DROWNED IN CHARLES RIVER

John J. Jardine of Cambridge Mass. Sinks While Swimming

WAS BORN HERE

Son of the Late John Jardine of the Waverley Hotel Here and Campbellton.

Word was received here Monday of the drowning of Jack Jardine, brother of Theo. Jardine and son of the late John Jardine who formerly conducted the Waverley hotel here, and later the Waverley at Campbellton.

The Boston Post has the following particulars:—While attempting to swim across the Charles River, near the Western avenue bridge, Brighton, about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon, John J. Jardine, of 77 Prospect street, Cambridge, became exhausted in mid stream and drowned before aid could reach him.

In company with several companions he had gone to the river late in the afternoon to enjoy a plunge. It was soon proposed that they swim to the other bank.

Jardine was in the rear, and had reached the middle of the river, when, without uttering any outcry, he sank from view.

Not until they reached the other bank were his companions aware of what had happened they dived immediately in an effort to locate him, but failed.

The body was later recovered and arrived here on the Ocean Limited yesterday afternoon and funeral will be held from the home of his brother J. T. Jardine at 2.30 this afternoon.

The mother and family have the sympathy of the entire community.

Deceased was about twenty three years of age.

PRESENTED WITH AN AUTOMOBILE

Edward J. Wheeler, a well-known tailor of South Boston, who gives much of his time outside working hours to the pleasure of bowling, is the happy recipient of a handsome $1200 automobile, presented by the Chauncey Alley's proprietors for his bowling the best six consecutive strings.

—Boston paper.

Mr. Wheeler is a native of Newcastle.

The increasing irregularity in the running of the Alexandra is the subject of a great deal of complaint. She is advertised to leave Chatham at 9 o'clock but really leaves at any old time—9:15, 9:30, or whenever it happens. The time spent in taking in freight, a good deal of which does not reach the wharf till after 9 o'clock. Passengers have to hang around or run the risk of being left. It would be much better to make the time of leaving 9:30 and stick to it. There are unnecessary delays down river. At some of the fish stations Bay du Vin in particular, the fish are never ready, and the boat has to wait an unreasonable time for them. This nuisance could easily be abated by leaving once or twice without the fish. The Lady Eileen, of the Bay Chaleur route, keeps right on unless the boats is actually coming out to accept her when she gets abreast of a stopping place, and the rule should be adopted here. If there is to be no regularity we might as well have a sailing packet as a steamer.—World.

LUMBER BURNED AT CHATHAM.

Alarm Rung in Saturday Night for Fire at Richards' Lumber Piles.

OTHER CHATHAM NEWS.

Orangemen Attend Church on Sunday Last. Hold Bazaar in August.

An alarm of Fire was sounded at 8.45 on Saturday night. The scene of the conflagration was in the mill yard of the Richards mill, at which point two large piles of boards were destroyed. The fire spread to the premises of the Snowball Co. which adjoined, and two piles of scantling were practically destroyed. A fresh wind was blowing from the northwest, which endangered the adjoining lumber piles as well as the buildings in the vicinity. The fire which at one time assumed formidable proportions, was quickly got under control when the nearby hydrants were brought into use. Willing workers with buckets were early engaged, but could effect but little, and it was only when the streams from six hoses were directed against the burning piles that the safety of the neighborhood was assured.

One of the steam engines and the pump from Richards' mill were also used, and at half past nine the danger had passed. It is estimated that boards and scantling to the value of about $800 were destroyed.

The local Orangemen attended St. Luke's church on Sunday last, where Rev. J. Stoddard delivered an excellent and appropriate sermon, taking as his text the words: "Bear ye one another's burdens." The brethren marched to church headed by the Citizens' Band, and presented a fine appearance, being clothed in their appropriate regalia.

The congregation of St. Michael's Cathedral are making extensive preparations for a bazaar which will be held in the exhibition building. The opening will take place on Tuesday, Aug 1st, and the closing on Friday August 5th.

OBITUARY.

MR. ROBERT MULLIN.

The death of Mr. Robt. Mullin occurred at his home, English Settlement, North Co., on Friday, July 14th, after a short illness of heart failure. Deceased leaves two sons, Daniel and Jerry and one daughter, Mrs. David Mullin. He was in the 78th year of his age. The funeral took place Sunday morning to the Roman Catholic cemetery at Redbank and was largely attended. Deceased was a half brother of Thos. and John Mullin of this town.

MRS. WM. ALLISON.

On the evening of Sunday, June 25th, at Derby, N. B., Rosena, beloved wife of William Allison, died at their home. Although not in the enjoyment of good health for some years, it was not until a few months ago that it became alarmingly evident that she was suffering from the action of a dire disease of an internal nature. These weeks of much acute pain and continuous depressing weakness before death were spent in true christian fortitude.

Mrs. Allison was a person of tender sensibilities and good cheer, and possessed an intellectual and cultured mind. She was the third daughter of the late James Grey of Chatham and was born on June 8th, 1825. The 26th Sept., 1884, was the date of her marriage. She was a member of St. John's Presbyterian church, Chatham, and always cheerfully identified herself with christian work. The W. C. T. U. had in her a zealous member and the local branch a valuable associate in all their moral reform efforts. For a number of years she taught in the public schools of this province with commendable success.

She is survived by a brother J. Jordan Grey, Teoma, U. S. A., husband, two children and a large circle of friends. Mrs. David Crocker of Derby and Mrs. Jane Johnson of Chatham are aunts of the deceased. The funeral which took place Tuesday, the 27th, was largely attended, many floral tributes of esteem were laid upon the casket. Services at the house and grave were conducted by Rev. J. G. Colquhoun, Presbyterian, assisted by Rev. J. S. Ferguson, Methodist. Interment was made in Ferguson Presbyterian Church cemetery. The pall bearers were Messrs John Betts, E. J. Parker, Geo. R. Parker, Lambert Flett, Archie McEachern and Clifford Crocker.

Two Indians who had evidently consumed too much fire water were scrapping on Mitchell street Monday afternoon. They were promptly landed in the lockup by Policeman Gallah.

SUMMER SCHOOL HELD HERE,

A Large Attendance of Delegates and Very Profitable Sessions Enjoyed.

INSTRUCTIVE LECTURES.

Principal Falconer, Prof. Murray and Principal Kennedy Deliver Addresses.

The N. B. Presbyterian Summer School for Sabbath School workers of 1905, which opened at Newcastle on Monday the 10th and closed on Friday 14th inst., will long live in the memory of all who were privileged to attend.

There were over 90 delegates registered but frequently the audience exceeded 100. There were thirty five schools represented by delegates.

To our thinking this growing sense of the importance of Sabbath School work is one of the most encouraging features of our church life. When we find men like the Principal of our theological college, the Professor of Mental and Moral Philosophy in Dalhousie University, the Principal of Halifax Academy willing to give up the major portion of a well earned and much needed vacation to this work of travelling through the country and delivering lectures to schools of Sabbath School workers with a view of deepening the sense of the greatness of the task, and helping the teachers to a more scientific and effective method of conducting the work, we have great cause to thank God and take courage. Such self sacrificing zeal and enthusiasm cannot fail to bring great inspiration to the church, and particularly to those laboring in behalf of the youth of the church.

Among those who attended the N. B. School there was only one opinion it was a season of great refreshing a genuine feast of reason and flow of soul.

Under the lectures of Principal Falconer one received new and broader views of the teaching of Christ. The person of the Master became more real, while his teaching became more comprehensive in scope and yet more rich in meaning.

From Prof. Murray and Prin. Kennedy we received more insight into the nature of the child, his mental and moral development, and the practice of teaching or imparting knowledge than we are likely to exhaust in many years.

