the Nova Scotia Historical Society, these events would probably not have been commemorated today. To all the agencies which contributed towards the organization and successful completion of this celebration, I want to convey the thanks of the government of Nova Scotia. This is an occasion which may be viewed only in the light of history. The event which we are met to celebrate is the beginning of a great epoch in British and world history. We are just entering upon another epoch equally momentous. For us, who are of British stock or who are the heirs of British traditions, there need be no doubts, much less fears of the issue. The seeds of the British Commonwealth of nations, first sown in 1621, have spread over the earth, and are today blessing and glorifying the world. Before three centuries more have receded into the past, the British Commonwealth may have made it safe for universal democracy, but secure for righteousness. There was little in 1621 to indicate what has since come to pass. There is much at present, to foretell desirable things. Three hundred years ago here was a British empire, and the British Commonwealth was under way. England and Scotland had only united their crowns and ceased to be openly hostile. The British Commonwealth was under way. The new monarch of the two kingdoms, to whom we owe our highly prized rights, had not yet been proclaimed. He had an old exterior and strange mannerisms which made him ridiculous at times, in the eyes of his critical new English subjects. History has not treated him kindly, but it is certain that he was broadly educated, closely observant, and in mind, if not always in action, had practical ideas. The constituting of what was intended to be the dominion of new Scotland by King James was due to no mere whim of personal caprice, although it has been mistakenly represented as such. He determined to interpose a new Scotland between the two kingdoms, and he had observed new France, founded and growing north of the St. Lawrence River and threatening to spread southward. The establishment of new England to the south had been reported to him. AUBURNS AND SOUTH BOSTON IN A MATCH HERE

Big Baseball Game Arranged for St. Peter's Grounds at 8 p. m. Friday—Other Games.

St. John baseball fans have recently been treated to some exceptionally good ball games with outside teams, in addition to enjoying the popular pastime well played throughout the season.

The fast Auburns of East Cambridge, Mass., who put up such sensational ball against St. Peter's here, a few weeks ago, have been matched to play the South Boston team on St. Peter's grounds on Friday evening of this week.

There is no doubt that this will prove a big attraction. Thousands have seen these teams play against St. Peter's, and now it will be of interest to see how they make out against each other.

THE BUSINESS COLUMN

They must have a vast amount of determination and an unflinching flow of new ideas.

"Maybe I'll get on to that part of it when I am better acquainted with my clientele—but, whether I do or not, one thing is certain: I'll never again accuse merchants of making too much money. When you deduct expenses and the cost of carrying accounts and the like, the profit on the investment isn't as much as you could get in a number of gilt-edged securities."

Tells How Dealers Should Study Trade.

Every business needs a research department, J. George Frederick, of New York, told the Buffalo Advertising Club, by hammering home the importance of a study of consumers by merchants.

The type of data the consumer and consumption which, Frederick says, is important to study includes:

First. Exact number and location of prospective (this work alone, for some lines of business, requires an enormous amount of research but it always and invariably worth its cost).

Second. Dissection of logical prospects into all possible classes and possible volume of purchase.

Fourth. Investigation of their present state of mind (1) toward line in general, (2) toward various brands or types in particular.

Fifth. Study of their habits of purchase, their present channels of receiving impressions and information about such merchandise.

Sixth. Analysis of what degree others enter into counsel in purchase of goods.

Seventh. Study of per capita consumption, together with domestic, foreign and foreign prospects, also comparisons with per capita consumption of other allied articles.

Eighth. Inquiry into logical possibilities from a technical point of view, of increasing or broadening out per capita consumption.

Ninth. Analysis of auxiliary factors affecting per capita consumption.

Tenth. Statistical study of the average characteristics of purchase owners, of consumers and of consumption conditions.

Norwegian, nine hundred years ago, in A. D. 1000. It was the first time that North America to be re-discovered by Cabot, 424 years ago, in 1497. It was the first part to be explored for a permanent European settlement discovered in it—even where we now stand—in 1605, and, most gratifying discovery of all, its people have rediscovered it for themselves of late years. They stand to share their wonderful find and its advantages with all worthy outsiders who may choose to come in and share their good fortunes with them.

But, he remembered, it has not taken three hundred years to accomplish what man dominion may attain before this century has witnessed most of the development, and the last quarter of it has more than all the preceding.

That which the people of Nova Scotia have done during these few years is but a presentiment of what they yet shall do. U. S., Canada, the British Empire, Australia, South Africa had not been imagined 300 years ago. In greater part they were unheard of and unknown. Who can set bounds to what this province and man dominion may attain before this century has witnessed most of the development, and the last quarter of it has more than all the preceding.

And now, Mr. Mayor, on behalf of the government of Nova Scotia, I desire to present this tablet, placed here by the government of the province of Nova Scotia, A. D. 1892, to commemorate the three hundredth anniversary of the signing to discharge her cargo of sugar, William Thompson & Company, Limited, Division called from Montreal for Manchester on August 27; Manchester Express called from Manchester for Montreal on August 28; Manchester Express called from Manchester for St. John this morning; Sechem sailed at noon today from Halifax for Liverpool via St. John's, Nfld.

The R. M. S. P. Chaleur shifted from Melco's wharf to the refinery last evening to discharge her cargo of sugar. William Thompson & Company are local agents.

CONFERENCE HALL HAS BEEN CHOSEN
Hughes Accepts the Offer of "Hall of Americas" from Latin Americans.

Washington, Aug. 31.—The coming Washington Conference on the limitation of armaments, during which problems affecting the Pacific and the Far East will be discussed, will be held in the Hall of the Americas of the Pan-American Union Building in Washington.

