Does It Pay

To dress well? No thinking man will answer but that the investment is a good one. Dressing well does not mean that one must wear broadcloth.
Deeks & Munson, for instance, have upon their tables many fine samples of cloth that look well, wear well, and are put together on the best looms from only first-class material. They are goods intended for business suits, some of them; others are for "best."
But any of them are fit for any occasion, if necessary, and they do not come high in price. They meet the demands of the times to a nicety. They cost no more than poorer stuff makes up by inferior tailors, and that gives no satisfaction from the first wear of its existence to its speedy end. Dress well. It saves your self-respect, saves your pocket, and extends your life by keeping out discontent.

Legationers

May Be Alive

Mr. Morgan Claims His Information Is Absolutely Straight.

The Pekin Situation Said to Have Been Grossly Exaggerated

—Prince Tuan Arranging for a General Rising—Collisions

Between Cossacks and Chinese—Reported Massacre of Christians at Tai Yuan Fu.

New York, July 18.—Pritchard Morgan, M.P., who yesterday received a dispatch saying the Pekin foreign lega-tions were standing on July 9, is quoted today by the London correspondent of the World:

"My information is absolutely straight, but it would be fatal to my getting any further news if I divulged the source of my information. I am convinced the legations were standing on the 9th, despite the circumstantial accounts of the massacre.

"The whole situation has been grossly exaggerated, and Li Hung Chang's intervention will have a most salutary effect.

"An exhaustive inquiry by my agents in Shanghai has established the fact that all the stories already published have been based on wild gossip, and are impossible of authentication. Everyone anticipated a massacre, and seized upon the first rumor that seemed to justify their presumption."

Chicago, July 18.—A dispatch to the Record from Chefoo, July 15, via Shanghai, July 18, says:

"A communication was received today by the Japanese consul from the Japanese minister at Pekin, dated June 29. It said that all the ministers were in the British legation, short of food, hard pressed, and unable to hold out many days.

"This is significant, for it is the latest dispatch from Pekin, aside from those through Chinese sources, since Sir Robert Hart's message of June 29, when he said the guns were trained on the legation."

DATE FOR A GENERAL RISING.

London, July 18.—The Shanghai correspondent of the Express, under date of July 17, cables:

Prince Tuan has issued an edict to fix a definite date for a general rising.
What the date is I cannot ascertain, but it is doubtless an early one, for Prince Tuan is stated to have ordered all dispatch, in view of the arrival of more foreign troops. A large body of Chinese tonight is reported to be moving from Hupel in the direction of Shanghai. The situation here grows more threatening every day. The city is still without any means of defense, and all the forts are being held by the Chinese."

NEW YORK CHINAMEN IN PANIC.

New York, July 18.—Chinamen in New York have been officially notified of the war in China, and in consequence the local Celestials are in a state of fear bordering on panic. So afraid are they that the murders committed by the Boxers will be avenged upon them, that an appeal for protection in the form of a petition has been made to Chinese Minister Wu Ting Fang, in Washington, according to information received by the police of the Elizabeth street station. Yesterday circulars in Chinese were distributed through the Chinese quarters, copied from a circular received from Pekin. The circular in Chinese reads: "Shut your way. Interpreted this means: 'Kill all foreign people.' The circular was sent to Lee Toy, mayor of Chinatown, by Minister Wu Ting Fang. The minister did not expect Lee Toy to make public the circular, and the latter only did so after consulting the heads of the secret societies.

The Chinese of the city held a meeting last night in Mott street joss-house.
Speeches were made denouncing the Boxers, and resolutions "deploring the misfortune which has befallen the foreign residents of Pekin," and "volunteering to aid in the suppressing of the uprising of the Boxers," were passed.

MANCHURIA DISTURBANCES.

London, Wednesday, July 18.—A m.-
The news of the Manchuria disturbances is not regarded as justifying the serious view attributed by the Daily Mail's advice, Amur, the boundary territory between Eastern Siberia and Manchuria, has been the scene of local disturbances for a long time, owing to the provocative conduct of the Cossacks toward the 25,000 Chinese employed in the construction of the Russo-Manchurian Railway. Several serious collisions have occurred between the Cossacks and the Chinese troops.
Some weeks ago two Russian officers and sixteen men were killed. The extension of the Boxer movement to Manchuria has resulted in a general destruction of the railway, compelling the Russians to withdraw their officials.

The Chinese tried to stop the Russian steamer Mychael, carrying ammunition, and the steamer Selenga, with the Russian frontier commission on board, from passing up the Amur at Aigun. They fired on the steamers, wounding an officer and a few men,
but the steamer reached Blagovesh-chensk. The local Chinese commander at Aigun seems to have sent the Russians a sort of ultimatum to quit Manchuria.

