THE HOUSE DISSOLVED.

When We Took Office.

Do not misunderstand what I mean when I speak of controllable expenditure. Every expenditure is in a limited sense controllable, even that upon education and the roads and bridges, but I wish to be understood as referring to the largest portion of the public expenditure connected with the maintaining and operating of the executive government and legislature, and which is annual and recurrent. The items classified in the public accounts as the least of executive government, contingencies and legislature have always embraced what in the main has been called controllable expenditure, and an examination of the blue books of the province exhibits the following result:—

In 1882, the last year of the old government, the charges in respect to these several services were as follows:—

Contingencies.....	$1,387 49
Executive Government.....	27,933 62
Legislature.....	27,533 30
Total.....	$76,854 41

In 1893, the last full year of the present government, the figures are as follows: (I do not compare 1894, which term was only ten months, and which for the purpose of comparison, would be unduly favorable to us:—

Contingencies.....	$13,169 22
Executive Government.....	19,875 20
Legislature.....	19,875 20
Total.....	$52,919 62

This comparison could be followed up for all the intervening years from 1882 and 1893, and for the years preceding 1882, but the result would not be materially varied, and the comparative figures would be much the same. It thus appears that with an increase in these charges would not have justified complaint, we are maintaining the services mentioned with at least equal economy, and the charges of the present government are not greater than those of the former government. It is now referred to, can himself easily verify the accuracy of this statement, and, being true, it is to be regretted that the charges of the present government are not more generally known.

The Public Debt.

Let me now turn to the subject of the public debt. This, I regret to acknowledge, has grown so that the annual interest is now $200,000, against $40,000 in 1882, the last year of the former government. It will be remembered that it was in the session of 1882 that the second largest railway subsidy act ever enacted was passed, and it is not too much to say that it has been in carrying out the engagements involved in that enactment that a very large proportion of the additional debt has been incurred. Almost all of it, I may say, has been incurred, and the amount of the debt is now $1,000,000. In solidifying at your hands a renewal of the provincial government, it will not be deemed unfeeling that I should

Take a Hasty Glance

at the manner in which my colleagues and myself have managed our affairs during that period, and at a portion, at least, of the work, both legislative and administrative, we have been able to accomplish.

We claim to have given you during our term of office a vigorous, painstaking and businesslike administration. Our sessions of the legislature have also shortened, while the public measures we have proposed and passed upon the statute book, have been at least equal in quality and greatly superior in volume to those of any preceding government. The following list of government measures, although by no means an exhaustive one, will convey some idea of the variety and extent to which we have directed attention to legislation of a useful character, although it takes no account of the vast number of acts passed during the period which, if not due entirely to our initiative, could not have been enacted without government countenance and assistance:

An act protecting the lumber lands of the province.

An act to secure and prevent fishery rights in the rivers running through the crown lands from being disposed of without the sanction and protection of the fisheries in non-tidal waters.

The liquor license act.

An act introducing the general system of law stamps in legal proceedings.

Providing shorthand reporting in the courts.

Incorporation of joint stock companies letters patent act.

An act in aid of the construction of railways.

An act for the extension of the franchise to women in municipal elections.

New highway act.

An act relating to agriculture.

Public health act, which, if not due to New game laws.

An act relating to limited partnerships.

New franchise act and election law.

An act to encourage dairying and establish butter and cheese factories.

An act to promote the education of the blind.

Controversial elections act.

An act in aid of the education of the deaf and dumb and the establishment of a school for the blind.

An act abolishing the legislative council, the office of private secretary of the lieutenant governor, the office of clerk of the crown, governor's printer, etc.

The general mining act.

An act establishing a boys industrial home for Old and Young, etc., etc.

New registry of deeds act.

New probate act.

Succession duties act.

An act to amend the provisions of the act to prevent fraudulent preferences by insolvents.

Act amending and altering the practice of the law.

Public health act.

Law establishing liens on logs and lumber.

New election act.

Act to facilitate the stream driving of logs.

Wage earners and laborers protection law.

An act to secure to widows and children the benefit of life insurance.

An act to protect married women in their property and rights.

The Public Expenditure.