This was assured when Senator Don Beltram Mathieu, the Chilean ambassador to the United States, who is also vice-chairman of the Governing Board of the Pan-American Union, as well as dean of the Pan-American section of the diplomatic corps at Washington, sent a letter to Secretary of State Hughes offering the use of the building to the United States Government for the conference. Secretary Hughes was more than gratified over the good-will of the Latin-American republics in the tender and hastened to send a reply accepting the offer and expressing the sincere thanks of the American Government for the action taken.

Secretary Hughes considers the Pan-American Union Building admirably adapted for the purposes of the conference. It is at the corner of Seventeenth and B streets, Northwest, about three city blocks south of the State Department Building and stands in the midst of a group which will also be utilized in connection with the Washington Conference.

OUT OF TOUCH WITH THE PEOPLE

Premier Meighen has been asked to call a convention, or a committee, of business men to consider the financial, industrial and labor situation and the best method of dealing with them. While this suggestion has favor in some quarters it is being sharply opposed by many close observers of Canada's economic problems. In this connection the Montreal Gazette, Hon. Mr. Meighen's most influential adviser, points out that the scheme suggested is not the way of parliamentary government, nor is it a method promising practical results; and the Gazette adds:

"The House of Commons under our system is presumed to reflect the opinions of the people, and the Committee of the Privy Council—the cabinet—reflect the opinions of the Commons; and to supersede the Commons with a group of business men, however experienced and capable these may be, would be to destroy popular government and representative institutions. The House of Commons may not be a very wise body. It may be inadequate for emergencies. It may have grown stale, become out of touch with electorate sentiment, be unduly dominated by party machinery, but a free parliament is still the most perfect means yet devised to secure popular government, and frequency of elections the surest safeguard against the creation of an oligarchy."

The Gazette makes it clear that cabinet ministers should keep in touch with the people, that the views of business men should be sought and their sentiments ascertained, and it declares that from surface indications this course is not sufficiently pursued. Furthermore the Gazette is severely critical of the methods recently employed by the Department of Customs: "In the matter of customs regulations and various taxation devices there is too much after-thought and not sufficient fore-thought. Irritating regulations are made and, after persistent protests, are amended, perhaps abolished, having meanwhile angered the merchants and disturbed trade. The Marking Act is a case in point, the legislation of last session which requires goods to be marked with the country of origin. The legislation is not, indeed, novel, but its utility had no public consideration previous to its introduction, and the date of its enforcement was made so early as to have caused serious embarrassment to importers had it been adhered to."

"That the utility of the requirement is a fair subject of discussion does not admit of argument. There would be no politics in such a course, and the Minister of Customs might well have sought the views of boards of trade before the legislation was proceeded with. As the Gazette explains, governments ought to keep in touch with men of business affairs. Had this been done in a greater degree during the last few years many blunders that have been made might have been avoided and much of the irritating legislation which the Gazette refers to eliminated. One of the great sources of trouble under present conditions lies in the fact that the Meighen government is entirely out of touch with the people it is supposed to serve, and there can be no hope of improvement until the electors have had a chance to choose a new House of Commons that is representative of public opinion."

NOT PROUD OF IT.

The New York Evening Post is bluntly critical of an extradition by the State Department at Washington on the treaty recently signed ending the war between the United States and Germany. Washington has declared, in referring to some of the clauses: "The result is to put the United States on a footing with the other Allied and Associated Powers with respect to all the rights defined in these clauses."

The Post says that the State Department failed to add that "Another result is that the agreement with Germany lets us out of all the obligations incurred under the Treaty of Versailles, obligations which might be supposed to be the concomitant of rights and interests acquired under the treaty."

The newspaper finds it "written all over the treaty that the spirit of the pact is 'rights and interests, but no obligations.'" Concluding, it measures the future as follows:

"Time will show the fullness, as we already feel the ignominy, of a national policy which claims rights and interests and seeks to escape obligations. Time will show that, whatever may be the legalistic ways we have left open for an escape from duty, the necessity of doing so will not let us escape so easily, if indeed the American people, when the need arises, will evince a desire to escape. The treaty with Germany embodies a surrender to the immediate necessity of politics. The higher necessity with which the honor and duty and ultimate best interests of this nation are bound up will force a revision of the compact and we may not have to wait very long. The obligations which we would avoid for the moment will be presenting themselves, in one form or another, less than three months from now, when the Disarmament Conference, which we have called into being, assembles at Washington."

A NOTABLE OCCASION

Royal today reviewed before a large assemblage outstanding events in the early history of Nova Scotia, events which were of great importance, as well as to all Canada, and to the British Empire. It was a triple celebration, marking the tercentenary of the granting of the charter of Nova Scotia to Sir William Alexander, the bi-centenary of the establishment of the first court of British common law in the Dominion of Canada, and the centenary of the arrival in Annapolis of Thomas Chandler Haliburton, that famous man whose name forever is associated with "Sam Slick," the product of his able pen. Tablets of bronze were unveiled commemorating the three events, and people flocked from far and near to lend the encouragement of their presence to those who seek thus to keep alive the traditions of the land. The day was marked by a series of interesting events, and a leading part in the proceedings. The tercentenary tablet was unveiled by Hon. Geo. H. Murray, Premier of Nova Scotia, and the Times is able today to publish the address he delivered at the ceremony. It should not be passed by in hurried reading, but absorbed for its interest and value. It is well to look back over the years and gain a new inspiration for the solving of the problems of the hour.

The name of Michael O'Leary was spoken with praise in every one of the Allied nations, and, we may be sure, was exalted in Germany, in the early days of the war, when from the battle-line came the news of his amazing feat which won him the Victoria Cross. Not so many months ago was this. Today Michael O'Leary, V. C., is registered at the Veterans' bureau in Toronto as out of work, still seeking employment after a vain effort of three months to earn the means to support himself and his wife and two children. Two other V. C. winners are among the 2,000 returned soldiers who have placed their names on the list of unemployed in the Ontario capital. The facts carry their own comment.

