MRS. COL. MUIR THROWN OUT OF HER BUGGY

Her Horse Ran Away on Brant Avenue, Throwing Her Badly.

A rather bad accident occurred this morning to Mrs. Colonel Muir. She was driving down Brant Avenue when her horse suddenly took fright and ran away, about the corner of Waterloo street. It crashed through an iron railing set up to guard a lawn, and ran the buggy into a tree. The horse then broke away, but was caught subsequently on Dalhousie street. Mrs. Muir was thrown out of the buggy, and was picked up and taken to Mrs. J. S. Hamilton's residence on Bight Avenue. Dr. Nichol was summoned hurriedly, and he sent her home in a taxicab.

The horse Mrs. Muir was driving was bought only yesterday, and possibly being a strange one, became unmanageable. Dr. Chapin is attending her at her home, but at the time of going to press it was not known how seriously she was hurt.

"OUT OF THE TRENCHES BY CHRISTMAS"

Ford's Peace Delegates Wear Celluloid Buttons With That Device.

PREPARING TO SAIL William J. Bryan Declined an Invitation, But Wins Expedition Success.

New York, Dec. 4.—Members of the peace expedition organized by Mr. Henry Ford for the purpose of creating a conference of representatives of neutral nations in the hope of ending the war, began to assemble to-day at Hoboken on board the Scandinavian American Line Steamship Oscar II.

One hundred and forty names are on the list of Mr. Ford's guests. Of these 83 are peace envoys, 54 newspaper and magazine correspondents, and three moving picture men. For their use Mr. Ford chartered the entire first and second cabins of the steamer. The Oscar II. is due to sail at a p.m., she should arrive at Christiania, Norway, her first stop about December 14. Thence the party is to proceed to Stockholm, Copenhagen and The Hague. It is proposed to hold the peace conference at The Hague.

For several days Mr. Ford has maintained headquarters in a New York hotel headquarters by invitation of the governors of states, leaders and workers in peace movements and students of universities to join the expedition. Of the governors invited, so far as announced, L. B. Hanna of North Dakota, was the only one to accept. Wm. J. Bryan who received an invitation, declined to accompany the party, but said he hoped to join them at The Hague a few weeks later. He explained that he could accomplish more in the interests of peace at present by remaining in America.

In the list of envoys given out by Mr. Ford's assistants are, among others, the Rev. Chas. F. Aked of San Francisco; Lieut.-Governor A. J. Beebe, of South Carolina; Mrs. K. M. Milholland Boissevain, New York; H. C. Evans, Des Moines, Iowa; F. H. Holt, Detroit; T. A. Hoisteller, Washington; Key J. L. Jones, Chicago; the Rev. Samuel S. Marquis, dean of St. Paul's Cathedral, Detroit; Louis Maverick, Winnetka, Ill.; George F. Milton, Chattanooga; E. H. Molthan, Williamstown, Mass.; Henry S. Morris, Chicago; Senator Helen E. Ross, Denver; F. Munroe Smock, New Plymouth, Idaho; Charles D. Thompson, Chicago; Hendrik W. Van Loon, Ithaca, N.Y.; A. L. Weatherly, Lincoln, Neb.; the Rev. W. M. Wright, Little Rock, Ark.; and Lars P. Nelson, New York.

Twenty-three members of the party are women. Students from Yale, Vassar, Barnard, Dartmouth, Oberlin, Williams, Deane, Vanderbilt, and Columbia, and the Universities of Kansas, Ohio, Iowa, Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Illinois, Nebraska, Michigan, and Texas, accompany the expedition. The peace delegates received large red celluloid buttons bearing a white star with rays and the words "Out of the trenches by Christmas."

LONDON JEERS AT TALK OF PEACE IN GERMANY SINCE BRITAIN NOW HAS MEN

The Sands are Running Out and the Tide is Turning in Favor of the Allies; Germany Must Beg for Peace on Her Bended Knees.

By Special Wire to the Courier.

New York, Dec. 4.—A cable from London this morning to The Herald says: The official German wireless announcement that the Imperial Chancellor will permit the Socialists in the Reichstag to interpellate the government on possible terms of peace, is received here with contempt, which is intensified by the fact that Berlin's "ballon d'essai" is loosed at the moment when Mr. Henry Ford's modern Noah's ark leaves New York in what the allies regard as an impudent, impudent effort to place the allied powers in a false position.

Every newspaper in London this morning jeers at Germany's talk of peace at the moment when Britain is now fully supplied with three million men, munitions and money, and is ready to fight to the only possible end of the war—victory for the freedom of Europe.

"I can well understand what Germany wants, said an important member of the government, 'as she has not achieved any of the objectives at which she aimed since the beginning of the war. From this time forth her power will continue to weaken and

"The sands are running out and the tide is turning against Germany, but there will be no peace until Frankenstein war, conjured up by the Kaiser, has been destroyed; until the nations fighting for freedom have rescued the small nations outraged by the huns; until the war has ended in victory for humanity and liberty under the sun."

