whose religion taught them forgiveness.

Dr. Kenney, "I should have thought my Lord Chief Justice would have heard of the proverb, 'I am quite as incapable of inventing anything of the kind as his lordship is.'" A few days afterward Dr.
Kenney was able to score a victory over the Judge on this subject. He quoted Justin and John Hall, the latter of whom said, "Once offered a priest, and cut his throat for he will never forgive you."

The counsel added that there was a German saying which has become proverbial, "Priests and women never forgive." Lord Chief Justice, "Why, I leave the priest to defend themselves; but it is hard upon the woman. If you offend
a woman you must necessarily cut her throat." Dr. Kenney adds that there was another German proverb, "Offend
one man, and the angels of all kinds will be set on you." Whereon Lord Chief Justice was fain to admit that more authority had been shown for the statement than he had thought possible.

INQUIRITIVE JURORS.

The way in which some of the jury interfere and hinder the counsel is, in my judgment, a perfect scandal to British jurors. One of them asserted that Dr.
Kenney's face, the other day, that it had been proved that the Claimant was known as Arthur Orton in Australia; whereas the Doctor made the very proper remark that it was his duty to bear both sides before forming his judgment; and several times he has been forced to impose upon jurors that are supposed to be judges and not advocates. Dr. Kenney said, one day, that a person who would decide by a rule would equally decide by an untruth, and would be unworthy of confidence afterwards; to which the Lord Chief Justice put the case: "If a man were to most you on the highway, and pistol in hand, were to demand your money, and if you had $1000 and you were in a hurry, would it be wrong to tell him that was all you had?" Dr. Kenney said, "I would not tell him that." Then you don't believe in what Dr. Johnson says—that there are occasions when a person is not expected to tell the truth?" Dr. Kenney, "My Lord, I repudiate such a doctrine." The Lord Chief Justice said, "I am not, Dr. Kenney, I am not acted upon, it would be opening the door to fraud." The Chief Justice said, "Every rule, however general, has some special exceptions." Such are a few specimens of the humors and scenes which in some degree relieve the tedious-ness of this unparalleled trial.

TUESDAY EVENING, SEPT. 2, 1873.

The Queen to be Petitioned.

Our Ottawa special, like the last we received, was a day and night coming. Well, this is a little faster than steam. It intimates that the Opposition, not content with having dragged the Governor General into their fight for office, are plotting to drag the Queen into the same ditch. They are going to petition Her Majesty to direct the Governor General to summon Parliament, in case the expected meeting of Parliament is prevented by the Opposition in the way of the Commission appointed to prepare evidence for Parliament to take into consideration. These tactics would be in accordance with those employed in the second inquiry into the Huntington clamor for inquiry, manage by different methods and on various pretexts to postpone inquiry, and then clamor loudly again for inquiry. They prevented it in the first instance by insisting on an inquiry into the constitutionality of the Commission, and then refused to accept for the Committee power from the Executive to swear witnesses, and in the next instance by refusing to appear before the Commission with their witnesses. And every time they proposed to the Government, and have turned around and clamored anew for what they had just succeeded in defeating. Having placed the Governor General in a position that compelled him to make himself, as to the other of the great parties of the country, they are contemplating making an effort to force the Queen into the same disagreeable position. They should be ashamed of themselves. It is the old Tory doctrine that the Crown shall interfere whenever the Crown deems interference necessary. These politicians, witnessing the boundless scribbles with which many of the Opposition journals have pursued to passage a General since he decided to propose a strictly constitutional course, should hesitate before subjecting the Queen to the same treatment. Canada must work out its own salvation in this matter, according to the principles of Responsible Government, and not be left to the interference of the Crown.

Scholastic Troubles in the States.

