FOR THE PROVINCIAL WESLEYAN. "No Night is There."

ву м. Е. П. "And there shall be no night there."-Rev. xxii. 5. No night is there! Look up, dejected ones. Whose souls are crushed beneath a weight of

Who know too well that depth of bitterness. Look up, look up, with joy and faith survey, That blissful land where night succeeds not day.

No night is there! The fairest summer morn. That ever dawns our weary earth to cheer, Obscured too quickly by the shades of eve, Its blissful moments soon must disappear; But in that brighter home to which we tend Our happiness shall know no pause nor end.

No night is there. The tempter's wily art No more the feeble spirit shall distress; No more shall murmuring thoughts and doubts

Till, groaning 'neath the vile satanic dart, Despair resistless seizes on the heart.

Beside the death-bed of the cherished one.-With quivering lips and with imploring hands Striving to murmur, " Let thy will be done;"

That crush the ardent spirit with their load, The gloom that sometimes gathers o'er our path. Or the sharp pangs of grief that sting and

Are never known within that purer sphere Where the blest spirits of the just appear.

No night is there ! Farewell, that bitter word That knell of purest happiness on earth, Breathed from lips pallid with excess of woe, From moistened eyes that late had shone with mirth.

In the sweet bowers of Paradise shall ne'er Torture the frame, or wring the burning tear.

No night is there! What wonder, then, the Grown weary midst life's turmoil, sighs for peace?

And joyfully anticipates the hour That shall from earth and earthly cares release, And lead the soul from darkness and dismay To the blest mansions of eternal day,

As a conclusive proof of this, I may menion that the Court of Vienna has admited, without dispute, that in the interpretation of the fifth pasis is comprised the obligation of not rebuilding the fortifications of Bomarsund, as it was for the interest of the balance of the power in Europe that the Colossus of the North should not Coffee, Laguyra, " be able to exercise a too great pressure on Sweden by means of the Aland Islands."

The Archbishop of Paris has issued a curious proclamation to the faithful of his diocese concerning their duties during the ensuing Lent. He gives them carte blanche not to fast more than hey like, for this very cogent reason, that he knows it would be useless to exhort them to the contrary. In these degenerate times, he says, ab- | Si stinence is a mere barren tradition in almost every house. The church, therefore, has infinite indulgence for its babes, and treats them as mothers treat sick children. If they pray and N give alms in proportion to the bodily gratification they may think fit to allow themselves, he promises that they shall thus amass treasure in heaven, and that the multitude of their charities shall cover the multitude of their sins.

We have had an opportunity to test the Tatent Safety Lamp and Feeder of Mr. John Newell, of this city, in regard to the measures of protection which their construction affords. In the trials to which we subjected 'them, we endeavored, without effect to produce explosious of the vapour of the fluid mixed with air, and to burst them by the pressure of the vapour slone. The principle adopted by Mr. Newell is that of the well known Days Lamp. He has so combined the parts, that we are satisfied that all risks of explosive action is removed.

Boston, Aug. 30, 1352. Assayers to the State of Mass. Mr John New II, of Boston, has exhibited to me a Lamp, and also containing vessels, furnished with gauze protectors, upon the principle of Davy's Safety Lamp for miners. He has used both these instruments before me carefully attended to, so that the wire gauze does not suifer injury from corrusion, wear or violence. I am of opin ion that the protection will prove effectual against explosion. Nothing short of this conviction would induce me to countenance the continued ase of the burning fluid so called, as I have thought they ought to be entirely discarded, if not prohibited from use; so frequent and carelessness. In every case, glass lamps should be given up, and those of metal substituted, on account of the damper of fracture.

The Stability of Britain.—I am most deeply convinced, by every day's experience, the more I see, be it in high or low places, be it in public or private, be it within the the walls of Parliament or without the walls of Parliament, the more am I convinced that the prosperity, not to say the existence of the British empire, as an empire, depends upon the depth and vitality of her religious societies.—Earl of Shaftesbury.
