OTHER NEWS NOTES.

Teachers Scarce at Normandale—Coming of Prohibition Causes no Trouble.

Simcoe, Sept. 12.—Thos. Lowe of Port Dover, got a three ton haul of fish on Monday.

Five sons of the late Ross Thompson of Simcoe, now resident in Pontiac, Michigan, visited their mother here.

The local chapter of the Daughters of the Empire will make a paper and rag collection on Sept. 30th.

The annual decoration ceremonies of the L. O. O. F. will be held Sunday afternoon at Oakwood cemetery.

The 133rd entrained at the L. E. and N. depot at 3.45 this afternoon, and left for Camp Borden amid the cheers and tears of friends and handshakes of their kin and the townsfolk in general.

Their six day leave was for the most part spent at their several homes. No public function was interested to intrude on their domestic felicitations.

Mrs. J. H. McKnight and Miss Rae McKnight leave in the morning to visit relatives in Exeter.

The school board at Normandale, had not a teacher yet on Monday.

The wedding took place to-day of Mr. Frank Billo of Townsend to Miss Harriet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Pretty, of the same township. The ceremony was performed this morning at St. Mary's Catholic church by Rev. Father Nagle.

Dr. and Mrs. Dey arrived home to-day, after a two-months' holiday by the sea-side at Wood's Hole, Mass. Miss Dey joined them this evening after enjoying a side trip on the way home, among the Thousand Islands. Dr. Dey leaves in the morning for Toronto to preside at a meeting of the Assembly's Committee of the new Presbyterian Book of Praise.

Speaking of the work of this committee this evening, the Doctor said that the committee had throughout their deliberations kept constantly in view the desirability of keeping the new book as close as possible in conformity with the Methodist hymn book, in anticipation of the Union.

And to this end all but eight of the Psalm selections have been eliminated.

Contrary to predictions that September, up to the 16th, and consequently the present week, and still that Saturday will be one of drunken wassal, there is little evidence of the approaching advent of prohibition. There has naturally been a brisk sale at the liquor store, to those who wish to have an emergency bottle on hand, without the necessity of the formalities required under the new act. Otherwise the town settles down quietly at night, much earlier than a year ago, and possibly, on account of the higher price of gasoline and of living generally, there is much less joy riding than was evident last summer. The price of the necessities for the family is a matter of much more concern to-day than the coming prohibition, except, of course, to those with money invested in hotel property and these, of course are being hit hard financially, so far as they see at present.

GERMAN TRENCH ARMOR BROKEN

At Bouchavesnes for the First Time—Significant Fact.

By Courier Leased Wire. (New York Times' cables.—The Times correspondent in France sends the following despatch:

"For the first time since trench warfare was firmly established, has a big operation succeeded in smashing right through the trench armor of the German front. The capture of Bouchavesnes takes the French right through the great German defensive organization as it existed when the battle began two-and a half months ago. For the first time the western front has been pierced.

"This is a significant fact, but its importance can easily be exaggerated. Nothing faintly approaching the strategic ruptures, to which General Brussiloff has accustomed us has been achieved. Ever since the fighting began the Germans have been digging miles behind their line, and there is no doubt there will be much fierce fighting and long waiting before the little ray of daylight let in through the chink at Bouchavesnes really lightens the horizon.

"Since the beginning of the offensive on the western front, the French and British on the Somme, and the French at Verdun have been able to announce the capture of 269 guns, 647 machine guns, and roughly 54,000 men. These results constitute a victory, and it is quite evident the French do not intend to remain where they are, either on the north or south of the Somme, where the artillery bombardment is still in progress."

BROUGHT TO PORT

By Courier Leased Wire. Port Mulgrave, N. S., Sept. 14.—The Belgian steamer Indutionaire, of 962 tons, which was wrecked on the sea-side at Wood's Hole, Mass., of the Magdalen Islands on August 21, and abandoned, has been brought to this port. The steamer appears to have sustained little damage.

The Indutionaire drifted clear of the rocks after being abandoned and was picked up in the Gulf of St. Lawrence a few days ago by the Tug Amelia. A five-days' tow, in which the tug Goliath assisted for a part of the time, brought the steamer here.

The steamer sailed from New Castle, N. H., on August 18, for Calais, with a cargo of lumber, valued at about $250,000 and understood to be shipped for use of the British admiralty.

The 133rd Battalion, was in Hagersville yesterday, to address the County Fathers and Deacons' Conference of the Baptist Church, on the matter of the necessity of further recruiting.

A big man from Waterford narrowly escaped a bad accident about 9 o'clock last night. He fell, striking his shoulder and elbow against a window of Kromparr's implement warerooms, and was grasped by a policeman just in time to save his head from going into the wreck of glass. He was over this morning, on the 9 o'clock car, to see the proprietor, no doubt.

HUGHES ENDS HIS CAMPAIGN TRIP

Longest Ever Taken by Presidential Nominee; 25 States Visited.

By Courier Leased Wire

New York, Sep. 14.—Charles E. Hughes, Republican nominee, ended his first presidential campaign trip here yesterday. The trip was one of the longest in time and mileage ever taken by a presidential nominee. Mr. Hughes left here on the night of August 5 and travelled 39 days. His itinerary took him from Portland, Me., to San Diego, Cal., from Canada to within sight of the Mexican border. He visited 25 states, spoke at all the chief centres of population in the country, exclusive of the south and including the capitals of ten states, and travelled 11,494 miles by rail. In addition he averaged more than 400 miles a week by motor, or about 2,500 miles, making the total mileage of his trip approximately 14,000 miles. His trip was made over fifteen railroad systems.

