Ottawa, May 9th, 1908.

If the Laurier Government adheres to clause 1 of the bill to amend the Dominion Election Act, the parliamentary struggle which began on Tuesday of this week will be in progress six months hence. The Opposition has carefully considered the question and has reached the conclusion that it would be treason to the rights and liberties of the people, and to representative government if this attempt to prevent fair and honest elections in some thirty constituencies should succeed. The proposed measure, which practically authorizes the stuffing of lists, or wholesale disfranchisement, according to the local party requirements, is a more sate and cowardly method than the devices of switching and stuffing ballots, importing personators, manufacturing trick ballot boxes and similar schemes which have now been found dangerous in provinces where the Liberal machine does not control the department of justice. But it accomplishes the same purpose, at little expense, with less peril and with more absolute certainty of success. It is invented by the same machine, introduced by the minister to whom the previous conspirators owe so much, and supported by those baser elements which have brought the Liberal party into its present position of disgrace. If the measure should be adopted it will be operated by the class of officials of which Leach, Preston, Wagner, Moberly and Nixon are samples, and of whom Mr Pritchett, "Cap." Sullivan and such persons have been advisers and instructors.

VIOLATION OF ITS FACE.

Mr Aylesworth points out that the Conservative party is committed to federal control of federal franchises, while he admits that his own party is committed to provincial control. Each system has its merits if honestly pursued, and each might be honestly advocated. But there is no merit and no honest purpose in a method which retains provincial control in provinces where the Laurier party dominates and imposes federal control of the franchise in Conservative provinces. The Aylesworth bill does not touch the Maritime Provinces, it does not touch Quebec except probably in the Transcontinental Railway belt. It does not touch Alberta or Saskatchewan, which are under Grit rule. But for Dominion elections it authorizes absolute control of the franchise in the two Conservative provinces of the west and of a large part of Ontario.

WHAT THE BILL DOES.

The bill provides that in the provinces concerned "voters' lists shall be prepared immediately after the issue of any writ for an election, or at any time when the Governor-in-council so directs; and for the purpose of preparing and giving effect to such voters' lists the Governor-in-council may appoint all necessary officers and confer upon them all necessary powers," and that "no person whose name is not included in the voters' list as prepared and revised shall be entitled to vote." The measure professes to adopt the provincial franchise system and method, and to take the provincial lists for a basis, but it freely authorizes the Dominion officers appointed for that purpose to strike out or add names to any extent, and thus gives complete power to make a new list. There is no condition requiring appeal to judges, no restriction upon the powers of the federal officers, no qualification for appointment to these positions, nothing to prevent the Government turning over the whole business to a political committee of Csp. Sullivan, Leach and Moberly.

A FALSE EXCUSE.

The only excuse for this intervention is the fact that constituencies in Manitoba and British Columbia sometimes cross the boundaries of Dominion constituencies, requiring the rearrangement of names. It is true that this happens elsewhere than in these provinces, but the Government does not mind that. It is true that this little difficulty could easily be met by the appointment of a judge in the locality to assign the voters to their proper polls. It is true that the worst offences in the 'red line' crime of 1904 happened in districts where these broken boundaries did not occur, and where there was no excuse for the wholesale disfranchisement. It is also true that Mr Borden and the Manitoba Conservatives have declared their willingness to accept a measure which will meet the difficulty about boundaries without interfering with the provincial control of franchises. They are willing that Mr Aylesworth shall accomplish all that he pretends to desire if he will be content with that.

THE REAL INTENT.

But Mr Aylesworth and his Manitoba supporters have shown clearly that the overlapping of boundaries is not their trouble. They have attacked the Manitoba Government and its control of the franchise. They have read in the House affidavits, proved to have been bought and paid for, to show that Manitoba provincial lists were unfair. Their Galtian affidavit-maker has served a term in jail, and is entitled to another one. It is established that Manitoba has a franchise system as free, registration as fair, and lists as near perfect as can be found anywhere in Canada. According to Liberal doctrine the provincial governments have a right to control the franchise for Dominion elections in that province, and while a Grit government was there that right was never questioned. It was never questioned as to British Columbia until the Conservatives obtain control there. It will never be questioned as to Alberta and Saskatchewan while they are governed by the Grit machine.