Passing to what may be more properly called administrative work, we claim to have given you prudent and economical government. It has not escaped your observation that during recent years there have been such changes introduced in the methods of transacting business, and in all matters of clerical and official detail that the cost of almost all clerical, municipal and corporate government has increased. An examination of the public accounts of the Dominion, as of those of our sister provinces, will without exception show a considerable, and in some instances an immense, increase in this class of governmental expenditure. It would not, therefore, have been justified complaint if our expenditure in this direction had also grown, but we take pride in the fact that this class of expenditure which may be designated as controllable, is not only not greater, but is less by thousands of dollars annually than it was

LABELLED "I AM A THIEF."

Two young clerks in the employ of Hibbard, Spencer, Bartlett & Co., wholesale hardware merchants, Chicago, were caught stealing. Mr. Hibbard told them they could choose between jail and wearing cards with the words "I am a thief," printed in large letters. They chose the placard punishment. Mr. Hibbard hung the two placards around the necks of the two young men and took them all over the establishment so that every employee in the large building might witness the disgrace into which his thieving fellow-workmen had fallen. After this Mr. Hibbard called a large crowd in the employ of the firm, and stood him between the two young men in the store where they were standing. The genial old party see them when passing out at six o'clock. They were then discharged.

AN INTERESTING QUESTION.

A move is about to be made in several cities in Canada, to test the question whether under the law Dominion officials should be exempt from civic taxation, and Fredericton will be much interested in the result. In St. John the assessors taxed the Post Office Inspector and another official, who have paid under protest, and the case is likely to go to the highest court, and in Ottawa the city council are making an attempt in the same direction. In the latter city the collector of customs and post office inspector have been selected as examples, and the determination expressed by the civic authorities to carry the case to the privy council, should the authority of the city be disputed.

The Citizen says that the income of Dominion officials in Ottawa reaches the large sum of $750,000, the taxes of which would amount to $15,000 annually. The assessors of the city propose to tax the advantages of their fellow citizens at the capital, and if the law exempts them from paying their proportion of the taxes, it is a bad law and should be repealed. An attempt was made some eighteen years ago to break down the barrier of privilege by which the civic servants are surrounded, by levying upon them the same as upon others; but it was unsuccessful. Mr. Lepron, an official of the House of Commons, was selected to experiment upon, and in consequence the question came before the court of Queen's Bench in September, 1877. The court decided in favor of the city, but Lepron appealed to the Court of Appeal, where the decision of the court below was reversed. In giving judgment Chancellor Sprague based his opinion upon the distribution of powers in the British North America act between the Dominion and the provinces. To the former is given by section 91, "the fixing and providing for the salaries and allowances of civil and other officers of the Dominion of Canada." Now, argued the chancellor, no province has the right to tax the salaries of Dominion officials, because if it could so it would be levying by just so much the amount that the Dominion government thought his services were worth; and what a province cannot do directly it cannot empower a municipality to do. Therefore a Dominion civil servant is not liable to general taxation. This reasoning was adopted in New Brunswick in the case of Coats vs. the Town of Moncton, and has never since been challenged.

The Fredericton city council should imitate the action of the St. John and Ottawa civil authorities, and make a move to lose a large amount by the exemption in cases of Dominion officials in this city. The Governor, three Judges, the Collector of Customs and his staff, the Postmaster and his assistants and others fall under the exemption. In most cases the salaries are large and could stand a generous contribution to the civic treasury. For several years Sir John Allen absolutely declined the exemption, and tendered taxes to the city treasurer, but they were refunded.

MR. FENETY'S OPPOSITION.

He no longer pulls his thousands out of the Treasury, and is in the saddle.

St. John Telegraph.

Last evening the ex-Queen's Printer's paper was heard from on the subject of the coming provincial election contest. The ex-Queen's Printer, during the period of more than twelve years that he held office under Mr. Blair's government, had not a word to say against him. Although he now accuses Mr. Blair of almost every crime in the calendar, it is only since he has had to surrender his office that he has discovered that Mr. Blair is a very bad man. In March last he was according to Mr. Fenety's paper, a natural leader of the Liberal party in New Brunswick, the ablest and best representative of a great party, the most successful and the most capable premier this province ever had. All this has been changed because Mr. Blair, for the purpose of saving $2,000 or $3,000 a year of the public money, abolished the office of Queen's printer and deprived its occupant of the great profits he had been making. Thus Mr. Blair's zeal for the public interests and his desire to reduce the public expenditure has been the means of turning a filiofilous and vindictive friend into a truculent and vindictive enemy.

