"Not Only the Bar, but the Room Behind the Bar Must Go," Was the Statement of the Head of the Opposition in Ontario to the People of London and Western Ontario.

BETTER PROTECTION FOR WORKINGMEN BY A BETTER COMPENSATION ACT

Trek to the Cities From the Farms Must Be Dealt With---Control of the Corporations a Problem That Must Not Be Neglected.

"Abolition of the bar means not only the bar and the room behind the bar, but the entire abolition of the sale of liquor in the hotels of the province, and in dealing with the residue of the traffic every club license must go with every bar license."

In these words N. W. Rowell, leader of the Liberal Opposition in Ontario, threw down the gauntlet to the liquor forces, refuted the contentions of his critics, and set aside all doubt as to just what is contemplated by the Liberal policy. There were no "ifs," "ands" or "buts." Like Carthage of old, the bar must be destroyed.

Between two and three thousand people cheered the words of Mr. Richard Bayly, K.C., Mr. Duncan McMillan, K. C., and Mr. Tooley. Afthe speaker throughout the entire time of his speech, and the attention with which they hung upon his words was no less impressive half of the Opposition, and you see than the outbursts of applause which punctuated the telling got in the Opposition very early in life

When in conclusion the candidate appealed to his audience For the sake of home and wife and children to unite today in this holy crusade for the abolition of the bar," old men rose to their feet and shouted with the enthusiasm of boys let loose from school.

Cries of "You're all right," and "Best I ever heard" were heard everywhere, while scores who had known Mr. Rowell in his boyhood days in London Township crowded round to shake his hand.

LEGISLATION FOR THE WORKINGMAN.

Mr. Rowell's speech was not exclusively a denunciation of the bar. As the leading issue the greater part of his remarks were devoted to it and its leading issue the greater part of his remarks were devoted to it and its accompanying evils. But he also found time to touch upon the question of art of gentle courtesy in conducting public affairs"—(laughter)—and I am better protection for the workingman, the problem of rural population, taxation reform, and the regulation of corporate wealth. An adequate workmen's compensation law he declared to be one of the first needs of the province.

The importance of doing everything possible for the support of the farmers of the province was another point which he strongly emphasized; Northern the prime minister (Applement) Ontario was not slighted; and the problem of securing better instruction in the public schools came in for its share of attention. Altogether it was one of the most notable efforts ever delivered from a London platform, and Conservatives as well as Liberals, conceded the strength of the arguments brought form so many of my colleagues in the forward by the reform champion. Yesterday was a red letter day in Ontario

THE LEADER ARRIVES.

Mr. Rowell, escorted by the London Pipers and First Hussars Band, arrived at Queen's Park shortly before 3 o'clock, where a large and enthusiastic Liberal party of the province now than audience was already waiting in the grandstand. On rising to speak Mr. Rowell was received with great applause. He said: "Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen: I need hardly say that it is a men: I need hardly say that it is a very great pleasure to me to visit my old home and my old friends of the City of London and County of Middlesex. No matter what changes may come to us in after years, there are no friendships like the friendships of youth; there are no associations like the associations of one's old home, and there is no place that one's heart goes back to with such affection as the place back to with such affection as the place of one's childhood and early youth. It is with feelings of deep emotion that I come back to the City of London, and in my home city and my home county start this campaign which will not end until every licensed bar is closed in the Province of Ontario. It is not only the home of my youth and my early years, but it was in the provincial elec-tion of the year 1890, when your good citizen, and my friend, Mr. T. H. Purdom, contested the riding of East Middlesex against Mr. Tooley, that I first commenced to take part in the discussion of public affairs.

First Political Meeting. "I remember the very first political meeting I ever addressed was at the little hall on the other side of Clark's Bridge-a Liberal meeting held in the interests of Mr. Purdom on Saturday evening, and on Monday night, a meeting was announced in the interests of

So you see had my baptism of fire right at the very start, and since then I have taken more or less interest in public affairs as affecting the interests of the people of this province, and perhaps it is that early experience that I had, and the experiences that have come to me since, that enable me to bear with a tolerable degree of equanimity some of the things that my good friend the Preprovince ask me to abolish the bar as premier of this province, I will have sufficiently learned it to be able to re-

Thousands See Famous Dirigible Fall Into Ocean at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 2.-While three thousand spectators stood too startled to utter a single sound, the big dirigible balloon Akron was shattered by the explosion of the gas bag and blown to atoms at 6:38 this morning, a half mile off shore over Absecon Inlet. "Then the next paragraph policy is this, 'Such other restric-tions upon the residue of the liquor traffic as experience may show to be necessary, to limit its operation, and effectively to remedy its evils." The residue of the liquor traffic consists of the club and shop license. are 53 club licenses in this province at the present time, as against 1,500 hotel licenses, so relatively one is small as compared with the other. A num-ber of these clubs are simply drinking resorts without inspection, without hours of sale, admittedly just as bad as the bar in their evil interest, some say worse, a number of them are not of that character, a number of them haven't associated with them the evils that the others have, but I can draw no distinction between one and the other when we come to legislation, and in dealing with the residue of the traffic every club license must go with every bar license. (Great applause.) Just of interest in passing, there were no club licenses in this province until the present Government came into power—(applause)—and there shall be no club licenses the moment they go out of power. (Applause.) Enforce the Law. "The next paragraph in our policy is this: "The strict enforcement of the law by officials in sympathy with law enforcement, and the elimination of political influence from the administra-tion of the law.' Everyone recognizes that to secure the proper enforcement of the law you must have officials in sympathy with it, and I want to say without hesitation, that wherever in this province the present Government officials are in sympathy with law en-forcement of local option, you have reasonably good enforcement, and the results are usually satisfactory under the system so far as it deals with the question; but where the efficials are not in sympathy, as I am sorry to say the case in certain sections of the province, you have laxity of enforcement and frequent violation of the law and dissatisfaction with the results. pledge myself and our party to strict enforcement of the law by officials in sympathy with law enforcement. (Great applause.)

No Political Influence.

"Then the next is the elimination of political influence from the administration of the law. Sir James Whitney, when leader of the Opposition, made that one of the important points in his He stated that the old Liberal administration permitted political considerations to influence law enforcement, and when he came into power he would immediately eliminate these po-litical considerations—he would remove political considerations from the enforcement of the law. He has been in office from the spring of 1895 down to produce the best results for the whole this hour, and yet the boards of license people, that legislation will be forthcommissioners and license inspectors are appointed in the same old way, and he initiated his great reform by dis-missing all the old Liberal office-holders and appointing Conservative officeholders in their places.

"We propose eliminating political considerations, and we want to say this, that I do not believe it is in the interest of any political party to have itself mixed up with the administration of the liquor law, and I want say further that I am pertectly sure i is not in the public interest that po-litical considerations should be mixed up in the administration of the law. I am further convinced that it is not in the interest of the cause of temperance or moral reform that such should be the case. (Cheers.)

