BYE-ELECTIONS FEB. 28

Whitney Cabinet's First Act Was to Issue Writ.

Mr. Gagey interviews the Premier-Minister from Manitoulin Received in Most Gracious Fashion By the Ministers-Moribund Appointments of Ross Government Will Likely Be Cancelled-Where Will Ministers Reside?

Toronto, Feb. 10.-Bye-elections to fill the vacancies in the Legislature caused by the acceptance of office by the Ministers holding portfolios will be held on Feb. 28, nominations one week earlier. The writs were issued yesterday afternoon. This was the first official act of the new Cabinet. A Cabinet Council will be held today.

New Ministers Reside?

Early yesterday morning the staffs of the various departments gathered to prepare for the reception of their new chiefs. The Ministers arrived about 10 and several of them embraced the earliest opportunity of getting acquainted with those who will labor under their direction.

There was a full meeting of the new Cabinet, which broke up before 1 o'clock.

After the meeting the Premier received the press in his own room, which is the formerly occupied by Hon. J. M. Gibson and announced to them the date of the bye-elections. This was all the news he had for the public. The Cabinet lunched in the building and the afternoon was devoted to the reception of visitors, of whom there were a great many, most of them calling merely to tender their congratulations. One of the late callers was R. R. Gagey, who was closeted with the Premier for some time. The man from Manitoulin had met the Premier and other Cabinet Ministers in the morning at the Queen's Hotel. He was received by them in the most gracious manner.

More Room Needed.

It was announced that all the Ministers are to have offices in the Parliament buildings. Rooms are now being fitted up for the three Ministers without portfolio, in the west end, as well as one for Hon. Dr. Pyne, Minister of Education. Dr. Pyne will spend his forenoons among his department clerks at the Normal School and his afternoons at the Parliament buildings. The rooms occupied by Mr. Hargrave, who has been appointed Minister of the Interior, will have sleeping apartments in the building, the rooms occupied by the old Ministers being required for offices.

Hon. J. S. Hendrie, Hon. Adam Beck and Hon. W. A. Willoughby left for their homes yesterday afternoon, and will not be present at today's Cabinet meeting.

Speaker-to-Be Elected Tomorrow.

Mr. St. John, who on the opening of the Legislature will be elected Speaker, met representatives of all the newspapers in the morning and asked their views respecting improvements to the press gallery. The gallery is difficult of access and another stairway is absolutely necessary. The provincial architect was called in consultation, and will report today. It is fully expected that the wishes of the press will be met.

Appointments of Old Ministry.

Announcement was made yesterday that the late Government, before going out of business made a number of appointments. Robert Emmett English, son of the late John English, will succeed his father as chief turnkey of the Toronto Jail; William McLeod of Orillia, was appointed sheriff of Simcoe County; to succeed the late Charles Drury; Matthew Martin was appointed jailer at Chatham, and George Bush of Clinton Township, will become jailer at St. Catharines. These late appointments have caused a good deal of dissatisfaction, and it is probable that the majority of the appointees will be required to step aside. The Orders-in-Council bear date of Jan. 31, but reached the assistant secretary on Feb. 7. It is probable that the appointments were dated back.

Railway Taxation.

The Railway Taxation Commission, consisting of H. J. Pettypiece, ex-M.P.P.; Prof. Shortt of Queen's University, and Judge Bell of Chatham, met in the Parliament Buildings yesterday to complete their report. Mr. Pettypiece, the chairman, called upon Premier Whitney and was instructed to go on with the report just as it there had been no change of Government. The Commission have spent some months investigating the methods of obtaining Government funds from railway corporations, in a number of the states of the neighboring republic, and will make their report to the Legislature.

Hon. Nelson Monteth, Minister of Agriculture, has promised to preside at the annual meeting of the Fair Association, which will be held in Victoria Hall on Tuesday next.

Where Will They Reside?

Most of the new ministers have not yet decided on their place of residence. Hon. W. J. Hanna proposes to continue to reside at Sarnia. He has an extensive law practice there and has capable associates who will look after his business in his absence. Hon. Dr. Reaume will reside at Windsor, and some of the other ministers may not take houses in Toronto. The Premier will doubtless remove his family to Toronto, but he has been so engrossed with the affairs of state since he came here that he has not given the matter any consideration. Hon. Dr. Pyn proposes to relinquish his practice, but will continue as registrar of the Medical Council.

Salary For Mr. Ross.

The Whitney Cabinet has decided to give the leader of the Opposition a salary equal to that received by a Cabinet Minister. He will also be provided with a secretary at the expense of the country.

A GOOD MAN

John Handysides has returned from Windsor, where he has been spending a few days. He says the Windsor Council were very much disappointed when Fire Chief Pritchard, of Chatham, withdrew his application for a similar position in Windsor, which is now vacant. The increase in salary which was given him by the Council Monday evening, induced Mr. Pritchard to remain in Chatham.

The Windsor Council, when they could not secure Mr. Pritchard, decided to leave their appointment open and receive other applications.

McCOIG'S UNCLE GETS FIRST JOB

Post Mortem Appointment Over Sheriff's Head Made Since the Election and Dated Back

Wallaceburg Man Thrown Down and Mr. Gemmill Snubbed-New Government Now to Take Action

The morning papers to-day announced that the defunct Ross Government had appointed Matthew Martin, uncle of Arch. B. McCoig, M. P. P., jailer at Chatham. The order in council making the appointment reached the assistant secretary only yesterday, yet it was dated back to January 31-a very peculiar and uneasy circumstance. It is perhaps needless to say that this appointment came as a surprise to the Chatham people, and especially to the residents of Wallaceburg. It is a well known fact that Sheriff Gemmill recommended Miles McCarron, of Wallaceburg, and has never made any other appointment. So that Colonel Matthew Martin, uncle of Archie McCoig, M. P. P., was deliberately appointed over the sheriff's head. This course is not in accordance with the statute and will not stand.

It is much to be feared that the Government may retaliate for these postmortem actions and undo some appointments made when the Ross Government was really in power so as to even things up a bit.

The Sheriff was out of the city this morning and his deputy, C. E. Beeston, refused to give any statement in the absence of the Sheriff.

From our own Correspondent.

Toronto, Feb. 10.-Regarding your enquiry re appointment of Martin as Kent's jailer, said appointment was made since the election and in spite of recommendation of Sheriff Gemmill prior to the election in favor of McCarron. So far as is known here the appointment was changed-after the election without the Sheriff's knowledge or sanction and directly over his recommendation of McCarron-in favor of Matthew Martin, who is a relative of West Kent's member-elect McCoig.

It is not likely, however, that the appointment will hold. The irregular and suspicious character of its making will cause investigation. Assurance has been given this afternoon that the Attorney-General (Premier Whitney) will look into the matter, when the facts of the strange cancellation of the Sheriff's nominee and the appointment without his knowledge of a relative of the member-elect are laid before him officially.

HERB BUSY

West Kent's Energetic Member Takes a Lively Interest in His Constituency.

In the Dominion House H. S. Clements, M. P., West Kent, asked what revenue was collected at the outport of Coatesworth. Mr. Patterson replied that the collections amounted to $17. The salary of the customs officer was $400. Mr. Clements suggested that the outport be changed to Wheatley or Romney, either of which would be a better location for preventative officer.

W. F. Maclean Warns Government-Favors Export Duties.

Questions Answered in the House of Commons-Some Interesting Facts Concerning Railways and Railway Projects-Mr. Fisher's Fruit Package Bill Discussed in Committee-Private Bills Committee Passes Ottawa Electric Bill.

Ottawa, Feb. 10.-U. S. Attorney-General Moody's far-reaching decision on the question of drawbacks was brought to the attention of the House yesterday by W. F. Maclean. The drawback decision is in effect that raw and partially manufactured materials of every sort and description are now at the disposal of American manufacturers engaged in the export trade. Mr. Maclean echoed the opinion of Le Canada of Montreal, that Mr. Moody's decision means an economic revolution. As a cure for the evil he advocated export duties. He said: "I say the time has come when we, as Canadians, especially since we have embarked upon the N.P., ought to keep our own markets for our own manufacturers, and our own work for our own people. We may be forced by reason of this new policy in the United States to adopt and extensively to adopt the principle of export duties. The principle has been applied with marvelous success in the Province of Ontario with regard to saw logs."

Mr. Blair to Sir Wilfrid.

A copy of the telegram in which Hon. A. G. Blair announced the resignation of the chairmanship of the Railway Commission to Sir Wilfrid Laurier was laid on the table of the House yesterday. It is dated Oct. 18, 1904.

Free Mail Delivery.

Mr. Wilson asked what was the total cost of free mail delivery in towns and cities in Canada, where such system is utilized.

The Postmaster-General supplied the following figures: Salaries of letter carriers, $415,241; uniforms, etc., $17,253; conveyances for delivering letters from stations, $10,252; a total of $432,748. The Department keeps no record of the number of letters, newspapers, parcels, etc., so delivered, and the Postmaster-General was not willing to make an estimate.

Mr. Roche was informed that the Grand Trunk Pacific Co. has not proposed or submitted to the Government any plan of the route of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway west of Winnipeg.

The Minister of Justice explained to Mr. Lake the various steps taken to obtain an authoritative interpretation of the meaning of the Canadian Pacific Railway contract, in relation to the exemption of the lands of that company from taxation in the Northwest Territories. The case is now in the Supreme Court of Canada, and a decision is expected in a couple of weeks.

Mr. Lake was also informed that there have been sold of school lands in Alberta 304 acres, Assiniboia 143,431 acres, Saskatchewan 237 acres. The price obtained in Alberta was $19 per acre, in Assiniboia the highest price was $37.50 per acre, and the lowest price $27.20 per acre. The Saskatchewan lands brought a low price of $107 per acre, while the lowest price was $40 per acre. The average price in Alberta was $19 per acre, in Assiniboia $6.69, and in Saskatchewan $86.54.

Re Safety of Ships.

The House went into Committee on Mr. Sinclair's bill to amend the act respecting the safety of ships. The bill enables ships to carry during winter navigation lumber between the main and shelter decks. This is now forbidden by existing law. The various clauses of the bill were passed, but the bill will be held over till it is approved by the Board of Trade of England.

E. M. McDonald, Pictou, N.S., introduced a bill respecting the Grand Trunk Railway. The purpose of the bill is to authorize the Grand Trunk Railway Co. to acquire bonds and preference and common shares of the Canada Atlantic Railway Co., and hold the same either by themselves as a company or in the name of trustees, also to provide that the company may guarantee the payment of the principal and interest of the bonds so acquired and to be held by them, not exceeding the sum of $3,292,200 sterling.