The Chinese, according to the Daily Mail's St. Petersburg correspondent, have thrown up fortifications and placed 40 guns at a point twelve miles from Aigun, to dispute the progress of the Russians. The official Russian ad-

LADIES' HA

MASONIC GRAND LODGE

Ontario Brethren to the Number of 800 Here.

Session Opened This Afternoon
in the London Opera House.

Important and Eloquent Address
by Grand Master Malone.

Address of Welcome From the Mayor and Aldermen and City Lodges—Splendid Financial Showing—Membership Increases.

The 45th annual communication of the Masonic Grand Lodge of Canada in Ontario opened at 2 p.m. today in the London Opera House. The building had been suitably decorated and prepared for the gathering, and electric fans installed to cool the air. There were over 800 delegates in attendance. Addresses of welcome from the mayor and aldermen, and from the different lodges of the city, were first presented; then Grand Master Malone delivered his annual address.

THE MAYOR'S ADDRESS.

E. T. Malone, Esq., Q.C., Most Worshipful Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Canada, in Ontario, Sir—I have the honor, on behalf of the Municipal Corporation, to extend to yourself and the other officers and members of this grand lodge a very sincere and cordial welcome to the city of London. I have the honor to inform you that the members of our municipal council, this year, are members of the craft, and they, of course, agree that there is nothing so good for the strangers at present within our gates. I do not wish you, however, to infer that their colleagues, less heartily than their wish you a pleasant and profitable sojourn here, for we are all conscious that in the selection of London as the place for holding your annual communication you have conferred a signal favor upon the commercial metropolis of Western Ontario. The corporation which I have the honor to represent has not been unmindful of the serious inconveniences under which our local Masonic lodges at present have been placed by the destruction so recently of all their lodge rooms and appliances, and to aid them in their efforts we have placed at their disposal the free use of our public hall and committee rooms of the city buildings for the purpose of grand lodge, and they are still available should occasion require.

It is our earnest desire, not alone that your meeting here may be surrounded with all that is pleasant and agreeable, but that also it may be memorable for the friendships formed and ambitions realized under the restraining influence of Freemasonry, whose noble precepts and lofty ideals of manhood are discernible even by those who have not bowed the knee at its altars. In this age of ever-increasing demands upon the time and the means of the generous in every community, there exists, I believe, no loftier or more genuine charity than that bestowed by the various Masonic organizations; while the princely munificence of a few prominent members of the craft have won the plaudits of the world. We therefore trust that prosperity may continue within your borders. Now, Sir, permit me, in conclusion, to express the hope that when the affairs of your present communication become mere historical records, there may remain green and fresh the memory of each member of this grand lodge some kindly remembrance of his visit, on this occasion, to the Forest City. Signed on behalf of the municipal council, F. W. Rumball, mayor.

FROM THE CITY BRETHREN.

Following the address presented to M. W. Bro. E. T. Malone, Q.C., grand master, and the officers and members of the grand lodge of A., F. and A. M., of Canada in Ontario, by the London brethren:

"The brethren in London cordially welcome you to the Forest City, and greet you with hearty best wishes for the success of the 45th annual communication of grand lodge, and sincerely congratulate you upon the continued prosperity of the craft within your jurisdiction.

"We deeply regret, most worshipful sir, that our plans for your entertainment during the past year had to be abandoned, owing to the destruction of our Temple by fire. We can assure you that it was with feelings of bitter disappointment that we found our-

BRIGHT'S DISEASE.

Doan's Kidney Pills Rescue an Ottawa Lady From the Clutches of This Deadly Malady.

Bright's disease has always been considered incurable until Doan's Kidney Pills proved in case after case that it could be relied on to cure this deadly malady.

No other medicine can show such a record of cures of severe kidney diseases as these pills, and none has been so shamelessly imitated by unscrupulous manufacturers.

But people who want to be cured of their kidney ailments, promptly and completely, always insist on Doan's Kidney Pills, the kind that cured Miss Dell C. Guertin, 108 Stanley Avenue, Ottawa, Ont.

Read her statement: "I have been in very poor health for the past two years previous to taking your pills."

"I suffered so much at times that I thought there could possibly be no cure for me, and I was greatly discouraged. I was unable to work and the pains were so severe that I thought I would be better dead; my appetite was poor and I could not sleep. Several physicians here said I had Bright's disease of the kidneys, and there was no hope for me.

"Doan's Kidney Pills, however, have given me a new lease of life. I am now able to work without fatigue, and have no pain. My appetite is splendid and I enjoy sound refreshing sleep.