St. John Gazette.

The Record of last evening contained an article attacking the local government, principally on the ground of its want of economy in administering the affairs of the province. This attitude is explained by the fact that the gentleman who largely interested in the paper, and who is also its editorial writer, has lately lost the fat office of Queen's printer by reason of the government recently making reforms in connection with the public printing, which will effect a saving to the province of $1,500 a year, but the government felt that there would be no justification for saddling this cost upon the country, and refused to accede to Mr. Fenety's request. The genial old party who has been compelled to relinquish a position which the public interest demanded should be no longer allowed to exist, and who, out of the handsome surplus which he has laid by, has a newspaper, the editorship of which he has appropriated as a matter of pleasant recreation, must not expect that the people will see in these outbursts of hostility to the government are due to his loss of a fat office.

Mr. Fenety, in assuming charge of the Record, treats the public in a very deliverance of his work as a reformer, and what he had accomplished as editor of the Morning News. He poses now as one of the greatest reformers of the past, but like all other reformers Mr. Fenety stowed himself away in the comfortable berth of Queen's printer at the earliest opportunity. He is said to have accumulated a snug fortune of over a hundred thousand dollars. His total profits from the office, which he has as a reformer secured for him, could not have been less than $200,000 during the period which he held it. This was not too bad for a man who boasts of cutting down the salaries of others. The loss of this lucrative-producing crib has caused him many a severe heart ache, for although rich, Mr. Fenety is not tired of accumulating wealth.

TO DEATH.

In view of the recent decease of E. B. Brownlow, of the Bank of B. N. A., the following lines "To Death," written by him, possess a melancholy interest, and are worthy of very public notice.

"Stay not the current of my young life's blood,
While love may mix its sweetness in the stream,
Nor end to soon ambition's worthy dream,
Mounting with manhood to its highest peak;
But let the world's great book be understood,
A little ere the page to me supreme—
O'er which I bend, be closed, with its vast theme
Of Nature's mystery and God's great good.
And, while my eyes grow dim, and brain cells creep,
With lessons past my learning, and deeds pressed,
I look around to find the needful rest,
Death! lift me like a mother, merciful,
In thy strong arms, and to thy breast I'll fling
Myself, ere I am laid to rest in earth's sleep."
There, like a tired-out child, to fall asleep."

Here is another sonnet called "Resignation," which shows in what light he was accustomed to regard the termination of life.

"When from its place among the orb of light,
A star fulfilling some unknown command,
Falls headlong down the night, like fiery brand,
A moment dazzling with its swiftens bright,
Then, lost forever to our wondering sight,
Behold the power of God's Almighty hand,
And learn that worlds alone may fall or stand,
As he may rule, who always ruleth right.
Or, if thou see a fragile insect fly,
In full mid-summer of its summer pride,
The brief span of life some hours denied,
Believe, He endeth who begetteth all,
And leave thyself within his hands to lie,
Content His will to do—to live or die."

DR. LABELL'S DISAPPEARANCE.

It is now nearly three weeks since Dr. Labelle disappeared suddenly from the Keely Institute here, and still nothing has been heard from him. His brother, Dr. Labelle, of New York, and his brother-in-law, Dr. Patterson, of Lowell, arrived here on Saturday for the purpose of looking after his effects, and, if possible, to discover his whereabouts. It will be remembered that Detective Roberts succeeded in tracing the missing doctor as far as Tracey station, where it was learned that he boarded a train for the west. Monday morning, the detective, at the instigation of the doctor's brother, went to Tracey and resumed the search. He ascertained that the doctor had boarded the train at Tracey, but he was generally supposed, but left the train at MacAdam. After wandering about that place for several hours, he was seen to board the St. John express, and there all traces of him ended. Detective Roberts thinks that the doctor may have gone to Nova Scotia and joined ex-Manager Robinson, who is rusticiating somewhere in that province.

