LOCAL RED CROSS SOCIETY WILL LAUNCH DRIVE FOR MEMBERSHIP NEXT WEEK

Extensive Plans For Carrying On of Various Phases of Public Health Work—Review of Activities Shows Splendid Work Being Done By This Energetic Organization—A Letter From The President.

In the annual drive for membership which the Red Cross Society will launch next week, citizens of Campbellton will have an opportunity of contributing at least a small amount toward a cause that is eminently deserving. There is perhaps, no other organization which maintains constant activity, accomplish so much and does it all so quietly as the Red Cross Society.

Among The Children

There is probably, no phase of Red Cross work which is being more effectively carried on here than the work among children. The good results of this work are eloquently demonstrated by a comparative statement of the infant death rate in Campbellton during the past two years. The figures which follow show clearly what has been accomplished in this regard.

Tuberculosis

In co-operating with the province-wide campaign against the spread of tuberculosis the Red Cross Society here is also doing good work. A. F. B. Clinch has been organized and plans for further promoting this work are being formulated. During a recent visit of Dr. Whelan, travelling Diagnostician for the province, some twenty patients were examined and efforts are being made to find ways and means for the care and treatment of these cases. This, incidentally is a phase of health work which must, for economic reasons, receive more attention throughout the province. That the Red Cross Society are pioneers in this work here reflects much credit upon their initiative spirit of the organization.

In The School

In the schools too, the society is promoting health. It has already clearly proven its value. The establishing of the Milk Lunch for under-nourished children has been most successful in Campbellton and in addition to this much dental work of a very useful nature has been done. A later development in this connection is the supplying of suitable eye-glasses for children who in serious need of them, but who were unable to procure them without assistance. Arrangements are being made to have a specialist attend to this work which is being promoted through the Junior Red Cross Mission Red Cross societies through the province have recently and launched this new phase of public health work.

In numerous other ways too the Red Cross Society is not only justifying its existence here but is achieving actual results in health work activities that are wholly gratifying. Knowing these things the average citizen should be only too glad to heartily support this work and meet the coming appeal with a generous response.

Below we present a letter from the president of the Campbellton Red Cross Society which further reviews the work of the society and makes a quiet appeal for the sympathy and support of all.

Editor, The Graphic:

The Campbellton Red Cross is about to make its annual drive for membership on Tuesday and Wednesday the 3rd, and 4th, of November next. I am taking this occasion of asking the people of Campbellton who in the past have been so generous in supporting the work of the Red Cross to again contribute to its work by becoming members of the Society for the coming year. The amount asked for membership is a very small one indeed, and the work accomplished with the money provided cannot be measured in mere terms of dollars and cents. An efficient Public Health nurse has

LOCAL SCOUTS ENJOY OUTING

Sixteen Members Of Local Scout Troop Take Two Day Trip With Leader

On Friday last local Boy Scouts to the number of sixteen enjoyed a two day motor trip to Charlottetown and St. John's. The party was led by Scoutmaster Havelock Hanson. The party arrived at Charlottetown about six o'clock and pitched their tent in a cozy spot under the spruce trees where the voice of the falls, rendering its twilight chorus, could be heard throughout the evening. Wood was gathered nearby and a campfire lighted. After supper the party enjoyed songs and stories until the hour for retiring arrived.

Following breakfast next morning the party continued on, arriving at St. John's about noon. The boys chief desire was to see the big pulp and paper mill and there the scouts were escorted through the plant and shown the complete process of paper-making from the time the wood is taken out of the woods until the finished product emerges ready for shipment to the printing presses. Needless to say the boys were delighted and appreciated very much the kindness and courtesy shown by the management and staff of the Bathurst Co.

Early in the afternoon the party set out for home and, notwithstanding the fact that one of the two cars went on strike and had to be towed some fifty miles by the other, all arrived home safely—tired but well pleased with their novel outing.

RECORD MOOSE OF SEASON IN N. B.

E. C. Rogers, of Putnam, Conn., Shoots Large Moose At Bald Mountain.

Fredericton, Oct. 27.—To E. C. Rogers, of Putnam, Conn., has fallen the honor of obtaining the largest moose head yet taken out of New Brunswick forests during the present hunting season. The antlers had a spread of 64 inches, exceeding by two inches the largest head previously obtained this season.

Mr. Rogers, who has been hunting in New Brunswick each season since 1911, obtained his record prize trophy in the Bald Mountain district near Newcastle, where he was accompanied by J. W. Thompson, of Terre Haute, Ind., in the same district where Walter D. Hinds, of Portland, Me., was accompanied by Tom Canadian, former Indian guide, who is now a Florida real estate promoter. They were guided by Peter Fraser of Newcastle and William Welch, of Red Bank, Northumberland county.

Mr. Thompson was also successful in securing a fine bull moose and a bear, while each also secured a deer. They arrived here last night from Newcastle and left this morning en route back to their homes well pleased with their success in the province and loaded with plans of the hunting grounds which they had prepared for distribution among their friends.

ACCEPTS CALL

Rev. Dr. Quigley of Hopewell, N. S. has accepted the call to the pastorate of the continuing Presbyterian church at Campbellton.

been looking after the large number of children and as the statistics show the death rate among infants has again been cut practically in half. The milk fund provided to insure that under-nourished children receive good milk each day at school has brought about a marked improvement in the general health of weakly children, and this year it is hoped to increase the scope of this work still further. The report of the Red Cross for this year shows that the Society has been doing invaluable work for the health of the Town and its future citizens, and it is hoped that the people of the Town will show their appreciation by giving the members of the committee the aid to canvass for new members a kindly reception and as much financial assistance as they can.