"Many people here know of my wonderful restoration to health, and consider it a miracle. May great success go with Doan's Kidney Pills in their good work."

selves unable to tender you some mark of our respect during your second term of office. We therefore take this opportunity of assuring you that you have the confidence and esteem of every Mason in our city, and of extending to you our hearty congratulations upon the success which has attended the craft under your able leadership. We know that you have made large sacrifices for Masonry, sparing neither your time nor your means, and that you will carry with you, when your term is ended, the brotherly love and affection of every craftsman in the province.

"The recent fire, to which we have referred, has caused us serious loss and great inconvenience, and we must ask the indulgence of the members of grand lodge, if our arrangements for their reception and entertainment are not as elaborate or even as convenient as we would have wished them to be. We trust that the delegates may find comfortable and ample accommodation, and if this place of meeting is not all that might be desired, we can only regret that the fire which destroyed the lodge rooms also destroyed the Grand Opera House, which could better have accommodated so large a gathering.

"Since the last communication of grand lodge the empire has been engaged in one of the most serious wars of the century, now happily nearing a successful issue. Masons are loyal subjects, and many a craftsman from this province is now serving his Queen and country in South Africa in the Canadian contingents. We are proud to remember also that the two great British leaders in this campaign, Lord Roberts and Kitchener, and many of the other generals engaged, are active and influential members of the craft, and that in the midst of their most arduous duties in the field, they have found time to attend Masonic gatherings at Bloemfontein and elsewhere.

"We must congratulate the members of grand lodge upon the prompt and generous manner in which the grand lodge contributed to the relief of the sufferers from the great fire in Ottawa and Hull; the Masonic virtues of friendship, relief and brotherly love are thus proved to be active principles, and not merely empty forms of words. We trust that our stay in our city, with its beautiful parks and many other places of interest, may be enjoyable and pleasant to you, and that you will carry to your homes impressions of your visit which will ever be an agreeable reminder of a few days spent in our midst.

"We do not forget that you are assembled for business, rather than pleasure, and it is our sincere wish that every success may rest upon your present communication, and that your labors may be rewarded by the continual growth and prosperity of Masonry.

"May brotherly love prevail in your deliberations, and may all Masonic virtues be reflected in your actions.

"Signed on behalf of the brethren of London, R. A. Bayly, W. M. St. John's Lodge, No. 20; J. E. Adkins, W. M. St. George's Lodge, No. 42; B. Murray, W. M. Kilwinning Lodge, No. 64; J. J. W. McWhinney, W. M. The Tuscan Lodge, No. 195; C. Q. Morrow, W. M. St. John's Lodge, No. 209a; H. J. Childs, W. M. Corinthian Lodge, No. 330; John Kelly, W. M. King Solomon Lodge, No. 378; R. D. A. Hillier, W. M. Union Lodge, No. 380."

The grand master's address was a lengthy and exceedingly interesting one. After extending fraternal welcome to the delegates, and asking that wisdom and justice might guide all their actions, he proceeded to give a resume of his two years' stewardship, stating that no greater honor could be conferred on a man than the trust the brethren had placed in him during the past two years. He had been aided by loyal, zealous and enthusiastic deputies in every district in the province. The prosperity that now existed in the grand lodge was in no small measure due to these indefatigable workers. During the year grand lodge expended in charitable grants, $10,000, and the subordinate lodges expended for the same purpose $11,501.30, making a total of $21,501.30, without taking into account the local boards of relief; while large sums have been contributed by the lodges in aid of the Sick Children's Hospital, the patriotic fund, the Red Cross fund, and the Ottawa fire sufferers. The receipts during the year had exceeded those of any previous year, while the membership roll shows a net increase of 1,233, making the total membership of grand lodge 26,195.

The grand master then paid a tribute of love to the memory of a number of the brethren who had been claimed by death since their last meeting together. Two lodge rooms had been dedicated during the year, and a new lodge instituted at Sturgeon Falls, Ont. Mr. Malone then spoke of the laying of cornerstones, of public beneficent institutions, which he characterized as eminently a work of the craft. He considered it an honor to be invited to take part in the ceremonies, appearing before the public with reverend brethren who occupy leading positions in churches of all Christian denominations. He trusted on such occasions he would have been enabled to show the strong connection which existed between the church and the craft, between education and Freemasonry, and to brush away many doubts from the minds of those who misconceived the aims and purposes of the order.

During the year he had visited every section of the province, with the exception of the extreme north, and would retain in kind remembrance the courtesy and kindness extended to him on all occasions by the brethren. He had met with success in all lodges he had visited.

Continuing, the grand master said: "I have great faith in the influence of Masonry, not only on mankind in general, but on nations. The day has long passed when the visit of a grand master was the occasion of a carousal. In this jurisdiction the members expect to benefit, and have, I trust, benefited morally and intellectually from the visits of grand lodge officers. In this practical age our aim must be to demonstrate the practical utility of the institution to mankind. I am thoroughly in accord with the brother who, while glorifying the order and commending its teachings, yet lamented that upon some the lessons taught round our altar fail to make the impress designed upon his heart." He exclaimed: "We should advertise for men; men wanted. Give us men made in the image of their Creator, and Masonry will have no trouble in convincing the world of its good effects. Elevate the standard high; none but the worthy should find an entrance through our portals.