CATARRH LEADS TO CONSUMPTION

Catarrh is as much a blood disease as serofula or rheumatism. It may be relieved, but it cannot be removed by simply local treatment. It causes headache and dizziness, impairs the taste, smell and hearing, affects the voice, deranges the digestion, and breaks down the general health. It weakens the delicate lung tissues and leads to consumption.

Hood's Sarsaparilla goes to the seat of the trouble, purifies the blood, and is so successful that it is known as the best remedy for catarrh. Hood's Sarsaparilla strengthens and tones the whole system. It builds up. Ask your druggist for Hood's, and insist on having it. There is no real substitute.

At the end of service, the Bishop presented each candidate with a prayer and hymn book combined. His Lordship said that it has been the custom to give this book to all the soldiers belonging to the Anglican Church since the war started, but he was very pleased in this case to personally hand the books to them.

The Situation.

There is a great deal of mystery with regard to whether or no Russia has invaded Bulgaria. One report from Saloniki says that she has and it will be recalled that the Czar, not long ago, promised such an event within a few days.

The fighting around Goritz would seem to be the most bitter of all the fearful conflicts in connection with hostilities. The Italians are gaining more and more ground however, and they are fully demonstrating themselves to be worthy compatriots of Garibaldi.

Canada's present war loan is to be one hundred million dollars, on a basis which is fully explained by Finance Minister White. With men and money, Canada to the extreme of the necessity, will continue to do her share on behalf of the Empire and individual freedom.

The Railway Matter.

Manager Todd of the Lake Erie and Northern Company, is content to set aside the proposed time limit on the sale of the Paris-Galt end of the Municipal Railway until the people have voted on the same.

The position which faces the electors as owners of the Municipal line, is very clear. The end mentioned has proved a losing proposition. Argument has been advanced that if it were improved in the same way as the city lines there would be a marked increase in revenue, as in the case of the local service. The parallel is not well taken. An up-to-date service within the city limits means greater patronage from every block; from Paris to Galt the sparse population contiguous to the line does not make any increase possible in this way and in addition every farmer has his own vehicular sources for travel.

The question confronting the people then is whether they will accept $30,000 for an end of a road which does not pay, or spend some thousands of dollars upon it on the chance that matters will come out all right.

Must Get Out.

The Wilson administration has at last got its back up in connection with Germany. Not to any very great extent, it is true, but still something more definite and conclusive than has yet been attempted.

It has demanded the recall of Captains Boy-Ed and Von Papen of the German embassy at Washington. Boy-Ed, naval attaché, is one of the individuals who has been demonstrated to have been actively engaged in a conspiracy to furnish German warships in the Atlantic with supplies from the States.

Van Papen, military attaché, is the gentleman who, when some letters of his were seized, was found to have referred to those "Idiotic Yankees." That has rankled for quite a while.

No one can doubt that these worthies are simply two of many pro-Germans in the States who have long been on the alert for all the mischief they could create and who have simply laughed in their sleeves at the manner in which the Kaiserites have disturbed the tail feathers of the great American eagle.

Chris. Sutherland 154 COLBORNE ST.

there are a whole lot more who should be told to do a like thing. On top of the announcement, there comes the assertion that Germany has declined to allow Brand Whitlock to return as U. S. representative to Belgium. Most likely, he is the man who told the truth about the brutal murder of Miss Cavel and the Hun and truth do not mix very well together.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Toronto is going to conduct recruiting in lunch rooms. Quite an idea to "soup em up."

Scurvy has broken out among Austrian troops. At the same time the Kaiser and his advisers still hold the record for tricks in this regard.

A picture in the Toronto Globe of to-day places Capt. Von Papen on his head. It wasn't the make-up man who did that, but President Wilson.

The description elsewhere in this issue of the magnificent and heroic work of the Australians and New Zealanders on the Gallipoli peninsula, is one of the most graphic recitals the Courier has come across. The man who wrote it is a fitting recounter of an imperishable incident.

NEW RADIAL LINES PLANNED FOR ONTARIO

Sir Adam Beck Lays Prospectus Before Toronto Board of Control.

TO COST 13 MILLIONS

Toronto, Dec. 4.—Details of the Hydro-Radial project, advocated by Sir Adam Beck and the Provincial Hydro Commission in conjunction with certain municipalities in Western Ontario were laid before the Board of Control yesterday. Accompanying the details were the draft by-law, which the city is asked to endorse, and a copy of the agreement which the city will have to enter into with the Hydro Commission. The latter relates to the construction and operation of the lines. The entire project, as outlined, calls for an expenditure of $13,734,155, of which the city of Toronto will have to contribute $4,240,196, or slightly less than one-third of the total cost. This is the amount the people will be asked to vote, provided the council endorses the proposition and decides to submit the same to the people on New Year's Day.

The routes of the several lines as outlined are— Toronto Terminal-Humber River Section—From the passenger terminal located near the foot of Yonge street, the line will run westerly to Sunny-side, using Harbor Board property and private right-of-way wherever possible; thence to the Humber River the line will parallel the G. T. R. as at present constructed.

