NOVA SCOTIA FOREST FIRES COVER 1,000 ACRES!

Worse Than First Reported--Four Miles of Trenches Dug to Divert the Flames.

'Amherst, July 30-(Special)-The forest fires referred to in last evening's tele graphic report are even worse than at first supposed. It seems that the fire started last Wednesday in the woods of R. A. Ohristie, about four miles from his residence. Some suppose it was set by ligtning, a heavy storm having passed over that section. It has rapidly spread in an easterty direction for about six miles, passing over portions of the properties of E. B. and R. A. Ohristie, Kelly Bros., Rufus Christie, James Porter and B. it. Barnhill, an area of over 1,000 acres having already been covered through the very best seticon of the lumber area.

On Sunday the homes of R. A. and E. B. Christie were threatened, but a force of about 30 men were at work all day digging trenches, thus diverting the course of the fire. About four miles of trenches were dug. graphic report are even worse than a of the fire. About four miles of tremches were dug.

Yesterday morning the fire reached within half a mile of the residence of James Porter and within a mile of the mill and buildings of Kelly Bros. A message was sent from River Hebert at 9 a.m. to Amherst asking for assistance and Ohief Bliss sent by special train No. I fire engine and 600 feet of hose. To show the promptness of Ohief Bliss and his men the fire engine was at River Hebert station, 18 miles from Amherst, in just two and a half hours from the time the telegram left there. It is hoped their efforts will prevent the fire reaching the Porter and Kelly buildings. E. B. Kelly is in Calais, Maine, having been summoned there by the death of his sister. A summary of the properties reported yesterday as burned is:

Kelly Bros., 600 acres; E. B. & R. A. Christie, 200; James Porter, 100; and properties of B. B. Barnhill and Rufus Christie. The smoke in Amherst today is quite noticeable.

The Junior Endeavorers held a meeting this afternoon. A Presbyterian C. E. raly will be held in St. Matthew's church on Thursday morning, when Rev. J. D. Mac-Kay will be chairman.

Halifax, July 31—(Special)—The maritime Christian Endeavorers began work this morning with a "quiet hour" from 6.30 to 7.30. Dr. McMillan led in prayer and J. Willis Baer, of Boston, secretary of the United C. E. Society, made an address. His topic was Consecration. He illustrated how Christ'is crucified afresh from day to day, while He should be thanked for blessings enjoyed. "Go to the Bible for spiritual help," said Mr. Baer. He advised having interesting programmes for the meetings and have a pastor's advisory committee to find work for the local unions. The Christian Endeavor is really the pastor's aid society. He also touched upon the interdenominational feature.

This afternoon a junior rally took place at Orpheus hall. There was an opening chorus by 400 juniors. Prayer, welcome and greetings followed. The exercise, "Bow of Promise," by the juniors and intermediates was given and an address de-

LONG CHASE SHARP FIGHT;

General F. W. Kitchener Defeats Viljoen's Commando; Inflicts Punishment.

AN ALL DAY BATTLE.

What Was First Thought to Have Been a Skirmish July 25 Proved a Hard All-Day Fight -- Four Hundred Boers Again and Again Rushed British Position.

London, July 30.—The war office has re-ceived the following despatch from Lord Kitchener:

"General F. W. Kitchener, after a long chase of Ben Viljoen's commando, caught up with it. A sharp fight ensued. We captured a pom pom and twenty-two wagons and took thirty-two prisoners. The British had five wounded."

Durban, Natal, July 30.—Details received here of what at first seemed an ordinary skirmish between a British column and a Boer commando near Nouta, July 28, show that a hard all-day fight occurred in which the British narrowly escaped the loss of a gun of the 67th Field Battery. Four hundred Boers repeatedly rushed the British position, killing Major Hdwards and Gunner 'Oarpenter,' The gun was limbered up and taken at a gallop for three miles under heavy fire. Five British were killed.

gallop for three miles under heavy fire. Five British were killed.