Conditions in Toronto. "I do not know what your conditions are in the city of London, or in this part of the country. I do know what the conditions are in the city of Toronto, and I know that within a year after the Government of Sir James Whitney came into power, the board of the matter.

"Now, ladies and gentlemen, I want "Now, ladies and gentlemen, I want the same than the same than the same than the same than the same that the same than the sam license commissioners he had first appointed—a thoroughly upright, inde-pendent, straightforward board — resigned their positions as a protest against political interference in the enagainst political interference in the en-forcement of the law, which they said the bar? Then the fourth plank in our platform is: Regulation and inspection of all houses of public entertainment so as to insure reasonable accommodation for the travelling public.

"We are told that where you have local option in some localities of the province, you have not as good hotel accommodation as they had heretofore. I am not going to enter into a discusaccommodation as they had heretofore.

I am not going to enter into a discussion of that. I am going to say that

That is the situation as we look into it, and that, I believe, is the characteristics of the whole country. What is the effect of that? One of the What is the effect of that? Money Over the Bars. "I have tried as best I could to obtain an estimate of the money that is paid over the bars in the city of Toronto during the year, and I know I am within a conservative estimate when I say that over four million dollars goes annually over the 110 bars in the city of Toronto into the coffers of the hetelkeepers. I believe five millions would be nearer the amount than four? am sure it is over four millions. What does that mean? What would it mean to the merchant of the city of Toronto if it was paid over for goods to better provide for the home comforts, for clothing for the wife and children, and for those necessaries of life that go to improve the condition of the family and make them more comfortable and better fit them for citizenship in this (Cheers.)

Product of the Bar.

"Let me mention another matter.

What is the character of the product that the bar turns out? Now. if you test the efficiency of any social institution by its results, I am quite surryou apply a fair test. 'By their fruits, ye shall know them' was true in oldentimes and it is true today. Any social province of ours? times, and it is true today. Any social institution that deserves to exist must be able to give proof by the results it produces in the community. We have our churches in order that they may appeal to the highest and best in every man to enhoble and uplift. We have our schools that they may cultivate the intellect of the youth of the land and qualify them for citizenship. We have all our organizations of social reform and societies to help upward and on-ward in the journey of life. Who can tell me where there is a bar in this province which has helped men onward and upward in the journey of life? (Applause.) The bar thrives upon the weakness and upon the miserv and the degradation of humanity, to the bar as his main source of rev- and any such institution is the greatest foe of social reform we can have in enue. If you once and forever, by est foe of social one stroke of legislation, separate the the community

Wipe Out Bar. "That being the condition of the bar, what are the public considerations that demand its removal? Let me mention first the one I have already indicated, and that is this: the existence of the licensed bar in our midst is other cause. (Applause.) I want to say about that, that I have no quarrel a standing menace to the whole cause of social reform which today is stirring the hearts, not only of the people of this country, but of all progressive countries of the world. Instead of tending to uplift social conditions, it throughout the Province of Ontario and tends to strike down and degrade. Just let me trouble you by referring to one or two facts in connection with that. First, we all know the relation of the liquor traffic to crime. It is, of course, not possible to speak with absolute accuracy, and say that any given per cent. of crime has necessarproduced directly by the iquor traffic. We can only estimate by ily been the best figures available, and by the judgment of the wisest men who have looked into it. Sir Oliver Mowat, when prime minister of this province, gave it as his candid opinion that 75 cause the bar is attached to his business. Remove the bar and you remove cent. of the crime of the province was produced directly or indirectly by the liquor traffic. In a report made some years ago of an investigation into the conditions of the relation of the liquor to abolish the bar, you establish the status of every hotelkeeper in the province, and put him on the same me in the state of Massachusetts, where they went into the basis with every other man of the thing with the greatest possible care, (Applause.) And while I they arrived at practically the same re-

In our annual report of the inspector of prisons, he points out that does not say 75 per cent. of the crimes committed were due to the use of srong drink, but 75 per cent. were addicted to it, and directly or indirectly t undoubtedly caused the majority of these commitments.

The Prison Farms.

"We are all interested in the experiment now being tried by the honorable the provincial secretary, in the prison farm at Guelph. What is that experiment? He is seeking to demonstrate, if it be possible, that the man once a criminal, may be reformed by sympathetic treatment, by giving him a kindly helping hand in the process of reform—(applause)—and so this proreform—(applause)—and so this pro-vince is spending thousands of dollars o see if we can reform the criminal after he has fallen and become addicted to criminal habits. I want to suggest that there is one reform away back of that. Why not put a stop to the cause that has sent 75 per cent. into prison. (Applause.) Don't you think the boy who has never worn a prisen garb or become poluted with the associations of prison life, is better worth saving than the man who has become a criminal, and while we view with every sympathy the experiment now being carried on, and we hope and trust it will prove a splendid success, we say better to turn off the tap which supplies the criminal than spend so much of our energy in reforming them after they have made criminals. Asylums Overcrowded. "At the present time the asylums of this province are vastly overcrowded, and at the present time this province is spending hundreds of thousands of dollars to build new institutions to provide accommodation for those who are mentally indisposed. The best information I have been able to gather from statistics collected in the United States and Canada is this: That the liquor licenses, and the greater includes the less, and with them goes the treating traffic is the cause of not less 25 per cent. of the mentally defective. Our friend, Mr. Hannah, is trying only effective method of dealing with mest interesting experiment in con-nection with the new asylum down at to discuss with you for a few minutes, after outlining our policy, what are the characteristics of the bar? Why Whitby, and I want to suggest that he should put a stop to the traffic that is driving men and women insane.

"Then the third is poverty. nately we live in such a land of plenty that we do not see it in its graves form. But even in our land, and in the United States, where it exists, our own observation tells us it is largely induced by the parties being addicted to strong drink. The same Massachusetts report, to which I have referred showed that of the adult inmates public charitable institutions, in that state, 75.46 per cent. were addicted to the use of strong drink. We helleve that everything should be done to remove poverty, and let us start in by stopping one of the main causes that nduce poverty in a country such as this. (Applause.)

An Awful Legacy. "I want to suggest to you that more serious in its results than crime or insanity and the poverty produced is the legacy that the drunkard mands my experience and observation and information all lead me to this conclusion, that where the hotelkeeper devotes himself primarily to his real work of keeping hotel, and providing public necommodation, he caters to the public of the public necommodation, he caters to the public of them. I took Saturday afternooms, for my visit, and I found from 150 to 200 but if his main source of zevenue is people in some of them, and I believe delivered before the Medical Association and the base of public opinion, is knowledge which lies at the base of public opinion that will crystallize down to the children that converted the full force of the public opinion into action, but once you have reached that condition it is the commencing to realize the full force of them. I took Saturday afternooms, for them is not the children that passes bounded duce the conviction must produce the legacy that the drunkard thanks the legacy that the drunkard thanks and the legacy that the drunkard thanks are the legacy that

STORE CLOSES AT 5 O'CLOCK DURING JULY AND AUGUST.