Humber River-Port Credit Section. From the west limits of the City of Toronto at the Humber River, the line runs westerly parallel to the G. T. R. main line. It crosses the Credit River at a point between the Lake Shore Road and the G. T. R.

Port Credit-Milton Section—Leaving Port Credit the line crosses the G. T. R. about one mile west, running thence to a point north of Sheridan Post office, and from there directly to Milton.

Milton-Guelph Section—Crossing the C.P.R. west of the C.P.R. Station at Milton, location runs to Township of Esquesing, thence to Township of Nassagaweya, thence to Township of Puslinch, and thence in the general direction of the Eramosa River to Guelph.

Guelph-Berlin section—From Guelph the line continues to Berlin, leaving Guelph in a westerly direction and entering Berlin from the northeast. The location lies north of the present G.T.R. between Guelph and Berlin.

UNITED STATES ASKS RECALL OF ATTACHES

Germany Comes Back and Forbids Whitlock to Return to Belgium.

DECISION MADE LAST TUESDAY

Captain Boy-Ed and Captain Von Papen Will Go Home to Germany.

Washington, Dec. 4.—Further complications in the relations of the United States and Germany developed to-day when Secretary of State Lansing announced:

"Because of what this government considers improper activities in military and naval matters, it has requested the immediate recall of Captain Boy-Ed and Captain von Papen, Naval and Military Attaché, respectively, to the German embassy here, as they are no longer acceptable to this government."

The formal statement marked the conclusion of an exhaustive investigation of the activities of German representatives in this country, conducted by the State Department and the Department of Justice. The Secretary of State made it clear that the recall of the German military and Naval Attachés was not due to the verdict in the New York Federal Court yesterday against representatives of the Hamburg-American Line, found guilty of conspiracy in connection with the supplying of German warships at sea. He said Ambassador von Bernstorff was apprised of the government's decision last Tuesday. He added that he refrained from announcing the fact so that Ambassador von Bernstorff's report would reach Berlin before press accounts.

The demand for the recall of the two attaches is the culmination of a long series of charges and counter-charges, plots and counter-plots involving American neutrality violations, which have been thrashed out by the Federal Government. VON NUBER TO GO ALSO Alexander von Nuber, Austrian Consul-General in New York, has been involved in the investigation proceeding ending in to-day's action. No announcement has been made concerning him, but in the case of a consul no formal communication with his government would be necessary. The state department could arbitrarily and without notice annul his credentials, leaving him without official standing.

The agents of the Department of Justice, at the instance of the State Department, for months past have kept close watch on foreign military and naval officers in this country. Some time ago, evidence involving both Captain Boy-Ed and Captain von Papen was submitted to the State Department. The demand for their recall has been under consideration since then. Washington delayed in order that proof might be furnished for submission to the German Government if that became necessary. The State Department, in the position, however, that the mere statement to Germany that the two attaches are persona non grata is sufficient to insure their recall.

ENGINEERS CRUISE CONSPIRACY

"The improper activities in military and naval matters," charged against Capt Boy-Ed in the announcement of Secretary Lansing applies to the work done by the Naval Attaché in connection with the supplying of German warships with coal and provisions from American ports. It also has been charged that Captain Boy-Ed made use of his diplomatic position here to aid the naval operations of his country.

As to Capt. von Papen, the State Department has been contemplating action since the publication of documents taken from J. F. J. Archibald by British secret service agents. A cipher message, which the department has not yet been able to read, was among the papers, and it has been understood that it was given to Archibald by von Papen.

NOTHING TO SAY New York, Dec. 4.—Captain Karl Boy-Ed, Naval Attaché, and Captain Franz von Papen, Military Attaché to the German Embassy, had "nothing to say," Von Papen was reported to be "out of town."

Captain Boy-Ed read reports of his recall in the evening papers. He would make no comment. Late in the afternoon, when called on the telephone, he said:

"This is all very interesting, I am glad to hear your voice, Good-bye." London, Saturday, Dec. 4.—"The Amsterdam correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company sends the following:

"Advices from Rosendaal (Holland) state that Belgian newspapers under the German censorship have been ordered to announce that Brand Whitlock (United States Minister to Belgium) will not return to Brussels. The news has been received with consternation throughout Belgium. It is believed that General von Bissing (German Governor-General of Belgium), desired to have Mr. Whitlock ousted and that he is also pressing for the immediate removal of the American and Spanish Legations from Brussels to Havre, where the Belgian government is."

You will like the rich strength and full flavor.

J. Graham Starr, Captain and Adjutant, 84th Overseas Battalion C. E. F.

Amateur night with the soldiers was well observed and the crowd that turned out was well repaid by the fine performance that was put on by the boys of the 84th battalion. These concerts are run by the soldiers themselves and the interest is intense. The program consisted of recitations, songs, duets, mandoline solos, and many numbers by the new orchestra of the battalion. The hit of the evening were the recitations given by Corp. Newman, who gave some numbers from "Services," Yukon songs. Corp. Wilson sang the Veteran's song very creditably and was well received. Pte. Harrison sang a couple of real good songs and was encored, also Pte. Campbell sang nicely. Corp. Wheatley and Pte. Harrison played a mandolin duet which brought the crowd to their feet.