IT IS A CONSPIRACY.

The Aylesworth bill is as clear a case of political conspiracy as the London election crime. A similar measure was proposed before the election of 1904. Mr Sifton, who fathered it, told his followers in Manitoba at revision time that they need not trouble about the election lists, as the authorities at Ottawa would attend to that. The present Chief Justice Fitzpatrick was then Minister of Justice, and it is understood that he absolutely refused to sanction this plot. So the Sifton bill was not introduced, and the western boss authorized his organizers and returning officers to mutilate the lists without legal authority. Many officers found themselves in the criminal courts in consequence, and others were greatly ashamed. Mr Aylesworth confesses that his present bill is made necessary by the fact that the officers will not take any more such risks. Mr Borden, Mr Alcorn, Mr Boyce, Dr. Roche, Mr Monk, Mr Leke and others have exposed fully the facts above set forth. They have made it clearly understood that they are willing to assist in providing a remedy for every wrong, and they have made it equally clear that the Opposition will resist, by every constitutional means, this proposed legislative crime.

ANOTHER ROSS RIFLE CONTRACT.

The Ross Rifle Company is still getting in its work. It has been leaving, after many evasive replies from the minister, that Sir Charles Ross has made a contract with the Government to supply 52,000 bayonets for the Ross rifle at $5.25 each. No doubt orders for 10,000 more will follow to supply bayonets for the last order of rifles. Since the most of the rifles received from this contractor are not in use, it is not clear that bayonets are needed for them. But the $265,000 will come in handy to the contractor. It is worth noting that in 1898 the Government bought 40,000 Lee-Enfield bayonets, with scabbards complete, of which one half were supplied by the Royal Small Arms factories at $2.60 each and the other half by the trade at $3.55 each. The extra $2.65, or $106,000, makes a neat addition of $164,000, or $108,000 to the cost of these bayonets.

HAPPY WALBERG.

A E Walberg has the run of the Railway Department, as Wilson and Mowin have of the Department of Marine, and Barrows of the Interior. Chief Engineer Mackenzie of the Intercolonial testified on Thursday that Walberg had eleven contracts now running with that road. Most of them are in whole or in part on private terms. For instance, the railway required some 15 tons of steel girders for Truro. There are seven or more establishments in Canada selling girders. The officer stated that they were all too busy to provide the goods and so he did not ask one of them. The department bought the girders from Walberg privately at 4 1/2 cents a pound, and Walberg immediately turned over the order at less than 3 cents a pound to the Dominion Bridge Company of Montreal. This concern was not too busy to fill it, and would have sold to the Government at the same price. Here is the financial result:— Walberg paid $911.00
The Government paid 1,414.80 Walberg's profit 503.80 or 55 per cent.

MR GREEN'S WATERLOO.

Mr Green had been paying $4 a week for board. His appetite constantly increased. Finally his landlady saw that she must either sell out and quit or raise her boarder's rate. One day after watching him feverishly devouring plateful after plateful she plucked up courage and said: "Mr Green, I shall have to raise your board to $5."

Mr Green looked up, with a start. Then in a tone of consternation he said: "Oh, Mrs Small, don't! It's as much as I can do now to eat $4 worth."

The Bogus Surplus.

In our last few issues we have pointed out some of the subterfuges and misleading tactics to which the Provincial Government, their supporters in the Legislature and their organ, have had recourse in the hope and with the intent of deceiving the people.
We have shown that their contentions regarding the revenue and expenditures of the last fiscal year were unequally false, and that the deficit on the financial transactions of the year ended on Sept. 30th 1907, was $45,679.85. We have also shown that accrued interest, deferred payments and balances on contracts, due on the date in question, amounted to $64,308.50, bringing the debt and liabilities for the fiscal year ending Sept. 30, up to $109,988.35. We also pointed out that the deficit for the three months, to December 31, 1907, could not be less than $43,000; but from this should be deducted the $35,000, additional subsidy received on November 30th.
That would leave the net deficit, for the three months, $8,000. Adding this amount to the $109,988.35 due on Sept. 30th we have $117,988.35 as the debt and liabilities of the Province for the calendar year ending Dec 31, 1907.