Mr. McDonald introduced another bill respecting the Canada Atlantic Railway. This bill proposes to repeal section 8 of chapter 90 of 1903, to empower the company to issue bonds to the amount of $3,292,000 sterling, to be secured by mortgage on the company's property. Both bills were read a first time.

Mr. Fisher's Resolution.

Mr. Fisher moved the House into Committee to consider a resolution respecting the packing and sale of certain staple commodities. The resolution provides that:

- (1) When apples are packed in Canada for export for sale by the box, they shall be packed in good and strong boxes of seasoned wood, the inside dimensions of which shall not be less than ten inches in depth, 11 inches in width and 20 inches in length, representing as near as possible 2,200 cubic inches.
- (2) Every person who offers or

A YEAR OF WAR.

Although the first blow in the Russo-Japanese war was struck when the Japanese fleet was struck when the harbor of Port Arthur on February 8, 1904, the first overt act of hostility occurred on February 7, when Japan seized Manchuria, Korea, as a military base. Two days before that diplomatic relations between the two powers had been broken off. Today may be regarded as the anniversary of the opening of hostilities.

The net result of a year of fighting on land and sea is all in favor of the island empire. Russia has lost her Pacific fleet and the most powerful fortress in the east. Her armaments have been driven out of Korea and the Liaotung peninsula, and soundly beaten in two of the bloodiest pitched battles of modern times. They are now at bay in front of Mukden, with the combined Japanese armies, flushed with many victories and serenely confident in their leaders and their cause, strongly entrenched in front of them waiting for the spring to add to their record of triumph and glory.

It is estimated that Japan, in all, has had 490,000 men afloat and ashore; Russia about 390,000. On land the principal leaders have been: Russian, Generals Kurapatkin, Stoessel, Stackelberg, Linovitch and Mischenko, the last named being the commander of the Cossack forces; Japan, Field Marshal Oyama and Generals Kuroki, Nogi, Nodzu, and Oku. At sea, Admiral Togo and Vice-Admiral Kamimura have divided the honors for Japan, the main Russian commanders being Vice-Admirals Makarov and Witthoff and Rear-Admiral Rojestvensky.

The total of killed in the course of the year's fighting is semi-officially placed at 124,596—65,100 Japanese and 59,596 Russians. The number of wounded is given as not less than 265,000, the total casualties thus amounting to 389,596. Of their more prominent leaders, Japan and Russia have lost Generals Ruzozsky, Konarsky and Count Keller, Vice-Admirals Makarov and Witthoff, Lieutenant-Commander Odo and Captain Stepanoff. Also, Vassili Veresthagin, the Russian artist, went down with the Petropavlovsk, and Lewis Etzel, the war correspondent, was shot while on duty.

Russia's official figures show that, up to November 23, she had paid for war expenses, including credits then outstanding, $364,000,000; her total to-day is not less than $462,000,000. The cost to Japan will approximate $354,000,000, bringing the total for both nations to $816,000,000.

Russia has lost thirty-five vessels of war of all classes and Japan twenty-three, as follows: Russia—Battleships Petropavlovsk, Retvizan, Poltava and Pereviet, sunk; Tzarevitch, disabled; Pobieda, badly damaged; Sevastopol, blown up. Cruisers Boyarin, Bayan, Pallada, Variaz, Barik, Rossia and Lena, sunk; Novik, Gillak and Bogarty, ashore; Askold, Diana and Gromoboi, disabled. Gunboats, etc., Korietz and Yenesoi, sunk, and twelve others, including torpedo boats and destroyers. Japan—Battleship, Hatause, sunk. Cruisers Utsuyako, Saien and Yoshino, sunk. Also three transports sunk and sixteen torpedo boats or destroyers.—Hamilton Herald.

It is to be hoped Mr. R. R. Gamey will be chosen to the Ministry of Mines. He is a dominant, a clever, a strong character. He knows New Ontario, her wants and her desires as few know it, he is courageous almost to aggressiveness. Just the man for the place.—"Kit" in Mail and Empire.

SHORTAGE OF HOGS

"There has been a shortage of both hogs and feed this winter," remarked Ed. Massey this morning. "Our receipts aren't half what they were other years. This week we should have shipped seven cars of live hogs but our limit was two. The same shortage of pigs is noticeable at Thamesville, Dresden, Ridgetown, in fact all over Kent and Essex."

EXPERT TESTIMONY

In the trial of George G. Robertson, charged with the embezzlement of $2,485.26 from Arthur & Waite, state agents of the Phoenix Mutual Life Insurance Co., before Judge Murphy, the morning session was spent in taking the testimony of Alexander F. Falls, of Chatham, Ont. He explained in detail his method of over the books of the company, and their alleged losses.—De-

Sign of the Cross—Feb. 27.

LAST NIGHT'S PRODUCTION.

The large and well pleased audience which, despite the very inclement weather, greeted the Kennedy Players last night in "Cheek, or the Boy from the Bower," bore testimony to the strong hold they have already obtained upon the theatre-going public. As "Dick Smythe, a gentleman who don't care who knows it," John J. Kennedy made another decided hit and was well supported by the balance of the cast. The scenery, especially the realistic depiction of Madison Square, New York, was good.

The specialties by the Flame Sisters, Little Dot, Winnifred Greenwood and A. Ben Lewis, were, as usual, of a high grade.

To-night the company present Bartley Campbell's famous society drama, "Another Man's Wife," one of the strongest in their repertoire.

PRETTY PEGGY.

The reserve seat sale for "Pretty Peggy" opened this morning with a rush. This attraction is recognized as the greatest dramatic triumph of recent times. Miss Jane Corcoran plays her part as Peg Woffington, supported by Andrew Robson as David Garrick. There are 32 members in the cast.

Following is a synopsis of the play:—
Act I.—Interior of Madame Violante's Circus Booth, Fownes' Court, Dublin.
"At his desire she left her native city to accompany him to London. For she loved him all in all," J. Fitzgerald Molloy's "Peg Woffington."

Act II.—Green Room at the Theatre Royal, Covent Garden, London.
"She was prodigiously fond of the admiration of the green room gallants, who treated her as though she were the only woman born." Memoirs of George Anne Bellamy.

Act III.—Interior of Peg Woffington's House, Bow Street, London.
"There is no doubt that in the end Garrick treated her very badly." Doran's "Annals of the Stage."

Act IV.—Scene 1—Stage of Covent Garden. Scene 2—Lobby, Covent Garden. Scene 3—Auditorium and Stage of Covent Garden. Scene 4—Stage of Covent Garden. Set as the Forest of Arden.
"On the night of the 17th of May, 1767, she appeared as 'Rosind' for the benefit of two minor actors and a French dancer. As she reached these lines in the apogee her voice faltered, she clasped her hands to her side and would have fallen, but was caught." J. Fitzgerald Molloy's "Peg Woffington."

JUST WHERE THOU ART.

Just where thou art lift up thy voice,
And sing the song that stirs thy heart;
Reach forth thy song and eager hand:
To lift, to save, just where thou art;
Just where thou standest light thy lamp,
This dark to others as to thee;
Their ways are ledged by unseen thorns,
Their burdens fret as thine fret thee.

Out yonder, in the broad, full glare
Of many lamps thine own might pale;
And thy sweet song amid the road
Of many voices slowly fall:
While these thy kindred wandered on
Unheeded, unlighted to the end,
Near to thy hand thy mission lies,
Wherever and hearts need a friend.

HOME FOR WORKING GIRLS.

Eight Shillings a Week Hotel Opened in London.

Lord Radstock has just opened a hostel for working girls in the Clapham road.
Like the Rowton Houses, the Victoria Hostel, as it is named, is to be self-supporting. It is, indeed, but the beginning of a great scheme for the housing of the working girls of London, for Lord Radstock intends to build shortly a many-storied hostel for girls in Newington causeway.

Meanwhile Lord Radstock's paying guests in the Victoria Hostel will have every comfort at a minimum cost.

An immense marble-lined skating rink, on which 5,000 people would find ample standing room, is one of the features of the hostel. Swings and gymnastic apparatus will be put up, and the girls provided with roller skates.

Bright, well-furnished sitting-rooms and class-rooms, a work-room for sewing, a boot-room in which the girls can clean their boots, and a laundry fitted with wringer, washer and ironing tables are provided. The cubicle bedrooms are light, airy and comfortable, and hot water and baths are free.

The inclusive charge is 8s. 6d. per week—6d. a night.

Lord Radstock has solved the problem of how to live on 1s. a day. For 8s. 6d. a week board is provided—at a pinch. For an extra shilling a week a room—a week—the matron will undertake to feed her boarders royally.

All the food is obtained at the restaurant bar, which is open from seven in the morning until 4.30 at night.

Lord Radstock allows his girl boarders plenty of liberty. The rules are few, and are of a wholesome kind. Lights are out at 10.30, but permission to stay out till later can be obtained from the matron. Visitors are permitted, but male guests are received in the hall.

There is no age limit for the boarders. The hostel is meant for such working girls, machinists in city factories, waitresses and typists as can give references as to respectability.—Daily Express.

Last of Wooden Walls.

The Duke of Wellington and the Hannibal are at present in the hands of the ship-breaker on the Thames near Charlton. Both ships were once the pride of the British navy. The Duke of Wellington was built at the Pembroke Dockyard and intended to be christened Windsor Castle. Just before her completion the British Admiralty adopted the crew system for all British battleships, and so the Windsor Castle was cut in two in the dry docks and made 20 feet longer to give the necessary room required for the machines for the screw. This put the launch of the vessel back for another three months, and it was decided to have her launched on December 14, 1852. On that day the Duke of Wellington died, and by the special request of the late Queen Victoria the vessel was christened Duke of Wellington, in honor and remembrance of the famous general. The Duke of Wellington had a displacement of 6,071 tons, and was built out of an oak forest of seventy-six acres, each acre at forty oaks and each oak again at 200 years old. The mainmast cost £500, the foremast £375, and the mizzenmast £130. At that time the Duke of Wellington was the strongest and best armored battleship at the speed of 12-13 knots. In the Crimean War she was the flagship of Sir Charles Napier, the commander of the Baltic fleet. The Hannibal was the flagship of Sir Houston Stewart, and distinguished herself at the bombardment of the fortress of Kinburn.

A Thrifty Geese.

Mr. Reynolds, a jobmaster in Horseshoe-yard, Goswell road, London, bought a number of geese near Dunstable three years ago.

One of them showed marked individuality, and remained aloof from its fellows. After a few weeks it took a fancy to Jack Eaver, foreman hostler, and this odd friendship has developed with the passing months, until the two are well-nigh inseparable.