The population of New Jersey is now, 2,844,342.

The Rooting of Soldiering in Brant County

Dufferin Rifles Have Long And Honorable History, Dating From the Year 1866.

As one goes through the armories of the Dufferin Rifles as they are to-day, and inspects the splendid 84th Battalion, temporarily stationed there, and thinks of the hundreds of fine soldiers who have left the city for the front, it is somewhat difficult to realize that at one time the entire County of Brant and much adjacent territory possessed nothing in the nature of military organization. The Mackenzie Rebellion of 1837 saw the farmers and residents of the then existing villages banding together in small groups, armed with shotguns and other rude implements of warfare.

It was owing to the then village of Paris ranking above Brantford in size and importance that the first military organization in the country was formed there. Later orders changed the headquarters to Brantford, however.

THE BEGINNING

By general orders of the 28th September, 1866, the "38th Brant Battalion of Infantry" was formed, with headquarters in the city, and composed of seven independent companies, as follows:

No. 1 Rifle Company, of Paris, gazetted June 25th, 1866; Captain, A. H. Baird.
No. 2 Rifle Company, of Brantford, gazetted Dec. 13th, 1861; Captain, D. Curtis.

No. 3 Highland Company, of Brantford, gazetted July 3rd, 1862; Captain, J. J. Inglis.

FIELD OFFICERS AND STAFF.

The field officers and staff appointed were: Lieut.-Colonel William Patton, Major Hiram Dickie, Adjutant Lieut. S. W. Fear, Assistant Adjutant and Drill Instructor, Ensign David Spence; Paymaster, Captain William Grant; Quartermaster, B. Felmingham; Surgeon, E. T. Brown; Assistant Surgeon, D. Marquis.

The battalion as then formed, with the addition of a company from Dundas, was part of the volunteer brigade at the camp of instruction at Thorold under the command of Colonel Wolseley (later Lord Wolseley), in September, 1866. The Mount Pleasant company having been removed from the list of the militia, the remaining companies were renumbered by general orders of January 5th, 1871, as follows:

No. 1, at Paris; Nos. 2, 3 and 4, at Brantford; No. 5, at Burford, and No. 6, at Drumbo. On the 24th of March of the same year the battalion was changed from Infantry to Rifles.

"THE DUFFERIN RIFLES"

By general orders of 1874, and by special permission of His Lordship the Earl of Dufferin and Ava, then Governor-General of Canada, the battalion was permitted to assume the additional title of "The Dufferin Rifles," and was afterwards permitted by general orders published in 1878, to incorporate His Lordship's crest and motto, "Per Vias Rectas," on the badge of the regiment.

AN EXTRAORDINARY ORDER.

Although the companies forming the battalion, while independent companies, had seen some service at Sarnia during the Trent affair, and at Dunnville during the Fenian Raid, the battalion had not as yet had that distinction, but some fifteen or twenty ex-officers and men serve with different corps during the North-West Rebellion in 1885. The nearest approach to service was in 1878, when Lieut.-Colonel Dickie, the C.O., received this telegraphic order:

"BRIGADE ORDER

"Hamilton, May 11th, 1878.

"Lieut.-Col. Dickie, Brantford:

"Order at once captains of companies to issue arms, accoutrements and twenty (20) rounds of ball per man, officers to warn the men to be ready at short-est notice.

(Signed) "H. V. VILLIERS, Lieut.-Colonel, "Brigade Major."

This order, which was received by Lieut.-Colonel Dickie about 5 o'clock Sunday morning, caused great excitement, not only amongst the members of the battalion, but also throughout the city. The quiet of the day was broken with the bugle sounds and the hurrying to and fro of officers and men, but before evening everything was in readiness for the regiment to march out on a moment's notice. However, no further orders were received, and after a few days the arms and clothing were called in, and peace again reigned. To this day neither the commanding officer nor any member of the battalion knows what the trouble was all about.

During the rebellion of 1885 the battalion, like all the rest of the Canadian Militia, made every effort to be sent to the front, but their services were not required.

MADE CITY BATTALION.

By general orders of December 15th, 1881, September of 1882 and May of 1883, the headquarters of the outlying companies—No. 6, Drumbo; No. 1, Paris, and No. 5, Burford—were changed to Brantford, and gazetted as a "city battalion." The title of the battalion was changed in 1883 to "The Thirty-Eighth Regiment, Dufferin Rifles of Canada."

Industrial Canada

FROM COAST TO COAST

The number of members of co-operative societies in Canada has increased from 1,993 in 1909 to 5,810 in 1914.

The St. John, N.B., local of the Journeymen Barbers International Union has nearly tripled its membership in side of three months.

General reports from all parts of the Northwest show a marked improvement in railroad work, and a substantial increase in railroad earnings.

Things are picking up well in the C. P. R. machine shops at Souris. All hands are now working at full time, and a little more in the way of overtime and several new hands have been taken on.