Many of those who are heartily sick of our school difficulties, witness the very real and social antagonisms, fancy that New Brunswick is peculiarly afflicted. They are mistaken, however, as the Catholic clergy all over the world are making the same struggle for the control of the education of the Catholic youth. Nowhere more or less intense than in the States, where the public school system, whose democratic free school system has been acknowledged as a model, and held to be indispensable where freedom of thought has begun to prevail, and the struggle has begun more or less openly and violently. The Bible was first objected to, as a pretence, and then its banishment was followed by something similar to the "Goddess" cry so nauseatingly familiar to all in New Brunswick. The Catholic school movement has made its appearance in New York than in any other northern State. Under the rule of the Tweed Ring the Catholic clergy obtained immense grants for their benevolent and educational institutions, and now have a large number of sectarian institutions of learning in opposition to the public school system. Long Island, where an anti-Bible war is recently raged, is now the chosen battle-ground. A despatch thus sums up the situation: "The movement on the part of the Roman Catholic clergy for the establishment of parochial schools in opposition to the public schools is being pushed forward with much vigor in Brooklyn and other places on Long Island. Subscription lists have been plentifully supplied, and the movement is general among the clergy. A number of Catholic schools, although not yet established, are established with the public school system, do not want to be stigmatized as opponents to their spiritual directors, and others repudiate the attempt of the priests to upset the public school system, and assert that they will give no encouragement to the movement. Thirty parochial schools are established with an attendance of over 15,000. It will be seen from the above that just the same trouble exists there as here. The Catholics, for convenience sake, establish separate schools, subscribe for their maintenance, and then denounce the public school system as an outrage. New York and every other State in the Union must answer, each for itself, the question—'Should the free common school system be abandoned, and separate schools for the Catholics established, or shall the country be kept in the state of social and sectarian civil war into which it has been thrown by the Catholic clergy?' They have to choose between their beloved school system—a system they believe to be essential for the maintenance of the institutions of the nation—and uninterrupted agitation, and then State, without exception, will retain the school system intact and endure the agitation. If it is any consolation to feel that others are suffering the ills we are forced to endure, that consolation is ours.

Excursion from Bangor.

An excursion party left Bangor this morning at 9 o'clock by special train, and will arrive here this evening. The train follows the regular train and will arrive an hour later—about 7 o'clock. This is a popular excursion, as the passengers are charged to St. John and back for 80, and no doubt there will be a large party. They will remain in the city tomorrow, and return on Thursday, though if any wish to remain longer, the tickets are good during the month by paying two dollars extra. The Directors of the road should take into consideration the advisability of having an excursion of this kind on the 16th inst., to give the people of Maine a chance to see the regatta on the Kennebec.

Government and Opposition Journals.

Government and Opposition journals are busily engaged in quelling the city circulation of any daily published in English journals articles and parts of

Board of Health—Supervisor Canard on Trial—Olfactory Evidence.

An interesting and novel trial commenced yesterday afternoon at the Board of Health's office. Road Supervisor Canard, of the town of Portland, was summoned to show cause why he has placed a quantity of dirt, rubbish, filth and offensive matter on the Bridge Road, and repainting and improving the Bridge Road, and there is a large hole to fill up. He took chips from Hillyard's shipyard put in the hole, intending to cover it with a layer of earth and gravel. This material was used because it was cheap and easily obtained, it being placed at the disposal of the Supervisor by Coun. Hillyard. Mr. Arthur McDonald, a millman, did not like the smell of Coun. Hillyard's chips, and so with others, he made complaint, and the matter came up for investigation. Dr. Barker appeared for the defence, and Arthur McDonald was prosecuting attorney. Mr. McDonald was the first witness, and he stated that his olfactory organs had been very much affected by these chips, that the chips were very rotten. Inspector Burns, of the Board of Health, was sent to examine the chips, and he smelt them before he reached the spot. He got down, damp and unhealthy smell; but if he had not known of the chips, he said, he would not have noticed the smell. Dr. Glichris considered the smell to be injurious to the public health, and Mr. Chesley's evidence was to the same effect. Then witnesses with less delicate olfactory nerves were called: Dr. W. Christie, who had passed over the place several times and never noticed the smell; and B. S. Gilbert, Esq., who had examined the chips and thought them suitable for road making. There were several other witnesses, including Coun. Wilson, who was so dead to smell that he had to get down on his hands and knees, and then could smell nothing. He had called Dr. Berryman's attention to the matter, and the investigation was adjourned until his opinion could be had. He will be the third doctor and his testimony will settle the great question of "chips or no chips." The case has excited considerable interest in Portland, and there are all sorts of opinions expressed. During the past few days there has been considerable excitement about the place where the chips lie. Each party has been taking the tax payers of the place by the nose, discussing the question of chips, and getting their opinions.

Reviews.

A boat with four boys in it was upset in St. Andrews harbor Saturday. The boys were rescued by Capt. Glen.

Thos. Kylla has his eye in mourning, the effects of a blow from a ball he tried to catch at the match at Torryburn yesterday. In future he will try to catch balls with his hands.

A sewer is being laid under the Police Court by Mr. McGourty. The order for it was passed at the last meeting of the Council.