It is now assured that Marshal Foch, the masterful leader of the allied forces on the western front in the great war, will visit America this fall, probably reaching New York late in October. It is a safe prediction that a wonderful reception will be accorded him.

Men who read Nature's messages in the woods are predicting an early Fall. Well, we still shall have the memory of a summer of glorious sunshine.

THE RIGHT TO WORK OUTSIDE UNION

Court's Decision in Ottawa in Labor Case Involving a Strike.

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—An important decision was rendered in the Hull court yesterday by Recorder Dajordins in the case of Hector Buren and Adrien Bastien, who accused Joseph and Valmore Lamarch with using intimidation towards them during the course of a recent strike of the International Plumbers' Union in this district. Recorder Dajordins found the accused guilty and fined them $5 and costs each, with the alternative of fifteen days in prison. The case was one where Buren and Bastien, two members of the National Catholic Union, were at work on the construction of a school in Hull, when they were approached by the Lamarch brothers, members of the International Union who by the use of threats endeavored to induce them to quit the job and join the latter organization.

INVESTIGATION INTO THE COMMONS, SAYS COL. J. A. CURRIE

Winnipeg, Aug. 31.—The Tribune says that investigation into the United Grain Growers, Limited, will be held on the floor of the Dominion parliament during the next session, according to a prediction made by Col. J. A. Currie, Conservative member for North Simcoo, who is in Winnipeg today.

The paper declared that Col. Currie announced that the Dominion government had not finished its attempt to bring to light the conditions under which grain companies have conducted their business in the past.

WANT WOMEN IN THE SENATE

Ottawa, Aug. 31.—The executive of the Federation of University Women yesterday endorsed the subject of admission of women to the Senate of Canada.

During the presentation of a petition to the Ontario government for the institution of an employment bureau for professional men and women.

LIGHTER VEIN.

She Loved the Cliffs.
"Where are you going for your holidays, my dear?" asked the professor's wife.
"We think of going to the Asaason."
"Ah, yes. What a view there must be from the summit!"—Rochelle (Ken.) wraids.

Existence Varied.
New Butler.—At what time, sir, would you wish to dine?
Prof.—At what time do the best people dine?
New Butler.—At different times.
Prof.—Very well. Then I, too will dine at different times.

Sad Awakening.
A man never realizes the worthlessness of his earthly possessions until he tries to pawn them.

Correct.
"I heard today that your son was an undertaker. I thought you told me he was a physician."
"Not at all."
"I don't like to contradict, but I'm positive you did say so."
"You misunderstood me. I said he followed the medical profession."—Washington Star.

His Death Warrant.
"John," said Mrs. Brown, sitting up suddenly in bed, "there's a burglar in the place."
"I'm quite right," she returned. "I can hear him distinctly crossing the floor of the room below. He's actually smoking one of those cigars I gave you for your birthday. I heard him pick up the box and put it down again."
Then John sat up and listened.
"By love, Mary, you're right!" he answered. "He's actually smoking one of those cigars."
Then he reached over more comfortably beneath the covers and said:
"Go to sleep again, Mary," he said complacently. "We'll find the poor wretch in the morning."

Not Much Magic.
The fair amateur palmitist looked at the left hand of the sweet young girl long and earnestly.
Breathlessly she waited for the palmitist's next words.
"Ah! I see by your hand that you are engaged to be married," said the palmitist.

"How wonderful!" exclaimed the bride-to-be.
"And," continued the read of the future and past, in a more cutting tone, "I see that you are engaged to Mr. Leony."
"Oh, it's perfectly extraordinary!" burst out the blushing girl. "How could you tell?"
"By experience," was the reply.
"But surely the lines in my hand cannot tell you?"
"Who said anything about lines?" replied the prophetic one, with a withering scorn. "You are wearing the engagement ring I returned to him three weeks ago!"

LONDON TOWER

Many people visit the Tower, but few trouble to equip themselves for a tour of our world-famous fortress, says The Bits.

Your imagination will respond far more readily to the romantic atmosphere of the historic edifice if you acquaint yourself, previous to your visit, with some of the main facts relating to the Tower.

In a recently published book, "The Tower of London" (The Bodley Head), the author unfolds its terrific and romantic history.

William the Conqueror built the keep, the Tower, and the castle, and most conspicuous part of the fortress.

Footprints of History.

Mr. Bell tells us how the Conqueror had two objects in view. He wanted to disguise the passage of an enemy up the Thames, and to prevent Londoners' With studied insolence he did away with part of the Roman wall round London so that he might erect his Tower, and to this day part of the keep is outside the city boundary.

The walls of the keep are fifteen feet thick and eleven feet above the ground. It was not until the reign of Henry III. that the Tower of London assumed anything approaching its present appearance, and after that several monarchs added to the structure at various times.

The Tower became a State prison because it was almost impregnable. It was also used as a Royal Palace—the last being by Charles II.

Instruments of Torture.

It was in the Council Chamber on the top floor of the keep that Richard II. gave up his crown to Henry of Lancaster. His death has always been a mystery, but it is probable that he was starved to death. The execution of Anne Boleyn was also decided upon in the Tower, and she spent the last seventeen days of her life there.

There is an amusing collection of instruments of torture in the crypt beneath St. John's Chapel. These include thumb screws, a spiked collar, and that appalling appliance known as "The Scavenger's Daughter," which crushed its victim to death.

Guy Fawkes spent some time in the Tower. He is supposed to have been confined in a dungeon styled "Little Ease." The space allotted him was very small, dark, and with out ventilation.

The Bloody Tower and, opposite it, Traitor's Gate are full of memories of cruelty and oppression. Through the gate passed all State prisoners.

From the tiny square window facing this arch Archbishop Laud gave his last blessing to Stafford, the latter was on his way to execution. Laud himself was beheaded three years later.

Tragedy of Princes.

Sir Walter Raleigh spent thirteen years in the Bloody Tower, and William Penn, the Quaker and founder of Pennsylvania, was imprisoned in the Tower for writing a harmless pamphlet.