Organizer Menard, of Montreal, is meeting with much success in his efforts to secure new members for the Journeymen Barbers International Union. He is looked upon as an invaluable worker among the French-speaking element.

Last month 860 men were employed in sewage work in Vancouver, B. C. Over 1,245 applications for employment were received. Hereafter the workmen will be employed for two weeks at a time to take their turn for others to get a chance to earn a little.

Wood's Peppermint Cure.

It is a powerful and reliable remedy, and is sold everywhere. Price 21¢ per bottle. One will please, six will cure. Beware of cheap imitations. THE WOOD MEDICINE CO., 108-110 St. George Street, London, England.

The Systems Federation Committee of the National Transcontinental Railway has been busy preparing a federated agreement which proposes to submit to the management at an early date, defining wage rates, schedule of hours and general working conditions.

Reports as to trade conditions from New Westminster, B.C., show that industrial conditions are not very favorable in that locality at the present time. Nearly all the crafts report many members out of employment, in some cases less than half are on the work list.

The steel company of Hamilton, Ont., is extremely busy at the present time, and its capacity is being doubted. Many additional hands have been employed, and orders are coming in so rapidly that some may have to be refused. The outlook is favorable for a long and busy run ahead.

Of the five theatres doing business in Regina, Sask., only two are strictly union, but they are drawing the largest patronage and both have added to the size of their orchestras, which will benefit members of the local union of the American Federation of Musicians.

At Hamilton, Ont., Moving Picture Operatives Union has decided to suspend the rules so that union operatives may give their services gratis to houses running a film and slides on Sunday nights in aid of recruiting. This is the way the boys of the craft in the Ambitious City will help things out.

The thirty-sixth quarterly meeting of the Glace Bay, N.S., Co-operative Society shows the organization to be in a very prosperous condition with a constantly increasing business output. Member's dividends amounted to $2,309.88 and after all other dividends and obligations were met there was a net profit of $2,831.32. Among the assets of the society is a new building worth $23,766.01; land, $3, chandise on hand amounts to the value of $23,766.04.

The price of silver is steadily rising and indications point to its reaching still higher values.

Silver mining has taken on a new spurt in the Coast camps, a rise in value has given a decided impetus to the industry, and many of the hands that were discharged earlier in the year have now been reinstated in their old positions. Many prospects that have lain idle for a long period of time will now start up again.

$3,111, and warehouse, $1,000.00. Mer- C. A. Hawley, the Secretary-Treasurer of the Winnipeg Typographical Union for a number of years past, and a crack shot, and who is one of the oldest and best known members of the local has enlisted for overseas service with the Ninetieth Battalion. Hawley, it may be said, helped to produce the first issue of the Voice, the local labor paper, nearly 23 years ago.

The Canadian customs revenue is growing with amazing rapidity. For twenty days in the last month it exceeded six and a half million dollars as against three and a half million dollars in the corresponding period last year. In fact it has nearly doubled. Each month now shows an increasingly larger income which is some indication as to the marked improvement in business.

Men from all parts of the Dominion show that trades union enlistments for service in the Canadian overseas forces still continue to be heavy. There is not a battalion that departs for the front from any district in Canada but has a good proportion of card men in its ranks. This will certainly have a tendency to make things better for the workers left behind, and as many of the volunteers have given up good situations to enlist it leaves openings for someone else to fill. It will all count up.

Mineral prospectors are very busy all over the Northern Ontario mining districts, and some very rich finds are reported especially in gold and silver. The oncoming winter will soon put a stop to these operations, but in the spring an army will be on the job. The more it is explored the greater the possibilities of this region loom up. There is no doubt whatever that this immense mineral belt is actually the richest ever discovered, and it is freely predicted by experts from the United States, Britain and Australia that it is destined in the very near future to become the greatest mining district in the world.

Hours and Wages of Women

Hours and Wages of Women
There can be no doubt that girls work in local factories for 10, 12 and even 14 hours a day. They work on the piece system and are speeded up by machinery and the necessity to earn. They do not receive $5 and $6 a week in many cases. Society should not allow such things to be. This community when informed will not permit hundreds of girls and women to endure such slavery.

An eight hour day is all that any woman in a factory or shop should be called on to work. The piece system for women is inhuman and ruinous to womanhood and health. Five or six dollars a week is not a living wage for a single woman or girl who has to support herself. But it is on the question of hours that the community can best interfere. Long hours tend to make workers plentiful, wages low and working conditions unseemly. If the hours were shortened, a two or three-shift system is necessary. More workers being needed, they become scarce, wages tend to rise and conditions to improve. Wages and conditions are difficult to regulate by law. It is much easier to regulate hours. The war order business has forced the issue upon the attention of the people.—Toronto News.

Canadian League Decides to Continue

The representatives of the clubs in the Canadian League decided at the annual meeting, which was held yesterday afternoon in the Bay Tree hotel, to continue next year. Not one delegate favored a suspension, while Hamilton, which was said to be unalterably opposed to a continuation of the organization, notified President Fitzgerald that it was, on the contrary, in favor of going on.