July Sales---The Month's Events

It would be impossible for us to tell you now all that will happen during the month of July. We are always planning for the future, not merely plodding along, but the selling co-operation which this store has formed with the manufacturers through the ability to handle large quantities, brings fresh items from week to week of which it is impossible to forecast, particularly at this season when manufacturers are forced to dispose of all stocks of the season at hand, for which a ready outlet is always found through this store, if the merchandise is up to the Smallman & Ingram standard, and the price down to the quick clearing level. Quantities are secondary when goods and prices are right. Watch carefully this space and visit the store regularly, as many stock clearings will be found on sale tables in quantities too small to advertise.

July Sale Linens and Cottons

Today, as announced in yesterday's paper, we begin a great sale of Linens and Cottons. in preparation for which this section has been enlarged to about double size, extending down west aisle to elevators, to give ample room for the display and sale of the great purchases made for this event. We will refer you to yesterday's papers for the opening specials. More have been prepared to follow from day to day. Save money now on your household supplies, TABLE LINENS, TOWELS, COTTONS, SHEET-INGS, etc. Sheets and Pillow Slips ready to use.

Sale of Room Rugs and Carpets CONTINUES.

ONE-THIRD OFF. People have come from distant towns for these. Our prices at all times are possibly lower than are to be had elsewhere, owing to the fact that all Rugs and Carpets are shipped to us direct from the mills and marked to sell at one price only—the rule which has always been strictly adhered to by this store; besides, no stocks are allowed to accumulate here; therefore, the designs offered in this sale are modern and colorings new, which is the more appreciated when prices are lowered a

Every Ladies' Parasol at Lower Prices Today 89c, $1.39, $1.79, $2.29, $2.69, $3.19, $3.59 and $4.49, for Quick Clearance of All Lines

Everything both in Fancy Parasols and Black Mourning Parasols as well, all are reduced for quick clearance. We have had a big season's business already in this line, yet, owing to the cool season up to the present time, many odd lots are here that otherwise would have been cleared out entirely. Every woman knows now if she wants a new Parasol, and if you do, now is the time to buy. Reduced prices with the full summer ahead is surely some inducement, even to buy with another summer in view. A full range of colorings will be found-looks almost like an unbroken stock, including red, green, navy, mauve, tan, brown, alice blue, pink, sky, cerise and gray, also black and white; pretty designs in Dresdens and stripe effects, also plain colorings. Scarcely two alike, giving a great variety to choose from. On sale today at above prices. 89¢ to $4.49

If it has these results, and no man will challenge these results, no man can truthfully challenge these results, it is our duty to do everything in our power by education and legislation, to seak remedy these great evils for the good of humanity. I desire to say right here, let no one misunderstand. I not believe everything can be effected by legislation. You cannot cease education, let education and legislation go hand in hand. REAL ESTATE FOR SALE BIRDMAN FAILED TO PUT IN AN APPEARANCE

Thousands of People Who Visited Ingersoll, However, Enjoyed a Fine Programme.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ingersoll, July 2 .- Thousands of holfday visitors took possession of Ingersoll yesterday. Weather and crowds combined to make the celebration conducted by the Caledonia Society as successful as its predecessors, and satisfaction would have been general but for the non-appearance of the birdman, fea-tured as the chief attraction of the day. For some reason, which remains to be explained, the birdman failed to reach Ingersoll, although it is understood that a representative of the Morok Aero-plane Company, of New York, the company with whom arrangements were made, had an aviator at Chatham. Hundreds of people from far and near gathered to see the two flights advertised, and it was with the greatest reluctance that the society made the an-nouncement late in the forenoon that the contract had been broken. Apart from his regrettable feature the day was well taken up.

In the afternoon a grand parade was held to the park, some eight hundred school children marching and carrying flags. At the park the children sang patriotic songs and gave recitations.

Woodstock Won.

One of the big attractions of the after, noon was a baseball game between the Woodstocks, of the Baby City, and picked team from Ingersoll, the visitors winning by a score of 14 to 5. In addition to the ball games, there were Scotch dancing and keenly-contested athletiq events.

The day's programme was concluded at the Mason arena, where prizes were distributed to the winners during the day, and a concert, furnished by the Woodstock band. In spite of some minor exceptions, like cyclone at Merritton, and one in this only last year, it seemed that the prayer of the Litany for deliverance "from lightning and tempest, from plague, pestilence and famine, from battle and murder, and from sudden death," had been signally granted in the case of Canada. Our country seemed a thing that could not feel the touch of those destroying tornadoes which range the American states westward from the Mississippi River. Straying from this habitat, however, a cyclone of unusual virulence has visited our own prairie. The calamity should call forth the active sympathies of all Canadians. There may be need of a helping hand and if men gave liberally for the San Francisco sufferers, for the Chinese famine, the Titanic affair or the overthrow of Messina, Canadians will not be found wanting in such generous assistance as may be needed by fellow-citizens at

ONTARIO AND THE HOUSE OF COMMONS.

A western contemporary reminds Ontario that she may have to contemplate the approach of a time when her representation at Ottawa will not exceed that of Quebec. That time will come only if Ontario fails to realize her opportunities. The decline of 52,-000 in her rural population between 1901 and 1911 explains the loss of four seats in the House of Commons which Ontario will suffer in the next Parliament. Industrially, Ontario can hold her own. The population of her cities and towns has grown as rapidly in the past decade as the urban population in Quebec, in spite of the higher birth rate there. Agriculturally also, Ontario is superior to Quebec, and capable of sustaining a far larger number of people on the soil. The provinces will be represented in the next House as follows, compared with their present representation:

Famous Pastor -Vs. Famous Pagan

[By Special Arrangement With the Winnipeg Telegram.]

When Greek meets Greek, ther comes the tug-of-war. Rev. R. J. Campbell, of London, England, has run full tilt against George Bernard Shaw, dramatist, egotist, socialist, pagan. Mr. Campbell sympathizes with Shaw in some of his extravagances, for the famous preacher of the City Temple hates to be imprisoned within the fetters of any ecclesiastical or social creed. It is particularly interesting, then, to behold one apostle of liberty go after another apostle of free thought. Mr. Campbell made his attack upon his fellow-socialist in a sermon which dealt with this theme, "Jesus and the Life-Force." He quoted Mr. Shaw's play, "The Superman," to show that the dramatist believed in a "Death-Force." The passage that he held up as containing the Shavian creed was the following:

"Life is a force which has made innumerable experimests in organiz-ing itself. The mammoth and the man, the mouse and the megatherium, the flies and the fleas, and the fathers of the church, are all more or less successful attempts to build up that raw force into higher and higher individuals, the ideal individual being omnipotent, omniscient, infallible, and withal completely, undeludedly self-conscious; in short, a god."