New York, July 30—The London correspondent of the Tribune, noting the report that General Lyttelton will soon succeed Lord Kitchener in South Africa, says it may be assumed that the latter will not be recalled until the end of the war is in sight, so that Lyttelton's task will be more passive and administrative than belligerent. General Lyttelton did good work under Buller in the early days of the war, while he had previously dis-tinguished himself in civil life. When nguished himself in civil life. HOW THE BOXER LEADERS OBEYED SUICIDE ORDER.

One Ate Gold Leaf, Second Hanged Himself, and Third Suffocated Himself With Earth.

London, July 30—A Chinese paper published in Pekin has obtained the following details relative to the deaths of the high officials Chau-chu-chiau, Yung-nien and Prince Chwang, who committed suicide on command of the Emperor. It is impossible to give the full report, as the details of the actual suicides are given with true Chinese barbarity and unadorned lucidity. The whole account, however, bears the stamp of truth, and the statement of the Chinese court that the three officials had paid the penalty for their crimes, hitherto unproved, may hereby be considered as confirmed. The report runs:

Chau-chu-chiau ate gold leaf, which is the distinguished method of taking one's life among the well-to-do Chinese. Death is caused not by poisoning, as is generally assumed, but by asphyxia, as the thin gold leaves stick in the air passages. Hopally assumed, but by asphyxia, as the thin gold leaves stick in the air passages. Hoping against hope, however, that the empress would have mercy on him, he took too little, and as he still lived when the time prescribed had elapsed, he took opium and other means to effectuate his death. His religion forbade him to de this by injuring his body in any way. Prince Chwang, who received the news of his sentence in Bu-chou-fu, a large town in the southwest of Shansi, immediately hanged himself in a temple of the local mandavin with whom he was living, in the presence of the imperial commissioner,

Trackmen are the militia department today asking that 1,000 cadets or 16 companies in all be permitted to go from Montreal to Quebec to take part in the military review to be given in honor of Duke and Duchess of Cornwall at the ancient capital. Ool. Pinault, the deputy minister of militia, replied that this could not be granted. As a matter of fact the review already suggested will be too large and will require to be considerably cut down. Instead of having 7,000 men at the Toronto review it will not likely be larger than 5,000 and the reviews at Quebec and Halifax will be out down in the same proportion. But all cut down in the same proportion. But all that is a mere matter of talk at present, as nothing definite will be done until the return of the premier and minister of

be remedied without very much trouble. Besides the trouble with regard to the pedestal, the sceptre, which rested in the queen's hand, has been broken off. Mr. Hebert says this happened after the statue left the factory and blames relic hunters for it. He naively remarked that some people are so loyal that they must have a piece of the queen's sceptre. The broken part can be restored at a cost of $20.

Vandals also mutilated the Alex. Mackenzie statue, which was also designed by Mr. Hebert. Beneath the figure of Mackenzie there is a group symbolical of the dead state-man's life. On a scroll are the words: "Duty was his law and conscience words: "Duty was his law and conscience his ruler." Consoience is represented by the figure of a woman, and the work to which Mackenzie was so true by the figure of a man engaged on a geometrical figure with a compass. Some vandal has broken off the ends of the compass. Mr. Hebert left Paris, where he has been residing for some years, on July 20, arriving in Montreal on the 29th. He will remain in Canada until after the unveiling of the queen's statue by the Duke of York. Though living in Paris Mr. Hebert devotes his attention exclusively to Canadian work. He says France has as many sculptors as there is work for. He purposes returning to Canada next year and making his home in Montreal. He still owns the building in Montreal where he formerly had his studio. He is now engaged on several Canadian statues, including one of Mgr.

Shortly after midnight last night three men were observed by boarders at the Waverly House crawing upon the roof of the Lemont block and trying by means of the skylight to gain access to the store below. Policeman O'Neil, entered the store and ascended to the roof but the burglars had gone. The eyes of the police have been for several days upon two or three suspicious looking characters about the city, one of whom, at least, has a penitentiary record. They have been sizing up several residences, the owners of which are awny for the present and the houses are shut up.