"I can, however, convey my ideas concerning the craft and our duties as craftsmen by culling with your permission, from the thoughts of others: 'Masonry is intensely religious, and its foundation principles are belief in God.'

"Masonry is love; love toward man, love for the beautiful, brotherly love, love for the good, the honest, the true."

"Masonry is not dollars and cents, neither has it selfish ends to attain; it is a field of action for those who seek to benefit his fellow man and cultivate his own highest nature."

"Masonry is only a means to the end of the highest development. Its true primary aim is to build up character, to cultivate manhood, and it is only by a firm adherence to this aim that we can hope to attain the great ultimate purposes of our organization. The parliament of men, the great council of the world, can never be realized except by a reliance upon individual character, just as you must look for the prosperity of a country in the prosperity of the individual citizen, for the purity of the home is the purity of the individual lives that cluster around the fireside. We would fraternize the world, but the growth must be from within, the development of the inner individual life. The secret of such development of individual character is not to be found in riches, in power, in pomp, fame or preferment. It is not to be found in mere profession of faith, in the mere adoption of the outward of a beautiful form of morals and precepts such as ours. It is to be found rather in the true conception and faithful performance of duty.

"Such mumbled words until letter perfect; we deliver ourselves of fine sentiments of brotherly love and chastity, pay our dues and attend lodge occasionally, then rest content, coddling ourselves the while with the notion that these good Masons, but we are not; more than that is required to make a good Mason. What are you doing in the active practice of charity out of the lodge? The true Masonic ideal is not to make you better than other people, but to make you better than yourself by leading you to the doing of good deeds for others. Have you helped some unfortunate on his way—someone less favored than you by the ever-shifting tides on life's uncertain sea? Have you helped some fallen sister neighbor to rise and see the light once more, or have you joined the pack at the first yelp to cry her down? Yes, these are the questions I know; they are easily spoken, easily heard, and still more easily forgotten, but they suggest the only true conception or interpretation of Masonic duty.

"Such thoughts as these will furnish a theme for grand lodge officers when paying official visits. Make your visit pleasant and instructive, so that the brethren will look forward with pleasure to your return.

The grand master then spoke of the unwarranted display in lodges of decorations and jewels not recognized in Craft Masonry. Decorations and titles not earned in craft duties were no evidence of ability, wisdom or integrity, and he condemned the distribution of "begging circulars" and "chain letters," issued for various purposes, and sent out to the brethren. In his opinion a greater grand was ever intended by the mind of mortal than the "chain letter."

On hearing of the dastardly attempt to take the life of the Prince of Wales, grand master of the grand lodge of England, he immediately caused a message of congratulation to be forwarded to him on his providential escape, to which a reply was received on the 4th of May last, conveying to the members of grand lodge his royal highness' warmest thanks for their kind and fraternal regards. He also caused the congratulations of this grand lodge to be forwarded to him on being proclaimed, on the 25th of April last, grand master of the grand lodge of England for the 26th time. He had given a great number of decisions during the year, the majority of which were governed by the constitution and the rulings of his predecessors.

Speaking of the burning of the Masonic Temple, the grand master said:

"We sympathize with our London brethren in their great loss in the destruction of the Masonic Temple by fire on the 23rd of February last. Nothing was saved from the devouring element. Even the charters of the lodges were destroyed. Great praise is due to the craft of the city for the energy and pluck displayed in securing without delay suitable meeting places, and obtaining the necessary furniture and paraphernalia for the work of the lodge. I directed the grand secretary to furnish duplicate charters to take the place of those destroyed. The splendid preparations made for grand lodge today is more striking when we consider that four months ago blackened walls, charred timbers and a mass of tangled wire was all that remained of the Masonic Temple." He also spoke of the terrible fire in Ottawa and Hull in April last, and stated that he forwarded a check immediately from the grand lodge for $2,000 for the relief of the sufferers.

The grand master then spoke of the war in South Africa, and the trouble in the east. He said:

"The closing years of the nineteenth century team with events of great importance to the nations of the earth. At the present time the allied powers are engaged in protecting the lives and property of our fellow citizens in China where barbarous deeds have been committed which have roused the whole civilized world. The motherland is foremost in this work, and can be depended upon to exercise that influence which will establish order, and obtain for her subjects the safety of life and freedom to carry on the work of the Master, unmolested and unhampered by the ignorant, meddling fanaticism of the East.