The pitiful tragedy of the two little princes has served to make this tower notoriously famous. The twelve-year-old King Edward VI. and his younger brother were suffocated by order of Richard III., who had them sent to the tower for that purpose.

The famous prisoners who perished miserably in the Tower, or who spent the time previous to their execution there, are too numerous to mention. The Royal Begonia is kept in the Wakefield Tower, and is of special interest on account of the Golden Eagle which holds the amethyst oil used at coronations, and the spoon into which the oil is poured.

Until 1854 lions were kept in the Tower.

THE SURGEON OF THE DELAWARE

Now the World's Main Source of Supply, and Fishermen Have Had Most Successful Season.

(New York Evening Post.)
When the New Yorker visits his favorite hotel and enjoys a caviare sandwich, little does he know the dangers that attend the capture of the big fish that supply the roe from which the caviare is made. The catching of these monsters is one of the principal fishing industries on the Delaware river, noted as the leading stream of the world today for sturgeon.

Before the World War European rivers held the honor of supplying the roe for the manufacture of caviare. The war, however, changed all this, and the general paralysis of industry common in European countries has extended to sturgeon fishing. The result is that the Delaware is looked upon as the only source. The Danube and Volga rivers were the leading European streams for sturgeon previously.

The fishermen of the Delaware have become so accustomed to the danger connected with the industry that they take it as a matter of course, and they do not mind the little thing like being pulled overboard or having their craft damaged by one of the valuable fish. The length of the sturgeon ranges from five to fourteen feet, several twelve-foot specimens having been landed during the present season, which, on the Delaware, has been unusual in many respects. More unexpected conditions have been met during the past twenty years; more fish have been caught, more valuable fish have been landed, better prices have been paid, and the fishermen have had more trouble.

Several have been pulled overboard while trying to get one of the catch into their boats. Others have lost part of their equipment, and some have been injured in their efforts to land one of the big ones. When it is remembered that a sturgeon can weigh from 500 to 8000, the layman can understand why the fishermen are so persistent, despite the danger. They have received from $2.10 to $8 a pound for the roe.

Roped Like a Steer.
Fishing crews from various points on the New Jersey and Delaware side of the river can testify to the activities of these fish, even after they are landed, and the captors have started back to their boats, leaving the sturgeon to dispose of the valuable catch. One crew, hailing from Delaware City, the centre of the industry on the Delaware shore, had a thrilling experience while pulling a sturgeon in. The fish was twelve feet in length and weighed about 400 pounds.

The two men that comprised the crew exerted their best efforts to get the prize into the boat, but with one vicious lunge of his tall back he went into the water, pulling the line overboard with him. Another crew from the same place had a similar experience the other day. They were hauling their fish into the craft, despite the furious lashing of the men, in their excitement, had failed to judge its size, for when they thought that they had enough, the creature in their boat they halted for a moment to rest. To their consternation the fish made a swift movement with its tail, hurling the two hooks from the fishermen's hands into the air and disappeared beneath the surface of the water, while one of the crew went overboard with the catch. One of these fish, about five-eighths of an inch in diameter and eighteen inches in length, with the hook curved at the end, was worth ten times as much as the small, big fish taking part of the hook with it.

Even after they have the fish in their boat, care must be taken to see that it is securely fastened, or it will give much trouble. One sturgeon broke several lamps, an oar and other equipment, causing more damage than he was worth. This fish had been fastened with heavy rope, but snapped it without any trouble.

The present season has yielded a very valuable catch, although it has not been so great from the standpoint of the actual number of fish. As men were seven to have been landed in a single week by the fishermen on the Delaware side of the river. The highest catch for a single day was made in May, when ten were captured by the veterans working out of Chesapeake and Delaware Canal.

How Caviare Is Made.

The manner of preparing roe for caviare is as follows: After the fish are placed upon a stand, the top of which is formed of small-meshed screen, with narrow strips nailed on each side. On these the sieves are placed, and left there from eight to twenty hours to drain. The eggs have now become the caviare of commerce, and are transferred to small casks of oak or pine, which have been steamed in order to prevent any possible leakage. In 1885 caviare sold from 89 to $12 a keg. Twenty years ago it sold for $105, and in 1915 the price had doubled.

A rather drowsy man in Topeka, Kansas, who dines every noon-time at the same restaurant, as he enters has been noticed to gaze long and admiringly at the inside of his straw hat. The waiter, aware of this peculiar occurrence, finally chose one of their number to find the attraction in the straw bonnet. He snatched up the hat and discovered in the inside of the hat a large looking-glass.

DOCTOR'S EX-WIFE, IN DEBT, ENDS LIFE
New York, Aug. 31—Mrs. Mae Jordan, who about a year ago divorced Dr. William Rosenbaum of the Belmont Apartment, Broadway and West Eighty-sixth street, was found dead at noon yesterday in her apartment on the seventh floor of 340 West Eighty-sixth street.

Death, in the belief of Dr. Benjamin Schwartz, acting chief medical examiner, and the police, was caused by poison taken about six days ago. The discovery was brought about through Miss Mae B. Edmondson of 214 Riverside Drive, a friend.

Miss Edmondson repeatedly called Mrs. Jordan on the telephone. She got no answer. Yesterday she visited Oscar Christopherson, superintendent of the apartment house, and told him she feared something had happened to Mrs. Jordan. Christopherson entered the apartment with a duplicate key and found Mrs. Jordan dead in the bathroom. He called in Policeman Kenney of the West Sixty-eighth street station.