By Courier Leased Wire. Dallas, Tex., Sep. 14.—Henry Wright, 28, farmer, last night shot and instantly killed his wife and W. The double tragedy was the result, officers said, of a quarrel over proceeds from the sale of a hog.

THE SITUATION

The Hunns proposed to crush the spirit of the French by their Verdun operations. Instead, Joffre's men have not only held them there during months of unparalleled fighting...

The Allies on the Macedonian front are maintaining the offensive in earnest, and the Bulgars are being flung back. The Roumanians also continue to do good work in Transylvania.

The Greeks are said to have a new Premier, with an unpronounceable name, and the forecast is still that Venizelos will be the Minister of War.

BRITISH COLUMBIA FIGHT

A Provincial election is taking place to-day in British Columbia, and it has been an exceedingly hot contest from start to finish.

From 1898 to 1902 the Liberals were in power with the famous Joe Martin, as Premier. An attempt to run a non party government then failed, and in 1903 Richard McBride came into power with 22 supporters as against 17 Liberals and two Socialists.

while retail food prices had risen 10 per cent. during the same period.

The index number of wholesale prices stood at 148.0 for the year as compared with 136.1 for 1914, and 135.5 for 1913, but by December, 1915, had reached 161.1 as compared with 134.6 for July, 1914.

In other countries retail food prices also rose steeply, the rise from the beginning of the war to the end of 1915 being calculated as high as 113 for Austria, 83 per cent. for Germany, over 30 per cent. in the Netherlands, Norway and Italy, and 44 per cent. in Great Britain.

"The results of the great rises were considerable increases in the cost of living, particularly in the expenditure on foods. In clothing, house furnishings, etc., stocks in the hands of manufacturers and dealers were often sufficient to prevent great rises for some time even a year or more, but in food increases were immediately felt.

The report shows that the rising prices were accompanied by increased activity in industry and trade. "Not only did the needs for the prosecution of the war make necessary increased production in many lines and new production in goods never before attempted or thought of, but production was renewed in many lines and in many districts abandoned previously owing to the poor returns normally obtainable.

From 1898 to 1902 the Liberals were in power with the famous Joe Martin, as Premier. An attempt to run a non party government then failed, and in 1903 Richard McBride came into power with 22 supporters as against 17 Liberals and two Socialists.

It is exceedingly hard these days to clarify Greece.

The name of the present Greek Premier is Dimitrakopoulos. Talk about your barb wire entanglements? Meanwhile it will be the better plan to refer to him by the first part of his cognomen—Dimit.

Sir Sam Hughes is taking a motor tour through the Highlands of Scotland. It is now up to the Toronto Globe to refer to the fact as the greatest crime since the betrayal of William Wallace.

It is stated that in the British Columbia contest some of the ladies making platform addresses have spoken longer, than the candidates themselves. Gee whiz, what is going to happen when the fair sex become parliamentary representatives?

CLOSE FIGHT IN ILLINOIS STATE

Dunn, Democrat, and Lowden, Republican, in Running for Governorship.

Governor Duggan. Chicago, Sept. 14.—One of the hardest fought political campaigns in the history of Illinois will be waged between Governor Edward F. Dunn, Democrat, and former Congressman Charles O. Lowden, Republican, nominated for governor yesterday by the Democrats and Republicans, it was predicted to-day.

Both rolled up pluralities of approximately 100,000 over their nearest competitors in the nomination race, according to returns available early to-day. Both are veteran campaigners.

Governor Dunn defeated William B. Brinton, of Dixon, a manufacturer who had the backing of Roger Sullivan. Dunn won Cook county by a plurality of about 9,000 in one-third of the down state precincts. Lowden won in Cook by about 30,000 and down state by twice that plurality. Morton D. Hull and Frank L. Smith, his opponents, ran close together.

BRIDGE COMPANY

Takes Full Responsibility for Quebec Bridge Disaster.

Ottawa, Sept. 14.—The Minister of Railways and Canals received the following telegram from the St. Lawrence Bridge Company, in which that company accepts full responsibility for the centre span and undertakes to replace it as soon as practicable.

"Careful examination of the loss of the center span, probably due to failure of casting at southwest end, on which span has been resting for six weeks with greater load than yesterday. Main structure apparently absolutely uninjured. St. Lawrence Bridge Company take full responsibility for center span and is making arrangements to replace it as soon as practicable.

"(Signed) St. Lawrence Bridge Company (Signed) G. S. Duggan." Mr. Montserrat Wires

Mr. Cochrane also received the following telegram from Mr. C. N. Montserrat, the chairman of the board which was constituted by the Laurier government for the construction of the bridge after the accident in 1907:

"Quebec, Sept. 12.—Hon. Frank Cochrane, minister of railways and canals: "Our further careful examination to-day tends to confirm our opinion that accident was due to failure of one of the castings bearing castings supporting suspended span on lifting girders. Our board is satisfied accident not due to failure of span, etc. Main cantilevers undamaged. Will keep you informed and see you as early as possible.

"(Signed) C. M. Montserrat." From these reports it is apparent that according to present information of the Company no defect in the design of the span, and that the opinion of the engineers that the span, if placed in position, would be adequate for its purpose is not affected. In other words, the accident occurred not through any defect in the span itself, but in the failure of one of the supports in lifting the span into its position.

KAVALA LOOTED BY THE TURKS

Bashibazouks Entered Town Vacated by Greeks and Pillaged Everywhere.