In addition to all this, we have shown that the figures of revenue and expenditure, from Sept. 30 1907, to Feb.
29, 1908, laid on the table of the House by Premier Haszard, brought the debt and liabilities of the Province up to $129,333.68 on the said 29th day of February 1908.
This means, as we have already shown, that on the 29th day of February 1908, we had used up every dollar of the half yearly subsidy received on January 1st, of this year, and were $129,333.68 behind, if the interest and other bills then due were paid. This is the last data possessed by the public regarding our Provincial finances; and taking the Premier's figures as they stand, and assuming the Government would not go any further in debt before Sept.
30, 1908, the case is bad enough, all will admit. But we may be sure, they will vastly increase this deficit of $129,000, especially, as this is election year. Putting the best possible construction upon the whole question, the debt of the Province must now be over $1,000,000.
That is, as we have previously pointed out, a mortgage of $100, on every farm of 100 acres of land in the Province.
This mortgage has been placed on our farm lands against the will of the people.
Are the electors, therefore, desirous of retaining any longer in power the Government that saddled this mortgage upon their lands?

These statements cannot be denied and the Government have made no attempt to contravert them. On the contrary, they have recourse to all manner of deceptive tactics to slur over and conceal from public view the real state of Provincial matters. Their administration of our Provincial affairs has been so disastrous and so scandalous that they dare not refer to their record; on the contrary, they employ all manner of artifices in their policy of concealment and deception. Their game is a game of deception. They will deceive the people if they can, and in this game of deception and concealment, their pliant and obsequious organ, The Patriot, scruples not to go to any lengths.

When Premier Haszard delivered his budget speech, he admitted that there would be a deficit on the financial transactions of the year ending September 30th, 1908. It is true that his estimated deficit was only small, a little over $7,000. We may be very sure it will be at least seven times seven thousand; but the admission of a deficit at all was something; it showed that he had a little conscience, what cannot be said of the Government organ.
Another statement made by the Leader of the Government was that the sum of $40,000 would be raised on debentures, and subsequently a bill authorizing the issue of debentures to the extent of $40,000 was passed through the House. The issue of these debentures immediately adds $40,000 to the debt of the Province and adds about $1,600 to the annual interest burden. But what does the Patriot say about it? It proclaims to the world, in the most brazen faced, cold blooded manner that the Government will have, this year, a surplus of $33,000. It simply subtracts from the $40,000 to be raised by the sale of debentures, the $7,000 deficit admitted by the Premier, and calls the balance of the debenture debt a surplus. Did any one ever hear of a more barefaced, misleading statement?
If an addition of $40,000 to the debt of the Province produces a surplus of $33,000, why stop at that? Why not make the debenture issue $140,000, and then we would have a surplus of $133,000?
As a matter of fact there is no limit to the surplus that could be created in this manner.
According to this theory all that is necessary to produce a surplus, is to pass an act through the Legislature for that purpose. If a man mortgages his farm for $1,000, and spends the money he raises in this way, has he surplus? This is the manner of information that the Patriot sends out regarding the public affairs of this Province; this is part of the game of concealment and deception played by the Government, their supporters and their press.
What do the honest yeomanry of our Province think of it?
Do they consider a party capable of descending to such tactics worthy of further confidence?

The Royal Commission.

(Ottawa Citizen.)

