PASSING FAIR, BEST EVER
HOW TO MAKE NEXT BETTER

A Few Suggestions Which the Directors May Consider if They Want to.

The fair of 1903 will have passed into history to-night. It has been a success exceeding even the hopes of a sanguine directorate. By long odds the display of the products of Canada has been the best ever gathered together in Toronto, and there have been improvements in almost every department of the big show. While the management left very little to criticize there is always room to advance. Hon. John Dryden made a suggestion at the directors' luncheon Friday which the authorities, no doubt, will take the first opportunity of carrying out. It was along the line of better accommodation for the thousands who take an interest in the live stock industry—that a pavilion be erected in which the judging of cattle may be carried on in bad weather as well as good. Many cattle breeders have remarked on the need of such a pavilion, and would be delighted if the announcement were made that a suitable building would be erected for next year.

And there are other directions in which the exhibition might progress. Something to make the show better might be done in this way:—

1. Illuminate the main entrance building after the manner of some of the Pan-American buildings.

2. Extend the concrete walks through the main avenues of the grounds.

3. Erect spacious lunch rooms and banish the little merchants with their annoying spiceries and ear-splitting megaphones.

4. Build the dome of the manufacturers' building.

5. Erect an administration and press building to provide suitable quarters for gatherings of societies which meet annually at the fair grounds.

6. Give a special day to our cousins from across the line, and call it United States Day. The outstanding loud protests against the habit of styling United States people "Americans" the directors should consider the idea of an "American" Day.

7. Get the Street Railway Company to run a line to the east gate on Strachan avenue, to relieve the crush at the Dufferin-street gate.

8. Cut the mannikin out of the grand stand enclosure.

TREADGOLD INQUIRY A FARCE.

F. D. Monk, M. P., Begins the Matter Up in the House.

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—(Special.)—Mr. Monk in the House today showed the necessity of extending the scope of the inquiry now being held in the Yukon by the Treadgold Commission. He quoted from newspaper and communications he had received, which stated that Mr. Treadgold had said that the parties interested in his concession would have to come to him, in spite of any commission. He was also quoted as saying that he had influence with the cabinet, and that he could not afford to back on his side. Treadgold refused to answer questions put to him on material matters, and it was evident that the inquiry was becoming useless for the purpose for which it had been constituted. The limitation to the inquiry had been announced by the people on the spot, and the situation demanded the immediate intervention of the government, which should issue instructions removing all restrictions to the powers of the commission.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said that no good could result from the reading of extracts from a scurrilous press. The instructions to the commission had been ample, and he was satisfied that nothing further could be done until the report of the commission was laid on the table.

Hon. James Sutherland and Mr. McCree thought that the reading of the press clippings was designed simply as an obstruction to the consideration of the redistribution bill. (Cries of "Oh! oh!" from the opposition.)

The Treadgold Commission was organized largely by alien agitators, and the promoters of the Treadgold enterprises were responsible men engaged in a commendable business investment.

Col. Thaddeus knew and respected Mr. Justice Britton, but he thought judges should not be mixed up in questions involving party considerations.

Dr. Sprague said that it was evident that the parties with the grievances, which the commissioners were ordered to investigate, had found themselves stopped by alleged limitations to the scope of the inquiry, or in any event by the limited interpretation placed on their instructions by the commissioners. After some further discussion, the House went into committee again on the redistribution bill.

A FACT

Good Coffee Just as Harmful as the Cheap Grades.

Those who defend coffee often say it is only the cheap grades that hurt one, but it is a fact that the highest priced coffee on the market is just as harmful to those with whom coffee acts as a poison as a cheap grade.