The league finances are in splendid shape, with not a dollar of indebtedness.

Peterboro and Toronto were given the same privileges of suspending their franchises for another year, as they had this year.

J. P. Fitzgerald was again elected President, secretary and treasurer for the fourth year.

New O.H.A. President May Go to the Front

Kingston, Dec. 3.—It is reported that Jas. T. Sutherland, the newly-elected president of the O. H. A. will be quarter master of the new 146th overseas regiment being recruited here. He qualified for a commission at the provisional school of infantry held at Barriefield Camp last summer, and has offered his services for overseas.

Hockey Gossip.

At the meeting of the O.H.A. executive committee last night, Manager Shannon of Cleveland rink hockey team failed to convince the gathering of the genuineness of that team as an amateur organization, and it was resolved that any clubs or players competing with the Cleveland club would be disqualified. Further, it was decided to call the attention of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada to the migration of players to Cleveland, with a view to communicating with the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States.

New clubs admitted were—Comnaughts of Ottawa, 93rd Battalion of Peterboro, Ontarios of London Milton, St. Michael's, of Cobourg, Queen's University (senior, intermediate and junior), 31st Battalion of Ottawa, Sound Depot Regiment, C. M. R. (B Squadron), 40th Battery, 75th Battalion of Barrie, Overseas of London, St. George's of Sarnia, Brockville, Cornwall, Campbellford, Peterboro Electric.

Several applications will be laid over for consideration by the new executive.

Goldie Rodgers, who is the property of Quebec, refuses to play with that club. Both Toronto and Canadians are after him, but just who will secure him will not be known until Quebec directors meet.

Art Ross has signed an Ottawa contract, but as "Minnie" McGiffin will not be with the Torontos this year, the big Ottawa defence player will not have the stormy passage he had a year ago, whenever he appeared at the local arena.

Billy Laird, the former Varsity goalkeeper, has been appointed coach of the Regina team.

Vancouver may send Seaborn and Stanley to Seattle and Victoria may lend O'Leary to Portland.

"Punch" Broadbent and Lett, Graham of Ottawa, have been chosen on the All-Canadian hockey team, which plays in London this month. Allan Wilson also of the Ottawa pros, was to have lined up but he has gone to the firing line.

Nunan, who played intermediate hockey for Guelph last year, is attending Varsity this year.

Harry Watson, the crack centre of the St. Andrew's College team, who figured on the All-Star junior team last year, will likely captain St. Andrew's this season in the junior O. H. A. series.

Gordie Roberts has not yet come to terms with the Wanderers. Gordie was the leading scorer for Wanderers last season.

THE MOST THRILLING STORY OF THE FIGHTING ON THE GALLIPOLI PENINSULA

The Courier Took It From Correspondence of Captain C.E. W. Bean, Official Press Correspondent With the Australian Expeditionary Force—A More Graphic Pen Picture Was Never Given of Unparalleled Heroism.

(Otago Daily Times, New Zealand), Gaba Tepe, August 15. It differed from the charge of the Light Brigade in that it was made by horsemen who had volunteered to fight on foot, or in any other way, provided they could only get to Gallipoli and help the other Australians there. There are the two scaling ladders which they carried with them, lying outside in the scrub, about half way to the enemy's trench, and a number of tumbled little heaps of that peacock-colored Australian khaki, which is the hall-mark of unrecorded heroism on every battlefield of this peninsula. You can piece together a few simple deductions as to the details. There are no Victoria Crosses; there are no birth-day honors. But I know that for sheer self-sacrificing heroism, there was never a deed in history that surpassed the charge that two Australian Light Horse Brigades made in the first light of Saturday, August 7, in order to help their comrades in a critical moment of a great battle. FOR FOUR LONG MONTHS. The charge was made against the centre of the Turkish position. Four long months we and the Turks have faced one another, a line shaped like two sides of a triangle, the third side or back, being the sea. We held an inner triangle, and the Turks an outer one, and at the apex the two have from the first come very, very close together. At various times we have been separated from one another only by a single barricade of sandbags, 6 feet in width, hastily piled across a communication trench, but in late conditions have been less strained, and the two sides have been facing one another on both sides of the angle at about 15 or 20 yards at the closest. If you imagine the main ridge here, and its spurs as a fish's backbone, running between north and northwest, with the sea on the west of it, then the right of our line is on the backbone, and the left on one of the ribs. We do not hold the actual point where they meet—that is a knob of the main ridge, marked 700 feet high on the map. That point is held by the Turks, and the slope of the crest rises gradually to it, its summit being with line after line of trenches—about eight feet deep in some places. Our line ends just before the two ridges join—we hold the crest of one side, then a hill in the middle of the gully, then the crest on the other. Those three points and the two gullies between them the First and Third Light Horse Brigades were ordered to attack at daylight on August 7. The men of the Australian and New Zealand Army Corps had been in these trenches for 16 weeks, without rest, and without relief. Each corner of the war had its own peculiar difficulties, and what distinguished Anzac from them all is that from the first hour of landing, almost all the heavy carriage that goes on wheels in other places has here to go on the backs of men. No part of the army is at any time more than 100 yards from the enemy's trenches. Consequently without making a song about it, as they say—it may be the last thing they will long for any relief from this constant, never-ending, trench digging and water-carrying. When the orders for the next attack came along the men grasped at the fact that this might be the last they would see of those intermingled trenches. The next night they would bivouac in the scrub on the ridge out beyond those Turkish lines in God's open country. How exciting it seemed.