Paris, Sept. 14.—The Greek port of Kavala was pillaged and civilians massacred by Turkish Bashibazouks on the withdrawal of the Greek garrison, according to a Saloniki despatch to the Havas Agency. The despatch says that the Bulgarians sent an ultimatum to Colonel Christoboulos, commander of the garrison on the night of September. Col. Christoboulos then left with 1500 men for Thasos.

A terrible panic occurred in the city when the garrison withdrew. The Bashibazouks entered and, after breaking open the prisons, indulged in an orgy of pillage and massacre. All who could, fled before the invaders.

The Bulgarians are now camped at Caidormax and Kuchuksoorman. Bulgarian aeroplanes flew over Kavala on Tuesday and dropped bombs which killed nine persons.

COMMITTEE MEETINGS OF BD. OF EDUCATION

The Commercial Committee of the Board of Education, met on September 11th. There were present Messrs. Lane, Parker, Stedman and Shepperson. No definite conclusions were reached, but various questions were considered with a view to dealing with them at a future meeting. It was proposed to organize classes as far as possible, upon the basis of those of last year in the subjects of book-keeping, stenography and typewriting. If a sufficient number of pupils present themselves on the opening nights to ensure satisfactory classes, and to discontinue the classes if the attendance falls below a reasonable minimum. In view of the decrease in the number attending towards the closing sessions of last year's classes, it was suggested, to be referred to those who attended for 75 per cent. of the lessons. The Committee are asked to consider means of making the work as interesting as possible, and to present their suggestions at the adjourned meeting, which is to take place at the call of the Chairman.

Technical Committee. The Advisory Technical Committee of the Board of Education met in the office of the Collegiate Institute on Monday, Sept. 11th, to consider the question of the re-opening of the evening classes. There were present W. Lakey, Chairman; I. Armstrong, J. W. Harris, E. C. Tench, A. Brandon, A. Coulbeck, Jno. A. Gee and A. W. Burt.

The attendance at the day Industrial Class was reported, and it was decided that steps should be taken to increase the class by circulating the information that pupils may be admitted at the discretion of the Principal of the College Institute without necessarily having passed the Entrance Examination. On motion of Messrs. Harris and Armstrong, it was decided to hold night classes as usual, if a minimum of 10 pupils can be secured for each class, but that the classes thus formed should be discontinued if the attendance should fall below a minimum of five.

Moved by Mr. Tench, seconded by Mr. Harris, that the classes open on October 17th, to close on March 28, and that Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of the previous week be set apart for the registration of pupils. The classes are to be advertised by display cards as last year, but in booklet form is to be issued, to comprise also, if the Commercial Committee see fit, information referring to that Department. The question of collecting fees, to be refunded to those whose attendance was satisfactory, was considered, but not viewed with favor by the members of the Committee who were present.

Meeting of Police Commissioners

The Police Commissioners met yesterday at the office of Judge Hardy, in the Court House. The chief matter under discussion was the reinstatement of Jno. Buskard to the position of police court clerk. Nearly a year ago Buskard enlisted when the 32nd Battery was being recruited. At that time he was promised that upon his return he would receive back his old position. When part of the 32nd Battery was drafted, Buskard was transferred to the 125th Battalion, being one of the first members of that battalion where he remained until time came for going overseas, when for some physical trouble he was unable to pass the final rigid examination. The commission, therefore, decided to reappoint him, and he was bonded for $500 with the K. V. Bunnell Co., and will re-assume his position on the first of October. The officers and men of the police force applied for a raise in salary, which was recommended by Chief Slemm. The increase was granted. Chief Slemm also reported the new motor patrol as being satisfactory.

A MACHINE GUN BULLET KILLED LIEUTENANT BARTLE

He Was Leading His Platoon When He Fell—Was With the 84th Battalion in Brantford Last Winter

A very large circle of friends in Brantford learned with exceedingly deep regret of the death of the front of Lieut. Bartle. He was located here with the 84th Battalion during last winter, and his many engaging qualities made him a favorite with every one. The following taken from the Niagara Falls Review, tells of the manner in which the young hero fell, fighting for King and country:

In the trenches Belgium, August 25th, 1916. Dear Mr. and Mrs. Bartle—I hardly know how to begin to write you in this great trouble which we all feel so deeply. I have lost my dearest friend, Deane, who has made the greatest sacrifice a man can make in that he willingly and unflinchingly has laid down his life for his friends. He was the whitest, straightest, and most unselfish man I ever met. We knew each other so well and had been inseparable for so long that his death feels like the loss of a dear brother, and I feel all alone in this hell without him. We started in at daylight, but the enemy observation balloon spotted us and shelled us. By dint of diving into ditches we avoided casualty, and waited until dark. At eleven o'clock we were just a few minutes from the trenches and were crossing a zone swept by machine gun fire. Deane was a little ahead of me leading his platoon, and a machine gun bullet passed through his helmet and struck him in the left temple. In a few minutes he passed away painlessly without regaining consciousness. They carried him back to the first aid station, passing me on the way. I inquired who it was, but knowing how dear he was to me they replied that it was a wounded officer from an adjoining battalion, and I did not discover my loss until I reached the trenches. Do not worry or grieve, as he would not wish it, and rest assured that he will be avenged. However far off the day of reckoning may be, it will surely come. He lived an unusually clean and good life, and is admired by all for it, and is one of the few who need not fear of meeting his Maker. His men loved him dearly and miss his leadership and unerring judgment, they looked on him as a father and he always looked after them. His loss is a blow to the country and the cause, and he is sadly missed by his brother officers. Although it is poor consolation, we know he did his duty. His remains will be interned tomorrow with full military honors. If it is my lot to be spared, I will return and see you. Things are pretty hot around here and although we have been only here here two weeks it seems like an age since we left civilization.