It there was any lingering doubt in the mind of any as to the wisdom of the Assembly's appointment of the Rev. J. C. Robertson to the new created office of General Secy of Sabbath School work it must have been completely dissipated by the clear, concise and convincing character of Mr. Robertson's lectures on old Testament history. Those lectures were remarkable not only for sympathetic insight and ability to grasp the important features of a period, but for the rare skill with which the lecture was by means of the blackboard set forth and illustrated. "One who is so immensely gifted with the qualifications of a teacher cannot fail to succeed in magnifying the office of Sabbath School Secy," was an opinion freely expressed at the school.

The Revs. Messrs. Townsend, J. M. McLeod and Wm. Ross also contributed to the programme. Mr. Townsend by two lectures on the Prophecy of the Restoration, Mr. McLeod by two lectures on Missions, there place in the Bible and in the Church, and Mr. Ross by a lecture on Young People's Societies. It was evident that each of these gentlemen had thought deeply and read wisely on the various subjects with which they dealt for the lectures were listened to with much pleasure and profit. The Rev. Mr. Ganong, Travelling Secy of the Provincial Sabbath School Association also contributed to the profit of the school by a very interesting and helpful address on Bible Class work among men.

Sabbath School Conventions are doubtless of great benefit to the work and the workers, but we are persuaded that it is to the school rather than the convention that we must look for that which we need to put us in the way of making our Sabbath School the effective instrument they ought to be for the salvation of the young. The convention is likely to prove the more popular institution for a time at least, because it does not make the same demand for sustained intellectual concentration as the school, but there can be no doubt that we shall succeed as Sunday School workers just in proportion to the amount of energy we spend in careful and scientific equipment. Those of us who attended the Newcastle School are fully convinced of this and may be counted on to do all in our power to promote the success of the annual Provincial Summer School for Sabbath School workers.—Cor.

We have used "Sunlight Soap," and we want to tell you that it is the best soap made, that's why we are writing. We found out that the Sunlight way is the best way to wash with "Sunlight Soap." At first we used to wash with Sunlight Soap in the old way as we did with common soap, but after we washed according to directions printed on the package, we would never wash the old way again. We first soap the articles, leave them to soak and then rub out lightly on the wash board. Not much to do and it makes the clothes white as snow. Your money back for any cause of complaint.

Writing About New Brunswick Affairs.

Metalf, Arizona.

June 24th, 1905.

EDITOR UNION ADVOCATE.

GENTLEMEN:—The people of New Brunswick have for years endured oppression and robbery that would cause the inhabitants of any other country to rise in their might, and demand reform and if the ballots did not give relief, force would. A few years ago the politicians who misrepresented the people in the legislature halls at Fredericton, concocted the scheme of dividing up the public domain among the lumber operators and speculators, giving them a 25 years lease at a nominal mileage per year; and stampage, when the timber was removed. In lieu of the one years leases then held which had to be competed for at public auction. Many people protested against tying up in the hands of monopolists the resources of the province for a quarter of a century the administration heeded no remonstrances, but consumed the disgraceful deal which has since, robbed the Provincial Treasury of millions of dollars. The holders of the leases getting for nothing (unless they paid something to those who engineered the deal) an interest in the lands greater than that retained by the province. To prove this assertion I have only to point out the fact that the mileage paid by the holders of the 25 years leases was no greater and in most instances not much as it would have been had the timber limits been sold at auction every year as formerly a plan which carried no vested rights with it. All advances in value going to Provincial Treasury instead of the pockets of private individuals as at present. In your last issue I see that the Wm. Richards Co., had sold their leasehold rights to 165,000 acres of the public domain for between six and $700,000 or at a valuation of about $4.00 per acre. Now the men who bought this lease are shrewd business men and are not paying out such a sum of money without receiving value therefor and the price paid shows that these lands are worth to them $4.00 per acre over and above the amounts to be paid the government for mileage and stampage. In other words private parties are enriched to the extent of $600,000 or $700,000 and the Provincial Treasury robbed of that amount by a single lease.

Now Mr. Editor take the number of acres held under these 25 years and multiply them by 4 (as they will average four valuable acres to the acre) the Wm. Richards Co. you will have an approximate estimate of the amount the Provincial Treasury has been robbed of corrupt or incompetent management of the crown lands. You will find that the amount lost through this graft would pay the provincial indebtedness, endow the "University of New Brunswick" so that it could pay its professors living salaries and still leave enough if properly invested to keep the great road and bridges in repair in perpetuity. Had the crown lands been properly handled there would have been no occasion to charge the poor settlers $5.00 a year as a gum tax or if he took up a farm on some river to refuse him riparian rights so as to sell the privilege to the highest bidder in order to raise a few paltry dollars to help keep the Provincial Treasury from bankruptcy.

Yours Truly,
JOHN L. SCHOFIELD.

THE 12TH AT FREDERICTON.

A Large Gathering at the Celestial City and Fine Parade.

Fredericton, July 13.—The glorious twelfth for this year is now a thing of the past. The greatest interest centred at Fredericton where the Grand Lodge celebrated. The whole town took on a holiday appearance. The St. John train brought about 175 people, including delegations from the different Sunbury county lodges. The visiting Orangemen were all met by the reception committee of the York County Lodge, composed of Grand Master Harry F. McLeod, Past Grand Master A. D. Thomas and County master John Oldham.

The excursion train from Newcastle of twelve first class cars all crowded to their utmost capacity came in over the I. C. R. at 1.30 p. m., under a double header. It was the heaviest excursion train ever taken over the road and one of the heaviest ever brought to the city of Fredericton.

The excursion train from Moncton over the I. C. R. consisted of ten cars and a double header arrived at 2.30. Every car was loaded down. The regular train over the I. C. R. did not reach the city until after the special. She also brought in a heavy load.

The steamer Victoria having on board representatives of six St. John lodges and a band and a large number of excursionists, arrived in port shortly after two o'clock. A procession was at once formed and was played by the band to Smythe street.

The local lodges met at the Orange Hall, Queen street and marched to Smythe street to join the parade.

The members of the Marysville ladies lodge drove to the city in barouches at 1.30 o'clock. The men bers of the Rossmore Lodge marched from their hall at Gibson. The parade was formed on Smythe street at the upper part of the city and it was nearly four o'clock before it got under way.

The ceremony of decorating the grave of P. C. M. Anderson was most impressive. Under the pines in Scully's Grove a stand had been erected which was occupied by the leading members of the orange lodges. York County Master Oldham presided and introduced the several speakers. Owing to the latest of the hour the addresses were quite short but were loudly applauded.

Grand Master McLeod was received by the vast assemblage with cheers. He warmly welcomed the Orange order and congratulated them on their excellent turnout.

Past Grand Master E. R. Heine, followed the grand master. The Orange order, he said, stood for equal rights to all. Such a thing as class legislation was foreign to its principles.

Past Grand Master Thomas said the Orangemen believed with that great statesman, Chamberlain, in the upbuilding and interests of our great empire.

Robert Maxwell, past master of St. John was the last speaker. We will ever fight for the rights of the people against legislation on the separate schools, he said. He remarks brought forth cheers.

After cheers for the king the gathering dispersed, the visitors leaving for their homes.

Northumberland County made a grand showing and the officers were complimented on the strength and appearance of its lodges. The excursion trains arrived here about 4 o'clock Thursday morning.

KIDNEY DISEASE FOR TWENTY YEARS

MRS. CASWELL REID, Orville, Muskoka, Ont., writes:—"For nearly twenty years I was troubled with Kidney disease, and have recently been completely cured by using three boxes of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I have tried a great many remedies, but never seemed to get anything to do me so much good until I used these pills."

An old Mine.