More than 20 years ago I became convinced that coffee was slowly killing me and it may interest you to know that I found out by careful experiments that the better the grade the more I suffered," says a lady of Harvey, Ill. "So I gave up coffee and drank hot water, only going back to coffee occasionally, and always having to pay for it in suffering of some kind. "About four years ago I visited the home of a friend one evening and some Postum was very daintily served to the company present and was unanimously pronounced delicious. When I learned how it was prepared I found that the reason I had not liked it before was because I had not boiled it long enough to bring out the crisp delicious coffee taste; ever since that time I have used Postum steadily. My family and I have found it most wholesome and pleasant and a food drink in every sense of the word, with no bad after effects, but on the other hand it is a strong re-builder and blood-maker. We keep well now." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"CRAZY MAN FROM BRANT"

the wiping out of old Conservative contingencies and four by increasing Mr. Paterson, having quoted what he termed "the opinion of an independent journal" that Mr. Henderson's defence of the redistribution of 1882 led to the suspicion that he was getting crazy, the member for Hallowell and declared that Mr. Paterson's frigid speech was the craziest thing he had heard yet. He also referred to the Minister of Customs as the "crazy member for Brant."

The Chairman ruled the expression out of order. "Then," said the member for Hallowell, "I presume that ruling also applies to the Minister of Customs."

Mr. Paterson listened to say that he had not given it as his own opinion that Mr. Henderson was crazy. In fact, he believed the hon. member was as sane as himself. All he had done was to quote the opinion of an independent paper.

"Oh," replied Mr. Henderson, "I saw that in the Ottawa Evening Journal, but I paid no attention to it."

Clancy on Ross. Mr. Clancy observed that it was not wise to quote expressions of that kind in the House. Their use in newspapers merely indicated the writer's want of knowledge of the subject on hand. Then Mr. Clancy went on to show that the whole redistribution scheme was cut and dried, and the House was only being asked to AGREE TO WHAT THE LIBERALS HAD LONG AGO DECIDED SHOULD BE THE DISTRIBUTION. To prove this he produced a typewritten document dated May 1, 1903, containing the very changes which were set forth in the bill. This, he said, was headed: "Proposed redistribution for Ontario, submitted by Liberal members at an informal meeting held May 1, 1903." That was before a single open meeting of the committee had been held, he said.

Mr. Sutherland said this was submitted by the Liberals in response to Mr. Borden's request for a proposition. Mr. Clancy answered that this did not change the fact that the bill as it was today before the House was identical with the scheme laid down by the Liberals at a single meeting. He then denounced it as a farce to be falling in with the Redistribution Committee held a single meeting. He then denounced it as a farce to be falling in with the Redistribution Committee held a single meeting.

The amendment of Col. Tisdale was declared out of order, and the clause respecting Norfolk was suspended. Muskoka, Nipissing and Ottawa were carried after a motion by Mr. McKie, to restore to Nipissing the Townships of Clara, Head and Maria, provided the bill in North Renfrew, had been voted down.

This concluded the business of the sitting.

Business on Monday.

Before adjournment, Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the Grand Trunk Pacific bill would be taken up on Monday and continued until finished. Then the redistribution bill was taken up, commencing with Leeds, would be continued in the order in which the clauses appear in the bill.

FOREIGN NOTES OF INTEREST.

Spain is apparently not considered a necessary element in a French schoolboy's education. At least the judges of the motor general of the elementary school's football matters to allow pupils to play football, football, tennis, tennis, tennis and other games.

The most highly situated monument in Germany will be that now being erected on the summit of the Zugspitze, in memory of Dr. Engelberger, the ill-fated member of the German South Sea expedition, who died in the Kerguelen Islands. The monument will be located at a height of 10,240 feet.

Four great coal stations are about to be exploited in South Africa. The most important field is that of the Orange and the northern boundary of Natal. These regions will in the near future supply the bulk of the coal for the coal. Natal exported 200,000 tons in 1901.

A comparison of the occupation of the population of the following countries is of interest. In the United States, 22 per cent. of the population are engaged in agriculture, 28 per cent. in industry, 22 per cent. in commerce, 24 per cent. in services, 24 per cent. in the military, and 2 per cent. in the navy. Steadily for the last ten years the number of certified paper lunatics in the British Isles has been increasing. The number is increasing all over the country. Turn to the physical form and the tale is the same. The records show a steady tendency to the examining medical officers every year. It has just been found necessary to lower the standard of height, weight and chest measurement to a figure which is quite inadequate. With all modern athletic training there is still a definite tendency to increase in height and to physical degeneration in Great Britain at the present day.

Germany coal is gaining a hold in the French markets, and the French state railways have ordered 8000 tons at 18s a ton.