Yours very truly,
J. T. HEBERT, President.

CARLETON MAN DIES SUDDENLY

Engaged while Writing Orders At St. John Hotel—Lived At Quebec

St. John, Oct. 28.—While sitting at a writing desk in the lobby of the Dunlop Hotel, about 12:30 o'clock this afternoon, Charles A. LeBlanc, commercial traveller from Quebec, suddenly fell over dead. Dr. J. M. Barry, who was called, said that he believed death was due to cerebral hemorrhage. No inquest will be held.

LeBlanc was well known in this city, having come here for many years. He arrived at the Dunlop on Tuesday evening, and this morning transmitted his business about town as usual, apparently in the best of health. He returned to the hotel about noon, and sat down at a desk to write out some orders.

Mr. Charles A. LeBlanc, who was about 45 years of age, was born at Carleton, Que. Some years ago he conducted business here, where he made numerous friends who will regret to learn of his death. He is survived by his wife, formerly Zelies Landry of Carleton, one son, a noted musician of Quebec, two brothers, John, customs officer at Carleton and Aime of Quebec, also three sisters, Mrs. John Mill, Maria, Mrs. S. Landry of Chandler and Mrs. A. F. Hocquard of Atholville.

TUG "LORD ROBERTS" WRECKED IN GALE

Craft Owned By Capt. Allard of Carleton Destroyed During Recent High Winds

The tug "Lord Roberts", belonging to Capt. F. J. Allard of Carleton, Que., was totally wrecked on Monday morning when driven around by enormous seas in a gale of south wind, according to word received here yesterday from the owner.

It appears that the fastening post of the boat pulled out under severe strain and the craft driven ashore. The "Lord Roberts" was a familiar boat here, having been engaged for some time in river and coast-wise service, on the upper bay. Capt. Allard's loss will be heavy as the craft was not insured.

FERRY DAMAGED

The motor ferry met with a mishap yesterday and is down for repairs. A tug is doing service in the meantime. The main shaft and clutch of the motive power were broken.

LEMIEUX IN GASPE

Hon. R. Lemieux will again represent Gaspe. His majority is also well over 500.

STORM CAUSES MUCH DAMAGE

Telephone Line Down Over Eel River Bar And Highway Blocked By Driftwood—Other Damage.

Northern New Brunswick and the Bay Chaleur district was visited by a second severe windstorm on Sunday night, accompanied by snow and rain and this storm, which was somewhat general along the Atlantic seaboard occasioned considerable damage at different points throughout the district.

Telephone Wires Down. Although the main telephone lines were unimpaired, the high wind caused considerable damage to the telephone line across Eel River bar. In that vicinity, where the high tides temporarily blocked motor traffic on the highway, some twenty or more telephone poles were blown down. Temporary repairs were made Monday morning, and a large crew of men are now at work permanently repairing the damage.

On the Gaspe Coast telegraph communication was also interrupted by the storm but the former service has been restored.

ON THE WATERFRONT

Along the waterfront the storm was quite severe. Several scows of lumber went adrift but no extensive loss has so far been reported. A sailing vessel, anchored at the market wharf and loaded with county produce was totally wrecked in the storm and her cargo consisting of a large quantity of eggs, butter and vegetables, lost.

At Campbellton and at other points along the bay several motor launches and small boats broke from their moorings in the gale and went to sea. Also along Ramsay Street considerable damage was occasioned by the wind and high tide. Basements, many of which contained supplies of dry wood and produce for the coming winter, were filled with water. At one point on this street the occupants of a house were obliged by the steady rise of water, to temporarily abandon their quarters.

FIREMEN CALLED OUT IN STORM

Two Fires On Sunday Night Bring Fire Brigade Out In Bad Weather.

The local fire brigade was called out twice last Sunday evening in the midst of the severe wind and snow storm of date. The first alarm announced a chimney fire at the home of Constable George Ross. No damage resulted.

The second alarm, rung in about 9:45 summoned the firemen to water street where a short circuit in electric wiring had started a fire in the store of Sam Rosenbick. The blaze caught in a quantity of goods piled upon a counter and although the direct fire loss was not extensive the damage to the stock through smoke is believed to be considerable. The store has been closed all week pending adjustment of the loss.

OBITUARY

Bathurst, Oct. 25.—Many friends in New Brunswick will greatly regret to learn of the death of George Robertson, which occurred here yesterday after a short illness. He was born at Bathurst 85 years ago and moved to Bathurst several years ago. For a long time he conducted the Robertson Hotel here. He is survived by one sister, Marion Robertson, with whom he made his home. Several nephews and nieces also survive. The body will be taken to Rexton, where the funeral will take place on Tuesday.

CULLIGAN WINS IN REST-MADA.

Restigouche Gave Him Over Two Thousand Majority—Michael Falls Down In Madawaska.

Mr. Michael's defeat was a great surprise to his friends throughout this constituency. It was conceded that Mr. Culligan would win out in Restigouche by possibly two thousand of a majority, but it was felt that Mr. Michael would come out of Madawaska with a larger majority, and thus win out.

It was perhaps this over-confidence which contributed to his defeat. Little effort was made in Restigouche to hold the party together and the campaign was waged in a half hearted way. Evidently the same is to be said in reference to Madawaska as it will be seen that considering the vote taken by Mr. Montgomery four years ago, Mr. Culligan received a splendid note.