white patches on its arms and back, racing across the interval of scrub, half hidden in the dust of the bullets and a hell of bursting shrapnel whilst the waning light of a glorious day spread its warm, rosy flush over the landscape. They had seen what looked like the strongest section in a tremendously formidable position captured by a series of determined rushes which went forward for two hours, wave after wave, and from which not one single un wounded man turned back. What the infantry had done that evening they themselves would do the next morning. When the grey light appeared again in the sky the Australian Light Horse were to make their own attack. SOUNDS THROUGH THE NIGHT. It was all a very small part of a very big movement. After darkness other columns issued out from the northern end of our lines, and one after another turned to its right into the tangled and almost unknown paths of the main ridge. All through the night came outbursts of rifle firing—first from fairly close at hand where the New Zealand Mounted Rifles and the Maris, amidst wildly fierce fighting, were clearing the Turks out from the redoubt amongst their strongly held positions in the nearer foothills. A little before daylight there came over ever so faintly the sound as of water bubbling and boiling. It was the first sign of the new British force landed that night four miles to the north at Suvla Bay. Now it was a matter of intense urgency to hold the Turks to their positions around Anzac, while these other columns had time to do their appointed work before the Turks could find out what they were at, and retreat to a position where they would be in such a position by daylight as greatly to help in the attack made by the Light Horse. On the other hand it was possible that the men of the Light Horse would have to help them get there. And this is what actually happened. When the moon rose late in the night they were beginning to make their difficult way through the foothills, driving the Turkish snipers and entrenched outposts ahead of them. As daylight began to fringe the sky some of them might not be in the way up the slope of the main ridge. It was clear that the attack of the Light Horse against the centre could expect no help from the north; and an attack upon a trench to the south of them, from which two machine guns were known to play upon the ground they had to cover, had been made twice during the night, and had failed. THEIR TREASURES. Before daybreak the attacking parties filed into the trenches from which they were to make the rush. They were in their shirts, with their rifles slung over their shoulders, and their hands showing. Their knees were bare and sunburnt. Each one carried his full kit, with 200 rounds of ammunition. Water bottles were full and they carried food for a day or two. Each man had stowed carefully into his pack, such little mementoes as he especially prized—a fragment of a Turkish shell, some Turkish coins bought off a prisoner, a home letter or a photograph or two. They were saying their good-bye to their own trenches. That night they would sleep in the scrub. The attack on the left hand side of the apex was to be made by the 8th Light Horse, with the 10th Light Horse following. Four lines would start of 150 each, the first and second lines being from the 8th Light Horse (Victorians), and the third and fourth lines being the 10th Light Horse (West Australians). The first line was to carry, among other things, two scaling ladders made for the occasion. The fourth line would carry picks and shovels and a dozen sorts of engineering supplies; but it was to fight like the others if necessary. In order to help the others to get out of the trenches like a flash, 250 had been driven into the sides of the trenches and footholds cut. As the moment for the charge came near, the first line got its foothold on these, and the second line stood in the trenches behind it ready to give it a leg up. At 4 o'clock to the moment, the bombardment by our guns began. I have seen such bombardments often at Helles, but never since the first week of our landing has the like of it been seen in Anzac. Every gun on land and shore that could be brought to bear emptied itself as fast as the guns' crews could load, into the maze of Turkish trenches on the backbone of the ridge in front of the apex of our position. The dust of the bombardment rolled across the ridge in clouds, shutting out any view of the place from a distance. For half an hour the slope in front of our trenches was an inferno, and then the uproar ceased as suddenly as it had begun—ceased as if cut off short by the stroke of a paragon. And that same moment the Light Horse attack was launched. The men were standing there in the trench, without the least sign of excitement hitting up their packs and piled home into the trench. They were men who had fallen wounded into some corner where there was a scrap of cover, and had waited for this chance to get back. One of them came from below the parapet of the Turkish trench on the right. He had lain there all day too close to the parapet for the Turks to see him without exposing themselves. There was another wounded Australian near him. After dark they heard the Turks come out over the parapet of their trench, searching for the bodies of the men there for papers and diaries, so they arranged to make as fast as they could for our trenches. The man who arrived back was shot through the ankle. His mate never came back. From that man we know all that will probably ever be known of what those Light Horsemen found facing them as they ran through the dust of the soldiers that they are—swamped with troops. The bayonets of the front row of Turks could be seen just over the parapet, and behind them appeared to be two rows of Turks, standing waist high above the parapet, emptying their rifles as fast as they could fire them. This is confirmed by the accounts of officers in other parts of the line who had a view of the Turks in the trenches opposite this. There is no question that the charge of the Light Horse pinned down to that position during its continuance, and hours afterwards every available Turkish soldier within call. Our own machine guns were able to get in some work amongst those