Sapphire.—Consistency. "A man's mind when autumn leaves are nesting in September's breeze—A sapphire on her brow should find, 'Twill cure diseases of the mind."

"Laden deep with fruity cluster, Comes September, ripe and hale, Bess about his basket fluster, Laden with deep fruity cluster, Skies have now a softer lustre, Bards resound with flap of fall."

PERSONAL MENTION.

Trenton, Ont., Sept. 11.—Mr. George Young, editor of The Courier, has returned to business after an attack of severe cold. The remedy that cured him so quickly is Catarrhose, which Mr. Young states is the best cure for a cold he ever tried. It relieved him immediately. Many other prominent citizens speak highly of "catarrhose," which is widely used here. All druggists sell Catarrhose. Two months' treatment one dollar; trial size 25c.

Ten Dollars

in cash—six to ten dollars monthly.

It is a very easy matter indeed to procure a piano from us. You pay in such small sums that it is strictly speaking true that you are scarcely aware you have paid for it when it becomes your property. Over and over again patrons have told us that the money with which they bought their piano was so much to the good, because had it not been used to pay off the instrument it would assuredly have been disposed of in a thousand miscellaneous ways that would have brought no worthy return. In very many instances buying a piano is simply putting "pin money" to a legitimate use. And buying a piano in this way makes it very easy indeed. In a great majority of cases a piano would not be bought at all if it had to be paid for in cash at the time of taking delivery.

You can come here and select the piano you like best from our enormous stock. It will be sent home on payment of a small sum and your promise to pay still smaller sums monthly. Usually, a first payment of TEN DOLLARS will be quite satisfactory to us, and you can pay the balance at the rate of six to ten dollars each month until the whole amount has been paid in and the piano becomes your property.

There is no time like the present—to get a piano.

We have Square Pianos and Organs in the Basement. You can have one at as low as $8 a month.

HIT at Sam. Parks.

New York, Sept. 11.—President Frank Buchanan of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers tonight announced that he had annulled the charter of local No. 2 of the Housewrights and Bridge-makers' Union, the organization of which Sam Parks is the virtual head, and has suspended the local union. He said the reasons for such action are the facts that the agreement between the International organization and the Employers' Association had been broken; the attempt of the local to involve other locals; false statements, alleged to have been made against International officers; and the assumption of control of strikes by the business agent instead of by the executive board.

BUTTER-MAKING FADS OF CITY RESIDENTS.

Many New Yorkers right in the heart of the city make their own butter, and a surprising number of churns of a size for working two or three quarts of cream at a time are sold by the dealers.

A good proportion of the city dwellers have fresh butter made two or three times a week from the milk brought from their cow farms and country places. Others get the cream from milk dealers, and make only the butter for immediate table use, depending on the grocer for that needed for cooking purposes.

There is a purity and wholesomeness demanded in everything used about milk and milk products that appeals peculiarly to capable housekeepers, and many fastidious women like to attend to this department themselves, working the butter with great care so as to improve its flavor, and salting it only to a certain degree.

The latest churns for home use are of glass, worked by a little handled wheel at the top. Some are of only one quart, others of proportions to satisfy the needs of a good-sized family of butter lovers. There are fine white earthenware churns of English make, with little wooden dashers to be jiggled up and down in the primitive fashion, says The Chicago Journal.

To supplement the churns come splashers of improved pattern, dainty milk pans of enamelled ware, skimmers of either china or tin, handy wooden paddles for working the butter, and scales of delicate adjustment by which the housewife may know to a fraction the amount of her produce.

The dealers attribute the increased interest in butter making to the present taste for country life and the general awakening in matters of hygiene. Especially in families where there are children effort is made to provide them with as natural and healthy foodstuffs as possible.

And city dwellers who love fresh butter do not think it extravagant to make it even from the cream of bought milk, because of the many uses the milk can be put to after the cream has been skimmed off. Blanc-manges, custards and many desserts and delicacies can be made from it, and the potchese or curd, served with cream and nutmeg, is a wholesome and attractive dish for supper or luncheon.

Lively Royal Interest.