The defeat of the Liberal candidate in Restigouche-Madawaska clearly demonstrates that the representative for this constituency cannot be a mere figure-head, holding his seat at Ottawa, and doing little for his constituents. He has to be up and doing every working day of the year, and even then his task will be no easy one. Mr. Michael will likely be out of the fight as he several times intimated that he would willingly retire in favor of a Restigouche Liberal, consequently it will be up to the Restigouche Liberals to choose a new standard-bearer, and then reorganize the whole constituency for the next year.

FINAL ELECTION RETURNS REVEAL NO SATISFACTORY MAJORITY FOR EITHER PARTY

With the smoke-wreaths of yesterday's political battle clearing away, by the Progressive party also tended detailed returns of the contest from all parts of the dominion reveal no satisfactory working majority for either party in the House. The Conservatives lead in the Maritime Provinces and Ontario was largely offset by the heavy Government vote in Quebec. The securing of twenty seats by the Progressive party also tended to further upset earlier calculations. Final returns available place the standing as follows: Conservatives 118, Government 97, Progressives 20, Independent 4.

WANT CALENDER CHANGES MADE

Matter of New Calender of Thirteen Uniform Months Is Advancing.

First steps toward the reform of the calendar to divide the present year of 12 months into 13 months, have been taken by the League of Nations committee on calendar reform in fixing the date of Easter permanently on the second Sunday in April beginning in 1928.

Moses B. Coworth, of Vancouver, director of the international fixed calendar league has announced receipt of the news from the committee that the unanimous consent of all the great Christian church authorities had been secured to make the change. The plan is to make the last day in each year an international "year day" and dividing the 52 weeks into 13 months.

A new month "Sol" is proposed to be made from the last two weeks of June and first two in July. Each month would consist of four complete weeks like February, 1925, and all times for earning and spending would be equal or exact multiples of each other.

CLOSES PASTORATE

Rev. C. Wellington Camp, D. D., closes his nearly ten years pastorate in Campbellton this week. At Athol on Sunday last he preached his farewell sermon to the congregation of the Union Church taking as his text John 3:16.

At the close of the sermon, Mr. Fred Warman on behalf of the congregation read the following address: Athol Union Church, Oct. 25, 1925. To the Rev. Dr. Camp:

On the occasion of your farewell, we desire to convey our expression of appreciation of your work of faith and labor of love among us. In joy and sorrow we have ever found in you a friend, and oftentimes some word of thought expressed in your sermon has cheered and encouraged us anew. The children too have always looked forward with interest and delight to their little sermon.

As a further expression of our regard, we give you, this (an envelope containing $50.00) with the prayer that He who guides our footsteps may be with you in your new field, and that you may be successful in every undertaking.

Oak Bay

A very pleasant surprise party was held recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Haines, at "The Battery" when a number of their friends from Oak Bay and Pointe a la Poudre met to wish them a "bon voyage" to their new home in Dalhousie, N. B. Games day and recitations were the order of the evening, followed by a bounteous lunch served by the ladies. The Rev. Mr. Gough, in a few choice words, expressed the feelings of those present as he spoke of the appreciation in which they were held, and the loss the community would sustain in their removal from us. To this Mr. Haines fittingly responded saying that he and Mrs. Haines would always look back upon their five years spent here as among the happiest of their lives.

Another pleasing incident was the presentation by Mrs. J. R. Henderson, secretary of the W. M. S., of a combined Hymnal and Prayer Book, in behalf of the Society of which Mrs. Haines was formerly President. Mrs. Haines was an active worker in the Sunday School, and in all church work, which they both liberally supported. Mr. Haines took a great interest in school matters serving a term as Chairman of the School Board in succession to the late F. R. Burtel, and was always interested in any matter pertaining to the welfare of the community.

JEWS IN THE DOMINION

More Than in Rest of Empire Excepting Britain.

London, Oct. 28.—With the exception of Britain there are more Jews in Canada than in any other part of the British Empire. This is indicated by the figures published here in connection with the creation of a new Jewish national home in Palestine. There are said to be roughly 300,000 Jews in Great Britain, 3,600,000 in the United States, 600,000 in Germany, 125,000 in Canada and 6,000 in South Africa. Most of the Jews in the British Empire seem determined to stay there. Of 49,000 Jews who entered Palestine during the last three and a half years, only 218 hailed from the British Empire, including Canada. Canadian Jews, however, contributed last year to the Palestine Foundation Fund $12,000, or $1,000 more than did three times that number in Britain.

the conversation between London and New York probably will not exceed five dollars. The corresponding receiving station at Rocky Point, Long Island, N. Y., has been getting test messages successfully from Rugby for some time past.

COLDER WEATHER BRINGS THOUGHTS OF THE OUT-DOOR WINTER SPORTS SEASON

Promoters of Sport In Other Places Are Beginning To Formulate Plans For The Coming Season's Athletic Activities—What About Campbellton.

Ever so often—in fact almost every day—we read an article or editorial on some phase of athletics that makes us wish there was more sport in Campbellton. Of course, we are not the only ones who occasionally lament the lack of sport in this town. There are numerous others and many of them belong to the ranks of our younger people who stand ready to take an active part in athletics and make things so. But in spite of this feeling, the need for more wholesome recreation, and the value of sport, no sport organization of a permanent nature is ever evolved.