"To us in Canada the events of the year are of striking importance. Never before has the empire realized its strength and unity. The war in South Africa is the culmination of the struggle of the Boers against right, justice and truth. The foreigners who were

After Operation Fails We Cure Cancer

Sometimes people write and ask us if our treatment will cure them, even after they have been operated on and the operation has proved a failure. We say decidedly, YES, unless you are absolutely in the last stages of the disease; then all we can promise is considerable prolongation of life, comfort and ease from pain. But we have a number of cases on record where, after two and three operations have failed, our constitutional remedy has effected a cure. Full particulars sent on receipt of two stamps. SIX OILS.—The most conclusive testimony, repeatedly laid before the public in the columns of the daily press, proves that Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil—an absolutely pure combination of six of the finest remedial oils in existence—remedies rheumatic pains, eradicates afflictions of the throat and lungs, and cures piles, wounds, sores, lameness, tumors, burns and injuries of horses and cattle.

CAN RECOMMEND IT.—Mr. Enos Bornberry, Tuscarora, writes: "I am pleased to say that Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is all that you claim it to be, as we have been using it for years, both internally and externally, and have always received benefit from its use. It is our family medicine, and I take great pleasure in recommending it."

The Outlook.

The session of the Dominion Parliament, which has just been brought to a close, probably ends the parliament which was elected on June 23, 1896, though it is possible, if the Government so desires, to have another meeting before dissolution. Five sessions have been held, but one of these was not properly a session, but a continuance of the session of 1896, the late Government being unable to pass its estimates before the effluxion of time in which that Parliament could be kept sitting. It is very likely, therefore, that there will be a general election before another session, but the time for such a contest has not yet been made public.

This Parliament has had an eventful career. During its endurance, the Dominion has made vast strides forward in her young nationhood. Never in any former Parliament has Canada been so prosperous. Never before has her trade and commerce been so great. Never before has her trade with the Motherland reached the great proportions that it has now attained. Never in the same length of time have our new territories had so many good settlers placed upon their vacant soil. Never before have the people been so well employed or had better remuneration for the work which they have performed.

It may be said by some that the Administration of the day had comparatively little to do with this progress and prosperity. To that our reply is that when the Liberals were last in power they were accused of being responsible for the dullness in trade then existing, and the electors were asked by his opponents to defeat Hon. Alex. Mackenzie's government because it had failed to make the times good! Then it was held that a government should be defeated if times were bad. To be consistent, the opponents of the Administration should now be urging that this Administration should be sustained. For the times today are the best Canada has ever had, and it is conceded by all but hide-bound partisans that the lowered tariff, preferential trade with Great Britain, the establishment of the cold storage system, the removal of the restriction on our cattle sales to the United States, the progressive policy of developing our natural resources, which have all been carried out by the present Administration, along with postal and other reforms, have very materially added to the prosperity of the country.

With such a record, be the appeal made to the people, either within the next few months, or next year, there need be no misgivings. There will be no mandate given to the politicians whom Sir Mackenzie Bowell, in a moment of candor, dubbed "a nest of traitors." These discredited politicians will not be called upon to replace Sir Wilfrid Laurier and his colleagues, and to put in force the reactionary policy that brought the Dominion to the most unsatisfactory conditions that prevailed prior to 1896.

This is a new era of Canadian development, and there must be no standing still; no turning back of the hands of the clock that marks the progress of the Dominion. It is no time for a change, with all the unsettling conditions which the Tupper-Haggart-Montague faction threaten to set on foot. It is a time for steady, peaceful, energetic, economical progress, and the present Administration can be best trusted to maintain it, seeing they have given it its start.

Hysteria in Politics.

The Democratic party in the United States seems to be rapidly giving way to a sensational style which tends both to weaken their platform and lower the dignity of their conventions. The great sensation four years ago was the way in which W. J. Bryan, the silver-tongued orator of silver, carried everything before him. This time it is the setback given to Hill in the caucus and the reception of Webster Davis at the recent convention. This last addition to the Democratic party gave a speech that seems very much to have resembled a popular revivalist's address. It abounded in earnest exhortations and tender appeals. The speech was anti-expansionist and pro-Boer. It has attracted very little attention and caused no stir in England, but in the spot where it was delivered the people went wild. The new Democrat asserted his independence, as he had enjoyed under the Republicans better offices than they could give him; and he then went on to eulogize the platform, which he said was thoroughly American and preeminently just. It represented the true American mission, which is to give freedom to all men. Hence the need of opposing imperialism in America and Britain. Imperialism, it seems, means enslaving men and destroying the rights of free people. The oratory was of a coaxing, wooing kind, and so far as the particular audience was concerned, the orator won as well as wooed. The little flags fluttered all over the place, the cheers rolled in thundering volleys. Some were affected even unto tears. When "the effort" was over, men rushed to grasp the speaker's hand, some fell upon his neck and one delegation paraded him round the room. All this makes very sensational, spicy reading for the journals, but there seems to be something soft and mushy about it. The excitement does not seem to be real. There is a hollow ring about the whole business.