On a table in the reception room the policeman found two letters, only one of which had been signed. The other was addressed to "Dear Will," and requested that he return $3,000 to her. The letter said that if she did not receive the money in a short time she would have to give up her apartment.
"Your neglect and the wrongs you have done me were the reasons I divorced you," the policeman quoted the letter as saying, in part.
The other letter, signed with the initials of the dead woman, was addressed to "my good friend," and spoke of having received a letter from the addressee at the Commodore Hotel several days before.

and heavy financial drawback since I saw you," the letter said.
The policeman was unable to find a vital or other container from which the woman was believed to have taken the poison, and Dr. Schwartz ordered the body sent to the morgue for an autopsy. Policeman Kenney said Dr. Rosenbaum called at the apartment at the request of friends of the dead woman soon after the body was discovered, and admitted that she divorced him about a year ago. Miss Edmondson told the police the mother and two sisters of the dead woman, who was about thirty-five years old, were in Brooklyn and promised to communicate with them through other friends in Washington Heights.
Search of her effects revealed that Mrs. Jordan had a little more than $5 in money and jewelry valued at about $1,500.

BY-LAW FOR MOTOR BUSESSES

This and Other Matters Dealt With by the Common Council.

The new by-law governing the licensing and operation of motor busses was passed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the common council. The commission of public safety was authorized to call for tenders for the installation of an elevator in city hall. The commissioner of harbors was authorized to call for tenders for the painting of sheds for tenders for the painting of sheds on the west side. The request of Messrs. Armstrong & Bruce for sewerage and water connection with lots in Dufferin avenue was considered, and the city engineer was instructed to prepare plans and an estimate of the cost. Three-way hydrants were ordered installed in Protection street and in the yard proper at Sand Point. The matter of Imperial Oil Company's trucks crossing the ferry while loaded was discussed, and it was decided that empty trucks might use the ferry, but that the floats were too light for loaded trucks.

Soldiers' Memorial.

A communication was received from the West St. John Soldiers' Picquet Committee asking permission to erect a monument in Tilley square, West St. John. The request was referred to the committee of the whole. Mr. Thornton then moved that the council go into committee of the whole to consider the motor bus regulations. Dr. J. B. M. Baxter, K. C., the city solicitor, was present and proposed that the routes to be covered by the busses should be prescribed by the mayor. He said that the routes should be laid out so as to serve the greatest number of citizens. Other minor changes in the wording of some of the sections were adopted to make the meaning of the sections more definite.

In regard to the section in regard to busses stopping near the white poles of the street railway company, F. A. Campbell, president of the Union Bus Company, said that the traveling public had decided not to use the street cars and were using the busses and it was not right to make the people walk fifty or sixty feet through the mud or slush. He said that the adoption of the section would be an inconvenience to the public. Mr. Thornton thought there would be friction should the busses and street cars stop at the same point. It was decided that if the street cars were using the first corner for stop the busses could cross the intersecting street and use the further corner for their stop.

The amount of the fine for violation of the rules was placed at $10. On motion, the committee arose and went into council session when, on motion of Mr. Thornton, the by-law was given its first reading. It was considered as read a second time and the motion that it be passed and ordained was carried. The law became effective when it has been signed by the mayor. On motion of Mr. Thornton, permission was granted to James A. Cooper to erect a 400 gallon gasoline tank and pump on his premises at 23 Westmorland road, provided the pump and tank be approved by the board of fire underwriters. Permission also was given to A. M. Rowan to erect a 500 gallon gasoline tank at 331 Main street, with the same proviso.

On motion of Mr. Prink, he was given authority to purchase a pair of man-made jaws for stone crusher No. 1 at a cost not to exceed $200, plus sales tax. On the recommendation of Mr. Jones, the tender of B. and S. H. Thompson, of Montreal, representatives of English manufacturers, to furnish 5000 feet cast iron pipe at $65.40 a ton, including freight, sales tax, etc., and delivered at St. John, was accepted.

Mr. Jones was authorized to go ahead with the work of laying a nine-inch terra cotta sewer pipe from the head of North wharf to Nelson street at an estimated cost of $435.

FEWER MILLIONAIRES.

New York State Had $1 in 1917 and 25 in 1919.

New York, Aug. 31.—New York state's crop of million-dollar income dropped from 81 to 25 between 1917 and 1919, according to figures made public by the Bureau of Internal Revenue. Only three persons in the state reported incomes as high as $5,000,000 during 1919. The average net income of taxpayers was $8,090 or $1,096 more than the average for the United States at large.

WESTFIELD CIRCUIT REPORTS RECEIVED

Afternoon Session of the St. John Financial Methodist District—Address by Rev. H. A. Goodwin.

At the afternoon session of the St. John Methodist financial district reports were received from the Westfield circuit regarding the crisis through which the circuit is passing as a result of the recent fire. A resolution of sympathy was passed to the circuit recommending that special measures be taken to cope with the situation. Rev. H. E. Thomas and Alfred Burley, together with the chairman of the district, were appointed a committee to visit the weaker circuits. The various missions within the district were carefully discussed, and reports from these fields were reviewed and certain grants in aid were recommended to the mission board.

Gordon Stevens, who has been responsible for the Sunday services on the St. Martin's mission, is to take pastoral oversight of that field during the present year if the recommendations of the district with reference to the matter are favorably received by the home mission board. A deputation consisting of E. D. Babcock, Frank Godwin, Mrs. F. Godwin, Mrs. Harrigan and Mrs. Babcock appeared before the meeting to present the needs of Little River. The matter was very carefully considered and, on motion, was referred to the St. John Methodist Ministerial Association in consultation with the chairman of the district.

Rev. Robert Smart was elected district secretary of religious education. On motion, the invitation of Rev. J. Heaney for the district to hold its November sessions in the Carleton W. E. church was unanimously accepted. In the evening Rev. H. A. Goodwin addressed the meeting, predicting a wave of spirituality. He made reference to the coming referendum on the importation of liquor. In the discussion which followed Rev. Messrs. Lattimer, Heaney, Dawson, Shanklin, Lanson and Ross took part. The meeting closed with prayer by Rev. George F. Dawson.