Despite the many other claims on his attention, King Edward is taking the liveliest interest in the St. Louis Exposition of next year, says The London Chronicle. The United States Government is particularly anxious that Great Britain should be the chief representatives of foreign nations, and His Majesty is understood to be prepared to support any effort which will make in that direction. St. Louis is making a great effort to outdo the Chicago exhibition, and the people of the United States generally are pouring out their money. The exhibition is intended as a commemoration of an historic deal between the United States and France, when Napoleon was trying to make France supreme in the world. He foresaw trouble unless France negotiated away her huge territorial rights in the States, and hence the famous Louisiana Purchase in the time of President Thomas Jefferson. France was paid $15,000,000, but the States were satisfied and the American minister said to Napoleon's envoy, when both had signed the treaty of sale: "From this day the United States take their stand among the powers of the first rank."

A Hound.

The typewriter girl turned up at the office from her week's vacation at Atlantic City with a coat of tan that would do credit to a sailor just returned from tropical seas. Her face was a dark rich brown, very becoming to her style of beauty, and her arms, bared to the elbows with perspiration, were of the same dusky hue. "How did you get it all in one week?" demanded the bookkeeper, with undignified curiosity. "I was in the States, and I was looking like a hotted lobster, his nose puffed out, and his face soon to the touch. The typewriter girl laughed. "It's a new wrinkle," she said. "A friend of mine put me on to 'solder' the first day. I carried a little bottle down to the beach with her when she went bathing, and kept rubbing the contents over her face and arms. As fast as it would dry she kept rubbing more on. When she told me it was a preparation to keep the skin from blistering and of the brown, well, I've worn the secret coat of her, and what do you suppose it did? Nothing. Nothing more than that I was unadvisedly vulgar. Of course, I tried it, and it worked like a charm. I wouldn't give such a secret to a horse, but I would give it to a fellow who would forward found lots of girls using it; and before long, well, I've worn the secret coat."

Distinguished Precedent.

Phaeton, having gained permission of Phoebe, mounted the driver's seat as charioteer of the sun. He drove awkwardly, as you remember, and he was a little bit of a rascal. Whereupon Jupiter, who was watching his performance with ill-concealed vexation, hurled a thunderbolt at him. Jupiter could throw straight. He seldom missed. The thunderbolt hit Phaeton and knocked him into the River Po. "Upo, fellow!" compassionately explained Juso. "Why did you do that, Jupiter?" "Because, madam," replied Jupiter, flashing an angry glance at her. "I was an article about rearing colts. We have had little experience on this farm Journals of Parliament. The Gaiety Investigation was a quasi-criminal trial, and was, therefore, a less questionable matter for reference to the judges than a purely political task as the delimitation of electoral districts.

The Globe's question is, however, fair enough. We are opposed to the reference of political questions to judges, and our objection applies to the Gaiety investigation as well as to the Gaiety-Stratton case.

It is not true that the Gaiety-Stratton case is a fair illustration of the methods adopted here so bad that they might have been specially intended to discredit the dragging of judges into politics.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

"Mr. Pickwick," De Wolf Hopper's new musical production of the famous Charles Dickens classic, with which Mr. Hopper has been scoring all kinds of successes this year last season, and which will appear after a three months' run at the Herald Square Theatre, New York City, will be seen at the Princess Theatre Monday night. The company will be exactly the same in every respect as the one which has made the life of the production, and includes besides Mr. Hopper, Digby Bell, Louis Payne, J. K. Adams, George Chapman, Agostino Colletti, Guy Bartlett, George Rolland, G. B. Williams, F. R. Willing, Marguerite Clark, Marion Field, Laurence Joyce, Betty Viola, Edna Florio, Murray, Nellie Victoria, Fele Robinson and an ensemble of several other excellent artists.

The world renowned Bandman English Opera Company, under the personal direction of Maurice E. Bandmann, the popular English musical artist, will present a week's engagement at the Grand Opera House on Monday evening next, presenting the popular English musical comedy, "The Country Girl." This excellent company of artists, directed from London, Eng., have made a reputation for themselves since their arrival in Canada, securing a big success wherever they have appeared. The costumes and scenery are unapproachable, and the staging and acting are of the highest order. The production is said to be perfect. Theatregoers should not miss seeing this splendid English comedy.