We do not think that great programmes are evolved or great movements carried out in this spirit. A little more solid deliberation, less underhand intrigue, and less of hysterical excitement, would make better politics.

Gruesome Political "Capital."

The Quebec Chronicle has been exhibiting in its window a portion of the rope by which Dube, the murderer of his paramour, was hanged.

The object is to stir up opposition to the Administration at Ottawa, because the Governor-General in council declined to interfere to save Dube's neck.

At one time we have the ministers hounded because a convict is reprieved, on the strong recommendation of the trial judge—a course invariably followed in Great Britain.

Now, they are trying to make political capital because a murderer, in whose case were no extenuating circumstances, is not reprieved.

In doing their duty, the Ministers, we suppose, must expect misrepresentation from an Opposition at its wit's end for material with which to manufacture political thunder; but it is most unseemly to drag the administration of justice and the action of the Crown, taken invariably on well understood principles, into the political arena.

A GENERAL MOVEMENT

Of General Roberts' Forces Said To Be Under Way.

Lieut. Borden, Son of the Minister of Militia, Killed in Action—Three Strathcona's Wounded.

London, July 17.—A special cable from Pretoria, dated July 16, says: A general movement of the troops is on the tapis. The column under Gen. Hamilton advanced to Dunderboom, west of Pretoria this morning, and drove the Boers from Pyramid Hills. The column bivouacked at Waterval. D Battery, of the second Canadian contingent, is with the force. Gen. French's cavalry advanced from the camp at Derdepoort, north of the town, and engaged the Boers, who retired. The enemy have several pieces of artillery. Gen. Hutton's mounted infantry division is at Bronchoest Spruit, some distance to the east of Pretoria.

BOERS FALL BACK.
A dispatch from Standerton, of yesterday's date, says that, as a result of desultory fighting for some days, the Boers are retiring gradually to the northeast before Gen. Clery's forces. The Boers have pom-poms and other high velocity guns.

STRATHCONA'S IN IT.
In the fighting referred to the British had these casualties: Two of Thompson's mounted infantry were wounded, two of Strathcona's Horse were wounded, and Major Sangmeister, of the Naval Volunteers, who were attached to Strathcona's Horse, was also wounded. Three members of Strathcona's Horse were captured.

Lieut. Borden Killed.

Ottawa, July 17.—The following telegram, received by His Excellency about 4 o'clock this afternoon, has caused heartfelt sympathy with the minister of militia:

"Pretoria, July 17.—To the Earl of Minto.—Regret to report Lieut. Borden killed in action yesterday. (Signed) Roberts."

Dr. Borden was sitting in the house when the telegram was received at the department of militia by Col. Pineault, deputy minister, who at once hurried over to the house and sent a page in for the premier, who had just replied to Dr. Sproule's inquiry about Col. Sam Hughes that he had no "official" information, and had crossed the floor to speak to Dr. Sproule.

The page delivered his message, and the premier left the chamber to be handed the telegram given above. Dr. Borden was summoned to the premier's room, and there the sad news was conveyed to him by the premier as gently and kindly as it was possible to impart it. The latter was an exceedingly heavy one, as Lieut. Borden was an only son, and a young man of unusually bright prospects. The minister at once left for his residence to inform his wife, who is young Borden's step-mother.

The deceased, Major Harold Borden, was 23 years of age, and was the only son of the minister of militia. He was a splendid specimen of humanity, standing 6 feet 2 inches in his stocking feet, and weighing 198 pounds. At the time he received his commission as Lieutenant in B Squadron, Second Mounted Rifles, Major Borden was a third year student in medicine in McGill University. Previous to that he studied at Mount Allison College, Sackville, N. B. He was commanding officer, with the rank of major, in the Kings County Hussars. Dr. and Mrs. Borden will leave at once for Canning, N. S., where their two daughters are. WELCOMED HOME.
Windsor, Ont., July 17.—Private V. E. Marentette, who was wounded at Paardeberg, arrived home at 2 o'clock this afternoon. He was received with cheers and enthusiastic greeting by friends. A large crowd met him at the station. He rode in a carriage with Col. Guillot, his father and brother. A reception was tendered him tonight. "Where do you come from?"
"Boston. I live with Mrs. Jones; but she's poor, and I want to do something to help her—and myself, too."
The farmer regarded him curiously.
"Now did you get here so early this morning?" Mr. Brown inquired.
"Walked. I got up before four o'clock."
"Had any breakfast?"
"Yes, sir."
But the boy hung his head and blushed now, ashamed to own how simple and insufficient his breakfast had really been, while the fumes of fragrant coffee, fried potatoes and other appetizing odors from the kitchen made his heart and stomach yearn as only a hungry boy's can.