The Royals and Invincibles had a game of base ball at the Brass Band's place yesterday. The Invincibles were victorious, the score standing 39 to 27. The price was a handsome bat and ball.

The list of electors for the City and County are now published. Any not on the list, who should be on, should make proper application.

Messrs. Hall & Hamilton have in their establishment on Union street a large number of the "Maritime Family Kneading Machines," which are already selling freely to agents and others. This Kneading Machine is the most simple and best ever manufactured, and we advise all to call on Messrs. H. & H. and examine the samples of work done by it.

CONSUMPTION, BRONCHITIS, GENERAL DEBILITY, CAUTION—HYPOPHOSPHITES.

FELLOW COMPANION SYRUP OF HYPOPHOSPHITES.—As this preparation is entirely different in its combination and effects from all other remedies called Hyposphites, the public are cautioned that the genuine has the name of FELLOWS & CO. blown on the bottle. The signature of the inventor, James F. Fellows, is written with red ink across the label, and the price is 82 per bottle. Fellows' Compound Syrup of Hypophosphites is prescribed by the first physicians in every city and town where introduced, and is a thoroughly orthodox preparation.

Accident.

John McRory, a laborer who is working in Mr. J. J. Kaye's new building in Germain street, fell this morning through the open space left in the floor for the railway. He fell through two flights and struck heavily on his shoulder, breaking his collar bone. The man was conveyed to his home in Duke street, where Dr. James Christie was soon in attendance and dressed his wounds. His collar bone is broken and he has received some other very severe bruises in different parts of the body. Mr. Cassidy, the contractor of the building, frequently sends men about leaving these spaces unroofed, but they have not regarded his warnings, and the result has been the injury to this man.

Excursion to St. John.

Very complete arrangements have been made for the comfort, convenience and amusement of those who may attend the Centenary Sunday School Excursion Picnic at Oak Point tomorrow. The steamer Rothesay will leave Indianapolis at 9.20 a. m., and land her passengers at Flavel's wharf at 11.30. Mr. Sampson provides refreshments. Tickets 50 cents each, to be had of Messrs. Kerr & Thorne and J. S. Turner, and of the editors and teachers of the school.

Court of Sessions.

The Court for the City and County of St. John, opening this morning at 11 o'clock. Of the 140 Magistrates belonging to the City there were twelve present at the opening and one came in afterwards.

The first question discussed was that of tavern licenses. The Clerk read a list of tavern licenses granted during the year in the Parishes of Simonds, Lancaster and St. Martins. The total amount received for tavern licenses for these Parishes is $715.35.

A discussion arose on the question of the list of defaulters in the Parish of St. Martins. It is complained that Justice Brown, the Magistrate who hands the list was placed for collection, has done nothing towards collecting the amounts. Justice Tapley moved that Justice Keams, and Nowlin who are soon to visit St. Martins be authorized to take steps for transferring the lists from Justice Brown's hands into those of a more active Magistrate.

The usual quarterly salaries were moved and passed as follows: Sheriff $800; Under-keeper, $800; Clerk of the Peace, $825; Auditor, $850; also for Sheriff's current expenses, $500.

The Assessment Committee through Justice Marshall reported progress and asked for an extension of time. They were on motion granted until the December session.

Justice Tapley called attention to the hearing of the new wing of the Alms House, and read an offer from Messrs. Everett & Co. to put a furnace in to cost about $400.

Justice Marshall moved that the Alms House Commissioners be authorized to proceed with the work, and have the heating apparatus placed in the building.

Moved and passed that the Alms House Commissioners be authorized to ascertain the cost of introducing water into the building, and report to the Board.

E. V. Cowan was appointed a surveyor of lumber.

Justice Keams moved that Justices Usher, Rourke and Mosher, be a committee to report the defaulters in the Parish of St. Martins for the years 1868, 1869, 1870, 1871.

Peter Markin, who was bound over to keep the peace, and to appear at the session, was loudly called three times, but did not appear. Then Bernard McDermott and E. F. Stewart were called upon to produce the body of Peter Markin, or when Sinclair got the pistol I saw him fire three shots out of the window. I saw deceased fire four shots altogether. He gave the pistol to James Mabee, who fired some shots, and gave it back to the deceased who went behind the bar to load it. Campbell went out and Sinclair had the pistol.

THE HAMPTON RIOT.

The Inquest on James Campbell.

HAMPTON, SEPT. 2.