The opening of the Royal commission to enquire into the administration of the marine department developed a course of proceeding which fully bore out the objections to its constitution which were voiced by the opposition in the house of commons.
The counsel in charge of the investigation placed two of the Civil Service commissioners in the box and endeavored to cause them to make personal charges against officials of the department. The commissioners quite properly refused to do anything of the sort.
If they had wished to do that, or if they had the requisite evidence to convict individuals they could have embodied it in their own report, and all that would have been necessary would have been to place the individuals on trial or dismiss them on the evidence deduced. But the Civil Service commission merely reported the general condition was, in their opinion, such as to demand investigation and reorganization.
It was the duty of the counsel appointed by the government to investigate the department and collect the evidence to be placed before the Royal commissioner.
Instead of that they put two of the Civil Service commissioners in the box and endeavored by an inquisitorial cross-examination to force them to lay charges against individuals in the department.
If they had been induced to do this they would have been placed in the position, as already pointed out by the Citizen, of being prosecutors in a case without any counsel and without any guarantee that the counsel appointed by the government would use proper diligence in securing the necessary evidence to make good their charges. If the government had succeded to the demands of the opposition in parliament and allowed the appointment of counsel to represent the commissioners, counsel selected by themselves in whom they would have confidence that existing evidence would be ferreted out and produced, there would be an element of fairness in the attitude assumed by the counsel for the government. But this was refused. The government has placed the whole conduct of this case in the hands of its own selected lawyers, and, whatever may be said to the contrary, the interests of the Civil Service commissioners and of the government in the investigation are diametrically opposed. The commissioners have made various charges against the administration of the marine department and those charges are bound to reflect upon the government. The commissioners' interest lies in the proving of these charges up to the hilt as a justification of their report. The interest of the government lies in minimizing the force of these charges to the vanishing point in order that it may not stand before the people of Canada as being guilty of negligence, misadministration and incompet-ence in the control of one of the chief spending departments. In the investigation the government is on the defensive, and it has two lawyers to conduct its defence, in the same manner that any counsel retained looks after the interests of the client by whom he, or they, are retained. The Civil Service commissioners are in the position of accusers, but they have been deprived of counsel whose duty it would be to gather evidence and see that their charges are made good before the Royal commission. As the commission has been instituted by the government there is no counsel for the prosecution but there are two lawyers for the defence. Had the Civil Service commissioners made personal charges against individuals in the marine department they would have to rely on the counsel for the defence for the production of evidence to justify the commission and incidentally condemn the government which employs these lawyers. The commissioners have properly taken the stand that as the constitution of the commission points to a white-washing performance, they do not propose to assist in the white-washing. They have placed the general data in the hands of the government, and it is up to the government to verify that data and bring those who are found responsible into the im-elight of publicity. If the government does not see fit to do that then the responsibility rests with the government. When it is borne in mind that the Civil Service commissioners are appointees of the government, in whom the government naturally reposes implicit confidence, it seems strange that at the inception of the investigation they should be placed on the stand and cross-examined as if they were hostile witnesses.

The Civil Service.

(Montreal Gazette.)

The statements of ministers during the debate in the House of Commons on Thursday do not give much hope of an early reform in the civil service. Though some of the departments have been under their present political heads for nearly twelve years, and though only two of the ministers may be said to be new, the revelations of the report of the royal commission and the interest excited thereby seem to have come to them all as a matter of surprise. Possibly this was not so much that some of them did not know what was going on as because they thought that it was the regular thing, what was to be expected and what would help the party. So, when three men of business training and instincts told in their report how money was being wasted and evil traditions being perpetuated, the men responsible to Parliament did not know what to do or say.
What they did do was as curious and illogical a thing as could have been conceived. They appointed another commission to look into one, out of over a dozen departments, apparently in the hope of finding something that would show the first report was not justified. Anything more foolish or futile it would be hard to conceive. The commission did not report much that was new. There had been occurring all along incidents to show that there was lack of efficiency in many of the departments. Large thefts of money had occurred. Those who pay attention to the reports of the auditor-general have noted the insolence that characterized some of the replies to his enquiries about expenditures. It was not to be believed that accounts which showed widely varying prices paid about the same time for the same class of merchandise could have been approved of by officials who were at once sapable and honest, or could have persistently escaped the notice of ministers who sought to understand what was going on in their departments. The report of the commission was useful because it came at a time when people's minds were ready to think of such matters and because it was so framed as to force attention on what was weak and wrong.
Everybody but the ministers seems to undertake what should be done, and what is wanted.
They act as if such things as were drawn to their attention had never been heard of at least when connected with a demand for reform. Their attitude at once shows where the chief responsibility for the evil lies and how hopeless it is to expect that reform will come without a change in the whole administration.

the other four from the mass of twisted steel plates which enveloped them.

On Saturday evening a fatal accident occurred at Johnston's River. James Dunphy, a well to do and highly respected farmer, was engaged in building a load of hay, which he had just sold to his son-in-law, Mr. George Simpson. He had fastened the front end of the pole and was walking towards the rear to fasten the other end, when the pole broke and Mr. Dunphy fell to the ground, dislocating his neck.
He never spoke again, and was picked up by a plow. A plow, three sons and five daughters are left to mourn. He was 74 years of age.