AVIATOR SAVES THREE WOMEN

Drops Inflated Auto Inner Tubes to Them as They are in Danger in Water.

Hampton Beach, N. H., Aug. 31.—Inflated automobile inner tubes dropped from a low-flying airplane saved the lives of three young women who were struggling in the beach near the pier on record here. Miss Marcelle Moxley of North Andover, Mass., was drowned. A number of bathers sought refuge well off shore and unable to swim back. Life guards were beaten back in their first efforts to rescue them and Miss Moxley sank.

Aviator J. F. Blake of Wellesley, Mass., was making a flight near the beach, saw the predicament of the bathers, and bringing his plane down close to the water, he and his mechanic, Clifton Kemp of Concord, managed to drop the tubes close to the three girls. They were unconscious when brought ashore. They were soon revived.

MORE WITNESSES IN MURDER TRIAL

At the hearing of Millett Stewart, charged with the murder of James Ross at Neguac, in the police court at Neguac yesterday, several witnesses said that they had heard Stewart threaten to do bodily harm to Ross. Dr. Loggie said that the wound could not have been self-inflicted. Clyde Munro said that Stewart and Ross had trouble over an account. Stewart had said he would shoot Ross. Witness admitted that he was not good friends with Stewart, but said that he was not a voluntary witness. Lewis Martin said that at noon on the day of the murder he had seen Stewart at the latter's home. Then Stewart had taken a gun out of the house and put it under some bushes near the Stymest shack. Mrs. Stewart was with him. He had a sharp-pointed knife in his pocket. Martin saw no evidence of drinking that day, nor did he hear any threats about Ross.

Samuel Savoy said that Ross showed him a knife on the day of the murder and said that he would butcher Ross with it. Matthew La Tulippe said that Stewart wanted him to take a stone weighing about four pounds, and when people were not looking, to hit Ross. Several other witnesses gave minor evidence and the case was adjourned to meet again this morning.

MORNING NEWS OVER THE WIRE

The engineers and firemen of the Great Northern Irish Railway, who struck on Monday night in protest against a dispute with the management, returned to their posts yesterday on the advice of their officers.

The schooner Con Rein, owned in La Have, N. S., was sunk recently in collision with the submarine K-4 off Block Island. The crew was brought to New London, Conn., on the submarine. It is reported that Rev. W. Haythorne Waite, rector at Moose Factory, on the James River, who was injured recently, ended his suffering with a bullet. He sustained a compound fracture of his shoulder while helping to move a piano, and lay for weeks without medical attention. While delirious with the pain he took his life.

The Mariners National Bank, of St. John, was examined by a national bank examiner on account of an alleged shortage of $200,000. Sylvania Hedell, cashier of the institution, is under arrest. George Louder, of Summerside, convicted of the murder of Donald Barry, an aged resident of Pictou, was hanged early this morning at Pictou. Louder confessed and was convicted on an appeal for clemency, which was refused.

EXTENSION POSTPONED.

The London Liquor Hours Will Be Maintained. London, Aug. 31.—New rules issued by the Home Secretary postponed thrice anticipated extension of liquor hours. Even the Midnight Supper Drink Act comes into force on September 1. Those already holding licenses must apply for permission to sell liquor during the extended sessions in September, and must notify the local police superintendent of the Midnight Supper Drink Act in the city of London before September 1, and in the west end before October 1.

Before applications for licenses are granted both the police and justices of the peace must be satisfied that the applicant is a fit and proper person. This may lead to trouble, where the applicant is a foreigner of the same street, may be situated in different licensing areas and dependent on a decision of the magistrates for the new privileges.

G. T. P. INTEREST ARREARS.

London Observer Comments on Payments Due. London, Aug. 31.—The Observer's financial editor, regarding a payment due next Thursday on Grand Trunk Pacific debentures, now two and a half years in arrears, says: "The impression among circles in touch with the situation is that the Canadian government will do nothing until the arbitrators have handed down their award, although there is a chance that the government might make an advance payment in view of the hardship imposed on thousands of small investors on this side. It is, however, a very slender chance, for payment might be said to be a tacit admission of liability, which the government, for some reason, has never yet made."

TO MOVE VILLAGE A MILE.

Steel Corporation Orders Hibbing (Minn.) Placed on New Site. Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 31.—The United States Steel Corporation is going to undertake the task of moving a whole town—Hibbing, the world's richest village—located in the centre of the great iron range of the Mesabi Range of northern Minnesota. Within six months this noted village known the world over wherever steel is made, will be a mile away from the site of its birth, and the great corporation's steel shovels will be digging one where old Hibbing stood.

An engineer of the Steel Corporation said today that he was seated in his office in New York recently when a phone call summoned him to the office of Judge Gary, Chairman of the Board. He was in Mr. Gary's office only two minutes, but in those two minutes he was asked a half dozen questions bearing on the topography of Hibbing, the town founded by the late Henry W. Oliver of Pittsburgh, and there was instructed to "put that town on the move and keep it on the move until you have it a mile away"—and there were no further instructions.

COMMUNIST CAMPAIGN

Will Enter Candidates for Coming N. Y. Election. New York, Aug. 31.—Communists in New York plan to enter their first political campaign this fall with a municipal ticket under the name of the "Workers of the League of Greater New York." Candidates were selected at a convention attended by several hundred radicals, and it was announced that a petition would be circulated to have their names placed on the ballot. Hostility to the Socialist Party was said by speakers to have inspired the move.

Benjamin Gittow, former assemblyman, recently convicted of criminal anarchy, was nominated for mayor by his mother, and his candidacy was unanimously approved by the convention. One woman was placed on the ticket—Hrs. Vose Factor Stokes, former borough president of Manhattan.

$10,000 COFFIN FIRE TIES UP STREET CARS

Blaze in National Casket Co. Building—One Man Killed in Tenement Fire.