Criticising this belief of Mr. Shaw in an impersonal, blind force at work in the universe, Mr. Campbell says: "This Life-Force is ever trying to do bigger have come up to his standards. things-or, rather, to do better things, to find fuller and ampler modes of expressing itself, just as an artist is continually striving to paint better pictures, and a musical composer to produce grander symphonies. But unlike artist and composer, the Life-Force ally. There's something restful about has no intelligence; it does not know what it is doing; it only acts so begame, particularly if you happen to get into a crowded seat. He has the cause it must in obedience to its own And therefore it fumbles, until through prodigal waste of material and countless failures it achieves forms many a quagmire, wastes its flow in many a useless side-track, and in the feeding of coarse, rank vegetation, ere at length it forces its way through, and, joined by other streams, acting in obedience to the same law of their being, passes onward in fuller, broader current to mingle its waters with the ocean, and then begin the same process all over again."

In contrast to this Life-Force, which he thinks Mr. Shaw would do better to call the Death-Force, this unwitting, blind, cruel, purposeless, impersonal something behind and through all things, Mr. Campbell calls the dramatist's attention to the teaching of the lived on the super-personal scale, actuated by super-personal motives." "Jesus gave no philosophic system," says Mr. Campbell, "but he said there was indeed a Life-Force, a force upon which men are dependent even to do wrong, namely, the will of God, whose nature is leve. Jesus never explained why this intelligent Life-Force has taken so many grotesque and terrible Marys citizens are residing there. Up forms in the course of its earthly history, but he maintained that the apparent waste of nature was no waste, nor was it due to divine indifference. 'Not a sparrow falleth to the ground without your father.' Presumably the form matters little, the life matters much." In this way Mr. Campbell comes to the conclusion that suffering is the clue to the upward ascent of man, that the far-off divine event, the ultimate purpose of God is the justification for all the sorrow of earth, and that because he fulfilled in himself the highest beauty of sacrifice Christ is the goal of all the race, the divine super-man. We may be sure that the indomitable Mr. Shaw will not allow legiate institute board three new Mr. Campbell to go without an answer, but it does seem to me that Mr. Shaw's conception of God as a blind, unknowing, creeping force is altogether repugnant to human reason.

Annual Outing Was Attended By a Crowd That Taxed All Facilities.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Seaforth, July 1.—The first annual school children's rally at Recreation Park was the biggest and most suc-cessful event held in Seaforth for many years, the immense crowd of parents and school children from town and surrounding country having the best time of their lives. The day was all that could be desired.

Some idea of the number present may be had from the fact that the checking be nad from the late that the bear had been and from the late the bask tess shortly after opening up and in addition to the barrels of lemonade and bollers of coffee which the board supports of the plied free the crowd drank fifteen barrels of water.

Work Tables

The following good advice about work tables is given to housekeepers in the current issue of Farm and Fireside:
"Study to get your work tables and sinks just the right height. They will, of course, differ according to the height of the worker. "Too high a table causes a constant strain upon the arms and shoulders. Too low a one causes stooping and a tired orite table is thirty-two and one-half inches high. On this I can roll out pasinches high. On this I can roll out pastry and do similar work without stooping, and in consequence get much less tired than when my work is lower down. "About an inch lower is my favorite neight for an ironing board. "A low stove is wearying if it must be used much every day. And a washing can be done much easier if a higher bench than common is used for the rub-

Veiling Effects

Most women make the mistake of buyng veils in a haphazard manner. A great deal depends upon the veil, for it has the power of enhancing or marring the beauty of the face to a certain extent.

Ample time should be given over to the selection. The veil may be of the newest pattern and perfect in quality and texture, and if worn by the wrong

Sash Styles

Although suede belts have been gradually growing narrower, the waistband on many of the newest gowns in Paris resembles a folded sash rather than a belt. In the case of dresses of fine and soft material, the waist is defined by a somewhat broad band of the fabric or of silk in the same color. Although the two ends are often folded over, somewhat after the fashion with which a French abbe secures the sash of his soutane, the broad ceinture is sometimes finished with a short bow with short ends, a simple knot, or a flat oblong buckle.

FOR LONDON RACES

Biggest Entry List in Years Promises Great Racing Next Week.

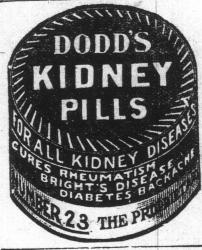

London will be the Mecca of trotting horse men next week, when a four-days' racing programme will be given by the London Trotting and Pacing Association. The sport is always good in this city. but the coming meet promises to eclipse anything ever given by the local assoclation.

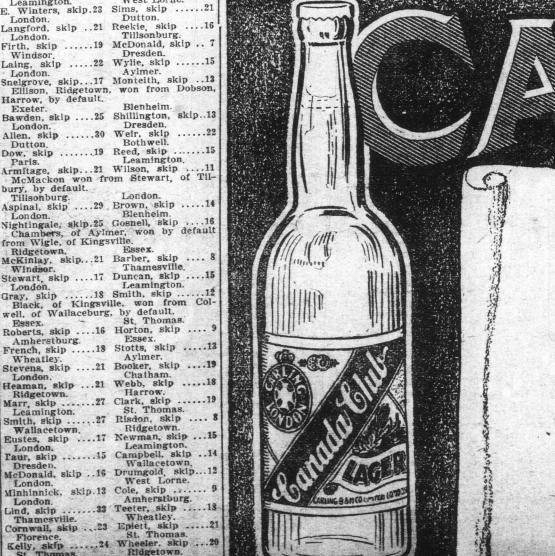

The entry list is very large; all the fast nags now going down the Canadian circuit together with a number of others, having entered. Every class will be filled, and every heat will be a contest. The stake races have all the fast horses in them, and it is expected that some of the wigglers will pace close to 2:10 on this track.

Mr. A. H. Brener, the secretary, is arranging for the best horses in Canada to be present, and the present indications are that he will succeed.

Everybody will be at the races on July 9, 10, 11 and 12

BIG KILLING MADE AT FORT ERIE TRACK

George Eno, Sprang a Surprise by Winning the Sixth Race -

Other Results.

Buffalo, July 1.—The biggest killing put over this season on the Canadian circuit was made at Fort Erie this afternoon, when the maiden, George Eno, won the sixth race, a dash of six furlongs for three-year-olds. The coup was well planned and managed, and the ring was given a scorching that it will remember for some time. George Eno is owned or rather runs in the name of G. E. Gray, a Torontonian, but Willie Shields, of Hermis fame, is really the man behind the gun. There was a steady play on the horse, and he was backed from 60 to 1 to 25 to 1 at post time.