"Jack," as the goose is called after his protector, waddles sagely into the office each morning, and shares his friend's breakfast. Daily, through the London and County Bank in Aldersgate street, the goose squatted contentedly before the fire while his business is done, and then it follows Mr. Eaver back to the yard, where "Jack" is the patriarch of the flock, consisting of two great-grandchildren, sole survivors of the headman's ex.

Unfortunately, this otherwise sagacious and well-ordered bird is addicted to drink. On New Year's Eve Mr. Eaver was sent out to distribute the Christmas boxes. Several distilleries were visited, and the bird drank as many "healths" in whiskey and gin.

"Jack" collapsed just before the office was reached, with a Christmas feeling on him. One half pint of stout is "Jack's" allowance, and this quantity seems to agree with him.

The Cockney Way.

"That English friend of yours is rather outspoken. He seems to think it proper at all times to call a spade a spade."

"Oh, you're wrong there. He invariably calls it a 'spit'."

THAT POLICE COURT CASE.

A reporter called upon Mr. Smith, Crown Attorney, this morning and asked him for his version of what occurred between himself and Mr. J. G. Kerr during the argument in the police court case on Monday morning last, and as to the report of it contained in The Planet and the "News".

Mr. Smith said: "There was nothing more occurred at police court than frequently happens in the heat of an argument between two lawyers when both are convinced they are right and striving to do their best to win."

There was, in his opinion, nothing whatever occurred that the public was interested in, or should have been published, so far as this argument was concerned. He considered the report in The Planet an exaggerated one and it looked like getting at Mr. Kerr over his shoulders, and that he told the reporter of The Planet so the next morning. As far as Mr. Smith and Mr. Kerr were concerned, there was no feeling in the matter whatever.

Mr. Smith also said that he did not approve of the News report, that there was considerable jangling between the lawyers, and its destruction to the effect that there was not a particle of evidence produced by Crown against accused in face of the fact that the magistrate had reserved his decision for one week in order to consider the evidence and law on the case before he rendered his decision.

Soap That Floats.

A floating soap is produced by the mass of soap being "beaten" while it is cooling, just as we beat eggs or butter. This incorporates air into the soap and makes it float. A given bulk of floating soap weighs much less than the same bulk of soap that does not float. One hundred pounds of soap beaten will make many more cakes of a given size of floating soap not beaten. It is due to no ingredient. Any soap will float if beaten. A soap is no better because it floats. This is no sign of a good soap. The only advantage is in being able to find the cake more easily if it is dropped into the bath or wash tub. In soap factories the soap is beaten by machinery.

Britain's Imports Increased.

London, Feb. 8.—The January statement of the Board of Trade shows increases of $5,169,500 in imports and $4,532,000 in exports.

Ghosts would frighten many people who are not afraid of germs. Yet the germ is a real danger. If this microscopic animal could be magnified to a size in proportion to its deadliness it would show like a giant python, or fire, breathing dragon. The one fact to remember is that the germ is powerless to harm the body when the blood is pure. It is far easier to keep the germ out than to drive it out after it obtains a hold in the system. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is the most powerful and perfect of blood purifying medicines. It increases the quantity as well as the quality of the blood, and enables the body to resist disease, or to throw it off if disease has obtained a footing in some weak organ. Wherever the digestion is impaired, the nutrition of the body is diminished, for the blood is made from the food which is eaten, and half digested food cannot supply the body with blood in quantity and quality adequate to its needs. For this condition there is no remedy equal to "Golden Medical Discovery." It cures ninety-eight out of every hundred persons who give it a fair trial. When there is constipation Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets will promptly and permanently cure.

THE AUDITOR'S REPORT.

Interesting Figures of Dominion Expenditure During the Year 1904.

Part of the Auditor-General's report has been presented to the House of Commons. Amid the mass of figures some items are of public interest. For example, the indemnity paid to members of the House of Commons last session was $318,907, and the mileage $20,821. The Senators drew $114,274 in indemnity and $9,604 in mileage. The fees and charges on private bills in the Senate amounted to $1,314. In the House of Commons the revenue from this source was $17,418. The Senate investigation of the affairs of the New York Mutual Reserve Life Association cost $3,017. The cost of granting aid to the civil power during the troubles at Sault Ste. Marie last summer was $6,851. The report contains a statement of the amount of binder twine made and sold at Kingston Penitentiary. On hand July 1, 1903, there were 382,822 half pounds of twine. The quantity manufactured during the year was 600,265 pounds. On June 30 there were 581,571 pounds of twine on hand. The per capita cost of convicts at the several penitentiaries was as follows: Kingston, 69 cents; St. Vincent de Paul, 78 cents; Dorchester, 62 cents; Manitoba 99 cents; British Columbia, $1.10.

The Indian population last year numbered 107,978, a not decrease of 255 as compared with 1904. The report of the Indian Department points out that it is a fallacy to suppose that the Indians are a dying race, doomed to extinction before the advance of civilization. Facts and statistics fail to support this view. In every province excepting British Columbia the birth exceeds the death rate. Of the 109 deaths in excess of births in the expected province 84 occurred in the West Coast Agency, and the majority are directly attributable to the determined obstinacy with which these particular Indians cling to their potlashes, and, in connection therewith, congregate and crowd together in a manner which produces the most insupportable conditions. With regard to the marriage bond and other sexual relations, while the report says that the law, with the laudable desire for the enforcement of nuptial obligations, recognizes the validity of marriages contracted in accordance with tribal customs, in furtherance of the same object it refuses to recognize kindred divorces among them; but as the Indians are unable to appreciate such distinctions, it comes to pass that men and women are not infrequently to be found living on the reserve in relations which are condemned as illegal and immoral, although regarded by those immediately concerned as quite correct, and would in other communities be remediable by recourse to the divorce courts. Over and above this, it cannot be denied that considerable looseness exists in the relations between the sexes, which is by no means confined to the younger provinces or outlying bands in the older provinces, but on the whole the morality of the Indians up to their light is as good as that of their neighbors, and improvement is going on in this as in other directions.

Canadian Chairman's Work.

Mr. Thomas Tait, the Canadian Chairman of the Railway Commission of the State of Victoria, Australia, whose first year of management was crowned by so much success, is evidently maintaining the good record he established in that connection. A comparative result of the workings of the system for the five months ending November 30, 1903 and 1904, has just reached Canada. In this connection it is shown that the number of miles of track operated has been reduced by eleven miles, thus maintaining the policy which Mr. Tait adopted during his first year, aiming, as he did, at cutting off every mile that was not absolutely essential. The gross revenue during the three months shows an increase of $158,656, while the working expenses, including belated repairs, shows a decrease of $13,931. The net revenue increased in the five months of 1904 mentioned by $172,575. The gross revenue per train mile run has increased in 1904 10.87d., while the working expenses, including the belated repairs, per train mile run has decreased .82d. The net revenue per train mile run was: In 1904, 44.28d., as against 82.59d. in 1903, an increase of 11.89d. The percentage of working expenses, including belated repairs, to gross revenue had decreased 7.87d.

A Revival of Byron.

Speaking at the opening of a new public library in England, $45,000 of the cost of which, by the way, was provided by Andrew Carnegie, Mr. John Morley the other day presided a revival of Byron. Poetry, he said, was not a taste which came to everyone, but he who was not stirred by it led but a mutilated existence. If a man asked him what poet he should begin with he would say Byron. While not the greatest of poets, Byron had got daring and energy, and the historic sense, and it must be recollected that early in the last century he was the great central inspiring force of democracy in the continent of Europe. When democracy extended its reading and applied itself for inspiration to poetry, Byron would once more have his day.

Makes for Long Life.

From Lindsay comes the story of two aged voters, which must be considered as a record. The two old men reached the polling booth together, and the one voted right after the other. The two old gentlemen were Mr. John Bryans, aged 97 years, and Mr. John Dwyell, aged 99 years. It was no concerted scheme to thus bring them in, and their coming had no connection. It was simply a coincidence. Their combined ages were 196 years. Now, who says that a healthy interest in the country's affairs does not make for long life?

The Mammoth and the Mosquito

What has come to pass in thousands of years seems hardly credible. Primitive man, a weakling in comparison to modern man, was able to conquer the huge monsters of thousands of years ago, such as the mammoth, and to-day they are dead forever; yet the mosquito and fly have never been conquered. It is now time for the scientist to devise methods for killing the mosquito and fly, so that they will go to join the mammoth and the monster lizards. The mosquitoes and flies are dangerous enemies of man because they spread contagion. The mosquito often carries the germ of malaria with his bite. The housefly spreads germs of disease over our food. These bacterial germs, ever hunting for the weak spot, find a place in our blood, and then we suffer from grip, catarrh, consumption, or malaria.

Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, at Buffalo, N. Y., says: "There would be no grip epidemics, the germs of consumption, or malaria would find no place in the human economy, if the blood were pure, if the lungs, heart and other organs were fed on good blood. Poisons should not be allowed to accumulate in the body; to be safe it is best to take a gentle laxative at least once a week. Such a vegetable laxative as Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets contains nothing which could harm the system."

For putting the blood in order, and as a tissue-builder and tonic for those weakened by coughs, colds, catarrh, grip, nothing will build one up quicker than Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. This is a medicine made entirely of roots and herbs, without the use of alcohol.

Dr. Pierce's Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay, cents and mailing only. Send 3 one-cent stamps for paper covered, or 50 stamps for cloth binding, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

SEWING COTTON.

The Humble Origin of the Great Thread Industry.

The origin of sewing cotton was told at a cotton manufacturers' meeting by the head of the great thread house of Paisley, Scotland. It was discovered in 1803 by his grandfather, who had a little business in Paisley, making silk twine for heddies, which were used by every weaver. The silk came from Hamburg, and in 1803 Napoleon burned the stock held there to be burned in order to hamper British trade. The weavers were in despair, but James Clark conceived the idea that cotton yarns could be twisted together to form the twines.

The experiment succeeded, and from this grew the idea that cotton could be substituted for flax in the manufacture of sewing thread and would not be so coarse and harsh. He began the manufacture of the thread in a very small way. It was at first put up in skeins and had to be wound into little balls by the purchaser, and then Mr. Clark invented the modern spools. He had them made by a wood turner, half a gross at a time. They cost him sixpence a dozen, and he charged the purchaser of the thread a halfpenny for the spool, which, however, was refunded when the spool was returned. The ladies of Paisley used to come to his shop with their spools and wait while he wound the thread on them. From this small beginning grew a great industry.

LIFE'S OTHER SIDE.

Part of the Almighty's Plan to Be Revealed By and By.

The man had lost an only child. He had loved that girl as his life, and, when the end came, his heart hardened and for weeks he walked on doubting the Almighty.

He was a good man, yet he could see no ray of sunshine in his dark sky.

One day he visited a mill where carpets were made, and as he walked through the building he met one that he knew, and they talked a while.