"TIP." The last letter, written August 20th, by Lieut. Bartle to his parents, prior to his death on August 24th, contained the following description: Your letter, awaited me when I came back from my first experience in the trenches. We are fortunate in going in for a few days first before taking over the line. In our trip over we only stayed till Tuesday morning, our orders were very strict, and any man giving information naming route, ports of embarkation, and landing or any means taken by the Admiralty to convey troops, would be sent back to Canada, besides in writing such a letter one is endangering the lives of those following, and I did not want that on my conscience.

As I said before, we have just returned from our first turn in the trenches, front line and everything. It was dark when we started. We rode for some distance in the old London motor buses, and then got out and marched to a place where we were to meet our guides. While we were waiting for them, the Germans began to shell us, we were mighty excited, our first taste of war. On the way we passed ruined houses, etc. Behind the lines we saw very little wreckage. Crops are ripening, and life is nearly normal. We had a "show" or "strafe" yesterday about six o'clock, that is a heavy bombardment. The big guns were booming and the shells screaming overhead, shrapnel bursting above us.

Sausages and rum jars were exploding about us, and we were expecting a gas attack. Some sport! Why look looking for the South Pole, or hunting lions, when you can go to war. Sausages and rum jars are heavy explosives, a sort of bomb, which makes a hole sometimes twenty feet across and eight feet deep, you can see them coming, though. We were looking about for the beggars yesterday, and they came; I had about six drop all around me. We would see one coming, and just before it landed run around the corner of a traverse and lie flat on the bottom of the trench; the thing exploded and we were covered with earth, then we would jump up and wait for the next. Great sport! I'll tell you. The food is fine. Soup, stew and lobster salad for dinner last night, toast, Welsh rabbit, coffee, jam for breakfast; steak and onions for lunch, and cigarettes all ways. One gets very little time for writing; it is all action, and we are not allowed to mention places, but you know pretty well where the Canadians are. Major Gordon's battalion is on our left, but he was not in the front line yesterday. We get some good jokes occasionally. A German prisoner told the British that their snipers got so much money and leave for the number they shot. If they get an officer so much more, colonel higher still. He was asked how much for a staff officer, but he did not understand what a staff officer meant. It was explained that staff officers wore red tabs on their coats. "Oh," he said, "we do not shoot them; they help us." Rather hard on the staff. All for the present.

NEGRO RAN AMOK ON STREET CAR

Killed New Orleans Merchant and Wounded Several Others.

By Courier Leased Wire.
New Orleans, La., Sept. 14.—Armed posses of either the sheriff's deputies last night were searching for Seymour Clay, a negro who shot and instantly killed a prominent merchant and wounded four others, one a police sergeant, following a quarrel with a street car conductor over a transfer.

Fortune Jaubert, aged 70, wholesale drygoods merchant, is dead as a result of having been shot through the heart.
According to Milazzo, the conductor, Clay slashed him across the face when a worthless transfer was refused. The negro then jumped from the running car and although pursued by several passengers and the motorman managed to escape to his home several blocks away, from where he soon reappeared with a rifle and opened fire on the crowd.
Jaubert rounded the street corner in an automobile, accompanied by his wife and granddaughter just before the negro started to shoot. It was believed the first bullet fired by Clay struck the merchant. The others were wounded when Clay from behind a telephone pole fired into the crowd.
The negro, although fired at by several policemen and watchmen, apparently escaped uninjured, taking his rifle with him.

THOROUGHNESS OF ENTENTE PROVEN

French Success on Somme Hailed with Enthusiasm By British.

New York, Sept. 14.—A news agency despatch to The Sun from London reads as follows:
The big bite the French took out of the German front on Tuesday is given great prominence by the papers and commented upon with great enthusiasm.
Every French success arouses immense enthusiasm in the British army and makes the men almost as happy as if they had done it themselves.

One of the correspondents with the army in France telegraphs: "I believe the French feeling toward us as cordial as ours toward them. I doubt if ever in history two allies worked together with such perfect unanimity or with more ungrudging admiration each for the other's gallantry."
The British operations during this French advance were comparatively small, but there was a bitter struggle eastward of Ghinchy, where the British fought Bavarian troops and sent back nine officers and 160 men prisoners.

The correspondent referring to the anchored observation balloons says the Germans have adopted a new means of defending their balloons from the British aeroplanes, which already have downed several of them. This defense is a gun below the balloon which emits high reaching flames to scorch the wings of an aeroplane coming too close.
The correspondent sends extracts from many letters found upon German prisoners confirming the terror of the British artillery and severe German losses. A German officer captured at Ghinchy told a British staff officer who examined him: "You don't know what shell fire is until you are in it in one of our front line dugouts."
A letter from a Prussian artilleryman says: "The Englishman is a damnable enemy. The Frenchman and Russian are not so cunning."

Letters from friends of German soldiers at home deplore the terrible German losses. One says there are 5,000 widows in Offenbach, besides the unmarried men who have fallen. Others dwell upon the food shortage and the sufferings of the poor and hungry.

Destroy Aerodrome, Capture Enemy Supplies and Kill Many Turks.