Fredericton, July 30.—The vice-regal party had fine weather for their stay at the capital. The special train bearing their excellencies and party arrived at 11.53 o'clock. They were met at the station by Mayor Crocket and the aldermen, Premier Tweedie and the members of the local government, a guard of honor of No. 4 Co., R. C. R. I., in command of Major McDougall, and a large crowd of citizens. Their excellencies were formally received by Mayor Crocket. His worship then presented members of the government. The governor general then inspected the guard after which the party took barouches and drove around the city. The drive occupied about an hour and a half and ended at the Queen Hotel, where the vice-regal party and the following were entertained at luncheon by Lieut, Governor and Mrs. McClelan: Premier Tweedie, Attorney General and Mrs. Pugsley, Chief Commissioner LaBillois, Hon. control of the property, the city would be enabled to grant sites for manufacturies and other enterprises. This the recorder thought very desirable, for so long as the present uncertainty existed as to whother the foreshore was vested in the dominion or the province, nothing in this way could be accomplished.

At the conclusion of the recorder's remarks Premier Tweedie stated the matter would be carefully considered and that if the government takes action it would be necessary to obtain legislative authority from the governor-in-council to make conveyance.

The question of providing a residence for their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Cornwall and party during their stay in St. John was also considered as well as a programme for the occasion. The sub-committee in the matter reported that they expect to meet the citizens' and common council committees at an early date;

An Eastern Farmer Describes a System Which He Considers Nearly Perfect for Ordinary Purposes.

The top of the wall is six anches above the surface of ground, and cistern has a frostproof cover. It was a back-breaking job, digging the ditch and cistern; had to use a pickax all the way (38 rods), and near the cistern the ditch had to be eight feet deep, so I can draw right from the bottom. No siphon business for me; a siphon will work all right—for awhile, and the bother begins. The cut shows how I have my The cut shows how I have my waterworks arranged; two hydrants in garden and one each in flower garden, barn and pigpen; three valves in barn and two in house—one in kit-

I can attach hose at nump or flower garden hydrant, and hrow a stream over the house. I have a hydrant by the stable door ((inside) where I can water the horses; and the pine then extends to the top of the stable room, and from top of the stable room, and from there all the way on a slant, out through the cow barn in front of the cows, to the water trough in barnyard, so I can drain the pipe out and have no trouble with zero weather. There is a feeding alley in front of horses, where cut hay drops down from above have a mixing box there horses, where cut hay drops down from above; have a mixing box there and a short hose, with the ground feed just a step from it; so everything is handy for giving the horses their mixed feed. I put cement on one end of the bottom and part way up on the sides of the alley in front of the cows, and use that to mix the cut stalks and feed for the cows; of course I have a hose there.

we have it now, but she will have it stout across, having supports only at the made in the kitchen and a bathroom added, for then with a water front in the stove she will have both hot and cold rain water and cold well and cold rain water and cold well water; can make the windmill pump up the rain water, too. The boys think the cistern is a mighty fine thing, too, because now they never hear? "Come, boys, fill up that trough!" You know the old saying: "You can lead a horse to the water, but you can't make him drink!" I can do better than that, because can stick the hose down his throat and make him drink.—Rural New Walls Covered With It Have Proved Im Use two washes for covering the surface, one of castile soap and one of alum and water. The proportions are three quarters of a pound of soap to one gallon of water, and half a pound of alum to four gallons of water, both substances to be perfectly dissolved in water before being used. The walls should be perfectly clean and dry, and the temperature of the air not more than 50 degrees Fahrenheit when the compositions are applied. The first, or soap wash, should be laid on when boiling hot, with a flat brush, taking care to form a froth on the brick work. This wash should remain 24 hours, so as to become dry and hard before the second, or alum wash is applied, which should be done in the same manner as the first. The temperature of this wash, when applied, should be 60 or 70 degrees Fahrenheit, and this also should remain 24 hours before a second coat of the Use two washes for covering the hours before a second coat of the soap wash is put on. These coats are to be applied alternately until the walls are made impervious to water. The alum and soap thus combined, form an insoluble compound, filling the pores of the ma-sonry and entirely preventing the water from entering the walls. The foregoing method is recommended by the Architect of London.

