EAST INDIAN DRAMA PRESENTED

Memorial Tablet Placed at Fort Anne. Vice-Prin. Steadman Re-signs.—Other Notes.

Annapolis Royal.—An interesting little East Indian drama entitled, "Those Strange Ways," was given by the members of the Junior W. A. at St. Luke's Sunday School house on Easter Monday, and over twenty dollars realized by the silver collection. The girls taking part—Thelma Cummings, Florence Cole, Katherine Owen, Marion Robinson, Marcelle Gorham, Margaret Amey, Elizabeth King, Jane Thorpe, Muriel Barnjum, Robert McCormick, Bertha Barnjum, Alice Hudson and Addie Spurr—had been carefully trained by Miss Charlotte Perkins and Mrs. R. P. Gorham, and all performed their parts well. The costumes, which were most effective, had been arranged by Mrs. W. C. MacPherson, who at one time resided in India. Mrs. R. S. Miller presided at the organ and Mrs. E. W. Robinson and Mrs. P. C. Gilliat also assisted. Much interest was taken in the first public appearance of Hortense and Courtney Gilliat, and Dorothy and Harry Howe, who sang their little songs in a most charming manner. Miss Katherine Owen recited most pleasingly "Little Bateese," and a pretty chorus was rendered by the Misses Eleanor McCormick, Barbara Williams, Yetta Cronk, Annie Nelson and Helen Rawding.

A beautiful brass tablet has recently been placed in Fort Anne to serve as the central feature of a memorial of the tercentenary of the Baronets of Nova Scotia. This memorial will be unveiled by Mrs. J. M. Owen, President of the Historical Association of Annapolis Royal, on the afternoon of May 6th, and a large portrait in oils of Sir William Fenwick Williams will also be unveiled. Owing to the restricted quarters in the Administration Building, where these objects of interest are situated, only a few specially invited guests will be present at the ceremony. However, both tablet and portrait are now on exhibition and may be viewed by the public during the Superintendent's office hours—9:30 to 11:30 a.m.; 2:30 to 4:30 p.m., on week days and from 2 to 4 p.m. on Sundays. On the evening of May 6th, there will be a public meeting of the Historical Association, in the Town Hall, at which Rev. W. B. Muir of Sherbrooke, N. S., will give an address.

WORK BOARD BANQUET TUXIS

Very Nice Programme Carried Out Consisting of Addresses, Readings and Songs.

A very enjoyable evening was spent in the United Church vestry on Thursday last the 18th inst., when the Work Board of Bridgetown entertained the Tuxis Boys of the three churches of the town. The Board was fully represented and there were thirty-one boys present.

After the opening ceremony of the Tuxis Boys in which all took part, the individual squares held a short meeting and then met as a body to consider the financial allocation for the present year. The Boys' Work Board then took charge, Rev. P. R. Hayden the chairman of the Board presiding, and the following very interesting program was carried out:

UPPER GRANVILLE

Time gives us back our April time, So tickle, and so sweet now blighting With our fears our hopes, now kindling hopes with fears.

The first electrical storm of the season passed over the Valley on the 15th. Easterlike "Queen of Feasts," has come and gone, reminding us anew of the glad awakening of all things bright and beautiful.

Soon the Valley will be a theme for prose and poetry and it will be well at times to show our patriotism by loving it as well as possibly equal beautiful Florida. Our American friends sing its praises, why should we be dumb.

Printer's Ink

The most important magazine in its field the world over devotes a page to Motr's Bridge Box, praising its "attractive and colorful cover" and the idea of enclosing playing cards and score sheets with a pound of chocolates.

Presidents of large American corporations, managers, and other officials have written to Motr ordering the Bridge Box as a gift for bridge friends and a prize at games.

So occasionally a Maritime industry can pioneer not merely for Canada, but the continent. Of course Motr's Chocolates themselves proved that long ago.

He (after a horrible silence)—"Well, men are damned fools to marry! That's all!"

FRESH AIR STIMULANT.

The world-wide practice of yawning in church, says the Montreal Star, has doubtless caused many a devout minister long hours of anxious thought.

This is so simple and yet so obvious an explanation that the wonder is it has never been made before.

It will not be so simple to remove the cause. The ventilation of churches is by no means so easy a matter as it seems.

THE UNEMPLOYMENT PROBLEM

Dealing with the statements of a local clergyman that it was a disgrace for a country with all the resources possessed by Canada to have within its borders an unemployed, indigent class, the Calgary Herald says some plain things that should appeal to the exploiters of unemployment and those who hope to gain thereby.

"A survey of the indigent situation in Alberta or any other part of Canada today would most certainly disclose the fact that by far the greater number of the out of work, indigent company throughout the Dominion are where and as they are because they failed while in employment to consider and make at least partial provision for a possible out of work period.