London, Sept. 14.—The British army in Mesopotamia, which has been inactive for several months on account of the intense heat, has engaged in a few minor operations recently, which were reported officially to-day as follows:
"On the Tigris line on the morning of September 11, an aerodrome of the enemy was raided by our airmen, who destroyed a small camp."
"On the Euphrates line on Sept. 9th, a reconnoitering party was attacked northeast of Nasiriyeh by Turkish irregulars. Two days later a mixed force from Nasiriyeh drove them northward. The operations were most successful. Over 200 of the enemy were killed and large quantities of ammunition were captured and destroyed."

13th Hoodooed
Unlucky Leafs

Dropped a Double Header
Yesterday to Providence
—Blackburne Chased.

Rochester, N.Y., Sep. 14.—The thirteenth day of the month brought about disaster to "Lena" Blackburne's Leafs yesterday. Rochester taking both games of the doubleheader from Toronto, 8 to 7, and 4 to 3. Both Markle and Levern were touched up freely in the first game,
while Herbert only lasted one inning
in the second. Acting Manager Blackburne relieved Herbert on the mound and held the Leafs to one hit in seven innings. He was somewhat shy on control, though, passing five.

But for an adverse decision of Umpire Chestnut, which Blackburne protested so vigorously that he was banished, the Leafs would have tied it up in the eighth. Murray singled, but was forced by Graham who took second on a passed ball and scored on Viox's double to right centre.
Blackburne scored Viox with a single and taking second on the throw-in,
and he and Krichell, who walked,
advanced on a wild pitch. Markle singled to centre and Blackburne counted, but Krichell was called out at the plate.

The issue in the second game was decided in the very first inning when Rochester tallied four runs. Milan was an easy out, but Leach walked and stole. Devlin also ambled. Jacobson doubled to right, and Sigin and Hate both singled. "Red" Murray made a great catch of Doolin's hard drive else there is no telling when the Hustlers would have stopped.
A pass to Viox, a passed ball and Smith's double to left gave Toronto
a run in the second. Thompson's single, his steal and Trout's single netted another in the third. With two down in the ninth, Viox walked.
Blackburne singled, and McAuley hoisted Smith's grounder. Viox scoring. Krichell then ended the game
by striking out.

Pirates Beat
the Dodgers

Brooklyn, Sept. 14.—The Pirates made it two out of three in the second and tightened up the National League pennant race more than ever. Cooper was very effective, while the Pirates knocked Smith out of the box in the seventh and Dell failed to stop them. Ruck-

last two innings. Score:

Wild and Errative

Chicago, Sep. 14.—Chicago de-fated St. Louis 9 to 8 in ten innings of wild and erratic playing yesterday.
Weaver's wild throw of Weaver's grounder sent the winning run over the plate in the 10th inning after two men were out. Chicago pon-

Giants Took Two
From Matty's Men

At New York—New York made it
eight straight by defeating Cincinnati in both sections of a doubleheader here to-day, 3 to 0 and 6 to
4. In the first game Schupp held Cincinnati to three hits. Holke, the young first-baseman of the Giants, won the game in the sixth inning
when he made a three-base hit with the bases full. New York won the second game by batting Schneider
for five runs in the first inning.

Four Killed.

Detroit, Mich., Sept. 14.—Four men are dead and a score of others narrowly escaped from a fire which brought the Salvation Army Industrial building early to-day. About 75 persons were in the building when the fire was discovered. Most of them were on the second and third floors.
One of the men who jumped from a top storey may die. The property loss was nominal.

GERMAN ROYALTY IN COMMAND ON WEST FRONT.

Latest Berlin statements divide the command on the western front into army groups as follows:
North of Somme, Duke Albrecht of Wurtemberg; Somme front Crown Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria; Verdun front, the German Crown Prince.

Dode Paskert
Having Fine Year

Dode Paskert is flashing one of the best years of his long connection with the game. He is 35 years old and has been in the majors for ten years. But never has he performed more brilliantly than now. Paskert is lacing the horsehide for a mark in close to 300, and he is getting in most of his clouts just when they count for runs. Rarely has he fooled in a pinch. Always a marvellous fielder, he is playing beyond anything heretofore shown. A score of times seemingly sure hits. His throws have been wonderful in their accuracy and their speed, and even on the bases Paskert is moving his legs at a clip that alarms the opposing catcher.

Hard Hitting

League Leaders.

At Boston—Winning twice from Chicago to-day, 7 to 3 and 11 to 6,
the Boston Nationals gained ground in the pennant race and are now two games behind the leading Brooklyn.
Smith made five hits, including a

IN ENGLAND NOW

London, Sept. 14.—Les. Darcy, the famous Australian middleweight champion boxer, who defeated Jimmy Clabby of Hammond, Ind., on points in a twenty-round contest
at Sydney, N. S. W., last Saturday, has, with his trainer, "Mick" Hawkins, joined the colors and will shortly go on active service.
This information has been obtained from the London office of the High Commissioner for Australia. In spite of the many thousands of Australian now in England and at the front, boxing is still flourishing in the Antipodes.
Have to Protect Opponents
Darcy can find few opponents among his fellow-countrymen because of the whole-hearted enthusiasm with which they have responded to the call to the colors, but "Snowy"
Baker has filled the breach with importations from the United States.
It is understood that Darcy's enlistment will not interfere with his projected contest with the American middleweight, George Chip.
"Bill" Squires, the former Australian heavyweight champion, who was knocked out by Tommy Burns of Canada in the States, has given up for active service. Hugh Mehegan, another famous Australian boxer,
has arrived in England with the latest contingent of colonial troops.
France Honors Carpenter
Georges Carpenter, the heavyweight champion of Europe, who has been on active service with the French army since the beginning of the war and has been in the thick of the fighting in the trenches as despatch rider and in the aviation corps, has received further recognition from the French War Office for his daring and successful exploits by being twice mentioned in the orders of the day and recommended for the Military Medal.

and moved within two points of first place. The game was hotly contested with good pitching on both sides and

Chicago May Lose Both Bosses

Rumor has it that both managers of the Chicago major league clubs
—Joe Tinker and Clarence Rowland
—are slated for the soaped runway before another season opens. Of course, the customary denials have been made by the club owners, but records are records, and when managers fail to deliver with the material given Rowland and Tinker the fans are certain to demand a change.
And since the fans pay the freight,
their demands usually carry some weight. Eddie Collins is said to be slated for Rowland's job, and Art Wilson is reported to have been taken back from Pittsburg to step into Tinker's shoes.