He was weaving. "That is a funny-looking carpet you are making," said the visitor. "Just stoop down and look underneath," was the reply.

The man stooped. The plan was on the other side, and in that moment a light broke upon his mind.

My friend, look on the other side, says Chas. E. Raymond in The Star. The days are the shuttles and the moments are the threads. Do not be impatient; suffice to know that you are part of the plan and that He never errs.

You would not judge the painter ere the picture was complete.

You would not judge the builder ere the edifice was erected, so bide a while and dinna wearie.

Is it dark to-day? Have you lost a friend? Is it dark to-day? Is the pay small, are the hours long and the prospects poor, and does the rent-day hurry towards you? You have done your best; you have been honest and earnest, and have not wasted your time. Yes, and you know those who have not held the truth sacred, those who are not honest and earnest, and they live in a better home than you, and wear better clothes, and from their windows comes the sound of merriment as you pass.

Hope on. The Great Weaver is busy with his plan, and wait for the light of the later years and the peep at the other side. Wait for the light of the later years to vindicate you—you are misunderstood. It is hard to be misunderstood. They say you are a hypocrite, and a pretense; they plant in your heart an ulterior motive. Wait for the light of the later years and the peep at the other side.

You are disappointed. Ah! yes, it is far different from what you had planned. You were going to achieve; you were going to have your name written well up on the roll. You would be one of the few; but here you are just like the rest of us in the scribble of life. But do not be discouraged. Wait for the light of the later years and the peep at the other side.

It is hard to understand this plan, this destiny that seems to shape us so. We have tried so hard and have achieved so little, but perhaps after all we have done more than we think. Let us not forget that all honest labor is sacred, and may we greet each day with determination and each one with a smile.

The veil is drawn to-day, and we may not see, nor can we understand why we had that sickness, or why we had that sickness, or why we failed to accomplish.

But the shuttles are busy, for the loom is moving, and the web is growing, and we are a part of the plan.

Listen! The Master Hand is weaving, so wait for the light of the later years and the peep at the other side.

Appointed by Sandfield Macdonald.

It is interesting to note at the present time that there are still in harness twelve civil servants at the Parliament Buildings, Toronto, who were appointed by the John Sandfield Macdonald Government. They are: Messrs. J. F. C. Usher of the Registrar's Department; C. H. Sproule, Provincial Auditor; G. B. Kirkpatrick, head of the Survey Department; D. G. Ross and R. E. Brown, Crown Lands Department; F. J. Glackmeyer, Sergeant-at-Arms; A. H. Sydere, assistant Clerk of the House, all appointed in 1897; J. P. Edwards, Public Works Department, appointed in 1898; K. Tully of the same department, and Col. Delamere, Postmaster, appointed in 1899; Edwin Jenkinson of the Provincial Secretary's Department, and P. Simser of the Prisons Department, appointed in 1890.

Good After Dinner Speaker.

Mr. M. G. Cameron, who appears to have lost the election, in West Huron by a technicality, is a barrier well known in his home county. A son of Mr. M. C. Cameron, a former member for West Huron, he inherits a good deal of natural ability and a certain amount of the "glad hands" system, which, coupled with a naturally genial disposition, has made him a popular man. He was given charge some time ago of the consolidation of the Ontario Statutes. As an after-dinner speaker Mr. Cameron is favorably known. A characteristic speech of his is remembered in Goderich. Responding to "The Land We Live In," he began: "Mr. Chairman: I have been asked to reply to this toast, and have only five minutes. Why, sir, it would take longer than that for the lightning to flash across Canada's broad bosom!"

German Food Preservative.

The German War Department is experimenting in German Southwest Africa and China with a new food preservative, a sort of jelly. Sausages, any preserved meat or butter, is dipped in this melted jelly, which dries and forms a skin impervious to air. When peeled off months later it leaves the food as fresh as when prepared. It does not injure the food in any way. It costs the War Department about 1 cent for each pound of meat.

C. P. R. Engineer's Experience with Dodd's Kidney Pills.

They Brought Back His Strength When He Could Neither Rest Nor Sleep.

Winnipeg, Man., Jan. 6.—(Special).—Mr. Ben Rafferty, the well known C. P. R. engineer, whose home is at 175 Maple street, is one Winnipeg man who swears by Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"Long hours on the engine and the mental strain broke down my constitution," Mr. Rafferty says. "My back gave out entirely. Terrible, sharp, cutting pains followed one another, till I felt I was being sliced away piecemeal. I would come in tired to death from a run. My sole desire would be to get rest and sleep, and they were the very things I could not get. Finally I had to lay off work."

"Then I started to take Dodd's Kidney Pills, and the first night after using them I slept soundly. In three days I threw away the belt I have worn for years. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me."

The chances of success are enhanced by a smooth tongue.

HAWKES CUT GLASS

A yellow diamond makes a good show until compared with a white one, and Hawkes glass shows up the yellow in other cut glass when placed side by side. We can show you five other makes, Canadian and American, but Hawkes stands out in a class by itself. Come in and let us show you the difference, and it won't take long either. There is comparatively very little difference in the cost but oh what a difference in quality.

LIVELY PIONEER

Remarkable Record of Ex-warden Morrison yet in His Prime—Taught U. S. President Garfield

Ex-Warden Morrison is one of the oldest and most active men in the county. He passed his 80th year on Sunday last and is still in possession of all his faculties. Some idea of Mr. Morrison's force of character and the confidence his neighbors have in him may be gained from the fact that he was chosen by Alex. Dolsen, Perry Dolsen and John Smith as their arbitrator in connection with the opening of the 5th concession line across their farms.

Mr. Morrison's life is a history of hard work, but success flutters over it all. Born in Ireland, a younger son, he left his home when 17 and came to Canada. He learned the tanning trade with a relative at Chippewa, and afterwards went to school in Ohio. Some of his schoolmates went teaching, so he decided to follow their example. He was appointed schoolmaster in a settlement 20 miles from Cleveland. The school stood about forty rods from the house of Mrs. Garfield, mother of the ex-President of the United States, and James Garfield was one of Mr. Morrison's pupils. The veteran teacher lovingly refers to the martyr as "Jim."

Mr. Morrison afterwards returned to Chatham and taught school for a year, down the river. He was engaged to teach in the school on the Middle Road, and at the end of five years was drawing a salary of $500 per year, the record stipend in those days. Mr. Morrison married and settled on a farm on the Middle Road. In his own words he decided that "teaching was for the young man without a family, who could pack his trunk and move without trouble." Mr. Morrison sold his farm on the Middle Road and purchased one on the river, where he lived for many years. He has figured prominently in municipal life, being often reeve of Raleigh and frequently a member of the County Council. He has also figured on many arbitrations and has always been very successful. He represented Tilbury, the late Stephen White, Romney and Henry Smyth, and was the third arbitrator in an arbitration over drainage matters. Romney paid the costs.

Separate Church and State.
Paris, Feb. 10.—The Government's new bill, providing for the separation of church and State, was presented in the Chamber of Deputies yesterday amid applause, and was referred to a committee. The bill does not differ materially from the project of ex-Premier Combes.

80 CATTLE DIED

A Kent County farm on which 80 head of cattle are said to have died is the subject of a case to-day in the Court of Appeal.

John Chapleau exchanged the place, one containing 285 acres, to E. J. Pink, of St. Thomas, for property valued at $7,000. Pink, in turn, traded the farm to J. A. Robinson, barrister, St. Thomas, for real estate worth $6,500. Without seeing the farm at all, Robinson sold it to Louis Ullman, through Chapleau.

Ullman worked the farm, lost live stock, and sued Chapleau for credit. A Chatham jury gave Ullman $700 damages, the Divisional Court reversed the verdict, and the Appeal Court is now asked to step in.—Toronto Star.

NOT A "HOLD-UP"

Aldermen J. T. O'Keefe and Wm. Potter and County Commissioner Jas. Ross were to-day discussing the matter of the sale of the city's interest in Harrison Hall to the county.

"Well, I understand," remarked Mr. Ross in his canny Scotch style, "that the county wants $5,000 to let the city out."

Ald. Potter—That's a clear case of hold-up.

Mr. Ross—My good friend, I never use such harsh words as "hold up. They don't sound very nice."

The three gentlemen continued the discussion of the matter in an informal way.

All work warranted first class.

Common eastern steers sold at $2.50 to $2.75 per cwt. About 500 mixed cows and springers sold from $3.00 to $3.50 each. Good quality cows are in excellent demand.

Only a limited number of veal calves were offered, and prices were firm at $3.50 to $4.25 per cwt.

About 450 sheep and lambs sold at firm prices. Export ewes at $4.50 to $4.75; bucks at $3.50 to $4 per cwt; lambs at $3.75 to $4.40 per cwt.

The market for hogs is showing signs of weakness, although prices were unchanged at $5.50 for select and $5.25 for lights and fats. Mr. Harris bought 2,000 at these prices.

TOUR OF INSPECTION

The Heating Committee of the Public School Board visited Windsor and Detroit yesterday. In the morning they inspected Douglass St. School, a fine, new, 12-roomed building, heated by the direct-indirect steam radiation system. They also were shown through the Collegiate Institute, where the Smead system was displayed by the same steam system as in the other school. The amount of ventilation was tested and it was shown that the air was completely changed every 15 minutes.

The utmost courtesy was shown by several Windsor Trustees, and the Principals of both schools.

In the afternoon a visit was made to the Franklin school, in Detroit, where an old Chatham man, Mr. John Ross, is engineer. This school is heated by the fan steam system, and is a model in every respect.

The trustees also were shown the classes in wood working, cardboard, cooking and sewing. Both systems are much more economical than the Smead. The fuel cost per year, by steam, would be about $500 or $600, whereas now the Central School fuel bill is about $1,300 per year. Chairman Morley acted as guide in Windsor, while Trustee McArthur was pilot in Detroit.

SATCHEL OF THE SATELLITE

These postmortem appointments are dead.

Pretty Peggy is the best of the season.

There will be a market. That is on the square.

This winter seems to be composed mostly of wind.

The city wants to sell out to the county and avoid future trouble.

Naturally there is a good deal of bartering about that market building.

If you don't get a valentine, don't complain. It may be an ugly one you missed.

It's a good thing perhaps that the B. Mistake didn't have the making of that Cabinet.

Andrew Robson, of the Pretty Peggy Co., is no stranger here. He appeared in "The Royal Box" here two years ago.

Wouldn't it be grand if we could save up these gales for the hot days in summer and do without them now?

I wonder why Mr. Whitney didn't comply with the B. Mistake's wishes and put Gamey and Beattie Nesbitt in his Cabinet.

I know where I'll be next Monday night, and that won't be so far away from the Grand Opera House that I won't be able to see Pretty Peggy.