WHEN, WHERE AND HOW TO PLANT GLADIOLI.

It is true that the gladioli will give good results even though neglected, but when they are well cared for, the results are better, and one is repaid in pleasure for all the care and backache endured in the work.

First—secure the best grade of corm and if you are exacting as to color, and formation of bloom, and type of spike it is well to study the subject, and get the ones that appeal to you.

Gladioli may be planted in spring as early as the ground can be worked, and it should have been plowed or spaded up the previous fall, and had an application of barn manure so that the roots have had a chance to work its magic on the earth particles and pulverize them in readiness for the use of the young plant when spring has arrived.

But whether put in front of the house or in retirement, they want sunshine and a reasonable amount of shelter from violent winds. When the tops are full grown and the heavy bud spike is well developed they may require to be tied to stakes or supported in some way, to prevent the top being broken off.

A very good way to plant, is to open a trench in the chosen spot about the width of the hoe blade and about four inches deep, and place the corms stagger fashion so they are about four inches apart on the bottom of this, cover carefully so the corm is not turned over, but of its place, making the surface about level.

The depth to which the bulb is covered will differ as the soils differ, but the gladioli does not appear to object to a good deal of variation in treatment and may be put deeper in light sandy loam, than in a heavier soil.

"The Town was Burned Three Days Later"

(1) The Wolfe Headquarters, which survived the burning of St. Joachim, prior to the taking of Quebec, P.Q. (2) The second house to survive the burning by Wolfe. (3) An old church with very beautiful and rare interior at St. Joachim, P.Q.

Some parts of the world seem to have been created merely as slates for the pencil of history. On some of these slates the copy once written has been allowed to stand for a little, and then expunged to make room for fresh text. On others the original text has been of such import that Time has only served to fix the text more indelibly, the "acene" more vividly, as when painters of old varnished their pictures to bring out the colors and "fix" them.

Now there is not a reader but can bring to mind without the slightest effort on his part dozens of such "slates" in Canada. A million romances... to run serially, or each an entity in itself... might be swept from these earth-slates of the Dominion on to the printed page, and still leave a million more untold.

And so it is that we learn to come back to the original slate, the land itself, with its endless tales. The best short stories of this year and every year, past, present and to come.

Such a tiny slate is the little village of Saint Joachim, a few miles from Quebec city. It begins in water-reeds, lush from the toying waters of the St. Lawrence takes a couple of steps upward and spreads out on a plain on which some scattered farmhouses of ancient habitant type and a church have been flung as if by way of illustration. Then the plain steps up suddenly into a low bench, and the bench in turn spreads out levelly for a little way, and then suddenly leaps with vim into giant Cap Tormente, two thousand feet high, its head in the clouds and its feet eternally abate in the mighty river.

History had a mind to write a little six hundred word story here at the time she made up her mind to compose that greater romance in which she changed the text, on a slate of continental magnitude, from French to English. So she set to work at once. And being herself all absorbed, like any modern business man by the larger work in hand, she dictated her St. Joachim communicate to her secretary, General James Wolfe. Now the Wolfe pen was in the beginning a clean-cut sword that grew in passion as the tale unfolded to a torch, as military romances in olden time almost everywhere did. In order that there may be no comeback from the rear that might spell disaster to the larger work when the sword had put to rout the villagers, the match was laid to the scattered farmhouses, and when the smoke cleared two only remained. And they remain to this day. Brought into greater prominence by their age and the fact that they survived "when Wolfe burnt the place."

So the present day disasters, scrubbed and polished by the friction of the years, often change into assets of incalculable value.

So it falls out that Time, the great proof-reader, has come to the manuscript written by Wolfe and days later.

TRAVELLER VISITED UNDERGROUND CITY.

30,000 Dwellers Find Coolness Beneath Sands of Sahara Desert.

Geneva—A Swiss traveller recently paid a visit to the underground town of Gharian (or Assaba), constructed under the sands of the Sahara desert in Tripoli, not far from the Mediterranean coast. It has a Mohammedan population of 30,000.

On the surface the only building visible is a small Italian military outpost, and the town, built several centuries ago, lies several hundred yards below. A winding narrow path leads down to the principal square, which is surrounded by houses resembling catacombs cut into sandstone and clay.

There are flats several stories high in which goats, chickens, etc., share the rooms with their owners.

The subterranean city has two great advantages, a cool temperature all the year around and freedom from sand storms. Its great drawback is a lack of light. Long before the sun sets it is dark there and primitive oil lamps are lighted.

The greatest sufferers are the women, who must be in their rooms at sunset and are not permitted to have lamps. Excellent water is obtained from wells, and ventilation, it is stated is good.