An old Spanish mine has been discovered and staked out near Solomon Peak in the eastern part of this country. Ira Sheeley, Tom Whaley and James Latham have staked the claim on what is public land. The mine is of copper and gold, and assays at $102 to the ton.

In the mouth of the mine are found old trees with notches cut on them for steps by which to ascend or descend. All evidence goes to prove it was worked at least 100 years ago. The old residents of this place say that there is an old chart in Saltillo, Mexico, of a valuable copper mine about 450 miles west of San Antonio, and it is thought perhaps that this is the place. A mine was worked in that vicinity over a hundred years ago by Spaniards and Mexicans, and the ore carried on the backs of burros to Saltillo, Mexico. These miners were surprised by hostile Indians and nearly all killed, after which the mine was abandoned. One thing is certain, the mine is rich in gold and copper and the mine is very old.

How and why it Rains.

Rain is an accumulation of the tiny particles of the vapor of the atmosphere into drops. These drops, first size, attract other kind and become drops of such magnitude that they fall to the earth because of their weight. There is a limit to the quantity of water which the air is capable of absorbing and retaining as invisible vapor. Warm air is able to hold more than cold air; hence when the air which is saturated with moisture becomes cold for any reason whatever it can no longer retain its moisture. A portion must under such condition accumulate into drops. These fall to the earth in the shape of rain.

Messrs C. Gates, Son & Co.,
Dear Sirs:

I have been thinking for some time that I should write and let you know what your has done for my son. He had such a bad case of Cholera that he was reduced to skeleton. We tried Doctors, drugs and every other remedy but without avail. Finally we procured your Certain Check and we believe it saved our boy's life, as it cured after everything else had failed.

Your Life of Man Bitters and Invigorating Syrup also cured me of Lung trouble. I consider that your medicines are all as recommended. Yours truly
W. I. Curtis.

"A Great Tonic"

"PSYCHINE" is a wonderful tonic. It contains medicinal elements not found in any of the patent medicines. "PSYCHINE" is a regular practicing physician's formula. A tonic for weak people, for men of business worries, for the tired mother, the pale, languid girl. Young girls just budding into womanhood; elderly people who find that weakness due to old age find it a remedy they cannot do without. It restores vitality, creates rich, new blood, removes all impurities, strengthens the nerves. If you need a trial ask druggist for "PSYCHINE."

LONDON'S ROMAN WALL.

Another Fragment of it Brought to Light.—Tiles Found.

Another piece of the ancient wall of Roman London has just been exposed says the Daily Graphic. The line followed by the wall from its starting point at the Tower to its return to the river, higher up, where Blackfriars Bridge now stands, its furthest point inland being at being at St. Giles' Church where in the churchyard, remains of it still exist, is well known. The fragment just brought to light is in Crutcher Friars, on the east side between John street and George street, and nearer to George street and it has been uncovered in making the foundations of new business premises. The workmen are busily engaged in the slow and difficult task of destroyed it. Mr. Waterman, the architect of the new building, not being able to preserve it, as it is "in the way" it is built in the usual Roman manner seen in other portions of the wall which have been found. Lowest was a bed of flints and clay, a damp course, which is the actual foundation, resting on the virgin gravel; then a double row of the usual large, thick Roman tiles, then another double row of tiles; then more masonry, and so on upwards. In the Crutcher Friars section the remaining height is only seven feet, and in this there are three double courses of tiles. The wall is about eight feet six inches thick, and upon half its thickness has been built the lofty brick wall of the premises adjoining the site of the new ones. The Roman wall has thus been utilized for modern buildings in many parts of its circuit, and notably in this part, near the Tower. The lowest course of flint and clay has been removed, and the rest of the wall propped up from below. The masonry is of Kentish rag, and the interior is of the same, mingled with the well known hard Roman cement.

FOR THE CIGARETTE.

The Chatham "Planet" on the Cigarette.

Albert Wright of St. Louis, fourteen years old, became addicted to the cigarette habit over three years ago, and for the last year he smoked, according to the statement of a brother-in-law Dr. Conway Bates of Clayton, from forty to fifty cigarettes a day. He had been ill for two weeks, but no one thought his illness serious until a couple of days ago, when he suddenly grew worse and finally expired. Dr. Bates made an examination of the boy and found that his left lung was eaten almost entirely away. His death was due to the cigarette. Now, all boys don't die from smoking cigarettes, but it certainly injures their health and shortens their lives. The practice is very general in Chatham, but it looks as if the people were waiting for a few deaths directly traceable to this cause before they will open their eyes to one of the worst of modern evils.

L. E. Embree, Principal Jameson Ave. Collegiate Institute Toronto. I am in sympathy with any movement that would banish the cigarette abomination.

M. McPherson, Ex-Principal Prescott High School, Prescott, Ont. Cigarette smoking is one of the most prevalent and most lamentable ways of poisoning the human system.

W. H. Mulrow, B. A. Gravenhurst, Ontario, Principal High School.

The Cigarette introduces in a specially dangerous and insidious form the narcotic poison. Its growing use by young men and boys is greatly to be deplored.

A. A. Jordan, Principal Model School and Ex-President Ontario Educational Association, Prescott, Ont.

I am of the opinion that the use of cigarettes among boys, many of them very young, is becoming altogether too prevalent. There can be no doubt of the most injurious influence of these, especially upon the growing boy. I shall hail with delight anything which can be done to mitigate so great an evil.

To Visit N. B.

GOVERNOR GENERAL TO GO ON A FISHING TRIP, AND ON HIS RETURN HOME WILL VISIT ST. JOHN.

Ottawa, July 18.—When parliament closes, the governor general will go with Mons. Menier on a fishing trip to Anticosti, accompanied by Hon. Raymond Prefontaine and Deputy Minister Godeau. Mr. Menier will take the party on his yacht to the Jupiter river. Some days later the Governorment steamer Lord Minto will call at Quebec and bring the vice-regal party. The steamer will then make a cruise to the lower St. Lawrence and the maritime provinces, calling successively at Murray Bay, Tadoussac and Father Point.

The Lord Minto will call at Anticosti for Earl Grey and Gaspere, Charlottetown, Pictou, St. Peter, Bras d'Or Lakes, Louisbourg Digby and John (N. B.) will be visited after which the party will return to Quebec in time to welcome a British squadron of five vessels.

IF YOU DON'T SLEEP WELL

It's because your nerves are in a weak unstable condition. Ferrazone will make them strong and correct the trouble causing your insomnia. "I fell into a state of nervous exhaustion last fall," writes Mrs. J. J. Dextre of Dexter, I was run down, couldn't sleep and felt perfectly miserable. I tried Ferrazone and was quickly benefited. I can recommend Ferrazone to anyone suffering from overwrought nerves and sleeplessness. No tonic is better, try Ferrazone. Price 50c. at druggists.

RECEPTION OF GUSTAVUS ADOLPHUS AND BRIDE AT STOCKHOLM.

Stockholm, July 9.—The home coming today of Prince Gustavus Adolphus, son of Crown Prince Gustave, and his bride (who was Princess Margaret of Connaught), was made the occasion for enthusiastic demonstrations amid glorious weather. The royal yacht, the Norwegian standard-bearer, the storemast and the Swedish standard at her main.

King Oscar and the other members of the royal family viewed the disembarcation of the prince and princess from the roof of the palace; 200,000 persons lined the route of the royal procession to the palace. After the arrival of the bridal couple the entire royal family attended a te deum in the royal chapel. In the address of the court chaplain reference was made to the glorious Swedish people who had not broken the allegiance they were sworn to keep.

First waiter—Did that Arizona ranchman give you a tip?
Second waiter—I should say he did!

He told me if I didn't step lively, he'd blow off the top of my head!