New York, Aug. 31.—Surface car traffic on 125th street was tied up for more than half an hour by a fire which burned out the two upper floors of a three-story building at 151 East 125th street, occupied by the National Casket Company. A number of coffins and a quantity of undertaker's material were burned. The fire spread to the top floor of 183 East 125th street, also occupied by the National Casket Company. The damage was estimated at more than $10,000. John Gildak, Jr., thirty-one years old, was killed by a fire in his apartment on the fourth floor of a five-story tenement at 401 East 125th street. Gildak was apparently overcome by smoke while asleep in bed. The fire was discovered by his father, who with the aid of other tenants and policemen Stokes and Kilduff confined the fire to the bedroom until the firemen arrived and extinguished it.

Three clothes lines, knotted together, permitting the escape of five persons from the top floor of a two-story building at 153 Twenty-fourth street, Brooklyn, after their escape had been cut off by a fire which burned out the first floor. Policeman Michael Palladino of the Fourth Avenue station, directed the rescuers, and by means of the clothes lines, thrown to the second story, enabled Stanley Stankov to lower his four children and then slide down the rope himself.

KNOCKED INSIDE COFFIN.

Priests Read Service Over Apparently Dead Woman. Toledo, Aug. 31.—The story of a Japanese woman who knocked at the lid of her coffin after it had been sealed and prepared for burial, has been received here by the Japan Times and Mail.

It is stated that the woman apparently died one morning at 5 o'clock, and arrangements were immediately made for the funeral. Priests were sent for and the usual service read over the coffin. Suddenly the priests and others heard a feeble knocking inside the coffin. The lid was removed, and the mourners found the woman was alive. They called her name, and she replied: "I'm thirsty. Give me water." Water was given her, and she was removed to her bed.

READY-MADES FOR $1 1/2.

Vienna, Aug. 31.—The offer of a British consular agent to sell in Vienna 400,000 ready-made suits of men's clothes at $1 and ten shillings each has been occupying more space in the newspapers than the disturbed political situation. The entire Vienna press, backed by the countless civil servants and workmen's co-operative societies, is demanding the deal be permitted, pointing out that native tailors charge at least 10.000 crowns for a suit of equal quality, while the British offer equals about 4,500 crowns.

KU KLUX KLAN AGAIN ACTIVE

Spreading Terror Once More in the Southern States of the Union.

(Toronto Mail and Empire). Once more the Ku Klux Klan spreads terror in the Southern States and the authorities are either unable or unwilling to suppress it. Men are tarred and feathered, women are driven out of town, and offences against society, which the law does not recognize as crimes, are severely punished. In the old days the sole victims of the Klan were negroes. The association was formed in order that the negroes, newly emancipated and exulting in their freedom, might be taught that the white man remained his master. The Klan succeeded in terrifying the negroes, and there are those who say it rendered a valuable service to the white race. Later on it became the medium through which private grudges were paid off and a cloak for violence and robbery. This led to it being disbanded at the order of Gen. Nathan Bedford Forrest, who was the Wizard of the Klan. Recently it has been revived in several southern states, and it is said to have a secret membership even in the north.

It is difficult to understand the reason for its existence, though the officers in their advertisements brag loudly about Americanism. Apparently they do not believe that the existing laws are sufficient for the needs of the community or that the police are numerous enough. Therefore, it has undertaken to punish those who do not satisfactorily represent 100 per cent. red-blooded, two-fisted, out and out Americanism. If a white man is considered too friendly with the negroes, he is tarred and feathered. If a woman is suspected of loose conduct, she, too, is castigated. A negro bell boy, accused of intimacy with a white woman, was branded with the dread letters, K. K. K., on his forehead. The Klan, in fact, aspires to be a sort of vigilante committee, operating without regard to the law of the land. It is a judge and jury. It does not encourage its victims to make a defence, but explains this on the ground that it never takes action until it is absolutely sure of the facts, a course which is satisfactory to its members, but not to those who run foul of its unknown rules and regulations.

War Veterans a Victim.

Sometimes outrages ascribed to the Klan are denied by it. Sometimes it openly acknowledges its lawless acts. Not long ago at Beaumont, Texas, Dr. J. S. Paul and R. F. Scott, a war veteran, were tarred and feathered. The charge was that they had been concerned in performing an illegal operation. The local Klan did not deny the act, but defended it. Then the Wizard of the national order, Col. William J. Simmons published a sensational statement in which he repudiated the local branch and declared that he would give the names of the ruffians involved in the attack to the police. Whether he did so is not known. Nobody has been arrested, but both the victims have been warned to leave town. Scott has gone, but Paul remains, and whenever he appears on the street, is accompanied by an armed bodyguard. In fifty-seven cases of lawless acts committed by the

A Parade in Dallas.

Dallas was treated to a sensational parade not long ago. On Saturday night, when the streets were crowded, the lights were suddenly switched off, and then down the chief street appeared a cavalcade of horsemen. There were hundreds of them, horses and riders covered by some white material. The leader bore a fiery cross, the symbol of the organization, and others banners were carried, such as, "The Inevitable Empire," "Here Today, Here Yesterday, White Supremacy Here Forever," "100 Per Cent. Americanism," "Pure Womanhood," "Dallas Must Be Clean," "All Pure White," "For Our Mothers," "For Our Sisters," "For Our Daughters," "Parasites Must Go," "Gamblers Must Go," "Grafters Must Go," "Our Little Girls Must Be Protected," "Degenerates Must Go," "The Guilty Must Pay," and "The Right Will Prevail." The parade had formed in the Majestic Theatre, Dallas' million-dollar show house. It covered a loop of six blocks and a block wide. The procession had its moral effect upon Dallas. Police blotters have been practically clear of vagrants and loafers and gamblers.

ANIMAL PESTS WORRY FARMERS

It is Sometimes Hard to Tell Which are Useful and Which are Nuisances — Millions from Their Furs.