Fitzgerald, Scandrett & Co
153 DUNDAS ST.

When he went up to the shanty, where the baskets were collected and packed into crates, to receive his money from Farmer Brown, and the sum was counted out to him, he flushed with pleasure and drew back.

"Please, sir, it does not all belong to me," he said. "I've had my breakfast and dinner, you know."
"Yes, and you're going to have some supper, too, my lad," returned the man, good-naturedly. "Take the money, child; you've earned it fast enough; that five mile walk was worth something, and you've done your work well besides. What do you say to staying through the season with me?"
The man had money, and the boy needed all day. He liked his looks and quiet ways, and felt much interest in him.

"May I?" cried Louis, eagerly. "How long will it be?"

"Four or five weeks. You could earn considerable in that time, at the rate you have worked today."
"But I should like to go home to-night and tell Aunt Mary about it. She would worry if I should stay away without letting her know where I was. I could come out early tomorrow morning again, though."

"Very well; we are going to send a team in tonight with a load of berries, so you can ride if you like."
The boy, of course, was glad that he had not those five long miles to walk again, for his legs and back ached with their unaccustomed labor that day, and his face shone with delight as he looked at the money, at the prospect of earning as much, if not more, every day for the next four or five weeks.

After supper he followed the men into the great barn, and made himself so useful there about the chores, while the market wagon was being loaded, that he won their good-will at the very outset.

Then the ride back into the city in the evening was delicious; but the best of all was telling kind Mrs. Jones of his day's experience, and then putting the money he had earned into the hard, red hand that had done so much for him for so many years.

"No, no, Louis; I can't take it. To think you should have walked five miles and then worked all day!" she said, brokenly.

"But I've lived on you long enough, Aunt Mary. I'm going to do something for myself now," Louis said, gravely.

"Bless the boy! Well, I'll take the money, but I don't begrudge what I've done for you. You can go to Mr. Brown's if you like; I don't doubt you'll fare far better than here, though I shall miss you, Louis," and she covertly brushed a regretful tear from her cheek as she gave her sanction to his project.

So the next morning early Louis trudged back to the farm, and felt himself almost a man to be "hired for the season" and to be able to support himself.

During the next five weeks he averaged fifty boxes a day, while every day, before breakfast and after supper, he made himself so useful about the farm that everybody pronounced him "a capital little fellow, so smart and useful."

Three mornings of the week he helped Sarah to churn, besides performing many other little services, which, of course, recommended him to her favor at once. Then he rinsed out the milk cans, helped to feed the horses and pigs, and drove the cows home from pasture every evening.

FIGHT IN MID-AIR

Two Men Struggle on a Roof 175 Feet High—Thrilling Scene.

Chicago, July 18.—The exciting spectacle of two men fighting fiercely 175 feet above the ground with a constant danger of being plunged to certain death below, was witnessed by a great crowd about the new Coliseum building.

While J. R. Howland was at work on the ground a brick from above grazed his head. Angered, he went to the roof, 175 feet above, and accused Richard Collins of dropping it. They soon began to fight. The roof is only 24 feet wide, and the men were separated by 20 degrees, the fight took place on the west side of the apex of the roof. Charles Wilson, the foreman, and several laborers arrived on the scene in time to seize the fighters as they were in imminent peril of falling together over the edge to waiting death. Howland was seriously injured.

ON THE HEIGHTS

The Scotch Societies of London and St. Thomas Picnic at the Port.

More Than Three Thousand Scotchmen Attend.

The Outing a Big Success—A Decrease in Attendance Caused by Weather—Programme of Races and Dances With Winners—Prominent Visitors—Banquet Ends the Day.

The annual outing of the sons of old Scotland at Port Stanley is invariably one of the happiest holidays of the year, because of the zest with which all the sports are contested and because of the good-fellowship that is met with on every side; and yesterday's picnic allowed of no change in this traditional opinion, for it was a decided success, even though gloomy clouds and wind and rain caused many a one to stay at home who otherwise would have been at the lake side. Even though the sky gave every promise of unpleasant weather, more than 3,000 of the Scotchmen of London and St. Thomas went to the Port and rubbed against tartans once more, and strove to restrain their joy as the sturdy pipers played and Scottish dancers danced. Until 4 o'clock nothing had happened so far as the day's pleasure. The sun shone brightly, but cool breezes allayed its heat, and all things tended to make the day enjoyable. The races had been run, and the dancing commenced when ominous rumblings and low-hanging clouds urged the spectators to seek shelter. The storm was very severe for some time, but it, too, had its good results; it brought people in touch with each other, who would not have met otherwise, and when the rain ceased falling the crowd was friendlier than ever.