KUMFORT HEADACHE POWDERS

THE picture illustrates your feelings when in the grasp of those racking and splitting headaches. What you need is not something that deadens your nerves and dulls and otherwise injures you, but a good, safe, reliable medicine like KUMFORT HEADACHE POWDERS. These powders are made of the very ingredients Nature intended for the cure of headaches. They give relief in a few moments and wherever used are recognized as the one quick, safe, sure headache cure.

They have been a standard remedy for many years. They have no superior. We do not claim that these headache powders are cure-alls, or that they will do the impossible, but we do claim that there is nothing else known to medical science which acts so quickly and effectively in cases of headaches of all kinds.

Your druggists sell KUMFORT HEADACHE POWDERS at 10 cents for four powders; 25 cents for twelve powders. If desired, you can secure them direct from us on receipt of price.

JOHN D. BUCKLEY, Merchant at Rogersville, N. B., writes: "The best remedy for a headache that I have ever used. They cure in a few minutes, create no habit, and I have found them safe and harmless."

A. V. SAVY, of Neguac, N. B., writes: "They are the most satisfactory and perfect cure for headache I have ever known."

SHAD FISHING

One of our valuable fisheries, the shad fishing is now nearly extinct. For several years there has been a falling off in this industry and this year it was a complete failure.

This fish is an important one on the Miramichi as our farmers depend upon it for their supply of fresh fish, and large quantities are sold in town.

It seems too bad that this important industry is allowed to run out and some effort should be made to have the fish hatchery experiment with shad spawn. We understand that in some hatcheries shad spawn is being hatched and shad fry deposited in the rivers. Would it not be a good idea to ask the government to deal with this matter at the Miramichi Hatchery?

CONCERNING IMMIGRATION.

A London paper gives some good advice to the British Government. It would be better for the administration, it says, instead of making provision at home for the unemployed to organize emigration to Canada. "It would be a boon to many thousands of British families to escape from the dreary hopelessness of life in this overcrowded land to a colony where by honest industry they would be assured of comfort and prosperity. While Great Britain neglects effective organization of emigration its best colonies are becoming peopled by foreigners, neither speaking our own language nor stirred by our national imperial traditions." For years and years the great bulk of emigration from the British Isles went to the United States, notwithstanding the efforts of Canada to turn the tide in this direction. Under the present government a well organized system has been employed to attract the people to Canada, and good results have been achieved, but there is still a great field for intelligent labor. It is important that Canada should have population. People from England, Ireland and Scotland would be preferred to other races, but they cannot be forced to come to the Dominion if they do not wish to come. No doubt great assistance would be rendered if the British government took an active interest in the matter.—Globe.

FORTIFICATIONS.

They Play but a Secondary Role in the Defense of States.

A fortress spells immobility and dispersion. We should therefore look askance at it until proof is given that it has a definite purpose to fulfill in a reasoned scheme of strategy. We must not allow ourselves to be led away by the glamour surrounding a heroic defense. We must look to the end and leave panegyrics to poets. We must, in short, regard all fortification as an auxiliary and nothing more. A fortress, because it is a fortress and because it is ours, is not necessarily an advantage and may be the reverse. If we gain battles we gain the enemy's fortresses; if we lose them we gain ours, whether they are in the interior or upon the sea. In each case the larger the garrison the greater the disaster. Fortresses, and, in fact, all fortifications, have never played anything but a secondary role in the defense of states, and no nation has ever yet been saved by them. They can as auxiliaries occasionally assist an army and they can aid naval capital, wisely invested and wisely used, to bear splendid interest, but they can never re-establish moral superiority when once it is lost nor create it by the virtue attaching to its parapets if it does not exist. Over the portals of the fortress or harbor of refuge should be written in the largest and blackest of characters the words that Dante discovered over the gates of hell—Military Cor. London Times.

VALOR AND HEROISM.

Proof That the Real Brand of It Exists in South America.

"Every country has its heroes, and it is refreshing to read something of the heroic in the history of the countries south of us," said a thoughtful man. "In a history of South America attention is called to a number of things which tend to show that the popular estimate of valor and heroism in that section of the world may not be altogether the correct one. It is related that once the Peruvian monitor Huascar fought against three Chilean ships. "After both Admiral Grau and his flag lieutenant were killed Captain Aguirre took command, was killed, and then succeeded by Captain Carvajal, who was put hors de combat by a shell. The command devolved then on Lieutenant Rodriguez, who was killed, then on Lieutenant Pelaez, who was disabled, and finally Lieutenant Gareyon, with the ship on fire, three feet of water in the hold and with a loss of half his officers and crew, was forced to strike his flag. On July 23, 1879, the Huascar was in action against the Chilean ship Abtao. Torpedoes at that time were not much understood, and one, being fired from the Huascar, through faulty mechanism returned back straight upon the ship. Seeing this and knowing that if the ship was struck she must sink, Lieutenant Diaz Caneja jumped overboard, swam to the water with his hands altered its course just before it came in contact with the ship."

Tricked the Stamp Fliend.

Stamp collectors are delighted when they secure a specimen which was issued before some mistake in printing was detected. During the Buffalo exposition the government issued a stamp to commemorate the occasion which depicted the Empire express train. A practical joker cut out the central part of one of the stamps which contained the train and carefully replaced it so that the train was in an upside down position. This he pasted on an envelope and mailed it to a friend who was a rapid collector.

The practiced eye of the stamp fiend once discovered the misplaced position of the train, but did not notice the deception, and the collector was almost wild with joy until he offered it for sale, when he was informed that it was not a "rare" but a "cut out" stamp he preserved.

Eggs.

It is not only the last variety in name without varying in quality. The present writer was once told when hesitating between "fresh eggs" at ten a shilling and "good breakfast eggs" at eight a shilling or something to that effect that these two brands were precisely the same, but that he had as two qualities because no customers would buy eggs at a shop where only one quality was advertised. That may or may not be so. The fact remains that there are many qualities of eggs known to all housewives before we get down to what a late comedian termed briefly "eggs."—London Chronicle.

Where Wealth Is Wooten.

At Gombul a man's wealth is reckoned first by the number of slaves he owns, next by the number of wives and then by the number of chests, empty or otherwise, he possesses. To give security to these chests, locks of American make are in great demand all over the country, and keys in large numbers are worn by the natives as the outward symbol of abundant property, though it is quite likely that many of the chests are entirely empty.

Then He Did Walk.

Little Brother—Can't you walk straight, Mr. Mangle? Mr. Mangle—Of course I can, my little man. Why do you ask? Little Brother—Oh, nothing, only I heard sister say she'd soon straighten you up when she married you. And ma said she'd help her.

Woman.

Woman has been defined as "an essay on goodness and grace in one volume, elegantly bound." But she doesn't like to be put on the shelf all the same.

Relations are the cause of most of the friction that takes place in social life.

For Good Hair

The Dragon Tree. The dragon tree (Dracena draco), which yields the astringent gum resin called dragon's blood, is an old settler of the Canary islands. A veritable colossus of this family once grew in the town of Orotava. Tenerife, which was eighty feet in circumference at the base, hollow inside, with a staircase for visitors to ascend to the branching top of the trunk. Humboldt remarks that its antiquity must have been greater than that of the pyramids. This giant went down in a hurricane in 1867.

He Sold and Left.

A lawyer had a horse that always stopped and refused to cross a certain bridge leading out of the city. No whipping, no urging, would induce him to cross it, so he advertised him, "To be sold for no other reason than that the owner wants to get out of town."

The Useful Shark.