First race, for 2-year-olds, foaled in Canada—Ondramida, 97, won: Battle Song, 97, second; Vale of Avoca, 104, third. Time, :55 1-5.

ESecond race, steeplechase, short course—Luckola, 145, won: Thistledale, 146, second; Newcomer, 138, third. Time, 4:01 1-5.

Third race, 2-year-olds, 5 furlongs—Benanet, 99, won: Little Jupiter, 105, second: Flabergast, 109, third. Time, 1:01 4-5.

Fourth race, 1 mile and 70 yards— Other Results.

Benanet, 99, won; Little second: Flabergast, 109, third. Time, 1:01 4-5.
Fourth race, 1 mile and 70 yards—Mediator, 103, won: Col. Ashmeade, 106, second: Blackford, 106, third. Time, 1:44.
Fifth race, for 3-year-olds 1 mile—Mission, 107, won; Star Jessamlne, 102, second: Hamilton, 107, third. Time, 1:40, 2.5. Second: Hamiton, 1240 3-5.

Sixth race, for 3-year-olds, 6 furlongs Sixth race, 109, won: Congressman James, 112, second: McCreary, 108, third. Time, 1:13 3-5.

Convents race, 14 miles—Ozana, 112. Seventh race, 11/4 miles—Ozana, 112, won: Lord Elam. 107, second; Busy, 105, third. Time, 1:51.

ST. THOMAS RACES WERE WELL ATTENDED

Ritchie Weakened in 2:10 Pacing Stake, and Hal D. Won Out.

St. Thomas, July 1.—A large crowd attended the first day of the Canadian cirsuit races at St. Thomas. Ritchie, the Canadian horse which has been driven in many hard races lately, took the first two heats of the 2:10 pacing stake, and then weakened, Hay D. getting the race, and Bushnell King, driven by Nat Ray, a close second.

In the 2:17 trot Ormat had the race apparently won, but in the third heat threw a shoe and was distanced, Dr. Wilkie winning. Summary: Stake, and Hal D. Won Out. Health Renewed HERE IS MORE PROOF OF QUICK

BOTH SAY IT IS A CINCH.

BOTH SAY IT IS A CINCH.

By Jack Johnson.

"I don't look for the fight to go over 10 rounds. I am confident I will win via the knockout route inside of that limit. I am figuring Flynn a bigger and better man than he was in 1907 when I stopped him in 11 rounds. Just the same Lh' Artha is going to win, and just about as quickly. Then, Langford and the rest of them until Labor Day, when the champion will retire."

By Jim Flynn.

"I have said all along that I would knock the big smoke stiff on the Fourth. My friends need not do any worrying. The fight is "in" now and the championship is coming back where it belongsto the keeping of the white race."

"Johnson in the seventeenth round. That is how I pick the big fight. It should be the best heavyweight battle staged in the past 10 years; in fact, the best battle between the big fellows since the days of the fighting under the Horton law in New York when Jeff, Fitz. Sharkey and the rest of the old heroes were in their prime."

By Al Williams, Flynn's Chief Sparring Partner.

"Flynn is in wonderful condition; confident as to the result, and I will be badly fooled if he looses. I was with Jim when he whipped Kaufman and he is easily 50 per cent better fighter."

By Jack Curley, Manager of Jim Flynn.

"Flynn, I sm sure, is going to make good his beast and knock Johnson stiff. I have handled a lot of famous fighters and wrestlers, but was never associated with one that had as much confidence as the Peubloan. He states that he cannot lose, and I am equally as confident."

At that moment the clicking of a key ealled Lieutenant Foray away.
"Excuse me," he said, stepping quickly to his table.

Miss Mitford, who had never before been in a telegraph office, was very much mystified by the peremptory manner in which the officer had cut her short, but she had nothing to do but wait. Presently the message was transcribed, and "another messenger was called.

Summer cooking with comfort

TO need to stew your life out over a coal range during the hot weather. Gas is a much cheaper cooking fuel than coal, and far more convenient in the summer time. Why fatigue yourself and make the house uncomfortable for the whole family when you can save money by cooking with gas. Any "McClary" Gas Range will pay for itself in a very short time by the actual cash it saves, not to say anything about its handiness.

The Model shown in the cut is a handsome Gas Range - "Mc-Clary's" 1912 Modeland considered the biggest range value on the market. You will see at a glance that the convenience and comfort of the housekeeper has been considered by the designers and makers. The Ovens are elevated - just conveniently high-so that there is no "stooping or bending" when cooking with this range.

This Model like other McClary Ranges has the bright black enamel finish-white enamelled broiler and drip pan-Ovens just the right size with proper flue construction. Also Anti-Rust linings and plain smooth nickelled finish.

Better see the McClary dealer and ask him to tell you the reasons why you should buy a McClary gas range. He will explain the exclusive features of the range suitable for your kitchen without placing you under any obligation to buy. All we want you to do is to make perfectly certain that the Gas Range you buy will pay for itself very

It was a struggle for the rights of the people as against privilege and privileged interests and lasses; that with this struggle liberty came the struggle of equality of opportunity for all men. The greatest victories of Liberalism during the p st century were necessarily along the lines of constitutional reform. They had to ure the right of government by the before they could securely esablish government for the people. The Liberal party was not indifferent to imperial and international relationships, but imperial and international aspirations were not controlling motives in determining its policy. The elfare of the masses is the ideal that animates and inspires Liberalism Freat Britain today. "It may fairly be stated that what-ever else Liberalism in Great Britain stands for, above all it has stood and stands for enlarging the liberties of the masses of the people and increasing their opportunities for moral, social and industrial betterment. It is the urgent aim of present-day Liberalism am quite aware that there are some to secure for the people social and of our Liberal friends who feel that onomic 'conditions under which mind economic conditions under which mind and character may have free and fair opportunity of developing themselves,' and 'the normal man, who is not de-fective in mind, body or will, can by useful labor feed, house and clothe himself and his family.' great constitutional reforms:

"1. Responsible government. "2. Representation by population.
"3. The extension of the franchise. "4. Vote by ballot. Disendewment of what was practically a state church, commonly called the secularization of the clergy serves,' and putting upon an equality all religious denominations.

form has been largely won. We have ecured the right of Government by he people.' The governing classes are no longer the few but the many. Effect of Liberalism.