A QUESTION.

How can we raise more corn to the acre? Why, of course, by using Putnam's Corn Extract. Putnam's painless corn extract has given universal satisfaction for it is sure, safe and painless. Like every article of real merit, it has a host of imitators, and we would especially warn the public to guard against those dangerous substitutes offered for the genuine Putnam's Extract. N. C. THE FREDERICTON HERALD

IS PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY AFTERNOON, FROM THE OFFICE, CORNER QUEEN AND ROBERT STREETS, FREDERICTON, N. B., BY THE HERALD PRINTING AND PUBLISHING CO., LTD.

THE HERALD. FREDERICTON, OCTOBER 5, 1895. PROVINCIAL ELECTIONS.

Nomination, Wednesday, Oct. 9th. Polling, Wednesday, Oct. 16th. Declaration, Saturday, Oct. 19th.

COUNTY OF YORK.

GOVERNMENT NOMINEES: Hon. FRED. P. THOMPSON, JOHN ANDERSON, W. T. WHITEHEAD, JOHN A. CAMPBELL.

YESTERDAY'S NOMINATIONS.

The nominations made at the government convention yesterday, of candidates to contest this county, have sent a thrill of alarm through the opposition, and have inspired the government supporters with a confidence which presages victory at the polls.

It was quite fitting that nomination should first be offered to Hon. Mr. Blair and his old colleagues who on former occasions carried the party to victory, and that the convention should grow enthusiastic as the Attorney General referred to the causes which led to the defeat of 1892 and the glorious prospects of to-day.

Hon. F. P. Thompson needs no introduction to the electors. He has served in both branches of the local legislature, and always proved a firm and unflinching friend to his constituency.

Mr. Anderson is an old stager, and is one of the most popular men in the county. He did not care to re-enter political life, but his friends would not listen to his refusal, and he is on deck again to win.

Mr. Whitehead is well known all over the county as a keen, successful business man, popular to a large degree, familiar with all the county's interests, and a true man in every sense of the word.

Mr. Campbell will command the respect and strong support of the electors of York, and stand to carry the government banner to victory on the 16th.

of getting control of the government, than Jimmy Crockett has of becoming bishop of Fredericton. So the opposition convention was left to the understrappers, the small fry, whose chief ability is to snarl and bite at Mr. Blair, just as the little curs follow the big mastiff and endeavor to attract his attention.

W. K. Allen was not nominated, declining for reasons which all must respect, but there is an undertone in his refusal. It is known that Mr. Allen was heartily sick of the company he was in, and almost any self-respecting man would feel the same.

To get a place on the opposition ticket Mr. Pitts has been compelled to swallow his past three years record on the Bathurst school question. Hear what the Glensay says on Thursday evening last, as under the head of "A Dead Issue," Mr. Pitts has unreservedly accepted the settlement of the Bathurst school difficulty, and the issue is now dead.

AS TO MR. FENETY.

There is nothing so silly as a vain old man, and there are few old men so vain and silly as Mr. George E. Fenety. At present he is engaged in two enterprises, one of which is to represent York in the field of journalism and throwing mud at Mr. Blair.

Mr. Fenety is writing the history of his great public labors, the country would never have known in any other way that a giant intellect, what a great head exists within its confines.

Down to Business.

Mr. Wilson in calling the convention to order, said it was very pleasing to the members for the county to find such a large gathering of electors in response to their call for a convention to nominate candidates for the pending election. He would move that Dr. Coburn, of Bright, be called upon to preside over the convention, and it was carried unanimously. As Dr. Coburn came forward he was warmly cheered. He thanked the convention for the confidence reposed in him and suggested that the business of the afternoon be proceeded with at once.