McKIM'S DIRECTORY OF CANADIAN PUBLICATIONS

Advertisers throughout Canada and the United States will welcome the 1925 edition of McKim's Directory of Canadian Publications which has just been issued.

This is the eighteenth edition, the first issue having appeared in 1892. The Directory is published by A. McKim Limited, Canada's largest Advertising Agency, which was established in 1889. The agency early recognized that a dependable record of Canadian Publications was necessary in the sound development of advertising and so the first issue of the Directory was published when the McKim Agency had been only three years in business.

McKim's Directory of Canadian Publications is accepted as a reliable source of information on Canadian Publications and, as well is consulted for Canadian geographical and statistical particulars. Since the first edition was published, each succeeding issue has shown an improvement over the previous one.

HOW SUMMER HOTELS ARE MADE TO PAY

(By A. J. Campbell in Maritime Merchant.)

The general impression respecting the difficulties of making the ordinary commercial hotel yield a profit in the Maritime Provinces is intensified as regards the operation of the summer hotels. I have been told times without number that summer resorts in Nova Scotia will not pay, that our season is too short, and so forth. This opinion, however, is not shared by Mr. William Cossaboom, with whose operations at Harbor View, Smith's Cove, Annapolis County, readers of the Maritime Merchant are familiar. The season of 1924 was the most successful in the history of that resort, with an average of 250 guests staying from four to eight weeks. That summer place now represents a fair sized village consisting of a hotel and annex, 35 bungalows, the proprietor's dwelling, and a church building. Mr. Cossaboom says that his business, which was started without capital, distributed $50,000 last year in wages and supplies, and is now limited only by his capacity to handle it.

There is no uncertainty respecting the profits to be made out of Nova Scotia summer hotels in the mind of another operator, Mr. A. D. Thomas, of South Milford, who conducts a bungalow hotel there. This establishment has grown from a small inn burdened by a mortgage to a profitable resort capable of handling 200 guests at one time. Mr. Thomas erected log cabins on the shore of lakes that dot the property and stretch in a continuous chain across the province. The venture was successful at once and last summer the resort was crowded to capacity.

The idea was to provide a place where those seeking to spend their holidays close to nature, might do so with a reasonable amount of civilized comfort. Mr. Thomas has made additions to his colony every year since its inception. At the close of last season he arranged to build two additional log cabins and says that if his plant were twice its present capacity he believes he would have no difficulty in filling it during the approaching summer.

Individual cottages are provided for those who desire seclusion, but all take their meals in the hotel dining room. Tennis is provided and canoes are furnished. There is good fresh water bathing and endless canoe voyages are available. The services of sixteen registered guides are furnished. Other help employed consists of eighteen female domestics and several men. Foodstuffs for the dining room are purchased from the neighboring farmers, and Mr. Thomas states that the sum of $30,000 was distributed last season in the conduct of the establishment.

There are now twenty four bungalows built and owned by Mr. Thomas himself, and six others of similar construction which have been either built for or purchased by guests who return each summer, but all are part of the colony and under the supervision of the management.

Naturally Mr. Thomas is enthusiastically in favor of the bungalow colony as an inducement to vacationists. He believes that a country of the physical nature of Nova Scotia provides the ideal playground for tourists and that the bungalow colony furnishes the ideal form of entertainment. The majority of his guests are from the United States.

Another example which indicates that money can be made out of the summer hotel business in Nova Scotia is supplied by the results achieved by Mr. A. T. Spurr, the proprietor of the "Myrtle House," Digby, Mr. Spurr who was born at Round Hill, Annapolis County, about fifty years ago, had no acquaintance with hotel management up to the spring of 1920, when he purchased the "Myrtle House" from the J. S. Harding estate. He had, however, served for seventeen years as a salesman with the Medical Drug Company of Boston. He went overseas in 1914 with the 17th Battalion, serving as Regimental Quartermaster and thus obtained experience in catering.

The "Myrtle House" when taken over by Mr. Spurr was in such condition that a substantial outlay was necessary to put it in shape for business. The new owner enlarged the dining room, installed baths, laid hardwood floors, built a new garage, installed a modern refrigerator and in all effected improvements at a total cost of about $20,000. A striking illustration of the possibilities of the summer hotel business in Nova Scotia lies in the fact that within four years these improvements were paid for out of the yearly profits made in the business.

The hotel accommodates 150 persons and is open from June 1st to October 1st. The help employed consists of twelve waitresses, eight kitchen help, eight chamber maids, one stenographer—book-keeper and two chauffeurs.

I believe that Messrs Cossaboom, Thomas, Spurr and every other successful hotel man in Nova Scotia will say that the profitable hotel business is a selling proposition plus. Into the "plus" is packed that multitude of details which are covered by the terms courtesy and service; for as Hiram W. Ricker once said, the thing longest remembered about a hotel is its friendliness—or its frigidity.