I see Matthew Martin has been appointed jailer, Sheriff Gemmill, who had the appointment, named one man. The defunct Government appointed another man.

LAI D TO REST

Deceased was united in marriage to Miss Leocoe in 1899, and was residing at Walkerville at the time of his death.

He leaves a wife, father and mother, two brothers and two sisters, and a large number of friends to mourn his loss.

ONE BOX OF DOAN'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED DROPSY.

Dropsy is not a disease in itself, as many people believe, but is an evidence of very severe kidney trouble. Dropsy is caused by watery particles oozing through the walls of the arteries when they are distended by unusual pressure, which can only be caused by obstructions in the kidneys. The symptoms of Dropsy are puffiness under the eyes, swelling of the feet and ankles, urine changed in character and appearance, smothering feeling from exertion or excitement. The only rational method of treating this disease is to reach the kidneys and restore them to a healthy condition.

The most successful remedy for this purpose is Doan's Kidney Pills. Read what Miss Agnes Creelman, Upper Smithville, N.S., says of them:—"I caught a cold, which settled in my kidneys, and turned to dropsy. My face, limbs, and feet became bloated, and if I pressed my finger on them it would make a white impression that would last fully a minute before the flesh regained its natural color. I was advised to try Doan's Kidney Pills, and found by their use that I was cured in a very short time. I have never had any trouble with it since."

Price 60 cents per box, or 3 for $1.25.

Two Kinds of Dairying.

John Smith and Tom Jones are both in dairying somewhat. They don't both dairy alike, although both seem to be doing quite well. Smith keeps cows expressly for milk. He sells his calves at $4 to $6 per head, pours his separated milk to his hogs and churns his cream into butter, which he ships to some eastern market.

Jones doesn't sell his calves but buys Smith's calves. He doesn't feed his separated milk to the hogs; he feeds it to the calves, including what he bought of Smith and others till he averages about two calves per cow. He supplements it with oil meal, corn meal, etc., and the fall after they are yearlings they weigh 700 to 800 pounds, while he is churning and selling his butter much after the manner of Smith. Some may say this is a dream, but Jones actually does it here in Iowa, on land worth $35 an acre.

I still think that for most country dairymen the dual purpose cow pays. Even, if she shouldn't much more than pay her keep in butter, the calves at an average of $6 or more per cow with about $16 off for feed, will figure the balance on the right side. But a little pains will get a herd of cows that will bring both milk and calves in paying veins. Smith says it doesn't pay to raise cows. He can buy good, young grade cows with calf at side for $30 to $50. What if one happens to prove a poor milk cow? He turns her dry and converts her into another cow.—Correspondent American Agriculturist.

Correll and Carnegie.

Marie Correll's opposition to the opening of a Carnegie library in Stratford-on-Avon, has proved fruitless, but a recent letter shows her opinion of the philanthropist. Referring to the fact of Carnegie's remaining in Scotland during the Homestead riots, she says: "That he remained quiescent, inactive, and only expressed his regret when the mischief was done implies that all the cruel business was carried on with his tacit knowledge and consent. For in the course of four months he must certainly have received both letters and telegrams disclosing the real state of things at his works. The part he played in the affair is openly set forth in a volume entitled 'Homestead,' by Arthur Burgoyne, published in Pittsburgh in 1893. I admit that my sympathies are with the working men rather than with their 'sweaters.' Those huge fortunes are made out of accumulated human suffering; and I repeat that any man whose mercenary policy brings about such results as are disclosed in this book 'Homestead' is unworthy to be associated, either in name or memory with the street where England's greatest poet was born. I stick to my guns, and I should like to see a copy of Mr. Burgoyne's book in every 'Carnegie' free library."

Shut In.

A shipbuilder tells of an Irishman who sought employment as a diver in the service of one of the shipbuilding companies.

The first job to which the Irishman was assigned was to be performed in comparatively shallow water. He was provided with a pick and told to use it on a ledge below.

Mike was put into a diver's suit and, with his pick, was sent down to tackle the ledge. For about fifteen minutes nothing was heard from him. Then came a strong, determined, deliberate pull on the signal rope, indicating that Mike had a very decided wish to come to the top. The assistants hastily pulled him to the raft and removed his helmet.

"Take off the rest of it," said Mike.

"Why, what's the matter?" asked they.

"Take off the rest of it," doggedly reiterated Mike. "I'll wurk no longer on a job where I can't spit on my hands."

The Farm Wood Lot.

Just now there is a demand for timber of nearly all kinds, and many farmers are selling everything they have that is marketable. This is in most cases a very unwise policy.

The wood lot should be a part of every well conducted farm and, if properly treated, may be made a very profitable part. There is nothing to be made, as a rule, by keeping trees after they have reached maturity, as then they will soon begin to deteriorate, but it is a decidedly poor policy to sacrifice the most young trees merely because some one offers a good price for them.

Timber values are not likely to shrink, and the farmer and the rest of the world will need lumber and fire-wood as much ten or twenty years from now as they do to-day and more.—Cor. Farm Journal.

Silkworm Weavers.

Some ambitious silkworms of the neighborhood of Venice have woven by themselves a ribbon three yards long and three inches wide. When they reached the chrysalis stage, according to The Indianapolis News, instead of weaving round cocoons on the twigs prepared for them they preferred to travel up and down the smooth upper side of a strip of wood nine feet long and three inches wide. Back and forth they went, spinning their silken web until at last they made a beautiful ribbon, transparent in its centre and golden yellow at the heavier edges. The scarf is amazingly strong for a fabric so delicately woven.

Decayed Trees.

A treatment recommended for old trees having large holes in them caused by decay following the removal of a large branch is to fill the hole with coal ashes well tamped down, finishing with about an inch of cement mortar. The ashes will take up the moisture, and the cement keeps out the rain and insects and checks further decay to a considerable extent. The treatment improves the appearance of old trees and lengthens their lives.

BRITAIN ALWAYS LOSES.

It is a So Far Have Not Favored the Method of Arbitration—Some of the Cases Decided.

The experience of Great Britain in the Arbitration Courts of International disputes has not, in the past, proved satisfactory. That war is a barbarous method of settling disputes between nations few will deny, and these few will not number amongst them either those who have experienced its realities, or are cognizant of the subsequent misery it carries in its train. We deplore the advent of war, and in the great cause of Christianity and civilization we are ready to record our votes for the arbitral principle as a means of settling disputes between nations, but we cannot ignore the results which have accrued to ourselves from the awards of arbiters in the past.

In the year 1822 a difference of opinion arose between Great Britain and the United States as to the interpretation to be placed upon certain clauses in the Treaty of Ghent, signed in the year 1814. The arbiters were the reigning Emperor of Russia, and his award was in favor of the United States. In 1869 a dispute arose between Great Britain and Brazil over the question of compensation claimed by the former for the unwarrantable seizure of the persons of three officers belonging to her late Majesty's ship Forte. The arbiters were then the King of Belgium, and his decision was in favor of Brazil. Within six years of the last mentioned case—in 1869—a dispute arose between Great Britain and Portugal as to their priority of claim to the Island of Bulama, lying off the West Coast of Africa. The arbiters agreed upon was the President of the United States, Ulysses S. Grant, and his award handed the possession of the Island over to Portugal.

One year later—in 1870—Great Britain claimed compensation from the Argentine Republic on behalf of certain of her subjects who had suffered loss during the war between the latter and the Republic of Uruguay. The Argentine Republic denied any liability, and it was mutually agreed to submit the question to the decision of the President of the Chilean Republic, Jose Joaquin Perez. He gave his award in favor of Argentina.

In the year 1871, during the war between the Federal and Confederate States of America, the cruiser "Albatross" was built and fitted out in England, and allowed to proceed on her course of destruction upon Federal commerce, notwithstanding representations made by the Federal States as to her true character and purpose. This constituted a breach of neutrality, which Great Britain did not deny, and the amount of compensation was left to the decision of a tribunal composed of a representative of Italy, Brazil, Great Britain, and the United States. The award, from which the British representative alone dissented as excessive, was that Great Britain was condemned to pay the enormous sum of £2,800,000 sterling, and what is infinitely to her credit, she paid it without undue delay.

In the year 1875 Great Britain and Portugal both claimed possession of Delagoa Bay and the adjoining territory. It was agreed to leave the settlement of the question of ownership to the decision of the late Marquis MacMahon, at that time the President of the French Republic, who issued his award in favor of Portugal. Without going back a quarter of a century and questioning the rectitude of the arbiters' decision, recent events in South Africa must bring home to all of us the far-reaching consequences of this award. Had the arbiters' award been in favor of ourselves, who can say that the dispersion of a race, the squandering of millions of money upon war and warlike preparations, and the deaths of thousands of brave men.

Britain's effort in the cause of peace—efforts which may be justly termed sacrifices—are forgotten or ignored, while the nation so much in evidence at The Hague Conference has entered on a war which her diplomacy rendered inevitable.

The Bad Cold of To-day May Be Pneumonia To-morrow.

The Sore Throat or Tickling Cough that, to the careless, seems but a temporary and trivial annoyance, may develop into Bronchitis.

Every hour delayed in curing a cold is dangerous.

Dr. Wood's Norway
Pine Syrup

contains all the lung-healing virtues of the pine tree, and is a sure cure for Coughs, Colds, and all throat and lung troubles. Miss Bertha E. Craig, Almont, Ont., says:—"Last fall, for over two months, I had a very bad cold, and although I tried several remedies, it seemed as if I was getting worse instead of better. While looking over the Burdock Blood Bitters Almanac, I read about Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and decided to give it a trial. When I had used about half a bottle, I found it was doing me good, so kept on until I had taken two bottles. It is the best cure for a cold I ever heard of."

DR. A. GOLDBERG.
The possessor of 14 diplomas and certificates, whose methods other Detroit specialists try to imitate.

Ever since locating in Detroit many years ago, I have frequently called attention to the fact, that while some specialists advertise 25 or more years' experience, they do so for advertising purposes in order to mislead the public; the founders of these institutes are dead; while the present owners could buy the furniture and the right to practice under the old name, they could not buy their predecessors' brains.

How many of you have paid you hard-earned dollars to these concerns with the expectation of receiving services from specialists who have 25 or more years' experience, but when you called at their offices you were treated by some other doctor than whose picture you saw in the paper? And how many of you saw the same doctor more than once, but each time a different one? Remember, I am doing business on my own reputation and each time you call you see me personally.

TAKING AN AIR BATH.

An Opportunity Given to Allow the Skin to Breathe.