L. C. Macmillan was elected Secretary. The Chairman asked the meeting how it was proposed to proceed, and on motion of Mr. Wilson, it was resolved to elect two delegates from each parish of the county and each ward of the city to nominate the candidates. The committee was then elected as follows:

- Southampton—Leonard Miller, Geo. S. Ingraham, Wm. Colter, Wm. Graham, Douglas—Geo. Seymour, Cornelius Hagerman, St. Marys—Elihu Van Wart, James E. Simons, Queensbury—Ludlow Cliff, Whitin Cliff, Stanley—John Malone, Havelock Kelly, Kingsclear—Geo. Strange, A. E. Cliff, Manners-Sutton—John Mowatt, William Murphy, Prince William—Wm. Henry, Jared Smith, North Lake—Leonard Gould, Hugh McMillan, Canterbury—Dr. Dow Coburn, G. F. A. Jamieson, Dumfries—Geo. Elliott, Archie Henry, Fredericton—Wellington ward—Alex. Neville, Marysville—Horace Pugh, City and county at large—Odhar Dunphy, Nashwak—Geo. A. Hughes, Fredericton; Geo. Pugh, Douglas; Albert Kilburn, Bright, Elijah Estabrook, Fredericton.

HON. A. G. BLAIR

to address the convention, and the Premier was received with a most hearty and spontaneous outburst of applause. He said he had stood on this platform many times before to receive his party's nomination for the legislature, and he could scarcely realize that events have changed and that he is not here in a similar capacity. Three years ago his old constituency had voted to change the representation of the county, and he was compelled to seek another seat. He did not leave this county of his own free will, but under a momentary impulse, the electors thought that their interests would be better served by somebody else. He had been obliged to say good-bye to his old county, and he was not here seeking a nomination. But the opportunity has now arrived when he can reverse the verdict of 1892. He did for a little while hesitate whether to come here or not, in view of the splendid outlook for the government throughout the province, but he concluded there is still a warm feeling in the county for him and his administration, and he came here to ask the electors of York to nominate him to redden the standing which this county lost in the legislature when the county rendered its verdict of 1892. During his public career he had made the interests of the county the thing nearest to his heart, and he felt he still possessed the confidence of the great majority of the people. You know a religious cry was raised in this county, and people of different denominations living as neighbors, would have been set at each other's throats if the men who were responsible for the agitation could have managed it, but the people were scarcely prepared to see a reversal of this act so early in this campaign.

It was charged that we were untrue to the Protestants of this country, but since this campaign has opened, the Bathurst School Question has been declared a dead issue by these same parties. It was a live issue when it could be used by these people, but it now suited them to declare it dead. So far as the government is concerned, it has never deterred one iota from its position of 1892 on the Bathurst school question. The electors were deceived in 1892 on that question, and many of them were deceived at the same time by the cry that the government was to be defeated in the country. You know that was the cry, but no sooner were the ballots counted than it was seen we were returned by a larger majority of the house than we ever received before. Men had been led to withdraw their allegiance because it was declared the government would be defeated; they had been led to reject men who had stood faithfully in the county's interests. What is the evidence in the present contest? Is there the speck of a cloud which indicates the defeat of the government in the country? No, all the evidence shows that on the 10th inst., the government was stronger in the new legislature than in the old. We have been attacked on all hands but the result of investigations in the legislature shows the opposition have been unable to fasten any one of the charges on us, and our supporters increased in each successive house. You were told that if the opposition were returned in this county, their investigations would prove something against the government. But what is the volume of the services these gentlemen have rendered since 1892?

Seeing then, gentlemen, that the opportunity is offered you of reversing the verdict of 1892, I ask you to nominate four men who will successfully carry the standard of the government in this constituency. It is the first time in the history of this county that it has not had a potent voice in the councils of the province, and the chance is now presented to have that voice—to recover the standing you lost three years ago. We regretted he had to leave by the train at 10 o'clock, but he felt that he would be forgetful of kindness extended to him during the many years he had the honor of representing this county. A round of applause greeted the Attorney-General as he resumed his seat. The committee retired and shortly afterwards through their chairman, J. E. Simons, reported the nomination of Hon. A. G. Blair, Wm. Wilson, John Anderson, and Thos. H. Colter.