PROBLEMS OF ORCHARDISTS ARE DISCUSSED.

Cultivation, Fertilization, Pest Remedies And Business Affairs Discussed at Middleton Meeting.

Middleton—A meeting of Fruit Growers was held Saturday in the MacDonald School Assembly Hall, and was largely attended. Prof. Blair, of the Experimental Farm, Kentville, gave an address on the "Planting and Care of a Young Orchard."

Said the speaker, "nothing takes the place of cultivation in a young orchard. For the first four years, ploughing and harrowing should be done at a distance of three feet from the roots of tree. Cease cultivating after July 1st, so that wood and fruit growth for next year may be encouraged. After a six years' growth do not cultivate so often, and plough at a distance of six feet from tree, to prevent cutting the roots.

Too much root pruning is bad for the life of tree, said Prof. Blair. When a strip of sod is left around trees, the grass should be carefully kept cut so that the trees get the proper amount of moisture. The method of fertilization is determined by cultivation. If orchards are grown in grass entirely they require an extra amount of fertilizer, as a portion of it is taken up by the grass. The food must be supplied in May, June and July. After that cover cropping is excellent. Stable manure, for late fertilization, forces too much growth of tree. The nourishment, after July goes to increase growth and quality of fruit. Nitrate of soda should be applied about the 15th of May, along with acid phosphate and muriate of potash.

Unless a soil is very heavy, Mr. Blair advised, for fertilization, in the proportion of 200 pounds nitrate, 150 pounds phosphate, and 50 pounds potash per acre. Apples grown by nitrate, alone, would have the tendency of not keeping well.

Prof. Kelsall, of the Dominion Entomological Laboratory, Annapolis Royal, followed with a lecture on the Birch Moth and Green Apple Bug, with directions for spraying. The bird moth is just now in its glory, secreted in the crotch of a branch and fruit spear protected by a webby silky covering. It is about one eighth of an inch long, and gets into action as soon as it is warm. It is difficult to exterminate, as it emerges from its hiding place any time up to a week before blossom time. It comes out when the bud is swelling and digs its way into bud, it deposits its eggs in June and hatch out in August. By spraying twice, when buds are swelling, and just before blossom time, about 75 or 80 per cent, of the pests can be exterminated. An ordinary spray or dust will check it.

The green apple bug hatches out a week before blossom time, the Non-pareil and Ben Davis being favorite feeding grounds. It does more damage than any other insect. It is found in the blossom cluster and can only be handled when the cluster opens up so an effective spraying of one pint nicotine in 100 gallons of water is recommended at this period.

Prof. J. Hockey, of the Experimental Farm, Kentville, gave a short account of plant diseases. The apple scab comes from the last year's leaves under trees. Black spots on leaves contain spores. Dampness causes them to pop open and fly up to the tree. Spray before a rain, 99 per cent of spring infection comes from the old leaves. Spraying is a protection, not a cure. Burning the leaves, if possible, gets rid of infection. Spray four times, and if necessary, a fifth. Twig infection appears on last year's wood. Spots are light brown, raised; blister and crack open. Two sprays, followed by dust is recommended.

A. E. McMahon, Kentville, President of the United Fruit Growers Association, spoke of Nova Scotia in connection with apple trade in Great Britain. British Columbia and Ontario are both jealous of their prestige in apple exportation, but Nova Scotia has 80 per cent, of the foreign markets. He placed the transportation charges from $5.00 per barrel in war time, to the present 90 cent rate, owing to a consolidated effort by the U. F. G. A. much can be brought about that is advantageous to the orchardist, by co-operation.

Mr. McMahon spoke of the splendid results accruing from educational campaign by laboratories and experimental stations, or the cheapness of spraying materials as compared with former prices, and of Nova Scotia not entering into affiliation with British Columbia, regarding transportation. We can make better terms for shipping and refrigeration by working alone, he said.

The cross-word puzzle has at least one virtue, says the Fredericton Mail. It makes an income tax blank seem so much simpler.

FACTS ABOUT TEA SERIES—No. 4

The Two Types of Tea

There are two distinct types of tea, namely Black Tea and Green Tea. Both are made from the same bush and both are equally pure. The difference is in the process of manufacture which gives each a different flavour. Black Tea after it is plucked is withered and partially 'fired' or dried, then allowed to oxidize by being exposed to the air. This gives Black Tea its dark reddish colour when drawn. Green tea is immediately steamed after plucking, which prevents oxidization. There are delicious blends of "SALADA" in both of these types and also a unique blend of Black and Green Tea Mixed. All are sold in four qualities.

YOUNG'S COVE.

Beautiful spring weather. A few men here are getting ready to fish for lobsters and others for spring farming.