Preparing for Winter Sports

In various other towns and cities throughout New Brunswick and other provinces of the dominion, plans are now being formed by sport promoters whereby an active and profitable program of winter sports will be assumed. In Moncton arrangements are under way to provide for three outdoor rinks. In several Quebec and Ontario towns, according to reports, arrangements are to be made to provide for district hockey leagues, and associations for the promotion of all branches of winter sports. Ice races tobogganing and organized snowshoe tramps all form a part of the various programs outlined. That these expensive plans will go through there is no doubt. They go through every year and a host of young folks—as well as many older persons—derive a great deal of wholesome and invigorating amusement in the pursuit of these healthy out-door sports.

In Campbellton.

All of which makes us persist in wondering what is the matter with Campbellton. Every year, as the different sport seasons arrive, a few enthusiasts endeavor to start things going. In nearly every instance the project is given ample publicity through this paper. But interest invariably seems to die out quickly and the undertaking either dies or drags out a half-alive existence until the close of the season. Last year an effort was made through this paper to arouse more interest in winter sports generally.

The formation of a proper organization to promote such activities was advocated and a tentative plan of proceedings outlined. The opportunities of having such a winter sports club were also gone into and instances quoted which gave some idea of the success enjoyed by similar organizations in other places. Nothing, however, was done here. There was some enthusiastic discussion for a while but this quickly died out in the usual way. The question that arises in one's mind is: Will there be any organized movement made this fall in this connection? Considering the wealth of clean sport that could be made to shorten the winter and make it more enjoyable, such an undertaking should appeal to all younger folks who enjoy vigorous recreation. It is of course, early yet to plan anything definite, but an effort should be made to create the right atmosphere so that the project once launched, will enjoy the support of everyone.

HE DOESN'T FORGET VETERANS OF WAR

As an example of steady, consistent and unostentatious service to his fellow man, George Baldwin, of Toronto, stands out somewhat in a class by himself, even if he is a Rotarian, working among a bunch of good-hearted men trying to help their fellows.

For several years now Mr. Baldwin has made a practice of filling his motor car with wounded or sick war veterans from the Christie street week by week to the Rotary luncheons. He never misses. At every luncheon he is there with his three soldier chaps—and he sits with them and chats with them, and takes them back to hospital. Some of the poor fellows he carries into the hotel on his back, for they have lost their limbs. He is chairman of the transportation committee of the Rotary Club of project is given ample publicity through this paper. But interest invariably seems to die out quickly and the undertaking either dies or drags out a half-alive existence until the close of the season. Last year an effort was made through this paper to arouse more interest in winter sports generally.

RESTIGOUCHE BOY HAD TOUGH TIME ON MOUNT WASHINGTON

TO MARRY SISTER OF LORD BEAVERBROOK

The Engagement of D. M. Ramsay to Laura K. Aitken Announced.

London, Oct. 24.—The engagement of Douglas Munroe Ramsay, of Bowland and Stow, Midlothian, Scotland, and Laura Katherine Aitken, youngest sister of Lord Beaverbrook, has just been announced. D. M. Ramsay, who was born in Toronto, is the son of a former president of the Imperial Bank of Canada and has lived in Scotland for some years. Miss Aitken is a graduate of the University of Toronto. She lives in Canada but spends the winter months in the south of France every year. After their marriage they will reside in Scotland.

Matapedia

The many friends of Miss Laura Alford are sorry to hear of her recent departure to St. Catharines, Ontario, where she expects to spend the winter both teaching and studying music.

Previous to her going she was waited upon by the member of the choir of the Church at Fils Head, who expressed their high appreciation of her very faithful and efficient services as organist for the past few years, and assured her of the best wishes of the choir and congregation for a successful winter, and a speedy return. These expressions were followed up with the presentation of a fine copy of the Bible and Book of Praise.

Matapedia community has met with a loss recently through the removal of Mr. John A. Robertson and family to Embro, Ontario. For over twenty years Mr. Robertson has been the village blacksmith, fulfilling the poet's ideal of that calling in a very worthy manner, and winning and holding the respect of all through diligence in business, integrity of character, and general interest in the life of the village.

Next to his place of business Mr. Robertson will be missed most in his church, to which he gave unstintingly of his interest and care, and in which he held an honored place, as elder, treasurer, and clerk of session.

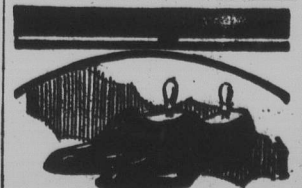

On the Sunday evening previous to his leaving, a service of farewell was held after the regular service, and in attendance of Mr. D. L. Gordon, the regular pastor, Rev. E. V. Forbes called Mr. Robertson forward, and on behalf of the congregation, spoke of their appreciation of his work, and of their regret at his removal from their midst. Mr. Donald Adams then presented Mr. Robertson with a material expression of the good will of the Matapedia people, in the form of a well filled envelope.

Mr. Robertson in reply spoke in a very feeling way of his stay in Matapedia and of the friendship he had enjoyed there.

Mr. Alex. Pratt was then called forward, and on behalf of the Sabbath School spoke appropriately of the work of the Misses Lydia and Lena Robertson as teachers, and presented each with a copy of the Bible.

Their many friends follow these good people with every wish for a prosperous and happy future.

Lost in Big Storm of Oct. 10th, But is Found in Exhausted Condition By Searchers on Tuesday Morning—Tells Graphic Story of Experience.