MR. WILSON

took the platform. He referred to his past victories in 1885, 1886, 1890, 1891, and to his defeat of 1892, and thanked the electors for the confidence they now expressed by their nomination to-day. He had carefully reviewed, however, that as he had run many elections that in justice to himself and to his family he would have to decline the nomination, unless it is absolutely necessary for him to go into the fight. A determined attack had been made upon him in this county, and in consequence of the slanders which had been circulated regarding him, he would always feel grateful to the electors for the confidence they had so many times placed in him, and if he could ever be of service to them they had but to command him.

MR. T. H. COLTER

said it had been circulated in the county that Colter was to be unloaded, but the action of this convention gave him the lie to that slander. In the last campaign a member of the present opposition had said it abroad that Colter had sold out the Orangemen by running on the government ticket. What do we find to-day? Down in Kings county the past grand master of the Orangemen, Mr. Fowler, is a government candidate, and in St. John the present grand master is friendly to the administration. Referring to the nomination of Mr. Blair, he said for personal reasons he would have to decline it. But if it was necessary that he should go into the contest, if this convention failed to secure the men they desired, he would not refuse to again join a ticket to victory in the present contest.

MR. ANDERSON

in a pleasant speech also declined the nomination, but if the party could not make a better selection John Anderson is with you. (Applause.) It had been stated in a section of the press that John Anderson was to be dropped, but the convention's action showed him that he still had a warm place in the regard of his old friends and supporters.

MR. WILSON

on behalf of the Attorney-General, thanked the convention for nominating Mr. Blair, but he knew that that gentleman had already accepted the nomination in Queens. He therefore, on behalf of Mr. Blair, thanked the convention for the expression of its confidence and respectfully declined for him the proffered nomination. The committee again retired and after consultation, Mr. Simons reported to the convention that they had nominated:

- John Anderson
Hon. F. P. Thompson
W. T. Whitehead
John A. Campbell.

MR. ANDERSON

then took the platform, and while regretting some other gentleman had not been chosen he said he would accept the nomination, and he would leave nothing undone to secure the election of the entire ticket. The announcement was received with rounds of applause, showing the strong feeling Mr. Anderson had on the electors present.

HON. MR. THOMPSON

was given a grand ovation as he ascended the platform. He said it was not the first time he had been nominated. He had been elected and he had been defeated, and he knew both ends of it. He hoped the Gleaner reporter who was present a few minutes ago, would represent this convention just as it was, and a splendid representation of the intelligent electors of York. He believed the county would be redeemed from the snap verdict of 1892. The opposition ticket now nominated would not serve as a plaster to heal the wounds inflicted by the sectarian agitation of the last campaign. He would accept the nomination and would go into the contest to win. (Great applause.) He had been vilified in the press, but there is no man in this constituency to whom he cannot go and ask him if his character would not at least bear a favorable comparison with the men who had cast reflections on his personal reputation. We have a short time to canvass the constituency, but we will get there on the 10th. (Loud applause.) Mr. Thompson spoke with great energy and eloquence, and every word met a responsive echo from the audience.

MR. WHITEHEAD

was received with round after round of applause. He assured the committee that the nomination had been a great surprise. He had never had aspired to political life, but he claimed to possess some business capacity and integrity, and if this convention thought he was a suitable candidate in this contest his services were at their disposal. (Great cheering.) Mr. Campbell was not present, and on motion of Mr. Wilson, Dr. Coburn, Mr. Thompson, Geo. A. Hughes, Mr. Anderson, and Mr. Whitehead, were appointed a committee to await on him and ascertain his decision, and if he does not accept, to name some gentleman to take his place on the ticket.

On motion of Geo. A. Hughes the following resolution was unanimously passed by the committee:—
Resolved, That this convention hereby place on record its hearty appreciation of the valuable services to the party and county rendered by Mr. Blair, Whitehead, Colter, and each of them, and express its confidence in their ability and integrity as public men with the hope that their services may be used in the near future again as called into use.

Mr. Colter brought up the charges made against him in the Gleaner regarding the management of the by-ones money and characterized them as slanderous and unfounded. He challenged the closest scrutiny and investigation into the matter. He was prepared to meet his accusers anywhere, and to convince the people that he is not the vile creature which a section of the press had represented him to be. Adjourned.

MERRY WEDDING BELLS.