The Old Strawberry Bed.

'A very successful strawberry grower says: My way of handling old strawberry rows, which I wish to keep for another year is as follows: As soon as they are done bearing I mow off the tops as close as possible, and then apply well-rotted manure, bone meal, if I have it, and wood ashes. This is applied when the weather is damp. After mowing is the time to pile on the fertilizer. Plants then start out a new growth and make a fine bed by fall, when I cover them with straw after the ground freezes.

Adapting Grops to Soil.

When a man owns a farm of very sandy land, he makes a mistake to attempt to raise crops which do best on heavy fertile soils, for in so doing he is handicapped from the start and will undoubtedly fail to realize his expectations. In farming the very first step is to try to adapt the crops to the soil. In this we merely follow nature's example. There are crops which will do well on nearly every kind of soil found in the country. Only a few barren soils refuse to produce any kind of crops. If there is a proper amount of moisture, even the poorest sandy soil can be made to yield some paying crop,

Will it pay to keep a two-pound chick that will now bring 20 cents per pound until he weighs four pounds and sell him for 40 cents? There are positry keepers who seem to think it will.

DESTRUCTION OF LICE Te Rid the Poultry House of Vermin for

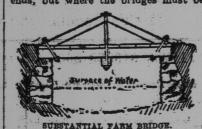

Good and All. To completely rid the poultry house of vermin, go after the pests with a torch. Make the torch first. Dissolve one-half pint of pine tar and one-half pint of turpentine in one-half gallon of kerosene, in an open vessel. Soak in this solution large corn cobs until they are well saturated. Then take them from the solution and dust on them all of the powdered sulphur that will stick to them. Next, have a small pointed iron rod, of which insert the pointed end into the large end of the cob. Then you have saturated torches ready for use. Removing all the combustible matter from your poultry house, enter with your touch, ignite it, and go to work, permitting the flames to enter every crack and crevice all over the surface, momentarily, and you have all the lice destroyed. This should be done once a month in warm weather. It would of vermin, go after the pests with a torch. Make the torch first. Disstroyed. This should be done once a month in warm weather. It would be well and wise to have a tub and a few buckets of water handy in case a few buckets of water handy in case your poultry house should ignite from your torch. All poultry houses should be well whitewashed with fresh lime. Whitewash with plenty of salt in the wash inside of the house. Dips should not be used, because they may cause the hens to take cold. All dips that can be used avail nothing unless the poultry house is clean, as the hens will soon become overrun again with lice. Just as soon as the lice leave the poultry as soon as the lice leave the poultry house the hens can clear their bodies house the hens can clear their bodies by dusting in ashes or dry earth. The heads and necks should be rubbed with melted lard once a month, to kill the large head lice. If a dip must be used pour a gallon of boiling water on a pound of tobacco refuge. Let it stand over night and then add two gallons of cold water. Dip the hens on a warm, dry day. But do not use a dip if it can be avoided. Try insect powder in preference.—Rural World.

It will often pay to build a wagon just suited to the needs of the farm whose crops are to be disposed of at first hand, or at least to build a wagon body that may be set upon a "low-down" running gear that may already be at hand. The accompanying design of a farm marketing wagon is presented for the consideration of those who may find it expedient to build. This wagon was designed for the convenience of the