Practically every farm is overrun at times by pests of one kind or another. Farmers, therefore, find it necessary to kill such pests in order to prevent them from injuring their property or crops. Some he destroys by poison; others he eliminates by employing traps.

"A knowledge of the traits and habits of the animals," says Neil Deatman in a bulletin of the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey, "and of proved methods of capturing them is important if the farmer is to combat them successfully. Besides such out-and-out pests as rats, mice and pocket gophers, some other animals are occasionally harmless, but having valuable skins and being classed as fur bearers, are given special consideration."

TARRED AND WHIPPED.

Masked Men Take Their Victim From Newspaper Office.

Beaumont, Texas, Aug. 31.—J. W. Borders, an electrician, was taken from the office of The Silbee Bee, at Silbee, by several masked men and carried into the country in an automobile, where he was tarred, feathered and whipped, according to word received here from the sheriff of Hardin county.

Borders was later brought back to Silbee and dumped on the main street, the sheriff said. No reason has been assigned for the attack.

It was decided at a meeting of the trustees last evening not to build any addition to the Robtson Consolidated School at this time but to utilize a part of the existing building to provide the additional accommodation necessary for the increased number of students in attendance at the school this term. It has not yet been decided whether another teacher will be necessary. A future meeting will deal with this and other questions.

As to Crown Women. "But it was the grown women who made me decide finally against the present system of strenuous sports for girls and realize that the difference between men and women, boys and girls, was not one of education, environment, and opportunity, but was a vital and fundamental one."

Flat Chest Deformity. "The attempt to make a boy of the girl has led to the cult of the 'boyish' figure with undeveloped breast. Broad elastic bandages are now worn around the chest to produce an unnatural flatness, while drugs are also taken, I am told, for the same purpose. It is unnecessary to say how dangerous are such deformity in a well-grown and developed young woman. "So much for their appearance. But the health of these athletic women is often more apparent than real. They frequently suffer from nerves (manifested in irritable tempers), from heart trouble, from some form of rheumatism, or from displacement of some kind. When there is any unaccustomed strain upon them they do not seem able to meet it. Their marriages are often childless. "I have been sorry to see the physical inferiority of children of sporting mothers, they often being nervous, and the mother becoming so as well sometimes. They compare badly with the stalwart sons many a slight feminine woman produced in Victorian days. "The attitude of these women to life is frequently not a normal one. Their mentality is not healthy. "Unwillingly I have been convinced by the logic of experience. Strenuous games I believe had for the woman and worse for the girl. And the sooner it is realized that the differences between the sexes are profound and vital and that these differences are accentuated and not lessened by evolution, the better for humanity. Let it be recognized that the present cult is a retrogression, and the young girl have placed before her the ideal of true womanhood, of all the qualities that make for motherhood; so that, whether she has her own family or realize it is her gift of "mothering" that makes her of value in the world. A FEATURE AT EXHIBITION

A flagpole of unusual design has been set up on the exhibition grounds. It is modelled after the foremost of a warship with yards, rigging and fighting top. It is of white birch and is set in a concrete foundation in the centre of the race course. It stands eighty feet above ground and from the fighting top an excellent view of the surrounding country can be obtained. The rigging is strong with colored electric lights which will add much to the beauty of the grounds at night and powerful searchlight has been placed in the fighting top. It was the original intention to have the yards manned by the sailors from the Canadian navy, but as the ships are not coming at exhibition time the plan had to be abandoned. The pole was designed by Captain A. J. Wulshy.

POLICE COURT

In the police court today two witnesses were examined in the preliminary trial of William Dixon, Nick Shiban, Jack Kesluck and William Trufon, charged with stealing a fire, tin and inner tube, the property of Frank Donnelly, from the latter's automobile in the Golden Grove road on Saturday night, August 27. L. A. Conlon appeared for the first three named.

John Chamberlain, a teamster, told of going to the Golden Grove road on the night in question in company with Daniel McCafferty, who, he said, was driving the automobile. The witness said that they stopped at a house on the road for about three-quarters of an hour and on coming out of the house he saw four men standing near the car. Mr. Chamberlain said that when the lights of the car were turned on he recognized Dixon and Kesluck.

Sergeant Detective Power, who was the next witness, said that after Detective Saunders had brought Dixon to the police station on Sunday the latter had told the detectives that he knew where to find the other three prisoners, and consented to go with the detectives in their search. He took them to a house at Lone Wharf where Shiban, Kesluck and Trufon were found and placed under arrest. Trufon, the sergeant said, was apprehended later in the day, and was taken to the Golden Grove road and that a tire had been brought to him, but he had refused to use it. The tire, however, had been placed in the car and brought to the city.

The case was postponed until Friday morning at eleven o'clock. A case against Peter McCann and William Williamson, charged by the S. P. C. with cruel treatment of a horse on Sunday, August 21, was continued in the court this morning. S. Merritt Wetmore and D. C. Clinch appeared for the S. P. C. Mrs. Sarah Davidson said that Williamson had taken the horse out of McCann's barn about 10:20 Saturday evening and that on Sunday morning she saw him driving the animal up and down Erin street. The witness said she saw a wound in the horse's stomach and that the wound was there when the beast was being driven in the street. Mrs. Davidson said that she telephoned to D. C. Clinch and told him. Mr. Clinch said he went to the barn in Erin street, where with S. Merritt Wetmore and Williamson, he viewed the horse. The witness said that the horse was evidently in great pain. Mr. Clinch told the court that Williamson had said that he had bought the horse from McCann, but had sold it back to him. The witness said that the wound looked as though it had been inflicted by a pitchfork. Mr. Wetmore said that he went to see the horse a second time on Tuesday, August 22. He said the horse was not in the barn, but that he found McCann leading him across the flats to the ferry. The animal was in such pain, the witness said, that he had to be shot. The case was postponed until two o'clock this afternoon.