Mr. Frank Clayton of Parker's Cove one of the foremen for the Lincoln Pulp-wood Company with several men from here, have completed building camps at Gesner Lake, where the company intend to put out a big cut of pulp wood this spring and summer.

Mr. Clayton got out about five hundred cords for them during the winter to be shipped from the John Young wharf. He also put out about four hundred cords to the Criss Cove wharf, west of the Young's mountain road, for the McLeod Pulp-wood Company, employing several men and teams from here.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Marshall and children of Beaconsfield spent the fourth and fifth with Mrs. Marshall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Watson Guest.

Miss Ruth Guest went to Annapolis Royal on the 18th for an indefinite period.

Mr. Jos. E. Steadman, Vice-Principal of Annapolis Royal Academy, spent the week-end with his parents here recently.

Mr. Hilton Rafuse had the misfortune to lose a fine cow a few weeks ago, but bought another the next day at Annapolis Royal.

Mrs. Gracie Andrews and little son left the 18th for North Range to visit friends and relatives of her late husband, Mr. Oscar Andrews.

Mr. Clark Hall of Milton, Queens County, who is selling records in verse of the Halifax Explosion, passed through this place last week and spent Easter with Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Gregory.

Mr. Gregory bought a nice cow of Mr. Frank Chute of Phinney Cove this week.

Mrs. James Guest, who is in her 90th year, since November last, is a welcome visitor to many of our homes. She is a life-long resident of Young's Cove, enjoys good health, and often walks 2 or 3 miles to visit her children and friends, who are many, besides doing a lot of work besides her own. Best wishes to Editor and staff.

MARRIED.

Davies—Conrad.

The marriage took place very quietly in St. Andrews Episcopal church, Brooklyn, N. Y., at 4 o'clock April 8th of Miss Oriol Conrad and Mr. R. Carlisle Davies, second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Davies, Clarence.

The bride was attired in cocoa silk georgette, with blonde coat with fox fur band around bottom and hat to match, and carried a bouquet of roses.

Mr. Charles Conrad acted as best man. After a dainty supper at the home of the bride's sister the happy couple left on a honeymoon trip to Stanford, Conn.

DERAILED LOCOMOTIVE PLACED ON TRACK AT LAWRENCETOWN.

Dominion Atlantic Locomotive Avon 37 was successfully placed on the rails at Lawrence town on Sunday morning and was taken to Kentville for repairs. The run off of the express noted in our columns last week is attributed by trainmen to gravel jammed between the rails and planking at the Upper Lawrence town crossing, where highway work has recently been done, and the fact that personal injuries were confined to fireman Thomas Welsh, who had a leg broken when the engine left the track is remarkable. Damage to the locomotive, will, it is said, run up in several thousand dollars.

SAYS VON TIRPITZ COURTING DISASTER.

Tagelblatt Compares Backing of Hindenburg to Advocacy of Sub War.

Berlin.—The Tagelblatt Monday, in a long editorial article by Theodore Wolff, compares the present situation in Germany to that in 1917, on the eve of America's entry into the war. Von Tirpitz, "the grave danger of Germany," the man who precipitated Germany's defeat by imposing unrestricted submarine warfare and thus bringing the United States into the war, is at work again preparing a new catastrophe, the paper says.

It was von Tirpitz, who in 1917, through intrigues behind the scenes and threats, terrorized the cabinet, which dared not say a word, though it realized the policy meant war with America, rich in men, money and armaments. The article continues, while today Stresemann and Luther refused to believe in Hindenburg's nomination until, behind their backs, von Tirpitz accomplished it. Times have not changed since Bismarck accused the German bourgeoisie of lacking "civilian courage," Wolff asserts.

Stresemann and Luther, who know their work on the security compact is in danger if Hindenburg is elected, are paralyzed by their terror of the militarists, just as the imperial cabinet was in January, 1917, he charges. Meantime von Tirpitz is busily engaged in conferring with friends to procure sufficient funds, having, with the Kaiser's support, forced Hindenburg to accept the nomination. As the cabinet of the German empire was helpless against the machinations of the intriguing admiral, so the cabinet of Luther and Stresemann today, says Wolff, see the entire world turn against the field-marshal as a puppet of ruthless Nationalists, but instead of acting they simply hope he will not be elected. Hindenburg's disappearance from Hannover is beginning to alarm prospective voters.

EXPERTS PREDICT COLD SUMMERS FOR 1925 AND 1926.

Navy Weather Officials Expect Duplication Next Year of Chill of 1916.

Guesses, Says Another.

Chicago Forecaster Holds The Government Limits "Outlook" to One Week Ahead.

Washington.—Unless scientific signs fail, says Lt.-Commander George E. Brandt, aide to the naval hydrographer, this summer will be a cold one, and the summer of 1926 even colder.