The annual height of the St. Maurice River this spring has apparently shown a bad engineering mistake in the construction of the National Transcontinental Railway in the district of La Tuque, P. Q. At the present time several miles of the new Transcontinental road bed are practically direct to consumers, avoiding the Smithfield Market falls, as this would destroy a navigable stream, and people are considering over the site of the new railway.
One of the contractors came into La Tuque Saturday and reported that he had paddled in a canoe for over two miles over the railroad tracks, there being over two feet of water during the entire distance.

A London despatch of the 18th inst. says: The British meat dealers, especially those in London, are greatly perturbed by the Armour's scheme to compete with the meat trade here. Mr. C. W. Bowerman, Laborer, will, on behalf of the traders, question Mr. Churchill, President of the Board of Trade, in the House of Commons next Monday as to whether he purpose taking steps to prevent the Armour from carrying out their proposal to open in London and elsewhere retail shops to supply meat
field Market falls, as this would destroy the business of English butchers, who could not compete with American packers if the latter were allowed to trade on such terms.

DIED

At North Bedouque on the 18th inst., riage one daughter and two sons are living and one son dead. Of his second marriage one son, Ronald James, an ecclesiastical student, died some years ago. Besides his daughter and two sons, he is survived by his widow. His funeral to Summerside takes place today. May his soul rest in peace.

Fairplay to our Colliers.

(Herald, May 4.)

evening, and another Norwegian steamer hauled into the dock the following day and is being loaded.

A good many of us are in the coal carrying trade, and some of us buy cargoes and have regular customers waiting for coal, and as we cannot afford to wait until the St. Lawrence freezes up, we are compelled to leave the port of Hastings to-day.

We trust that the members of the Dominion and local parliaments as well as the Halifax and other boards of trade and the newspapers will come to our assistance.

On receiving such shabby treatment from the superintendent of the Inverness Railway and Coal Company we wired to C. W. Spencer general manager, Montreal, on the 19th inst.

Have booked here ten days for coal, wire it in ten load schooners or not, have been promised coal Monday.

(Sgd.) L. GERRIOR, and thirteen other schooner masters.

Not receiving any reply to this we wired again to C. W. Spencer at Montreal, on the 20th instant, as follows:

Superintendent McGillivray advise no coal to schooners until St. Lawrence close. Please answer yesterday's telegram. Must we apply Toronto office.

HARDSHIPS SUFFERED.

The above letter is signed by the following named captains: S. Boutillier, J. Forgeon, J. White, C. Chaisson, A. Biot, C. S. Sangster, E. Sampson, D. Davis, L. Hubley, L. Rafuse, H. Deong, Mr. Boudrot, Mr. Landry, P. McCarty.

I think that letters from the owners and captains of vessels show that they have suffered great hardships in the treatment they have received and I think the government owes it to these people to provide some redress. It is not enough to say that the matter is under consideration. The minister asked my colleague what he was going to do about it. Now I have taken some pains to study this question, and I have consulted the Shipping Act in the revised statutes. I think that if the Minister of Marine and Fisheries will not give the matter his attention, the Minister of Justice will acknowledge on reading this Shipping Act that the remedy is in the hands of the government, whether they choose to exercise it or not. I have taken pains to prepare a summary of the provisions of the several sections of chapter 113 of the revised statutes known as the Shipping Act which I will read:

Section 857. Harbour master appointed by Governor in Council.

Section 858. Governor in Council by regulation defines power and duties of harbour master.

Section 854. Governor in Council may make regulations for government of any harbor (at ports of Quebec, Montreal, Three Rivers, Toronto, Halifax, Pictou and St. John, New Brunswick, application must be made by local authorities to Governor in Council for rules and regulations.)

I should presume from reading this section that the government has power to make regulations. Of course the application must be made.

Section 871. Governor in Council may determine at what ports wardens are required.

Section 875. Defines duties of port warden.

Section 900. Port warden should perform all duties assigned to him by Governor in Council.

Section 909. Defines duties of masters and port wardens.

TROUBLE THREATENED.