Miss Amelia Summerville will make her first vaudeville appearance in Toronto on Monday at the Grand Opera House. Miss Summerville is one of the brightest women on the stage and her monologues are of the highest order. She is a Toronto girl. As a special extra attraction there will be Charles Bradshaw & Co. in a comedy sketch. Mr. Bradshaw is the newly married husband, with a most disreputable mother-in-law. He takes in hand by one of his former chums and they sing a duet. Mr. Bradshaw has recently come to Toronto and is a very pretty and better than ever. The Sisters Mervin, comedienne and her monologues are of the highest order. During which they sing Hiawatha in costume and with special scenery. McIntyre & Johnson, a new black face team, have a lot of gags and parodies that have not been heard before. Ike and Bruce, in a clever sketch, entitled, "A Woman of the World," have a vehicle in which they show many abilities and keep the audience in laughter. Waldorf and Moez, comedy artists and the Kings, with their pictures, one showing King Edward's visit to Ireland, complete a strong bill.

The Transatlantic Entertainers will continue their engagement at the Star Theatre on Monday (Friday) evening next. The advance program of the organization is an exceptionally strong and meritorious entertainment. The main offering is entitled "The King of Kings" and is claimed to be the most humorous and meritorious comedy burlesque presented by a group of comedians. The burlesque is preceded by a group of comedians. The comedians present amusing specialties, including a new black face team, McIntyre and Johnson, a new black face team, have a lot of gags and parodies that have not been heard before. Ike and Bruce, in a clever sketch, entitled, "A Woman of the World," have a vehicle in which they show many abilities and keep the audience in laughter. Waldorf and Moez, comedy artists and the Kings, with their pictures, one showing King Edward's visit to Ireland, complete a strong bill.

NINE ONE-LEGGED PLAYERS BEAT A ONE-ARMED TEAM

Score Was 10 to 9, but the Losers Say Winners Used Automobile Limbs.

Nine legs were better than nine arms yesterday at Wilmington, Pa., where nine men with nine arms between them played a six-inning game of baseball against nine men having nine legs.

The game lasted 90 minutes, and the nine one-legged men won by a score of 10 to 9.

This result was a surprise to the nine one-armed men, and charges were freely made that the nine one-legged men had violated the ethics of providing themselves with a special pattern of cork legs, equipped with springs and other devices, which were geared at a speed that enabled their wearers to run bases faster than they otherwise could have done.

The score was disputed, the one-armed men insisting that the patent legged runner, who claimed to have carried him twice around the diamond before he could shut off the power. It was urged that one of Kavanaugh's runs should count.

Vote Decided by Hands. This contest was by a claim filed by Captain Kavanaugh, that home run scored by Shortstop Shepley, which was second base, should be declared a foul, because he hit the ball with his timber arm instead of with his hand. Umpire Donovan put the question to a vote.

"All in favor of the 9 to 10 score signify by raising their hands," said the umpire.

The one-legged men elevated eighteen hands, while their one-armed antagonists could muster only nine. Donovan decided that the peg-legs were the victors.

Eighteen legs promptly took after two legs, which were Donovan's. He escaped by clearing the bridge over Christy Creek, but was nearly run down by a swing open to allow a boot to go thru, leaving his pursuers on the opposite bank.

Were Auto Leg Used? Betting at the outset was in favor of the one-armed men, the bettors arguing that the one-armed men might perform well at the bat they would lose in running the bases. The peg-legs developed such surprising ability as to lead color to the suspicion that they had provided themselves with automobile limbs.

In defence the one-legged men submitted that their legs were fashioned of slippery elm wood, which enabled them to slide over a ground with a minimum of friction.

Three more runs would have been tallied for the one-legged men, had Third-Base man Charza neglected to put a rubber on his timber foot. He became dislodged from the base, and caused a breakdown. Two men collided with him and were thrown on the backs. While they were spinning around helplessly, trying to rise, the ball beat them to the plate.