A study of solar radiation and ocean temperatures has convinced him that next year "summerless" 1916 may be duplication. Lt.-Commander Brandt points out that cyclonic disturbances are the unknown quantity in the weather equation, and that while the present outlook is for a decided temperature drop, actual conditions at the time may be far different, because of factors that are now known.

He believes, however, that ocean temperatures greatly influence the weather and that the 1925-26 weather already has been largely determined by the heat of the sun that was stored up in the ocean during 1923-24, when solar radiation was below normal.

Are Called Guesses.

Chicago.—An effort to forecast weather over a period of a year or two years would be nothing more than wild guessing, Henry J. Cox, district weather forecaster here, said Saturday in commenting on predictions by others that the next two summers would be cold, and that 1925 might duplicate "summerless" 1916.

"Maybe the next two summers will be cold, or they may be hot," said Prof. Cox. "It is a bit of miss proposition, and if the guesser hits it, he then can say, 'I told you so.'"

The federal government does not try to forecast more than a week ahead, recognizing the impossibility of it, Prof. Cox pointed out, and then the data are called "outlook" and not "forecast."

Nothing has been seen in solar radiation or reports of ocean temperatures to indicate to him that the coming summer might be cold, with no summer at all next year, the forecaster declared. The year was starting off well above the normal for the entire country, he added, and in Chicago an excess of approximately 300 degrees of heat above the 30 year average had been recorded since January 1st.

The seasons were unusually warm last year and the year preceding, said Prof. Cox, but North America, the British Isles and northern continental Europe had an exceptionally cool summer last year.

The earth's temperatures seemed to be slightly responsive to sun spot activity, the forecaster said, the temperatures climbing slightly higher, possibly one degree, during periods of least activity. More sun heat seemed to be generated during periods of maximum activity, but also a "smoke screen" was thrown about the sun and its increased heat rays were prevented from increasing the earth's warmth.

The last minimum of sun spot activity was observed in 1913, Prof. Cox said, and the next maximum was due possibly in 1929, although the date might vary from the fairly well defined cycle of 11.3 years and occur in nine, ten or thirteen years.

Science had not been advanced to a point which would permit any definite forecast beyond a week, and even then it might be wrong, concluded Prof. Cox.

Mrs. Bert Gilliat left for Halifax on Friday.

BLEMISHES OF THE SKIN

Are Proof The Blood is in a Weak And Watery Condition.

One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order are the pimples and unsightly eruptions that break out on the face or body. The same condition is indicated by an attack of eczema or scrofula. You cannot get rid of these troubles by the use of purgative medicines, as so many people try to do. Purgatives merely gallop through the system and leave it still weaker. What is needed when the blood is shown to be out of order is a tonic which will restore its missing elements and leave the blood rich and red. For this purpose there is no other tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, every dose of which helps enrich the blood, drives out impurities, and brings a new feeling of health and energy. Mrs. R. E. Bishop, Hawthorne Ave., Hamilton, Ont., tells for the benefit of others what these pills did for her. She says:—

"I was suffering terribly from scrofula, a doctor with several doctors, but without success. My complexion was sallow, I had no strength, feeling very weak and languid. My neck was full of lumps called scrofula, and at times they were very painful. After trying several so-called blood medicines, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me and I got half a dozen boxes. After taking them I found a decided improvement in my appearance, and to my joy the lumps were disappearing from my neck. I persevered in the treatment, and finally the only sign left of the trouble was a scar on my neck where one of the swellings broke. Since that time I have been in robust health and heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any suffering from impure blood."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

PREDICTS BIG RISE IN RUBBER PRICES.

Firestone Says British Restriction May Cost America $300,000,000.

Washington.—Harvey S. Firestone asserted here Saturday that the British rubber restriction is again threatening progress and development of highway transportation and may increase the price of rubber tires to American motor owners from $100,000,000 to $300,000,000 this year.

In 1922 the British Colonial Office was instrumental in the enactment of legislation limiting production and exportation of rubber from British possessions, allowing only 60 per cent of normal production to be exported. The price of rubber, which was then 15 cents a pound advanced to 37 cents within a short time.

Restriction was very rigidly applied Mr. Firestone said, after Winston Churchill became Chancellor of the Exchequer in England last year.

"It was only natural to expect Mr. Churchill to use his power looking to the rigid enforcement of the restriction act," said Mr. Firestone, "as he was Colonial Secretary at the time the legislation was enacted."

"Mr. Churchill has made statements in public addresses and newspaper interviews in the last two years to the effect that Americans were getting their rubber too cheaply; that they should pay at least 50 cents a pound; that rubber was one of the main sources of income for the British Government; and the payment of England's indebtedness to the United States."