The smiling shark may eat a man now and then—though scientists doubt it—but if he does man gets even. He makes tinned soup and jelly of the smiling shark's fins, extracts fine machinery oil from his liver, makes handsome leather of his skin, walking sticks from his backbone and many useful articles from his jawbones and teeth. Do you wonder that the shark takes a nip at a man's leg now and then?

MORE PAY FOR MEMBERS.

Members of Parliament, Senators and Judges to get More Pay.

Ottawa July 17.—Notice was given this morning of a substantial increase in allowance for law makers and law interpreters.

The indemnity of members and Senators is increased by a thousand dollars a session. The higher judges in all the provinces get increases of $2,000 a year, and county court judges increases from $1,000 to $1,500.

The salary of the prime minister is increased from $8,000 to $12,000, in addition to occasional indemnity. The cabinet minister's salaries are not increased. They only benefit to the extent of the $1,000 indemnity increase.

Members and Senators get $20 a day to thirty days, and if a session extends beyond that time the indemnity is $2,500. Formerly the indemnity was $1,500. The recognized leader of the opposition, in addition to his sessional allowance, gets $7,000, instead of twenty cents a mile traveling expenses a member of parliament is allowed expenses for one trip to and from Ottawa a session. Payments are made to members monthly and there is the same provision as at present for making an affidavit of attendance. A deduction of $15 a day is to be made for a non-attendance.

Every member of the Privy Council of Canada who has served as a cabinet minister and head of a department for the full period of five consecutive years shall upon his retirement from the cabinet be entitled to receive, out of the consolidated revenue fund of Canada, an annuity equal to one half of the salary attached to his office or position at his retirement. Any such councillor obtaining a government office or becoming leader of the opposition shall have his salary or allowance reduced by the amount of such annuity.

Under this provision $3,500 a year is provided for Messrs Blair, Sifton, Tarte, Foster, Haggart, Sir Adolphe Caron, Mr. Costigan, Sir MacKenzie Bowell, Sir Charles Tupper, Sir Hibbert Tupper, Sir Hector Langevin, Sir John Carling, making $42,500 a year for these disused cabinet ministers. The total increase for Parliament amounts to $378,500 a year.

In New Brunswick the salary of the Chief Justice is increased from $5,000 to $7,000, and Judges Barker, Gregory, Hanington, Landry and McLeod from $4,000 to $6,000. Judge Forbes remains at $3,000. The salaries of Judges Carleton, Wellerburn, Wells, Wilkinson and Wilson are increased from $2,400 to $3,000.

A Spelling Rule.

At a school inspection some of the boys found a difficulty in the correct placing of the letters "p" and "e" in such words as "believe," "receive," etc., when the inspector said blandly, "My boys, I will give you an infallible rule, one I invariably use myself." The pupils were all attention, and even the master pricked up his ears. The inspector continued: "It is simply this. Write the 'p' and 'e' exactly alike and put the dot in the middle over them."—London Telegraph.

FREDERICTON BRIDGE BURNED SATURDAY

Two Spans Entirely Destroyed by Fire—Loss About $10,000.

The Fredericton highway bridge was badly damaged by fire Saturday night and its usefulness destroyed for the time being. Two out of the ten large spans and one pier near the centre of the structure were completely wrecked, and it will take at least $10,000 to repair the damage. How the fire originated is a matter of conjecture, but it is supposed that a lighted cigar stub carelessly thrown on the planking did the mischief. Robert Coburn of Gibson and some others discovered the flames about 8.30 o'clock while crossing the bridge and hastened to the city and rang an alarm from box 34. The heavy pine timbers were as dry as tinder and the flames seemed to spread among them with lightning rapidity. The bridge was erected twenty years ago by Hon A. G. Blair. The Western Union Telegraph wires and wires of the New Brunswick Telephone Company, which crossed the bridge, were destroyed, and communication by wire with Nashua and Miramichi points shut off.

DETECTIVE STORIES.

The Literary Weakness In the Novel of Crime and Detection.

I know of one good reason, and only one, which really prevents detective stories standing among the noblest forms of art. Most of the objections raised against them by the vague minded world of modern culture (probably the most vague minded world that has ever existed) are quite narrow and childish. To say that the detective tale is sensational is simply to say that it is full of feeling or is aesthetic. Aesthetic is the Greek for sensational. Sensational is the Latin for aesthetic. To say that the thrill which it gives is connected with bald and positive sin, with bald and positive death and not with any of the fine spun drawing room emotions which it is now the fashion to consider "deep," is to pay it a high compliment.

The Bible is concerned with these great plain sins and judgments. So are the great Greek dramas, so are the tragedies of the Elizabethans, so are the old ballads, and so are all men anywhere who live lives sufficiently real to have ever seen the great plain sins and judgments.

There is one good argument, as I have said, and one only, against the police mystery, and that is that police mysteries exist to destroy mystery when they have created it. A sad tale should be saddest when we finish it; a happy tale should be happiest when we finish it; a stirring tale should be most stirring at the end, a fantastic tale most fantastic at the end. But this kind of mysterious tale is not most mysterious at the end. It is then least mysterious, or, rather, not mysterious at all. Instead of making a commonplace thing mystical (the aim of all good art) the detective reverses the process and makes a mystical thing commonplace. And from this comes that one fatal weakness in the sensational novel of crime and detection, the one thing that does separate it, I am afraid, from great fiction, the fact that there is no impulse to read it again. A detective tale we have read is an empty bottle of wine, an exploded shell, a thing destroyed. The mystery of the sanity of Hamlet is alive and kicking still.—G. K. Chesterton in London News.

POINTED PARAGRAPHS.

Probably the easiest thing in the world is to be a bore.

You waste half your time. There's reform work for you.

It is possible to laugh at trouble, but the laughter doesn't mean it.

What a disagreeable world this would be if people were perfectly candid.

It is easier to talk a man out of a thing than it is to fight him out of it.

There is one thing sure about a fuss—it does not do any good to talk it over.

When men talk together, it is of prices at which things can be sold. Women talk of prices at which things can be bought.

The sentiment seems to be always in favor of abusing the man who objects to cost when it comes to funerals or weddings.

MAIL SPECIAL'S FAST RUN

Sydney to Montreal in 22 Hours and 38 Minutes—Some Fast Speeds.

Montreal, July 14.—The special train from North Sydney with the Virginian's English mails on board, arrived at 8.25 o'clock this morning, having made the run from Sydney, a rail distance of 981 miles, in 22 hours and 38 minutes actual running time. The average actual running time for the entire distance was 43.62 miles per hour, which is a record run over the I. C. R. between two points. The best running time on the journey was between Lewis and Montreal. Upon the arrival of the train there early this morning a fresh engine was coupled on. The train which pulled out of Lewis at 4.44 this morning, rolled into the station at Montreal at exactly 8.23, making the actual running time between the two points three hours and 39 minutes, an average of 44.65 miles per hour, which was the best of the journey.

The Return of SHERLOCK HOLMES

By A. CONAN DOYLE.
Author of "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes,"
"The Hound of the Baskervilles," "The Sign of the Four," "A Study in Scarlet," Etc.

ILLUSTRATED BY F. D. STEELE

"Well, it is quite possible, but the case is not clear to me yet."
"Not clear? Well, if that isn't clear what could be clear? Here is a young man who learns suddenly that if a certain older man dies he will succeed to a fortune. What does he do? He says nothing to any one, but he arranges that he shall go out on some pretext to see his client that night. He waits until the only other person in the house is in bed, and then in the solitude of the man's room he murders him, burns his body in the wood pile and departs to a neighboring hotel. The blood stains in the room and also on the stick are very slight. It is probable that he imagined his crime to be a bloodless one and hoped that if the body were consumed it would hide all traces of the method of his death, traces which for some reason must have pointed to him. Is not all this obvious?"