The success of the picnic was the natural result of the industry and energy of the members of the managing committee, who had worked strenuously to assure a merry day. The programme of races and athletic contests, and the dancing, had been arranged carefully and was carried out with commendable precision. They had provided excellent music; the Seventh Band, which paraded the city streets prior to its departure for the Port, played the airs that are dear to all Scotchmen. To them, however, the strains of the pipes was particularly delightful and many a son of the heather was seen with hands or feet unconsciously keeping time to the pipes, lost in the memory of old times that were passed in the old land across the sea. The pipers' band consisted of Pipe Major George Angus, Thomas McDonald, James Falconer, Charles Alford and John Wilson of St. Thomas, who were accompanied by three drummers from the Seventh Band. They left the train at St. Thomas on the way down and roused the people there to what was the event of the day. This doubtless had its good effect, for St. Thomas was certainly well represented.

The races were started by Mr. J. W. Jones, and the judges were Messrs. Thomas A. Browne, Ald. Douglass, J. B. McKillop and R. A. Little. Mr. Ed. Reid judged the dancing. The winners were:

VERDICT OF SUICIDE

Coroner's Jury Say Wm. Bates Administered to Himself the Poison That Killed Him—Bates Said His Wife "Nagged" Him.

The jury in the adjourned Bates inquest last night brought in the following verdict: "That he came to his end by poisoning from paris green, presumably taken by his own hand, there being no evidence to connect any other person with the deed."

Mrs. Binkham, a neighbor, testified that she heard quarrelling at the Bates house on Friday morning. She heard Mrs. Bates screaming, then she saw Bates and his wife come out of the back door, the woman crying out: "It's paris green! It's paris green!"

William Service, also a neighbor, heard Mrs. Bates shouting something about "paris green" at her front door. Witness found Bates in an outhouse with a package in his right hand and a spoon in his left, with traces of paris green on his mustache. Bates said he was going to do away with himself.

Bates, followed by Service, then walked into his house, and told his wife that she was the cause of his doing as he did. She replied that he would not do as she told him. Service then followed Bates down town to the Market Square, where Service told a policeman to look after Bates, but Bates managed to elude pursuit.

Mrs. Smith, Thames street, said that Bates called on her house and told her he was all upset, because his wife had been "nagging" at him all morning. He said he had had no breakfast, and witness gave him a glass of milk.

Bates was sick, and Mrs. Smith called in some neighbors. The ambulance was summoned by ex-Ald. Heaman. To him Bates said he had not taken poison.

The jury then returned their verdict, as above.

band escorted him home in a coach. Last evening the citizens and the 53rd Battalion had a torchlight procession in honor of the Paardebergers' return.

Halifax, N. S., July 17.—An enthusiastic reception was given to Sergeant Aochurst and Pte. J. McNair, of the first Canadian contingent, who arrived here yesterday afternoon.

Cochaw, Ont., July 17.—A civic reception was tendered Lance-Corporal Norman Rae on his arrival home from South Africa. Rae was met at the station by the mayor and council, the clergy of the town, the boys' brigade, the fire brigade, the town band, and was escorted to his mother's home by them and ten thousand people. The town bells were ringing for three hours. The place went wild with delight.

Chief Twigg promptly arrested Gode-rich and placed him behind the bars, where he awaits his hearing.

CHANGE OF NAME.

By Act of Parliament, assented to June 14th, 1903, the name of

THE ONTARIO MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY

was changed to

THE MUTUAL LIFE ASSURANCE COMPANY OF CANADA.

As the only purely Mutual Life Company in Canada, and as its business extends from Ocean to Ocean, a more NATIONAL AND COMPREHENSIVE NAME was found desirable. Under the new name the management will aim to perpetuate and extend the SAME POPULAR FEATURES AND SOUND PRINCIPLES which have made the Company what it is today and to which the

Unprecedentedly profitable results to its policyholders are largely attributable. With the same hearty co-operation of our policyholders, and the same generous confidence of the assuring public, as accorded for the last 30 years, we believe "THESE RESULTS" WILL CONTINUE to be as satisfactory to policyholders in the future as they have been in the past.

Cochaw, Ont., July 17.—A civic reception was tendered Lance-Corporal Norman Rae on his arrival home from South Africa. Rae was met at the station by the mayor and council, the clergy of the town, the boys' brigade, the fire brigade, the town band, and was escorted to his mother's home by them and ten thousand people. The town bells were ringing for three hours. The place went wild with delight.

Chief Twigg promptly arrested Gode-rich and placed him behind the bars, where he awaits his hearing.