It must be remembered that we rarely if ever give our skin the opportunity to breathe properly. Our perverted condition in regard to heavy, unventilated and very often restricted clothing has given us a skin that is constantly moist, clammy and cold to the touch, or else it is dry and dead and can be rubbed off by the hand with little effort. Restricted clothing not only damages the lungs and internal vital organs of the body, but causes the circulation to the skin to become stagnant and poor. A great many ills that we do not understand are caused by the unhygienic practice of smothering the skin.

Give your body an air bath! Reanimate your skin! This is a splendid time to begin the habit of doing so, since a "cold" need not be feared at this time of the year, and you will strengthen the skin against the more severe season. Exposure and drafts against the body is a superstition more or less. The winter has often stood before a cold draft taking an air bath in winter, and the practice has yielded a day's tonic to the body that cannot be explained, but must be tried upon one's own person to be understood and appreciated.

Open your windows wide and exercise until the pores have become awake. Then let the cool, fresh morning air play upon your body, lying down if you desire. It will be a treat that you will never want to miss again. It acts as a delightful tonic to the nerves. There is no better medicine for weak, nervous people than the air bath. The very blood tingles with the unaccustomed freedom of the body and its contact with the energizing air.

Oratory in the Campaign.

Oratory as a compelling force in a political campaign is duly appreciated by the party managers, who are on the lookout for every resource that will add to their vote getting power. The spell-binder who is clever enough to size up the temper of his audience and who knows just what to say to the ones about him on any and all occasions is supposed to be worth all his services cost the campaign committee. As a student of the subject has put it, the most convincing address is one that has profundity without obscurity, perspicuity without prolixity, ornament without glare, terseness without barrenness, comprehension without digression and a great number of other things without a great number of other things. But a rare speaker with and without all these things is a rare specimen. There is never enough of him to go around.

Don't Drown! Wear an Eskakin.

A colored man in a South street fish market was skinning eels recently, and as he removed the skins with a pair of pinchers he carefully placed them to one side. "What do you do with them?" asked an inquisitive bystander. "I send them to my brother down at Atlantic City," was the reply. "He sells them to colored people on the beach for 5 cents apiece. You know an eskakin is a sure preventive against cramps. If you wrap one around your ankle before you go in bathing you need have no fear of drowning. Maybe white people don't believe in this, but colored folks do, and my brother can sell more eskakins during the bathing hour than he can supply."

A SCHOOL FOR SPIDERS.

The insects taught to weave their webs only on bottles.

"This is my spiders' school," said the young woman, and with a little stick she brushed a few webs from the wall. "Not much to look at, is it? Only a dozen rows of wine bottles, a great many spiders and a great many webs. I make nevertheless a little money out of the school."

"Spiders' webs are in demand among surgeons and among the makers of certain astronomical instruments, the surgeons using them to stop hemorrhages with and the instrument makers using them in certain very delicate instruments—instruments wherein, strange to say, a human hair would not take their place, because a hair is neither fine enough nor durable enough to serve the required purpose."

"Besides selling the webs I also sell the spiders. A corrupt class of wine dealers buy the spiders. These men put them among bottles of new wine. I train the spiders to weave on bottles only—I tear down webs woven anywhere else—and it is amazing how quickly these well schooled pupils of mine will cover a case of port or claret with cobwebs, giving to the wine an appearance of great age."

"Six spiders in a week will add two years to the aspect of a dozen bottles of wine; hence you will readily see how valuable the ugly little creatures are to wine merchants of a certain type."

HE TOOK HIS WIFE'S ADVICE

Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets Cured The Stomach Trouble That Confined Henry A. Coles to His Bed.

One of the unpleasant features of Indigestion and Dyspepsia is that it always keeps getting worse. Take the case of Henry A. Coles, of St. Mary's River, Guy-boro Co., N. S. He says:

"I had Stomach Trouble for about five years, more or less, and at last I was taken to my bed and the doctor called in. He did me no good. I was suffering a great deal and did not know what to do."

Everyone must admit Mr. Coles was in a bad way. But that's what Indigestion leads to if you neglect it. But if Mr. Coles did not know what to do, his wife did. She said, "Try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets." Like a wise man he took his wife's advice, and of the result he says:

"I took seven boxes, and I have not felt any of the trouble since. I heartily recommend Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets to any sufferer from Stomach Trouble. They cured me."

The Increase of Disease.

In New York Dr. Biggs finds that during twenty years there has been a great increase in the acute respiratory diseases, cancer and diseases of the circulatory apparatus and the kidneys. The increase in cancer amounts to about 15 per cent and the increase in the acute respiratory diseases amounts to about 15 per cent, while the increase in the diseases of the circulatory apparatus and kidneys combined equals about 40 per cent. The profoundly important question still remains unsolved as to the causes of these increases and then of the methods of obviating them.

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. A Dose of His Own Medicine.

Gus Danguisse, a resident of Portland, Ore., was brought before Justice Hoyne of the municipal court charged with ill treating his wife. The evidence showed that he had choked the woman brutally. The court directed Officer Goets, an immensely powerful man, to choke the prisoner, in order that he might have practical knowledge of how his wife suffered. The officer obeyed with a will, holding the wife beater until the brutal fellow became limp. Then Justice Hoyne sentenced him to thirty days in jail.

MISS PAULINE JOHNSON

INDIAN GIRL WHOSE TALENT IS RECOGNIZED ON TWO CONTINENTS.

Critic Confesses Disappointment, However, Over Her Latest Collection of Verses, "Canadian Born"—Her Earlier Work Still Her Best—Subject and Emotions Portrayed Are in Keeping With the Poet's Patriotic Tilt.

"Canadian Born" is the title of a new collection of verse by Miss Pauline Johnson, says The Globe. The frontispiece is an interesting full-length portrait of the Indian girl whose talent has been recognized in two continents. We had looked, however, to seeing the level of her work sustained. It is not heightened, by the passing years, and must confess to a genuine feeling of disappointment that the collection at hand gives so little evidence of a finer imaginative vision and more cultivated poetic diction. There is nothing here comparable in passion with the "Cry of an Indian Wife," "The Song, My Paddle Sings," and "Shadow River," and it would be unfair to the poet to say otherwise. There are about thirty poems in the book, in subject and emotion, for the greater part, in keeping with the patriotic title. The first stanza of "Canadian Born" reads:

MISS PAULINE JOHNSON.

"We first saw light in Canada, the land beloved of God;
We are the pulse of Canada, its marrow and its blood;
And we, the men of Canada, can face the world and brag
That we were born in Canada, beneath the British flag."

This is good stuff with which to inflame the hearts of our youth, but it isn't poetry. Of a more truculent order is "The Riders of the Plains," beginning with the lines:

"Who is it lacks the knowledge? Who are the cubs that dare
To whine and snarl that they do not fear
The whole in the lion's lair?
But we of the North will answer, while life in the North remains:
Let the cubs beware lest the whelps they dare
Are the Riders of the Plains:
For these are the kind whose muscle makes
The power of the lion's law,
And they keep the peace of our people and the honor of British law."

The passion and melancholy of her people is what the poet voices best, and we have an excellent example of this in "The Corn Husker," which we quote below:

"Hard by the Indian lodges, where the bush
Breaks in a clearing through ill-fated fields,
The corn to labor, when the first still
Of autumn follows large and recent yields."

"Age in her fingers, hunger in her face,
Her shoulders stooped with weight of work and years,
But rich in the gliding of her face,
She comes afield to strip the purple ears."

"And all her thoughts are with the days gone by
The night's injustice banished from their lands
Her people, that to-day unheeded lie,
Like dead husks that rustle through her hands."

This, of course, must be taken as an excess of poetical license, not a statement of fact. Of the same genre is "Silhouette," picturing a redman shorn of the rights of his forebears. "At Half Mast" is a short narrative written in dialect. There is a legend or two, and then we come upon a charming lyric, on page 34, melodious in rhythm, and rich in feeling. But a greater surprise awaits us. At the close of the book, as compensation for much that has preceded it, appears "The Art of Anna Todema," and we read, with returning confidence in the poet's gift, such lines as below:

"The music of these marbles you can hear
In every crevice, where the deep green stains
Have smitten when the grey days of the Spilled leisurely their warm, incessant rains."

"That, lingering, forgot to leave the ledge,
But drenched into the seams, smelt the
Of ages, leaving but the silent pledge
To waken to the wonder of his brush."

Italian Tobacco System in Japan.

The infinite adaptability of Japan to western civilization recently received another striking illustration, says The London Globe. Last year a commission of Japanese administrators was sent to Italy to study the system upon which the Italian tobacco monopoly was organized. The result was so satisfactory that the commission reported that it would be suitable for adoption in the Mikado's Dominions. The Italian Minister of Finance has received a communication from the Japanese Minister of Finance announcing that the Italian system is now at work throughout Japan and is working admirably.

Infantile Care.

"Does the baby have a nurse?"
"Oh, yes."
"But who takes care of him when his mother is away?"

THEORIES ABOUT FOOD

Also a Few Facts on the Same Subject.

We hear much nowadays about health foods and hygienic living, about vegetarianism and many other fads along the same line.

Restaurants may be found in the large cities where no meat, pastry or coffee is served and the foodcrank is in his glory, and arguments and theories galore advanced to prove that meat was never intended for human stomachs, and almost make us believe that our sturdy ancestors who lived four score years in robust health on roast beef, pork and mutton must have been grossly ignorant of the laws of health.

Our forefathers had other things to do than formulate theories about the food they ate. A warm welcome was extended to any kind from bacon to accorns.

A healthy appetite and common sense are excellent guides to follow in matters of diet, and a mixed diet of grains, fruits and meats is undoubtedly the best.

As compared with grains and vegetables, meat furnishes the most nutriment in a highly concentrated form and is digested and assimilated more quickly than vegetables and grains.

Dr. Julius Remmonson on this subject says: Nervous persons, people run down in health and of low vitality should eat meat and plenty of it. If the digestion is too feeble at first it may be easily corrected by the regular use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal. Two of these excellent tablets taken after dinner will digest several thousand grains of meat, eggs or other animal food in three hours, and no matter how weak the stomach may be, no trouble will be experienced if regular practice is made of using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, because they supply the pepsin and diastase necessary to perfect digestion, and every form of indigestion will be overcome by their use.

That large class of people who come under the head of nervous dyspeptics should eat plenty of meat and insure its proper digestion, by the daily use of a safe, harmless digestive medicine like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets composed of the natural digestive principles, pepsin, mastic, fruit acids, and salts, which actually perform the work of digestion. Cheap cathartic medicines, masquerading under the name of "dyspepsia cures" are useless for indigestion as they have absolutely no effect upon the actual digestion of food.

Dyspepsia in all its many forms is simply a failure of the stomach to digest food, and the sensible way to solve the riddle and cure the dyspepsia is to make daily use at meal time of a preparation like Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which is endorsed by the medical profession and known to contain active digestive principles. All druggists sell Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at 50 cents for full treatment.