Gorham, N. H., Oct. 14.—Max Englehart was found alive near the precipitous head wall of Tuckerman's Ravine at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

For four days and three nights he had made a terrific fight for life. He had been for 48 hours on the bald summit of Mount Washington lashed by an awful gale which howled over the peak at more than 100 miles an hour until great boulders were sent thundering down the mighty slopes. The temperature had dropped to near zero and the worst blizzard known in the Presidential Range in more than a generation packed the snow in drifts a dozen feet deep.

Englehart was found by Joe Dodge and Arthur Whitehead of the Appalachian Mountain Club, who left Pinkham Notch Camp at daybreak and struggled up the steep side of Mount Washington through Tuckerman's Ravine. They found him with hands and feet frozen, huddled under a snowdrift in the lee of a mighty ledge. His back, shoulder and left hip were so severely injured he could move no further.

The drifting snow, still whipped by a strong gale, until the tiny particles cut and stung the face almost beyond endurance, had obliterated the back trail which had marked the progress of the awful battle he had fought against death.

In trying to make his way down into Tuckerman's Ravine from the mighty summit of the mountain, Englehart, perishing with hunger, thirst and fatigue, his limbs numbed by the bitter cold, had slipped at the crest of the head wall. His pain wracked body went bounding and sliding down the great ledges among the mighty snow banks for half a mile to the foot of the head wall.

This happened yesterday forenoon. During the rest of the day, until darkness made further progress utterly impossible, the desperate man, facing certain death, had crawled inch by inch through the snow and over the sloping ledges halfway to Hermit Lake hut, a distance of about a mile from the head wall.

He came to the great boulder, in the lee of which he was found this afternoon by Dodge and Whitehead. His strength was spent. He knew he could go no farther during the night. He fought with indomitable courage to keep awake, for he knew that sleep meant death.

When daylight came again he looked out from his poor shelter in the snow and saw nothing but desolation on every side. He could not force his body to move, so he lay there hoping that rescue might come. From time to time he gathered his last ounce of resolution to utter faint calls for help. Near noon he began to doze and had roused himself to utter one last call when Dodge and Whitehead reached the upper edge of Hermit Lake.

The searchers thought they heard something and shouted, then listened. The call came again, like the faint sound of a ghost, they said tonight. Their hearts almost stood still, they were so startled. Since yesterday morning it had been thought certain that the missing caretaker of the Stage House on the summit must be dead. They made as rapid progress as they could in the direction of the sound and Englehart was found.

Battle Back to Camp

Then came another story of heroism and fortitude. These two men carried down the steep ravine the man they thought was dying. It was a miracle of endurance and determination. They were seven hours covering a distance of three miles.

A Post reporter and photographer who had started up the mountain from the Pinkham Notch Camp saw the distant glow of the flashlight with which they signalled from time to time when they were forced to pause for a few minutes and rest their weary bodies. This was after 7 o'clock and without moon or stars, the darkness was profound. It was after 8 tonight before the last half mile of the trail was covered and Englehart was resting at last in the camp, rolled in heavy blankets and a cup of hot soup was being fed to him, the first food he had tasted since Sunday morning.

The driver of the Post car was sent racing over the dangerous mountain road to get a doctor. In half an hour Dr. H. H. Bryant of Gorham was there and decided that Englehart will live to brag of his thrilling adventure, if he can be saved from the danger of pneumonia during the next few days.

In the meantime the amazing hero of one of the most remarkable adventures that grim old Mount Washington ever has known insisted on telling the Post man all about it. Here is his story:

"You believe me, boy, I am one happy man to get out of this alive. I said this morning, 'Max, you've lived 58 years and this is the end. You will never go through another night.' I guess I am one tough baby. I was sent up to the top of the mountain Sept. 26 to be caretaker at the Stage House there and look after any people who came up before we closed the road from Glen House, Oct. 15. The road is always open until then and no one thought we ever would have such a storm as this before winter."

"I was left alone and soon the wind began to blow, Saturday morning the wind was blowing more than 100 miles an hour, the snow was drifting deep and it was awfully cold."

"Soon my wood was all burned and when I tried to go to the storehouse, 50 feet away, the wind nearly blew me away. I couldn't reach the wood and could just crawl back to the house. The wind lifted the house a foot off the ground and the chains creaked and snapped until I thought the whole business would blow right off the mountain."

"Saturday night the wind tore off the storm door and took it away. I had no wood and I was freezing. I wrote a note 'I will leave the camp and try to go down through Tuckerman Ravine,' I knew I couldn't get down by the road, because that was right into the wind."

Just Couldn't Stand It

"I was frightened, I was so scared I couldn't think. Sunday noon I couldn't stand it longer. I had to go. I didn't think to take food or an axe or anything. I just grabbed a blanket to put over my head and crawled out the door into the snow. The wind pushed me along."

"I had never been over Tuckerman Ravine and this is the first time I was a stranger in this country until last July. I thought if I let the wind carry me along I would come to the trail, but I couldn't find it. The wind tore my blanket into pieces and I could save only one strip to tie around my face."

"When it got dark Sunday night and I was still on the summit, I made a hole in a drift and stayed there that night. I was very cold and hungry and I was so thirsty I had to fight myself not to eat snow in the morning. The wind was still blowing very hard but it was not so bad and I thought I would try to get back to the house and stay there, because I couldn't find the trail."

"I was on the summit all day Monday and I couldn't find the stage house again. That night I made a hole in the snow again. Tuesday morning I gave up trying to find the Stage House and tried again to go into the trail, so I could go down through the ravine."

"I found the head wall and I was weak to get down. Then I slipped and rolled all the way down. I slid a mile and a half I think. I hurt my hips and my back and shoulder. I tried to crawl along, but I could go only a little way, so I made a place under a big rock, and that is where they found me."