"Liberal principles have also largely modified the character and policy of the Conservative party in this country. There are in the Conservative party number of men, no doubt, who hold the Liberal view on many questions and yet vote with their party, and their presence and influence has doubtless resulted in the Conservative party sometimes adopting the Liberal on public questions. It is equally true that there are some men in the Liberal party who hold the Conservative point of view on various questions, and yet still vote with their party, and their presence, no doubt, has on some issues, made the Liberal party more conservative in its attitude than it otherwise vould have been. It is also true that ong tenure in office tends to make a iebral Government more Conservative while long tenure in opposition tends to make a Conservative opposition nore Liberal. But after making all llowances, Conservative correctly describes the general attitude and policy of the one party, and Liberal the general attitude and policy of the other.

of the most vital principles of responsible self-government, viz., the absolute control of the Legislature over the expenditure of public money. Liberalism in the past fought some of its greatest battles to win this right for the representatives of the people. Apparently in this province we must fight this battle over again, but the victory will be sure! These triumphs of the past inknown and a corre-should but put us in this province, as on experience, rather c reasoning.'

Severeignty of the People.

"If we are true to Liberal principles and traditions, we must insure that the Government shall be not only in name, but in reality, 'by the people and for the people.' Liberalism believes in sovereignty of the people Cheers.) She has secured for democracy the right to rule, but the success of this rule depends upon the people accepting their full share of responsibility in the work of government. The engrossment of business, the pur suit of pleasure, or indifference to pub-lic affairs, lead many to forget that every citizen owes a duty to his country just as truly as he does to his family, his neighbor and his God. (Cheers.) He may shirk it, but he cannot relieve himself of the responsibility. Every who fails intelligently to discharge his political duties, neglects to fulfill one of the primary obligations of his citizenship. One of our most crying needs today is an awakening among all classes of our citizens to a full recognition of these obligations. Liberalism must give itself to this task. We should be glad, not only to vote for the cause in which we believe, but, to the extent of our ability and opportunity, to cheer-fully and enthusiastically promote that cause. Just in so far as any considerable number of citizens fail to take an intelligent and active interest in our political affairs, they increase the trol of corporate wealth. They charge opportunity for corporate and corrupt nfluence to determine our representation in Parliament and Legislature, and to influence the course of legislation and administration. If we are t have in reality government by the peo-ple, we can only secure it by the peo-ple discharging their political duties.

"The other great task of Liberalism must be to insure that the Government shall be for the people; that great measures of social reform shall pushed to the front. The splendid achievements of Liberalism in Great The splendid Britain in the line of social reform are heartening true Liberals the world over. Questions of national trade, transportation and defence, questions of imperial and international relationships, are within the jurisdiction of the Dominion, but this province has jurisdiction over those social questions which are now stirring the hearts of all social reformers.

Position of Advantage.

"We have a great position of advantage in this province, as compared with Great Britain, or even the United States. Fortunately, as yet the problem of poverty, of slum conditions, of urban and declining the increasing urban and declining rural population, of the criminal classes, of insanitary housing, of the oppression of the poor by corporate greed, of the dominating and blighting nfluence of the liquor traffic, have not necome as acute with us, as they have n Great Britain and the older countries of Europe, and in some sections of the United States. But already there are sufficient evidences of them to inal law against unlawful combin waken us from our self-satisfied conresent time. It should be our supreme ambition to remedy the existing evils in our social system, to change the existing tendencies that are prejudicial to the highest welfare of the whole people, and to prevent, so far as posperior time. It should be our supreme with powers which will command the with powers which will command the public confidence, just as the Dominion railway board does today when dealing the tights and interests. We must adopt such further measures as are practicable to safeguard the rights

sible, the development of these menac ng conditions in the future.

Problems in Ontario. "Let me briefly mention some of the roblems that now confront us in this province, and to which as Liberals we must address ourselves:

"1. A decreasing rural population is he older parts of the province. The larger the percentage of our population living upon the farm, the better will be our social and industrial conditions. All thoughtful persons recognize that in the country and on the farm we find the most congenial atmosphere for the development of those homely virtues of ndustry, thrift, and honesty, which lie at the very basis of individual, as well as national, character. The life of the ity is recruited, strengthened and stimulated by the life it draws from the country. Everything that can properly be done to improve the conditions of agriculture, to make life on the farm both more remunerative and more attractive, is a valuable contri-bution towards the future well-being of our people. Great advances should be at once made.

"2. Education lies at the root of al novements for social reform, e must seek to put forth every reasonable and practicable effort to secure the best possible education for the children in the public schools of the prov-ince. The decline in attendance at many rural schools, and the inefficiof the teaching in both English and English-French schools, due to the lack of properly-qualified teachers, is a most serious problem, which the present Government appears incapable solving. Liberalism must seek to solve this problem, and secure the best possble education for every child. (An-

"3. The inexpensive, expeditious and plause.) impartial administration of justice is essential to the protection of rights of the common people. The speedy, just and efficient administraion of the criminal law is necessary for the protection of the life and prop-erty of citizens. Weakness and laxity in the administration of justice by the present Government have lessened the public confidence in the administration of justice in this province, and it is of the utmost importance in the interest that this confidence should be restored by a complete change in methods of administration. (Applause). Public Health.

whole problem of public health is one of increasing importance A substantial advance was made by the bill passed during the recent session of our Legislature, but we have not yet awakened to the full importance, in the public interests, of greater care in the preservation and promotion of the health of our people.

Reform in Taxation.

"Liberalism has not accomplished its purpose or spent its force, when it has won for the people the right to rule.

These victories must be defended to the people that the the pe victories must be defended idle for the purpose of speculation must be discouraged, and the influence. The present Government during the last session procured an and not the speculator, creates. The act whereby it put into the hands of the executive, and withdrew from the control of the representatives of the people, the expenditure of $5,000,000 for the land values which the community, the land values which the community. growing power of corporate wealth and munity must receive a larger share of the development of Northern Ontario, maintaining the present law, not with the development of Northern Ontario, standing the great public demand for standing the great public demand for this act is a most serious blow at one its change. Social justice demands a change, and Liberalism must devote itself to this important reform.

Compensation for Workingmen. "6. I believe the average wage of both skilled and unskilled labor in Canada is less than $550 per year. Anyone who has knowledge of the conditions of life in our cities and towns must know how difficult it is for a workman to pay the present high house rent, to bring up a family, to say nothing of laying by for a rainy day, with the present high cost of living. When a man receiving such a wage is aside through accident or illness, and his wages cease, the problem of suphis life is taken, his widow and children are usually left without adequate means of support. For years the Liberal Opposition has been pressing upon the present Government and the Legislature the necessity for progressive legislation to meet these condi-They have forced the Government into action to the extent of aptions. pointing a commissioner to investigate, and we now have an interim report from him. This report indicates that he commissioner is considering whole question thoroughly and sympathetically. But Liberals must see, matter what the attitude or policy of the present Government, that adequate provision is made for reasonable compensation for workmen in our industries in case of both accident and illness, and for insuring that this compensation shall be paid without the workman being subjected to the pense and uncertainty of protracted litigation. (Loud applause).