Given Hard Labor.

Windsor, Feb. 9.—Lodema Beaver, the Flying Roll disciple, was sentenced by Judge Horne to two months' imprisonment at hard labor in the county jail for spreading obscene literature on the public streets of Windsor. The Israelite colonists both in Windsor and Detroit say they will call down vengeance on Judge Horne.

The publisher of the best Farmers' paper in the Maritime Provinces in writing to us states:

"I would say that I do not know of a medicine that has stood the test of time like MINARD'S LINIMENT. It has been an unfailing remedy in our household ever since I can remember, and has outlived dozens of would-be competitors and imitations."

To stamp out an evil it is sometimes necessary to be well healed.

HOW FORESTS GROW

THERE ARE TWO GREAT TYPES, THE PURE AND MIXED.

One of the Marvelous Feats of Nature is the Balancing of Conditions Where Trees of Different Habits Enter the Struggle for Existence.

The laws which govern the distribution of trees produce the two great types, the pure and the mixed forest. The former is the result of local conditions which trees of one kind only can survive.

In the North woods the balsam occupies the swamps, usually to the exclusion of all competitors, since no other of the native trees can thrive in wet places. In the Black Hills and other parts of the middle west the small demands of the bull pine upon moisture enable it to form pure woods on a soil too dry to support other native trees. The jack pine of the New Jersey barrens and the long leaf pine of the southern states grow in pure or nearly pure stands since they alone can withstand the peculiar conditions of these regions.

Where climate and soil are favorable to various trees we find the mixed forest, the number of species in mixture depending upon the suitability of the locality to forest growth.

Upon the hardwood flats of the Adirondacks the hard maple, the yellow birch and the beech are the only deciduous trees able to withstand the severe climate. In the southern Appalachian forests, where the trees of the north and south meet under conditions favorable to both, we find more than 100 different kinds.

The distribution of trees, therefore, is the joint result of local conditions and of the individual and varying requirements of the different species upon moisture, soil and climate. The laws, however, which govern forest distribution are not identical with those which regulate the behavior of trees in mixture. They do not explain why each species, if undisturbed, maintains the same proportion in the mixed forest. Why does not the hard maple drive out its competitors in the Adirondacks, the oak gain the upper hand in the forests of the southern Appalachians, the red fir exterminate the western hemlock on the Pacific slope?

Wherever a mixed forest occurs there is an unrelenting struggle going on. Let us see how the combatants are armed and why the representation of each species remains unchanged.

The more important of the characteristics which affect the capacity of a tree to hold its own in mixture with trees of other kinds are its demands upon light, its rate of growth and its power of reproduction. No two species require an equal amount of light, grow at the same rate or are identical in their capacity to reproduce themselves. The endowment of each, with habits differing from those of its neighbors, but with strength and weakness so balanced that all which occur in mixture enter the struggle for existence upon an equal footing, is one of the marvelous feats of nature.

The red spruce of the North woods, through its ability to endure dense shade, has been given the power to hold its own against faster growing competitors, some of which exceed it greatly in their capacity to reproduce themselves. The young spruces which spring up here and there throughout the forest struggle along under the heavy crowns of the hard woods, where a tree making more insistent demands upon light could not survive.

In the forests of the southern Appalachians the oak is in many localities the characteristic tree. Growing rapidly and exceedingly hardy, it might be expected to increase steadily its proportion in the mixture. The equilibrium is maintained through the fact that the oak can endure but little shade and that its seed is heavy, limiting its reproduction to the immediate vicinity of the parent tree.

In the same region the yellow poplar and the chestnut, both trees which grow rapidly and are capable of enduring considerable shade, are controlled, the one because much of its seed is barren, the other because many of the nuts are eaten by animals. And the red cedar, of slow growth and sparse representation, is aided through the distribution of its seeds by birds, with their power to germinate unimpaired.

The aspen, short lived and requiring much light, holds its own with longer lived and shade enduring trees because its downy seed is produced in great quantities and is scattered far and wide by the wind. The ash and the basswood, of rapid growth and bearing an abundance of seed, are withheld by strong demands upon light and by the seed of a fresh and fertile soil. The red fir, equaled by few North American trees in rapidity of growth and otherwise well equipped to gain the upper hand in its region, is controlled through the usual failure of its seed to germinate except when accident has removed the leaf litter and exposed the mineral soil.

The study of trees as living, striving organisms in a world of their own leads an almost human interest in the forest. Every day spent in the woods will be the pleasantest for some insight gained into what is going on within it, and an earnest observer can gain knowledge of practical value by an attempt to discover the factors which control the occurrence of trees in mixture. Forestry, which deals with the development of the highest utility of forests, means a thorough understanding of the habits of trees.—Overton V. Price in Youth's Companion.

There is entirely too much time taken up every day trying to help those who make up their minds who don't know what they want.

ITS MERIT IS PROVED

RECORD OF A GREAT MEDICINE

A Prominent Montreal Woman Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Completely Cured Her.

The great good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is doing among the women of America is attracting the attention of many leading scientists, and thinking people generally.

Mrs. M. A. C. Letellier.

The following letter is only one of many thousands which are on file in the Pinkham office, and go to prove beyond question that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound must be a remedy of great merit, otherwise it could not produce such marvellous results among sick and ailing women:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham—
"Soon after my marriage my health began to decline. My appetite failed me; I was unable to sleep, and I became very nervous and had shooting pains through the abdomen and pelvic organs with bearing-down pains and constant headaches, causing me much misery. The monthly periods became more and more painful, and I became a burden and expense to my family instead of a help and pleasure. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured me within three months. Soon after I began using it I felt a change for the better, and at the time of my next period I noticed a great difference, and the pain gradually diminished until I was well. I am stronger and look better than I did before I was married, and there is great rejoicing in the house over the wonders your medicine worked."—Mrs. M. A. C. Letellier, 739 Cadieux St., Montreal, Quebec.

If you have suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness of the stomach, indigestion, bloating, leucorrhoea, flooding, nervous prostration, dizziness, faintness, "don't-care" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feeling, excitability, backache or the blues, these are sure indications of female weakness, some derangement of the uterus or ovarian trouble. In such cases there is one tried and true remedy—Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

LARGE FUNERAL

The funeral of the late Miss Charlotte Hox took place this afternoon from her late home, Head street, to the Maple Lead cemetery, Rev. A. M. MacGillivray, pastor of the First Church, officiating.

Miss Hox's untimely death—she being but 19 years of age—is mourned by a very large circle of friends, as shown by the floral tributes, which were very numerous and beautiful. Much sympathy also is expressed for the bereaved father and mother and the remaining children, Misses Muriel and Martha and Master Willie.

The funeral, although private, was largely attended by friends of deceased. The choir boys of Christ Church were present and sang two favorite hymns of deceased, "Art Thou Ready," and "Peace, Perfect Peace." The pall bearers were Bob Tobey, James Trotter and Will Foreman, of this city; R. Oudmore, of Detroit; P. Bannan, of Glenheim, and K. Duncan, of Thamesville.

STRIKERS' BLOOD FLOWS

Sosnovice Scene of Latest Bloody Russian Conflict.

Fifteen or Fifty Were Killed and Thirty-Five Were Wounded—Barrage of Another Collision At the Nifka Mine in Which 150 Persons Were Killed—Another Governor Slain By the Strikers At Moscow.

Berlin, Feb. 10.—Press despatches from Sosnovice describe the bloody character of the conflict between the military and strikers at the Katherinen Iron Works. One correspondent telegraphs that 15 persons were killed and 35 wounded, while another gives the number killed at 50. The military fired eight volleys. Another collision occurred at Nifka mine, beyond Modrzew, where it is rumored 150 persons were killed. A third collision occurred yesterday afternoon near Milovice, but this affair was bloodless. It was feared that numerous outbreaks would take place last night in various parts of the strike district of Russian Poland, since strikers were gathering in groups, gesticulating and talking in a threatening manner.

Another Governor Slain.

London, Feb. 10.—Special despatches from Warsaw, published in the morning papers here, report the death of Governor-General Tcheretkoff of the Province of Warsaw, who was wounded in the encounter between the troops and the strikers.

It Looked Grave.

Lodz, Feb. 10.—At several establishments the strikers yesterday were paid three days wages as an advance, although it was claimed that nothing was legally due them. The managers of Heintzel's mill refused to pay anything, and the workmen threatened to wreck the place. The military prepared to fire, and for a moment the situation was grave, but the management yielded. Another manager refused payment, but at the point of a revolver was compelled to promise payment to-day. Employers are paying only as a method of expediency. There were serious disturbances yesterday at Pabianice. The troops fired on the workmen, killing one and wounding two.

More Trouble Due.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—The men in two more factories, one of which is a small concern, employing only 300 hands, ceased work yesterday and more are expected to join the strikers. The renewal of the strike, however, has not yet assumed a threatening form. At the Putiloff Works about one-third of the force are said to have quit work at the expiration of the night shift. Two battalions of troops are stationed at the works. Four other establishments are idle.

Gives Great Satisfaction.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—M. Witte's policy favoring the widest discussion of the reforms, is giving the greatest satisfaction. It is understood that Privy Councillor Kobeko will summon a conference of editors before proceeding to discuss the press reforms and the Metropolitan of St. Petersburg is convoking ministers of all creeds prior to the consideration of a special committee of the point in Emperor Nicholas' ukase dealing with religious tolerance. The liberality and energy displayed by M. Witte in directing the whole question of reform has startled the reactionaries.

BEFORE THAW TAKES PLACE.

Oyama and Kuropatkin Will Clash Before Country Is a Bog.

Tokio, Feb. 10.—The impression prevails here that the impending battle between the armies of Field Marshal Oyama and Gen. Kuropatkin will occur before any material thaw takes place, which would convert the country into a slush bog and render the movement of guns, ammunition and stores impossible until the roads harden.

The Emperor and Empress of Japan have given 100,000 yen ($49,000) to the army and navy departments to purchase wings and decorations for the celebration of the national holiday, which will take place on Saturday next, Feb. 11.

Vice-President Tokohashi of the Bank of Japan, will leave for America and England, via Vancouver, on Feb. 17, to hold preliminary conferences with financiers of those countries regarding terms of a fourth domestic loan. Minister of Finance Yohshiro is arranging to meet Japanese bankers and capitalists on Feb. 18, to discuss the rate of interest and time for which this loan will run.

To Replace Kuropatkin.