A searching party was on the mountain yesterday and must have been within less than half a mile of Englehart, but they did not see him and the drifting had obliterated his trail.

It was not until Monday night that any anxiety was felt for Englehart, who then had been fighting for his life for some 30 hours.

Dr. Harold Smith of Kew Garden, N. Y., and Raymond F. Fuller of Middletown, Conn., both experienced mountain climbers, had gone up the road trail from Glen House and were surprised to find no one at the Stage House. They were nearly all in when they reached the summit and expected to get a chance for food and rest there. On the table they found a note reading: "Left at 12 for Tuckerman's, no wood, Mac 1."

Rescue Party Formed

Dr. Smith and Fuller got back to Glen House after dark Monday night and reported they had all they could do to get down at all. They told of finding the house deserted, the wood gone and the stove cold. Elliott C. Libby, manager of Glen House, by whom Englehart was employed, immediately organized a searching party to

OLD TIME FLAVOR FOR NEW GIM

New Bedford Man Has Discovered the Lost Blend

Ralph Cournerier of New Bedford, Mass., may not have found the "lost blend" that O'Henry wrote about, but he does claim credit for discovering what is said to be a new way to give synthetic gin the old time flavor.

Apparently in a talkative mood after his arrest on a rum-running charge Cournerier told the police he always dropped a few bed-bugs into his synthetic product, after which even the old-timers couldn't tell it from the real thing.

The bed-bugs, he explained give the juniper taste and can be strained out and used again and again.

start the next morning. The searchers found no trace of the missing man. Three of them froze their noses. Not realizing that so much snow had fallen on the mountain, they did not take snowshoes, and when an attempt was made to reach Tuckerman's Ravine they were soon struggling in snow to their armpits. When night drew near they had to turn back.

Dodge and Whitehead were members of the party and with Dennis Pelkey they made a determined effort to win through to the head wall, but were unable to make it.

But Dodge and Whitehead insisted there was still a chance that Englehart might have survived the storm and so they made another attempt today, this time taking snowshoes and going right up through the Tuckerman trail.

When Englehart was being untressed and rolled in blankets his watch and chain were found tucked in one of his woodsmen's boots and he forgot his suffering to express his joy.

After first aid had been administered to Englehart and Dr. Bryant had arrived he was bundled in heavy blankets and taken over the road in Mr. Libby's closed car to Glen House, where he is sleeping tonight and appears to be resting comfortably.

Englehart told the Post that he came from Campbellton, N. B., and that his wife and two daughters died seven years ago in the influenza epidemic, leaving him alone in the world.

A NEW GREAT LAKE?

The lowering of the levels of the Great Lakes, through the illegal stealing of water by the city of Chicago, has reached a critical stage. It is not possible, however, on humanitarian grounds, to compel an immediate cessation of the water diversion to the Mississippi which is responsible for all the trouble. Is there any other way out of the difficulty? According to Mr. C. Lorne Campbell, a Toronto railway construction engineer, there is. His scheme is so vast as to appear almost fantastic to first acquaintances, but so many big and seemingly impossible things are undertaken and brought to successful completion in these days that it is not wise to judge hastily. If the plan really would accomplish all that is claimed for it by its author, it is certainly worth serious investigation.

What Mr. Campbell proposes to do, put briefly is to create a sixth great lake by the damming of the Albany and Ogoki rivers, drain this new lake (which would be two and a half times as large as Lake Ontario), by means of a canal to Lake Nipigon, into Lake Superior and so supply a large additional flow of water to the Great Lakes system—almost twice as much as that diverted from Lake Michigan by the city of Chicago.

The land to be flooded for the new lake consists for the most part of forest, rock and muskeg. The timber to be cut down could be profitably disposed of by floating down to mills built to deal with it. The scheme would give employment to at least 20,000 men for from six to eight years, while Ontario would benefit not only by the raising of the water levels but by additional electric energy so secured. The value of this alone is estimated by Mr. Campbell at $10,000,000 annually, without any extra capital cost. Valuable mineral

The air feed installed on latest models of the Fawcett refines the economy still further by utilizing the gases that other furnaces allow to escape. It is an integral part of the furnace and there is no possibility of its burning off. More than ever Fawcett Furnaces save fuel.

No Repairs!

"Ten years ago I installed in my seven room house one of your No. 181 Rival Furnaces, and take pleasure in stating that it has given me perfect satisfaction in every way."

"I have not bought any repairs for the above mentioned furnace since same was installed."—John Bedford, Vancouver.

Although there are more Fawcett Furnaces in use than any other Maritime make, and though some are a generation old, the parts and repairs business received by Fawcett on its own products is negligible.

Easier to Install

All the work of installing a Fawcett Pipeless Furnace is done in the basement, even for the ten or fifteen minutes required to cut for a single register.

The whole work, in fact, can be done so quickly that if required it can be delivered in the morning and be heating your house the same night.

So now is a splendid time to secure a furnace. You've felt the cold already, and there's a long winter ahead. Send for the Fawcett Catalogue, giving details about your house.

Today—It's Toncan

Yesterday furnace makers were divided into camps. One favored steel radiators because of the quickness with which they radiated the heat. The other favored cast iron because of its durability in spite of the fact that it has a serious drawback, its slowness in radiating heat.

Along comes Toncan to combine the durability of cast iron with the radiation of steel. Standard with the world's greatest furnace makers—exclusive in Canada at Fawcett.