Control the Corporations. "7. No one can view, without serious apprehension, the social and industrial unrest existing in the United States The masses of the people appear to be in rebellion against what they consider the domination and conthat corporate power and wealth are being used to influence elections, to control legislation, and to affect judgments of the courts; that corporate power is used to increase the gains of the rich and to oppress the poor. Corporations in Canada do not differ, except in size and power, from corpor tions in the United States; but with the increase in the wealth and population of our country, we may expecthem to grow and to endeavor to exerise their powers, just as American corporations are now doing.
"While corporations serve a useful and indispensable purpose in organized society as we have it today, we must see that they do not acquire the power and influence in our country that they have acquired in the United States; we must, to the full limit of the legislative and administrative power of the province, seek to prevent corporate power from being used to influence elections or to control the course of legislation o administration. We must prohibit all contributions by corporations for political purposes. (Cheers). We must require the publication of all campaign contributions. We must secure the appointment of a public prosecutor, specially charged with the investigaion and prosecution not only of forms of electoral fraud, but also all charges that corporations have made contributions for political purposes. (Applause). So long as we to political contributions by corporations, those corporations will demand, and in some form receive, recoupment with interest at the public expense. (Loud inal law against unlawful combination to restrain trade, to stifle competition, awaken us from our self-satisfied condition. Just as our country increases in wealth and population, just as the cities grow in size and influence, just as our foreign population increases, so will these conditions become acute, unless we grapple intelligently and course agreement of the consumer, is vigorously enforced. "8. We have, in this province, a great heritage in our lands, our forests, our water-powers, and our fisheries. We must look upon these not as resources to be exploited, even though the whole benefit goes to the provincial revenue, but as a great heritage to be conserved and developed for the benefit masses of the people, and to this end the Liberal party in this province will direct its policy. We are trustees for the generations that come after us. We have protested in the past, we still protest, against the unjustifiable alienation of 2,000,000 acres of the best agri cultural land in Northern the Canada Northern Ontario Railway is a bonus, a railway the bonds of which are guaranteed by the Government of the Dominion of

Our policy is the land for the settler, reserved for the Settler, and the settler for the land. The Government of this province should in a business-like and comprenensive way, undertake to solve problem of settlement in Northern and Northwestern Ontario. Abolish the Bar.

"Time will not permit me to mention other social and industrial reforms greatly needed for the benefit of the people of the province, but all our measures for social and industrial reform will fail to secure the results we desire so long as we continue in our midst an institution which impairs the effciency of the workingman; curtails the output of the manufacturer; verts from productive and beneficial industries a large amount of capital; destroys homes; wrecks lives; makes paupers and criminals—the licensed Liberalism, if true to its mission and work for social reform, must rid the province of the open bar. An Explanation.

Why do you haid a series of public meetings throughout the province liscuss political i sues three years beore an election; what is the explanailon of this unusual proceeding "1. We believe that public life in this province offers smeething vastly more important and inspiring than a scramble for office by the leaders of the political parties. It involves the application in legislation and administration of most important principles, vitally affecting the welfare of every citizen of the province; (cheers) and the electors are entitled to receive at the hands of the public men of the vince the fullest possible informalaid tion in reference to these matters of public concern, not in the heat of an election contest, when political preport becomes desperately acute, and if judice tends to bias our judgment, but at a time when we can bring to bear a more unprejudiced mind upon the matters presented to us.

Her geographical position, the extent variety and richness of her natural resources, the strength of her commercial and financial institutions, and her people all insure for her, if we but worthly play our part, a com-manding position in the commercial and industrial life of our growing Dominion, But this is not Ontario's greatest opportunity. The strength and stability of our religious and educational institutions, the moral earnestness and zeal for social reform possessed by so many of our people, make it possible for us to lead the provinces of Canada in the value civilized life."

Prepared to Lead. "Ladies and gentlemen, I end where began. The first article of our proramme is abolish the bar. It your cause in the past. It was your ause when I fought with you in when we ranks. It was our cause fought together. It is no less your cause today. Having called me into this position of leadership, I am pre-pared to lead. (Applause.) I care not for the opposition of the bar, I care not for the opposition of the moneyed interests; I care not for all the wealth they ally themselves with the bar. But you, good men and women too, who love what is right, who love our country with devotion, I will lead if you est part of the will follow, and together we will forever wips out the open bar in the rovince of Ontario." At the conclusion of his address Mr. Rowell received an ovation, the people rising and cheering again and again.

Mr. Eliiott's Address.

Mr. J. C. Elliott, M. P. P. for East Middlesex, made a rattling speech, and had the crowd with him from the start to finish. After a few introductory remarks, he paid a warm tribute to the new leader, as did also Dr. McQueen, of North Wentworth. Mr. Elliott said: "Hon, A. G. McKay, the former leader of the Liberal party in this province, one of the ablest men who ever led any party in any province, felt that it was in the interests of the Liberal party of this province that he should resign the leadership, and we had to look around for another leader. I am proud to be able to tell you that the unanimous choice fell upon a former son of Middlesex, the gentleman in whose honor you are assembled today. "Hon, A. G. McKay, the former lead-

"From the moment that he accepted he has given freely of his time and his splendid ability, and I am proud that ou, ladies and gentlemen, whom I see assembled in such numbers here this afternoon are showing by your numbers and by your enthusiasm that as leader of the Liberal party in the Province of Ontario, Mr. N. W. Rowell has made good.

"As you know, one of the most important question confronting the people of this Province at the present time s the temperance question. At earliest possible moment our leader presented his views on that question to his followers in the House, He satisfled us first that he understood the question thoroughly; and, second, that he was absolutely sincere. "He presented his platform to the House, and the Premier of this Province stated that 'he was lost in amazement,' and one of his colleagues said he thought it was a Joke. Shortly afterwards, when the Government presented their platform to the House, we realized that that was in all probabilty the creation of the Premier, who was 'lost in amazement,' assisted by the colleague who thought it was a toke. "Now, ladies and gentlemen, ween the Government and the Opposition, at the present time, there issue as to the necessity of doing something to remedy the evils of the liquor traffic in this Province that point both are agreed; both agree that the evil is serious and that remedy must be radical and sure. The only question between them is what that remedy should be. The Opposition believes that treating and drinking can be best remedied by abolishing the place where drinking and treating take place. The Government contends that the evils can best be lessened by retaining those places—that is the only question between the two parties at the present time. "When I first heard the Government platform on this subject I thought it was the result of the wisdom of Premier, and the Provincial Secretary, but I have since had some idea that possibly it originated from another 2. Since hearing of these ancient records, I believe that in giving the Pre-mier and Secretary credit for the temperance platform of the Government. I was doing them an injustice, and I now believe that platform must have emanated from the department of education. I know that you did not come here to hear me make a speech. would like to hear our distinguished leader at length. 300 BOYS ENJOYED A SWIM IN POOL AT SULPHUR BATHS