Arm Hooks Anchor Runners. The absence of their arms handicapped the one-armed men in running. It was almost impossible for them to keep a straight course, the additional resistance to the air offered by the sides of their bodies which arms would have had a tendency to cause them to go in circles, like a twin-screw ship without a rudder.

Some of the one-armed men went into the game with hooks in place of hands. They were thrown on the backs. While they were spinning around helplessly, trying to rise, the ball beat them to the plate.

A corps of carpenters with chests of tools and glue pots were on hand ready to mend fractured legs, but their services were not required.

It was to be a five-inning contest, but when the fifth inning was over the score was 10 to 9 in favor of the one-legged men. A seventh inning was demanded another inning. In their sixth inning the one-legged men had a fortunate mishap they would have piled up three more. The one-armed men were thrown on the backs. While the inning ended they were eager for a seventh turn at the bat, but the one-legged men declined to oblige them.

CANADA AND RECIPROcity. Detroit, Sept. 11.—Eugene N. Foss of Boston, leader of the Canadian reciprocity movement, says in an interview: "Canada is by no means unanimous for reciprocity, and it is not to be absorbed in the consideration of her great railroad struggle. Nevertheless, it is an sure that the majority of the people has been led astray by the Chamberlain proposition. Only a few of the Chamberlain plan is only an extension of the principle which we advocate. He believes in reciprocity with the colonies, and so do we."

Why a Man Aged 50 Should Insure. Because it is the safest method of providing for dependents. There has never been a failure of a legal reserve Life Insurance Company doing business in Canada.

THE CONTINUOUS INSTALLMENT policy is an ideal method of making absolute provision for dependents. For a payment of $300.00, and a like amount each year thereafter, a man aged 50 secures for his beneficiary, aged 45, an annual income at his death of $500.00 for 20 years, certain, and as much longer as the beneficiary lives.

The strong financial position of the North American, affording undoubted security to its policyholders, makes it a most desirable company with which to make such a contract.

Men's Autumn Hat Styles

We've had two weeks of such business as the store never knew before. We were right in the hub of trade every day. The crowds have gone, but the enthusiasm remains.

Why shouldn't this be the busiest store as well as the best? Times are good and people can afford good things. The essence of buying wisdom lies in the direction of quality rather than price.

Apply this to Men's Hats to-day. We're showing the new blocks in Soft Felts, hats that are made to wear between the summer straw and the winter Derby. Light weights, light colors and our own distinctive styles.

The Simpson Clothing.

Buying Clothing in the Men's Store means several very important satisfying things—

1. You are choosing practically from all Canada. We sell the cream of the Clothing produced in the Dominion by all the Clothing manufacturers in competition.
2. Our prices are such as you find here, and here only. We don't believe in shoddy Clothing at any price, and we don't believe in extravagance at any price. The best at the figure—that's the aim of the Men's Store.
3. You'll find that Simpson Clothing is an altogether different proposition as regards style, finish, cut, pattern, cloth, trimmings, workmanship, etc., to the old-time "ready-made" clothes. The tailor can give you as good but no one else is likely to. Come down Monday and test us. Lots of time before train time Tuesday.

AS TO REV. MR. STARR.

King Dods says that a Third Party is No Good.

E. King Dods, in The Canadian Sportsman, says:

The Rev. Mr. Starr is a strenuous man; he has strong beliefs and doesn't mince his words when expressing his opinions. Like most men who has a hobby, he rides it at a furious pace and allows his feelings to control his judgment. He has made up his mind that prohibition of the liquor traffic is the one thing necessary to improve the morals of the people, and like many others with whom the wish is father to the thought he refuses to recognize its many trials that have resulted in a disastrous failure, and is still anxious to see a law that has failed all over the United States adopted in this country.

He has neither the space to spare nor the inclination to give columns to give the mass of official evidence easily obtainable which furnishes common proof that in practice it fails to accomplish the purpose intended, and in cities and towns intensifies the evils it is sought to eradicate. The reverend gentleman is apparently thoroughly conversant with both political parties in this country. He declares that the leaders on each side favor on the liquor traffic and are ever ready to play into their hands. Now, I am not going to deny that there has been a close alliance for a long time between the Ross government and the wipulators of the liquor traffic. Association, but on the other hand, there is chief apostle of temperance by act of parliament is justified in classing Mr. Whitney as a lobbyist, one who is ready to porters as favoring upon the liquor trade and pleading for its support.