There is nothing in the Shipping Act to regulate the rotation of loading or discharging of cargoes, but that comes under the rules and regulations made by the Governor in Council for the guidance of the port warden or harbour master, as the case may be in each port. Consequently, in the case in point, the port warden is a fault. He either violated the rules and regulations, in which case he is answerable to the Minister of Marine, or else the government failed to set down rules and regulations for his guidance. Now, I leave the minister on either horn of the dilemma. If he has not laid down the rules, the department is to blame; if he has, the port warden or harbour master has failed to carry out these regulations. This is a very important question, inasmuch as it has occasioned great loss to many people in my province. The season is now far advanced, and if there should be a recurrence of these tyrannical proceedings there will be trouble. I think it devolves upon the Government to solve the difficulty in order to prevent threatened trouble.

The quake lasted two and a half hours.

Itching Skin

Distress by day and night—That's the complaint of those who are so unfortunate as to be afflicted with Eczema or Salt Rheum—and outward applications do not cure.

The source of the trouble is in the blood—make that pure and this scaling, burning, itching skin disease will disappear.

"I was taken with an itching on my arms which proved very disagreeable. I concluded it was salt rheum and bought a bottle of Hood's Sarsaparilla. In two days after I began taking it I felt better and it was not long before I was cured. Have never had any skin disease since." Max. Ida E. Ward, Cove Point, Md.

Hood's Sarsaparilla cleans the blood of all impurities and cures all eruptions.

MORE BALLOTS LOST.

The by-election of St. James, Quebec, held a few months ago, resulting in a Government victory, has been protested. Corruption and other offences are charged. In the course of proceedings it was necessary to produce in court the poll books and other records of the election.

MR. PUGSLEY'S RECORD.

There is genuine pity for the New Brunswick deputy minister who took his life rather than face the shame of having drawn largely from public funds for his own use. This pity is mixed with wonder that former ministers of that province should have established a system under which their deputies could keep personal and public accounts mixed and should be able to withdraw indefinite amounts of public money.

AN OPEN LETTER.

And here is a letter signed by fourteen captains at Port Hastings. I suppose the hon gentleman is familiar with that plot:

FAVOR TO OUR COLLIERIES.

(Hansard, May 4.)

CONCERNING PADDED ACCOUNTS.

Enquiry by a special committee of five members was started on Friday in the charges made by Major Hodgins that the contractors' sub-contractors of work on the Transcontinental had been so padded as to cause a loss of millions to the country.

OUT OF MONEY.

The question of supply is urgent. In March the Government took an inferior vote to enter one-eighth of the fiscal year beginning April 1st. That period is nearly completed, and the ministers have no money to pay the May bills.

BURDOCK BLOOD BITTERS will afford relief from headaches no matter whether sick, nervous, spasmodic, periodical or bilious. It comes by removing the cause.

Mr. Samuel J. Hildford, Belleville, Ont., writes: "Last spring I was very poorly, my appetite failed me, I felt weak and nervous, had sick headaches, was tired all the time and not able to work. I saw Burdock Blood Bitters recommended for just such a case as mine and I got two bottles of it, and found it to be an excellent blood medicine. You may use my name as I think that others should know of the wonderful merits of Burdock Blood Bitters."

MISCELLANEOUS.

The leap year girl had just proposed. "This is—er—so sudden," stammered the young man in the case. "I am dreadfully—er—embarrassed, and—"

Mary Ovington, Jasper, Ont., writes:—"My mother had a badly sprained arm. Nothing we used did her any good. Then father got Haggard's Yellow Oil and it cured mother's arm in a few days."

Minard's Liniment used by Physicians.

Mr. H. Wilkinson, Stratford, Ont., says:—"It affords me much pleasure to say that I experienced great relief from Muscular Rheumatism by using two boxes of Milburn's Rheumatic Pills."

CAME TOO LATE.

"You advertised no mosquitoes at this resort," said the newcomer with some exasperation in his voice, after making a tour of the grounds.

PNEUMONIA, BRONCHITIS, ASTHMA, CATARRH OR CONSUMPTION IS THE RESULT.

Get rid of it at once by taking Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup Obstinate coughs yield to its grateful soothing action, and in the macking, persistent cough, often present in Consumptive cases, it gives prompt and sure relief.

We do not claim that it will cure Consumption in the advanced stages, but if taken in time it will prevent its reaching that stage, and will give the greatest relief to the poor sufferer from this terrible malady.

Be careful when purchasing to see that you get the genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. Put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees the trade mark.