Today was the first day of the holidays that the boys of the city have been allowed the free use of the swimming pond at the Sulphur Baths, at the foot of Dundas street, provided by the Playgrounds Association, and nearly three hundred lads took advantage of the opportunity. The number today was as large as that of any day last year. Mr. Taylor, of the Y.M. C. A., acted as supervisor today, and made several suggestions to the committee in charge that will greatly

It is now contemplated to classify the boys in regard to their swimming ability, in order that the lessons may be more practical and beneficial. In order to secure this result it will be necessary to limit the number of boys to one hundred at any one hour, allowing the first contingent to be in the water from 9 until 10 o'clock. Thus four hundred boys will be given lessons every Tuesday and Friday mornings between the hours of 9 and 1. The instruction in swimming has not been the primary feature of the baths heretofore, the idea of the committee being solely to give the boys a pleasant and exhilarating bath under safe conditions, but from now on the teaching of swimming will be the feature of the baths. That the boys take great interest in the baths is shown by the fact that this morning over one hundred boys had collected there before half-past 8, and also that there were many from the eastern section of the city beyond Quebec street. The days for the boys are Tuesdays and Fridays, and for the girls, Wednesdays. Tomorrow will be the first day for the girls this season, and two very competent lady teachers have offered their services as supervisors on Wednesdays.

Great Excitement.

Thousands of persons from every part of the resort are gathered along the board walk, and about the Vaniman cottage, just across from the hangar, at the inlet, where Mrs. Vaniman has collapsed, and is unconscious from the shock. A physician is in attendance. The greatest excitement prevailed for a time. Boats were darting out from the inlet, and all along the shores of the thoroughfare and beach. Police reserves, who helped to launch the craft, which sailed along gracefully until the accident occurred, kept the crowds from the Vaniman villa.

The flight this morning was second this ill-fated airship had made this year. After tinkering all winter on the ship, Vanaman took the Akron out for a short flight on Saturday morning, June 1. At that time the balloon was nearly wrecked by some of the mechanism going wrong, but it was safely landed at the hangar without serious mishap.

In the forward end of the platform were the steering wheel and gear for controlling the rudder and the stabilizing planes fore and aft. The sleeping accommodations for the crew consisted of hammocks strung up in the car. The disaster came as a shock to the people of Atlantic City, who had come to know Vaniman very well. For a week past the intrepld airman been planning to make another flight, and only waited for favorable winds. Last night conditions appeared satisfactory, and he notified the city authorities that he probably would make a flight at sunrise today. Once clear of the shed, Vaniman jumped into the car of the ship, where his other four men had already gone, and he gave the word to "let go." Instantly the shop rose, slowly at first, and swaying from end to end. Then she rose rapidly. Vaniman appeared to have complete control, and after circling over the inlet and on the mainland, the ship's nose was pointed out to sea. The manoeuvring of the great air craft constantly attracted additional people, and the upper end of the beach and board walk crowded when the disaster occurred. An eye-witness of the disaster told this story of what he saw:

minute it exploded.

"To those who have witnessed the many flights of Vaniman, this one seemed at the start more successful than any yet attempted. The ship's crew seemed to have more control than ever before. Starting out from the hangar, the ship rose steadily from the ground and passed easily out over the water of the iniet, grazing the mests of the fleet of yachts anchored there.

SEVEN-YEAR-OLD BOY IS MISSING FROM HOME

Seen in Brantford, but He Promptly Disappeared

back by a G. T. R. conductor, on whose train he had ridden, but promptly disappeared again, and the gravest fears are enteretained for his safety.

The boy, who appears to be not more than 5, left home yesterday at noon, and, going to the Grand Trunk depot, boarded a train, as he thought, for Port Stanley. However, he was Brantford-bound, and when the conductor appeared was able to tell that he was alone, that his name was Telfer, and that he lived on Clarence street in London.

A message was accordingly sent back that he would be given in charge of the conductor of express No. 5, returning to London last night, but the conductor, who passed through London again this morning on No. 6 explained to The Advertiser that he had heard nothing of the little fellow's difficulties. It is known now what became of him, and the Grand Trunk authorities have now been sked to help in the search. Cuthbert had never been away from nome before, according to his parents.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Preston, July 2.—The big reunion which has been in progress here for several days came to a successful close

Since last Tuesday every evening in the hockey rink, a gigantic bazaar, which over 500 people participated, has taken place. On Saturday and yesterday sports, motor-cycle races, ball games, etc., have been held in Speed Park. The motor-cycle race for the championship of Waterloo County, was won by Lang, of Berlin. Yesterday afternoon the Paris Baseball Club team won from the locals by 9 to 2, and a closely contested football match between New Dundee and Preston resulted in a tie, 2 to 2.

An enormous parade of nations, composed of about 50 motor cars, carriages and floats, carrying 500 persons in costumes, visited Galt yesterday, and paraded the downtown section of the town. Over 600 Old Boys have signed their names at the registration booth, and almost as many more ex-Prestonites are in town: Taken throughout, the affair has been one grand success, and has drawn visitors from all parts of the province, as well as many points in the Dominion and the States.

The officers in charge are: Presi

CORRESPONDENCE

into Goderich camp, the Seventh Band On my return from Goderich camp on Thursday evening I happened to meeting us at the parade grounds, the pick up your valued paper of the day boys marched in like veterans to the pick up your valued paper of the day before, and noticed your special cor-respondent's account of the march in which the Seventh Regiment Fusiliers and the Twenty-sixth Regiment took part, and one would judge from his remarks that our city regiment was vastly inferior as to marching/ than will see your way clear to publish this letter, as the true facts of the case are as follows:

On Tuesday, the brigade, consisting of the two above regiments, also other regiments of infantry, besides cavalry, etc., were ordered to parade at 5 p.m. and march to the Indian re-serve, six and a half miles out of the Goderich camp, bivouac, and in the morning escort a convoy safely back to camp. The Seventh Regment left the brigade ground at 5:15 p.m., Tuesday, followed immediately by the Twenty-sixth and then the other regiments in rotation. As we had, presumably, only a short distance of six and a half miles to march, Col. Campbell did not hurry his men, but allow ed us to march fairly leisurely, but we had hardly left the camp grounds with the Twenty-sixth at our heels, when the brigadier rode up to Col. Campbell and informed him that the Seventh Regiment were keeping the whole brigade back. This was sufficient, for immediately Col. Campbell gave the command to step out and Capt. Taylor, commanding No. 1 Company, had great difficulty in keeping his men from walking over Col. Campbell's horse, and your humble servant, being in command of the rear company, viz., No. 6, can testify as to the pace that No. 1 set, for every few minutes I had to give the command for my company to double to keep up teenth of an ounce.