The Nuptials of Miss Jennie Logan and Dr. J. Darley Harrison celebrated Thursday.

A wedding which has been looked forward to with unusual interest took place at 1 p. m. Thursday, when Miss Jennie Logan, eldest daughter of Mrs. Thomas Logan, and Dr. J. Darley Harrison, of Edmonton, N. W. T., eldest son of Dr. Harrison, Chancellor of the University of New Brunswick, were married at the residence of the bride's mother, Mr. W. F. Fowler's, Regent Street. Miss Logan was one of our most worthy and popular young ladies, one who enjoyed the esteem of a large circle of personal friends for her many excellent traits of character, and was an energetic, spirited, and intelligent young lady, full of good works, a pillar in the Methodist church organization and societies, and always willing to lend her aid to any deserving work. In the hospital aid society of young ladies, who have done so much to help along a deserving institution, Miss Logan was one of the most active and useful members, and her play will be hard to fill. Adorable, courteous, gentle, possessing all the qualities which mark a perfect lady, it is not too much to say that the bride of Thursday was one of Fredericton's favorite young ladies. It was fitting that she should unite her matrimonial fortunes with a young gentleman so highly esteemed as Dr. Harrison. The bridegroom, who is a Fredericton boy, born, bred and educated here, has a promising career before him in the medical profession. He graduated in arts at the University of N. B., took his medical course at McGill University, and in the past three years has established a large practice in Edmonton, a thriving town in the North West. Rev. Mr. Tippett performed the ceremony—in a perfect bower of green. The bride and groom stood in a bay window, which was backed up with ferns and other plants, and smiles trailed over the curtains, around the walls and in the parlors, and the rooms looked radiant. The bride wore a beautiful white wedding party who had come to wish long life and happiness to the Doctor and his bride. The invited guests included: Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Brecken, Dr. and Mrs. Coulter, Dr. and Mrs. Coburn, Hon. A. G. Blair, Mrs. Thompson, Hon. A. G. and Mrs. Blair, Mrs. Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Edgecombe, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Edgecombe, the Misses Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Taylor, A. G. Harrison of Edmonton, Professor Stockley, Dr. and Mrs. Harrison, Prof. and Mrs. Dixon, Mr. and Mrs. Gill, Miss Smithson; the Misses Blair, Lewis, Brown, Wm. Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Bell, Miss Moore, Eddie Moore, Mr. and Mrs. M. Trites, Mr. and Mrs. Barbour, Mrs. Barbour, Ernest Barbour, Mr. and Mrs. Logan, Mr. and Mrs. Finlay, Miss Logan, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Phipps, of St. John; Mr. Z. Currie, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Currie, Frank Currie, of Woodstock; Miss Stevenson, Dr. and Mrs. Evans, Hampton, the Misses Thompson, Mrs. Thorne, the Misses Thorne, Mr. and Mrs. A. H. F. Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Randolph, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Coulthard, Miss Sayre, Miss Bessie Babbitt, Miss Aggie Nell, Chas. E. Nell, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Logan, Mr. and Mrs. David, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Weidell, Dr. and Mrs. Fisher, Marysville, Miss Mackay, B. F. Mackay, Dartmouth.

The bride wore a very pretty costume of light satin, with a white lace train, a veil and carried a bouquet of white roses. She looked charming indeed. Her sister, Miss Bessie Logan, was bridesmaid and was very effectively groomed in yellow silk with yellow velvet sleeves and trimmings of violets. She carried a bouquet of blush roses. Dr. Harrison was ably supported by Mr. A. G. Blair, Jr., of St. John, son of the Premier of New Brunswick—and one of the rising young baroniers of this province.

After the ceremony a superb luncheon was served and Dr. and Mrs. Harrison left in the morning for their home in Edmonton, receiving a lively send-off at the depot. They will stop off at Montreal and Calgary on the trip. Mrs. Harrison's traveling costume was navy blue, with tan vest and blue hat.

The number and elegance of Mrs. Harrison's presents were very much admired by the guests at the wedding, but the bride's modesty forbids a newspaper description of them. The presents were given to both Dr. and Mrs. Harrison have moved so far from their friends in Fredericton, joins in the general wish of the community for their happiness and success in their western home.