In the 2.19 class but three starters appeared, Nominee Prince not showing up, much to the disappointment of the crowd, who expected a warm contest between him and Rex Wilkes. This horse took three straight heats, the second one breaking the track record of 2.19%, held by Clayson. Although never forced, Ray Wilkes and Van Demon made him step lively, and there is no doubt that Nomlnee, if in the race, would be compelled to go as fast, if not faster, than his Calais record last week of 2.17%. First announcement of the discovery was made by Prof. J. D. Whitney, of Harvard, in his volume upon The Auriferous Gravels of the Sierra Nevada, and it caused excitement. Many persons have been confused by the various laws of succession which prevail in Europe. There are three different systems, the most general being that known as the Sake system, under which women are completely excluded. This is the rule in Belgium, Sweden and Norway, Italy, Denmark and Germany. Then there is the German-Dutch system, under which males in all degrees of relationship take precedence of females, the throne passing to the female line only in case of the extinction of all the male line, however remote. This is the rule in Holland (from is the German-Dutch system, under which males in all degrees of relationship take precedence of females, the throne passing to the female line only in case of the extinction of all the male line, however remote. This is the trule in Holland (from which it takes its name), Russia, and some of the minor German states. The third system is that of England, Spain and Portugal, under which females are excluded when there are males in the same degree of relationship, but take precedence of males whose degree of relationship. cedence of males whose degree of relationship is not so close as their own.

IF YOU CATCH COLD.

Many things may happen when you catch cold, but the thing that usually happens first is a cough. An inflammation starts up in the bronchial tubes or in the throat, and the discharge of mucous from the head constantly poisons this. Then the very contractions of the throat muscles in the act of coughing helps to irritate so that the more you cough the more you have to cough. It is, of course, beyond question that in many cases the irritation started in this way results in lung troubles that are called by serious names. It is in this irritated bronchial tube that the germ of consumption finds lodgment and bredis.

Great numbers of persons disregard cough at first, and pay the penalty of neglect. Cough never did any one any good. It should be dispensed with promptly. Adamson's Botanic Cough Balsam is a well-known remedy, and it is the surest and quickest cough cure known today. It does not deceive by drugging the throat. It soothes the irritated parts and heals them, then the cough stops of its own accord. The action of this medicine is so simple that it seems like nature's own provision for curing a cough. Every druggist has it. 25 cents. Be sure to get the genuine, which has "F. W. Kinsman & Co." blown in the bottle. So Many People Have Not Capacity to keep a secret. Men talk too much, and women too. There is a time to keep silence as well as to speak. Although not belonging to any of the great secret societies about which there has been so much violent discussion, I have only words of praise for those associations which have for their object the maintenance of right against wrong or the reclamation of inebriates or, like the score of mutual benefit societies called by different names, that provide temporary relief for widows and orphans and for men incapacitated by sickness or accident from earning a livelihood. Had it not been for the secret labor organizations in this country monopoly would long ago have, under its ponderous wheels, ground the laboring classes into an intolerable servitude. The men who want the whole earth to themselves would have got I every day know of commercial establishments going to ruin through the social excesses of one or two members, their fortune beaten to death with ball players' bat or cut enidebing with the fortune transfer to the social excesses of the content of the social excesses of the content of the social excesses of the social e amidships with the front prow of the regatta or going down under the swift hoofs of the fast horses or drowned in the large potations of cognac or Monongahela. That secret society was the Loch Earn. Their husbroom was the Loch Larn. business was the Ville de Havre.
They struck, and the Ville de Havre went under!
The third test by which you may know whether the society to which you belong is good or bad is this:

What is its effect on your sense of moral and religious obligation? Now, if I should take the names of all the tude. The men who want the whole earth to themselves would have got it before this had it not been for the banding together of great secret or-ganizations, and while we deplore many things that have been done by them, their existence is a necessity people in this audience and put them on a roll and then I should lay that and their legitimate sphere distinct ly pointed out by the providence of God. Such organizations are trying to dismiss from their association all roll back of this organ and a hun dred years from now some one should take that roll and call it from A to Z there would not one of you answer. I say that any society that makes me forget that fact is a bad members who are in favor of anarchy and social chaos. They will gradually cease anything like tyranny over their members and will forbid violent interference with any man's work, whether he belongs to their union or is outside of it, and will declare their disgust with any such rule as that passed in England by the Manches-passed in England by the manchester Bricklayers' Association, which says any man found running or working beyond a regular speed shall be fined 2 shillings and sixpence for the first offense, 5 shillings for the second, 10 shillings for the third and the still propositing shell be dealt with

if still persisting shall be dealt with as the committee thinks proper. There are secret societies in our colleges that have letters of the Greek alphabet for their nomencla-society.