TRUCE EFFECTED

Hungarian Premier Smooths

Opposition Leaders.

By Courier Leased Wire.
Berne, Switzerland, Sept. 14.—
Wireless despatches from Budapest announce that a compromise has been reached between Premier Tiza
and the leaders of the opposition.
The premier has consented not to adjourn parliament before the end of the month and the opposition leaders have agreed not to criticize the military authorities, but only the administration and its foreign policies.

Count Julius Andrássy, former premier and leader of the opposition precipitated a crisis in the Hungarian parliament on August 24, when he announced that he would no longer respect the political truce effected at the outbreak of the war and would resume criticism of the government. It was reported at that time that the developments in the Balkans had brought a demand from the opposition for coalition cabinet and within the last few days, it was reported that this had been agreed upon.

TOOK PHOTOS AT NIAGARA FALLS

And Were Arrested By Guards As Spies—Discharged Later.

Niagara Falls, Ont., Sept. 13.—Alexander G. Landreth, a photographer of Niagara Falls, N.Y., who has a concession on this side, and William Mark of Buffalo, a motion picture man, met with rigid military rules when they took pictures in Queen Victoria Park yesterday afternoon. The military guards believed them to be spies. They were taken into custody, but after it was explained to the military authorities that they meant no harm, and had entered the proscribed zone under verbal leave of an army officer, they were released. They were accompanied by Supt. E. H. Henning of the International Railway Company at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

The order isolating the power zone and the International belt loop went into effect at 6 o'clock this morning. Guards are riding on all cars passing within this area. Only those having passes are permitted to leave the cars. Barbed wire entanglements surround the prohibited area. Passes have been issued only to the employ-ees and officials of the power com-pany and those employed at the city waterworks station.

RECRUITING THE BARTENDERS NOW

Efforts Being Made in Tor-

Again in Limelight.

Toronto, Sept. 14.—Captain Joseph Lawson, Recruiting Officer for the 204th Battalion, intends to make an effort to make good the wastage in the ranks of his unit with bartend-ers. Over sixty members of the Bar-tenders' Union have already enlist-ed. With prohibition only a few days off, Captain Lawson expects to persuade others of the union to enlist.

What will likely prove the last escapade in khaki of Pte. Thomas Longboat, since Lieut.-Col. Greer recently warned him that another misde-monor would be followed by his discharge, occurred on Saturday. Longboat was taken into custody in a Simcoe street hotel and placed in Court Street Station, where, it is al-leged, he endeavored to wreck the cells.

Col. Repington Favors Kuro-patkin's Plea for Combination

By Courier Leased Wire.
New York, Sept. 14.—The New York Sun prints the following news agency despatch from London:

Colonel Repington, the military critic of the Times, commenting upon the Russian General Kuropatkin's recent statement that it is necessary that the allies combine their men and guns to better advantage than hitherto, says it deserves careful con-sideration. "If on completion of our own orders," he writes, "we turn over to Russian use our plans for the manufacture of heavy guns and shells such as are required for the needs of our own army, we can enable Rus-sia in 1917 and 1918 to deploy such large and efficient armies that they will dominate the whole situation. "We can do so only if we have reached the limit of expansion of our own armies. These alternatives sug-gest a number of considerations, but the combination Kuropatkin sees should not be beyond settlement by statesmanship."

MAKE OWN ARMOR

By Courier Leased Wire.
Washington, Sept. 14.—The gov-ernment will construct its own ar-mor plate factory, in the opinion of naval officers. When hearings on the question of the selection of a site for the proposed $11,000,000 armor plant were resumed at the navy de-partment to-day, no offers for the sale of private plants had been made and it was believed that none would be made.

Additional offers of sites were made before Secretary Daniels and other naval officials to-day. Advan-tages of Rhode Island cities were urged first. The claims of more than a hundred middle western and eastern cities already have been present-ed.

As with the previous Loan, we predict a great success for this issue. During this period of stress our Government needs our help and counts upon our patriotism. But a chance is given investors of placing their money in securities of the highest grade, upon terms the liberality of which will, perhaps, not be fully realized until the return of normal times.

If this Loan were issued to yield 4%, instead of about 5 1/3% the price would be 105.41, instead of 97.50. A 4% yield (the basis on which Dominion Government bonds sold so recently as 1914) would mean a price of 111 for the present issue.

Of the priory now few traces remained, but of the great tower very many. Another smaller tower now reared its head, as though claiming lordship over all it over looked, and a great pile of buildings about and around it still went by the name of Gaston's Keep. But a considerable portion of these lay in ruins. Tradition said that after the Priory had been swept away in the days of the Tudors there had suffered wreck in the days of the Civil War and had never been restored. And the pre-had escaped of Lebreton did not date back more than three hundred years. Nevertheless it presided many of the features of an old-time baronial hall, though in abundance of air and light, and the rooms were lofty and sumptuously furnished with all manner of strange and costly prizes brought from all parts of the world.