"It is difficult, of course to predict what the rubber restriction act will cost American car owners in 1925, but it will not be less than $100,000,000, and it is more likely to be $300,000,000 or $400,000,000. These figures are staggering, but every ten-cent advance in the cost of crude rubber means an assessment of about $75,000,000 against America."

"Last August the British made a further reduction of 5 per cent in rubber exportation and still another reduction of 5 per cent, in November, which allowed only one-half production and exportation. As a result, rubber has been steadily advancing and today it is about 43 cents a pound—and the world is threatened with a rubber shortage."

Mr. Firestone has been active ever since the restriction legislation was launched and is determined that Americans shall produce their own rubber. In 1923 he engaged a staff of expert rubber growers and planters, to make independent investigations of

ARTIFICIAL MANURE

(Experimental Farms Note)

The term "artificial manure" has been applied to a product resulting from the treatment of straw by certain chemicals. The outstanding feature of the method is the conversion of straw into manure without being first used as a feed or litter for stock. The rotting down of the straw being brought about, as in the case of ordinary manure, by bacteria which in this process are nourished and encouraged by the chemicals added to the straw. These bacteria are ever present in the air and therefore there is no necessity to purchase or otherwise procure a special culture. In order to accomplish their useful work on the straw it is merely necessary that they should have a certain amount of soluble nitrogenous food (supplied by the chemical, sulphate of ammonia), moisture and air. The investigatory work which led to the devising of a practical process for making this artificial manure was carried out at the Rothamsted Experiment Station (England) during the latter years of the World War, when the general principles involved and more or less of the details of the process were discussed in the agricultural press by the authorities of that Station.

More recently the Rothamsted Experiment Station has patented the process, with a view of building up a fund to be devoted to further research work. This action renders it impossible for us to give the details and directions as issued by Rothamsted. However, the U. S. Department of Agriculture following up with experimental work the earlier published accounts of this method has made public that the addition of 100 pounds of ammonium sulphate and 100 pounds lime to each ton of straw, will give satisfactory results—a manure-like substance of distinct fertilizer value. The materials—sulphate of ammonia and lime—may be scattered on the straw as it comes from the thrasher, the straw being kept moist by a stream of water. If the straw is already piled or stacked the "manure" can be made by spreading on the ground a layer of straw—say, of two feet or thereabouts in thickness—and broadcasting over it the requisite amount of sulphate and lime, thoroughly moistening the mass and repeating the procedure until the heap has reached a height of say, eight to ten feet, above which it is not convenient to work. If there are no ready means to renew the moisture from time to time and there is reason to think that the rainfall will not be sufficient to supply the water lost by evaporation, the heap should be covered with soil.

It is stated that the conversion of the straw into the resultant manure-like material will take from three to six months, that the loss of plant food during this period is less than that which takes place in the rotting of manure, and that this "straw and sulphate" manure is practically equal in crop production to ordinary barnyard manure. But the evidence to date is necessarily limited and the whole matter cannot be said to have passed the experimental stage.

Essentially, this is a method for making humus—or a humus-like material—the nitrogen of which has been supplied by added sulphate of ammonia. It is a process which might have a practical value for the utilization of straw in districts in which it can be used either as a feed or a litter for live stock and in which climatic conditions are favourable to the rotting of straw.

LOCATION AND ARRANGEMENT OF THE APIARY

(Experimental Farms Note)

Without an abundance of nectar secreting flowers, a crop of honey cannot be expected, therefore, the first consideration in selecting a location for an apiary is the flora. As bees gather nectar from a distance of two or three miles from the apiary, it is necessary that the location chosen should contain a plentiful supply of nectar secreting flowers within this range. A good location is one that will provide a continuous supply of nectar and pollen from early spring until fall and with at least one source from which the main crop of honey will be gathered. Most locations, in the city or country, will provide enough nectar to make a few colonies profitable, but where it is intended to establish a large and permanent apiary, the question of flow must receive careful consideration. Other points to bear in mind, when choosing a location, are other apiaries, accessibility, fire and flood. An apiary should be easy to reach by team or truck so that supplies can be transferred back and forth with little difficulty. Locations that are already occupied should be avoided; overstocking a location cuts down the crop. Apiaries should not be less than four miles apart unless the location is an exceptional one. Places that are likely to be devastated by fire or flood should also be avoided. The site chosen for the apiary must be well sheltered from high winds, especially the cold winds in the spring which usually come from the north or west. If the bees are to be wintered outside, good windbreaks are of utmost importance. It is also necessary to have the hives partly shaded during the hottest part of the day in summer; this can be accomplished by planting a few ever green trees or shrubs in the yard, or taking advantage of natural shade. The bees should not be placed near a public highway, nor where children are likely to play near the hives. The arrangement of the hives is a matter for individual taste, but neatness and arrangement are secondary to convenience in handling. The hives may be arranged in pairs or singly in rows, but in any arrangement they must not be crowded together or heavy drifting from one colony to another will take place. There should be at least three feet between the hives and six feet between the rows, so that each colony may be handled with ease and that necessary supplies may be moved to or from any part of the apiary with hand barrow or truck. If the site is in grass this should be kept closely cut during the summer, so as not to choke the hive entrances.