Berlin, Feb. 10.—The Lokal Anzeiger says it learns that Grand Duke Nicholas will, in a few days, be sent to Manchuria, either to relieve General Kuropatkin or be vice-roy, and that Kuropatkin will have to report to him. Prince Leopold of Prussia, it is added, will go with him. Emperor Nicholas, it is understood, telegraphed an invitation to Prince Leopold. The latter intended to go to Manchuria as an observer in September last, but the Siberian Railroad was then regarded as unsafe.

Year's Review of the War.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—Reviewing the twelve months of the war, the newspapers, with the single exception of The Nashchik, do not display discouragement, though they frankly record the almost unbroken series of reverses.

Lamsdorff Canceled It.

St. Petersburg, Feb. 10.—M. Souvorov, editor of The Novoe Vremya, in a pessimistic review of the first year of the war, in yesterday's issue of his paper, attributes the responsibility for the Russian disasters, firstly, to Foreign Minister Lamsdorff, formerly Viceroy of Asia, and Baron Rosen, late Russian Minister to Japan, whom he accuses of drawing

Russia into a terrible war by complete ignorance of the true state of affairs in the Far East. M. Souvorov declares the reason for the fall of Port Arthur before the complete exhaustion of its means of resistance was the death of Major-Gen Kondratenko, "who was the real hero of the defence of the fortress, and who filled both the civil and military men with courage, while Lieut.-Gen. Stessel only manifested civil courage."

MINE SHAFTS SEALED.

Five Men Buried in Mine and Without Doubt Are Dead—Smothering by the Fire.

Calumet, Mich., Feb. 10.—All shafts at the North Kearsage branch of the Osceola Consolidated Mining Company, where 10,000 pounds of dynamite exploded Wednesday, have been sealed at the surface. There have been no developments since the rescue party left the mine Wednesday. Not one body has been recovered, and at least five men are buried in the mine. They are dead beyond the slightest doubt. A drill boy, who was burned by escaping steam, is dying. The hospital at the mine is crowded with injured and the mine officials are besieged by relatives of the injured and missing miners. As all the openings into the mine are sealed, the fire will eventually be smothered, but when it will be possible to open any of the shafts cannot be said.

Broken Rail Causes Disaster.

Des Moines, Ia., Feb. 10.—Two men were killed, 24 persons were injured, eight passenger cars and engines are piled in the ditch, and a 200-foot bridge wrecked as the result of a broken rail on the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, near Melbourne, yesterday.

Many Killed in Explosion.

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 10.—A report has just reached this city that many persons were killed in an explosion at the Birmingham Powder Mills, five miles north of Birmingham. The shock of the explosion was felt for miles.

Nineteen Severely Injured.

New York, Feb. 10.—Nineteen persons were seriously injured in a rear-end collision between two trains on the Third Avenue elevated road at the 149th street station in the Bronx last night. One of the injured will probably die and another's recovery is doubtful.

Rescued 20 From Steamer.

New York, Feb. 10.—After having collided with and sunk the Norwegian steamer Leif Erikssen, off Cape Romaine, Fla., in a dense fog on Feb. 4, the Standard Oil Company's steamer City of Everett, returned to this port yesterday, bringing twenty of the crew of the sunken steamer.

Aged Woman Burned.

Otterville, Feb. 10.—A terrible accident happened to Mrs. Robert Tichbourne of this village about five o'clock yesterday afternoon, which will likely cause her death. She was lighting a fire with coal oil when her clothing became ignited, burning her terribly. Mrs. Tichbourne is over 70 years of age.

The Sixth Victim.

Langton, Feb. 10.—John Gee, another victim of the terrible saw mill explosion a few weeks ago, has succumbed to his injuries. This makes a total of six killed in this disaster. Mr. Gee was highly respected. He leaves a widow and family.

Hockey Player Killed.

Pembroke, Feb. 10.—During a hockey match here last night between Mackie & Ryan and Delahay & Company Robert Fraser, aged 18, son of Mr. Robert Fraser, fell on the ice, breaking his neck. He died instantly.

Dr. Heggie's Narrow Escape.

Brampton, Feb. 10.—About one o'clock yesterday morning the Brampton Conservator printing office was pretty severely scorched. The inside woodwork was entirely burned, and the type badly pied, but the presses were not seriously damaged. The fire originated under the stairway, and Dr. D. L. Heggie, who was trying to locate the fire, fell through the burnt stairway into the blaze. How he escaped being burned to death is miraculous. The loss will be probably $3,000; fully insured.

CHURCHES GET TOGETHER.

Presbyterian Bodies in India United Into One Assembly.

New York, Feb. 10.—Information has been received by the board of foreign missions of the Presbyterian Church in this city that the Presbyterian Churches in India have been united into one general assembly, after a series of meetings at Allahabad. The news comes from Principal A. H. Ewing of the Allahabad Christian College. The churches included are:

The Church of Scotland, United Free Church of Scotland, Presbyterian Church of Ireland, Presbyterian Church in the United States of America, Reformed (Dutch) Church of America, and Presbyterian Church of Canada.

They have 33 Presbyteries and 332 churches, and a total community of 73,083.

Snow Stops Legislatures.

Montreal, Feb. 10.—A despatch from Charlottetown states that the storm there was so severe Wednesday that all trains and boats were hung up. As a result the members of the Legislature were unable to reach the capital, and as there was not a quorum here for the opening of the session, it had to be adjourned for a week.

Lieut.-Governor MacKinnon reached the capital in time by trudging in on snowshoes. The storm also delayed the opening of the Nova Scotia Legislature, which was to have been opened yesterday afternoon. So many members were snowbound that the opening was postponed till to-day.

SOME Bargains in Sweaters

We picked up a lot of manufacturers' samples of sweaters the other day, about 15 dozen in the lot.

We got a snap, and so will you at the prices we have put on them, if you see anything to suit you.

There's a saving of a full third in every case, and some are marked even lower than that. There are both men's and boys sizes in all kinds of fancy patterns, no two alike, and the prices run from 35c to $2.00 exposes for sale, or who packs for export, applies by the box otherwise than in accordance with the foregoing provisions of this section shall be liable, on summary conviction, to a penalty of 25 cents for each box of apples so offered or exposed for sale or packed.

8.) When apples are packed in boxes or barrels having trays or fillers wherein it is intended to have a separate compartment for each apple, then the provisions of section 4 and 4a shall not apply.

Mr. Fisher added two important amendments to the resolution, one that the legislation should apply only to boxes for the export trade, and the other that the clause should not come into force till June 1, 1906.

After some explanation and discussion, Mr. Fisher moved that the committee rise and report progress. The House went into Committee of Supply, taking up an appropriation of $1,250,000 for the Victoria Memorial Museum.

Conservatives For the Public.

The Ottawa electrical interests scored a distinct triumph in the Private Bills Committee yesterday. Aided by a strong lobby, the sympathetic support of the Government and the activity of the Liberal Whips, the bill, which in effect wipes out lighting competition in Ottawa, was carried on a vote of 27 to 16. It was almost a straight party division, the Conservatives, with one single exception, voting for the protection of Ottawa's rights and the Liberals, save and except Duncan Bole of Winnipeg, voting for Ottawa's corporate tyrant.

Railways Bills Passed.

The Railway Committee yesterday passed four bills as follows: Respecting the Columbia & Western Railway Company—Mr. Gillhies, respecting the Atlantic, Quebec & Western Railway Company—Mr. Guvareu; incorporating the St. Mary's and Western Ontario Railway Company—Mr. McIntyre; respecting the Ottawa, Northern & Western Railway Company—Mr. Belcourt.

PARENT SHOULD QUIT.

Gouin-Turgeon Combination Backed By 50 Members Out of 74 in the Legislature—Consents to Resign.

Montreal, Feb. 10.—There has been a complete calm yesterday after Wednesday's storm. Fifty-seven members of the Legislature are now assured to the Gouin-Turgeon combination, and Dr. Lacombe, M.P.P. for St. Mary's gave in his adhesion, so it looks as if Hon. Mr. Gouin would have fully 50 members out of the 74 by the time the House meets on March 2.

Parent to Resign.

Ottawa, Feb. 10.—It was stated last night that Hon. L. P. Brodeur's mission has been at least partly successful, and that Parent has consented to resign the Premiership on certain terms offered him on behalf of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. According to this report Hon. Horace Archambault, who now sits in the Legislative Council, will become Premier, and Mr. Gouin will lead the Government party in the Assembly. Mr. Parent will probably go on the Grand Trunk Pacific Construction Commission.

SIFTON'S ORGANIZER.

Warrant Issued For His Arrest—Sensational Development in D.R.O. Trial.

Winnipeg, Man., Feb. 10.—A sensational turn was given to the trial of William Kiteon, deputy returning officer for Provancher, in the recent Dominion elections, yesterday. He is charged with tampering with the voters' lists. Alexander Ayotte, returning officer for the riding, who was recently committed for contempt of court, and who was subsequently released on his engaging to tell all he knew as to assurances of Conservative voters from the lists previous to the election, gave evidence directly incriminating R. D. A. Leech, Mr. Sifton's organizer for Brandon, and the organizers for the Liberal party in Manitoba.

Consequently, a warrant was immediately sworn out before Magistrate McMicken at the instance of the provincial authorities, for Leech's arrest. So far, the warrant has not been served, as Leech appears to have suddenly left the city, though it is rumored, he is in Ottawa.

Soon after the general elections, Leech received his reward in the shape of an appointment under the Ministry of the Interior as Dominion timber inspector.

As it has been several times announced, the Provincial Government intends pushing this and cognate cases to the utmost. It is understood that an arrest will now be made in connection with similar charges affecting the elections for Selkirk, Marquette and other Manitoba ridings, a special sum having been voted at the recent session of the Legislature for this express purpose.

Held Elections First.

London, Feb. 10.—(C.A.P.)—Lord Spencer, Liberal leader in the House of Lords, in a letter to Lord Gormanston, the Liberal member for Rugby, says no conference can settle the fiscal question until the country has pronounced its opinion on it. It should be impressed on all classes that a tariff with low duties, as proposed, admits the principle of protection. When once that is admitted, pressure, which will be irresistible, will force up low duties to high ones. Then every article of food and clothing, every article necessary in building, agriculture and manufacture, will be enhanced in price.

This Hits Canada Also.

Washington, D.C., Feb. 10.—The Senate Committee on Commerce yesterday authorized a favorable report on the Elkins Bill, providing for the amendment of the laws admitting foreign built vessels to American registry. The bill provides that foreign vessels wrecked on the American coast shall not be admitted to American registry unless repairs have been made in American shipyards, equal to three-fourths of the value of the vessel.

A cough medicine over sixty years old

This must mean merit, solid, genuine merit. It certainly must be true that Ayer's Cherry Pectoral cures coughs, colds, croup, bronchitis, asthma. Ask your own doctor to explain why it strengthens weak throats and heals inflamed lungs.