For certain among the Lebretons of more recent times had been merchant princes and traders, and had had connection with the East India Co., in its palmy days. So that the gold had filled their coffers, and their historic house held treasures and splendours which made it a veritable museum of wonders. But the wealth which had flowed in upon the Lebretons did not seem to have made for happiness. The father of Gaston, two years now dead, had grown slowly and imperceptibly into the habits and traditions of a miser. The household staff had been reduced; many perfectly legitimate expenses had been cut down. He no longer suffered his wife to leave home for a visit of pleasure to the metropolis. His only son had been sent to public school and university, and then for a trip around the world; but he was never adequately supplied with money. He never knew the sensation of pleasure which comes with the realization of being son and heir to a man of large means. Gaston always thought that his father must have heavy losses until he came into his heritage and knew that this was not so. Meanwhile the effect of his training and his conviction had given somewhat there was some throw-back in his case in the direction of the sombre Breton strain from which his house had sprung. For he was not quite as open to the young men are in the twentieth-century days, and pleasures which appealed to the companions of his school and college days seemed to have little or no interest for him.

His passion was for the soil on which he had been brought up, the house and the lands which bore his name. He was an adept and enthusiast over all kinds of sport, but he took his rod or his gun out alone. Horses and dogs were his friends and companions, but of human companionship he knew little. In that lonely sea-girt place there were no youths now of his own age or likes of tastes. Three old men were, or had been, his near neighbors, and by the action of his father a barrier had been raised up between him and them which he was too proud or too indifferent to seek to overthrow.

As he rode slowly onwards in the direction of his home two splendid bloodhounds topped the rise in his wake, following in his tracks. For a moment, as he reigned up on the summit of one of the many green hills and hounds presented a splendid picture of magnificent power and vitality etched against the glow of the sky behind. The dark, swarthy face, with strong, deeply-cut features and eyes black as night, gloomed ever as by dark thoughts, was at once handsome and forbidding, and tinged with a melancholy which often seems the heritage of Celtic people.

After pausing a while and gazing over the sea as though lost in meditation, Gaston woke out of his reverie, and putting his horse to a brisk trot, and occasionally allowing him to break into a hand-gallop, he quickly found himself on the downward trend, which eventually led him to the bridle-path by which he could most quickly reach his home. At one point he looked down upon the square bulk of the Keep, upon which a shaft of westering sunlight fell, touching it with a radiance. House and gardens stood upon a great plateau, and behind was a solemn region of oak and hick wood, where lay the ruins which no inhabitant of the district willingly passed after sundown. Gaston himself, fearless as a lion in all other respects, had known many a thrill of fear when exploring these ruins in childhood; and if he admitted nothing of this experience now, it was not because he was quite a stranger to a sensation of creeping gooseflesh if ever his wanderings at night brought him near to that haunted place of shadows and the burial-place of the dead.

Tradition said that a white figure walked along the fallen stones at night, which might or might not be graves. And the legend had long held credence that, if a Lebreton met face to face a white woman who wrung her hands together and moaned and looked him in the eyes as she passed him by, this was his death-token and call. Within a twelve-month—probably before—the too would be dead. For he was not quite as open to the young men are in the twentieth-century days, and pleasures which appealed to the companions of his school and college days seemed to have little or no interest for him.

his father's last charges—and these had been many. But only one hour before his death had he told of the "white woman" of the ancient legend who had "overlooked" him with eyes of fire—overlooked him to his death.

"There was a curse upon her lips, boy!" the dying man had said between laboured gasps. "I heard no words, but I knew the curse was upon me. It may follow you, Gaston—it may follow you. Beware of the ruins and the woman who walks in grave clothes! Beware of them at night-time or when the moon rides high! Remember the old legend of the house—He who sees must die!"

Often and often did these words ring in Gaston's ears, whether he rode along the breezy downs or sat beside his blazing fires within thick stone walls. He had known a shiver of cold in the hottest glow of summer sun, and since his father's death his face had been chilled by lines somewhat too deep and too stern for the years which his life had numbered.

When he reached the great courtyard of the Keep he gave up his horse to a servant who was in waiting for his return, and with his dogs at his heels he strode across the ringing flags and entered by a low-browed side door which admitted him to a small stone-paved lobby into which the doors of his own rooms opened—panelled rooms where now the shadows were gathering, for though without the pure pearly light of evening lay softly, shot overhead with golden threads, within the strong thick stone walls of the great baronial house dusk fell early and lingered long.

Gaston only paused here to put down his cap and gloves and crop, and then passed onwards and out into a passage which led to the central hall, vaulted and vast, where a swinging lamp gave sufficiency of light to show the portraits of dead-and-gone ancestors, the gleam of armour adorning lay figures, the wide shallow steps of a mounting staircase, the carving of its hand-rail, and the gallery halfway up the panelled wall.

From this hall the young owner of this huge pile passed into a warm of fire of coal and driftwood, which blazed collops of viridid, blue and green, scarlet and gold, a mother waited for the coming of her son and welcomed him with shining eyes.

But for a few moments neither spoke. Gaston came forward and stood with his back to the blaze; his mother, her beautiful white hands lying idle in her lap, for she had laid aside her work at the sound of the well-known footsteps, leaned back in her chair and quietly looked at him, as though for this sight alone she lived.