"It strikes me, my good Lestrade, as being just a trifle too obvious," said Holmes. "You do not add imagination to your other great qualities, but if you could for one moment put yourself in the place of this young man would you choose the very night after the will had been made to commit your crime? Would it not seem dangerous to you to make so very close a relationship?"

"Because they were papers that he could not negotiate."
Lestrade shook his head, though it seemed to me that his manner was less absolutely assured than before.
"Well, Mr. Sherlock Holmes, you may look for your tramp, and while you are finding him we will hold on to our man. The future will show which is right. Just notice this point, Mr. Holmes—that so far as we know none of the papers were removed and that the prisoner is the one man in the world who had no reason for removing them, since he was held at law and would come into them in any case."
My friend seemed struck by this remark.

"I don't mean to deny that the evidence is in some ways very strongly in favor of your theory," said he. "I only wish to point out that there are other theories possible. As you say, the future will decide. Good morning! I dare say that in the course of the day I shall drop in at Norwood and see how you are getting on."

When the detective departed my friend rose and made his preparations for the day's work with the alert air of a man who has a congenial task before him.

between the two incidents? Again, would you choose an occasion when you are known to be in the house, when a servant has let you in? And, finally, would you take the great pains to conceal the body and yet leave your own stick as a sign that you were the criminal? Confess, Lestrade, that all this is very unlikely."

"As to the stick, Mr. Holmes, you know as well as I do that a criminal is often hurried and does such things, which a cool man would avoid. He was very likely afraid to go back to the room. Give me another theory that would fit the facts."

"I could very easily give you half a dozen," said Holmes. "Here, for example, is a very possible and even probable one. I make you a free present of it. The older man is showing documents which are of evident value. A passing tramp sees them through the window, the blind of which is only half down. Exit the solicitor. Enter the tramp. He seizes a stick, which he observes there, kills Oldacre and departs after burning the body."

"Why should the tramp burn the body?"

"For the matter of that, why should McFarlane?"

"To hide some evidence."

"Possibly the tramp wanted to hide that any murder at all had been committed."

"And why did the tramp take noth-

SEVERE COLD IN THE CHEST.

"My seven-year-old boy had a very severe cold in the chest last winter and I thought he was going to die. He coughed all the time and some times he spit up blood. I can positively say that he was completely cured by the use of Dr. Chase's Turpentine and he has not been ill since."—Mrs. J. Provost.

"So, my dear Watson, there's my report of a failure. And yet—and yet"—he clinched his thin hands in a paroxysm of conviction—"I know it's all wrong. I feel it in my bones. There is something that has not come out, and that housekeeper knows it. There was a sort of sulky defiance in her eyes which only goes with guilty knowledge. However, there's no good talking any more about it, Watson."

son and Lestrade's speech of the man in this fashion it would predispose him toward hatred and violence. "He was more like a malignant and cunning ape than a human being," said she, "and he always was, ever since he was a young man."

"You knew him at that time?" said I. "Yes, I knew him well. In fact, he was an old friend of mine. Thank heaven that I had the sense to turn away from him and to marry a better, if poorer, man. I was engaged to him, Mr. Holmes, when I heard a shocking story of how he had turned a cat loose in an aviary, and I was so horrified at his brutality that I would have nothing more to do with him. She rummaged in a bureau, and presently she produced a photograph of a woman shamefully defaced and mutilated with a knife. 'That is my own photograph,' she said. 'He sent it to me in that state, with his curse, upon my wedding morning.'"

"Well," said I, "at least he has forgiven you now, since he has left all his property to your son."
"Neither my son nor I want anything from Jonas Oldacre, dead or alive," she cried, with a proper spirit. "There is a God in heaven, Mr. Holmes, and that same God who has punished that wicked man will show in his own good time that my son's hands are guiltless of his blood."

"Well, I tried one or two leads, but could get nothing which would help our hypothesis," he said. "I gave it up at last, and off I went to Norwood."

"This place, Deep Dene House, is a big modern villa of staring brick, standing back in its own grounds, with a large stumped lawn in front of it. To the right and some distance back from the road was the scene of the fire. Here's a rough plan on a leaf of my notebook. This window on the left is the one which opens into Oldacre's room. You can look into it from the road, you see. That is about the only bit of consolation I have had today. Lestrade was not there, but his head constable did the honors. They had just found a great treasure trove. They had spent the morning raking among the ashes of the burned wood pile, and besides the charred organic remains they had secured several discolored metal disks. I examined them with care, and there was no doubt that they were trousseau buttons. I even distinguished that one of them was marked with the name of Hyams, who was Oldacre's tailor. I then worked the lawn very carefully for signs and traces, but this drought has made everything as hard as iron. Nothing was to be seen save that some body or bundle had been dragged through a low privet hedge which is in a line with the wood pile. All that, of course, fits in with the official theory. I crawled about the lawn with an August sun on my back, but I got up at the end of an hour no wiser than before."

"Well, after this fiasco I went into the bedroom and examined that also. The blood stains were very slight, mere smudges, but they were undoubtedly fresh. The stick had been removed, but there also the marks were slight. There is no doubt about the stick belonging to our client. He admits it. Footmarks of both men could be made out on the carpet, but most of which had been taken out and left on the table. The papers had been made up into sealed envelopes, one or two of which had been opened by the police. They were not, so far as I could judge, of any great value, nor did the bank book show that Mr. Oldacre was in any very recent circumstances. But it seemed to me that all the papers were not there. There were allusions to some deeds—possibly the more valuable—which I could not find. This, of course, if we could definitely prove it, would turn Lestrade's argument against himself, for who would steal a thing if he knew that he would shortly inherit it?"

"Finally, having drawn every other cover and picked up no scent, I tried my luck with the housekeeper, Mrs. Lexington is her name—a little, dark, silent person, with suspicious and sidelong eyes. She could tell us something if she would. I am convinced of it. But she was as close as wax. Yes, she had let Mr. McFarlane in at half past 9. She wished her hand had withered before she had done so. She had gone to bed at half past 10. Her room was at the other end of the house and she could hear nothing of what passed. Mr. McFarlane had left his hat and, to the best of her belief, his stick in the hall. She had been awakened by the alarm of fire. Her poor, dear master had certainly been murdered. Had he any enemies? Well, every man had enemies, but Mr. Oldacre kept himself very much to himself and only met people in the way of business. She had seen the buttons and was sure that they belonged to the clothes which he had worn last night. The wood pile was very dry, for it had not rained for a month. It burned like tinder, and by the time she reached the spot nothing could be seen but flames. She and all the freemen smelled the burned flesh from inside it. She knew nothing of the papers nor of Mr. Oldacre's private affairs."

"So, my dear Watson, there's my report of a failure. And yet—and yet"—he clinched his thin hands in a paroxysm of conviction—"I know it's all wrong. I feel it in my bones. There is something that has not come out, and that housekeeper knows it. There was a sort of sulky defiance in her eyes which only goes with guilty knowledge. However, there's no good talking any more about it, Watson."

When Constipation Poisons the System

Fruit-a-tives will set everything right. These fruit tablets act like magic on the whole digestive tract. They stir up the liver—make it excrete an abundance of bile. The bile makes the intestines move regularly and naturally every day. And Fruit-a-tives leave no constipating after-effects, like calomel, cascara and liver pills.

By curing Constipation to stay cured, FRUIT-A-TIVES purify the blood—clear the complexion—stop bilious headaches—help digestion—make you eat and sleep well.

"I have used Fruit-a-tives and think them the best remedy for Constipation I ever tried. I gladly recommend them to my friends and to everyone suffering from Stomach and Liver Troubles."

Mrs. J. C. LAW, Essex, Ont.