Mr. Whitney is a manly, straightforward fashion, declared that his experience of the working of the Scott Act, which he at one time supported, had convinced him that such laws were not in the best interests of the people, and he therefore declared his preference for a stringent temperance law, one which, administered free from political partisanship, would be infinitely more in the public interest than any other legislation like a prohibitory law. As the leader of his party in Ontario, Mr. King Dods, Mr. Whitney should not place himself on record, and thus place himself, should be called upon to form a government, to put into practice the views he has expressed. From first to last he never wavered, nor wavered on this question, because if a fair man, Mr. Starr should accord him the credit justly due him from having dealt with an important moral question in a straightforward way, and in the manner which his judgment, after keen observation, had proved to be the wisest course to pursue.

I can easily understand that an emotional man like the Rev. Mr. Starr, one who is such a hot proponent of the cause, has very strong feelings on the subject, and naturally is vehement in his denunciation of those he believes to have played fast and loose with the temperance party. It is certainly going to his credit that he has a trusted chief of that party leads him to the threshold of victory and then delivers them into the hands of their enemy. He is the very perfection of temperance, and scores of prominent temperance friends of Mr. Starr's men like himself, prominent workers in the cause, lacked the manliness and common honesty.

EST NECESSARY TO PROTEST AGAINST SUCH DOUBLE-DEALING, BUT INSTEAD ALLOWED THEIR POLITICAL FAITH TO OVERRIDE THEIR CHRISTIAN PRINCIPLES AND THEY, LIKE THEIR ONE-TIME LEADER, ALSO BASELY SURRENDED TO THE POLITICAL EXIGENCIES OF THE HOUR.

The Rev. Mr. Starr's agitation in favor of a third party is a delusion and a snare, if the temperance leaders and their following are not strong in their political faith now, they will be no more honest in marking their beliefs by joining a third party. I have known scores of them to vote for anti-prohibitionists who were running for office and against men who had been life-long temperance workers, and it is the knowledge of these facts that has made the Ross government laugh at his demonstrations and play fast and loose with their dealings with them. Plainly speaking, the Rev. Mr. Starr and his temperance colleagues cut no ice up at the Parliament Buildings. They must resort to denunciations and threats, but like the barking dog that never bites, no real alarm is felt over their political demonstrations. They marshal a host and with their brass and a blare of trumpets march up to the Parliament Buildings and then march down again, only that, and nothing more.

BOUNTIFUL PROMISES.

New York, Sept. 11.—Figures of the year's crop for which the financial markets of the country have been so eagerly watching, were made public yesterday. There has been no disappointment, contrary to general expectations, but on the other hand, there has been an improvement, not only in corn but in several staples which have fallen away since the last government report published in August.

Based on the conditions shown in the report, there should be 2,290,000,000 bushels of corn harvested in the great west this year, which is about 100,000,000 bushels less than the bumper crop of 1902. In wheat, since the August report, there has also been an improvement, according to the government figures. In August the combined spring and winter wheat crop was estimated to be 620,000,000 bushels. Last month the statement of the Produce Exchange declared that on the conditions reported on in the report, there should be a crop of 699,841,000 bushels, an increase of nearly 200,000,000 bushels. Only once in more than half a century has the record of a bumper crop of wheat in the United States reported on an improvement in the condition of the growing of corn during August. This year, however, the government reports that the corn crop has improved from a percentage of 78.7 to 80.1 between Aug. 1 and Sept. 1.

NEW BASEBALL AGREEMENT.

Tribune's correspondent Jess Appleby yesterday that a new agreement had been adopted satisfactory to all parties. The draft of the new agreement changed from Aug. 10 to Sept. 1, and the players for each club were to receive one-half in cash on the signing of the contract, and the remainder on June 1. The draft of the new agreement was approved by the players who are originally awarded to major league clubs by the Cincinnati, Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Cleveland, New York, and Detroit. The players who are originally awarded to minor league clubs by the Cincinnati, Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis, Cleveland, New York, and Detroit.