"THE WIFE WHO WASN'T WANTED" with Irene Rich is a picture-ton of this novel

SYNOPSIS

John Manning, District Attorney and his son, Bob, have just left home in the morning, when Eileen, the wife and mother, receives a bouquet of lilacs, with a card bearing the greetings of "Jerry". Soon after, Jerome Wallace, a lawyer who was her girlhood suitor, telephones but she refuses to speak with him. Eileen is incensed by Wallace's attentions for she is devoted to her husband and their son. Today, by the way, is Bob's twenty-first birthday.

Yet, it must be confessed, the repulse given to his persistent overtures had not appeared to greatly disturb Jerome Wallace. When he received her curt message from Mary's lips, he had displayed no intense disappointment. Not that he could have misinterpreted the meaning conveyed. Wallace was too much of a man of the world, too well versed in the subtleties of social life to make any such mistake. And moreover he was not given to carrying his feelings on his coat sleeve.

A rather mysterious man was Wallace, anyway. A lawyer by profession, he had lived in the community all his life. His circle of acquaintances was wide, but his friends were few. He had a limited practice, but had accumulated considerable money from it. Some said, far more than reasonable fees could account for. That was the point. There were many rumors about Wallace. Vague hints, indefinite and intangible. There were hints of sharp practice towards his blackmail in connection with Jerome Wallace as he sat in his beautifully furnished apartment in the easy comfort of his lounging robe? Let us be under no misapprehensions but judge him as he appears, a man of discriminating taste who has reached a time in life where he may enjoy the fruits of his craft. Yet, hardly craft, which savors too much of graft, but rather regard him as a man of culture and refinement enjoying the rewards of his professional skill.

After a time, Wallace came out of his room and smiling once more to himself, opened a drawer in the table and drew forth a photograph of a woman. Ah, there have been strange rumors afloat regarding his relations with women. But rumors, merely rumors, and Wallace is invited to the best houses.

And this is a picture of a girl. A young girl on the threshold of womanhood, simply dressed in white and standing at a garden gate. There is a school girl freshness about the slender figure, the indelible stamp of innocence in those eyes and something strangely familiar in that countenance.

Stay, allowing for the passage of years it is no other than the face of Eileen which looks forth from that picture.

And, what is more, to give strength to that conclusion, plainly written upon the white mat which backed the picture, are the words:

To Jerry, dearest—success and all my love. EILEEN.

And Jerry is used as diminutive for Jerome. Here indeed was food for thought. What held Wallace's thoughts as he sat there staring at that old picture? Were there gentle memories of a boy and girl in futation, a fitting fancy of budding hearts, its ties of gossip and fragile that they fell away under the first stress? Or was it of an old passion, balked, but smouldering on through the years, unquenched, unquenchable? Or again was it of a rivalry, a stern, masculine rivalry begun for the hand of a maid and festering through the years ready to burst forth at every new contact?

Fate had made John Manning and Jerome Wallace rivals for the hand of Eileen in their youth as it had now pitted them against each other in the race for District Attorney. But now as Wallace sat there with the picture in his hands, he might have been thinking of all of these things, or any of them, and no man the wiser, so inscrutable was his countenance.

There came a soft movement at his side and a Japanese boy appeared, bearing coffee. Wallace, recalled having returned the picture to its place, was closing the drawer when the bell of the telephone sounded.

He indicated the telephone to the boy with a nod of his head.

"Mr. Jennings wishes to speak to you, sir," said the boy softly, a moment later.

Jennings, "Slick" Jennings, a notable ward heeler in the Gas House District. There was something strangely incongruous in the fact that he should have business with Jerome Wallace. The two men appeared to be antipodes of each other in tastes and attributes. Yet, as was long ago said, pliancy makes strange bed fellows. And to carry the simile further Wallace seemingly not only had taken Slick Jennings to bed with him in his race for District Attorney, but had clutched him to his very bosom by placing him in charge of one of his headquarters. It was pure politics, or better, purely politics which had led to this move on Wallace's part.

INGENIOUS DEVICE RECENTLY INVENTED

Attachment for Motor Cars to Show When Speed Limit is Exceeded

A bright idea, flashing to the mind of the car and a racy horn sound, as soon as the vehicle exceeds the speed limit is caused by an ingenious device recently invented by a Frenchman according to an article in another publication.

Becoming anxious at the alarming increase in motor vehicle accidents and fatalities in that country French authorities called for an efficient remedy of the ever present dangers, with the result that a fellow-country man announced his invention.

While not preventing accidents, the device acts as a warning to pedestrians and other drivers that a car is approaching at a good rate of speed and at the same time, if an accident does occur, police constables or bystanders are instantly aware of the fact that the vehicle was exceeding the speed limit at the time.

The principal of the attachment is radically the same as a "governor." When the speed of the engine reaches a certain limit the apparatus functions, and immediately the speed is reduced, the light is extinguished and the horn is silenced. The light is perfectly visible at the side of the car, and the horn may be heard at a great distance. The mechanism is periodically inspected by police officers to ascertain whether or not it has been tampered with.

It is said that the attachment may be adjusted to two speeds, one for the city and one of the country. And 20 miles per hour respectively, or whatever the speed laws call for in the vicinity. To change from one rate to another is the work of an instant. The two lights are of different colors and the horns of different tone, so that if a motorist is driving in the city with the device adjusted to the country rate, the deception may be instantly detected.