Belonged to Nashwak.

William Sutherland, postmaster at Woodville, Montana, died very suddenly on the 20th September. He was 64 years of age and went to Montana about 14 years ago. In the account of his death it is stated that he has a wife and two children living on the Nashwak, about 30 miles from Fredericton, and his only known relative in Montana is a Mrs. John McLaughlin of Butte. A search was made by the coroner for his effects, and a certificate of deposit for $2,000 on the First National Bank of Butte, dated Sept. 11, 1895, and $14.50 in cash in his pocket-book, which was concealed in his bed. About $45 was also found in the post office desk. The coroner took possession of the money and the dead man's watch until they can be turned over to the public administrator.

A VERY SAD AFFAIR.

Byron G. Taylor Accidentally Shot Himself in the Hanwell Woods.

Among the arrivals in the city Saturday, was Byron G. Taylor, formerly of St. John, but recently doing a successful insurance business in London, G. B. Mr. Taylor came to St. John a few weeks ago to visit his old home, and before leaving again for London, thought he would look in upon his many friends in this city. He was a guest of E. Byron Winslow, and having a keen desire for sport in the woods, in company with H. B. Rainsford and the latter's son George, Mr. Taylor drove up to Green Point, a distance of some twenty miles, from Fredericton to St. Andrews, and put up for the night. They had secured the services of Robert Chas. and Peter Myshrahl, as guides. Tuesday morning, just before starting for the woods, Mr. Taylor said that he would give five pounds for a deer. He said he would give five pounds for a deer. He said he would give five pounds for a deer.

Mr. Taylor, my son George and myself, started Monday to spend a few days in the woods after game. We drove out to Green Point road, about twenty miles from this city. We went to Alex. Hood's barn, about a mile and a half from the road leading from Fredericton to St. Andrews, and put up for the night. We had secured the services of Robert Chas. and Peter Myshrahl, as guides. City Council Meeting.

Ald. Gilman was the only absentee from the City Council meeting Tuesday evening, and the business put through was largely routine.

Policeman Phillips' pay was raised from $1.25 to $1.50, and the city printing for the ensuing year was awarded to the Reporter office.

Ald. McPherson made his usual attack on the electric light service, and moved that an electrician be employed to test the lights.

Ald. Lemont defended the service. He said he had made considerable enquiry. He had written to the inland revenue department, Ottawa, for an inspector, whom he saw personally, and was informed by him that he dealt only with incandescent lights.

He (Lemont) thought there was no man in the lower province capable of testing the lights, and as it would cost $100 or $200 to bring one here from other places, he thought the council would not feel justified in incurring the expense. As far as he could see the lights were very good. We have not an all night service; the contract only calls for a moonlight schedule. Then some people expect our light of 1200 horse power to be as bright as that of St. John, which is 2000 horse power. In Charlottetown they pay $37.50 per lamp, while this city pays only $59.

A former further discussion McPherson's motion carried.

At ten o'clock Wednesday morning Recorder Skinner and Dr. Wm. Pugsley, for the city of St. John, and Attorney General Blair for the plaintiffs, Messrs. Connolly, appeared at the circuit court, St. John, and announced that the big case between the Connollys and the city of St. John was virtually at an end. The city, besides the money, retained from the Connollys and interest thereon, paid them $6,750.00, a total of $15,731.75.

Miss Edith Porter, daughter of Mr. George Porter of Brunswick street, was married to Dr. E. K. Kirkpatrick of Woodstock Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, by Rev. Wm. J. Tippett in the Methodist Church. A reception was held at the family residence, and the happy couple left on a trip which will include Boston and Philadelphia.

HEAD TOWARDS THE ENGINE.

In riding on a Pullman car, said a colored porter more than usually observant, "sleep with your head toward the engine. There are not so many head-on collisions on the railroads, experience has shown, and besides the danger is less from a rear-end collision. The reason for this is that every passenger train has its own right of way and runs regularly, and is looked for by the trains running ahead of it. The greatest danger is from a train behind which doesn't know when we have stopped or broken something and has been forced to stop. This is the chief reason for sleeping this way, but there are others.