Yesterday the examination of

NAPOLION BROTHERS

was continued. No important testimony was elicited. He most emphatically denied at any time during the day having attempted to, or called out for others to, smash Campbell's door. The only affray he was engaged in was when he rescued Watters from the crowd. He never struck or kicked Sinclair; was not engaged with any crowd in an attack on the house, in fact, was a very quiet spectator, so that Stackhouse must have been mistaken when he identified Brothers, or Brothers must have been in the row. None known to himself.

(Special Telegram to the Tribune.)

To-Day's Proceedings.

The Inquest was resumed at 8.30 a. m. Napoleon Brothers who was giving evidence when the inquest adjourned yesterday was put on the stand again this morning. He says I do not recollect seeing Campbell that day. I don't know him. I swear positively that I was on the railway platform when the bullet struck me; do not know how I got there, but think I went around the end of the train; it was then backing up. I never kicked the door or the window nor did I throw any sticks or stones at the house or the window. I do not know Bourke. I saw some persons I do not know bringing a man across the street from Gorham's. The name I have always gone by is Augustus N. Brothers. I was not of or see any person who was shot thro' the leg, and don't know Alex. Goss.

This witness was remanded for further examination.

J. H. BELYEA

sworn: I reside in St. John Was at Hampton on Tuesday the 26th August. Deceased was a tenant of mine. He came into my store on that morning, and said there had been a case of liquor landed on the platform. He said he had forbidden the parties to sell liquor as he paid his license. I saw constable Mabee go over towards the platform I thought for the purpose of examining the cases and casks. Saw Mr. Barnes take a load of casks and boxes over toward the picnic grounds. When he returned I heard Campbell ask him if he got a drink for hauling the load over. Barnes replied "he would get it when he went back." I enquired of Mr. Mabee if he had examined the casks and boxes there, and he told me that two of the kegs were leaking a little, and he thought one contained brandy and the other rum. Campbell stated he would have all these persons tried in the afternoon I understood Campbell had gone over to the picnic grounds to get the names of parties who were selling liquor. About five o'clock or a little after I saw parties coming over from the picnic grounds and were very noisy. There were a good many small boys in the crowd, and some of them appeared to be drunk; they were staggering. Some time after this I heard a noise near the railway crossing; I looked out and saw a crowd with sticks and stones running down toward Campbell's door. They began throwing stones and sticks through the windows. Shortly after this I heard shots fired from the inside of the bar-room. The crowd still continued to throw stones at the house and through the windows. I saw William Taylor, of Hampton, standing on a bench belonging to the bar-room window and the door. He was struck on the arm with a stone, and after this he left the platform and disappeared amongst the crowd. I saw no more of him. I then put the shutters on my own shop, as the row was going on and stones were thrown and fell on the platform where I was. I did not consider it safe to remain there, but went inside and locked the door. After going in my store I heard several shots fired and stones thrown against Campbell's house. I opened the back door of my shop and heard some party say—"He is shot." I called Charley Craig and asked him who was shot, and he said Campbell was. I saw Dr. Taylor immediately after and asked him if it was true. He said it was. I did not see or hear of any person being shot before this time and do not know the name of the man. When deceased came from St. John about the 22nd of August, he called me into his shop and showed me a pistol which he had purchased; he said he would be ready for them if they attempted to destroy his property as they had done at a previous picnic. I told him he did not want a pistol, that he would be as likely to shoot his friends as his enemies, and that he had better keep it in his room. I don't know Sinclair. At the time of the row I think the picnic train stood on the track, between Campbell's bar-room and the railway platform, and was loaded with people.

ABRAHAM M. MABEE

sworn: I am a constable of King's County, was at Hampton on Tuesday last. Between 5 and 6 o'clock; I was on the street near Dunfield's. I and Kenny were keeping the door. A man came running down and the crowd after him. I refused to let him in. He said he did not belong to the crowd, and begged for Goss's sake to let him in. Vall and Morton came about this time. We closed the door and put in man in. At this time the light in man in were broken out of the door. Parties were trying all the time to get through the door; we beat them back. Stones were being thrown through the window and door. I recognize Napoleon Brothers to be the man who struck and kicked the person called Sinclair at the bar-room door before we let him in. Campbell fired the first shots out of the window. The first one was pointed high. When Sinclair got the pistol I saw him fire three shots out of the window. I saw deceased fire four shots altogether. He gave the pistol to James Mabee, who fired some shots, and gave it back to the deceased who went behind the bar to load it. Campbell went out and Sinclair had the pistol.