The attachment also eliminates the possibility of a motorist charged with a speeding offence, or a witness, swearing that the car was not exceeding the speed limit, or stating that the officer who made the report erred in his judgement, as the light and sounding horn are conclusive proof that the car was violating the speed law.

It is understood that efforts are being made to have the French government rule it compulsory to have on their vehicles.

NERVES AND FAINTING SPELLS

Send Woman to Bed. Great Change After Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Sarnia, Ontario.—"After my girls were born I was a wreck. My nerves were so terrible for words and I simply could not stand or walk without pain. I suffered with fainting spells until I was no longer any good for my household duties and had to take to my bed. The doctor said I should have an operation, but I was not in a fit condition at that time. My neighbor said, 'Why don't you try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?' I am sure it will do you good and will save those doctor's bills. So I was advised by my husband to try it after I told him about it. I am very thankful to say that I was soon able to take a few boarders for a while as rooms were scarce at that time. My baby is 17 months old now and I have not yet had an operation, thanks to your medicine. I have recommended the Vegetable Compound to a few people I know and have told them the good it has done me. I know I feel and look a different woman these last few months and I certainly would not be without a bottle of your medicine in the house. You can use this letter as you see fit, as I should be only too glad for those suffering as I have to know what it has done for me."—Mrs. Eleanor G. MacGee, R. R. No. 2, Sarnia, Ontario.
A recent canvass of women users of the Vegetable Compound report 98 out of 100 received beneficial results. This is a remarkable proof of its merit. C

LOCAL HOSPITALS ON APPROVED LIST

List of Standardized Hospitals Released By American College of Surgeons.

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—In the presence of a great international congress of surgeons and hospital people at the Bellevue-Stratford Hotel, today, Franklin H. Martin, M. D., Chicago, Director General of the American College of Surgeons, officially announced the list of approved hospitals up to October 1st, 1925. This list is the result of the eighth annual Hospital Standardization survey made by the American College of Surgeons, including 2389 hospitals. In presenting the report he said in part: "This list of approved hospitals is of general interest. The patient can more intelligently and more safely choose a hospital and a doctor when ill. The young women with the noble ambition to become a nurse is assisted in her selection of a training school. The recent medical graduate eager for more practical experience seeks the approved hospital for his internship. Federal, state, municipal and philanthropic organizations frequently consult this list in their selection of institutions when rendering financial assistance. Already the American Railway Association has urged their 14,000,000 patients passing through patient so far as possible hospitals approved by the American College of Surgeons. The United States Army, Navy, Veterans Bureau, Public Health Service, and National Homes for Disabled Volunteer Soldiers share enthusiastically in this program and the approved hospitals of these groups appear on the list today.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 p. c. AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 5% common kerosene (coal oil).
The inventor, J. M. Johnson, 246 Craig St. W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him to-day for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

IMPORTANCE OF CHURCH UNION

A Noble Experiment in Christian Unity, Says Toronto Clergyman in Ottawa

Ottawa, Oct. 24.—Describing the United Church of Canada as a noble experiment in Christian unity and its great task in the world as a singular, ly romantic enterprise, Rev. J. R. P. Selater, of Toronto, spoke to a large gathering of church people in Dominion Church last week. The movement for Church Union, which had consummated in the new church in Canada, Dr. Selater said, was one of the most significant historical since the reformation, and it had given to the Canadian people of formed the new church the responsibility of showing the world the realm of practical statesmanship. It would be impossible to over-estimate the significance of the movement, he declared.

The evangelical churches of the continent were watching eagerly the experiment in church union in Canada to-day.

Speaking of the task set before the united church, he said it would be tragical to rest now and say it is settled. We are just at the beginning of the task, and not at the finish of it," he said, with emphasis.

The American College of Surgeons appreciates the opportunity to better hospital and medical services for the 14,000,000 patients passing through the hospitals of the United States and Canada annually. This movement has now become part of the social and economic life of our people. The requirements are minimal and fundamental. They are applicable to any hospital regardless of size, type or location. Any institution, ethical and honest, reaching the standard is acceptable. The public is therefore asking why certain hospitals are not on the list.

The hospitals whose names appear on the approved list today are those recognized as fulfilling the fundamental requirements for good service to the patient, as assured through (a) efficient staff organization; (b) adequate diagnostic and therapeutic facilities; (c) trained personnel; (d) complete case records; (e) periodic check-up or medical audit of the clinical work of the hospital.

From the 1925 survey of 2395 hospitals in the United States and Canada 1564 or 65.7 per cent meet the requirements of Hospital Standardization. In the Province of New Brunswick out of 15 hospitals surveyed 13 or 86.7 per cent have been accredited and appear today on the approved list as announced by the American College of Surgeons.

The asterisk indicates that certain hospitals have accepted the requirements which result in the best scientific care of the patient but are not, for the lack of time or other acceptable reasons, carrying them out in every detail.

Following is a list of the fully standardized hospitals in New Brunswick. Both Campbellton hospitals are on the list.

TRIAL FLIGHT OVER AMERICAN WATERS

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 20.—The Napier super-marine S4, one of the two British seaplanes, entered in the Schneider Cup race to be held at Bay Shore, near here, Oct. 24, made its first trial flight over American waters, yesterday. Captain N. G. Biard, who will pilot the ship in the race, took the craft aloft, although his right hand is still encased in a cast splint, due to an injury received on shipboard, while en route to this country.

The S4 made an official world's record of 226 miles an hour in a test flight in England, prior to her shipment here. The British team expressed approval of the ship's performance, after the flight yesterday.