A beautiful woman still was Madame Lebreton, as she was always called, for, though English-born, she had lived much of her life in France, and had been wooed and won there by the husband for whom she now wore the deep weeds of widowhood. Her hair was of a snowy whiteness. Her face though somewhat deeply lined, was very delicate in coloring and texture, and the great dark eyes which her son inherited looked forth from under brows delicately pencilled and beautifully arched. Her voice when she spoke was low and musical, with a touch of sadness in its tones.

"Well, my son, what news do you bring from the world, Rochaven? Have you been there to-day?"

"I have been there, and I have ridden through the woods, and I have given my orders. Then I took a gallop over the downs, and so came home."

"What orders, my son?"

His young face slightly hardened. "I have ordered the closing of the path again. We have had trouble enough over that foolish claim already. These girls they will know nothing of it. Their father was my father's friend. They will not be steeped in foolish local prejudice; in fact in all probability they will never have the good road which we improved. It is only a little farther, and so the path shall be stopped. I have given my orders accordingly. I hope to be quit of that nuisance once and for all."

Madame Lebreton was silent. Gaston flung a half-impatient glance in her direction.

"Mother, why don't you speak? Surely you appear, Gaston, because I do not approve—and you know it, my boy, for we have spoken often of this thing. Bad blood has followed this foolish feud for generations. Why begin it afresh? A right is a right."

"And I say it is no right! Well, mother, we will not discuss it. Knott has my orders, and they will be carried out. That is all I have to say about the matter."

Mrs. Lebreton sighed and held her peace.

LORD KITCHENER TOOK SERIOUS VIEW OF LIFE

Had No Time for Folly or Pleasures—Was True Christian.

Rev. J. H. Holesworth, late incumbent of All Saint's, Cairo, writes as follows on Lord Kitchener's religion.
"No one could be long in his company without realizing that he was a man who viewed life seriously. I may illustrate this from the effect he produced on society in Cairo, when he went there to take up his position as British Agent and Consul-General. Cosmopolitan places like the capital of Egypt, which are largely the haunts of pleasure, are often given over to a frivolity which is not seen in cities of commerce and business. There is frequently a relaxing of moral heroes, what is witnessed elsewhere, and a general air of undisciplined, and it goes without saying that in such places Sunday and Sunday worship are at a discount. "It was wonderful to assert that Cairo was free from these vices. But the coming of Lord Kitchener instantaneously wrought a change. He was known to be a man of unswerving devotion to duty, of disciplined life, of resolute purpose. Instinctively we all braced ourselves up, and it was as though a tonic had been administered to the place. So far as his work permitted, Lord Kitchener was regular and punctual in his church attendance and this at once did benefitfully upon the Sunday habits of the community. "He was president of All Saint's Church committee, and I never remember his omitting to take the chair, even when hard pressed by State business. "Lord Kitchener was indeed a type of that simple, manly, straightforward Christianity which we associate with the best English laity, which does not trouble itself indeed about subtle questions and controversies, but rests on the broad facts of revelation, and in simplicity practices its tenets."

25 REFUGEES FROM ATHENS IN A Boat Was Shelled When Leaving Over to Bandits

By Courier Landed Wire.
Athens, Sep. 13, via London. 15 (delayed).—The Margaret, a boat in which Baron Von Schöner, head of the German propaganda office, was sent to Kavala, was turned over to the Bulgarians, rived this afternoon with 1000 refugees who were in the most pitiful condition. They had been with food since Sunday, and were packed in the ship like sardines. The fugitives said that a German aeroplane had dropped three bombs as the boat was leaving Kavala, which caused within inches of striking the ship.
An eye-witness who described the entry of the Bulgarians into Kav on Monday, said that three German regiments which had remained in town were given until ten o'clock Tuesday morning to surrender prisoners of war. At the expiration of this ultimatum they gave up.

GERMANS LOST 120 PLANES IN MONTENEGRO

Against only Half that Number by French—England Wonderful Army.
By Courier Landed Wire.
New York, Sept. 15.—Paul Cravath, attorney, who returned the Krontland from a six weeks' visit to France and England, said tonight that during August officers' aces showed that the Germans 120 aeroplanes as against 60 lost to the French.
"I return home with all doubt moved as to the outcome of the war," he said. "I now find the slightest uncertainty in the news—and an old man that the opinion has become general in the central countries in Europe, even those having pro-German sympathies."
In referring to the achievement of the American aviators, he said: "By common consent among allies," he added, "the creation of England's volunteer army, with mobilization of the industries of the nation is regarded as the achievement—always excepting the victory of the allies on the Meuse, which still remains the miracle of war. England has done in two weeks what it has taken Germany France two generations to accomplish with the most drastic means of conscription."

THESE GREEN Forming the Fourth Army Corps.

Are to Fight on the Greek Side.
Berlin, Sept. 15.—The 4th army corps, with headquarters at Salonika, has been placed under the hands of the Germans by its commander and the troops will be transported to Germany. It was announced here that the Greeks will be permitted to retain their arms and equipment, and will retain standing as neutrals. They will joy German hospitality until their soil is freed of allied invaders to the Bulgars.
The official statement dealing with the action of the Greek troops that left behind the left Bulgarian in the Bulgarians' advance Macedonia.
"The allies planned to force troops to fight on their side. The same fate as the 11th Greek division at Salonika was the official statement. The communication was transferred from the allies' arbitrary action checked by allies authorities.
"The commander of the 4th army corps at Kavala, faithful to the will of his Commander-in-Chief (King Constantine) and the government in their desire to maintain neutrality, was forced by the German and Bulgarian forces and disease to ask the German commander-in-chief on September 13th to protect his brave troops and their homes and villages and food."