crowded Turks, and those who know say that their losses must have been an ample set-off to our own. FROM QUINN'S POST. So much for the charge of the First Light Horse Brigade against the neck of the Turkish trenches on the neck of the First Light Horse Brigades attacked partly from Quinn's Post, on the opposite side of the gully, and partly from the hill in the gully between the two. The second regiment was to attack from Quinn's Post, in four lines of 50 each. The first line, led by Major T. J. Logan, scrambled from the trench the instant the signal was given, but more than half were actually killed or wounded before they were clear of the parapet. The first few out managed to reach a few yards beyond they were killed. They left their party fell about 10 yards from our trench. The boy who fell beside him had his leg practically severed by machine gun bullets. The Turkish machine guns drew a line across that narrow space that none could pass. The one man who went out and returned un wounded puts his escape down to the fact that he noticed the point of the sandbags on which the machine gun bullets were hitting low, and a man who was hit once by them was often hit again half dozen times as he fell through the stream. As the whole of the first line was either killed or wounded within a few seconds, the attack was stopped, and the other lines did not start. INTO THREE TRENCHES. The first regiment attacked from the hill in the gully. In front of that hill is a small branch of the main valley, very steep on both sides, and only about 40 yards from one side to the other. On the northern slope of this gully the Turks have three lines of trenches, the furthest up being on the edge of the gully, with many other lines of Turkish trenches across the gentler slope above it. Some of these lower Turkish trenches were really those made by the 13th Australian Infantry as its support lines when it temporarily won this part of the hill on Sunday, May 2. Two squadrons of the 1st Light Horse went out, one working up the gully and the other going straight over the parapet as soon as the first was in position. The lower trench is never held by the Turks by day, and the Light Horse, by using sticks, drove the Turks clean out of the other two. One party rushed the second trench, and from there began to bomb the trench ahead of it. Suddenly a white hand appeared over the parapet of the trench in front, furiously waving. The colonel of the regiment who had come out with his men, recognized it for the hand of a subaltern who had led his men right over into the third trench, and immediately leapt over the parapet and joined the party, would find a trench which had previously been in the uncomfortable position of being bombed by its friends from behind and by the enemy from in front. There for two hours this party remained fighting the Turks in the trenches further uphill as best they could with the slender supply of bombs that came over to them. Even to supply those bombs men had to imperil their lives by running over the top from their own trench in full view of the Turks. But the Turk in his trenches up the hill had it all his own way in this bombardment. His higher trenches were connected with the trench that we held by narrow narrow manhole tunnels. At the same time as a Turk pitched a bomb down the tunnel in the same direction, and our men intent on bursting the bomb that was coming through the tunnel, would find a bomb bursting underneath their feet. THE FUSILIERS. The first regiment saw the third line melt out as the 3rd Light Horse Brigade charged across the ridge to the left. The Welsh Fusiliers, in the valley on their left, advanced through the dust haze until their two first lines fell almost in a heap at the foot of a cliff, down which the Turks rolled bombs upon them when the attack was stopped. The Turks at once, good soldiers that they are—swamped down this cliff away until some of the Light Horse saw what they were at, and detached two or three snipers, who shot one of these Turks in quick time. In the meantime the other attacks, having ended, the whole of the Turkish machine guns that could bear upon the spot were turned upon the three trenches still held by the First Light Horse; and after two hours of furious fighting the commander of the regiment ordered a retirement. They managed to get most of their wounded to steal up the gully side and rescue one or two of their comrades of the Third Brigade whom they could still see lying on their side of the slope. Of the first regiment only about one in six of the men who went out came back un wounded. And by some miracle the one officer who returned without a scratch, in spite of the fact that he had been through the thickest of the Turkish turmoil, was the commander himself. So ended the attack of the two light horse brigades. The one man who came back from the parapet of the Turkish trenches on the neck reported that the Turks there had their packs on, and were in full marching order—evidently part of a battalion that had been hurried up from the reserves, or the men who were being hurried off to reinforce further north when this attack in the centre delayed it. The Australian Light Horse, in the highest and fullest manner achieved the object for which their help had become necessary at a critical period of a great movement, and as for the boys—the single-minded loyal Australian country lads, who left their trenches in the grey light of that morning with all their simple treasures on their backs, to bivouac in the scrub that evening, the shades of evening found them lying in the scrub with God's wide sky above them. The green arbutus and the holly of the peninsula, not unlike their native bush, will some day again claim this neck in those wild ranges for its own. But the place will always be sacred as the scene of two very brave deeds, the first—let us not forget it—the desperate attack made by the Turks across that same neck on the dawn of June 30, and secondly of a deed of self-sacrifice and bravery which has never been surpassed in military history—the charge of the Australian Light Horse into certain death at the call of their comrades' need during a crises in the greatest battle that has ever been fought on Turkish soil.