C. B. Gooderham, Dominion Apiarist.

EXPORT OF APPLES FOR SEASON 1924-5.

Shipments Below 1923-24 Owing To Light Production in Canada And U. S.

Total exports of apples from the United States and Canada from the beginning of the current season to the end of February amounted to the equivalent of 3,333,000 barrels as compared with 4,259,000 barrels during the corresponding period of the 1923-24 season. The decrease in export was due principally to light production in the United States and Canada. The 1924 commercial apple crop in the United States amounted to approximately 27,188,000 barrels as compared with 34,484,000 barrels in 1923, while the Canadian crop amounted to about 3,226,000 barrels as compared with 4,494,000 barrels the year before. About 90 per cent of the aggregate exports went to the British market, amounting to the equivalent of 2,365,000 barrels as compared with 3,782,000 barrels during the corresponding period last season. The short crop in the United States and Canada with good domestic demand at high prices generally tended to check consignments. Heavy speculative purchases for export were made early in the season, however, in anticipation of high prices in the British market. These tended to keep prices level in the United Kingdom during December and January lower than the generally supply situation warranted. While prices realized were considerably above the low level of 1923, during these two months they did not come up to the values prevailing in the Eastern States. This was particularly true of boxed apples. The outstanding feature of the apple market in continental Europe this season are the increase in direct shipments to Germany. Imports into Germany from all sources from September 1st 1924, to January 31, 1925, amounted to approximately 3,266,000 barrels as compared with only 126,000 barrels during the corresponding period of the 1923-24 season. Holland, Switzerland, Northern Italy, Czechoslovakia, Rumania, and Jugoslavia supply the greater bulk of the apples imported into Germany. Direct exports from the United States to Germany from September to the end of January

THE PETERSON CONTRACT.

The plan of subsidizing out of the Canadian treasury ten moderate-sized steamships as a means of cheapening ocean freight rates continues to meet disfavor, even where it might have been expected to avails support. The Grain Growers' guide an upholder of the Progressive Party, refuses to be persuaded by the advocacy of Mr. MacKenzie King that the Government's plan of fighting the North Atlantic steamship combines by subsidizing the Peterson Steamship Company to the extent of $1,750,000 annually is in the best interests of the country. It reports that the Preston report is not a convincing document, and says: "What the people want to know, and what is imperatively necessary should be known to form an intelligent opinion on the proposal is: On what basis has it been determined that the rates are too high; on what basis was the amount of the subsidy arrived at; is this the only way or the best way of realizing the intention of the Government? The criticism that has been levelled at the Canadian Council of Agriculture and the Progressive ignores altogether the fact that their disinclination to accept holds bolts the proposals of the Government rests upon a desire to know if the policy of the Government is warranted and justified by the circumstances." STORY OF VODOOISM

Negro Held for Alleged Murders—Weird Habitation

Camden, N. J.—Bones believed to be those of humans and other gruesome articles found in caves and passages under the home of H. H. Hyghcock, a negro voodoo doctor, and the statement of his seven-year-old daughter that he had killed a woman two weeks ago, and buried her, caused Hyghcock to be held today without bail for court.

Hyghcock had been arrested for practicing medicine without a license and bail was being entered when his little girl made the startling statement, this led to a search of the house. Detectives reported that they had found some underground passages, leading from the cellar, in one of which was a newly made grave containing the bones of an infant in a box.

The detectives said that in each of the underground passages they had found something calculated to cause horror or fright. In one chamber was a black cat with seven white cats. In another was a dead chicken on a table. It leaped into the air and at the same time emitted a weird sound when an electric button was touched. Owls and bats were found in all the chambers.

Hyghcock was arrested on complaint of Mrs. Lottie Ingram, a negro, who said she had paid him $25. to cure her of a heart ailment. She declared that after her experiences in the underground chambers she became worse.

HURT BY REDISTRIBUTION

Nine Dry Seats Wiped Out, Says Rev. Ben Spence

Toronto.—Ben H. Spence, Secretary of the Ontario branch of the Dominion Alliance, in an interview with the Toronto Star today stated that the redistribution bill passed on Thursday in the Ontario Legislature means the wiping out of nine "dry" seats and the addition of ten "wet" ones.

J. J. Morrison, secretary of the United Farmers of Ontario also expressed dissatisfaction with the bill. "The redistribution, as we have it, minimizes the power of the rural vote," he declared, adding that the power was being placed in the hands of people in the congested centres of population.