Fruit-a-tives are pure fruit juices in tablet form—the discovery of a well known Ottawa physician. They act so mildly that even the children may take them without griping or harsh pain. And Fruit-a-tives leave no astrigent after-effects.

But unless some lucky chance comes our way I fear that the Norwood disappearance case will not figure in that chronicle of our successes which I foresee that a patient public will sooner or later have to endure."

"Surely," said I, "the man's appearance would go far with any jury."

"That is a dangerous argument, my dear Watson. You remember that terrible murderer, Bert Stevens, who wanted us to get him off in '87? Was there ever a more mild mannered, Sunday school young man?"

"It is true."

"Unless we succeed in establishing an alternative theory this man is lost. You can hardly find a flaw in the case which can be presented against him, and all further investigation has served to strengthen it. By the way, there is one curious little point about those papers which may serve us as the starting point for an inquiry. On looking over the bank book I found that the low state of the balance was principally due to large checks which have been made out during the last year to Mr. Cornelius. I confess that I should be interested to know who this Mr. Cornelius may be with whom a retired banker has such very large transactions. Is it possible that he has had hand in the affair? Cornelius might be a broker, but we have found no scrip to correspond with these large payments. Failing any other indication, my researches must now take the direction of an inquiry at the bank for the gentleman who has cashed these checks."

"I fear, my dear fellow, that our case will end ingloriously by Lestrade hanging our client, which will certainly be a triumph for Scotland Yard."

I do not know how far Sherlock Holmes took any sleep that night, but when I came down to breakfast I found him pale and harassed, his bright eyes the brighter for the dark shadows round them. The carpet round his chair was littered with cigarette ends and with the early editions of the morning papers. An open telegram lay upon the table.

"What do you think of this, Watson?" he asked, tossing it across.

It was from Norwood and ran as follows:

Important fresh evidence to hand. McFarlane's guilt definitely established. Advise you to abandon case. LESTRADE.

"This sounds serious," said I.

"It is Lestrade's little cock-a-doodle of victory," Holmes answered, with a bitter smile. "And yet it may be premature to abandon the case. After all, important fresh evidence is a two edged thing and may possibly cut in a very different direction from that which Lestrade imagines. Take your breakfast, Watson, and we will go out together and see what we can do. I feel as if I shall need your company and—our moral support today."

George, Prince

Of Wales

CHARACTER SKETCH OF OUR FUTURE KING.

(By Index, in London Gazette.)

It must always be remembered in any review of George Prince of Wales, who celebrates to his fortieth birthday, that his birthday, that his great inheritance was not his birthright—that it was not until he had been allowed to shape his own life to choose his own friends, largely out of his own profession, and to aim simply at proficiency in his service, that he was summoned, as the sequel of a pathetic tragedy, to prepare for nothing less than supreme office in the Empire.

It is perhaps as much due to circumstances as to personality that there should appear so wide a divergence to characteristics of the Prince of Wales and of his illustrious father. And it is in full view of this divergence that the utmost credit must be given for the extraordinary sympathy which exists between them. It is not merely that the Prince has in this matter followed the admirable steps of his predecessor, who was the first heir-apparent since the Revolution not to be in open revolt against the monarch, but that he seems entirely to have entered into his public duties and private interests with the views and wishes which emanate from the Throne.

It is frequently said that a daughter is handicapped rather than helped by the possession of an exceptionally beautiful or brilliant mother, and it must be admitted that those gifts which characterize King Edward are not likely to be accorded in the same extraordinary degree to successive generations. The unfailing memory, the personal acquaintance with distinguished foreigners of every nation and class, and the marvellous gift of language, the keen appreciation of art and literature without any expert knowledge, the capacity for self-identification with pursuits and interests of the most varying sorts—all these are peculiar to the individuality of our king; and it would be unreasonable to insist on their being reproduced or, indeed reflected even in his nearest kith and kin.

How Red Rose Tea is Grown

TEA is a native plant of Northern India. Transplanted to Ceylon it lost much of its strength and richness, but gained in fragrance and delicacy. That is why Ceylon tea is not a strong tea. That is why I blend Indian and Ceylon teas together—that is how the strength and richness, fragrance and delicacy of Red Rose Tea are secured—that is why Red Rose Tea has that "rich fruity flavor."

"This," said the man who was showing the stranger around the city, as he pointed to a broad stretch of beach, "belongs to old Bigspud. That's his house back there on the left."

"Is that on made land, too?" asked the stranger.

"No. That's on married land. He got it with his wife."

DIGBY, N. S., Nov. 12, '01.
C. C. RICHARDS & CO.

Gentlemen,—Last August my horse was badly cut in eleven places by a barbed wire fence. Three of the cuts, (small ones) healed soon, but the others became foul and rotten, and though I tried many kinds of medicine they had no beneficial result. At last a doctor advised me to use MINARD'S LINIMENT and in four weeks' time every sore spot was healed and the hair has grown over each one in fine condition. The Liniment is certainly wonderful in its working.

Little Brother—Can't you walk straight, Mr. Mangle?

Mr. Mangle—Of course I can, my little man. Why do you ask?

Little Brother—Oh, nuthin', only I heard sister say she'd soon straightened you up when she married you. And ma said she'd help her.

CURES COLDS IN ONE HOUR

Many cold cures are dangerous because composed of deadening opiates. But fragrant healing Catarrhozone cures colds in one hour and is both harmless and delightful to use. Even the worst colds, sneezing, stuffy colds with running eyes are stopped very quickly when the balsamic vapor of Catarrhozone is inhaled. Catarrhozone acts like a charm on colds, kills them outright, prevents their return a few hours later. For colds, catarrh and throat trouble use only Catarrhozone. Complete bottle $1.00, trial size 25c. at druggists.

A good recipe book does not make a good cook, any more than a bunch of whiskers make a good doctor.

Could Not Rise from a Chair

Crippled by kidney and liver troubles—Now in perfect health.

MR. L. W. DENNIS, Welland, Ont., writes: "It gives me great pleasure to testify on behalf of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. For many years I was seriously afflicted with kidney and liver troubles. At times my back and liver ached so bad that I could not rise from a chair, and then again I would be confined to my bed. I was treated by the medical profession, but they all failed to understand my case. "About the time I was most discouraged I heard of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and they were so strongly recommended that I decided to try them. Before I had used all of five boxes my old trouble had entirely left me, and I was again as healthy as in boyhood. I freely give this testimony for the benefit of those who suffer as I have."

It is by bringing about just such cures as this that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have come to be considered indispensable as a family medicine. One pill a dose, 25 cts. a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

A father recently overheard his young son use a word that he did not approve, and calling the child to him said,—

"My son, if you promise me never to say that word again, I'll give you a silver dime."

The little fellow promised, and true to his word refrained. About a week later he went to his father and said,—

"Papa, I've learned a new word worth fifty cents."

ALL THIN, PALE WOMEN

Can Learn the Cause of Their Nervous, Used up Condition.

With women, ill health is usually traceable to nerve exhaustion. Feeling, run down and tired most of the time is nature's warning that more nerve force is required.

You must build up, nourish the body, vitalize the nerves, get more flesh and blood. It's the abundant nutriment and building material in Ferrozone that enables it to cure so many sick women. It increases the appetite, adds weight and strength, restores lost color and develops a surplus of energy and nerve force that defies sickness of any kind. There is living proof in Mrs. Daniel Ferguson, Jr., of Prescott, Ont. Read her statement:

"A year ago my health failed. I grew thin and exceedingly pale. At times I was prostrated with nervous and sick headache. All day I was tired. At night it was difficult to obtain restful sleep. My appetite was variable and indigestion bothered me considerably. I became morose and suffered from heart palpitation. You could scarcely believe the benefit I derived in one week from Ferrozone. Color came back to my cheeks. My vitality and appetite increased, renewed nerve force and better spirits came also. Ferrozone did a world of good and made me well."