Which would you rather have your hand when you come to die, a pack of cards or a Bible? Which would you rather have pressed to your lips in the closing moment, the cup of Belshazzarean wassail or the chalice of Christian communion? Whom would you rather have for your pallbearers, the elders of a Christian church or the companions whose con-versption was full of slang and innuendo? Whom would you rather have for your eternal companions, those men who spend their evenings betting, gambling, swearing, carous-ing and telling vile stories or your little child, that bright girl whom the Lord took? You can never break Greek alphabet for their nomenclature, and their members are at the very front in scholarship and irreproachable in morals, while there are others the scene of carousal, and they gamble, and they drink, and they graduate knowing a hundred times more about sin than they do of geometry and Sophocles. In other words, secret societies, like individuals, are good or bad, are the means of moral health or of temporal and eternal damnation. All good people recognize the vice of the Lord took? You can never break away from the little arms that used to be flung around your neck when she used to say, "Papa, do stay with me to-night, do stay with me to-night!" You will never be able to wipe away from your lips the dying kiss of your little girl. The fascination of a bad secret society is so great that sometimes a man has turned his back on his home when his child was dving of scarlet fever. his child was dying of scarlet fever. He went away. Before he got back at midnight the eyes had been closed, good people recognize the vice of slandering an individual, but many do not see the sin of slandering an organization. There are old secret societies in this and other countries, some of them centuries old, which the undertaker had done his work, and the wife, worn out with three weeks' watching, lay unconscious in the next room. Then the returned father comes up stairs, and he sees the cradle gone, and he says, "What is the matter?" On the judgment day he will find out what was the

some of them centuries old, which have been widely denounced as immoral and damaging in their influence, yet I have hundreds of personal friends who belong to themfriends who are consecrated to God, pillars in the church, faithful in all relations of life, examples of virtue and piety. They are the kind of friends whom I would have for my executors at the time of decease and Oh, man astray, God help you! I am going to make a very stout rope. You know that sometimes a rope-maker will take very small threads friends whom I would have for my executors at the time of decease, and they are the men whom I would have carry me out to the last sleep when I am dead. You cannot make me believe that they would belong to bad institutions. They are the men who would stamp on anything injuitous, and I would certainly rather take their testimony in regard to such societies than the testimony and wind them together until after awhile they become a ship cable. And I am going to take some very small, delicate threads and wind them together until they make a very stout rope. I will take all the memories of the marriage day—a thread of laugh-ter, a thread of light, a thread of music, a thread of banqueting, a thread of congratulation—and I twist them together, and I have one to such societies than the testimony of those who, having been sworn in strand. Then I take a thread of the hour of the first advent in your as members, by their assault upon them confess themselves perjurers. But Christ has given us a rule by hour of the first advent in your house, a thread of the darkness that preceded, and a thread of the light that followed, and a thread of the beautiful scarf that little child used which we may judge not only all in-dividuals, but all societies, secret dividuals, but all societies, secret and open. By their fruits we shall know them." Bad societies make bad men. Good societies make good men. A bad man will not stay in a good society. A good man will not stay in a bad society. Then try all secret societies by two or three rules. Test the first: Their influence on home, if you have a home. That wife soon loses her influence over her husband who nervously and foolishly looks upon all evening absence as an assault on domesticity. How are the great enterprises of reform and a string of the harp scraphic, and I twist them all together, and I have a third strand. "Oh," you say, "either strand is enough to hold fast a world!" No. I will take these a world!" No. I will take these strands, and I will twist them to-

Another test by which you can find whether your secret society is right or wrong is the effect it has on your Tommy-Yes'm. You see the paper she was wrappin' it up in had a love secular occupation. I can under-stand how through such an institu-tion a man can reach commercial story in it.