Remember this: No alcoholic stimulant can nourish and build up like Ferrozone. 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. At all dealers, or N. C. Polson & Co., Kingston Ont., and Hartford, Conn., U. S. A.

A traveller who passed through a small English town noticed a post on which was marked the height to which the river had risen during a recent flood.

"Do you," asked a native, "at the river rose as high as that in 19—?"

"Oh, no, replied the native, 'but the village children used to rub off the original mark, so the Mayor ordered it to be put higher up, so as to be out of their reach."

English Rector (to parishioner)—Good morning Thompson, I hear you have a son and heir?"

Parishioner—Yes, sir; our household now represents the United Kingdom.

Rector—How so?

Parishioner—Why, you see, I am English, my wife's Irish, the nurse is Scotch and the baby wails."

THE FARMER'S REALM.

Practical Suggestions For The Improvement of The Farm.

Careful attention should be given chickens now during warm weather in order to obtain all the growth possible before the short days and cool nights of autumn are here. If we would have heavy producers next year we must be on the alert and faithful to our trust now. We cannot expect prolific layers if the pullets are only half grown. Not only ample feed is necessary, but it should be given in such a manner as to induce as much exercise as possible, which gives strength of frame, adequate digestive capacity, and begets that activity so essential to good laying qualities.

Neither should we neglect the roosting quarters and coops. If the fumes of these compel holding one's nose, good results cannot come. Supposing the fowl to be free from vermin, they cannot remain so long under these conditions. Clean out often, sprinkle with lime, and supply fresh litter or remove to fresh ground. Do anything and everything necessary to keep their homes fresh, sweet and comfortable. We cannot have profits at any given time if the essentials are neglected during other portions of the year. We must supply the daily wants of the little chicks, and in return they will supply our tables with the best quality of poultry and eggs in abundance.

SPRAYING POTATOES—BE READY.

The larvae of the potato beetles will be on hand in a few days, if not in some cases already here. As the time for hoeing is just before the weeds appear, so the time to meet this pest of the potato field is just before they begin their destructive work. The spraying of the potatoes is a work that every grower knows has got to be done, and it takes no more time nor requires no more applications if taken in season to prevent all damage, than it does to delay till plants are half-trimmed of their leaves. So long as the insecticides have got to be applied sooner or later it is rare that it cannot be attended to in season for a complete protection from all damage, provided the farmer is wide awake to his business. It is most inexcusable of all short comings for a farmer to be just that little behind in the care of his crops that damage from weeds and from insects is half done before he gets there. Every time he should get there first. No farmer can afford to divide his corn with the cows, his potatoes with the bugs, or either or both with the weeds. We know all this means hustle, but it is the up-and-after-it farmer that gets a liberal reward at the harvest.

Awakening of China.

MANY SIGNS WHICH INDICATE THAT IT WILL COME VERY SOON.

Tokio, July 4.—The Mainichi points out that Japan's successes are already affecting China in a manner similar to that in which American independence aroused France. It instances the thousands of Chinese teachers and students who are coming to Japan, and the increasing numbers of Japanese who are being called to posts of responsibility under the Chinese government, but chiefly to the joint memorial recently submitted to the throne by Youen-Shih-Kai, Chan-Chitun, and powerful statesmen, recommending preparations for the granting of a Constitution in 1917. The awakening of China might not come soon, but undoubtedly it would come.

A travelling salesman just back from Maine, says in the Record, that he recently asked an old fisherman in a snow bound hamlet what he did with himself evenings. "Oh," said this old man, easily, "sometimes I set and think, and then again I just set."

ARE YOUR KIDNEYS SICK?

Let your morning urine stand for 24 hours in a glass or vessel, and then if it is milky or cloudy, or contains a reddish brick-dust sediment, or if particles or germs float about in it, your kidneys are diseased. If the kidneys are well they filter just so much blood, but if they are sick or weak from any cause, they leave the poison in the blood, and this poison affects the entire system.

It is natural to pass urine three times a day, but many who regard themselves as healthy are obliged to pass water six to ten times daily and are obliged to get up frequently during the night. They have sick kidneys and bladder and don't know it. Smith's Buchu Lithia Pills cure Rheumatism and all Kidney and Bladder diseases, and make new, rich blood.

The 75th Battalion band went to Campbellton Saturday. They supplied music for the A. O. H. for their church parade. This society made a splendid showing and the 73rd rendered fine music. This band supplied the music for the excursion to Carleton on the S. S. Lady Ellen yesterday.

Deputy Game Warden Verge visited Antinuri Lake this week and says he found the carcasses of four large moose lying in the water. This seems to be a favorite spot for poachers and it is too bad the moose are being slaughtered in such a manner. The government ought to appoint a special guardian for this who could be on the ground all the time.—Events.

Needed rain commenced to fall Monday afternoon but only lasted a short time

The regular monthly meeting of the Town Council will be held Thursday evening

Numerous dwellings and stores have been freshly painted this spring which adds much to the appearance of the town.

A Russian coat was taken from the Orange excursion train last Thursday morning by mistake. The owner can have it by applying at this office

The window display at McKee & Co's shoe store is a very artistic one and shows much good taste on the part of the window dresser, Mrs. D. R. McKee

We are this week reminding our subscribers of past due subscriptions. Send in your subscription at once so that it will not be necessary to remind you by mailing you a dunning

Mr. Wm. Daye, a St. John commercial traveler, while coming down from Campbellton Wednesday night, had his face cut about his right eye by being thrown from his seat in the car. The drawbar of the car broke and caused the trouble. The accident was not serious.

We would like to have a correspondent in every town and village on the North Shore. Read our Bathurst column and then send something in the same line. Our Bathurst correspondent is one of the best we have ever had, and notes are always interesting with no offensive paragraphs President Hannah, M. A., D. C. L., of King's College, N. S., gave a splendid address on "Japan and Russia" in St. Andrew's church last Wednesday evening. Those who were present had the good fortune of listening to an address of a character seldom if ever heard in Newcastle.

The excursion season to the seashore is now on and each excursion day large numbers go down on the Alexandra. The popular resort now is Bay du Vin but that village is sadly lacking in accommodations for visitors. We think a summer hotel on the smaller scale could be made to pay at that beach.

The American Vitagraph Co. showed here two nights last week. This company is one of the most up-to-date on the road to-day. They showed a number of local pictures among which was the I. O. O. F. Church parade. The faces of the members were easily recognized. Poor houses greeted this company probably because it was not properly advertised. It certainly deserved a better reception.

A little child of Mr. James Powell's of Bathurst not two years of age, fell from a second story window of its home on King street to the sidewalk Sunday evening, a distance of fifteen to eighteen feet, and was seriously injured about the head and body. No bones were broken, but the child remained unconscious for some hours. Slight hopes are entertained for its recovery.

A gem is "The Real Widow Brown," a breezy and up to date music comedy, built for laughing purposes only, in which respect as well as for its thoroughly entertaining qualities. It is highly successful. There is a novel plot, during the unfolding of which, fun is dispensed by the barrel. The specialties consist of new and popular vocal numbers, medleys, and fascinating dances, and a delightful evening's entertainment is assured.

A picnic was given last Wednesday for Miss Maymie Miller of Shediac. The party went up on the Rustler and landed at Somers wharf, where they spread their luncheon and enjoyed themselves in good style. A debt of thanks is due the Rev. Mr. Thorne of Whitneyville church for the kind way in which he entertained the crowd till the return of the Rustler from Redbank, when the picnickers boarded the boat, thoroughly satisfied with the day's outing.
